THREE STATE ORGANIZATIONS AT WAYNE NEXT WEEK

Three organizations connected with the Nebraska Synod will hold their conventions in the English Lutheran church next week. Some of these meetings will overlap but when two societies have sessions at the same time, arrangements have been made for one of the organizations to meet in the Baptist church.

Following is a partial program of the Woman's Missionary society:

Monday evening the first session will be held, Rev. Peterson opening the convention with the Liturgical service. Then following music, will be the greeting by Mr. H. A. McMillen and response by Mrs. Mildred Henkel of Omaha. The address of the evening will be by Miss Hilma Levine. At the close of the services will be the "Acquaintance Hour."

Tuesday morning the convention proper will open for business when credentials will be taken, committees appointed and reports presented and read. At 11 o'clock Mrs. H. D. Hoover of the executive board of the state will give an address. The afternoon session will be given over to talks relating to work of the society, in which Mrs. J. H. Perring from Nebraska City and Mrs. Oak W. Ebricht from Omaha will be speakers. Mrs. E. E. Shimonek of Wilber and Miss Hilma Levine will have a part, the latter talking of "The Missionary in India."

Wednesday morning the services will open with the Holy Communion service. At this session election of officers will take place and committees will report. Mrs. E. A. VanFleet will tell of the Lutheran Woman's work, and Mrs. G. E. Hickman of Tekamah will exhibit an efficiency chart. The afternoon session will be devoted to a Memorial service, to unfinished business, the installation of officers, announcements, etc. All sessions will be interspersed with music, and many of them will be of much interest.

The Lutheran Brotherhood
The first session of the Lutheran Brotherhood will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, probably in the Baptist church. The afternoon program will be followed by the Brotherhood banquet in the opera house at 7 o'clock. Able and entertaining speakers have been secured to respond to toasts at the banquet. One of the speakers will be a Brotherhood representative from Chicago. After the banquet a stereopticon lecture will be given at the church on some phase of brotherhood activity.

The Synod Sessions
The first session of Synod convenes Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with the opening sermon by the President of Synod, Rev. O. D. Baltzly, D. L. LL. L. of Omaha. Three sessions will be held each day concluding with the Friday morning meeting. The day sessions will be devoted largely to routine and business, while the evening meetings should be of interest to the public in general. The meeting Thursday evening should be of unusual interest to all, for it is at this session that a number of young men will be ordained to the gospel ministry. Representatives of the various general Church Boards will speak at different sessions giving accounts of the work accomplished and plans for future endeavor.

Visitors From Over State
Wayne people are to host to many people from over the state at these three gatherings, and we feel confident that the general appearance of our city will appeal to them. It will be the first gathering of people from over the state since the completion of the paving, and we know it cannot fail to make a most favorable impression. Nine miles of the best paved streets in the state—hundreds of pretty modern homes, our Normal and public schools and the churches must all appeal, and we hope that the visiting delegations will be asked to drive over the city, that they may tell home folks in addition to the splendid meetings they have had, that Wayne is really on the map in big, bright type. The people of Wayne will bid them welcome, of that we are sure.

CRADLE
WORLEY—Monday, October 3, 1921, to Carl D. Worley and wife, a daughter.

GULLIVER—Thursday, September 22, 1921, to Arthur F. Gulliver and wife, a son.

NOLAND—Thursday, September 29, 1921, to Scott Noland and wife, a son.

WAYNE PAVING FINISHED NINE MILES GOOD STREET

Tuesday the Wayne paving was finished—except paving, and it is pronounced a good job—and a high class paving all thru. Wayne now has fully nine miles of paved streets, for which we are to pay more than three-quarters of a million dollars. The figures given are $450,000 for the districts Nos. 1 and 2, most of which was finished last year, and $391,000 for the districts 3, 4 and 5 just finished. Work has been fast this year. Material was plentiful, and the railroad did not have any excuse to keep contractors waiting, for they have been relieved of a vast amount of other business on account of their excessive freight rates. In due time, all too soon it may seem, the council will sit as a board of equalization, and apportion the cost to the different properties, and then it may be paid in the districts last finished.

LIVINGHOUSE-LYONS

Thursday afternoon, September 29, 1921, at the M. E. parsonage, by Rev. Wm. Kilburn, Mrs. Emma Livinghouse and Mr. Harvey C. Lyons, both of this place, were united in marriage. Both bride and groom are highly respected citizens of this community, where they have resided since the pioneer days of the county. They have the best wishes of a host of friends. They will make their home at Wayne, and are at home to their friends at the home recently purchased by the bride in this city.

As an expression of their goodwill a great party of the friends of the couple gathered at their home following news of their marriage and gave a pretty good imitation of the old-fashioned chivaree, as they came with pans and drum sticks, and other musical instruments. At the close of the concert the doors were opened and ladies and gents were invited in to congratulate the bride and groom and wish them well. Refreshments had been provided, and all enjoyed a treat. The reporter tells us that there were 200 callers or more, and most of them were women. It was such a jollification as will not likely be forgotten soon by those who took part.

THE RECKONING

Nebraska had some sensational prosecutions in connection with informal appropriations of government range land. It saw an ex-state treasurer go to jail. One of its governors was impeached. It is doubtful, however, whether the state has ever seen a more sensational series of indictments than the Douglas county grand jury is now engaged in handing down. In the number of prominent men involved, the case has no parallel.

This is in the reckoning for the period of commercial insanity which followed the war. We are in the scavenger stage of the blue sky era. Money was lying loose all around. Credit was overabundant. In their zeal to get hold of this easy money men devised schemes and followed practices which could not stand the test of legality. Douglas county has happened to put a grand jury on the trail of its offenders. Indictments do not necessarily mean guilt. But men of prominence and influence are not likely to be indicted unless there is strong apparent reason therefor. Omaha is embarked upon a cleaning which promises to shake its business and social life to its center.

The money lost to such men as the Omaha grand jury is bringing to judgment cannot be recovered. Practically all of it went as easily as it came. The object of such prosecutions, aside from the mere need to enforce the laws, must be to leave an impression which will be of saving effect when the next blue sky craze comes, as come it will in due time.—State Journal.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOT-BALL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The Wayne eleven are to meet the Emerson team on the college grounds Friday afternoon at 3:30, and Wayne people will have opportunity to witness the first contest here with outside boys. The Wayne boys are said to be doing good practice work. Below is the line up of the Wayne boys: West, center; Miner and Keeney, guard; Martin and Sund, tackle; Rippon and Hufford end; Moran, Captain, quarter-back; Peterson and Will half-back; Brainard, full-back.

REMEMBER THE SABBATH DAY, AND ATTEND CHURCH

Next Sunday is to be a go-to-church day at Wayne—if the people of this city and vicinity will heed the invitation sent out by the pastors of the Baptist, English Lutheran, Evangelical Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian churches. The invitation is general, and is presented in the papers of the city as well as by bills. It is directed to a lot of us people who have been spending our Sundays some other way. The invitation is intended to let people know that their presence at the church is desired—that a welcome awaits them there. It is right and proper, if the church people have some of the best things of the world to ask others to come and share them—especially when it is true of their offering that "giving does not impoverish nor withholding enrich." It might have been in reference to such service that it was said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Don't wait until the hearse takes you.

SCHOOL NOTES

Wayne High journeyed to Laurel Friday where they were beaten 12 to 7. The game was delayed until after 5 o'clock on account of a baseball game played on the same grounds. A large crowd of rooters from Wayne were present and they made a lot of good healthy noise. This game showed Wayne a lot of weak places that will be strengthened before the game with Emerson at Wayne Friday, October 7th on the Wayne Normal Field. All of the classes held meetings Tuesday evening to elect officers and discuss other business. Frances Carroll and Harold Preston were elected for editor-in-chief and business manager respectively of the Watchword. The other members of the staff are Ruby Randol assistant editor and Ralph Hufford assistant business manager.

The first edition of the "Prospect", which is to be put out in the near future, will be in charge of Bessie Hiseox and Paul Crossland.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Crabtree talked to the high school. He talked in regard to transforming the opera house into a good place to play basket ball. This can be done only by the cooperation of the business men of the town. He also talked in regard to selling the season tickets.

The 6th grade had a spelling contest Tuesday. Dorothy Loomis being the winner. She remained on the floor five minutes after all the rest had been spelled down.

Mrs. Charles Craven was a visitor in the fourth grade Friday afternoon. Mrs. Charles Reynolds was a fifth grade visitor Friday afternoon.

