NEW SCHOOL YEAR
OPENS SEPTEMBER SIX

Superintendent Armstrong and the Wayne school board have been having a busy time during the vacation period getting competent teachers for every position for the opening day, and at this writing all places are filled except the 5th grade, and a selection has not been made for that room yet from the several applicants being considered. Below is the list: J. R. Armstrong, Superintendent; Alolis N. Pollard, Principal, Latin and French; Mary Goodrich, History; Avis Rowe, Mathematics; Lydia Bigler, English, Declamatory work and Play Coach; Elizabeth Kelleymen, Domestic Science, Girls Athletics; O. W. Crabtree, Manual training Boys Athletics; Mrs. Elmer Gailey, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting; Emma Hughes, Arithmetic, History, Geography; Etha Stark, Seventh Grade; Ruth Warner, Sixth Grade; Not filled, Fifth Grade; Helen Blair, Fourth Grade; Ruth Ingham, Third Grade; Florence Hartman, Second Grade; Coila Patras, First Grade; Isabel Derby, Kindergarten; Audry Burgess, Music, Drawing.

A number of these will be recognized as teachers of last year and some have taught here several years. The board has been using much care in the selection, and the new teachers were selected for experience and qualifications. Miss Lydia Bigler has taught in Denver and Canon City school for six years, and earned an A. B. degree from the Colorado-University.

Elizabeth Kelleymen is a bachelor of science, being given that degree at Wesleyan University. She has taught at Homesville and supervised play ground work at University Place.

O. W. Crabtree has had experience in his work in manual training and athletics at Superior, Wisconsin and other places.

Etha Stark is a graduate of Carnegie college who has had seven years experience in two Iowa towns.

Ruth Ingham is a Wayne girl and a graduate of the normal at this place, and has been successful as a teacher at Coleridge and Fremont.

Florence Hartman has made a success of second grade work for seven years since graduating from the Teacher's Farming school at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, where she taught.

The kindergarten teacher, Isabel Derby, has taken teacher's work at the University and taught at Minden in this state and at Odebold, Iowa.

Audry Burgess the music and drawing teacher, graduated at the Iowa State Normal and from the music department of Drake University; taught seven years at Bloomfield, Iowa, and at Iowa Normal school. She studied under a number of able instructors, taking special work, and is most competent in piano, violin and voice.

SURPRISED PASTOR FISCHER

Last Sunday the congregations of the two Lutheran churches south of Wayne under the charge of Rev. W. Fischer met at the church southwest from town where his home is for their annual missionfest services. Rev. W. Mangels from West Point and Rev. Geo. Duensing from Tilden preached, the services being both morning and afternoon.

But there was a move on which came as a surprise to the pastor, and at the proper time there was more speaking by the visiting pastors, and the members of the congregations. It happened to be the 25th anniversary of the pastor's entry into the ministry, and as a token of their appreciation of his services since assuming charge of these churches a handsome purse was made up and presented to Rev. Fischer—a sort of a silver offering on the silver anniversary of his entry into the work. It was a movement which told of the friendly spirit existing between pastor and people.

NOT SLEEPING, BUT DEAD

A certain merchant not a thousand miles from here, thinks newspaper advertising is no good. When his children grow up he will probably have the wedding announcement made by painting it upon his store window and when he dies his family will probably announce the death and funeral in the same manner or paint it on the telephone pole. Lyons Mfr.

Hush, hush now. The fellow who does not advertise is dead—but he may not realize for a time, and we should always speak kindly of those who have passed on, whether they really had a day of life or not.

Read the advertisements.

TRUCK AND TRAIN MEET MAIN STREET CROSSING

AHERN STORE AGAIN BURGLARIZED

Saturday evening as the passenger train from Sioux city was pulling into Wayne with its usual signals and noise, P. W. Greenwald with a Maxwell truck loaded with corn was about to use the crossing, apparently not aware that it was a railroad crossing, or that a train was approaching. It so happened that he was just a little slower than the train in getting to the meeting place, for the front end of the engine did not hit his truck, but it had advanced far enough by the time the engine had traveled its length so the heavy cast step used in entering or leaving the cab caught the wheel of the truck, (which track showed to be within 12 inches of the rail) and turned the truck quarter way round, and left it headed the same way the train was going. The engineer applied the emergency and train stopped within two car lengths.

Mr. Greenwald was not injured, and the damage to the truck was comparatively little. A wheel was broken, the fender and radiator smashed, but it is doubtful if there was injury to truck engine or frame. The locomotive appears to have simply lost the step.

It was fortunate for all that more serious results did not follow such a meeting, as both train and automobile might have fared worse.

WOMEN VOTERS ATTENTION

All women are urged to attend a meeting of the Wayne League of Women Voters, at the Library, Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

The question frequently is asked, "Why is it necessary to have an organization of the women?"

Also we hear "Wayne already has so many organizations!"

Answers

1st.—There is no other organization which includes all the women.

2nd.—We are all in need of instruction, concerning the meaning and value of the Constitutional Amendments, to be voted on September 21st. We can get that instruction as a body with less waste of time and energy, than otherwise.

3rd:—The members of our last legislature unanimously ratified the U. S. Constitutional Suffrage Amendment, and for us not to carry proposal No. 18, would be to discredit their work and faith.

4th:—We must not only carry proposal No. 18, by our votes, but because of the question as to whether it is constitutional we must see that it is carried by the men's votes.

Then irrespective of Tennessee's vacillating moods, our right to vote November 6th will be unquestionable.

THE PAVING PROGRAM

The work of paving is now moving forward in very satisfactory manner, considering what the weather is like. This week nearly if not all of the curb will be finished, after which the plan is to begin the base laying on Main street at 4th and finish that work as quickly as possible as far as the railroad tracks, and probably to the bridge. Then as the brick begins to arrive, as they soon should, complete the paving in the business section first. If this plan carries out, and if lack of material or time, the work is not completed, the business part of the street will not be impossible.

While it will be possible to finish the Wayne paving yet this fall, it is also possible that a delay in material arriving, bad weather, and an early winter may stop work before all is finished. It will be far more satisfactory if the part where the mud is is finished, it will be far more satisfactory.

SEED CORN FOR 1921

Now is the time to begin to ripen a field of corn from which to select seed. S. E. Auker, for years a successful farmer of this vicinity thinks we can do the farmers a good turn by giving them his method. It was simple and profitable. He urges farmers to select a field—their best one, and begin at once to turn in a bunch of sheep to trim out the weeds and grass, if any, and trim up the lower leaves. This he says tends to hurry the ripening process of the corn, causing it to dry more rapidly and get in shape to meet Jack Frost fully prepared to withstand injury. The sheep are a source of profit as a rule aside from the benefit to the corn and the land.

