WAYNE DEFEATED CHADRON FINAL COUNT, 33 TO 19

Last Monday afternoon at the college campus grounds was played one of the cleanest and fastest football games that the writer has witnessed for some time. It was full of those thrilling plays that makes even an uninterested party who witnesses the game glad that he spent his four bits to see the game.

It was the writers intention to get the game play for play but not knowing the men personally on either side and then when Wayne pulled that pretty forward pass and Surber carried it for 30 yards through Chadrons thickest for a touchdown, I simply forgot that I was there to report the game and not to yell.

In the second quarter Wayne carried the ball to Chadrons 10 yard line and then tumbled but the horse shoes were with them as Chadron also fumbled on their first attempt to get the ball out of danger, and Wayne was so surprised at their own good luck that they were unable to carry it over in their next four downs and Chadron punted out of danger. Wayne then started in on end runs and hit bucks and went straight through for the second touchdown, kicking goal, making score read 14-0. Waynes third touchdown was made by F. Petersen who caught a forward pass and ran for 35 yards for a touchdown. It was then Chadrons turn and after many trials finally put the pigskin over for a touchdown but failed to kick goal. From then on it seemed it was the men that had the wind as Chadron was about all in and the plays were made fast and furious. Wayne had nearly all second string men from the third quarter on, even then was able to make another touchdown and Chadron also made another.

The two Petersen boys and Rennie seemed to be the stellar men for Wayne as they repeatedly were the men who downed the Chadron men for losses behind their line and Rennie never failed to make a good return on all punts.

No. 11 was the star man for Chadron, it did not make any difference how many pilled upon him, he always got up with a smile on his face and it usually took a couple to stop him when he got started.

Wayne still stands 1000 percent in the conference and it looks like they had a good chance to cop it easily, Peru being the hardest game they will have to play.—Contributed.

DETAILS OF THE GAME

The game was featured by stellar open field work of the Wayne backs and by good work of McKelvey, Chadrons right half who made a great part of Chadrons gains. Surber, F. Petersen and Myers made long runs through broken fields for touchdowns. Armours punting contributed in a large measure to Waynes victory.

Wayne won the toss and Chadron kicked off. Armour returned—the

THE LUKE RADER REVIVAL MEETINGS CLOSE SUNDAY

Next Sunday evening will be the last of the three weeks series of meetings at the opera house, conducted by Luke Rader and his wife, with the assistance of local people. The meetings have been increasing in attendance and interest from the first Last Sunday audience was almost at the overflow stage, and they tell us that some did retire to give their place to others—and the impression gained some headway that the sermon smelled strongly of the fumes of a place that is better than this, was the cause of their going.

The subjects for the closing afternoon and evening are: "Do you Read Your Mail?" for the afternoon hour, and for the closing service Sunday evening: "Are You a Go-Getter of a Throat-cutter?"

It is needless to say that all will find a welcome at these services.

LOSES THUMB IN ELEVATOR

Collie Boyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Boyce had the misfortune to get his thumb caught in a corn elevator and a physician made a finished job of it, taking it off near the joint. It is getting along nicely, but is rather tender for husking yet for a time.

POSTPONED ENTERTAINMENT

The Bachelors' Honey-moon has been postponed, but he won't care much, for if an old bachelor he is used to waiting. But because of conflicting with data of college musical number, the Legion will give play later, and tell of it next week.

ATTENDING AMERICAN LEGION NATIONAL CONVENTION

Carroll Orr went to Kansas City the first of the week to attend the great meeting of ex-service men, as one of the representatives from Nebraska, he being a member of the executive committee of the Nebraska state organization.

The daily press tells that it is a great meeting. That the soldier lads are gathering not only from all parts of the United States, but from across the pond on either side of us. Men from Italy, Belgium, England, France and other nations are at the gathering—not as members of the American Legion, but as guests of that organization. Delegates from Alaska, Africa, Chili, the British Isles, Canada, Panama, China, Cuba, France, Guatemala, Hawaii, Japan, Mexico, Peru, Porto Rico and Turkey will be seated.

The auxiliary organization of women are also meeting there in their first national meeting. This organization will have about 500 delegates present.

Pershing, Foch and other great leaders of the forces that won the war will also be in attendance.

A TOWNSHIP FAIR

George Crossland tells us that it was his fortune to attend a township or precinct fair last week over in Madison county, given, we think, under direction and in conjunction with the county agricultural agent. He said that what most appealed to him was the part taken by the little folks who are members of pig and calf clubs. He told of some of the records made by the young exhibitors but as we took no figures as he was telling, we refrain from trying to quote what he said, for fear we do not get gain enough for the calves and pigs during the summer. At any rate, the show appealed wonderfully to Mr. Crossland as a good thing to help in developing farmers of the young folks of the township. Another appealing thing to George was the dinner. To hear him tell of that, one would almost think him a preacher, he so loudly praised the chicken fries.

Then, he wondered why Wayne county had none; and we left him still wondering.

THE PENDER UNDERTAKER NEARLY HAD A JOB

One day the first of the week, Undertaker Demme of Pender came near becoming the subject for an undertaker's care—but escaped unhurt. Driving near Bancroft when roads were wet and slippery he came to the railroad track where his view had been obstructed by a barn just in time to have a train dispute his claim to the right of way. Applying the brake, the road was so slippery that the car kept on as though on runners on the snow—so it was either the ditch or the train which had to be run into, and he chose the former and said his prayers. When the car came to a stop it was squarely on its top (a sedan) with the wheels spinning merrily over his head. Strange to say, he did not get a scratch, and the car had but one little dent in side and steering shaft slightly bent.

REV. FISCHER CONFIRMS TWO CLASSES SUNDAY

Last Sunday was a busy day for Rev. Fischer, who lives southwest of Wayne, and is pastor of the Theophilus Lutheran church nearby, and also pastor for those who worship at the Salem church southeast of Wayne, for at each church a class of young people were confirmed, and taken into fellowship of the church.

There were six members of the class at the Theophilus church, Fred Vahlkamp, Helnie and Mary Koch, Elsie Horstmann, Mildred Mann and Herbert Bruner.

At Salem church the class number was eight: Emma Sievers, Meta Prevert, Olga Hagemann, Amelia Prevert, Emma Korn, Armina Biermann and Paul and Emma Baler.

The two class groups each posed before a camera for pictures which will be cherished as the years go by, and they look back to the time when they studied together to become fitted for the events of their confirmation day.

M. D.'S DISCUSS CANCER AT FIVE-COUNTY MEET AT WAYNE

Wednesday afternoon a well attended meeting of the doctors from Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Thurston and Wayne counties gathered at Wayne and discussed matters of interest to themselves and in the interest of the public. In accord with physicians everywhere this week, cancer was the disease under discussion, and the 30 members present were enthusiastic in the discussion of the program. Papers were read and discussed as follows:

Cancer of Breast, Dr. A. B. Coe, Wakefield.

Cancer of the Uterus, Dr. C. T. Ingham, Wayne.

Cancer of the Stomach, Dr. Hanson, Emerson.

Cancer of the Skin, Dr. Gleason, Randolph.

Cancer of the Lip and Mouth, Dr. Hay, Laurel.

At a business session the following were named for officers: Dr. John Buis, Pender, president; Dr. J. C. Hay, Laurel, vice president; Dr. F. C. Dawsey, Coleridge, secretary-treasurer; Dr. C. L. Phillips, Dixon, and Dr. Q. A. Kerley, Randolph were named as censors.

A round table discussion was of much interest.

A resolution was passed favoring the reduction of all fees as the doctors have reduced theirs, and as the financial stringency demands.

Their advice to the public may be summed up as to cancer, do not neglect early treatment to whatever has appearance of developing cancer.

LATE NEWS NOTES

The president proclaims Thanksgiving Thursday the 24th. Let us find something for which we may give thanks.

A national strike of the coal miners is spoken of as one of the possibilities. It should not be permitted. The government should step in and see that the public, the miners and the stockholders each have a fair deal, and if they can settle it no other way, let Uncle Sam go into the mining business.

Exports from this country in September were thirty-one million less than in August and imports were four million dollars greater than in September. Yet the protective tariff is said to be to keep the pauper labor of Europe from placing their product here to compete with the infant industries of America.

The democratic national committee in session at St. Louis Monday unanimously named Cordell Hull of Carthage, Tennessee, as its national chairman, accepting the resignation of George White, of Marietta, Ohio, who was in charge during the late disastrous campaign.

What officials said was the greatest parade—the largest procession of marching men since the Union forces passed in review at Washington at the close of the Civil war, was that of the American Legion forces at Kansas City Tuesday. The parade was led by five leaders of the men during the war, Foch, France, Diaz, Italy, Jacques Belgium, Beatty Great Britain and Pershing America.

Tom Watson of Georgia—Senator Watson has said that American soldiers were banged in France without trial or due process of law and now he is being called upon to prove the statements, if true.

The brewers have had official notice from the powers that be in Washington that they may sell beer for the sick, according to the regulations of the federal government, subject to the laws of the states. That still leaves Nebraska dry.

A Chicago dispatch says that the matter of proceeding to procure further reduction in railroad employees, with an object of reducing freight rates is well in hand. Why not try reducing freight rates now, and see if that won't help things? Of course, they must wait the hearing before the I. S. C. commission. That takes time, and time under the present rates seems to be what the railroads want.

