WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1920

$1.50 YEAR

SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF ARMISTICE DAY

Today a few flags are floating in the breeze at Wayne in memory of the signing of the agreement for the cessation of war. Two years ago the day was most enthusiastically celebrated not only here, but the country over. Such a celebration may not again be seen in a life time. Many towns are observing the day, but not in the boisterous manner of two years ago—but in the spirit of thankfulness that the boys who were then in front of a foreign foe, who had been compelled to sue for peace are again with home folks, following useful callings in all walks of life. It is indeed a day to be observed in thanksgiving, and a time when prayer should be offered that war may come to America no more, forever. When the world can feel assured that war is not to again devastate the earth, the cost—the fearful cost of carnage may be used for the pursuits of peace and happiness—to dispell the blight of poverty, and the fruits of earth and labor be used to upbuild rather than destroy. Our armies may perform useful labor; our navy may distribute the fruits of toil to all parts of the world. Our military schools may teach that more valuable than the art of destruction; mothers, wives and children will not be called to sacrifice son, husband and father. The day should be made one for thanksgiving that the benefits of peace thus gained may be lasting.

In the church notes you may learn that Rev. Beard is to observe the anniversary of the day with an appropriate sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. As he was at the front when hostilities ceased, his sermon should be well worth listening to—better we all go.

M. W. A. TO HAVE CLASS ADOPTION

Arrangements are being made for a class adoption of Modern Woodmen at the Wayne hall Friday evening of next week, when a number of candidates from both Wayne and Winside will exercise on the sportive goal of that order. Deputy S. D. Woodley has been in this county for some time picking out a bunch of wood choppers for this occasion. It is hoped that every member of the order within traveling distance will get in on this occasion, and not only come, but send the name of a candidate or two for the deputy to visit and explain the plan of insurance to. The cost feature of fraternal insurance is usually much less per $1000 than that of the old line concerns, according to figures furnished by the order. You may not be able to partake of the eats but you will enjoy the secret work with its new kinks and curls.

At their meeting Tuesday evening the Degree team showed what they could do with a candidate, and he was alive and able to be out the next morning.

CARLSON-COOP

By Judge, J. M. Cherry, Wednesday, November 10, 1920, Mr. Cecil Albert Coop and Miss Evelyn Edith Carlson, both of Wausa.

She is a daughter of John A. Carlson, of Wausa, a popular young lady and an accomplished musician with a host of friends.

He is a fine young man, is engaged in business at Wausa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Coop and spent two years in navy, transport service.

They left on the afternoon train for Sioux City and other points and after ten days or two weeks will be at home at Wausa, where the new home is awaiting them. They were accompanied by Miss Mabel E. Carlson and Mrs. Rose Munhofen.

PAVING AT STANDSTILL

Wednesday evening brick laying stopped for want of bricks; but a car or two are reported to have come today. About four blocks of brick are now in, terminating at the intersection of Main and 2nd streets. A member of the council informs us, that it will be known within a few days whether the work goes on now or in the spring—but that city and contractor are agreed that if work is to go forward, brick must come fast enough to keep the crews busy.

BRIGHT-WITTE

License has been granted to Clarence Witte and Mrs. Mildred Margaret Bright, of Winside, to wed, and were to have been wed Wednesday evening, November 10, 1920, at Winside, Rev. Wylie officiating.

TIMES TIGHTEN UP IN THE MIDDLE WEST

John Larison, wife and daughter, were callers at the Journal home last Sunday. Mr. Larison is a heavy land holder in Wayne county, Nebraska, and states that conditions are far from being first class in that country. Many of the leasers of farm lands are throwing up their leases, due to the crop this year not more than paying rentals. Then the big rise in the price of farm lands of a year ago has also unbalanced the financial situation; land that sold for three or four hundred dollars a few months ago not bringing more than $140 at forced sale. Similar conditions are found in California with the bean and barley growers. Crops that have been held in storage for higher prices will now have to be sold, if at all, for much less than market quotations of some months ago. Land, however, in California, has had no boom in price for years, and will undoubtedly advance from now on. An acre of land in this state is worth about ten times as much as an acre in the middle-west, as a money producer.—Wilmington, (California,) Journal.

THE SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

The Salvation Army gained favorable recognition during the war—because their thoro work put them in their true light in the eyes of a vast number of people who had never understood the great movement until their boys reported what they were doing so freely for all classes. Its work is in the same class in a measure as the Red Cross. One administrator's first to the physical man; the other had always been considered as appealing more to the spiritual side of man; but the war showed the double work of the Salvation people. So it is that to help it to do greater things, a campaign to finance this work has been undertaken—an appeal is made to those who may never need its ministrations—but who are blessed with means to help them. It is the purpose to not make them dependent upon the pennies and dimes gathered in their tamborine from the people in poor and only moderate circumstances, but the most generous people on earth, for often their giving was like the widow's mite—their all.

This week the citizens of Nebraska are asked to provide funds for the use of the Army during the year, and a committee is at work now in this county, of which J. H. Kemp and a number of others are members. Part of the committee were out Wednesday, and report an offering of more than $100, and that it is all given with a feeling that it will be money well invested. The committee is organized to look after the matter in the entire county, and no one should fail to help at least a little.

F. J. Fanning has been in charge of the work in this part of Nebraska, and he was here Wednesday, and plans to return Saturday, when it is hoped that the work may be completed, and the county quota raised.

LAST WEEK OF MRS. JEFFRIES ECONOMY DRESS SALE

We are looking for bargains now, and I have some for my patrons, and will be able for the next week yet to make greater and better savings for my patrons in late style and pattern dresses. The materials are of high grades, all wool Tricottees, Mannish Sorges, silk, Tricottees, silvertones, plain and checked velours, heavy satins, All-wool Jerseys; and in colors are Navy, Brown, Taupe, Tan, Beaver, Mouse, Checks and Black. The styles are marvels of beauty and must be seen to be appreciated. All models for young or older ladies, beaded, braided, embroidered, button trimmed, braid trimmed, sashes, etc. Do not let the opportunity of the season pass, for every garment is priced below what would have been considered possible a short month ago. May we not show you this offering.—adv.

HUNT-BOLTON

November 11, 1920, by Judge, J. M. Cherry, Noah John Bolton and Miss Ruby May Hunt, both of Bloomfield.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunt, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bolton. He has been farming and keeping batch 4 miles west of Bloomfield, will begin housekeeping at once. Miss Winnie Surface and William Bolton were the witnesses.

Henry Gaertner, from Randolph, was thru Wayne Wednesday morning with their little daughter, Henrietta, who was suffering from a case of appendicitis. They were taking the little one to a hospital at Sioux City.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Marcus Kroger was able to leave the hospital the first of the week.

Doctor Texley, of Carroll, was a caller at the hospital this week.

Ann Gourhan, of Norfolk, underwent a major operation Saturday.

John Bauer, of Carroll, suffered a fractured hip and was brought to the hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Burt Rector and James Rector had tonsils and adenoids removed Friday.

X-ray patients this week were Mrs. Carrie Bruner, J. A. McGuire, of Wayne, Robert Tucker, of Sioux City, Blanche Wilson, of Bloomfield, and John Bauer, of Carroll.

WAYNE COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Next Tuesday the Wayne county Sunday school people are to meet at the Presbyterian church in this city in their annual convention, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, when Mrs. E. B. Young is to lead devotionals, and Rev. Beard will deliver an address of welcome, which Rev. W. O. Jones of Carroll is to respond to. Special music will be had at all sessions. The morning session will be addressed by Rev. F. L. Drulinger of Carroll, on Teacher's Training; and W. H. Kimberly of Lincoln, officer of state organization, on Knowing Our Children.

The afternoon session will be opened by Rev. S. David Sikes of the Carroll Baptist church leading devotionals. Then will follow reports and a meeting, after which Rev. J. H. Fetterolf of this place will speak of the relations of church and Sunday school. Then a round table discussion will begin, and Rev. Wm. Kilburn will lead devotionals, and be followed by Mr. Wm. Kimberly in a lecture to be illustrated by stereoptican views. No doubt a good meeting will be had, for the Sunday school is being more and more recognized as a building organization for the church and for good things.

