

EX-GOVERNOR MOREHEAD ADDRESSES WAYNE AUDIENCE

It was not a large audience which greeted Ex-Governor John Morehead at the city hall Monday evening, owing chiefly to the fact that but few people knew he was to speak here, his announcement of the date seeming to have been sent to one who was not home to receive it and distribute the word about. It seemed to be known to a few, in an uncertain way, for the question was asked, "Is Morehead to speak at Wayne?" but the people asked were not able to answer.

The announcement on the street at time of the meeting brought about fifty or sixty voters to the city hall to listen to his talk. He compared the tax figures during his administration and that of the present governor, and showed conclusively that we are paying practically twice as much in taxes now as then, and getting no more for the money. Now a part of our tax is to go for a capitol building—which it is hinted may cost three times the sum asked by the legislature—and under Governor Morehead we paid for a great University extension program. But at that time we were not paying big sums for booze hounds, who are now quarreling over question of who got the captured and confiscated booze? He did not criticize without suggesting a remedy; he would have the county sheriffs and the constables of each and every community do their duty, paying them an adequate salary for their work. In his opinion these officers do much of the real work, and state man comes in for the credit and the cash.

He expressed regret that none of the ladies had known of the meeting in time to attend. He said, that having the right to vote, they should consider it a duty, and also an obligation which they should not neglect. His sentiment was heartily applauded at times.

After the speaking the ex-governor and Chas. Poole, who accompanied him, were asked to meet a few of the Wayne people at the home of their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Korff, where a social hour was passed talking over times when the three were working together at Lincoln, Mr. Korff having been a member of the legislature from Cedar county. Mrs. Korff and daughters served ice cream and cake, which was much appreciated, as was the instrumental music furnished by the two sons and daughter while the guests partook of the good things to eat.

Tuesday morning H. C. Bartels and Editor Nye drove over from Carroll to meet them and accompany them to Carroll, and a larger delegation came out from that place and met them before they arrived to escort them into the town. James Finn and Henry Korff accompanied them to Carroll, and perhaps to Sholes and Randolph.

Mr. Morehead tells us that the people are giving him a very good hearing, and that the outlook is good, considering how uncertain is the political situation this year when there is going to be more independent voting, perhaps than ever before in the history of the state.

WAKEFIELD BASE BALL DOPE

At the close of the season, the Wakefield Republican gives some history of the activities of their base ball team the past summer, and from it we glean that our sister town has gone at it in a business manner and handled the team in business way. They paid over $2,000 for professional players, which should not be in a local team. For other players played for nothing and put in much valuable time, and were as essential to the game as the professional men—but perhaps not so necessary to win.

The team played 33 games and lost twelve and tied two. The manager's report shows that they took in $4,985.82 and that $3,345.59 was received in admissions; $1,000 for membership cards, and donations made up the balance. Expenses were for ground rent, grand stand material, meals, auto hire, advertising and other incidentals. They gave gate receipts July 4th American Legion and the picnic day gate money went to the band. The balance in hand of treasurer is $486.15, which in reality belongs to those who subscribed for membership cards, if they care to claim it. It is a good showing, and proves that base ball takes money as well as does chaufauqua or other amusement.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Brigadier Andrews of the Salvation Army today issued a call for volunteer workers to assist in putting over the Salvation Army program for 1920. He said in brief:

"While to insure a successful campaign it would be necessary for the Salvation Army to hire a professional campaign man to supervise and direct the campaign in each county, such supervision would cost us many thousands of dollars and we do not feel that we can afford to so organize our work. So volunteer workers who will come to the Advisory Board in this county will save the day. While our budget of $220,000 is very small compared with last year, we are convinced that we will be called upon for a great deal more work than in former years. Increasing illegitimacy is crowding our Rescue Home to its greatest capacity. While we do not anticipate hard times, the period of readjustment is upon us and we want to be prepared to administer to the wants of the people whenever called upon. If you have had experience in former campaigns, I earnestly request your aid in this work."

The Advisory Board of this county is composed of:

D. E. Brainard	F. S. Berry
Fred Phillee	J. R. Armstrong
J. H. Kemp	A. R. Davis
Dr. C. H. Ingham	U. S. Conn

BURIAL OF CYRIL CULTON

From the Council Bluffs Nonpareil of October 11th we get the following account of the funeral of a former Wayne boy who died over sea. His parents were well known here a few years ago:

One of the largest funerals held in the city in recent years, was that of Cyril Culton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Culton, 3601 Avenue A, held at the Christian church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This was the first funeral for the body of a soldier returned from overseas. Delegations from the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary attended.

An eloquent funeral sermon was preached by Rev. C. O. Stuckenbruck, pastor of the First Christian church, from which the funeral was held. Culton died from influenza in France in 1918. His was the first funeral to be held here for the veterans of the war, who died in France.

EVANGELISTS AT CARROLL

Rev. S. David Sikes informs us that the building is practically ready for the party of evangelists who are to come from Illinois to begin their meetings next week Sunday. It has been considerable work to make the lumber shed into a tabernacle building that would be considered safe in every way, but it is pronounced now in that condition. Pastors and people are said to be becoming enthused; cottage prayer meetings are being held, and a great campaign against the hosts of sin is expected. The preliminary work is practically completed. Let the evangelists come in full force.

A VISIT TO THEIR OLD HOMESTEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bastian, who left Wayne last Friday evening for Ardmore, South Dakota, on a short business trip, returned home Monday afternoon. While at Ardmore, they met many old friends and neighbors. They drove out to their old homestead, stayed over night with their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Barkley. They had the threshers at their place on Saturday.

Mr. Barkley's macaroni wheat made 14 bushels per acre, and this field was partly hauled out during the growing season. He also had a piece of flax that was sown the fore part of July. This flax had only one light rain fall during the growing time. The threshed flax was of very fine quality, nice plump grain and bright color. There were wheat yields as high as 31 bushels per acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Bastian can see a great change in the country since they left there six years ago, and it sure looks good to see straw stacks and corn fields, with plenty of hay stacks near the ranches. Cattle on the range were nice and fat. They think from all appearance that land selling from $15 to $50 per acre will be a great wheat and cattle country, as there seems to be more interest taken in farming than before.

If they should strike oil, of which there is good indications it would make Fall River county a good place to own some land.

NEWS NOTES—GOOD AND BAD

The China Republic is said to have fallen, and a monarchy proclaimed by Chang Tsao Lin, governor of Feng-Tien.

Cleveland captured the pennant in the base ball round-up.

Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent magazine is in revolt against the republican nominee, following Parson, of New York, from the party ranks to aid in the election of Cox.

Coal prices fell in Chicago—let 'em smash.

Mexico has deported Diaz.

Harding is trying to convert Tennessee and Kentucky.

Candidate Cox says that Candidate Harding is wiggling and wabbling on the league question, and others.

A cold wave is promised this week. No hurry while coal prices keep up. Everybody is kicking Hi Costa Livin', and if ever they get him down, who will boost him up again?

To beat the high cost of clothing one big firm in Ohio established a tailor shop for the benefit of its employees, and turned out an average of 24 suits of clothing a day, from $30 up, and have found the plan so satisfactory that they will continue that department.

TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

MEET AT EMERSON

Those who attended from Wayne and vicinity report that there was a large attendance and a good program at the meeting of the teachers from five counties in this corner of the state at Emerson last Saturday. The meeting was not properly advertised, in time, we are told to secure the maximum attendance. Mr. Russell, a famous school man from Iowa, made a splendid address—and so did our state superintendent, Matzen—in fact, he appeared at least twice, once to supply a vacancy on the program. Prof. Teed, of this place, spoke and talked of Rural Schools, a subject with which he is conversant. A number of others spoke, but as the programs did not seem plentiful we cannot say who they were, except that our informant tells us that Superintendent Van Meter, of Pender, was among those addressing the teachers.

MARINES SLAY 3250

HAITIAN BANDITS

A dispatch from Washington tells that the U. S. Marines in Haiti and the local troops have slain more than three thousand bandits in those islands. Why not now send this experienced force to the "states" and let them do for us what they have been doing for the protection of the people of these little islands? We have bandits, who rob a million, where those bandits did not rob a dozen—our bandits are doing wholesale robbery and taking money unjustly by the millions.

WAYNE STATE NORMAL NEWS

The football season opened with a big double-header on the Normal field Friday afternoon. The games played were Coleridge vs. Wayne High School and Norfolk vs. Normal, and resulted in defeat for the visiting teams.

By three o'clock, the time set for the beginning, the wire inclosure had become a living creature. Cars from Norfolk and other surrounding towns flanked the field on either side and added their "honk-honk" to the general uproar. A thrill of expectation ran through the crowd when Coach Marston appeared on the scene.

The game between the Coleridge and Wayne High Schools came off first. An enthusiastic crowd from the high school cheered on their team, occasionally the Normalites joined in the yells, but it was easy to see that they were conserving their energy for the struggle that was to come later. The game was fast and clean, and resulted in a score 12-6 in favor of Wayne.

