

BUY WRIGHT'S AUTOMO-BILE REPAIR SHOP

A deal was concluded this week by which Messrs. Coryell & Brock, two practical and experienced automobile repair men from Sioux City have purchased from B. W. Wright his automobile repair and accessories, and will conduct that business from this time, as they took possession Wednesday. W. C. Coryell has been in the repair business at Sioux City—himself and a partner, and F. El Brock has resigned the foremanship of a Novelty Works repair department, and both are young men of experience in this line of work. They feel that they will have business enough to not only keep themselves busy, but those at present employed at this garage, and they hope to retain the present efficient force.

Their wives are expected out from Sioux City within a few weeks, when they will be settled in Wayne rooms until such time as they can secure a residence.

In disposing of this part of the business, Mr. Wright will have more time to devote to the sale of his new cars and the land business, which he tells us is already picking up in the west, he having sold 160 acres this week. When the members of the new firm get their work clothes on they will probably have something to say to the people of this vicinity.

THE WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL ORATORICAL CONTEST

We will say that the pupils who were planning to take a part in the Wayne High School Oratorical Contest did not get an even chance to make good this year. Through some error the correct date was not known until the last day of grace had expired—and then the managers of the district contest which is to be held at Emerson, granted an extra day, and nine contestants responded to the hurry call and made ready as best they could—but in a busy school life the last week of preparation for a contest is the time when most of the heavy work is planned for—but all were perhaps on nearly equal footing—had their selections partially committed. Few if any had practiced any until the final day. All did remarkably well considering the handicap.

The judges were Mrs. R. L. Hoff of Pender, wife of the superintendent of the Pender schools, and Misses Margaret Telvra and Ruth Geshpelt both from Emerson.

Superintendent Armstrong explained the situation to the audience mostly pupils and a few friends of the contestants, as no effort was made to secure an audience under the circumstances. Our contestant at the meeting at Emerson, and later here, if she win, will have opportunity to better fit for the contest, as the meeting will not take place for about two weeks. Following was the program of the evening:

- 1—Lila Gardner, "White Azaleas."
- 2—Elizabeth Gildersleeve, "Seventeen."
- 3—Bessie Hiscox, "Connor."
- 4—Irene Rennick, "Richard's Practicing."
- 5—Myrtle Philbin, "Changing the Etheopean."
- 6—Alice Crockett, "The Mourning Veil."
- 7—Marian Kortright, "The Village Sewing Social."
- 8—Venita Kopp, "Who's Afraid?"
- 9—Alton Rippon, "Penford's Affiliation."

The judges then retired and those present visited while waiting the decision, and in due time it came, the judges naming the three ranking highest in the order of their average, as follows: Elizabeth Gildersleeve, first; Lila Gardner, second, and Alice Crockett, third.

UNCONSCIOUS THREE WEEKS

Harold, the 13-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. McIntyre of Winside is said to have been in an unconscious condition at the home of the doctor for more than three weeks. He suffered a severe attack of the flu, and his fever registered very high, and since it has in a measure subsided he has remained in an unconscious condition. A number of the neighboring physicians, as well as specialists have been called to pass on the case, which seems to have the skin of the best. He was for a time given milk for nourishment, but as that caused bloating and apparent distress, he has simply been given water for some days now, according to report.

Mrs. Carter from Winside and her sister, Mrs. Wolf from Bladen were guests at the John Larison home Wednesday.

ESCAPED FROM SHERIFF

Tuesday afternoon Sheriff Lewis arrested a young man by the name of Paul Jones, claiming to hail from Randolph. The charge against him was that of issuing a check for cash and merchandise on a bank where he had no funds. A small check was cashed by him at the Citizen's National bank, where he had on other occasions had checks cashed. But when he wrote a check for something over $50 for a suit of clothes at the Gamble & Senter store, they decided to keep the clothes until they learned whether the check was backed by funds. This firm had learned to do this way.

When the sheriff had the lad in custody he asked to go to his room at the B. for some clothing—and he just kept going, it seems, for when he did not return a search failed to find him. Well, it may be a cheaper way than to send him to the pen, and let the officials there let him out in time to almost beat the sheriff home.

WM. LUE GOES TO HOME FOR AGED

Last Monday Wm. Lue, accompanied by Rev. Teckhaus left for Lincoln, where Mr. Lue enters the Tabernacle home for orphans and aged people. He is persuaded that he will receive better care than at his home here, as he is getting quite old and feeble, but we understand that it was not the wish of the wife that he go. He is in comfortable circumstances, and told the writer that he was to pay a $600 fee for a place in the home, and an additional fee of $100 per year. Rev. Walter from the home came the week before and completed the contract for his care. He will be missed by many friends who were glad to hear his cheerful greeting whenever he met them. We hope that he will be contented in the new home.

MRS. J. V. DOYLE JOHN-SON VISITS WAYNE

Mrs. J. V. Doyle from Potter, who has been visiting in Oklahoma and other parts of the south, and was at the Ahern home at Carroll the first of the week was here today on her way to her home in the western part of the state. Mrs. Doyle spent her childhood days on a farm just north-east of Wayne, and is well known by many Wayne people, her parents being Mr. and Mrs. M. Johnson, who moved to the western part of the state a few years ago. The mother died there, and the father is living and prosperous, and the boys all married and farming for themselves. Mr. Doyle was a victim of the flu last year.

CITY COUNCIL MEETINGS

At the regular council meet Tuesday evening the usual business was the order of the evening, and the current bills were allowed. At the adjourned meeting called to give those who had objections to file as to the proposed new sewer district did not file any, and but few were there, coming to learn first hand some points about the project which they did not understand.

COST OF THE SUPREME COURT DECISION

By a four-five decision the supreme court has decided that the government may not collect income from the dividends paid on stocks, and that means the loss of fully a half billion of revenue, according to the opinion of the fellows who keep posted on such questions and handle money with a scoop shovel, so to speak.

THE TREATY STRUGGLE

The latest reports from Washington are to the effect that the league and peace treaty are still unsettled. President Wilson is rightly standing for ratification without nullification. It seems that many are afraid of the people they will soon have to go to for votes, and are threatening to break with the party leaders and act as they think their constituents would like to have them. Every test the people have had a chance to apply to the treaty has shown that they are for it. The republicans are now fearing that if the treaty fails of ratification it will become the issue in the presidential campaign, and result in the nomination and election of President Wilson.

Henry Korff went to Hartington this morning to visit his son whose wife is seriously ill.

MISSOURI VOTERS ENDORSE THE LEAGUE

Republicans chose to make the special congressional election in the Third Missouri district a test of popular opinion with respect to the league of nations. Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, imported into the district to support the republican candidate, reminded his audience that this election was to be made and considered a referendum on the league. This statement was repeated by all the other republican orators, and, indeed, was a declaration of the republican platform upon which the republican candidate conducted the contest.

The answer of the voters was unmistakable. The democratic candidate was elected by a majority of nearly 2000. This democratic majority was greater than that obtained by the democratic candidate in the regular congressional election fifteen months ago. It was at once a cordial endorsement of the league and a repudiation of republican propaganda.

SAM DAVIES SPECIAL

The Norfolk News announces that when the Elks hold their next big meeting at that place, Sam Davies of Wayne is to head the delegation from here, and come over in a special train. Sam is making so much money since the price of nearly all Sunday papers has been advanced that he can have a special if he wishes. Two cents extra for each Sunday paper that Sam sells will soon hire a special—but Sam says that the greedy profiteering publisher is taking all of the advance price—and the publisher tells that the paper man gets his surplus—and the paper man insists that the price of pulp is so high that he cannot help himself—and must get cost out of it—and the pulp man says that the fellows who cut the wood for pulp are taking the profit for wage—and these fellows say that for food and clothes they must take all their increased wages, and the food and clothing man says that the farmer, the cotton grower and the man with a flock just simply force him to put prices up out of sight. Thus the circle never seems to end.

NO SERIOUS KICKS

At the hearing held last week when those who had objections to the proposed plan for redistricting for consolidation of the rural schools of the county might appear and state them and perhaps offer something better, but few appeared, and there were but few changes asked or suggested. A few lines were changed, for convenience of some farm because of road conditions of which the committee acting as a whole did not know. As a whole the work was good, and those who will fight consolidation were not able to suggest improvement in the outlined plan.

A LEAP YEAR PICKING SOCIAL

It was decreed by the Wayne Homestead of American Yeomen at the last meeting that the men membership should provide the social program at the next meeting, which will be Friday, March 19, and we are not permitted to know what it is to be like, but we must announce that it will be something entirely new in the line of social functions in this organization.

CRADLE

- ALMS—Friday, February 27, 1920, at Sioux City, to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Alms of Allen, a daughter. The mother is well known to nearly all Wayne people, as Miss Helen McNeal.
- McPHERSON—Friday, February 27, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McPherson, a son.
- DUNKLAU—Friday, February 13, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. John Dunklau, a son.
- GIESE—Tuesday, February 17, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Giese, a son.
- YAROLINEK—Tuesday, March 2, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Yarolinek, a son.
- STEUVE—Sunday, March 7, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Steuve, a son.
- RICE—Wednesday, March 10, 1920, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Rice, a daughter.
- MOSELEY—Sunday, March 7, 1920, at Belden, to Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Moseley, a daughter. Mrs. Moseley is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fortner, and Mrs. Fortner left Tuesday afternoon to visit the little granddaughter.

Mrs. Frank Roe has been visiting Wayne folks, returning home Wednesday.

LET THE MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS ACT

Testimony in the trial of those charged with corruption, fraud and conspiracy in connection with the senator from Michigan is unfolding a story of political debauchery exceeding in flagrancy and boldness even that other historic instance of republican criminality in Indiana, where voters were purchased "in blocks of five."