The late report is that Lancaster will not probably call that grand jury now, because there is some question as to the legality of calling the jury just at this time. One would think the laws were made to protect crops—for it is so hard to get any action against them.

PROSECUTIONS UNDER THE COMPULSORY SCHOOL LAW

In this, as in other counties, prosecutions are being started to compel the attendance at school of all children not exempt under the law. In the absence of the judge of the district court three cases were brought before Judge Cherry Saturday, and after the hearing and violation of the law established fines, amounting with costs to about twenty dollars in each case were assessed.

Henry Hollman, Frank Larsen and C. J. Harmeler were the offending fathers.

These cases were all under the old law—that is for violations during year ending June 27, 1921.

The defendants were each charged with having had the lawful, actual and legal charge, custody and control of children more than 7 years of age, and not more than 16 years of age. That they unlawfully, wrongfully and knowingly failed and refused and did not cause the child to attend any school two thirds of the number of days taught, that the child was not mentally or physically incapacitated, and was not legally or regularly employed for his own support or for the support of any person dependent on him, and that the child had not completed the eighth grade, and did not live more than two miles from the school house.

The penalty for this offense is not less than $5.00 or more than $100.00 or not to exceed 3 months in jail.

The law makes it the duty of the teacher to report to the county superintendent, and she in turn notifies the parent, and if the teacher, the superintendent, the school officers or parents fail to enforce the law, they are subject to the same penalty, $100 or 90 days.

Last year 32 complaints were filed and were nearly all settled satisfactorily, the children were put in school and most of them made their grades, and no fines were collected.

There are a number of other cases pending, and this should be a warning to others that this law is considered of vital importance, and will be enforced from now on without discrimination. The state provides the schools for the benefit of the children, and holds that parents or guardians must not deprive the children of the benefits. We hope that but few cases will be reported in this county—that is that parents and pupils will observe the law.

WILL HENNESEY UNDERGOES OPERATION

Thos. Hennesey of Carroll was here Tuesday afternoon, returning from Lincoln, where he had been to be with his son Will while he underwent a serious operation for trouble dating back to the flu when he was in service. The young man was not out of danger when the father left, but was improving as fast as could be expected from the nature of his case. His spine was affected, and it was necessary to remove a part of the bone from the back and graft in a piece of bone from the shin. The piece transferred to the spine was eight in length. This operation was submitted to in hope that it would speed his recovery, which otherwise was not promised in less than three years.

BURIAL OF W. E. JOHNSON

Last Friday evening the body of W. E. Johnson, who died at Chicago, was brought here for burial, and the funeral was conducted by the Masons from the undertaking parlors Saturday afternoon, and was attended by many members of that order. The family could not be present, but had attended a funeral at Chicago, before the body was taken to this place. F. S. Gamble, his brother-in-law, accompanied the body to Omaha, where he was joined by two of Mr. Johnson's sisters, Mrs. Will Monahan and Mrs. W. J. Whitaker of that city. Mrs. Johnson, who was ill at a hospital in Chicago and the children plan to come to Wayne for the winter as soon as she is able to make the trip. She is improving rapidly and has been discharged from the hospital as well on the way to recovery.

ATTENTION I. O. O. F.

RETURNS FROM NORTH DAKOTA ELECTION

The returns from the recall election of North Dakota when nearly all indicated the defeat of Governor Frazier by a majority of from 2,000 to 5,000. This election was on a recall petition for the recall of the governor, and if in the face of this defeat, the league continues to function, it will be because they have embodied in the principles of the organization progressive ideas that are vital. About these principles of government there is much difference of opinion. Another thing upon which much will depend is the action of those named to fill the responsible positions at the head of the state government. They must make good or their victory will be but temporary. If they make good then only will the people be satisfied. Concerning the election a Fargo dispatch says:

North Dakota today prepared for changes that will be necessary in case the defeat of the nonpartisan league administration in Friday's recall election sticks.

As returns from rural districts come in slowly nonpartisan candidates cut the independent lead. Estimates early today were that the independents could not have a final majority of more than 1200 and there was a slight possibility of the count going the other way.

Whether nonpartisans will fight the election—demand a recount or attempt to throw out some of the votes or all of them—was not decided early Monday.

Independents planned a complete turnover of the state government.

R. A. Nestos, Sveinbjorn Johnson and William Kitchin will become governor, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture and labor respectively within 30 days unless something unforeseen now develops. The vote must be certified within 30 days, and a ruling has been obtained that the officers elect shall take office immediately thereafter.

GO TO VISIT GERMANY— THEIR OLD HOME

Today, Mrs. Bertha Jacobi and her daughter Miss Anna depart for a six month visit in Germany, after about twenty years in America. Miss Anna has served at the telephone central here for a number of years, and was chief operator at the time of her resignation.

Last Thursday evening Misses Emma Kugler and Ida Hinrichs entertained about twenty-five of her young friends at the Wm. Kugler home, that she might have a pleasant memory of America and Wayne, and return when their visit was over, feeling that a welcome awaited them. The evening was passed playing games, visiting and partaking of the ample refreshments provided by the two young ladies who did the honors as hostesses. When goodnights were said it was with best wishes for a pleasant voyage and a safe return.

MOTHER ON DEATH BED SIGNS ADOPTION PAPERS

A Wakefield dispatch to the daily press states that while on her death-bed, Mrs. Edith Vanmeter signed papers which provided for the adoption of her 13 months old son, Elvin, by Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Thompson of that place.

The case of Mrs. Vanmeter is a pathetic one. She was married two years ago and soon after the marriage her husband disappeared with $500, representing her life's savings, and several articles. She became sick last summer and was sent to the Pender hospital.

FOOTBALL THIS AFTERNOON

The high school boys will meet the high school team from Laurel this afternoon at the college grounds, and if you hurry you may get there in time.

Last Friday in their game with Newcastle Wayne won a closely contested game by a score of 7 to 6. We did not get any detailed report of the battle.

FOUND GUILTY AND SENTENCED

Saturday Ralph Masten was taken in custody and two young ladies from Dell Rapids, South Dakota. The charge against Masten was conducting a house of fornication. Judge Welch sentenced him to jail for five days and assessed a fine of $100.00 when he was found guilty. The girls were sent home.

FOR JOHN ATZ IN TO WAYNE HOSPITAL

Monday evening Conductor John Atz of Sioux City, who was in charge of a special train carrying the vice president and other officials of the "Omaha" from Bloomfield to Sioux City, became seriously ill, and when Wayne was reached he was taken from the train and to the hospital, and Dr. Sibley, the company physician at Sioux City was sent here on a special train. The symptoms all indicated appendicitis trouble in an advanced stage, and he underwent an operation for the removal of that organ, which was found to be seriously inflamed and so filled with pus that a rupture would doubtless have developed before the patient could have been taken to his home city.

Atz has been in the employ of the "Omaha" for a number of years, and became conductor about two years ago. He is a brother-in-law to Walter Savidge, and therefore is not without friends in the town, though not at home. All reports indicate that he is getting along well, and with no backsets will soon be out of the hospital.

COMING COLLEGE ACTIVITIES

The next two weeks will be rather busy ones at the normal in the way of entertainment. Tomorrow afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, the Western Union college eleven try titles with the Wayne team. The attendance at the game Monday was large, and aroused much interest in the sport, and no doubt the interest will be such as to insure a good attendance at the game tomorrow afternoon.

The next Friday, the 11th, the students and citizens of Wayne will have opportunity to listen to the wonderful singing of Arthur Middleton of the Metropolitan Opera Co., one of the world's greatest baritone singers. It will be the opportunity of a lifetime for music lovers to listen to this great singer right at home.

The Monday following, the 14th, Ople Read, author and lecturer, will be the attraction, all will want to hear.

LIVERINGHOUSE—MACE

Mr. Albert Mace, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Mace and Miss Edith Liveringhouse daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Liveringhouse both of this place were married Tuesday afternoon November 1, 1921, by Rev. Kilburn, pastor of the Methodist church at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride grew to womanhood in Wayne and attended the public schools. The groom has made Wayne his home for the past two years. The bride was gowned in dark blue satin. The decorations were pink and green, and a big white wedding bell. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride groom's parents, where a few invited guests attended.

The young couple will make their home in Wayne.

FILES IN THE FALL— WHY DON'T THEY FALL?

(For school boys and girls)

When the fly goes to bed at this season of the year it nearly always makes its bed on the ceiling of a room, and little Jimmie asks WHY? It is, sonny, because that is the warmest part of a room, because the warm air is not as heavy as the cold air, and so the top of a room is the most comfortable place the fly can find; for it has no bed covering.

"What's that? How does he keep from falling out of bed, when on the bottom of the bed?" That's a question that is hard to explain, and we are going to give one years subscription to the Democrat for the best reply to Jimmie's question, written in a short letter for the other boys and girls to read. No boy or girl above the sixth grade in any public school shall be eligible to compete. Address your letters to the "Fly Editor" of the Nebraska Democrat, and he will ask some one competent to judge them to tell who has the best letter.

You may ask your teacher or any one else to explain; or you may study it out for yourself. The answer must surely be in your school books.

Mrs. Phoebe Penhollow and children came Saturday from Buffalo, Wyoming, where they have been for a year past. Mr. Penhollow, we are told, expects to join her here soon in a visit with her parents, Wm. Stewart and wife.

