ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1920

$1.50 PER YEAR

SECOND FREE FAIR GROWING SUCCESS

A year ago the enterprising farmers of the Wayne County Pure Stock Breeders, other farmers and the business men of Wayne decided to hold a fair, and that it should be a free show to one and all. It proved a success, in spite of mud and bad weather. This season a second fair was planned, and is now on, and is proving the wisdom and popularity of the idea. The people are sure to come in great numbers today and tomorrow which are really the show days.

The showing of stock is a wonder to a lot of Wayne county citizens who only knew in a general way that we are growing stock that frequently tops the market in the stockyards, where merit is measured in cold cash, and that stock from this county frequently carries off the best prizes in state fairs where competition is open to all. But here one gets a chance to see the best of the Wayne production collectively in horses, cattle, swine, sheep and poultry; and no one can see this showing and not be impressed with the importance of the stock industry to the community.

In grains and vegetables the same is true. We produce the best, and lots of it. The showing of fruits does not indicate that we are growing fruits, but it shows that we have possibilities along that line, and that those who give horticulture careful attention need not be dependent upon the outside producer for all of our fruits.

Where Exhibits May Be Seen

Not having yet secured a permanent fair ground the attractions are scattered more or less. The women reign supreme at the city hall with art, fine art, fancy work, cooking and canning and school work. It should not be missed.

At the Pavilion, the Thompson barn and the tent between the two the cattle and horse exhibit is shown.

In tents at the old fair grounds may be seen the showing of swine, sheep and poultry; and also farm products, grains, vegetables, fruits, etc.

The Daily Program

Free ball game, today—Carroll vs. Wayne. Friday, Allen vs. Wakefield, assuring two good games.

Free attractions at the old fair grounds from 2 o'clock until 5.

Daily showing of competing and prize winning stock at 4 o'clock at Pavilion.

Wrestling match at Pavilion evenings.

Dance at Opera House, evenings. The Elwin Strong theatrical and other attractions are playing here this week and presenting with a strong company popular plays each evening. Tonight is "Peg O' My Heart," and "Common Clay" is on the bill for Friday evening.

Thus it is evident that Wayne farmers and citizens are giving those who attend this great free show more than the worth of their money.

Do not miss the opportunity.

At City Hall

This building is not crowded as it was last year, for grains and vegetables are cared for at one of the tents at the old fair grounds this time, but the showing of school and fancy work and cooking is splendid, and there is more room to properly display the offering.

The school exhibit, of which Miss Sewell is superintendent, is certainly excellent. Especially must one admire the work of the folks in the lower grades in pen work, drawing and manual training work.

The Art department in care of Mrs. Henry Ley also has real artistic productions in oil and water colors, pastel and drawings, as well as china painting.

The Baked Goods department, presided over by Mrs. H. J. Miner is one of the departments which takes one's eye in these days when so many of the real good things one used to have in other years are not so common on the family table.

Mrs. J. C. Forbes is in charge of the canned fruits, and there some very tempting lots of canned fruits, pickles, preserves, jams, marmalades, and jellies are to be seen.

In the fancy work department, where Mrs. Frank Whitley is superintendent, there is no end of fancy needle work, ranging from quilts to embroidered handkerchiefs. Not being an expert in telling of these pretty things the writer has besieged the judges be free to pass on that work, and give their verdict in the next paper. In this department too, one finds the work of the little folks which does credit to them and to those who instructed them in the needlecraft and other fancy work.

Last but not least, we come to the

CHARLOTTE WHITE WRITES OF AUTO TRAVEL

I have always since the days of autos especially desired to take a long trip across country in a car with a competent driver.

When after my sojourn in the east, I returned to my nieces in Thurston county, I found they were contemplating a visit to her brothers in Fat River county, South Dakota, I immediately decided that I would accompany them. So I settled down upon them, knowing that by the time they were ready to start, they would be so tired of my jabber, they would gladly take me with them, on the same principle that a woman marries a persistent lover, to get rid of him.

On a bright morning, August 25th, we sallied forth, well equipped, plenty of provision and a cute little gasoline stove to cook on, a tent that covered the car all over, making a bed room on either side, plenty of bed clothes and wraps.

