ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1920

$1.50 PER YEAR

THE PRIMARY ELECTION CENTER OF LOCAL INTEREST

The Wayne voters enjoyed the comparatively good weather Tuesday, and the primary vote was not large, on account of bad roads—but it was considerable larger than usual because of the women voting. With double boards, one for counting, the returns of the county were in complete at midnight, and the first county in the state to make full report. Clerk Reynolds tells us that the election boards of the county deserve praise for their efficient work and prompt and complete reports. We are also willing to give it to Clerk Reynolds for the headwork in advance making this report possible.

Any who wish more of the details than we have been able to give will find the unofficial vote by precincts neatly tabulated at the office of the county clerk; except that no reports were recorded of the names written in.

The result of the primary was much as expected as to governor and other state officers as well as the congressional vote. The non-partisan league voters filing their candidates as republican and thus voting that ballot nearly rendered the democratic vote extinct in some precincts. In one precinct there seems to be but one democrat voting, and he split, give some of his vote to Bryan and some to the Hitchcock faction—which was eminently fair, as all democratic acts are supposed to be.

Republicans who cannot affiliate with their new bedfellows, of the league, will find a welcome and plenty of room in the democratic fold.

For state superintendent of schools on the non-partisan ballot Matzen had 422 and Stewart 415.

In the judicial district Welch and Allen had no opposition, nor did Cherry for county judge. Forrest L. Hughes was nominated for clerk of court without an opponent.

From Over the State

Omaha, Neb., April 21.—W. J. Bryan is apparently elected as one of the four delegates at large from Nebraska, notwithstanding Douglas county gave 3,000 majority against him. Out in the state he is high man in 211 precincts, leading the low man on the Hitchcock slate by nearly 2,000.

McKelvie is undoubtedly renominated for governor, due to this split in his opposition.

Arthur Mullen is beaten for democratic national committeeman, but R. B. Howell, republican, is returned by a big majority.

Morehead is nominated for governor on the democratic ticket, equalling the vote of all of his opponents.

Senator Johnson is dropping a little on the returns as they come in, but will have at least 20,000 over Wood.

Johnson Leads Easily

Omaha, Neb., April 21.—Senator Hiram Johnson continues to maintain a lead as the ballots in Tuesday's presidential primary were slowly being totaled today. With 432 precincts out of 1,849 heard from he had General Leonard Wood and 7,309 for General John J. Pershing.

Pierce County For Ulrich

Returns from all except one precinct in Pierce county gives that county to Ulrich over Siman by 568 to 343. The same report says that Graff is running a head of Bartels for the democratic senatorial nomination.

Madison County Vote

In Madison county Johnson had a big lead over others for president. The Bryan delegates won in over the Hitchcock men. McKelvie and Morehead led in the primary race for governor. In the republican congressional race, Crowley was leading Evans nearly two to one, with seven precincts missing.

Rice was ahead in the democratic congressional race with Grocebeck and Sherry following in the order named. With missing precincts Rice had 242, Grocebeck 149 and Sherry 41.

In Holt County

The Hitchcock delegates won by about two to one vote.

TO DETROIT TO GET CARS

Wednesday afternoon Claude Wright left for Detroit to see if something might not be done to speed up the arrival of the much wanted Hudson, Essex and Dodge cars, for which his brother, B. W. Wright holds agency. At Sioux City he was to join other distributors going on the same mission. One trouble has been to secure cars in which to ship from Detroit, and it is possible that they may drive enough automobiles to make a car load to some less congested point and then make shipment. It seems to be a question of getting these cars rather than selling them, and Mr. Wright does not propose to leave any chance pass to get the cars here for his patrons. It will be a nice trip, if weather will not be bad.

MARRIAGE LICENSES AND WEDDINGS

August W. Vothkamp, formerly a resident of this county, who moved to Syracuse several years ago, was issued license the 21st to wed Miss Alvina Timme, who has been living west of Wayne, and their marriage is to take place today, Rev. Fischer of the church southwest of Wayne officiating. They will live at Syracuse, where the groom has a farm home.

Saturday, April 17, 1920, George Rounds and Mrs. Letta M. Johnson, both of Norfolk, were married by Judge Cherry. Mr. Rounds is a railroad man.

WAWNE WINS IN HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

Tuesday evening the Wayne high school debating team won the unanimous decision of the three judges in a debate with the team from Ponca. A very appreciative audience attended.

This victory places the home team in the district finals, where they are to meet the West Point team in the near future, probably at that place.

Wm. Piepenstock was a passenger to Sioux City Wednesday.

SEVERE RAIN AND HAIL VISIT WAYNE

The weather man is on his bad behavior this month. Following a week of miserable weather, dreary, rainy and cloudy, we had Tuesday and Wednesday fairly respectable, until about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, when a real shower came this way, accompanied by considerable hail and wind enough to make the hail rattle pretty lively on the windows. More than an inch of water fell within an hour. A number of electrolier globes were broken by the hail, some windows could not withstand the pounding, and where there was not an absolutely tight roof water found its way in.

Streets and crossings which were becoming passable, were flooded and muddled again, the street gutters ran full some basements shipped a little water. The water gauge registered nearly an inch and a half of water fall, and it is possible that it was not all counted, for the hail may have run over the top of the pan some. Such a hail later in the season would have been the ruin of crops—but just now there are no crops to beat down.

Saturday and Sunday the west part of the state was visited by a real blizzard. More than a foot of snow fell, and it was piled in great drifts. Trains were stalled and annulled, and for three days railroad traffic was out of the question in some parts. Denver and vicinity was buried in snow.

WOMEN STUDY THE BALLOT

Monday evening a postponed meeting of the Woman's club was called at the library basement, where fully one hundred women assembled to take a final lesson in voting. Prof. O. R. Bowen spoke to them, explaining the ballot and the proper way to mark to have the vote counted as you want it to count. Many questions were asked, and the ladies must have been well taught, for on the day following they experienced but little trouble in voting, and so far we have not heard of any ballot deposited by the women that have been thrown out.

Following the school of instruction, a business meeting was held, and two delegates selected to represent the club at the third district meeting of Federated Woman's clubs which is to be held at Wisner April 27, 28 and 29. Mrs. Clyde Oman and Miss Margaret Pryor were selected to attend the meeting. Many others hope to attend some of the sessions, driving across if roads and weather permits; as many women of state wide reputation are to be heard at this meeting.

WAYNE HOSPITAL NOTES

It has again been a busy week at this hospital, and the following record was made:

Miss Mabel Sumner of this place and Mrs. Kimball Smith of Belden underwent major operations.

Charley Kenney of Sholes had an appendix operation Sunday.

In the maternity ward a son was born to Mrs. Earl Merchant Sunday, and to Mrs. Pearl Kibby the 15th.

