WINSIDE STATE BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

The depression so general over the country and so acute in these farming communities made itself felt in our neighboring town. The following story of the condition of the bank and the conferences held to discuss that condition appeared in the daily press of the state under Winside and Lincoln date lines Monday:

The Farmers State bank of Winside failed to open its doors Monday morning and Paul L. Zuelow, state bank examiner, took charge of the bank's affairs. Bad loans and constant withdrawals, according to the examiner, caused the failure. The bank had a capital stock and surplus of $50,000; the loans and discounts amount to $515,000 and deposits about $426,000. The examiner stated Monday morning that the probable loss would be around $200,000.

Fred Weible, president of the institution, was the heaviest stockholder; Julius E. Schmode was cashier and George W. Nelson was assistant cashier.

The Lincoln report said: Closing of the Farmers State Bank at Winside, Neb., Monday morning was announced by Trade and Commerce Secretary J. E. Hart today following a conference Saturday night in Omaha between the state official and several Omaha bankers at which time it was decided that the bank would be unable to continue its operations. Hart attributed the bank's failure to injudicious loans on which it could not realize.

According to Secretary Hart the state department nearly a year ago forced Fred W. Weible, president of the Winside institution, to relinquish active management. Weible, Hart said, was not now a licensed banker under the new law. C. W. Waldron of Omaha has been managing the affairs of the bank for a year. Mr. Waldron took part in the meeting Saturday night.

The September 6 statement showed capital $25,000; surplus $25,000; bills payable $38,000; redemptions, $32,000; and reserve $47,000.

DIDN'T STAGE "COMEBACK"

More than usual local interest was developed Monday when as the result of telling some corn husking stories, Frank Sederstrom and Francis Jones went out for a friendly contest to see how near the old corn husker could approach a "come back" to what he did in other days, for Frank was some corn shucker until he had to leave the farm on account of ill health. He has a record of more than 1,300 bushels in twelve days, besides doing his chores.

But his brag was that he could husk three times as much corn in a day as Francis Jones, who confessed that he had grown up in a corn country, but had never husked an ear of corn, his bluff was called, and August Loberg was agreed upon as umpire, and Monday morning they drove to the Loberg field near Carroll and stripped for the fray. Jones was as green to husking and farm work as he had professed to be, so competent judges affirm; but he was an apt pupil, and was gaining on his competitor when the dinner bell rang. They had worked three hours and forty-five minutes, and when they weighed in, Sederstrom had 52 bushels and Jones 25. As both huskers had received plenty of exercise it was decided to quit, and Jones was awarded the winning place.

But we think Mr. Sederstrom would rather drive jitney; and Mr. Jones will find selling Victrolas more to his liking.

THE MULE AND THE WEATHER MAN

It is frequently true that all signs fail, but a South Dakota man has one which he says has not failed in 20 years. It is the old mule. When it has a heavy coat of hair, look out for plenty of zero weather and blizzards. If the coat is less the winter will average more mild. Last year the hair was not heavy. This year the mule grew less hair than last year, and by that token, we are to have a winter even less severe than the last one. Let us hope so, while we watch the thermometer. If it prove true, tell L. B. Palmer of Hubbard, for he told us the story.

THE GREAT DISARMING CONFERENCE

Tomorrow we celebrate the third anniversary of the signing of the armistice which provided for the cessation of hostilities in the greatest war in world history. It should long be observed by the people of the world, especially if it shall prove that the great war shall be the last of which history will tell. At Washington on that day will open a great conference of world powers, called by President Harding at the behest of the people, not only of America, but of the world. The stated object of this great gathering is announced to be to devise a plan for the disarmament of the nations of the world; to eliminate the great cost of being eternally prepared for war—to take the chip from the shoulders of rival nations without the dread consequences which in the past has followed the knocking of the chip from the shoulder by some rival. It meant war. And war was hell for the common people who were induced and compelled to do the fighting, while the real instigators of the war waxed fat on profits taken from the people to prosecute the war to a successful issue, or as near successful as possible, for to lose was to invite disaster to those who instigated the war, perhaps.

All America, yes all of the masses of every land hope and pray for results from this conference which shall be lasting. Below is what is officially said to be America's program of liminating armaments. It does not appear to go far enough—but of course America is but one of the nations in the conference; but we believe the people should compel its representatives to do their utmost to provide for complete cessation of building navy and providing other means of warring by land, sea or air.

First—For every naval item given up by the United States there shall be an equivalent given up by other naval powers.

Second—The present ratio of naval strength shall be maintained in the sense that the United States shall not be placed in a weaker position toward other powers than she is at the moment.

Third—The British having accepted the principle of equality with the United States, the disparity in strength between the two navies shall, at least, not be increased.

Fourth—The phrase "limitation of armament" is held to mean that all the nations shall be permitted to finish the building programs which they have already authorized.

"Reduction of armament," is held to mean that vessels still in commission, but growing obsolete, shall be scrapped and the tax burdens reduced by an agreement not to replace these ships, but to economize by eliminating the expense of keeping the old vessels.

Fifth—A definite understanding by all powers as to exactly what is meant by the term "replacement" with respect to vessels now in first class condition, but which may eventually become inferior in value to new types of naval craft which may be designed in the future.

Sixth—In considering naval strength, there shall be included merchant marine and all auxiliary vessels which can possibly be converted into war ships in an emergency, as well as all bases fortified and unfortified which could be used in naval operations. In reducing armament expense, it is essential to consider the millions of dollars which are spent annually to maintain naval bases and repair stations at remote points. This question is most acute in connection with a possible naval conflict in the Pacific where bases are quite as important as the number of naval vessels available for a theoretical engagement.

TO CALIFORNIA BY AUTOMOBILE

Monday morning five Wayne men left by automobile for a month trip—and perhaps longer, their destination being Los Angeles. They go to see the land there and along the route, and see what are the prospects for work, investment and pleasure, and to visit relatives and friends. With some it is the opportunity to fill a long felt desire to see that land.

The party consists of Burret W. Wright, Guy Auker, I. C. Trumbauer, Jack Liveringhouse and Warren Kerst. With good luck, if they do not tarry on the way they should be at their destination in time to read this in the Democrat before it is very old.

DEATH OF A. B. JEFFREY—A WAYNE PIONEER

Last week Thursday word came to Wayne of the sudden death of Mr. A. B. Jeffrey, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. T. Kelly at Lutherville, Maryland, a suburb of Baltimore, where he had made his home for the past fourteen years. The body was brought to Wayne for burial in the family plot in the Wayne cemetery, beside that of his wife, who departed this life a number of years ago.

The funeral service here was from the Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. Fenton C. Jones officiating, and a large number of his former friends and relatives attended. The burial was in charge of the Odd Fellows, of which order he was an active member, and one of the old members of the lodge at this place. The membership to the number of about sixty attended the last service.

A. B. Jeffrey was born at Roxborough, Scotland, August 20, 1885, and was therefore 36 years, 2 months and 12 days at the time of his death, November 2, 1921. He was united in marriage to Margaret Harmiston, December 25, 1888, and in June, 1889, they emigrated to Canada where they lived for four years, moving to Baltimore, Maryland, in 1870, and from there to Jones county, Iowa in 1881. In 1885 they moved to Wayne county, where they lived for many years.

He is survived by five sons and two daughters, and thirty-two grand children and nineteen great grandchildren. All of the seven surviving children, except one son who resides in California, were here to attend the funeral.

