THE MOST IMPORTANT PARTS OF THE NEW CONSTITUTION

By J. G. W. Lewis.
Perhaps the most important parts of the new constitution are the most likely to be overlooked. According to some of our best authorities, they are the provisions which have to do with changing the constitution and laws in the future, and the provision known as "the schedule".

When we double the electorate in the state by giving the women the right to vote, the percentages formerly required for initiative and referendum petitions seem much too high. In fact they have been considerably higher than in most other states. To require the same percentages with the increased number of voters would make the initiative and referendum nearly unworkable because of the increased thousands of names required. The new provision reduces the percentages moderately.

But most important of all is the change relative to amendments proposed by the legislature. Formerly to carry such amendments, it required a majority of all votes cast at the election. Those who did not vote on an amendment at all were therefore practically against the change because the affirmative vote must overcome the indifferent votes as well as the opposition.

The new provision will make as a test the majority of votes cast on the particular proposition. That is, the question will be determined by a majority of those who are interested enough to vote one way or the other on the matter, provided however, the affirmative vote is at least 35% of the total.

A number of the best proposed amendments to the constitution in the past, have been defeated under the old provision. For example, the one requiring an alien to become a citizen before voting, was defeated once for lack of interest. In fact, it was scarcely possible to amend the constitution in the old way without resorting to legislative trickery.

The schedule is a sort of bridge between the old constitution and the new and is embraced in the last two proposals, 40 and 41. The schedule fixes salaries temporarily and indicates how the new provisions shall take effect. To fail to adopt it would be a vital mistake.

AUTOMOBILE WRECKS

Saturday evening a car driven by Ed. Brockman and carrying several of the Brockman family and Lawrence Victor took to the ditch when attempting to pass another car struck a culvert and wrecked the load. Victor was having a broken collar bone set; Clarence Brockman was but slightly injured, Harry was unconscious for a day from a bump on the head, Amanda had a collar bone, and a wrist broken and a cut, and Emil had a broken arm and his face badly cut. The car was badly wrecked. Go slow.

Mrs. Wm. Woehler and family, with the son driving ran into the buggy of Mrs. N. B. Frank south of Wayne and wrecked the buggy and fractured a hip for that lady, and Mrs. Woehler in the car was badly bruised, and had a hand hurt so that she lost one finger. All were cared for at the Wayne hospital except one who went to his family physician.

A. G. Adams wrecked a couple of tires Saturday evening by running into the manhole lid at 7th and Main street, in dodging a car running without lights on the wrong side of the street. If the fellow is honorable he will get new tires.

FAIR WEEK AT WAYNE

Next week is to be fair week in this little city, and the attractions are sure to make congested traffic on all our streets, and in the light of the experiences of Saturday and Sunday accidents, it would be well for each and every one driving a car to observe the utmost caution in every act. It might be desirable to be at a given point early, when you have started late, but it is poor policy to try to make up time by exceeding the legal speed limit, or trying to pass the car ahead of you, if it be traveling at a reasonable pace.

FIRE AT POWER HOUSE

Monday evening the firemen were called out about nine o'clock, to extinguish a blaze developing in the west end of the coal shed, where the stored coal had started a fire by spontaneous combustion. The damage was slight. The shed was saved with but little loss; but the coal continued to smoulder for some time. In fact such a fire is really hard to subdue, and sometimes where the coal cannot be moved, smoulder for weeks.

SHOWING THE FARMERS

At the Fordson tractor demonstration Thursday and Friday at the McIntosh farm just north of Wayne there was a good attendance of farmers, which would have been much greater had it not rained the second day of the event, causing some to remain away under the impression that the weather would stop the exhibit. Mr. Edholm, of this place, who with the Fordson distributors, of Crofton, Allen, Wausa, Hartington, Ponca, Emerson, Bloomfield, Homer and Laurel, arranged for the demonstration, tells us that it was indeed a convincing exhibit, for they simply showed the tractors and the line of farm machinery which is made to be used with the Fordson or other tractors. They threshed, baled hay, cut ensilage, run feed grinders, plowed, listed, drilled grain, harrowed, used cutbackers and loaded manure on the Lessman loader, showing how quickly and easily the tractor could be changed from one work to another. Of course in addition to this they showed that the Fordson could be used in mowing and cutting grain, as well as be used to haul farm products to market by trailing two or more wagons, one tractor and one man moving more grain to market in less time than three men and three teams could handle in the same time.

It was their purpose to show the farmers that it is economy to do their farm work with the aid of a Fordson—that such a machine will cost less than the purchase price of horses enough to do the same work—that it does better work in most instances, saves the wage of one or two men, and makes far better time. Time is an important thing when there is a season such as this was for instance. Weather made a late start necessary—and weather interrupted the work frequently, making it vital to the farmer to do double or triple the work with the same man-power in a day that he could have done with a team. The great drawback to farming in other years has been lack of power to make a perfect seedbed and seed it in the short time permitted many seasons. Any grain should be put into the soil when a good seedbed has been prepared, and at the proper time, when all conditions are favorable, and when one may accomplish as much in a day as could be handled without a tractor in three days. Beyond a doubt a number of people learned some new methods of farming that will prove of value to them.

TO ADDRESS WOMAN'S CLUB ON CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

The meeting of the Woman's Club Saturday at the Opera House will be of interest to men as well as women. Professor Lewis will talk on the Constitutional Amendments and the men are invited to attend too. The changing of the fundamental law of our state is probably the most important matter that the men and women of this generation will ever vote upon in Nebraska, so let there be a good attendance of both men and women at the meeting, Saturday, September 11th at 3:00 p. m.

ATTENTION!—WOMEN!

The Wayne League of Women Voters will meet at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock, Friday evening in the basement of the Library. All women are invited to attend. The Amendments will be further discussed and studied.

NOTICE

The annual meeting of the Greenwood Cemetery Association will be held at the office of A. R. Davis at 10 a. m., Wednesday, September 22nd, 1920. C. A. Chace, President. M. S. Davies, Secretary.

OPENING BATTLE OF 1920 POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

The announcement that Hon. Carl D. Thompson, of Chicago, secretary of the Public Ownership League of America, was to speak at Wayne opera house Friday evening brought out a protest from some citizens who asked the ladies in charge of the renting of their opera house to cancel their lease for the meeting. The same committee also notified F. L. Bollen, who had been arranging for the meeting and advertising it, that they could not permit such a meeting to be held at Wayne. Mr. Bollen tells that he offered to release the ladies from their agreement; but that upon consideration they decided to not recall the lease for the evening, so the meeting was held.

The announced speaker of the evening drove in from a picnic in the west part of the county, where he had spoken that afternoon, and was accompanied by Mrs. Marie Weekes, of Norfolk, nominee of the Farmer-Labor party for congress from this district, and also by Otto Ulrich the republican nominee for the state senate from this district of Wayne, Pierce and Clumby counties, and a band of about eight members from West Point, who had been engaged for the picnic and retained for the evening meeting here.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Brittain, a member of the Woman's Club from whom the use of the building was obtained. There was an attendance of a hundred or more, we would judge, and quite a number of women were in the audience, their first attendance at a political meeting since they were granted the franchise. Otto Ulrich was asked first to speak, but he was not listed as one of the speakers, and it was not known that he was to be here, so far as we know. He was given a respectful hearing, except some slight disturbance, and spoke briefly of the legislation which the farmers had tried in vain to secure. At the close of his talk Mrs. Weekes was introduced by the presiding officer, and started a little talk, congratulating the people of our city upon some of its many good features. Then the lights began to flicker, and turn red, and as that has happened before while paving is under way and a change from one system to another is being made, most of the people thought this incidental to some such cause. But they did not come back, and Mrs. Weekes soon gave way to Mr. Thompson, who proceeded to tell of the aims of the great progressive independent movement under way in this country. Meantime the lights continued to bother, and finally went out entirely, leaving the room in darkness except as here and there in the audience was a smoker who had a supply of matches which were lighted and held until burned out. Mr. Thompson kept right on with his talk, and finished in a splendid appeal for the true spirit of democracy to prevail in America, though there was more or less disorder and disturbance during his talk—some going from the room with a noisy demonstration which did no credit to their respect for any who wished to remain and hear the talk to the end.