Decent republicans, along with other decent citizens of Michigan, are aghast at the relations in the sworn testimony of witnesses, some of whom confess their part in the scandal. The disclosures contain a lesson for the people everywhere. If a great slush fund is to decide between candidates for public office, only rich and unscrupulous men will be successful.

Those who direct the affairs of the republican party owe it to Michigan to the nation and likewise to themselves to help in the exposure and condemnation of the criminals who committed this outrage on the ballot.

MRS. MARY M. JOHNSON DEAD

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Munsinger, at North Platte, Wednesday, March 3, 1920, occurred the death of Munsinger's mother, Mrs. Mary M. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson fell and struck her head causing a concussion which resulted in her death soon after. She had been at the Munsinger home spending the winter, and was about to go to her home at Malvern, Iowa, when the fatal accident happened. The body was taken to the family burial lot at Malvern, Iowa, and laid to rest Friday, after a service in the home town.

Mrs. Johnson was acquainted with many Wayne people, where she held property, and frequently made quite extended visits at the Munsinger home. Mrs. Munsinger came from Malvern here to visit her son a short time before returning to her North Platte home.

ROYAL NEIGHBOR CELEBRATION

On Wednesday afternoon, March 17, at the I. O. O. F. hall, beginning at 2 o'clock sharp, the Royal Neighbors will participate in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the benefit department of the society. There will be exemplification of the floor work of the ritual, initiation of candidates and a school of instruction conducted by Miss Frances Robinson of Lincoln, who is one of the three supreme auditors.

Invitations have been extended to the camps at Carroll and Winside, and as it is only on special occasions that we are privileged to have a supreme officer at one of our meetings it is hoped that every Royal Neighbor in the county will avail themselves of this rare opportunity.

The session will be brimful of helpful suggestions and instruction, as the subject of re-adjustment of rates will be talked on. At the close of the business session a 6 o'clock dinner will be served for all present.

KRUGER-LEIBE

There was a wedding at the George Kruger home six miles north and a mile east of Wayne Wednesday, March 10, 1920, when their daughter, Martha, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Liebe, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Liebe. The Kruger home was the scene of a great reception last evening in honor of the event. The young folks will live in the home neighborhood.

"NO BOTTOM"

When a lad of six summers in passing through Chicago before the days of much paying, posts and signboards on them were stuck out at different places in the street to warn teamsters not to drive in—but go round. So the streets of Wayne look today in all parts of the storm sewer district. The dirt piled into and onto the ditches last fall and winter in a frozen condition is thawing and going down. A board, a piece of tree, or any old thing may be seen holding a warning to keep clear of a hole. Not all stay in the clear, and now and then an auto, a horse or wagon wheel goes down. It will be better when paved.

R. R. SMITH FOR ASSESSOR

This morning R. R. Smith showed us the credentials showing that he is to be a candidate for the office of county assessor, subject to the will of the republican voters of the county. Hop to it, R. R.

Allen Henderson came from Minnesota this morning.

PARENTS NEED TRAINING, TOO

The National Congress of Mothers which met in conjunction with the National Educational Association recently went on record for better training of mothers.

"We shall never have a great nation," said one of their speakers, "without a great citizenry, and we shall never have a great citizenry without a great parentage. You criticize the schools; at least they make an effort. What are the schools and the homes doing to train for parentage?"

The congress of mothers has hit upon the weak spot, just as mothers have had a fashion of doing for ages. Much of delinquency is laid at the doors of the public schools, yet the public school has the child only five out of the twenty-four, five days a week, and for not more than forty weeks of the year. A brief bit of computation will show how much larger percentage of the child's time is spent under non-school influence. If the outside influence is indifferent or vicious, how is the school influence to accomplish any vital effect? The need for harmonizing the two is plain.

This harmonizing can be accomplished best by means of the parent-teacher organizations. These should be a part of life in every community, of whatever class. School exhibitions and visitation between school and home are essential also for bringing school and home constantly into contact. By such means parents can see what the school is trying to accomplish, and how they may help. The community center placed in the districts which most need the light is another potent means for opening the eyes of the parents to the true advantages of education, and what is included under that broad word.

Educating the parent truly is a vital necessity if the child himself is to become in his turn the sort of parent from whom springs a "great citizenry."—Norfolk News.

H. E. SIMAN FILES FOR THE STATE SENATE AGAIN

Wednesday H. E. Siman was a Wayne visitor and fled again as a candidate for state senator for this district composed of the counties of Wayne, Pierce and Cuming. Mr. Siman was a member of the last legislature, and now has a record, and some say that it is such that he will miss some of the German vote of two years ago.

HOSPITAL NOTES

It has been another busy week at the hospital. Henry Meier, J. Ulrich, Mr. Nichols, Mrs. Geo. Buskirk, Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer and Misses Lillie Clayton and Lillie Murlin were under the X-ray.

A number of serious appendix cases were operated, among them being Mr. Bellis from Randolph, Mrs. Guy Strickland, Wayne, and Mrs. Wm. Jarman of Thurston, who also has other complications.

Miss Murlin of Kingsbury hall and a throat operation. Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer is taking treatment, and Mrs. Granquist is improving under the care she is receiving.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION ABOUT FINISHED

That was the verdict in the headlines of a morning paper, but after reading the article one does not know whether they will finish in three days or three weeks. A lot of questions may be thrown up in the air at any time, and no one knows when they will come down, or how.

WOMEN WIN WEST VIRGINIA

At the close of a long deadlock in the legislature over the ratification of the equal suffrage amendment to the national constitution, an absent member who had been spending the winter in California, arrived and voted the deciding vote which put another state in the suffrage column.

ADVERTISED LETTERS

THE INTER-CHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT

Lincoln, March 10.—A financial survey of every county in Nebraska, of every church parish in the state and of every individual in each parish, both church members and non-church members, is to be made during the latter part of this month and the first half of April in connection with the Inter-church World Movement. Statewide arrangements for the appointment of county cabinets to have charge of the survey in each county are to be made on March 15, in Lincoln when 500 Nebraska laymen, ministers and representatives of the different departments of the Inter-church World Movement will meet to discuss the survey and to take action in making ready for the work.

One layman from each denomination in every county in the state is expected to be present. Among them will be the biggest business and professional men of Nebraska. Many bankers and financial men have been selected as denominational representatives. The meeting will be one of business men rather than of ministers of the gospel.

Following adjournment the members will return to their respective counties and the different county cabinets will convene for the purpose of taking the message of the survey into every church parish in Nebraska.

OUR NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

Monday was an all-day session of the various delegates and committees of the non-partisan leaguers in this part of the county, and Norfolk was the storm center. Delegates to congressional, senatorial and legislative fields were mingled. From a two column report it seems that little was done beyond getting committees and turning action over to them.

Delegates from this county placed the names of Otto Ulrich for senatorial candidate, and August Hohnke as legislative candidate on record for a place on the ballot later. Madison and Pierce counties named men for legislative places in the two houses, and then to wind up with the report leaves one all at sea as to what they finally decided to do until the state tangle caused by the nominee for governor declining to act is untangled.

It was left to a committee to select a candidate for congress from this district and get his name on the ballot. Thus far Congressman Evans is the only one who has fled, and it was the expressed opinion of those present that any one could easily defeat him.

Resolutions criticizing the administration were passed, but did not appear in the report. We hope that the league people get their troubles all straightened out and can manage to keep it straight. We like the league for some of the enemies it appears to have made in corrupt and corrupting political circles, but believe they are making a serious error in striving to keep their official action from the public. We believe that no political organization is going to get far in this country who cannot and will not take the people fully into its confidence with full and frank publicity. We are a free and intelligent people—more so than any people on earth, and through publicity and open and above board political action can we keep in that way. The league talks about a newspaper—if they get one, make it a newspaper—not an organ with which to try to fool the public as to what the league is trying to do.

Guy Rogers and wife from Randolph were here Wednesday on their way to Rochester for consultation about the wife.

Charles Weegos went to Princeton, Illinois, last week, Thursday for a week's visit with relatives and friends.

Fred Krel of Norfolk returned home today after a visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Anna Loeb, of Carroll, who came this far with him.

Willard STORAGE BATTERY

First Cost

We can't compete for battery business on price.

Willard service does cost more, so does a Willard Battery. But isn't it true that if you hire a real engineer, or architect, or contractor, or carpenter, or mechanic, or doctor, or lawyer, that it saves in the long run?

We're in business to do the job right the first time—and that costs more than to fix it so it has to be done over again soon after.

When we sell a Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation we charge more for it, but it doesn't come back for re-insulation with a big bill to you. It stays on the job till it has delivered all the service you bought—and generally a lot more than you'd believe possible.

Try it once—and you'll feel the same as 99% of all who own Willard Batteries with Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Drop in, glad to see you.

YOUR SUIT FOR SPRING

It is a question for early settlement. If you want the best clothes you can buy, we think you will come to us. When we say "best you can buy," we mean best for you. We mean that for every dollar you pay you'll get value that will last.

There is no way to make clothes that will last long and look well as long as they last except by using good all-wool fabrics, and by giving such fabrics the best of tailoring.

Then you get something for your money; you get clothes that have quality and value; you get real economy. Your clothes cost less by the month than poor stuff at lower price.

We are here with that kind of clothes. The Wayne Cleaners and Tailors will make them for you; all-wool fabrics, finest tailoring, smartest styles.

WAYNE CLEANING WORKS

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

For Sale—A good two-hole kerosene stove. In first-class condition. Can be seen at Hiseox Hardware.

The sum of $176 was the net result of a box supper near Emerson one evening last week. One double box brought $50. A fool and his money are soon parted.