The real excitement began when the Norfolk team took the field and the Normal boys began "warming up" for the game. There was a breathless hush when the teams took their places. Referee Kemp gave the signal; "Ready, Norfolk! Ready, Wayne!" Everybody stepped on everybody else's toes. No one seemed to mind, for what's a ruined foot when you can see a good game! Spectators were perched on every possible vantage point. Over on top of the Industrial Building three men risked life and dignity in their anxiety to see. The cook brought out a chair and established himself comfortably on the East Hall porch. (Even "Billy" can appreciate an exciting contest.) Small boys hung perilously at the very topmost point of the bleachers. The wire felt a tightened strain as hundreds of persons leaned against it. The whistle blew; they were off. The five cheer leaders madly waved their arms and shouted, "Your pep! Your pep!"

The first half ended with Wayne way in the lead. An excited Normal crowd led on by the indefatigable "Skeets" joined hands and danced all over the field, then formed a circle about the team and shouted themselves hoarse.

The last half was as exciting as the first. It was past six o'clock. No one thought of supper. The game ended with a score 28-0. The happy crowd dispersed homeward, ready to support their team always, in victory or in defeat.

OF INTEREST TO SHOPPERS

The ladies are interested in any little item which tells what is for sale in the way of wearing apparel, and where to purchase the same. This week Mrs. Jeffries announces that an invoice of new tricolette and satin dresses have arrived for her patrons, along with other new goods. Knit hoods for the little folks is another timely shipment just in.

Then there is millinery constantly coming—new lots each week. The product of a bit of velvet and a clever mind, with the latest design frame, and we have a most becoming hat in the shade best suited for your complexion. We are glad that the peak of prices seems to be passing. It adds to the interest in millinery.

We have a case filled with cameos and other pretty under garments for dress occasions.

Among other items of dress which add much to the appearance is a line of hair goods. Ladies may find an exact match for their natural hair in our assortment—adv.

WEBB RICE AT LATER DATE

Because Candidate for Congress, Webb Rice, of Norfolk, could not talk against the music of a merry-go-round just beside the city hall last Saturday evening he will make a new date for his Wayne speech to be announced later. We have read reports and listened to the comments of those who have heard Mr. Rice, and they tell us that his talk is one well worth listening to.

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

There is a new interest at the country club this week as the close of the contest, between the President and Secretary teams draws to a close. There are three or four matches yet to be played, with the standing now 45 to 35 in favor of the Secretary team. The penalty to the losers is a supper for the hungry bunch.

PAVING PROGRESS SLOW—BASE LAYING FINISHED

Tuesday morning the last of the base for the Wayne paving was laid and is now curing so that the main street from the south into Wayne will probably be open for traffic the last of next week. Work was delayed by weather and slow arrival of material, so that within two weeks of the time the contract should have been finished it lacks all of the brick work, no brick having yet been received, though the report has been repeatedly circulated that the shipment of brick had commenced, and it is now asserted that the first installment is due to arrive at any time now—until they arrive.

The crew still have a few days work grading the parkings, which work is now under way. The cushion sand is being unloaded, six cars having arrived the last of last week. This will require about 80 cars more of sand.

If the brick will come in a steady stream, keeping a crew busy laying, stays one of the men in charge, part of the work, and the weather man will give us a normal fall, it may be possible to complete the laying of brick in all of the first district, and possibly the entire length of Main street. This is possible, but hardly probable, for the railroad, the brick makers or the weather man may one or all fall to go the limit.

The drainage outlet is not yet completed, and we are told that a big job remains to be done there. Charlie Thompson, who had a sub-contract to finish 300 feet of the ditch, is busy on the job, but the remainder in the control of the original contractor is not being pushed as it should be.

MARCUS KROGER RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

Wednesday morning a serious accident happened on Main and 2nd streets, when a small truck, driven by O. S. Roberts, bumped into Marcus Kruger, knocking him down and ran over him, breaking several ribs and a collar bone, besides bruising him considerably. He was at once taken to the hospital and is being cared for there. A report from his nurse as we go to press is to the effect that thus far no serious symptoms have developed, and unless he has some serious internal injury from the weight of the car in passing over him he will rally nicely; but his injuries are such that he will necessarily be confined to his bed for a time.

Mr. Roberts, who was driving the truck tells us that he was turning at the street intersection to go north, and had met Mr. Kruger as he came from north, while Kruger was crossing diagonally from the State Bank corner toward the Orr store, and had signaled him intending that he should know that he was turning, but it was evidently not so understood, for as he came north in front of the Orr store he discovered that his car was bumping into Mr. Kruger. He tried to apply the brake, but it failed to act effectively, and this so frightened Mr. Roberts that he forgot the emergency brake, and the car passed over the man before he could stop it. He immediately took Mr. K. to the hospital.

Those who saw the accident seem to agree that Mr. Roberts was not driving fast, and that he should have been able to have stopped the car, had everything worked normal.

ACTION STARTED AGAINST TIPPLE

Fremont, Nebraska, October 13.—Action was started Monday in the district court for the recovery of $18,000 on four notes by the First State Bank, of Crete; First State Bank, of Ulysses; Scribner State Bank, First Bank, of Nickerson; against Knox Tipple, of Fremont, and the Lion Bonding Company, of Omaha.

The papers involved are demand notes executed on January 1, 1920 to the Lion Bonding and Security Company. The notes are secured by thirty shares of stock in the First National Bank, of Stanton, and the thirty shares of stock in the Lion Bonding and Security Company worth a total of $25,000, no part of which has been paid.

The first steps in the case were taken Saturday afternoon and held over until Monday. The amount involved is one of the largest sums in controversy that has been brought into this court and the results of the action taken by the court will be eagerly watched.

The defendant is well known at Wayne, having frequently been a visitor here, and in earlier days had interests here.

DEATH OF JOHN GOSS

In the death of John Goss, which occurred at his late home at Morningside, Saturday, October 9, 1920, a man worthy of the many friendships he had formed in this community and where he has lived was called to his reward. A pioneer in this county, he won the respect and friendship of all of the neighbors of those early days, and so lived as to retain it to the last. An old soldier of the Civil War, a representative of the people of this county at Lincoln, and a true friend, his death is regretted by a large circle of friends.

Following a funeral service at Morningside Tuesday, the body was brought to Wayne Wednesday morning and taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Porter, where many friends called for a last look at one they had known well. In the afternoon there was a funeral service from the Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. John Beard preaching; then came the burial in the family lot beside the wife, who was called seven years ago.

The following sketch of his life was given us for publication:

Trusram Sanbura Goss, better known as John Goss, was born July 25, 1846, in Boston, Massachusetts, died October 9, 1920—age 74 years, 2 months, 14 days.

In the early 70's he came to the west locating at Emerson, Iowa. There in 1878 he married Miss Emma Brookhouser, who died October 30, 1913.

The family were among the pioneers of Wayne county—coming here in 1883. For 27 years they worked and grew with Wilbur precinct. Mr. Goss engaged continuously in farming and stock raising. In 1902 and '03 he was a member of the Nebraska legislature. Ten years ago they moved to Morningside, Iowa.

The deceased is survived by four children, Mrs. E. R. Gibson, Omaha; Frederick S. Goss, Moffat, Colorado; and Mrs. Harry Peterson and Mrs. John Sturns, Morningside; all of whom were here to attend the funeral, accompanied by wife or husbands.

Mr. Goss followed "the long road that has no turn" to its far small end, where the extreme gentle threads of this life blend with the "straight and narrow path", to which he was in every way reconciled and prepared.

During the few days of his last sickness he expressed himself frequently as feeling fine, and having had a pleasant life.

IS PROFIT-SHARING FAIR TO THE PUBLIC?

The only profit-sharing plan that is economically sound and fair, observes the American Contractor, commenting on the Harvester Trust bonus, is sharing with the general public through price reductions. The Harvester Trust plan is to divide profits over and above an allowance for a seven per cent dividend to stockholders, on the basis of 60 per cent to the workers and 40 per cent to the owners of the concern.

The Harvester company may well ask itself if it is paying its labor a fair wage. Is it paying in wages a sum which represents the production value of the laborer's effort? If it is not, obviously the sound policy is to increase wages. If it is paying a fair wage—if, in other words, the laborer is being paid for all that he produces and is given the full social value of his efforts, then why present him with a share of the profits?

The Harvester company may well ask itself another question. Are the owners receiving a fair profit on their investment? Is a seven per cent dividend a fair compensation for the investment in an industrial concern of this character? If it is not, then the dividend rate should be increased just as the wage of labor should be increased if it does not represent the production value of the laborer's effort. But if seven per cent is a fair compensation for the investors in the Harvester concern, then why hand the owners a share of the profits at the end of the year?

The point is right here: when every one who contributes to production is fairly and honestly paid they have no just claim to any additional compensation, and the obvious conclusion, when there are profits in excess of these fair wages for every one, is that too much is being taken from the public.

