NORMAL COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM FOR WEEK

The exercises of commencement week at the Normal will begin Sunday evening at 8 o'clock when Rev. J. W. Beard of the Presbyterian church of Wayne will preach the baccalaureate sermon in the auditorium. The subject of the address will be "The Energetic Idealist." On this occasion the senior class of seventy-six young people will appear for the first time in cap and gown. All the churches of the city will unite in this service.

On Monday evening a new feature of commencement week will be observed in a musical recital by the Normal Male Quartet and Professor Willis C. Hunter, violinist. These musicians are well known in Wayne, and a large number of music lovers from this place and surrounding towns will doubtless be glad of this occasion to hear them. An admission fee of fifty cents will be charged and the net proceeds will be divided among the three religious organizations of the institution. This is the only program, other than the class play, for which an admission fee will be asked.

Tuesday evening the senior class, under the direction of Miss Martha Dewey, presents Bjornson's play, "Love and Geography." The Normal has a record for the high character of the plays enacted and the excellent work of the young actors, and this performance will be no exception to the rule.

Wednesday at 2 p. m. will be given the joint recital by the Orpheus club and the orchestra. Both these organizations have won golden opinions for their artistic renditions of excellent music and this recital will be an event to be remembered.

At 8 p. m. on Wednesday the pageant, Miss Dewey, author and director, will be shown on the campus of the Normal. The theme is that of Wayne, yesterday, today and tomorrow, and is, as the title suggests, of patriotic significance. Both the students and the citizens of Wayne will take part in this notable community drama.

Both the institution and the city of Wayne appreciate the compliment to the local school in the fact that the commencement address on Thursday morning at ten o'clock will be delivered by Governor S. R. McKelvie. It is fitting that this successful state normal should have the recognition implied in the visit and address of the official head of the commonwealth. Governor McKelvie will be a welcome guest. On this occasion awards will be made of the Mines' Gold Medal to the student who is adjudged to have made the greatest progress during the school year and of the Frank S. Morgan Cup to the young man of the senior class who has been most valuable to the school in the sum of his activities. The president will confer diplomas and certificates upon successful candidates.

Perhaps that which most interested the audience that heard ex-senator Lafayette Young last Saturday evening was the unique personality of the man. He is a "gentleman of the old school," an editor who has exalted his calling, and his wholesome attitude toward life and his love of his country were pleasing. As he recalled the early struggles of his career, the days when civil war veterans were the undoubted leaders in America, when a sturdy individualism was the prevailing philosophy and practice, the listeners felt that there were, indeed, giants in those days and that they were gazing upon, and hearing the voice of, one who belonged to an inspiring, if bygone, time. We are glad to have heard Senator Young of Des Moines.

One of the largest gatherings of the year was that on Monday night that listened to the music program and saw the moving pictures that followed. The latter pictured the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the coming to the State Normal School of Valley City, North Dakota, of the former president of that institution. The pageant displayed by the moving picture was written and directed by Miss Martha Dewey of the Wayne State Normal, and is much like that to be presented here next Wednesday evening.

The musical performances of the young people, pupils of Professors Coleman and Hunter and of Mrs. House, were all of a very high order and were greatly appreciated. After the meeting, the performers and their instructors were guests at the home of Professor and Mrs. House, where an impromptu musical performance

THE LAST WEEK OF SCHOOL

With the closing week of the school year pupils and teachers have relaxed from the work and study and given a bit of time to sport. Picnics and sneak days have been daily occurrences. The Juniors made a sneak on Tuesday, going by automobile and truck to Norfolk, with Miss Emma Hughes as chaperon.

Wednesday the entire high school joined in an afternoon picnic going to the Ben McEachen place for a jolly time and a picnic supper.

This morning the Seniors set their alarm clocks for five or earlier to get out and work up an appetite for a breakfast at the country club grounds. Six o'clock saw them on their way to that pleasant resort where a happy morning was spent.

The Seniors had the Juniors as their guests.

This afternoon the 7th grade pupils are out for final good time before they take their next step up toward the top of the school ladder. Another year and they will have to begin to assume more dignity, and perhaps put away some of their children playthings.

Fourth grade pupils are also out for a picnic this afternoon, and the weather man has been very considerate of their need this week in furnishing some good picnic weather.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

John Davis from Norfolk entered the hospital for treatment for an infection of his eye, and is soon to be able to leave.

Miss Clara Davis of this place underwent an appendix operation Monday.

Perry Jarvis of Carroll was brought to the hospital for treatment for eye injury.

Mrs. Alfred Meyers of Coleridge entered the hospital Tuesday.

L. H. Comstock of Dixon is a medical patient and being treated for injury to the face and eye.

Mrs. J. L. Kelly has left the hospital following medical treatment.

E. H. Dorsett was brought to the hospital from his home, suffering from a fractured hip, sustained by a fall. His symptoms also indicate internal injuries from the fall. Owing to his advanced age (84) and his feeble condition there is little hope of his recovery.

Miss Mary Clasky of Lyons had tonsils and adenoids removed Monday.

The same liberal discount will apply to all ready-to-wear goods in stock for those two days.—Adv.

Dean H. H. Hahn has published a scale for the measurement of the attainments of children of the seventh and eighth grades in history. The scale is carefully worked out on a basis furnished by investigation into the work of forty-three schools in fourteen states in various parts of the country. It will be recalled that some time since Dean Hahn and Professor Lackey prepared on similar lines a scale for measuring attainments of pupils in geography. Doubtless the new work will have as wide acceptance as did the former.

WAYNE COUNTRY CLUB PREPARES FOR BIG YEAR

New Golf professional arrives. The Wayne Country Club is preparing for a big season. The success of the club financially is assured for the year in the fact that they have 171 members.

The management of the club has had a great many difficulties this spring on account of the weather and it has been an impossibility to get any work done because of the wet condition of the grounds. However, this week several large work parties have been out almost every day and the course is rapidly getting into shape.

The greens have been seeded for the year and the extreme wet weather will doubtless be of benefit to them. In fact the management assures us they will be much better than ever before.