We traveled southwest to Norfolk, from there northwest through Pierce, Plainview, and Creighton to Bazile Mills. It had been plain, common rural scenery thus far; from here on it was picturesque. We went north from here right along Bazile Creek.

We forgot to count, but I think we crossed the stream at least eleven times. It is wooded almost all the way. Sometimes gentle declivities on one side or the other. Like all the streams thru this part of Nebraska, it has a rocky bottom and this part of the state is quite rolling, they are all swift running with lots of rapids.

About six we came to a pump with a zinc tank beside it, close to the roadside and a rod or so further on, one of the cutest little camping places; a triangular field with the creek and woods on one long side, on the other side the road and across the road a cornfield, on the further side of that,

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

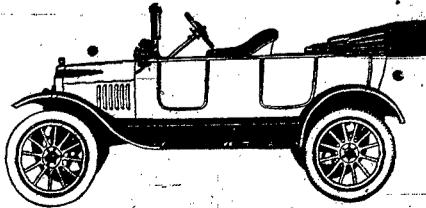

The Ford car can well be called the "peoples car," because there are more than 3,000,000 of them in daily operation. That is about four to one to the nearest follower in the motor car industry. This would not be so if the Ford car had not for sixteen years proven its superiority in service, in durability, and in the low cost for operation and maintenance; this would not be so if the Ford car was not so easy to understand, so simple in construction that anybody and everybody can safely drive it. It is everybody's necessity because it doubles the value of time, and is the quick, convenient, comfortable, and economical method of transportation. We solicit your order. We have the full line, Touring Car, Runabout, Coupe, Sedan, Truck and Fordson Tractor. We assure you the best possible in repair work with the genuine Ford Parts.

Mrs. Wm. Benning, of Randolph, who has been in Wayne on business returned to her home Friday.

Mrs. Henry Bruhn and daughter, Irene, of Wausa, visited here between trains Friday.

Mrs. Joe H. White, of Des Moines, Iowa, returned home Friday, following a visit at the D. H. Cunningham home.

Mrs. R. E. K. Mellor went to Elgin the first of the week to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stanley Huffman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mason and wife, Mary, went to Meadow Grove Friday, where they spent a few days visiting with relatives. They returned Tuesday morning.

Mrs. F. R. Flynn of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was here last week to visit at the home of her brother, E. Z. Taylor and family. Sunday evening Mr. Flynn came out to join her on the home trip Monday morning.

Mrs. C. H. Dustin, who has been visiting with her daughter for some time at Carroll, was a passenger to her home at Louisville, Kentucky, her granddaughter, Ruth Stair, accompanied her and will stay during the school year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Elder, from near Carroll, were passengers thru here Friday, on their way to visit in different parts of the country. Osakis, Minnesota, was their first stop. Then Des Moines, Iowa, Albia in the same state, and then on to Macon, Missouri, before coming again to this good country.

Last week one of the pioneer business men of the city was talking like this: "20 cents a pound for the farmer's wool; $75 for an all-wool suit, containing seven pounds of wool." He accused the manufacturing trust of profiteering, and added that the suit was not up in quality with that sold at $20 before the war. And people profess to wonder at a nonpartisan league attempting to change things.

Mrs. McInerney, who lives in Montana when at home, but who has been at Leigh much of the summer with her invalid mother, came Monday to visit among her many friends in this her former home. She was a guest at the home of Mrs. M. A. Pryor for a short time, and from here planned to go to Bloomfield for a short time. She came in here from Sioux City, and plans to return to Leigh shortly.

C. O. Sellon writes that he is now pleasantly located in his new home at 1917 Allen street, Sioux City. He sees old Randolph friends quite often. Mr. Sellon and his wife have been among our most prominent farmers south of town and have seen the country grow from its pioneer stage to its present splendid state of fertility and settlement. They are taking a well earned vacation from active work.—Randolph Times.