One of the reasons advanced for the repeal of the prohibition amendment is that the medical colleges are having difficulty in securing bodies for use in their classes for dissection. In other days they were more plentiful, and often well "pickled." Perhaps, for this reason, we should take it back.

In these latter days it is right and proper for people to have opinions of their own—but it frequently happens that they make less disturbance if they keep their own opinions to themselves. Instead of printing them in papers. Ask Frank Soderstrom, who ventured an opinion about the retired farmer's of the town, of whom he is one.

Alex Holtz returned the last of the week from a visit of several months at the home of his son Dr. Holtz at Spokane, Washington. That was his headquarters, but he saw considerable of that west country while away. He was in a number of the larger cities, and over the line to visit Vancouver. Then they made a number of auto excursions, seeing the places of interest. When asked how are the times there, he said he would call them hard times. So many idle men everywhere.

Jas. Mulvey, who has been visiting here for the past ten days, left for his home at Winner, South Dakota, Friday evening. Jim tells us that he is renting the farm and moving to the city of Winner to embark in mercantile business. He will open a variety store and carry a line of comparatively inexpensive necessities. James has plenty of business ability and pep to make the venture a success, and he says the community needs such a store.

C. E. Nevin, who is basking in the sunshine of our islands in the mid-Pacific remembers the editor with a post card on which he says: "Having a most delightful time." Editor Nevin of Laurel turned his paper over to Chas. Harris and got a round trip ticket to the Hawaiian Islands with the editors who have gone to give the islands a bit of publicity. Mr. Nevin's card shows the Maui railroad bridge, a structure 1001 feet long and 153 feet high. It is built on a 6 degree curve, and from this bridge one has a fine view of the tropical scenery. The Advocate has been giving a story of some of the things which the editor saw on the outward journey. In the last issue is a story of the transfer of mail in mid-ocean with a high wave and wind. On this occasion they took a woman across with the mail, a movie actress and had the meeting taken place in the day as intended instead of at night. It was planned to make a reel of the trip. As it was, the boats and galleys were all reeling over the waves mountain high, the novelist always makes them. Well, they do not make a friend told us.

The Omaha Women's Press club announces a literary contest, open to all women of Nebraska. The contest closes December 10. Information relative to rules governing may be obtained from the secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nydahl, who were visiting at the home of their son Ted at Winside, and at the home of Mrs. M. A. Pryor, at this place left Friday afternoon for their home at Omaha.

October 11th was the 100th anniversary of the birth of George Williams, who founded the Y. M. C. A. The association now has nearly a million members, and employs five thousand secretaries. They have organizations in all cities and many towns. Most of the colleges of the land have a Y. M. C. A. organization and they do much good work. Of late years they have had summer camps in many states, were those attending have real vacation outings.

The State Journal is speculating on the cost of the new capitol building, says that the commissioners are figuring that it will cost about $1.00 per cubic foot. Then the Journal says it hopes for a lower figure, and tells that two school buildings recently built in Lincoln cost 36 and 30 cents respectively per cubic foot. Perhaps the steel cost was less in the school buildings than is planned for the new state house. It often happens that the steel is the most costly part of a public building.

The strike collapsed—that is the brotherhoods had the good judgment not to precipitate a bunch of trouble, even though they may have had good cause for kicking. It is to be hoped that the threat they have made will be the means of themselves and the rest of mankind securing some substantial freight reductions. In the opinion of most people, the place to begin a wage cut is at the top of the list—cut that wage that is designated salary. To some a wage means that which you earn, a salary that which is not fully earned.

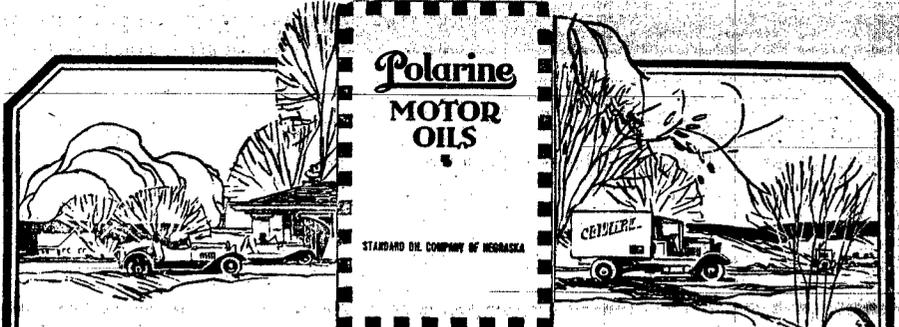

The National League of Women Voters are planning a demonstration for the 11th of this month at the opening of the conference at Washington for limitation of armaments. They are asking that the president issue a proclamation calling upon every church in the land to open its doors at the hour of opening for 30 minutes, and that the president prepare a brief message to be read in every church at that time, calling attention to the conference and asking the people to co-operate in bringing the conference to a successful conclusion. Wayne has a half dozen churches, and they should comply with the request, if the women can get the president to act. If he does not, they should open just the same and do what they can for the cause.

The railroads are beginning to unbind as to prices. They are offering round trip tickets to Chicago, November 25th to 29th inclusive at one and one half fare for the round trip. This is now equivalent to 5.4 cents per mile one way, with free return. If one must go to Chicago, that might be an opportune time to plan the trip. The concession is made for the big stock show, which so many people delight to attend.

Corn huskers seem to be scarce this year because they want more money for shucking 18 cent corn than the farmer thinks he can pay. Last week the writer was accosted by one who said he had been all thru the west, and found no work. In the potato country in the west part of this state he said the Indians were harvesting the spuds. Think of that—crowding the white man out. Then there was a strip of country without corn or potatoes. He asked about work, and was told where to call up a farmer who had more corn than huskers. He said something about waiting until Saturday and seeing the farmers who came to town—and then he asked for the price of a meal—because he had been in hard luck—but they heard corn shuckers in this country, so we that he could connect with a good farm supper if he was really hungry.

Gurney Benschhof from Winside was a Wayne visitor Monday.

Mrs. Carroll Orr went to Sioux City Tuesday morning to visit for a few days among her friends there.

Harvey Johnson of the U. S. postal force of Winside—one of the rural route men, was at Wayne Monday evening.

Floyd Pitch left for Kansas City Monday, where he is attending the big gathering of the veterans of the World War, of whom some 70,000 are gathering at the metropolis of western Missouri.

The International Live Stock Exposition and Grain and Hay show this year is to be held at Chicago November 26 to December 3. This easily can be said to be the greatest show of its kind in the world, and whether Wayne county has some of its good stock exhibited there, beyond a doubt breeders from this county will be in attendance. This great showing of live stock is gathered together annually not for profit to those managing the enterprise, but for an educational purpose.

MARRIAGE FOR GAIN BANNED

The little town of Elkton, Maryland, appears to have lost its claim to notoriety. It has of late been the Mecca of very many young couples who wished to be joined in wedlock, but who were unable for one reason or another to persuade the accredited officials of their respective communities to perform the ceremonies.

The reason for going to Elkton was that a certain retired minister had set out to build up a business of this kind. He professed himself so anxious to see young people wedded that he would marry whomever might come with no questions asked. Indeed he even went so far as to divide his fees with the taxicab drivers who brought couples to him.

Now his prosperous business has been brought to a sudden end. He was recently tried by church officials and forced to resign from the ministry.

A PEACE-TIME VICTORY

There is a legend that a king of Burma became a leper about one thousand years ago; and renouncing his throne he went into exile in the wilderness. Here he was miraculously cured by an oil, which he, himself, prepared from the seeds of a rare tree, whose name was preserved but whose place of abode has since been unknown.

The tradition has survived; and finally scientists began to give it some attention. Seeds of the tree were obtained in some oriental markets and the oil prepared from them was tried upon lepers with astonishing success. Professor J. F. Rock, an American, was then commissioned to organize an expedition to find the unknown tree.

His quest led him through many unexplored parts of southern Asia. His only clues were the reports of natives that the tree grew in some distant land, but not in their own.

Finally he succeeded; and returned not long ago bearing both germinable seeds and the knowledge of the conditions under which the tree will thrive.

While his search was in progress, the oil was being used in the leper colonies of Hawaii. Recently two hundred lepers were discharged there as cured. No such thing has ever happened before in all human history.

Importance of a Complete Chain of Boiling Point Fractions

RED CROWN GASOLINE
STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEBRASKA

You can't light coal with a match. Kindling is necessary. For the same reason, the heavier fractions of gasoline can't give you instant ignition, snappy pick-ups and full power and mileage unless there is an ample supply of low-boiling point fractions to act as kindling.

Straight-distilled gasoline possesses these boiling point fractions in correct proportions. That is why Red Crown Gasoline is uniformly satisfactory. It is straight-distilled gasoline that meets every requirement of the U. S. Government specifications for motor gasoline. There is no better gasoline for cold weather use.

Authorized Red Crown Dealers Everywhere

Wherever you go you can always get Red Crown Gasoline from reliable, competent, obliging dealers. The gasoline and motor oils they sell make motor operation more pleasant, more economical and more dependable. Drive in where you see the Red Crown Sign.

If you would honor the dead soldier remember those yet living.

We hope that the fear of a dishonorable peace will not be considered any worse than a dishonorable war. There may be more profit in war for a lot of people than in peace—but not for the masses—and they are the people.