Mr. Allan Longstaff the new Golf professional arrived last week from Milwaukee and will be in shape to take care of those who wish instruction by the time this goes to press.

He comes to Waynwell recommended and has already shown his playing ability. All the members of the club who desire to take instructions are urged to see Mr. Longstaff at once for appointments.

An addition was made to the buildings on the grounds. This week Mr. C. H. Fisher contributed a small house which was moved out and is being remodeled into a work-shop near the first tee, where Mr. Longstaff will hold forth.

The Club is planning on a formal opening day about the first of June. Definite plans for it are now being considered.

BRICK WALL FALLS

Tuesday afternoon the wind caught against the veneered brick building on the corner of Main and Third street, known for years as the "German Store" and now occupied by Hurst and Son with a stock of general merchandise, in such manner as to cause about one fourth of the front wall to break from its fastenings and come crashing to the walk. Fortunately no one happened to be passing there at the time, but some were near enough to make them think—what if it had fallen fifteen seconds earlier?

The building and the adjoining lot belongs to the Wayne Odd Fellows, who purchased it some two or three years ago, expecting to replace it with a large modern structure with their home on second or third floor. But war came—and prices soared—labor was hard to secure as well as material, so the building was postponed until more favorable times.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Odd Fellows Wednesday it was decided to remove the projecting cornice along the south side of the building, and the wall as far down as might be necessary to find a secure and solid wall and rebuild with new ties to the frame and finish without any projecting cornice. The front which fell is to be treated in the same manner.

This building is one among the oldest in the city, and was built and occupied by Henry Ley.

CORN PLANTING THE ORDER

We see no farmers in town this week, except on urgent business. There is a reason. After the most persistent continuance of discouraging farm work conditions the sun has been shining, the rain ceased, and never before has such weather—condition been more welcome. From early morning until dark, they tell us, the corn planters are clicking, plows are turning the ground, and discs and harrows are making ready a good seed bed. One farmer now on the retired list tells us that with two more days of good weather the greater part of the corn will be planted in this vicinity. If that be true, the planting will not be late as it was feared. In fact, corn planting is seldom finished in this part of Nebraska before May 25, and some is later. If seed of present planting proves good, it may easily be knee high by July fourth.

LAFAYETTE YOUNG'S LECTURE

Last Friday evening the closing number of the Normal lecture course came, and Hon. Lafayette Young, editor, traveler, war-correspondent, and ex-senator from Iowa gave the closing number of the course. Many were feeling a bit of disappointment that W. J. Bryan could not fill the date as had been planned, but to most of the audience the change was very acceptable before the senator had closed his remarks. He is no orator, as is Mr. Bryan, but he had a message that was good to hear in these times of stress.

"How Shall we Proceed to preserve America," was the heading he gave the talk. In his opinion, the Women and the American Legion are to be two of great factors in bringing order out of the present chaos. He would have every one help himself and others; he would not have the government giving favors as some would have it do. We were rather surprised to hear the speaker take such ground on that question for he was known in other days as strongly in favor of government aid in the form of a protective tariff for out "infant" industries. We are glad to know that the senator is growing more sound on economic questions.

He rightly laid a part of the blame for the crowds in our penitentiaries to the parents who thru mistaken kindness have not taught their children to work. He did not think the best men and women came from the class who had their every imagined need provided for them without effort on their part. When the time came, as it frequently did, when their wants were not met—could not be met by the hand that had petted them, the temptation was to get it without the formality of giving value received. He told of his hardships in establishing himself in a business, and the real work he did to attain the desired end.

He said that the United States had been a sort of an experimental farm in the matter of self government; and that the world is now reaping advantages from many things worked out by America. In his slight reference to his experiences aboard as war correspondent, he made some reference to the imperial form of government and of his experience as a prisoner suspected of being a French spy. He soon learned that bribery was a key to privilege, and that some of the officers were not any worse than they had to be to hold their job.

Many fine points were made by the speaker, all tending to make this a better government if religiously followed up in practice, and at the close of the talk many stopped to commend the speaker.

The Baccalaureate Sermon.

Sunday evening at the Methodist church the graduating class of the Wayne high school and their many friends assembled to listen to a sermon from Rev. John Beard of this city, and few if any in the audience which filled the church to its capacity, ever heard a better talk for a like occasion. It was a direct appeal to the young people, as well as older ones, to improve their opportunities. He clearly demonstrated that if they would have a worthy success it must be by their own efforts. It is what you do, not what others do for you, that counts. Life is education, and education could be attained outside of school as well as within if the determination to acquire it were persistently followed, and told of several noted instances where the will power of the individual had overcome obstacles and made them among the most useful men and women of their times—and service is a measure of greatness now as never before.

The members of the class and of the high school gave some splendid song and music, and the pastors of the other churches assisted in the program as announced in the last issue.

PLEAD GUILTY OF ADULTERY

Bertha McColy, who has been confined at the county jail under charge of adultery, entered a plea of guilty before Judge Welch, and was sentenced to serve a term of six months in county jail.

Harold Clouse, who was arrested at the same time on same charge, may have more to answer for, and was taken to Norfolk Wednesday evening by United States Marshal for a hearing in Federal court before Commissioner Hayes; probably for violation of the "White Slave" act.

Runners are already here from Mexico. Another big string is on the way from Cuba headed straight for Hartington for the big Race Meet to be held here June 10—11—12—adv.

BOLLEN ACCEPTS NOMINATION FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Two weeks ago the Democrat announced that our townsman, F. L. Bollen had been nominated by the progressive allies assembled at Grand Island to make the race for attorney general. A day or two later the city papers were announcing that Mr. Bollen had declined the proffered nomination. A few days ago, Mr. Bollen sent in his acceptance of the nomination, and is to remain in the running.

Mr. Bollen told a reporter that after he had learned more of the aims and purpose of the progressive elements that had answered the call for the Grand Island convention, and found the other men on the ticket to be as progressive as he claims to be, and that it was purely a progressive move, he was willing to accept and make the race. From what he learned, the Grand Island convention was the work of the progressive farmers, the progressive labor men and the progressive men of both republican and democratic parties; and with these he was willing to cast his lot.

