THE WISHING RING A POPULAR PRESENTATION

No one could conscientiously criticise the presentation of this spectacular fantasy by Wayne people last Thursday and Friday evenings, when home talent under the direction of Miss D. Doyle and under the auspices of the Wayne Woman's club gave the entertainment to crowded houses. The plot of the play is made from the simple stories we learned as little folks, and the characters were born in the imagination of "Mother Goose" and other writers who have made a story land for children, and as it was presented the older people enjoyed it equally with the little folks.

The little boy and girl, indignant at not being permitted to remain up for their mother's party wish they might be in story book land, and fall asleep with this that uppermost, and in dreams meet nymphs in beautiful costumes grouped as poppies, roses, gardeners with a small army of little folks known on the program as snowdrops. These characters all appear in song and dance, introducing such well-known characters of storyland as Bo Peep, Tom and the Knave, Mrs. Pumpkin Eater, Simple Simon the Pleeman, Old King Cole, Mother Goose, Marjorie Daw, Miss Mary, the King of Hearts and many others. The home talent was selected for its true worth, and all seemed to fit their part, and in the list are such artists as Fern Oman, Mrs. A. R. Davis, Mrs. Fred Berry, Mrs. L. A. Fanske, Leona Dietrich, Margaret Chase, Mrs. Carroll Orr, Mrs. Clyde Oman, Frank Clark, Don Fitch, Leslie Rundell, Earl Schrorer, E. Fleetwood, Linn McClure, Joe Cox, Fred Blair, Luther Fetteroll, Harold Crogan, Esther Mae Ingham and Kathryn Lou Davis.

There was a bit of fine training for the little folks, and a splendid review and drill for the professionals on the above list, and at least one actress informs us that this was her farewell appearance (a fact which should have been announced in the program) and others feel that they had most too much fun for the money netted to the worthy cause. That is a matter about which we feel that a community and an organization are frequently taken advantage of in many cases.

The community is taxed for all of the expenses, and the time and prestige of the local organization is pitted against that of the single individual representing the play of cantata and the costumes. They come with their contracts all made for signing, and make a nice talk, presenting glowing accounts of the prospects for making money for some worthy object, as was the case here and in nearly every case, too frequently to learn that they have been working for the profit of the promoter and using their prestige and the desire of the different members of the community to advance their good work all too freely with too much subtracted from the total outlay to make the game worth while from a financial point of view.

For any and all movements for up-building of good things for this community the Democrat always has and always expects to give freely of publicity, which is frequently all we can give; but we do feel sore at times when asked to help gather in golden dollars for an outsider who is here the once, and when the money is gathered in, all expenses are paid; takes half of the pot and bids the community farewell.

The following is the financial statement given us by the president of the Woman's club:

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI BANQUET

Last Tuesday evening the annual Alumni banquet of the Wayne High School was held in the Methodist church basement. The class of 1920 were duly initiated before the banquet. Four at a time were brought in blindfolded. Immediately they were branded both by ice and large numbers "20" being put on each cheek. The next feature was the Alumni hand shake, at which time they received an electric shock. Nextly they were sprinkled with the dust of knowledge (corn starch.) After the class had been thus far initiated all stood up and repeated after Earl Schroer the Alumni pledge.

Soon after the initiation all adjourned to the basement, where the Methodist Aid Society served them the following delicious banquet:

Fruit Cocktail

Mashed Potatoes and Gravy

Swiss Roast

Rolls Butter

Pickles

Vegetable Salad

Ice Cream Cake

Coffee

Following the banquet Earl Schroer, Master of Ceremonies, introduced Miss Elsie Warnock, who welcomed the class of 1920. The response was made by Leslie Rundell. The toast-master then called upon the following for one minute talks:

Miss Mary Mason, class 1895; F. E. Gamble, class 1893; Mrs. Perry Theobald, class 1907; Edward McChesney, class 1919; Jane Randolph, class 1918; and Irvin Gaston, class 1917.

Letters of greeting were read from Mrs. M. A. Phillips and Frank Hitchcock, class of 1897.

Following toasts the Alumni business meeting was held. The following officers were elected for next year:

Hattie Crockett, President; Anna Grandquist, Vice President; Leslie Rundell, Treasurer; and Helen Felber, Secretary.

HOSPITAL NOTES

A. C. Finn, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, left the hospital June 24th, after a week's medical treatment.

Edgar Phillips, of Belmont, underwent a major operation June 24th.

Dorothy Ingle, of Wausa, and Miss Anne Johnson, of Pilger, had tonsils and adenoids removed last week and Rose Bruenbaum, of Crofton, and Mrs. Andrew Clark, of Dixon, were medical patients this week.

Baby June Rice, who lives on the Harry Robinson farm was brought to the hospital for x-ray examination. It was found that the elbow was fractured.

Mrs. A. T. Carabine, of Hartington, having recovered from injuries received in auto accident was able to leave the hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. Claude Ferrell, of Wayne, entered the hospital Wednesday for treatment.

X-ray patients at the hospital this week were Miss Hattie Morton, of the Democrat force, Mrs. J. W. Ziegler, of Wayne, Mr. A. Fostering, of Laurel, Mrs. Esther Mullens, of Sioux City, Mrs. Jessie Bass, of Laurel, Mr. Fred Brandon, of Council Bluffs, and Mr. T. C. Jones, of Carroll.

DEATH OF CHRISTINA FITZGERALD

Christina Kerwin was born in Iowa county, Iowa, 49 years, 9 months and 12 days before her death, which occurred at Cripple Creek, Colorado,

June 25, 1920, from cerebral hemorrhage. The body was brought to Wayne, her former home, arriving here Sunday and the funeral services were held from the St. Mary's Catholic church Monday morning, Rev. Father Kearns officiating, and the body was laid to rest in the Wayne cemetery.

She is survived by husband, a sister and two brothers, one brother living near Wayne. More of the life history we were not able to learn.

First cutting alfalfa has been exceptionally heavy, and under weather conditions which prevailed slow to cure sufficiently for housing or stacking.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION NEWS

It is hard at this time to sift truth from the many newspaper reports from San Francisco, but it seems evident at this writing that they are going to have a warm fight over resolutions, not only in the committee, but perhaps on the floor of the convention. McAdoo appears to have more strength than any one of the candidates, but no one is assured of a majority—much less the required two-thirds necessary to nominate a democratic candidate for president or ratify a treaty. One dispatch relating to platform matters says:

Open warfare over prohibition, the Irish question and other troublesome issues of the democratic platform began today in storm-swept committee hearing while in private the leaders continued their efforts to keep the hostilities from the floor of the convention itself. Tonight the sub-committee had not yet begun actual preparation of the platform, and there were no surface indications their task had been made any simpler by the numerous public arguments or private consultations. A momentary defeat was administered the Bryan dry legions in the full platform committee, when a parliamentary battle for position on the speakers' list was decided in favor of the wets by a vote of twenty-seven to twenty-five. The general inclination, however, was to discount the significance of the vote which was taken to decide which side should speak first. In the skirmish both wets and drys argued that their opponents were trying to re-open the prohibition issue and therefore should present their case first.