Monday morning early saw Jule Landanger and family on their way by car to visit a week among Iowa friends, going first to the old home west of Red Oak. From there, if they follow their program they will visit a number of places in that corner of Iowa. Mr. L. is starting under unfavorable conditions, as when he was in town Saturday evening he was suffering from a very sore hand, it having become infected in some manner. Hope it improves.

Wat Williams, an old friend of the Journal man, from Wayne, Nebraska, was a caller at this office Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Williams made the trip overland via Yellowstone Park, seven weeks of sightseeing. He sold his eastern farms for a fortune and may locate in Southern California. So says Goldie in the Wilmington Journal. Mr. and Mrs. Williams and relatives and friends visited here about two months ago, while on their way west from Iowa, where they have been for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Larsen returned Tuesday morning from a two week visit with relatives in Cheyenne county. Mr. Larsen tells us that he visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Larsen, for years residents of this place, and that they are well and contented. His brothers are prospering, and so are the Thompson boys, Neal and Clint at Dalton. They were in nearly all parts of the county, and saw wheat, wheat, wheat, and the threshing is going on and will go on till winter sets in before all is done. And yet, he says this part of Nebraska is good enough for him; and that they almost came to a quarrel with some of the pioneers of that land, because he insisted that this part of Nebraska suited him better than that. He missed the trees and the buildings of this older settled country.

Mrs. M. A. Truman came from Lincoln Monday evening to visit at the home of her son, W. A. Truman and family.

Misses Elizabeth Mines, Winifred Main and Wilma and Elizabeth Gildersleeve left Sunday afternoon for Grinnell colleges, at Grinnell, Iowa.

J. B. Wallace went to Omaha for a visit with his brother, then on to his old home at Villisca, Iowa, to visit relatives and look after a little business.

Miss Pearl Madden returned to Omaha Sunday to resume her work there, she having been compelled to quit about July 1st on account of rheumatism.

Miss Stella Ziener, of Hoskins, who teaches at Sholes, was at Wayne Friday on her way home for a week end visit. Miss Wilma Garwood, of the Sholes school was also a Wayne visitor.

F. L. Bolten was at Tekamah Monday evening to speak at a political meeting, one of the Farmer-Labor meetings such as Wayne had last week—and it was advertised to be held in the American Legion hall.

Three weeks ago Geo. Brammell and wife, and Mrs. Wm. Lessman went to visit at Chicago and other Illinois points, and the first of this week Mr. and Mrs. B. returned, and Mrs. Lessman remained for a longer visit at Morrison, Illinois, and that they would have been glad indeed to have had a bit of real rain from this Nebraska land, which used to be mapped as mighty dry country, years ago, when the mud was so deep in Chicago that they had to stick warning signs on the streets to keep the people from getting stuck in the mud. The usual sign was—"No Bottom—stay out."

C. R. Peterson, of Hoskins, was here Saturday on his way home from a trip to Omaha, where he had been to complete a lease on a farm he is to move to in the spring, the one he now occupies having been sold. He was also considering the matter of buying cattle, but thinks the price for feeders out of proportion to that of fat cattle.

There was a little shooting affair at Pierce last week, E. F. Purtzer shooting his wife thru the shoulder, with fatal result, considered inevitable by the physicians—yet local officials made no attempt to put the man under arrest. They evidently do not feel warranted in meddling with family affairs. But they should remember that woman is now the political equal of the man, and a man no longer has the right to shoot a woman just because she never knew any better than to be his wife, and escape the clutches of the law.

What's the matter with Maine? She's way wrong.

Yes, we heard from Maine; but wait until the news comes from Texas or Georgia.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt is out campaigning, and will speak at Columbus and Fremont afternoon and evening of Saturday, September 18th.

New Hampshire failed to endorse the peace treaty at their recent election, the papers tell us. They also failed to approve of equal suffrage, so it is easy, knowing one fact, to understand the other.

Result of Illinois primaries in doubt as between Mayor Thompson and Governor Lowden. James Hamilton the democratic candidate for governor is leading all opposition.

Washington is sure to line up in the republican column in November, says Lawrence, who is chasing around after the republican band wagon. Let's wait until the votes are voted and counted.