MISSIONARY WORKERS

A world movement among spiritual forces began when three parties of eminent Bible expositors under the Vigorous Life Conference Board started out to assist burdened and over-faith and life into churches paralyzed by the awful war and consequent grief, and heavy new tasks undertaken by them from various sources. Dr. Griffith-Thomas of Wycliffe College, Toronto, Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. G. Trumbull of Philadelphia, editor of Sunday School Times, will tour China, Korea and Japan, visiting the mission stations with the liberating message of a Victorious Christ ending up at Tokio in the World's Sunday school convention in October.

Dr. A. J. Ramsey, prominent pastor for years in New York City, together with Robt. McQuillin, author and preacher, will hold conferences in the larger cities, while a party of equally efficient workers will visit the middle-west and assist the smaller churches in various sections. Concord, Neb., is to enjoy one of the conferences from May 23 to May 27, and Logan-Center United Brethren church has invited a conference there beginning May 30 and other churches are planning for the work. A great time is hoped.

SHERIFF LEWIS CAPTURES PAUL JONES

Monday or Tuesday Sheriff Lewis returned from Niobrara, with Paul Jones in custody. This is the Randolph lad who cashed a $30 check at the Citizen's National Bank about three months ago, on a Randolph bank in which he had no funds. Sheriff Lewis captured him at the time, and the lad asked to go to his room at the hotel for a coat, or valise, and while the Sheriff waited at the foot of the stairs he made his escape over the roof of an adjoining building, or from a window. At any rate he did not come back, and was not located until recently.

He waived examination before the county judge, and will plead guilty before Judge Welch this week, we are told.

PAVING MOVING SLOWLY

Paving and grading forces are working this week under better weather conditions; but the paving crew is not yet fully assembled. Wednesday perhaps a half dozen men came to join the force, and within a week it is expected that a full crew will be here so that both mixers may be kept busy. They now have several blocks of curb and gutter run, and two blocks of the base down. Wednesday with about a half full crew, they laid eleven hundred yards, or practically one block.

Mr. Olson, one of the men directing the work, tells us that it will be their plan to complete the 2nd district, which they are paving first, and will bring the three streets and the cross streets from the city limit on the north to 4th street all down together and the cross streets from 10th to 4th streets.

League of American Voters.

The national American woman suffrage association, having spent fifty good years in obtaining political recognition for women, formally resolved at its Chicago meeting in February, 1920, to close its official existence as soon as the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment was completed. The mantle of the suffragists was laid tenderly and hopefully upon the willing shoulders of the eldest daughter—the league of women voters. With graceful and eloquent language, and not without emotion, Mrs. Catt described the departure of the daughter from her home into the world for which she had been prepared and to the service to which she was dedicated.

The constitution of the national league of women voters declares the object of the league to be "to foster education in citizenship and to support improved legislation." The constitutions of the state leagues as they are being organized, provide for membership of all women who approve of the objects of the league, and it is believed that all women voters to approve of such program. Consequently the formation of local units of this nation wide organization is a matter of no small moment. During the past two weeks several leagues of women voters have been formed in Nebraska. On Monday afternoon, May 17, the first step in the organization of the Lincoln and Lancaster county leagues will be taken, following Mrs. Wheeler's address on the purpose and methods of the league.—State Journal.

Henry Kellogg, who came to Wayne thirty-nine years ago this week, and has since made this his home, tells us that in all that time he has failed to see such a spring as this—it was a wet spring when he came, but for lack of sunshine and general gloom of weather, he fails to recall its equal.

Goldie of the Wilmington, California, Journal says that he expects to install a type casting machine shortly and enlarge the Journal—and then in another column he has another vision and says that the Journal may quit if print paper goes much higher—their price there at that time being 13 cents a pound—and it is but little less here. Goldie says that if the government would cease most of their publications that are but little desired or read, the price would take a tumble, and the mills would be less obstructed.

D. G. Wilson of Bloomfield, a man well known to many at Wayne and vicinity, is reported critically ill at his home near that city. He is suffering from rheumatism, and has been for a number of years.

Mrs. L. B. Palmer came from Hubbard Monday morning to greet Wayne friends a short time. Of the flood there last week she said it was something greater than ever before in that line. That Mr. Palmer had to go out about ten o'clock at night and move things to places of safety. The rain was very heavy there, but from the water coming down the several small streams that gather near Hubbard, they must have had a worse rain above them. She said that pastures and meadows and fields were flooded, and covered with a wash of fertilizer that will be valuable in time, but was not desired just now. Some low fields are still under water, and with good weather will not be in condition for farming for at least two weeks, was her judgment. Their son George drove out from Sioux City, and had hard time getting through; and had to be pulled out once. While it is and has been wet in this vicinity, by comparison, as she approached Wayne she said the prospects become better. Their loss was nothing in the of stock, but some lost hogs, calves and poultry.

Adjustments Win a Throne

A Throne Restored

After 12 Years of Hopeless Efforts Prince Dou Jaime, the Heir to the Throne of Spain, is Restored to His Hearing and Speech by Chiropractic Adjustments

The King of Spain's son, Prince Don Jaime, was born deaf and dumb. The Queen has sought for nearly twelve years for some one who could cure her son, but without results. No one could do a thing for him, until Chiropractic adjustments removed the cause.

As a last resort the Queen took her afflicted son to an adjuster in London. He immediately discovered something that all the regular doctors had overlooked. He discovered that two of the joints of the Prince's backbone had been displaced, causing pressure on the great nerves to the ear and paralyzing them. The adjuster corrected them and the boy began to hear, and his speech quickly responded. It seemed a miracle to them but they are now happy.

This is one of the many things Chiropractors are doing.

Each organ and tissue of the body is supplied with nerve energy to do its work. The nerves have their origin in the spinal column through small openings between the vertebrae.