As the speakers were leaving Wayne a few eggs were thrown from some place at Mr. Ulrich and those in the car with him, one egg striking him, we are told.

The writer does not know who created the disturbance, cut off the lights or threw the eggs, and we should hate to accuse any of our citizens of such action; nor is it necessary for us to read any lectures; for it is assumed that the work was done by those old enough to at least think they knew what they wished to do, and try to do it.

The protest against the meeting being held here was made in the name of the American Legion, or at least some of the members of that organization. People having the facts of the case as near as we can learn them may be free to draw their own conclusions as to whether or not the action is a credit to the good name of our little city.

To us it smacks of intolerance, which does not belong to America—an intolerance of the views and the right to express them in a lawful manner because they may not be in harmony with the views of those who would not listen to anything which does not line up to their conception of Americanism.

The campaign is yet young, and it promises to be intensive this fall. It is very possible that many political meetings will be held at Wayne by all parties. The Farmer-Labor ticket may have other speakers here, the real nonpartisan league is quite apt to have speakers at Wayne, as they

DISCOVER AND RECOVER PART OF AHERN GOODS

Last week a box containing some remnants and a few pieces of wash goods and several old-style skirts was found in the weeds back of a bill board in Sioux City, which J. J. Ahern identified as a part of the goods taken from his store about two weeks before. This find consisted of the undesirable part of the goods taken, but no part of the really desirable and costly goods were with this lot, and Mr. Ahern still stands a loss of fully $1,500 in desirable goods. This find simply indicates that it is possible and probable that in Sioux City is a place where the gang may dispose of their loot. The police of Sioux City and their sleuths should get busy and unearth the thieves and their "fence".

Mr. Ahern tells us that it is not possible to secure insurance on goods in places the size of Wayne, so the one robbed must stand the entire loss. That a gang or gangs are operating in this business is plainly shown by the number of such robberies made. Five stores in this vicinity have been burglarized within the past three weeks, Concord, Osmond, Hader, Wisner and Pierce. It may require a vigilance committee and a few hangings to break the gang.

FRY-HUTCHINS

At Winside, Tuesday, September 7th, 1920, occurred the marriage of Miss Clara Fry, daughter of Clint Fry, and Rev. J. A. Hutchins, pastor of the Methodist church of that place, Rev. Sala, of Carroll, officiating.

The bride and groom departed soon after the ceremony for Omaha to attend the annual conference.

The bride is known as a most worthy young woman, one who has been tried and proven efficient as a housekeeper and in business circles, having had the cares of her father's home since a mere child, and later being an able assistant at the postoffice. Many will wish her well.

GRANQUIST-GAMBLE

Mr. E. Granquist announces the marriage of her daughter, Anne, to Mr. R. Lyle Gamble, at Winside, Wednesday, September 7th, 1920.

The bride and groom both grew up in this community, and a host of friends will join in wishing them all of happiness that there is in life. The groom is a son of Mrs. Wm. Gamble, and is a prosperous farmer. The bride is a graduate of the Wayne school and the Normal and has been a successful teacher since graduating. They left for the west on a wedding trip, and will be at home on the farm south of Wayne after October 1st.

OFF TO THE WAR AGAIN

Lt. R. G. Hunter (Dick) who won that title in service during the war, leaves today to again enter service. He made application several weeks ago, and was called for examination which he successfully passed, and is under orders to report at Fort Omaha today for duty. He receives a commission as 1st lieutenant in Field Artillery, but does not yet know where he will be sent from Omaha. Dick has a host of friends who wish him well, and are glad that he is not called to service because of real war.

ANNUAL MEETING CHAUTAUQUA STOCKHOLDERS

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wayne Chautauqua Association is to be held at the office of J. H. Kemp at 8 o'clock Monday evening, September 13th, and it is desired that as many as possible be present and take a part in the arrangement for the next season.

The Women's Bible Study Circle enjoyed a very happy afternoon Tuesday in regular session, at the home of Mrs. C. A. Grothe. The occasion being a welcome home for her mother, Mrs. C. A. Dean. After the inspiring Sunday school lesson, many requests for prayer were definitely remembered.

County Superintendent, Pearl E. Sewell, was at Lincoln the first of the week escorting two Wayne county lads who had earned a trip to the fair by their school and club work. Charles Jirnek, from South of Wayne, and Arthur Anderson, from near Hoskins, were the lads. They are to return Sunday.

Eastern Star meets Monday evening.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Superintendent Armstrong reports that all is starting nicely for the coming school year. Teachers are all elected and all but two here and at work. Owing to some resignations coming late, Miss Esther McEachen and Mrs. Armstrong are substituting in the 5th and 6th grades. The first day enrollment totaled 405, and divides as follows: Kindergarten, 28; First grade, 29; Second grade, 25; Third grade, 33; Fourth grade, 41; Fifth grade, 42; Sixth grade, 38; Seventh grade, 43; Eighth grade and high school, 126.

A number have since enrolled, and will continue to come in for several days. The enrollment of the Wayne public school is considerably less than one would expect from the size of the town, but the training school department of the college, which carries all grade and high school work, claims a large number who otherwise would be at the city school, making a difference of perhaps 150 pupils.

One of the school activities is receiving prompt attention, and a football team is being formed and getting to work to see who is best fitted for a place in the line up of the eleven.

SOCIAL NOTES

The firm of Coryell & Brock and their employees and families, twenty-five in all, enjoyed labor day in a pleasant manner. Five cars drove to Homewood Lake and park at Wynot and spent the day boating and eating picnic dinner and supper. Those who went were: Mr. and Mrs. Coryell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Brock and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Wright and family, Mr. and Mrs. Green and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wright and family, Mr. and Mrs. Groskurth, Bill Thompson, F. Henryhan and Miss Mildred Waller. Mr. Coryell tells us that this is their first annual picnic, but that they hope to have one equally as pleasant next labor day. Their show was closed for the entire day, while they had an outing that will make them all the better prepared for their work for the next few months. Out in the places like Wayne, and most of the smaller places where there is no organized labor societies, labor day is emphasized by working—making it truly a labor day.

W. C. T. U. met last Friday afternoon with Mrs. Ed. Ellis, Mrs. Brittain led devotionals, Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer was appointed treasurer. The members decided to serve a ten cent lunch at each meeting, the hostesses assisted by two members serve the lunch. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Boyce, who assisted by Mrs. P. J. Barnes and Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer, will serve apple pie and coffee, after the following program: Mrs. Crocker will lead devotionals. Mrs. Lutgen will read a paper on child welfare. Members will respond to roll call by giving hints on preserving and canning. Each member is requested to bring a new member, and to invite any one who is interested in the work.

A very sociable crowd of about twenty-five young folks gathered at the home of Miss Essie Boyce, Saturday evening, for the purpose of celebrating her seventeenth birthday anniversary. Many interesting games were enjoyed, the well lighted lawn. At a late hour Mrs. J. D. Boyce, assisted by Mrs. Glen Foltz, served delicious refreshments. The guests then departed for home at a late hour, wishing Miss Essie many more happy birthdays and congratulations were rendered her for being a royal entertainer. Miss Boyce received many beautiful gifts. Out of town guests were: Willard Brink and Miss Gladys Brink, of Emerson.