The second grade is having a contest to see who can have the cleanest teeth and hands.

The kindergarten folks have been very busy this week making window decorations.

The Radio class has been fitted with two new keys and buzzers, with which they have been practicing the International Morse Code, since the first of the year. The work for the year in this subject will be to learn to receive rapidly and some of the boys will be making wireless sets of their own. Those who already have one or who do not wish to make one will be assigned certain time to tend to the big wireless which will be set up the first of next week.

A LESSON TO THE BOYS

Last Friday evening two lads playing on west second street, forgetting that there was such a thing as automobiles when W. O. Hanssen came along on his way home. Directly in front of his car came the two lads, not more than six or eight feet ahead of him. They did not see the car, and Mr. H. made a quick move to keep from running them down. Applying brake, and quickly turning his car to the curb, he ended on the parking, and saved the lads from serious injury. One, Murry Eberly, son of Mrs. Ellis Powers, was struck by the fender and knocked down and thrown away from the car with force enough to bruise him up a bit and frighten him much. Mr. Hanssen immediately took the lad to the city hospital, and they gave him a once over, cleaned up his bruises, and told him he was not hurt; but he might have been dead or crippled for life.

The streets, especially in the business part of town are not the place for play. The auto drivers may be ever so careful, and are helpless in a case like this to avoid accident. Only the very quick action of Mr. Hanssen, we think saved a serious accident.

CHARLES C. BROWN, PIONEER, DEAD

Wednesday afternoon the body of Chas. C. Brown was brought to Wayne for burial. A funeral service was held at the Beckenhauer undertaking parlors, Rev. Bruce Wylie of Winside conducting the service. Charles Brown died at the home of his daughter Alice (Mrs. Johnson) between Winside and Stanton, we are told. He was a resident of this county since 1884, when he moved here from Indiana, and settled on a farm just north of Wayne.

He is survived by Mrs. Lute Miller of Winside, Bert Brown of Porterville, California, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Cora Taylor, who lives in the western part of South Dakota. His wife died about fifteen years ago, and his body was laid beside hers in the Wayne cemetery.

Mr. Brown was a splendid citizen, and was favorably known all over the county in the earlier days. We hope to be able to tell more of his life next week.

NORMAL FOOTBALL NEWS

The Wayne College football team goes to Fremont Friday to meet Midland College in their opening game of the season. Midland has a very heavy team this year and expect an easy game. The Normal team is in excellent shape and intend to make Midland sorry of their boast.

The Normal lineup at start of game will be:

Barber—R. E.
Rickabaugh—R. T.
Thomas—R. G.
Austin—Center.
Peterson P.—L. G.
Prescott—L. T.
Peterson T.—L. E.
Miller Don—R. H.
Rennick—Q. B.
Armour (Captain)—F. B.
Muhm—L. H.
Substitutes: McConnell, Jones, Miller, Rickabaugh, Myers, Fortner and Randol.

The Normal schedule this season consists of six excellent games and is no doubt the hardest schedule ever undertaken by the Wayne school.

October 7—Midland at Fremont.

October 15—Open.

October 22—Morningside at Sloux City.

October 28—Omaha University at Wayne.

November 4—Western Union College at Wayne.

November 11—Peru at Peru.

November 24—Grand Island College at Wayne.

FARMER UNION MEETING

At the meeting of the Farmer Union of this county last Thursday there was considerable discussion as to the best things to do in the present state of affairs in farm matters and farm marketing, but no definite action reported. The officers for the coming year were named as follows:

M. Swihart, Hoskins, president.

Frank Parker, Winside, vice president.

Sam'l Jenkins, Winside, secretary.

Dave Herner, Pender, legislative committeeman.

Simon Strate, D. Thomas and C. Belford, directors.

THOS. H. MATTERS ARRESTED

In the clean-up at Omaha now going on the famous Thomas H. Matters, the man whom it took about eight years to put in the federal prison for crimes of which he was convicted, and whom President Harding pardoned before he really had his prison bed warmed, was arrested, charged and indicted for aiding and abetting felony. Two other alleged crooks were also arrested. It is hard sledding for crooks, from this time on, we hope.

BANKERS OPTIMISTIC

Reports from Los Angeles are that the bankers see better times ahead for the people, and that will make better times for the bankers. They opposed the bonus measures now pending in congress, according to the report.

NOTICE

Any boy having instruments and wishing to play in the Wayne band, see Mr. Hunter, lessons will be given free, and will practice twice a week at the City Hall.

FRED SEBALD HOUSE BURNED TUESDAY

Just before the noon hour Tuesday, a fire alarm called the firemen to the Fred Sebald home in the extreme southwest part of the city, where the old house on his place was burning. The department made good time in getting into action on the fire, but owing to the distance to go, and the long string of hose to lay the building was badly damaged before the fire was checked. The structure, however, remained standing but was pretty well gutted before the flame was under control.

This is a small old house which the house shortage here had rescued after once in the discard as a human habitation. It was occupied by Luther Kinney and family, who were just moving in, coming from Altona; and the fire was caused by an explosion of the gasoline stove. Mr. and Mrs. K. saved most of their furniture, we are told, and moved it that evening to the rear of the old monument shop on Main street.

The loss of the building might not exceed $1,000, but it would cost more than that sum to replace it new. Mrs. Sebald said that she was not sure as to insurance, whether or not there was any, as their son was looking after that part of their business, and he had written that the insurance was about to expire some weeks before, and that he would look after it; but they had not heard whether or not it had been renewed.

NEW MAN AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY MORNING

Rev. Pratt, pastor of the Baptist church calls us to say that word had just come to him that the new president of the Baptist college at Grand Island, Rev. John Mason Wills, who is to be in this part of the state this week and next, will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning. Rev. Wills has but just come to Nebraska to take this place in the Baptist school of the state; but he is a man of known ability, and a very popular speaker. He comes from Ann Arbor, Michigan to this field, and Wayne people are fortunate in having opportunity to hear him among the first sermons he preaches in the state. He spent the summer in chautauqua work, and because he could not quit that field until the close of the season the school had to wait for him—and they that he was worth waiting for.

CARL CARLSON SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Near Carroll, Tuesday a car driven by Mrs. Herbert Robinson ran into a car driven by Carl Carlson, whose car was turned over and practically demolished. Mr. C. was pinned under the car, and seriously injured. In fact, according to first report, his chance of recovery was considered very slight. Later reports, however, are more hopeful, and he appears to be improving, with chances in his favor.

THE WALTER SAVIDGE PLAYERS

This week the Savidge Amusement Company is an attraction at Wayne. The attendance is not large, but is increasing as the evenings go by, for Walter has a strong company—and splendid plays. He closes the season Saturday night, and while it has not been a real bumper season, it has been better than predicted.

SHIELDS HAMP-SHIRE BOAR SALE

Iday E. F. Shields held the first sale of purebred hogs in this part of the state since the season of 1921 opened, and there was much speculation as to what the result would be in dollars and cents. Mr. Shields says that results were satisfactory—that is fully up to his expectations. He told us before the sale that from the outlook it was not wise to try to get men from afar, for he thought they would not come, so he advertised for home trade principally, and was rewarded with a splendid attendance of home folks, and the list given below shows that they bought at a fair price. His average on the young hogs was around the $30.00 mark, a little over we think. His sows with pigs at side also sold well—but were bargains to anyone wanting to get a start in the Hampshire breed. There were buyers from Hartington, Wynot, Laurs, Wakefield, Wisner, and Carroll. But few breeders were present, and one reason was that the one paper he had planned to use to reach Hampshire breeders failed to get out before the sale date. W. H. Neely of this place and C. H. Butler of Wynot cried the sale, and Mr. Nelson the secretary of the Hampshire breeders organization of the state was present and assisted in the ring.

Joe Brandal of Hartington purchased three gilts at $20 each. This Bros. of Wisner bought 13 pigs at $5 each and 14 of another lot at $7.50 each; Mr. Brudigan of Carroll purchased 17 little fellows at $3.50 each.

POLITICS MIXES BADLY

The news from Washington is to the effect that both republican and democratic parties, in congress at least, and we think it extends to the ranks, are splitting open wide. One report says:

Critical conditions are developing—one inside the republican party and the other in the democratic party—which will have a far-reaching effect on American politics. The democrats are split over the treaty with Germany and the republicans are at outs over a sales tax as opposed to the tax bill passed by the house. Several of the most influential men in the democratic party have stated that if the democratic senators do not stand together as a unit against the German treaty they will withdraw their support from the party henceforth. The congressional elections are not far away. The democratic senators who are eager for party harmony see storm clouds ahead. This much is assured, if the German treaty is ratified by the aid of democratic votes, it will split the party wide open and there is already talk of forming a liberal party to be composed of pro-league republicans and pro-league democrats.