In order to help solve the wheat problem in Antelope county the Neeigh Mills has ordered a small car of Kanred wheat which will be distributed among their customers at a reasonable price. If any farmer is out of patience with his results-on-wheat the past few years he ought to give the Kanred a thorough trial.

President Wilson may be a "spent force" in present day politics, as many of his critics insist, but there still remains a tremendous work for him to do in the world of history and letters. It is to be hoped from every viewpoint that he will regain his vigor sufficiently to be able to put out a full diplomatic history of his time, a work which he is said to have in contemplation.—State Journal.

W. H. Smith, former state auditor has been selected as campaign manager for Ex-Governor Morehead. Well, we will say that Smith is an able fellow—why, he used to run a newspaper, and newspaper men are coming to the front in this campaign. But it is certain that at least one newspaper man is riding to a fall. You may be able to guess which one.

Eight vessels stood off Ellis Island at one time the other day waiting for a chance to discharge their cargoes of immigrants. It is probable, such is the flood of people fleeing from the wretchedness of Europe, that the immigration of the present fiscal year will be up to the highest marks of pre-war days. Despite the lessons we thought we were learning from the war, this increment of foreigners is handled in the old, haphazard way.—State Journal.

The Maine election went safely republican, and the time was when it was considered an omen of the result in November, but this year there are too many chances for a change of sentiment for that to be a sure sign; but had it gone democratic that might have been considered a sign, for it seldom does that. We will now have to wait and work and see what the nation will do in November.

The republican slush fund shown up by Candidate Cox is growing, and is now placed at $25,000,000. That should help the democrats if they will only use it to purchase democrat votes. But they should remember that Newberry, of Michigan, has been convicted of handling a corrupting campaign fund, and is on his way to the penitentiary by the slow supreme court route. He may not get there before his term in the senate expires, for just that one purchased seat is all that gives his party a majority in the house of lords.

Don C. Van Dusen, of the Blair Pilot, referred to as a republican says: "It doesn't matter one iota with us who is doped to win in this contest, it's up to every free man or woman to vote as his or her conscience dictates. We can't conscientiously vote for Harding because of his opposition to the league of nations and he is a reactionary besides. Cox is for the league and is really progressive. And we call ourselves a progressive republican, too. We would have been glad to support and vote for a man like Hoover, but the politicians wanted a party man—they could boss. Hence, we vote for Cox and most of the republican ticket."

While John Morehead made a very good and a very conservative governor in many ways a few years ago, the common complaint we read of him in a lot of democratic exchanges is that he is not progressive—not keeping pace with the forward march of events; is too much opposed to a rule by the people instead of the corporations. The republican exchanges seem to have one thing laid up against him—that Will Maupin wrote his speeches for him, and intimate that they were not very good speeches. We wrote a love letter for a fellow once, and it "cooked his goose." Every fellow in politics and in love should win or lose on his own ability.

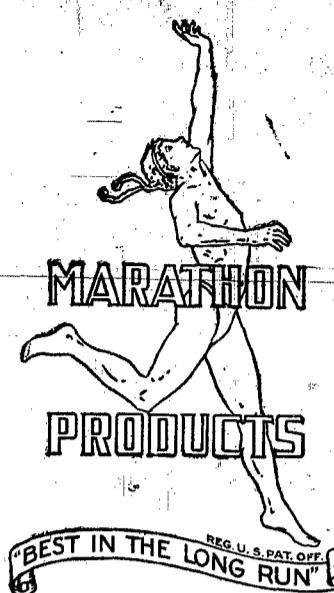

FARM WOMEN MAKING CHEESE
Last spring two women living in South Ferry, Idaho, heard of a cheese demonstration to be given by a dairy specialist connected with the state agricultural college in a town 75 miles away. They made the trip—a two-day one—by stage to the meeting and learned the ins and outs of cheese making. Then they returned to South Ferry and taught the women in their neighborhood what they had learned regarding cheese making. A survey made this summer—three months after the demonstration—showed that 1,600 pounds of cheese had been made in that neighborhood under the tutelage of the two women. In Niobrara County, Wyo., the Farm Bureau members are standardizing their butter and selling it in special cartons, labeled "Niobrara County Farm Bureau Butter." They are hoping to do the same with cheese. One woman in Niobrara County paid all the expenses of her household last year by making and selling

FIFTY-FIFTY OWNER.