Mr. Auker invariably had a supply of seed corn, and he tells us that this was a great aid in assuring properly matured corn. Try it this fall. Now is the right time to begin

SLAUGHTERS HOLD ANNUAL REUNION NEAR PENDER

(Norfolk News)

Nearly 200 persons sat down to a big family dinner Sunday afternoon at the beautiful farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Slaughter, near Pender, Nebraska, where the annual reunion of the Slaughter family was being held. Included in the list of friends and relatives were many pioneers of Wayne and Thurston counties and other men and women, who, as boys and girls were playmates of the men who were among the trail breakers in the land rush which made the Rosebud country great. In the gathering, also, were men and women who were neighbors of the late Solomon and Elizabeth Slaughter, who were the parents of eleven boys and one girl who played a great part in the development of north Nebraska and southern South Dakota.

This is the second loss this store has sustained, the previous visit having been about six months ago. Evidently well-organized gangs are robbing stores in various parts of the country, and this is one of their numerous raids. It is to be hoped that some detective may be found who is smart enough to secure the arrest and conviction of whoever is

PIERCE COUNTY FAIR

Next week, beginning Tuesday the 31st, and continuing until September 3, the people of Pierce will entertain all comers at a great county fair.

The list of premiums offered contains nearly any product of farm, garden, dairy, kitchen or sewing room, while the offerings for stock are liberal and calculated to bring a great exhibit, for competition is open to the world. Base ball will be one of the attraction—a circus will be there during the fair.

But amusements are not to make up all of the entertainments. Education is to have a place—or politics one cannot tell" which. Governor McKelvie is to be there September 1, the day following, the 2d, Ex-Governor Morehead is billed as the attraction and the speaker. September 3d, Mr. Weaver, chairman of the constitutional convention is to tell of the work that body of statesmen, and of the duty of the people on the election day, September 21st. Thus the association is proposing to make this meeting both interesting, amusing and instructive.

With all respect to the speakers and the fine exhibits, we are predicting that their baseball program is going to be as good a drawing feature as they will have, if they have some real games. Then will come the races, of which we happen to have heard but little. Wayne county people should drive over a day or two when possible, and not forget to take an invitation for the Pierce county people to remember the Wayne fair September 15th to 18th.

ALLEN WANTS COUNTY CAPITOL

A petition carrying more than the required number of voter names demand recognition of the county board has been presented to the commissioners of Dixon county, asking that an election be called that the voters may say whether or not they want the county seat moved from Ponca in the corner of the county to Allen, a more central location.

Allen is quite central as to location, and would certainly be more accessible to the greater part of the citizens than is Ponca—but history of such contests shows that a county seat cannot be moved without more or less of a fight, and in nine cases out of ten the scrap is greater than one might ordinarily expect to witness. If the seat of government shall be taken from Ponca, the citizens of that place will have to wake up and find something new to hold town together on the banks of the big river.

BASE BALL NEWS

Wayne has won one and lost one, in two good games: They won from Wakefield at Wakefield Sunday with a 2 to nothing score.

Tuesday afternoon Allen won from Wayne on our home grounds, 6 to 1. Many of the business houses closed their doors during the afternoon and went to witness the game.

Sunday afternoon Wayne will meet the team from McLean on the Wayne diamond and determine who has the best players.

SOCIAL NOTES

In Honor of A. B. Jeffrey

Friday, August 20th, was the eighty-fifth birthday anniversary of A. B. Jeffrey, one of the pioneers of Wayne county, and on the following Sunday the happy event was celebrated at the pleasant country home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Spahr. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jeffrey of Ames, Iowa, Chas. Zelia Jeffrey of Bloomfield, Roy Jeffrey, Alex Jeffrey and F. A. Spahr, of near Wayne and their families, Chas. Solon and family of Sholes, and Miss those living near Wayne coming to surprise her and observe a day in her honor. Those present were Walter Stubbs, Hans Horst, and Dan Lenck and their families, a son and two daughters. They brought a plenty dinner and spent the day visiting.

Tuesday evening a bunch of girls, amply supplied with watermelon and other goodies, motored to the country and enjoyed a feed and jolly time. The affair was in honor of Miss Lettice Rennick who leaves for school in a few weeks.

The Helping Hand Society postponed their meeting till next Thursday when it will meet with Mrs. Elvin Jones.

MARGUERITE CHASE CALLED FOR DUTY

Miss Marguerite Chase, who has for two years past so acceptably served the government in their Reclamation work among the wounded and disabled soldier boys in the U. S. Public Health Service hospitals, has received a call to report at Houston, Texas, to continue that work after

Welcoming a Voter

It was a very pleasant surprise to Mr. Irvin (Babe) Auker Sunday when the other members of the family, old and young all invaded the home himself and brother occupy or the Chase farm about nine miles northwest of Wayne to inform the young man that he be up of age that day, it having been 21 years since he came to Wayne county. The day was passed visiting and partaking of the good eats which the guests brought, for we imagine that they did not care to stake their chance for a dinner on the eats usually available where two farmer lads are keeping bachelor hall and carrying on a farm. All members of the family residing in this vicinity were present.

Parents Were Pioneers

Solomon and Elizabeth Slaughter moved to a farm near Wayne thirty-eight years ago from Iowa. They had four children at that time, the rest of the family being born and reared in Wayne county. The pioneers lived to see the day when their sons became some of the most prosperous bankers, real estate men, farmers and raisers of pure bred stock in Nebraska and South Dakota. Solomon Slaughter died in 1902 and his wife followed two years later. They were both buried near Wakefield.

THE LEADERLESS VOTE

Leaderless, causeless and issueless, the soldier vote is proving anything but attractive to the politicians and unless the returned soldiers get together and do it soon, they will get but slight consideration from the next congress in the nature of adjusted compensation.

Returned soldiers are convinced in their own minds that they should be a political force, that they should use their votes to help make America a better nation to live in, but they are milling around in a hopeless, negative fashion.

Plenty of would-be issues and would-be leaders have been suggested, but as yet none of them have been big enough and appealing enough to unite the soldier vote and make it a big factor in the coming political campaigns.

Soldiers find in the platforms of the two big parties little which sounds sincere or important. They think the politicians are afraid to face the real problems and that the rest of the country seems willing to let the politicians fight the battle of hot air to an empty, windy finish.

It is about time that the former American soldiers get together and show these politicians just where they stand and that they are not going to stand by and not do their bit to get action of the right kind from the next president and the next congress. Jerome Forbes in Northwestern Appeal.