The meeting of the W. C. T. U. of Nebraska is to be held at Columbus October 11, 12, 13 and 14, and the local organization of that city are making preparation to look after the delegates and see that the program is one which will appeal to all members who may visit. On Sunday, the 9th there will be representatives of the organization to speak at the different churches.

The Farmer Union members failed to respond to the call for their annual meeting in Cedar county last week, and so their meeting was postponed until the second Wednesday in December. Perhaps they were not properly and emphatically notified. These are the times when the farmer should not sleep on the job that has to do with organized effort to attain the things he needs. The opposition are not sleeping.

You can have the Evening Journal mailed to you anywhere in Nebraska or adjoining states until January 1 for only 75 cents or including the big Sunday Journal for $1. It costs more to produce a morning paper, therefore the price for the Morning Journal to January 1 is $1, with the Sunday $1.25. Take your choice. They are both complete twenty-four hour papers and the biggest bargains offered. The Evening is $4 a year or $5 with Sunday, and the Morning is $5 a year or $6 with Sunday. The Journal is the only morning paper printed in Lincoln and on rural routes is a full day ahead of many other papers with the news.—adv.

Mrs. Winifred Main went to Kansas City Monday, a delegate from this corner of Nebraska to the supreme convention of the P. E. O. Sisterhood. She tells us that Nebraska has twenty-eight delegates in the supreme meeting; and that in addition to delegates the state officers will quite generally attend. Mrs. Main is planning to return via Grinnell, Iowa, and spend Saturday and Sunday with her daughter, Miss Winifred, who is attending college there. It is also possible that she will be persuaded to visit her old home at Vinton and visit relatives there and remain a few days with her son Hayes, who is at that place.

Mrs. Anna McQuistan, who has been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Baker, returned to her home at Bloomfield Tuesday morning. The women of the Farmer Union at Hartington have decided to fit up a rest room with a part of the proceeds of the meals served during the fair week.

Goldie S., raised in Cedar county, but now owned in Kentucky, has been winning some fast races down at Lexington, where the fast horses win if they are fast enough.

John Weber and wife, of Butte, stopped here between trains Friday evening on their way from Omaha, where they had been to visit his father, who is quite seriously ill at that place. While waiting the train they visited with their nieces, Misses Myrtle and Alfred Philbin. Mr. Weber tells us that his father is quite feeble, and with slight hope given of his recovery, that he may rally from his present condition.

Miss Emily Prince, whose parents live near Winside, was here Friday evening from Omaha, where she had been attending a business college, and had finished the course in shorthand and typewriting. After a few weeks vacation, spent with home folks, she will be seeking a position. Miss Prince was formerly a teacher in this county, and resigned to go to Washington for government war work; and since that work ceased she has been fitting herself for office work.

Albert Sabs, of near Carroll, who was in Omaha, returned Tuesday morning.

The Synod of Nebraska of the Presbyterian church will meet in Omaha October 18-22.

Hartington is putting in $4,500 worth of storm sewer this fall. The work began last week.

Mrs. Frank Sederstrom went to Sioux City Tuesday morning and spent the day there.

In the race for pennant, the Omaha base ball team of the Western league, finished the season in second place. Wichita was first.

Mrs. Anna McQuistan, who has been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Baker, returned to her home at Bloomfield Tuesday morning.

The women of the Farmer Union at Hartington have decided to fit up a rest room with a part of the proceeds of the meals served during the fair week.

Goldie S., raised in Cedar county, but now owned in Kentucky, has been winning some fast races down at Lexington, where the fast horses win if they are fast enough.

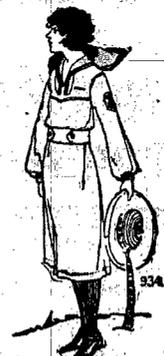

John Weber and wife, of Butte, stopped here between trains Friday evening on their way from Omaha, where they had been to visit his father, who is quite seriously ill at that place. While waiting the train they visited with their nieces, Misses Myrtle and Alfred Philbin. Mr. Weber tells us that his father is quite feeble, and with slight hope given of his recovery, that he may rally from his present condition.

Miss Emily Prince, whose parents live near Winside, was here Friday evening from Omaha, where she had been attending a business college, and had finished the course in shorthand and typewriting. After a few weeks vacation, spent with home folks, she will be seeking a position. Miss Prince was formerly a teacher in this county, and resigned to go to Washington for government war work; and since that work ceased she has been fitting herself for office work.

For a market for poultry, eggs and cream, remember Fortner.—adv

UNIFORMS FOR SCHOOL GIRLS

The school authorities of Chattanooga, Tennessee, have forbidden girls to wear silk stockings, high heels, waists of transparent material, elaborate collures, and so on while in school. Instead, they are required to wear plain middy suits, stockings of cotton or wool, shoes with low heels, and other things to match.

The action is intended not only to promote better health but to discourage the spirit of snobbishness that is becoming so pronounced in the larger places. Here the young people from wealthy homes take a rather cruel delight in lording it over the ones who can not wear expensive clothes and in humiliating them in many unpleasant ways.

Such a spirit is not wholesome in the public schools of a democracy where class spirit is supposed to be broken down. It is possible that some simple uniform will ultimately be required for all public schools in America, mainly for this reason.

the boys away. The meeting, however poorly attended it was, saw the organization of a permanent association of the Sandstormers, Omaha to be the permanent meeting place of the organization subject of course to a vote for a change by the members at any re-union. Articles of incorporation were presented and read by an Omaha attorney, a former Sandstormer, and were adopted as read excepting one clause which apparently placed too much directing power in the hands of the executives.

Officers were then elected, General Johnson being made honorary president and General Harris, formerly in command of the brigade of Nebraska troops, the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Nebraska Infantry, was made honorary Vice-President. The next re-union will be held in two years.

In conclusion we would like to add that Omaha proved a royal hostess to the boys providing plenty of entertainment and otherwise showing them that they were indeed welcome guests and that Omaha was proud to entertain them.

These re-unions are a splendid thing in our estimation. Of course we can't go every year but when we do and we meet Andrzejewski, Ecklund, Porter and scores of other service associates we feel that we are being re-imbursed for our time and expense in attending such a meeting. After all they were great days and we love to live them over and meet our old buddies that helped make them pleasant or even those that made 'em unpleasant and we hope that when assembly is sounded at the next meeting in the metropolis we find the old outfit there every squad intact and every non com and shavetail, forgetful of the old rank and dignity present and accounted for and ready to "Parley Voo" with the "poor old abused buck-private" on even terms.

TWO KINDS OF COWARDICE

A great steamship ran upon a reef off the Pacific coast the other day. As she broke apart, the frantic passengers tried, for the most part in vain, to save themselves by clinging to floating wreckage.

Several persons found refuge upon a mattress. But finding that it would not carry so heavy a load, a man strangled a woman and threw her into the water. A youth who was looking on, a college athlete, horrified by the sight, said: "If this is the way men act,—if life is so terrible—then I do not want to live." He embraced and kissed his sister, leapt into the sea, and was seen no more.

One of the two men was a brute while the other was chivalrous, yet it is hard to see wherein either showed true courage. Indeed the one seems to have been as greatly lacking in this respect as the other. For the mind that is really brave and generous seeks not merely to escape the sight of human woe, but tries with all its powers to relieve it instead.

MANY SANDSTORMERS A W O L

Fritz Dimmel, Winside Tribune

Following a rather tame bout with the hypo needle and the operating knife we left for Omaha the fore part of last week to attend a re-union of the (34th) Sandstorm Division having been a member of that organization during its delightful training period at Camp Cody and its hazardous and death-defying activities in the S. O. S. (with apologies to those gallant men who left the division to serve as replacements at the front and where they fought with such gallantry and distinction that the 34th came into prominence long before it landed as a unit on the troubled shores of our ally.)