When the vertebrae are not in alignment there is pressure and some nerve energy is shut off, making the parts weak or paralyzing them. Chiropractic removes the pressure and health and happiness are the natural result.

THE TAX SHIRK

It is related that a Canadian miner prospected several months in the Cobalt district, and finding nothing, moved on to new territory. Another prospector took up quarters in the abandoned camp, and in scraping the ashes out of the fire place laid bare one of the largest nuggets of silver ever discovered.

The story is suggested of the congressman's search for more revenue. He has taxed incomes and outgoes, and he has laid the heavy hand of taxation upon production and consumption; but throughout all his searchings he has overlooked one great source of revenue.

That neglected source of revenue is vacant land. The great war has been fought and financed without laying one cent of tax upon vacant land. The men who built houses, who manufactured goods, who did anything for the service of his fellows that rendered profit was compelled to yield part of that profit to the government, to pay for the war. But the men who have held vacant land, though it may have doubled or tripled in value since the war began, have paid no tax on that increase.

The men who invested in production, who built houses and produced goods employed labor and satisfied human wants. The men who held vacant land neither employed labor nor produced anything for the world. One might have supposed that a congressman in considering the two would have sought to reward the producer and punish the slaker. But instead, he has seen fit to add to the burden of the men who helped to win the war and exempt from all the taxes the slaker who profited by the industry of others.—Blair Pilot.

RUNDELL'S TREATY PLANK

C. J. Rundell submits the following plank for democratic conventions county, state or national, as covering the ground:

"The Versailles treaty prepared by the representatives of twenty-seven self-governing nations and harmoniously ratified by all of the important nations of the world except Turkey, Mexico and the United States, failed to receive the constitutional majority in the U. S. Senate. Believing that the decision of the Senate was prompted by partisan malice and the corrupting influence of the American manufacturers of war materials; and also believing the people by a large majority desire the ratification of the treaty without any nullifying amendments, we hereby endorse President Wilson's policy of referring the question to the American electorate."

INFLUENCE OF TRACTOR ON USE OF HORSES.

The number of horses displaced by tractors in the corn belt is largely determined by the number it is necessary to keep for corn cultivation, and other work current at the same time which the tractor can do. This is, perhaps, the most important of the facts brought out by an investigation recently made by the United States Department of Agriculture in seven corn-belts States, relative to the influence of tractors on the use of horses, the results of which have been published in Farmers, Bulletin 1093.

The department has drawn on the experience of 191 tractor owners, in the preparation of this bulletin, which is designed to enable the corn-belt farmer to answer for himself the following questions:

In what operations will it displace horses in whole or in part?
How many horses will it displace on my farm?

It was found that the number of horses disposed of by the farmers in question after buying tractors was between two and three a farm. The average number of acres tillable by horses was increased 12, and the average size of the farms by a total of 22 acres. Several operators displaced horses entirely on plowing, discing, and harrowing. Few operators allowed their horses to stand idle while the tractor was in use.

The horses remaining on these farms are doing 75 per cent of the tractive work, and the tractor the remainder.

The tractors were used for an average of 29 10-hour days a year on the hoe farms, no records being taken of custom work. A three-plov tractor on these farms does the work of 8½ horses in plowing, discing, harrowing, and harvesting.

The results of this study further substantiate the conclusion that the principal advantage of a tractor lies in its ability to do heavy work in a shorter time than is possible with horses.

THE TOUR OF A SMILE

My papa smiled this morning when
He came downstairs, you see,
At mamma; and when he smiled then
She turned and smiled at me;
And when she smiled at me I went
And smiled at Mary Ann
Out in the kitchen, and she let
It to the hired man.

So then he smiled at some one who
He saw when going by,
Who also smiled, and ere he knew
Had twinkles in his eyes;
So he went to his office then
And smiled right at his clerk,
Who put some more ink on his pen
And smiled back from his work.

So when his clerk went home he Smiled
Right at his wife, and she Smiled over at their little child
As happy as could be.
And then their little child, she took
The smile to school, and when
She smiled at teacher from her book
Teacher smiled back again.

And then the teacher passed on one
To little James McBride,
Who couldn't get his lessons done
No matter how he tried;
And Jamesy took it home and told
How teacher smiled at him
When he was tired, and didn't scold,
But said: "Don't worry, Jim!"

And when I happened to be there
That very night to play,
His mother had a smile to spare
Which came across my way;
And then I took it after while
Back home, and mamma said:
"Here is that very self-same smile
Come back with us to bed!"

HOGS AT BETTER PRICES

Liberal Receipts of Sheep and Lambs, Demand Rather Indifferent and Prices Sharply Lower.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Neb., May 10, 1920.—Tuesday's run of cattle was about 6,200 head, and the quality was very good. Demand was fair, but owing to bad markets east bids and sales ranged from steady to 25c lower than Monday for both beef steers and cows. Best beef steers brought $12.75. Stockers and feeders were steady.

Hogs a Shade Stronger.
The run of hogs was only moderate, about 10,500 head, and trade was fairly active with prices a shade stronger all around. Tops brought $14.00 and bulk of the trading was around $13.25@13.75.

Sharp Decline in Sheep.
With a rather liberal run of sheep and lambs, 3,500 head, and bad market east, the local trade was very slow, with prices anywhere from 25c@1.00 lower than Monday. Best California lambs brought $17.25.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Fat woolled lambs, $16.00@17.50; fat shorn lambs, $15.00@16.50; shearing lambs, $14.00@16.00; cull lambs, $11.00@12.00; shorn ewes, $9.00@10.50; ewes, culls and canners, $2.00@5.00.

About the Carat.
The "carat," the unit of weight peculiar to jewelry, was introduced from India. Man sought to record the weight of small objects by using tiny seeds. The barley grain was used in Europe. In the East the seeds of a vetch were in use, and it is from the Greek word for vetch (keration) that the now familiar term "carat" is derived.

Advantage of Large Words.
"Did you call me a bonthead?" asked the big man.
"No," answered the little fellow. "I merely referred to you as an example of cerebral ossification."

