WAYNE WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

At the Woman's Club meeting Saturday, Mrs. George Fortner gave a well prepared paper on the subject of "Signs and Sign Boards". Among the many excellent suggestions offered was the idea of the town having a bulletin board with slide letters to announce coming events that are of interest to the whole community—a most excellent plan it would seem, especially where there is no daily paper in the town.

Miss Mary Mason gave an excellent talk on the subject, "Good Health—the Result of Right Living". Miss Mason said education along this line had been "wearing seven league boots", especially since the war, in the schools, through physical culture magazines and organizations for promoting health. The relation of the right kind of food and exercise to the preservation of healthy bodies and minds was discussed at some length. Miss Mason was heartily applauded when she suggested that one hour at noon, was entirely too short a time for the pupils of our public school to walk from six to ten blocks to their home, eat a hurried meal, and rush back to school. They need the extra half hour at noon much more than they need to be dismissed a half hour earlier in the afternoon.

The president, Mrs. E. W. Huse, appointed Mrs. J. J. Ahern and Mrs. Fred Berry to act with the chairman, Mrs. E. E. Lackey in preparing the program for the coming club year. Mrs. R. B. Judson and Mrs. A. B. Carhart were appointed on the social committee, of which Mrs. Clyde Oman is chairman.

Mrs. Lackey reported that the net proceeds of the sale of refreshments on Friday at the High school field meet amounted to $36, and Mrs. Oman presented a check of $81.00 from the Chase and Sanborn Co., as the amount due the Woman's club for their work in selling the coffee during the last two months.

Miss Martha Powell of Omaha, will address the women of Wayne at the next meeting of the club, May 27th.

WAYNE DEBATERS LOSE TO NORTH PLATTE

The Wayne High debating team at Lincoln last week were defeated in debate by the North Platte team; but they have the satisfaction of knowing that they met defeat only at the hands of the champion team. North Platte won over the Omaha Commercial college in the finals, and were thus given the championship.

ART BOURKS NEW OWNER OF CENTRAL MARKET

Monday morning a new proprietor, Art Bourks of Wakefield, took charge of the Central Meat Market, succeeding Messrs Nolan & Wilson, who for a year past have been supplying patrons of that market with meats.

Mr. Bourks tells us that he has had an eye on Wayne and the Central market for some time, hoping that opportunity would come for him to purchase the same. He was just too late to get it once when it was changing owners. At Wakefield he had a neat market, and when some one came a couple of months ago, who wanted it worse than he did, he sold, and after looking the field over, purchased here.

Mr. Bourks tells us that he is now in search of a place to move the family into, and would like to rent a six to 8-room house until he decides what he wants to purchase, and where. Mrs. B. was a former Normal student, and will be welcomed to Wayne by those who knew her then.

Members of the retiring firm are undecided as to what will be their next move. One seems to be looking toward Canada and the other seems to look longingly toward California, with nothing definite to tell yet. They have made friends here, who will regret their going when the time comes for them to depart as it probably soon will.

WAYNE 2—WINSIDE 4

Wayne lost the first game of the season on the Winside diamond, Sunday, when Winside slugged out four hits in the second inning. Aided by an error on Wayne they were able to tally three runs in that frame.

Wayne made a dash for the lead in the sixth when Mildner hit a hot liner down the third base line. Rennick then fled out to center. Sund batted for Hines and made first on his fly to center. Laws then scored Mildner on his fly to center. This made the score 2-3. Travers grounded to short and was thrown out at first. Clough retired the side by flying out to center.

Winside managed to tally again in the half of the frame.
The remainder of the game was real base ball. Both teams playing like professionals.

The game as a whole proved that Wayne, altho they were beaten have the material for one of the fastest clubs in Northeast Nebraska.

THE WALTER SAVIDGE PLAYERS

The Savidge Amusement Company closed their opening week at Wayne Saturday evening, playing seven nights to good houses, and to packed houses for some of the popular plays. Mr. Savidge has a splendid line of attractions this season, and as in other seasons, the "big top" is the best part of the entertainment. He starts this season with a particularly strong troupe for the stage, and with a large amount of new, special scenery, the work of regular scene painters, making stage effects fully equal to those of the theatres that do not move weekly. Messrs Geo. Morgan and LeRoy McNeill were the artists.

From Wayne they went to Randolph where they are playing this week, and next week they come back thru Wayne to Norfolk where they spend a week.

WAYNE TO BE VISITED BY OMAHA BUNCH

The Democrat has been officially notified to get its house in order for representatives of about 100 Omaha business concerns are coming to this burg in a special train of sleepers, but they are said not to sleep much. Their schedule calls for them to arrive at 12:45 the afternoon of May 26 and remain until 1:35 and then go on their way rejoicing. It is suggested that Wayne business men who think they might wish to meet the men who represent their particular line might perhaps stay close to their place of business while the train is here, and thus the visitors may more readily locate them.

They have a band, and a new whistle on the engine that pulls the train so you may be able to distinguish this train from one of the many freight trains that come and go this way over the "Omaha".

THE JUNIOR CHURCH IN ACTION

That is the title of a book recently written by Weldon F. Crossland, of Detroit, Michigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Crossland of this city. Rev. Crossland went to Detroit in 1916 as assistant pastor of the Central Methodist church of that city, and in 1919 became the pastor of a new church in the suburbs of Detroit, known as the Ninete Methodist church.

The book is divided into two parts. Part I giving outline of the junior church; how to start a junior church, the appropriate services, the sermon etc., and subjects for the same, and kindred subjects. Part II consists of twenty short sermonettes telling in simple language some great truth, and telling it so that the young can understand it, and in language that will interest them.

The book has had a large sale, and is really an indispensable text book for those who wish to do effective church work among the children and young folks. Any interested in church work among the young may find much encouragement in this work.

ANNA MARIE KOCH PASSES AWAY

Thursday, May 11, 1922, Mrs. Koch died at the home of her son Wm. Koch, at the age of 86 years, death coming on her birthday. She had for many years been a resident of this county, was born in Germany, but we did not learn when she came to America. A son, Wm. Koch, at whose home she had lived and a daughter, Mrs. Nieman near Winside mourn her death.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Theopholis church southwest of Wayne, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Fischer, and burial was in the cemetery near by. An aged mother has gone to her reward.

