STOCK SHOW TO BE HELD AT WAYNE THIS FALL

At the meeting called for Saturday by the officers of the Wayne County Breeders' association it was proposed and about decided in the affirmative to have a stock show at Wayne this fall in place of their usual booster trip. Those present favored the plan and most of them pledged to help in the exhibit. Others not present were known to favor the project.

The plan began to enlarge, and it was suggested that enough poultry could be secured to make a department of that. Others said why not add a bit of grain and fruit. Then it was suggested that the members of the Woman's club be consulted, and asked to cooperate and aid in making an exhibit of canned fruits, cakes, pies, and fancy work, and soon they had almost a complete fair. The meeting when it adjourned was for two weeks, and therefore another meeting will be held Saturday the 13th to consider the matter more fully.

The Democrat has long favored the idea of a fair at Wayne in which all could and should cooperate. Not an organization for making money for a few or for many, but with a broad foundation on which to build community interests and create a community interest in promoting industries in all lines that may be successfully developed. There are many things which might come to this community if properly encouraged and given a chance. We need factories to manufacture in a small way things that can be made with use of little power and not too much raw material. We use brooms here, why not grow the corn and make for ourselves and others? We use thousands of dollars worth of canned goods, why not plan to can our own after we grow the crop. Thousands of fruit, shade and ornamental trees are sold in Wayne territory, why not encourage some one in growing them and supplying the home demand? These are the things which make more work for more people, and more people make it better for farmer, merchant, preacher, teacher, and all, if they are kept busy at a profitable employment.

WILL LOBERG COMES HOME

Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. August Loberg and a son and daughter were at the Wayne station to greet son and brother, who was coming home from overseas with his discharge in his pocket. It is almost two years since they were here to bid him farewell as he with others started for camp. The following April he went overseas, and later was transferred to Co. A, 4th division, which is a regular army division. He saw much service in front line trenches but escaped without wound, and came home well and happy. After the armistice was signed he went with the army to Germany, and was assigned to duty in a supply company. The greater part of the Wayne county boys who went across did not arrive in France in time to finish training and be sent to the front, but those who are coming in now have nearly all been in front of the machine guns, and doubtless have a fund of experiences to relate, if they cared to relate them, and recall the hardships and dangers of life on the front line.

MAXWELL L. ASH HOME

Monday evening's passenger train brought Maxwell L. Ash back to home and friends, after a war experience of more than two years, most of which time was spent on the other side of the pond. Max saw service in six major actions, according to the stars he wears, indicating the engagements he served in. He is hale and hearty, apparently, and evidently did well his duty while in service. We heard some one say to him that there is a chance for enlistment, and he made no verbal reply, but a shake of the head seemed to say, no, thank you—"not unless I am sadly needed." In fact, nearly every returned soldier with whom we have talked, or heard express an opinion, has the same view of the situation. They would not in most cases be among the volunteers, and all hope that there will be no occasion to repeat their experience, or ask other boys to do so. War should be outlawed for all time.

STATE NORMAL NOTES

At this writing the prospect is that when the Normal opens its tenth year as a state school next Tuesday morning there will be the largest enrollment yet seen at the beginning of the school year. Never before have so many inquiries reached the office of the Normal so long before the opening.

Every room in the dormitories is already engaged and every mail brings new demands upon the housing facilities of the institution. President Conn and Professor Cross have spent the entire summer in making arrangements for the comfort of the students and everything is in shape to greet the incoming young people.

Changes in the personnel of the faculty appear: Miss Fairchild will spend the year in Columbia and her place will be filled by Mrs. Halsworth—a lady of successful experience in teaching, having her degree from the Colorado Teachers college at Greeley.

On account of the condition of her health, Miss Beechel will be absent from the Normal until the holidays and her place will be occupied by Miss Miphe Marquardt, a graduate of the Normal, last year principal of the schools at Beemer.

As the result of a serious operation Mrs. McIntyre will be away for the first semester. Her place has not been filled.

Miss Elizabeth Stocking is suffering with influenza, and until she is able to return, the second grade in the training school will be in the care of Mrs. Homer Seace, well known to this community as a most successful teacher.

The music department will be strengthened by the addition of Professor Willis Hunter, graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Massachusetts, who will teach stringed instruments and theory of music, and have charge of the band and orchestra. The addition to the faculty of the school of music has been made necessary by the rapid growth of that work under the direction of Professor Coleman.

The commercial course will have the same corps of instructors who came to the Normal in the later months of the past year, Professors Martin and Serfling, and is prepared to equal and even raise the fine standard of efficiency already attained.

A special effort will be made to increase the possibilities of work in absentia. This will be of peculiar interest to graduates of the Normal who desire to secure the A. B. or B. E. degree. With work done in absence, together with four summer terms, it is believed that a graduate of the Normal may secure a degree. A considerable number have already enrolled for this work, the courses are outlined and multigraphed and every attention will be given to the interests of those who wish to pursue courses while teaching or in other occupations. Those who care to study in absence should communicate with the Normal at once, as it is desirable that all begin at the opening of the year.

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENT

A crew of about sixty men are making headquarters here at present, and are laying new steel on the Bloomfield branch line. They began about two miles west of Wayne, and expect to install new track as far as Stiles this fall.

A NEW FILING STATION FOR WAYNE THIS FALL

Earl Merchant, who has ceased to follow blacksmithing, has sold his stock and tools and is wrecking the shop building he has occupied for the past ten years, and which have been used by blacksmiths as a shop almost since Wayne was started. He has also purchased the property south of him to the track and disposed of the dwelling houses thereon which are soon to be moved off, and on the grounds thus cleared himself and Rev. Strahan will proceed to erect a very complete and modern filing station on the site which is an ideal location. Trackage on the south, and street front on the north and west and located near the business district makes it all that could be desired for the purpose. The clearing of this half block of the old building and placing a new, modern business building thereon will give the traveling public a better impression of Wayne as the live business place it is.

VIROIL CHAMBERS HOME

A. J. Chambers from down on the south line of the county, was at Wayne Monday, and tells us that their son, Virgil, who served on the battle front with Co. A, 4th U. S. Infantry, with the 3rd division, is home with his discharge. And the folks are glad that he came back comparatively sound and in good health. He was in some of the thick of it, but is not talking much for publication that we can hear of. He told home folks a few things—of some of the warm receptions they received from the Germans—and how they managed to get out of an uncomfortable position. At one time he was where he could see the work of the big shells which the Americans were heaving over them at the German lines, and said that they were coming plenty near enough to them, because of their advanced position. He said that the nearest he could describe the appearance of things was that the ground seemed to fairly boil in the sector these big shells were dropping.

Mr. Chambers tells us that it is their intention to have a bit of homecoming reception for the nine boys who went from that school district, at some time in the near future.

MARRIED

A very pretty wedding occurred Sunday afternoon at the home of Prof. H. H. Hickman at Faculty Row, College Avenue. Mr. Anton W. Wallin and Miss Fay Florence, were united in marriage by Judge J. M. Cherry.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Wright of Sioux City, Iowa, and a niece of Mrs. Hickman. The groom is an excellent young man, a machinist, also of Sioux City.

The beautiful home of Prof. and Mrs. Hickman was tastefully decorated for the occasion with ferns and roses, and after a sumptuous wedding dinner, the happy couple accompanied by the bride's parents returned by automobile to Sioux City. A brother of the bride, who has been driving a car for one of General Pershing's staff in France and just returned, took the wheel, confident that after dodging shell holes for the past eight months, he could safely convey them the first fifty miles of their honeymoon trip.

After October first the young people will be at home at South Sioux City.

BUSH-AUKER

Thursday morning, September 4, 1919, at the home of the bride's daughter, Mrs. Horace Theobald, Mrs. Margaret Bush and Mr. S. E. Auker, both of this place, were united in marriage, Rev. S. X. Cross officiating.

Only the immediate family were present at this quiet wedding, and bride and groom left on the morning train for Omaha. They plan a trip to Denver and then on to California, where they will spend the winter, and next spring will be at home in the Perry Theobald residence, which the groom purchased last week.

ELFINE ALBERTSEN

Fred Ellfine and Miss Elsie Albertsen, were married August 30, 1919, by Judge J. M. Cherry. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Albertsen, living in the southeast part of this county and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellfine of Thurston county.

The happy couple after a short visit with home folks, will begin housekeeping near Magnet, where the groom is now farming.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

New books recently received in the public library:

Meaterlmick, The Betrothal; Grey, Desert of Wheat; Bachellor, Keeping Up with William; Kilmer, Poems, Essays and Letters, two volumes; Warde, Betty Wales and Co., Betty Wales on the Campus, Betty Wales Freshmen, Betty Wales Sophomore, Betty Wales Senior; Jacobs, Blue Bonnet's Ranch Party; Cooke, The Cricket; Burne H., Little Lord Fauntleroy; Paret, Hasplers Handy Book for Girls; Verril, Harper's Book for Young Gardeners; Adams, Harper's Machinery Book for Boys; Babcock, The Soul of Ann Ruthledge; Morley, The Haunted Book Shop; Gale, Birth, Davies, Blue Grass and Broadway; Drake, Indian History for Young People; Banks, Polly's Garden; Perkins, Irish Twins; Perkins, Cave Twins; Cumpeck, Choice Readings; Booth, War Romance of Salvation Army; Werner, Readings and Recitations; Dramatic and Humorous; Bojer, The Great Hunger; Guest, A Heap o' Livin'; Spargo, Bolshevism; Barrett, Nebraska and the Nation; Utter, Every Day Pronunciation; Miller, In the Wilds of South America; Barnes, The Picture Analysis of Golf Strokes; Zabriskie, The Virgin Islands of the United States; Clarke, An Outline of Christian Theology.