Eva Maggitt from Bloomfield and Lillie McNurtle from Kingsbury had adenoids and tonsils removed.

Mrs. Earl Phillips of Belden, and Mrs. Hart who underwent major operations were able to leave the hospital this week. And so was Mrs. Geo. Buskirk, sr., who has been there for treatment.

Dr. W. H. McPhaden of Belden was a visitor at the hospital this week.

PAVILION SHAREHOLDERS MEET NEXT SATURDAY

The meeting called for the shareholders in the Wayne sales pavilion, Monday was not given hearing enough to do business properly, and those present adjourned until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when they will try it again. It was a case of bad weather and worse roads. Better come Saturday and see how great your dividend is to be. Better than some oil stock.

DEATH OF MRS. WILLIAM JAMES OF THURSTON

Mrs. William James of Thurston, who came here for treatment a few weeks ago, improved and returned to her home at Thurston, and becoming worse, returned a week or more before death, passed away Sunday morning, April 18, 1920, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer, where she was stopping.

Mary Stevenson was born in Ohio in 1873, and came west in early life, and a few years ago located at Thurston, but were about moving to a farm near Potter when sickness came.

A funeral service was held at the undertaking parlors Monday afternoon and the body was then taken to their new home for burial. Rev. A. A. Kerber of the Thurston Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Kilburn of the Wayne church conducted the service in the presence of a large number of Thurston friends of the family. She is survived by the husband, three sons and four daughters, a brother and three sisters. The large number who came from Thurston to the service gave ample testimony of the high regard in which she was held in the home community.

CLEAN UP NOW

Spring is here, and you are notified to clean up yards, alleys and premises generally, removing to city dump all trash which will not burn readily, such as ashes, cans, bottles, etc. Andy Chance, Chief Police.

Mrs. Emma Liveringhouse returned Wednesday morning from California, where she spent the winter, and reports a very pleasant winter—except the bit of real winter they encountered in Colorado, where they met the big snow and blizzard the first of the week. Their train was held all night at Pueblo—and trains preceding them were some of them stranded in the drifts as long as thirty-six hours, so they were fortunate in being held where there was a chance to keep warm and get plenty to eat.

Henry Kellogg came home this morning from a visit in South Dakota. He admits that they have all kinds of weather there, too, except seasonable spring weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stanton from Wisner were here Saturday and Monday going and returning between their home and his father's home, Jas. Staton at Carroll, where they spent Sunday.

W. E. Beaman was looking after business at Sioux City Tuesday.

Now that our primary is over, let's resume business in real earnest.

Miss Marie Stanton from Carroll was a Wayne visitor Monday forenoon.

Mrs. George Joslyn of Omaha has bought two blocks of city property at a cost of $450,000 to be used for some public purpose.

In Arizona there were 90,000 acres in cotton last season and the prospect of 150,000 acres this year. A high grade of cotton is grown in the Salt and Imperial valleys of that state.

The farmer who is looking for a cheap—or low priced "hickory" shirt should remember that the automobile tires are now using more cotton every week than were made into shirts in other days in a year.

Mrs. Guy Lewis from Winner was here the last of the week to visit her mother, Mrs. Alice McManigal, and her little daughter, Sybil, who is staying with her grandmother and attending school. Mrs. Lewis had been visiting east of here and stopped on her way home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Grothe returned the last of the week from southern California, where they spent the winter. They report a very pleasant winter, but reached home in time to see a bit of snow to remind them of the fact that the people here had been having no flowers in their yards.

Tuesday morning Henry Korth voted early and took his saw under his arm and went to the train and ticketed to Coleridge or Hartington, going to saw wood on his farm between those two places—and he is no relation to the Kaiser, either. We think if one could drop in on him now they would find him pruning trees on the farm.

And in the mean time, Newberry the convict is holding his seat in the United States senate and drawing his salary. But his salary as senator for a hundred years would not equal the election expenses, and the term of a senator is but six years—so it is evident that it was not for the salary the senator was working. It must have been the "pickings."

I. C. Trumbauer has a handsome loving cup of silver in the window at his headquarters for oils and paints. He gets to keep this trophy a month, and then some if he produces more business for the T. V. B. than any other salesman in this corner of Nebraska—for that is the reason it is there—because he was top man in sales. If he shall keep it three months it will then become his property.

The republican house of representatives has passed its vote of surrender to Germany, in its illegal declaration by resolution that we are no longer at war with Germany. The constitution, the fussy old document, it seems makes the executive of the nation the only one who may negotiate peace terms, and hence a peace by congressional resolution is a surrender so far as congress can surrender, of what we entered the war for.

One may read all manner of political dope these days. One of the late stories is to the effect that the fellows way up in pollyticks may be compelled to offer Johnson the vice presidency, even if they have been fighting him. It may be that of complete loss of control of their party. No better thing could happen to the party than to have the stranglehold of men of the Penrose, Lodge, Newberry and others of that stripe loosened.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Melick from Winslow were Wayne visitors Monday.

A new Orpheum theater is to be built in Omaha at a cost of $3,000,000.

Lry mash is said by authorities to be the best feed for laying hens to get the maximum egg production. Some other types used to consider sour mash great stuff.

Mr. and Mrs. John Overocker from Norfolk spent Sunday at Wayne, guests at the W. B. Vail home. Mrs. Overocker had some church work mission in addition to the visit.

Mrs. W. O. Hanssen accompanied her brother-in-law, Gus Hanssen to Sioux City Tuesday, to spend the day with his wife at a hospital there. Mrs. Hanssen's youngest daughter also went to see her mother.

Miss Sarah Alburton, who has been reporting for the Herald for several months past, left Sunday for her home at Carthage, Missouri, where she will accept a place on one of the home papers. She is a competent reporter.

Mrs. Robert Dunn returned to their home at Red Oak, Iowa, Saturday following a week spent with Mr. Dunn on his territory tributary to Wayne. They hope soon to find a home in Wayne and make permanent headquarters here.

Mrs. Shackelford from Topeka, Kansas, came last week to visit at the home of Mrs. J. V. Delaney of Emerson, and learning that Mrs. Delaney was at Wayne visiting her mother, Mrs. R. P. Williams, she came to Wayne for the visit.

"Wedding Crimes" in a headline was evidently intended to have appeared as "Wedding Chimes," but perhaps the "intelligent compositor" set it wrong and the alert proof reader was in too great a hurry to get the forms on the press.

Successful Farming tells of a merchant who said that irregular advertising is to be compared to the irregular clerk. Here on duty one day and off the next two or three. This speaker regarded advertising as a selling force, and as such, it should be constantly on the job for the best returns.

This week's meeting of the Mississippi valley waterways association will call on the political conventions to promise a comprehensive program of federal waterways improvements. This statement appears on the same day as a Washington report putting the present expenses of the federal government at eighteen million dollars a day.