"I WANT TO PLAY IN THE BAND"

That was the wish of the boy, and the big base drum was his idea of the thing with which to make the noise. Well, now is the time, for A. G. Bohnert wishes that we issue a call for all who can and will take a part in forming a Wayne band to report at the city hall building Friday evening, the 19th and help organize a band for Wayne. They should get busy at once, for the first call for service is for Decoration day, not quite two weeks away. Those who can play some instrument can get busy and be in shape for the exercises May 30th. One, two, three—play.

BASEBALL—AT WAYNE

Next Sunday afternoon the first ball game of the home team at home is to be played, when the home team will meet the Indians from Thurston and try for title. Last Sunday at Winside the Wayne team met defeat by the Winside team, the score being three to five in favor of Winside.

Since then the Wayne boys have accepted two pitchers, Speck Burke and Pep Willford, and think they have some helpers who will strengthen the team very materially. At any rate, the boys want all interested to come out and judge the game.

COUNTY FAIR MEET CALLED FOR TUESDAY, MAY 23

If you are interested in a county fair for Wayne county this fall, the invitation is for you to meet at the City Hall, of this place at 3 o'clock Tuesday evening, May 23, for the purpose of organizing for the work.

PLANTS FOR SALE

Now ready for delivery—Hly of the valley, peronial fevertew, collage plants, canna and gladiola bulbs are made right in stock ready for Prances Cherry, Phone 274—adv. 2-25

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

That was the name of the breezy play presented last evening by the students of the high school, under direction of Superintendent Shirey. It was well given, and the pupils carried well their parts—perhaps some better than others—and perhaps not; but at any rate some had the more important part, but no one could well say that any part was not well done.

The plot was true to life as reflected in the business affairs of the world today. Cyrus Martin, who had grown rich by supplying the natural demand for a necessity; and combining with others in like business to supply that need without loss, is worried for fear his son will become a doleful fellow—if not bad, at least of no use to himself or the world. So he hires the stenographer to arouse the young man to action. And when the lad gets started, impractical tho he is, and hampered for funds, he creates such a demand for soap, which he had made no provision to provide that he has to secure a supply from the father, who is thus made to realize that "It pays to advertise" and he joins the lad in a campaign that enables him to scoop his rival in the soap making business.

A large and appreciative audience followed the play from start to finish with keen interest. It might be well for a syndicate of newspaper men to engage this company to tour the state presenting the play that more "business men" might come to realize that "It Pays to Advertise".

PROGRESSIVES MEET AT HOSKINS SATURDAY NIGHT

Word comes to the Democrat that the members of the Progressive party are called to meet at Hoskins at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, May 20, to organize the 45th representative district, which is composed of Wayne county. The progressive have some good things in their platform, and are an earnest bunch of citizens. As we understand, the meeting will be open for any who wish to attend. Our information does not say who is to be speaker, if any. As we understand, their chief object at this time is to organize as to be in position to give their legislative candidate a place on the ballot as a progressive in the coming contest this fall.

As a state organization the party has grown large enough and active enough to have a party split, and at Grand Island the first of the week there was a gathering of those who felt that some were trying to dictate who should and who should not be candidates for some of the state offices. It was the opinion of those holding the convention at Grand Island, that the voters should be free to say who would be their candidates at the primary in July. While there was an apparent great difference between the two factions it appeared after they had discussed matters face to face there was not such a great difference after all in the meaning and purpose of all the progressives.

Meantime, remember the meeting at Hoskins, Saturday evening.

GIFFORD PINCHOT WINS OVER ALPER IN PENNSYLVANIA

The returns from Pennsylvania primary all indicate, and his opposition concede the nomination of the progressive Gifford Pinchot over the stand-patter Alper by a safe majority. When the progressives of the state of Pennsylvania can break the yoke of the stand-pat bosses there is hope for the people of America. Pepper is leading over Burke for senate nomination.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT TONIGHT

M. E. Garber of Morningside will make the commencement address this evening before the class of twenty-one who will receive their diplomas from the Wayne high school this evening. The services will be conducted at the Methodist church, when a short program and the speech will be given.

IT IS NOT TOO LATE

To select and order a monument or other grave marking or ornament for Decoration Day. If you come at once to the Wayne Monument Works and make a selection from their immense stock of the best of granites, in latest designs and of any shade to please you. Their stock is so complete that you can find some of the best that lettering. Their phone is 63—adv.

MRS. F. C. H. DREYER FROM CHINA TALKS AT WAYNE

The Ladies Bible Study Circle was entertained at the home of Mrs. C. E. McClonnan Tuesday afternoon.

After a brief study of the very helpful Sunday school lesson Mrs. F. C. H. Dreyer of Hung Tung, China, was introduced and gave a very touching account of their work in far interior China.

It takes 12 days of hard travel to reach Hung Tung from the coast. Mr. and Mrs. Dreyer have been laboring in this remote section 25 1/2 years. During these years many have heard the Gospel for the first time and yielded to its gracious invitation. Twelve years ago a Bible Institute similar to Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, was started in Shansi province, for the training of a native ministry and from this wonderful institution they have gone out a strong force of sound preachers and teachers of the word to evangelize in many parts of China.

Mrs. Dreyer's message was very enlightening and the Circle was fortunate in having a representative of the China Inland Mission to address them.

Next Tuesdays meeting with Mrs. A. E. Laase.

DEATH OF EARL RENZ

(Contributed)

Earl Thomas Renz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Renz, was born August 4, 1917, at Dakota City, Nebraska, and passed away at his home near Carroll, Saturday morning, May 13, 1922, at the age of 4 years, 9 months and 9 days.

Funeral services were held at English Lutheran church in Wayne on Sunday afternoon with Rev. J. H. Fetterolf in charge. Interment was made in Greenwood Cemetery.

While Muriel Tillsen 10 years old and Earl Renz were engaged placing feed in the barn for the horses, to be in readiness when the men came from the field at noon, they discovered a revolver hanging overhead in the feed bin, which was shot to be out of their reach, and proceeded to get it down.

Evidently they were handling it and not knowing it was loaded, caused it to discharge the bullet entering the Renz boy's body near the heart. Death was instantaneous.

