SALVATION ARMY BUYS RESCUE HOME

A deal has been closed at Omaha whereby the old home of the territorial governor, Alvin Saunders on Grace street and Sherman avenue becomes the property of the Salvation Army. The house has been the property of the Saunders family since it was built and on its walls has hung the commission as governor issued to the territorial governor by President Lincoln and Andrew Johnson; and its signing was probably the last official act of the martyred president's life.

It is the plan of the new owners to have the place at once made ready for their occupancy, as their present quarters are sadly crowded, and wholly unfitted and inadequate for their needs. During the past few weeks it has been necessary to keep a dozen and a half of coal and oil stoves going to keep the patients comfortable.

ers, livestock raisers, and related industries. The meetings are expected to be of extraordinary interest this year and to attract a larger attendance than in previous years. The general committee is attempting to obtain men and women of national repute to speak on subjects of vital interest to farmers and others. An attempt is also being made to obtain reduced railroad rates. Every farmer and farmer's wife in Nebraska is invited to attend these meetings.

TIME TO ORGANIZE
The loss of fully a dollar a bushel since the government took its hand off the price of wheat ought to prove stimulus enough to bring the growers together into one united body and forever put an end to the present unscientific, inefficient system of marketing our grain. We have lived under this marketing system so long that we have become accustomed to it, and have put up with it because nothing better seemed to be available. That is, nothing better was available because the growers themselves have not taken things in hand and forced thru a change. Plainly speaking, there has not been a sufficient shock to bring about united action on the part of the growers. Recent occurrences in the grain market should prove shock enough for this purpose. Organization is the only remedy, and from present reports thruout the winter wheat belt a good start has been made in the formation of the National Wheat Growers' Association.—Nebraska Farm Journal.

According to Bryan's Commoner, Mrs. Weekes the Farmer-Labor candidate for congress in this Third district is the only candidate who has answered the question put by Mr. Bryan as to whether she is wet or dry—and she says that she will uphold the Volstead law if elected. That gives the W. C. T. U. members a pointer as to whom to vote for.

WOMEN CANDIDATES TALK TO WOMAN'S CLUB

Omaha, October 19.—For the first time in its history, the Woman's club heard three women candidates for office speak in its open forum Monday afternoon. Holding strictly to the injunction of the presiding officer, Mrs. H. J. Bailey, that partisan politics be tabooed, the three women skirted any open declaration of political principles and won from the mixed gathering of republicans and democrats hearty applause.

Mrs. P. T. McGerr, of Falls City, well known suffragist and democratic candidate for the Nebraska senate; Mrs. Marie Weekes, editor of the Norfolk Press, independent candidate for congress, and Mrs. Hester Bronson Copper, Douglas county candidate for the Nebraska legislature on the democratic ticket, were the speakers. Miss Emma Meservy, of Fremont, democratic candidate for the state legislature, is in California and did not appear as scheduled.

What Women Will Do.
Mrs. McGerr declared that partisanship in government has caused a lack of co-operation in the business of national housekeeping and that women propose to try their hand in solving some of these national housekeeping problems.

She declared that both party leaders had so long monopolized political affairs they were a bit afraid as to what part women would play in the new order of things.

Mrs. Weekes, the youngest member of the trio of speakers, presented a most attractive appearance in her blue serge dress and modish blue hat as she addressed the audience and told it something of the hardships of the farm woman, whose cause she pleads.

Strenuous Campaign.
Still avoiding the political shoals, Mrs. Weekes told of the strenuous campaign she is conducting in traveling over the Third congressional district, one of seven largest congressional districts in the United States in point of population, embracing as it does eighteen counties.

Mrs. Weekes told that she was a candidate not by choice but because a group of men had nominated her in independent convention.

Mrs. Copper traced briefly the growth of the woman movement in this country and the battering down of barriers that had stood in the way of their educational, industrial and political life—barriers all now shattered.

"After seventy-two years of organized effort to bring political freedom to women, we stand at the threshold of a new era," said Mrs. Copper. "Let us consecrate ourselves at this time to our highest conception of citizenship, and in casting our ballot let us give expression to those ideals for which women have always stood."

A PIONEER CITIZEN DIES FROM INJURIES

Emerson Enterprise
Emerson and vicinity were shocked Tuesday when the news came from Sioux City that Ernest Harrigfeldt had succumbed to injuries received last Sunday while attempting to tap a cow that had gotten into the corn and foundered.

He had the cow in a stall and when attempting to tap her, she hunted him against the manger striking him in the stomach.