YOUR HEALTH IS YOUR MOST VALUABLE ASSET

If you are a good business man you will take particular pains to safeguard what you consider to be your most valuable Asset. A man's most valuable asset is undoubtedly HEALTH but he does not always safeguard it. On the contrary he very often shamefully abuses it and then wonders why when he has reached middle age he has lost all his former vigor. HEALTH is a precious gift. CHIROPRACTIC will help you conserve your HEALTH and a SPINAL ANALYSIS NOW might reveal some unsuspected defect which if adjusted would make a new man of you. Try it. Consultation and Spinal Analysis Free. Drs. Lewis & Lewis, Phone 491, Wayne, Nebraska. adv.

Tuesday afternoon was Woman's Day at the Country Club. Mesdames Perry Theobald, H. J. Miner, T. T. Jones, C. T. Ingham and J. A. Gurnon were hostesses. There were about fifty, besides children, in attendance. Progressive 500 was enjoyed by those who played cards and other games for those who did not. Hot coffee and doughnuts were served.

DR. A. F. EBNST WILL SPEAK

Dr. Ernst, of Omaha, a former pastor of the Presbyterian church of this place, will preach next Sunday morning and evening. A large audience is urged to be present.

Sickness of some of the Democrat force delayed the paper today, and caused the omission of some of the news for which copy came late.

Ahern's Store News

We have delayed our Fall and Winter buying this season because there was considerable uncertainty as to prices, and we wanted to make sure of getting our goods at the bottom of the market.

Within the last two weeks wholesale houses have made the reductions expected on certain lines so that now we feel safe to go ahead and buy.

So we are off for market and when our New Winter and Fall stocks arrive you can depend on us for your goods at rock bottom prices.

Mrs. Brown, Miss Fox and Mr. Ahern went East Wednesday to buy for the Dry Goods section of the store. They will attend the Special Exhibitions and Style Shows that manufacturers and wholesalers are now giving and gather first hand information of what styles are to prevail in these lines for the coming season.

Their purchases will begin to arrive and be placed on display next week.

John and Arthur, who spent the past week in the East buying the last minute styles in Ladies Ready to Wear for their out of town sales, have this to report in regard to the prevailing modes in Coats, Suits, and Dresses:

Cloth Coats will continue full length, and the most radical style change will be in the detail of collars. The deep cape collar that may be buttoned up high around the face is the season's most approved novelty. When open these collars extend well down over the shoulders, suggestive of a short cape. Materials are mostly of the soft rich Bolivia type and the velvetone sparkle cloth and frost glow weaves are very popular.

Plush and fur fabric coats are very popular and are very generally fur trimmed. In these garments three quarter lengths are in good style. Fur coats of Hudson Seal and River Mink are mostly three quarter lengths.

Suit coats vary in length and this detail seems to be governed entirely by the individual style of the garment. You have choice of nearly any length from hip to below the knees but from finger tip to knee length are most generally in favor. Soft materials like velvets and devorés are again in favor for suits, but for practical wear these will hardly replace the satisfactory tricotine.

Dresses will be in great favor—and the straight line styles with low waist line are the best liked.

They are almost universally trimmed with beads or braid in profusion and clusters of pleats and tucks. A few of these show the extreme high collar effect.

Tricotine continues the most favored material and is popular in weights so heavy as to almost give the warmth of a coat. For really dressy wear satins are most favored. The styles are now fully determined for the coming season.

fine mercerized stockings for the real particular daughter.

Hair ribbons and handkerchiefs are here very reasonably priced as well as underwear, underwaists and hose supporters. In another section of this ad, you will learn of a good saving we can make you on that most important item, school slacks.

Here is a way to make a nice saving on your school shoe bill. We have a pretty fair stock of boys and girls shoes, carried over from the last two seasons and the old prices are still on them.

They are just as nice styles; just as good leathers and just as well made as this season's shoes and if you can find the sizes you need for your children among them the saving will be well worth while.

Scarlet, Navy and Khaki Middy Blouse Flannels are ready for you in the correct shades and weights. McCall Pattern No. 8696 is a favorite style for these blouses.

If the steels in a Warner Corset rust or break we give a new corset. This guarantee is important to you now with corset prices as high as they are.

We have three dozen nice gingham dresses for Ladies, to close out before Fall and we have made a nice reduction in the price. These are nice dressy looking dresses for afternoon wear—the ginghams are bright, pretty patterns and the styles and trimmings are neat and trim. At $5.00 and $7.50 they are real bargains.

From all appearances sugar is going to decline some, but it is doubtful if it reaches any such figure as the newspapers would lead us to hope. We shall buy and sell at the market and give our customers the advantage of every decline.

The car of canning Pears will be here this week and we will have a plentiful supply at the lowest price. Phone us and we will keep you posted. These are Bartlett Pears and the fruit house notifies us that now is the time to buy them for canning.

Dog loaded his Misses and the two boys into the auto Monday and started out for a well earned week vacation. We feel that Don will get wherever he is going and back in the Ford, because he is well able to lift the car and its load bodily out of any hole he gets into.

Main street will be closed before long on account of the paving. During that time we will arrange for some convenient way for our customers to get to and from the store with their produce. In a little while when the paving is all down and we have covered it with corn meal and had a big celebration dance on it we will forget the great inconvenience the laying of it has been to everyone.

The demand for capons increases as the years go by and people learn what a different meat it makes of the young cockerels. Now is the season to act in the matter of making your poultry crop bring you more money. This method of treating birds has been in use for more than 2,000 years, as we remember—but it is not until the press and the agricultural department of this government has given it publicity that any great number of birds have been operated upon. It takes publicity to bring knowledge of such things to the people so that the masses get benefits. Of the thousands of birds marketed at Wayne annually, we doubt if one per cent are capons. Our poultry people might as well make more meat with their feed, and a bird that will bring much more per pound. Study up on the question and make money.

ESSEX
CARS

San Francisco 4 Days to New York 14 Hours
3347 Miles 43 Minutes

Lowers Transcontinental Record by 12 Hours 48 minutes. Another Essex Going From New York to San Francisco Broke the Record For That Direction by 21 Hours 13 minutes, Completing the Trip in 4 Days 19 Hours 17 Minutes

So Essex Holds the Transcontinental Record Both Ways

Two Essex touring cars, carrying U. S. Mail, each one making the entire trip between San Francisco and New York, have set the time records for their respective directions across the American continent.

And thus comes to Essex another distinction for reliability and endurance.

Except for one airplane record, these two Essex cars have crossed the continent in less time than was ever recorded by any traveling machine. The fastest time possible between San Francisco and New York by train is slightly less than the time taken by the light weight economical Essex. But in the case of the railroad train, many different locomotives are used, each pulling the train only a few hundred miles.