Are you for or against the league and the treaty? Stand up and be counted.

The voters of the republic of Switzerland last week endorsed by a big majority the league of nations, without any attempt to Switzerlize it.

The old organization controlled the democratic convention at Omaha Tuesday, and did a wise thing in giving hearty endorsement to the president as to the league of nations and the treaty.

Nebraska republicans in state convention assembled passed a short resolution favoring harmony. The principle of the code bill was endorsed after a tilt. They oppose the league of nations as it was brought back by the president, as adopted and endorsed by most of the nations of the world. Thus it looks as though the league is to be an issue in Nebraska this fall.

From present indications, there is going to be more politics in the approaching campaign that has ever before been seen in one season in this country. The two old parties are not united—and will not again have the hold of other years. The prohibition party is without an issue, its object having been accomplished. But the labor people, the farmers and the non-partisan league, as well as the socialists are calling for a place in the sun.

Prices are coming down—in the headlines of the daily papers—and one version of the reason is that the bankers are pulling the purse strings a bit tighter all the time. If they can gradually draw the purse strings so as to discourage speculation it will be fine thing. It is going to be a rather delicate job to come from the upper altitude of prices and not break any bones.

Mrs. Young and her sister, Mrs. H. A. Radaker, who came from O'Neill Tuesday, were passengers to Sioux City Wednesday morning.

Eugene Debs, who is in prison on a long term sentence, has been selected by the socialists as their candidate for the presidency. Newberry of Michigan is convicted of a prison offence, but instead is serving in the United States senate. He should be where Debs is—whether Debs belongs there or not. But it shows poor regard for the courts when a great party will name a man convicted of crime as their choice for the first office in the gift of the people. But Goldie says that Gene will come as near warming the presidential chair as Hiram—and Goldie is in the Johnson state.

There are some who talk as tho they did not think the editor did the correct thing in quoting tax figures of North Dakota sent in by a member of the non-partisan league of this county. They had some story of the league that showed what they were doing, and how bad they were, and we asked them to bring it in—that the Democrat is not a league organ, and its columns are open for any communication of reasonable length on questions of public interest or economic questions. Too many people want an editor to take their ideas and use them as his own, especially if they are in the nature of a criticism, and liable to stir up a hornet's nest. When you have something you think is good father it and it may have more weight than if the editor would assume that it was his own production. Just try it once.

We notice by their advertising in the papers of city and country that the new Cathedral Phonographs are ready for distribution. This is a Nebraska concern, tho the factory is in the east where material and labor are more plentiful. Frank Gaertner of our city is one of the directors of the company, and has given considerable time to getting the production and distribution work in shape to be efficient. The Democrat is under order to tell more of this next week.

Vishnu in Mythology.

Vishnu is the second god in the Hindu triad. When he first appears in Vedic times, he is simply the god of the shining firmament, the younger brother of Indra, and inferior to him in dignity. The higher rank was accorded to him by later writers. The Brahmanic myths relating to Vishnu are characterized by the idea that whenever great physical or moral disorder affected the world, Vishnu descended in a small portion of his essence to set it right. He is generally represented as having four arms, each hand holding some particular object, and as riding on a being half man and half beast. His most enthusiastic followers are generally drawn from the middle classes of Hindu society. His mark on their foreheads is a trident, with a yellow prong in the center and a white one on each side.

Sweetie's Last Call.

I had an appointment with my best beau on a rainy evening, and as I knew that because of the weather our evening would be spent in the movies I put up my hair in curlers, thinking that my tam would be enough camouflage. The tam was already in place when sweetie arrived, and off we went. It was warm in the show and without thinking, I slipped the tam off. Can you imagine my embarrassment when the light went on and my sweetie turned to gaze on my natural curly hair and was confronted with a head full of curlers sticking up at different angles? He never came again.—Exchange.

The Art of Pleasing.

The desire of pleasing makes a man agreeable or unagreeable to those with whom he converses, according to the motive from which that inclination appears to flow. If your concern for pleasing others arises from an innate benevolence, it never falls of success; if from a vanity to exact its disappointment is no less certain. What we call an agreeable man, is he who is endowed with that natural bent to do acceptable things from a delight he takes in them merely as such; and the affectation of that character is what constitutes a top.—Richard Steele.

They started in with a cash fund of $15.31, and quit for the year with $28.71 in cash. The reduction in retail prices which may have been deliberately begun in response to the tightening of credits by the banks, seems to be fast becoming universal. So far it has reached nothing more than a cut of 15 to 20 per cent in retail prices. Of even more significance is the state of the wholesale trade. Nothing like panic appears to be in sight, but the wild scrambling for goods at any price seems to be definitely at an end.—State Journal.

Rev. and Mrs. Kilburn are home after a week at Des Moines, where they attended the great Methodist conference. Rev. Kilburn tells us that it was a wonderful gathering with every corner of the old globe represented. He talked with some of his English brethren; he conversed with delegates from India and China; and heard what he considers in many ways the most remarkable sermon he ever listened to from a colored man. This speaker was such an attraction that it was requested that his hearers at one service not attend the next that all might hear him at least once.

CRIPPLES ARE NOW MAKING THEIR ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE

The cripples are coming from the cities to make their annual spring rounds asking for help. It's nothing uncommon to see the same faces you saw last year. Some of them are mighty big husky fellows. There was a big 180 pound fellow here the other day soliciting money with which to purchase an artificial foot—that's what he wanted the money for, because he said so. They all say it—but many of them find it an easy way to get a livelihood, they come in contact with so many "easy marks."

The above is from the Laurel Advocate, and tells the situation of a great many of those "professional" cripples and beggars who are far better fixed financially than the free-hearted, sympathetic fellows who drop a dime or a dollar in their out stretched hand.

MODEST JACK BLY GONE TO COLORADO

On account of wife's ill health, Jack Bly, printer, operator, and all round good fellow, who has been with the Democrat for nearly two years, has resigned, and quit when last issue went to the readers. Mr. and Mrs. Bly have been residents of Wayne about five years in all, and numerous friends regret that they must leave. Wherever Jack may "hold cases" they will have a printer who well knows the trade, and is not in the least afraid to work. They left for Denver Friday morning. The above was on the hook Thursday last—but Jack modestly forgot to run it through the Linograph.