We had expected to see most of the outfit there and had primed ourselves for the big re-union but we were very much disappointed—most of the boys were A W O L and there were only about a half dozen of our company associates on the ground. Out of the total division personal of some 30,000 men only about 2,000 were present. However, the "Grand Old Man", General Johnson who was in command of the 34th in France was present shaking hands with the "buck" privates in the rear rank" with the same cordiality that his division officers received. The general came all the way from Washington to attend which was very much in consistency with what he thought of the 34th while in active command. Yes, those husky lads from the middle west, from the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska all loved the "Old Man", they swore by him and they were prepared to do more for their commander had not destiny ended the great struggle on November 11, 1918. Insofar as attracting a good representation of the various units of the 34th the re-union was a failure. Perhaps it was lack of interest among the boys, however, the consensus of opinion was that the stress of present times kept many of

THE FARMERS AND FARM MARKETING PLANS

The Democrat editor has been told that this paper should give more publicity, telling its readers of the plans of the Grain Growers Inc., and we have felt that they were right—but Edgar Howard in the following article which we take from the Columbus Telegram pretty nearly voices the feeling of the newspaper men when he says he does not know what to say, because the conflicting reports, the disagreement among the farmers and the fact that their organization has not seen fit to take the public into their confidence. Only last week the Farmer Union held their county annual meeting at Wayne, and beyond the fact that they discussed these marketing questions and elected officers, the editor was not told what they did. One cannot conscientiously express an opinion about that of which he has had no opportunity to learn. We may read in the papers some of their reported plans—but it is as often the report of their enemies as their friends. Beyond a doubt many progressive papers stand ready to give their readers facts as fast as they can learn them.

Information may be beginning to come—for late last week we received a 60-page and an 8 page pamphlet and twenty sheets of mimeograph matter relating to the organization of the Grain Growers Inc., but one cannot read and intelligently condense so much matter for the space the average country paper can devote to such large questions in a few short hours of time. What is of more interest and more educational would be reports from local members—and of the proceedings of such representative meetings as were held at Wayne last week. Of course we do not care for a report of their secrets—but if they expect to appeal to the citizens not eligible for membership—and receive their support at election time, when they will need it, they must begin to educate the people—and they can do that far better now than in the heat of the campaign. The Democrat will be glad to publish such news of their principles and ideals and ideas as are enlightening and of interest to the public as we can handle in our limited space. But we cannot endorse a movement until we know for what it really stands.

It Looks Good

The Columbus editor says: Frequently I have been requested to express my opinion of the two organizations most prominent in effort to protect the growers of grain from the ravages of Grain Trust. Some correspondents want me to positively say whether the U. S. Grain Growers' or the so-called Wheat Growers' associations will accomplish best results. One hasty farmer writes as follows: "Your silence on this subject seems odd to me, because usually you are prompt to express an opinion, and prompt in trying to let your readers know the truth about the various farm organizations. Please publish in The Telegram some good reasons why a Nebraska farmer should or should not join one of these societies."

My silence on the subject has been due to lack of information. I do not know anything at all about the so-called Wheat Growers. I know some men connected with this movement. They are men of good reputation, and so I must regard the organization as worthy, although not at all informed regarding the plan of work.

Not very much do I know about the U. S. Grain Growers, incorporated. But, I know that some of the best and truest men of Nebraska are taking active part in promoting this organization. It seems to be growing faster than any of the other similar organizations, and for that reason no doubt offers to the farmer a shorter pathway to the ultimate goal of all such activity, and of course, that ultimate goal means a farmer-controlled grain market. Perhaps it were best to use the language of the secretary of the new movement, rather than to use my own language, in answering the question: "What is the U. S. Grain Growers, incorporated, and what does it plan to accomplish?" In answer to such questions I quote the secretary as follows: It is:

A company owned by farmers; controlled by farmers through local, district and national meetings each year; and directed by a board of farmer directors.

Committed to return every cent of the market value of the grain to the man whose labor and investment produced the crop—minus only actual handling charges.

Savings on commissions, and not more than one per cent deductions for capital expenditures will build:

- Farmer-owned terminal facilities.
- Farmer-owned export company.
- Farmer-owned cleaning, conditioning and blending plants.
- Farmer-owned crop reporting service.
- Farmer-owned service departments—transportation, grain statistics, etc.

If the foregoing clearly sets forth the plan and objects of the U. S. Grain Growers, incorporated (and I believe it does), then I promptly say it looks good to me, and I advise every grain-grower in Nebraska to become a member of the association. I can see how such an organization can accomplish great good for farmers, provided it shall be managed by good and true men who cannot be tainted by the tainting touch of Grain Trust. I do not call myself a farmer, but I do grow a few hundred acres of grain every year, and I intend to apply for membership in the organization, provided it will accept me as a member. I regret that I am not in position to give my inquiring friends more definite information on the subject. However, I have asked one of the able leaders of the movement to write for Telegram readers a detailed statement of the plan, the objects and the benefits of the incorporation, and will publish his article as soon as received.

STATE WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT

Nebraska's greatest need is water-power development. It is said that $30,000,000 is spent here each year for coal and freight and that commodity, and if oils for fuel are included, that it will run $50,000,000 a year.

Nebraska's wheat crop this year is valued at $50,000,000, it is not fair that we should trade our entire wheat crop for fuel, when we have ample water-power going to waste in the state. Our corn crop surpasses our wheat crop in value, if present prices prevail. It is unfair to have us trade our entire corn crop for the fuel used for heat and power in the state, but that is what we are doing year after year, and nothing is done to make it warm for those interests and politicians who manipulate legislatures to prevent a law to provide for development of Nebraska's substitute for coal and oil—its water power. What Nebraska needs is a reasonable water-power development law, one that will appeal to the capitalist to invest in its promotion, one that is sure to return a profit to the promoters. It would be far better for the state to have the investor in water-power projects make a big profit than to send $50,000,000 each year out of the state for coal and oil. (Nebraska produces neither one.) What would be spent on water power would remain in the state. Late inventions of the storage batteries and long distance transmission wires make it feasible and profitable to supply all Nebraska with electric current by water going to waste in our rivers. Harness our rivers is a crying necessity.—J. R. Sutherland, in Tekamah Herald.

HOW WE LOSE MEN'S RESPECT

A police officer in Atlantic City, New Jersey, spied a woman with bare knees and attempted to arrest her for violating the ordinance against indecent exposure.

She gave battle, but while she succeeded in breaking the officers' glasses, the outcome of the affray was that she landed in a cell. She is there yet, according to last reports; and so far, she has succeeded in keeping her knees bare, so that honors are nearly even. She is Louise Rosine, a California novelist. She threatens to take the case to the Supreme Court of the United States just to show, as she puts it, that she can do what she pleases with her own knees.—Ex.

TRYING TO KEEP IN THE CLEAR

These are trying times for the fellows who are trying to make the ends meet—the cash meet the demands at the end of the month. While he is watching one hole thru which cash seems to have been escaping and thinks he has it stopped the bill collector comes round from another angle and biff—you get it in the pocket book. It may be ice, it might be coal, or perhaps it is taxes—and again it is the ever pressing need of something to eat.

ORGANIZE WORK DRIVES

That is one of the remedies proposed by the committee to find out what is the matter with "Hannah." Dr. Harding asks the state and city officials to get busy and find something for every idle man to do. Great scheme, keep everybody busy, and they will not realize that they are hungry. It is decided that the condition cannot be handled from above—the big politician, the man with a heap of money admits that it is too much for him. Call on the great common people—they are the ones who do things. This move must have "local co-operation." That is the pole that always knocks the persimmon. When one sees how helpless are the great big fellows—he wonders why they were elected to place. When they get into a pinch they draw in their cash and close up shop not only for themselves, but for others. In war, it is the same thing. The common people are expected to do the real fighting. Men of means find a means to get out of the real strain in too many instances, and get into some graft game where they can feather their nest.

Out in this country there seems to be plenty of need of work, but the means of paying for it appears to have been cornered. There is plenty of farm work needed—plenty of town work that should be done—but can the farmer hire this work done when he gets but 20 cents a bushel for oats—not more than 25 cents for corn, while his hay has no market that will insure him freight charges if he ship it? The man who works for a wage says that he is not getting a living at a price that he should when he considers that the farmer must sell so low. The sag in prices has not reached him to the same extent that the sag in wages indicates. The problem is to find who is making good on the difference between producer and consumer. Solve that problem and you solve the employment question.

