PER YEAR

NORMAL ENROLLMENT BREAKS ALL RECORD

Since the Wayne State Normal began its school at Wayne nearly eleven years ago it has never before experienced such an incoming of students. From the office of the Registrar we have been given the enrollment up to the close of the third day entries, and the total is 790, fully 200 in the lead of any previous term. Never before has there been so many enrolled for the advanced work, and for this work the classes are many of them so large that they must be divided into sections.

With this term are some new instructors. Prof. C. F. Lemon, of Cumberland university, will take the place at the head of the biology department, filling the place made vacant by the resignation of Prof. H. H. Hickman. He is to be assisted during the summer term by Prof. R. Thomson, of the Plainview school.

Prof. W. A. Lucas, of Nevelsville, Indiana, will take the place as supervisor of music from which Prof. C. E. Fouser resigned recently to accept a position in Northwestern university, Evanston, Illinois.

R. A. Dawson of the class of '16 has been granted his B. A. degree. He is assistant to Prof. E. J. Huntmer in the manual training department.

The incoming students have literally taken Wayne. They filled every spare nook in the dormitories, and the homes of Wayne have been opened to them and packed by them as never before in the history of the school. They estimate at the registration department that fully 500 are finding rooms in the private homes of the city. Such growth shows conclusively that interest in the school is growing faster than the facilities for housing have been provided, and is evidence that the call for more dormitory room cannot much longer be ignored. The auditorium, large as it is, filled both the main floor and the gallery at the first chapel meeting Tuesday. The showing this week tells well of the faithful work of the faculty and the field workers, and proves that the Wayne Normal School is a powerful factor in advancing the cause of education in this state.

ELLIS-VAN CAMP

Announcements received at Wayne last week from Mr. and Mrs. U. N. Ellis, of Creighton, tell of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gladys and Mr. Wm. J. VanCamp Friday, June 3, 1921. Mr. and Mrs. VanCamp came to Wayne the first of the week, where he is employed as one of the instructors at the Normal during the summer term. They were given a royal welcome by a bunch of the students Monday evening, for Mr. VanCamp is well known to many, having attended school here and graduated with the class of 1914.

After September 1, Mr. and Mrs. VanCamp will be at home at Lexington, where he is to be superintendent of the schools for the coming year.

BAPTISTS HOLD SUCCESSFUL MEETING

The meeting of the Baptist people from Carroll and Pilger with those of this place at the Baptist church Sunday proved an enjoyable event. Godly delegations were present from the three organizations. A sermon in the morning by the local pastor, a picnic dinner in the church basement, and a sermon from Rev. Burgess and a splendid talk from the pastor of the Pilger church made up a program for the day that was interesting, instructive and social. One that tended to promote a spirit of fraternity and good fellowship.

A BUSINESS CHANGE

J. A. Frydenlund, who has been in America for the past eleven or twelve years, since he left Denmark, and has spent quite a part of that time at and near Wayne, has purchased from T. J. Knopp the old "Sam Temple Smoke House," and is now in charge of the same handling out cigars and tobacco to the patrons like a professional, for he has had business experience and training as a clerk in a grocery. He takes a little space elsewhere in this issue to announce his ownership and invite the public who use tobacco to remember that they will find the best assortment at an exclusive cigar and tobacco store.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING AT H. A. PRESTON RESIDENCE

A beautiful wedding took place at the H. A. Preston home Wednesday, June 8, 1921, at 12 o'clock, when their daughter, Rachel Inez Preston, was united in marriage to Charles Allen Bull, of Belden.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. A. S. Buell, of Omaha, a brother of the groom. Miss Marlon Preston played "Mendelssohn's Wedding March" at the beginning of the ceremony. Mrs. Fishback sang "At Dawning," and at the close Mrs. Chas. Montgomery sang "I Love You." Little Betty Fishback was ring bearer and carried them in a basket.

The house was beautifully decorated in white and peach. The bride was gowned in white canton crepe and carried a corsage bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Gertrude Lash, a niece of the groom, wore a peach colored canton crepe dress and carried a bouquet of peach roses. The groom was attended by Clarence Preston.

A three course wedding dinner was served in the Methodist church dining room, which was prepared by the Ladies Aid. Places were laid for one hundred and twenty five guests. Tables were decorated with peach and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Bull left in the afternoon for a short wedding trip, going to Norfolk, and to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bull, at Beatrice, and will visit at Omaha. On their return will make their home on a farm near Belden.

LEGION MAN IS VICTIM—FRANK O'CONNELL IS BENEVOLENT

Another war romance was recently added to the ever growing list when Dan Cupid forced his way into state headquarters of the Nebraska American Legion, his victim being the department adjutant, Frank B. O'Connell.

The girl in this particular romance is Rachel N. Blodgett, of Orleans, Nebraska, who served in France as a canteen worker. During the summer of 1918 Mr. O'Connell was stationed at Le Mons, where he edited a soldier newspaper. Miss Blodgett was also stationed there in a "Y" canteen. They had known each other in childhood, but neither knew the other was in France until they met accidentally at Sable, near Le Mons. The marriage took place June 1 at the home of the bride's mother in Orleans. After a brief trip in Colorado, they will make their home in Lincoln.

Mr. O'Connell was one of the organizers of the Legion in Nebraska. He was the first commander of the Lincoln post, and has been department adjutant since the state organization was formed. He is known personally by thousands of Cornhusker ex-soldiers who served with him on the border, in France or in American Legion activities.—Midwest Veteran.

Mr. O'Connell spoke at Wayne a few weeks ago at a Legion meeting, and in opening his talk claimed to be afraid of the young ladies in the audience, but is now plain to be seen that he was just fooling. His Wayne friends will wish him happiness and prosperity.

BIG JUBILEE PICNIC AT WAYNE JULY 4TH

Plans have been commenced for a big picnic July 4th at the city park of this place, Mrs. Henry Ley being at the head of the committee to see that the gathering comes to a successful culmination. It is planned to form opportunity for home folks to gather in a social way, from both town and country and get acquainted, partake of a picnic dinner and participate in such amusements as they may wish; for there will be dancing in the big bowery, foot racing, a kewpie doll stand, a fish pond and a chautauque program.

In addition to the picnic dinner there will be a cafeteria restaurant for those who desire to purchase their meal rather than bring it. The proceeds from the various attractions are to be used to swell the community house funds, so those who attend, whether from city or country may aid a good cause while enjoying the national birthday in a sane manner.

WINDSIDE OPERA HOUSE BURNS THIS MORNING

About three o'clock this morning the Windside people were aroused by the fire alarm, and gathered to fight fire. Their opera house, a large frame building was in flames, and the fire was too far advanced when discovered to give hope of saving the building, but by efficient work the city light and pump plant was saved without loss.