Nominating speeches were heard at San Francisco Wednesday for the following candidates. The greatest demonstration is said to have followed the preparation of the name of McAdoo:

Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, Attorney General Palmer, Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, Homer Cummings, chairman of the democratic committee; William G. McAdoo, Governor Smith, of New York, Governor Edwards, of New Jersey, Secretary Merle, Governor Cox, of Ohio, and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany.

Letters of greeting were read from Mrs. M. A. Phillips and Frank Hitchcock, class of 1897.

J. P. Clausen, of Pender, he calls it, but really a Wayne county farmer for many years, who gets his mail on a rural route from Pender, leaves this week to visit his old home in Denmark. Early in July he plans to sail from New York for Copenhagen. He left his native land when but 17 years of age and came to America. He has sisters there whom he has not seen for 37 years, and he is anticipating a fine visit with them. He hopes to see some of the battle fields during the three months he plans to be absent. We wish him a safe voyage.

A standard record for any phonograph may be had. It's a Columbia, and O. K. At A. G. Bohnert's.—adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Wat Williams came over from Moville, Iowa, last week to visit at the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Evans, of Carroll, and Friday they came to Wayne and spent the afternoon shaking hands with many friends and former neighbors. They lived for a number of years near Wayne, and moved from here to Minnesota a few years ago. They are now on their way to California, driving thru, and planning to go by the way of the Yellowstone National park, Portland, Oregon, and other places of interest. So it may be two or three months before they finally get to Los Angeles, toward which place they are heading. With them came a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cooper, from Moville, and their daughter, also Miss Clara Kay and Dick Jones, who formerly worked for them here. They have two cars and are anticipating a very pleasant trip.

Mrs. W. S. Dickerson, of Omaha, who was here to attend the funeral of her brother, John Alger, and visit her sister, Mrs. Fisher, left for home Friday, and was accompanied by her sisters, Miss Ola Alger, of this place and Mrs. W. C. Hudson, of Ames, Iowa, who came to the funeral. The two sisters will visit at Omaha for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Korf spent a week or two in eastern Colorado, in the vicinity of Cheyenne Wells or Burlington, and returned the last of last week. Mr. K. says that it looks like good land, and from present appearance he would consider it a better investment at $30 than land here at ten times that amount. A goodly number of people are talking that way about lands that are showing quality for less price. There has been a big movement this spring, and it is yet on to eastern North Dakota, where there is a movement to cut up the large farms in some of the best parts of that state to increase production, as under present labor conditions the owners of other years cannot find dependable help to farm on a wholesale manner and make a profit from it. The small land owner and farmer can get the work done by himself and family with much less cost for outside help. The renters of this part of Nebraska are considering the matter of owning a bit of land of their own when they can find good land so priced that what they would pay in rent in four or five years would pay for a farm of their own—and they need not pay it all in that short a time if they wish longer time.

The Caloric is made and guaranteed by the Monitor Stove Company, a million-dollar institution that has been making quality heating appliances for 101 years.

Wm. VonSegern returned home Tuesday from a trip to Los Angeles, where he went to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. VonSegern on the 50th anniversary of their marriage. His brother Fred from Gregory, South Dakota, came thru this way with him.

Mrs. W. S. Dickerson, of Omaha, who was here to attend the funeral of her brother, John Alger, and visit her sister, Mrs. Fisher, left for home Friday, and was accompanied by her sisters, Miss Ola Alger, of this place and Mrs. W. ## THE COOK BOOK OF WAYNE RECIPES

Last winter the initial work was done for a cook book, giving hundreds of recipes of known worth, known because they had been tested by ladies, acting as cooks and by the Wayne men acting as judges, and most of them are alive and well, which speaks volumes for the cooks and their famous recipes. The work could not at that time be completed because no printing shop equipped to handle the job properly had the help and the time to make it for the holiday delivery. So it was left for the more quiet summer months, and now contract has been made, and the work of gathering the advertising copy from those who want to place and advertisement where it will be under the eye of the people for the next twenty years is going forward. If the ladies have overlooked you, just phone Black 171, and you will receive consideration quickly, and it "Pays to Advertise."

TORNADO HITS EAST OF WAYNE
A tornado which took a narrow but clean path, struck a chicken house on the Ezra Beckenhauer farm, where Ross Hargan is farming, lifting it clear of the ground and carrying it about five rods before letting it down and rolling it over on its roof, it also moved the corn crib four or five inches east on its foundation. It killed about 100 little chickens for Mrs. Hargan and broke up several settings of eggs just ready to hatch, all thru the older chickens were still in the chicken house although it was resting completely on its roof. The tornado did no further damage in that neighborhood, but we hear a cyclone that same morning done quite a bit of damage to the buildings on the Will Driskell farm just north of Wakefield but do not know whether it was the same tornado or another one, but both places being on high ground and the wind traveling at quite a height makes it seem possible that it was the same storm.

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE

At the trial Saturday, before Judge Cherry of Henry Meyer and Herbert Rheuder on charge of disturbing the peace, which in their case meant accosting young ladies on the street and asking them to ride with them, were judged not guilty, according to the evidence given. In several other cases fines have been given for this offence, the defendants pleading guilty. Public sentiment is against the acts of these lads in thus insulting young ladies of the city or the college, and if it prove that present ordinance is not sufficient to meet the case, a new ordinance may soon be passed. But, if the testimony is different, it possible that the verdict will be very different.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES

The voters of the country will be wise not to fall in too readily with the political managers' theory that the presidential primary is ineffective and should be abolished. The fact that neither national candidate is to be a product of the primary is not sufficient ground for that conclusion.

If the presidential primary does not nominate a president, it does at least furnish the voters a voice which has no small influence on the conduct of politics. In the present year it has produced a discussion of candidates which has been on the whole healthful and wholesome. If the organizations then go outside the list of popular candidates for their nominee they do it with an added responsibility. They know it is up to them to furnish satisfying reasons for their choice. They take long chances on being punished for their act. In short, their latitude as party bosses is limited by the record of the primary. Presidential primaries are matters of state choice. States where the people like to have a look-in on the running of their polities will stick to their presidential primaries. The primary may not do wonders. But it helps.—State Journal.

THE SPEEDERS

Uncle Dud)

Down the shady village street comes the speeder in his car and the folks with nimble feet scurry hither, yon and far. Should they slip 'twould all be over and the coroner would come; and they'd plant 'em 'neath the clover—with no beat of muffled drum. Little tots, to cross the road, take a chance with danger fraught; for within the speedster's code there's no pity—not a jot. So he hurtles thru the city like a bat from hades sent and with no remorse or pity I could slay this speeding gent—slay him with a two-by-four lined with slivers thick and sharp, splash the roadway with the gore of this feeble-minded carp. Those who drive our motor wagons with such lack of common sense are

Roadsters, Touring Cars and Sedans

Essex Trebles Power Without Added Size

The Essex motor—controlled by patents—is no larger than the motor used in the smallest widely known automobiles.