Things are looking up. So the bankers tell us from their meeting at Los Angeles—and they should know, for they are accused of holding at least one of the strings to the money purse. Then there is another testimony. Guy Reed, who is speaking to advertising clubs and conventions as an advertising man, says that advertising men are to use better times. That settles it. If the lagging interests will advertise and advertise, and then advertise, and do it some more, there is no doubt but that conditions will improve. One big advertising firm is trying to induce Uncle Sam to spend a little money in real newspaper advertising, instead of sending out a lot of publicity asking the newspaper man to print it for nothing. We believe in that too. Then this week the Wayne pastors are advertising to tell the people that the church doors will be open to them Sunday morning and evening, and if they will persist in that, we wager that the church will prosper as never before—if they treat their customers right when the advertising brings them in. We should all help make things better by working for what we get and getting what we work for and then keep it circulating just where it will do the most good.

Is justice at last going to overtake a lot of grafters who have been living in clover by their crooked ways? It may begin to look that way to the Shakers of Omaha, who have been indicted for their crooked methods. It was a lot of trouble for them to find bail so that they might not begin their prison term at once. E. R. Gurney was one of the men prominent in the state, and well-known in this county, where he was at one time in business who was arrested as the result of the work of a special jury of Douglas county. He is charged with embezzling and stealing more than $300,000, a part of which had to do with the Lion Bonding Co. business, and possibly its financial breaking. A number of concerns were anxiously making inquiries as to whether or not they were caught in the net. We hope that Attorney General Davis is in deadly earnest in his clean-up move, and that it does not cease until a state boarding place is provided for every guilty one. It costs, of course to run a prison; but it is far cheaper for the community to retain a lot of fellows there, rather than permit them to be at large.

The good work goes merrily on in Douglas county. Four more of the "prominent citizens" of our metropolis were arrested Tuesday, and they tell that the campaign has only just started. All good people hope to see the rascals sent to prison.

Just now the scene is changing from "Fatty" Arbuckle to some crooks at home, so far as Nebraska newspapers are concerned. The World-Herald had some "Prominent" citizen's pictures in their rogue gallery column Tuesday.

SOCIAL NOTES

Prayer occupied a good part of the Bible Study Circle meeting Tuesday afternoon.

A special letter was received from Gipsy Smith urging prayer for their party soon to open a campaign in Omaha.

The Rader meeting to begin October 16th in Wayne was the subject of much intercession. Paul Rader, long connected as pastor of the historic old Moody church, Chicago, where his abundant labors have been peculiarly blessed, and Ralph Rader the sweet singer of sacred song, Lyle Rader the noted chemist and lecturer on prophetic bible themes, and Luke Rader the well known evangelist, make a quartet of brothers worthy of their venerable father, who for many years so ably edited the Western Christian Advocate.

It is believed all the christians for miles around will unite as one in giving Luke Rader the splendid support and hearing he so richly deserves.

A group of young men and women have volunteered to visit every home in Wayne next Saturday afternoon with a personal invitation to the Rader meetings.

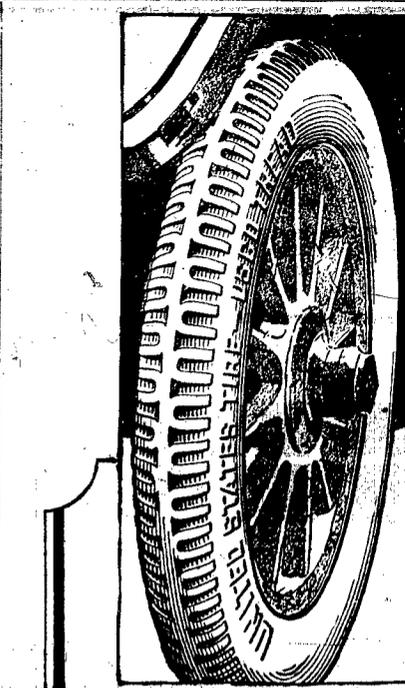

Last evening at the Methodist church basement was a really social time when the members and others met in a get-together meeting. Two hundred is the estimate of those in attendance. An ample luncheon from the covered dishes brought by the members provided dainty refreshments for all. With the innerman well satisfied, all were ready for the better things, a talk from the returned pastor, a duet from the Misses Oman, their mother accompanying on the piano, after which Prof. Lackey led a community sing. Miss Beechel took charge of the gathering for the social hour, and when it was time to say "good night" all felt that it had been good to be there on such a happy occasion.

The Helping Hand society met for an all day session on September 29th with Mrs. Andrew Stamm. About twenty-five members were present. Mrs. Stamm served a two course luncheon. It being the seventh birthday of her little daughter, Ruth, she also served dinner for seven of her little girl friends. In the afternoon Mrs. Alex Jeffrie took charge of the social hour in which games and other amusements were indulged. Mrs. Ed. Grier and Mrs. Stamm were prize winners in the games. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Albert Watson on October 13th.

Monday evening is the regular meeting night of the O. B. S., and it is to be more than a regular session for there is to be initiation, the meeting being at 5 o'clock for that purpose. Then will be a supper or covered dish luncheon at 6:30 to which all members are invited. Then will come the evening session. On this occasion Mrs. Ida Burnstadt, the state conductress of the order will be in attendance, and conduct a school of instruction. No member will care to miss this evening's sessions.

Wednesday evening the Baptist people met at their church in their regular quarterly business meeting. As has been the custom, they broke bread together, each bringing good things to eat, which were served cafeteria style, and then church affairs and business matters were discussed in a friendly way, and all go out ready to pull together for the next three months. The social feature of these meetings is the great thing for them.

The Coterie met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Ahern Monday, October 3. Roll call was responded to by naming a modern playwright and one of his plays. A splendid life sketch of John Drinkwater and review of his play "Abraham Lincoln" was given by

Here is the U. S. Usco Tread, with a long-established standard of service among motorists who have an eye to value, as well as to price. While selling for less than the other tires in the U. S. "Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now."

In all of modern merchandising the biggest conundrum is the fabric tire situation.

Around 70% of all car owners use fabric tires.

Their instinct for quality is as strong and insistent as any one else's.

Why, then, are they offered such hodge-podge stocks of "discount tires," "odd lots," "seconds," "retreads" and other so-called bargains of uncertain origin?

Sooner or later the public always seeks out quality. As a matter of self-protection—if for no other reason. The out-and-out opinion in favor of U. S. Fabric Tires has spread more this year than it ever did.

People have gotten very close to the U. S. policy. Felt it. Benefited by it. And passed the word along.

It's a policy settled to one standard for all U. S. Tires. Whether fabrics or cords. Small sizes or large.

Giving to the fabric tire user fresh, live tires. Being made now. Being shipped now.

All the original U. S. vitality and service comes through when you buy a U. S. Fabric Tire.

"Usco," "Chain," "Nobby." Three different treads.

Built by the same brains, the same policy, the same quality ideals that have made U. S. Royal Cords the standard measure of tire worth.

Mrs. Frank Morgan. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Sarah Jane. Club will meet Tuesday, October 11, instead of Monday with Mrs. E. E. Fleetwood.

Last Saturday afternoon at the country club grounds was a very pleasant gathering when the ladies of the Woman's club were hostess to the teachers of the Wayne schools and the Normal. The attendance numbered about seventy and a most enjoyable hour was spent forming acquaintances. Refreshments were served, and the new teachers in both schools were made to feel that they were indeed welcome to Wayne.

The Acme club held their first meeting of the season Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. V. A. Senter. The first part was spent in telling of their summer experiences, after which the rest of the time was spent with music. The hostess assisted by Mrs. J. G. Mines served a two course luncheon. The next meeting will be Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. S. Blair.

Tomorrow representatives of the Woman's club of this place, and some of the members go to Coleridge to take part in a meeting of the federated clubs for women in this part of Nebraska. Miss Pierce is the representative from the club, and Misses Fern and Frances Oman are to sing. It will be a meeting of much interest to the various clubs, beyond a doubt.

The Sorosis club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mae McLennon, music by Mrs. Mae Young. Roll call was answered with current events. Mrs. Ann Gildersteeve gave a talk on "Beauty Spots of America." Mrs. Norton gave a short reading.

Refreshments were served. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Helkes, October 17.

The U. D. club held their first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. W. H. Morris, she was assisted by Mrs. C. M. Craven and Mrs. William VonSeggern. The afternoon was spent socially. The next meeting will be a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Craven next Monday afternoon.

The next meeting of the Woman's club is to be October 15th, and probably at the Normal, when Professors Britell and Chinn are to discuss one of the leading questions of the day, the theory of relativity. Next week we can say more, perhaps.