Labor does not ask for a share of the profits, but it is about time that some of these large concerns think of sharing the profits with the public, and this profit sharing on the part of the public naturally would be brought about through a reduction in the price of the product.—Yeoman Shield

"Go And Get It."
 It is said that gold has been found in small particles in the "bad lands" of South Dakota, by some Omaha men, and that it is that it may develop that it is there in paying quantities. That is possible. The writer has washed the sand and gravel in a little mill in northeastern Iowa, and found gold in small particles. Gold was washed there, and a sluice panned as much as 50 cents worth in a day while the water lasted in the spring time. But the only gold in paying quantity ever produced in that country was its golden butter. The cow, the cheese factory and the creamery have made that a land of wealthy farmers and dairymen, and no one now ever thinks of washing the real gold from that little streak of gravel between two hills. But they pasture the hills and get the gold.

Miss Florence Gardner visited the Wm. Root home at Sholes Friday evening and Saturday.
 Mrs. Geo. Foster, from Randolph, was here Monday on her way to Norfolk to visit her mother, Mrs. Bertha Wiedenfeld. Wayne was for a number of years their home.
 Mrs. Elizabeth Muth, after spending two months visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Suhr, returned to her home at Center, Saturday.
 W. C. Lowry, from Winside, has been visiting relatives and friends at Bloomfield, returning home Monday. He reports that Bloomfield is still on the map, and that things are quite lively in that city.
 The Nebraska Farmers' Co-operative Grain and Livestock Association meets in Omaha November 23. P. G. Gerry, United States Senator, from Rhode Island, will be one of the speakers.
 Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen went to Chicago Sunday night, where the doctor plans to spend a few days visiting a hospital for clinic work. It was their plan to reach home this evening.

Mrs. Carl Farman, and daughter, Ida May, of Randolph, were visitors at this place Saturday between trains.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Boyce left Tuesday for Sioux City, where they will spend a few days visiting with friends.
 Misses Marie Austin and Clara Harrington, after spending a short time visiting with Miss Berhice Fitch, who is attending Normal, returned to their home at Norfolk Saturday.
 Mrs. D. H. Alberts and her granddaughter, Fern, Sullivan, both of Pierce, were here for a week-end visit at the home of Mrs. Henry Jans, mother of Mrs. Alberts. They returned home Monday.
 Mrs. Anna Johnson, from Hoskins, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stamm, her daughter, returned home Saturday evening.
 D. J. Agler, wife and son, Fred, from Thornton, Iowa, came last week to visit at the home of Henry Merriman and wife, his sister, and with J. W. Agler and family and Jerry Longnecker at Winside. They came by car, and at the close of their visit in this county went to visit in the south.

L. M. Owen purchased a car of the first prize winning yearlings at Sioux City last week and now has them home on rations. It was his misfortune to have two of them come in crippled while on the trip.
S. D. Perry, from Kaneville, Illinois, has been visiting at the homes of his nephews, H. J. and Earl Miner, for a few days past, leaving for home Tuesday afternoon. He came to Omaha as a delegate to the Loyal Mystic Legion from Illinois, and came on to Wayne to visit here. He was also a guest at the Ed. Owen home.
South Sioux City has had a lot of paving troubles the season just closing, and no paving yet. Litigation stopped the letting of the contract earlier in the season, and when that was cleared up, the contract let, and the streets and crossings torn up by grading gang (Wayne people understand what it is like) the tightening money market leaves them without cash to go forward with. It is hoped, their paper says that enough money will be found available to complete their drainage system this fall. The paving contractor, however, has his equipment in winter quarters.
It is irony of fate that after furnishing most of the votes to put woman suffrage over, the republicans should be threatened with the loss of two senators as the first special result of votes for women. There were a few republican senators who turned deaf ears to their party's call on this point. One of the two deafest of these was Senator Wadsworth, of New York. He is now fighting for re-election amid the din of the women voters' cry of "Wadsworth's place is in the home." Then there is Brandegee, of Connecticut. Brandegee succumbed to the temptation to be coarse in his discussion of the women's demand for votes. In 1918, the war year, when suffrage for the women was being urged as a recognition of their war services, Brandegee made the monumental mistake of saying that in our previous wars "there were no pink tea parties talking about putting pink chemises on the men and Plymouth rock pants on the women." He advised the women to go home and pick lint and make bandages "instead of bleating around here about their saving democracy." Now Senator Brandegee is out for re-election with the women voting and every wall shouting his 1918 nonsense. It is embarrassing to the candidates and might be the means of determining the complexion of the next senate.—State Journal.

OTIS STRINGER REPLIES
Wayne, Nebraska.—Editor Nebraska Democrat—Your comment in last week's Democrat in regard to my questions in the Sioux City Tribune I consider as a sort of a slur.
I differ from you in thinking that they answered my question at all, let alone giving me any information.
I am against the League of Nations because I consider it an unpatriotic, un-American and preposterous proposition, which looks very nice on the surface, just like the slogan, "He Kept Us Out of War" of four years ago.
The idea that we should abandon our independence, that as boys and girls at school we were all so proud of, and turn our affairs over to a foreign court, represented by such petty countries as Spain, Greece, Brazil and Belgium, together with England is absurd. The thing is too absurd for any sane American to consider.
Only a partisan, blind man or a political idiot would favor such a thing. I am not so ignorant that I did not know about the President's speech to Congress, referred to by the Tribune, which might have been interpreted to mean almost anything. I am strictly independent in politics, so don't refer me to Taft, Hughes, Root, Lodge or Hoover. I consider that there is an apology due me.
Yours Truly,
Otis Stringer.
The editor had no intention to slur Mr. Stringer, and felt to see how what we wrote could be considered a slur, for we simply called attention to the question and the answer given by the Tribune, because it covered a point about which we have heard discussion. Mr. Stringer has a right to his opinions, political and otherwise, and we are glad that he has them and is willing to express them. That he and the editor do not agree may not be to his discredit—many a man has not agreed with an editor. Mr. Stringer has the right to oppose our entry to the league, and the writer has the right to favor it—that is what makes our country better than many of the others. Free thought and free speech and a free press.
THE POPULAR TEACHER VERSUS THE VALUABLE TEACHER
(From the Goldenrod)
Proceeding from the standpoint that a popular teacher is always a valuable one, we could not but go awry in our judgment of a teacher were this the only measuring stick used. And were the popularity of the instructor the only means of judging his worth, how pitiable would be the fate of the one who possesses real merit and has but subtle tact of calling into operation the resisting recesses of the mind and putting them to use.
To the pretty, frivolous student, who does not properly gauge values, "popular" and "valuable" are synonymous, for, to his frail mind, one suggests the other; to him, only that which causes the popular sentiment to effervesce is of value. The popular instructor who can, for a time, boast a retinue of worshippers, suddenly finds himself at a disadvantage when the ranks of his followers become depleted, for he must erect, from the scattered debris of his former popularity, a new foundation in which "value" and "worth" are the prominent bricks if he is to be a success.
All this does not mean that the "idiot" is worthless; neither does it mean that a valuable teacher is never popular. We would rather that there were a combination of these two qualities, that a valuable teacher were also a popular one. But we would rather sacrifice popularity in order that merit might exert solitary sway.
No one can venture a guess as to the amount of good derived from either type of teacher. Each has his place and we are largely governed in our likes and dislikes by the kind of subject matter in which we are interested. The manner in which the teacher's personality operates through it all is a big factor, also. Often, however, we allow an instructor's oddities to form the one means of judging his merit. And how often, were we to look underneath the surface of those peculiarities, might we be able to find a wealth of worth never hitherto noticed. What is your basis of judgment? Have you ever stopped to consider? Suppose you try to discover some good in every one of your instructors, be they of the popular or "otherwise" type.

URGENT WHEAT GROWERS TO HOLD THEIR GRAIN
Wichita, Kansas, October 9.—The wheat growers' association of the United States with a membership of 70,000 in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska and South Dakota, has issued from its office here a proclamation to all its members urging them to refrain from selling any wheat after 5 p. m. October 25 until such time as the price of good wheat is raised to $3 a bushel at growers' terminal market.
Agricultural colleges, farm bureaus, state boards of agriculture and similar organizations are urged to co-operate with the association in its effort to raise the price of wheat.

If speculators and profiteers get the wheat now, they will make the price still higher. We own this flour at the present low-level prices. It can hardly go lower and must cost more if wheat advances. This is your chance.

ALUMNI NOTES
Eleanor Schulte, '20, writes from New York City that she is doing substitute teaching at that place and is enjoying the work very much. She expects to take the state examinations in January and then will be qualified to hold a permanent position. She writes: "So far I have been provided with work and at present have a position which I expect to keep for two weeks. I am very fond of New York City and enjoy my work but often my thoughts wander back to the days spent at the Normal." Miss Schulte's address is 125 West 75th Street, New York City.
Miss Bitha Babcock, '19, who was to have taught the eighth grade at Stanton this year, was compelled to resign from the position because of illness on September 6th was operated on for appendicitis at Norfolk. She is now convalescing at her home in Atkinson.