The cause of the fire is not known, but certainly if it must burn it could not have been under more favorable conditions, for had there been any wind a building of that size would have endangered much property. The building was owned by Herman Pfeer, and the property was valued at about $3,000 and carried $1,700 insurance. The building and contents were completely destroyed. Otto Snider owned the movie picture equipment valued at $1,000 and had no insurance. C. Holcomb also had a paint shop in the building and carried an insurance of $2,000 on his stock, and that may pay most of his loss.

The building had but recently been given some needed repairs and a coat of paint inside and outside.

LESSMAN-FLUEGER

Miss Mable Lessman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lessman and Anton Flueger, of Wayne county, were married at the Lutheran church northwest of Wakefield Wednesday afternoon, June 1st, 1921, at 2:30 o'clock, in the presence of about 150 guests, Rev. Gehrke officiating. Prof. Greffe played the wedding march. The bridesmaid was Miss Edna Lessman and the groomsmen Arthur Bauriedel, of Norfolk. The bride was attired in a white satin gown and wore a veil. She carried an arm bouquet of brides roses. Little LeVerne Lessman was ring bearer, carrying the ring in a rose.

The happy couple will go to house-keeping on the groom's father's farm. Mrs. George Frederick, of Madison, Kansas, and Mrs. Carl Kophhammer, of Morrison, Illinois, sisters of the bride were out of town guests who attended the wedding.

CHANGE IN POLICE FORCE

Andy Chance, who had been chief of police here for the past two or more years has resigned, and his assistant Wm. Stewart has been promoted to his place. Frank Sederstrom has been named as assistant, and is now on duty to look after any trouble that may come up in these peaceful days. He tells us that, as yet he has had no trouble, and that he hopes the auto drivers will study traffic regulations and observe them so that they will not have trouble. He thinks a little prevention is worth a heap of cure. Let us all be good. The pedestrian, as well as the car driver should learn a few things about the rights of the man with the car. It is dangerous to be cutting corners or crossing the street at any old place you happen to be when you think you want to be on the other side of the street.

THUD—DID YOU HEAR

EM COME DOWN?

We refer to the drop announced elsewhere on Essex, Hudson, and Dodge automobiles by Burrell Wright, who says that he is now ready to talk good automobiles to the prospective purchasers—the right cars at the right prices. Three classes of cars at three prices—good, better, best—you take your choice.

WAYNE WOMAN'S CLUB

The Wayne Woman's club held its regular meeting at the Opera House Saturday. Miss Vera Fetteroll gave a reading, and Miss Fern Oman delighted the ladies with a solo, "Love, 'Tis the Sweet of the Year." Roll call was responded to by clippings and items of interest about various community houses. Mrs. Fred Blair, as general chairman for the Christmas Bazaar to be held the first Saturday in December, outlined some plans and committees for the different departments will be appointed soon.

The club voted to paint the exterior of the Opera House. The ladies felt that if the building is to be used as it is for some little time, that it was almost necessary to paint.

Mrs. Henry Ley reported that she has on hand about $600 for the new community house, $350 of which has come in from the sale of the cook book, and the rest from several donations previously given and the receipts of an entertainment with accrued interest. Meanwhile the club will be doing various things to pay off the remaining debt on the Opera House property, which is $800 and last year's taxes, amounting to $117.

Mrs. Fred Berry gave a very interesting talk on Community Houses, telling how the money was raised for building them in different places, plans for various buildings, their equipment, maintenance and management. In some places the Memorial Community buildings serve the purpose of a City Hall as well as a place for the home of the American Legion and various civic organizations. Several places of from 1500 to 2500 population have erected structures costing from $30,000 to $50,000. The money has been raised in different ways—by general subscription, by having a great many memberships of from $5 to $10 each, by forming a stock company, and by floating bonds, but however done, it means united effort on the part of all civic organizations, such as the Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, City Council and Woman's clubs. Most of the community houses are in rural communities and the small towns of from 500 to 3000 inhabitants.

The following committees were named by the president, Mrs. Huse.

He asked for a jury trial, and the jury said he was guilty as charged, after hearing the evidence. Defendant gave appeal bonds and will carry his case to the district court.

CONTEST BRINGS WORD FROM SAM'S FRIENDS

Tuesday Sam Davies received a nice letter from a friend who had been away from Wayne for about twenty years, Charles Klever, who was on a farm near Wayne in the early days. He is now at Ogallala in this state, and he sends Sam a bunch of votes when he saw his good looking picture in the Bee. Below we give a part of his letter:

"You, no doubt, will be surprised to hear from me after so many years from Wayne and friends there. Have been married seventeen years, have a daughter thirteen years old, just finishing her first year in the Omaha Central high school, and for this reason I am taking the Bee and seeing your picture as one of the leading contestants I send you my votes. If I can be of any help to you, will be pleased to do so, and hope that you will let me know when you win. If I could be at Wayne at that time, we would have a beer, but not with the kick it had when I last saw you.

I have been contracting and building for twenty years, until three years ago when I bought a farm of a section and a half just north of Ogallala and now I am a farmer. I had 310 acres in wheat last year and threshed out 11,790 bushels of grain for the most of which I got $2.00 per bushel. This year I have a little over 600 acres in wheat. Give my regards to the old boys, and to Geo. Muer if he is still there and alive. With kindest regards to you and all of the boys, I am, Chas. Klever, Ogallala, Nebraska.

SUMMER POULTRY SUGGESTIONS

Many farmers and others who raise poultry either sell or kill their male birds as soon as the hatching season is over. Infertile eggs keep much better and many produce dealers pay more for them. If eggs are to be preserved for home use it is almost necessary that they be infertile. A circular sent out by the state college of agriculture has the following to say about summer egg production: Get rid of the male birds and produce infertile eggs after the hatching season. Keep the nests clean and provide one nest for every six hens. Gather the eggs twice a day or oftener. Keep eggs in cool, dry, well-ventilated place, and away from kerosene, oil, or other odorous material. Protect eggs from sun when taking them to market. Learn to candle eggs. Sell to a dealer who pays more for infertile eggs.

BASEBALL SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon, the weather man permitting, the Wayne team will meet the Concord team on the Wayne grounds. If you like the sport you will need no other invitation.

SIX BADLY INJURED WHEN AUTO TURNS TURTLE

A serious automobile accident occurred this (Thursday) afternoon when an automobile loaded with six Wakefield ladies turned turtle, demolishing the car, seriously injuring two of the occupants, and more or less slightly injuring the others.

The most serious injured are Mrs. A. S. Galbraith and Mrs. Adolph Bichel, who was badly injured internally and both suffering broken bones about the hips. The full extent of their injuries are not known as we go to press, but they are in a very serious condition. Mrs. C. E. TenEyck was quite badly injured about the face and head, and while the other three, Miss Grace Kay, Mrs. Harry Fisher and a cousin of A. S. Galbraith, from out of town, received minor injuries and bruises, but they may be serious.