ELLER-FISHER

At Hudson, Kansas, November 6, 1895, Mr. W. Fisher and Miss Hattie Eller were united in marriage. Thus it happened that when their 25th wedding anniversary came round members of the congregation to whom he preaches at the church southwest of Wayne arranged for a service at the church the afternoon of Sunday, November 7, 1920, that all might extend congratulations to the pastor and his worthy wife and family. Rev. Teckhaus, of Wayne, was invited to preach a sermon, and following this a social time was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher were presented with a handsome silver tea service, and also a substantial silver offering in the coin of the land. The ladies of the congregation had not neglected to provide a feast which was spread in the basement of the church, where all partook.

This was a complete surprise to Rev. and Mrs. Fisher, but was much appreciated, because it told them of the high esteem in which they are held by the people they have been ministering to in a spiritual way for the past six years. It was with hearty wishes that they might enjoy another quarter of a century of life together that the guests departed for their homes.

CARROLL REVIVAL MEETINGS

Sunday evening closes the fifth week of these special meetings, and a report tells us that attendance and interest has been increasing from the first, when possibly curiosity was the cause of part of the large attendance. This has been a week of special nights. One night was for the Welsh of whom there are many about Carroll. Today being armistice day, the members of the American Legion are to be honored this evening, and their local post is invited to attend in a body and in uniform.

Our report does not say so, but it implies that Sunday evening is to be the closing night; and it is expected to exceed all others in attendance and interest. The number of converts is said to be nearing the 100 mark.

Our report gives great credit to Rev. Harrington for his untiring zeal in making the meetings a success; and that he has proven himself a most able man for the work.

We are told that one of the practical things accomplished by the efforts has been a move for the suppression of some local evils, such as gambling and selling intoxicants on the side.

FRED SMITH GIVEN TERM IN REFORM SCHOOL

Saturday a young man—or rather a boy of 14 years, was arrested, charged with forging notes and passing them to Wayne business men. He waived preliminary hearing, and this forenoon appeared before Judge Welch, where he entered a plea of "guilty" to the charge, and was sentenced to the reform school at Kearney until he attains the age of 21 years, unless paroled before that time.

According to his story, he is an orphan, and has been living with his sister near Pierce, with a younger brother and sister, who are still making their home with the sister. He came to this vicinity in July, and has since been working in this part of the county at farm work. He is a bright appearing lad, but does not seem to realize that he was committing a serious crime in forging these checks, of which there were several passed on Wayne merchants, where he made some slight purchases and drew the balance in cash. Some goods were returned, and a little cash, we are told, but the merchants are probably due to stand a loss. Sheriff Lewis will probably take the lad to his new home the first of the week.

SOME LATE NEWS NOTES

Alice Robertson, of Oklahoma, is the only woman who won a seat in congress at the first election in which women were given universal suffrage—a strange thing to say she claims to be an anti-suffragist. She was nominated as a republican, and went in on the wave.

In England they are ready to revolutionize the air travel by the invention of a steam driven airplane. They plan to use some form of a steam turbine.

The very stringent dry law was defeated in South Dakota by about 10,000 majority.

According to a Boston dispatch the Grange or some kindred farmer organization or organizations will soon be completed with its object the fixing of farm produce prices so that they will not be below the cost of production. The master of the National Grange, Sherman J. Lowell, of Fredonia, New York, thinks labor is hardly fair in demanding lower prices for produce for their use without learning what it costs to produce it, so as to give the farmer wages equal to the rest of the world workers.

The baseball battle is about ready for an armistice; with the old organizations all shot to pieces, and some new ones building on the ruins. They should play ball and not gamble or sell out to gamblers.

The Graco-Roman baths installed in the U. S. Senate about eight years ago and never used, because the public holler about such extravagance in a land noted for its democratic simplicity, are being prepared for use in the near future, says a Washington dispatch. When they were installed it was to be at public expense that they were to be maintained—now it will be largely at the expense of the members of the senate, we read. Well, they should have kept them going, regardless of expenses, for all know that the U. S. Senate has long needed a bath.

The McLeans, of Ohio, and Washington, it is said in the select circles, are to be society leaders. So let it be; but the question is raised as to whether or not wine is to be served at the White House—wine without any kick, of course, is meant.

There is to be a big Plane race from New York on Thanksgiving day, as many as fifty planes having already been entered.

The coldest weather of the fall prevailed in this corner of Nebraska Tuesday night. Wednesday morning some parts of northern Nebraska had a marking as low as 10 degrees above zero.

Italy has made plain her position as to boundaries in settlement of territorial dispute regarding Fiume. As usual the terms of the interested people do not agree.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Ladies Bible Study Circle enjoyed an exceptionally interesting meeting with Mrs. A. E. Laase Tuesday afternoon. Miss Charlotte Zeigler leading the inspiring Matthew lesson. The next meeting will be with Mrs. A. P. Gossard on Monday afternoon, as all desire to attend the Sunday School Convention to be held at the Presbyterian church next Tuesday. A fine letter was read after the usual study, telling of the wonderful spiritual awakening now in Louisville, Kentucky, where Ensign Young is playing piano in the Gysey Smith Evangelistic Campaign. The daily papers show that hundreds are turning to the Lord in that city. A unique meeting was held at midnight last Wednesday in the Mary Anderson Theatre by the invitation of all the troopers in Louisville, when theatre performers at their own request were given a great heart searching gospel message, when many sought the Lord with burning tears of repentance.

Mrs. C. M. Madden entertained a few friends Tuesday afternoon from two until five o'clock, to announce the engagement of her daughter, Pearl May, to Melborne Jones, of Chicago. The engagement was announced in a novel way, a table covered with a white cloth caused very much curiosity among the guests, until it was uncovered, on the table was a picture of the bride to be, with an engagement and a wedding ring fastened to the corners with bows of white ribbons, at the bottom of the picture representing the orange blossom. The time was spent with Kensington work and socially, after which the hostess served a two course luncheon.

The Minerva Club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Huntmer. The lesson was on Americanization. Mrs. Cynthia Dean read a paper and Mrs. Huse gave a talk. Both were splendid and very interesting to the members. After these came the community singing, led by Mrs. Armstrong, accompanied by Mrs. Beaman. Mrs. Crabtree and Mrs. Edholm, new members were present. Mrs. Huntmer served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Henry Ley will be hostess November 22nd.

Mrs. I. E. Ellis assisted by Mrs. Clara Gustafson entertained the members of the P. N. 7. Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ellis. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Ingham, president; Mrs. Juhl, vice president; Mrs. McMullan secretary. Light refreshment were served. Mrs. Chas. Reynolds will be hostess at a covered dish luncheon December 14 to which the husbands are invited.

W. C. T. U. met Friday, November 5th, at the home of Mrs. Foster. Mrs. Boyce presided, Mrs. McLennen lead devotionals. Members responded to roll call with patriotic verse or quotation. Mrs. Mines gave an excellent paper on, "The Immigration Question". Mrs. Oman sang, "Mother", "Rose in Bud", and "Out Where the West Begins". Hostess served refreshments. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Fortner, November 12th.

Mrs. Frank Gamble was hostess to the Coterie Club Monday, November 8. Following the business session the afternoon was turned over to the program committee, who conducted a spelling match. Mrs. F. S. Morgan proved to be the champion-speller. The hostess, assisted by Miss Isabelle Derby, served refreshments. The Coterie will meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. Jenkins, November 15th.

The U. D. Club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Craven. The lesson was on the bible, and each member gave her favorite verse and character, and why. Mrs. Craven assisted by Mrs. Reynolds, served a two course lunch. Mrs. J. H. Kemp will be hostess next Monday afternoon.

The Acme club met Monday with Mrs. E. S. Blair, members responded to roll call with modern poets. The entire afternoon was spent discussing current events. Next Monday the club will have a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ingham. The husbands are invited.