While we all want Uncle Sam to practice economy in every legitimate way, there are mighty few who want him to retrench at the expense of the boys who did the trenching three or four or five years ago, unless he is a member of the United States senate, or belongs with that bunch of aristocrats.

Ninety-three percent of the federal tax money for war and only seven percent for education, home government, agricultural development makes it appear that war is all that Sherman said it was, and then repeat when you come to foot the bill in cold cash earned by the sweat of the brow. And it is going to take a lot of perspiration, even if we cease to spend any more in preparing to fight.

Those beer rulings of the secretary of the treasury appear to have created a lot of thirst which will never be quenched equally by beer. In most states the state laws do not make such provision, which will be disappointing to thirsty inhabitants. We do not think they can go to that oasis in Mexico, which our friend Wilson of Bloomfield was going to establish a refuge for the thirsty for all time. It did not materialize.

Down at Kansas City the lads who fought the great war are holding a great meeting and receiving much applause. At Washington a party of United States senators, who sent these lads out to do or die, are wrangling over making some adequate provision for just compensation to these men who sacrificed so much at the decree of the senate and house. They evidently think the people who pay taxes should be taxed to give the railroads a bonus—but for the soldier, never.

It is reported that Uncle Sam is going to squander well over $300,000 on advertising to build up a merchant marine. It is time for the government to begin to pay for the publicity it uses. But during the war time no newspaper worthy the name refused to donate space without stint to help Uncle Sam. They boasted bond sales, saving stamp sales, Red Cross drives, Y M C A drives, Salvation Army drives, and in these piping times of peace they are still boasting for the things that to them seem good for the community, whether it be schools, churches, hospitals, good roads, paving or the establishment of a post house for restraining the public nuisance.

Down at Washington the republican senators are delaying action on a permanent tariff law. They should not do so, for they pledged before election that the tariff law should have prompt attention. This was construed to mean an early passage of a bill which should relieve the people from the oppression of the present tariff law. True, they did pass an emergency tariff, good for six months. But like a short time note it was soon time to renew. Now that the time for renewal has passed they seem unable to agree to renew or to take the note up and issue a larger one. There is the agricultural bloc realizing that they cannot much longer make the farmer believe that a tariff on what he has to sell in the markets of the world is going to add to his price. But he knows that a tariff on what he must buy makes it cost more, and if they are not careful the farmers of America will become rank free traders. They will quit supporting the "infant" industries and let them take care of themselves without the protecting mantle of a tariff to restrain competition from abroad. The control of the policy of government has great responsibilities.

The State Journal says: The vote in North Dakota is a sign of a lack of confidence in the non-partisan league. Coming at a time when the farmers of the country are inclined to doubt the wisdom of large expenditures in state socialism, it is likely to prove one of the most discouraging events since the movement started. Even before the check a marked decrease in league enthusiasm has been noticed in Nebraska and other states. There is a tremendous amount of dissatisfaction on the farms here, but it expresses itself in direct political action with a change of officials as the chief objective. It tends to the growth of co-operative societies and mass effort on the part of the farmers in selling their products, but it does not yet lean toward the spending of millions for state mills and elevators, packing houses and sugar factories. Curiously enough, if the farmers felt a little richer they might feel more like venturing into these great schemes, just now they feel they can't afford it."

We have some especially "good buys" for you now in coats, suits and dresses. Our stock was sold down low enough to permit us to buy some of the good bargains offered by our factories who are now closing out their winter stocks and making ready for the next season.

These garments are all first quality, up to date goods made by our regular coat, suit and dress houses. We buy no skimp cut, poorly made "special sale" ready-to-wear at any time or at any price. You can depend on our garments for style and quality, no matter what the price.

—Ahern's—

Women requiring large sizes in wearing apparel will find we have not forgotten them. Just now we have an especially good assortment of large size coats in both cloth and plush. They are up to date in style and designed to reduce the appearance of size. Our stock of large size dress waists in both silk and Georgette is most complete. Outside dress skirts are here in both tricotine, serge and silk poplins. Outside house dresses, petticoats and shoes are in stock in good variety.

We have just found where to buy ladies fine black kid shoes, made light and comfort giving like a turn shoe but having a good insole to keep the uppers from breaking out at the lower edge. They are certainly good looking comfortable shoes at a very moderate price, $4.50 for the low heels and $5.00 for the Cuban heels models.

Oxfords are still the favorite footwear especially those of brown calfskin with fancy perforated tips and bay traps. We have several new styles in at $5.00, $5.75 and $6.75 and also a new shipment of heather wool hose to wear with them. As a special this week we are offering a pair of these hose free with every pair of oxfords.

Remember price is not the only thing to consider in buying merchandise. If you don't get good quality with it price means nothing. To meet the present demand for low priced goods certain manufacturers are making poor quality merchandise that can be sold at cut prices. Examine the goods carefully when you buy cut price merchandise. If you are not a good judge you will find it safest to buy where goods are guaranteed and you have always had good full value for your money.

—Ahern's—

We are buying new merchandise every day. We are not speculating in future goods or buying any great quantities but we are keeping our stocks new up to date and complete in sizes so that you can depend on having a good selection when you come to make your purchases.

Not one person in a hundred buys overshoes until the first big soft snow falls. Then there is a grand rush to the nearest store for one buckles and two buckles and four buckles and six buckles both rubber and cloth. No time then to look round for the "best buy," just a case of get 'em quick where they are handiest. When the time comes please remember that we have Beacon Falls over shoes which outwear 80 percent of the ordinary makes and which sell at the same price. And men folks will find our army 4 buckle at rubber articles at $2.25 paid a wonderful bargain. We sold these army articles last year and they gave good satisfaction. We also have bought government 6 buckles to sell at a low price and hope to have them here in time.

Remember, "good overshoes" and "army overshoes" are at Aherns.

The oil in coffee gives it its flavor. After coffee is roasted this oil begins to evaporate and the coffee loses strength. That is why good coffee is put up in air tight packages. The very best of coffee is put up in sealed tin containers as the surest means of keeping all the strength. They are really cheaper to buy than coffee kept in open barrels or bags because less is required to make each potful of liquid coffee. Buy good coffee—in air tight containers—buy a little at a time and have it fresh when it is fresh roasted—grind it fine—and you'll get the most coffee and the best lasting coffee for your money. NEBRASKA PROGRESSIVES
LINE UP FOR NEW PARTY

Last week at Lincoln, a conference was held in which progressives from all parts of the state, and from all political parties, men and women took a part. The attendance was reported at one hundred or more, and if their action shall be approved later at a convention to be called, a real third party will be on the ballot at the next election in this state. Progressive democrats, progressive republicans, progressive labor men, progressive Farmer Union men and members of the nonpartisan league were at the conference. After much deliberation they passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of this conference: That it is imperatively necessary and needful that there shall be a new political party organized in Nebraska prior to the primary for the purpose of placing in nomination at the primary election congressional and state candidates.

"We urge that a state convention be called as provided by law at a date to be fixed by this conference to organize a new political party."

The proposed convention is not to be simply a knocking organization, but will be asked to consider a great number of progressive measures. We give a part of them. The national congressional platform will consider such questions as:

To drive Wall Street out of Washington.

To nationalize the railroads, the telegraphs and the telephones of the United States.

To eliminate war as a means of settling international disputes.

To secure open diplomacy in shaping the foreign policy of the United States.

To immediately disarm and radically reduce our war appropriations.

To submit a federal constitutional amendment prohibiting congress from declaring war, except in case of actual invasion, without first submitting such question to the voters of the United States.

To conscript the immense fortunes made out of the war to the payment of the war debt by increasing federal inheritance taxes on large estates.

To shift the burden of taxation from the homes and industry of the people over to and upon monopoly and privilege and the vast natural resources held out of use by the trusts as the basis of their monopolistic power.

To discriminate sharply between earned and unearned income in assessing federal income taxes.

To operate the federal reserve banks in the interest of the people.

To secure better rural credit facilities.

To secure equal economic, legal and political rights for all citizens, and the preservation of free speech, free press, free religion and peaceable assembly as guaranteed by the constitution of the United States.

To crystallize into law the national programs of the farmer and of labor to the end that agriculture may be made a paying industry and those who toil by hand or brain on the farm or in the city may enjoy the fruits of their labor and the economic freedom that is justly their right.

In state issues they pass the same principles applied, and add the following, and a number of paragraphs going into details quite fully, which we cannot produce at this time:

The people of Nebraska are opposed to the infringement of their political rights through the attempted repeal of the primary law. They are opposed to rural registration, the bank monopoly bill and the anti-labor bill passed by the last legislature. We should take our stand against the four measures the people have suspended by the referendum, and urge a negative vote on each at the election.

The question of taxation is a vital issue in this state. Several things can be done to bring relief to the people:

(a) The rule of the reactionaries who have increased appropriations beyond anything known in the history of the state can be brought to an end.

(b) A schedule of reductions in appropriations should be prepared and submitted as a part of our pledge of economy.

(c) There should be no more semi-private appropriations in Nebraska.

(d) A constitutional amendment exempting homes from taxation up to a reasonable amount should be submitted.

mitted under the initiative.

(e) A constitutional amendment gradually exempting farm improvements and buildings generally from taxation should be submitted to the people.