Miss Mayme Petersen, '18, is teaching in the primary department at Bronson, Iowa, and likes her work very much. She sends greetings to friends on the Hill and appreciation of help received here.
Miss Agnes Graham, '20, teaching science in the Wisner High School, finds her work intensely interesting but requiring a great deal of work. She, however, would not exchange places with anyone, for science teaching is the profession she likes and has chosen. The laboratories in Wisner high school are large and well equipped. The physics class is using Professor Britell's manual. Miss Graham will teach wireless telegraphy to those of her pupils who are interested as soon as the apparatus can be put up.
Fay Gordon, '20, is supervising art and penmanship in the Fullerton schools, and anticipates an interesting year of work.
Clara Carpenter, '19, is at Tacoma, Washington, but her occupation is unknown at present.
Anna Baer, '16, is teaching in the intermediate grades of Los Angeles, California. This is her second year at that place in work that she fully enjoys.
C. Wynn Duerig, '15, who has been "lost" so far as the alumni records go, has been found at Piler, Twin Falls County, Idaho.
Frank J. Brokenicky, '20, is teaching commercial work and athletics in the North Bend high school.
E. Harold Croghan, '20, has gone to Porto Rico to engage in teaching. He finds his surroundings very interesting.
Perhaps President Wilson was not quite as exclusive about sharing honors in the settlement of league questions as the republicans of the senate claim. It is now brought out that he advised with Ex-President Taft on questions, and followed suggestions which Mr. Taft made. According to established customs, members of the senate have seldom been asked to take a part in the formation of treaties on which they were later to pass as senators. Two from the senate thus named on one occasion resigned their seat in the senate before acting or accepting. President McKinley is said to have once asked some senators to act, but when the case was presented to him as to the inconsistency of the act, unless the men resigned, he saw the point and withdrew the request, naming others than members. With perfect propriety could the president consult the ex-president. This he did, and his good suggestions were incorporated into the treaty so far as it could be done—for America was not the only interests to be served. There were about thirty other nations to be considered.

this time—but the league is an issue and the republican nominee has made a bid for the German-German vote by saying that he will not favor our entry into the league. Of course this is not a bid for the American-German vote, and it will not get it. Then the Irish are against the League—and that is a subject Mullen should be well informed on, for they tell us that he is part Irish. But the story says that Nebraska Irish are not supposed to be as unitedly against the league as those of that nationality in some other states. To sum the matter up, they hope to win because Wilson has not pleased all with his administration of affairs—they hope to win because some of the Germans oppose the league of nations—yet the best authority we can hear of—or at least as good as any—a man just home from Germany, says that the German people of that country favor the league and want their country to become a member as soon as possible. If that be true no German voter in this country is going to please his relatives and friends in the land over the sea by voting here in opposition to the United States entering the league. Sullivan admits that with the league referendum alone at issue Nebraska might be for the league. To us the league is a greater question than who is president.

We often wonder how kings and rulers felt when it became their duty or was their inclination to issue an order which meant death and suffering to many—the same wonder comes to us as to the lesser officers, where the leader of an army must order a charge—where a governor must refuse to give pardon or commute a sentence—where a judge must pronounce a death sentence. Then comes the thought that every citizen of this land is a ruler, in part at least, of his country. He or she has a responsibility as serious as had the ruler of olden times. How will the situation be met in the election booths in less than three weeks from today. The way the issues are now shaped. It is the privilege and the solemn duty of every citizen of the United States to vote for war or peace. The republican nominee has committed himself. If elected to oppose the entry of this country into membership in the League of Nations. The democratic nominee is on the opposite side of the great question—he says it is an obligation we owe the world to do our part by becoming a member of the League of Nations, to do all in our power to aid in ending war. Are you ready to assume the responsibility? It is you who are to give the order of war or peace. Which will you decide? Alone in the election booth, with no one but your maker to know what you do, have the courage to do right as you see the right.

A letter received this week from an official in the national democratic organization who is in position to know what he is talking about says: "I wrote to Governor Cox immediately after my return from California and told him to keep hammering until he drove Mr. Harding from the front porch. He certainly has accomplished that feat. I hope he will keep right after him. Cox knows the issue and feels sincerely that he is on the right side, and he certainly is able to present his argument in a way to convince the people of his sincerity of the justice of his cause. He is gaining every day and if every democrat would take hold and do his little share, I would feel confident that he would be elected. So many gave up the fight before it started, and they are slow to get back into the traces. Keep hammering."

Now that the league of nations is the paramount issue, and Harding is against it and Cox favors entering the league, with reservations it necessary to make any obscure interpretation clear, the voter may vote his or her sentiment on that great question. Minor questions will be settled by the administration, whatever it may be. It is up to the voter to say whether we enter the league with about forty other nations that want to make an end to war, or whether we wish to stay outside with Turkey, Mexico, Germany and a few others—a very few, too. Then if we reject the pact, we must ask for separate peace with Germany, or continue in a state of war with that country.

The members will respond to Roll Call with the subject, "Women in Politics." In case the weather should be cold, the meeting will be held in the basement of the library.

The Minerva Club met with Mrs. Ben McEachen last Monday afternoon. The lesson was on Citizenship, was led by Mrs. Lackey, which was interesting and instructive. Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Ellis sang a duet, which was very pleasing. Hostess served a delicious two course luncheon. Next meeting will be October 25th, with Mrs. Harvey Miner.

St. Mary's Guild Ladies were entertained at the home of Mrs. Alice McManigal last Thursday afternoon. There were about fifty guests present. The time was spent socially and all had a jolly time, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments. The guests of honor were: Mrs. King, Mrs. Barklet, Tacoma, Washington; and Mrs. A. L. Lantaff, of Canton, South Dakota.

Last Sunday evening a large number of neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kay, southeast of this place, and spent a most enjoyable evening. Dancing was the social diversion. At a late hour luncheon was served and after a few more selections by the orchestra, all started for their homes, voting they had spent a most pleasant evening.

The U. D. Club met at the home of Mrs. Jessie Reynolds Monday afternoon. Mrs. Charlie Craven read a magazine article on republican candidates. Mrs. Harry Craven read a magazine article on Calvin Coolidge. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Ringland. The subject for the afternoon will be Woman's Suffrage.

The Monday Club met October 11th, at the home of Mrs. Kostomlatsky. Current events were given in response to roll call. A very able comparison of the two political parties was given by Mrs. Bowen. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The meeting October 18th, will be with Mrs. Rollie Ley.

The Acme Club met for their regular meeting, Monday afternoon, with Mrs. J. T. Bressler. Members responded to roll call by telling what magazine was the most benefit to them. Mrs. Wilson was leader of a current event lesson. Mrs. Britell will be hostess next Monday.

The Sorosis Club met at the home of Mrs. Charles Heikes, Monday afternoon. 500 was social diversion, the game being played at four tables. Mrs. George Roe, Jr., of Carroll, was a guest. Hostess served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Elmer Noakes will be hostess next Monday.

A dozen former school mates and friends of Miss Alice Blair gave a kitchen shower in her honor at the home of Miss Margaret Mines Thursday evening. At 6:30 a delicious dinner was served. The evening was spent socially and with games.

THE SILENT ARMY

(Edgar Mells in the New York World.) The candidate sat on his own front porch, He thought of the million electors; He thought, "Their votes are mine"; He thought of his coming power, Of his presidential state; He thought of the league of nations, And then bewailed his fate:

"I have prayed to my god, the senate, For aid against the foe; I have sung the praise of Borah, As all the people know. For the service I have rendered Unto Cab Lodge and HI I now demand a victory Or know the reason why?"

In normalcy sat the candidate, Near the phone and wire line, The while the blamed old democrats Prepared a voters' mine.

The tramp of myriad footsteps Resounded through the night, Like murmuring of the Seven Seas, Like breezes in their flight— On came the endless thousands In never-ceasing throng; In undulating rhythm A thousand thousand strong.

The lame, the halt, The groping blind; The maimed, the hurt, From wars' dread grind. The candidate viewed with startled gaze As he raised his shaking head, To see the silent army, The army of the dead!

From the throng there came a being Clad all in hooded white; She faced the senate statesman, Who started, gray with fright. "I am the woman-mother Who bore the myriads there, War's victims, my dear sene— Look on them, if you dare. I bore the pangs of childbirth To rear that spectral throng;

I weaned them from my bosom, While mother love grew strong.

I crooned the songs of childhood; I nursed them through their ills; I raised these hero soldiers, The workers in our mills. Look now upon my children, Upon you ghastly wrecks, Upon these human horrors, The yoke upon their necks!"

The candidate sat on his own front porch. In perfect normalcy; He turned from the silent army. "I'll scrap the league," said he.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

"BILL SIKES' HOUSE" MUST GO

Located in District Made Famous by Dickens, and Stands in Way of Improvements.

The house from whose roof Bill Sikes tried to lower himself by a rope to escape the mob that had tracked him to Jacob's Island is to be torn down. Bill, you remember, made a misstep as he tried to swing clear of the roof, and the noose at the end of the rope caught him and hanged him, whereat his dog, trying to leap from the roof to his shoulders, missed his aim and fell into the ditch at the base of the house, dashing out his brains on a stone.