A year ago last summer Mr. Jeffrey paid a visit to Wayne and to his sons and daughter living here, and we believe he was joined in his visit here by the son in California, making a complete family reunion. Here they celebrated his 85th birthday in fitting manner, and when he left for his home it was his purpose to return again a few years hence, if spared, and celebrate his ninetieth birth anniversary. He was in splendid health when here, and retained to a remarkable degree the use of all of his faculties; and was ill but a few days before the summons came.

A citizen of many good qualities has been called to his reward.

TRUCK AND CAR CLASH

Friday evening on west 7th street the Rio truck of Mitchell & Christensen, driven by Wm. Fox ran into a Ford car occupied by Joyce Bell, Grace Larsen and a Miss Kuehn, all of Laurel, who had come to witness the football game between the two high schools of that place and Wayne, but had left the grounds for a bit of joy riding on the paved streets of Wayne. The truck was headed east, the Ford north; each claims to have seen the other, but Fox while driving—at low speed felt that he would be across the street well ahead of the car. The girls that they could pass ahead of the truck, and speeded up, we are told.

The result is that two girls first named are in the hospital here, one with leg and arm broken, and the other with fracture of the hip. In this later case pneumonia has developed, but is likely to be kept well in hand. The other girl is at home, but suffering from sprained ankles. The two cars were badly wrecked. Don't try to beat some one to a crossing.

INSTALLATION OF PASTOR AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Last evening there was a gathering at the Presbyterian church in this city for the purpose of installing their new pastor, Rev. Fenton C. Jones. The program to be followed was, "Charge to the Pastor," Rev. Edward Leow of Norfolk; "Charge to the People," Rev. W. O. Harper of Laurel; Sermon, Rev. W. O. Jones of Carroll.

Music and singing were interspersed with the service.

INTRODUCING 'WALKRITE' SHOES

I am asking my patrons to come and see the fine line of shoes just being introduced to Wayne people. Those who purchase now will get the benefit of the introductory price. For instance these shoes, that are made to sell at from $6.50 to $12.50 may now be had as low as $3.98 to $6.98. It will be a pleasure to show these shoes. Mrs. Jeffries—adv.

Word comes from Emerson of the death of an infant born a few days ago to Mr. and Mrs. Kuhl. The mother is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eckhoff.

OBSERVE FIFTY-FIRST WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Last Friday was the fifty-first anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John Gaertner of this city, and the ladies of the Guild of the St. Mary's church planned to turn the regular meeting of the Guild at the Gaertner home that afternoon and evening into a bit of a celebration of the wedding anniversary. The afternoon and evening was spent socially and at cards, and at six o'clock a two-course dinner was served by Mrs. Gaertner and her daughter, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Henry, assisted by Mrs. Surber and Mrs. Fish, in which the husbands of the Guild ladies participated. It was a most happy gathering.

Mr. John Gaertner and Miss Mary Jones were united in marriage at Charles City, Iowa, November 4, 1870, and after about six years moved to Ida Grove, Iowa where Mr. G. followed the furniture business for six years, and then moved to Wayne in 1882, and embarked in the same business here, where he was in active business for nearly thirty years, selling the business to his son Frank, who is still conducting it, about 12 years ago. Thus Mr. Gaertner was among the pioneer business men of this place, and we doubt if there is now a resident of Wayne who was in business prior to his time. He is a cabinet maker by trade, and still maintains a little shop on his home lot where he makes some special furniture to supply the needs of his neighbors and friends.

Seven children born to them are living in various parts, mostly near Wayne, and they have fourteen grand children. The children from out of town present were Henry Gaertner of Randolph, Mrs. Dyer of Magnet, Mrs. Davis and son Lucian who calls this home, but who is teaching at Winside. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gaertner appear to be in good health for people of their years, and the guests of the evening wished them many other anniversary celebrations of their marriage.

THREE ELEVENS STAND AT TOP OF THE HEAP

Wayne, Cotner and Wesleyan Still Undefeated and Will Not Meet. Talk Post Season Series

As was given in last week's issue of the Democrat Wayne normal, Nebraska Wesleyan and Cotner college all stand at the top with 1,000 percent with Hastings and Kearney normals coming in second with a .667 percentage.

There is a strong chance that the Nebraska state college football race will result in another triple tie. Last year the conference slate resulted in a three-cornered tie between Grand Island, Nebraska Wesleyan and Doane college.

This season Nebraska Wesleyan, Wayne normal and Cotner college are leading the pennant chase and as none of the trio are booked to meet a series of post season combats may be necessary to decide the laurels. This hinges, of course, on the chance of the three not being spilled in the remaining slate.

This week promises to furnish some important games. Wesleyan goes to Grand Island for a game. The Zebras have won but one game this season. This victory was over the York Panthers. Cotner faces the Hastings aggregation on the Hastings gridiron. The Midland-Cotner game was cancelled because six of the Bulldog players were in quarantine.

Wayne will go to Peru to settle the Pedagogical championship of the state. Peru defeated Kearney, 3 to 0, and Wayne trounced Chadron normal. The contest with Coach Spear's Peruvians will probably be the hardest contest of the three games remaining on the slate of Dale's Wayne teachers.

COLLEGE ENTERTAINMENTS

Tomorrow evening at the Normal auditorium the world-famous baritone of the Metropolitan Opera company, Arthur Middleton, will sing.

Monday will be the next and last of this series of entertainments, when Opie Read, author and lecturer, will please all who come with his wit and philosophy.

FOOTBALL TEAMS TO PERU

The Wayne football team and a few enthusiastic supporters left this morning for Peru, where they will meet the eleven of that place tomorrow. The college crowd were down to give them a real sendoff for the trip.

RADER REVIVAL MEETINGS CLOSED SUNDAY EVENING

Sunday afternoon and evening the revival meetings which had been going on for three weeks under the direction of Luke Rader and wife, assisted by some other out of town workers, closed, and Mr. and Mrs. Rader left for Chicago Monday, and from there will go to Georgia.

Of the benefit of these meetings in particular, and special revival meetings in general there is much difference of opinion. Of the good accomplished we cannot say; but a number of friends, while not trying to measure the good, are firm in the faith that the Raders are doing a great work, and did much good to this community in presenting the true gospel without fear or favor. One says he considers Mr. Rader a most wonderful Bible student—that the explanations he gave were convincing and logical, and gave evidence of much study of the scriptures.

Another was of the opinion that he was very weak on certain points of theology—and quoted from his sayings to prove that at least the two did not agree on the construction of scripture. One also expressed the opinion that Mr. Rader lacked the elements and the training for a successful evangelist, and at the same time expressed the opinion that the question of revivals and the best method of securing good results from church and church work was a deep problem to him.

These meetings were without the co-operation of the pastors of the different churches so far as can learn, and it is said that they were not invited to participate.

When he accused the ministers and professed christians of what to him appeared to be their shortcomings, he usually found much favor with at least a part of his audience. Certain it is that his preaching had the hearty approval of a part of the community, and we hope that some better living will result.

ARE THE DEMOCRATS COMING BACK ALREADY?

In city and state and off year elections the people have come to look to the results as expressing approval or disapproval of the national administration. So the democrats may look at the result of Tuesday's election in New York City as well as in the state outside the city, for they made gains all the way.

In Kentucky the election returns appear to be lost in the story of the election riots in which nine people were killed. The contest was for control of the legislature, one house of the present legislature being republican and the other democratic.

The vote for Hylan in the mayoralty contest was more than 400,000 greater than that of his republican competitor, based on the early returns, from practically all precincts. Curran, republican was not receiving half as many votes as was the democrat. The socialist vote was lighter than in the last contest in the city, and as far as given appeared to be about one in ten of the votes going to Hylan.