Yet Essex gives 55 horsepower. The conventional motor develops but 18 horsepower.

Essex adds no size. It retains the small car advantages in fuel, oil and tire economy and it gives the big-car kind of performance.

Patents make these qualities exclusive to Essex.

And as for its endurance no car of any size or cost has ever traveled 3037 miles at top speed, as an Essex stock car did to prove its reliability.

Is it any wonder more than 40,000 owners hail it the champion of all moderate priced cars regardless of its size or weight?

Mr. Wright, the Wayne distributor, is ready to demonstrate an Essex to all comers, and satisfy and supply the car for the man, young or old, who is needing a new car for all the year service or for a 4th of July or vacation trip.

Every Essex sold helps to sell others, because they give service and satisfaction, and when Essex Week closes thousands of people will be riding in new Essex cars, the country over.

So during demonstration week you are especially invited to come and see these cars, ride in them, put them to proper test, and learn that you cannot do better than to purchase.

NOTICE

To properly observe Independence Day, giving opportunity to attend celebrations in neighboring towns, the merchants of Wayne have agreed to close their places of business at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, July 3rd, and keep them closed during the rest of the day. In lieu of the Saturday business, the stores will remain open Friday evening, July 2. V. A. Senter, Secretary Wayne Commercial Club.

A NEAR BLAZE

The fire whistle blew a short blast at 1:30 Monday morning, and those who responded to the call learned that the metal building just south of the city power house was on fire, the cause being hot ashes from the power plant against the building mentioned making heat enough to begin to ignite the frame to which the iron was nailed. It was soon out and no serious damage done.

Twin boys but recently born in Ohio will go thru life known as Harding and Coolidge. Some day they'll be ashamed of their names. They deserve sympathy.

Do we have to wait until July 22 to know what Harding thinks the platform means? And will we know then? Perhaps he can straddle as far as the fellows who nominated him. Possibly that is why he was selected by the other straddlers.

Anti-Catholics are rejoicing in the work of the Senate in doing what it could to nullify the peace work of the Pope, since they have read that address of the cardinal from Ireland, in which he says, "There is not one of President Wilson's 14 points which were not included in the pope's conditions for peace." So when they took a shot at the president they swiped the pope as well.

The fellow who wrote that "politics makes strange bedfellows" might have added and many inconsistencies. The World-Herald is wet and wants a wet map and a moist blank, we judge, and is fighting Bryan because he is dry—or else just because he is Bryan—and now it is accusing Harding of not being a prohibitionist. Of course all that the Herald says against a wet man or candidate, it is virtually saying against itself, for it is tarred with the same stick.

The next election of which we have any knowledge will be that which permits the people to pass upon the work of the constitutional convention and we would welcome communications from those who have given the work some study regarding its good or its bad features. Without really being posted on the work, it is our idea that the members of that body made a very short step forward along progressive lines, compared to the real demands of the times. But our old constitution so hedges amendments that it is quite possible that a short step is all we can get at one time. There is one thing accomplished, if we understand it right, and that is if the changes proposed are approved the constitution may be more easily amended in the future. Help us tell the people about its points, good and bad.

The democrats have learned from the Chicago convention to let the nominating speeches precede the reading of the platform. The republicans whiled away the long hours of waiting for the platform with entertainments by Chauncey Depew, Uncle Joe Cannon and other lights of oratory. Then when the platform came in and everything was ready for the nomination, they had to brace themselves for ten or twelve hours more of speeches by the nominators. They could as well have combined business and pleasure by putting the nominators to killing the time between permanent organization and the resolutions committtee. Time in a national convention city is worth $20 a day in hotel expenses alone. The democrats with sixteen candidates to see placed in nomination, gain about a day's time by profiting by Chicago's mistake. State Journal.

As we go to press there has been no balloting reported from San Francisco, nor has there come anything definite as to the struggle over the platform which is surely taking place there. Honest difference of opinion are before delegates are being attempted, and it is to be a long-drawn out struggle, apparently—the end might come quickly on some happy union, once a ballot or two shows where the strengths lie.

TRACTOR OWNER ASKS DAMAGES
Fred Beckman, who was the owner of the tractor driven by Harry McIntosh last week Sunday which was wrecked by the Levine Johnson car, has commenced action in the county court asking damages to the extent of $950 from Messrs Haas and Johnson. The case will be a term case and will be due for a hearing August 2nd.

NO ARGUMENT

A man stepped up to Henry Ward Beecher one day and said, "Sir, I am an evolutionist, and want to discuss the question with you. I am also an annihilationist; I believe that when I die that will be the end of me."

"Thank goodness for that!" said Mr. Beecher, as he walked off and left the man dazed.

COLLEGE NOTES

Rahn-Brown

Announcements were received this week week of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth A. Brown, rural critic teacher at the Normal for the past two years, to Mr. Arthur J. Rahn, of Lewistown, Montana, at the home of Miss Brown's parents in New London, Missouri, on Wednesday, June 23d.

Mr. and Mrs. Rahn left Hannibal, following the wedding dinner served by Mrs. Brown, for St. Paul, Minnesota, where they will spend two weeks at a summer cottage, they will then go to their home at Lewistown, Montana.

The faculty and students who knew Miss Brown extend best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Rahn.

A pleasing art exhibit, shown by Mrs. A. W. Montgomery, of Stella, Nebraska, is drawing many visitors to the art rooms. The exhibit consists of American (including Indian pottery, Japanese stencils, prints and novelties, hand-wrought silver jewelry, oriental embroideries and Navajo rugs. A special feature is a collection of etchings by George Burr, a Colorado artist, who is becoming famous, especially for his treatment of snow scenes. Mrs. Montgomery is winning favor by her pleasing personality and willingness to explain the pieces of art shown. The exhibit will remain in the art rooms tomorrow and visitors are welcome.

Eleven Students are in the graduate department of the Normal, pursuing work for the A. B. degree. This degree may be awarded by the institution after four years of study above the high school course, or two years beyond the usual time required for graduation from the Normal. This accession of advanced students calls for the enrichment of the course of study by the addition of a considerable number of classes. Much interest is felt by students and faculty in this feature of the life of the school. The list of graduate students is as follows:

Superintendent, J. E. Blevernicht, St. Charles, South Dakota; Mrs. G. A. Berg, principal of high school, Oakland; Earl Bruce, Cordova; Superintendent, R. A. Dawson, Brunswick; Superintendent Merle French, Petersburg; Anna Grandquist, Wayne; Florence Gardner, Wayne; H. B. Gibson, Superintendent, Magnet; Theresa Hirsch, Clearwater; Superintendent Earl Schroer, Hooper; Martha Uhler, Wausa.

Miss Clara Dewitt, of Ponca, has been called home by the news of the death of her mother as a result of an automobile accident which happened ten days ago. Her Normal friends extend sympathy to her in this bereavement.