He is survived and mourned by his father and mother, one sister, Margaret, 2 brothers, Leo and Donald, as well as many other relatives and friends.

The sorrowing family have the deepest sympathy of their friends, and may God grant them the consolation and comfort that He alone can give.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank each and every one of the many kind friends and neighbors who so kindly helped and comforted us in the hour of our sad bereavement in the death and burial of our beloved son.

The government is preparing legislation looking to the proper control of the radio sending. Unless it shall have some regulation as to wave lengths and time of sending, there is apt to be much confusion as the number of sending sets multiplies, as it is now doing.

Dr. J. H. Linson, who spent a few days visiting at the home of his sister Mrs. Chas. Reynolds, left Monday morning for Omaha, where he will visit relatives, from there he will go to visit at Minden, and from there he will return to Washington, D. C., and resume his duties.

A Post graduate course of the Creighton Medical college will be held June 5-19, free to all members of the Creighton medical alumni.

Miss Ruth Gray and cousin Louise Lamb, of the normal, left Saturday morning to spend the week end visiting at the home of the latter, at Dixon.

Omaha Elks have sold practically $1,000,000 of bonds the proceeds of which will be used in paying for a headquarters building that they propose to erect.

A car with four Emerson lads flopped over near Homer last week, and the lads luckily escaped any injury to speak of—but they will not care to try the experiment again.

Now it is reported that what promised to be quite a building boom in the east is slackening up just as it is beginning, because of the foisting prices of building material.

E. E. Stansberry from the southern part of the state has purchased the Stanton Pickett from Bert Atkinson, and is grinding 'em out. Bert, we are informed, thinks he may enter the baseball field—he having some ability along that line which he enjoys using.

Edgar Howard indicates in an editorial that he will be for Jim Reed for senator from Missouri, simply because former President Wilson has intimated that if he were a Missouri Democrat he would oppose the election of Reed. Well, Howard has a right to do as he sees fit in the matter of working for Senator Reed, but if he has no other reason than that Wilson is not favorable to Reed it is really not much of a reason.

A new gold field has been discovered in Colorado, northeast of Needles. A rush is already on, and some assert that it is one of the richest finds ever discovered. And to think, in addition to that the United States now has as much gold as the rest of the world combined. Better not develop this new find too strong, or the financiers will have to change some of the laws to keep the money cornered. Too much gold might work a hardship on a lot of the mounted men—if they could not corner it.

Now the news reports are to the effect that prosperity is again at hand. The railroads are going to spend millions. Some of the program will include the spending as much as $100,000,000. A New Jersey road wants to add $50,000,000 to their equipment. The Illinois Central wants 4,000 new coal cars, and thus it goes from one road to another. The purchase includes locomotives as well as cars. Well, they have been getting a rate high enough to enable them to build—if the rate was not so high as to check business.

In Boyd county they recently had a meeting of the school boards that was quite generally attended by representatives from over the county. The great theme of the gathering was reduction of costs, which with other taxes make a great burden for the public—the tax-paying public to bear. It is timely subject to discuss—yes it is a timely matter to act upon—after due deliberation. Find what you have and need that is worth the cost and get that. Learn what is not necessary and eliminate that. Find out what costs more than it should and do without it, if possible until the prices fall.

Pavement Dance

At Wayne

Wednesday Evening, May 24th

Music will be furnished by

Park's Marimba Chimes Orchestra

All remember well what a happy time was enjoyed at our previous pavement dance—how there was room for all, how the music entertained hundreds who did not dance, and yet the dancers were numbered by the hundreds.

The pavement will be prepared to make a splendid dancing floor, with room for all, and all properly lighted.

The music is high class, and the Organ chimes will be an innovation to dancers here. Those who have danced to this orchestra accompaniment will not miss this opportunity.

Tickets $1.00

War Tax Exempt

The Legion Boys bid all welcome, and will spare no pains to make all enjoy the evening.

THE COMMITTEE

P. S.—If the weather prove unfavorable for an outside dance, the music and dancers will meet at the Opera House, where there is a fine floor.

Mrs. Chas. Reed of Winside was a Wayne visitor Saturday.

Chas. Rubick was a visitor at Sioux City the last of last week.

For a market for poultry, eggs and cream, remember Fortner.—adv.

Mrs. Gossard was at Randolph between trains Monday, going up for a short visit with relatives.

Mrs. Brink and daughter Gladys, came from Emerson Friday morning, to spend a few days visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Genschen from Walthill were Sunday visitors at the home of their former neighbors E. L. Griffith and wife. They formerly lived at Wayne.

Editor Jeff Taylor of the Emerson Enterprise is going to go to Hot Springs for a couple of months, and the wife and oldest son will get out the paper. Taylor is not in the best of health.

Church rivalry appears to be spirited at Franklin, where the Methodist and the Congregationalists played what the local paper calls a game of base ball. One place it was called an endurance contest. The score was 11 to 33.

Fortner wants your eggs. adv. Master Bakers of Nebraska are coming to Omaha June 1 for their annual convention.

School house bonds carried at Tilden in a recent election, and it is said the building will be ready for occupancy when school opens this fall.

Veterans of three wars may take part in the memorial services at Wayne this month, if they so desire. There are a dozen or more survivors of the Civil war; the Spanish-American war has some here who took a part in that brief struggle, while the men who took part in the late war are many. In this county there are perhaps more than 500 of them.

At Laurel they are contemplating the building of the first unit of a new school building. They have plans which will make the new unit unite with the old building they now have, and heat from the same plant. Then from time to time, add as needed new units, and when finished the old building may be removed and a court formed where it now stands. Petitions are being circulated for an election to consider voting bonds.

John Johnson was a visitor at Wakefield Tuesday.

How To Be Sure You Are Getting The Best Lubricant

THERE is one way to make certain that your motor, with its individual lubricating requirements, will get exactly the motor oil it needs.

It's simple, too. Glance at the Polarine Chart. Whenever Polarine and Red Crown Gasoline are sold, this useful chart, containing lubrication specifications for all seasons and all makes of motors, is available for your use.