Mrs. Warren Shuthels and Mrs. William Mellor will be hostesses to the members of the Kard Klub Friday evening at a 6:30 o'clock dinner. The evening will be spent in playing 500 the game being played at eight tables.

The Sorosis Club met with Mrs. Arthur North Monday afternoon. The

The meeting of the Monday Club was postponed last Monday. Mrs. Moran will be hostess Monday, November 15th.

The Senior class of High School will give a masquerade party in the Gym for the Sophomores Friday evening.

Teachers of M. E. Sunday School met at the parsonage Wednesday evening and studied the lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hiscox entertained Dr. French and Mr. and Mrs. Beard at dinner Sunday.

Saturday afternoon the Ann of Ava will meet with Miss Dorothy Bressler.

C. O. JOHNSON WRITES FROM CALIFORNIA

C. O. Johnson, who moved from here a number of years ago to California, writes from Chico, in that state, as follows, when responding to the subscription statement we have been running in the Democrat now and then during the past month.

We are all enjoying the excellent California fall weather and prospering along with our state.

Both of the older girls are teaching school and are not far from here, so they get home often, so we still are together long enough to require the Democrat to keep us in touch with Wayne county news. Our youngest daughter is in high school, we plan to make a teacher of her also.

Wishing you all the best of health and greetings to all Wayne friends.

Yours Truly, C. O. Johnson.

A SURPRISE PARTY

A jolly crowd of members of the St. Mary's church, surprised Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gaertner, by gathering at their home to help them celebrate their forty-ninth wedding anniversary. The ladies gathered in the afternoon, and spent the time socially and delicious refreshments were served by the guests. The men gathered at six o'clock, when a seven o'clock dinner was served, which was also prepared by the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaertner were presented a silver berry spoon with a gold bowl, from the guests. The evening was spent socially and with music. At a late hour the guests departed for their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Gaertner many more happy anniversaries.

Mrs. H. C. Peterson and son, Evar, went to Magnet to visit between trains Monday.

Pearl White, in the "Tiger's Cub", Thursday and Friday, tonight and tomorrow.—adv.

Mrs. E. P. Owens, of Carroll, was a passenger to Kennard Saturday, where she will visit her daughter.

Mrs. Perry Theobald and children, Marion, Joe and Robert, went to Sioux City Friday, where they spent the day.

A Special on grey workshirt Friday and Saturday $1.25. Cash. Gamble & Senter.

Miss Margaret Coleman returned to Carroll Friday, after a week spent at Wayne, a guest of Mrs. Alice McMantgal and other friends.

F. L. Bollen is going to settle at Lincoln for the practice of law, and has formed a partnership with C. A. Sorensen, a practicing attorney in that city. The family will remain at Wayne for the present, but Mr. Bollen has gone to begin his work at that place. He has been a resident of Wayne for the past year or more, and himself and family have made many friends who wish that they might have decided to tarry at Wayne.

Burt Mapes, of Norfolk, a prominent attorney in this state, died Sunday at Corpus Christie, Texas, shortly after his arrival at that place, where he had gone in hope of regaining health. The body was returned to Norfolk, arriving Wednesday for funeral and burial. Mr. Mapes was born in the state of New York in 1864. He came to Norfolk in the '80s, and was admitted to the bar of the state in 1887. He was a much loved and highly respected citizen—and his death will be sincerely mourned.

Miss Margaret Forbes, from Sioux City, spent Sunday here with home folks.

Pearl White, in the "Tiger's Cub", Thursday and Friday, tonight and tomorrow.—adv.

Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer went to Emerson Friday to spend a day or so visiting with relatives.

Mrs. Walter Lerner and little daughter went to Madison Friday to visit her home folks a few days.

Mrs. J. H. Rimel left for Melvin, Iowa, Friday. She will bring her mother, Mrs. A. J. Boston, back with her to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Philleo were passengers to Sioux City Monday, going down to listen to the great band concert at that place Monday.

Mrs. Sonner, accompanied by her daughter and Miss Sarah Graves went to Norfolk Friday to spend the week end with friends.

Mrs. Sarah Sears, who has been visiting her daughter, for the past three weeks, returned to her home at Council Bluffs Friday, her daughter, Mrs. Walter Bressler, accompanied her.

E. Q. Sala went to Craig Friday to visit relatives for a time. He was also hoping to find a few surviving democrats at that place, among the friends of other days.

Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve and daughter, Mrs. H. C. Radaker, who is here visiting, from O'Neill, left Friday morning for Sioux City to spend a few days visiting.

Mrs. Thomas Sylvanus, of Carroll, returned from Sioux City Friday, where she had been for treatment. Mr. Sylvanus, who went to accompany her home, left their little daughter here at the John Sylvanus home.

Mrs. F. G. Churchill and little daughter, Barbara, of Ames, Iowa, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Neely, left Friday morning for Vermillion, South Dakota, where she will spend a week visiting with her brother-in-law, who is attending the University at that place. From there she will return to Wayne.

At Neligh some one fired a charge of shot into a bunch of boys who were out playing Halloween pranks, wounding three of them. The News says that the lads of some of the best families were among the injured. Well, the lads of the best families should not be out of night turning over small buildings. Of course that is hardly an offense which warrants shooting at sight without warning, but some of the boys indulge in pranks in the name of sport that are too kiddish for young men of their age, size and supposed respectability. Should a neighbor ask their aid in moving one of those small houses over a new place of deposit, they would turn up their nose in disgust.

THE HAUNTED-HOUSE

(From The Watchword)

The house of Henry Jacob was haunted. Mr. Jacob was a millionaire and had not been home for six months. His home was situated in the midst of the best houses in town and the people found it very disagreeable to have a haunted house so near them.

Mrs. Larson, Jacob's neighbor, was the person who found that it was haunted. She had promised Mr. Jacob that she would look into his house every once in a while to see if all was well. The first time she entered was a real windy night in March. Upon opening the door she saw several white objects in the room and a reddish light seemed to flicker back and forth across them. She stood still for a moment and then she heard a queer noise. She slammed the door and ran. No one had entered the house since. People did not like to have a haunted house in their midst, so one night several men went to investigate. It was a windy night and upon entering the house they saw the same objects, the same light and heard the same noise as Mrs. Larson. They were frightened, but determined to go on so they approached one of the white objects. They found it to be a chair covered with white to keep off the dust. The other white objects were other chairs. The light in the room was caused by the glow from the street light, which came in thru a window and was reflected by a mirror. On windy nights the street light swung back and forth and caused the light to flicker across the room. The noise was still unexplained, but they had found that the other things were easily explained, so they decided to find what made the noise. Going upstairs they entered Mr. Jacob's room, there they found an opened window and in front of the window on a table lay a mouth organ. The wind blew thru the mouth organ causing the noise.

MATTSON-CHAPMAN

In the marriage license record of Tuesday's Sioux City Journal the names of Bernard Theodore Mattson and Miss Dorothy Chapman, of Winside, are listed so it is naturally assumed that they have exercised the powers that be within the little legal document and have become one.

Miss Chapman attended the local high school and has resided in and near this community most of her life. She is held in high esteem by her many friends who wish her the best life has to tender.—Winside Tribune.

In speaking of the late democratic nominee becoming a leader the State Journal seems to think he is not a man of that size—but classes him with those who, if they become national leaders, must make it at the first jump—just like the man jumping for passage on a boat receding from the wharf. The Swede is quoted as saying in regard to such a situation, "he could not make ham at one jump maybe he can in two."

Nebraska is said to be short 5,000 corn-bushers. That may be, but it is said that 15,000 Toledo men are short of a job—thus the question of distribution is ever coming to the front.

The National Humane society is making a move for the abolishment of the "Wild West" shows. That should be a good thing, for who wants to have to go and see such exhibits. They are getting to be old stories and more or less fake.

Iowa seems to have lost its grip as the banner republican state of the union. New York had a greater republican plurality than Iowa. On a percentage basis, Iowa might continue to shine, but in brutal majorities she is eclipsed.