The Welfare workers of Emerson have changed to work under the state instead of the national Welfare Board, and C. A. Kingsbury, the county attorney whose duty it is to organize the state boards was at Emerson last week for that purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nelson came out from Sioux City last week and went from the train at Wakefield to visit at the home of his son-in-law, F. C. Hammer, southeast of Wayne. They also visited at the home of Mr. Nelson's son, and with other friends a day or two, and then as the weather became too winter-like, the wife returned home and Mr. Nelson remained to look after some business matters a day or two, and returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Magowan of Miller, South Dakota, who have been spending the winter in California, stopped here Wednesday to visit a day or two with their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Winagar at their new home just south of Wayne, and they were their first guests, for they arrived the day the Winagar family came, but a little later in the day. They left for their Dakota home Friday morning, and voted that they had enjoyed their visit, and helping their friends warm their new home.

Alexander Whiteside, who was one of the lads who saw service on the other side, was here Saturday while on his way from Bloomfield to visit at Hoskins. He is planning a visit soon to New York, and possibly to his native England. He first served on the border, and then went with some Beatrice boys across, and took part in all of the drives, save one in which the American troops had a part. Then he was out of business because of gas and bullet wounds. He said that the gas was the worst thing the soldier had to contend with—the most deadly and painful and annoying.

THE DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

A democratic county convention in and for Wayne county is hereby called to meet in the county commissioners room, at the court house, at Wayne, Nebraska, on Tuesday, the 11th day of May, 1920, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day for the purpose of electing four delegates to the democratic state convention to be held on Tuesday, the 18th day of May, 1920, and for the transaction of such other business as shall properly come before said county convention.

Each of the county precincts is entitled to the number of delegates herein indicated to the county convention, as apportioned by the county central committee on March 6, 1920, based on the number of democratic votes cast for the democratic candidate for governor at the last election, and allowing one delegate for each 25 votes cast, or major fraction thereof, which representation will be as follows:

Precinct	Number of Delegates
Hoskins precinct	1
Garfield precinct	1
Sherman precinct	1
Hancock precinct	1
Chaplin precinct	2
Deer Creek precinct	3
Brenna precinct	1
Strahan precinct	1
Wilbur precinct	1
Plum Creek precinct	2
Hunter precinct	1
Leslie precinct	1
Logan precinct	1
Winslow	2
Wayne First ward	2
Wayne Second ward	2
Wayne Third ward	2

The primary election this year will be held on Tuesday, April 20, and as provided by an act passed at the 1919 session of the legislature the delegates to the county convention are elected at the primary.

The law further provides that there shall be elected at said primary from each precinct one man and one woman as members of the county central committee.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, March 6, 1920.

By order of the County Central Committee.

J. H. KEMP, Chairman.
W. O. HANSEN, Secretary.

The Democrat—only $1.50. All the home news, all the time. And we put out job work that pleases.

AN ACHIEVEMENT IN AVIATION

(From the Goldenrod)

It has been the race long dream of man to fly. Every soaring hawk or flying bird has been a challenge as well as the despair of man. As mechanics improved and power machinery multiplied the possibility of human flight seemed less and less probable, and at last became an acknowledged impossibility. He who ventured to declare a lingering faith in its possibility was regarded as a joker or out of mental balance.

Near Dayton, Ohio, some 20 years ago the Wright Brothers contrived gliding machines that kept the air for some considerable time. If they started from an elevation with a downward glide for velocity they could then glide upward for a time and then downward again and then upward and so hold to the air and travel quite a distance before lighting. It was no more flying than the downward and upward glide of the "flying squirrel."

The automobile industry gave us the improved gas engine capable of carrying its own fuel. This, added to the gliding plane, gave us the flying machine. The late war perfected the machine and trained a large number of men in the knowledge and skill of successful aviation.

Last Friday, February 27, 1920, Major R. W. Schroeder, rising from the fields at Dayton, the birth place of aviation, ascended to an altitude of 36,020 feet (nearly 7 miles.) He had climbed for 2 hours upward over four-fifths of the earth's gaseous envelope. Here in atmosphere only one-fifth as dense as ours, speeding forward at 100 miles per hour facing a wind of 67 degrees below zero he ran out of his oxygen supply and losing consciousness his machine pitched downward a sheer fall of five miles. If unimpeded, this fall would have taken approximately 50 seconds. His instruments show 100 or more seconds in descent. However, at this, it means that he must have acquired a velocity greater than that of sound. His machine actually dashed away from the swish of its own plunging planes.

Denser air caused him to regain a semi-consciousness and he turned the plane into an outward and then upward glide, thus again gaining control. He landed safely in an aviation field. He was removed from the machine more dead than alive and placed in a hospital where he is making a fine recovery.

Do you get the picture? Look. The machine rises gracefully from the Dayton field. It circles and circles out of sight. Get your field glasses. Yes there it is, still circling. Two hours of up and still up vanishing as a speck still moving in the ascending spiral path.

Major Schroeder encased in electric warming pads but facing a 100-mile gale at 60 degrees below zero is chilled to the bone. His eyeballs are frozen to blindness and when the oxygen failed, he suddenly became unconscious. Straight down he falls 5 miles with ever-increasing speed. The intensely cold machine plunging forward into a warmer and more moist atmosphere causes the white mist of frozen vapor to pour from the surface of the plunging plane like streamers from a comet. You see the smoking, dashing plane and shudder. Death seems inevitable. You close your eyes. Again you look. What is the plane being brought under control? Yes! The sudden increase of oxygen gives a semi-consciousness. Marvellous miracle! This daring and trained aviator, though almost blind, benumbed and dazed, is able from pure force of habit to co-ordinate his muscular action with what is scarcely a conscious reception of external stimuli and thus directs his machine to an aviation field and lights in safety. How your whole being responds to this glorious climax. Safe! Safe!

Major Schroeder over the fields of Dayton had performed the impossible, set a new world record for altitude and he has also furnished our psychologists with a remarkable and perfect proof of their best theories as to relation of habit to mind and nerve center, and the control of muscular action.

The whole thing was grand, magnificent! Again America triumphs over the world and our admiration is unbounded for this 'most remarkable' achievement in aviation.

GET PUBLICITY ON CALENDAR

That Form of Advertising, is the Most Popular With the Merchants of China.

It has been known for a long time what a relative task it was to go visiting in China—that is, if you happened to be a lofty dignitary and must therefore carry along a card of uncomfortable dimensions. Advertising, it seems, shows a corresponding divergence not only from occidental methods, but from those of nearby Japan. There are thousands upon thousands of newspapers in China, but they are not very firmly established, and when they do not soon disappear altogether, they are almost sure to change name frequently, as has been known to happen with certain American products. Newspapers of the republic have an average daily circulation of 3,000, which is larger than it looks, since the papers are carefully passed from hand to hand. There is, then, to be sure, newspaper advertising as well as posters. But the most popular form of publicity for merchants is—the calendar! Nowhere is that humble domestic article more important than in China. Advertisements here placed are looked upon every day. And after all, when you look at the calendars that begin to arrive about this time of the year, isn't it possible to imagine that China is not so far from the West as it might be?—Christian Science Monitor.

TO OPERATE AIRSHIP FLEET

Ambitious Plans Credited to English Company Well Within the Realm of Possibility.

A company has been formed in England for the purpose of operating a fleet of airships to various parts of the world. The syndicate desires to acquire ground near Southampton, where it proposes to erect a tower 120 to 150 feet high to which airships may be moored, and an elevator will take the passengers up the tower and into the gondolas of the ships. The syndicate intends to have a fleet of non-rigid airships in commission next spring; the smaller will carry 32 passengers and crew and the larger 40 passengers and crew. The company also anticipates running some of the larger rigid airships now in course of construction. These will have a carrying capacity of 150 passengers and be able to travel to any part of the globe. It is proposed to use the smaller non-rigid airships to feed the larger ones and meet them at the principal centers. The cost per mile is put at about half the cost of a taxicab fare today, approximately about 18 cents per mile. —Scientific American.

Reasons for Feeding Birds.

By feeding the birds in cold weather one provides ammunition against the mosquitoes of June, explains a member of the Animal Protective League. It seems that birds feed their young on mosquitoes, thus destroying great numbers of the pests. Little natural food is available for birds in the winter except in the extreme South, and even there less can be found by them at this season than in the summer. So when the table or pantry shelf is cleared of crumbs if the contents of the crumb tray are scattered outdoors instead of being put in the garbage can, the birds will be thankful, and will show their gratitude by saving the food-giver many a mosquito bite next summer.

Mosquitoes are only one of the many excellent reasons why birds should be fed during the winter. The others are all the other insects which hamper the production of the garden, and all pleasures of song and plumage.—St.

Little Edward is just 3 years old, but "going on 4." He is very fond of his grandmother's home and often is a young visitor. His last call was last Sunday afternoon. Grandmother, who had been taking a nap, was a bit late coming downstairs to greet her favorite guest. She found him cuddled up in the big easy chair in front of the fireplace. Edward smiled as she stooped to kiss him, but, boylike, that was about the only sign of affection from him.

"Get up, dear," urged Edward's mother, "that's grandmother's chair." "No, it isn't," asserted the young man, "I beat her to it."

Possible Restraint.

"There is a great deal of danger in all this socialistic literature." "I suppose so," replied the man who is exasperatingly tranquil. "And yet if a man would take the trouble to read and understand all that has been written about socialism before embarking in business as a 'red,' he'd be entirely too old to participate in any active demonstrations."

The Monday papers report that Elmer D. Youngs, the man selected by the non-partisan choice for a republican candidate for governor, has cold feet, and declines to make the race. The league committee say they cannot now make another convention nominee before the primary, but that a meeting will be held May 4, to endorse a ticket. The league promises to make an active campaign just the same for congressional and legislative tickets.