Continued operation with inferior oils, or oil of the wrong body, might shorten the life of your motor by years—or cost a substantial sum in repairs. Why risk it? The Polarine Chart places the services of highly-trained lubrication engineers at your disposal. While they were studying your motor they were studying our lubricants. The Polarine Chart is the result.

Polarine Oil is made in four grades—medium light, medium heavy, heavy and extra heavy. But there is only one quality. Get the proper grade for your car—at the same place you buy clean-burning, scientifically balanced Red Crown Gasoline. You will begin cutting down motoring costs immediately.

The Red Crown Road Map contains the Polarine Chart and a copy has been mailed to you. Write for your copy if you have not received it.

A sweeping verdict for QUALITY

ASSAILANT OF CLIFFORD PENN CONVICTED

The Butte Tribune gives the following particulars of the assault and trial. Mr. Penn is a graduate of the Normal, and for a number of years made his home at Wayne.

The case of the State vs. Frank Hallett on a charge of assault with intent to commit great bodily injury, was called, and a jury installed. The case was bitterly contested from the start. Several witnesses testified positively to the assault. Clifford Penn, the man assaulted, is superintendent of schools at Lynch, and in an attempt to collect tuition from Hallett's daughter, the trouble came up. The school board instructed the superintendent to notify the girl that unless the tuition was paid, the teachers would be instructed not to hear her recite. "It was claimed Hallett was

The jury in the Hallett case brought in a verdict at 2 o'clock, this (Thursday) morning, finding the defendant guilty as charged. The penalty prescribed by the law is imprisonment in the penitentiary from one to three years.

GARDENS SHOW LARGE PROFIT

Probably the majority of farmers in Nebraska think that the vegetable garden is a necessary nuisance that must be tolerated. The most they can see in regard to it is that it interferes with the work in the busy season of the year—or else it does not interfere with them at all and is left entirely to the women of the family.

Several experiment stations have operated farm gardens on an experimental basis. All these demonstrate very large gains from the farm vegetable garden. The Missouri Agricultural not a resident of Lynch, his home being in Colorado. On the day of the assault, Hallett, who had meantime returned to Lynch, met Penn near the postoffice, and struck him, knocking him down. Penn fell on the concrete walk and was knocked unconscious, the testimony being conflicting as to whether the blow from Hallett's fist or the striking on the walk being the cause of the injury, which was such that Penn was dangerously sick for some time. Hallett attempted to continue the punishment but broke his hand on the walk in an attempt to deliver another blow on the prostrate professor, and was then seized and further violence prevented. Fourteen or fifteen witnesses were called on behalf of the state, and a number for the defense.

College has recently published a bulletin showing that the net income from a vegetable garden of 1/4 acre thru a 3 year period was $134.00 per year. This would be at the rate of $536.00 per acre. The total cost of this garden averaged $16.50 per year thru the 3 year period. More careful and thoughtful attention to the garden on the farm is one very excellent means of increasing the income from the farm by reducing the expenses for food, and incidentally the general health of the family can probably be improved. The University of Nebraska Agricultural College has a number of bulletins on special garden crops and general gardening which will be mailed to residents of the state free upon request to County Agricultural Extension Agents or to the College itself.

FORMER WAYNE LAD TO EDIT SCHOOL PUBLICATION

The Sunday State Journal has a picture of Orval B. Gaston of Lincoln, son of Rev. and Mrs. Gaston formerly of this city, and tells of his election to the position of editor in chief of the Awgwan, as follows:

Orval B. Gaston of Lincoln, and Addison E. Sutton, of Elmeroeck, were elected editor-in-chief and business manager, respectively, of Awgwan, University of Nebraska comic monthly, at a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, held at the Grand hotel, Wednesday, Awgwan, sponsored and published by Sigma Delta Chi, has a high national reputation among college comics.

Both Gaston and Sutton have been prominent in journalistic activities in the university. Gaston has been on the Daily Nebraskan staff three years as night editor, managing editor, and editor-in-chief. Sutton has been connected with the business staff of the Nebraskan during the past year and is advertising manager of the 1922 Cornhusker.

The retiring editor of Awgwan is Leonard M. Cowley of Bladen, and the retiring business manager is Richard Reese of Lincoln.

WAKEFIELD WILL PAVE
(Wakefield Republican)

The City Council of Wakefield, at an adjourned meeting of the regular meeting of Tuesday May 2, decided to pave Main street this summer, and passed three ordinances pertaining to the matter at that meeting. These ordinances will be found published on another page of this issue of The Republican.

The proposition of paving Main street has hung fire here since last December, and earlier. A petition had been circulated securing the names of property owners on Main street who were in favor of the paving. Shortly afterwards a counter petition was circulated, and about the same number of signers on each of them. The City Council had the power to pave in their own hands, irrespective of the wishes of the voters, but wished to have a majority in their favor before taking the step. Two or three of the biggest property owners hung fire until recently, not declaring themselves either way. Wm. Kay, Sr., was one of these, but he was present at the last meeting and declared himself in favor of the project, and even offered to sign the petition, but the Council did not have it with them at the meeting.

Immediately after the new Council had been put into office, which was done Tuesday evening of last week (there being only one change, C. J. A. Larson going out and Oscar Swanson taking his place) they took action on the matter. It had been discussed off and on several times, but nothing officially done.

The idea is to pave Main street from the south end to the bridge across the tracks north of the depot. Streets running in the opposite direction will be paved for a half a block each way in the business section. It will not be decided just what kind of paving will be put in until the bids are received, which will be advertised for next week.

STOP THE CURRANT WORM NOW

Currants and gooseberries have suffered severely from the depredation of the imported currant worm in the last few years and this year we may look for even greater infestation, says the University of Nebraska Agricultural College. These worms can in a few days strip the bushes of leaves. This naturally reduces the yield of fruit and if repeated for several consecutive years, may kill the bushes.

Now is the time to put a stop to the ravages of this insect. The most effective treatment is spraying with lead arsenate at the rate of 2 or 3 tablespoonsful to a gallon of water. Lead Arsenate has the desirable quality of adhering to the leaves for a long time and retaining its strength throughout that time. For these reasons it is much preferred to white hellebore, the old fashioned currant worm remedy.