Where are the crowds at the national conventions to sleep? The city hotels are full without convention crowds. In Chicago the need is to be met, it seems, by the renting of private residences. The rates charged make some of the deals reported look like sales rather than leases, but the buyer returns title at the end of the week.

Mrs. J. W. Gildersleeve, who went to Rochester two weeks ago for examination, came home Saturday. As a result of the X-ray she had a number of teeth drawn, and Tuesday returned to Sioux City, where the work was done, for treatment of the gums, which had been quite badly ulcerated. A number of her symptoms of trouble have ceased to bother since the teeth were extracted.

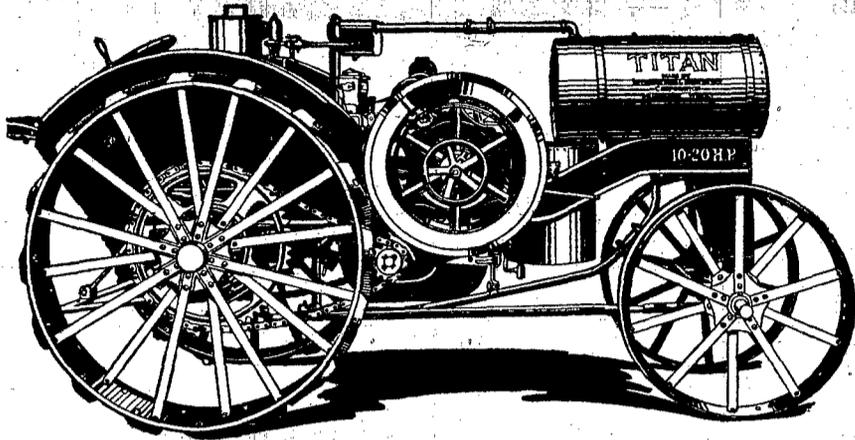

Prof. David Friday of the University of Michigan, who was formerly connected with the United States treasury department, believes that the period of hard times for which the country is booked will begin within a year. In his opinion production will not become abundant enough to meet the needs of the people until we have a period of hard times, thus reversing the old theory that overproduction was the cause of most of our financial ills.

A Missouri store-keeper is said to have refused to advertise because if he did, he would be pestered to death. He must have been related to the southern merchant of whom the story goes that he was fond of checkers, and when engaged in a close game in the back of the store, which was watched by a traveling salesman waiting patiently a chance to present his wares; customers entering the store appeared to be unnoticed, so the traveling salesman informed the proprietor of their presence, and his reply was: "Just keep quiet, they will go-out pretty soon."

One of our farmer friends was complaining recently that the committee named to map out the proposed consolidated school districts for this county were all town people; not a rural man or woman on the job. But he was not complaining about the work they did—at least if he did complain it was not at the proper time and place, for the country people were given opportunity to make objection and suggest changes at the proper time. A few appeared with changes to suggest, and most of the changes asked were granted. There is a proper time and place to make objections—but we fear our friend has sinned away his day of grace.

However a splendid audience, filling every seat in the opera house and the gallery as well waited for more than two hours for Mr. Bryan, and then remained for an hour and a half to listen to the Bryan and dry side of the question which is to be threshed out at San Francisco.

While waiting for Mr. Bryan, S. Toledo Sherry came in from the west, and appeared before the audience, talking thirty minutes of the waiting time. At the close of his remarks, Mrs. Weekes of the Norfolk Press, a candidate for delegate from this Third District to San Francisco, was called for. Confessing that she was not a public speaker, Mrs. Weekes went to the platform and made her bow and in very decisive language told the audience her purpose if selected to represent the voters of this district in the convention at San Francisco. She would not, under any consideration, go as a representative of the wet or Hitchcock machine—and those who heard her and voted for her know just what to expect in event of her going to the convention. Her decisive attitude on the questions at issue brought hearty applause.

Another treat was in store for the audience, Rev. Barney, from Indiana, who has been in the state on some kind of a campaign mission had come from Norfolk to hear Mr. Bryan, and kindly consented to give the waiting people a half hour of his time; His talk was "dry" but mighty interesting. He spoke of the possibility of the return of the beer and light wines, if the law regulating the percentage of alcohol permitted in drinks could be changed. It was his opinion, that should the present ration of one-half of one per cent alcohol be increased that beverages of whatever amount of kick was permitted could and would be openly sold in drug stores, restaurants and any other place where "soft drinks" are now sold. He told of the methods by which the liquor interests of other days had controlled legislation—simply by doubling teams with the legislative tools of other bad corporations—or corporations that had an ax to grind and wanted the public to turn the crank. His talk was well received and applauded frequently.

Mr. Bryan came in just as the audience had completed plans to sing a number or two, and so he came down the aisle to the platform while the people stood and sang, "My Country." He wasted but little time, and entered at once into a discussion of the questions of the day, and while this report cannot reach the readers until after the first skirmish of the coming battle has passed into history, many who could not attend will read with interest a brief review of the sentiment expressed by the speaker.

William J. Bryan declared that he would attend the democratic national convention at San Francisco whether he is elected a delegate or not. He declared that he wants a part in framing the democratic platform which he said should be couched in a manner that carries the conscience of the people. He told the audience that he wants planks which include the elimination forever the danger of universal military training, specific provisions against the profiteer, reiteration of the plank against private monopoly, ratification of the peace treaty with reservations agreed upon by a large majority of the senate and not making of the treaty a campaign issue.

He outlined the difference between himself and Senator Hitchcock, declaring the opposition was due to the fact that he differed with the senator on four important propositions: First that Hitchcock had favored a Wall street candidate and he opposed him; that the senator took the Wall street side of the question while he took the people's side; that Hitchcock opposed prohibition and woman suffrage.

Mr. Bryan emphasized the importance of the primary and recited the battle hymn of the republic as emblematical of what he will stand for when he goes to San Francisco. He concluded his address with an eloquent word picture of the evil caused by liquor which he said was championed by Senator Hitchcock.

Mr. Bryan had a busy half hour following his talk greeting friends and receiving congratulations. He was a guest of Mayor Kemp and family until the evening passenger came, taking him to Norfolk where he spoke in the evening to a large assembly of interested voters. It was a disappointment to many that the road condition did not permit people from the country to get to town.

Just Where and How
to be Spent?

A businesslike Answer to a businesslike Question

THIRTY denominations cooperating in the Inter-church World Movement have budgeted their needs. No business could have done it more scientifically.