From Cheyenne to Omaha the route taken by the Essex was 43 miles longer than the 550 mile route of the famous Overland Limited yet the Essex time was but one hour longer than the express train time.

The World's Most Coveted Records

From the days of the Prairie Schooner, the Pony Express and the completion of the railroads men have sought to establish new transcontinental time records between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

It has called for the highest development of skill and courage. And it has, as in the case of the motor car, blazed the way to mechanical reliability.

The purpose of this Essex test was to prove its reliability. In the period of 114 hours was crowded more strains, more calls for endurance and mechanical strength than the average owner demands in a life time.

Every requirement of motor car performance was met by these two cars. And the fact that they so consistently met their tasks proves Essex uniformity.

BURR W. WRIGHT

The speeds at which they traveled were not unusual, for another Essex stock car had on a speedway track gone 3037 miles in 50 hours. But in the transcontinental runs, some 350 cities and towns had to be crossed. Crowded traffic imposed its obstacles to consistent going. Mountain ranges in the East and West with grades such as the average driver never encounters, called for the utmost of hill climbing ability.

Few will ever motor all the way across America and therefore cannot know the extreme varieties of conditions encountered. But let each reader apply to his consideration of what Essex has done, every experience he has ever met in his own driving. It will give some appreciation of Essex reliability.

Light Weight Now Establishes Reliability

How gradual have men come to a realization that a light weight car can also offer reliability and performance.

Essex has led the way for that was its purpose from the very first. Economy is of growing importance. Men want to save in fuel and in first costs. But they want no sacrifice in performance and they demand unquestioned reliability.

Essex offered itself to the public without claim. Now more than 40,000 owners know and praise its worth.

Owner cars that had been driven upwards of 25,000 miles were used in the recent nation wide Essex week to establish reliability, economy, speed and hill climbing records.

To Essex owners the winning of the transcontinental records is not a surprise. But those who do not know Essex performance and reliability must regard that these two trips across the continent are as important in marking mechanical advancement as any similar event in the history of the motor car.

Gee-whiz, how we grow in voting strength. More than 20,000,000 voters in a day added to the citizenship list.

Down in Kansas churches are used for voting places in some instances. That's right, make them useful every day in the week, if needed.

The legal rate for passenger fare in Nebraska is 2 cents a mile; but we understand that the railroads are not intending to obey the law.

Right or wrong, good or bad, the Hartington Herald is pledged to stand for the election of the entire republican ticket. It is this kind of support that fails to keep a party clean. If the label is good, and the candidates true to the brand that might be right.

According to the dope given out at Washington the next congressional election is going to be fought out on the wet and dry issue. If that is the case every candidate should be put on record before election and "hog-tied."

A bit of McKelvie propaganda which is being sent out to the voters tells that the supreme court of the state has upheld the Code Bill. Perhaps, but the people of Nebraska have not upheld it—they were denied the right to pass upon it at a referendum.

In Michigan no one is excused from school until 16 years of age, and a judge has just ordered a number of ordeals who have not yet attained the age of 16 years that they must continue in school just the same. Very good law and wise to enforce it.

Tennessee has certified the verdict of the legislature to the secretary of state, and it will be hard for the reactors to change the verdict. The members of the Tennessee legislature who sneaked out of the state in an effort to block the onward march of progress should be invited to remain away.

Our republican newspaper correspondents are freely and confidently predicting the election of Harding. Certainly. What else are they paid for? while work and jobs are said to be thick as flies around a molasses barrel, no one expects a republican news writer to resign in a time like this; so we may expect these predictions to the end of the campaign. But it is to be the voters who settle the question—and no one knows what they will do.

Edgar Howard, of the Columbus Telegram hopes to have the ghost of old Andy Jackson swoop down on congress this fall and make the dry bones chatter with fear of the righteous indignation of a people wronged by the neglect of those selected to serve them. The trouble seems to be in most instances that the corporations, not the people did the selecting. When a little tot dad used to let the writer think he was driving the team by giving him the slack end of the lines to handle—but dad was driving and this kid just that he was driving. Such is too often the case with the people. They think they select a representative—but he had been hand-picked by the corporations and the sound side shown up to the voter until after election and then the rotten core was exposed.

Never can the writer remember a time when political conditions were considered from so many different angles as today. It seems that there is no national party which will in any manner jeopardize the election of one of the candidates of the two old parties—but where a lot of the dissatisfied voters are going to land when it comes to national issues is a hard question to answer. The republicans are plainly worried for fear they will lose the seat, even if they can name the president. They now hold that body simply by a majority of one, and that one a convict under sentence for violating the corrupt practice laws of his state. He will have to vacate his seat if taken to the Federal prison to serve his sentence of ten years. Colorado, California, Washington, Wisconsin, Connecticut and New York do not know where they are at on the senatorial contest. In most of these states the vote of the women is an uncertain factor, and one the old-time politician cannot handle by their old corrupt methods. The spirit of unrest is abroad in the land. The party chains are broken and cast aside. In Wisconsin and Minnesota the nonpartisan league is going to have a deciding vote possibly, and there are those who predict that their candidate for governor in this state will not be in third place in the triangular fight. Thousands of republicans assert that they will not vote for McKelvie, and other thousands of democrats have no love for Morehead and his reactory methods. Of course, if these dissatisfied ones simply trade parties the one or the other old party candidates have a show, but if they shall decide to unite in support of the nominee from York, it is claimed that no man can predict which side of the triangle will be the longer.

"The republicans proposal (a separate peace with Germany) means dis-honor, world confusion and delay. It would keep us in permanent company with Germany, Russia, Turkey and Mexico. It would entail, in the ultimate, more real injury than the war itself."—Governor Cox in his speech of acceptance.

Geo. Fortner still furnishes the flour of the family—the Cinderella. His last car shipment, received a few days ago, is ground from the old wheat and it might be wise for you to order from this lot enough to last you until the new wheat is properly cured to make the best of flour.—adv.

Bixby asks, "Is it wet enough for you?" Which wet does he refer to? Just above the question are some verses about Tom Watson getting soaked; and in an adjoining column an item tells of the copious rains. Up in this part of the state we seem to be having both kinds of wetness. A number of people have not yet learned their capacity in this new "moonshine," and they appear to have overdriven and then coughed up.

Boyd Senter from Omaha, a cousin or nephew of our distinguished fellow citizen, V. A. S., was at Wayne Wednesday and greeting relatives here. Mr. Boyd Senter is a specialist on the saxophone, and had been at Randolph the evening before for an entertainment. He was accompanied by two fellow artists, E. Ningtingale and L. French. Car trouble had caused them to abandon their car and return by train to their Omaha home.