Miss Alice Gordon, substitute primary supervisor, has been called to her home at LaCrosse, Wisconsin, by the serious illness of her mother. The position will be filled for the remainder of the summer by Miss Austin, of the Omaha schools.

Mrs. Emma Schmelz, of Lincoln, is visiting her daughter, Miss Margaret Schmelz, for a few days.

BOB SEEDS SAYS

"Most Things That Can't Be Done, Can Be."

Bob Seeds, the man who made an old run-down Pennsylvania farm so valuable that the state asked him to travel around and tell how he did it and people can long distances to buy some of that dirt at $1.50 per bushel, says:

"Most things that can't be done, can be done if you go at them right" and he says he has demonstrated it on his farm. They told him he would starve to death on that "God-forsaken place," which had been abandoned for seven years—but he didn't. Instead, he accomplished a thing which has made his name known all over the United States. He says he only has three lectures: "How God Made the Soil Fertile," "Influence of Home," and "Mistakes of Life Exposed." The first tells how he makes his money; the second, the way he lives; and the third, his religion. Which one he will deliver here we do not know but any one of them will be well worth your time to hear when he comes during the Chautauqua.

Chautauqua, Wayne—July 30—Aug. 5.

"Hould on!" cried Pat as he ran after the train; "Hould on, ye murtherin' cold stame engine—ye've got a passenger on board what's left behind!"

Lighten the LOAD

Farm tractors work under heavy loads—loads that place a strain upon the cooling and oiling system. The choice of a correct lubricant is essential in keeping your tractor on the job the year around—full-powered—equal to the tasks you demand of it.

Our Tractor Oils are manufactured for this specific service. Excessive engine heat does not affect their body—exactly the right body to seal in every ounce of power and to reduce friction and wear. They cut overhauling and repair expense.

Our experts have made a study of the tractor lubricating problem. They have found STANOLIND TRACTOR OIL best suited to a majority of tractors, Polarine Extra Heavy, Polarine Heavy and Polarine being recommended for quite a number. For the proper oil to use in your tractor—consult your Stanolind dealer or write us.

THE HUMAN MAIN SHAFT

You may be sceptical of the statement that 95 per cent of so-called Disease is caused by subluxations (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine). Just picture the main shaft of a machine capable of the various movements of the vertebral column and subject it to the same number of twists and wrenches that the spine has to endure. You will then be no longer astonished when you see many vertebrae that have slipped out of place. Is not the human body much more liable to have its parts wracked out of their proper positions and the resultant consequences more severe and lasting than those of an inanimate machine? The Chiropractor is the Human Machinist. He finds out what vertebrae are displaced, then adjusts same and everything is in running order again. The logic of the Chiropractic theory cannot be denied. The next time you are sick consult your Chiropractor and see what he can do for you. Consultation and Spinal Analysis Free. Drs. Lewis & Lewis, Phone 491, Wayne, Nebraska—adv.

A TOAST TO THE FLAG

Here's to the Red of it—
There's not a thread of it,
No not a shred of it
In all the spread of it

From foot to head,
But heroes bled for it,
Faced steel and lead for it,
Precious blood shed for it,
Bathing it Red.

Here's to the White of it—
Thrilled by the sight of it,
Who knows the right of it,
But feels the might of it,

Through day and night,
Womanhood's care of it
Made manhood dare for it,
Purity's prayer for it
Keeps it so white.

Here's to the Blue of it—
Heavenly view of it,
Star-spangled view of it;
Honesty's due of it,

Constant and true.
Here's to the whole of it,
Stars, stripes and pole of it.
Here's to the soul of it—
Red, White and Blue.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

W. H. Gildersleeve was a Sioux City visitor Tuesday.

Miss Lillian Denesia, from Carroll, was a Wayne visitor Wednesday.

Mrs. M. W. Ahern, from Carroll, was a passenger to Sioux City Wednesday.

Miss Fortner was a Sioux City visitor this week, going over Wednesday morning.

Miss Margaret Mason of Bloomfield, came Wednesday to spend a day with Wayne friends. She is teacher of music.

Miss Viola Seastedt, from Carroll, was a guest at the C. V. Johnson home at Wakefield this week, going over Wednesday to visit the girls in that family, her former playmates.

A donation of $25.50 has been made to the Woman's Club by the Wayne Ad Club, which disbanded four or five years ago, and the Woman's Club heartily appreciates this addition to its funds.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bennet and sons Lawrence and Clarence, from northeast of here, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harlan and sons Raymond and Charles, and C. W. McHenry, living east of this place spent Sunday with Chris Rasmussen, Mrs. Alta Shaffer and daughter Rosie, southeast of Wayne.

C. D. Martin, who has been here for two or three weeks visiting his relatives and friends, left the first of the week for his home at North Platte, where he has been living for a year or more. He is enjoying good health in spite of his four score and six years of travel thru this wilderness of a world.

Mrs. R. P. Joseph, from Omaha, who has been here visiting at the J. A. Gurnon home, her sister for a time, left for home Wednesday morning. She expressed the opinion that Wayne is a very pretty place, especially after one gets out of the business district, and keep away from the streets torn up for paving.

Why pay $4.50 per sack for other flour when you can buy Wayne Superlative for $3.50 and Wayne Snowflake for $2.50 per sack only at the Wayne Roller Mill. W. R. Weber, Proprietor.

Miss Beryl Kneeland left Sunday for her home in Martinsburg. She was guest of Miss Elsie Piper while here.

Rev. John Noreen, from Kansas, came Wednesday afternoon and was to preach last evening at a Swedish church near Coneord.

Harvey Ringland is home from Colorado Springs, where he went to visit his sick sister, Mrs. Smith, whom he left improving in health.

Richard Reese, of Carroll, returned home from Sioux City last evening. He had been at Sioux City and had tonsils removed, hoping to have better health as a result.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge and children, Dorothy and Stuart, motored to Wayne from South Bend, Indiana. They are visiting in the home of Mrs. Eldridge sister, Mrs. H. J. Miner.

Mrs. W. F. Oelrich and little son Martin, from Omaha, returned home Wednesday after a visit with her parents and home folks, Rev. and Mrs. Gehrk northeast of Wayne. Her visit was timed so that she might attend the wedding of her sister, Miss Sophia Sunday.

M. T. McInerney, from Glasgow, Montana, is visiting in this part of Nebraska, and Wednesday went to Bloomfield for a visit with relatives. He brings good report from his country. He left Wayne about three years ago, and will remain for a number of weeks in this corner of the state.

R. A. Dunn, of Villisca, Iowa, who has been spending ten days here with his son who bears the same name, left for home Saturday morning. He likens the looks of this fair land and beyond doubt will take a nice report of the country to home folks, for he says in soil and general appearance it is so much like country in which he was born and has called home all the years of his life.

Sam Barnes went to Winner, South Dakota, Wednesday morning to visit and see some horse racing going on at that place in the near future. Mr. Barnes has a wonderful interest in horses and racing, and has the record of the most noted animals in the history of racing at his tongue end—and he has also seen many of the horses with low records. The he is past the three-score-and-ten years allotted to man, he will be one of the live wire spectators at any race he may happen to witness.