A returned soldier went into a dentist's office to get a tooth extracted. He wore a D. S. badge, but the thought of having a tooth pulled was more than he could stand and he demanded gas. The dentist waited in a fever of impatience for the soldier to "go under," but the latter was nervous and insisted on keeping one eye open even though he had taken enough gas to float a balloon. Finally the dentist cried: "Let yourself go. Close that eye, you idiot." Somewhere from the back blocks of dreamland the patient murmured sleepily, "Cap't. It's glass."

O, consistency thou art a Jew! Baseball players are paid as high as $20,000 for playing one season, while a qualified school teacher does well if she draws down $1,000 for directing the destinies of Young Americans nine months. A dad will holler his head off if he has to spend a few hundred dollars per year to send his boy or girl to college, and go like a chisee cat when he drives home a $3,000 automobile that he probably had to put a blister on his home to get the money. Ex-Governor Morehead is going to try once more for the democratic nomination and election for governor. Is not one Waterloo enough?

The g. o. p. wanted to exchange a promise of soldier legislation for soldier votes. The soldiers have the promises, but the g. o. p. hasn't yet received the votes.

Still another republican "investigating" committee has discovered that the war was costly. The people are beginning to learn that peace will be even more expensive if the republican senate continues to delay its advent.

The Dutch are holding fast to the Kaiser. Well, if he had won the war he would have been talking Dutch to the Hollander before this time. Perhaps the Hollanders are afraid to let him go, for fear he will again try to rule the world.

The Hartington Herald comments on the fact that the present term of district court in that place is noteworthy on account of the absence of all criminal cases. But it does not even hint that the drouth which is supposed to prevail now is in any manner responsible.

The editor of the Hartington Herald remarks that no one regrets the end of winter being at hand—but he did not say which end, and in view of four days of real zero weather in succession after the opening of March makes one really wonder which end is near.

Our republican friends of the real stand-pat brand are now worrying for fear their party will be the non-partisan party of the state. Well, if they don't like that kind of company, why did they invite them to help them elect a governor last election? They may have to reclaim their party by due process of law as they once did in national politics in 1912.

The situation in Ireland is fraught with danger. The Irish are unable to agree between themselves—and can not consistently expect any one outside to agree with both factions. It is a religious disagreement—the most intolerant of all disagreements. When two persons have religious convictions that do not agree as a rule neither of them has enough christianity to even admit that the other fellow may be right or even honest in his convictions as to what is right.

With a debt of 204 billion marks on which to pay interest and a sinking fund for principal, war will not look any too good to the survivors of the struggle which the German war lords forced upon their people—and the rule of kings and like bastards is a game in which the common people furnish the cannon fodder, and those who survive pay the cost with interest. Had their lords won, the common people would not have shared in the riches they planned to flech from the people of the world. And yet our senators do not want to take a stand for world peace.

The Blair Pilot thinks it is going to be fun to see the old time democrats calling for and voting the republican ballot at the primary. Nothing new about that. In 1918 there were plenty of them who did that thing in order to force candidate Norris onto the republican ballot and back into the senate; all because of his pro-German proclivities. They even neglected their friends at home in the democratic primary who were sorely in need of their votes in order to boost Norris in. So, while it may be amusing it will not be new in Nebraska.

Mrs. Elvira Tewksbury, the last survivor, no doubt, of a revolutionary soldier, died at the home of a niece, Mrs. Annie May Wooley, at Plattsmouth Sunday at the age of 89 years. She had been in failing health a number of years. She was a daughter of James Walker who served as a revolutionary soldier with a New Hampshire regiment. Nearly two years ago, Nelson Moore, the last surviving son of a revolutionary soldier died at Omaha, and was buried at Coleridge, where he made his home for about twenty years. He was nearly 90 years of age at the time of his death.

Hudson for Five Years the Master in Motor and Style

Hudson Created the Touring Limousine, the Sedan, and Other Distinctive Body Designs, and the Exclusive Super-Six Motor

No other fine car is so well regarded by so many people as the Hudson Super-Six. The proof is everywhere about you. More than 85,000 are now in service and for five years it has been the world's largest selling fine car.

Observe its predominance in any assemblage of fine cars. Each body type is noted for handsome appearance and rich completeness of every detail. Hudson created new standards of beauty. All know how its leadership in design is acknowledged.

But Hudson's chief appeal must always be in performance.

If any car disputes Hudson's supremacy in speed, endurance, hill climbing or acceleration it is not by official proof.

Hudson Solves Greatest Of All Motor Problems

All automobile engineers were seeking ways to reduce motor vibration when Hudson solved the problem through the patented Super-Six motor. It added 72 per cent to power and almost doubled efficiency. No weight or cylinders were added.

And the Super-Six at once proved its leadership. It became the most famous speed car, winning all important stock car speed records, and with special cars embodying the Super-Six principle it won distinction in all championship speedway events.

But it was not to prove speed that these tests were made. Hudson merely established its speed qualities in development of its value as a reliable, enduring car, such as you want.

These Tests Helped Build the Present Hudson

And remember, it was chiefly through endurance, made possible by its exclusive motor, that Hudson won these victories. Such tests impose a strain that could be equalled, in ordinary driving, only by years of hard use.

These records are three, four and five years old. Yet they have never been matched. And the Hudson of today is a better car because of what they taught.

But not the slightest change has been made in the Super-Six motor principles. For no way has been found to improve it.

But because it has found no rival in performance Hudson's sales leadership among all fine cars has been unbroken.

Hudson production has always been under the demand. This year shows a repetition of the shortage. So to get a Hudson at all this summer calls for early decision.

A LIFE'S ROMANCE

By WALTER J. DELANEY

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

It was no joyous elopement or ardent love adventure. Very rationally Arnold Brant and Eugenie Valle had met fifty miles from her home, had gone to an obscure clergyman, and been united in marriage. The new husband had just time to catch a train across the continent within the hour, and those two, so hurriedly bound in wedlock, as hurriedly parted.

"In two years, dear," he said, as he kissed her good-by.

"You wouldn't wait. You would have it so," she sighed. "I hope it is for the best."

"The knowledge that you are mine, all mine," returned Arnold Brant, "will inspire me to make a business success."

The train flashed away, the bride waved an adieu through a mist of tears. Before noon she was back at home, passing into the house of her brother Hartley, with whom she lived and no one was the wiser.

Hers had been a strange experience. Almost from her baby days she had been dominated by her brother's will. He had one thought in life—to make money. A cold, unsympathetic being, he chilled all the sweetness out of the life of Eugenie, and when she was seventeen forced her into marrying Peter Wynne.

The latter was a man with prospects, which Hartley magnified. The cheerless honeymoon lasted less than a month and then Wynne went to the far North to develop some mining property. It turned out a complete fiasco, and a year later word was received that Wynne was dead. Before that event Eugenie pined in solitude until, at a neighbor's home, she met Arnold Brant. There was no impulse of disloyalty to Wynne, but a deep, unspoken love existed between those two.

When the news came of the death of Wynne, both Brant and herself knew that the self-seeking Hartley Valle would never sanction their union. Brant had the offer of a position in Australia. He induced Eugenie to consent to the secret marriage. And when they parted at the steps of the altar and possible years of parting faced them, Eugenie was supremely happy, for she had found love at last.

Only one letter Eugenie received from Brant, telling that he was about to start into the most remote part of the country and that, if his purpose succeeded, he would return with sufficient means to win him the approbation and recognition of her mercenary brother.

Then to Eugenie came an appalling discovery. The full details of the illness and death of Wynne arrived. The first news had been premature. He was mortally ill, but survived for several months. Acting upon the initial intelligence, Eugenie had wedded Brant fifteen days before the demise of her first husband.

The later ceremony was illegal, and she was simply a widow and the man she cherished as her life's mate was no more than an utter stranger. She at once wrote to Brant, trusting to the letter finally reaching him however remote he might be from civilization.

A year went by and there was no indication that Brant had received the letter.

There was an old man named Mark Denver who had been a power in the business world, but now a helpless invalid. Hartley had cultivated him in the hopes of utilizing his past prestige for his own benefit. One day he came to Eugenie astounding her with an offer of marriage from Denver.

"It means independence for you," represented the subtle schemer, "for he will not live long."

Eugenie shrank from the proposal, but the artful and persistent Hartley finally overcame her opposition. A seeming plaything of destiny, forgotten, at least neglected by the only man she had ever loved, Eugenie consented to the sacrifice for her brother's sake.

Denver died within a month. Hartley made a fortune. A year was over, and Eugenie was at last truly independent, but she considered her wealth as mere dross, for it failed to bring her happiness.

Another year passed by. Amid her self-enforced solitude Eugenie found no surcease to the vague longing for the peace of mind and contentment fate had so cruelly denied her. A stray item in a newspaper, giving the discovery of a man named Arnold Brant in another city, detailed his being removed to a hospital from a wretched tenement room where he had lain down to die amid poverty, illness and despair.

It was Eugenie who had hastened to the side of the fever-stricken man, who, after days of weary watching, met the first intelligent words of the convalescent. She was the confidante of his terrible struggles in an unfriendly wilderness, culminating in the utter failure of all his plans. It was Eugenie who joined in his tears, whilst sobbing out the pathetic story of her own unhappy life. And then—

Not at the altar this time, but beside that humble cot, those two were reunited in a new simple second ceremony that promised to result in the happiness and peace both had so longed for—and so truly deserved.

BOOKKEEPING

(Wayne County Teacher)

The following outline in bookkeeping comes from the state department. They say, "The examinations will be based on this outline. The questions in composition will be based upon the ordinary work in language for the seventh and eighth grades, with some additional emphasis upon letter writing, description and narration.

The work, if done at all, must be done well. The topics to be taken up should be of real value in themselves or should make more clear the pupils' understanding of other subjects of the course. The list of topics should include: Business correspondence; Business forms; Accounting; Inventories.