TWO CARS BUMP—LIGHTS TOO BRIGHT

Last Thursday evening J. H. Kemp of this city met the C. W. Hyme car just little south of Wayne, and it was demonstrated that two bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time—but it seemed as though they would for a little while. Each car was fitted with lens which passed the state requirements; but Mr. Kemp said he was blinded by the light, and that his friend headed the opposite direction made the same statement as to the accident. Both were driving at low rate of speed, else it might have been worse on both men and cars. Mr. Kemp was able to be out the next day, but from his limp, was not thought to be in condition for a foot race. He was shaken and bruised in several places. The driver of the other car was cut about the face, but no serious injury.

NOVEMBER 14, WESTERN UNION 7

The Wayne Normal eleven fought its way to another victory by defeating the heavy Western Union college team 14 to 7 last Friday.

The first half was evenly contested. Wayne had a slight edge in the number of yards gained but Western Union led in the scoring by virtue of a Wayne fumble in the first quarter which Mertz, Western Union tackle, picked up and carried 40 yards for a touchdown. In the second half Wayne came back strong making touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters and making their downs eleven times to the Iowans once. Wayne excelled in all departments of the game except in punting where Western Union had a slight advantage but even at this Wayne gained ground on almost every exchange of punts because of Rennick's long returns.

Wayne lost the toss and kicked off. Neither team was able to make their downs and both fumbled frequently until Mertz seized the aforesaid fumble and galloped across the goal line for Western Union's first and last touchdown. After this incident both teams came out of their trance. Wayne made their downs once, but lost the ball on another bobble and Western Union carried the ball to the 8-yard line making their downs three times in the process. This is worthy of note as they were not able to make their downs again except once in the last quarter. The first quarter ended at this point.

The Iowans were penalized 5 yards twice in succession for offside. Lost 5 yard more on one play, made no gain on a second and were then assessed 15 yards for holding. These activities placed them on Wayne's 38-yard line, third down and goal to go. An attempted place kick failed and Rennick returned the ball to the 30 yard line. Wayne gained 15 yards on an exchange of punts and then marched down the field to Western Union's 6 yard line where an Iowan intercepted a pass and ran as far as the 40 yard line. The rest of the quarter was fought in mid-field. The half ended with the ball in Wayne's possession on Western Union's 30-yard line.

At the beginning of the second half the Wayne men receiving the kick-off carried the ball over the goal line, having made their downs five times. Muhm carried the ball over and Armour kicked goal tying the score. Wayne had the ball in Western Union's territory the rest of the quarter but was unable to put it across.

In the last period Wayne blocked a place kick on the Normal's 54 yard line and securing the ball on Western Union's 48 yard line lugged it to the 12 yard line, scoring on a pass Rennick to F. Peterson. Armour kicked goal making the final score 14 to 7. The game ended with Wayne on the way to another touchdown.

Score by periods:

Over in Berlin, at the close of the war, the city street car company was on the ragged edge, and equipment on the bum. What did they do? Well, they got busy, obligated themselves for 400,000,000 marks and got things going. They put fares at only one cent, with a half rate for some of the really destitute who had need to use the cars. Of course they cut off seven of their nine directors, and let out a lot of needless employees and made the others work. Of course we have no street cars at Wayne, but when we go to the city we hate to be robbed. This management has paid its debt and will now make some money for the owners.

Polarine MOTOR OILS

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEBRASKA

Makes Motoring Economies Not Only Possible But Certain

With carbon cleaned out and a supply of fresh, clean Polarine, you go faster and further on a gallon of gasoline. But that is not the greatest economy of a clean, properly lubricated motor. Freedom from wear on bearings and moving parts saves much more money. According to leading automotive engineers 90% of the total expense for motor repairs is caused by using lubricating oils of inferior quality or wrong body.

Polarine is made by special processes which render it free from excess carbon. It maintains a protecting oil cushion in the bearings and between moving parts, and a gas-tight and fuel-tight seal between piston rings and cylinders.

Polarine is made in four grades—light, medium heavy, heavy and extra heavy—but only one quality. Get the proper grade for your car next time by referring to Polarine chart at our Service Stations or dealers, and you will start cutting down motoring costs.

It is the judgment of local bankers everywhere in the corn belt that the war finance corporation will be able to show a profit from the warehousing of corn that is soon to be undertaken. If plenty of cribs were available private capital would go into corn extensively. It is axiomatic in the corn country that whenever the grain drops below twenty-five cents there is money to be made in putting it in storage. The man who cribs corn at a quarter can count on selling it at fifty cents if he is able to hold it for two or three years.—State Journal.

A PALACE FAMILY CAR

For a number of weeks Ralph Clark has been industriously working on a house on wheels in which he is planning to take his wife and family to California. Of course, prior to the time most people knew he was building this car, Mr. Clark had been working and planning, and had his chassis and motor power planned and connected and ready for the top to be built. The power is ample, experts say to move the car and contents, which Mr. Clark says in weight equals about a half of a truck load. The wheel base is 18 1-2 feet, and is connected up in the most approved manner, for Mr. Clark is a mechanic who made it a business for a number of years to build trucks—or rather convert old and new cars into trucks.

The housing is light, yet substantial, the sides being made of com-board and other wall board. It is 22 feet in length and has inside width of 6 1-2 feet from wall to wall. It is most thoroughly braced. The roof bracing also carries space for storing things, much like the receptacles above the seats of a passenger coach, except that they are of wood instead of an open rack. To the rear of the car is a folding sleeping porch, which may be unfolded at night for added bed room, for there is quite a family to go. There is a kitchen with a gas stove, a sink with faucets to supply hot or cold water. There are many cupboards, and receptacles for lots of things necessary in kitchen, dining room and household effects. A table is to be brought down from the ceiling when the meals are served. The upholstered seats along the side of the car will be in just the right place for these who gather round the table. Beneath the seats are compartments for a lot of needed things. When the writer was looking at the car they contained a lot of the tools which Mr. Clark is using daily in work, and most of which he will take with him but whether in these particular compartments we cannot say. In one corner is a toilet. Over the rear wheels is quite a closet but to what use it is to be put we cannot say.

Beneath the car are several tanks for water, gas, oil, etc. From the engine pressure will be made where needed, as for the water and the gas for the stove. The mechanism that has to do with the engine is all housed in, and the power that propels the car also makes electric lights for the plant.

Hi Griggs has been assisting in the making, and is so pleased with the equipment that he may try to find a place for himself that he may stay with the car on the entire trip. Mr. Clark and family expect to be "at home" wherever they happen to be day or night; even when at their destination, they may still be at home in their palace car.

THROW AWAY THE GUNS

We hope the great disarmament conference which is to open at Washington tomorrow does much to discourage war. The people of the world should not longer have their lives and their purses at the mercy of amilitary machine manned by a bunch of bandits. The State Journal, speaking to the question says:

"The world war has proved this. It doesn't follow that we have learned the fact. But we have got to learn it. At Kansas City this week the American legion presents us with a claim to some billions of dollars on account of that war. The war into which the politics of lands across the sea dragged us has already cost us something like a fifth of the nation's wealth. Here we see the bill still growing. And if the history following our past wars is repeated, we shall find the four or five billions now proposed to be added to the world war bill but a trifle as compared with what is yet to come.