(f) A state income tax law, with reasonable exemptions, modeled after the Wisconsin act, and discarding sharply between earned and unearned income should be passed.

(g) The state inheritance tax law should be administered by the state tax commissioner, and the rates on large fortunes increased.

Our platform should declare for state ownership and operation by districts of the unused water power of Nebraska.

The Omaha electric light bill should be passed.

Nebraska should have a state rural credit system patterned after the federal farm loan act and the state rural credit law of South Dakota.

The people should have the right to recall any elective officer, and a recall amendment, open primary, and the elimination of the party circle, should be submitted under the initiative.

We must either control the food monopolies or be controlled by them. And if necessary to break the power of monopoly and restore competition, our platform should go one step further and advocate the extension of the co-operative principle to all the people of the state acting as a state unit.

We should encourage home owning and home building through a home builders' association law.

Also a state workmen's compensation insurance fund and the application of the workmen's compensation act to industrial diseases.

Collective bargaining, co-operative banks, state inspection of the dockage and grading of grain, state inspection of factory products, reasonable hours and proper working conditions, child labor, restriction of injunctions in labor disputes, jury trials in constructive contempt cases.

The full program of the farmer and of labor in this state should be crystallized into law.

The future greatness of Nebraska depends upon the children, and better schools and the welfare bills of the children's code commission protecting the child life of the state from destruction, should have our approval.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING TO FIGHT MONOPOLY

Because of the extortions of monopolies and the grasping greed of those taking where they do not need many people are forced to endure hardships that few of us know of. Thousands of women are in the corn fields of Nebraska today because the corn crop will not sell at a price which justifies the farmer in hiring huskers, even at the 3 cent rate. Only last week we learned of a woman, the mother of several small children, and some older one who must be in school—not because of the compulsory law in this case, but because the parents want them educated—who is working beside her husband in the corn field every day. A neighbor woman asked what she did with the little ones when she was out at work—who looked after them. "Oh, we take them with us," was the reply. "We have a place fixed in the end of the wagon, and they are put in there. The baby slept several hours the other afternoon in this place," was the reply.

"We have a hundred acres of corn to gather, and cannot find huskers," so this woman is out doing the work of a man in the field by day, and keeping house with the aid of the children who are in school, at night. Yet they seem happy.

OF INTEREST TO TEACHERS

(From The Wayne County Teacher) Will all teachers please send me the name of any pupil who stays out more than three weeks for corn picking? Please send these promptly.

A fire should be started and kept up for at least a little while in every school house each morning. It isn't safe for children to sit without one.

There are some very fine flag exercises and selections in the front of the question book given out to the teachers. Did you notice them?

Teachers who expect to attend the Omaha meeting November 9, 10, 11 will need to send to Mr. H. O. Sutton of Kearney, Nebr., for railway certificates which will allow them the one and one-half fare. Think you will need to include a two dollar enrollment fee. I thought I could get these for the teachers but find I cannot do so without sending in the names and fee for each.

Do pupils in your school use slates? If so, please see that there is a bottle of water, having holes in the cork with which the slates may be sprinkled, then each child have a cloth to wash the slate with and one to wipe it with.

Don't forget to fill in age and grade of pupils on all reports where indicated.

Is your flag hanging correctly? The law says that a flag must be continuously displayed on the walls of the school room. If hanging vertically, the blue should be to the right. If placed horizontally the blue should be to the left. It should hang straight.

If a teacher suspects that a child has a contagious disease she should send such child home. The child should have the attention of a doctor and when he returns to school bring with him a certificate from the doctor saying that it is safe for him to be in school again.

Magruder's civics, published by Allyn and Bacon, Chicago, Ill., is probably as good a text book for the teachers use as any they can get.

All schools must have 9 months of school this year, so vacations must not be too long, or the school year will have to run pretty late in the spring.

It is a violation of the law to have an open water pail and common drinking cup. Please at least, have a cover for the pail and children use their own cups to drink out of and a single dipper to dip with.

Sweeping compound should be used on the floor in every school building to help in keeping down the dust.

The seats in some of the school houses are not fit for any one to sit in. In a good many cases the children are not able to reach the floor with their feet and often seat and desk are too far apart or not of the right size. We hope that some day single seats of suitable size for each pupil will be found in every school house. Many districts have them now.

With very few exceptions in the schools so far visited this year we found the teachers doing good, thorough, conscientious work.

Likely analysis of problems given from papers and the blackboard that we heard in some schools. Also the Mental Arithmetic drills we saw given in one or two schools.

A FEW SCHOOL QUERIES.

Do your pictures on the wall hang straight or crooked?

Do you have your pupils write out some sort of analysis of their problems? Many eighth graders fail in the arithmetic examinations because they are not used to putting down the analysis for their teachers and so do not know how to do it in the examinations.

Do you double the covers of your books clear back thus breaking the threads?

Do you allow just any one or all pupils at once to answer questions in class, or do you call on special ones so that each has a chance?

Do you try to conduct two or three recitations at the same time with no one seeming to get anywhere? I found what seemed to be this plan in one or two schools.

Do you allow pupils to continually correct each other in the reading classes, not giving the pupil who is reading a second to think of the word for himself?

Do your pupils march out at recesses and noon or do they go out of their seats and out of doors with a pop and a bang?

Don't you have any opening exercises? I think the children like them. I know I always feel disappointed if on getting to a school before school time the pupils are told to go right to work without any exercises at all.

When do you sweep? Do you have a nice thick layer of dust each morning on each desk, organ and everything else for the children to wipe up with their books and sleeves?

Do you tell a child who is reading every fourth or fifth word?

Do you allow pupils to interrupt you by asking questions while hearing a recitation, either going to them or letting them come up to you?

Nature Acts as Cupid

By CLAIRE SMITH.

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

"Why don't you and the Widow Wilson get hitched?" his cronies would ask of William Yoakum at the village store. And Yoakum, with a sudden flash of anger in his blue eyes, would answer:

"I don't go courtin' no women. When they want me let 'em send for me." All of which would duly find its way to the Widow Wilson's ears through the wives of the various auditors of Yoakum's ultimatum.

Nevertheless it did seem strange that two old friends should live in chilly isolation upon neighboring ranches. Their children had grown up together and everybody had expected them to get married. Then Adeline had come along and snatched William Yoakum from the Widow Wilson's hand—almost literally, for the bans had been announced when the startling news came from Kansas City that the pair were man and wife. Old Farley forgave his daughter and took her home when Wilson deserted his young bride; but Yoakum never got over it.

Yoakum had never married. Gossips averred that he and the widow would soon come together, even though a bitter enmity seemed to rage between them. But Yoakum was proud as well as shy. Thus, when he was twitted, he returned the answer given above.

"I should think, Adeline, that a comparatively young woman like you would think of marrying again," her friends would say, thinking of her neighbor.

"If it's Will Yoakum you're thinking of," Mrs. Wilson answered, "you're all dead wrong. When a man wants to come courting me, let him come and ask me. I don't go out of the way to invite any man into my home."

"I'll never enter her home until she asks me," was Yoakum's answer, and the two stood pat. Thus matters ran along for a year after Adeline's return.

March came, snowy and blustering. The winds were incessant. Yoakum was harnessing his horse for the first plowing one day when he felt a violent blow on the back of the head. He lapsed into unconsciousness.

He opened his eyes ages later, as it seemed, and the first thing that lit upon was the Widow Wilson.

He was lying in bed in a darkened room, and she sat by his side. Her eyes were red from crying. Yoakum endeavored to sit up.

"Hush!" she said, gently pressing him backward. "You have been very ill. You must lie still!"

The widow, in his house! Yoakum had often pictured the possibility of such an occurrence, but now, to his surprise, his sensation was one of shame.

"Adeline," he said, timidly, "it all seems like a dream to me."

Adeline was silent, but he could see that she, too, was moved.

"It seems as though we hadn't been parted these five and twenty years, Adeline," he resumed.

"Why did you marry Wilson, dear?" asked the man.

"I guess because I was a fool, Will," she answered.

"And you couldn't manage to care for me just the least bit, could you, Adeline?" he asked.

The widow was tracing out the pattern upon the counterpane. "Why wouldn't you come to see me?" she asked, suddenly.

"I guess for the same reason that you married Wilson," he answered. "I'm stubborn, as you are. But I'm sorry. And when I think that it was you who gave in and came to me, it just makes me feel cheap. Did they get the robbers?"

"Robbers? What robbers?" asked Adeline, looking at him curiously.

"Where do you think you are, Will?" inquired the Widow Wilson.

"Why, at home, of course," he answered. "Where else should I be? But I see you've changed the furniture round, haven't you?"

The Widow Wilson was laughing and crying hysterically. Yoakum looked at her in wonder.

"Don't you know that when our fathers built their homes they made them both the same and got the same kind of furniture?" she asked when she had recovered her self-possession.

"You mean—that I'm in your house, Adeline?" he cried. "Who brought me here?"

"You brought yourself, my dear, yesterday morning. There weren't any robbers, Will. It was a cyclone. Picked you up from your plow and carried you nicely through the air and planked you down beside me on a bed of hay I'd pulled down for Bessie and her calf. If that plow hadn't toppled over on your head—"

But the Widow Wilson did not have a chance to finish just then for William Yoakum had caught her in his arms with surprising strength for a sick man to show; and you can't talk when you are being kissed, they say.