The business letter should be brief and to the point. The body of the letter should be paragraphed and properly punctuated. The sentences should be easily understood and pertain only to the business to be transacted. Usually a business letter is short, but it must be complete.

From your language or grammar learn how to write and punctuate the heading, salutation, body, and close of a letter. Bring to the class business letters from business concerns with which you do business. Compare the wording, form and punctuation with the models given in your texts. Prepare lists of introductory and closing phrases, and discuss the suitability of each one.

Example: "My dear Sir"; "Yours sincerely."

Remember that at all times your letters must be written neatly and legibly. Learn how to fold the letter and to properly write the address on the envelope. Do not only study the examples given in the grammars, but also study carefully the letters received.

Actual business forms should be studied. Examples of most of these forms may be found in your arithmetic. The actual forms should be secured, however, from banks, stores, offices, etc. The usual forms are: receipt; bill; check; draft; note. Study the wording of each one. Learn how to write or fill out properly. How is a check, draft or note endorsed? What are the essential points of each form? For example, the check must contain the place and date, the name of the bank, the amount of money, etc.

Keep cash account, showing what is received and what is paid out. Each item should be plainly written and dated. In the same way keep accounts with persons, showing what they receive from you and what you receive from them. Why are such accounts important? Accounts might also be kept with fields, cows, poultry, etc. Secure paper properly ruled for such accounts. Study actual accounts.

Examine a real inventory. Notice how it is ruled. Make an inventory of the school equipment, books, maps, pictures, apparatus, etc. Make an inventory of farm machinery, land, animals, grain, cash, house furnishing, etc. Of what importance are inventories? How often should they be made?

Remember that all the work should relate to actual business. Good work in bookkeeping will mean good English, good drawing, good writing and good arithmetic.

A text book in the hands of the pupil is not necessary. A good elementary text in the hands of the teacher is sufficient. The keeping of a complete set of books should not be undertaken. The work for the eighth grade should be simpler than what is given in the high school. It should be practical and of the kind that will be useful to the child whether he goes on to the high school or not.

Hamilton's Essentials of Arithmetic, Second Book. The pages in that which were given in a former number to use for the bookkeeping are: 82-91, 155-159, 163-167, 180-187, 260-263, 269-278.

NORMAL TRAINING SCHOOL

The attendance in all of the departments of the Training School is about normal this week. May it remain so until the last day of the school year.

The pupils in the kindergarten visited the blacksmith shop one day last week, and now they are all blacksmiths. Talk about child problems and child subject-matter, and the necessity of protecting children from adult problems and subject-matter! The physical-activity satisfier belongs to children, to be sure, but nature has not determined whether it shall engage itself in throwing balls, baking mud pies, handling coal, or hammering on the anvil.

The seniors who are teaching in the Training School this semester are a busy lot. The first thing a teacher learns when he begins his teaching in the Training School is that he must make good not with the supervisors but with the children. It is the latter incentive that makes it worth while for him to spend hours in the work. Occasionally one is seen slipping back into the room outside regular hours to assist pupils through difficulties that were not disposed of during the regular recitation. Does a little extra work pay? Ask the pupils.

Each quarter in nearly every department new projects are being tried out by those who find experimentation much to their liking. Such a project, the results of which are worth reporting, was worked out last semester by Mr. Hauge in the grammar department. In connection with the study of sound in science lessons, the pupils became interested in the different ways in which sound waves were used in musical instruments. Each pupil volunteered to demonstrate one way in which sound waves became musical by constructing an instrument and explaining the principle of sound involved in its use. As a result there was brought together a large collection of musical instruments among which were seen ukuleles, banjos, drums, triangles. Were there thirty hours in a day, Mr. Hunter could have had a musical company on the spot!

ATHLETICS
(From the Goldenrod)

The basketball season closed last Friday night with the Western Union and Wayne Normal game. This game closes a season for Wayne State Normal which has been one of the best basketball seasons ever had in the institution. Under the direction of Coach Serfling the team has strengthened wonderfully until now it is like a machine, each and every one working as a whole and not a part.
The only regret that can be expressed is that this same squad cannot be here for next year. Nevertheless there will be five of this first squad remaining with good prospects coming from high schools next fall.

A good team cannot be developed in one year although it can go through a stage of development as has been shown by the success of our team. Out of eleven games played our team has won eight and lost three. It stands around the middle in the conference standing which is a good record for the first year in the Conference.

The squad of five men who remain for next year have had one year of instruction under Coach Serfling and with another year of coaching they should develop into a very good machine. Those who leave the squad are Srb, Buchanan, Vinckel and De-Kay. Those remaining are Clark, Helt, M. Miller, L. Miller and Rohrke.
These men have also had the experience of playing this year.

The school as a whole has shown that it is back of athletics and we feel sure that next year will be one of success with this continued support. The statement of the loyalty of our school can be proven by their attitude at the Peru game when our boys met defeat while fighting to the best of their ability; after the game
some of the Peru players personally remarked that the school was certainly out for true sport and showed their "pep." The Chadron boys say that they were surprised at the reception they received when they came upon the floor before the game.

Is this school spirit? It is, and this is what makes a strong team in either basketball, football, baseball or track.
Let us one and all work for a strong school spirit for next year to make it the best year Wayne Normal has ever had in Athletics.

Our school will hold another tournament on our gymnasium floor next year. At the meeting of the school men of northeast Nebraska last week this was voted upon and passed, so next year we again hope to have a very successful tournament.

Track work will be the next form of athletics undertaken. Work will commence as soon as warm weather opens. There is prospect of having a very successful track team. The boys will go to the meet at Lincoln and possibly to Morningside and Vermillion. Let us boost for a strong team.

Baseball will start soon and there is prospect of having class teams.
There is a large amount of material for teams and no doubt a few good contests can be played.

The question is being asked whether there will be an inter-class meet this year. This can only be solved by the classes. Let us all work for such a meet as it helps keep up the class spirit and school spirit. The classes are evenly matched and a very good meet could be held. Everyone interested boost for an inter-class meet.

Juniors, Seniors, Studentbody, stop, look and listen. There will be a battle royal staged in the gymnasium in the near future between the Juniors and Seniors. The men on the first team will be eligible to play.
There are four Seniors and five Juniors on the first team and this game will be one of the best played on our floor. The student body are asked to support whichever team they wish. Further particulars will be made known soon.

A wrestling mat has been ordered and will arrive soon for use in the gymnasium.

ALL-OF-A-SUDDEN-PEGGY

The title refers to the vivacious heroine. She is the daughter of Mrs.
O'Mara, widow, of a deceased scientist, and has accompanied her mother to Hawkhurst, the estate of Lord Crackenthorpe. The nobleman is writing a book on spiders and has invited Mrs. O'Mara in order to consult with her. His mother, Lady Crackenthorpe, however, suspects that Peggy has designs on him and summons her younger son, Jimmie, to divert the girl from her purpose.

He succeeds so well that he falls in love with her. In reality Peggy is trying to arrange a match between her mother and the Lord. Mrs. O'Mara will not marry as long as Peggy is unprovided for so to promote the match the girl pretends to have married Jimmie and follows him to his apartment in London. Matters therefore become very complicated but finally turn out happily for all.

WHERE SHALL THE BLAME REST?

School boards say that it is "hard to get" rural teachers this year.
Many country schools in western counties are closed, for part of the term at least, because no teacher could be hired or some one had made a contract and then resigned on short notice. The question of increased wages for teachers is being discussed all over our country and it is not my purpose here to enter into this controversy except in a limited way.

If the rural schools of Nebraska are to be kept up to the standard set by their neighbors, Iowa, Kansas and Colorado, school boards will have to enforce the new certification laws.
Under these laws the permit is no longer issued but the emergency certificate has taken its place. It is true that in some cases such certificates are necessary but in a few of our counties they are too easily obtained. The same is true of the third grade certificate and the consequence is a low standard of scholarship among our rural teachers.

The fault lies with the school board that will pay to the girl who has never gone beyond the tenth grade, the same wages that are earned by the high school graduate or the normal student. I know of one instance in which a teacher, the holder of a first grade honor certificate, taught a difficult school in the ranch country for sixty-five dollars per month, while the teacher in the next district, having a third grade certificate, was paid seventy-five dollars.
Only ten dollars difference but is there much encouragement to the ambitious young instructor in this unequal scale of wages?

It is the business of the school board to know the qualifications of the teacher it hires. Where has she attended school and how long? What has been her teaching record? What grade certificate does she hold? These are the things which a rural school director should know before he signs a contract, yet a girl in one of our counties taught four years and never had occasion to produce her certificate nor to mention the school where she received her training.

No teacher with several years of successful experience will go into a school and give her best efforts to a district who paid her inexperienced predecessor the same wages. It is unjust, to say the least, and scholarship and experience will have to be given more consideration if we wish to raise our rural school standards.

Nelson's Reading and Study Courses in United be equal to a college course and training in each of these departments. By their use a boy can re-may receive a business training superior to that which can be obtained from any of the widely ad-

Mrs. James Ahern left Wednesday afternoon to join Mr. Ahern at Chicago a few days before he returns to his work at Wayne.

J. C. Baker, a good farmer of Bryan precinct in Thurston county, has moved to a farm near Wayne, which he recently purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Griffith, who have been spending a couple of the winter months in southern California, returned home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Canaling came down from Verdel the first of the week, and stopped to visit her home folks, D. A. Strickland and wife.

Mrs. Maude Johnson from Sioux City came Monday evening to visit among her Wayne friends, and is a guest at the home of her brother E. E. Fleetwood.

Mrs. June Conger, Mrs. F. M. Strahan of this place and Mrs. Oscar Franks of Sioux Falls, who is visiting here, went to Sioux City Tuesday afternoon for a short visit.

William and John Dorn from Piller were here Wednesday morning, coming to catch a train from here, while on their way to look after business matters at Breckenridge, Minnesota.