"Ten years after the end of the civil war the nation's pension bill was around $27,000,000. Forty years later it was six times that. By that test, in the matter of expense of the world war, we "have not yet begun to fight." Such is the price we pay for the way foreign affairs are run. Not interested in foreign affairs? Our welfare is staked to a greater extent just now upon our management of foreign affairs than upon our management of domestic affairs.

"The disarmament conference will have more to do with the price of corn than the Capper-Tincher law to regulate the grain exchanges is likely to have. The hope that it may accomplish a Pacific settlement to stave off the threatened clash with Japan has more to do with saving the life and soul of your son than your best efforts to leave him safe from poverty.

"Foreign affairs, the question of disarmament, of wise promotion of peace by removal of the causes of war, come as close home to us as the very weather we live in. Foreign influences appear in the price of our shoes, the height of our taxes, and even the morals of our community. In what subject is it more important that we take an intelligent interest?"

SCHOOL FAIR PROVES A BIG SUCCESS

(Bloomfield Monitor.)
The Crockett school, out in district No. 77, Knox county, staged a "School Fair" on Friday, October 28, that was a real success from every point of view and reflects great credit upon the ones who had charge of the planning and carrying out of the affair.

The people began arriving before 10:00 o'clock a. m. and by noon over 150 were on hand. Dinner was served after which County Superintendent Stinson favored the assembly with an appreciated talk.

The display of agricultural products and fancy work made by the pupils was certainly fine; and there was also a nice showing of horses, calves, mules, hogs and poultry that had been raised by the pupils. One little boy even brought his puppies and a goat and wagon that drew much attention. There was also a nifty array of cakes, pies, candy, canned fruit and canned vegetables brot by the pupils—the same being the products of their skill in these lines.

One of the most interesting features of the fair was the display of curiosities and relics, some of which were rare and valuable, but all worth seeing.

After the various exhibits had been judged and prizes awarded, a number of foot races were put on the day's festivities came to a close with a ball game between the Crockett school boys and a team composed of boys from neighboring schools.

Just as the sun was taking his farewell peep in the western sky, the gathering broke up and each and everyone insisted they had enjoyed a most pleasant day and that this certainly was one real way of arousing interest and enthusiasm in a rural community.

THE NORTH DAKOTA ELECTION

There has been a marked difference noticeable in the different attitude now shown by the press of the country to the North Dakota economic moves than that of two years ago. Then corporate interests hid the questions at issue behind a smoke of charges of disloyalty and I. W. Wism. Yet so far as the officials of that state have been able to put their program in force it has in a great measure commanded the respect of students of economic questions; and especially of all progressives. The official program as announced and as carried out so far as was possible in the face of the opposition of selfish corporate interests and the handicap of unwise leaders and aspiring agitators who attached themselves to the campaign for selfish motives or self-aggrandisement, the movement has attracted much attention and received much commendation, and many imitators in all parts of the country. In fact, we are now finding imitators of the league methods in the United States senate, where some of the senators are having the good judgment to block their party measures where they do not appear to be the best interest of the people who sent them to Washington—for they are coming to recognize that it is the people and not the corporations who are going to name most of the members of both house and senate.

The following from the editorial column of the Sioux City Tribune of last Thursday appears to be a fair statement of the result of the recent recall election in that state:

"The North Dakota recall election turns out to be a 50-50 victory. Instead of being the intended wrecking of the nonpartisan league, the election is merely a rebuke to certain leaders of the league. The nonpartisan state program, aid to home builders, state owned and operated mills and elevators, etc., remains intact. The inflated measure providing for the liquidation of the State bank of North Dakota, the keystone of the entire nonpartisan program, did not carry.

"The removal of the governor, attorney general, and agricultural commissioner settles nothing. The so-called "Independents" who succeed them, of course, will be in position to hinder the carrying out of the league program. However, if they desire to remain in office any length of time they will not ride roughshod over the mandate the voters have given them to advance the league's policies.

"The league's greatest handicap has been some of its leaders. They should have been like Caesar's wife. The Twin City milling interests have lost no opportunity to capitalize "Townleyism." Mr. Townley is but one man and speaks for himself. He goes to jail alone. And the nonpartisan movement attracted some hair-brained agitators who attached themselves to the campaign, discrediting the organization by imposing their pet theories on it.

"The political vendetta will continue in North Dakota unless the "Independents" recognize that the farmer is no longer to be duped by the old parties. The farmers have made some mistakes, to be sure. But

How Gasoline Uniformity Affects Motor Operation

Instant ignition, quick starts and steady power depend on the mixture of air and gasoline vapor in the cylinders. If you use gasoline of dependable uniformity, it is not difficult to adjust your carburetor so that you get uniform results. How satisfactory these results are depends, in turn, on the quality and nature of the gasoline. If it is straight distilled gasoline, with a proper proportion of low, intermediate and higher boiling point fractions, you get instant ignition and lots of power from a lean, clean-burning, economical mixture.

Red Crown Gasoline is straight distilled gasoline that meets all the specifications of the U. S. Government for motor gasoline. YOU CAN'T IMPROVE ON IT FOR WINTER USE.

Authorized Red Crown Dealers Everywhere

Wherever you go you can always get Red Crown Gasoline from reliable, competent, obliging dealers. The gasoline and motor oils they sell make motor operation more pleasant, more economical and more dependable. Drive in where you see the Red Crown Sign.

there is no monopoly on that occupation. One need but contemplate the present plight into which the "brains" of this nation have steered the country if proof of the statement is desired.

"Moreover, the fight for his rights by the farmer is world wide. It is not confined to North Dakota. Canada has a farmers' party that scored so many victories in the last election that a farmer was made premier. "And there was a meeting recently in Paris of continental farmers from all the agricultural countries except Russia—German and French, Italian and Belgian, Spanish and Swiss, Bulgarian and Polish. The heavens is working.

GOING OVER THE OLD TRAILS

S. Taylor, better known as "Sandy," left Tuesday morning to visit the scenes of other days—the days immediately following his retirement from the army of the North at the close of America's great war from '61 to '65, in which he did service. He will go to Waterloo, Iowa, and from there camp around on his old trail, for he was a stage driver and carried mail and passengers across the great stretches of "Garden Prairie" as a great patch of that part of Iowa, west of the Maquoketa timber was called. It is now really a garden—the great dairy section of Iowa.

But when Mr. Taylor rode the old stage coach from Strawberry Point to Winthrop, via Buffalo Grove, Ward's Corners, Mudville and other names, such as Quasketon, Buchannonville, Forestville, Yankee Settlement and a few other places now all but forgotten, it was very sparsely settled. An other stage route was over the hills and through the valleys from Strawberry Point to Elkader, with stops at Cox Creek, Volga City and one or two other postoffice, which the rural route has put the finish on. Still another route went from Manchester, a railroad town then, now a flourishing little city, to Strawberry Point then on through Taylorsville, Brush Creek, Cornhill Fayette and to West Union, the county seat of Fayette county. In those days there were no railroads in northeastern Iowa, except the Illinois Central, which came out from Dubuque, on its way to Sioux City; but the stage coach traversed all ways with mail and passengers—not many of the latter sometimes, for many men preferred to walk and keep the cost of the ride for other uses—if they had the price, which they frequently did not carry.

We almost envy Mr. Taylor his trip—but he will find it so changed that it will often puzzle him to find the old landmarks; for it is now a well settled, well developed farming community, with the old postoffice names changed to such-cliffed names as Lamont, Aurora, Arlington, Ostdock, Edgewood, Onida and the like.