A real good time is about to begin at the home of Mrs. Williams, where the ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve a chicken pie supper—a real square feed, too, they put up for 50 cents. Doors open at 5:30 this afternoon.

The Ladies Missionary society of the Baptist church will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Norton. A good program is prepared. Come and help us enjoy the afternoon.

The Monday club had a picnic at Bressler's grove Monday afternoon, the committee of ladies were Mrs. O. R. Bowen, Mrs. A. E. Carrhart, and Mrs. D. E. Bralnard.

The D. A. R. will meet Saturday at the home of Mrs. Dayton at Carroll.

HOUSEWIFE'S CORNER

A Random Record of Helpful Suggestions for Busy Homemakers

Peach Stains
Peach stains are the most difficult of stains to remove. Sometimes when fresh they yield to boiling water poured through the material from some height. If they have aged, sometimes a little glycerine put on and left for a time is good. Then wash them and if a trace of the spot is left use eau de Javelle to bleach it. Peach stains on wool can be removed with ether or chloroform.

Baked Bean Sandwiches
Rub one pint baked beans thru a sieve. Add one tablespoonful tomato catsup, one teaspoonful onion juice, one-half teaspoonful mustard and a pinch of grated horseradish. Spread on slices of bread and cut them into regular shapes.

Banana Dressing
Skin and scrape bananas, as many as needed, and put them through the potato ricer. They make an attractive and wholesome addition to fruit salads or desserts, looking particularly well with colored berries or cherries.

Layer Sandwiches
Spread between slices of bread layers of chopped olives, pounded sardines, chopped pimento, pounded yolks of hard-cooked eggs and lettuce mixed with mayonnaise. Cut as layer cake and serve with coffee.

Bit of Home Repair Work
Mend your granite kettles by putting the ball part of a dress snap through the hole and snap it on the other side. Rivet it firmly with a few strokes of a hammer until secure.

Rust spots can be removed from white linen with salts of lemon put up in powdered form. Put the salts on the spot and dampen slightly.

JOHNSON SAYS NO CONFLICT
Jesse R. Johnson, state manager of the Nebraska non-partisan league, says the recent statement from Aurora that the league finds difficulty in growing in Hamilton county because of the strength of the farmers' union, is misleading.

Mr. Johnson says the purposes of the two organizations are entirely different. He says:

"There is not and never has been any disagreement in Nebraska between the league and the union. The farmers' union is an educational and co-operative organization and the league is organized exclusively for political work. It is concerned with the matter of electing to office, men that will carry out whatever program the farmers of the state demand."

"Fully 80 per cent of the league members are also members of the farmers' union and they are anxious and determined that both organizations withstand the onslaughts of 'big business' and their representatives, the wily politicians. Every member of the league state executive committee with the possible exception of one is a member of the farmers' union and working hard for the success of both organizations."

The non-partisan league has a very satisfactory membership in Hamilton county and while no active organization work is being done there at present not a week passes that we do not enroll a few members from that county."—State Journal.

Because of the illness of Mrs. Parker's mother and sister it seemed best that they should move that they might be with them. Yes, we understand that the house they vacate is already taken.

More premiums come to Wayne county stock from Sioux City fair. G. Paulsen of Carroll was in Wayne the other day and said that he carried off a dozen premium ribbons from the Inter-State fair the week before on his exhibit of Poland China swine. In the open class he won two 3ds and two 6th on gilt and boar, and year-old boar and on herd; a 2nd on produce of dam and 5th on get of sire. In the Futurity Show he won the same number of premiums on his entries in that department; a 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 6th and 8th. While he lacked one of getting a 1st, his showing certainly made a good record.

CONSTRUCT OR REMODEL YOUR POULTRY HOUSE NOW

An inadequate or poorly constructed poultry house is one of the important factors in keeping Nebraska egg production down to 70 eggs per hen. It is not always necessary to build a new house; the old one can be remodeled to meet the requirements of a good poultry house.

First—Plenty of fresh air should be present in every house, at least one-third of the front should be open. Cover the opening with a muslin frame when there is a wind from the south bearing a cold rain, snow or a freezing temperature.

Second—Sunlight should fall upon every square foot of floor space some time during the day. Arrange windows accordingly.

Third—Keep the house dry with a good roof and floor. Wet straw on the floor means poor ventilation or a leak.

Fourth—Be sure that the hens are not compelled to roost in cross drafts. Colds and roup are present too frequently in a drafty house.

Fifth—The cost should be as low as possible to keep down the overhead expense. A cheap house of proper construction is just as good as a more expensive one.

Sixth—Build for permanence. Use concrete foundations and flooring, cover the house with a good durable roof and keep the outside well painted.

RED CROSS GIVES ANNUAL BUDGET

$19,361,657 Allotted for Current Program of Relief and Service.

MILLIONS FOR VETERAN AID

Medical Aid for European Children Will Cost $6,000,000 This Year.

Washington.—Expenditures totalling $19,361,657 for carrying through its program of relief and services in the United States and overseas are outlined in the budget of the American Red Cross for the current fiscal year.

Outstanding among the items of the domestic budget is the appropriation of $8,000,256 for work in behalf of the disabled ex-service man and his family. This appropriation represents the amount allotted to this work from National Headquarters only and does not take into consideration the millions being spent in chapters for relief of the World War veteran.

Vast Work for Disabled
Chief among the sub-divisions of the appropriation for work with veterans is that which concerns itself with assistance to disabled men and women in government hospitals.

Helping Destitute Children
Other items of the domestic budget include $498,546 for miscellaneous activities, including contributions restricted for special purposes and $768,000 for management. Each of these items represents large reductions over similar appropriations of the previous year.

From a fund of $10,000,000, $5,000,000 of which was contributed through the European Relief Council campaign and $5,000,000 allotted by the Red Cross for child welfare work in Europe, there remains $8,785,108 still available, of which it is estimated that $8,000,000 will be required for this work during the current year.

In announcing the national budget, the Red Cross makes it clear that the figures do not include chapter expenditures or place any cash estimate on the invaluable service of volunteers in chapters.

CARRYING ON SERVICE FOR DISABLED VETERANS OF THE WORLD WAR THAT IS COSTING $10,000,000 A YEAR, THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IS HELPING FULFILL THIS NATION'S OBLIGATION TO ITS DEFENDERS. HELP THE RED CROSS CONTINUE THIS WORK BY ANSWERING THE ANNUAL ROLL CALL NOVEMBER 11-24, 1921.

MR. AND MRS. HARRIS HONORED

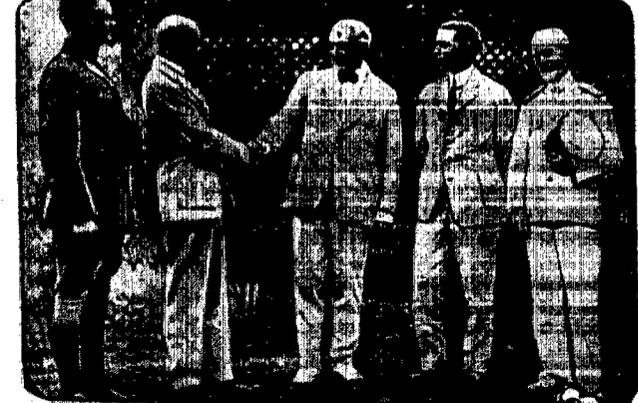

A very pleasant social event occurred Monday evening at the Hartington Hotel, when the Cedar county editors tendered a reception to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Harris, the former being editor of the Coleridge Blade for twenty years.

Editor O'Parey and wife, who were instrumental in bringing the affair to pass, acted as host and hostess and after greetings, the company repaired to the dining room where a bounteous dinner of good things was served in a la mode style.

Advertisement for the Red Cross Annual Roll Call, featuring a large cross and text: 'The army of the disabled keeps growing. In Hospitals under Government care. The Red Cross is spending ten Million Dollars a Year to help the ex-service man and his family. Annual Roll Call Nov. 11-24, 1921.'

To bring before the country in visual form the vast problem it is helping to solve, the American Red Cross has prepared for its Annual Roll Call, Nov. 11 to 24, a poster showing how rather than diminishing the total of World War veterans entitled to Federal aid continues to grow.

ADVISES FARMERS AND UNION LABOR TO GO IT ALONE IN NEBRASKA POLITICS NEXT YEAR

Shall the organized farmers cooperating with the organized laboring-men enter one of the old political parties or shall they enlist under a banner of their own? Is the political question of the day. What have either the republican or the democratic party to offer? Is there any difference between Penrose, Smoot and Kellogg wearing the republican livery and Underwood, Williams and Overman in democratic harness?