If you have apple trees to spray, it should be done now. To spray when bloom is on in full is not quite as effective as when the petals have fallen, besides the earlier spraying is dangerous and destructive to bees, and the petals catch much of the spray and prevent it entering the calyx, where it must be to prevent worms from entering the apple, and it is but a few days after the petals have gone until the calyx closes too tight to permit of best results from spraying. Here is formula for the spray: Lead arsenate is used at the rate of 1 1/2 pounds to 50 gallons of water or 3 tablespoons to a gallon of water. In this same water lime-sulphur is used at the rate of 1 1/2 gallons to 50 of water if liquid lime-sulphur is used or if the dry form is used 4 1/2 pounds. Cherries and plums are sprayed with the same materials immediately after the husks have fallen from the young fruits.

The New Insured Savings Plan

Under this plan a small monthly deposit is made at the bank and at the end of ten years the depositor receives $1000 from the bank, and a $1000 estate from the insurance company, the latter, if on a 10 payment basis, being a full-paid participating life insurance policy.

In case the depositor dies in the meantime, the insurance company pays his family $1000, and the bank pays the fund then credited to his savings account.

You will thus be able to combine the advantages of thrift and protection in a plan which is within the reach of all, and which will insure your future independence if you live, and provide for your loved ones if you die.

The insurance feature of this plan is carried by The Elkhorn Life & Accident Insurance Company, an old line mutual legal reserve company.

The active campaign in this district will be under the direct supervision of Mr. C. H. Vanden and Mr. Werner Muller assisted by a corps of competent solicitors, who will make full explanation and furnish you literature fully describing the entire plan, including free medical examination and operation to the policyholders.

All of us have a desire to save, but history has proven that many of us do not, for the lack of a systematic method. This plan provides a method whereby you can save, and we heartily approve of it.

State Bank of Wayne.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a judgment, and an order of sale of attached property duly made and entered on the 19th day of April, 1922 in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska in an action then and therein pending wherein Harry Griffith and Anna Griffith Owen, were plaintiffs and E. W. Railway right of way, thence north twenty-five feet, thence east 300 feet, thence south 160.5 feet to the north line of the R. R. right of way, thence northwesterly along said line to the point of commencement."

Said sale is had for the purpose of satisfying the above described judgment and order of sale of attached property in an amount of $950.00 and

O. C. Lewis, Sheriff.

POLITICAL DOPE ADVERSE TO THE ADMINISTRATION

The president unlawfully discharged the employees of the bureau of printing and engraving, or permitted it to be unlawfully done; and now the senate has refused and neglected to permit a resolution of enquiry pass the senate asking honest investigation.

The dye interests were on hand to write part of the tariff schedule—the part which interested them especially. The same was true of representatives of the steel or steel industries.

There was quite a discussion in the house the other day over the question of how small a basket it would require to contain all of the good things this congress has done for the common people. Perhaps no basket would be needed. Just a small envelope.

All municipal elections held thus far has shown substantial republican losses. It is quite uniform, and is said to be due to general dissatisfaction with republican policies—policies of action along the line of wrong things and inaction for the proper measures.

The senate has ordered an investigation of the naval oil grab. It is called a deal of the first magnitude. Harding is backing the department heads who made the lease.

Not all of this is democratic protest. Republicans as well are guilty of treason, if it be treason in this land to talk against the policies of the party in power—against the policies of the administration.

A news report says that since the war the United States has exported more than $16,000,000 worth of buttons to 80 other countries. A lot of the fellows, in those other lands must have had a heap of buttons shot off.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

Why you will prefer
Balanced Gasoline

QUICK starts, plenty of power, big mileage and a minimum of carbon are results you want from your motor fuel. You can only get them all when you use balanced gasoline.

Volatility at all temperatures is not enough. Besides the fractions that vaporize at low temperatures, gasoline should have a proper proportion of other petroleum fractions in order to provide maximum power and mileage. These heavier fractions should not lower the flame speed enough to reduce pressure development or prevent clean, complete combustion.

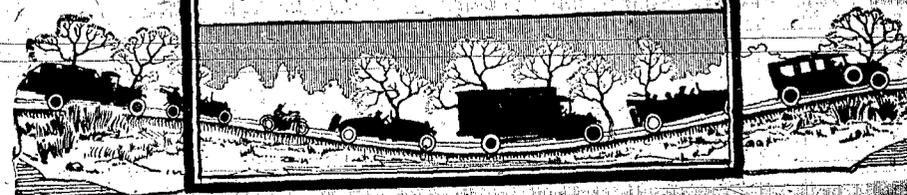

Such a balanced motor fuel is Red Crown Gasoline. It is carefully refined—certified to meet all U. S. Government specifications. Its use is your best guarantee of dependable, economical power.

Drive in where you see the Red Crown sign. Wherever you go you can get Red Crown Gasoline. Wherever you buy Red Crown Gasoline you get properly balanced motor fuel.

Edgar Howard appears to have returned from his wanderings in the south and after some progressive party factions. At any rate he was said to have been at the meeting at Grand Island, where one faction of the new party gathered Tuesday, and in a short talk there, is quoted as having said that his vote was yet his own, and that it would be cast for Norton, a democratic aspirant for the nomination as governor. Well, Nebraska certainly needs a governor—and needs it now.

The P. N. G. was entertained Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Park Mabbott, with April and May meetings combined. For the April meeting, members answered to roll call by giving "Names of Native Trees". Mrs. R. W. Ley gave a reading entitled, "Home", written by Edgar A. Guest. The May meeting was a Mother's Day program. Members answered to roll call by giving "Names of Noted Women", and discussing same. Mrs. McMullan gave a reading on "Mother's Day". Mrs. R. W. Ley read a magazine article entitled, "Mother Gets Back on the Job", written by Bess Streeter Aldrich, followed by the following pieces played on the Victrola: "What a Wonderful Mother of Mine", and "Some Day I'll Make You Glad". At the close of the afternoon the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Last Saturday afternoon Junior Fleetwood celebrated his fourth birthday with his first birthday party. A dozen or so of his little friends responded to the invitation to come and make merry with him. All enjoyed the hours, and partook of the birthday cake. Grandpa and Grandma Fleetwood sent a box of goodies from Sioux City for him, and they must have been good, for the postoffice mouse, who makes his living inspecting boxes containing good things had made inspection. He made a mouse door in the box and went in. The candles and cakes pleased him much, and he tried them to be sure they were good. But the toys did not interest the mouse as did the cakes. Junior's little Wayne friends remembered him with pretty presents, had a jolly good time.