Miss Chyle Ihde, of Pierson, Iowa, spent Wednesday at Wayne visiting at the home of her uncle, G. A. Wade, and greeting a few friends of her college days here. In the evening she continued her journey to Basin, Wyoming, where she is to teach the coming school year. She has been a successful teacher in Iowa schools several years since graduating from the Wayne Normal. Her mother and sister Ruby came on the evening train and went on to Wyoming with her.

Mr. and Mrs. John Heeren, from the Carroll country, went by motor last week to Paxton to visit and report a good time. They experienced a trouble of which others complain—that of permitting a lot of signs and advertising matter to be put up at corners where the road marks are placed to indicate the proper road. In some instances a car must stop in order to distinguish the road sign from the advertising displayed. The newspaper is the place to advertise. Few if any in these days of rapid travel stop to read an adv. by the wayside.

FORDSON

Trade Mark

Farm Tractor

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land almost to half of what it costs with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season; getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it solves the labor problem.

As ever, the machine-way is proving more efficient, faster and easier than the old hand way. In the factory the machine increases production; saves labor—produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on a farm. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. Besides it solves the labor problem.

The Fordson's first cost is the lowest in the market; and the after or operating cost is lowest in the United States.

We are Fordson dealers. Not only do we sell Fordson tractors, but we carry a stock of Fordson parts and employ Fordson mechanics to help the farmers get the best results from the Fordson.

QUESTIONAIRS TO OUR LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES

Submitted by a Dyed-in-the-Wool
Democrat

Question No. 1—Have you read the report of the Industrial Commission of the state of North Dakota?

No. 2—Have you any reason to doubt the truthfulness of the statements therein made?

No. 3—Their guarantee deposit banking law is better than ours, as the associated banks pay their assessments as needed to pay depositors of any failed bank. Would you favor amending our banking law to conform to theirs?

No. 4—Under their state hail insurance law every acre of tillable land is taxed at 3 cents per acre; the cropped land is insured at a maximum of $2.00 per acre (unless owner files withdrawal), at a cost last year of 32 cents an acre. The uncropped tillable land, owned mostly by non-resident persons, corporations and speculators, and corporations are now contesting the 3 cent tax in the courts. Private companies charging 77 cents per acre for insurance have ceased to function, and are loud in their denunciation of the North Dakota law makers.

Would you favor amending our hail insurance law to conform to theirs?

No. 5—The North Dakota revenue law exempts from taxation all improvements on farms and farm machinery, the modest home of the laboring man or woman in the city or suburbs. The Nebraska law compels the drayman with his costly outfit, and the women with a few chickens, a pig and a dog and a sewing machine and a hand laundry, to cough up, while the owners of government bonds and greenbacks and farm mortgages are exempt from taxation. The man who improves by building or otherwise is promptly fined by the tax assessor for his foolishness. Would you favor amending our revenue law to conform to that of North Dakota?

No. 6—The laws of North Dakota governing the sale, grading and docking of grain saved the farmers of the state many millions. Would you favor amending the laws of Nebraska to conform to theirs?

No. 7—The rate of interest on farm loans by private lenders is 9 per cent, in North Dakota. If it is true, as stated by the commission that the Bank of North Dakota is making farm loans on long time at 6 per cent. Would you favor a similar bank in Nebraska?

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Pauline Wehder, of Stanton, stopped here to visit at the Robert Skiles home Monday evening, while returning from a visit northwest of Wayne, and Tuesday went on to her home town.

Mrs. C. M. Amidown and daughter, Ruth, who lived at Wayne during the last school year and have been spending the summer vacation at Creighton and O'Neill, came from the latter place Monday expecting to arrange for rooms for the coming school year, that Miss Ruth may continue her studies at the Normal.

Miss Alice Jenkins, from Council Bluffs, Iowa, came the first of the week to visit her sister, Mrs. Roy Parker, and other friends. Miss Jenkins was for a number of years a resident of Wayne, leaving here several years ago to attend college and perfect her musical education. She is now teaching music at her home city.

F. S. Morgan left Tuesday to attend an invitation golf tournament which is being held at Kearney this week. He was joined in the trip by John Golden, of O'Neill, who formerly lived at Wayne, and the two will make it sure that northeastern Nebraska will be well represented in the matches—yes, we might say in the finals.

Stanton business men are aiding the county to improve two miles of bad road south of that place. Work and expense for better roads is in a good cause. With good roads and automobiles the transportation question is speeding up materially. The passenger trains are frequently beaten in time between many points so far as passenger service is concerned. The matter of freight is receiving attention, and it is no trouble for truck to outrun freight in time, and the cost need not be much greater if any on short hauls over good roads.

School consolidation is stirring up bad blood in different places as it comes up for action. At Red Cloud the consolidation of several districts into one, has the people of that community at each other's throats. A movement is started to oust the school officials from office and restrain them from acting in that capacity. All manner of fraud is charged. But we presume that ultimately the consolidation will be completed and a new school building erected for which the patrons of the district will pay, and those who opposed it will jointly "point with pride" to our new and modern school building; and fail to understand how they ever managed to do without it so many years as they did.

Miss Charlotte White came over from Rosalie Saturday and spent three days with Wayne friends, returning Tuesday afternoon to start this week on a trip to Oral, a little town in Fall River county, South Dakota, where she will visit relatives, and perhaps spend the winter. Since leaving Wayne about eight months ago, Miss White has been in Washington for a time with her niece, has visited at Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania points, and really had the time of her life; and returned to Nebraska but a few weeks ago. Her interest in politics is as great as ever, and she is democratic yet, but is not so badly worried about missing a vote, if she must, on the national election as soon as the constitutional convention next month. She is naturally glad that the franchise has come to the women after all of these years. A host of friends hope that she will elect to come to Wayne often, if she does not take up her residence here permanently when she is done staying here and there everywhere."

A. F. Walla and W. Pospishel, from West Point, were Wayne visitors Tuesday, the latter having a farm west of Wayne, which he comes to look after now and then. Mr. Walla has long been a resident of Custer county and West Point. He served the county as county clerk for some years; then went into the banking business, but failing health made it seem best that he get at some work that gave him more outside work, and he is now dealing in real estate, and apparently improving in health and wealth. From the sentiment he expressed, we judge that he is a democrat.

THE SALVATION ARMY'S LOCAL ADVISORY BOARD

For the purpose of co-operating in the care of local conditions, where correction is necessary a formal connection with the Salvation Army has been made in the form of a Salvation Army County Advisory Board. This Board will first make a study of local conditions in the county, which will be sent to headquarters and taken up there with a view to taking corrective measures.