BUYS FARM IN NORTH DAKOTA

Last week Earl Kasson, who has been looking for a land location most of the season, went with a party to see a bit of the North Dakota land near Cando, and when he returned Monday he said that to him it appeared the best land proposition he had seen all summer, and he must have been meaning what he said, for it is reported that he purchased a quarter section not far from one of their good towns there.

With the party he went with last Thursday were Julius Hirschman and sons Chancy and Clarence, Bert Digger and Chas. Harris of Coleridge, and J. W. Brodenack and D. S. Griofel of Belden and S. O. Hall of Laurel. E. Stevenson also joined the party, at St. Paul. Here they were also joined by W. M. Blonder the U. S. R. R. administrator for the Great Northern. Monday night at Laurel Mr. Blonder is to give a lecture and illustrate it with slides and moving pictures showing some of the things of that country just as they are.

HARRY ECHTENKAMP HOME

Last Friday Harry Echtenkamp, another of the Wayne county boys who went across quite early in the game, and was transferred to the 3rd division, was among those to come back. He was in five of the big drives over there, and escaped unhurt. He got a little gas once, but it so happened that it was not thick enough to make any serious injury. In one engagement his kit was shot from his shoulders—and that was close enough shooting to suit him. When one reads of those great drives and sees a man who has been in no less than five of them, he wonders that he is here to tell of it. And so do the fellows who were there in the thick of it find it hard to believe that they all missed them.

ANOTHER WAYNE BOY COMING HOME

Mrs. Nettie L. Sears left Tuesday afternoon for Council Bluffs, Iowa, there to meet her son, Will, who has just come back from overseas duty. He was one of the 3rd division boys, and while he did not go across until rather late in the year 1918, and had the flu after landing he was in the front line on the Argonne about three weeks before the armistice. He stopped to visit a brother at Oskaloosa, Iowa, and the mother went to meet him at Council Bluffs, where he went to visit a sister on his way home.

Auction of Household Goods

Having sold my old home two blocks west of Main street, I will sell all of my household furniture to the highest bidder, Saturday afternoon, September 6, 1919. Come and see what you need. I have two stoves, bedroom suites, dining table, rockers, chairs and many things of less value, but needed in every well-regulated home. Come and get these goods at what you think they are worth. A PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

Wayne County Red Cross have been promised a public health nurse maintained by the county. Different localities of the county have been asking that one be provided.

SOCIAL NOTES

C. O. Mitchell of the Wayne Monument works was given a surprise Monday evening when he returned from a business trip. His partner, C. H. Christensen, and the employees of the firm of Mitchell & Christensen were awaiting him at his home. Mr. Mitchell had forgotten the day was his birthday and the presence of his guests and the birthday cake with its candles was a pleasant surprise. Mrs. Mitchell served a three-course dinner. Covers were laid for eight. They were: C. H. Christensen, Levin Johnson, Nels Nyquist, Roy Beeks, Paul Carroll, Phil Rickabaugh, Howard James and C. O. Mitchell. The place cards were drawings of monuments with the guest's names printed on the design. After dinner the men enjoyed a smoke and needless to say the conversation run to shop talk. The evening was a very enjoyable one.

Last week was a social week in the neighborhood northwest of Wayne. At the J. Grier home the first of the week, Mrs. Grier entertained a group of the neighbors and young folks in honor of her sister, Miss Henrietta Moler, who was a guest there that week. Then Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sabs were host and hostess to a party of young folks invited to their home as a surprise to their niece, Miss Irene, who was visiting the Sabs home from Chicago. Friday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jones was thrown open to the neighborhood in honor of the two young ladies. At these gatherings music, dancing, singing and feasting provided ample entertainment for all. They will long be remembered with pleasure.

There was a pleasant surprise for Mrs. Smith Tuesday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Perrin, where Mrs. Smith has been visiting for a number of months, on the eve of her departure for a home at Topeka, Kansas. The neighbors gathered there, and after a social hour, provided a lot of choice eats for all. Mrs. Smith left Wednesday morning.

Mrs. M. S. Davies entertained at a 1 o'clock dinner Sunday. Having as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Phillee and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Armstrong of Sioux City, and Miss Carrie Henderson of Jefferson, Iowa. After visiting a while, they all went for a car ride.

About thirty little boys and girls enjoyed the hospitality of the Roscoe Jones home, two and a half miles from town, when Mildred Jean and Elizabeth entertained from 3 to 5 Friday afternoon—out door games were played. At the close of a very enjoyable afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

The Guild of St. Mary's church met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Emma Baker. The afternoon was spent socially. Mrs. Keyser and Mrs. Fred Blair were guests. Mrs. Baker, assisted by her daughter, Miss Helena, served delicious refreshments. About thirty were in attendance. Next meeting will be next Thursday with Mrs. Kerwin.

The Monday club had a special meeting Monday afternoon with Mrs. Mellor. Among other items of business they donated ten dollars to the Woman's club to help pay for the opera house.

On Monday Mrs. Chace was hostess at an informal dinner party complimentary to Miss Carrie Henderson of Jefferson, Iowa. Covers were laid for fourteen. The afternoon was spent in playing Royalty.

The Central Social Circle is to meet next Thursday, the 11th, with Mrs. John Paulsen, and all members are requested to attend.

Monday evening, September 8, there will be a regular meeting of the O. E. S. If you are one of them you should be there.

COUNTY COURT VERDICTS

Last week Wednesday Gerd Janssen charged with bootlegging was found guilty on twelve or thirteen counts, and as this was his second offense, it meant a minimum sentence sixty days in the county jail for each count, and that means a two year job for Mr. Janssen. Perhaps that is the reason he appealed to the district court and gave bond for appearance. It is not quite so pleasant to face a jail sentence as a fine for this liquor business. A third offense and conviction is a penitentiary sentence.

Gus Paulsen waived examination on an assault charge and gave bond to appear at the district court. He also has a civil case for damages pending in relation to this assault.

Next Saturday is the time set for hearing the case of Fred Kano and Irvin Hille, charged with the illegal sale of liquor.

In police court three lads pleaded guilty to a charge of shooting within corporate limits. It seems that they were trying to get a dog that had been getting them.

OLD SETTLERS PICNIC A SUCCESS

The old settlers picnic and soldiers home coming on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, while not as largely attended perhaps as in former years, did not lack anything in enthusiasm. The sports and contests found plenty of contestants. The parade was not as large as in former years but those that did prepare floats showed good taste and there were prizes for all and then some.

The ball game on Wednesday drew a good crowd and Winside defeated Joe Stechers famous Dodge team to the tune of 7 to 13. Thursday the aeroplane arrived, but on account of the wind and a rather rough landing place the bird man decided not to carry passengers which was a great disappointment to many of our people who had the flying fever. He made a very nice exhibition flight about 6 o'clock in the evening and reached an altitude of nearly 3,000 feet from which height he did a series of nose dives, immelmans and various aerial acrobatics, he flew directly to Sioux City after his exhibition without making a landing. The Savidge band of fifteen pieces furnished the music and let us say here that the band is an excellent one under the direction of Erick Ecklund.—Winside Tribune.

IN NEW QUARTERS

The first of the month the Phillee & Harrington Lumber Co. moved into their new office building, which is nearly completed. They have been making some substantial improvements this summer, and while not yet quite completed they are occupying. Behind a 50-foot pressed brick front they have made a convenient office of tile, and enclosed a lumber shed 50x150 feet, partly with a tile wall and partly with lumber covered with a roofing paper said to be fire-resisting. Their old sheds have been moved to a lot across the alley, enclosed, and improved, so they are now fixed to store a larger lumber stock than ever before, and store it safely.

WORKING ON REDISTRICTING

Miss Sewell, A. V. Teed and Walter Gabler, to whom has been assigned the difficult task of redistricting this county under the new school law which will permit a consolidation of schools a little later, and larger districts and fewer and better schools, are at Lincoln this week to consult with like committees from other counties for such work. We are informed that they go at the order of the authorities higher up; whether they wanted to take up the task or not.

KOCH-THOMPSEN

Ervin L. Koch of New Haven, Missouri, and Miss Minnie Thompson of Wisner, Nebraska, were married by Judge Cherry, August 28, 1919. The bride has been assistant at the Jeffries store the past two years and the groom has just returned from two years service in the American army. The couple left immediately for their new home in Denver, Colorado.

Heating Stove? Remember the Hardships of Something Cheaper

Should you select the cheaper stove, it is necessary to reconcile yourself to a smaller value, higher fuel bills, and lack of control. Disappointment is ever present and in a few years the stove gives out.

Why invite this condition when you can safeguard yourself in the purchase of the original ROUND OAK (burns all fuels).

We invite the opportunity of demonstrating its proved economy, durability, and control.

R. T. Dailey, who came here from Omaha, where he has been carpentering for many years, is at present getting out a new front for the Nuss store building.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hiller of Carroll and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Davis of Sholes were here Tuesday morning on their way to Lincoln to attend the fair, going by automobile.

Mrs. Tim Collins and son, Lawrence, of Carroll departed last week to visit Miss Margaret Coleman, who has been in Denver several months for her health and is reported as feeling fine.