They have united to prevent the possibility of duplication or waste. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

Each denomination has arranged its budget under six main heads:

- 1. FOR THE CHURCHES WORK AT HOME. A score of thousands under the heel. Consider only one. Five and a half million people in the United States cannot even read and write the English language. What is to carry forward this vast work of Americanization if the church does not?
- 2. FOR HOSPITALS AND HOMES. Every year thousands of men and women seriously ill are turned away from Church hospitals because of lack of room. The children's homes are compelled to turn away more children than they can receive.
- 3. FOR HIGHER EDUCATION OF THE 40,000 American students in institutions of higher grade, one-half are in institutions founded and supported by the Churches. Many of these institutions have had meager endowment campaigns, but these needs are just as pressing as the needs of larger institutions and you have only to read their list of alumni endowments to measure the value of their contribution to America.
- 4. FOR RELIGIOUS TRAINING. At least 12,000,000 children and young people under 25 years of age are entering American life without any religious training at all. Remembering the faith of Washington and Lincoln, do you think that America will continue to produce Washingtons and Lincolns if faith dies out of the hearts of its youth?
- 5. FOR THE CHURCHES WORK ABROAD. Influence came first from the Orient thirty years ago; nearly all plagues are Oriental plagues. So long as China has only one physician to every 40,000 people the Orient will continue to be a menace. So long as one-third of the babies of India die before their second year our own babies are not safe. A Christian doctor or teacher sent abroad is working for America as truly as though he worked at home.
- 6. PASTORS' SALARIES. The preacher is called the "forgotten man," and well he may be. Eight out of ten preachers are paid less than $20 a week!

Each denomination has its own detailed budget, and will administer its own funds. Your pastor has copies of the budget; examine them for yourself. In the week of April 25th-May 2nd you will be given your opportunity to help. You can do it with the full satisfaction of knowing that every dollar of your gift has its post assigned to it in advance.

Every dollar for better America and a better world. When your church calls on you give—and give with your heart as well as your pocket-book.

HUMILIATION

What have the palterers with the peace treaty and the league of nations done to us? Raymond B. Foadick returns from Europe with a sickening report. "The ghastly business at Washington has left us without a friend anywhere," he says. "All that we have won during the war we have deliberately thrown away. We are regarded as a race of quitters and our professions of idealism and disinterestedness are marked down for sham and hypocrisy. We started something that we later refused to see through. We left Europe in the lurch in the middle of the game after imposing on her our rules of procedure." This is the European view. The bitterness of it is the all too much justification. Europe cannot well understand that it is only a minority that has held America bound to its worst self, for Europe does not understand how one-third of our senators can balk two-thirds in treaty-making. From the more selfish American standpoint the sorrow of Mr. Foadick's statement lies in the peril which we have created for ourselves. The whole world now disbelieves in us. Senator Johnson tried to make his Lincoln audience believe that the league of nations meant larger armies and navies for America. The triumph of Senator Johnson's cause would mean armaments upon armaments for us, our necessary defense against a world which would feel toward us as it lately felt toward a sinister Germany.—State Journal.

A MAN'S PRAYER

Teach me that sixty minutes make an hour, sixteen-ounces one pound, and one hundred cents one dollar.

Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unhaunted by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain.

Grant, I beseech Thee, that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in doing so may not stick the gaff where it does not belong.

Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts.

Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own.

Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young enough to laugh with my children and to lose myself in their play.

And then when comes the smell of flowers and the tread of soft steps and the crunching of the horse's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: HERE LIES A MAN.—Michigan Tradesman.

The Nebraska primary is now all over except the shouting. Next comes the constitutional convention election, and then the big election for president, in which all should take a hand and raise a voice.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Garden farmer will find the Ford Model T One Ton Truck an especially valuable factor in his business because of the flexibility as well as the reliability of the service given by this splendid truck. The worm-drive of manganese bronze carries all the power of the motor to driving the Truck, and there are combined in larger and heavier form all the elements which have made the Ford Model T Car the greatest motor car in the world in point of service. The Ford Truck with its worm-drive is most economical in operation and maintenance. There is very little, if anything, to get out of order at any time; there is the simplicity in control; there is the convenience in the flexibility of the car, it will turn in a circle of forty-eight feet; it accommodates itself to narrow alleys, and it "stands the gaff" of hard work day after day, and month after month, to the great satisfaction of the owner. There is hardly a line of business activity where the Ford One Ton Truck is not really a necessity. Come in and talk it over.

Yes, the primary is over in Nebraska, and a lot of fellows are scratching their sore spots.

The Literary Digest is sending out a drag net in which they hope to catch eleven million votes, tabulate them and give their readers a presidential primary vote the most complete ever yet attempted.

The single tax fellows claim that much of the evil of high prices, and the consequent high cost of staying on earth or being buried would be remedied by a change of the tax system so as to tax natural resources for the benefit of all of the people rather than to tax man-made improvements for necessary government expenses. Such a policy would certainly tend to encourage improvement and keep idle land in use—in fact, it might make idle land too expensive to hold for purely speculative purposes.

A move is on foot to have a platform committee of manufacturers called to draft resolutions which are to be discussed at a great meeting of the manufacturers of this country, which are to be presented to the resolutions committee of each of the two dominant parties for their adoption or guidance or rejection. At any rate the manufacturers propose to ask for what they consider good for them. About May 13, the manufacturer's hope to have their resolutions under consideration at a meeting to be attended by representatives of all manufacturing interests.

Concerning the sugar situation as it is today and as it promises to be tomorrow and next week—in fact as long as the profiteers can control the production and output, a reader has handed the following bit of history for publication that those who really think the blame is on the president may know the record: "A little mighty interesting history. Last fall the Cuban sugar crop was offered for sale at 6½¢ per pound. President Wilson asked congress to appropriate the money and asked the board to purchase it. A bill for that purpose was offered, but was pigeonholed by congress for ten weeks, and when finally passed the foreign and domestic speculators had contracted for all of the surplus. This information for the benefit of those who are told and believe that Wilson kept us out of sugar."

THE BROKEN DATE

By H. L. LANGDALE.

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Miss Rogers," the familiar voice called from the office, and Betty arose with alacrity. It was getting to be a regular thing for young Bennett to single her out from the other stenographers when he had dictation.

Trim, demure and businesslike, she slipped into the chair beside his desk and waited, pencil poised.

If Betty sighed, she did so unconsciously, thinking how few opportunities she had to meet men of his type. Perhaps Dick heard the forlorn little sigh. At any rate, as Betty rose to go he detained her.

"I say, Miss Rogers, you know I've just bought a little runabout, and I'm very anxious to try it out with someone. Couldn't I come around next Saturday evening, meet your mother and take you out for a little spin?"

Betty's heart thumped unmanageably, but she was able to say, "Why, I'd love to, Mr. Bennett!"

"All right, then," said the young man, "I'll be there about 7."

Her neighbor at the next typewriter eyed Betty curiously. Belle Thomas was the only girl in the office Betty did not like. So when Belle said, hinting, "Mr. Bennett's been saying sweet things to you?" she returned coldly, "I don't know what you mean."