Through this the services of the personnel of the army will be quickly available to the county when they are needed and the institutions of the army will be more easily accessible. The connection will be of great benefit to the county in that it will be easy to make use of the Maternity and Rescue homes, the institutions for girls and boys, who are homeless, or who are neglected at home, and all the other institutions, which the army now has throughout the country.

Local Board Organizes

The members of the Wayne County Advisory Board are D. E. Brainard, president; F. S. Berry, vice president; Fred Philleo, treasurer; J. R. Armstrong, secretary; Judge J. M. Cherry, Mayor J. H. Kemp, A. R. Davis, Dr. C. H. Ingham, U. S. Conn, E. O. Gardner, and E. W. Huse.

Additional members of the board will be appointed in the other towns of the county.

THE SERUM SUIT

State Journal

"The suit to end the operations of the state serum plant, which has just been decided by Judge Shepherd is of greater importance than the specific issue involved. The case had numerous aspects, but underneath it all lay the question of the right or power of the state to regulate a private business by engaging in business itself.

"The swine growers of the state demanded protection by the state from what they regarded as undue exactions of private dealers in hog cholera serum. The price had been made so high, it was said, that farmers could not afford to use it. The effort to stamp out hog cholera was hampered accordingly. The legislature authorized the building of a serum factory under the supervision of the state university. It operated for a while and shut down. An emergency arose. Farm bureaus were unable to secure deliveries of serum contracted for and had to buy in the market at higher prices. The state plant was reopened. After awhile it found it could buy serum more cheaply than it could make it and turned to this method of operation. The price of the serum to Nebraska farm bureaus is $1.00 per hundred cubic centimeters at the state plant and 85 cents at private plants. Evidence at the trial went to show that in adjoining states, where there is no state competition, the price is from $1.75 to $3.00 and supplies are obtainable only thru veterinarians, who must be paid an additional amount for administering.

"Suit was brought to stop the operation of the state plant. Both the point of view of the taxpayer and of the private dealer in serum were represented. The constitutional right to employ the state and the state university for such a purpose was challenged. The decision of the court upholds the state plant save in one particular.

The law, it is held, specifically authorized the plant to make and sell serum, but not to buy and sell it. The right and power of the state to engage in competition with its citizens is upheld.

"This is getting to be a subject of bitter controversy, for it involves one of the newest tendencies in the regulation of business. Lincoln's electric light plant, competing with two private plants, is at this moment under attack. Omaha's ice plant, the municipal coal yards of certain cities and municipal markets are other examples of this kind of thing in cities. State mills, banks, elevators and so on, to regulate private business by competition is a cardinal doctrine of the non-partisan league. The serum suit went to the foundation of this entire movement. The initial battle goes to the state industry. So great an issue will doubtless be carried to the higher courts."

Here we have in the editorial of the State Journal, a regular republican paper of high standing, a clear, fair statement of the aim and object of the non-partisan league, as stated in their platform and as carried out by their program in North Dakota so far as it has been able to get, in the face of the opposition of those who have been profiteering all these years. This shows why they squeal. It is the "Stuck pig that squeals," and the "wounded bird that flutters." It is the monopolies and profiteers who are responsible for the non-partisan league and its evils, if any for the average citizen, that come with it. The serum situation of this state is identical with the grain situation in North Dakota. It had become intolerable. The people had to take the matter in hand in the name of the state or surrender absolutely to the combines.

The leaguers were and are called socialists. One definition of socialism is to the effect that its purpose is to create a monopoly. The league platform says its object is to use the government to break private monopoly, and no other method has proven more effective than to put the state in competition with the monopolies which are too great for any private competition which might be organized. Another definition of socialism is to the effect that socialism seeks to take private property—but the league program seems to be to encourage the average citizen to acquire and use private property. So far as we can learn it is not their purpose to take from any their property; but rather create a helpful competition to the monopoly which is robbing the people by a process of taking from them—both producers and consumers—all that the traffic will bear.

Radicals, who would go beyond the aims of the league in a propaganda of socialism, I. W. W.ism and anarchy have tried to use the league organization for their help; dishonest and designing individuals have tried to use the movement to advance their interests, and with but little success. The North Dakota laws provide for the initiative and the referendum as to law measures and the recall for individuals who prove unworthy.

Here are some of the measures enacted by the legislature of our sister state, and if any there are which prove hurtful to any average business man we will be glad to publish their objections. If there are any which

CHICKEN THIEVES

This community is infested with chicken thieves. The prowler who feloniously visits a hen house in the Great Northern Railway, and were taken in cars to the country. Mr. Leedy had all arrangements made and when they got in the country several moving pictures were taken of the party in the fields of grain and corn, the party did not expect to see as good corn in North Dakota as they saw, and all said that the grain was very good.

Upon their return to St. Paul they were taken to South St. Paul and were shown through the stock yards and the Armour packing plant, this again surprised the party as they had no idea of the stock that is handled at that point. The Armour plant, which is one of the largest in the United States, was of much interest to them, as the modern equipment for handling stock packing and curing meats were much superior to what they expected to see and upon their return they reported to be well pleased with the trip and the country that they saw and all said that the New Rockford country was much better than they expected to find it.

All the party say that it would be impossible to see what they saw and get the valuable information, which they received without the co-operation of the Great Northern Railway.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Whereas, a Constitutional Convention, called agreeable to law by the people of the State of Nebraska to meet December 2nd, 1919, and whereas the members elected to said Constitutional Convention did so meet and provide that certain proposed Amendments to the Constitution be submitted to the electors of the State for adoption or rejection, and did further provide that said proposed Constitutional Amendments be submitted at a special election to be held throughout the State.

From that point they went to New Rockford, North Dakota, where they were shown the country that keeps the mills supplied with wheat. Upon tember, 1920, at the usual voting places in each precinct of the County, a special election will be held for the purpose of adopting or rejecting said proposed amendments.

Which election will be open at eight o'clock in the morning and continue open until nine o'clock in the evening of the same day.

KNIFE PUT INTO STATE TAX LEVY

The Nebraska State Board of equalization has concluded its labors and adjourned. It fixed the grand total valuation of all property in the state at $778,000,000, as against a valuation of $567,000,000 for last year.

This year the total state levy was 13 mills.

Last year the 13 mills levy on a valuation of $567,000,000 yielded $73,710,000.

It is estimated that the 10.39 mills levy will bring $8,084,320 into the state treasury.

The University levy of 2.5 mills and the Normal School levy of 1 mill remain the same as last year.

The general fund levy is cut from 4.80 to 3.44 mills; capital building fund from 1.50 to 1.10; state aid roads from 3 to 2.20 mills; state aid bridges from .20 to 1.5 mills.