Mr. Harrigfeldt was taken to the house and a doctor was called who realized the condition of his patient and immediately called council of Dakota City. He was taken to Sioux City, where an operation was performed and it was found that he could not survive, so his relatives were informed and several of them were at his bedside when he passed away.

The deceased has been a resident of Dakota county for over a third of a century, coming here from Weston, Iowa, in 1883. Through his thrift and good business judgment the deceased had accumulated several hundred acres of Dakota county land and had one of the finest farm homes in northeast Nebraska. He has enjoyed the best of health and was rugged and full of energy, despite the fact of his seventy-four years of age. He was a staunch friend and a good neighbor, a kind father and a loving husband. He was married to Miss Fredrika Enke at Weston, Iowa, in 1883. Just before coming to Nebraska. To this union twelve children were born, all of whom survive him. He is also survived by three children by a former marriage. Besides his wife and children, two brothers, Chris and George of Ashton, Idaho, and sixteen grandchildren mourn his untimely end. All his relatives are here and will be in attendance at the funeral, which will be held Friday afternoon from the German Lutheran church. The remains will be laid to rest in the Rose Hill cemetery.

The deceased was born in Germany but came to this country while still a young man.

NEBRASKA TELEPHONE COMPANY

Omaha, Nebraska
October 20, 1920

A STATEMENT TO OUR PATRONS, EMPLOYEES AND INVESTORS REGARDING PROPOSED INCREASE IN TELEPHONE RATES IN NEBRASKA

Because the telephone is an essential public service, it is important to all telephone users as well as to telephone employees and investors in telephone securities that this Company's revenues shall be sufficient to meet its requirements.

Considered on a yearly basis, our present revenues in this state are approximately $593,000 less annually than are necessary to pay operating expenses and earn 8 per cent interest annually on the money invested in our property.

In order to provide for the extension of our service to new people and to new areas we must obtain over $1,000,000 of new money annually from investors. To get this money we must be able to pay our operating expenses and earn such a rate of interest as will prove attractive to those who have money to invest.

This condition has made it necessary for us to ask the Nebraska Railway Commission to approve an increase in our rates. But even with the increase asked for, our total revenues will only be sufficient to enable us to earn approximately 6½ per cent annually on our investment in this state.

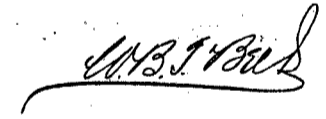

An increase of 10 per cent has been asked in exchange rates to be applied as a sur-charge. This course has been followed rather than to request complete new schedules of rates, because it is impossible under present conditions to determine what permanent rates should be.

A change in long distance rates has been requested which will produce approximately a 7 per cent increase in our toll revenues. These changes apply only on person-to-person calls. No changes will be made in station-to-station toll rates.

You are well aware of the increases which have taken place in wages, material prices, freight rates, fuel prices, rents and interest rates. The price of all these items and others affect the cost of furnishing telephone service. To illustrate: We are now paying over $1,700,000 more annually in wages in this state than three years ago, of which only $750,000 is for new employees added during that period. And the cost of materials used in the up-keep of our property has just about doubled the last few years.

This statement is made in accordance with our policy of giving the public full information about our affairs, and we feel sure that it will be accepted in the same spirit of fairness and co-operation that has always characterized the public's attitude toward this company.

And they say that even in the pulp Congressman Evans failed to please his audience—especially the farmer part of it.

It is a difficult thing to run a newspaper these days of criss-cross politics, and please all factions. In fact to say nothing of the editorial end; the news features do not please all—even the one try to be impartial.

Senator Capper condemns the gambling of the board of trade as fully as bad as that of the old Louisiana lottery—and perhaps worse for that did not deal in foods. Then why does not Capper try to stop this great wrong? and echo answers WHY?

Is Candidate Harding a liar? Ex-President Taft intimates that he is of that opinion, it seems, when he says that he thinks Harding victory will mean U. S. entrance into League; for Harding says not, and Johnson and Borah appear to believe him; Taft does not so believe. Who is right? If you favor a League to prevent war do not vote for Harding—why take any chances?

Congressman Evans is finding out the opinion of many people these days of his vote for the Esch-Cummins law; so are the republicans of Iowa who are waging a hard fight to return that corporation-server Albert Cummins to the senate to misrepresent the people. When it gets so rotten that Iowa republicans revolt, it is time for honest people to hope for a real reform.

According to newspaper reports which have not been contradicted the ministers of all manner of churches are on record of 18 for the league covenant to one against the pact. Now, if the ministers have a political influence which their members listen to, it will look as tho a church going people should vote for the candidate who favors the league. And there is no doubt about which candidate favors the league.