"Oh, he's a great little flatterer, you know," said Belle.

Betty thought to herself that if there was any truth in Belle's words, she would know after Saturday night.

Saturday afternoon, which was a half-holiday at the office, Betty spent pressing and mending her serge suit. She had not seen Dick Bennett since the morning of his invitation. In fact, today he had not been at the office at all—a business trip to New York was the reason passed among the girls. Funny, Belle Thomas had been absent, too, thought Betty. Well, she didn't mind how often Belle stayed away.

At 7 o'clock Betty sat on the little porch waiting.

At 20 minutes past 7, Betty, alertly watching the corner where the machine would have to turn, saw a bright new runabout go by—and her quick glance saw not only Dick Bennett, but by his side Belle Thomas.

Betty felt cold all over. So he had forgotten her! He was taking out another girl—and that girl Belle Thomas! Suddenly, she remembered the absence of them both that day. "So," thought Betty, "he went down to New York on business and took Belle along for company, and they are just getting home!"

Going into the house, she thought first she would sit down and cry out her disappointment, not only disappointment at the loss of the pleasant evening, but disappointment at the loss of faith in Dick Bennett, that in the company of one girl he could so readily forget his appointment with another. Then she decided her pride would not permit her to weep over anyone so thoughtless. Putting on the hat with the perky wing, she left a note for her mother, saying that she had gone to see a girl, and went out.

When she returned her mother greeted her with the words: "Betty, where were you, child? Mr. Bennett came and was much surprised to find you were not here, and I couldn't explain."

"Never mind, mother," said Betty wearily. "I changed my mind. Mr. Bennett is only a philanderer."

Monday morning saw Betty, pale and unsmiling at her desk.

But, "Miss Rogers," came the well-known voice presently. Betty rose, pausing a moment outside the door to get herself well in hand. What would he say? Of course, he had a right to take around anyone he wanted to.

If Dick had anything to say, he evidently intended to get business over first, for he began as usual. "Please take this dictation, Miss Rogers."

As Betty, leaning over her notebook, waited for the first words, she did not see the twinkle in his eyes. Presently, he began in a sonorous voice: "In a contract, if the party of the first part breaks his agreement with the party of the second part—or, in other words, if one person accepts an invitation from another and that other, proceeding to carry out his part of the agreement in good faith, goes there and does not find the other—"

Betty's fingers trembled. What was this dictation, anyway? Looking up, she saw the laughter in Dick's face. The laughter gave her courage. Rising, very straight and slim in girlish dignity, she spoke: "Mr. Bennett, I waited and waited for you Saturday night, and—"

Bennett interrupted eagerly, "Yes, I was late, and I was sorry, but—"

"I know what made you late. You and Miss—another girl—were just getting home from—"

Dick's frank eyes were puzzled. "I don't know what you are talking about. I got in from New York about 5 and was on the way to your house about 7 and then—oh, yes," a light broke over his face. "I met Miss Thomas, apparently in a great hurry. She said she had been home all day with her sister, who had been sick. She was on her way to the doctor's for medicine, and had left her sister alone. She asked me if I would take her back to save time. I did, and then I came for you."

Betty's sweet face was suffused with blushes. "Oh, Mr. Bennett," she said, "I—I am so sorry. It was horrid of me. Will you forgive me?"

"On one condition only," said Dick sternly. "That you pay a penalty. That you go riding with me this very evening. Saturday is too far away!"

In these unusual times, teeming with stirring events, an Extraordinary Encyclopaedia is an absolute necessity.

American enterprise has solved the problem by making a loose-leaf Encyclopaedia that is perpetually new, containing material that is found in no other Reference Work, as, for example, the splendid new article on Aeronautics prepared under the direction of the Aero Club of America and including details of the record-making feats of the NC-4, Vickers-Vimy and R-34.

Nelson's Loose-Leaf—the One Encyclopaedia of Today

Nelson's Reading and Study Courses in United States History, The World War, Business Economics, Nature Study, Agriculture, and Home Economics are declared by educational authorities to be equal to a college course and training in each of these departments. WAYNE WOMAN'S CLUB

The Wayne Woman's club was organized about a year ago, officers being elected and a constitution adopted March 29. The financial statement of the club—April 5, 1919, to April 5, 1920, herewith submitted shows some of the activities of the club during its first year. Membership in the club is open to any woman of Wayne and vicinity, who is interested in woman's part in community service and in her own intellectual development. This first year has been rather a strenuous one in some ways, but most of the club women feel that the effort put forth has been well worth while.

Genuine Early Ohio Seed Potatoes

This will be the big week for seed potatoes. The cold weather has delayed planting—the big demand will begin at once. We guarantee our stock to be the best obtainable—shipped direct from the Red River Minnesota, where potatoes are grown for seed purpose, only. We also have table potatoes at $1.00 less or $4.50 per bushel.

Security Calf or Pig Food

In this time of high priced milk pig and calf raisers should be interested in Security. Its been an active seller for years and from the fact its fully guaranteed should warrant a try out by all stock men. This is a concentrated food, when mixed with water or separated is equal to whole milk and at a cost of 3c per gallon. You will note the saving is considerable. Don't fail to try this for your pigs after weaning time. Segregate a bunch for a "tryout" and note the difference.

START THE LITTLE PIGS RIGHT

The first two weeks, the amount of nourishment the little pigs get will depend upon the mother. Be sure to feed the sow a ration that will produce a good milk flow. Schumacher Feed, plenty of good clover hay and skim milk will supply the elements required.

At the age of about ten weeks they can be weaned. A great mistake is often made in not starting the real feeding of hogs early in their lives. It is not necessary to wait until the pigs are large enough to run all over the place before feeding them. As a matter of fact, the critical period of a pig's life is just after it has been weaned and before it has become accustomed to eating heavy feed. For that reason, it should be brought to the heavy feeds gradually. It is good practice to have a clean, tight trough just outside the pen. Make a place so the pigs can get out to it, and two or three times a day pour in something they like. Skimmed milk is the best feed to start with and, as they begin to take to it, add just a little Schumacher. When they are about ten weeks old, they should be eating fairly well. A little more Schumacher Feed should be added then. Feed only enough to have them lick it all clean in a few moments. Don't over feed.

After the pigs are ten to twelve weeks old, eating well and thriving, give them a thick pouring slop of Schumacher Feed and tankage. Sprinkle a little salt in three times a week. Mix to a pouring slop with milk if you have it. Any kind of milk will do. Feed twice a day what they will clean up while running on pasture or self-feeder. See that they have plenty of clean water. No dish water or dirty water. Geo. Fortner has a little book that tells all about profitable hog growing.