The D. A. R. held their regular monthly meeting Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. I. H. Britell. Mrs. Cavanaugh gave a very interesting paper on "The History of Wayne County", which was followed by election of officers. Mrs. C. E. Carhart, regent; Mrs. I. H. Britell, vice regent; Mrs. Perry, secretary; Mrs. Ray Reynolds, treasurer; Mrs. J. W. Jones, registrar; Mrs. H. S. Ringland, historian, and Mrs. J. G. Mines, chaplain. The hostess assisted by Mrs. A. M. Jacobs served refreshments. The June meeting will be Flag Day meeting with Mrs. D. J. Cavanaugh.

The Sorosis club was entertained Monday at the home of Mrs. W. C. Coryell. Roll call was answered to by giving "Favorite Movie Stars and Why". Mrs. E. L. Noakes gave a paper on "Beauty Spots of America". Mrs. W. C. Coryell had paper on "American Inventors". Mrs. G. A. Wade was a guest of the club. At the close of the afternoon the hostess served a delicious two-course luncheon.

The W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow with Mrs. H. C. Lyons, with Mrs. Crockett as assistant hostess. Since above notice was in type, word came that Mrs. Sullivan, a state deputy of the order, is to be present at the meeting, and in addition to the above program will give a talk. Hope is expressed that every member and some visitors will be in attendance.

The St. Mary's Guild Ladies had a social afternoon Thursday at the home of Mrs. M. A. Pryor. There was a very large attendance, consisting of members and guests. The guests were Mrs. Allen Armstrong, Mrs. Henry Ley, Mrs. J. H. Brugger, Mrs. Swan and Miss Ethel Huff. At the close of the afternoon the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Monday evening members of the Wayne State Normal Alumnae club met for a party in honor of the birthday of Rollie W. Ley. About thirty were present, and the evening was spent in such games as volley ball, indoor baseball and a track meet. A luncheon was served, and all report a happy evening, and wish Mr. Ley other birthdays.

The Coterie met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lester Vath. A paper was given by Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh on "The Next Stage in History". A Current Event article was read by Mrs. Perry Theobald. Hostess served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Paul Mines, officers will be elected.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Beaman were at home Monday evening to a party of a dozen of their friends for a social hour. Cards were played at three tables, and before the evening closed choice refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Minerva club will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. L. M. Owen. As this is the last meeting of the season, officers will be elected.

The Elkhorn Valley association of Congregational churches are in session at Neligh this week. An attendance of about fifty ministers and delegates were to be in attendance.

Lee Young of Craig was looking after insurance business in this vicinity a few days the first of the week, and visiting his brother on the hill. He went to Carroll Tuesday evening.

Henry Vahkamp, who was undergoing treatment and an operation at an Omaha hospital for a number of weeks, returned home Monday, feeling somewhat better, tho not fully recovered.

At Neligh they are having a series of revival meetings, called a community affair, with a Rev. E. C. Hunter and evangelistic party from Denver are in charge. The speaker makes a strong appeal to the young folks.

In Madison county a farm bureau membership drive is on. The Star-Mail speaks of the farm bureau as the greatest farmers organization in the world, and yet we do not see how that can be with Wayne county farmers not in it.

Prices on monuments are materially less than other times, especially since we have fitted up to do our cutting all at home. The freight saving by purchasing in the rough and in-car lots, is yours if you order from the Wayne Monument Works.—Phone 68.—adv.

S. Taylor left Tuesday afternoon for a visit with relatives and "old friends" at Parkersburg, Iowa. Except for a short visit he has not been in that part of the state since a few years after the close of the Civil War, and he will probably find the resting place of more of his friends of those days at the cemetery than any other one place, if perchance he shall visit the city of the dead.

R. B. Howell of Omaha, is to speak at Neligh Friday evening, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, whatever that is, and banquet is to be spread. Let's see. Howell is one of the candidates for nomination to the senate from this state. That is probably a pretty good campaign stunt, for he will not be expected to talk politics, and no republican talks party politics this year to help his cause.

Corn planting is mostly finished in this vicinity, tho there are always those who want to see for sure whether by any chance the late planted corn is not going to make the best yield. So there will be some planting yet for two weeks, perhaps. So far we have heard but little complaint of having to plant over, tho it is yet a little too early to know how the stand is to be. We have not as yet had any washing rains.

John Wittler returned to his home at Jensen Wednesday following a visit here at the home of his uncle, August Wittler, and with other relatives and friends. He came to attend the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Koch, who passed away last week. Mr. Wittler entered service in the World War from this county, and brought home with him, in one knee, bit of German bullet, which some of their careless shooting over there had planted in the bone of his knee.

Our congressman Mr. Evans left Washington Monday night for Lincoln to present his side of a law case before the judges of the supreme court. It is hoped the report says that arrangements may be made by which he may remain a week or three to look after his political fences, with the primary not many moons away. Other members of congress in this and other states where the primaries are pending are also looking for an excuse to be absent from their seat. Well, with work to be done on the job they asked for, it would seem that the proper place for a congressman now is at Washington, and not out fishing in wilds of his district. The work they do there rather than a personal pull in the district is what should count.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK

Lynch, Nebraska, May 4th, 1922. Editor of The Butte Gazette: Knowing that your paper is open to reasonable comment, I hereby offer a small item which might interest your readers.

Senator Overman makes the following statements with reference to the Federal Reserve bank.

"The reserve board is making so much money that they do not know what to do with it."

"A new bank building in New York on which $25,000,000 has been expended $17,000,000 for the building and $8,000,000 for the furniture, or more than the cost of the national capitol at Washington, the architect alone getting $1,000,000."

"In all the board has spent more than $30,000,000 on buildings in the United States. Since 1919 the Federal Reserve system has increased salaries by $7,733,000, and so it goes."

And yet there are a few banks that are beneficiaries of the present vicious Federal Reserve system, that will try to bolster up and defend such brigands as now hold despotic sway over a banking system that was designed to be a benediction to the borrowing public.