Jacob's island is in Bedmondsey, near St. Saviors docks. The ditches or canals which separated it from the mainland and which carried water from the Thames to the mills and tanneries in the district, long since disappeared. Bill Sikes' house was identified some time ago by the discovery of an old map of the district, on which its location was plainly indicated. It is in the rear of a house in Eckert street, and is used as a stable. The London county council plans to improve the entire district, so the region made notorious by "Oliver Twist" must go. The name of the sixteenth century Jacob, who had a large house and garden on the island, before it became an industrial district, is still preserved in the nearby Jacob street.—Detroit News.

First Annual Sale Duroc Jersey Boars at the farm of F. W. Blotz & Son Randolph, Neb., Monday, October 18 For five years Messrs Blotz & Son have been building a real herd of Duroc Jersey hogs, sparing no pains of expense to have a foundation that was right in breeding and right as individuals. During this time they have disposed of from 20 to 40 head of boars each season at private sale, and always making a satisfied customer of each purchaser. On the strength of that record they are inviting the Duroc Breeders of Northeast Nebraska to be their guests at their first annual sale, which is billed to take place at their farm four miles north of Randolph, where they have ample shelter for all comers, regardless of weather. Parties from a distance will be their guests at Hotel Boughn, Randolph. This first offering will consist of 15 Great Fall Boars, 4 January Boars and 23 Splendid Spring Boars, the cream of their herd of several hundred of as well-bred a bunch of hogs as one will find in many a day. The sale offering is the first pick of the herd, and both breeders and farmers will find what they need to build a herd or to maintain one already started. Their offering is the set of such noted sires as Model Sensation from the Edgar Taylor herd, a boar backed by a long line of prize-winning ancestors, some of the famous animals that were considered fit for a place in the Ed. Kern herd, such as Capt. Uneeda 220641, and Ted 349237 of their own breeding. You may be able to find better breeding, but we do not know where. Wayne breeders and farmers may easily reach this sale, which Col. D. H. Cunningham is to cry next Monday, and they should not miss a chance so close to home, and so rich in the best blood of the breed. F. W. Blotz & Son, Randolph

A WOMAN PLANS HER VOTE

Editorial by Elizabeth Towne in Nautilus

We were republicans in 1912 and we followed Theodore Roosevelt. The progressive party platform of that year was part of our religion. It still is, with additions.

When Roosevelt refused the nomination in 1916 we went over to Mr. Wilson and the democrats, who, in their first four years had given us all but one or two of the measures espoused in the 1912 progressive party platform—more human welfare measures than in the previous 40 years. They had to serve the people as a whole, or lose out next time.

They continued to serve the people—with Hoover, the federal reserve law, farmers' loan, parcel post, recognition of labor's right to collective bargaining, etc., until two years ago, when "the people" were again fooled by a slogan, and elected a republican congress, which has worked consistently ever since to thwart every human welfare measure that might rebound to the glory of Wilson and his party, notably the League of Nations.

And now in 1920 the logic of the situation seems to us to remain the same: Vote for the democratic candidates for president and congress; if you want a human welfare administration, League of Nations, fair deal to labor as opposed to Garryism, return of railroads and coal mines, etc., to public control—it was the republicans who put them back again into their present state of St. Vitus dance—if you want these things vote the democratic ticket.

Comparing platforms we find the democratic platform covers about 75 per cent. of what we want, prohibition and single tax being the only fundamentals upon which it is silent. The republicans are vociferously silent on the same points and others.

The democratic platform contains all of the women's planks except one; the republican ignored all but five.

Tammany is for Cox; I don't like that. But Hearst is for Harding; so honors are even there. Hearst and Harding are one in will to invade Mexico. Only Wilson and the democratic policy have kept us out of Mexico these two years of republican rule in congress.

Sylvester Viereck admits that his 6,000,000 German votes are going to Harding against the League of Nations.

The League of Nations is the first plank in our religious platform, and to us Henry Cabot Lodge stands as the man who, above any other man in the world, is to blame for our leagueless condition, and for the Polish-Russian war which we believe resulted from our standing out.

There are other reasons for our decision to vote for Cox and Roosevelt, but these are a plenty, don't you think?

And we find ourselves in good company: Miss Mary E. Wooley, president of Mt. Holyoke college; Miss Hazzard, of Wellesley; Dr. Charles L. Elliot, of Harvard, et al.

TAXES HERE AND THERE

A number of our republican friends are much exercised over the tax increase in North Dakota under the rule of the present governor and legislature when they had better be looking at home and making comparisons as to the former democratic administrations in this state, and the present McKelvie administration, and McKelvie went into office lamenting the "tax burden upon the people." One would naturally suppose the tax burden would be reduced—that his first mission would be to remove the burden, but what do we discover? Wm. H. Smith, former state auditor, a man who knows the finances of the state as well as any man within its borders, perhaps, vouches for the correctness of the figures sent to us, and given below:

"State taxes were increased from $4,369,102 in 1918 to $7,400,613 in 1919, the first year of his term,—an increase of more than three million dollars in a single year. Not much relief from the "tax burden upon the people" there. Then in 1920 they were given another boost, so that the total taxes paid by the people of the state are more than three and one-half million dollars greater than they were when he lamented the great "tax burden upon the people," and charged that the state's affairs were reeking with "inefficiency, waste and favoritism."

"But the general tax is not the only tax that has been increased. Under the former administration every automobile owner paid a tax, or license, of $3 per car per year. Under the present administration the minimum license is $10. per car, while the average for all cars is $12.50. As there are about 210,000 cars in the state the increased tax imposed upon auto owners amounts to approximately $2,

It is possible that some of our Nebraska people have their holdings so hidden that the assessor has not discovered their all and assessed it, and they may not realize the enormous increase; but thousands from all parts of the state are feeling the burden, and feeling it will protest against it, and the only effective protest they can make is at the polls. Then the question naturally comes how can I protest best at the polls? That is the question for every taxpayer to consider November 2d. It is the question to now be studying.

Another question to consider is what are the people receiving for this big tax. The size of the tax is only one consideration. The use to which it is put is another important question. We might do well to look to that matter here in Nebraska, and let the people of North Dakota attend to their own affairs—and they seem unable. At any rate the courts have given their new laws an "O. K." and so have the voters.

GOVERNOR COX ON ARTICLE X.

"What has made wars in the past? It has been the lust of territory. Under Article X of the League of Nations a boundary line is a boundary line for the small as well as for the large nations. Every imperialist in Europe is against the League of Nations, but, thank God, there are not as many imperialists as there once were. The people have ceased to take seriously the criticism of Article X."—Governor Cox.

Hudson and Essex Cars

Return to Bedrock Prices

Reduced $200 to $450

Thousands have planned to buy Hudson and Essex cars this Fall. For five years the Super-Six has been the world's largest selling fine car. In eighteen months Essex sales made an unmatched record. What must now be the demand for them at these bedrock prices? But labor and material shortages in early summer had forced reductions in schedules for Fall and Winter. And now the return to normal in prices assures such an immediate increase in sales that a scarcity of Hudson and Essex cars seems certain.

Choose your car now. Learn how the price reduction increases its attractiveness. And remember that in either Hudson or Essex you obtain exclusive motors---for they are patented.

You can save $200 to $450 on the car and model of your choice. Act promptly if you want delivery this Fall.

Why Telephone Bills Are Paid in Advance

Suppose we charged your account this month with 10 cents more than your regular telephone rent.

Then, when you asked about it, we told it was a part of the telephone bill Mr. Somebody did not pay.

If we did not collect telephone rent from every one in advance, some people never would pay. Yet the cost of having furnished service, and the expense of installing and removing the telephones, would have to be paid by someone.

In order that one subscriber will not have to pay indirectly a part of the telephone bill of another, we require advance payment for local telephone service.

BUILT FOR HIGH ALTITUDES

Frenchman Has Designed Airbus That Can Carry Passengers—Compartment to Be Airtight.

Why not use "aerial submarines," for flight in the upper air—that is, inclosed cars in which air at atmospheric pressure can be maintained? asks Scientific American Monthly. Only by some such means will any but a very few highly trained pilots ever be able to attain to great altitudes, according to Dr. Guglielminetti, president of the section of physiology of the International Aeronautic exposition, and Dr. Garsaux of the technical section of aeronautics at the St. Cyr Military academy, France.

Louis Breguet, the builder of airplanes, has designed an airbus for use at high altitudes. It has a wing spread of 85 feet and a metal fuselage inclosing pilot, motor and passengers in an airtight cigar-shaped case. It is capable of carrying twenty-seven passengers, each with 88 pounds of baggage, a distance of 620 miles, or a pilot, two mechanics, 1,100 pounds of provisions and 10,300 pounds of gasoline a distance of 4,039 miles at 106 miles an hour. No oxygen tanks are needed.

Old Coach Travel Expensive.

In England, too, railway fares are about to be raised, at even a higher percentage than in this country, remarks a writer in the New York Times. Whether the consequent grumbling is higher there than here it is impossible to decide. As an intended help in stilling it, the newspapers are publishing the prices for transportation that travelers had to pay in pre-railway days.