TRIPLETS AT WAKEFIELD

The Wakefield Republican tells that on May 11th, 1920 triplets, two sons and a daughter, were born to Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson on the Otto Frederickson farm. It is said to be the first triplet birth of record in that vicinity. The children are well and hearty, and their combined weight is reported at 18 pounds.

CLAIMS A GREAT DISCOVERY

Englishman Convinced That in Uncooked Vegetables and Fruit He Has Found Ideal Fare.

"It is an entirely erroneous idea that human beings derive their energy from food," says Mr. William Aldred of Sompington, Sussex, England, who claims that he lives like the hares and squirrels.

"Each human being," he contends, "has a certain capital amount of energy which can be spent slowly or rapidly, but cannot be supplemented."

Mr. Aldred is an engineer. Formerly he suffered from very bad health, but after six years of experimenting in dieting came to the conclusion that uncooked fruit and vegetables formed ideal fare. Today, although nearly fifty, he claims the feelings of a boy of eighteen.

"When I searched for the means of health," he says, "I studied the wild animals on the Sussex downs. So certain am I that I have found the true path of life, that I am willing to be inoculated with smallpox, cancer, plague, anthrax, tuberculosis, or any disease you care to mention. I am sure that germs would not live in my body."

"I offered to undergo the test in a London hospital, but the surgeons would not take the risk. This offer still holds good, and if it is not accepted I shall probably inoculate myself in public."

UNIQUE SCHEME OF REVENGE

Sardonic Humor in Tale of How Frenchman "Got Even" With His Fellow-Citizens.

A quaint short story by Rodolphe Bringer, a marvel of French brevity, appeared not long ago in L'Humanite. It is called "The Benefactor's Revenge," and the tale is of a millionaire in a small town who was piqued because he was not elected mayor. Presently he died, partly of annoyance. The funeral was magnificent, but the townsfolk did not attend. They distrusted the millionaire. Imagine the shock of pleasure, then, when they learned that he had bequeathed 3,000,000 francs to the municipality! It was given on condition that the town should undertake to nourish and sustain all the poor, without distinction of age, sex or nationality, who lived within its boundaries. At once the popularity of the deceased took a tremendous jump. A philanthropist; he had been misjudged. A pedestal was prepared for his statue. Today the pedestal still remains uncrowned. A town that was hard working and unknown to poverty and misery became the mecca for all the scoundrels in France. Since the day on which the will was proclaimed tramps, rogues and apaches have not ceased to pour through its gates. At last it awoke to the dark intention of its benefactor.—Boston Post.

"Knights of the Hammer."

Some folks always see things through indigo glasses. Neither reason nor evidences of success can change the hue. Everything is on the road to ruin and the talk is the kind that drops the bottom out of a fellow's ambitions. The only way to get peace when they are around is to keep them so busy that they do not have time to use the hammer. If you can keep their minds off themselves there is a chance to have some good work from them. They are often skillful enough if you can only get them busy. And as long as you can keep them busy they have no time to think about themselves. And you may be one of these folks. If you are, get busy and stay busy. It's the only way to be happy and fair with your fellowmen.—Grit.

Adhesive From Snails.

Many of the larger kinds of snails have at the extremity of their bodies small white bladders filled with a gelatinous substance. It has been discovered that this is the strongest adhesive known for the repairing of porcelain, glass, etc. The substance is applied thinly to both sides of the fracture and the broken piece is tied firmly together so that all is held in place. A rather longer time for drying should be given than in the case of ordinary adhesives so as to allow the natural glue to acquire the greatest degree of strength. When it is once really set the tenacity of this remarkable adhesive is astonishing.—Scientific American.

Appreciated Cooper's Work.

"The first American novel to win popularity outside our own language is said to have been James Fenimore Cooper's 'Spy.' Cooper had to publish it at his own expense, as no American publisher would accept it. It was quickly translated into French, German and Spanish, and later was published in thirty-four different places in Europe. Cooper translations are often better literature than the original, as the best elements of the story are not lost in translation and many stylistic defects disappear in the hands of a literary translator.

Doubtful Testimonial.

"I don't know whether to accept this testimonial or not," mused the hair restorer man.

"What's the matter with it?" demanded the advertising manager.

"Well," explained the boss, "the man writes: 'I used to have three spots on the top of my head, but since using a bottle of your hair restorer I have only one.'—London Tit-Bits.

A. W. O. L.

It now becomes the duty of the commander of AMERICAN LEGION POST NO. 43; Wayne, Nebraska, to inform all men who served in the World War that the above four letters now mean A WELL ORGANIZED LEGION and that every ex-service man who does not belong to our Post certainly is missing something well worth while.

Do you feel that your disabled Buddies are getting just consideration? Do you think that ex-service men are entitled to adjusted compensation? Do you believe that it is necessary for World War Veterans to stand firmly for 100 per cent Americanism in peace the same as in war?

This is part of our 1920 program and we need your support. Unless you join hands with us and co-operate, we can do nothing.

You Are A. W. O. L. Buddy

The duty roster of the American Legion does not contain your name. We have missed you at our meetings. Now confidentially, just what is the matter?

Do you know what the Legion really is? Do you know what it is doing for the Ex-Service man? Do you know you owe it to your Buddies to join them?

Briefly, the American Legion is the official ex-service man's organization. It was organized to assist him, to perpetuate the service he gave his country. It is not a military organization and does not increase liability for such service. It is not a political organization to get votes for party nor creed.

Perhaps the Preamble of our Constitution will tell better than anything else the real purpose back of our organization.

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purpose:

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Here is the 1920 platform of the American Legion:

1. Land settlement covering all states. 2. Home aid to encourage purchase of rural or city homes by ex-service men. 3. Vocational education for all ex-service persons. 4. Adjustment of compensation.