The car belonged to C. E. TenEyck and was driven by Mrs. TenEyck. The sextette were going to the home of Earl Leonard to attend a meeting of the What-so-Ever society of the Presbyterian church. The accident occurred just two miles out on the south main road. Just how the accident occurred probably will never be known, but due to some cause the big seven passenger Buick turned completely over twice, and righted itself, just after crossing the culvert, a short distance this side of the crossroads at the McGee corner. The body of the car was badly damaged.

Further particulars as to the condition of the injured could not be obtained as we go to press.—Wakefield Republican.

WRITES REGARDING HIS TRIP TO SWEDEN

Washington, D. C., May 21, 1921.
Editor of Wakefield Republican, Wakefield, Nebraska. Dear Sir: I just thought it would interest our friends to hear how we are getting along, and if you see fit to publish this in the paper, do so, or dump it in the W. B. We bought a ticket in Sioux City over the Northwestern to Chicago, and then on the Baltimore & Ohio to New York, with a stop-over at Washington, D. C. Trains made close connections at Chicago, so we did not stop there more than five minutes.

Then we went through Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, a rather barren country compared with our Nebraska. Saturday morning we just woke up in time to see the old historic John Brown fort at Harpers Ferry, on the Potomac river. The B. & O. also have their biggest railroad yards there, over six miles long. The Chesapeake and Ohio canal runs right along the railroad, and the Blue Ridge mountains on the other side of the river, which makes it very beautiful and interesting. They pull the boats with a mule, which walks on one side of the canal.

We arrived at Washington at 7:20 and have sure been going ever since. We went out to the historic Mount Vernon, and I cannot find words to express myself of the beauty, and the thoughts that a person experiences when admiring it. We also visited the different buildings around the capitol, the prettiest I ever saw, and was again filled with wonder, and only wish my wife and girls could have been along.

Tonight we leave for New York, and will be there tomorrow morning. The good cheer which our friends gave us at the station is still with us. Of course we have to keep close watch on Ole and Carl, so they don't get lost. Respectfully, Nels Herman.

(Note:—The above letter was received last week from Mr. Herman, who is making a sightseeing trip to Sweden, accompanied by Ole Nyman and Carl Pearson.)—Wakefield Republican.

Frank Peklink tells us that himself and wife drove over to northwestern Iowa the last of the week for a short visit. Mr. P. tells us that he believes that Iowa roads are far better than those this side of the river, but we assured him, that he should take into consideration that he was in an older settled country over there, and that roads there had been more systematically worked for a longer time in Iowa than in Nebraska. That is, the Iowa road law which is practically the same as has been passed in this state, is five years older than here. So if we keep on five years longer we may have roads as good here as Iowa now has. Of the crop prospects there Frank could not say too much—they all looked good.

Another thing to be remembered is that this dealer has the car ready for delivery if ordered now. When things all round get back to normal, there will be a better business and a better feeling.

Jones is pastor at the Carroll Presbyterian church, as it is called—the new church building a few miles southwest of Carroll. Talk about the old cow kicking the milk bucket, milk and all—but she was not in it with the separator which blew up at a farm house near Hartington last week, for spilling the milk and making real trouble. This separator had been running but a few moments when it exploded, or something within the machine exploded with a loud report, and pieces of the fractured steel flew in many directions. Not all of the pieces have yet been found.

One Way to get Big Mileage Regularly

The importance of gasoline with a complete chain of boiling point fractions

You wouldn't expect to light a green stick with a match. Yet some gasolines are like green sticks. They neither ignite quickly nor burn up completely—because they lack sufficient low boiling-point fractions for kindling, and have too great a proportion of slow-burning elements.

Straight distilled gasoline possesses the complete chain of boiling points which assures quick ignition and practically instant, complete combustion. Every bit is converted into heat and power—gives bigger mileage per gallon than slow-burning mixtures, or less carefully refined gasoline.

How to get better results at less cost

The way to get mileage and power economically, to escape carbon troubles, to have a spry, quick-starting engine, is by perfect adjustment of the motor to the fuel used. This can only be secured by using gasoline that is UNIFORM—gasoline you can get wherever you get gasoline that gives a lean, dry, powerful mixture under all weather conditions. Use Red Crown Gasoline.

Red Crown Gasoline has a complete chain of boiling point fractions

Red Crown Gasoline is straight distilled gasoline. It meets all specifications required by the United States Navy for motor gasoline. It has a complete chain of boiling-point fractions—low, medium and higher boiling-point fractions—which, in right proportion, assure big power and big mileage. It is uniform and dependable wherever you buy it.

Authorized Red Crown Dealers Everywhere

Wherever you go you can always get Red Crown Gasoline from reliable, competent and obliging dealers. The gasoline and motor oils they sell make motor operation more economical and more dependable. They are glad to render the little courtesies which make motoring pleasanter. Drive in where you see the Red Crown Sign.

WAYNE MARKET REPORT

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press Thursday:

Corn	37
Oats	26
Fries	30
Hens	13
Roosters	07
Eggs	15
Butter Fat	23
Hogs	$6.00 to $7.00
Cattle	$3.00 to $8.00

Small wonder hard times has hit us. Since January first forty American corporations that last year paid out $17,000,000 in dividends is this year passing the dividend-suspended paying dividends, is the way it is put in print. That means that much easy money that did not come.

The packers of Chicago are asking a greater wage cut. Is the price of meat coming down to the consumer? They only ask now a reduction of 5 cents an hour from each of 60,000 tollers. With an eight hour day that would mean a saving of 40 times 60,000 or $24,000 daily on wages. That should mean a higher price for the cattle, hogs and sheep or a less price to the fellow who eats the stuff.

The doctors are seeing a light. At the meeting of the national medical association or society, the other day doctors stood on the floor of the meeting room and said that the physicians had been too conservative in taking the public into their confidence. We are glad if they can do the world more good by letting people know what they can do for them. When it becomes "ethical" to advertise, it should be an easy matter for the average physician to increase his field of usefulness materially, and perhaps his bank account.

Talk about freight rates and farm prices. A year ago it took one bushel of wheat in fourteen to pay freight from Chicago to the eastern tide water. Now it takes one bushel in seven. The corn ratio is even worse, for it takes two bushels out of five to feed the railroads. Yet the hoggish railroads not only want to lower wages and keep rates where they are; but they wish to smother the development of waterway competition. All that has yet been accomplished in the way of water freight communication to the coast by the St. Lawrence river has been put thru in the face of opposition of the railroads, and the gang of highwaymen who use them as a means of robbing the public. A railroad is a good thing, if properly used; but when it is allowed to become a monopoly suppressing cheaper means of freight carrying it becomes a menace.