The Sorosis Club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. P. J. Barnes. The program for the new year was discussed and the following officers were elected: Mrs. Anna Gildersleeve, president; Mrs. Grace Keyser, vice-president; Mrs. Willis Noakes, secretary; Mrs. J. A. Gurnon, treasurer. Mrs. Chas. Heikes was elected a new member. Hostess served delicious refreshments. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Coryell.

The Helping Hand held their last meeting with Mrs. Elwin Jones. Mrs. Ed. Grier was social leader. The early part of the afternoon was spent in sewing on a quilt for the Christian Orphans Home. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing games. Splendid refreshments were served. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Harry Lessman. Mrs. John Grier will be social leader.

The Alpha Women's Club met Tuesday with Mrs. Frank Whitney. Mrs. Claud Wright led the lesson, which was the new Amendment to the State Constitution. Mrs. Ed. Samuelson resigned her position as president, Mrs. L. B. Young was elected to fill the vacancy. Hostess served excellent refreshments. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Claud Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Boyce entertained at a chicken dinner Sunday, for a number of friends. Covers were laid for the following: Misses Essie Boyce, Gladys Brink, Viola Bastian and Irtle Morton, Messrs Willard Brink, Burman Winslow and Collier Boyce.

A business meeting of the Girls Bible Study Circle is called for Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. E. B. Young, to arrange for the year's work.

The ladies of the Baptist church meet this afternoon with Mrs. Sprague. The time will be spent in sewing for their bazaar.

The D. A. R. will meet with Mrs. C. A. Orr Saturday. A covered dish luncheon will be served.

The Central Social Circle meets today with Mrs. John Paulsen.

HOW PRICES HAVE ADVANCED IN ONE THOUSAND YEARS

An eastern exchange that is noted for digging up ancient history has been at work looking into the question of the rise of prices and finds that they are not of recent origin—tho the past few years they have gone up by leaps and bounds. From its findings The Laurel Advocate gleaned the following:

The advance in prices since 1911 has so vital a bearing upon the lives of every individual that many have come to believe that such periods of inflation are merely common in history. On the contrary prices have been advancing for 1000 years. Prices as revealed in the old English chronicles would make the modern housewife sigh as at a fairy tale yet the economic conditions of those days were infinitely worse than at present. In the middle of the 13th century eggs were 2 cents a dozen, a goose cost 6 cents and a hen 2 cents, squabs were 6 cents a dozen, butter 2 cents a pound. Milk sold for 2 cents a gallon and cheese for 1 cent a pound. By the 16th century prices for horses and oxen had risen 300 per cent, agricultural machinery had doubled in price, butter had gone to 6 cents a pound, beef and pork to 1 cent a pound and sugar to 27 cents a pound.

In the 18th century chickens had advanced to 31 cents each, butter to 12 cents a pound, cheese to 5 cents a pound, milk to 1 cent a pint and meat to 8 cents a pound. A Cambridge student records that in 1626 he paid $1.91 for two pairs of shoes and repairs. Charlotte Bronte, the writer in 1849 wrote to a friend: "I inclose five pound note ($25) and will thank you to buy a patent shower bath and such a box and cuffs as you can get for the money. "She received the furs safely and liked the SABLES very much," and asks the friend to buy herself a present with the change.

In spite of the prices, however, it was just as hard to get the where-withal to buy the articles as at present for the incomes were equally small. From 1200 to 1300 A. D., the average wage for unskilled labor was 8 cents a day. In fact, in 1347 wages had dropped to 2 cents a day for a long day's work, but after the great plague of the Black Death they advanced to 5 cents a day continuing to advance until they reached 50 cents a day in 1800.

The one thing which has remained constant has been the advantages of thrift and saving. The unskilled laborer at 8 cents a day was ahead of the game if he saved but a half a cent a week just as the unskilled laborer who received $5 a day now is behind the game if he spends more than he earns. Advances in prices of meats from one-half cent a pound to one cent were just as hard to meet then as similar advances in price now. It was met best then by thrift and saving and no improvement of that method has been conceived of that last 1,000 years.

BULLETIN TELLS ABOUT SILAGE MAKING

Silos on Nebraska farms are growing in number every year. Silage is the best and cheapest form in which to store succulent feed. Many forage crops can be made into silage, but corn makes the best silage. Silage is well suited for feeding all kinds of livestock. Dairy cows need it perhaps more than other classes of animals, because the succulence it supplies is necessary for large milk production. It is a cheap and economical feed for beef cattle, from breeding cow to fattening steer. Sheep like it and it is well suited to their needs. Even horses and mules may be fed a limited quantity with good results. Good silage depends upon cutting the crop at the right stage, fine cutting, even distribution, thorough packing, and plenty of moisture in the cut material, says United States Department of Agriculture farmers' bulletin 578, "The Making and Feeding of Silage," which may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture at Lincoln. This bulletin makes many suggestions regarding silage making and feeding that will be of interest to every farmer who feeds silage.

MEXICAN RELATIONS IMPROVING

Cultivation of friendly relations and creation of confidence that Mexico is anxious and capable of fulfilling her obligations is the government's policy in international affairs, said Provisional President dela Huerta in his message to congress today.

He gave as examples of the relations between Mexico and the United States mutual extradition proceedings carried on by the two countries and compliance by the United States with the Mexican request that airplane flights over Mexican territory be forbidden.

"Despite difficulties," the message added, "the government's efforts to protect the lives and interests of foreigners have produced good results."

Brief mention was made of petroleum legislation, it being stated that a bill had been prepared for the purpose of developing article twenty-seven of the constitution, which nationalizes petroleum deposits.

A LESSON FOR WAYNE

The following from the Randolph Times should be heeded now by Wayne, for we will soon be in position to need the remedies suggested here:

"During the heavy rainfall last Saturday afternoon it was very thoroughly demonstrated that the paved section of Randolph should be kept clean and that waste paper, pop corn boxes, sticks, and trash of various kinds should not be thrown promiscuously into the gutters and on the street.

During Saturday's rain the gutters were flooded with water and quantities of trash washed off the street all but clogged the openings into the storm sewers. At the Security bank corner and also at the Obert & Walz corner a half bushel of stuff was found clinging to the bars of the storm sewer opening and greatly retarding the free passage of the rush of water. A plank was among the things floated down the current in the gutters.

It seems to us that if receptacles were placed on prominent corners and orders issued that waste paper and other trash be placed therein that it would aid in keeping the streets clear of this sort of thing. The success of the plan would depend upon the people themselves, of course, and if each person would use a little care the cans would collect quantities of stuff that is now thrown into the gutters."

THE MODERN PIRATES

"A den of thieves in the wheat pit. I mean just that. No more infamous piracy has been attempted or perpetrated on this much victimized nation than the present bear raid in the Chicago grain pit. Its purpose is to rob the American farmer of every hard-earned cent of profit there may be in his wheat crop, for 1920, even to the point of penalizing him with a heavy loss for growing it. And once the crop is out of his hands, to run the price up and make the world's consumers pay these gamblers the highest price ever exacted for wheat since the Civil War.

The world needs every bushel of this wheat. There is no glut in the world supply. Dr. A. E. Taylor, leading authority on food conditions, says Europe will need 15 million tons of breadstuffs this year from the outside. There is no economic reason for a great slump in prices. It simply is a grain-gambler conspiracy to bilk the people and the grain growers out of several hundred millions of dollars, and its success depends solely on how long the gamblers can prolong the raid and manipulate the market."