Recruiting for the navy is said to be moving in a more satisfactory manner of late, and it is thought that there will soon be crews for enough ships to put quite a squadron at sea. Recruits are flocking in at the rate of more than 2,250 per week, and but about three months at that rate will bring the 28,000 men now short into the service.

An exchange says that it will now be up to the republicans to make good on their campaign promises. The only trouble will be, perhaps, to tell which promises they should make good, for they promised no league to one set, and a league to another. In fact, they were long on promises, and may not be able to agree on which ones are binding.

One of the big things which the next legislature is to be asked to pass on will be a law requiring all automobiles to carry two number plates—one in front and one back. Then if a man is run over he can take the number as the car hits him—for frequently he is not in condition to get the number when the tail-end of the car passes in sight.

This is the week for the Red Cross Drive—this week and next. They ask only a membership from any who will pass them the dollar. It is a great organization for good, and if it have $50,000 million dollars from that number of members, it is better than to have twice that sum from but few rich members. They need public cooperation as well as money.

Some Democrats think it will be entertaining to sit back and watch the republicans spar for first places among themselves. Between the views of the average democrat and the average republican there is often less difference than between the different factions of the republican party—and to harmonize those views will be the task of the incoming administration.

Cash—Right in the wake of the greatest republican victory of record, we read in the daily dispatches this bit of news, brought in from Detroit under date of November 5: Announcement was made here today that the Willys-Overland Automobile plant, normally employing around 15,000 workers will be shut down tomorrow for inventory and will remain closed for an indefinite period.

It is announced that the price of soft coal is coming down—because the powers at Washington have said, "come down, or we will pull you down." The government should issue such an edict as to other commodities that are necessary for people—and especially commodities like coal, oil, steel and other things which as natural resources should never have been permitted to fall into the hands of the monopolist or profiteer.

One or two things remain to be accomplished by the present administration before they dissolve by the immediate resignation of President Wilson, as suggested by our resigner, W. J. Bryan. That is to make an honest effort to grant the Filipino his independence. If the republicans get a complete hold of the government, it will be well for the people of those islands to bid farewell to immediate prospect of independence.

When the new senate is sworn in at Washington, next March the republicans will have a majority without senator Newberry, of Michigan, and they can then excuse him long enough for him to go and serve his term in the federal penitentiary, where he was sentenced to a year or so ago; but got ball pending an appeal, and it was handy to have one majority when it came to organizing the senate—even if he did pay a million bucks for the seat. Perhaps it was worth the price to the big interests.

Who remembers when it used to be the proper thing for church going people to divide according to sex, the women going to one side of the church and the men to the other? That is the way they seat members of the house and senate at Washington, only they divide by party rather than by sex. But the next congress will have so many republicans some of them will have to be seated over on the democratic side. Perhaps it will be a good thing to mix a little. One side or the other might make a few converts. At any rate, our congress gives too much attention to party lines, and not enough to enacting beneficial legislation.

Those who claim to know, tell us that the landslide of the voters last week Tuesday really meant less to the people and government policy than will the selection of a cabinet a few months hence. Grant and Taft, and some others put politicians in their cabinet, and wrecked their good intentions of giving the people a fair government. President Wilson's cabinet officers were mostly good and able men—and he surrounded himself with able advisers who were not honored with cabinet positions. He heeded the wishes and advice of some of the very able men of the republican party in performing his part in making the treaty and peace pact—and yet these same men went back on their own work when it was made a part of the pact. So much for politics.

The North Dakota idea of using the state government in competition with private monopoly, to pull the teeth of monopoly seems to be gaining in popular favor. The theory has been recognized as sound by the supreme court, not only as applied in North Dakota, but here in Nebraska, where our legislature had or permitted the state to embark in manufacturing to break the hold of monopoly on a necessity for the farmer. Now we learn that the great state of New York, where they so fear socialism that they will not seat socialists legally and lawfully elected to represent districts in the legislature, even they have recognized the principle, and are building two great terminal elevators—the property of the state, to be used to prevent monopoly at the great terminals. True, the New York move is one to prevent monopoly from extorting from the dealer, while the North Dakota venture is intended to protect the farmer from being held up; and the move in Nebraska was for protection of the hog grower.

The government wants us to help some of our readers find a good job in the service of Uncle Sam's Morse-Mill telegraph operators, for Alaska-Washington military cable system, at good wages; but he does not say a word about paying for a notice to that effect. We are not at war now, except with Germany, and are not working much at that, so we cannot see any good reason for Uncle Sam to try to conscript his advertising. We want to do our full share for government and do it freely in every emergency—but it does seem as if when Uncle wants to hire a few men he should advertise for them the same as any other going concern does. He does not go to the merchant and ask for clothing for the men; he does not ask the transportation companies to take them to Alaska, without pay, tho they are all hitched up and going that way. In fact the habit of asking from the newspapers that which is bread and meat to them is so common that we do not suppose the department did otherwise than take it for granted that all that was necessary was to pay a stenographer to write and mail them out, and the newspaper man would do the rest.

NEW STUDY FOR SCHOOLS
Educators Realize They Have Been Only Half Teaching Pupils In the Past

For the first time in American History educators have admitted that their previous plans of education have been all wrong; that hitherto education did not educate but merely half-educated the youth of the land. It fitted youth to "make money" but taught nothing about how to save a part of what was made, a matter of even greater importance than making money. The year 1920 marks the turning point in real teaching in the United States.

A committee of seven state superintendents of public instruction, appointed last summer at a meeting of the National Educational Association, will meet with Treasury officials at Washington before Thanksgiving to confer on teaching saving in schools. The results of the conference will be unified plans for putting American children on a thrifty foundation and swell the tide that is rapidly turning toward school saving. The Tenth Federal Reserve District, already well on the way toward revolutionizing school savings, is represented at the conference by Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, of Colorado, who has been a noted advocate of the Government savings plan in schools, a plan of teaching children to save and paying them 4 per cent compounded annually on their savings.

Ed. and L. M. Owen received word from Chicago of the tragic death of a cousin, Sergeant, Marpool, for more than thirty years a member of the city police force. From the newspaper story accompanying the letter it seems that Mr. Marpool had responded to a call to go with two others to take some men out on Western avenue and Elm street, and they proved to be desperados wanted for a holdup and burglary with a killing included. As the officers approached they shot the sergeant, and fled, followed by the other officers, who wounded and killed one, and later killed the other one who was resisting arrest.

GOING DIRECTLY TO THE CAUSE of the majority of so-called diseases is the reason of Chiropractic efficiency as a drugless health agent; that is why adjustments benefit you when all "treatment methods" have failed. Disease is a misnomer. All so-called "disease" is but bodily in-coordination. "Diseases" here named are called such to educate the reader by contrast to proper terminology.

1. Slight subluxations at this point will cause so-called headaches, eye diseases, deafness, epilepsy, vertigo, insomnia, wry neck, facial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, etc.
2. A slight subluxation of a vertebra in this part of the spine is the cause of so-called throat trouble, neuralgia, pain in the shoulders and arms, goitre, nervous prostration, la grippe, dizziness, bleeding from nose, disorder of gums, catarrh, etc.
3. The arrow head marked No. 3 locates the part of the spine wherein subluxations will cause so-called bronchitis, felons, pain between the shoulder blades, rheumatism of the arms and shoulders, hay fever, writers' cramp, etc.
4. A vertebral subluxation at this point causes so-called nervousness, heart disease, asthma, pneumonia, tuberculosis, difficult breathing, other lung troubles, etc.
5. Stomach and liver troubles, enlargement of the spleen, pleurisy and a score of other troubles, so-called, are caused by subluxations in this part of the spine, sometimes so light as to remain unnoticed by others except the trained Chiropractor.
6. Here we find the cause of so-called gall stones, dyspepsia of upper bowels, fevers, shingles, hiccough, worms, etc.
7. Bright's disease, diabetes, floating kidney, skin disease, boils, eruptions, and other diseases, so-called, are caused by nerves being pinched in the spinal openings at this point.
8. Regulations of such troubles as so-called appendicitis, peyfontitis, lumbago, etc., follow Chiropractic adjustments at this point.
9. Why have so-called constipation, rectal troubles, sciatica, etc., when Chiropractic adjustments at this part of the spine will remove the cause?
10. A slight slippage of one or both innominate bones will likewise produce so-called sciatica, together with many "diseases" of pelvis and lower extremities.