Congressman Evans advertises for all to vote a straight ticket on election day, which shows that he is a stand-patter from Standpatterville. That is the republican way—but the label of the party on a yellow dog, perhaps, and ask thinking men to "vote it straight." No voter should vote his ticket straight unless he is satisfied with every man and every measure thereon advocated. You would not expect every man who enters a restaurant to order the menu "straight" would you? No, not even if ordering for himself and wife—and so in this ballot menu, the ladies may not all want the same dish as the men order.

The farmers cannot and probably will not by organization eliminate all of the ills of which they complain, but by proper organization they should be able to stop gambling in food products by a "Board of Trade" in Chicago or elsewhere, nor should they fail to find abundant aid in this work from the labor organizations and all other producers and consumers of things to eat and wear; for cotton and wool have been made to feel the clutch of the gambler in necessities. Then the coal combine need a united opposition to their plans for robbing the people.

Those who opposed and criticized government operation of railroads are not having much to say now. The cost was raised to meet expenses of government operation during a time of actual war—and politicians hollered themselves hoarse. Now under the return to private control in time of profound peace, the railroads boost the government rate more than did the government raise rates—and the politician is not admitting that government operation is the more economical and efficient of the two. Is it any wonder that a nonpartisan league can be easily organized? Do not conditions call for a remedy? Perhaps the league may not have the true remedy, but there come times when any remedy will appeal, even tho it prove a failure.

Bryan was going to make the wet and dry question the paramount issue. Harding wanted to make the issue the tariff, or some other dead question the thing to battle over; but the people seem to have made the league the paramount issue. It is well to understand that the republican nominee and the senators who nominated him are opposed to the league of nations as accepted by the accredited representatives of about forty nations great and small; and want to try to make it over in such a manner that this government will assume no responsibility in enforcing the treaty; and provide for making a separate peace with Germany. They would cast to the winds all of the advantages already secured to this country in the settlement made at Versailles. The democratic nominee stands squarely for the treaty as formed; with reservations which may be necessary to make plain our interpretation of any part to which a double meaning might be given, if such there are. Candidate Cox believes that the treaty formed was and is the best measure possible to form at present to prevent war; and with the provisions made for amending the same, it would be unjust to the people of this country and to our allies in the great world war to reject the pact because of the petty jealousies of a few people who could not have done as well as did the representatives of America at the great treaty. So it is up to each voter to say by his vote whether or not he or she favors the treaty and the league. If you favor it you will not vote for Harding—but will be sure to cast a vote for Candidate Cox who favors the treaty. If you want to take no part in organized effort of the nations of the world to prevent wars, to bring about disarmament, to put war expenses to some good use or leave them in the hands of the people, cast a vote for Harding and they will see that war taxes are kept up and increased; that men may still be subjected to being sent to the front to become cannon fodder.

WAYNE'S FIRST HOG SALE OF SEASON

Is to be held at the sale pavilion, Saturday afternoon, October 23rd. H. V. Cronk, of this place, will put a fine bunch of 60 head of Duroc Jersey sows, of strictly high class breeding through the ring.

The offering will consist of twenty head of spring boars and the balance spring gilts and perhaps a few last fall sows. This offering is mostly the get of that splendid Junior yearling, Romeo King, an individual of great merit; and with a list of ancestors that are among the best of the Duroc family, such as Jack's Orion Cherry, and King 2nd, the boar that headed the list in the Missouri state fair in 1910, and the first Duroc boar to sell for $10,000. Thus in the sire of these young animals you have the blood of the greatest of the breed.

Mr. Cronk is a comparatively new man at Wayne, but he is not new in the business of selecting and breeding a splendid strain of Durocs. For years before he came to Wayne he was one of the leaders in the business in Dakota county, and when he moved to Wayne he brought with him the best from his old herd in individuals and breeding. You can make no mistake in attending this sale Saturday and buying from his offering.—1.

AUTOMOBILE RULES AND FOOTMEN RULES
Just now Wayne needs a set of rules to govern traffic in the interest of safety first. We cannot enumerate all that should be done, but some traffic rules should be made and enforced. People cross the street at any old place, and without much thought for their safety if a car happen along. Drivers do not go to intersections to turn; do not keep to the right at corners—that is they cut corners—and fail to sound a warning; drivers are frequently looking any direction but the way they are headed. In fact, a set of standard rules should be passed by the council, and then enforced, if it put half of the careless pedestrians and car drivers in jail.