The above utterances from the pen of Senator Capper, a republican sent to represent our sister state, would do credit to some of the alleged anarchistic utterances of those who would attempt to eliminate this "den" by non-partisan action. We wonder whether or not the senator is doing more than breath such truths as the above. He should follow his sentiments with official action. He is a man in position to have much influence in properly suppressing robbery, once he is convinced it is being openly and brazenly done. He should be ashamed to have a seat with a law-making body and not make constant effort to have such a crime suppressed, and the criminals sent to prison. It is so much easier to talk than to act.

SALVATION ARMY WORK

Omaha, September 7th.—A convention of the members of the county advisory boards representing the Salvation Army in seventy-seven counties of the state, has been called by Judge A. L. Many speakers of national repute are scheduled to address the gathering during the all-day session, which will be held at the Fontenelle Hotel, while on September 17th, a tour of inspection will be made through the rescue and maternity home and other institutions conducted by the Salvation Army having statewide scope. Wayne county has a board and should be represented.

Review.

forget that Harding was the man who "declared that when the progressives come back into the republican party they will have to come on their knees."

"Governor Cox," declares Ickes, "is in distinct contrast to Senator Harding. As chief executive of Ohio he has a fine record of affirmative character along progressive and administrative lines. Governor Cox seeks to make issues clear, not to confuse them. He is not afraid to let the people know where he stands. He believes there are such things as political principles."

Thus the one-time Roosevelt progressive steps into line with the democratic nominee, but not without this shot at Harding.

"He is not even satisfied to stand pat. He proclaims himself a reactionary."—Omaha News.

DIRECTIONS FOR TEACHERS.
(From Wayne County Teacher)
County Superintendent's Visits:
When the county superintendent visits your school go right on with your regular work as you have it planned. Do not worry if the children make mistakes but proceed to show how you would correct their errors and shortcomings. The county superintendent will want to inspect your register, plan book, daily program, and institute note book. Keep a list of things you want to ask about.

Encouragement: Do not be surprised or discouraged if the pupils seem to have forgotten much during vacation. Do your best every day with every lesson and before you know it they will be doing all you can expect of them. If you succeed in teaching a few facts well each day they are certain to make progress. Watch well the beginnings and the results will take care of themselves.

Importance of School Work. Let the school work be the most important thing from Monday morning until Friday night. The teacher who has no planning to do outside of school hours, who "runs about" on school nights instead of getting needed rest in order to be fresh and strong for the next day's work, is the worst obstacle in school progress.

LIVESTOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Best Cattle Stronger, $17.35;
Common Grades Lower

HOGS SELL 10-15c HIGHER

Not Much Change This Week in Sheep and Lambs—Fat Stock Slow—Feeder Trade Active.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Neb., Sept. 8, 1920. Cattle receipts, both Monday and Tuesday, were fairly liberal, 20,000 head for the two days, and the general trade active and strong for desirable offerings, but slow and lower on the common grass cattle. Choice corn-fed beefs brought $17.35 Tuesday, the high price of the season.

Quotations on cattle: Choice to prime beefs, $16.00@17.35; good to choice beefs, $15.00@16.00; fair to good beefs, $13.00@15.00; common to fair beefs, $11.50@13.00; choice to prime yearlings, $16.00@17.00; good to choice yearlings, $15.00@16.00; fair to good yearlings, $12.00@15.00; common to fair yearlings, $8.00@12.00; prime heavy grass beefs, $12.50@14.50; good to choice grass beefs, $10.00@12.00; fair to good grass beefs, $8.50@10.00; common to fair grass beefs, $7.50@9.00; choice to prime grass cows, $8.50@9.50; good to choice grass cows, $7.00@8.50; fair to good grass cows, $5.50@7.00; cutters, $4.75@5.50; canners, $4.00@4.50; veal calves, $8.00@12.00; beef and butcher bulls, $7.50@11.00; hogs, na bulls, $5.50@7.00; choice to prime feeders, $11.25@12.00; good to choice feeders, $10.00@11.25; medium to good feeders, $8.50@10.00; common to fair feeders, $6.50@8.25; good to choice stockers, $9.25@10.00; fair to good stockers, $8.00@9.25; common to fair stockers, $5.50@8.00; stock heifers, $5.50@7.50; stock cows, $5.00@6.75; stock calves, $5.50@9.00.

Hogs Close a Shade Weaker.
With about 6,000 hogs here Tuesday the market opened 10@15c higher, but closed with part of the advance lost. Tops brought $15.50 and bulk of the trading was at $14.40@14.85; not much different from a week ago.

Sheep and Lambs About Steady.
The two days' receipts of sheep and lambs amounted to about 60,000 head, and while the market showed little change on fat stock there was a better demand for feeder grades and prices were sharply higher for anything of this kind.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Fat range lambs, $12.25@13.95; feeding lambs, $11.50@13.25; cull lambs, $8.00@10.50; yearlings, $8.00@9.75; feeding yearlings, $7.75@8.75; wethers, $7.00@7.75; ewes, $5.50@7.10; feeding ewes, $4.25@6.00; ewes, culls and canners, $2.00@3.50.

Home cannot be given us. We may be given a home in place to eat and sleep. This is not a home, says the Western Methodist. A home is a place of love and rest and peace. Love and rest and peace cannot be deserved, must be earned. Nobody can hand them to you as so many packages. They are matters of reciprocity. If you have none to give there will be but little for you to receive.

WHERE THEY STAND
Ever since the nomination of Warren Harding, the probable stand of the Roosevelt progressives has been a much-mooted topic. There was Raymond Robins offering his support to Harding, and Hiram Johnson making feeble motions as if he had a mind to stand by (or was it, "for?") the republican nominee.

But still considerable doubt was expressed as to where the rank and file of those who marched with Teddy will march this coming November.

Harold L. Ickes now sets forth what may be the answer. Ickes is a republican; was a delegate-at-large from Illinois to the G. O. P. national convention, and four years ago was one of the specially Hughes campaign committee. Before then he was a republican-progressive, a conspicuous figure in the progressive party of 1912, and one of those who helped T. R. swing the progressive party into Hughes' handwagon.

"How can a progressive who was privileged to march ahead under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt," asks Ickes in a statement just issued, "now be content to stumble along in the dark behind the banner of the man who called Theodore Roosevelt the Aaron Burr of the republican party?"

Ickes thinks few progressives will

J. W. Johnson says that Governor Cox is pursuing the policies of an auctioneer in endeavoring to sell himself to the people of the United States. Well, he has not yet been accused of trying to buy the presidency; nor was he charged with attempting to purchase the nomination with a million dollar slush fund.

J. C. McGowan, republican nominee for state senate in the counties of Madison, Stanton and Clifflax has been endorsed by the farmer-labor people, and at a political meeting last week, and stressed the need of legislation beneficial to producer and consumer—but he seemed to think the middlemen were a law unto themselves.

Some of those who thought that Teddy was not too direct when he called men liars are now thinking that Candidate Cox is going too far in plainly saying that Chairman Hays has falsified. Perhaps—and again, perhaps people want to have a man with convictions and not afraid to express them in a language which can be understood.

Hon. Ellhu Root, who has been over the water to aid others in the drafting of laws for a world court, seems to have discovered that the United States must be wholly in or entirely out of the league and the court. That the two are so interwoven as to be absolutely inseparable. Perhaps President Wilson was not so far wrong as some have tried to make it appear. Mr. Root is quoted as saying that to separate the two would leave untouched a vast number of causes of war which are not within the domain of jurists or legal bodies created by the world court. This will give excuse or make it necessary for Candidate Harding to revise his speech regarding a separate peace. The Court which the senators are trying to substitute for the league, owes its origin to the league, and could not function without the league treaty. Says one well versed writer who is charitable to the erring there has been an "utter misunderstanding of this relationship." None are so blind as those who will not see.