Mrs. J. W. Maholm came Wednesday morning from Burkett to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. C. Lower, and with other friends and relatives. It is also her purpose to attend the celebration at Wakefield Saturday, as they were among the pioneers of that town. When they built their home there but six other houses had been built in what is now this thriving village. So she naturally wants to be there on this day to meet such of the pioneers as are still living and there. She reports that Mr. Maholm is not in the best of health, tho not seriously ill. For a man of his years, and one who served in the war of nearly sixty years ago, and left a foot in a southern grave he is a pretty hale fellow. It is not all of us who can stand a half century with "one foot in the grave" and tell about it.

Ed. Bosteder, who has been here visiting and working for several weeks past, left for his home not so very far from Lusk, Wyoming, as distances go in that land of great sweeps of country. His place is about 35 miles from that railroad town, and his post office is said to be Young Woman. He fears that he is not near enough the oil belt to become a rich man right away.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace and daughter Margaret drove to Norfolk to meet Miss Goldie Chace, who was coming home from a school year spent at Leland-Stanford University in California. The rain stopped their home trip by car, and they spent the night at Hoskins, returning by train the next morning. Wednesday, Mr. Chace went for his car and the rest of his car ride.

Irvin Gaston, from Lincoln, visited Wayne friends a day or two this week, coming so as to attend the High School Alumni Banquet and annual meeting. He received a message from the editor of this paper for his father, inviting him to a place in the democratic ranks after the platform and nomination is made, if they suit him better than the senator the republicans substituted for the candidate of his choice in his own party—General Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens, from Carroll, were Wayne visitors Wednesday. Mr. S. came in by the road entering the place from the northwest, and then drove into some of the streets barricaded for paving, and had to back off and come in by a street in the south part of the city. It is the aim of city council, the commercial club and those in charge of the paving to conduct the work as to cause as little inconvenience as possible to Wayne visitors while this work is going forward.

Red Raspberries will be so high very few can afford to buy them. Unless there is an unusual decline in price very few red raspberries will be offered on this market.

H. C. Bartells was down from Carroll this morning.

Mrs. C. W. Hiscox came home Wednesday afternoon from a visit at Madison.

Mrs. Lillian Townsend came from Denver last Saturday to visit in the Oman home.

Dickie and Margaret Franks were over Sunday guests in French Penn home five miles from Wayne.

Mrs. O. Runyan, from Norfolk, was here Wednesday visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Clarence Hale.

Miss Dorothy Senft, from Council Bluffs, Iowa, has been here a few days visiting at the home of Harry Senft, and Wednesday evening she went on to Osmond to visit other relatives near that place.

June weddings have been numerous this June just passed, and now there will be no more of them for eleven months—but some who narrowly missed a June union are promised among the Wayne people early in this merry sultry month of July.

J. A. Blosover, from Slayton, Minnesota, came Saturday to visit relatives here. With him came Mrs. Alice Rippon, of Sioux City, who has been visiting at Slayton, and they are guests at the homes of W. O. Hanssen and Ernest Rippon, cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Long, former residents of Winside, came the last of the week from Huron, South Dakota, to visit here at the home of their daughter, Mrs. John Davis. Wednesday accompanied by Mrs. Davis they went to visit their old home at Winside.

Mrs. Scheumel, formerly of Hoskins but now of Lincoln, came to Wayne the first of the week to visit her daughter, Miss Margurite, who is teaching at the Normal during the summer term. Mrs. S. was for many years a resident of this county, and many are the friends who were glad to greet her.

James Rennick and family are now residents of Wayne, having moved here from Pilger this week taking possession of their new home just completed on 8th street between Main and Logan streets. Mr. Rennick has long been a resident of this part of Nebraska, and formerly lived on a farm south from Wayne, when he was a frequent visitor here.

Warren Hurlbert, from Carroll, was a Wayne visitor this forenoon, on his way to Winner, South Dakota, where he has business matters to look after and where big horse races are on for the week, as well as a celebration. We are intending to intimate that Warren is interested in the races, but just came handy to mention both events in the same item.

Ed. Bosteder, who has been here visiting and working for several weeks past, left for his home not so very far from Lusk, Wyoming, as distances go in that land of great sweeps of country. His place is about 35 miles from that railroad town, and his post office is said to be Young Woman. He fears that he is not near enough the oil belt to become a rich man right away.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace and daughter Margaret drove to Norfolk to meet Miss Goldie Chace, who was coming home from a school year spent at Leland-Stanford University in California. The rain stopped their home trip by car, and they spent the night at Hoskins, returning by train the next morning. Wednesday, Mr. Chace went for his car and the rest of his car ride.

Irvin Gaston, from Lincoln, visited Wayne friends a day or two this week, coming so as to attend the High School Alumni Banquet and annual meeting. He received a message from the editor of this paper for his father, inviting him to a place in the democratic ranks after the platform and nomination is made, if they suit him better than the senator the republicans substituted for the candidate of his choice in his own party—General Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens, from Carroll, were Wayne visitors Wednesday. Mr. S. came in by the road entering the place from the northwest, and then drove into some of the streets barricaded for paving, and had to back off and come in by a street in the south part of the city. It is the aim of city council, the commercial club and those in charge of the paving to conduct the work as to cause as little inconvenience as possible to Wayne visitors while this work is going forward.

Red Raspberries will be so high very few can afford to buy them. Unless there is an unusual decline in price very few red raspberries will be offered on this market.

J. S. Carhart is at Sioux City today.

Hi Griggs left this morning to visit at Mapleton, Minnesota.

Mrs. Ed. Ellis is a passenger to Randolph this morning, going to attend the carnival.

Miss Myrtle Kauffman came from Norfolk Tuesday to spend a week visiting Misses Iris and Lydia Griggs.

Miss Florence Gardner is visiting Pendleton this afternoon, going over with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dunn.

The last of this month the Wyandot Chautauqua is due to open—July 30. Are you ready with your ticket money?

J. C. Nuss is at Chicago this week trying to purchase goods for his store here. He tells us that buying these days is harder than the selling.

Mr. and Mrs. Jens Jensen are now driving a brand new 1920 model Ford with self starter and all the modern conveniences of the larger cars.

Mrs. J. E. Hammons and daughter Mary arrived this morning from their home at Ogden, Utah, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stallsmith. Her sister, Miss Clara went to Norfolk Wednesday evening to meet her.

Yes, we had expected another weddin notice to print this week, but as nothing has been officially released to us, and the time and place not divulged, we will just let the readers guess who the happy couple are.

Mrs. Martha E. Whitney, from Grand Island, came Wednesday to visit at the home of her son, J. G. W. Lewis. She was accompanied by Misses Lorna and Fula Lewis, from Custer county, nieces of Mr. Lewis, who will remain here for a visit.