President elect Harding is fishing for Tarpon in southern waters.

Frank Gamble was looking after business at Omaha the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Owen and Mrs. Jas. Jeffries are spending this day at Sioux City, going over on the morning train.

Mrs. J. R. Whipple, who had her little son, Aiva, here in the hospital, returned to her home at Belden Wednesday.

Wm. Field, who has been spending several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Neely, his sister, left Monday for his home at San Francisco. It was their first meeting in many years, and was a visit greatly enjoyed by both.

Wayne Superlative flour per sack $3.00. In five and ten sack lots, per sack $2.80. Shorts per 100 lbs. $2.50. Bran per 100 lbs. $2.00. Only at the Wayne Roller Mills, W. R. Weber, Proprietor. Phone 131.

There is talk of a new time card going into effect on this line in the not distant future. The object, as we understand it, is to so change the card that the morning train will arrive at Omaha at least an hour earlier. By speeding up the Sioux City-Omaha train a bit, and shortening the time of wait at Emerson, it would not be necessary to make our morning east-bound train much earlier.

Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen went to Rochester, Minnesota, the first of the week to spend a few days at those wonderful hospitals, studying in the clinics. Dr. Lutgen frequently takes a few days or a week off to see what others are doing in his line of work, and every trip of that kind, he estimates, makes him that much better prepared to successfully cope with serious emergency cases, which may come to the hospital here at any time.

W. E. Baker, a veteran knight of the "Aul and Last", came last week from Stanton to take possession of the shoe repair business which he had recently purchased from C. D. Worley, who has been pegging away here more than a year, and built up a nice business in his line. Mr. Baker has had years of experience, and therefore knows what your footwear needs to do it the most good. Mr. Worley has not decided where he will locate next or what line of work he will follow—but like many people with work that keeps them inside, he is thinking of something outside part of the time.

PROMINENT MEN TO ADDRESS FARMERS

Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, and Henry C. Wallace, of Des Moines, have been added to the list of prominent men vitally interested in agriculture who will speak at the meetings of organized agriculture at Lincoln January 3 to 7. Governor Allen will speak at the general session January 5, and Mr. Wallace will deliver two addresses, on January 7, before the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. Secretary of Agriculture, E. T. Meredith, will probably be on the program, and the committee is in correspondence with other prominent men and women, including the Canadian minister of agriculture. Indications now point to these meetings being the greatest assemblage of farmers ever held in Nebraska. The management should add a bit of political economy to their program. Farmer troubles may in part be remedied by legislation.

STOCK FEEDERS TO MEET

Nebraska stock feeders and others interested in livestock will hold their sixth annual fall meeting at the University Farm, Lincoln, November 12. It is said that the big corn crop is encouraging quite a lot of stock feeding this winter in spite of the financial situation. A good many feeders think there should be good profit in the business on account of the low price of corn. Students of the situation say that 10-cent hogs should return a good profit, with corn at its present price. It is estimated that five pounds of corn or its equivalent will produce one pound of pork. Hence corn at one cent a pound should produce pork at the cost of 5 cents a pound. Between 200 and 300 livestock men usually attend the fall meeting, preliminary to the opening of the feeding season. In addition to their discussions they inspect the cattle, hogs and sheep used in feeding experiments at the state experiment station, as well as stock which the College of Agriculture is preparing for the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago. The State is carrying on a series of experiments in an effort to find the most economical feeds for producing meat. The stock yard problems should be considered at this meeting, and our new republican legislature be told to do things this winter.

FARMERS GETTING MORE FOR EGGS

Statistics published by the United States Department of Agriculture show that egg prices received by farmers increased 31.3 cents a dozen from January, 1910, to January, 1920. In January, 1910, eggs sold for 30.5 cents a dozen, and in January of this year for 64.0 cents. Prices received by farmers began to ascend in 1916, when they were 2.4 cents a dozen higher than in 1915. In 1917 they were 9.7 cents higher than in 1916, and the following two years they ascended an average of more than 4 cents a dozen each season. Some Nebraska selected white eggs have been marketed in New York this year for more than $1 a dozen.

COMMUNITY CLUB AT PENDER

According to the Times, a move has been started at Pender for the organization of a community club. Twenty-five of the business men have guaranteed a series of entertainments calculated to help the community spirit. These are to be conducted similar to a chautauqua or a lecture course as to the financing, and the first of the series of entertainments will be held Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, when Capt. Nusbaum, a specialist in community matters will speak, and a musical entertainment will be given. The idea is to convince farmers and business men that their interests in the community are identical, and get them acquainted in hope of getting them to work together for the community in a better spirit, and greater unity.

"it's more like a Smoke!"

There you have Spur's big reason in a nutshell. It's what an American Legion man said after he had puffed a Spur for a moment or two.

He knew cigarettes. Found how comforting a good one is. Had 16 months in France. And he knew what he was talking about when he said:

"More Like a SMOKE"—

That's because you can taste the good tobacco in Spurs. You get the aroma of a new and delicious blend of the finest leaf grown in Turkey, fine Burley and other home-grown tobaccos.

Unmarred by starch because the seam is crimped not pasted.

Longer and sweeter in the smoking—slower in the burning. Fresh and fragrant as you open the pack, because it's triple-wrapped.

Priced to be popular and packaged to be select.

See for yourself—"more like a SMOKE."

A HALLOWEEN NIGHTS' SCARE

(From The Watchword) It was a dark night, the wind howled in the trees and clouds hid the moon and stars. It was indeed the kind of night that one expects to meet ghosts and to see shapeless objects.

Four young girls were walking along an unused and out of the way path on their way home from a party, given to celebrate Halloween. All the pranks customary to this occasion were experienced and all the ghost stories were related.

Although they tried to think of something entirely different than the subject of ghosts, the minds of these girls dwelt on the same subject, that of ghosts. Each one thought of the story or event of the evenings entertainment that had particularly impressed her.

As they were nearing a dark street they began to think more and more of proofs, (of the evening), of the possibilities of ghosts visiting us on Halloween night. They were now in the street, where large trees grew on both sides of the street. The trees creaked as the wind passed through their limbs and dry leaves.

It seemed to them that each step they took brought them into more intense darkness. Finally they came to a place where the trees were not so thick and they saw a large, white shapeless object suddenly appear from behind a clump of bushes and start across in front of them. Struck with such a great fear that they were almost speechless the four stopped and clung to each other. They dared not move. This object did not seem to notice them but was going to a house which was almost in front of them. Too frightened to run, and deciding that if they remained quiet they would be unseen, the girls still clung to each other intently watching the movements of the "ghost."

This ghost did not resemble the ghosts of their stories, for instead of gliding along or floating in the air, it moved very much as a human does.

The object moved on, nearing them quite rapidly. Almost any minute they expected to be seen. As it came in front of them they were able to see clearly that someone was connected with their ghost. They saw that the person was a woman and the "ghost" an armful of white clothes, which being starched stuck out in all directions, thus forming the shapeless, indescribable object which they named a ghost.