SHIP OF BULLS

In Harrison County, Indiana, where the "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement is gaining headway, dairymen are making wide use of good, purebred bulls in an economical manner. By fractional ownership of the bulls they receive the benefit of such sires without incurring the entire purchase cost. In one day recently the United States Department of Agriculture received statements from three dairymen in Harrison County, all of whom follow the practice mentioned. The advantage of a choice of several sires is the wider opportunity to make desirable matings, thus hastening progress in grading up a herd.

In many other localities dairymen are combining their forces, sometimes with the object of testing bulls before sending them to the block, sometimes to save expense, and sometimes to give local predominance to one breed or another. An informal combination of this sort is often highly useful.

This is not the same thing as a bull association. The co-operation bull association is an institution designed to accomplish these and many other objects, on a larger scale, by a form of organization which has been extensively tried and perfected by experience. It is recommended by the department that farmers should give consideration to the benefits they can secure for themselves by a closer and more effective union of interests in a properly organized bull association.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Owen and their son, LeRoy, returned home last week from a month trip spent in the west, in which they visited coast cities in western Canada, then trekked south in the U. S., and on down—the western slope into California before heading toward home. They report a splendid outing.

DEBT BUILDING
During the first eight months of the present year, 229 states and municipalities disposed of bonds aggregating $493,741,760. This is the largest amount of money borrowed in a similar period in the last decade. It indicates that a surprisingly good market has been found for these securities, partially because they are exempt from taxation.

Every now and then some country editor strikes a true note with pen or shears or both, and it starts on the rounds. First we see it with its proper credit—then it shows up in a half dozen papers as "Ex." and then some careless newspaper man clips it and forgets the credit, and it may start all over again, and frequently with the name of the paper taking the same as his own given credit for bright, truthful saying.

David Herner was a Wayne visitor Wednesday, coming in with the folks to make some poultry entries at the fair. The hail last July stripped their farm of many things that they would have been glad to have shown—but they have them not—so they brought of what they had. Today Mr. Herner had business calling him to Omaha going to purchase sheep to make the most of their haled corn.

FEISAL HAS CAUSTIC TONGUE

Arabian Potentate's Comments on European Men and Measures interesting in the Extreme.

The oriental tact and personal charm of Emir Feisal did much to win friends for the Arabian cause in Paris. No one ever came away from him in an angry mood. The emir was very witty and many stories are told of his clever retorts to acquaintances in Paris. On one occasion a correspondent asked him to give his opinion of modern statesmen as a result of his acquaintance with them at the peace conference. He replied, "They are like modern paintings. They should be hung in a gallery and be viewed from a distance." Another time at a meeting of the council of ten, M. Pichon referred to the claims of France in Syria, which he said were based on the Crusades. Emir Feisal turned toward him and inquired mildly, "I am not a great student of history, but would you kindly tell me which one of us won the Crusades?"

"Mr. Balfour once tried to find out what Emir Feisal thought of the British government. He succeeded. It reminds me of a caravan in the desert. You see an impressive string of dromedaries in the distance trekking single file across the shifting sands. When you first overtake them, you observe that the last camel is tied to the tail of the next in line. When you reach the head of the column, you find that a little donkey is leading the whole string."—Asia Magazine.

HAD CAMOUFLAGE DOWN FINE

Youth's Many and Varied Reasons for Getting Out of Task of Polishing His Shoes.

"No, mother, it isn't that I'm lazy that I don't want to polish my shoes," said Young Nick, the boy Machiavelli, "I'm just tryin' to be economical and help you an' dad save money. If I wuz to polish my shoes it'd show up my ole stockings so I'd hafta put on clean ones an' if I did that I'd hafta brush my clothes."

"An' you know, mother, I gotter lot of bad spots in my pants an' on my coat, and if I brushed 'em the spots would stand out so's you'd just hafta buy me a new suit."