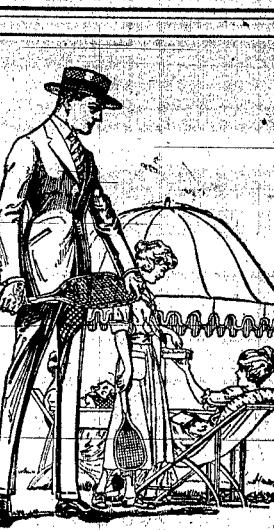

The small threshing outfit is becoming popular, and some one or more in a neighborhood purchase an outfit for the immediate neighborhood use. These outfits can be run with a tractor engine, and the tractor can be used more or less the year round. Carl Ritze has just taken such an equipment out from Kay & Bichel implement house.

Mrs. Martin Bastian, from Agate, Colorado, left for home this morning after a short visit here, having come for her little daughter Irene, who was brought here to the Albert Bastian home for care about two months ago when the mother was at a hospital. Mrs. Bastian is quite fully recovered from her recent illness, her Wayne friends will be glad to know.

OLD MAGAZINES AND PAPERS

Now have a little value, enough to pay me for taking your old ones out of your way, though I cannot promise any pay. If you have some you wish to get out of the way, do not burn them, but see me or call phone Red 334 and I will save them from being wasted and you the trouble of destroying.—Sam Davies, the News-dealer.

Summer Comfort and Efficiency

You can have both by getting into one of our Palm Beach Suits and Cool Low Shoes. Incidentally you can beat old H. C. of L. by buying them—they cost so much less than regular wool clothes and leather shoes.

These summer suits are not only cool, comfortable and smart in appearance but are strongly recommended for their ability to "stand up" well under the trying test of summer wear.

Our low shoes range in price from $3.00 to $14.00. The range of the canvas oxfords is from $3.00 to $5.00. Save from $1 to $3 by wearing low shoes this summer.

No matter what you need for summer comfort in men's wear we have it. Silk Shirts, Athletic Underwear, Silk Hose, Wash Ties, Dress Shirts, Panama and other Straw Hats and Soft Collars. Our stock is still very complete.

A STREET CONCERT FROM WAKEFIELD BAND

Tuesday afternoon the Wakefield band and a bunch of boosters from that berg drove into town to announce their celebration there July 3, which is Saturday, and invited us over to hear their band play, and their speakers and other attractions to both see and hear. They also told of their chautauqua, which is to begin the 10th.

MR. AND MRS. COLEMAN LIKE CALIFORNIA

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Coleman in San Francisco says that they are enjoying themselves and their new work immensely. Both are studying music and in the meantime are making the most of California climate and the attractions of San Francisco.

"I just bought a fine automobile."

"What's the name of it?"

"I can't remember, but it starts with T."

"It must be a Ford. Others start with gasoline."

Prisoner: Two constables, sir.

Clergyman: Yes, but I mean did intemperance have anything to do with it?

Prisoner: Yes sir; they were both drunk.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Out of the more than 3,000,000 Ford cars now in use, about sixty per cent have been sold to farmers. Probably no other one thing has brought to the farm so much of comfort and profit as has the Ford car. It has enlarged the social life, doubled the facilities for marketing, brought the town next door to the farm, multiplied for the farmer the pleasures of living, and by the same token the Ford Touring Car has brought just as much pleasure to the residents of the towns and cities, because it is an every day in the year utility, answering the demand of quick transportation at low expense. A family car without an equal in low cost of operation and maintenance. We solicit your order for one. We have the full line of Ford cars. We carry the genuine Ford Parts, and assure you the best in mechanical service and the most reasonable prices.

DEMOCRAT EDITOR TAKING CHANCES AGAIN

On one or two different occasions space has been given to articles given us for publication giving some of the Nonpartisan League views on economic questions, and the story of some of their movements and activities, until the word comes to us that the editor is a Leaguer. We see lots of matter about the league that looks fishy—looks as tho it had been framed up by the enemies of the league work, and beneficiaries of the corporation rule. We notice, however, that the federal and supreme courts are finding that the laws passed by their legislature stand the test and are valid and constitutional.

Then, too, they have been submitted to the people in referendum vote, and the people who are to live under them have said they were acceptable. So we do not see why the people of this state, where the league is a live question, should not have a chance to read both sides of the question, and draw their own conclusions. Here is a summary of some of the laws passed in North Dakota which have been carried to higher courts and approved:

"It will be noted that nearly all of the actual operating progress has been made in the last year. While the League elected state officials and a majority of members of the lower house in 1916, holdover senators in the 1917 legislature prevented League bills from passing in the upper house. In 1919 the League program was written into law and the laws were put into effect following the referendum election of June, 1919, when the people of the state, for the seventh time, declared for them at the polls.

"The Bank of North Dakota, which has been operating less than one year had, up to May 15, 1920:

"Accumulated resources totaling $28,842,776.73.

"Distributed these resources among more than 800 local banks, so that all legitimate needs of local communities for credit are satisfied.

"Made 622 farm loans, in total amount of $2,507,450, and approved approximately 1,000 additional loans, aggregating nearly $4,000,000. All these loans were made at 6 per cent interest with 1 per cent additional for amortization, which will enable the loan to be retired at the end of 30 years, whereas according to the United States department of agriculture the average rate for private farm loans in North Dakota has been 8.7 per cent, without amortization.

"Loaned money to counties to purchase seed and feed for drouth-stricken farmers.

"Loaned money to the Mill and Elevator association and Home Building association, enabling them to carry out their programs preliminary to sale of bonds.

"Made net earnings over expenses, at the rate of more than 5 per cent per annum during nine months of operation.

State Grain Inspection.

"Doctor E. F. Ladd, president of North Dakota Agricultural college, estimates that the state grain inspection law, in 1918, saved farmers of North Dakota approximately $12,000,000 on their crop. The law, first enacted in 1917 and amended in 1919, has many provisions for the protection of the farmer, among the most important of which are:

"A licensing system for grain buyers, licenses being revocable for any crooked practices or failure to observe the rules of the grain inspection department.

"Provision for state grading and requirement that buyers must purchase grain at grade determined upon by department.

"Requirement that grain buyers pay for all dockage, minus cost of cleaning, or return dockage to farmer.

State Hall Insurance.

"State hall insurance provided insurance of $7 per acre for 12,457,130 acres of North Dakota farm land in 1919 at a cost of 28 cents per acre. Private hail insurance rates, for $7 per acre, ranged from 70 to 84 cents per acre. Losses totaled 12,852, being heavier than during the average year, and still each farmer insured saved from 42 to 56 cents per acre, the total amount saved by this one law being more than $5,000,000.

State Home Building.

"The Home Building association is now building 52 homes for North Dakota citizens. Each home owner pays 20 per cent down (1,000 on a $5,000 home) and pays the balance in from 10 to 20 years, as he chooses. Following are monthly payments on a $5,000 home under four different plans:

$4.40 per month for 10 years.

$40 per month for 11 years, seven months.

$33.76 per month for 15 years.

$28.65 per month for 20 years.

Under an amendment to the home building law, effective July 1, bonds can be issued which will enable the state to build many more houses. Hundreds of applications are now on file.