Mildred and Lela Cox, who have been spending the summer vacation with their grandparents, Wm. Hogue-wood and wife, returned to Omaha Monday to be ready to resume school there. Wm. Hoguewood accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Blivernicht spent Saturday and Sunday here, guests at the home of her parents, Geo. Lamberson and family. They have been spending part of their summer vacation in Plymouth county, Iowa, and were on their way to St. Charles, South Dakota, where Mr. Blivernicht is superintendent of the city schools. They left Monday morning.

Some months ago, the judges of the supreme court, acting under authority of law, appointed a committee of five, whose duty it was to see that a survey of the state was made, relating to economic questions, to gather information for the use of members of the proposed constitutional convention when it shall assemble. J. G. W. Lewis, a candidate from this county for the place, tells us that this committee has asked him to furnish them with information regarding "spectal legislation," and he is now working on a paper relating to this subject.

James Stanton of Carroll is attending the state fair this week. Ross Jones, son of C. E. Jones, of Carroll, was also a passenger headed in that direction.

Roy and Arthur Johnson from Orion have been here visiting at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Herman Lundberg, returning home Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer are home from a visit in the west part of the state. They report a very good time, and that the wheat country look to them.

Miss Martha Weber, who is employed in the offices of the Moline Plow Works at Omaha, was home for Sunday and Monday observing Labor day on Monday.

Henry Tranquill is now the one man in charge of the repair work at the West Garage, his partner, Carl Bernston having sold his interest to him and retired.

Mrs. L. Walsworth from Colorado Springs, who is engaged for some work at the Normal the coming year, came the first of the week, ready to commence her duties next week.

Rev. S. M. Petty from Adrian, Missouri, came with his mother to visit his sister, Mrs. Brown for a few days, returning home Tuesday. Mrs. Petty remained for a more extended visit with her daughter.

Miss Sewell and her father were at Sioux City Tuesday, he going to see if he can obtain a spectacle to help his vision. Wednesday, Miss Sewell went to Lincoln to attend the fair and look after some school matters which are to be threshed out there at that time.

Miss Ada Norris of Omaha, who has been here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bannister, returned home Monday. She was joined here in her visit at the Bannister home by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Contois of Clearwater, who came to visit the lad's sister, Mrs. Bannister, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clark left Monday afternoon by car for a month's outing which they plan to spend visiting relatives and friends and sightseeing in Iowa, Illinois and eastern states. At Sioux City they were joined by George Clark and mother, brother and mother to Ralph, who will make the journey with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ellenwood went to Nes Moines, Monday to spend a few days there with the lady's son, Harris Sorenson, who is that far on his way home from France and Germany, coming over recently with others of the 4th infantry. It was his misfortune to have to submit to an operation for appendicitis, and consequently has been detained at Fort Des Moines for a time. They had expected him last week, but learning why he did not come, went to visit him. It is thought that he will be able to accompany them home the last of the week.

Geo. Van Norman and family are home from an automobile visiting trip, when they went to Windom, Minnesota, to visit his brother, and returning stopped at Merville, Iowa. George tells us that he found conditions in both states much the same as here, so far as crops are concerned, but that land is priced higher in northwestern Iowa for sale and rent than here. Rents at $20 the acre and sales at $600 are not uncommon there. He says that he will hate to leave this part of Nebraska, but when such things come to pass here, he will be among those who are seeking a land not priced so high.

"We never miss the water till the well goes dry," is an old saying, and its truth was made plain to Wayne people Saturday and Monday. One day last week a break came to the larger of the two pumps maintained to furnish our water supply in the tank, and the smaller pump was not able to maintain a pressure that would not leave much danger in case of fire, and provide water to constantly sprinkle the street. So the water wagon was put away for a day or two. Monday was an especially windy day, and it was impossible to keep the dust out of houses. Consequently when Gus Will, perched upon his high seat top of the tank began to make the rounds Monday afternoon all agreed that he was a fine looking fellow, one they were glad to see. Perhaps when we have a paved street it will not be so bad.

Our Great Removal Sale Continues!

Until Saturday Night, Sept. 13—10 Days

A second bunch of the bills telling of the extension is being distributed, telling in detail all of the bargains not enumerated here and the big cut in prices of reasonable goods.

Fixtures are for sale subject to delivery when we close here. Some lines of stock are now broken, though but few completely gone, so you may still be reasonably sure of finding what you need in the stock. Come and see, and save money. Here are some samples of the bargains in the different lines.

Dress Goods Cut Deep

The slash we have made in staple dress goods of good patterns has made this department popular with the ladies. We want to close out the entire line of gingham, calico, percales, silks, etc.

Hose

Hose for the whole family, in silk and cotton in many shades, including the guaranteed "Bear Brand" hose, at but little more than Half Price.

Shirts, Waists, Overalls, Etc.

Many a man and boy is saving money by coming here during this sale to lay in a supply of work clothing in these lines for less money than he can possibly expect to secure it for within a year. Are you taking advantage of the opportunity to make your dollar bring you the most?

Odds and Ends

REAVER & KELLEY'S UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Big 2-Car Tent Show—Coming Soon

The always popular "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as produced by Reaver & Kelley will make its appearance in Wayne in their big tent theater seating 2500 people, Wednesday, September 10, 1919.

The Reaver & Kelly Show possesses the unique distinction of being the only company presenting Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal classic in its original form. Messrs. Reaver & Kelly have assembled a company of Metropolitan art stars and will offer the people of Wayne a most superb production. Nothing has been left undone to make this presentation complete in scenic effects and equipment. The band and orchestra is a feature and twice daily upon the principal streets a free band concert will be given.

Among the many added features with the Reaver & Kelly Show is Miss Esther Brodie, cast as Eva in the play. Little Miss Brodie having been featured on the best chautauqua circuits and vaudeville time, will be seen in a series of original Scotch songs and dances. Miss Brodie is second only to the great Harry Lauder.

One performance only will be given at Wayne, Nebraska, one night only under their mammoth waterproof canvas theater.
 Wednesday, September 10.

MILLER-HARMS

Last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Eva Miller and Rev. J. Harms were united in holy wedlock in the prettily decorated Lutheran church. Promptly at the appointed hour the bride on the arm of her father, Mr. Fred Miller, entered the church. The wedding march was played by Prof. K. J. Kollmorgen, former teacher of the groom. At the altar the bride was received by the groom and his brother, Willie, who acted as best man.

Miss Lydia Harms, Miss Hannechen Renter, Walter Miller and Gerhard Harms acted as witnesses. The ceremony was performed by the father of the groom, Rev. Wm. Harms from Bancroft. The double ring ceremony was used. Mrs. Kollmorgen enhanced the beauty of the service by the singing of the 23rd Psalm.

The bride wore a gown of India silk presented to her by the groom. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a delightful supper was served. The brothers and sisters of the groom had prepared an entertaining program and the hours of the evening passed unnoticed by the guests. A mid-night ice cream was served and the wedding cake cut by the bride was served by the groom.

As soon as the necessary papers are received the young couple will travel to India to do missionary work among the Hindus of the Madras presidency.

The young couple begin their life together with the good wishes of many friends and full confidence in the words which are spoken to them from the altar. He leadeth me the right way for His name's sake.—Hoskins Headlight.

REPLYING TO FALSE CHARGES

The following letter has been sent out by the International Harvester people, replying to charges made relating to their Titan 10-20 tractor, sold here by Messrs. Kay & Bichel. It flatly contradicts the stories circulated.

Dear Sir:—When public approval is extra generous in its support, it frequently happens that some dissatisfied interest, for selfish or other reasons, endeavors to arouse unjust suspicion and to create a false impression. Unusual merit is no safeguard, and only increases the hazard of such an assault. Our Titan 10-20 Tractor has been subjected to such an unwarranted attack.

Numerous reports have been recently circulated that we are unloading a surplus and overstock and that it is an obsolete model and that we will discontinue its sale as soon as the present surplus stock is sold, and other statements of similar and misleading character.

In view of the many thousands of satisfied and enthusiastic owners and our present great demand, in justice to the trade and ourselves we make the statement without reserve that we have at this time an immediate demand for thousands of this model in excess of our supply. We are making every effort to increase the production as rapidly as possible. We are expecting to increase our sales of Titan 10-20 Tractors in 1920 several thousand over 1919 or any previous year.

We have been furnishing tractors to the farmers of the world for more than twelve years, and have not secured our business by subterfuge or misleading statements. Our reputation for quality goods and fair dealing is backing this as the best value for the money the farmer can buy.

If some companies are unable to secure a satisfactory sale of either obsolete or recent models, that may explain why they are so envious of our Titan Tractors—the most popular tractor now on the market.

Yours very truly,
 —INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY OF AMERICA.

A CAR OF OLD WHEAT FLOUR

Every year at this time of the year, flour made from the wheat grown the season before is considered much more satisfactory, and with the 1919 crop not up to standard in every respect, it is especially true this year. For that reason Geo. Fortner has been insisting that his patrons have the benefit of another car load of flour from the 1918 wheat crop, and it is now here for your use.

It is of the famous Cinderella brand, which is a guarantee of quality, and quality is what all want in their bread. Made from No. 1 hard wheat, it makes more bread to the sack than any other wheat flour we know of. Those who have used it know that this is true, and those who will try a sack will be convinced of the truth. Don't wait for the husband to order—just go to the phone and call Black 289, and tell how many sacks you want sent up.—adv

AN ARMY OVER NIGHT

Bryan was laughed at because he said that the United States could raise an army of a million men over night. Of course he said nothing about equipping them—but it is easy to conceive of a condition that would cause more than a million Americans to offer their services in a night for their country. But just now we are not dealing with an army of a mere million men. We are talking of greater numbers.