STATEMENT REGARDING THE INTER-CHURCH IN WAYNE

The united drive for benevolence of the churches affiliated in the Inter-church movement of America is to occur during the week of April 25, and closing May 2. Over thirty separate church bodies are cooperating in this great financial campaign. In Wayne, the Methodist Episcopal, the Presbyterian, and the Baptist churches are cooperating in the Interchurch. In as much as the Methodist Episcopal church put on its forward movement drive in the Centenary campaign of last year, this church will make no benevolent drive at this time. The Presbyterian and Baptist churches will solicit their membership, however. In order that no one be solicited twice for benevolence, all the lists of those to be canvassed will be cross checked in a meeting of a committee consisting of the pastor and one layman from each of the cooperating churches. It is the purpose to solicit each citizen once but only once. To reach those who are not affiliated with any church, a list of non-church members who are nevertheless friendly to the work of Protestantism in the world, will be made out by this committee. These people will be asked to give to the general fund for benevolence, of the Interchurch, and their gifts will through the channel of the Interchurch, be used for Christian humanitarian work throughout the world. The quota asked from the friendly citizens of Wayne county by the Interchurch is $5,070. We believe that Wayne county will go over the top.

The Roadster, Too Has All the Noted Essex Qualities

Speed—Power—Endurance—Economy—Utility.
It is an Ideal Car for Business as Well as Pleasure.

The wide business uses for which the Essex Roadster is adapted are instantly apparent. Its utilities are many. But note no evidence of them is revealed when the Roadster is used as a pleasure car. Every line is smart, trim and graceful. It takes but a moment to make the change.

A World Endurance Record Proves Essex Dependability

A large class of its buyers are business men. They choose it for utility and dependable transportation. It becomes, in fact, a part of their business system. It must be on the job, keep all engagements on time, and be as responsible as an engineer's watch. These same qualities, with its rare good looks, make the Roadster unsurpassed as a smart car for pleasure. Economy, durability and train-like regularity are the standards set by Essex. These things have been shown in the hands of more than 25,000 owners.

It was more dramatically proved on the Cincinnati speedway, when an Essex stock chassis set the world's long distance endurance record of 3,037 miles in 50 hours. The same car, in these separate tests, traveled 5,870 miles at an average speed above a mile a minute. Another stock Essex set the world's 24-hour road mark of 1,061 miles over snow-covered Iowa roads.

It is specially suited for salesmen, inspectors and others who must cover wide territory, quickly and frequently. Though not large, the Essex is commodious. There is plenty of room for passengers, and special arrangements for carrying sample cases, unseen, and even a trunk if desired.

Come see the Essex Roadster. Ride in it. Try its paces. Whether you want it for business or pleasure, you will appreciate why Essex in its first year set a new world's sale record.

NEW WORLD MOVEMENT DRIVE OF THE BAPTIST CHURCH

On Wednesday evening the membership of the Baptist church will meet to hear Dr. Braden of Stromsburg in a stereopticon lecture which presents the need of our foreign field. The details of the local drive are in the hands of our state headquarters. For the drive in Wayne there will be a team of special solicitors who will be sent us by the state headquarters. Although given a larger quota than was anticipated it will be the aim of Baptists of Wayne to do their best and strive to go over the top. There is a determination in the church to do their full duty, as God shall show it to us. The Wayne church has been asked for a quota of $22,970 as their share in the New World Movement. The apportionment for the state of Nebraska is $1,506,000.

FROM SUNSHINE LAND TO SNOW CLAD LANDS

A week ago Sunday A. G. Griesel and his son, D. S. Griesel, of Belden dropped from the morning train at this place expecting a Belden car to meet them and take them home. But when they saw the deep mud covered by two inches of snow and felt the driving storm they knew no car would come for them. To say that they were surprised to find such weather conditions here is saying it mild, for they had just come from North Dakota and there had left fine weather and seeding well under way. The father had just made his first visit to North Dakota, going to the New Rockford vicinity, and in a visit we had with him, he told us that to him it looked like a good country—it showed evidence in buildings and improvements as well as the soil—in fact he could hardly be convinced that land could be selling for so small a sum per acre unless something was wrong—but the most careful examination of conditions, and freely mingling with the people who call that home failed to disclose anything other than what it appeared—and well he bought a farm, and thinks he made a thousand or two in the transaction. The son had been there before this spring, and has holdings in that part of the state, and he did not tell the father not to buy.

Speaking of New Rockford, he said things appeared to be on a boom in the little city, and that the great feeding yards there for stock in transit to be fed, will mean much to the farmer who grows hay or grain for home market, for thousands of head will annually uncar and feed there from the great ranges in Montana where sheep and cattle graze in almost countless numbers.

The Great Northern Development association which is inviting the people to look along the lines of that road, write us that they have never before seen greater interest shown in the opening of a country to settlers than this spring. Every indication points to the sale of not less than 100 quarter sections within a month from the time they first opened the spring. Letters of enquiry are coming at the rate of a 100 a day at times. Some Wayne people are planning to see that offering before summer, and they should go early.

THE NEW TIME CARD

For a number of weeks there has been rumors and reports of a coming new time card for this place, and others along the line of the Omaha, and on Sunday it came. The changes here consist of the morning train east leaving at 8:50 instead of 8:20, thirty minutes later. The evening train west is due to leave Wayne at 6:30, forty-five minutes earlier than the old time. The train from Omaha will leave Webster street station at 1 o'clock, an hour earlier than previous time. The Sioux City train is due to leave that place at 4 o'clock p. m. daily.

The morning branch train is due at 8:40, making close connection for Omaha and Sioux City. The afternoon trains from Bloomfield and Norfolk run on the old schedule. The branch due to arrive at 1:35 and depart for Emerson at 1:50. The Norfolk-Sioux City passenger is due to leave at 2:45—the old time.

The branch trains out are due to leave at 11:15 a. m. and 6:45 p. m., with freight 57, except Sunday at 8:45 a. m. The freight down the branch is now due here at 4:15 except Saturdays. It carries passengers from here as far as Emerson. The same freights that carried passengers under the old schedule carry them now in and out of Wayne.

Baptist New World Movement Means Much to Nebraska

Nebraska Baptists are to subscribe $1,506,000 of the national quota of $100,000,000. The campaign starts April 25 and ends May 2.

Of the money collected in the state $785,000 will remain here for the aid of Grand Island College, educational funds, church edifice promotion and city and frontier missions.

The remainder will be used by Baptists of the nation in a strong religious effort.

Every Nebraska Baptist Must Pray, Work and Give

Leaders in the state are predicting great success. But no one community can falter without a blight on community conscience for this is Christ's work and must be done.

These are the things that determine the true cost of a motor oil—the protection it gives the motor against wear, economy in fuel consumption, the size of repair bills for operation and upkeep.