THE HAUNTED BUDDA
(From The Watchword)

I was at an auction at an old curio shop in London. Many old and curious objects were being sold. One curio, a jade Budda, poorly carved but contained in a very beautiful lacquer case inlaid with ivory attracted my attention and I decided to buy it. There was another person who seemed very anxious to buy the Idol and I had some difficulty in making the purchase. Nevertheless I managed to out-bid my opponent but as I was leaving the shop he stepped up to me and tried to purchase the Idol. He was tall and dark-skinned like a Hindoo. I did not like his looks so I pretended not to see him, but I could not get rid of him so easily. He kept following me and persisting until finally I was compelled to tell him that Budda was not for sale. I was somewhat startled when he answered, "Sahib will be sorry. Budda has evil powers at his command and will cast the evil spell on you and you will die. Touch not the Idol with the bare hands." He then departed. I went directly to my home and placed Budda among some other curios above the fire-place and thought no more of it for several days. Some evenings later while sitting in my favorite chair before the fire I fell to thinking about Budda and what the Hindoo had told me. "Nonsense," I said to myself, "he was trying to scare me. There must be something to that Idol, he was so persistent." I took Budda from his case and returning to my chair, I very carefully began to examine him. Slowly but surely I felt a feeling creep through my body that words cannot describe. The lights seemed to grow dim and my breath came in short gasps. The air seemed heavy and suffocating. Impulsively I threw the Idol from me and springing to the window I threw open the shutters in order to get a good breath of air, while standing there I was seized with the feeling that I must jump from the window to the street below. There seemed to be two opposing forces within me, one urging me to jump and the other trying to reinstate my self-control. I do not know what force would have won if my wife had not stepped into the room and noticing my strange actions, screamed. This brought me to my senses and I fell to the floor very weak and helpless. It was a nervous shock, added to the on-coming fever, and I was confined to my bed for some time. During my period of convalescence I roamed about the house a good deal and one day I decided to examine Budda again to see if I could discover why the Hindoo was so anxious to own him. I got out of bed and putting on my lounging robe, went to get Budda. Walking was still very difficult for me and I was very tired by the time I reached the Idol. I took him out of his case and was standing there examining him when the same feeling as before came over me. I fell to the floor in a faint and the next thing I remembered was my wife kneeling over me and pouring cold water on my face. I soon revived but was compelled to go back to bed. I had broken Budda in a thousand pieces when I fell and my wife went back to pick them up after I was safely in bed. She returned almost immediately with the head of Budda, which had not been broken. In the neck there seemed to be a hole stopped up with a sort of putty. I curiously scraped this out and to my astonishment several large gems which I readily recognized as rubies rolled out into my hand. "So, that's why the Hindoo wanted Budda," I exclaimed.

Motors lubricated with Polarine run easily—smoothly—quietly. Polarine is not an ordinary lubricant. It is made from selected crude oil by processes that have taken many years to perfect. Standard conditions keep its unexcelled quality uniform.

To meet the requirements of all makes of cars and trucks, Polarine is made in four grades, differing in body but not in quality. These grades are

- Polarine
- Polarine Medium Heavy
- Polarine Heavy
- Polarine Extra Heavy

For winter use the Polarine and Polarine Medium Heavy grades are recommended.

Imperfect compression is a costly source of lost power. It is only one of the many bad results of using low grade motor oils. Preserve the life of every moving motor part by using Polarine regularly.

Get all the satisfaction you expected out of your car by using Red Crown gasoline. With Polarine, it makes possible the finest performance of which your car is capable—always.

HAUNTED HOUSE
If you have ever taken, or expect to take a trip through the western country, you will perhaps notice once in a while a deserted farm place. It will look vacant, not a person or living thing in sight, and your attention will be attracted by the buildings, which have fallen in from lack of care. There was once, two, or three men traveling thru this country in a car, their object mostly to see the country, their destination not known, and their time not limited. They had made it a habit to put up at a hotel for the night, but as it was getting late in the evening and the distance to the next town not known, they decided to drop in at some farm house for a change. It was not long till they came to a farm place and here they stopped. As they pulled up to the house, a grey haired old man came out of the house, a cob pipe hung out of the corner of his mouth, and his greying whiskers somewhat colored by chewing tobacco. As he heard the car, he spoke in a coarse voice, "Good evening boys, and hot giving time to answer. "How is traveling?" "Well it has been pretty good," returned the driver, "but we are now most in need of a sleeping place for the night. Do you suppose we could stay here all night?" "Boys, I'll tell you, and I'm sorry too, that I would give you a place if I had it, but we are full. Some of our relatives are visiting us and we are in want of room ourselves. But if you want a place to sleep and don't care for company, there is a farm house all furnished but vacant about a mile straight west of here." "How does it come there is no one living there?" "Well there used to be a man and his family live there, but he turned crazy and killed his family. He disappeared, and the authorities have never been able to find him. He has only been seen a few times about the place and that has been in the evening. People say the place is haunted, but even so, I think you will find everything there to make you comfortable." The boys thanked him for the information and moved on to the place. It was not long till they parked their car in front of the mysterious house. With a view of using it as a garage, they first visited the old barn, which was about to fall down. Then they returned to the house, as one of them opened the door they heard heavy foot steps. One of them saw something pass the window. Then there was a low mumbling as if some person was talking to himself. Then out of the room there seemed to come a low droning which gradually rose to a horrible shriek and which continued sometimes high and sometimes low. The mumbling had been drowned out by the shriek, but soon the mounding would begin again. That was the most horrible of all. It would stop entirely at times, but again it would start up. I do not know how long those tel-lows stood there, but after a time one gained control of himself and set out to investigate. He picked up a strong limb from the ground and with his knife in his other hand he advanced and peered thru the crack in the door. At the other side of the room sat a grey-headed old man at a grindstone sharpening a huge carving knife. The young man stood there watching him for some time. Finally the old fellow seemed to have the knife sharpened to his satisfaction, and he let the grindstone die down. Again the old fellow could hear the mumbling and the old fellow seemed to be saying, "I'll kill them tonight, I'll kill them tonight." They understood at once that the old man who had killed his family was still alive and frequented his old home. He seemed to be living over his old deed. One of them lost no time in getting out of that place and when he did, he found that his companion had run back to the car. They got into the car and was not long in getting away. When at a safe distance from the house, they found breath enough to talk and the brave one told his companion what he had seen. They decided that they did not care to sleep in that house for the night, so they made their bed on the ground and continued on their way the next morning.

Congress killed the lottery business in 1890 by depriving them of the use of the mails, and later by refusing admission of their mail from foreign lands; they put the final touches on the scheme. It will be just as honorable, and in time will meet the approval of practically all people, if this congress will kill gambling in futures. It is but a lottery, or a game of chance. Why not deny their quotations and dealings any place in the world? But for the publicity given and the use of postal privileges, gambling in grain would die a natural death. In fact it is publicly that makes nearly every business, good or bad, go—and if it is not worthy of publicity, let it die.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Mary Muhm left for Randolph this morning for a few days. It seems like old times to see sugar quoted in the adv. columns. You may find it if you look carefully.

Miss Dorothea Carroll and Mrs. Leo Carroll went to Carroll this morning to visit for a few days with relatives.

Alvin and Levert Broadstone, who have been here working, returned to their home at Norfolk for a week or two.

Mrs. Teli Worley, after spending some time visiting with her son, C. T. Worley, returned to her home at Norfolk today.

Wm. Rice and family leave today for a home south of Omaha, after a residence here of a number of months. They go by automobile.

Dr. French, of Hastings College, spoke at the Presbyterian church Sunday, both morning and evening. He was a guest of Reverend and Mrs. Board.

Miss Margaret Coleman went to Carroll to spend a few days visiting. She will leave here Monday for Phoenix, Arizona, where she will spend the winter.

W. A. Truman was at Lincoln Sunday, going down with his mother, who has been visiting him here for a number of weeks, and tarrying for a short visit with relatives and friends.

The ladies of the English Lutheran church, held their annual Bazaar last Saturday. Owing to the bad roads and stormy day a number from the country were unable to get to town. Although it proved to be successful the proceeds amounting to $120.

The new president and some of his friends are said to be already at work on their new association of powers to promote trade—and perhaps prevent war. Some leading republicans predict that the present treaty and league pact cannot be scrapped by a single nation which never became a member. That the logical thing is to join and then work as a member for such improvement as may be needed.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Cattle Very Dull—Slow to 25c Lower

HOGS DECLINE 25-35 CENTS

Moderate Receipts of Sheep and Lambs and Practically a Steady Market for Both Fat Stock and Feeders.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Nov. 10.—Another liberal run of cattle showed up Tuesday, about 14,000 head, and the general market for beef steers and cows ruled steady to a quarter lower than Monday. Trade in stockers and feeders was very dull with prices fully 25c lower all around.