The Hartington Herald says that Mrs. Marie Weekes is totally unfit to represent this district in congress, tho a bright, attractive woman. That is more than we can truthfully say for the present congressman, tho we would cheerfully agree that the first clause above might apply to him. In fact we have too many lawyers in congress, misrepresenting the people.

MAKING FARM-TO-FARM SURVEY TO COMPLETE BARBERRY FIGHT

In the work of the United States Department of Agriculture for the eradication of the common barberry has a defensive measure against wheat rust, the survey of the principal cities and towns has been practically finished. A farm-to-farm survey, however, is really just begun in portions of the 13 States included in this campaign to locate the thousands of cultivated and escaped bushes on farms. A re-survey of cities and towns also is being made to guard against sprouting and to find isolated bushes which have been overlooked.

Preliminary inspections showed that it would be necessary to survey every farm in this territory east of the one hundredth meridian. This survey was started in some States in 1919 and in the others in 1920. Eleven counties on the eastern border of North Dakota, seven on the eastern border of South Dakota, and 13 counties in southeastern Minnesota have been surveyed, and some work done in five others.

Fourteen counties in northeastern Iowa and the equivalent of 15 in Nebraska have been covered by the rural survey. Six counties near the border of Illinois and Wisconsin have been covered, and in them cultivated barberries on farms and widely scattered escaped bushes have been found more abundantly than in most States. Nineteen counties in Indiana, six in Ohio, and three very large counties in southern Michigan have been cleared.

The results of the survey show that there were cultivated barberries on one or more farms in every county. In some counties there were hundreds of farms with cultivated and many with escaped bushes. The number of mature fruiting bushes, and the hundreds of scattered seedlings indicate that within a few more years many of these counties would have had still more severe rust injury to wheat. Numerous cases of the direct spread of stem rust directly from barberries to grain were mapped and used as demonstrations to farmers.

PUMPKIN PIE

The season of the real pumpkin pie is at hand. This tidbit of the table may be made out of the canned product at any time and in any season. But it tastes no more like the real pie from the fresh pumpkin than sardines in oil taste like brook trout an hour out of the water. The pumpkin pie can be seasoned and flavored, but it cannot be adulterated. The epicure knows what he is eating the moment his palate comes in contact with the filling. It is not so in other modern dishes. The real taste of the food often is obscured in the dressings and garnishments. The chef who cannot concoct a tasteless dressing in which to swamp the real food is a flat failure. There must be something with a French name and an Eskimo taste to finish off his product.

But the pumpkin pie cannot be destroyed by even the most expert pastry baker. He may disguise the ingredients of other pies until the eater is unable to determine whether it is mince or chocolate. But the flavor of the pumpkin defies his skill and surmounts his training. It remains pumpkin no matter what is done to it. There is material substance in the meat of the Indian vegetable. There is a health-giving element in its use. It satisfies hunger, sustains the body, clears the mentality and leaves a desire in the mouth for more.—Sioux City Journal.

OUR GOVERNOR AND HIS RECORD

Pardoned Dinsmore, the double murderer.

Made a Political Foot Ball of the Bi-Partisan board of control.

Has taken junkets all over the country at the expense of the taxpayers.

Largely increased the number of state employees, and decreased efficiency.

Reduced state taxes on railroads $101,000 in 1920, and increased state taxes on farms and homes 18,119,000.

Rewarded political fence-men by appointing $2,000 clerks to $5,000 jobs under the code.

Directed the release and return in Omaha of liquor seized by officers to a man, whose guest he had been.

Forced through the legislature the "civil administrative code," and deprived the people, through court action, of their constitutional right to pass judgment thereon, under the referendum.

Imported an expert from Chicago at $100 per day to teach his code secretaries how to conduct their departments, thereby admitting their inefficiency to fill their positions.

Made his campaign two years ago on the issue of the "tax burden upon the people." After election he forgot this issue and increased that burden approximately six and one-half million dollars during his term. But in spite of this vast increase seven state funds are now overdrawn a million and a half dollars.

Absented himself from the state one-fifth of the time during his first year in office, and permitted the furlough of Kirk, convicted as an accessory to the murder of a peace officer, whose return to prison has cost the taxpayers $3,000. Numerous others convicted of serious crimes, have been released through the operation of the code.