State-owned Mill at Drake.

"A privately owned flour mill at Drake, N. D., was purchased by the state August 20, 1919, for $20,000, citizens of Drake purchasing sufficient bonds to pay the cost and provide working capital. Since that time the mill has been buying wheat from farmers at an average price of 12 cents above prices previously paid by private grain buyers in the same location, has been selling flour at prices ranging from the market to 50 cents below the market for competing patent flours in the same territory, and has been selling mill feeds at prices averaging $.75 per ton below the prices charged in the same territory by trust mills. In addition to these savings for the farmers a report made by independent accountants shows that in the period from August 20 to December 31, 1919, the mill made an operating profit of $2,748.23 and in addition earned $3,555.55 in advanced prices on wheat and sacking held in storage. This profit was made after making all allowances for depreciation and overhead expenses.

Terminal Elevator.

"Construction work was started in May, 1920, on a 1,600,000 bushel terminal elevator and 3,000-barrel (daily capacity) flour mill at Grand Forks. Because of the suit in the supreme court of the United States eastern bond buyers, who had contracted to buy state bonds, canceled their contract. Citizens of Grand Forks came to the rescue, agreeing to purchase $1,000,000 of state mill and elevator bonds, thus enabling work to be started without further delay.

Bonding of Public Officials.

"State bonding of public officials during the two years ending December 31, 1919, resulted as follows:

Collections ..... $67,081.38

Expenses ..... 4,176.44

Losses ..... 0.00

Savings ..... $62,904.94

"The state is now charging the same rates charged by the private bonding companies. As soon as a sufficient surplus is secured, rates can be radically reduced, probably to one-half or less of the present rates.

Insurance of Public Buildings.

"State fire and tornado insurance, during the first five months of its operation, up to December 31, 1919, resulted in an income of $41,562.55 in premiums, of which approximately five-twelfths, or $17,318, were earned

SCOREBOARD IS HIS DIAMOND

Most Hopeless of Fans Is the One Who Can Enjoy Game Without Seeing It.

"Not a peep! Not a peep!" worried Aunt Priscilla, stooping over the hen-coop. "I wouldn't mind June, but it always was my care and custom to have the little chickens hatched out early. I so like the young life of spring."

"So do I," June answered eagerly. "And, oh, auntie, the young flowers, and the blue sky! Would blue look well on me—blue in a hat, sky blue, with bright flowers on the crown?"

Her companion straightened from her task.

"Just because it's spring," she admonished sternly, "is no reason you should go sky-larking with foolish ideas."

"But, auntie," the girl protested hotly. "Everybody needs a hat!"

"I wouldn't care if it weren't for the recital. And Larry will be there. They say that 'in the spring a young man's fancy—'"

A blush and a girlish laugh halted her speech.

She half ran down the short street and rushed panting into the store of the little milliner.

"Miss Vanetta," she called impetuously, "would a hat the color of the spring sky cost very much and would you let me pay for it when my chickens are hatched?"

The little milliner turned smilingly.

"You know the old proverb," she admonished with warning finger. "Don't count your chickens before they—"

"Have feathers enough to trim a hat," laughed the girl. "But, oh, Miss Vanetta, the minstrels are to give a recital and I'm to play. They'll all be dressed beautifully, while I'll have nothing but my decrepit old clothes. And somebody will be there who—"

With a gentle hand the milliner stroked back the unruly curls.

"I know, dear," she encouraged the youthful confidant. "Somebody who is to be honored, besides many others who love you. But, my child, don't have your gown too long."

"Too long," gasped the girl. "But I haven't any, Miss Vanetta, and no prospects of any, either."

"Now let me see," mused the friendly little listener with one finger tapping the table while her eyes glistened triumphantly.

She crossed the room and drew a shimmering piece of soft silk from her fragrant cedar chest.

"Oh, Miss Vanetta!" June exclaimed with a catch in her throat. "How much would I have to pay for that Cinderella gown?"

The woman considered with her finger to her lips. Then she tipped to the girl and whispered softly:

"Dear friend! Indeed, I would do that and more for this wonderful poet's dream of a gown. No French girl in all gay Paree could boast of one so sweet."

Not a person it seemed from all the town was missing, for Lawrence Lane, who had made himself famous as a player of the guitar, was coming.

Aunt Priscilla took her place in the audience with an unbending frown.

Yet after she had watched the participants in the concert she began to feel troubled and uneasy.

"I wonder if I dare to look," she murmured, brokenly. Then, "If her dress is poor, her music is nothing to be ashamed of, June isn't to blame because her old aunt is a tyrant."

She raised her eyes to the platform and gasped. Not her little, old-fashioned June Day stood there playing with a far-off, happy smile, but a fairy from the forest with a plume of the summer sky for her gown and a spray of forest roses for her hat.

The applause was tremendous.

Bewildered and not understanding Aunt Priscilla was standing alone when her hand was seized in a warm clasp. Looking up she saw Judge Good watching her with tender gaze.

"Priscilla," he pleaded, "when I saw your niece tonight she looked so like your sister that I was carried back to the time when you and she and I walked through the springtime fields together. I was your devoted suitor then and I am today. Will you marry me now, although there's 'silver threads among the gold?'"

With a flurried, nervous gesture she loosed her hand.

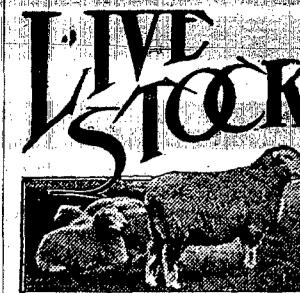

"I guess perhaps I can," she whispered back. "My chickens are all-hatched—unexpected. There's nothing but June to keep me now."

As if in answer to her name the girl appeared.

"Don't think me disobedient, auntie," she said quietly. "Little Miss Vanetta helped me to make this dress and hat. My only payment was to play for her day after day. She and her sweetheart used to sing together before they quarreled. That was why I played those sweet melodies so well to-night. They will never be separated again because I coaxed his address from her and sent him a ticket for my recital. They are sitting there. The spring has claimed another bride besides you, dear auntie."

"Two others," said a deep voice by her side. "Aunt Priscilla, your June Day has consented to become Mrs. Lawrence Lane." Do you think that I will safely guard your little, lone chicken?"

"That's just the answer!" fluttered the bewildered woman. "You've just explained these things. Girls are just like chickens. They're bound to hatch and so unexpectedly."