THEIR CAR TURNED OVER

Sunday afternoon a car carrying Seth Alexander's car number—that is it was a Ford—and also carrying two couple of young folks of the Carroll town or vicinity, turned turtle between Winside and Wayne. Our reporter tells us that the Ford and some sedan appeared to be racing, and as they approached his car, he steered over to the side of the road he belonged on in case of an emergency. As they came close behind him, the Ford turned over to pass, going to the right instead of the left, as road rules prescribe. This threw them into rough ground, and into a ditch. In trying to get out of the ditch without permitting the other fellow to pass their car turned bottom up, but the wheels kept going but they did not get anywhere. The four occupants of the car escaped with slight injuries only. The car was not seriously damaged. The car that had been racing then stopped so sudden that it skidded a rod, which is hard on tires. Beyond a doubt both drivers were violating the law, and might have been held for heavy damages had they collided with the car that was keeping where it properly belonged.

And New York city had an election Tuesday.

A Scotch editor, Harold Fox of Edinburgh, has come across to tell us that the way to prevent wars is to reduce the birth rate in the older countries. Well, if they are not born, they won't have to be killed off by war.

In the days when resumption of specie payment was under consideration, and the money changers were afraid of results of resumption, Sherman was quoted as saying, "The way to resume is to resume." So we say the way to disarm is to disarm.

The senate killed the bill for placing a tax on sales—and we are glad that they dared not pass it. Or, better pleased if it shall prove that there are members of that body who do not have to obey the voice of the money masters. If there are such, it is the hope of the people that they now elect senators.

Senator Johnson of California says that to be a success the coming conference must be an open conference. That was all that was lacking in making the great gathering nearly three years ago more of a success. Give us—the people of all countries knowledge of what is taking place. Then if they do not do right, we will holler till they do.

If we disarm and the other fellow disarm, and so on for every other fellow how are we going to hurt each other? Do not stand back and dicker about what the other nation shall do—just set an example. Stop building battleships, demobilize the army not needed, put the rest of the army at some useful occupation when not preserving the peace, and tell the others to follow a good example.

The American Economist, which worships only at the shrine of Protection, with a capital "P" devotes a column of its first page to accusing department stores with being profiteers; and accuses these establishments with opposing the American valuation system that they may make greater profits. Of course a lot of our people have looked upon the department stores and mail order houses as great places to purchase goods, and the local merchants should not be slow to use this denunciation of the profiteering of the big concerns. The Economist cited a case where a department store had placed on sale some hand embroidered, lace trimmed bibs at a special price of $20.50 and the cost price was but $1.75. This made a profit of more than 1000 percent. The paper adds that this example is but one of thousands, and the department store is only one of many guilty of such thievery. The moral is, "Buy it in Wayne."

The reactors of the senate are beginning to talk about compensation for the soldier lads since the meeting of the American Legion at Kansas City. The politicians have heard something. Four million ex-service men with an equal or greater number of fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers who are voters, cast a great shadow upon the political future of the official who does not want to treat them fair. They ask no unjust thing when they ask that their compensation for especially hazardous and disagreeable work be paid at least as much as the girls who could not go and the other fellows who remained at home were drawing down as a salary. The munition workers made greater pay than the munition shooters. One was in far greater danger than the other—and a great army of necessary clerks were safe, and better paid than the boys at the front. And the profiteer, who made unearned millions in all manner of schemes made possible by war, should be made to disgorge the ill-gotten gains that Uncle Sam may distribute them fairly.

THE THIRD PARTY MOVE

Those interested in the move for the organization of a new political party for Nebraska are moving on with the preliminary work. A state convention is called to meet at Grand Island December 8th, and it is asked that county conventions be held in all of the counties of the state prior to that time to name delegates to this state meet. The suggestion is made that county delegations be made up of men and women in nearly equal numbers. It is decreed that each county be entitled to representation according to the total vote of the county—one delegate for each 400 votes cast. We will try to keep Democrat readers posted on the rise or fall of this proposed new party. Of the wisdom of the move as a reform movement more can be told later when one knows who is who in the party and what they stand for and are willing to die for (politically). Politics is a great game, and the next campaign in both state and nation promises more real sincere effort toward reforms of benefit to the people than has perhaps been known since the Colonies formed a new party in 1776.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—President Harding issued a proclamation tonight designating Thursday, November 24, as a day of thanksgiving, devotion and prayer and urging the people to give thanks "for all that has been rendered unto them" and to pray "for a continuance of the divine fortune which has been showered so generously upon this nation." The proclamation follows: "That season has come when, alike in pursuance of a devout people's time honored custom and in grateful recognition of favoring national fortunes, it is proper that the president should summon the nation to a day of devotion, of thanksgiving for blessings bestowed and of prayer for guidance in modes of life, that may deserve continuance of divine favor. "Foremost among our blessings is the return of peace and the approach to normal ways again. The year has brought us again into relations of amity with all nations, after a long period of struggle and turbulence. In thankfulness therefore, we may well unite in the hope that providence will vouchsafe approval to the things we have done, the aims which have guided us, the aspirations which have inspired us. We shall be prospered as we shall deserve prosperity, seeking not alone for the material things but for those of the spirit as well; earnestly trying to help others, asking before all else the privilege of service. As we render thanks anew for the exaltation which came to us, we may fittingly petition that moderation and wisdom shall be granted to rest upon all who are in authority, in the tasks they must discharge. Their hands will be studied, their purposes strengthened, in answer to our prayers."

"Our has been a favored nation in the bounty which God has bestowed upon it. The great trial of humanity, though indeed we bore our part as well as we were able, left us comparatively little scarred. It is for us to recognize that we have been thus favored and when we gather at our altars to offer up thanks, we will do well to pledge in humility and all sincerity, our purpose to prove deserving. We have been raised up and preserved in national power and consequence, as part of a plan whose wisdom we cannot question. Thus believing, we can do no less than hold our nation the willing instrument of the providence which has so wonderfully favored us. Opportunity for very great service awaits us if we shall prove equal to it. Let our prayers be raised for direction in the right paths. Under God, our responsibility is great; to our own first, to all men afterward; to all mankind in God's own justice. "Now therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States hereby designate Thursday the 24th day of November to be observed by the people, as a day of thanksgiving, devotion and prayer; urging that at their hearthstones, and their altars, they pray for a continuance of the divine fortune which has been showered so generously upon this nation. "In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the United States of America. "Done at the capital of the United States this 31st day of October, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-sixth. "By the president: WARREN G. HARDING. "CHARLES E. HUGHES, "Secretary of State."

Bible Circle Work. The Bible Study Circle met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Zeigler and daughter Tuesday afternoon to resume the study of the regular Sunday school lesson.

The evangelistic campaign which was launched under the auspices of this organization proved a great blessing to many lives and it is the desire of the Circle to thank all those who contributed to its furtherance.

Mr. Rader's messages were on the whole most acceptable and Mrs. Rader's singing captivated all hearts. Mrs. Ekvall of North China who joined the party on Thursday and gave some very thrilling accounts of the recent great famine where she so faithfully ministered in company with other missionaries. She spoke feelingly of their work in General Feng's great army where the Christian General is leading so many of his men to know Jesus Christ that it has become the subject of world wide comment. Robert R. Brown came on from Chicago Saturday morning and led the singing and made some impressive addresses. The offering for the evangelists amounted to a little over two hundred dollars which was a free will gift much appreciated. The next meeting of the Bible Circle will be with Mrs. Moler in the old hospital building Tuesday afternoon and all are invited.