Quotations on cattle: Fair to good beefs, $11.00@13.00; common to fair beefs, $9.00@11.00; fair to good yearlings, $11.00@13.00; common to fair yearlings, $8.50@10.50; choice to prime grass beefs, $11.75@13.25; good to choice grass beefs, $10.25@11.50; fair to good grass beefs, $8.25@10.00; common to fair grass beefs, $6.50@8.00; Mexicans, $3.00@3.00; prime heavy grass cows, $8.25@9.75; good to prime grass heifers, $8.75@9.50; choice to prime grass cows, $7.25@8.25; good to choice grass cows, $6.50@7.25; fair to good grass cows, $5.50@6.50; cutters, $4.25@5.50; canners $3.50@4.25; beef and butcher bulls, $3.50@9.00; hogs and hogs, $5.25@6.00; veal calves, $8.00@13.00; prime heavy feeding steers, $10.25@11.50; good to choice feeders, $8.75@10.00; fair to good feeders, $7.50@8.75; common to fair feeders, $6.00@7.00; good to choice stockers, $7.00@8.25; fair to good stockers, $5.00@6.25; stock heifers, $4.75@7.25; stock cows, $4.50@6.50; stock calves, $3.50@5.50.

Hogs Sell 25@35c Lower.

Although hog receipts continue light, about 4,500 head Tuesday, the demand lacks breadth and trading was dull on the basis of a 25@35c decline. Hogs brought $13.05 and bulk of the trading was at $12.50@12.75.

Sheep and Lambs Steady.

A moderate run of sheep and lambs showed up Tuesday, about 16,000 head, and while trading was somewhat sluggish prices for both fat stock and feeders were in just about the same notches as on Monday.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Killers—Best fat lambs, $11.75@12.00; medium to good lambs, $11.25@11.75; plain and coarse lambs, $11.00@11.25; choice handy yearlings, $9.75@10.00; heavy yearlings, $9.00@9.50; aged wethers, $7.25@8.50; good to choice ewes, $5.75@6.75; fair to good ewes, $5.00@5.75; cull and canner ewes, $2.00@3.50. Feeders: Choice lambs, $11.25@11.75; fair to good lambs, $10.50@11.25; inferior grades, $10.00@10.25; yearling wethers, $8.00@9.00; yearling ewes, breeders, $7.75@8.75; good to choice young ewes, $6.50@7.50; one-year breeders, $5.50@6.25; good to choice feeder ewes, $4.75@5.00; fair to good feeders, $4.25@4.75; shelly feeders, $3.75@4.00.

The state corn crop is estimated to be 34 bushels per acre, the largest crop in fifteen years.

Mrs. Emma Liveringhouse has sold her residence on Main and 7th streets to August Wittler, to give possession next March. The consideration was $6,500.

He was located at Niobrara for a time and also at Coleridge.

NON-PARTISAN IN THE SENATE

Dr. E. F. Ladd, chemist, economist and president of the North Dakota agricultural college, will be the first non-partisan league United States senator, in view of the admission by Svenbjorn Johnson, democratic state chairman, that Ladd had won the senatorship over H. S. Perry, his democratic opponent. Dr. Ladd is known in North Dakota mainly for two things—his fight for a better grain grading and marketing system, and his campaign against adulterated food, paint and drugs.

The need for a better plan for handling the products of the farm is engrossing Dr. Ladd's attention now. He is in Chicago to help the committee of seventeen of the American farm bureau federation decide on a co-operative grain marketing system.

His plan for better distribution of the grain crop includes a world wide information bureau which will determine the needs of the world for various grains "and deliver the order to the farmer." He also believes in a system of financing which will enable the farmer to hold his grain until it is needed by the consumer.

OF MORAL VALUE

Several men and myself were sitting around the hotel fire telling ghost stories, when an elderly gentleman came in and joined the circle. He listened for a while then he spoke up saying, "Gentlemen, only once can I remember that a ghost was of any value."

"It was a week before Halloween" that the "Horse-shoe Bank" of Luckyville was robbed. The criminal, in robbing the bank had shot and killed the night watchman. The mystery had foiled and baffled many a detective and no trace of the robber could be found.

"On Halloween" evening I had nothing to do and it dawned upon me to go out and have some fun. I thought that probably the best way to do this was to dress as a ghost, so I appeared upon the street in that guise."

I started down the street and it was not long before I saw someone coming in my direction. He must have seen me about the same time, because he began to run. I thought I'd have my fun from it so I set out to chase him. The speed with which the man ran told me that he was frightened, and when he looked back and saw me still coming he seemed to run all the faster. I had followed him for the little ways when he ran down the main street of the village and into the police station. Of course, I thought he was going to get the police after me so I made way from there as fast as I could.

"I read in the paper the next morning that the bank robber had confessed to the police after being chased into the station by the ghost of the night-watchman." John Carhart.

HALLOWEEN

Halloween is the name given to the eve or vigil of "All Hallow's" or festival of "All Saints," which is the first of November. It is usually celebrated the thirty-first of October.

In England it was customary to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water and such harmless performances. This is the real spirit. It has been carried on to a greater extent with other intentions. They have formed superstitions as those of black cats, witches and ghosts with their attending stories.

Usually a group of young people assemble and the evening is spent in all sorts of merrymaking ways, consisting of fortune telling, hair raising ghost stories told, slight of hand performances and ventriloquist excursions.

Oftentimes in an effort to show spirit, young people have committed acts that have caused a great deal of trouble in many ways; such as destruction of property, disturbance of the peace of many persons and general annoyances.

These methods in the observance of Halloween can readily be seen to be harmful, misinterpreted customs and should receive no countenance whatever.

Loyalty is a quality of character which every student of the school and every good citizen of a nation should possess. Without loyalty our nation would soon rank in the lower class instead of at the head of all nations. In school, it would be the same way. The football players would not fight so hard, and the basket ball players would not play as they do, if they did not know that every student in the school was with them.

It is the disloyal person that we despise. The person who cares nothing for his school, nothing for his team, nothing for his country should be despised. A person who would cheat in exam or have some one else get his lessons for him, is a cad.

Again, I say we lack loyalty when we fail to prepare our lessons, when we are sent out of class for misbehavior, and when we insist on being a nuisance. If pupils, teachers and patrons fail in loyal support of their school, they are slackers, and slackers are yellow. Let us pledge ourselves to stand by our school, through thick and thin, success or failure. Such schools combined will make a loyal nation thus declaring the most admirable quality in every good student and citizen.

THE VERMILLION CULPRIT

(From the Goldenrod)

A mouse, of artistic temperament strayed into the Art Department one pleasant day last week, inveigled there by a personality more powerful than its own, to render judgment on the various works there displayed.

But its bold knock was not bold enough to send an impression through the oval window and cochlea of the instructor's organ of hearing, so it walked through the front door, which was slightly ajar. Before announcing its mission, Friend Mouse became so enraptured with the deeds of Arthur there depicted that Time flew and Night was at hand before it thought to return, and then the door was locked.

So it decided to remain gracefully and inspect the cupboards. Friend Mouse strode pompously from room to room, its train following majestically in the rear. A can of vermilion dye powder afforded ample opportunity for examination, so, true to its mission, it inserted a nose, ear, feet and other appendages,—but there the tour of investigation ceased.

Paving the atmosphere frantically and stretching out its biceps, triceps, and all its other "ceps", Friend Mouse died the straightest death any mortal ever died, for he "breathed out his mortal last" between the supporting handle of a T-square and ruler. The dye kindly added a bit of color to the sad occasion, so that the Art instructor was very much surprised when she beheld a crimson-colored culprit in the bottom of the cupboard the next day, its "arms" held in a prayerful attitude and its rear appendage completely dyed (died).