The Populists had an efficient organization but for expedience they affiliated with the democrats in the North and with the republicans in the South, and their wives became crossed and they were annihilated. If the farmers and laborers throw their political influence to one of the old political parties and win the nomination then that ticket becomes the common target for every species of special privilege.

Why not say, 's'c'm tige' to both of the old parties and concentrate our united force for a frontal attack on entrenched privilege? It is more important who dominates Nebraska than who dominates the United States.

too much territory.—W. H. Green, in Omaha Labor News.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL (State Journal)

A few years ago, when the world was young and gay, a long whiskered man came up to E. J. Burkett at Bennett and insisted that it was time for him to pay a promissory note for $100 which he presented. Mr. Burkett looked the document over. It was a note, all right and his signature was too good and clear to be disputed.

It seems to the old timers that a great many more jokers were played on each other by men in public life two decades ago than at present. The best explanation is that up to fifteen years ago the "good fellow" was the chap who managed the politics of the state. He traveled everywhere on free passes.

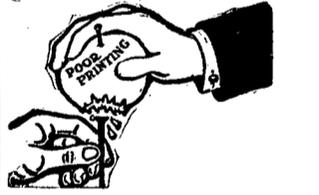

The "corporation cappers" influenced politics more by entertaining the state politicians than in any other way. Most of this entertainment was innocent enough. It consisted of story telling, an occasional theatre or luncheon party and sometimes the most elaborate programs of practical joking.

That is the reason the average man in politics wants the primary shelved and the convention system restored. He thinks he can once more enjoy the good times of his youth. He forgets that prohibition and the anti-pass law have done almost as much as the primary to kill off the old joyous meetings. The state has become more mature, too, and like an elderly gentleman will not enjoy the things that seemed screamingly funny in the early days. Politics was once a game played largely for amusement. Now it is more like a serious business. Ask any Nonpartisan leaguer if it isn't.

Uncle Walt's Story

MARRY IN HASTE

"SAM OWLEY brought his bride home last evening," announced the horse doctor, "and they're going to begin housekeeping right away. Sam says he married the girl three days after first seeing her, and seems to think he did something pretty clever, but there's an old saying about marrying in haste and repenting at leisure."

"It's worth just about as much as the rest of the old sayings," said the village patriarch. "They're all cheap goods, and you don't get a chrome with any of them. Most married women repent at leisure, whether they married in haste or took their time about it."

"I sometimes think that the longer an unmarried woman contemplates the man she is going to marry, the less she knows about him. If there is a protracted courtship, the man has every opportunity to work up a reputation that doesn't belong to him."

"Just this morning my present wife was telling me that if she had known what sort of a man I really was she'd never have married me. Yet she had six months to study me before the wedding bells rang out their glad chimes, and she thought I was an exemplary man. I'm naturally of a slouchy disposition. I never did take much pride in my appearance, even when I was a young man, and as I waxed older I became downright careless. I considered it a waste of money and effort to have my clothes pressed, and having my shoes blacked seemed merely vanity and vexation of spirit."

"Yet when I began courting the excellent woman who is my wife, I braced up in the most surprising way. I always did that when I went courting. And the surprising thing is that it never seemed a dishonest proceeding. It never struck me, until my wife called my attention to the matter, long afterwards, that I was obtaining money under false pretenses, so to speak, when I created the impression that I was the glass of fashion and the mold of that great conflict. Mr. Fordney voted for it, not to help win the war, not to aid the United States and the nations associated with it in the war against German imperialism, but 'to put the president in a hole.'"

Mr. Fordney has spoken with exceptional frankness, but his confession will bring a shock only to credulous persons who deluded themselves into believing that republican leadership in congress during the war ever had a higher motive than malignant opposition to President Wilson. Having done what they could during the war to "put him in a hole," they pursued the same policy with the treaty of peace and with all measures of reconstruction.

In certain respects this policy was eminently successful. The republican leaders unquestionably "put the president in a hole," as Mr.

THRIFTLESS MARYLAND

In the year 1906, the State of Maryland transferred title to an island in the Patapsco river at Baltimore to a private individual for the sum of $15. The following year two other islands nearby were sold for $35 each to two other individuals. These islands are merely banks of mud. The purchasers made no other use of them than to sell them later for several hundred dollars profit. The new purchasers have also made no use of the islands, but this year, 14 years after the original sale of the first island, the city of Baltimore, believing the islands essential to a plan of port development, took an option on all three, and the price agreed upon was $215,000. Of this sum $125,000 was for the first island and $90,000 for the other two. In other words, when the State parted title with these islands it conferred the power on private parties to levy upon the earnings of the people of Baltimore to the extent of $215,000 in fourteen years. In this there is nothing unusual. There is inexcusable prodigality in every transfer of publicly owned land to private individuals. There is inexcusable prodigality every day that state or nation continues to permit private appropriation of communal values. This is the kind of extravagance which is keeping the great bulk of the American people in poverty.

Sheep and Lambs Strong. A liberal run of sheep and lambs showed up Tuesday, 24,000 head, and both packers and feeder buyers took them freely at substantially stronger prices. Best fat lambs brought $9.00 and feeder lambs sold up to $7.00.

Quotations on sheep and lambs—Fat lambs, good to choice, $8.25@8.50; fat lambs, fair to good, $7.75@8.25; feeder lambs, good to choice, $6.75@7.25; feeder lambs, fair to good, $6.40@6.65; cull lambs, $5.00@6.25; fat yearlings, $5.00@6.00; fat ewes, $3.50@4.50; feeder ewes, $2.75@3.50; breeding ewes, $3.50@4.25; cull ewes, $1.00@2.10.

To Characterize Away. Owner of good, steady season (to nervous guest)—"I sleep well, old man. Lady Agnes probably will look in towards dawn and moon a bit. If she keeps you awake, just grow like a rooster and yodel like a hen until you're hoarse."

SOME NEWS ITEMS FROM THE GOLDENROD

CATHOLIC CLUB The Catholic Club held its first meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. There were thirty members present. Father Kerns first gave a little talk on the aims of the Club. Professor Hunter was then chosen as chairman and the following officers were elected: President, Helen Sausser; Vice President, Paul Kelly; Secretary, Kathryn Keogh; Treasurer, Catherine Evans; Goldenrod Reporter, Mary Phalin; Club Sponsors, Miss Scheinplug, Father Kerns and Professor Hunter.

The meeting was brought to a close with the agreement that the next meeting would be next Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

JUNIORS MEET At a meeting of the Junior Class last Tuesday noon, Professor and Mrs. O. R. Bowen were elected sponsors. A social committee was also elected.

TRAINING SCHOOL The training-school supervisors make complimentary reports concerning the work of the student teachers. They are all well started and are making the Training School headquarters.

Teaching programs are being made out for the second quarter. Those who have not been assigned places and who wish to teach the second quarter should see the superintendent of the Training School at once.

Silent reading receives especial emphasis in the grammar and high-school grades. An attempt is made to find out the different ways in which the world uses silent reading. Having found out, the teacher knows what silent reading abilities are to be developed in these grades.

Y. M. C. A. The Y. M. C. A. met Wednesday evening in the Junior High school with a good attendance. Doctor House gave a very interesting address on the subject, "The Bible as Literature and History." Among other things he stated that the Bible is one of the greatest literatures in the world, that it has helped millions of people to live rightly and that it should be studied more than it is.

Cecil J. Schwerts and Geraldine Young, '19, were married on Tuesday, September 20, at Coleridge. They are now on a wedding trip to various parts of Colorado and when they return will be at home to their friends on a farm near Coleridge.

The Normal Band under the direction of Professor Hunter, will be ready to appear in public when the football season opens this year. The band is made up of thirty members and they meet each day except Wednesday at 12:45 for practice. The orchestra, made up of eighteen pieces, is also practicing diligently.

NEW LITERARY SOCIETY

About twenty-five students were represented at the meeting held on Friday evening in Professor Lewis' room for the purpose of organizing a new literary society. This society, in which a membership of about fifty is anticipated, has been organized principally for the discussion of public questions and practice in parliamentary drill. The main spirit of this organization will be to cooperate with every other society in the school, and yet it will provide a source of friendly rivalry for other societies, so that more interest will be aroused in the members of all organizations.