"I been studyin' camouflage, mother, nice neutral tint that nobody scarcely notices—except you, mother, and you get too close. But just as I am mother, I'm not hardly visible to the naked eye at all, and it's awful convenient."

"Besides, it saves money, you see, as I been tellin' you. Now, I don't dust wash my face and hands too hard, because they'd be so bright an' shiny they'd call attention to my grease spots."

"Yes'm, I'll clean all up, if you say so, of course, but I don't think you oughter discourage me when I'm trying to help you save money. Besides, there's Bill callin' me now, an' if I wuz to clean up I'd go right out and get dirty again. Yes'm, I promise. Whew I come in I will. Awrl, Bill, I'm comin'!"—Chicago News.

Rats OVERRUN English Town.
Millions of rats are overrunning Abertillery (Monmouth), England, and neighborhood. While the congregation was leaving a Baptist church in Tillery street on a recent Sunday an army of rats ran among them. One woman collapsed. All means have been used but the rats have not only survived, but also thrived. The medical officer of health, Dr. Baille Smith, says the rats are of two kinds—brown and black. The black rats, as a rule, keep to the sewers, but the brown rats climb anything—telegraph poles and rails and gas pipes. They swarm everywhere. It was suggested to the Abertillery district council that expert rat destroyers should be employed, but local staff having stated that they could do better than the experts, the matter has been left to them with discretionary power to call in help if necessary.

Play Ground in Tiara.
The first municipal play ground of Czechoslovakia, in Prague, occupies a high hill which is terraced off, supplying space at the top for tennis courts and ball grounds; on a lower terrace a pavilion, band stand and open-air theater, on a still lower level a running track, and farther down the children's grounds, with sand pile, wading pool and swings. In this latter section there are pavilions where mothers can sit and rest or sew as they watch the children. This first play ground for children is a co-operative effort of the Czech government and the American "Y" which will eventually be entirely under government management. At present the city has supplied the place, the Y. M. C. A. is paying for the equipment and the Y. W. C. A. has given the leadership. Charts for smaller play places for other parts of the city are being prepared.

Artificial Silk Improved.
A new process has been developed whereby the same raw material (wood cellulose) is converted into an imitation silk which, when woven into cloth, has remarkable brilliancy and durability, with a "feel" like that of real silk. It is waterproof and no more inflammable than natural silk. The new process silk can be drawn into much finer threads than those of ordinary artificial silk, and is said to be particularly remarkable for the quality of the velvets made from it.

Its Nature.
Isn't it too bad this dispute they're having with Germany over coal? Yes; it is a burning shame."

JITNEY TO OUST RICKSHAW

March of Progress in Japan Means
End of Vehicle So Dear to Heart of Tourist.

That familiar ancient relic, rickshaw, a slender carriage drawn by man-power, seems now on way to its deathbed, to the great wail of curious tourists. The existing narrow and bad roads alone are keeping up its life. Whether for good or ill, the growing severity of the world-wide struggle for existence has been compelling the reluctant Nipponese to forsake many of the antiquated things and institutions that had long been dear to their hearts. Esthetically disposed men like Lafcadio Hearn would have Japan remain forever "picturesque" and curse the skyscrapers and factory chimneys; but a nation, like an individual, must live, and live decently too. Present age is no doubt an age of machinery; and no man-power can cope with the general tide of the world, and hence the mechanization of almost everything. Neither can man-power pretend to rival with mechanical force—it must give way to a roller, an automobile, a cinema. And rickshaw now must give way to jitney. It had its day. But the rickshaw men do not think so. They have the love and respect of their trade. When lately the city of Yokohama granted a license to a big jitney bus company, the rickshaw men attempted a desperate effort to smother the project at the outset, but it proved in vain. And numerous baby-motor cars, allowing two passengers, will soon be speedily carrying people around at the rate of 25 sen per mile.—East and West News.

CRETE ONCE A GREAT POWER

Mistress of the Sea When King Minos Ruled—Remarkable Laws Under Which People Lived.

Minos, king of Crete, exercised a preponderating power on the sea; he drove out the barbarous Carians from the Cyclades, and exterminated piracy which among the Greeks had been openly professed; he kept the people of the coasts in awe of him, and at the same time forced them to pay him tribute.