Thus, for the journey from London to Glasgow the "inside" passenger of 1812 had to pay about $52. Going no farther than Newcastle from London cost the man inside the coach something like $23. In addition there was the outlay for meals on the road and for the long list of expected tips to guards, coachmen, etc.

MAYTAG ELECTRIC AND MULTI-MOTOR WASHERS

Lighten Mother's Burden—Makes Washday Easy

These are easily the most popular washing machines made, judging by the service they render. There is no escaping laundry work on the farm, but the Maytag takes washing out of the laundry class. The home laundry, farm or city, which is equipped with the Maytag Electric or the Maytag Multi-Motor washer is fitted to care for the weekly wash promptly and properly without trouble.

Let the power do the hard work—save time, money and worry. Washer, ringer, tub and wash bench combined. A sturdy wood tub, the best of washing machine mechanism, guarded against all danger from exposed parts, makes wash day almost a pleasure, for either the city or country home.

son sleeping in France tells us something of the care with which this work as well as that of placing the bodies of those who are not to be brought to American soil in larger and better prepared and better cared for cemeteries; the body of his son having been among those moved to one of the permanent cemeteries. Each grave is marked with the name and number of the official identification card which each soldier wore to the front, thus in his notice: "Private 1-c Carl T. Korff, 2,182,203, Company M, 355th Infantry. Disenterted and reburied—grave No. 76; Section 115, Plot 2, Argonne American Cemetery, 1232, Romagne-sous-Montfaucon, Meuse." Later, the Red Cross will make a photograph of the grave which will be sent to the family, and with this description and the photograph any friends might easily locate the grave should they ever visit these cemeteries as thousands of Americans will. This shows how systematic has been the work in this department of the army, and how it is now possible to find the body of any of the brave lads who sleep in foreign lands.

Administrator's Sale

400 Acres Wayne Co. Land

to be sold at public auction

Tuesday, October 19, '20

In order to facilitate the settlement of the Philip Sullivan estate the administrators will offer for sale at Public Auction on the premises, the following described real estate:

The west one-half of southeast quarter, the northeast quarter, and the northwest quarter, all in section 9-25-4 in Plum Creek precinct, Wayne county, Nebraska. This land is located two miles east and four and one-half miles south of wayne, the county seat, and is as good land as there is in Wayne county. The eighty-acre tract is improved and fenced. The two quarter sections are fenced but unimproved.

This Land Must Sell

and this will be an exceptional opportunity for someone to buy Wayne county land at their own price. Bear in mind that this is in no sense of the word, a sale of speculators land, but IS A SALE being made to close an estate, which has always borne the reputation of containing some of the best land on the county.

Remember This

When you say some of the best land in Wayne county, you really mean some of the best land in the state of Nebraska, for taken all in all, there is NO BETTER county in Nebraska, than Wayne county.

Terms of Sale:

20 per cent of purchase price on day of sale, when contract will be drawn. 30 per cent March 1, 1921, at which time possession will be given, and deed and abstract furnished. Balance will be carried back on land for five years at 5 1-2 per cent annual interest. Any further information in regard to land may be had from executors or auctioneers.

The sale will start promptly at 1:30 p. m. on the northwest quarter and land will be sold in tracts to suit purchaser.

NOW PREFER USEFUL GIFTS

Younger Generation of Women Said to Look for Utility When Presents Are in Question.

One must mingle with the younger generation to comprehend the changing standards of domestic life. Those things once the heart's desire of women have not lost their charm, we are told. While the proverbial route to a man's heart has not changed its roadbed, and good cooking is still the trade-mark of a desirable wife, yet anniversary expressions of a husband's love are said to be changing in form.

The new note is utility. This is exemplified by a story that comes to us from one who recently visited a young couple while they discussed their approaching anniversary. "I think I shall get Ruth a necklace," the young husband said. Ruth demurred. "What then did she wish, was his query, with the suggestion of a diamond or a piece of mahogany furniture, or some other embellishment for the home.

"If you really insist on a present," she said, "I have always wanted an electric washer and a vacuum cleaner."

This suggests the story of the negro bridegroom who, when the honeymoon waned, brought home a heavily mirrored dressing table and a washtub. "Now, Mandy," he said, "you can sit down in front of this and watch yo' self starve to death, or you can use this tub and earn yo' livin'."—Omaha Bee.

IDEAL SERVANTS IN MEXICO.

One May Get a Descendant of the Incas and a Friend for Life, for $15 a Month.

Mexico is Utopia for American housewives, for there is no servant problem there, according to Mrs. S. C. Dunlop, wife of the chief engineer of Cia Transcontinental de Petrolco, the Mexican branch of the Standard Oil company.

"Ten years ago I could hire any servant for $2 a month," she said, "and now I have to pay only from $10 to $15. Often in my kitchen I have a descendant of the Incas making my bread, and when a Mexican Indian—who must not be confused with a peon—really attaches himself or herself to you, you have not only a servant, but a friend for life, one who really looks after your interests.

"Of course, in Mexico, as well as anywhere else, the servants stand on their rights." The cook only cooks and does not wash dishes; the chambermaid will have nothing to do with the kitchen; but after all, the wages of the five or six servants do not equal those of one servant in New York.

"I hear my New York friends groaning because the food of the servants costs more than their own table. Now, if you give your Mexican Indian her tortillas (cakes) and her beans with plenty of chili, she is perfectly satisfied and seems a more satisfied diet."

Amusement for Both.

"Marriage—it is wonderful!" gurgled the happy Smith. "It is blissful, joyous! It is heaven! Ah—but I forget!" he exclaimed, suddenly serious. "You have found it a very different thing—eh?"

"Yes. Personally I consider marriage a tossup," said Jones.

"Poor fellow, poor fellow!" muttered Smith. "How you manage to put up with that tartar of a wife I don't know!"

"It might be worse," said Jones. "We have lots of fun."

"How is that?"

"Well, you see, when my wife gets into a passion she always hurts things at my head. Every time she hits me she's as pleased as Punch, and every time she misses I'm as pleased as Punch. So between us we are never short of amusement."

Old Schooners Become Barges.

Disposal of large numbers of old schooners, to say nothing of an oversupply of new wood ships, has been a problem for the past few years. River and canal men, meanwhile, have been facing a shortage of barges. Putting these two facts together, Eastern shipbuilders have now evolved a new form of schooner barge, made by removing the upper works and the below-deck cabins and bulkheads of the schooners. Such barges are capacious and have the advantages of speed in towing and seaworthiness for coast work, and if fast from a sea ton can make port with a jury rig. In South America as well as the United States, rebuilt schooners for barge work already are at a premium.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Italians Melt Up Small Change.

The second-hand dealers all over Italy have cornered the bronze 10 and 5 centime pieces, which they have melted down and sold as ingots for soldering at two and three times the price the pennies cost them. This has caused a great deal of annoyance, as small change is scarce, and in some of the cafes stamps have been given as change. The government has reduced the size of the new 10 and 5 centime pieces, but even that has done little good, so it has now decided to coin the new pennies out of a composition metal which cannot be used as solder if melted.

Tables Turned.

Mr. Knobome—Well I surely can envy the traps these days.

Mrs. Knobome—And only a few weeks ago you chased several from the front yard.

Mr. Knobome—Know, but just think, they get live box cars and we can't even get a home to live in.

SHOWING GROWTH OF DOLLAR

How Benjamin Franklin's Bequest of $5,000 to Boston Has Increased in a Century.

How the dollar invested works for the individual himself has been best illustrated by that first great American teacher of thrift, Benjamin Franklin, remarks World's Work. In 1791 he bequeathed $1,000 to the commonwealth of Massachusetts and to the city of Boston as a mark of his appreciation for having appointed him as agent in England at the "handsome" salary of £2,000. And to make his bequest really valuable, with his great foresight Franklin provided in his will that this $1,000 should be put out at 5 per cent interest for 100 years; that at the end of that time 31-131 of the fund accumulated should again be put out at interest for another hundred years and then the fund be divided one-fourth to Boston and three-fourths to the state.

Let us see how well that $1,000 of Franklin's has worked. At the end of the first hundred years it had grown to $481,383.62. It was then divided in accordance with the will; $329,900.48 was set aside for "public work" and $151,483.14 was started on its course of earning interest for another hundred years. That was in 1891. On Jan. 1, 1918, this sum had grown to $287,805.15 and at this rate of increase the fund should amount to at least $6,000,000 when the second period is completed, and may be considerably more.

ONE'S JOB MUST COME FIRST

Salary Should Be a Secondary Object for the Man Who Is Anxious to Advance.

I have never known a young man to advance far when he thought much about his salary while at work, or who let that salary have anything to do with the interest he was putting into his job. The job is the chance, the opportunity, to show what you are made of, to show what you have for sale—your ability, your personality.

If you have something unusual for sale you may be sure you have what every employer is always looking for. If you are alert, enthusiastic, original, if you try to stamp everything that goes through your hands with superiority, you may be sure that you will soon find a place at the front with commensurate salary.

On the other hand, the man who drags through just enough work to get by, who gets to his job when he has to and watches the clock for time to go home will not see his salary envelope fatten very rapidly.