Wilson's Federal Reserve banking system is one of the most vicious and dangerous laws that has ever been placed on the statute books of this country.

It overshadows the bank of England and gives the money lenders greater advantage than that given by the old United States bank which General Jackson killed. Colin Harvey says that the money lending organization of the bank may be regarded as perfect.

The people are indebted to the banking system more than $25,000,000,000, on which interest is annually being drawn from the energies of all the people.

And yet some Stand-pat democrats and a few re-actionary republicans are trying to make the common producer believe that the Federal Reserve system is something holy and sanctified.

Students of history better take a little time and inquire into the cause of the decline and fall of the great Roman and Grecian empires.

Let free men of this country become alarmed at the constant increase and growth of power that separates the rich from the poor and makes the gulf that opens between them so deep and wide that it cannot be crossed. The rich are growing richer and the poor poorer, dropping lower in poverty that will in the end make of us all a nation of Peons, such as we find in old Mexico under the Spanish tyranny and rule. Our nation spending money like drunken sailors, building million dollar structures on money that would relieve the distressed condition of the country if wise heads and sound minds were in control of the financial system of this country.

J. D. LEE.

Now will Mr. Lee, or any one else give the best remedy for the trouble. Most any of us can kick-kick like Maud did, but let us find and apply the remedy. Is it socialism? Is it republicanism? Is it democracy?

It a strike against all progress that calls for investment? Is it individual thrift and economy? Is the solution in the Henry Ford plan of government money issue for public improvements rather than tax-exempt interest-bearing bonds? Will Mr. Lee, or some other person suggest the remedy so greatly needed?

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

(From The Goldenrod) A brilliant moon low in the southern sky looked down upon one of the most novel and beautiful of a long series of successful class banquets last Saturday night when the class of '23 entertained the 'class of '22.

One could hardly believe that the beautiful roof garden flooded with the soft light of candles decorated in the senior class colors, crimson and cream, where waiters in evening clothes dashed to and fro rescuing temporarily incandescent candle shades from their worried possessors; where an orchestra hidden behind the palms persisted in keeping the minds of the diners from their food, was the same old Gym which two weeks ago had impersonated the good ship Wayne and two months ago, packed to the rafters, had witnessed a district championship basketball game.

The roof garden idea was carried out to the minutest detail. The palms, fountain, orchestra, waiters, the arrangement of the tables leaving the center of the floor clear for dancing, the streamers from one balcony to another, all were carefully planned to create one general impression. The brilliant crimson and white decorations lent an appearance of brightness and vivacity to the scene.

The guests gathered on the first floor of the industrial building and filed by twos up to the gymnasium where after a frantic search for place cards they were able to make their acquaintance with

- The Menu Cocktail * * * * * Veal Birds Mashed Potatoes Creamed Peas Stuffed Tomato Salad Parker House Rolls Radishes * * * * * Strawberry Shortcake Coffee

MRS. This was pronounced a masterpiece and although Armstrong was surprised to find that his bird had no wish-bone and several juniors conceived the erroneous notion that the shells where pasteboard, the food was disposed of with enthusiasm and verve. The energy and dispatch of those who were seated at the end tables and were last to be served won the admiration and respect of all.

The food having been satisfactorily disposed of, James Vinckel as toastmaster introduced Lella Mitchell. In a short toast she compared Wayne Normal, not to a ship, home or factory, but (Shades of John Locke!) to a roof garden. Furthermore she easily proved her point. Melvin Thomas further elaborated upon the idea telling how each part of "The Garden" has its counterpart on the campus, and wittily showed the double symbolism of the fountain in representing both the lake and West Hall stairway during one of the periodical cloudbursts.

President Conn in a characteristic speech called attention to the fact that while the classes of '22 and '23 had met for the last time as seniors and juniors, they will meet at other and greater banquets as Wayne State Alumni. Miss Beechol delighted all with a very clever talk on "The Dancers" which was illustrated by two very beautiful solo dances by Doris Judson and Lucile Noakes.

The hit of the evening came a moment later when, to the ripping jazz of "The Little Brown Church," Robin Miller, attired in a yard of tissue paper and a lace hat, gracefully went through the steps of a burlesque dance which reduced his delighted audience to a state of helplessness. The room's roof was still shaking with laughter when "Hunt" arose and contributed to the sacred feeling of friendliness and good will by congratulating the juniors, among the causes for congratulation being the fact that they form the largest class ever registered at Wayne and, more important, follow the largest class ever graduated from the Wayne Normal.

Clara Schafersman, in discussing "The Orchestra", took several good-natured thrusts at and made several compliments to the faculty. Edson Trump's discourse of "Waiters and Waitresses" showed a keen power of thought and wide experience. Jim Black was awarded the prize as the most patient waiter with his bosom friend, J. Vinckel, a close second.

In speaking of "The Guests" Professor Bowen spoke first of those guests present at every banquet, the andelluvian jokes. There are four of these, all of which with the exception of the mother-in-law joke, made their appearance at this time. Having decently interred them he ghoulishly dug them up and sent them through their paces again.

A few words of advice and congratulation to the classes of '22 and '23 and the banquet was over. Several hundred of the braver and more adventurous, however, spent the next half hour dancing or rather line plunging through a jungle of human battering rams and crimson and white streamers. Unfortunately there was no first aid station which would have been all that was required to put the finishing touches to a most pleasant and enjoyable evening.

SNEAKLESS SNEAK DAY

(From The Goldenrod) And now comes "sneakless" sneak day. To an old and hardened sneaker who recalls vividly the good old-days when Senior Sneak Day meant anything or everything from broken noses to a riot call, the new regime is a revelation.

Since the powers-that-be decided for a ten-year (or more) holiday in the matter of sneak day "leave taking", an old custom has passed into the discard. The only sneaky feeling the 1922 seniors had when they went on their outing Wednesday was due to the day itself. They had planned to leave at 6:00 a. m. and they left about 8:30. But could the seniors enjoy themselves on a trip that was not given an impetus by feudal relations with the juniors? Come along and see.