Crete was advantageously situated to become mistress of the sea, but at length a confederacy arose which put an end to her dominion. Minos wished to render the Cretans mild and gentle in their manners. To attain this object he allowed free indulgence, Plato says, to licentious excess, even of the most flagitious kind, hoping that the refinements of gallantry would mitigate the native ferocity of his subjects.

As individuals the Cretans possessed eminent skill in military affairs, while the laws which they adopted prevented the state from undertaking any great enterprise abroad. They elected ten cosmes, or regulators, to govern in peace and war, and when the period of their office was completed they remained members of the legislature. The judges were all men of advanced age and young men were never allowed to propose a change in the law, and all proposals were made in the senate, and secretly. Slaves tilled the soil, and the citizens ate together in public companies, while the country was divided into twelve portions for agriculture and business.

Charge for Fuse Replacement.
It has been the general custom among the electrical companies of this country to make free replacement of the fuses which are blown out from time to time but there is now a general tendency among these corporations to make a charge for this service. It is necessary to have men ready at all hours, especially at night, to answer calls so that the service may be restored with the least possible delay and the expense of this has been found to be a burden which it is now proposed to relieve themselves of by making a charge. Some companies which hesitate to take this step are urging their patrons to lay in a supply of fuses which are sold by the company at cost and in case of a blowout they can make the renewal themselves.—Exchange.

Ambition Lives.

It is an unusual thing to see a mother and all of her children attending school together, but such is the spectacle which may be witnessed at the summer term of the Eastern Kentucky state normal school at Richmond, Ky. This family of students, consisting of mother, two sons and two daughters, hail from Barbourville, Ky. The mother, Mrs. E. P. Gray, is the wife of one of the best-known chautauqua entertainers, who is now in the west on the platform. She brought her children to the school to take the course and decided, after reaching the institution, to engage in study herself and will take a course along with her four children.

Pigeons Set Clock Back.
I am informed that the town clock of Beverly is not quite suited to the three pigeons who recently perched on the hour hand, or else the birds did not like the daylight saving idea. However, they perched in their "timely" position long enough to set the clock back one-half hour.—Boston Post.

Adaptability.

"Of course, you are in favor of votes for women."

"Of course," answered Senator Sorgum. "A man who hopes to hold his own in politics must do his best to be in favor of anything that anybody wants."

STATE TEACHERS CO-OPERATIVE MANAGEMENT

A two-year course in co-operative management is offered this year by the Nebraska College of Agriculture. Among the subjects required in the course are accounting, typewriting, marketing, grading and English. Co-operative companies find difficulty in securing competent managers because the supply of trained men is not equal to the demand. High school graduates who want a field where there is plenty of action, and almost unlimited possibilities, will find here their opportunity.

TRACTORS ARE TIME SAVERS

Farmers who are contemplating purchasing tractors should read United States Department of Agriculture farmers' bulletin 1093, called "Influence of the Tractor on Use of Horses." This bulletin is designed to help farmers answer such questions as: For what operations can I use the tractor? In what operations will it displace horses in whole or part? How many horses will it displace on my farm? The bulletin is based on the personal experience of 191 tractor owners in seven cornbelt states. It shows that on these farms the number of horses kept was two or three per farm less after the purchase of tractors. All the reports emphasize the fact that the great advantage of the tractor lies in its ability to save time at critical seasons when time is precious and the success or failure of an entire crop hangs on the speed with which it is handled. The bulletin may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture at Lincoln.

THE EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

The women of the county organization are doing a great work this week in organizing for the constitutional convention election which is to be held next Tuesday. Last week we published a program of the school house campaign thru the country, and Tuesday morning reports came from two of the meetings held the evening before. In district No. 20, J. G. W. Lewis spoke to large group of interested men and women, explaining as much as possible of the work of the constitutional convention and the nature of the proposed amendments. His talk was well received, and as this campaign continues the rest of the week, those who failed to attend any of the meetings yet should try to attend one, even if in some district other than their own.