THE GAME OF GOLF

(The Kearney Hub)

Time was, not very long ago, when golf was looked upon by people generally as a "fad," a sport for aristocrats, and a pastime for doddering old men who could not find anything else to do. But that is not the view any longer. A few there may be who look with pity on a person loaded with golf bag and clubs, but the general outlook has become quite tolerant and a man may now parade in "knickerbockers" or a woman in a loud plaid skirt without becoming objects of contempt.

The first golf organizations in the country were located in the larger cities and were confined to the select few, but gradually the circle has been widening, taking in the middle class and smaller cities, and finally reaching out to the big towns and then the small villages. One of the average sized towns of Nebraska has a club with nearly two hundred members, all of whom play, and that town can boast of more good health than any other place in the state. In another still smaller town the village owns the course and it is kept up by the village government. This particular town had a bitter siege with flu, but the victims who have taken golf are all coming back and giving Father Time a real race for his money.

The golf links of the Kearney Country club have been in use but a few years and the club for some time made slow progress, but as the delights of the sport and its physical benefits became more apparent there began a steady increase in interest and applications for membership. The purchase of the old Tillson home, a residence almost palatial with a beautiful parking and picturesque, was a wonderful stroke of good fortune, and acquiring the grounds within the crescent of canal and lake, with its hills, and dips, and hummocks and depressions, was a miracle too good to be true. The result is a property unsurpassed for loveliness and a playground where weak men and women are becoming strong, where more marvelous cures are under way than in a sanitarium, and where reaction from business strain permits cares and troubles to roll away in a twinkling, or "while you wait."

A tournament has been in progress on the Kearney links during three days of the past week, with representatives present from other clubs in the state. Those who have watched the autumn sport of these three days has seen something freed entirely from the little vices of nearly all American sports. They have witnessed courtesy, good-fellowship, and a spirit of hospitality that is pretty difficult to find elsewhere. To be tolerated as a golfer and remain in good standing, a person must be generous, square, and what is understood by every one as a "good sport." Therefore it must be admitted that golf has its uses outside of the feature of recreation and health-building, as one of the prime humanizing agencies of our modern civilization.

FARM STANDARD MUST BE RAISED SAYS BANKER

To keep young men and women on the farms—

1. The standard of living on the farm must be made more nearly equal to that of the city.
2. Farm life must appeal to women as well as men;
3. More attention must be given to the household and the kitchen;
4. Better educational opportunities must be provided;
5. Banks in rural districts should stand ready to furnish financial assistance to their farm customers to enable them to procure the necessary adjuncts to all well regulated homes;
6. Tenants should have reasonable opportunity to acquire their own farms.

These are the main remedies suggested to prevent farm migration, by M. B. Wilborn, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, Atlanta, writing in the Nashville Banner. Gov. Wilborn says, in discussing this interesting and important problem, in which every man, woman and child in the United States is interested:

"If farm life is to be made thoroughly attractive, attention must not be given exclusively to the cultivation of the land; more of it must be given to the kitchen and the household.

"Farm life must appeal to women as well as men. In spite of the number and different character of many of the tasks, the farm women are given inadequate equipment.

"In these days, with agricultural labor so scarce, more attention must be paid to raising the standard of living on the farm, and what would give the women and girls greater comfort than a farm electric lighting system which would do away with the onerous labor of filling and trimming kerosene lamps, and relieve them of the drudgery of drawing water from the well or going back and forth from the spring with its ever tiresome burden."

F. H. Scott, who for many years worked trade in this territory, and who made his home at Emerson or Wakefield or Bloomfield during that time, jumped from the train here Wednesday morning on his way to Bloomfield to look after his farm interests there, said "Wayne is coming to her own at last," as he saw the paving crew at work. Mr. Scott now lives at Los Angeles, and is well pleased with his surroundings there—climate and opportunity to live in comfort and comparative ease. He was very quick to note the improved condition of Wayne, where he had so frequently splashed thru the mud and slush.

The Cash and Carry Market

Is proving popular with those who practice economy in their meat purchases:

The purchaser has the opportunity to see the cut they get, and be sure that it pleases.

When ordering meat remember the butter—

Gem Nut Butter

Colored Oleomargarine

Looks like butter, tastes like butter, is far better than some butter, clean, wholesome, and costs less than butter—all good reasons why you should try at least one pound.

The Central Market

N. E. RIESSEN, Proprietor

N. E. Riessen, of the central market is again on duty here, after being detained at his home town by sickness.

Ruth Ingham returned home Saturday from a visit in southern California, and is now teaching the Wayne pupils. Ralph Ingham, who is studying in Chicago, came on the same train for a short vacation with home folks. He expects to soon return to his studies.

Alvin G. Wert went to Omaha Tuesday evening with a car of fat cattle from his feed lots—and he went wondering whether or not he would bring the money home with him, what there was, or whether he would buy another bunch of feeders and try it again. He feels pretty sure of the exercise at least if he feeds out another bunch—and as to whether he get more than the work he does not feel so confident.

The home of Father Kern was invaded last week during his absence, and general havoc made with the interior, the change being so great that the Reverend gentleman upon his return home was not sure that it was the same place he departed from, but he ventured in and found some familiar objects. Some of the ladies of the church had taken advantage of his absence to make some improvements in the way of painting, paper hanging, and generally putting the place to rights. Their assistance in this line was greatly appreciated.

Mr. Blonder, of the Great Northern R. R. was here Wednesday morning on his way to Randolph and McLean. With him were two farmers, of McLean, Fred Chrisman and Percy Lewis, who had been in the New Rockford country in North Dakota, where the former had purchased a half section farm. Mr. Lewis' father has land there, and the two families will at once ship to that state, where of their own and rented lands they plan to farm 800 acres next season, and one of them said that according to present crop and crop prospects, that will mean a business of $50,000.

A friend left a couple of tomatoes at the Democrat office this week, the beefsteak by name, which weighed a pound each. One left at home because not perfect, tipped the scale at 24 ounces. We are forbidden to name the grower, for she cannot supply the demand, without advertising.

A unique entertainment was put on at the Country Club Tuesday afternoon with Mesdames Rollie Ley, W. Hiscox, A. B. Carhart, Will Hanssen and John Harrington as hostesses. The entertainment was in the form of a field meet between Bingville and Bangville. The ladies being from these places. Bingville captained by Mrs. Harry Craven and Bangville by Mrs. L. A. Fanske. After their bands were organized and yells rehearsed they were ready to meet their opponents in the conflict, which consisted of tight rope walking, 30 yard dashes, ball game, vaulting, juggling, etc. Although these contests were only a take off, the ladies entered into the spirit as the men do the real sport. Then came the "Bowery", after this a free lunch and also the hostesses had not figured that the contesting sides would see who could eat the most they carried it out to the end, the honors being equally divided and bouquets of flowers given to winners.

Mrs. Geo. Denkinger and little daughter are just home from a visit with relatives and friends at St. Croix Falls, Wisconsin. She tells that not only are the streets of that little place of less than one thousand population all paved, but that the paving extends five weeks visiting at the home of tions. But they have the gravel for making roads right at their door, while this rich soil is so devoid of sand and gravel that it must all be shipped in, and the freight cost in these times is something to be considered.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Corbit mobilized to Lincoln Tuesday to attend the state fair. They were accompanied by Mrs. Edward Perry, who stopped at Wahook to visit Mr. Perry's daughter and to help care for the husband, who is ill.