LET US WORK IN PEACE AS IN WAR.

I Put Soles and Heels Under You While You Wait

Why waste unnecessary time waiting for needed shoe repair? With my new machine for sewing on soles, and a still newer one for nailing on soles, I claim to be the best equipped repair shop in this corner of the state for quick work.

With the prices of new footwear going still higher, it will pay you well to hunt out shoes that may have been discarded several years ago, perhaps and have them softened with oil and put in perfect repair. It costs comparatively little and give much service as a new pair.

Our new nailing machine is a wonder—it drives as many as 450 nails a minute, so you can count the nails in a half sole and estimate how long it took to nail it on after it was in the machine. If we don't watch out and turn the shoe at the right time, it will run off the edge or the end of the shoe and drive the air full of nails.

Let us help you with your shoe troubles.

le are offering to sell their Bonds. If the market is flooded with tomatoes, you can buy them cheap, but if everyone is clamoring for tomatoes and there are few to be had, the price goes up. The same is true of true of Liberty Bonds. Short-sighted people are dumping them on the market, and wise ones are buying them.

The best advice that can be given to the owner of a Liberty Bond is this: Hold the bond you bought during the war; it is as safe and sound as the United States Government itself.

Buy as many more at the present low rate as you can afford. If you hold them to maturity, you are bound to make the difference between what they sell at now and their face value. You will also receive good interest on your investment.

Hold on to your Liberty Bonds and buy more.

THE FLOOD NEAR HUBBARD

Last week this place and others on the Sioux city—Norfolk lines were without direct communication with Sioux City, owing to a washout of track near Hubbard. But little else was known here as to the extent of the damage. But now out of the flooded district comes the Homer

Star and tells that no less than a million dollars, in his opinion, would cancel the loss caused by the flood waters to Homer and Hubbard people and the surrounding country. The whole town of Homer was flooded and the water came as high as the window sills in some homes. A trainman tells us that water ran four feet deep in the streets of Hubbard. Hubbard is near the junction of a number of small streams, and there must have been a cloud-burst along the head waters of the streams, and the result came down on Hubbard, and later on Homer in one grand rush. The farm homes along these streams were heavy losers in poultry, hogs and cattle, and fences. Several bridges are missing, which will cost the county a bit of good money to replace.

HE TALKS LAND AND LINCOLN

D. S. Griesel of Beldon, who represents the Great Northern Development Association of Omaha, a concern engaged in securing homes for the renters of this part of Nebraska where good lands are less costly than in this good country. He tells us that they are making one or two trips each week with buyers, and that New Rockford, North Dakota, is the vicinity they are now populating from northeast Nebraska. Last season more than thirty Cedar county farmers bought land in that state—part of them near Cando and some near New Rockford. He quotes the wise words of Lincoln, as follows:

"Remember there is but one crop of land and the values in fertile regions are ever increasing" and adds: Never before did we realize just how much those few words, spoken by our greatest man, mean to us, as we do under present conditions. The value of one dollar is not one hundred cents and we must be very conservative in our purchases to overcome this depreciation of value of money. The population of the United States is ever increasing and production is decreasing and opportunities were never better for the man who wants to secure a farm home of his own. The Government is urging more production, especially of wheat, flax, and other small grains, and the man who makes an effort to locate this year in territories recommended by the government, will be the man of wealth in a few short years. Good agricultural lands will increase in value more rapidly in the next ten years than it has in the past twenty. Are you going to be one to sit idly by and watch the other fellow become independent. Good lands in any state will never be cheaper, but why pay $300 per acre for land when you can buy land that is just as good for from $50 to $100 per acre according to improvements. New Rockford, N. Dakota offers you splendid opportunities, and if you are interested in securing a home that will pay for itself from production alone, this territory surely merits your investigation. In eastern North Dakota our greatest assets are productive soil, ample rainfall, social environment, and market facilities. Our lands produces big crops of grains, root crops, alfalfa, corn, clover, timothy and vegetables, for which there is a constant demand, not only in the United States, but all over the world. The improvements are ample evidence of the prosperity in this territory.

The Democrat—only $1.50. All the home news, all the time. And we put out job work that pleases.

Read the advertisements.

It is about time for the consumers to go on a hunger strike, and neither eat, drink or wear clothing until the big profiteers and the little ones and the lesser ones are put out of business and into prison or jail, and made to go hungry with the rest of mankind. Government officials who are in any manner responsible for profiteering should be impeached if they do not stop extortion. More production and less consumption—more work and less play—more economy and less extravagance seems to be the only sure remedy. When people quit extravagant buying prices will begin to come down. When money begins to go into hiding for fear of investment at present prices they will decline.

YOU CAN HELP, MR. FARMER AND GARDENER

The sugar trust and its allied profiteers, the jobbers, perhaps, have a slouch on the sugar of the country—but a half acre of sorghum will make a lot of sweetening and save the purchase of a bit of sugar. One can do as patriotic service now in fighting profiteers as in fighting the enemy of other days on the field of battle. The risk of growing cane is less than in the men with guns. With a bit of co-operation a plant could be installed to grind and evaporate the juice, and a lot of sugar substitute made—and a substitute that is good, wholesome and less expensive.

FISH FOR COUNTRY CLUB

Secretary Morgan of the Country Club received a message Tuesday that Deputy Fish Commissioner Geo. Kader would come this way on the afternoon train with a car of fish, and for him to meet the train with cans for the fish. Mr. Morgan and R. B. Judson met the train and received three cans of 2-year-old perch which they at once conveyed to the waters at the club grounds. These fish should spawn this summer and make an ample stock for their pond in a year or two.

MANY ROADS TO KNOWLEDGE

For instance, Impudent Fake Resulted in Opening Up the Field of Electro-Therapy.

Along the road that leads to knowledge are scattered many fake shops, which as a rule do a flourishing and profitable business. For the chief weakness of the human mind is credulity.

But by curious paradox, the foolishness factories every now and then produce something that proves of substantial usefulness to science.