THE U. S. NOBBY TREAD

Where the going is specially heavy with snow, mud or sand, in hilly country where maximum traction on the road is a factor, no other tire tread yet devised is quite so effective, or so wholly approved by motoring opinion, as the U. S. Nobby Tread.

Its very simplicity—three rows of diagonal knobs, gripping the road—is the result of all the years of U. S. Rubber experience with every type of road the world over.

If every one listened to experience, how much they'd save

STOP and talk to the next man you see with U. S. Tires on his car. Ask him why.

Most likely you'll hear an interesting story about his tire experiments—before the answer was found. Money wasted. Promises unkept. Trouble on the road—humorous to every one except the man who went through it.

Finally U. S. Tires. And U. S. Tires ever since.

Perhaps it's the experience of U. S. Tire buyers that makes them more emphatic in their preference than ever this year.

When these men have tried most everything by the way of "staggering bargains", "hurrah discounts", "discontinued lines at less" and so forth they know what not to get.

They want a fresh, live tire. With a good reputation. That's everything it says it is. With the people behind it who back it up.

There are 92 U. S. Factory Branches. Your local U. S. Dealer is drawing upon them continually to keep his stocks sized up, complete—to give you service. Whenever he gets one or a hundred tires from a U. S. Factory Branch, they are newly made this season's tires.

Sold to you at a net price. Full values. Square-dealing. A reputable maker. A reputable dealer. The whole transaction as befits the leadership of the oldest and largest rubber organization in the world.

"Stop and talk to the next man you see with U. S. Tires on his car."

C. T. Ferrel, who has an advertisement in this issue of interest to those who have broken furniture promises us that he will ask no embarrassing questions of those who bring furniture as to how it has happened, for whether it was a case of Jiggs and Maggie or a real accident is immaterial to him.

Rev. Robert H. Pratt, who recently spent two weeks in a study of the field at Butte, Montana, with a view to undertaking work there, has announced his decision to remain in Wayne. The situation in the Baptist church there was a complicated one. The fact that Butte is a mining town, imparts a character to the city that makes it an undesirable place in which to raise a growing family.

A letter from North Dakota since the election and recall, reads: "We had one funny election. League officials recalled by about 4,000. Anti-league laws were defeated by a slightly larger vote. Those opposed to the Industrial program have been commanded by the people to carry it out."

All men's suits and overcoats up to $27.50, now $19.90. Gamble & Senter.

On another page of this issue we give the official list of all who entered military service from Wayne county during the late war. This list has been gathered with great care by County Clerk Reynolds, who has given much of his time to have a complete record of those who entered the service from this county. He asks that all carefully examine the list, and if there are any omissions or names wrong, kindly notify him at once. From this list of names the Council of Defense are expecting to have a tablet made to place in the court yard, making a permanent monument to their devotion and patriotism.

SOCIAL NOTES

Minerva Club

Mrs. W. E. Beaman was hostess to the Minerva club Monday, November 7. Mrs. J. T. House and Mrs. Beaman opened the program with two charming piano duets, the first, "The Lake" by D'Ourville and the second "March Heroic" by Schobert. Mrs. Crabtree gave an interesting review of the book "Practical Psychology" by Elsie Benedict.

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis was leader of current topics. She named the vital issues that the "Disarmament Conference" hopes to settle when it convenes November 11.

Mrs. J. T. House read a brief synopsis of "The third party in Nebraska and its Platform." Mrs. E. W. Huse contributed some late federation news and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen told of some of the most important events that took place at the recent American Legion conference in Kansas City. The hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Bleckford of Superior, Wis., and Mrs. Ida Vail of Rock Rapids, Ia., were guests of the afternoon.

The members of the Minerva club and their husbands will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the organization on Tuesday night November 15 with a banquet at the Boyd hotel. All guests are requested to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ley at 6:45.

The Social Circle met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Surber. Mrs. Fred Kemp called meeting to order. Roll call was answered by womens inventions. After a business meeting they planned to have their annual dinner with Mrs. Will Back, during the holiday season. After the business meeting Mrs. John Grier gave several musical selections which were enjoyed very much by all. Hostess served a delicious two course luncheon. The invited guests were Mrs. Guy Strickland and Mrs. Lue Surber. Meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. S. W. Elder the first Thursday in December, with Mrs. Fred Wendth as leader.

Friday afternoon a number of the ladies of the neighborhood, and friends of Mrs. R. A. Clark appeared at the Clark home, much to the surprise of that lady, and spent an hour or two in a social way. These good ladies brought a lot of good eats in the form of a covered dish luncheon, and at the proper time the merits of the repast were tested, and pronounced good. This was a farewell party, planned as expression of their good will before they begin to dismantle their home preparatory to moving to southern California.

PAPER MONEY IS NECESSARY

Dr. Hall discusses money question which is admitted to be the issue of issues—Financial system at bottom of trouble.

In his speech in the United States senate, February 5, 1890, Mr. Calhoun said:

"The first and indispensable step is a thorough reformation of the currency. Without a solid, stable and uniform currency you never can fully succeed. The present currency is notoriously bad. It is impossible to give it solidity and stability; a convertible bank currency, however well regulated, is subject to violent and sudden changes, which must forever unfit it to be a standard of value. It is by far the most sensitive of all to every change, commercial or political, foreign or domestic, as may be readily illustrated by reference to the ordinary action of foreign exchanges on such currency."

On the use of paper money, Calhoun, in his speech on the bill authorizing an issue of treasury notes, September 19, 1839, said:

"It is, then, my impression that, in the present condition of the world, a paper currency in some form, if not necessary, is almost indispensable in financial and commercial operations of civilized and extensive communities. In many respects it has a vast superiority over a metallic currency, especially in great and extended transactions by its greater cheapness, lightness and the facility of determining its amount. The great desideratum is to ascertain what description of paper has the requisite qualities of being free from fluctuation in value and liability to abuse in the greatest perfection. I have shown, I trust, that the banknotes do not possess these requisites in a degree sufficiently high for this purpose. I go further. It appears to me, after bestowing the best reflection I can give the subject, that no convertible paper—that is, no paper whose credits rests on a promise to pay is suitable for currency. It is the form of credit proper in private transactions between man and man, but not for a standard of value to perform exchanges generally, which constitutes the appropriate functions of money or currency.

"On what, then, ought a paper currency to rest? I would say on demand and supply simply, which regulates the value of everything else—the constant demand which the government has on the community for its necessary supplies. A medium resting on this demand, which simply obligates the government to receive it in all its dues, to the exclusion of everything else except gold and silver, and which shall be optional with those who have demands on the government to receive or not, would, it seems to me, be as stable in its value as those metals themselves, and be as little liable to abuse as the power of coining. It would contain within itself a self regulating power. It could only be issued to those who had claims against the government and to those only with their consent, and of course only at or above par with gold and silver, which would be its habitual state; for, as far as the government was concerned it would be equal in every respect to gold and silver, and superior in many, particularly in regulating the distant exchanges of the country. Should, however, a demand for gold and silver or other accidental causes depress it temporarily, as compared with the precious metals, it would then return to the treasury; and as it could not be paid out during such depression, its gradual diminution in market would soon restore it to an equality, when it would again flow out into the general circulation. Thus there would be a constant alternate flux and reflux into and from the treasury between it and the precious metals; but if at any time a permanent depression in its value be possible from any cause, the only effect would be to operate as a reduction of taxes on the community, and the only sufferer would be the community itself. Against this its own interests would be a sufficient guarantee."