TALKING OF AVAILABLE CONGRESSMEN OR WOMEN

In commenting on a little squib in the Democrat two weeks ago relative to corporation-picked congressmen, Edgar Howard of the Columbus Telegram brings the matter home as follows:

"Look at the situation here in our own congressional district, Brother Gardner. Our member of congress, although representing a district wholly devoted to agriculture, always votes in congress against every programme which would give agriculture a square deal, and always in favor of every programme which pleases Big Business. Why does he do this? I cannot understand it, save only on the theory that he has been hypnotized. Congressman Evans is not a bad man. Indeed he is a good man, as he sees the right. But he cannot see his way clear to do the right thing for the people of his district. His line of thinking is not in harmony with the thought of the vast majority of the people of this Third district. He has the bad habit of thinking just as Harvester Trust thinks. His thoughts are always in line with the thoughts of Railroad Trust. His thinking and his acting have never been offensive to Packers' Trust.

"Why should this Third district continue to send to congress a representative who does not represent the honest sentiment of the masses of the people in this large agricultural district? Such a situation is as absurd as it would be for the white people of Nebraska to elect a black man for governor. It is time for the people of this district to get together and openly defy the orders of the political bosses. It is time to elect to congress a representative who will vote the sentiments of the district, rather than the sentiments of Big Business.

"At the present time there are three candidates in the field. One of them is the present republican congressman, who seeks re-election; another is a young lawyer who lives at Norfolk and who was selected as the democratic candidate by the Hitchcock-Wilson machine. The third candidate is running as an independent. This third candidate is a woman—a good woman, highly educated, able as a writer and as a speaker, and always with courage back of her principles and convictions. But the best argument in her favor is that she is in perfect tune with the sentiments of the vast majority of the people of this agricultural district. If we can elect her to congress the vote of our district will always be on the side of legislation which our home people want, and never on the side of legislation which Big Business wants."

COMPULSORY EDUCATION
(From Wayne County Teacher)

All parents who have children between the ages of 7 and 16 should get them into school NOW. The law requires them to attend two-thirds of the entire time school is in session. Irregularity of attendance is a violation of this law and the teachers are to report all such cases on their monthly reports. In most cases negligent parents are responsible for non-attendance and irregularity. It is necessary to send but one notice to parents or guardians who are keeping their children out of school and if the children are not sent within one week of the time the notice was received then the complaint is to be filed in the county court. The penalty now for violating the compulsory education law is a fine of not less than five ($5.00) dollars nor more than one hundred (100.00) dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed three (3) months.

THE GASLESS CAR— IS IT ALREADY HERE?

Some weeks ago we read quite a story of an Iowa man who had invented and was using a chemical for his truck which permitted him to have ample power without the use of gasoline or other expensive substitutes, and we paid little attention to the story, but here comes the second report, very similar to the first, except that it is not so lengthy, but refers to the same man and the same invention. We sincerely hope that is true, and that the inventor may find ample reward for his diligence in research. But it will be a little tough on a lot of the Sunday schools that Jawn D. has been giving a part of the money he has taken from the people, if some one shall kill the sale of gasoline as a motor power. Here is the story from the Advocate of Rockwell City, Iowa: A. J. Hunter, of Rockwell City, who recently was checking county offices at Webster City, witnessed several demonstrations of the automobile engine which A. C. Bundy, of Webster City operates without use of gasoline. The engine works on a new fuel created from air by a secret process invented by Mr. Bundy.

Mr. Hunter, although somewhat skeptical, says that the engine runs on air, as claimed by the inventor, and that it appears that Bundy has struck a gold mine. The inventor is not backward in demonstrating the device, except that he does not tell what chemicals are used to create the hydrogen gas which operates the engine.

Bundy recently made a trip to Des Moines in his car. He says that he used about 15 cents worth of the chemical to drive the eighty miles from Webster City to Des Moines.

In addition to patenting the process to develop the gas, Bundy has also patented a rotary engine which does it's best work with hydrogen gas. The engine has less parts than ordinary gas engines and, it is claimed, will develop a high horse power.

A company has been formed to finance and develop Bundy's discovery.

The announcement of the perfection of a new internal combustion engine which will develop three times as much power from a unit of oil as any device now on the market is a new gleam of hope to the tractor and automobile and shipping industries. The effectiveness of the new engine is testified to by men eminent in the industrial world. If it accomplishes everything promised it will amount to another real revolution in power production. The new engine is so near to common use, apparently to make it a real present day benefit to humanity. In this respect it is unlike the theories advanced by an eminent English physicist, Rutherford, who claims to be able to generate enormous energies by a new process of tearing apart the atoms making up ordinary matter. His theories are just beginning to receive attention in scientific circles. He holds that an enormous amount of force is required to hold matter in place. This force can be released by breaking down the atoms. Theoretically there is enough power, he holds, in a single gram of matter to drive a steamship across the Atlantic ocean. When mankind is able to secure all of the power needed by simply releasing forces now in existence we shall have a new world indeed. But at present we must depend upon coal and oil and water for our power, and the new internal combustion engine is therefore a real rainbow of promise. State Journal.

THE FOURTEEN EIGHTH GRADE SUBJECTS COMBINED

(From Wayne County Teacher)

1. Arithmetic and Bookkeeping.
2. Grammar and English Composition.

3. Geography of Nebraska, Agriculture, Review Geography of World. One third year each.
4. History and Civics.
5. Reading and Physiology.
6. Writing and Drawing.
7. Spelling and Mental Arithmetic. See list of Text Books for work of each grade, also see outline for work in book-keeping elsewhere in this paper.

The English Composition may be the composition work in the grammar. The NEW Reed and Kellogg Lessons in English, Book 2, is good, since Part I in it consists of work in grammar and Part II is composition work.

It might be a good plan to use this book in the seventh grade, letting them cover half of part I and half of Part II in that grade, then covering the last half of each part in the eighth grade.

In Civics use the outline given elsewhere in this paper, "Current Events," the Constitution in the back of the history and Turkington's "My Country." It might be well to begin the study of Civics in the seventh grade in connection with the history.

Reading and Physiology each one half year, or one subject two days of each week and the other three days. The Searson and Martin Readers are very good for eighth graders.

One might have writing three days of week and drawing two days, or have writing four days and drawing on Friday afternoons, thus having longer periods. The eight books and Teacher's Manual of Practical Drawing Modern Arts Course are very good. Spelling perhaps three days of week and Mental Arithmetic two days. Milne's Mental Arithmetic book is good.

Since there is so much to do in completing the work in the fourteen subjects in the eighth grade all pupils expecting to take the examinations at the end of the year should be in school right from the beginning of the year.

Teachers should try to see that they are in, and please see that pupils COVER the work outlined above, not stuff during the year with a lot of disconnected questions.

BOOKKEEPING FOR THE EIGHTH GRADE

The following outline in the work in bookkeeping was received from the state department last year.

(From Wayne County Teacher)

1. Bookkeeping should be carried on with arithmetic during the second half of the eighth year, correlating with interest, taxes, insurance, discount, etc.

2. All work should be simple, neat, plainly written and accurate.

3. What the pupil should know:
 1. How to write a good business letter—parts, punctuation, folding of letter. Make it clear and to the point.

2. How to keep a simple account—debts, credits, gains, losses, etc. Accounts with persons, fields, etc. Have accounts showing incomes; cash accounts, showing money received and money paid out.

3. How to write a receipt—Date, place, for what purpose, persons concerned.

4. How to fill out and endorse a blank check, draft or note.

5. How to make out lists of farm animals, grain, and machinery, giving value of each animal, grain or implement.

6. Bring to class blank forms for study. Show pupils how to fill out such blanks. Study deeds, tax receipts, insurance policies, etc.

7. How to keep records—Weather, fields, cows, eggs, etc.

8. A good elementary text in the hands of the teacher is sufficient.

I think it a good plan to do this work during December, January and February.