This week America is marshalling a force of nearly 25,000,000 people and doing it practically in a night. Just to think, at the tap of a bell last Monday morning approximately that number of Americans entered the schools all over this great land of ours. Of that number approximately one million were officers—teachers. Our system of school is easily the greatest institution of Free America—yet it has grown gradually with the development of the country until we fail to recognize it as its value—fail to measure it at its worth or comprehend its vastness.

It has gradually grown from a small beginning to the proportions of a mighty army. At one time it was practically a volunteer service. Now in a measure a draft; for most of the states have laws compelling all children of certain ages to attend school. There are a few conscientious objectors, but they are comparatively few—and in most cases the objection is overcome by suasion of one kind or another. This is an army of which we may be truly proud. May it never be less.

Is a man who has been elected to a seat in the U. S. senate supposed to be in any manner bound to represent the will of the people of the state which sent him there? It hardly seems so these days.

The standing of the peace treaty and league of nations is a hard one to solve if we leave it to the daily press. One day they have the treaty surely ratified—or are confident that it will be when the votes are counted, but the next day the stuff is all off, and the treaty is to fail of ratification. But we notice one sure thing, in private conversation one seldom meets one who is opposed to the treaty and the peace pact. Its opponents all appear to be in the senate.

President Wilson will today begin delivering a few talks direct to the people regarding the league of nations and the peace treaty. It will then be for the people to stand up and tell their senators how they want them to vote—and any senator who thinks he is greater than the people who sent him as their representative should be left at home next time. By the way it already appears that a number of senators have been making their own political graves during the past few months.

Mose Warner is at it again. And Nebraska and the nation dry. We did hope that Mose would be reformed before this time. But according to a letter from him in the Dakota County Eagle, he is still seeing snakes—real rattlers, too. Of course, he did not claim that he really saw any of the reptiles of late—but he had some sort of a vision which reminded him painfully. We hope that in the course of another dry year or two his vision will clear so that he can see the more pleasant things of life, and if he still sees a den of snakes, we hope they will be nothing more than garter snakes.

SCHOOL MAKES GOOD START

The work of organizing classes to get down to real work at the Wayne high and public school is well along for the third day of school. The enrollment at the close of the second day was 130 in the high school and 286 in the grades. The sixth grade has an enrollment of fifty-five, and plans are on foot for another teacher to take charge of a part of them, and relieve the congestion. Owing to illness reported the kindergarten teacher did not reach Wayne, and Mrs. Hays Atkins is supplying the little folks with a teacher for the present. All in all, Wayne schools are making a good start.

Next Monday the Normal training school will open, and make a place for the remainder of the pupils in the district. Their enrollment added to the enrollment above will virtually tell the total school population of Wayne under fifteen years of age.

FASHIONS IN FILMS IS LATEST NOVELTY

"That Well Dressed Look"
is Photoplay Introducing Latest Styles

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

To Be in Wayne Friday,
September 12, at the Crystal Theater

A motion picture of particular interest to the women in this city will be shown here within a short time. It is the first motion picture film devoted exclusively to the exploitation of fashions, and is to be shown here through the courtesy of the Wooltex studios, for whom it was produced by Universal, under the personal supervision of Harry Levey, general manager of the educational department.

The latest creations—and, in fact, creations yet to be placed on sale in the New York shops—will be shown draped upon the prettiest and cleverest models it was possible to obtain. These young women were selected as types for the display of the particular garments they wear. The result of this, and of the painstaking direction given the production, has resulted in one of the most beautiful as well as entertaining photoplays yet released, with an educational theme.

Lavish settings, choice garments, all of which are those which dictates of fashion have pointed out as the correct thing for the Fall and Winter seasons, and superb photography make this production stand alone in its own field. Its object is described in its title, which is "That Well Dressed Look."

This film is the second edition of a similar play which was released in the early spring. This first edition was made the object of a nationwide campaign, which was so successful that the second edition was planned. In many cities exhibitions were staged in conjunction with the film, in which were the objects of much comment by both public and the press. Several joint exhibitors of this type have been arranged.

It was with a desire to present to the stylish women of America a forecast of what the coming seasons were to bring that this photoplay was conceived. Men and women in close touch with the fashion world, whose representatives are continually visiting the style centers of the world, and who are in close touch with all gatherings of creators of fashions, were called upon to assist in the preparation of "That Well Dressed Look," so that when it is introduced in the theaters of the nation it will lack nothing in the way of originality and preciseness.

Providing clothing for the stylish woman is no small job, and in filming garments which are criterions in their own fields, the utmost care must be exercised to exploit only those styles which are typical of the times, and which have met with popular favor with the leaders in this field. Pains were taken that only garments meeting these requirements were used in this production.

These facts, coupled with the detail of almost perfect direction and the use of the most clever models to be found, warrant the merit of this production. In the eyes of the women of America, at least, there is no doubt but that this second edition of fashions will meet with favor. Clothes are interesting to all women and most men. The story woven into this little playlet will find a responsive thrill in the heart of any audience, no matter where assembled.

"That Well Dressed Look," second edition, is now being booked in all of the important theaters of the country.

The firm of Orr & Orr Company handle this particular line of women's clothes and are cooperating in having this style show shown in Wayne.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

J. H. Fitch is a Norfolk visitor today.

Miss Anna Granquist and Miss Mabel Gossard visited Beemer this week.

A. A. Wollert returned from Omaha Wednesday evening, where he had been for a day or two on a business mission.

Mrs. C. M. Ammidown and daughter, Ruth, came from Creighton the first of the week, and the young lady will attend the Normal this year, and plan to make their home here until the student finishes her course of study.

Mrs. John Harder left the first of the week for an extended visit at her old home with relatives at Three Rivers, Michigan.

Wm. Benson was taken to the local hospital Monday evening on a hurry call, with a case correctly diagnosed as appendicitis. It was in an advanced stage; but as we go to press he is reported to be doing nicely, and the crisis passing.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Brooks and children and his grandmother, Mrs. Brooks, of Hastings, who spent a week in the C. W. Hiscox home, went to Lincoln Monday to attend the state fair before returning home. Miss Mae Hiscox returned with them and will attend the Presbyterian college at Hastings.

John Bressler, Jr., who is at or near Spirit Lake was suddenly taken with appendicitis last week, and submitted to an operation. He is now doing nicely.

J. J. Ahern and family drove in from a Minnesota lake Sunday afternoon. They spent a month or more there on a vacation trip, fishing and camping and simply having a good time out in the open.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Miller and two children drove from Perry, Oklahoma, arriving here Friday and remained over Sunday with her brother, W. E. Beaman and family, leaving for home Monday morning.

TUBERCULOSIS TEST FOR NEBRASKA COWS

Just now while Nebraska dairymen and others are worrying over the new law compelling cows to be submitted to the TB-Test, the following from South Dakota, telling some of the benefits one man obtained from prompt action in that state may be of interest:

To J. A. Speirs, of Hand county South Dakota, goes the honor of having the first tuberculosis-free accredited dairy herd in the state. Mr. Speirs believes in healthy animals as a basis for the production of sanitary, wholesome food, and in order to secure the department of agriculture's guarantee of a clean herd he willingly submitted his animals to a number of painstaking applications of the tuberculin test.

Here are a few reasons why it paid Mr. Speirs to have his herd certified as "TB-Free." In the first place, his surplus animals, which he offers for sale, are attractive to prospective buyers because of the Federal certificate showing that the cattle were found to be apparently free from the white plague. The fact that he owns an accredited herd signifies to the wise that he is a breeder, an up-builer of better cattle, rather than a jobber, who handles cattle merely for rapid turnover. He has the satisfaction of knowing positively that market milk sold from his farm will never cause the death or serious illness of defenseless babies and children. At any time Mr. Speirs can ship individuals of his herd, or the entire herd, from one state to another without immediate tuberculin test, due to the fact that his herd is on Uncle Sam's accredited-herd list.

THE FARM BUREAUS ARE GETTING RESULTS

County farm bureaus have saved farmers of the United States millions of dollars, through cooperative projects to eliminate waste, according to statistics now being gathered. Factors which have been causing millions of dollars in loss, such as hog cholera, grasshoppers, insect pests of all sorts, blackleg, etc., have been successfully fought by cooperative community projects under the leadership of farm bureaus. More than 2,300 counties of the 2,536 counties of the United States now having farm bureaus.

MORE PROFIT IN MORE DIVERSIFIED FARMING

It has been one of the contentions of the writer for years that a more diversified and wider range in farming operations would be well rewarded financially in this part of Nebraska, and every now and again it is proven by the successes made by those who venture from the beaten path of corn, cattle, hogs, small grain and alfalfa. This line of farming is good, and especially successful in this county—but why keep so many eggs in one basket? Pop corn has proven successful by those who have tried it. We believe that broom corn would be a profitable crop if a few farmers would get together so that enough would be planted to make it wise to introduce machinery necessary to properly care for the crop and prepare it for shipment. Some tell us that the average size farm will be increased in this county. We contend that the future prosperity of the community will be increased by smaller, better and more diversified farming. Near Laurel they are making a success of growing hemp, as proven by the first few actual tests. A neighbor was telling us that they are securing a product there worth from $150 to $300 per ton, and we help the following from the Laurel Advocate telling of the start there.