Civilization, what is it? The editor received a new definition for it this morning. In the light of history down to date, in the opinion of the farmer who gave the definition it is a system of permitting the producers to be sapped or bled by the non-producers. In other words, legalized robbery. Better study the question and see if this view is well grounded. He was at the time speaking of the injustice of driving prices down on farm products with one hand, and with the other raising the interest rate. He was speaking not only of individual matters and transactions; but also of the move just announced by the administration of paying off a billion dollars of debt by borrowing the money to pay it with at a higher rate of interest than Uncle Sam is now paying.

Pueblo, Colorado, and many other places in Colorado were sadly devastated by floods last week and early this week. Great rain storms came in the mountains, where the water from a thousand hills quickly gathers and rushes into the valleys far faster than it can be carried away in the more level country. While their streams are all rapid, after they leave the foot hills the country is so much more level than above that great volumes of water pile up faster than it can move out. It was this condition at Pueblo which caused such a mountain of water to inundate the city of Pueblo, and on down the Arkansas river until it had spent its force in spreading over the more level lands. The damages is estimated at $30,000,000, while the death loss may never be known. Perhaps 500 lives is a conservative estimate. Many reservoirs for emponding water for irrigation broke under the great strain and added the stored waters to those of the flood. The Red Cross immediately responded with money and helpers and supplies for those who lost their homes.

The people have just reason to complain of tax burdens. Of the state, county and municipal tax we may not complain long unless we seek the remedy and reduce them. That is within the power of the people to a great extent, but they have not exercised that power much in Nebraska in the past. In national tax matters, too, the people must call a halt. Fully three fourths of our national taxes might better be dispensed with, for if reports are true 93 cents from each dollar is spent for wars, past and present and for preparing for future wars. Seven cents of the dollar goes to educate and uplift. If the churches and church membership of this country would live up to their professions of christianity and act unselfishly and intelligently they could stop preparation for war within a month. If they should do this, they would win the admiration and respect of a great class of people who are not of the church because they cannot believe the membership and the rulers of the church are in earnest in what they profess. How many believe that Christ would vote for a party leader who advocated taxing the people to the limit and using 97 per cent of the tax for war—for killing, if you please?

CONDITIONS IN CHINA AS SEEN BY A NELLIGH BOY

Roy Simkins With American Forces Writes An Interesting Letter About The Suffering Chinese

(From Nelligh News)

Howitzer Company 15th Infantry Tientsin, China, April 7, 1921.

Dear Sco:—In this far off heathen country, I still find time to think of my friends in the states and I have often wondered just what was happening around my home town.

I arrived in China on the 17th day of February, 1921 and I can honestly say that it is different than any other place I have ever been in.

I often thought that France was behind times, but after spending a few days in China I have come to the decision that France is very far advanced in civilization compared with this country.

My first impression of China I received just after landing here off the boat. All I could see was a big cloud of dust, and asking one of the fellows who was returning to China, the cause or reason, received this answer, "Oh that's the doby desert passing in review." Just what he meant at that time I could not understand but now I do know. There are times in this country when a person cannot see the sun for days at a time, due to the fact that there is so much dust in the air. And the desert in this country is the cause of it all.

The people of this country are divided into three classes, high class, middle class and low class (Coolies) but from what I have observed I think that the Coolie is the happiest of all classes. To be sure he has nothing but abuse (and he gets plenty of that) but you can't kill the spirit of a Coolie and that amounts to something. They are the dirtiest people in the world, never wash and when they put on new clothes they never take them off, but a foreigner makes allowances for that as he knows they were taught no different.

They have a rather severe law in this country and that is the penalty for stealing, which is death. When I asked why that was, I got this for an answer, "This country has so many people in it that if they did not have that law, it would soon become a mob of thieves and law could not be enforced."

When a native is caught stealing, he is arrested and taken to the execution grounds and shot. I saw one such execution since I arrived here and that sight was not a pretty one to witness. Here is the way that it is done. First they get the prisoner drunk, then he is led into a lot (called the execution ground) a policeman places a pistol to his head and it is all over in a second. It seems a very unjust way of dealing justice and yet they say they must have it, so I guess they must know.

There is also a law in this country forbidding the parents of children to bind their daughters' feet when they are still young. Yet they can not get over the old custom and they still continue to follow the old practice of binding feet. If you were to see a Chinese woman walking down the street and you did not know that her feet had been bound when she was small, you would swear she was walking on her heels. A woman's walk in this country gives me that impression, and it is not far wrong.

The cost of living in this country is very cheap. Eggs 200 for one dollar, shoes made to order $10.00 (ten). The prices given above are in Chinese money. The American dollar is worth four times its value over here, in other words you can buy just as much for 25c here as you can in the states for the dollar.

The cities of this country have wide open saloons, gambling houses, etc. This would be a very good place for some of the Reformers in the U. S. to go to work. They need it here worse than the states ever did.

You must not get the impression that the Chinese people are degraded in mind, they are not. I was told by a Chinese teacher, that the people of other countries made this place what it is. These places are kept open for their amusement and without the foreigners money they would soon close up and go out of business. Right here in Tientsin, all nations of the world are represented. Practically every country in the world has soldiers here, except Germany and she did before the war.

In spite of the cheap cost of living people starve to death over here. Right now there is a big famine, rattle drive on. Thousands of dollars have come from all nations in the world to help relieve the suffering over here. The money is spent for food and clothing. Seed is given to the farmers for their next year's crop. I cannot picture to you half of the misery and suffering some of the people are living in, here in the land of sand storms and dirt. If it is not starvation it is some disease sweeping the land. Every sickness in the world is here, and when a contagious disease starts the toll of human life mounts up into hundreds. Very few foreigners die from any of the diseases that abound in this land because they have money and can procure medical aid and another thing in their favor is cleanliness of body. Many natives of China of the lower class fall over in the street and die before aid can be given to them. Life is held very cheaply, and they face death without an outcry. It is awful to talk about and worse to witness.

There is a lot more to be told of this place and I could write more but as my time is limited I will close this now. I have tried to convey to you the China I have seen and am seeing every day. This account of their suffering and misery is not over drawn as anyone will tell you who has visited China within the last few years. Give my regards to all the friends I have left in Nelligh. And Sco if you happen to have a paper to spare don't forget to send it to the address given below. I sure would like the news of Antelope county.

Best regards and good luck to all.
Roy G. Simkins.

MADISON COUNTY FARMERS TO HOLD REFERENDUM

Through the activities of the farm bureau a referendum is to be taken on sixteen questions now pending in congress, and the results will be tabulated, showing the sentiment of those who vote. As we understand the plan, meetings are to be held in the different school houses with a legislative committee represented to answer questions that may come up during a discussion of the different questions. The result may not be heeded by congress, but once the people study these and other questions and awaken an interest and acquire some knowledge of what congress is trying to do, most any congressman will stand up and take notice before he votes, if he is planning to ask to be sent back to serve. Here are the questions to be considered; and they are the same as those appearing in the American farm bureau federation questionnaire which will be sent to every county farm bureau in the United States for a poll of the membership.