In district 48, Dr. J. T. House and Mrs. F. L. Bollen were speakers, and it is reported that the interest was good; tho not many women came. The men and women should both attend these meetings, for the measures are new to many, and of vital interest to the people. Try to attend some meeting and also try to vote Tuesday next. Do not simply mark your ballot—but post up so as to mark it to express your wish in the matter. If there be a measure that is not right, in your opinion, vote it down—unless it is better than what we now have—and in that event, it might be well to vote yes, and then work in future for further improvement.

There was a splendid meeting at district No. 73 Tuesday evening when Dean H. H. Hahn and Rev. Kilburn, of this place, were sent to speak to the patrons of that school as to the constitutional convention election. But that was not all who were there, for David Horner and family went to Allen to the old settlers picnic, or farmer picnic; and there he captured a member of the constitutional convention, who was running at large in that vicinity. Mr. C. H. Ellwood, of Creighton, who was the speaker at the picnic, accepted an invitation from Mr. Horner to spend the night with them, and he aided the local speakers, adding much to the sum total of knowledge about the coming election. Those who attended this meeting feel doubly well paid.

J. G. W. Lewis reports that the attendance and interest was good at two meetings in which he took part, Monday and Tuesday evenings. One was in Leslie precinct south of Wakefield the other a few miles northeast of Wayne.

The Helping Hand society met last Thursday for an all-day meeting with Mrs. Harry Lessman. An elaborate dinner cafeteria style was served at one o'clock. Mrs. John Grier, social leader for the afternoon. Devotions were led by Mrs. Irve Reed. A reading by Mrs. Ray Durant. Mrs. Irve Reed read a paper on "Should Women Vote?" Music, singing and a number of pictures were taken. Mrs. Lessman served lunch. Mrs. Albert Paulsen will be hostess at an all day meeting September 23rd.

One of the really enjoyable social events of the week was the Masonic annual picnic at the city park last Thursday afternoon. Base ball was one of the attractions, and the ladies are said to have developed much skill at the game, tho some were nearly out of the running the day following, as were some of the men who forgot that they could not play the game as they once had. Splendid talks were given by Rev. Beard and Prof. I. H. Britell and others. The picnic supper was ample for all and satisfying to the hungry picnickers.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Shultheis. The afternoon was spent in sewing for the bazaar, which will be held December 4th. The Aid will serve a chicken pie supper at the home of Mrs. J. J. Williams, October 8th. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lin McClure, October 29th. The hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Beard's Sunday School class had a weiner and marshmallow roast at the home of Mrs. Lin McClure Tuesday night. The yard was lighted up with Japanese lanterns, and a huge bonfire. Games were played in the yard. At ten o'clock each lady roasted her own weiners and a very enjoyable time was had during the lunch. Twenty-five members of the class were present.

The Union Bible Study Circle was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edwin B. Young, when the book of "John" formed an up-to-date and interesting subject of study. It was voted to study the gospel of Matthew by outline in harmony with the uniform Sunday School lessons. The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. S. Brown on Tuesday next.

The Central Social Circle met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John Paulsen. Mrs. Guy Elder was social leader. Mrs. Will Bach carried off the honors in the corn contest. Members bort in their fruit to be sent to the Christian Orphans Home at Council Bluffs. Mrs. John Grier will be hostess Thursday October 14th.

The Ann of Ave West Minister Guild met Monday from four to six, at the home of Mrs. Beard. Mrs. J. G. Mines lead in devotionals. Plans were made for the years work and practice began on their little play. Light refreshments were served. Next Tuesday at four o'clock the girls will meet at the church to practice.

The First Baptist Church (Robert H. Pratt, S. T. M. Minister) At the morning service at 10:30 the pastor will speak on the subject: "The Cross."

The Sunday School meets at 11:30 a.m. The Young People's Society is at 7.

The Junior Society will picnic next Saturday in a grove near town. Transportation will be provided for all the members. Since this is the last outing of the year, we would like to have every member along to enjoy the day. Meet at the church Saturday morning at 10 sharp.

The Lutheran Brotherhood meets next Monday evening at the home of Eric Thompson. A full attendance is expected.