In fixing the value of farm lands for assessment purposes the board equalized on the basis of 68 per cent of the sales value. On this basis lands and improvements thereon are valued at $433,645,488. This is an increase of 62 per cent over 1916, the date of the last land valuation.

City and town lots, together with improvements thereon, are assessed at $111,160,518, as against $79,567,452 in 1916. This is an increase of 39 per cent.

According to the assessment returns turned in to the state board, the money on hand aggregated $11,323,775,105, whereas the total four years ago was $5,508,655, an increase of 105 per cent.

The greatest increase is in automobiles. Four years ago they were returned at $4,192,275 and this year at $15,391,905, an increase of 265 per cent.

The total personal property in the state is assessed at $218,242,200, as against $154,834,316 four years ago, an increase of 40 per cent.

MORE REPUBLICAN PROMISES

Representative Stern, of Virginia, one of Senator Harding's campaign lieutenants, promises that if the republicans are successful in November they will reduce the living cost by revising the excess profits tax, by increasing the transportation tax, by increasing the tariff schedules and by modifying the income tax laws.

The republicans have controlled both houses of Congress since May, 1919. Why, Mr. Stern, have they not already done these things? Certainly, it wasn't for fear of a presidential veto, because the President more than once asked Congress to do at least some of them.

GREEDY, SELFISH, NEW ENGLAND

A New England chamber of commerce man refuses to commit himself on the project for a ship route from the lakes to the sea until he has decided where New England's interests lie. Says he:

"To determine from a New England standpoint whether or not the proposed waterway improvement will be of benefit to New England is our immediate interest. If shipments moving to Boston are to be diverted down the St. Lawrence, it means a lessening of New England's traffic and of the importance of Boston as a seaport. This, of course, we do not want. Then too, if the inland cities become seaports, it is possible that they can offer increased opportunities to manufacturers in their territory that will discriminate against New England. This is perhaps looking a long distance ahead, but to those with the future welfare of New England at heart, and with a just appreciation of its vital needs in its industrial situation, these factors must not be overlooked. That seems to say that however good the project may be for the country as a whole, New England must oppose it if it isn't good for New England. If agricultural America had stood on that level of selfishness, how would New England have got the tariffs whereby to build up, more or less at the national expense, its manufacturing industries? And if it took that view of the lakes to the sea project now, how could it hope to continue to receive that help?"—State Journal.

Certainly they are too narrow, grasping and selfish to consider any part of the country but New England. In a way they are not to be blamed. They do not know that often a single country in the west produces more wheat to ship to market than any one state in all New England; nor do they care that this wheat cannot be taken to market or even stored in warehouses because this same greed of the east has put a check on every attempt to intelligently build up a sensible and economical system of transportation which they do not control and receive a tribute from. The railroads, like the dog in the manger, cannot care for the freight offered them, but they fight the idea of permitting it to be carried by water. The eastern terminals cannot adequately or properly handle the vast volume of business the railroads could bring to them if they could move the products offered—yet they want the rest of the country to suffer because, in their greed for all that is going. They have bit off more than they can masticate.

England is responsible for the virtual extinction of this rare bird. British ships brought rats to New Zealand, so weasels were sent to exterminate the rats. When they had nearly wiped out the kiwi, the New Zealand government found a ratless island and consecrated it to the poor bird. But the problem of saving an idiot bird that puts all its eggs into one shell, so to speak, was a difficult one. The kiwi laid one egg a season, nearly as big as itself. Exceptional mothers would lay two eggs and then find it almost impossible to hatch both, as the ends would project out beyond their feathers as they sat on them.

attended by leaders in the business and professional world, he took advantage of the opportunity to call the attention of his very conservative audience to the fact that the abolition of poverty through the single tax is the most important sanitary work to be done. And until the day of his death he continued to urge this on every suitable occasion.

In spite of calls upon his time he accepted a place on the National Committee of the National Single Tax League when elected thereto on formation of that organization. He died in harness, striving to bring about economic conditions that will enable all to utilize and enjoy properly such public benefits as he brought about.

His was life truly devoted to making the world a decent place in which to live.

LONDON MOURNS FOR ITS KIWI

Only Apteryx in England Is No More
—Wingless Bird Is Believed
Nearly Extinct.

The total extinction in England of the kiwi (or apteryx) has become a reality. The London Daily Mail announces the death of the Regent's park zoo's only specimen. The species is nearly extinct in New Zealand now, but the British Zoological Society has written to the New Zealand government asking if just one more kiwi can be spared from the island sanctuary.

Zoologists will mourn the loss of the dwarf wingless ostrich more than the zoo visitors, for not one in ten thousand ever saw it while it lived there more than nine years. The keeper would turn out this queerest of birds every now and then, but the long-billed bundle of apathy and sleepiness scrambled back into its box as soon as released.

A curious point about the kiwi is the fact that its nostrils are at the tip of the long worm-hunting beak, and in the ardour of the chase it emits an unpleasant snuffling noise. Its mating call is a pig-like squeal.

FEW IDEAS OF REAL VALUE

Wireless Telegraphy and Telephony
Are Still Comparatively in the Stages of Infancy.

"As every one knows, it is a comparatively simple thing to get a patent on anything, so long as you have a good patent attorney and are able to incorporate a few new knickknacks in your device. But such a thing as a really new idea, not to speak of a basic one, is scarcer than the proverbial hen's teeth."

Thus H. Gernsback, in the Radio Amateur News, comments on the rarity of anything new in wireless telegraphy or telephony. Inventors, he says, content themselves with making improvements in existing devices. These are good, but inventors should not get the idea that the last word has been said in basic principles. He says some one will probably discover a more sensitive detector than the vacuum tube; some one will devise a better transmitter; some one will invent a receiver that makes use of the eyes instead of the ears. "Get off the beaten path," he says.

To Give China a Bible.

"Americans have spent $132,000 so far to give China a Bible in its own language, the Mandarin. And just now they are agreeing to spend $31,000 more to put the Bible into type and plates and to print and bind an edition. However, it is expected that copies will be sold to sufficient value to pay the printing bill, and it is further explained that these sums for expenditures are Mexican, which money is the standard of China at this time. It has been found by American scholars that the Chinese Mandarin is a wonderfully flexible language, capable of expressing almost every shade of meaning. More than twenty-five years has been the period of preparation, and foremost American and Chinese scholars have had part. The aim has been not only to give the Chinese people a Bible but to give them one that is pure in language and will set the standard for the republic that English translations set for the English-speaking world. This new Bible is for people who number more than a fourth of the world population.

Palestine to Have Stamps.