BIG REDUCTION IN CHOLERA

Decrease in Swine Loss of 72 Per Cent Noted in Six Counties in North Carolina.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

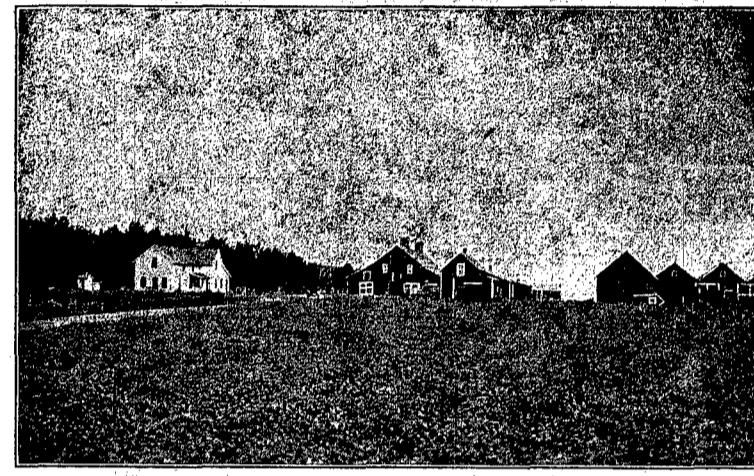

An example of the benefit which may come to a community from the well-directed efforts of state and federal agencies, coupled with the co-operation of farmers, for the control of hog cholera is shown in a recent report of a veterinary inspector of the bureau of animal industry.

Hog cholera control work was inaugurated in six counties in the northeastern section of North Carolina August 1, 1916. An intensive campaign was carried on for a period of 14 months.

It included investigation of reported outbreaks, demonstrations in the use of serum and virus, and the disinfection of premises. As the services of practicing veterinarians were not available, a number of laymen were trained in the administration of the serum treatment for cholera. After that period of intensive activities the work was withdrawn to another section of the state, only general supervision being given to the original area.

During October a survey was made of the counties comprising the district in question, and a questionnaire was submitted to as many of the farmers as could be reached. Answers received and tabulated indicate that there has been a reduction in losses from cholera of over 72 per cent, and an increase of over 160 per cent in swine production, due to the protection offered by the immunization of the animals. There has also been a marked improvement in the type of this class of animals, due to the knowledge that it is possible to raise more and better hogs without danger of having them destroyed by cholera.

BRONCHITIS IN LITTLE PIGS

Not Much Can Be Done In Way of Treatment—Damp, Cold Pens Are Cause of Trouble.

Bronchitis most commonly occurs in young pigs. Matured hogs are seldom troubled with it. If it attacks very young pigs it often proves fatal, but pigs two or three months old will generally survive, though their growth may be seriously interfered with. The disease is accompanied by a distressing cough, which usually disappears with the advent of warm weather and outdoor exercise. Little can be done in the way of treatment. Dry pens free from drafts, nourishing feed and as much exercise as possible are the principal points to be observed. Damp, cold pens are the most common cause of this trouble.

MORE HOGS ARE NEEDED NOW

Every Farmer Must Put Forth Best Endeavors to Produce More Pork This Season.

If we expect to continue to provide meat to foreign peoples as well as our own people, every farmer must put forth his best effort to produce more hogs. Hogs can be kept profitably upon many farms where they are not found today. Farmers who already produce hogs can produce more, for there is not much chance of producing meat this year in excess of the requirements.

FEED LIVE STOCK LIBERALLY

Farmer Should Make it a Rule to Keep No More Animals Than He Can Feed Well.

Make it a golden rule to keep no more stock on the farm than you have enough feed to supply liberally. Sell off the others, even though it seems a sacrifice. For there is no sacrifice equal to that which comes from stinted live stock.

THE GENTLE ART OF BLUFFING

To use this method you must have first of all a judicious amount of nerve. You must also, I am sorry to say, study some. But your study will not be the study of the student, eager to master every detail; you will read your lesson over, say once.

I am aware that even bluffing takes a different amount of preparation on the part of different students, but I am giving only the general method. Exact amounts you must work out for yourself.

As I said, you will read your lesson over once, noting the paragraph headings and the chief points, and studying the illustrations, which often tell more than a paragraph of reading. It is well, too, to glance over the headings just before class in case you have entirely forgotten the subject of the lesson.

In class, volunteer whenever there is the slightest chance, preferably when several others volunteer for there is not so much likelihood of being called on. The teacher will note who volunteers and grade accordingly. Then, if you volunteer and are called on, reciting often prevents your being called on for something you do not know.

Study your teacher, note her individual tendencies and act accordingly. Always say something and all you can, on every subject; every little bit helps raise your grade. Besides, if the teacher thinks you are willing to do your best she may excuse occasional lapses.

This is but a brief outline of a few important points of this great art, about which a volume might be written; I hope that sometime some great scholar will publish a text book on "bluffing."

THEY CAN WHO THINK THEY CAN

The following poem was taken from the Fairmont Sentinel; it was distributed during the war to a large number of boys in the army and navy:

If you think you are beaten, you are. If you think you dare not, you don't. If you'd like to win, but think you can't.

It's almost a cinch you won't.

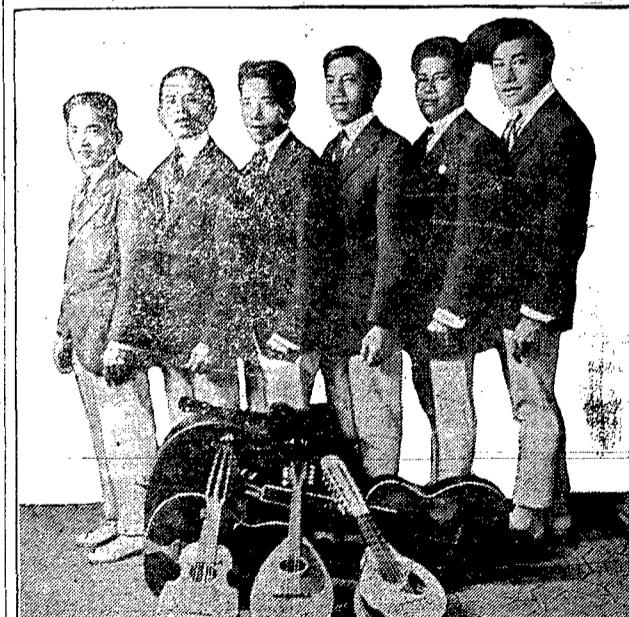

If you think you'll lose, you've lost. For out of the world you find success begins with a fellow's will—it's all in the state of mind.

Few many a race is lost Ere ever a step is run.

And many a coward fails Ere ever his work's begun. Life's battle does not always go To the stronger or faster man; But soon or late the man who wins Is the fellow who thinks he can.

"I just bought a fine automobile." "What's the name of it?" "I can't remember but it starts with T."

"It must be a Ford. Others start with gasoline."

ROYAL FILIPINO STRING BAND

Newest Chautauqua Novelty.

These noted Philippine musicians, who have been travelling for several years in this country and Europe, will again appear on the platform this summer. The conductor, Mr. Gregorio Nepomuceno, is a graduate of the Philippine College of Music and later served on the conservatory faculty. He also has some very clever compositions to his credit. The manager, Mr. Nicolas Garcia, is a graduate of the College of Law here but made his musical reputation at the San Francisco exposition. Of incidental interest is the fact that he won the Michigan state tennis championship in 1916. Mr. Miguel Flores, who plays the "Danduria" or Philippine mandolin, taught music at Wayne Chautauqua, Wayne—July 30—August 5.