Shark Industry Advancing.

An indication of the interest in the shark industry of the Pacific coast is the entry into this activity of the Anglo-British-Canadian Fisheries company, Ltd. at Parier Island, near Active pass, Gulf of Georgia. The mud sharks caught in these waters are to be converted into fertilizer, oil, chicken feed and leather. These sharks are from 10 to 15 feet in length.

ARE SYMBOLS OF AFFECTION

Nicknames Never Bestowed on Those Who Prove Unpopular or Are Unduly Dignified.

The selection of a name for the baby is a very important matter in most households, and of course it should be considered sufficiently to insure the poor helpless mite of humanity having a label that it will not be ashamed to sign the rest of its life. Any good plain English name will do that. But a matter even more important and not so easily disposed of is that of the nickname. What names will this young person acquire as he goes through life? That depends largely on himself and the kind of associates he has. The very last thing to be wished for him is that he should never be nicknamed. Usually the only people who are never nicknamed are either very unpopular or very dignified, though there are exceptions. But the nickname is a sort of expression of affection, and those who accumulate many as they go through life should regard them as insignia of friendship and hence of honor. The final word on nicknames was written many years ago by Oliver Wendell Holmes:

When fades at length our lingering day,
Who cares what pompous tombstones say?
Read on the hearts that love us still,
"Allo Jacot Joe; hic Jacot Bill."
—Ohio State Journal.

WORLD HAS CHANGED LITTLE

Electioneering Methods in Old Pompeii Much Like Those in Vogue in Our Own Time.

Archaeologists have uncovered at Pompeii a barroom singularly reminiscent of the neater sort of drinking places that were to be found in American cities before the days of prohibition, and they have found the dried lees of the liquor in the jars.

The outside walls of the saloon are covered with appeals to the voters of the city to "Vote for Lollus for dumvir." The dumvir was a sort of selectman or half mayor, an official whose powers or perquisites made the office one that was much coveted. The election notices are everywhere to be found on the walls of Pompeii, usually in red paint, sometimes in black. They seem to have been the customary means of notifying the citizens of nominations that had been made.

The crafts seem to have acted in place of party caucuses. "The barbers nominate Trebius for aedile," says one placard. "All the goldsmiths nominate C. Cuspius Pansa for aedile," says another. Sometimes a man is referred to as a v. b., which means vir bonus, or a good man. One is certified as "an honest young man." Of another it is said that "he will save the people's money."

Dumb Animals Pay Taxes.

It will be surprising to some people to learn that all income-tax payers are not human beings, and that some of the Canadian government's income is derived from pet animals whose human owners and benefactors provided for their future comfort by an endowment. Such is the case at London, Ont., where several such pets are annual contributors to the city's coffers. One large dog in that city receives an annual income that many small families would appreciate, due to the fact that the animal's legacy was a large one and grew from year to year by the accretionary process. Gold bonds, deposited in trust, keep him in comfort and also yield a small return to the city tax office in income levy. A beautiful Persian cat, now sleepily rounding out a life of adventure, also receives an income left by an eccentric master. There is a parrot, too. All these are contributors, though some one else has to fill out the tax form for them. There are doubtless many such animals in other countries.

Horseshoe Myth Universal.

The horseshoe in its most primitive form is of great antiquity. An old and very popular superstition, almost universally prevalent among peasantry ascribes to the horseshoe (especially to one which has been found in the road by chance) the power of barring the passage of witches. For this purpose the shoe is nailed to the door of the threshold, and hence in his "Year Book," says, "Nailing of horseshoes seems to have been practiced as well to keep witches in as to keep them out. In Monmouth street, London, many horseshoes nailed to the thresholds were to be seen in 1797; in 1813 Sir Henry Ellis counted seventeen horseshoes in that street, but in 1852 only eleven remained. The great Nelson was of a superstitious turn, and having great faith in the luck of a horseshoe had one nailed to the mast of the "Victory."

Meridian of Greenwich.

The meridian of Greenwich is generally accepted as the starting line from which to reckon longitude and time all over the earth. But objections are, from time to time, raised against the universal adoption of the Greenwich meridian for such purposes. Recently Italian savants have emphasized these objections by pointing out that on the meridian of Greenwich clouds and bad weather are frequent, interfering with astronomical observations. They suggest that the civilized world should agree to adopt the meridian of Jerusalem as a common reference line, because there the skies are clearer, and the possibility of making Palestine neutral territory would eliminate political objections.

The Stolen Plans

By MARVIN ST. JOHNS

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.

"It can never be—I cannot marry you, Mr. Tyson."

The words seemed to sound the death note to all the fond hopes of Burt Tyson.

It was a certain pleading, longing expression in the true, tender eyes of Annette Saxton that checked Burt from going away then and there. An earnest touch of her trembling hand detained him.

"But you must not desert us," she went on winningly. "Surely we are friends? My father has grown to look for you and would miss you sorely. Oh, we are both so grateful for all you have done for us!"

"It is nothing, it has been a pleasure, a business training," declared Burt in a manly, honest way. "Miss Saxton, I shall not annoy you—"

"Oh, never that!" insisted Annette. "Then—embarrass you. It would have been sweet delight to me to know that your interest in me would urge me to build great dreams on my small start in life. Perhaps some day, later—"

But Annette shook her head sorrowfully and murmured: "You are so worthy of some one stronger than I as a guide and a helper. Please, please—"

Her eyes filled with tears and he saw that he was giving her pain.

It was well for Annette that just then there was an interruption. From the wing of the house where Mr. Saxton had his study and work room there came a quick call:

"Oh, Mr. Tyson, I must see you at once!"

John Saxton was an inventor. Formerly he had been superintendent of the great Walworth Motor works, a mile distant. He had made some improvements on one of their specialties for which the company had promised him a large reward. They dishonestly repudiated the contract, and he left their service. Since then he had spent a whole year perfecting a new motor that would be the last word in its particular line, if it met his expectations. The company had heard of it and had made his overtures. He declined to treat with them.

Burt was in the employ of an architect. He had known Mr. Saxton for a long time. It was Burt to whom Mr. Saxton had entrusted the drawing up of the plans and specifications of his new invention. Burt found him pacing his study in a state of the greatest excitement.

"Mr. Tyson," he announced, "I am in deep trouble and distress. Some one entered this room yesterday morning when Annette and I were absent, took the plans of the new motor attachment from my desk and copied them."

"Copied them," repeated Burt in amazement.

"You suspect the Walworth company of that wicked act?"

"Suspect? I know!" fairly shouted Saxton. They have stolen my patent, they are robbing me for a second time!"

"Then, even if you got your papers into the mail at the very earliest moment tomorrow morning, they would be a day ahead of you?"

"I am too late, I see that," said the inventor dejectedly.

"Give me those papers!"

"What are you about to do?" began the inventor bewilderedly.

"Leave it to me. Only—hope. I think I see a way to circumvent those Walworth plotters yet."

Then Burt was gone. He passed Annette, lingering at the gate. She noted his agitated manner, his urgency.

"My father—" she faltered.

"He will tell you all," explained Burt hurriedly. "He is the victim of a cruel, wicked plot. I am going to save him if I can."

Just at daybreak next morning Burt Tyson was at the nearest city. An hour later he had the wires cast going in his behalf. It cost him nearly all the $200 he had saved up to send a long message to a close friend, a young lawyer in Washington.

Word for word he wired the specifications of the Saxton patent.

At noon that day Burt received the following dispatch from the friend he knew he could rely upon:

"Drawings, papers and application filed. Carveat granted and later applicants shut out."

The story was all over the town 48 hours later. Burt was at the Saxton home when an emissary from the Walworth works offered a small fortune for the valuable patent they had tried to steal.

Again Annette stood at the gate as he left the house. Again her grateful soul tried to impart to him the emotions his noble fidelity had aroused.

Something in her eyes held him, some latent hope drove him to speak once again of the love in his heart that could never die out.

"It was only that we were so poor—it was only because I felt that you were worthy of some one not so humble," she began.

He checked her utterance with a kiss.

"My peerless one! My empress!" he said ardently. "Oh, greater and holier is the happiness of knowing that you loved me all of the time!"

Excellent Belief.

I believe that today is better than yesterday, and that tomorrow will be better than today.—George F. Hoar.

NOT EASY TO CRIPPLE CRAB

Nature Has Provided That Lost Leg or Claw May Be Replaced in a Short Time.

"For you yourself, sir, should be as old as I am, if like a crab you could go backward." True, Hamlet, true, but a crab can also walk forward and sideways. At the bottom of warm salt water, where he likes to take his leisure, the crab walks slowly about on the tips of the second, third and fourth pair of legs, and then as you may see, he walks backward, forward and sideways, though he seems to prefer the sidewise gait. Generally he folds his heavy claws, or pincers, and works his paddles with a lazy sculling motion to assist him on his walk.

One of the many remarkable things about the crab is his ability to throw off or drop his legs and claws and grow them again. The scientists call this "autotomy," or "the automatic throwing off of appendages of the body and then renewing them." If a crab is seized by a leg or claw in the water, it often throws it off and escapes, and at the place where he breaks off his own leg nature has furnished an arrangement which prevents excessive bleeding. This phenomenon is common among crustaceans, of which the crab is one.