THE NEBRASKA ARTISTS' EXHIBIT AT OMAHA

(From The Goldenrod)
(Martha Pierce)

It is a commendable thing for the people of any community to show a disposition to discover and foster its talent of whatever kind it may be. For a long time the City of Omaha has shown an interest in the work of its writers and artists, and from time to time local exhibits of the work of the latter group have been arranged. This year with a larger vision and interest the Omaha Society of Fine Arts, through the generosity of certain of its members, was able to hold the first exhibit of the work of the artists of the whole state.

Invitations were sent to the various artists of whose work the Society knew or had heard, and a surprisingly large number of entries were received. The response seems to show clearly that the artists of Nebraska are glad of the opportunity to exhibit and compare work. The public too has shown an interest so encouraging that the establishing of the exhibit as an annual event seems assured.

The Director of Omaha Art activities, Mr. Maurice Block, for some time connected with the Art Institute of Chicago in an official capacity, brought his knowledge and skill to the assembling of the exhibit after the jury had made selection. The arrangement of the pictures and craft work in the large, well lighted rooms in the third story of the Library Building, is very pleasing to the exhibitors. There is no drawing or picture hung in a poor light or so high that it cannot be seen well. This is quite remarkable when one considers that a total of two hundred thirty-three pictures and drawings are hung.

The writer of this article spent several hours in study of the exhibit, deriving much pleasure and profit therefrom. Comments upon the work shown there, are made because of personal pleasure in that particular item, or because of a knowledge of the features which will interest us as students and not with any idea of describing all the good work shown, nor indulging in criticism. As before stated the exhibit as a whole is one of which Nebraska may justly be proud.

Outstanding features of the exhibit were the paintings by Robert Gilder of whose pictures this school is so fortunate as to own four good examples. Mr. Gilder's paintings of which there were nine, showed his usual felicity in the use of color. Six of these were "Canyon Impressions" from the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. The most attractive, to me, was one called "The Great River" showing a mighty sweep of the old Missouri in winter. It conveyed an impression of power quite in keeping with the character, I almost said personality, of the river.

Solon Borglum, who, you may know, once lived in Fremont, sent one of his wonderful small bronze groups; this one was called "Fighting Bulls." It was powerfully modeled and one could scarcely imagine a better expression of the theme.

Mrs. Alice Edmiston of Lincoln, had a brilliantly painted group of canvases, one of which was peculiarly fortunate in the color of a great sweep of sky of a most wonderful blue, decked with white clouds and full of the suggestion of free winds passing over wide expanses of water. It was a picture painted on the shore of Lake Superior. Mrs. Edmiston's brush work is very clean and her painting shows confidence in and familiarity with her medium; her drawing is true and satisfying and her composition correct. The color is delightful.

Mrs. Clara W. Leland, also of Lincoln, had four pictures painted in Estes Park, Colorado. Of these the one called "The Far Away Mountains" seemed to me as poetic as its name. Mrs. Leland's work is characterized by a fine feeling of form, breadth of conception, a knack of imparting the mood of the scene, bold free drawing, and a fine color sense. "Poplars by the Pool" was another canvas, musical and poetic in its suggestion.

That these two painters have quite different and individual styles speaks well for them as artists, for they are friends and have often painted together.

We have in our library some interesting volumes on mythology by a brilliant member of the faculty of the state university, Doctor Hartley B. Alexander. Mrs. Alexander's work at the exhibit shows the influence of her husband's interest, in a way of speaking. She has made some very interesting permodello pendants to be worn as costume accessories. Egyptian, Aztec and Indian motifs were shown. Mrs. Alexander exhibited three charming sketches in oil, "Canyon Road, Santa Fee", "The Pink Adobe" and "The Arroyo". I found them very fresh and delightful, conveying the feeling of the desert.

There were some quite bizarre "batik" silk hangings made by Mr. Homer Conant of Omaha, now a student in Paris. The word Batik really means a "design" but it has come to have a very different meaning. The name as used refers to a process. The picture or design is drawn on the silk in colors, certain parts of the background being protected by wax. Successive dyings and lastly the melting of the wax produces an effect, peculiarly decorative and to be produced in no other way. The art originated in Java, was introduced into Europe by the Dutch by whom it was carried to a state of perfection. Lately craft workers all over the world have been interested in experimenting for its rich decorative effects. The hangings shown in Omaha were very large, perhaps six by nine feet, the decorations include fine drawings of animals, notably the gazelle, and human figures. Mr. Conant has been studying stage decorations. His work is striking, his drawing sure and his craftsmanship commands one's admiration.

Several kinds of craft work were shown including some handsome silver jewelry, a hammered silver spoon, pitcher, and ladle by Augusta Knight of Omaha, and were of interest and beauty.

Dwight Kirsch is one of the promising young art students who lately went from Nebraska to New York City. Even his earliest work showed such a marked feeling for color and design, such breadth and dignity that all who saw it promised for him a brilliant future. Of the seven entries to his credit the oil painting "July Fourth, Riverside Drive, New York" was the most arresting. It represented the famous "drive" at night with lights twinkling on the river, the rockets and Roman candles falling through the air furnishing the "July Fourth" suggestion. It was, as is everything of Kirsch's, very individual and clever.

Recently a well known artist, W. T. Benda, has experimented with the use of masks for plays and pageants with great success. Mr. Kirsch has tried his hand at this and showed two paper masks, symbolic of "Chief Rain-in-the-Face" and "Corn-Maid." The colors and designs used were all symbolic for example a green jewel in the forehead of Rain-in-the-Face symbolizes the life giving properties of the rain. These masks must be seen to be appreciated. They would add greatly to the interpretation of such a character in a play or pageant. They show imaginative quality, fine feeling for design and the symbolic use of color and form.

To return to the paintings, the most interesting figure painting was by two Omaha men, J. M. Guislain now in New York City. His life size portrait of the Artilleryman in oil which has been mentioned in the notes of the exhibit in the Omaha papers, is a well painted figure, graceful in its youthful grandeur. So many lads of this country, in just such uniforms, with just such stern high purpose written on their young faces, went from our shores, never to return alive. That time is still too near us for one to look upon this canvas unmoved. The dash and bravado, the high courage, health and spirit of such a youth has been well depicted here. The fine drawing, free handling of color masses, the simplicity of the brush work lead one to admire the painter as a painter as well as a psychologist. This latter to a degree at least, a good portrait painter must be.

Another picture, that of a sailor lad, with the "little decoration" from which the picture takes its name, was exceedingly well done. The artist is Irving B. Benolken of Omaha.

Augustus W. Dunbar, who had as many as twenty small and large pictures and sketches shown, had followed the lead of some of the old masters in painting a picture of himself. It was not the least interesting of his entries.

Of all the figures one of the loveliest in color, sensitive in drawing and sympathetic in mood was Miss Hermine J. Stellar's portrait "My Mother." It is probably a good likeness, and it is certainly a fine painting and it conveys the idea of a mother, loving, sympathetic, tender, without the least approach to anything even remotely sentimental.

It is impossible in the scope of this article to mention all of the meritorious work. One must not omit, however, one who comes near to being the best craftsman of them all. At least the best must share honors with Mrs. Elizabeth Tuttle Holsman now of Chicago. She wields a facile brush and has a fine color sense. One of her most charming canvases was called "Reflections." It represented a pool in which waterlilies basked in sunshine. Among them tangled reflections of blue sky, rosy clouds, and trees made a delight for the eye in the green water.