With nasal machines carefully masked and heads sorrowfully averted, the mourners lowered it in a white coffin (drawing paper) with all due rites, from the north window of the Art room to the terra firma beneath (only faster). At the same time a gale from the same direction wafted back reminder of the fact that it had but shortly been a "dyed-in-the-wool-even-into-the-hall," inhabitant of the cupboard.

THAT WAYNE-BUENA VISTA GAME

In a hard-fought game which was a battle royal from beginning to end, indecisive until the last five minutes of play, Buena Vista, of Storm Lake, Iowa, defeated the Normal squad by a score of 14 to 7.

The game started with Wayne receiving, but they almost immediately lost the ball on downs. The visitors made the first gains, but when unable to go farther, punted the ball which was fumbled by a Wayne man on the five-yard line and carried across by a Buena Vista. Fountain kicked goal.

The opponents kicked and Wayne succeeded in carrying the ball back a few yards but lost it again on a fumble.

NEBRASKA WAGES HEALTH DRIVES

State Shows Wonderful Progress in Nursing Service, Especially in Rural Districts.

The Nursing Service of the American Red Cross throughout Nebraska has assumed proportions undreamed of during the last year. A year ago the state had but one Red Cross nurse. Today practically every large city in the state has a large or small staff of trained nurses.

The chapters are paying particular attention to their districts where health work has been neglected. For this reason a large number of classes in nursing instruction are in progress at this time.

The city problem and the rural problem for visiting nurses are necessarily different, but the same fundamentals of training are needed to prepare the nurse to cope with them, and the young woman who assumes the responsibility of a rural situation must be exceptionally broad visioned and well prepared, because the service usually is isolated and the individual nurse has to depend upon her own initiative in matters that are exclusively professional.

Great Task Ahead.

JUNIOR RED CROSS ACTIVE IN EUROPE

Garden seeds for Polish orphans, milk for anemic Greek babies, carpenter's tools for Czecho-Slovakian cripples—these are only a few of the gifts that young Americans are sending to the war-torn children of the Old World.

Through the Junior Red Cross the boys and girls of the United States are giving a fresh start in life to little war orphans scattered all over Europe. They have set up orphan's homes in France, school colonies in Belgium and Montenegro, and day schools in Albania.

They are sending dozens of young Syrians, Montenegrians, and Albanians to American colleges in Constantinople and Beirut, and maintaining more than a hundred orphans of French soldiers at colleges and trade schools. In orphanages and farm schools up and down the peninsula of Italy there are nearly 500 wards of American Juniors.

Last winter a thousand French children from the inadequate shelters of the devastated regions were sent by the Junior Red Cross to spend the cold months in warmer parts of France. At the same time five thousand little Belgians were having a hot lunch every day at Junior Red Cross school canteens.

American school children have already raised something like a million dollars for these enterprises, and they are still hard at work.

In China, through campaigns of education, the Junior Red Cross is helping to combat widely prevalent blindness and cholera.

RED CROSS RELIEF IN CENTRAL EUROPE

But for timely assistance of the American Red Cross during the last year, a large proportion of the 20,000,000 population of the Balkan States might have starved or perished from disease or exposure. Six million dollars worth of food, clothing and medical supplies have been sent to the Balkans—Roumania, Bulgaria, Albania, Montenegro, Serbia, Bosnia and Greece—since the beginning of Red Cross relief operations in Central Europe, while millions of dollars worth of food alone has been sent to the needy in these states.

The money expended by the Red Cross in this stricken portion of Europe has been used to set up hospitals, orphanages, dispensaries, mobile medical units and to help in the general reconstruction of devastated areas. American tractors and other farming implements have been sent to the agricultural regions where aid has been given in plowing the land.

By the last of this year probably all American Red Cross agencies administering relief in Central Europe will have withdrawn. By that time, it is believed, the people will have approached a normal state of living and will be able through their own agencies, which the Red Cross has helped set up to provide for themselves.

Buena Vista, by a series of line smashes and end runs, placed the ball on Wayne's five-yard line. The Normalites held them for three downs, but Buena Vista, with a final effort, pushed the pigskin over. Captain Fountain again kicked goal.

The first quarter ended 14 to 0 in favor of the visitors but with the ball in Wayne's hands on her twenty-yard line. Wayne then started on a march down the field using shifting, line-smashing plays. Captain Armour, with a final line-smashing drive, assisted by quarterback Surber, carried the ball seven yards for Wayne's first and last touchdown. Captain Armour kicked goal. The end of the half saw the score 14 to 7 still in favor of the visitors.

The second half started with a grim determination on the part of each to win,—one striving to keep their established lead and the other, to equal them. Both sides played a defensive game, but Wayne took the offensive after about ten minutes of play and advanced the ball to Buena Vista's twenty-yard line. A "drop" kick was tried but missed by a narrow margin. The ball was brought out to the twenty-yard line, Buena Vista punted and the struggle ended with the ball in the visitors' hands in Wayne territory.

Men deserving honorable mention, are Captain Fountain, Kennedy and Brice for Buena Vista, and Captain Armour, Miller, Surber, and Clark for Wayne.

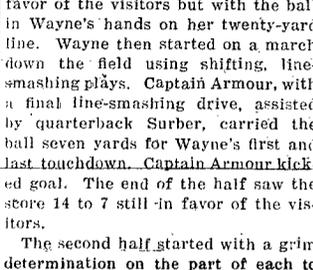

Substitutes for Wayne were Jones for Peterson; Peterson for Surber; Thomas for Clark. Clark was "laid out" in the beginning of the fourth quarter and Surber in the last of the first half. The Wayne squad goes to Chadron Friday night, November 5th. The remaining games on Wayne's schedule are:

Omaha at Omaha—Friday, November 12th.

Peru at Wayne—Saturday, November 20th.

Central City at Wayne—Turkey Day. Plan to be here for the Thanksgiving game.

Teaching Future Mothers

The above is an illustration of one phase of the peace time program now being carried on by the Red Cross. It shows a Red Cross nurse in a rural district teaching a class of girls—America's future mothers—how to keep baby healthy.

NEBRASKA SCHOOLS PLAN HOT LUNCHES

The school hot lunch is being advocated by some Red Cross workers throughout the state of Nebraska as a solution of underweight among school children. In many of the rural schools of the state the plan has been carried out with such success.

Many reasons have been given for the small percentage of schools that have carried out the hot-lunch plan—lack of time for the teacher to prepare the lunch, lack of funds from which to provide it, and lack of co-operation on the part of the parents, many of whom feel it is a new-fangled idea and most unnecessary.

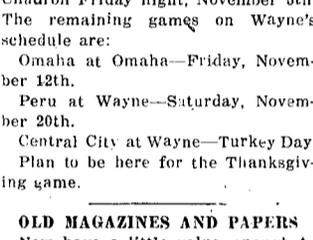

All of these problems are being solved in the communities by the Red Cross through demonstrations of simple methods of preparing the lunches. With the coming of the school hot lunch as a firmly established institution, better-nourished children and better students should result.

Many local projects of service to the schools and to unfortunate children is being stimulated by partial and complete financial reports by the Junior Red Cross. Such projects, except in case of unfortunate children, are in volume the betterment of the schools and are not any special group.

The Junior Red Cross intends to cooperate more than ever with the schools throughout Nebraska this year. In all communities it is working with the school authorities in carrying on regular class room activities.

Of course, the boys and girls will help this fall with the community work, as they have in the past. The annual clean-up programs will be aided by the Junior Red Cross, as well as the promotion of health campaigns.

NEBRASKA SCHOOLS PLAN HOT LUNCHES

Whole City Goes in for Health.

A higher order of civic health is the united aim of the Lincoln, Neb., chapter of the American Red Cross, which has entered upon an extensive health program for the coming year. A public health nurse has been employed, and a health center opened. Advice and information is given to anyone in the community and classes in home care for the sick, hygiene and dietetics have been organized.

IT IS NOT HOW LONG, BUT HOW WELL WE LIVE.—DeLille.