Henry Ulrich and two daughters, Lula and Cora, of Omaha came Sunday and visited with the former's mother and his brother, John, until Monday afternoon when they returned to their home.

Wm. Rennick drove a new car to Lincoln the first of the week which he shipped from there to his California home at Hollywood. It was a Hudson. He returned here Tuesday, and Wednesday, having closed up his business matters here, took the train for California.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mitchell, formerly of Carroll, but now of Worthington, Minnesota, were here last week, on their way to Randolph where they were called by the death of the child of a brother-in-law. They visited friends a few days, and returned to their home Wednesday.

Mrs. E. O. Gardner, who went to Nebraska City nearly five weeks ago, and was seriously ill with the flu while there, was able to return home Monday evening. Called there by the illness of her mother, she found her on the way to recovery, and left her feeling comparatively well.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Simpson went to Omaha Tuesday afternoon, taking their little son with them for examination and treatment by a specialist, if they can promise hope of improvement. The little fellow has an apparent weakness in the hips, spine or legs, so that he has never been able to walk.

Last Friday it was reported that Chris Wischhof was ill with what it was feared would develop into something serious, paralysis being feared. We are glad to report that these fears seemed to be unfounded, as a message from his home informs us that he is apparently quite well and is about the home as usual, without indications of the trouble reported.

Charles Sprague escaped from town Monday, and seemed not inclined to tell us so that we could tell the public his destination—but he had a grip, and said it was empty—but he expected to return with it full, a fact which his friends should remember. One of his good friends told us that Tilden was his destination, and probably it was—but we do not know what he would fill a grip with there.

Quite a delegation of Wayne people were at the station Tuesday morning because it was rumored that Governor McKelvie would be here—reasoning that if he spoke at Norfolk Monday evening and was to speak at Randolph Tuesday, with roads almost impassable, he would naturally come this way by train. He did not appear, and several little congratulatory talks as to the release of John Wright had to be saved for future opportunity.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. C. O. Mitchell, who has been suffering for the past four weeks from heart trouble, went to an Omaha hospital to have treatment from a specialist under whose care she was restored to health from a previous illness. She has a host of friends who hope for her speedy recovery. Her sister, Miss Ada Cash, who has been here assisting in her care, accompanied her, and will be near her during her stay at the hospital.

The city Sunday dailies are taking one method of conserving paper. A number of the Sunday papers are now retailing at 15c each, and as a consequence their circulation will be reduced. This in time will cause the volume of advertising to decrease, and thus make less and smaller papers. The average Sunday daily carries a lot of pages that are next to useless to the average reader; but of course these freak features appeal to some, else they would not appear.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Griffith, who have been wandering about like some of the lost tribes, if we are good at guessing, since they left Wayne about three or four years ago, entered this port one evening last week. Since then they have been visiting friends here, and we trust looking for a little home place. If they went away from home when they left Wayne, and want to come back, they will be most welcome, for it is easy to see that when one has once acquired the Wayne habit, no other place can quite fill the bill for a real home. Hang up your hat, Brother Griffith, and tarry here a time.

next week at the usual day and hour with Mrs. L. C. Gildersleeve.

The Kard Klub met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in playing "500." Refreshments were served.

Following the regular business session of the Eastern Star Monday evening, the members gave a musical program, in which both vocal and instrumental music had a place, making the meeting one of unusual interest.

The Monday club met March 8, at the home of Mrs. A. A. Welch. Parliamentary drill was conducted by Mrs. Kostomalasky, after which the hostess served dainty refreshments. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Brainard.

The members of the U. D. club met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Kemp. Roll call was answered by items on China. Mrs. C. H. Fisher read a very interesting paper on the Chinese question. The club decided to give $5.00 dollars to the Y. W. C. A. drive. On Wednesday, March 17, the club will enjoy a 1 o'clock luncheon in honor St. Patrick at the home of Mrs. H. S. Ringland.

Misses Lucile and Arelene McClennan were hostesses at a happy meeting of girls on Friday evening. The lesson was led by Miss Laura Thompson and prayer was made for many interesting objects. The eighth anniversary will be celebrated March 22 when a group of young people from Emerson and Wakefield are expected. This week the circle will meet Friday evening with Miss Charlotte Ziegler.

The Coterie met at the home of Mrs. Frank Gamble Monday afternoon. After a short business meeting the members responded to roll call with their usual topics. Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh read a very interesting paper on Oil—The New Business Giant. Some very fine victrola music was enjoyed by those present. The hostess served delicious refreshments. Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. Warren Shulthies.

Mrs. P. C. Crockett was hostess at a very delightful meeting of the Bible Study Circle Tuesday afternoon. The leader used the first chapter of Revelation bringing out some fine thoughts and comforting messages for the churches. The date of Mrs. F. B. Lindgren's visit has been postponed one week on account of illness and a splendid meeting is planned for March 22, when a joint meeting of both circles will be addressed by him. Mrs. C. E. McClennan will be hostess next Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Gildersleeve and Mrs. L. C. Gildersleeve entertained the Standard Bearers from 5 to 8 o'clock last Friday evening. After a very interesting program a 6 o'clock dinner was served. After which games were played and a very fine evening was spent. There were fifteen girls present. Mrs. Claude Ferrell is superintendent and the officers are as follows: Miss Opal Thompson, president; Miss Margaret Heit, vice president; Miss Donna Sonner, secretary; Miss Joy Ley, treasurer.

The Acme club held their regular meeting Monday with Mrs. C. T. Ingham, and members responded to roll call with current event talks which were full of interest. Mrs. Bressler read an article telling of the Raynor National park, and its wonders. Then Mrs. Crawford read from a magazine the "Story of a Dog," a most interesting and entertaining sketch. The hostess served candy and popcorn. The club voted $5.00 to the Y. W. C. A. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. V. A. Senter.

Mrs. Beard's Sunday school class of the Presbyterian school enjoyed a very pleasant evening Tuesday, when they were guest at the home of Mrs. J. J. Williams. Mrs. Williams is an ideal hostess, and about twenty-five members of the class tested her hospitality. Mrs. C. A. Chace and Mrs. F. Phillo were program-committee, and they had a program full of pep. It was a sort of a St. Patrick affair, being not far from the day observed in honor of the late lamented Saint. The guests were divided into two Irish clans, the Murphys and the O'Flannigans, and then a series of contest games were played with Irish against Irish. The result when the total was known was in favor of the O'Flannigans. The hostess furnished ginger cake with whipped cream and coffee—a most delicious luncheon.

Woman's Club Names Officers
At the Saturday afternoon meeting the members of the Wayne Woman's club selected officers for the ensuing year, as follows: President, Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis; vice president, Mrs. C. A. Chace; secretary, Miss Jessie Jenks; treasurer, Mrs. M. S. Davies; auditor, Mrs. H. H. Hahn.

The following were named as chairmen of the various committees: Pro-

75 Per Cent of All Hauling Can Be Done by a Maxwell Truck

THERE are now more than 13,000 Maxwell trucks in use. And we cannot find a single business to which the Maxwell isn't adapted.

Up to this time we have listed over 300 kinds of businesses in which Maxwell trucks are employed.

They will do everything a five-ton truck will do except haul five tons at one load. Five-ton trucks aren't better. They're merely bigger.

Big trucks spend more gas hauling themselves than the Maxwell uses at peak load.

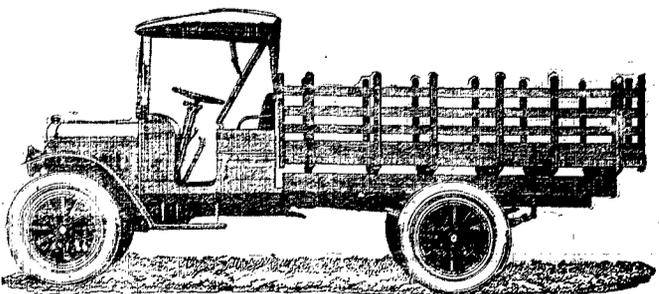

How well those Maxwells have done their work is shown by a service record of 99.6% perfect—the greatest record ever made by a motor-driven vehicle.

Mrs. W. E. Jones, Miss Gladys Jones and Miss Ruth Bartels of Carroll were visitors at Sioux City Saturday.

Mrs. Harry Smith from Laurel has been here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Henderson, left for home Monday.

Alex Laurie and family have moved from their farm to a home in Carroll which they recently purchased from Dr. Texley.

Fred Bartels from Parkston, South Dakota, has been visiting relatives and former friends at Carroll, returning home Saturday.

Our local physicians have been making use of the railroads in making some of their calls since the March weather began.

Sioux City had a little street car strike last week, but it was over almost before the reports of the event go beyond the home papers.

Mrs. Hattie Brewer and little daughters from Carroll went to Alton, Iowa, Saturday to visit two or three weeks with her mother.

Miss Elsie Rethwisch of Carroll has finished a course in dressmaking by the Kiester system at this place, and Saturday returned to her home.

C. H. Rennecker, a number of years ago a resident of Wayne, and later of Red Oak, Iowa has returned to Nebraska, and is now at Stanton.

Mrs. H. V. Isom and family of Sholes were here Saturday on their way to a new home at Hoskins, where Mr. Isom has secured the blacksmith shop.

Wm. Thomas and J. Haines from Carroll were at Omaha last week attending the auto show. The snow that covered things here was mostly rain there.

Mrs. L. B. Cobb went from Carroll to Sioux City Friday, where she entered a hospital for medical treatment. Mr. Cobb and Mrs. Morris accompanied her.

H. B. Nelson, who is looking after the Case threshing machine business in this corner of Nebraska, has decided to make Wayne headquarters for the season.

Mrs. W. L. Fisher and son, Alfred, left Monday morning for Wymore in reply to a message saying that Mrs. Leta Jones, daughter of Mrs. Fisher, is quite seriously ill.