- 1—Do you favor commodity financing based on bonded warehouse receipts?
- 2—Do you favor livestock financing based on an adequate pledge of animals and feed?
- 3—Do you favor the development of a personal rural credit system based on proper safeguards?
- 4—Do you request that authority be granted the federal reserve board to so classify rediscounts as to give priority loans for basic production of all kinds?
- 5—Do you favor increasing the limit on federal land bank mortgage loans from $10,000 to $25,000?

6—Do you favor asking congress to submit to the state a constitutional amendment prohibiting the issuance of all tax-free securities?

7—Are you in favor of continuing the excess profits tax?

8—Are you opposed to the enactment of a general sales tax?

9—Will you be able to move a materially larger amount of agricultural products if the American farm bureau federation secures an adequate reduction in freight rates?

10—Do you favor the building of farm-to-market roads prior to the construction of transcontinental highways?

11—Do you favor the Great Lakes St. Lawrence waterways?

12—Do you favor other waterway development for transportation, reclamation and power at this time?

13—Do you favor placing the packers under regulation by the government, and the vesting of such regulation in the department of agriculture?

14—Do you favor legislation making illegal the practice of short-selling in agricultural products?

15—Do you favor the truth-in-fabric legislation?

16—Do you favor enabling legislation for co-operative marketing.

ORGANIZING TO MARKET FARM CROPS

Nels Johnson was at Omaha last week attending a meeting of the Farmer Union people. Here is a news dispatch from New York telling of a plan for co-operative marketing, but whether or not it is in connection with the move in this state we do not know, but imagine that it may be from the fact that C. H. Gustafson, from Lincoln, was one of the men present:

Plans for co-operative grain marketing were advanced at a conference by the formation of the Farmers' Finance corporation, with a capital stock of $100,000,000. This announcement, made by the executive committee of the United States Grain Growers, Inc. stated that Bernard Baruch will act in an advisory capacity for the body. Incorporation papers will be filed in Delaware Friday. Purpose of the corporation, it was said, include affording farmers a ready market in case of money stringency hastening the movement of grain and elimination of much of the handling of products by middlemen.

The organization does not seek to wreck the existing marketing system, it was stated. The marketing body is an offspring of committees of the American Farm bureau, government committees and other farm organizations. Members of the grain growers executive committee present at the conference, included C. H. Gustafson,

Lincoln, and Frank M. Meyers, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

One method of cutting motoring costs

Low grade oil, or oil of unsuitable body, is the direct cause of fully ninety per cent of all overhauling, repair and replacement costs. It is also frequently responsible for the low mileage many an automobilist complains of and blames on his gasoline.

Finding just the correct lubricating oil for your engine will save you a lot of expense and bother.

Polarine is the highest quality motor oil you can buy. Its stability under high engine heat provides a fuel-tight and gas-tight seal in the cylinders which insures maximum power and mileage from gasoline. Its smooth, continuous film protects bearings and engaging parts against wear, vibration and breakage.

Polarine is made in four grades—light, medium heavy, heavy and extra heavy—but only one quality. Get the proper grade for your car next time you buy clean-burning Red Crown Gasoline—and you will start cutting down motoring costs.

SEEING NEBRASKA AT ITS BEST

Observations on a Spring Time Tour
—Farm Philosophy

By J. O. Shroyer, Associate Editor in
The Nebraska Farm Journal

I do a good deal of traveling up and down and back and forth over this good state of ours, as readers of the Nebraska Farm Journal already know. I enjoy meeting the farm folks of Nebraska whether in their homes or at their community meeting places. Especially is it a pleasure to make a trip at this time of year, when nature is at its best, when a new farming season is getting under way, and when the folks are full of hope over the year's prospects. Recently I made a tour of this kind into the Northeastern counties, and I thought our readers might be interested in some impressions gained on this visit.

One of my stops was at the home of Nels Johnson in the Winside neighborhood in Wayne county. I had the opportunity to see how one of these enterprising, northeastern farmers does his chores. Nels has a few choice Duroc sows. I started in to count the number in the litters. I found from 10 to 12 pigs in a pile, and soon gave it up as they were too numerous and lively to get an exact count. Nels told his boys they might pick out any sow in the lot and put their private mark on the pigs. They selected one that was showing a bushel basket full of lively youngsters that morning. They certainly were well pleased with their judgment as to a good brood sow. Nels says corn is so cheap it does not pay to sell it. He said he couldn't make anything on it by marketing, so decided he might as well have the satisfaction of seeing a drove of lively red pigs get something out of it.

Welshmen Have Community Center

I attended a meeting at the Welsh community church near Carroll. That surely is a fine neighborhood. There is a sextette of singers good enough to sing in any church, theatre or other meeting place in Nebraska, then there is a brass band qualified to measure up with any aggregation of the town. Both are the product of this rural community. It certainly is a great experience to go into a neighborhood that takes advantage of the opportunities to do something for itself in these ways. No doubt there are many hundreds of neighborhoods all over Nebraska that could have as good a group of singers and as fine a band of musicians yet do not have them.

I sometimes wonder when I pass the big barns, the commodious houses, the well equipped farms and the well tilled fields of a prosperous neighborhood, whether these communities are doing the best they can for their young folks. Brother farmers, the talent is right there with you. Do you encourage or neglect it? Your young folks are yearning for wholesome social life. Do you help them to get it? They will go out in the world. Do you take them in car and go down to your own social center where you can counsel direct and assist them to a pure and wholesome society or do you sit down by the evening lamp and gloat over your bank book and accounts and your farming plans while they go to the cities and villages for the kind of amusement the commercial world sends out?

Good Neighborhood to Live in

When the electric lights in this Welsh church blazed forth in the big assembly room, and illuminated the kitchen and dining room of the basement, and when I saw the pastor help with the farmers' meeting and the mothers coming in by the score, with the children gathered in that community center. I knew without anyone telling me that that neighborhood is a good one in which to live.

Those men forget steers, hogs, cornfields, bank balances and the grind of the farm business for awhile.

They threw off the burden of affairs and mingled with young and old. They listened to the strains of sweet music from their own boys and girls, young men and women and older ones too, music produced for the pure love of it and not touched by any commercializing influence. The women folks laid aside the cares of the kitchen and cupboard, shut the hen house doors, turned down the lights of home, quit thinking about the daily routine of home duties, and mingled with their sisters of the community. Their girls will be better women for it; their boys will think more of them 30 years from now.

I know of several big lawsuits now pending over estates in courts. Money does not always bring happiness, but the kind of enjoyment that those 300 folks get out of the social affairs in the Welsh church pay immediate dividends and at the same time lay up greater treasures in the lives of the youth of that community. Big bank accounts are not to be compared with such treasures. There are 15 or 20 such neighborhoods that I could point out in Nebraska. Why not rural of them?