Polarine stands high when judged by these standards. It cushions all engaging parts with a wear-preventing film that keeps moving parts snug-fitting, working easily with little vibration or noise.

Polarine has unusual stability under high engine heat. It assures a fuel-tight and gas-tight oil seal in the cylinders—maintains full compression and delivers maximum power.

ADDED TO ROLL OF HONOR

Soldiers Reported "Missing in Action" Have Been Classed as "Presumed Dead."

According to The Home Sector there are still between 250 and 300 members of the American front line army still unaccounted for.

In speaking of this war mystery of missing men the ex-soldier's magazine says: "Soldiers who go into battle are like men who go down to the sea in ships. There are those who return and those who do not, those who live and those who die. And then there are those who dwell for years in a twilight zone of uncertainty, neither life nor death, from which no word ever comes back to the shores called home."

"A few weeks ago the newspapers of the country announced that there were no more members of the A. E. F. 'missing in action.' The only reason they are not missing in action is that they have been 'presumed dead.'"

"There are still between 250 and 300 members of the American front line army unaccounted for, who, carried on the rolls for months and months as missing in action, seem to have disappeared from the battle field as if by the wave of a magician's wand, leaving neither the ripple of a rumor behind them, the testimony of an eye, nor a footprint in all the paths of the world."

"They are the irreducible minimum of the 50,000 lost, strayed or stolen men that the A. E. F. carried on the morning of Nov. 12, 1918, as missing in action. To guard against injustice to their relatives or friends, the war department has ordered that from henceforth they be carried as 'presumed dead' instead of 'missing in action,' in order that their war risk insurance benefits may be paid. That in brief explains why the American army as it stands demobilized today technically has no 'missing in action.'"

SLEPT AMONG THE DEPARTED

Travelers in Auto Unknowingly Selected Peculiar Place in Which to Pass the Night.

They lived in Milwaukee and "flivvered" through to Indianapolis with their two children. They left home early in the morning, arriving at Gary just before dark. Anxious to reach their destination as soon as possible, they left Gary after getting a supply of gasoline.

A few miles out of Gary a heavy rainstorm checked their progress and shrouded the countryside in pitch darkness. Losing their way they decided to turn in at the first gate and spend the rest of the night in the automobile, rather than take chances of traveling by night in the darkness on unknown roads.

A few miles further on the outline of a tree just beyond an open gate was seen, and the auto was guided beneath. The couple and children slept in cramped quarters in the auto and awakened at daybreak next morning.

Imagine their horror when they discovered they had slept all night in their auto in a cemetery.—Indianapolis News.

Too Beautiful.

A man and his wife went to one of the most beautiful islands in the Caribbean sea seven years ago to spend the twilight of their lives in the serene beauty of the tropics. It was a place which the husband, a seafaring man, had chosen as the nearest approach to terrestrial paradise for those who have enough money to live without working hard.

The couple landed in New York the other day with their lures and penates and a parrot. This ideal season is just about to begin in the Caribbean, but it will start and continue without this particular pair of humans. "We want an old-fashioned New England winter," said the wife. The husband was more specific. "It was great for a while, but finally it got too dodderish beautiful. We are going back to Connecticut to see some rocks and barren fields."—New York Sun.

Over in Siberia a staff of Y. W. C. A. workers are slowly but surely making headway in organizing an association and in interesting girls in the various activities planned for their benefit. Overcoming the mountains of difficulties which arise from the abnormal educational and social situation in Vladivostok has been a problem to be approached slowly and with eyes open.

The workers report finding a few people interested in the things which have to do with girls and with whatever information they have gathered they are carefully developing their activities. There are sewing classes and one of the workers is conducting classes in spelling and letter writing.

Prize-Fighter Congressman.

The report that Carpenter, the prize fighter, is ambitious to become a member of the French parliament, recalls the election of John Morrissey to congress on November 5, 1887, from the "Bloody Sixth" ward of New York city, says the Springfield Republican. Morrissey's famous fight, in which he defeated Heenan, took place October 29, 1858, in the man's land adjoining Boston Corners in Berkshire county, afterward conceded to New York by Massachusetts. The pugilist had a long record of indictments for assault and burglary and had served nine months in the penitentiary for nine breaches of the peace. He served his district in congress "satisfactorily enough" to be re-elected.

"LUCY'S BOY"

By KITTY PARSONS.

(Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I don't care if he is a nice man, Aunt Mary—I don't want to meet him! I hate paragons and from what I hear about him, he's a regular one. Please don't ask him while I'm here, dear aunt; I'll just be horrid to him, if you do!"

Aunt Mary frowned and tried to look angry.

"You're an ungrateful child, Mollie, and goodness knows when you'll ever have another chance to meet anyone with as much money as Lucy's boy has. Not that I'd think of money, if I didn't know he was a fine young fellow, besides. He couldn't be anything else with such a mother as he had. Lucy was the dearest friend I ever had in the world. Her boy couldn't be anything but a paragon, my dear. I don't see why you're so stubborn about this, Mollie."

"I'm sorry, aunt, but I'm so happy and contented here that I can't bear to have anybody's pampered darling boy come along and spoil it, even for a week. Summer is so short, and I'll have to go back to work next month. Please let me enjoy it just with you and the other folks around here; every single minute is so very precious!"

"Well, well, you're a funny girl, and I suppose you might as well have your own way. What have you young people planned for tonight?"

"Bess and Chet Olney, and a friend of his are coming to drive me out to the club with them to a dance—I suppose I'd better get ready now."

Mollie kissed her aunt on the tip of her nose. "Don't be cross with me, dear, about 'Lucy's boy.' I know he's a marvel of virtue, but I don't pine to know him."

Bess and the two young men called for Mollie about half past eight, and she was quickly hustled into the back seat with Chet's friend, who was cheerfully introduced as "Skinny" Smith. She couldn't see him very clearly, but his voice was nice, and they found each other's company so agreeable that when they reached the club and the others go out, they still sat talking together.

"Come on, Skinny—up to your old tricks again?" called Chet. "This is the last stop!"

They all laughed, and started on the steps of the clubhouse. It was a beautiful night, and Mollie was sure she was going to have a wonderful time—she felt just in the spirit to enjoy every minute of it. She was always popular, but she found young Smith such a good dancer, and so entertaining a falker that she didn't mind at all when he repeatedly begged her to dance with him. They found a great deal to talk about, too, and when they were tired of dancing, they sat out on the cool porch, where they could look at the moon.

"I guess Mollie's made some hit with old Skinny," whispered Chet to Bess, as they disappeared in the direction of two wicker porch chairs.

"Do you live in this town all the time?" asked the visiting young man hopefully.