C. H. Hendrickson went to Hartington the first of the week, court being in session there this week, and he having an interest as an attorney in some pending action.

Mrs. Glenn Johnson from Oakland Iowa, came Saturday evening to join Mr. Johnson here in their new home, six miles west of Wayne, on what was one of the Mellor farms.

Mrs. C. F. Shurtliff and two children from Walthill came last Thursday to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin, her sister. They returned Monday morning.

Wm. Gildersleeve, who was at Mitchell, South Dakota, last week when we had our storm, tells that sixteen inches of snow covered the ground there when he left.

C. M. Ammdown came over from Norfolk Friday for a short visit with wife and daughter, who are making their home at Wayne, where the young lady is attending school.

Ed Shannon of Sioux City was looking after business here Saturday. He had been most of the week before with Wm. Gildersleeve at Mitchell, South Dakota, on a business trip.

Ernest Paulsen and family, who have been farming near Carroll for the past year, have moved to the John Larison farm near Wayne, which Mr. Paulsen will cultivate this season.

Mrs. J. H. Foster was called to Sioux City Saturday afternoon by word of the serious illness of her mother, who had been suffering from flu, gotten better and then suffered a relapse.

The village council at Carroll think it is necessary to extend their water mains out a bit, and are going to ask the citizens if they think it necessary to the extent of insisting that it be done.

At Emerson they are circulating a petition to call a bond election for a $25,000 bond issue to be used for a community house. They have plans for a building 50x142 at an estimated cost of $23,000.

Mrs. Samuelson from Wakefield came over last week Tuesday and spent the rest of the week here with her son and daughter, Ed Samuelson and Mrs. Ralph Clark, returning home Monday morning.

F. G. Stanberry from Gilman, Iowa, spent Sunday with Wayne friends, on his way to Hartington, where he went Monday morning to look after some matters in court, concerning an estate he is administrator for.

Miss Linda Nedham of Bloomfield was here Monday, and visited the Normal school in the afternoon in quest of information as to vocal music training for her sister. She also visited the C. O. Mitchell home a short time.

C. E. Tweed, who has been ill for a time, and is now troubled with rheumatism, went to Hartington Saturday to visit at the home of his brother-in-law for a short time, in hope that the change and rest would improve his health.

It might be a good thing now while you cannot really work at it, to plan a big garden. Perhaps it is a little too late to plan successfully. Not time enough to get over the enthusiasm before time to go to work in the garden.

Miss Lois Craswell came out from Sioux City Saturday to spend Sunday at Wayne with her sister, Mrs. John Beard. She was accompanied by a friend, Miss Cecile Yeoman, also of the city, and they returned home Monday afternoon.

Women! Get These Surprising Cooking Facts!

Here are some facts about the "Red Star" oil range, which if used, will put your cooking problems on the most efficient and economical basis possible.

RED STAR
Detroit Vapor Oil Stove

The "Red Star" is entirely different from ordinary oil burning stoves. It is really a gas range. It generates its own gas from any grade of kerosene, gasoline or distillate. The patented eight and one-half pound double ring flame burner vaporizes the heat-units of the fuel and utilizes the energy that is usually wasted in odor and smoke. The heavy, iron burner burns red hot and concentrates an intense heat directly under the utensil. It operates entirely without wicks or asbestos rings.

No Wicks! No Smoke! No Smell! No Trouble!

Repeated official tests have proved that the "Red Star" is the quickest, most dependable and economical oil stove on the market.

It is designed and works like a city gas stove. A beautiful stove in any kitchen. Substantially built, easy to clean and to keep clean.

CUPID'S CAR

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

"A willful, ungrateful girl!" exclaimed Miss Maria Ward, "but I will bend her, even if I break her!"

Thus to an old spinster friend, soulless and crabbed as herself, and the latter voiced entire approval of the system and designs of her double in primness, prejudice, and, as it was now turning out, perfidy.

The subject of discussion was Miss Ward's niece, Drusilla North. Since she was twelve years of age her aunt had been her guardian, in charge of a small estate left by her father. A girl of less gentle mold would long since have resented and abandoned the strict discipline and kill-joy methods of the sored old maid. There was an innate sprightliness, and optimism inherent with Drusilla, however, that sustained her mightily.

She submitted to exclusion from the coveted companionship of other young people, she sat patiently in sewing circles, dreary lecture rooms and uncongenial meetings of a club of which Miss Ward was secretary, and which comprised all the long-haired male theorists of the district and most of the female faddists.

Meantime, Drusilla dreamed. She loved poetry, sentiment and all that was true, good and beautiful. She anticipated her twenty-first birthday, when the ban would be lifted and she could enter into real life and joyousness. Then one day she met Irving Thearle on her way to a town two miles distant, whither she was sent weekly to carry messages and dainties to an incapacitated old lady friend of her aunt.

He came into her life so charmingly, so naturally, that it seemed to Drusilla as if it was all predestined. He was stopping only incidentally at Millville in the property interests of a relative, was young, handsome, chivalrous. The winding country road was lined with flowers, and beyond were bird-haunted stretches of timber and rose-spangled reaches of velvety sward, where they roamed at will, and that one day in the week when they met became a sweetly beautiful idyl to both. No word of love was spoken, but its expression came forcibly to both when Miss Ward made the discovery of this stolen companionship and like a destructive hurricane crossed the paradisaical path of love and beauty.

Meantime Miss Ward had introduced into the household as a tri-weekly visitor a Professor Jeremiah Black, whose cult was antiquity and whose efforts to court Drusilla were persistent, but repelled. He was a long, lank youth, whom, Drusilla discerned, Miss Ward was intent on marrying her to; possibly interested as to Drusilla's little fortune.

There was a picnic one bright July day which all Millville usually attended, and Drusilla consented to accompany her aunt and the professor, because she believed Irving would be there, and was prepared to get some word to him. Arrived at the festal scene Miss Ward selected an isolated spot, and, lank-eyed, kept Drusilla from conversing with any one except herself and the professor. Drusilla, however, was so uncongenial and dull that the latter wandered off by himself in a somewhat disgruntled mood. Her heart was beating high, however, for she had seen Irving arrive in an automobile and later lurking in the woodland near by. Then she caught sight of him gazing directly at her from a near covert.

"I wish you would treat the professor with more attention and respect," spoke her aunt. "When there is dancing I wish you to retain him as your partner."

"I am not prepared to join in the dancing," returned Drusilla with artful mildness; and removing her hat she disclosed several wisps of her hair done up in papers.

"You might try to oblige me for once!" observed Miss Ward tartly, and Drusilla proceeded to remove the curl papers. Her aunt was busy primping, with a hand-glass assisting. Drusilla twisted several tiny wisps of paper free. She turned a quick glance in the direction of her lurking lover. She suspended a larger piece of curl paper, wadded it and flung it into a bush nearby.

Irving saw and understood. When Drusilla and her aunt started for the dancing pavilion he gained the bush, untwisted the discarded curl paper and read: "Meet me at the spring in an hour."

It was that length of time later that Drusilla, breathless and excited, joined him there.

"I just managed to get away from my aunt," she fluttered. "Oh, Irving! they are trying to marry me to that horrid professor and I am going to run away from home."

"Grand!" commented Irving cheerfully. "I'm going to, likewise. Drusilla, dear, let us go together. My auto is handy; I know a convenient clergyman not five miles away. Shall we hurry to him and then begin a joyous, truant honeymoon?"

"Do you care for me so much, then?" faltered Drusilla, and his earnest loyal gaze gave an assuring reply.

"I trust my future all to you," she murmured, and his strong arm encircled her as they hastened to the woodland. That was to them a veritable Cupid's car.

Republican congressmen are having a good time at the taxpayers' expense in junketing about the country in quest of democratic "mistakes." It is a pleasant but not a very profitable activity. In making an effort the democratic administration doubtless made mistakes. If avoidance of error could be insured by evasion of duty, the present republican policy would be a marvel of success.

THE NORTH NEBRASKA TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

(From the Goldenrod)

The North Nebraska Teachers' Association will hold its thirty-fourth annual session April 1, 2 and 3 in Wayne, Nebraska. The declamatory contest will take place Thursday evening, April 1, in the Normal Auditorium.

The number of sectional meetings has been reduced from nine to three,—namely, the Rural Education Section, Elementary Education Section, and Section of Secondary Education. This will make it possible to have specific problems discussed by experts.

For the general sessions and the sectional meetings the executive committee, assisted by the chairmen of various sections, have secured David Snedden of Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City, who will speak on the following subjects: "Search for Minimum Essentials in Grades I to XII;" "Next Step in Development of the Junior High School;" "Hard vs. Soft Pedagogy;" U. S. Conn, president of the Wayne State Normal; Louise Pound of the University of Nebraska who will speak on "Responsibility of the Teacher of English;" J. H. Beveridge, superintendent of the Omaha Public Schools; H. H. Hahn, department of education, A. V. Teed, rural school expert, head of the rural department and E. E. Lackey, head of the geography department, of the Wayne State Normal. An effort is being made to secure for the general sessions a noted authority on rural school problems.

The Wayne Commercial Club will provide entertainment for all visiting school folk at nominal price and do all in its power to make their sojourn in Wayne pleasant and profitable. Programs will be mailed about March 17.

A new feature of this meeting will be the special conferences of the different departments, thirteen in all, which will be held Friday at 7:15 p. m. April 2.

Spring certainly must be near if we can read some signs correctly. We have all probably noticed small dainty growths sprouting up here and there ornamenting some of our sorespots. Though as yet, they are just faintly discernable, our hearts are touched by these sprouts and we wonder how they will appear years hence if left to grow undisturbed.