More Rural Leaders Needed

On this trip I visited the Wayne Normal and talked to the class in Agriculture, also to several classes in other departments. I saw a group of bright young folks in the agricultural department, but alas, most of them were girls. Now do you think that I am opposed to a girl getting agricultural training? I am disappointed because no more boys are going back to the rural schools to become competent teachers and leaders in rural social life. A prominent educator told me recently that it is now getting harder all the time to induce the young people to go back to the country after having been in the town school for four years. Blame part to the passing of the interest in the old country school house. Blame a lot of it, most of it in fact, on the course of study and the grading of anything but the lower grades from the school. They tell us they have a better school system now than 40 years ago. Maybe it is, and maybe not if it only leads to the town.

I have just received a fine, big, engraved certificate of appointment from the governor. It tells me I am to attend the "Citizens Educational Conference" over at Des Moines, Iowa, some time about the last of June. They are going to have a real citizen's or common peoples meeting, they say, not dominated by professional educationalists, if I may call them that. Now I wonder whether that will be possible. So few farmers really take the time to attend anything of this nature and it is so easy for the professional to steer such meetings just a little. I hope to go there to see the outcome of the meeting at any rate, and perhaps take some little part in it.

A strenuous effort now is being made for officialdom to take over the schools of our country just as it is taking over the highways. I saw the powerful lobby at work at Lincoln. Every highway bill was backed by the far-reaching interests that trace back to the political ring, the machinery trusts and the material companies. It seemed almost impossible to get any legislation thru that was for the real welfare of the country roads. The county unit school system now is being pushed. It covers the hands of a great educational trust that seeks to control the schools as the machine and material trusts control the highway legislation. I stand for home control of such things.

MOTOR FOR SALE

A 5-h. p.-980 rev. Peerless motor for direct current—in good condition, soon ready for delivery. Is a bargain at $100 these days of high priced motors. One of the last and best motor bargains offered at Wayne, where change of current puts this on the market. The Nebraska Democrat.

LECTURE AND ENTERTAINMENT COURSE

During the summer session an unusually attractive program is offered on the entertainment course. Five motion picture programs will be given as follows:

- June 14.....Evangeline
- June 21.....Les Miserables
- June 28.....Tale of Two Cities
- July 5.....Her Elephant Man
- July 12.....If I Were King

On July 6 Dr. A. E. Winship, editor of the New England Journal of Education, will lecture to the student body. Doctor Winship is widely known as a speaker and educator; he is one of the most prominent men in the National Education Association, was at one time superintendent of school in Boston, and we feel especially honored in having him on our lecture course.

On July 8 United States Commissioner P. P. Claxton will give an address in the auditorium. Mr. Claxton is too widely known to need an introduction to educational leaders.

The Budget Committee have made arrangements with the Wayne Chautauqua Committee whereby students of the Normal will be admitted to the programs on the regular student ticket. The following is the program for the chautauqua:

- July 12.....Warwick Male Quartet
Tom Corwin, Entertainer.
- July 13.....Ben Hur Singers and Players
Charles L. Ficklin, Lecturer.
- July 14.....Girvin Quintette
Richard D. Hughes, Lecturer.
- July 15.....Chicago Comic Opera Co.
- July 16.....Cornetist Liberati
Miss Scott, Soloist
Miss Powell, Entertainer
M. H. Jackson, Lecturer.
- July 17.....Chicago Opera Company

The price for the whole program including the Goldenrod, the school paper which is issued each week, is $2.00. We feel that each student should be more than willing to secure the season ticket which admits to such a large number of attractive programs.

DID THEY READ IT?
(Columbus Telegram)

Soon Nebraska is to crown her first poet laureate.

The crowning is by direction of the late Nebraska legislature. I am an ardent admirer of John G. Nelhardt, our first poet laureate. He is a real poet. Long ago it was said that a real poet must be brave. Measured by the standard of bravery, John G. Nelhardt is instantly a master poet, because he has been brave to write some lines which would probably carry him to prison if he should speak those lines in a street-corner address to a crowd of workmen.

And I am wondering how many of the legislators who voted to make Nelhardt a poet laureate ever read his writings, and if all have read them, how many understood. In another week I will print the intensest lines ever written by Nelhardt. They are under caption, "The Red Wind Comes." The poem strikingly rebukes our present standard of civilization. It is almost a second "Marsellaise," and it would have upon an American assembly of the unemployed about the same effect which the "Marsellaise" produced upon the French proletariat in the days when Madame De Farge was unraveling her knitting and revealing the names of the enemies of the people.

I invite every reader of The Telegram to study Nelhardt's lines. Study them from the right angle. Is Nelhardt an advocate of physical revolution? I do not so regard him. True it is that a careless reader of his "Red Wind" might quickly behold him as the prophet of a reign of terror in our America when the "dynast of the Fat" shall go down before the onrush of the outraged people who have been worshipping at the shrine of the golden calf. But I do not regard Nelhardt as the prophet of a blood revolution. He is a killer of kings all right, but a killer of their privileges, rather than a destroyer of their bodies. In our present American situation he beholds a king whose name is System. He favors the death of that king, but he does not advocate death by the rope, the guillotine, nor yet by the bomb. He wants King System destroyed by the intelligence of the American people. Yes, I know there are many who regard our Nelhardt in the same blood-thirsty class with Danton and Robespierre, but I prefer to place him in braver company with such prophetic spirits of gentleness as Wendell Phillips and Whitlter.

Again my advice to all Nebraskans is to begin a careful reading of the writings of our Nelhardt. It is remarkable that his writings have been accepted and acclaimed as gospel for propaganda by lovers of peace, lovers of God, and also by enemies of all religion, and by advocates of an era of revolution so bloody that the wind will be red because it will have passed over a flood of human blood.

I like Nelhardt, because he is a brave and real poet, and because in him I behold a leader seeking to arouse Americans to a stern but peaceful defense of their birthright. Others like him because in him they behold a literary Garibaldi. I shall be glad if some of the The Telegram readers shall be pleased to write me their estimates of this new poet laureate of ours. He is to become our rhythmic king in Nebraska, no matter whether we shall like the fact or dislike it, because the legislature has proclaimed him, and soon some other state dignitaries are to crown him.

Edgar Howard.

CORN COST 49 CENTS TO PRODUCE

The 1920 corn crop cost an average of 49 cents a bushel to produce in one of the central counties of the state, according to figures recently published by the college of agriculture. The average cost was figured from records kept by members of the county farm bureau. The figure is considered conservative, as the work was charged for at a comparatively low rate and no allowance was made for interest on investment. The yields on the farms studied ranged from 35 to 50 bushels to the acre, and the cost per acre varied from $9.82 to $21.70. The man whose corn cost but $9.82 used hogs to harvest the crop, thereby saving the cost of husking and probably marketing his corn to better advantage. The figures not only shed light on the cost of producing crops but they contribute interesting facts on farm management. The number of farmers hogging down their corn is increasing every year, and these figures strengthen the position of those who believe the practice economical.