One must not omit to mention, too, that J. M. Guislain, the painter of "The Artilleryman" had some water colors so bold, free and confident that one thought at once of Sargent. "The Fountain" especially is so full of light and laughter, summer sunshine, flowers, and everything joyous that we disliked to turn away from it.

Speaking of water colors there were many that were excellent in technique, and a few fine also in composition. Water color especially tempts one to do "bits" here and there, and catches the unwary artist. One of Augusta Knight's that has all the charm of water color and was a real composition as well, was "A Frosty Morning." It was crisp and clean, and altogether charming, just a bit of roadside touched into color by frost and a glimpse of a distant town.

There were many other exhibitors some of whose names are the names of personal friends, whose work it would be a pleasure to describe, but there were, you will remember, nearly two hundred fifty pictures, and this article is now long enough.

In closing let us all hope that this beginning exhibit so generously initiated by the people of Omaha may result in stimulating Nebraska artists to further creative work, in the discovery of new talent, and in the extension and deepening of public interest on the part of Nebraska citizens in the work of her artists.

WAYNE UP WITH WESLEYAN

(From The Goldenrod)
Wayne Normal's defeat of Chadron Monday by a 33 to 12 score did not change the relative standings of the state conference teams, but did put Wayne on a par with Wesleyan, each the normal school has piled up more having won two games and lost none. Scores against its opponents, but has not played such strong adversaries as has Wesleyan. Both schools play non-conference games this week, Wesleyan being scheduled to meet Morningside at University Place Friday, while Wayne plays Western Union college at Wayne. Corner and Midland will play this week, Peru Normal and Doane college are matched and Chadron is down for a game with Kearney Normal.—State Journal.

This week on Friday Wayne goes to Peru for what is probably the most important game of the year. If the boys can win Wayne will have little trouble with the rest of the schedule and will finish the season at the top of the conference. Peru has a strong team. They lost their first game to York, 16 to 13, but have not been scored on since.

DRAWBACK TO HIGH POSITION

Plaint of Wife of Famous Statesman Was That She Was Deprived of His Company.

Mrs. Gladstone, wife of William E. Gladstone, prime minister of late-Victorian days, was, in addition to being an unusually fine-looking woman—always spoken of as "the handsome Miss Glynn"—the very essence of tact and diplomacy, the typical wife of a statesman, who never said too much and always enough, and who guided her distinguished husband with just the right proportion of firmness and gentleness.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone were married happily for more than half a century, and at their golden wedding Mr. Gladstone paid fitting tribute to her success as a wife.

"Words fall me," he said, "in expressing the debt I owe my wife in relation to all the offices she has discharged during the long and happy period of our conjugal union."

The one drawback to Mrs. Gladstone's complete happiness during her marriage was the enforced frequent absence of her husband. She used to tell her friends that when Mr. Gladstone was in office and in London during the season she considered it a great treat to be invited to a friend's house to dinner with him. If possible, she would sit next him at dinner. "Then," she said, ruefully, "it is at least possible for me to have some conversation with my husband. Otherwise I see nothing of him."

FIT MATE FOR GREAT MAN

Wife of President Monroe Famous on Two Continents for Her Diplomacy and Tact.

Elizabeth Kortright, wife of James Monroe, fifth President of the United States, and framer of the Monroe doctrine, was in every way suited for the position of Madame President. Dignified, almost courtly, well educated and accustomed to the society of statesmen, Elizabeth Kortright, when she married Mr. Monroe in 1786, was adequately prepared to assume the responsibility of her high estate.

In 1794, when her husband was sent as United States minister to France, Mrs. Monroe accompanied him on this most important and delicate mission, and acquitted herself with all the grace and tact that such a situation demanded. Again in 1803, when Mr. Monroe was once more sent to Paris as the American representative and consummated the Louisiana purchase, his wife made her gracious and influential presence felt in many ways.

And she had power, too, as is testified to by her intercession in the case of Madame de Lafayette, who was incarcerated in the prison of La Force, hourly awaiting execution. Mrs. Monroe, through her tact and diplomacy, was able to effect the release of the distinguished Frenchwoman.

Ancient Weights and Measures.

The earliest mention of weighing is found in the Bible, and the first recorded instance of weighing is that mentioned in the Book of Genesis (XXIII, 15, 16) when Abraham weighed to Ephron the Hittite, 400 shekels of silver for the field and cave of Machpelah. Job prayed to be "weighed in an even balance," and "just balances, just weights," are divinely commanded in Leviticus. On the pictured walls of Egyptian pyramids and sepulchral chambers the gods are frequently portrayed weighing the souls of the departed in the balance, so that from the earliest dawn of civilization scales appear to have been in use. Weights and measures in the more modern sense, are attributed to Pheldon, tyrant of Argos, 895 B. C.

Spring Shrubs Blooming in Fall.

The fall blooming of trees and shrubs which ordinarily bloom only in the spring, is not an uncommon occurrence. However, it is only after rather unusual growing seasonal conditions that much of it is noted. It is most apt to occur after a dry summer followed by fall rains and favorable growing conditions during September and October, or perhaps after trees have been defoliated early in the season by insects or disease attacks. Then they start new growth in the late summer or early fall. Usually it weakens the trees or shrubs somewhat, and they do not produce quite so much bloom the following spring.—V. R. Gardner, Professor of Horticulture, University of Missouri.

Strength in Tiny Bodies.

Probably the most wonderful feature of a mosquito is its muscularity, writes L. E. Eubanks in Our Dumb Animals. This may seem a ludicrous statement, but a great surprise awaits anyone who for the first time examines one of these insects under a glass. Size for size, a mosquito's wing muscles are equal to an eagle's. Even on a calm day, a mosquito can fly forty or fifty miles without a halt; and with a helping wind three times this distance! The ordinary house fly, too, has astonishing wing strength, tests have shown that when it desires really to hurry it can "dash" 180 feet in a second—110 miles an hour straightaway.

Why He Kicked.

Wife—You complain that I am always asking you for money. Why don't you give me so much a year and have done with it?
Husband—I do give you "so much." That's just what I complain of.—London Answers.

JUNIOR HIGH NOTES

(From the Goldenrod)

The members of the tenth grade enjoyed a Halloween party held at Amber James' home.

Three members of the tenth grade have been absent this week on account of sickness. They are Gordon Lackey, Frances Cherry and Lucile McLennan.

Donna Sonner, Mabel Laase and Phyllis James, pupils of the Wayne High School, visited the English classes Thursday afternoon.

The ninth grade celebrated Halloween by a party held in the gymnasium. All report a pleasant evening.

The grades for the second month will be issued this week. Examinations were given last week.

Ireta Pangburn of the seventh grade entertained her classmates last Saturday evening.

The pupils are preparing to celebrate "Better Speech Week" November 6 to 12, by appropriate speeches, slogans and posters.

Recently the new Horn-Ashbough Spellers were purchased for use in the seventh and eight grades. The pupils have made considerable improvement in this subject. One member of the eighth grade, Margaret Ahern, made a perfect record in spelling for October.

The recently issued volume of "Who's Who Among North American Authors" contains the name of Dr. J. T. House of the Wayne State Normal, as author of "John G. Neihardt, Man and Poet." Dr. Neihardt's name is included in the volume.

Every society and group of the University of Nebraska has been making a special study of the disarmament question. Miss Jessie Watson, '18, is chairman and Ward Randolf of Wayne a member of the general committee of students who, with Dean Philo Buck and Chancellor Avery, will have charge of a plan for a big demonstration and student referendum vote in the interest of disarmament.