Prospect of Hemp Mill
Monday afternoon the writer drove out to the J. J. Champlin field north of town where the breaker and carder are at work and the hemp is being baled for shipment—several carloads having already been sent to market. Oscar Tregerstrom, a representative of the International Harvester Co., who has been here for some time kind of overseeing the work, told the reporter that so far as he had heard the hemp raised was the best in the western states. The International Harvester Co. has been making a test of hemp raising in a number of states, this part of Nebraska being selected as one of the points. Mr. Champlin raised his hemp two years ago, but had trouble in securing the proper machinery to handle it; but he finally got it and is now putting the crop on the market, and expects to realize well financially from the experiment. With the proper machinery the crop can be sown in the spring and marketed the following winter.

J. G. Haney of Grand Forks, North Dakota, district manager of the International Harvester Co., for five states, was here last week and stated that the hemp grown by Mr. Champlin showed the largest per cent of long fiber of any hemp he had seen; that the hemp grown here was taller by several feet than any of the other experimental places.

Mr. Tregerstrom also informed the reporter that the International Harvester Co. was considering the matter of erecting a mill here if enough interest was taken in the raising of hemp to permit of such an undertaking. In this way the fiber could be worked up here and marketed as twine. He also gave us to understand that the refuse of the hemp could be made into pulp paper; that where these fiber mills are there is but little refuse or waste—the entire stalk of the hemp being used in one way or another.

Such a mill would be a great advantage to any community, and The Advocate hopes that the locating of such a mill here can be accomplished.

CONSTITUTION NEEDS

In the last issue of the Nebraska Farmer we find a letter written for publication in that paper, at the request of its editor, an article from the pen of J. G. W. Lewis, one of the Wayne county candidates for member of the coming constitutional convention, which is worth reading and it also shows the attitude of Mr. Lewis on questions that are to come before that gathering, regardless of who may be sent to represent us:

To the Nebraska Farmer: I am asked to state some of the fundamental considerations underlying the proposed revision of the Nebraska constitution. In the first place, the basis of any political structure in our country must be democratic control. Notwithstanding the shafts often leveled at democracy by its critics, the fact remains that there is no other foundation as good or even possible. With this in view, every change sought to be incorporated in the constitution should be in the direction of making more possible and more certain a control by the people.

In this connection it should be remarked, however, that the people cannot be said to exercise a choice when they are compelled to exercise it blindly as with a long and confusing ballot. The political machine should have fewer parts and it should be brought more perfectly under control.

Again, control by the people does not mean control by any faction of the people. We must give up the idea that it is possible in the long run, for any class of people really to prosper at the expense of any other class. The effort must be made to prevent the division of our society into distinct classes, but if it cannot be prevented entirely, the next best thing is simple justice between classes. Simple justice is the great preventive of discontent, and in these days of increasing unrest, we shall do well to remember the old adage which says so wisely that "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Right along this line arises the pertinent question as to the wisdom of fostering a bitter class feeling among the farmers. The interests of the farmers rightly interpreted, are the interests of the vast majority of the people of the state, for everyone who is engaged in any occupation which is necessary to society, is a producer. It is cheerfully admitted, however, that as society advances, the lines between producers and non-producers need continually to be redrawn. There is little doubt that the line of demarcation needs adjustment just now, but why not make common cause with all real producers against common wrongs? It is a mistake to think that the farmers have no friends outside their immediate ranks. Plain wisdom dictates that they should not restrict themselves to the use of purely "farmer" instrumentalities.

Finally, it must be kept in mind that a constitution is not the statute law of a state. It cannot descend to statutory details; it must deal with general principles and leave to future legislatures, the determination and the satisfaction of passing needs. Indeed, the process of revising our constitution should, in all probability, be one of removing constitutional restrictions on the legislature without relaxing the people's hold on that body.

The history of constitutional restrictions is that they operate quite uniformly to restrict the will of the people, and that the needs of a future generation can not be entirely anticipated by the present generation. In other words, in spite of the desire of humanity to state eternal principles once for all and relegate the business of government to printed documents, it is probably none the less true that "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."—J. G. W. Lewis, Wayne county.

THE DIFFERENT CAUSES

President Wilson figures the chief cause of the high cost of living is the senate's delay in ratifying the peace treaty. Senator Smoot (Utah) says it's the heavy exportation of necessities. Senator Sherman (Ill.) figures retail profiteering is to blame. Inflation of the currency is the reason given by Senator Myers (Mont.), while governmental extravagance is blamed by Senator McCormick (Ill.). Senator Thomas (Colo.) puts the blame on high taxes levied by the revenue bill; Senator Gronna (N. D.) on too much wages for too few hours of service; Senator Kenyon (Ia.) on the packers; Senator Smith (S. C.) on movies and flivvers; Senator McKellar (Tenn.) on cold storage; Congressman Mondell (Wyo.) on the democratic party, and Congressman Champ Clark (Mo.) on the republican party.

All of which makes more or less interesting reading. But, compared to a tale that would really tell how to overcome that old H. C. of L. and do so at once, it would make just about as much of a hit as a copy of the Congressional Record for 1911 would compare to today's best seller.

CHINA'S FOOLISH FRIENDS

Senator Lodge's handpicked majority of the foreign relations committee has voted to recommend an alteration of the peace treaty—not a "reservation"—to substitute "China" for "Japan" in the section dealing with Shantung. Admitting that no one in the United States approves of the Shantung award, just where would acceptance of such a recommendation leave the United States—and China? Japan is in possession. Few imagine that Japan will accept such an amendment. But unless Japan accepts and moves out, the whole peace treaty falls through and Japan remains in possession. The league of nations falls, too, Japan is released from any promises made in Paris.

The senate committee amendment means nothing unless it is backed by economic or military force. In that case it is an ultimatum.

Will all those who favor making war on Japan rise and be counted?

Uncle Sam, or rather Mr. Lodge's committee members, are left sitting in front of a mirror trying to bluff with a bottled straight which Japan can see. China is left to the tender mercies of Japan with no place to make an appeal for justice. If the senate disapproves of such an award it would be quite in order to ratify and instruct the league delegates to move for reconsideration at the first meeting of the league. That might be effective. The present attitude of bluster and fuss is not.

Otherwise the senate should reject the whole treaty and ask for a new conference.

Someone—Sam Blythe, perhaps—quotes a politician as saying, "Oh, Lord, deliver me from my foolish friends." China can well echo the sentiment.—Omaha News.

LESS TROUBLE WITH TRACTORS

It takes about 2½ gallons of fuel an acre to run a tractor for plowing in the Dakotas, according to reports from several hundred farmers received by the United States department of agriculture. These reports, summarized in Farmers' Bulletin 1035, cover 2, 3, 4, and 5 plow tractors of various makes, and there is usually a slightly lower consumption where gasoline is used than where kerosene is used. These differences, however, are so small that the average of 2½ gallons may be taken as coming very close to the actual acre consumption for any type or size of machine. The more recent reports received in this regard indicate that farmers are having much less trouble than formerly in handling kerosene-burning tractors. Nearly two-thirds of the tractors on the Dakota farms reporting burn kerosene, and the results are apparently satisfactory, particularly in view of the fact that the present price of kerosene is but half that of gasoline. However, the advantage of gasoline in ease of operation and in the additional assurance it gives that the engine will keep running steadily makes many men prefer the more expensive fuel. This bulletin may be secured from the Extension Service, College of Agriculture, Lincoln.

Long Distance Calls And Operating Expenses

Long distance telephone calls can be handled with much greater speed when conversation is not required with a particular person but when anyone at the telephone called will talk.

Also, the operating cost and use of wires involved in handling a long distance call for a particular person is much greater than for a message where the person will talk with anyone answering the telephone called.

A lower rate is now offered to telephone users who place long distance calls for anyone at the telephone wanted rather than for a particular person.

A "report charge" is made to cover a portion of the expense we incur when a long distance call is placed but which is never completed.

"The Zero Hour"

By T. B. ALDERSON

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"It's positively spooky!" whispered Doris Verne into the ear of her escort and would be lover, Clement Hastings, and she pressed closer to him and he was proud and thrilled at this sentient appeal to his sheltering protection.

"The lecturer is certainly a gifted verbal window dresser," low voiced Clement. "What with magnetism, soul, concentration, hypnotism and clairvoyance, he promulgates some decidedly stunning theories."

It was an afternoon session of a higher thought ladies' society of Brocton. Doris had met Clement on her way to the lecture there to be delivered by an eminent so-called transcendentalist, and had with little difficulty persuaded him to accompany her. "Honor," "privilege," flushed and throbbing he had murmured, meaning that she had awarded him the acme of human felicity.

The lecturer harped upon "The Zero Hour," as he designated the 60 minutes between midnight and 1 o'clock in the morning. According to him when the world was asleep the occult was presented under the most favorable conditions. Then roamed disembodied spirits. Then, while the soul of a sleeper was in suspension, the subtle influence of suggestion or attraction could be most completely developed. Doris listened, caught by the poetry and artistic allusions of the speaker. Clement's mind was too fully filled with consciousness of the presence of his charming companion to care for idealism or theory.

"It was all very beautiful," said Doris, as they walked homeward, "but I don't believe I will sleep a wink to-night thinking of the ghostly stories that man related."