As an example of "autotomy" the United States bureau of fisheries has the record of a crab which was kept under observation in a small cage beneath salt water. When put in the cage the crab had lost its left claw. Day by day a new claw grew and the rate of growth can be had from the fisheries bureau. At the end of 51 days the left claw had been restored and was the same size as the right.

GOOD AND BAD WEDDING DAYS

Many and Varied Are the Superstitions That Have to Do With the Marriage Altar.

The superstitions that cluster round the altar are as many and as mysterious as the ways of a maid with a man.

May has always had a bad name as a wedding month since far-away, Roman days, and Lent has been in equal bad odor. But why should June be considered the luckiest month of all the year for a trip to the altar, with October a good second? And why should special happiness await those who wed when the moon is at the full, or when the sun and moon are in conjunction?

Friday is the most unlucky day of all the week to set the wedding-bells a-ringing, except, curiously enough, in Scotland, where it seems to be held in special favor. On the other hand, for some obscure reason, Sunday has been a day of good omen for wedding couples, ever since (and no doubt long before) Shakespeare made Petruchio say to Katherine, "Kiss me, Kate; we will be married o' Sunday."

Gratitude in Strange Garb.

Bishop W. R. Lambuth in his interesting book, "Medical Missions," tells of a native of India whose wife went for treatment to a mission hospital. On her return he wrote as follows to the woman physician in charge of the hospital:

"Dear She: My wife has returned from your hospital cured. Provided males are allowed in your bungalow, I would like to do you the honor of presenting myself there this afternoon. But I will not try to repay you; vengeance belongeth to God."

Another, whose wife did not survive, expressed himself thus:

"Dear and Fair Madam: I have much pleasure to inform you that my dearly unfortunate wife will be no longer under your kind treatment, she having left this world for the other on the night of the 27th ultimo. For your own help in this matter I shall ever remain grateful. Yours reverently."

Hawaiian Islands.

A Spanish navigator first discovered the Hawaiian Islands in 1555 but his country laid no claim to them and they were practically forgotten. The British Captain Cook visited the Hawaiian group in 1778 and named them the Sandwich Islands. Still the islands were practically unknown. Then, following the close of the American Revolution, American ships began to sail the seven seas in growing numbers, and in 1789 the first ship flying the Stars and Stripes—from Boston—visited the Hawaiians. It was the first of many from the same port, carrying traders, whalers and adventurers; and soon the natives had learned of the republic on the continent to the east, and came to consider "United States" and "Boston" synonymous.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Times for Silence.

The value of silence depends altogether on its relation to time, place and circumstances. Scripture says, "there is a time to speak, and a time to be silent." There are occasions when to be silent is cowardly and criminal. And there are other occasions when it is a mark of character and discrimination to keep a bridle on the lips. When your friend's reputation is being defamed unjustly, not to defend him openly is a mean betrayal. On the other hand it is honorable to practice a friendly reticence when you know the charge against him is probably true and you feel you cannot in justice to yourself defend his innocence.—Exchange.

GREAT INCREASE IN NURSING SERVICE

Red Cross Nurses in Nebraska Carry on Great Work.

A STATE WIDE enthusiasm for the nursing program of the American Red Cross is greatly in evidence throughout Nebraska. At present there are 30 Red Cross Nursing Services, in operation or ready to function, employing 33 nurses. Two years ago there were but two Red Cross nurses in the entire state.

Counties where nurses have been placed during the past year and where they will be placed this fall include: Brown, Cheyenne, Cedar, Colfax, Dawes, Dawson, Hamilton, Keith, Knox, Madison, Nemaha, Phelps, Sloux, Scotts Bluff, Sarpy, Valley, Gosper and Sherman. Several other chapters are considering the organization of a nursing service to meet community needs.

New services have been opened up this past year in the western and northwestern portions of the state and a program adapted to the sparsely settled rural districts situated in the sand hill country is now being worked out.

Both the State Bureau of Health and the federated women's clubs of the state are strong factors in the success of the Red Cross Nursing Services, lending it support and splendid cooperation. The slogan of the women's clubs, "a county nurse in every county in the state," is aiding greatly in bringing communities to realize the importance of public health nursing.

In Lincoln, Columbus and Fremont a Red Cross nurse carries on the work among the school children in the city schools in addition to organizing clinics and performing other services. On January 1 the county commissioners will take over the financing of the two nurses in Lancaster county. This is the first county in the state to make nursing service a part of its program.

So valuable was the work carried on in Boone county by the Red Cross nurse that the yearly report of her work has been sent throughout the state by the Bureau of Health as an example of a splendid adaptation of a county nursing program. The work included examination of children as well as bedside care of patients.

The minimizing of contagion is important and has a large place in the school program. Adams county reports great activity along this line during the past year. The county physician and the Red Cross nurse cooperated in both the control and stamping out of contagious diseases. During vacation-time the nurse told health stories to the children at the Red Cross center in Hastings.

Recently a health week was carried through successfully in Platte county by the Red Cross nurses with splendid cooperation from its medical society. The board of education in Columbus has assumed the main responsibility in financing the city nurse.

Classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick have greatly aided in the success of the nursing work sponsored by Red Cross chapters. Frequently the nurses have acted as instructors in addition to the regular teachers who conduct the courses.

Very excellent instruction in this important work was given in connection with the work at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. The graduates whose homes are in every part of the state have received valuable instruction which fits them to meet emergencies as well as assist in the cases of illness in their homes or among their friends. Omaha has had several of these courses as well as other larger cities of the state. Cedar county is one of these places where rural localities are at present organized for a course in home nursing.

Not only the present but the future outlook is bright for nursing as one of the strong factors in Nebraska's Red Cross program.

JUNIOR RED CROSS AIDS CITIZENSHIP IN NEBRASKA

That the boys and girls of today who are to be the men and women of tomorrow are learning the value of good citizenship not only in their own communities but throughout the world is shown by the 39,398 members enrolled in the 628 Junior auxiliaries of the American Red Cross in this state. Lessons in civics have been carried on by the Junior Auxiliaries in many cities and towns in Nebraska during the past year. Schools in the following places have made a feature of this work—Ogallala, Nelson, Loup City, Blair and Central City. In the majority of these cities this instruction was given in the elementary grades up to and including the sixth.

Classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick were also held in Blair, Central City and Loup City. First Aid courses were conducted in 21 of the schools of Loup City and in an equal number classes in Nutrition were given. Operation for adenoids in several cases were paid out of Junior funds in Central City.

Junior work for the present year is well under way in Nebraska. Schools are enrolling as auxiliaries to carry on the various activities. To continue this work and to increase its scope as well as the many other vital community services which the Red Cross chapters are rendering in their communities is one of the objectives of the Annual Roll Call, which opens on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, and continues through Thanksgiving.

STRONG PROGRAM OF RED CROSS

Chapters Show Great Activity in Soldier Work and Along Health Lines.

Red Cross membership in Nebraska totals 40,861 in the 107 chapters. In view of the fact that the fifth annual roll call occurs next month— from Armistice day, Nov. 11, to Thanksgiving—the progress of work throughout the state is of great interest to the present and future membership.

First in importance is the work for ex-soldiers which chapters are carrying on all over the state. During the past year chapter expenditure in service for World War Veterans has exceeded $42,000. Throughout the country the Red Cross is spending ten million dollars a year.

The surgeon general's office states that the peak of disability will not be reached before 1925, if then. Consequently this work must be carried on by local chapters so long as the need for it exists.

The continued and increasing importance of this work is shown by the fact that 5,051 ex-service men were served by Nebraska Red Cross chapters during the past year. In addition to this work for disabled soldiers there were regular enlisted men and their families served by Red Cross chapters.

Of far-reaching value is the work along health lines which the majority of chapters throughout the state are carrying on for the benefit of their local communities. During the past year 24 public health nurses have been employed by Red Cross chapters. The entire enrollment of Red Cross nurses in Nebraska is 400. In cases of necessity these nurses are qualified according to Red Cross standards for service in war or emergency.

The program of health nursing has been further increased by the classes of instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick. Last year 434 students received certificates after passing the examinations given at the close of the 45 classes. As the majority of these women were homemakers this represented that many family groups.

Groups of children banded together through the schools in Junior Red Cross auxiliaries have been promoting good citizenship in connection with the Junior program. The 628 auxiliaries with a membership of 39,398 have aided greatly in carrying on the health program in the schools by providing hot lunches, helping to finance school nurses and purchasing scales and playground equipment.

Important work in the prevention of accidents, the minimizing of serious consequences from them and the prevention of death by drowning has been accomplished through the instruction in first aid and life saving. Certificates have been issued to 102 who have taken the first aid course and 61 are members of the Life Saving corps.

To aid in carrying out these activities as well as to increase the usefulness of the local Red Cross chapters, an opportunity to renew membership in this great humanitarian organization is given during the fifth annual Roll Call. Opening on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, Roll Call continues until Thanksgiving.

Every membership dollar is an investment in community welfare and in relief activities, locally, nationally and internationally. The funds thus secured will enable each of the chapters to discharge its obligations and increase its usefulness.