Hamilton's Essentials of Arithmetic, by American Book Co., Chicago, Second book, gives most of this work.

Pages you will find helpful: 82-91, 155-159, 163-167, 180-187, 240-243, 269-278. F. H. Jones has some of the arithmetics on hand.

For the work in letter writing think you will find it all in the Composition part in the last half of the book, The New Reed and Kellogg—Lessons in English, Book Two, by Charles E. Merrill Company, Chicago.

DIPLOMAS OF HONOR AND GOLD SEALS

Pupils who have received Diplomas of Honor since the last issue are: Harold Morris, of District 44; Mason King, of Carroll; Esther Doring, Ruby Hale, of District 19; Emma Dorman, of District 61; Ruby Schneider, Robert Wylie, of Winside; Ella Olsen, of District 62.

Louis Mittelstadt received a Gold Seal for an additional year's attendance.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE FOR LAST YEAR

The following pupils claim a year of perfect attendance for last year, being neither absent nor tardy during that time: Albert and Lillian Coon, Helen Rhudy, all of District 81; Lovell and Blanche Glidersleeve, of District 34; and Donald Theophilus, of Carroll, made his first year a perfect year.

Harry Rhudy, of District 81 missed one day only and that on account of sickness.

You're taking the right step when you switch to Spurs

YOU can't do better. After you've smoked through a pack of Spurs, you won't want to go back to other cigarettes. You'll find your old kind sort of flat and uninteresting, like last year's politics.

For Spur's good tobacco taste can't help but win you for keeps. There's rich, mellow Turkish, flavorful Burley and other home-grown tobaccos blended in a new way that brings out to the full the all-round goodness of this top-notch cigarette.

And Spurs top all—all ways. They're crimped. That means slow burn, smooth taste—no paste. The smart "brown-and-silver" package is three-fold to keep Spurs fresh and fragrant.

Twenty cents will prove that Spurs are your kind of cigarettes—top-notch quality at rock-bottom price. The sooner you try them the gladder you'll be.

TO PREVENT LABOR TROUBLES

Editor Democrat:—Perhaps there is no other question of more vital importance to the people of the state and the nation at large than the question of industrial welfare.

The conviction is growing that society can not afford to stand back and permit labor and capital to conduct a private warfare, while the public plays the part of innocent bystander. From being the innocent bystander with all the evils that come to such a position, it is now believed that government must step in and see that justice is done and that peace is maintained.

To this end the Nebraska Constitutional Convention adopted the following revision:

Article XIV, Section 9. (Submitted as No. 38 on ballot.)

"Laws may be enacted providing for the investigation, submission and determination of controversies between employers and employees in any business or vocation affected with a public interest and for the prevention of unfair business practices and unconscionable gains in any business or vocation affecting the public welfare. An Industrial Commission may be created for the purpose of administering such laws, and appeals shall lie to the Supreme Court from the final orders and judgments of such commissions."

Some of the friends of the laboring men are apprehensive for fear that an instrument of oppression may thus be created. No true friend of human welfare could desire such a thing; no such thing should ever be allowed to come to pass.

If some step such as is indicated in the provision must be taken and who does not feel that we have about reached the limit of strikes and labor disputes?—The people should take it with the resolution that such an institution must be one of absolute justice and impartiality.

It will be noted that publicity of fact and prevention of industrial disputes are strongly emphasized in the provision.

Along the same line of preventative measures is also the following, which constitutes another item to be voted upon by the people this fall.

Article XIV, Section 8.

Laws may be enacted regulating the hours and conditions of employment of women and children, and securing to such employees a proper minimum wage.

tion questions will be sent to you each quarter which are to be given to the pupils according to their grades. If there are questions which they cannot answer because the work has not been presented in their classes, ask them to leave out such questions. It is a good test of a pupil's ability to be able to indicate what he does not know. Be sure to give work on these questions later and try to keep up with the course of study. These questions are to be not only a test to the teacher in classifying her work and in following the course of study. The Quarterly Examination grades are the only grades that need be reported on the monthly report to the superintendent.

Attendance Certificates: When a pupil has attended twenty consecutive days without being tardy, the teacher should issue him a perfect attendance certificate. The twenty days do not necessarily need to come in the same school month. When the pupil has earned as many monthly certificates as there are months of school in the district the county superintendent will issue a Certificate of Award for the monthly slips. Three of these Certificates of Award entitle the pupil to a Diploma of Honor. Certificates from other counties will be accepted. After a Diploma has been earned, a Gold Seal will be attached to it for each additional year of perfect attendance.

Care of outbuildings: A teacher should inspect both outbuildings regularly. Eliminate all objectionable features with paint or whitewash and see to it that they are kept in a sanitary condition. Use lime and soap and water as disinfectants.

School Grounds: A teacher is judged somewhat by her surroundings and a neat and orderly school yard is a recommendation for her. A yard should not be allowed to become littered with sticks and stones and old iron. Stove ashes may be disposed of by filling the low places or by making walks.

FORDSON

TRADE MARK

Farm Tractor

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land almost to half of what it costs with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season; getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it solves the labor problem.

As ever, the machine-way is proving more efficient, faster, and easier than the old hand way. In the factory the machine increases production, saves labor—produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on the farm. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. Besides it solves the labor problem.

The Fordson's first cost is the lowest in the market; and the after or operating cost is lowest. It is a compact, easily handled tractor, backed by the greatest tractor service organization in the United States.

We are Fordson dealers. Not only do we sell Fordson tractors, but we carry a stock of Fordson parts and employ Fordson mechanics to help the farmers get the best results from the Fordson.

Ahern's Store News

You are especially invited to pay our store a visit at this time. The New Fall and Winter Goods are all here and we would like to have you see them now, while the display is most complete.

You will be interested in seeing the styles and materials that are to be worn this fall and you will get some ideas that will be helpful to you in planning new wearing apparel for yourself and your family.

You need not feel in the least that you are obliged to buy. We will be glad to have you "just look around."

Mrs. Brown, Miss Fox and myself had a very satisfactory buying trip last week. We bought a fine lot of new merchandise for the Dry Goods Department and spent an extra day gathering ideas about the new styles, and how to make up the goods we bought. We can be helpful to you in planning your fall wearing apparel and have furnishings so that they will be right up to date. The goods we bought are now in stock and we will be glad of an opportunity to show them to you and talk over the new ideas we have about making them up.

You'll find many changes in the New Fall Styles. But you wouldn't want the styles to be the same season after season. It's the constant variations that makes correct dressing interesting and a real pleasure. It's fine to have new clothes, have them stylish and well fitted.

The Coats are not like last year's styles at all. The changes are quite radical, these new collars are almost like a cape, added to the coat. They're practical and useful, and very smart at the same time. Plaids and tucks are much in evidence in the backs of coats and there is a great variety in the designs of the backs of coats. You can have either a pleated back cut on straight lines and belted or a wrap back cut on the style of a dolman with the sleeve and back cut in one piece. There are numerous variations also of these two styles. The cloths in coats are more beautiful than ever and the colors incline mostly to shades of brown and navy blue. Plush coats are as stylish as ever and fur trimmings are in great demand. We have a great stock of these garments for your selection as most of the coats that we bought for our sales in outside towns are still here. Many of them will be shipped out almost daily from now on as John and Arthur are out giving the sales so we recommend that you come now while the stock is most complete as the very coat that would please you best may be gone in a few days.