"There's a glorious sunset coming," spoke Clement, as they neared Doris' home. "What a view we could have from Prospect Rock over on the river bank," and to his delight and satisfaction Doris made no demur as they strolled in that direction. They stood gazing at the magnificent panorama of hill, meadow and stream and at the beautiful changing hues of the eventide sky. Clement's heart was beating wildly. It seemed as though the supreme moment of his life had arrived and that he must give utterance to the love thoughts that possessed him. He was about to speak when Doris pointed and cried out:

"Oh! there is the first blue bell of the season," and Clement, spying the flower, clambered up a rock, secured it, and he slipped regaining the ground, and was delighted at the pretty little scream of concern that issued from Doris' lips, betokening a gentle solicitude that inspired him to daring and hope. He pressed the little floweret across his lips and handed it to Doris. She flushed and quivered as something in his eyes told her that his long restrained avowal of love was about to be expressed. There was an interruption. Some girl friends of Doris came into sight and then joined her. Clement kept by her until they reached home.

"The moon comes up grandly at half past eight," he whispered to her, "I shall be at Prospect Rock watching for it—and you."

Doris did not reply, but Clement went away with a hopeful heart. As early as seven o'clock he was at the trysting place. Eight o'clock came, half past. The moon came up gloriously. Nine o'clock—ten. He sat against a rock dreaming of Doris, now he could not see her, and gradually drifted into slumber.

Doris had debated flutteringly with herself as to what she had better do about meeting Clement. She was undecided, but was half inclined to go to Prospect Rock. Two of her girl friends, however, had stayed to supper. They did not go home until nine o'clock. Doris concluded that it was too late to venture on a stroll alone. Besides that Clement had probably got tired of waiting and had gone home.

She did not go to her room, but reclined in the hammock on the porch. Her mind went over the incidents of the day and she closed her eyes thinking of the "Zero hour" lecture and his weird address.

It was that mysterious "Zero hour" when Clement awoke. He aroused with a start. Coming toward him, distinctly visible in the clear moonlight, was Doris directly where she and Clement had stood the afternoon previous. She paused. Clement saw her take from her belt the blue bell flower. She pressed it to her lips, she turned dangerously near to the edge of the rock, which ran sheer 30 feet to the river below. At that moment Clement noted that her eyes were closed. Doris was walking in her sleep! He sprang forward, caught her in his arms and swung her away from the hovering peril.

Doris awoke with a wild, affrighted cry, to listen amazed to the recital of Clement. He had released her from his clasp, but stood near to her still, his eyes aglow telling the story of his emotion.

"The occult influence the 'Zero hour,'" said Doris with a slight laugh. "I went to sleep thinking all about that lecture, and see what the mystic forces have wrought!"

"Don't go, Doris," pleaded Clement, as she turned her face in the direction of home—"at least not until I know if the 'Zero hour' is the great, happy hour of my life!"

ARE SMALL TOWN MERCHANTS CROWDED OUT?

The news item appearing in the Wisner Chronicle to the effect that no less than three of their business houses are closing out their stocks to retire from mercantile business or seek locations in larger places. If the small town dries up, so to speak it will tend to make more business for the larger ones and the catalog houses. When three places close almost at once it seems to be the case here, in a good town like Wisner, surrounded by a very rich agricultural country, it hardly seems that the retailer is profiting in the small town—or else has made a fortune on which to retire. The property owners, farmers and all, should view with apprehension a state of affairs which tends to drive the business houses out of their town. Are the farmers doing their part in maintaining these institutions? Are the merchants doing their full duty to the patrons on whom they must depend for a profitable continuance in business? Who is killing the goose that lays the golden eggs that make a prosperous community?

DOES HE HOLD OFFICE FOR LIFE?

That is the question which the voters should find out. We think not. Judge W. A. Redick of one of the judicial districts south of us, is quoted in the Blair Pilot as saying two things which put him in a class so far behind the times as to make one wonder what sort of "justice" one might get if on trial before this judge. Here are his sentiments on two questions of the day:

"Only male citizens of the United States, able to read and write and understand the English language should have the right to vote. Preservation of domestic tranquility, the ideals of home life and the moral and spiritual superiority of women are much more to be desired than political equality of the sexes which tends to the destruction of all these."

But listen. The judge doesn't even approve of the initiative and referendum, saying concerning it:

"These provisions are subversive of and inconsistent with a representative form of government and substitute the voice of an uninformed, untrained, irresponsible, unthinking, passion-led electorate for the deliberate judgment of properly elected representatives of the people."

The "judge" goes on to say that impeachment of any officer except a judge should be started upon the complaint of any three citizens. But he would put the judge in the class with kings, and bestow upon them the "divine" right to sit in judgment. In other words, the judge is a fool and don't know it—and don't realize that he is living in an age of progress. And the fossil that he is, is fighting the constitutional convention. No doubt he hopes to some day be in place to say what is constitutional. If so, we pity the people.

SELECT YOUR SEED POTATOES AT HARVEST

The custom of using as seed, potatoes left from the previous season's crop, after having disposed of the best, must be discontinued if the present quality and yield of the crop is to be materially improved, say specialists of the United States department of agriculture. The grower can not expect to get maximum yields from inferior seed stock any more than the dairyman can expect to get maximum milk yields from scrub cows. The best time to select seed potatoes, according to the specialists, is in the fall when the crop is being harvested. Then the yield of the individual plant and the quality of the tubers can be considered. Good seed is pure in respect to the variety; is produced by healthy, vigorous, heavy-yielding plants grown under favorable climatic conditions; is somewhat immature; reasonably uniform in size and shape; firm and sound. The first sprouts should begin to develop at planting time.

BOY HAS BIG RECORD AS POTATO GROWER

Wray Drake, a member of the boys and girls club of Kimball county, who started in the potato business with some seed picked from his father's spuds, has the following record: With the proceeds of his first crop he purchased a bushel of pure Red River Valley Ohio seed for $2.60, which he planted. That fall he harvested sixteen bushels for which he received second prize in the county. Half the seed belonged to his father and he traded it for a calf which he still owns. He joined the club again and made about $40 profit besides taking first prize at the county fair and first in his county at the state potato show. Last year he raised 150 bushel and won third prize at the state fair, first at the Scottsbluff show, the silver cup, the state banner, and the blue ribbon and gold honor medal for the first in his county. He received $15 in cash prizes and other profits amounting to $60 or $70. He says the secret of his success is sticking on the job.

Fall Stocks Are Ready

We have prepared for the largest fall and winter business in our history and our store is stocked to capacity with merchandise we have been buying for the past six months.

We would like to have you for a customer this fall as we believe our stock is in the best shape it has ever been to merit and hold your trade.

Our Prices Are Lowest—We Bought Early

We thought prices would go up this fall so in May and June we bought every dollar's worth of winter merchandise we thought we could possibly sell this season, and we struck it right. Our coats, suits, shoes, underwear, blankets, flannels, domestics, shirts, overalls, yarns, and dry goods in all lines are owned by us at the lowest price and our customers are going to get the benefit of this good fortune.

We also sell groceries and take produce in exchange.

Mrs. Caroline Steele and son, George and his family were at Smithville, Missouri, last week, going by car to visit a son and brother. They returned this week.

Miss Gertrude McEachen went to Newcastle Saturday morning to be ready for school work there Monday. She will teach Latin and French in the high school there this year.

Miss Henrietta Moler, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Grier, near Wayne, returned to Sioux City Sunday, where she taught last year and is to teach again this year.

Mrs. West and her son, who have been visiting and looking after their business interests at and near Ham-mill, South Dakota, returned Sunday, and are again at home at Wayne.

Geo. Warner, who left here six or seven years ago to enter the mercantile business at Bonesteel has sold his business there, and with his family moved last week to Scottsbluff. A friend tells us that he prospered nicely since leaving Wayne.

John Larison and family, who have been spending two or three months at Atwater, Minnesota, fishing, boating and having a splendid time, drove home last week, and are renewing acquaintances with Wayne relatives and friends.

A number of the Savidge Amusement Co. people who live at Wayne when home stopped here part of Sunday, while moving from Winside to Bancroft. Mr. and Mrs. Savidge spent part of the day at the home of her parents, F. M. Griffith and wife. He reports that business is good this season.

They tell us a new car is coming on the market to sell at the very reasonable sum of $250. If it is a real car and worth the price in service and comfort, put the writer down for one. We have been against the high cost proposition so long, that we believe something really low priced and not cheap would take like wild-fire.

Jas. Mulvey, who went to his home at Winner, South Dakota, Friday, after a short visit here, tells us that Winner is a boom town—and growing very fast. That there is to be a new parochial school established there, for which nearly $100,000 has been subscribed. He says that the business men are mostly young men, and that they simply go to it and get what they want in the way of new enterprises.

Rev. D. W. MacGregor was called to Decatur to preach the funeral sermon of Hon. R. G. Langley, who has been an official of the Methodist church in that place for thirty-five years. Mr. Langley was a very prominent Mason. Rev. H. G. Langley of Trinity M. E. church Omaha, treasurer of the Nebraska conference is a son of the deceased. Prof. I. H. Britell, kindly filled Mr. MacGregor's pulpit on Sunday. Mr. Britell is always welcome to the pulpits of our city as he has a message that is worth while for the consideration of any intelligent audience.

Pilger people are taking steps to have incorporated there an electric company with a capital of $25,000, with a view of securing their juice from Stanton. What we cannot see, is why the towns and country along the Blkhorn do not all unite in putting in a dam at the most available point and making the river run light plants all over that valley for a distance of at least fifty miles. The water is there to furnish ample power, and should be made to work. West Point has been saying dam it—but that was the last we heard. They should do it, and not delay.