$1,121,858 HAS BEEN EXPENDED IN THE CARE OF EX-SERVICE MEN AND THEIR FAMILIES BY THE 748 CHAPTERS OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS HERE IN CENTRAL DIVISION. MORE THAN TEN MILLIONS IS BEING SPENT ANNUALLY FOR THESE SOLDIERS THROUGHOUT THE NATION. YOUR MEMBERSHIP DOLLARS WILL HELP TO CARRY ON THIS WORK. ANNUAL ROLL CALL ARMISTICE DAY TO THANKSGIVING (NOV. 11 TO 24). E-MEMBER and RE-ENROLL ball to the 39 yard line. After an exchange of punts it was Wayne's ball on her 40 yard line. On the next play Surber went 60 yards for a touchdown on a pass, Rennick to Surber. Armour kicked goal. The remainder of the quarter the teams fought back and forth. Chadron lugged the ball to Wayne's 8-yard line but lost on down. Mainly by superior punting Wayne secured possession of the ball on Chadron's 20 yard line but fumbled on the 10 yard line and lost it. The quarter ended with the ball in Chadron's possession on her 4 yard line, 4th down and 6 to go.

At the beginning of the second quarter Armour returned McKelvey's punt to the Chadron 45 yard line and by three line plunges and a pass the ball was carried to Chadron's 10 yard line where it was fumbled. Chadron gained one yard then Rickabaugh fell on a Chadron fumble on their 9 yard line. Wayne was held for downs and Chadron carried the ball out of danger. The half was up with the ball in Wayne's possession on Chadron's 33 yard line.

At the beginning of the second half Wayne kicked off and the Chadron man was tackled on his 10 yard line. Don Miller intercepted a pass on their 15 yard line and by a series of line plunges and off tackle plays Wayne scored, Miller carrying the ball. Armour kicked goal.

Chadron again received and opened up a passing game by which she carried the ball to Wayne's 30 yard line but there lost it on downs. Wayne punted to Chadron's 10 yard line. Chadron was penalized 5 yards for offside and forced to punt. Rennick returned the ball to the 31 yard line just as the quarter ended.

The first play in the last quarter a pass, failed but on the second down F. Peterson on a pass from Rennick raced for a touchdown. Armour kicked goal making the score 21-0. By a series of passes Chadron carried the ball to Wayne's 45 yard line where they were forced to punt. Wayne punted out of bounds and Chadron took the ball on Wayne's 20 yard line. A place kick was blocked but a Chadron man fell on the ball on Wayne's 11 yard line. On the third down Chadron scored on a pass, Flanders to McKelvey. Goal was missed.

Chadron kicked off and Wayne carried the ball down the field by two passes, smashes by Armour and Miller and a 20 yard run by Rennick to within 8 yards of the goal. Armour then carried the ball over for the fourth touchdown. Goal was missed.

Wayne kicked off and Chadron by passes and end runs carried the ball over the line. Goal was again missed. Chadron kicked off and on an exchange of punts Chadron took the ball on her 21 yard line. McKelvey gained 5 yards, a pass failed and on the 3rd down Myers intercepted a pass and scored Wayne's final touchdown. Armour failed to kick goal leaving the score 33 to 12.

On the kickoff Armour booted the ball over the goal line where a Chadron man fell on the ball. It was brought out to the 20 yard line. Chadron completed a 20 yard pass but Armour intercepted the next and was downed on the 28 yard line just as the whistle blew.

RADIO TELEPHONE INSTALLED
(From The Goldenrod)

A new wireless telephone with a range of 75-100 miles in the day time and 300-400 miles at night, has been installed in the science department by the Benwood company of St. Louis. A representative of the company made a thorough test of the apparatus last Monday. On the trial night messages were heard at Le Mars, Ia., Plainview, Nebraska, Rippey, Iowa, and by several local students who have receiving sets in their rooms. Misses Fern and Frances Oman sang before the instrument and phonograph records were also used. The addition of this new apparatus has begun a new phase of radio work in the normal and much interest is evidenced in the demonstrations.

It is very interesting that a message sent out by the Normal station on October 20 was picked up at New Orleans, Louisiana, over one thousand miles away.

Lloyd Rohke, who attended the Normal during the year 1919-20 when he was captain of the football team, is one of the first line men on the Chicago university football team, which defeated Princeton Saturday 9 to 0. This was the first time a western team has defeated Princeton. Although Rohke went to Princeton with the Chicago team, he did not play in Saturday's game.

The members of the Lutheran club on Thursday evening enjoyed an interesting program which was followed by a social hour. The meeting was opened with singing. In an adjoining room the entertainment committee had prepared for games, hallowe'en tricks, and refreshments which took up the remainder of the evening.

Dinner was served at 7 o'clock. The evening's entertainment consisted of music and Hallowe'en stunts and tricks. Two beautiful solos were sung by Mrs. Marcy. BOYS GIVE REPORT
(From The Wayne County Teacher)

Report of Wayne county boys who attended the Boys' school encampment at the state fair in Lincoln, Hoskins, Nebr., Sept. 30, 21. Miss Pearl E. Sewell, Wayne, Nebr.

Dear Miss Sewell:

I had a very good time on my trip to Lincoln and I would not mind going again if I had another chance. Sunday forenoon I went to South Norfolk and bought a round trip ticket which cost me $7.77, then I asked the ticket agent for a receipt. When I got to Winsor I met Miss Sewell, her mother and her nephew Cauncey Agler. We changed trains at Fremont for Lincoln and had to wait one hour for the Lincoln train.

When I arrived in Lincoln I went up to the city to take a street car to the boy's camp. Just as soon as I reached the camp I had to enroll with the superintendent, then he gave me a boy's usher cap which I had to wear on the grounds. After I enrolled I went around on the grounds and I thought I was going to have a good time. Every morning we all went to the lecture hall to listen to the speakers talk on different subjects such as home orchards, dairy cows, insects, crops and grass. They told us how to have good orchards and dairy cows, how to kill insects, how to raise good crops and how to take care of grass. The last of all a smoker gave us a hint on smoking. He said that three cigarette papers soaked in milk would kill a cat. Then he took a cigarette paper, folded it into a ball and burnt it. After it was burnt he blew the ashes off and there was a brown stain which he called nicotine. He said if a cat would taste of it, it would die inside of an hour. Every night we had to be at the camp fire where certain people gave us a lecture. The second day I was there I had to go on duty to usher in the grand stand two or four hours a day. The fourth day I was there I led a 1900 pound cow in the parade. The fifth day we went through the penitentiary, porchouse and to the Y. M. C. A. While at the Y. M. C. A. nearly all the boys went in the swimming pool. The last day I was there I was discharged. The next morning I packed my clothes and started for home on the seven o'clock train. When Chauncey Agler and I reached Fremont we had to change trains for Norfolk.

When we reached Norfolk we had to change trains again for Hoskins. I went as far as Hoskins with Chauncey, then I left him. Then I put in a call home and they came and got me about five o'clock. My brother Earl would like to go next year if he can and I am sure he will have a good time if he goes.

Sincerely yours,
Emmett Anderson,
Hoskins, Nebr.

The boys' camp at the state fair grounds was one of the interesting places connected with the progressive fair. Two boys from each county were selected to represent that county. Not all of the counties sent boys this year and but sixty-three sent boys to the 1921 camp.

V. E. Shirley was superintendent of the camp and was assisted by Harvey Smith, camp director, E. R. Mast, educational director, and O. B. Anderson, physical director. The camp was divided into twelve groups, with a boy in charge of each group.

We were fed on the grounds. A regular kitchen and cooking house being furnished for our special use. Dr. Ralph Shorey of Omaha was the man who did the cooking. He has been doing this for three years and is an expert in that line. He is a medical student at the Nebraska Medical college. He was assisted in the culinary department by Ralph True and Renson Prouditt of Lincoln.

In the afternoon the time was given over to study. The subjects being of a farm nature, live stock, animal husbandry, crops and the like. Lecturers from the state agriculture farm talked to us as a general thing and directed us along the right lines with these lectures.

The camp was a model boys' camp and an interesting thing in connection with it was that the boys' camp had originated in Iowa, but Nebraska has so far outstripped its sister state along boy camp work, that Iowa this year sent a delegation to the Nebraska state fair to inspect the work at the boys' camp.

The expenses of the boys coming to camp is borne by the state fair, but the boys pay an entrance fee of $7.50 each.

The boys were of great assistance to the fair management and each day were stationed at the amphitheatre to look after the seating of the people. This year they were highly complimented for their efficiency.

We saw all exhibits of live stock, agricultural products, dairy products, machinery, the state fishery, educational works and fine arts.

The automobile races, horse races and the circus were some of the interesting features of the week.

One afternoon the Avery truck Co. took us for a free ride to the state penitentiary. We went through the factories where we saw many of the pioneers at work manufacturing furniture of all kinds and through their dining hall and kitchen. Then the guide took us to the auditorium where the convict band gave a concert. We also visited the insane asylum and Y. M. C. A. where the boys that cared to do so went down to the pool and took a swim. It was now after four o'clock so we went back to camp to be present at flag lowering and supper which was at five. Every alternate afternoon and evening half of the boys acted as ushers, except Monday and Wednesday when we all acted as ushers because of the large crowds. The attraction in the afternoon being the races and circus. In the evening the fire works and circus.

Each evening about nine we had camp fire talks. One by Dr. Mass on the subject of "Harm Done by Smoking Cigarettes," and another by William Jennings Bryan on "Restrain the Middle Man."

The privilege of being in the boys' camp at the state fair is a very enjoyable and enlightening experience.