For example, in New England many years ago a man named Perkins invented what he called a "magnetic tractor," for drawing diseases out of folk. It was shaped like a pair of compasses, with one leg of silver and the other of copper. When the two points were passed over the afflicted part of the body the instrument was supposed by some electrical means to alleviate or cure the trouble.

The "tractors" undoubtedly did benefit many people; also Perkins, who sold them for $5 apiece. They made such a sensation that scientists took the matter up, investigating it thoroughly and proving that imagination did the work. Blindfolded persons were relieved of pain by the contact of a couple of pointed sticks of wood, which they mistook for the instrument in question.

The whole business was plain foolishness. Nevertheless, the interest it awakened led to the first opening up of the field of electro-therapy, discoveries of which have proved of such immense importance to medical science.

WAS AHEAD OF HIS TIME

Peter Heulein, Who Made the First Watch, Accused of Witchcraft and Thrown Into Prison.

There is in existence today a letter dated April 22, 1527, from Martin Luther to Father Frederick Pistorius, the last abbot of St. Aegidius in Nuremberg, in which he thanks the abbot for the gift of a watch, and adds: "I feel compelled to become a pupil of our mathematicians in order to understand this unique timekeeper." Never before had he seen such an object.

As he was familiar with clocks, what he meant, evidently, was that the time indicators on the clock were different from those on the watch which had been given to him. It is quite probable he had in his possession the first watch made by Peter Heulein, or at least one of his first ones. This Peter Heulein was a blacksmith and locksmith and devoted his time to mathematics and watchmaking, for which he was thrown into prison charged with witchcraft, which was then one of the easy ways of disposing of a rival or of a person who did things out of the ordinary.

But Peter persevered, and the name of Heulein and Nuremberg is preserved by a monument in his native town.

New Bells Made Like Old.

We have often heard of the beautiful silver tone of very old church bells in Europe and some have even been bought at a great price and brought to America. It was supposed that after a bell had rung regularly for one or two centuries some mysterious quality was developed, and the beautiful tone could be acquired in no other way. An ingenious American studied the problem, however, and decided that the silver tone was simply due to the fact that the clapper of the bell had worn itself and the bell by continued striking, until the two fit closely together and that the shape of the metal and nothing else determined the tone. He began to make bells by casting them so that the clapper and the bell fit each other properly, and the mellow silver tone was obtained at once. Today we are manufacturing such bells and selling them abroad.—Boys' Life.

Worry Really Wicked.

Worry is really an evidence of lack of self-confidence and of faith in the power that runs the universe. It is a lack of faith in the power that, provided you do your part, will always bring things out better than you possibly could by yourself alone. Why should you worry, why should you fear, why should you be anxious, when God's vision and omnipotence are always ready to guide and serve you?

There never has been an instant in your life, my friend, which you could have safeguarded or provided for with a thousandth part of the wisdom with which God has guarded and provided for it. It is really a reflection upon him to be anxious about the future, to dread poverty and sickness, to worry about your business, to fear failure in your undertaking.—Orison Swett Marden in Chicago News.

Fierce Apparitions.

In the West Indies a sight of the "rolling calf" presages death or terrible misfortunes. The negroes are dreadfully afraid of possible encounter with it at night. It is white, of enormous size and with eyes that blaze like hot coals.

William Thorp, a learned student of such manifestations, writes of a phantom shark that haunts the waters about Nassau, in the Bahamas, where it is known as the "harbor master." It shines with a weird phosphorescent glow even in the daytime, and though hooked on many occasions and pulled in, it invariably vanishes from view at the last moment—simply melting into nothingness.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

The female excess is greater in Great Britain than elsewhere.

Madame Galli-Curci, the opera singer, paid an income tax of nearly $75,000.

The first woman with sovereign authority was Cemiramis, the queen of Assyria.

Nurses in Canada and Australia are given rank in the army the same as the men.

Recent census figures compiled in Berlin, Germany, show that the males decreased 54,000, while the females increased 124,000.

Mrs. Edward Bell, new counselor of the American embassy at Tokyo, Japan, is the first woman to hold such a post.

In many towns of Belgium there are special schools where girls are taught, from the ages of five years, how to make lace.

There is under consideration by President Wilson the advisability of naming a woman as a member of the railroad labor board. He has just appointed a woman to the civil service commission.

Miss Caroline K. Kenworthy and Miss Joan W. Kenworthy, sisters, are members of the Philadelphia bar well as being law partners.

The mother of Herbert Hoover, who is being discussed as a possible presidential candidate, was a preacher, after the casual Quaker fashion.

Michigan will have a woman candidate for a seat in the United States congress in the person of Mrs. Helen C. Stalter, who will make her contest on the republican ticket.

Because women are plentiful and can be hired cheaply in Japan they are used to furnish the hoisting power for pile driving instead of costly improved machinery.

Britain's land girls are still undemobilized and the more than 8,000 of them are asking that they be granted little farms of their own, because of the independence it gives.

In France the oxen that work in the fields are regularly sung to as an encouragement to exertion, and no peasant has the slightest doubt but that the animals listen to him with pleasure.

Young Hopeful: "Father, what is a traitor in politics?"

Veteran Politician: "A traitor is a man who leaves our party and goes over to the other one."

Young Hopeful: "Well, then, what is a man who leaves his party and comes over to yours?"

Veteran Politician: "He, my son, is a convert!"—Ex.

THE STORY OF SIOUX CITY

"—and that growth means greater service to you!"

Yes, it is an absorbing story, one that you ought to know more about. Some of our grandfathers remember the log cabins of the pioneer of 1848; today, in place of the log cabin, there is Sioux City—the modern industrial metropolis that serves this great agricultural territory.

Sioux City has been a Service Center ever since it was founded. It is building bigger every year—better roads, more jobbing, more manufacturing, more business conventions—growing bigger and better in all the things that help make life worth while. All that helps you! Sioux City and this territory are all together, they grow together, their interests are the same.

You ought to get to know Sioux City better, just as Sioux City wants to know you better. Its growth means greater service for you—better business, better homes, more conveniences.