Joseph Jugensmier, for many years a resident of Randolph, was a Wayne visitor Friday on his way from Clark, where he has a son living, to visit at Randolph, where he has a farm. He now spends his winters in Missouri, where he lived before moving to Nebraska. Mr. Jugensmier told the editor that he was one of the boys who wore the blue in the days of 1861-5, serving all through that war, and participating in about forty different engagements. He was before Vicksburg, and after it fell went with Sherman to the sea. He came from Germany when but 14 years of age, and did not learn much of the English language until ten years later when he enlisted, and he first learned to talk and understand our language in the army. He seems to love his native land—nit. For he said that had he been thirty years younger—he is now 81, he would have gone over with the American forces and helped put the krimp in the kaiser's crown.

The Spreader—the most useful farm implement— Saves the most hard work—does the Most Good.

Of all spreaders made we consider that we have two of the very best made, the

Great Western "Low Down" Spreader

No Adjustments, No Transmissions, No Worm Gears, No Concealed Gears.

Has the Original Endless Apron. Bolted Apron Slats. Non-Bunchable Rake. Simple, Positive Chain Drive.

It is so constructed as to do equally as good work on rough or uneven ground as on level ground.

The beater is of proper size and placed in proper position to do most effective work with least possible friction.

Strong, durable in construction.

The strongest steel frame—4-inch sills, 5 cross members, 3 sets large rollers, double braced.

Wheels track, and are all under load, and with the Western Cut-under can turn in shortest space. All of these features tend to make this machine unequal for real service, and ease of operation.

The Low-down means load easy.

More than 125,000 of these machines now doing satisfactory work.

Why look elsewhere, for we also have the popular

AUCTION SALE!

320 Acres Wayne County, Nebr., Land

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16

This land is known as the W. S. Brown half section and is located 4 miles straight south of Wayne, in Wayne county, Nebraska. Description of the land is south half of section 1, Township 25, Range 3 east.

Improvements

The improvements on the east quarter consist of good, large, roomy house, barn, hog house, granary, garage, cattle shed and double corn crib. There is also a good grove and large orchard. On the west quarter is a house and barn and shed. Both places are well fenced.

Don't Forget This

There is no better county, taken as a whole, in all Nebraska, than Wayne county and this farm is one of the good ones. Land is all tillable and in a high state of cultivation. Its location on the State Highway, and the fact that it is only 4 1/2 miles from High School and State Normal School, makes it an ideal place for a home.

Sale will take place on the premises and will start promptly at 2 P. M., OLD TIME

Terms of sale are extremely easy—$6000 on contract day of sale; $66,000 carried back for 10 years at 5 1-2 per cent. Mortgage will be divided if farm is divided. Balance cash March 1st. More details as to terms sale day.

Remember the Date—Tuesday, September 16th, 1919. Be With Us.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. F. O. Martin and son, Frank, returned Saturday from their visit at Scottsbluff.

W. M. Lessman was one of the prize-winning exhibitors at the fair at Concord, having one specimen from his Hereford herd on exhibition there.

Miss Alice Root of Sholes was here Saturday on her way to Albion, where she is to teach again this year. Her aunt, Mrs. Gudgel, came as far as Wayne with her, and spent the morning here looking after business matters.

Mrs. Ivor Morris from Carroll went to Lincoln Saturday, where she will join Mr. Morris, who is to be at the state fair this week, as a member of the Carroll sextette. This organization has been on the road during the past week as one of the attractions at the different Farmer chautauques held in this part of the state. They are to take part in a daily program at the fair this week, as we understand.

Carl Thompsen, who came home last week from Excelsior Springs, where he had been staying with Mrs. Thompsen, returned again Saturday. He could not report much improvement in her condition.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Robinson, who have been here for a week visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil H. Kohl, left Monday, going to Minnesota with a view of locating somewhere in that state. Dr. Robinson has just received his discharge from service, where he won a commission as first lieutenant.

Mrs. W. S. Dickerson from Omaha returned home last week following a visit with relatives here. She was a guest of her sisters, Mrs. Fisher and Miss Ola Agler. Their brother, John Agler, is still confined to the home, and suffering much from asthma and kindred troubles.

L. M. Owen sends greeting to the Democrat and its readers from Boston on the 29th, saying that they are having a fine time, with splendid weather conditions, adding that the "hub" is "some city." From there they were going to New York City.

A. P. Gossard was at Norfolk the first of the week.

L. C. Gildersleeve returned the first of the week from a visit with his son, Harry, at McCook. From there he went out to Imperial and got a glimpse of the great wheat fields of western Nebraska. Mr. Gildersleeve says it is a country which certainly looks good to him. He brought home some corn samples from a farm at Imperial, and they certainly show evidence that corn can be grown in that vicinity. He tells us, however, that their corn is mostly on their lighter or more sandy soil along the bottoms, and the small grains on the heavier upland soils.

A good used six cylinder car for sale cheap. Will trade it in on a small residence property or will take a Ford in on exchange. See G. A. Wade, Wayne, Nebr., or call at the Democrat office.—adv-1f

COLORADO REAL ESTATE

Do you wish to better your condition? Do you want to own your own farm? Do you want to be independent? Are you not getting tired of serving landlords, of giving one-half of your labor and life for the privilege of living on another man's land when your labor and management are increasing the value of his land from $10 to $25 per acre each year and you get nothing out of this? Why not own your own farm and get all you raise and the increase on its value as well? I believe you can see that if conditions continue as they are today, that within the next three years a man without a home will be an object of pity. You can pay for any piece of land I am offering in that time and have money left. Look over these places and pick out your future home.

320 acres, 2 1/2 miles from Stoneham; 285 acres in cultivation; fair improvements; good water; price $35 per acre; terms; $4,500 cash, balance $500 per year, 7 per cent interest.

320 acres, 4 1/2 miles from Stoneham; 207 acres in cultivation; all fenced; no other improvements; shallow water; price $32 per acre; $4,000 cash, balance $500 per year, 7 per cent interest. A very choice piece of land.

160 acres, 1 1/4 miles from Stoneham; 120 acres in cultivation; extra good improvements; price $55 per acre; terms $5,000 cash, balance $500 per year, 7 per cent interest.

My crop payment proposition:
320 acres, 4 1/2 miles from Stoneham; 110 acres in cultivation; 100 acres more of choice farm land, balance good pasture; every improvement on the place that is needed; price $28 per acre; terms $2,000 cash balance one half of the crop until land is paid for, 7 per cent interest.

640 acres, one mile from New Raymer; 520 acres in cultivation; splendid improvements; price $55 per acre. Terms $13,000 cash, balance one-half of crop until land is paid for, 6 per cent interest. There is no better proposition in Colorado.

320 acres 2 1/2 miles from Stoneham; 300 acres in cultivation; very choice land; small improvements; price $55 per acre; terms $9,000 cash, balance one-half crop until paid for, 7 per cent interest.

If you have your homestead right, here is the place to use it. I have relinquishments on the following places: 320 acres, 3 1/2 miles from Stoneham; 140 acres of farm land, balance pasture; no improvements; price $1,500 cash.

120 acres, 7 miles from Stoneham; 80 acres in cultivation, balance in pasture. There is $2,500 worth of improvements on this place. Old couple and only son have left there so they are forced to sell. Price $4,000 cash. If you are interested in any of these places, write me or better yet, come and see me.

STEEL-SHELDON

At the Methodist Episcopal parsonage Friday, August 29, 1919, Mr. Archie Steel of Lincoln and Miss Mary Sheldon of Randolph were united in marriage. At the request of the young folks the pastor used the beautiful ring ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal church. The young folks will be at home to their friends in Lincoln after September 15. D. W. MacGregor officiated.

Apparently republicans in congress believe that there can be no move toward "reconstruction" until after they have wrecked the constructive work of the last democratic congress.

Announcement

The first of September the partnership between Henry Tranquill and Carl Bernston was dissolved by mutual consent, and Henry Tranquill will continue the business at the

where they did a general automobile repair work.

Mr. Tranquill is an expert mechanic, and a specialist in the care of batteries and wires, and can find and fix your spark troubles as well as other parts of an automobile.

He carries a line of accessories, oils and gas, and asks the patronage of those who drive that way, assuring them prompt service and thorough work.

While alone in the business he proposes to eliminate book-keeping and monthly collections by doing a strictly cash business—which is to the advantage of both parties to a deal.

Respectfully yours,

Henry Tranquill

Sabbath school at 11:30. Classes for all. We especially invite all young men of the town to our Young Men's Bible class.

Senior Endeavor at 7 o'clock.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

"Come With Us And We Will Do Thee Good."

The Bible Study Circle opened work for the year Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edwin B. Young. Mrs. Carlos Martin was the leader of the Sunday school lesson study. Some very remarkable answers to prayer were mentioned in the heart to heart talks following the study as vacation blessings, among others a wonderful revival in Kijibi, Africa, springing faith in definite answer to prayer. After the lesson a season of interesting fellowship was enjoyed with Mrs. S. A. Smith, Mrs. Robert Perrin's sister, who has spent some time with her sister here in Wayne, but is leaving for Topeka, Kansas, to visit her daughter. Mrs. Smith has endeared herself to the ladies of the circle and a flight token of esteem was given to her in appreciation of her faithful work. Mrs. Benschopf will be hostess next week.