STRONG HICKORY TREE

"Hello, Hickory Tree," said the old North Wind.

"Hello, Hickory Tree," said the Breeze Brothers.

"Hello," said the Hickory Tree. "You're not very friendly," said the old North Wind. "You won't play nicely at all."

"No," said the Breeze Brothers, "you won't play at all the way we like to have the trees play."

"At least you won't play according to my rules of the game," said the old North Wind.

"Ah," said the Hickory Tree, "that is because I am known as Strong Hickory, and all my family have been known by that name. That is the name of Strong Hickory is not a family name. Our family name is simply that of Hickory."

"But just the same we have always been strong and so we call ourselves the Strong Hickory family."

"You old North Wind, like to have the trees do just as you say."

"Of course," said the old North Wind, "those are my rules of playing."

"But you should let me have my rules, too," said the Hickory Tree.

"Perhaps he should," chuckled the Breeze Brothers, "but he doesn't like to let any one else make the rules. He likes to do it all himself. We're not like that. We don't think you're as friendly as you might be, but still we do not mind if you want to play according to your own rules. We're more gentle than old North Wind is."

"You Won't Play."

"Ah," said the Hickory Tree, "old North Wind is used to making the trees blow wildly. Those are what he calls his rules—wild and rough playing."

"He likes to raise a great wind-storm and have us do just as he says."

"But the hickory trees have their own rules, too, and they are very decided and very firm."

"They do not blow about as others may do. They do not blow with every wind or any wind."

"You've heard the old expression of someone who will blow away with every wind that comes. The expression is something like that. And it means that creatures have no will of their own. They will always do what any one else suggests doing whether it is wrong or right."

"A person who will be blown by any wind is a person who hasn't much mind of his own, and very little will power."

"Now I do not mean that creatures have to be stubborn. But creatures mustn't let every one influence them or change their opinions and their ways, if they're good opinions and good ways."

"When there is a storm or a wild wind the old hickory tree never lets its branches fall to the ground the way some trees do."

"The hickory tree is strong. We have strong wood. We have been used for wagons and for making articles which must be very strong."

"We also make fine wood for fires. We have something else to do besides being blown about as old Mr. North Wind pleases, though I am sure I do not wish to be rude."

"I simply want to tell you, old North Wind, that I cannot play with you according to your rules."

"I will blow a little but I will not let you do with me just as you choose."

"The Hickory family never have let the wind do that with them and I am sure I cannot go back on the ways of the Hickory family."

"Well, we admire you, we must say," the Breeze Brothers remarked.

"Maybe I admire you, too," said the old North Wind, "but that doesn't mean that I'm not sorry you won't play according to my rules."

"Often creatures admire other creatures who won't be easily influenced, but they don't always like to see so."

"Well, good-by, Hickory Tree! It is useless to make you give in!"

To Be Sure.

For a quarter of an hour the master had been giving examples of the names of rivers which in Greek were feminine, when he noticed the boy, blissfully unconscious of the mental edification he was missing, contemplating the beauties of nature through the classroom window.

"Jones!" he roared, "give me a feminine river!"
The dreamer stirred, and in a flash of inspiration answered: "SHE! the Mississippi, sir!"

FIRST ALFALFA CUTTING WELL UNDER WAY NOW

Experiments at the Nebraska agricultural experiment station would seem to indicate that alfalfa produces more if cut at the proper time. Tests were made for total yields per season when alfalfa was cut two, three, four and five times. It was found that three or four cuttings, depending on the season, gave the largest yield in the eastern part of the state. There are two indexes for proper cutting time. One is the appearance of the first bloom and the other the starting of a new growth at the crown and lower part of the old stems. Cutting should begin at the appearance of either index. Experiments also show that getting the hay into the stack or barn at proper time means a saving of more leaves, which form 50 per cent of the value of the hay. In good drying weather a half a day in the swath and a day in the windrow will ordinarily do. It is often better to stack a little green and let the hay brown cure than to have it rained on or lose too many leaves. Rain or dew is more likely to cause mold in the stack than the moisture in the plant.

BANKERS MUST AID FARMERS

Must Choose to Remain in Hole With Him or Furnish Means to Clamber Out

An appeal to bankers to relieve the agricultural crisis, "now at the most acute stage so far as prices are concerned," featured the address of Eugene Meyer, jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, before the bankers' club of Brooklyn the other night. This crisis, he declared, means that the purchasing power of a great part of the population of the country is impaired and that the commerce and industries of the manufacturing centers are directly involved.

"To this crisis as such as anything else," said Mr. Meyer, "is due the plight of the railroads and the jeopardy of railroad investments. Large numbers of bankers in the agricultural communities have had heavy withdrawals of deposits and are unable to liquidate their outstanding loans. The purchasing power of a bushel of wheat, a bushel of corn, a pound of cotton and of a hog at today's prices, payable at the farm when expressed in prices of the things the farmer needs and buys, is lower than it has been at any time within the last twenty-five years. Not only are prices low, but markets are highly unsatisfactory and narrow, even at the low prices. It is up to the bankers and business men of America to make up their minds whether they want to help dig the farmer out of the hole, or whether they wish to stay in the hole with him."

Among other obligations of the banker Mr. Meyer mentioned the conservative stimulation of business by giving encouragement and confidence to producers and merchants depending upon him for advice and funds; support of thrift thru working out a program, properly including extension of the postal savings system and stock and mutual savings banks, and elimination of swindling promotion schemes. With reference to foreign financing Mr. Meyer said:

"We should seek to discover how we may, with our banking facilities and resources and calling upon our term credits, move our goods out of the hands of the primary producers, along the varied steps of commerce and industry, and put them where they will be available for consumers in foreign lands. It is in this constructive work that we are trying to help in the war finance corporation, and I am glad to say that we are being met in the spirit of full co-operation by bankers in all sections of the country."

"In spite of all the difficulties, to which international political relations contribute so largely, the way must be found to do those things which properly can be done in our own interest, and in the interest of the other peoples. It will not do for Americans to quit on the job. Good securities from Europe are to be had, and new methods must be devised to meet new situations. Credit must be extended, not carelessly, not unguardedly, but with all the confidence and courage that conditions warrant."

WOULD MIX LOVE AND LOGIC

Writer's Advice to Woman Desirous of Retaining Husband's Devotion After the Honeymoon.

Years ago a poet wrote of love as being "woman's whole existence." He must have known a lot about the feminine sex. Love and logic are at opposite poles of woman's world; and it is a fact that many a woman has lost a man's love through not allowing a little common sense in courtship and marriage, the mixing of love and logic, as it were.