Ladies Ready Made Serge and Tricotine Dresses continue as popular as ever. They certainly are a very practical and useful garment for our cool fall and winter seasons. A good part of their popularity is due to the increasing care manufacturers are now giving to their workmanship and styling. You can now step into as stylish and good fitting a dress ready-made as it would require a great deal of planning and expert help to make up at home and the price is but very little more than the cost of materials and labor. We have greatly enlarged our dress stock to meet the growing demand and you will find dozens of pretty models here in just your size for your selection. There are styles to suit almost every figure and we make the necessary alterations free of charge. A clever style in all wool tricotine tastefully embroidered with silk and braid is priced at $27.50. More elaborately trimmed and pleated styles are $35.00 to $45.00 and a few exceptionally nice ones are $50.00 to $60.00.

Many of the new dress skirts are made of richly colored woolen plaids cleverly pleated. Plain tailored skirts of tricotine are also pleated and in some of the best models, these pleats are in the form of a separate panel, being over the skirt proper.

Our new stock showing these up to date models is now ready for you.

Waists are to have long sleeves again. Over blouses are equally popular with the tucked in models, but the overskirt section of the waist is much shorter than in the summer styles.

Georgette is the most popular material and their is a great deal of beading, braiding and embroidery of beads, yarn and soutache on almost all the nicer models. Browns and navy blues are most popular, but there is also a good showing of the high colors, turquoise, American beauty and orange. We are well prepared to fit you out in a blouse having bought the select models gotten out by four different waist houses in Chicago and New York.

Cool weather will bring up the shoe question in your family and we know you will be interested in the following information, which will point the way to a good saving in your shoe bills. Styles in ladies shoes have not changed from last winter. The same heels, toes and lasts are being used and black, grey and brown Kid leathers continue most popular except on a few models in what we call high style shoes, which are being made of navy blue Kid and black and brown buckskin. These latter models are high priced and not very practical for use in our winter weather. The great majority of fine footwear however is just like we had last winter, but it is $2.00 to $3.00 per pair higher in price. Now we have carried over from last season about 200 pair of very fine Kid shoes in grey, brown and black, the styles of which are exactly like this season's and we are going to sell them at last season's prices, which will mean a fine saving to you. We have almost every size, but we will not have them for long as we have been selling a great many of them the past two weeks to early buyers, who discovered what a good bargain they were.

You should come early and get your size in these shoes at $10.00 to $12.50, which will cost later on $12.50 to $16.00. We can make you an almost equally good saving on your children's footwear, as we carried over a good big stock, on which prices are $1.00 to $2.00 lower than we now must pay. We can sell you fine all-leather shoes in nice neat styles at $4.00 to $6.00 and they are the dressy, good wearing sort of shoes you like to see on your children. None of this footwear is to be compared to the sort of shoes you see advertised in bargain sales. Those shoes are mostly either old styles or inferior materials made up for sale purposes. We offer you our best shoes from our regular stock and we handle nothing but fine, all leather footwear with the guarantee of a responsible manufacturer and our own guarantee back of every pair.

You can make a mighty nice saving in your family shoe bill this fall, if you buy from our present stock.

For you who make your family wearing apparel, we have made big preparations. We have bought a fine stock of silks and woolen goods and the correct trimmings to go with them. Satins are greatly favored for the more dressy costumes and we have them in all the good fall colors. The price, we are glad to say is much lower than it has been.

All wool tricotines and serges are the favored woolen materials and we have them in several qualities and in all the fall colors. Large plaid woolens are favored for skirts and we bought them in the widest widths so that only 1 1/4 yards are required for a skirt. This keeps the price of the materials in the very finest qualities down to $8.75 for a complete skirt pattern. Then there are special heavy coatings which you can make up into coats and suits for your little folks. Middy flannels are here in Scarlet, Khaki, Navy Blue and Grey.

The favorite trimmings are cut steel, jet and bugle beads, wool yarns, rope silk and soutache braid all of which are put in designs which you can easily apply to your goods, from our special McCall transfer embroidery patterns. Pleats are very generally used, especially on the skirts and dresses and we have arranged to send your goods away to a pleating concern who do this work at small cost.

We have made a study of the Fall styles and are ready to be helpful to you in planning correct styles in any garments you wish to make.

We have a complete stock of McCall patterns which are the easiest patterns made to follow and the style correct, one of which you can depend on. You can depend on this store for all your fall sewing materials, trimmings and styles.

The cool nights have made blankets a necessity and we have opened up our new line of travelers sample blankets. These samples are the best quality and largest size as traveling men always pick the best stock for their samples. We buy them at one third off because they are slightly roughed up on the outside folds from being carried in the salesmans trunks and we price them to you at the same liberal discount. There are blankets of every quality in this sample line of 200 pair and some especially fine ones of pure wool in beautiful plaids that we would be glad to lay aside for any one who would like to make some newly weds a handsome Christmas present.

We held off on our buying this fall until the last minute in order to get the advantage of any lowering in the prices. The goods we have bought were obtained at the very lowest prices and we have marked them accordingly.

We carried over from last year nice stocks of hose, underwear, outing flannels, percales, wide sheetings, yarns, table linens and serges and these goods we will continue to sell at last year's prices which are still much below the lowest prices made on these goods this fall.

In the grocery department we are selling coffee 5 cents a pound cheaper and sugar has gone down to 18 cents a pound.

If you want to put up some home grown grapes or plums we can get them for you. Another car of California Peaches and a car of Michigan Baylett Pears are expected soon and you can get whatever you need of us at rock bottom prices.

By next Saturday we expect you can drive down and park your car right in front of the store on the paving. Now if we can have about a month of good finishing weather for the corn we will all be tuned up for a great celebration dance this fall.

We did not get our advertising written last week because after the burglars got through with us about all we could think of to say was d—m.

Twice in five months is quite a blow especially when whatever they took is a total loss as we can get no burglar insurance in a town of this size.

A few of the out of date skirts and the remnants which they took this last trip were found by the police in Sioux City hidden in the weeds behind a bill board. The fur coats, fine silk and wool dress goods and good skirts worth in all about $1500 are gone and a total loss.

We think we know just how our farmer friends feel when they take a stiff loss on a couple carloads of steers or cholera takes the hogs.

Like them, we are going to try and forget about it and go back to work hoping it don't happen again.

MRS. WEEKES AT AMERICAN LEGION CELEBRATION

(Norfolk Press)

Mrs. Marie Weekes, independent candidate for congress, addressed the people of the Humphrey community at an American Legion celebration there Thursday last. The Legion boys proved themselves 100 per cent fair in their treatment of the political question. Mrs. Weekes spoke on the pledges made in the preamble of the constitution of the American Legion, saying in part: "This preamble does credit to you and to the sacred memory of the 85,000 of your comrades who sleep beneath foreign soil. They died for human liberty. They died for American ideals. Their voices are stilled forever. We are not going to betray them. We are not going to deny the ideals they died for. You will fulfill to the letter that pledge of yours. You will show yourselves worthy of the inscription on that medal awarded for civilization. All will uphold and defend the constitution of the United States. All will promote peace and good will. All will trample out hatred. We will make the real American traditions of justice, freedom and democracy living facts." She urged the members of the Legion to get behind a movement for a law denying the use of the ballot to any so-called citizen, who in exercising his own free franchise, shows his willingness that another human being should be denied the same. She said: "Freedom is not America's patent. It is a universal right, the men who deny that right to others are the only ones who are unfit to exercise it." She stressed the Nonpartisan platform, the independent candidates and made mention of the splendid appreciation of the people of North Dakota for the returned soldiers. She expressed her desire to help make effective a compensation for all the boys who served their flag; saying that if the 18,000 millionaires who were created by the war could not be made to pay this compensation, we can call in the loans to foreign governments—especially that to England, on which she is paying neither interest nor principal but which she is using in her effort to put out every spark of freedom and democracy that lives in the hearts of the people of Ireland, Egypt and India.