Henry Ford's libel suit against the Chicago Tribune was primarily a suit by a man who did not need the money against a concern that would never be hurt. No suit was necessary to prove to the people of the United States that the Chicago Tribune libeled Mr. Ford when it called him an anarchist. While it might have been additionally gratifying to Mr. Ford to have received substantial damages, he is doubtless not concerned over the loss. The Chicago Tribune will likewise congratulate itself upon having saved some money. There is still another consideration, however, that is more important than either the personal fortunes of Mr. Ford or the Chicago Tribune. The jury plainly believes that Mr. Ford was libeled. It also believes that no particular damage was done by the libel. The assumption, therefore, is that the most powerful newspaper west of the Allegheny mountains has practically no influence with its readers. This is a conclusion to which the casual observer might easily have come from a perusal of the returns of the last few elections in Chicago. In the senatorial elections last fall, one of the owners of the Tribune was a candidate for United States senator, and thanks to the support of that influential paper, was so badly beaten in Chicago that a republican avalanche down state barely saved him. If memory is correct, the Chicago Tribune picked a candidate for mayor last spring who received approximately one-sixth of the vote cast. Therefore, taking everything into consideration, we are inclined to agree with the jury. The Public.

GOVERNMENT SOON TO MAKE ARMOR AND HEAVY FORGINGS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2.—The new navel ordnance plant at South Charleston, W. Va., is now about to begin the manufacture of armor plate and forgings for guns of large caliber, entirely new lines of work for government plants. The South Charleston plant is a $19,000,000 enterprise occupying more than 200 acres of land. It will be ready for making armor and heavy forgings as soon as the assembling of the necessary working force can be completed. Distributed labor conditions incident to the war have been responsible for a delay in getting the work started. The new plant is equipped with every modern appliance for the manufacture of its specialties, and will turn out annually 50,000 tons of armor plate, guns, projectiles, and miscellaneous ordnance forgings. Engineers, metallurgists, and mill machine shop men will be interested in the positions which are to be filled in the supervisory and subordinate forces.

RINGER VICTIM OF KING

A dispatch from Topeka, Kansas, to the Omaha World-Herald says:

That the unidentified jewelry peddler for whose death Rufus King is charged with murder may possibly be identified as William F. Ringer, was indicated in a telegram received by Attorney General Hopkins from T. O. Ringer of Tilden, Nebraska, and his brother, O. R. Ringer of Wisner, Nebraska. They announced their intentions of attending King's preliminary hearing at Eskridge and expressed their belief that the peddler was their long lost brother.

The Ringers were located as the result of the finding of deeds to two town lots at Wisner, Nebraska, made out to William F. Ringer by attorneys last week among papers discovered in the house at Maple Hill, formerly occupied by Rufus King. Ringer made jewelry from shells and with gold plated wire, it was stated. When the skeleton of the supposed jeweler was found two weeks ago in the yard of a livery barn formerly operated by King, a watch charm made from a small sea shell was found in the grave.

THE NEW GERMAN REPUBLIC

Since last Saturday, when the new president took his oath of office and assumed the lead in affairs Germany has been a republic. President Ebert has assumed control and the following are some of the things in the new government which interest us on this side of the pond:

"To the United States the most important feature of the German constitution is that it clips the wings of Prussia. No state, Prussia included, can have more than two-fifths of the votes in the national council, corresponding to our senate.

"The constitution declares all Germans equal before law in rights and duties. All men and women have the vote by equal and secret ballot.

"The German president will be elected by the people. His term will be seven years. The assembly or house of representatives, elected every four years, has power to impeach the president, the ministry or cabinet; and the chancellor whose office corresponds to that of our vice president.

"The power of declaring war rests with the assembly.

"The new German constitution authorizes government ownership of all railroads, also industrial councils in which employer and employed will have equal voice.

"It provides compulsory education for all children. The cost of educating poor children and aiding their dependents will be bore by the government.

"The kaiser lobby is probably responsible for the constitution's suspicious section providing that no German can be turned over to a foreign government for trial and punishment.

"The legislative and executive organization of the German republic is based on the governmental principles of the United States. From England she borrows one idea—life appointment of judges in civil courts.

"Except for the financial penalties imposed upon her, the German republic starts with fewer handicaps than many of the great republics of history.

"These financial penalties are more than offset by Germany's powers of intensive production. Her greatest asset—agricultural and manufacturing organization—remains intact. She is relieved of the burden of hundreds of millions of dollars that went for militarism yearly in former peace times.

"Getting down to business rapidly, she proposes annual taxation of $6,000,000,000 and a confiscatory direct levy on capital of $22,500,000,000.

"Germany's territory not having been ravaged by the war, she starts reconstruction with a great advantage over her neighbor countries."

FAMOUS FOREST FIRES

In connection with the forest fires now raging in the northwestern states, Henry S. Graves recalls some notable conflagrations of the past.

There have been a number of great fires which have attained historic importance. One of these occurred in New Brunswick, in the fall of 1825, on the Miramichi river during a season of great drought.

Within nine hours that fire had burned over a strip of forest eighty miles long and twenty-five miles wide, destroying every living thing in its path. One hundred and sixty persons perished and nearly one thousand head of stock.

Another historic fire was that which occurred in Wisconsin in the fall of 1871. A single fire swept over an area of more than two thousand square miles. It destroyed the town of Peshtigo, and between twelve hundred and fifteen hundred persons perished. That same year the damage by fire elsewhere in the country was enormous.

Still another fire, which is remembered by many persons, was that which destroyed the town of Hinckley, Minn., in the fall of 1894. As in other cases of great fires, there was a season of exceptional drought.

As often happens when there are many fires burning under these conditions and a high wind springs up, the different small fires were suddenly merged, and a great crown fire resulted which swept over the town of Hinckley and six other towns.

The most recent great disaster from forest fires occurred in the Pacific northwest in 1910. That year was the driest ever known in the west, particularly in northern Idaho and northwestern Montana.

On July 23 a severe electric storm, practically without rain, passed over the northern Rocky mountains, setting a large number of fires. The Coeur d'Alene mountains in particular suffered from these fires. In three days the forest rangers put out nine fires set by lightning in the Coeur d'Alene National Forest. From one cause or another many other fires were set. Heroic measures were taken to extinguish them.

At one time 1,800 men, besides two companies of soldiers, were fighting fires in the Coeur d'Alene forest alone.

All fires seemed to be under control, when on August 20 a terrific hurricane sprung up, sweeping all

10,000 Owners Speak For Its Performance and Reliability

Decide for an Essex

What owners say of a car is a pretty good indication of its worth.

And when you add to that, the enthusiastic endorsements of thousands of motor-wise individuals the proof should be conclusive.

But the Essex has still another way of showing its value.

And by skill in design, and care in construction, the performance is just as satisfactory.

It is because of these qualities that the Essex is praised as it is.

Its Worth is Shown in Service not price

The strongest Essex boosters are those who have driven their cars the hardest.

It is so easy to handle—so lively and so comfortable that there is pleasure rather than work in driving it.

You may be undecided between the Essex and some other car of similar weight and price.

The two cars look bright and attractive on the sales floor.

The demonstration will give the Essex an advantage that everyone is glad to describe.

Then the thing for you to decide is how those two cars will compare after several months of service.

For answer, note the Essex cars in your neighborhood.

Take a ride in one whose speedometer registers long service.

Look out for performance. See if it still has the power to do the things it did when new. Is it quiet and rigid and in good condition?

Every Essex makes new friends.

It is what they are saying that is increasing the demand so much. You should speak for your car without delay.

You Can Test It Yourself

Performance limitations have naturally grouped cars into classes. Certain cars may be depended upon for unlimited service. They know no frontiers of distance. They are dependable and require practically no attention.

But such cars are large and costly, costly to buy and to operate.

An exception is the Essex. Its performance qualities can be demonstrated at any time.

Take a ride with us to see how it can be driven just as easily, as fast and with as much certainty of endurance as any high-priced car with which you are to compare it.

Moderate Cost Due to Smaller Size

If the Essex were as large as the cars whose performance it matches, the price would have to be as high.

But because it has no useless length or useless weight, costly car quality in every detail is possible with proportionate saving in cost.

Burret W. Wight

the separate fires together and making a gigantic wall of flame many miles long. Many of the fire fighters were directly in the path of the fire. Seventy-five fire fighters were killed, and if it had not been for the skill and the nerve of the forest rangers in charge of the crews, a very much larger number would have perished. As it was, about half of the number killed lost their lives because of their failure to obey the orders of the forest rangers in charge of the parties.

"Investigations" into the war are popular with the present republican congress because they offer a hope of distracting the public mind to the past. Why don't the republican leaders show an equal interest in the high cost of living and other problems of the present?

The house of representatives did well in a small way by repealing the tax on soda water and soft drinks, but its leaders ought to remember that there is another side to the consumer's difficulties—his outside, for instance. Now for the repeal of the taxes on clothing.

Before the republican senators can come to an agreement as to their action on the league of nations some one will have to negotiate a treaty of peace and comity between the "mild revisionists" and the "outright rejectionists."

If a congressional committee travels 7,000 miles in a private car for thirty-five days to "investigate" partisan charges respecting what happened last year, what is the price per yard of ancient history?

Did the republican senators consult President Wilson for information or was it their purpose to get another pretext for talking for two months?

The republican congress has been prevented from passing bills by its engrossment in an effort to "pass the buck."

The One Thing You Have to Do

Perhaps you have bought a new car with a Willard Storage Battery on it.

Perhaps you have bought a Willard Battery to replace the battery on an old car.

No matter which—you're entitled to Willard 90-Day Battery Insurance.

But to get this protection your battery must be registered.

Of course we register a battery when we sell it, but if it is on a new car, be sure to drive in right away and have us put the registry number on it. At the same time we'll gladly tell you the few simple rules that you must follow to give your battery the right start in life. Ask us for a copy of the booklet, "Willard Service and You."