FALL SELECTION OF SEED CORN

While selecting seed corn from the field early in the fall may not be practiced by many Nebraska farmers the United States department of agriculture highly recommends this method in a "new farmers" bulletin called "Better Seed Corn." Selecting seed corn in this way has several advantages. In the first place it insures a supply of seed for the next year. Good seed corn is scarce practically every spring. Going into the field in the fall also enables the farmer to study his corn and thereby select seed from vigorous stalks free from disease. The very best seed is available at ripening time and by selecting it then the growing condition as well as the ears may be observed. Nebraska has such a good corn crop this year that it might be a good idea to store seed for at least two years. The new government bulletin discusses what constitutes good seed, the selection of it from the best producing stalks, corn breeding, how to winter store seed, how to grade and how to shell. Farmers' bulletin 1175 may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture at Lincoln.

PRESIDENT WILSON SAYS:

"Those who do not care to tell you the truth about the League of Nations tell you that Article X of the Covenant of the League would make it possible for other nations to lead us into war, whether we will it by our own independent judgment or not. This is absolutely false. There is nothing in the Covenant which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of Congress to declare war or not declare war according to its own independent judgment, as our Constitution provides.

"Those who draw the Covenant of the League were careful that it should contain nothing which interfered with or impaired the constitutional arrangements of any of the great nations which are to constitute its members. They would have been amazed and indignant at the things that are now being ignorantly said about this great and sincere document."—Woodrow Wilson.

GET onto the facts and you'll get off the fence

Right from the start Spurs let you know what you're smoking. Plain as day, on the back of the package, it says: "In Spur Cigarettes the good tobaccos from the Orient are properly mixed with Burley and other home-grown tobaccos."

In your language that means "good old-time tobacco taste." Haven't you just been hankering for it?

Those good tobaccos are rolled in satiny, imported paper—and crimped, not pasted. That's something to know, too. In smoker's talk, crimping means "easier drawing, slower burning, better taste." Examine a Spur and see how it's made.

And as the finishing touch, Spur's fragrance and freshness are sealed and delivered in a three-fold package—rich brown and silver.

Hop off the fence—and land on Spurs.

KEEP FAITH WITH OUR DEAD

In a speech at Rochester September 23rd Captain Thomas G. Chamberlain, formerly of the A. E. F., is quoted as using the following, which is handed to the editor for publication by one who believes that the league, and our entry as a member is the paramount issue:

"I promise you formal and effective peace just as soon as a Republican Congress can pass its declaration for a Republican President to sign."

"This is simply a bid for the disloyal pro-German anti-American vote that favors a separate peace. This vote Senator Harding will get, but he deserves to lose the vote of every red-blooded loyal American citizen.

"One of the men who has a wooden cross in Flanders for a monument sent this challenge to you and to me just before he went down to his death:

"To you from falling hands we throw The Torch; be yours to hold it high! If ye break faith with us who die, We shall not sleep, though poppies grow In Flanders fields."

"Are you, as an individual, going to break the faith? On the second day of November, in the secrecy of the voting booth and in the presence of God and your own conscience, you will answer that question. Your part in the 'solemn referendum' will then be played. In the name of 81,000 Americans who gave their lives for a better world, may your voice be added to the call of humanity, justice and peace!"

NOT TO CALL A SPECIAL ELECTION

At a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday, it was decided not to call a special election for County Seat removal to Allen.

A petition had been presented to them containing 2440 names, asking for such an election. 939 of them were names of women. After a heated argument by lawyers the board voted three to four that the women had no right to sign such a petition, and their names were stricken off. 119 signers also signed to have their names removed; 38 were non-residents and 10 others were not eligible. The vote of the last election was 2358, and sixty per cent was necessary to carry. The necessary 1415 was not secured.

Just what steps will now be taken by those in favor of the movement is not known.—Wakefield Republican.

To The Voters

of the Seventh Senatorial District of Nebraska

As all good citizens will wish to cast their vote on the 2nd day of November for the candidates that will stand for such issues and measures as will tend toward bettering the conditions of the great masses of the people in general, I wish to again appeal to you at this time, that I have been drafted by my fellow men who best know me, to file as their candidate for the senate from this district and as you the voters supported me on the republican ticket in the primary election of last April. I feel it all the more a duty to subject myself to you, the great masses, as your servant and declare myself prepared to stand and work for such measures as will tend to lift the yoke of monopoly off from the necks of our great commonwealth. The questions that will arise for consideration in the coming session of the legislature will be many and important and will require much thorough study and if the voters of this district should again choose to cast their ballots for me, I wish nothing more than that the Allwise Creator would give me the needed understanding and wisdom to make the proper decision which will have the needed effect to bring about just and fair results. I do not think that I am better qualified than some other people to serve in this capacity, who may be found within the rank of the voters of this district but as I am chosen by you from among you I would appreciate your further support, if you can conscientiously give me the same during the coming days before and including November 2nd.

RESPECTFULLY YOURS,

Otto Ulrich