A girl may be adorable, but if she is forever making her lover appear "filly" in the eyes of the public, she is in danger of losing that man's love. Simply because a woman finds love and one man her whole existence, that is no reason why a man is going to find that true in regard to the woman he loves. There is a difference in the sexes in that respect. God made it so, and no woman need try to alter it. Lovers, married or otherwise, grow restive under restraint, and it is a wise woman who never puts up the "check rein."

One very clever woman whose life runs smoothly and happily after years of married life insisted at the beginning that one night in the week her husband would not be expected to come home until he chose to come. She didn't ask him to drop all the friends he had before he married her. What was the result? He took the night off regularly, for a month, and pretended that he liked it. Then he started coming home on these "off nights." There were never any messages of "being detained at the office." His friends couldn't get him to stay in town, but they would go home with him, being sure of a smile and a warm welcome from his wife.—Philadelphia North American.

TOWN BUILT ON GREAT ROCK

Ancoma, in Mexico, Surely Has Site Such as No Other Place on Earth Can Boast.

To live on top of a mushroom would be a peculiar sensation. If the mushroom were of gigantic proportions and were planted so as to overhang the sea, the experience would be very similar to that of living in the town of Ancoma, which is three miles south of the Mesa Escantada in Mexico, says the Christian Science Monitor. The strange mushroom-like rock on which the town stands is a splendid specimen of fantastic erosion, having overhanging sides nearly 400 feet high. The top of the rock is comparatively level, and is about 70 acres in extent. It is notched with dizzy chasms. The greater portion of it overhangs the sea like an immense mushroom, and the oddest thing is that it should have a town at the top.

Now, this town pertains to a past civilization. It is one of the most perfect specimens of the prehistoric Puebloan architecture. With inconceivable labor this town in the air was built and fortified for the safety of its inhabitants. It was reached by a mere trail of rope-bridges over the stem of the mushroom. The age of the town is not known, but it was already old in 1540, when the first explorers visited it.

A MOVE TOWARD STATE LAW ENFORCEMENT

Governor McKelvie announces that there will be a series of Law Enforcement meetings in different parts of the state of Nebraska, during the months of June and July, with the different peace officials of the state, including the mayors, chiefs of police, city marshals, sheriffs and the county attorneys. Mr. H. J. Nielsen, the finger print expert, employed by the state will explain in detail to the peace officers, how they should send in the finger prints of the suspicious characters that are picked up. Attorney General Davis or one of his assistants will be available at these meetings to answer any questions pertaining to law enforcement. State Sheriff Gus A. Hyers will be at each of these meetings and will discuss with the peace officers, the enforcement of the laws relative to prohibition and automobile stealing. Under the new state law, the peace officers over the state are required to send in a list of all prisoners outside of those held for petty crimes, and finger prints.

Norfolk Division will meet at Norfolk, June 23rd, at 1:00 o'clock p. m. All peace officers from the following counties will be expected to be present: Platte, Douglas, Dodge, Washington; Colfax, Burt, Nance, Saunders, Boone, Madison, Stanton, Cummings, Antelope, Pierce, Wayne, Thurston, Dakota, Dixon, Cedar, Knox, Holt, Boyd, Brown, Rock, Keya Paha, Cherry, Blaine, Howard, Merrick, Loup, Garfield, Valley, Wheeler, and Greeley.

EDITORIAL NOTES FROM AN IOWA PAPER

From our old friend, R. G. Weisel, of the Adams County Free Press, of Corning, we received a copy of that excellent paper the other day, and clip a few paragraphs from its editorial column. The junior member of this firm did apprentice work in that shop, and the senior of the Democrat firm read its columns for many years, until the war ruling said to shut off all newspaper exchanges unless in a close neighborhood.

President Harding is having considerable trouble with the southern brother. The party wants to re-organize the party so as to eliminate the negro strength in the south and the negro voter wants to be recognized by the administration. It is going to take considerable skill in the management, but the colored brother will keep on voting the republican ticket—where he can.

The dregs of country are out in a protest against the appointment of William Howard Taft to the supreme court bench. Their leaders say William is no friend of the dry movement, and they want a man so dry he cracks. To add to the gayety of things for William, the labor leaders also put in a complaint about his record on injunctions. Labor says he is no friend of theirs so between the two factions Mr. Taft will likely keep on doing newspaper work with little law to keep up expenses.

There is not much speculation in land these days. That day seems to be past and gone. It was a big game while it lasted. A few profited but many came out losers, or will in the end. It was the most detrimental thing that ever hit the country. Many who placed a little in a farm, not that they wanted the farm or had any use for it, but with the thought of "making a killing" will lose the little they put in and also the farm. A small equity in a farm bought during the boom times is generally regarded as a bad investment. The fellows who went about saying this land would be selling in a short time for $500 per acre and that money could be borrowed at 3 per cent are now being classed as poor prophets, or are at Clarinda (asylum for insane).

WHAT UNCLE SAM IS DOING FOR SOLDIERS

Beyond a doubt there are many soldiers of the late war who are not getting the care they are entitled to from their big Uncle Sam, and a part of it may be their fault—or at least not the fault of the government; for in some instances there seems to be a lack of knowledge of the way to proceed to secure the aid to which they are entitled. Here is a story from the Blair Pilot which tells how one soldier is cared for, tho he never saw real service, and was hurt while not obeying the laws of the land. But if he make good use of his vocational training and feels a bit of the obligations which a citizen should feel, he may be far more valuable to the country and to the world as a trained citizen than he might have been as a trained soldier.

Elmer Rathbun came up from Ft. Crook last week for a short visit with friends in Blair and vicinity. He is minus his right foot, which was crushed by a train in Fremont, Nebraska, February 13th, when he attempted to catch a ride to Omaha with some trawmen he knew. The foot was taken off at a hospital in Fremont and ten days later he was taken to Ft. Crook he having enlisted in the army only a few months before the accident happened. He was discharged May 16th and will receive $32 a month from Uncle Sam the balance of his life. He will also be given vocational training and be fitted out with an artificial limb.

NEBRASKA LEADS ALL STATES

Nebraska now leads all states in the joint-national and state campaign for the improvement of live stock. The United States department of agriculture recently notified the state college of agriculture that Nebraska had nosed Virginia out of first place in the number of animals enrolled in the purebred sires campaign. Nebraska now has 32,118 head of animals and 64,461 head of poultry listed, and applications have been made for several thousand more head. Virginia still leads in the number of farmers using nothing but purebred sires, but more animals are kept per farm in Nebraska. Virginia has 1,130 farmers enrolled, against 554 for this state. However, Nebraska is enrolling additional farmers at a rapid rate, seventy-five applications having been made since the report was made.