A committee met on Saturday evening to draw up a constitution.

ATHLETICS

Prospects for a winning team are looking up. The team will probably be heavier than expected. One lineup which was in action the other night averaged 178 from tackle to tackle, 168 for the whole line and 160 in the backfield.

The squad needs more pads and helmets as there are not enough on hand to equip two teams; as a result scrimmage between the first and second teams is light.

The Midland game is next Saturday, October 8. This will be the first battle of the season for both teams and as defeat would mean elimination from the Conference race, it should be a lively scrap. On the basis of games won last year Midland will have a trifle the edge on the Normal but it would be well to remember that this is not last year.

When the team leaves for Midland, get out and yell. If your throat gets sore it will be a good excuse if you are asked a question you do not know.

OUTWITTING THE BOND THIEF

Wall Street Bankers Have Devised Some Novel Methods of Camouflaging Securities.

Many runners in Wall Street are adopting novel methods of their own to safeguard the securities given in their care for delivery. In some instances firms have made suggestions and rules for "camouflaging" the handling of stocks and bonds outside of their offices. One broker's house has all securities pinned inside newspapers and one of its runners apparently walks around with a single newspaper under his arm which has attached to its pages inside valuable bonds and stocks. Yet another firm has hired former policemen to handle its deliveries of stock.

Another firm has presented its runners with suits, the vests of which have large inside pockets which are buttoned and in these the securities are carried and must be on pain of dismissal.

One wet day recently a special messenger of a large brokerage house carried two Liberty bonds of $50,000 apiece and three of $10,000 each pinned inside a closed umbrella.—Wall Street Journal.

Eastern Women Advancing.

Feet fit for feats, both as to shape and shoes, are no longer confined to men nor yet to the women of the western world, says a bulletin from the national board of the Y. W. C. A. In the recent Olympic races of the Far East, held in Shanghai, 1,200 girls and young women took part. Of these 200 were from Japan and the Philippine Islands, and the rest from China, 500 being Shanghai girls. The Shanghai delegation was selected and trained for the events by the Young Women's Christian association of Shanghai. "It is within the last six years that this activity in the land of little bound feet has developed," writes Miss Florence Brown of Rochester, N. Y., who is at present in Shanghai for the Y. W. C. A. "In 1915, when the last Olympic games were held," she says, "the only girls who took part were a few Filipino girls, who formed a baseball team."

His Desires.

The manager of the Indiana Masonic home overheard a group of small boys from the home discussing what they desired to be when they grew to be men. One insisted he would be a Mason, another a Shriner and another had ambitions to be a Noble of the Mystic Shrine, but five-year-old Jack, drum major in the home band, said: "No, I do not want to be any of those." "What," the others replied, "don't want to be a Shriner or Mason or Noble; why, what do you want to be?" He drew himself up and replied proudly, "Well, I'll tell you what. I want to be a popestate."—Indianapolis News.

Small Orphan Traveled Far.

Her baggage consisting of two letters, dealing with her father's war record, three-year-old Winnifred Josephine McKinley passed through Port Arthur, Ontario, recently on the Canadian Pacific on the way to her uncle's home in Swift Current, Saskatchewan. From her faraway home in Glasgow, Scotland, to the Canadian West, more than 4,000 miles, the little orphan had only the kindly directions of train and steamship officials to guide her.

Superiority of Oil Over Coal.

The amazing increase in the use of oil for fuel is not surprising when it is considered that weight for weight and with proper burners the oil gives 50 per cent more steam than coal. It is easier than coal to handle, it obviates dust and dirt, makes little smoke and no ashes and can be lighted instantly and controlled absolutely.

Chilean Students In U. S. Colleges

Six young people of Chile, three young men and three young women, are being sent by the Chilean government to the United States to spend four years in American colleges. Their mission is to study the educational system of the United States, particularly as it concerns higher education, and to investigate the effects, economic and physical, of the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Chile is very near the enactment of a law similar to the Eighteenth amendment to the United States constitution, waiting only for a little further observation of the result of the prohibitory law here, and to develop a little more assurance in the minds of those engaged in the wine industry that grapes may be grown with profit without the liquor industry. Both government officials and educators are lined up strongly for prohibition, and the prophecy is that another five years will see Chile dry.

The young students who are being financed here by their government are being placed in different parts of the country, under different environment, and it is expected that their observations will be useful in helping Chile to come to a clear understanding of the effects of prohibition on the industrial and social life of the people and upon the public health. The three young women have been placed in the special charge of Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the W. C. T. U. in the United States.

THE LIGHT

By MOLLIE MATHER
© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

Time lagged, with the vacation party at Hamstead on the beach. It was Marcia Cole who spoke from her hammock at the far end of the hotel veranda. "Let us," she suggested, "take a boat ride over to the lighthouse. Miriam Evans says it is most interesting. There's an old Scotch keeper there, who lives like a hermit. His floors are as white as snow, and old brasses shine upon the walls. He has a corner of books, a reading lamp by a tiny fire place, and his only companion is a Scotch collie dog. The old man told Miriam the sad story of his life."

Laughingly Marcia stopped. "I have been rambling on," she said. "Ramble some more," Phyllis encouraged, "and tell us the sad story."

"Miriam was with Peggy the day she went out to the light," Marcia went on; "she seemed to remind the old fellow of his own daughter who had, he insisted, deserted him; though Miriam concluded that the girl had but grown tired, naturally, of an isolated life and escaped. They lived, then, in some old house in a remote village. His daughter, the old man declared, was 'the light of his life.' Her mother had died in the girl's infancy, and he, the father, had tried in his care for her to take the place of both. Miriam said she could fancy as he talked, how tender and absorbing that care had been. Tears raced down his rugged cheeks, as he told of a 'lover lad' who was evidently his choice for the girl, as a husband. Miriam could picture that girl, too, as selfish, accepting the devotion of the two men as merely her due, and casting it aside for the new arrival who stirred her romantic fancy. He came from the city, an illustrator, idly traveling about and sketching here and there. He made experimental sketches of the Scotchman's beautiful daughter; her piquant face pleased him. And then—before the very eyes of the father and his young trusted friend—the lover, this artist, carried the girl who pleased him away to the city—to marry her. Oh, yes, to marry her. And, as usual, she accepted the homage as her due. But he was ashamed of the crude and Scotchman and the girl's humble surroundings. He thought that a year of travel and study under his married sister's care would improve this girl who had touched his heart, and would make her in time a fit mate and companion for himself. The sister, who adored her gifted brother, willingly undertook the task. But here is the tragedy—the father never heard from his daughter from the moment when she waved him a careless good-by to this day, when he tends the light in the tower, and sadly smokes his pipe as night hours go by—just thinking of her. He sold the village home when two years had passed, with no word from his daughter. The jilted lover, so the old man told Miriam, is his one comfort. 'Davey rows over often to see me,' he said."

Janet Rae was on her feet. "I want to go over to the light," she said.

The guests objected. "It's quite a story," Phyllis agreed. "but I have more cheerful plans for the afternoon. When you hear who is coming out on the evening boat, you will want to be here at the hotel," she told Marcia Cole. A pretty matron came forward.

"And you, Janet, dear," she advised, "will wish to be here, too. Gregory is also coming!"

Janet made no reply. Her eyes widened as she gazed out over the tossing waters.

"Tell Gregory not to look for me," she said.

The matron shrugged her shoulders. "Who," she quoted smilingly, "can fathom the ways of Janet?"

It was a rowboat that the girl found and she bent to the oars herself. It was twilight when the tiny craft made shore. Janet Rae sprang out and climbed the rocks in her ridiculous little slippers. There was no person in evidence about the place, so she passed breathlessly through the white-floored kitchen up on the stair to the balcony light. Far beyond she could see like a vision past, the hotel on the bluff, where guests would now be assembled in the great dining room—gayly clad women, men like Gregory—exacting, critical. The wind tore suddenly at Janet's light skirts, the balcony door blew shut with a metallic snap. When she tried it, it would not open. She huddled back against the stone wall, wondering as the stars came out, how soon he would find her—the poor disappointed old keeper of the lighthouse.

The old keeper had long been buffeted by winds and rains of sorrow. He found the girl later clinging there, when he went to make sure that the tower door was closed. His flashlight illumined her stained pale face. "Janey," cried the old man, "Janey, my girl!"

Through tears she looked up at her father. "Yes, it's Janey," she said, "come home to stay." But it was David, following wonderingly up the stair, who carried her down in his arms.