These cuttings are parasites and grow only on the genus homo sapiens and require the most careful cultivation. One regrettable fact, however, is that these delicately nurtured offshoots have a very deadly effect on all ladies who view them, as their hearts are caused to flutter most wildly.

Would it not be advisable to destroy these strange growths? We think it would. Just present several of the young men with good sharp razors, and they will gladly destroy all the spring buddings that are so distressing.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

A republican county convention in and for Wayne county is hereby called to meet in the court room, at the court house, at Wayne, Nebraska, on Tuesday, the 11th day of May, 1920, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day for the purpose of electing delegates to the republican state convention to be held on Tuesday, the 15th day of May, 1920, and for the transaction of such other business as shall properly come before said county convention.

Each of the county precincts are entitled to the following number of delegates to the county convention, as apportioned by the county central committee on March 6th, 1920, based on the number of republican votes cast for the republican candidate for governor at the last election, and allowing one delegate for each 25 votes cast or major fraction thereof, which representation will be as follows:

Precinct	Number of Delegates
Hoskins precinct	4
Garfield precinct	3
Sherman precinct	3
Hancock precinct	3
Chapin precinct	3
Deer Creek precinct	5
Brenna precinct	2
Strahan precinct	3
Wilbur precinct	2
Plum Creek precinct	3
Hunter precinct	3
Leslie precinct	2
Logan precinct	2
Winside	2
Wayne First ward	3
Wayne Second ward	3
Wayne Third ward	4

The primary election this year will be held on Tuesday, April 20th, and as provided by an act passed at the 1919 session of the legislature the delegates to the county convention are elected at such primary.

The law further provides there shall be elected at said primary from each precinct one man and one woman as members of the county central committee.

Held at Wayne, Nebraska, March 6th, 1920.

By order of the county central committee.

WM. Beckenhauer, Chairman,
W. R. Ellis, Secretary.

For good building lot, phone the owner at Red 271. Lot 40 x 150.—2-26-3.

NOTICE

The attention of all residents in district number one, of the proposed paving improvement is hereby called to ordinance number 270. This ordinance sets forth and governs the requirements relative to lead pipe water connection which must be made prior to the paving of said district. All business blocks and residences abutting on any of the streets through which the water mains run in said district number 1, are required to make these connections. You are hereby directed and urged to carefully read said ordinance Number 270, and comply with its requirements.

J. H. KEMP, Mayor.

CITY MANAGER AT CHADRON

Chadron, where they have a big paving contract coming on this season, they have hired a city manager—not a home man, but a Mr. Raber, said to be very competent—and he should be for the salary is said to be $5,000 for the year. That is practically $100 per week.

Think of it he gets nearly as much as a common linograph operator or a printer.

SO THEY NAMED HIM "SPEEDY"

Harold Lloyd, the inimitable Pathe comedian answers to the nickname of "Speedy." How'd he get it? Harold Lloyd and his director, Hal Roach, and others, went to a show one night so the story goes, and a rube named Harold stepped to the front of the stage and said, "Don't call me Harold, call me Speedy."

Ever since that Harold has been called "Speedy" by his studio associates because, though he lives up to his nickname on the screen, in real life, he is slow and deliberate in all he does.

"Bumping into Broadway" is a speedy, laugh-a-second Harold Lloyd comedy in two-reels—the first of the new $100,000 special two-reelers the young comedian is making for Pathe. It is featured on the program at the Crystal theater tonight and tomorrow.

THOT GIRLS MAKING BOOZE

Evanston, Ill., grocers recently started an investigation into the suspicious circumstances surrounding the unusual purchase of yeast by many of the co-eds of the North-western university.

Enough yeast had been sold to supply the demand of a chain of bakeries. They couldn't understand it unless—the girls were trying home brew receipts.

The inquisitive grocers learned that the co-eds had been reading beauty hints, which stated that yeast is a great producer and maintainer of complexion, form and general plumpitude. Those who were too plump munched the yeast cakes to reduce. Those who were too thin nibbled the cakes to grow plump. Those who were just right ate yeast to remain that way.

The Evanston grocers were much relieved and laid in fresh supplies of yeast cakes.

At Coleridge they are agitating the question of bonds for a new school building. That is, the Blade is giving publicity to the idea. By the way, ever stop to think what a convenience a local newspaper is when you want everyone in the community to know what you think should be done. It is a mighty convenient thing, too, if "Brown" want all of his patrons and prospective patrons to know what he has to sell—especially if it be something special.

Our governor was here Wednesday morning, and it was a busy half-hour that he had trying to explain why he and the others, to whom he lays the blame, are turning the criminals out of the penitentiary almost as fast as they are sent there. Wayne people feel that the community is wronged in the release of Wright to come to Wayne—or in fact to be permitted at large at all. The governor says that he has simply been following the usual custom—acting on the report of some board and prison officials. He should know that his board is right—and the officials who secured the conviction of a criminal should at least have a chance to pass an opinion as to whether it is just and wise for them to be released. It is reported that others sent from this county within the last year are at large. In such cases, why send them? It seems to be a new use of the political slogan once applied to officers who were not honest: "Turn the rascals out."

Pender papers are sending out the S. O. S. call on account of the scarcity of houses. Dozens of families are homeless or will be if drastic measures are not taken to supply homes for them. The same condition exists here. Fifty houses could be rented in Emerson at the present time at from $25 to $35 per month. We mean modern five and six room houses. Several towns throughout the country have organized a club, bought twenty or forty acres adjoining town, platted it into lots and sold the lots at actual cost to parties who desire to build homes. The lots being sold under a stipulation that the owners should build a certain kind of house within one year or forfeit the lot. No persons could buy more than one lot or sell the lot within a period of ten years. Too many farmers are moving from the farm paying double price for town property, thus throwing many renters out of a place to live. Come to town Mr. Farmer, but build you a house before you do.—Emerson Enterprise.

According to the New Nebraskan that man Townley is some fellow. This paper asserts that while the n. p. l. was holding convention here in Nebraska and trying out the republican party, and looking for Townley, that gent was out in Montana effecting a political coalition with the red element of organized labor. When an organization and its head can tie to two great political groups in one day, we call it going some. It is small wonder that the league carried North Dakota hands down. In another place the Nebraskan tells that the reason the league came to the republicans was because there are so many more of them hungry for office than among the democrats. The only show, it seems, for the republicans to defeat the league candidate for the nomination will be for a number of the other candidates to withdraw. Who will be placed on the altar, and how many?—There is McKelvie, McLaughlin, McMullen, Pollard and Hall. Why not eliminate the Mc's and let Pollard and Hall pull straws for the place? The times demand patriotic sacrifice on the altar of the party.

Get Goodyear Tire Economy for That Smaller Car

Just as owners of the highest-priced automobiles get greater mileage and economy out of Goodyear Tires, so can the owners of smaller cars similarly enjoy Goodyear advantages.

The 30x3-, 30x3½, and 31x4-inch sizes of Goodyear Tires are built to afford a money's worth in performance and satisfaction which only the utmost in experience, resources and care can produce.

This extraordinary money's worth begins not only with the merit of these tires, but also with the first cost, which in most cases is no greater, and sometimes actually is less, than that of other makes of the same types of tires.

Go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for Goodyear Tires for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other cars taking these sizes. He is ready to supply you Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at the same time.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $20.00

30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $17.65

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in water-proof bag $3.90

One may look over the record political and private of all of the numerous candidates for governor of this great state, democratic or republican, and you will hardly find one with a better record for real progressive action than G. L. Shumway of Scottsbluffs. In the landslide of two years ago, he came nearer election as a democratic candidate than any one of that party on the state ticket. We are for a progressive democrat, and Shumway fills the bill! Safe, sane, square, progressive and not radical—a balanced man.

"It would be only decent to given General Pershing the delegation from his home state," is the argument of the Blair Pilot regarding the candidacy of General Pershing for the presidency, and that is no argument at all, as we see it. We might apply the same line of reasoning to the candidacy of Senator Hitchcock, and then Brother VanDeusen would call it foolish sentiment. What is wanted is a president for the nation—not one state. We want an American qualified to handle the affairs of the nation in a business manner. Not some one because he is your neighbor or of your state or even of your party. A man should not use his vote to pay a compliment to any man. If you want a military man untried in statesmanship and economic questions—try Pershing if you think he is the best and most available. Otherwise, vote for some one who suffices you.

Some discussion was indulged in as to whether or not to become a member of the national federation of women's clubs, and the decision was left for unfinished business at the next meeting. So was the matter of holding a county convention left for a future decision.

EXPANSION

"When water becomes ice," asked the teacher, "what is the great change that takes place?" "The greatest change ma'am," said the little boy, "is the change in price."—Our Dumb Animals.

NOTICE OF CONVENTION

Notice is hereby given that a convention of the citizens party will be held at the city hall in Wayne, Nebraska, on Friday, the 12th day of March, 1920, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for said citizens party at the general election of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, to-wit: Mayor, treasurer, city clerk, city engineer and two members of the board of education.

Fortner and the Chick Feed Business

While the reporter was looking for news and new enterprises, he found that Geo. Fortner, who has been handicapped in getting the proper ingredients and grains for his famous chick feed during the war period, busy making up a lot of the real chick feed, such as he used to make when he could make it as he wanted to. His patrons of other years as well as new ones—and patrons from other places, for he supplies a lot of dealers will be glad to hear this news. It was conceded that no feed for the baby chicks was superior to that made here at Wayne by Mr. Fortner. He selects the ingredients with great care, and proportions them so as to make a balanced ration—a ration that makes the big little chicks in short order.

A preacher, raising his eyes from his desk in the midst of a sermon, was paralyzed with amazement to see his rude offspring in the gallery peering the hearers in the pews below with horse chestnuts. But while the good man was preparing a frown of reproof the young hopeful cried out: "You tend to your preaching, daddy, I'll keep 'em awake."