Quibbling over one's salary has spoiled many a career. It is not what you are paid for doing, but what you do that you are not paid for that is the key to the position above you. This is almost invariably the case. The service you render which you are not obliged to give is the thing that attracts your employer.—Orison Swett Marden in Chicago Daily News.

Thermometer Deterioration.

Even thermometers become old, and consequently inaccurate with age, mercurial instruments reading too high and spirit instruments too low. In the former case the bulb appears to shrink, thus forcing the quicksilver too far up the stem. This gradual shrinkage is supposed to be due to the fact that the external pressure on the bulb may be considerably higher than the internal pressure, the air as far as possible having been removed before the glass is sealed. On the other hand, the spirit thermometer is sealed with the bulb covered in a freezing mixture, in order to lock up in the glass as much air as possible. The instrument thus starts with the internal pressure which in time appears to be reduced either by expansion of the glass under the internal pressure or by leakage.—Scientific American.

Organized to Fight Plant Pests.

The Plant Protection Institute is the name of a body formed recently for the purpose of waging relentless war on the pests that afflict field and orchard crops, shade trees and ornamental plants. This it will do by supporting and directing scientific research, by fostering co-operation between investigators and manufacturers, and by disseminating information about the control of plant insects and diseases. The members are all scientific experts or manufacturers of the insecticides, fungicides, apparatus, etc., used in this work of extermination.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Heartless Landlords.

Jeep Valjean's ultimate housing recourse may interest the desperate of today: "I lay down in the dog kennel, and the dog bit me." And so even before Victor Hugo there were heartless landlords!—Brooklyn Eagle.

Coal for Argentina.

At present practically the whole of the 8,000,000,000 tons which Argentina consumes each year is imported, but a large and conveniently located deposit has been recently discovered in that country.

Her Status.

"Is Mrs. Wiggins really a kleptomaniac?"

"No, she don't belong to none of these new-fangled sects. She's a good old hardshell Baptist."

Earning a Decoration.

"Why did the king of Cabool give you a medal?"

"I gave him one last year," explained the shah of Poonshah. "Louisville Courier-Journal."

OLDEST OF STATE MOTTOES

That of Maryland Was Adopted in 1648—Enshrined in History of the Commonwealth.

The Maryland suffragists who propose altering the state's motto, "Fatti Maschy Parole, Feminae" (to use the old spelling), are proposing to put rough hands to what should be sacred. The offensive translation, "Deeds are masculine; words are feminine" is not the only one possible. The secretary of state could readily be directed to give official approval to "manly deeds and womanly words," which would give women a recognition they enjoy in no other state motto.

But the best reason for jealously guarding Maryland's motto is that it is the oldest the nation can boast—the date of its adoption is placed in 1648—and is enwrapped with Maryland history to a remarkable degree. Throw away the Baltimore motto and Maryland might as well turn the portrait of George Calvert, first Lord Baltimore, to the wall.

There are other state mottoes that are open to attack. Alabama's "Here We Rest" suggests an obvious joke. So does Washington's "By and By." Virginia's motto recalls John Wilkes Booth, New York's the rather tawdry declamation by Longfellow which it inspired, and those of several other states—like Kansas' "Ad Astra Per Aspera"—the rhetoric of commencement. While these states cleave to their mottoes Maryland may well be boastful of hers and its associations.—New York Evening Post.

HOT "SHOT" FOR NEIGHBOR

Probably Woman Wished She Had Not Irritated Mr. Dobson While He Was Worried.

Mr. Dobson came home early in the evening, but 17 sheets in the wind. He negotiated the steps to his front door on his hands and knees. Finally, when he reached the top, he fished his keys from his pocket without much difficulty, but the keyhole, of course, could not be found.

After several attempts to locate it, in which he failed miserably, he happened to look over his shoulder, and discovered the woman next door watching him.

"Wash you wan?" he demanded.

"I don't want anything," she replied, but didn't go away.

The man made another attempt to find the keyhole, but being again unsuccessful turned in disgust and asked the neighbor if she had borrowed the keyhole.

"Of course not. I don't know anything about your keyhole except that you can't find it," said she.

"Well, you've borrowed everything elsh we've got, so I thought maybe you borrowed our keyhole," came the reply.

Peter and Paul Were in Rome.

According to the evidence and discoveries of two famous archaeologists of Rome, Professors Grossi Condi and Orazio Marucchi, there no longer remains any doubt that the Apostles Peter and Paul both went to Rome and suffered martyrdom there.

That doubt has been raised several times in controversies between various schools of archaeologists.

"The Apostles Peter and Paul," professor Marucchi said, "did go to Rome. I have found traces of their burial in a catacomb hewn out of the rock on the Appian Way, behind the ancient church of St. Sebastian.

"There are graves in this underground burying place, which of course prove nothing. But there are also writings on the wall, and these writings all invoke the aid of Peter and Paul, described as lying there."

Famous Mine May "Come Back."

The Comstock lode, once known as the richest silver mine in the world, and from which millions of dollars were taken during the height of its fame, is about to come back to its own. For years the lode was almost deserted, and Virginia City, Nev., lived along in a lethargy that included the slow crumbling of its buildings and the rotting of its sidewalks, until what was one of the most colorful, blinding, excitement-gathering towns in the United States, became a monument to dead hopes and a mockery of its former self.

It has been discovered that thousands of tons of low-grade ore now are standing in giant dumps, and yet other thousands of tons resting in the mines themselves, can be made to yield as high as $10 a ton under modern methods of extraction.

Bulrushes Found of Value.

As a result of a German professor's discovery that the roots of the ordinary bulrush contain as much as 30 per cent of cane sugar, special dredges are now being built for the purpose of harvesting them, reports Popular Mechanics Magazine. The roots grow in thick horizontal masses, and in one part of Germany are believed to underlie everywhere a tract of marshy land comprising 500,000 acres. Though sugar is the product chiefly sought, secondary processes yield alcohol and a nutritive cattle food. From the juice there is made, also, a strong beer resembling porter.

Frivolous Personalities.

"I wonder if Mrs. Gadder knows anything about Plume?"

"You'd better not mention the subject to her."

"Why not?"

"She may think you are talking about something that can be made in a chafing dish."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FRANCE'S SURPLUS OF GIRLS

Overwhelming Preponderance of Babies Born to Wives of War Veterans Are of Female Sex.

French physicians see in the nervous reaction following the trials and perils of war the explanation of the epidemic of girl babies which has swept France in the last year.

They base their conclusion on the remarkable fact that, while over 80 per cent of the children recently born to men who served under fire are girls, 60 per cent of the babies of war profiteers, slackers and men physically unfit for combatant service have been boys.

Sociologists looking into the future predict that if the present disproportional feminine birthrate continues over half of the girls born in France in 1919 and 1920 will be doomed to spinsterhood. The proportion of young and middle-aged married men in France who saw no service on the front is so small that the boy babies born in their families are outnumbered more than two to one by the infant daughters of the war veterans.

While at a loss to explain the workings of the mysterious influence predetermining the sex of the children born to ex-soldiers, French physicians agree that the relaxation of men's nerves, suddenly relieved from the high tension of constant perils and hardships, is at the bottom of the puzzling question.

So long as the war continued and men remained keyed to a high nervous pitch their children were more often boys than girls. Sixty-five per cent of soldiers' babies born during the war were boys. Now that the hectic days of shot and shell are over the pendulum of gravity has swung to the other extreme, and the pages of France's birth registers are filled largely with names of new-born girl babies.—Amaroc News.

HELP TO FILL FAMILY PURSE

In City of Johnstown, N. Y., Three-quarters of the Wives Are in Gainful Occupations.

In a survey of family incomes in nearly one hundred cities of the United States, the department of labor found that in Johnstown, N. Y., three-quarters of the wives earn money.

The Labor Review explains that this remarkable condition prevails in Johnstown because glove-making is the principal industry there and furnishes work which women can do at home. This appeals to them, because they are able to earn good wages without leaving their household.

In almost one-sixth of the New York city homes visited women contributed earnings toward the support of the home. In Boston, one wife out of ten works; in Buffalo, one in twenty-eight; in Cleveland and Cincinnati one in seven, and in Pittsburgh only one in fifty. It is interesting to note that investigators found that a surprisingly large percentage of town dwellers derive some income from gardens and poultry. Ninety-three per cent of those visited in Cleveland had a garden or chickens.

Fresh Eggs.

The pert proprietor of a grocery in East Twenty-fifth street, is nothing if not good at repartee.

The other day, rather early in the forenoon, one of the good wives in the neighborhood stepped into the store and inquired:

"Any real fresh eggs?" (Great emphasis on the "real fresh.")

"Oh, yes, ma'am," he replied. "Some just laid this morning."

A day or two later, somewhat earlier in the forenoon than before, the good wife again dropped into the store and inquired:

"Any more of those real fresh eggs?"

Whereupon the grocer cried to his clerk:

"Run to the back room, boy, and see if this morning's eggs are cool enough yet to sell."—Indianapolis News.

Famous London Tree Gone.