Palestine is the only country which has no postage stamp of its own. But representatives of the Zionist government have informed London philatelists that this anomaly promises soon to be rectified, for, with the establishment of Palestine as the national home of the Jewish nation, it is believed little time will be lost in emulating the examples of other small nations called into being by mandates of the peace conference by the issuance of distinctive stamps. Stamps sold by British army post offices in adjacent former enemy territory are being utilized by overprinting with the word "Palestine."

NEED OF FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Business Man Tells How In His Opinion America May Control Trade Markets.

By JACK LAWTON.

(© 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

"If the United States expects to obtain its share of the world's commerce," a New York broker was overheard to say, "it must keep pace with other world powers with which it has to compete. Trained men are necessary in any line of business and foreign commerce is one line in which training is absolutely essential."

"I believe that the United States merchant marine is again to come into its own," continues the same broker in the Washington Post, "but the finest lot of merchandise on earth, coupled with the greatest fleet of merchant vessels ever known, is of no avail unless backed up by the selling ability and understanding of trained men who know how to place American goods in foreign markets."

"All the large mercantile firms are taking steps to train men specially for each country in which they expect to do business. The prospective salesman or manager for any particular country is educated in the language, history, traditions and peculiarities of that country, so that he can in a sense meet the people on their own ground. He knows just what to do under given conditions and is of vast value to the firm that employs him."

Dora looked up from her French. "So we are strangers," she said. "Shall we send for the mayor or our city to present us, or settle down resigned in our ignored state?"

"I am going to astonish this exacting village with my commendable relations," Beatrix precisely answered. "Adopt—say an uncle and aunt of repute and send to them lovely intimate post cards—via Miss Callie. Who shall the receiver be? I'll add a line to the effect that 'uncle' need not reply to my postal messages."

"Stop raving," Dora interrupted. "We've thought out your man—your uncle, I mean. As we are not sisters he can't be my uncle, too." Don't you remember the name Henri Smith on that big lumber factory over in Gaston? Some one said that Henri Smith was a millionaire, owned most of the town. Smith's a good universal name. How would you like an Uncle Henri?"

"Fine!" agreed Beatrix.

Merrily she ran for some village view cards, and with a giggling observer, inscribed her first postal.

"Dear Uncle Henri," it read, "Dora and I are having a quiet time in Wellsburg, hope to go over to see you soon. Your loving niece —."

Beatrix hesitated.

"Just sign Trix," Dora suggested. "No one has ever called you Trix."

The card was not returned. Neither was a second, which told Uncle Henri how the girls had enjoyed his short visit with them at "Rose Lodge." Love to Aunt Elna was added to this communication. The girls congratulated themselves over the naming of the imaginary aunt.

"Might be her family pet name," Beatrix said.

Miss Callie was certainly interested. Moreover, certain heretofore distant young Wellstown women smiled and bowed to the strangers in passing. The postals had done the work. A niece of the great lumber manufacturer was worth cultivating.

"Reckon," Miss Callie said soundingly, as she handed over a square white envelope, "that's an invitation for you to the usual midsummer celebration at Green Acres, your Uncle Henri's place. We always read in the paper of the famous garden party he gives each year."

All at once Beatrix was possessed of an uncomfortably guilty feeling. The letter that Dora had merrily mailed from Gaston during her shopping trip of the day before, might seem opportune, but the joke was going a little too far. It was weighing heavily on the girl's conscience. She wished desperately that the prank had never started. It must stop now and with some explanation. But what could the honest explanation be? A man was waiting on the steps of Rose Lodge when she returned, a youngish kindly-faced man with a quizzical smile.

"Miss Fairfax?" he inquired. Beatrix wonderingly nodded.

"I am Henri Smith of Gaston," the man appallingly announced. "I have received several communications from a certain Miss 'Trix' of Wellstown. As I spell my name Henri, to distinguish it from the other Henry Smiths, I could not think the address mistaken. Yet I have no niece. So upon driving through your village today I asked your postmistress experimentally, if she could direct me to the niece of a certain Henri Smith. Directly she sent me here. I'll confess," the man added frankly, "that I was curious concerning the solution of the small mystery."

And then—the overburdened conscience of Beatrix found its relief. Honestly she made confession.

"You cannot think more contemptuously of it all than I do myself," she ended. But Mr. Henri Smith was really a great man. Great enough to understand the humor of the circumstance and to sympathize in its humiliating outcome. So he sank back in the rocker on the flower bordered porch, waiting to meet, he smilingly said, "his niece's friend." It was after he had returned to Gaston that a second square envelope came with a genuine invitation to the two girls for the famous garden party at Green Acres. The invitation began informally "Dear Trix," and was signed "Your Uncle Henri."

Below in small letters was written:

"There is no Aunt Elna—I'm an eligible bachelorette."

And the rest of this romance you may figure out for yourself.

Borrowed Plumage

By ALDEN CHAPMAN

(© 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

In serious family council Joel Talbot, his wife and the daughter of the house, Ruth, discussed the important subject of the marriage of the son and brother, Waldron, for two years manager of a small wholesale mercantile house in the city.

"Miss Arline Burt," spoke Joel Talbot—"a pretty name."

"And pretty herself," volunteered Ruth spontaneously. "Have you seen her pictures, father?"

"I am about to show them to you," interrupted Mrs. Talbot with a certain severity.

"That is a question," remarked Mrs. Talbot rather snappishly. "I am not the woman to criticize or interfere in my son's private affairs, but I am bound to think of his welfare."

"Why, what are you talking about, Martha?" interrogated her husband in vague surprise.

"If you have eyes, can't you see for yourself?" challenged Mrs. Talbot. "Those four pictures tell the tale, don't they?"

"I think she is the most charmingly dressed being I ever looked upon," said Ruth.

"Why, yes," nodded Mr. Talbot approvingly.

"Oh! you do?" flared forth the wife and mother. "And let me ask, have you considered what those clothes must cost? Why, the girl simply has the latest and costliest gowns that Paris can make."

"Well, even so," suggested the tolerant Mr. Talbot, "she's fitted out for a whole year, isn't she?"

"Yes, and oh! how I would like to see those lovely dresses," cried Ruth.

Mrs. Talbot was for writing at once to Waldron, exhorting him to think twice before he took to himself a ruinously extravagant wife. There her husband set his foot down hard. It was not their province to interfere in the heart affairs of Waldron. Perhaps he was wedding an heiress who could afford to wear what she liked.

But this idea Mrs. Talbot scouted utterly by alluding to a letter written in the past by Waldron, in which he had stated that his fiancee was poor, worked for her living, but was good as gold, and would make him a helpful, economical wife.

"Economical