"I'm just spending the summer here with my aunt. She's a dear, and I adore her. We had our very first quarrel today because she wanted to have a stupid young man from Greenfield here on a visit. His mother was her best friend, Lucy Norris, and I've heard so much about 'Lucy's boy' that if I ever see him I think I could choke him with my bare hands! Why are you laughing, Mr. Skinny Smith?"

"I was just thinking I might know him—I live in Greenfield myself. What's his name?"

"I'm sure I don't know—I always think of him as 'Lucy's boy.' I think it's Carter something or other, but I'm not at all sure. Do you know such a person?"

"We went to school together; he's sort of a queer fish—not much of a lady's man as a rule, either."

"I knew there must be something wrong with him the way aunt raved. I loathe paragons, and I hope I never have to meet this one—never!"

Skinny became suddenly serious.

"Please don't say that," he begged her.

"Why not?"

"You've met him already—yes, you have, too! I'm he—Carter something or other. I'm sorry, but I didn't know you had such an aversion to me, really."

Mollie was covered with confusion. "Oh, you can't be 'Lucy's boy'! I never pictured him that way. I'm dreadfully sorry I spoke as I did."

"Are you sorry or glad I'm different?"

"Why, I'm glad, of course! You're a perfect angel compared to what I thought you might be."

"If you think I'd improve on acquaintance would you be willing to think about me a little more?"

"How much more?"

"Well, for life, anyway—for better or worse."

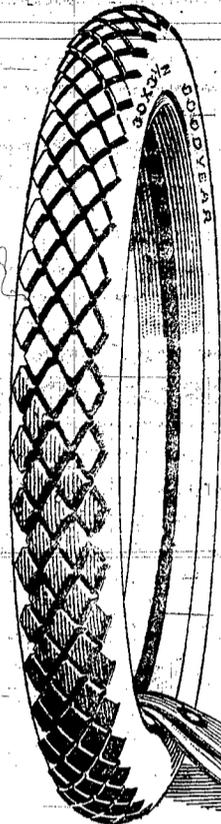

Bess and Chet came rushing out on the porch to tell them that the last dance was over.

"How is it?" Skinny, asked Mollie, scarcely noticing the others at all. "Better or worse?"

"Why, what's the matter with Mollie? Is she sick?" cried Bess, in concern.

Mollie laughed a little nervously. "Just a little headache," she told them reassuringly. "And now that I've been sitting out here in this beautiful atmosphere, I begin to feel sure that it is really going to be better."

Unusual Value—In Tires for the Smaller Cars

Not only is characteristic Goodyear merit conspicuous in Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars, but ordinarily the first cost is found to be not greater than that of other tires; often it is actually less.

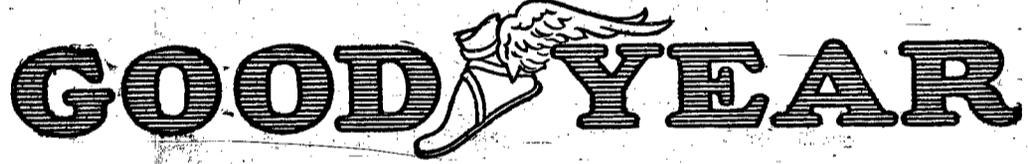

The combination of unusual value in first cost and very low final cost, of course, is a result of Goodyear experience, expertness and care employed as insistently in the making of 30x3-, 30x3½- and 31x4-inch tires as it is in the construction of the famous Goodyear Cord Tires used on the highest-priced automobiles.

For this reason more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped last year with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

Get this unusual tire value to enjoy on your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at the nearest Goodyear Service Station. Get these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at this station.

- 30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread... $23.50
- 30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread... $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are thick, strong tubes that reinforce casings properly. Why risk a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in water-proof bag... $4.50

Beef Cattle Rule Steady to a Quarter Lower

UNEVEN BREAK IN HOGS

Steady Prices Buy Bulk of Live Mutton Supply, Although Wet Lambs Are Slow Sale.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Neb., April 21, 1929.—A run of 8,300 cattle arrived for Tuesday's trade and demand on packing account was rather indifferent, prices showing a somewhat easier trend. Beef steers sold at figures steady to a quarter lower, with she-stuff steady to a little easier. Lambs Fully Steady.

Arrivals of sheep and lambs amounted to 8,000 head, and while shorn grades sold readily at firm figures, demand for wet fleeced lambs was very quiet. Trade as a whole was considered generally steady. Choice light, dry fleece lambs are quotable up to $20.75, with best shorn lambs bringing $17.90. Some good woolled ewes reached $15.10.

PAPER-MAKING DEMONSTRATION

One of the unique features of the Teachers' Association was the demonstration of paper making by Lois Lyon, Genevieve Freeman, Edward Newmyer and George Fritts, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Grace Johnson of Lyons.

The following phases of the process were shown: shredding of linen rags, boiling same in caustic soda until it was a pulpy mass, molding sheet of paper by use of mold and dechle, pressing with a wringer, sizing with glue or gelatine and drying and polishing with electric iron. Visitors were given samples of paper made by the children. Many teachers expressed a desire to know just how to do the work.

Miss Johnson said that her entire sixth grade worked out this problem in February.

Another Statue.

With the unveiling of the figure of Gen. William Shepherd in the community of Westfield, Mass., a worthy figure is added to the American population of revolutionary heroes whose memory is perpetuated by a public statue. General Shepherd, before the Revolution, had taken part in the "Old French war," which justified Macaulay in saying that because Frederick the Great had decided to rob a neighbor, "red men scalped each other by the great lakes of North America." He began as a private soldier and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel under Washington, and later commanded a brigade under Lafayette. Individuals have sometimes questioned the utility of public statues; yet in this case, as in many another, the statue defeats the common forgetfulness of past deeds that has found expression in the old saying, "Out of sight out of mind."

No More Pups.

A little friend of mine who lives next door has been teasing his mother for a puppy.—Knowing the destructive habits of such animals, she has firmly refused to let him have one. At last he persuaded her to let him borrow one for half a day to show her that a puppy knew enough to properly behave himself. Being warned that he must watch the puppy every minute it was in the house, the little chap for a time was careful to keep his eye on it; but finally tiring of such vigilance, he relaxed his attention only to give the puppy the chance it had been waiting for. It improved it to the full by chewing to pieces one of his most cherished Christmas toys. This was too much for the young host. "Good night," he exclaimed, "no more pups for me; I'll get me a 10 year old dog."—Exchange.

On Blaker's Day.

Charles had been going to kindergarten about two weeks. During this time the children had been taught the song "When the Sun Wakes Up at Break of Day." The little fellow liked it very much and tried to sing it at home. The children had been told about Mrs. Blaker living above the kindergarten and that she could hear them singing.

This fact, with the words of the song made a deep impression on Charles. When he reproduced the song at home, this is what he insisted was correct: "When the Sun Wakes Up at Blaker's Day."