A famous old mulberry tree in north London, England, under which 144 years ago it is said the American Declaration of Independence was first read in that country, has fallen under the weight of its age. American boy scouts attending the international scout conference in London visited the tree only a few days before it crashed and its history was told to 300 of them, who had their photographs taken beneath its branches. The tree stood on one of the lawns of the Mildmay conference hall. Many religious leaders have addressed meetings under its ample shade. Hundreds of requests for chips from the historical tree are being received.

No Great Harm Done.

Juanita, knowing that her playmate Jack wanted a kitten, picked one up one day when it started to follow her and, taking it over to Jack, sold it to him for five pennies.

Immersion Heater.

An exceedingly practical contrivance for a mother is an electrical immersion heater, cylinder shaped. This will heat water or milk for the baby or invalid in a moment at any time, day or night. This cylinder is simply plunged into the liquid and the plug attached. It takes only a moment to make the liquid boiling hot.

TRACE JAZZ MUSIC TO CHINA

Book of Ceremonies of That Country Deals With Musical Criticism to the Point.

The hunt for the origin of jazz has led to the African jungle and to the music of cannibal feasts and orgiastic dances. But, further back it can be traced to the beginnings of civilization in China itself. Confucius, who lived nearly 2,500 years ago, edited a book of ceremonies called the "Li Ki." The book of ceremonies was a venerable Chinese classic long before Confucius gave his attention to it. The sayings in the "Li Ki" represent a viewpoint of musical criticism in China which perhaps corresponds to the date assigned by the Jewish chronology for the Garden of Eden. The "Li Ki" describes music as a powerful influence for good or evil, and pictures the prehistoric synecopation as follows:

"The airs of Kang go to wild excess and debase the mind; those of Sung speak of slothful indulgences and of women and submerge the mind; those of Wei are strenuous and fast and perplex the mind; and those of Khl are violent and depraved and make the mind arrogant. The airs of these four states all stimulate libidinous desire and are injurious to virtue."

If not jazz, what else falls in with the description? Kang, Sung, Wei and Khl—all their scores have been lost. Only the monotonous drum beat which they doubtless contributed to prehistoric jazz remains in modern Chinese music.—Toledo News-Bee.

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS

It Dates Back to the Time of the Ancient Romans, and Probably Is Much Older.

It was a custom of the Romans to paint a rose on the ceiling of the banquet hall, signifying that what was told at the feast was not to be repeated. From this custom originated the expression, supprosa, the Detroit News recalls.

The rose is the queen of love and beauty and is the most eloquent of all in the language of the flowers. The red rose is a token of love and the white of purity. A moss rosebud is a confession of love, while a rose leaf says, "You may hope." A white rose signifies, "I am worthy of you," and the yellow rose asks, "Are you jealous?"

The yellow buttercup is dedicated to the memories of childhood and riches. The Greeks and Romans used one variety of buttercup as a remedy for leprosy. It was also said that the root was a sure cure for insanity if it was gathered at the wane of the moon, wrapped in linen and carried around the neck of the afflicted person.

Pained and Surprised.

At the time it was more painful than funny, but the years leave only a recollection of my intense surprise when I bit into what I thought was a bright red apple.

Always I had loved apples, and one day when I saw a dish of bright red objects in the pantry, I took a couple of the largest, and silently left the house—with what happy anticipation.

Safe in the back yard I proceeded to take a large bite of a red pepper. Such shrill screams of agony as reached my mother's ears. She rushed to the rescue to find me, not content with having filled my mouth with the fiery pepper, rubbing frantically at my face and eyes.

Not knowing that oil and not water should be used to remove the burning sensation, she dumped me into the bathtub, and started to scour. It was many a week before I again appropriated what did not belong to me.—Exchange.

Electric Hatching of Chicks.

A third of a million chickens a season is the proposed capacity which a customer of the Electric Power company of Portland, Ore., intends to attain in his electrically operated chicken farm known as "Henacres." His output this season will be in the neighborhood of 100,000 chickens, as compared with 45,000 for last year. This farm started with one small electric incubator in 1915 and now is equipped to operate on a large scale, having a single incubator with a capacity of 20,000 eggs. The total connected load for this plant consists of 33.5 kilowatts of heating and 3 kilowatts of lighting. For emergency service, continues the Electrical Review, a 20-kilowatt direct current generator is installed at the farm and is so arranged that it may be driven from the owner's truck.

Magic Carpet Up to Date.

A plan for seeing strange sights comes from France, in the announcement of the Compagnie Lateocere. This aerial line will take you from Toulouse, at 8:30 a. m., over the Pyrenees to Barcelona, Spain, by lunch time. Next day you lunch at Malaga, then fly across the Mediterranean to Tangiers. Then you sail above the Atlas mountains to far-away Rabat, a green oasis of the Sahara, or even to Fez, where it is said the company has opened the grand vizier's palace as a hotel. These are indeed the days of magic carpet and the seven-league boots to those who fear not adventure in the air!—The Outlook.

Wanted His Money's Worth.

Mother—"Elen's music teacher seems quite impressed with her. It looks to me like a love affair. Father—What's that! Now see here, I'll have that young man understand he's got to do his courting evenings and not while I'm paying him $2 an hour.

SPOON IN FAVOR WITH TURKS

Subjects of the Sultan Have Little Use for the Fork as a Table Utensil.

According to figures compiled by the American Cutlery bureau of information, the average yearly requirements of Constantinople before the war in the way of cutlery were 50,000 dozens of table knives, 30,000 dozens of spoons, 20,000 dozens of forks, 50,000 dozens of scissors, 25,000 dozens of razors of all kinds and 5,000 dozens of hair clippers.

As will be seen, much more spoons are sold than forks, which is contrary to the experience in other countries where, as a rule, more forks are required than spoons. This is explained by the fact that Constantinople supplies great quantities of cutlery to Asia Minor and other outlying regions of the former Turkish empire, where table manners still have not been developed up to the standard of Paris.

The Arab is fond of the spoon, because it is handy in eating his cereals, but he prefers to deal with chopsticks by way of the fingers, which is a more simple procedure than piercing one's eye with a fork.

So it is the spoon that stands on the top of the list of the cutlery orders coming from Turkey to Uncle Sam. It is conceded in all foreign countries today that American table cutlery holds the center of the stage in point of quality.

PUT HUBBY IN BAD LIGHT

Matter of Mistaken Identity Promised to Make Things Warm for Entirely Innocent Man.

A certain resident of Indianapolis, who is one of twins, in company with his wife and son, visited his twin brother, who lives in the northern part of the city. The family was returning home and had just reached Washington and Illinois streets when the wife saw the car, to which they were to transfer, rounding the corner.

"Oh, here comes our car," she said, and regardless of the conductor's familiar warning, "Wait till the car stops, lady," she jumped off backward, alighting with considerable force on the pavement. Refusing to give the car crew her name and address the family hurried home.

The next morning an auto stopped in front of the brother's home and an inspector, motorman, conductor and a policeman who had witnessed the mishap of the night before knocked on the door and asked the condition of the woman who had fallen. The brother's wife volunteered the information that no one there had fallen from a car. After an argument one of the car crew remarked, "Wait, if some woman living here didn't fall off my car, then her husband was out with someone who did."—Indianapolis News.

Mongoose in Trinidad.

The mongoose was originally introduced into Trinidad from St. Lucia for the purpose of ridding the island of both rats and snakes, but at the present time it is itself considered a very serious pest. Moreover the sugar production of Trinidad has diminished somewhat during the last few years, chiefly because of the ravages of frog-eaters, since the lizards, which formerly kept them in check, are being exterminated by the mongoose. In fact, many estate owners in Trinidad pay a shilling a head for every mongoose destroyed on their estates, and many thousands are destroyed every year without any attempt being made to save the skins. Consul Baker, therefore, suggests that possibly these mongoose skins might have considerable economic utility in the United States, and has forwarded a sample of such a skin to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, where it may be examined by interested persons.

His Narrow Escape.

Clarence and his nurse were promenading along the veranda at the summer resort hotel. A woman stopped them to speak to the pretty child, and on hearing how he had accidentally rolled down the hotel steps, was profuse in sympathetic exclamations. "O, dear! O, what a narrow escape!" etc.

Clarence enjoyed her admiring sympathy so much that he added another flight of steps to the tumble when he related the episode to the next woman. By the time he reached the end of the veranda he had improved his story by rolling from the top floor of the hotel clear down to the steps outside the veranda, finishing off with:

"And I came near cracking my skull, too."

Mere Mediocrity.

"I used to think I possessed the artistic temperament—the sacred fire; but I was mistaken. I'm just one among the millions of common people."

"You have no right to say that! You have done some splendid things—things that you could not possibly have done if you had merely been one among the millions of common people."

"No, you're mistaken. I'm just an ordinary every-day man. Why, my wife has lived with me for 17 years without ever once thinking of getting a divorce!"

Scientific Research.

"Why are you studying those snails so intently?"

"Scientific research."

"Huh?"

"I didn't think there could be anything slower than the horse I bet on yesterday."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