After the last tardy auto truck had out arrived and loaded at "Hunt's" the seniors felt that the day was at last started. Before the day ended they all were in favor of starting a fund for the protection of mistreated sardines. For no sardine ever was packed tighter than they, but no sardine ever enjoyed himself more than they.

Three important discoveries were made during the day, to-wit: auto trucks are rough riding, auto trucks are dust raisers, but auto trucks are great for real sport. And so the seniors sang; they laughed; they jostled and jolted; they got out at times and pushed; and they enjoyed themselves through it all.

Sloux City thought their town was being besieged by a large pilgrimage of Ethiopians until the seniors had cleaned up and washed the thick layer of dust from their faces, through which their eyes peered like smoky lanterns through a dark night. They had a hard time recognizing themselves.

After the noon luncheon at the Mandarin the group divided. Some of the boys went to the ball game and saw Wichita trim the Sloux. Others, mostly girls, spent their free time in the jam of the shopping centers. Here they annexed bargains in various lines of feminine folly and such unmentionables. Many of these saved the price of a package of gum on their transactions and came home chewing it. The more studious used most of the time in giving Morning-side College the "once over".

The greatest sport aboard was to keep feet from going to sleep. Those who left them hanging over the edge were more fortunate than those who were cramped in the bottom of the trucks. All went well as far as Emerson. Here a threatened rain caused a wild scramble from the trucks to the caboose of the midnight freight which was just ready to leave for Norfolk. The caboose careened and bumped along worse than the trucks and when the conductor finally announced Wayne through the din of snoring from the tired passengers Thursday was already two and one-half hours old.

Tired, dirty, sleepy seniors just finishing the big day of the school year, instinctively stumbled their way to the Hill, tumbled into bed—and un-animously declared "it was worth it." And thus ended the first sneakless sneak day—from now on "picnic day". —Contributed.

JUNIOR NOTES

(From The Goldenrod) Just to show that they were not wholly extinct the juniors hiked to the place where "sparkling water fell over pretty rocks." Since sneak day had been legalized and civilized by presidential proclamation, the juniors were forced to vent their surplus energy upon objects other than seniors. Buns, welters and marshmallows were the victims. After the eats those who were physically able joined in a game of baseball, the girls admirably displaying their prowess against that of the boys. Others wandered in twos in search of violets, rabbits and beautiful scenery. Only one thing occurred to mar the enjoyment of the evening; anyone interested in that one mishap will have to go to John Hufford for details, for it would fall to pass the censor if printed.

The fourteen girls who helped Dorothy Parsons celebrate her birthday Monday evening all agreed that she made an efficient hostess. Her mother, sister Ruth, and Edith Peterson, a friend from Oakland, joined in the festivities. Delicious refreshments were served and everyone chatted amiably until light-blinking time. The girls presented Dorothy with a little remembrance. The visitors returned to their homes in Oakland Tuesday afternoon.

OUR COSTLY NEGLIGENCE

"Co-ordination" is a tired, haggard, nervous wreck of a word that was nearly worked to death at Washington during the early days of the war. It was the first of the dollar-a-year words to come forward to do war work, and it was worn to a frazzle. I hate to drag the poor wan thing out from the quiet retreat in my dictionary where it has been resting and recuperating, but I must say that this lack of co-ordination, lack of organization, duplication, inefficiency, waste, and haphazard hodge-podge structure of the national governmental machine is no secret to those at Washington, who run and manage it for us, and who are even more directly responsible than we are for the condition into which it has fallen.

I submit pleas of avoidance and confession from both Democrats and Republicans. It is not a matter of politics. It is a matter of proved and confessed negligence on the part of the men we have hired to run the machine, and have kept year after year in places of trust and power and responsibility. They haven't kept up the plant. The form of organization is grotesquely inadequate. The morale of the working force is badly impaired, as I have set forth at length in previous articles. We have paid the price for this, grossly and hugely, in money and in poor service. This has been costly negligence on our part. I said I had confessions. Here they are, Reed Smoot, Republican and a senator from Utah, speaking:

The administrative branches of the government have undergone no fundamental changes since the organization was devised by Alexander Hamilton.

No other government in the world could have gone on as ours has done, and paid the bills involved in our wasteful methods of administration. We have been able to do it because this country has had resources and wealth unparalleled.

The war has brought us at last to realize that these will not last always. We need a complete survey of the whole situation de novo by a committee of men willing to recognize that it is a task of day and night for a year, and very likely, two years.

There is endless duplication of work among different departments, and even in the same department. It is the same through all the government functions, and now, when the burden of carrying our enormous debt is weighing on the people, we can no longer neglect to give it consideration.

When he said these things, Mr. Smoot was urging a concrete proposal to bring about the reformation so badly needed.

And now Franklin D. Roosevelt, for seven years assistant secretary of the navy and recently the Democratic candidate for vice president:

The entire system of relationship which exists between congress and the executive departments is fundamentally wrong. Let me illustrate: I made an offer one spring to the appropriations committees of both house and senate, telling them that I would tomorrow discharge 15 per cent of the employees of the Navy department if they, the committees, would give me complete authority to take one-half of the salaries of the employees so discharged and add it to the salaries of the other 85 per cent of the employees still left in the department. . . . Of course, however, under the present system, congress would not think of giving executive discretion of this kind.

Congress, for various reasons, has so tied the hands of the executive officers of the government that they have no discretion in the fundamental questions of employment. . . . My own wonder is that, considering the existing circumstances, the employees of the government are as efficient as they actually are. Congress legislates for every minute item of employment. . . . There is a lot of work being done in other departments which ought properly to be under the Navy department, and in the same way there is a lot of work done by the Navy department which could perfectly properly be transferred to other departments.

After seven years down here in an executive position, I cannot help the conclusion that our governmental methods are cumbersome and wasteful. The first improvement must come in what is, after all, the source of governmental activities—that is, the legislative branch. . . . This must come from congress. We need also a reclassification and redistribution of the work of the executive departments. This can only come if congress, working in accord with itself and with the executive, will discuss the whole question simultaneously and not merely piecemeal.

Well, there you are! A Republican who has been in the legislative branch of the government for seventeen years, and a Democrat who has been in the executive branch for seven years, both telling the same story of how badly the national business is managed.

The odd thing about it is that our agents and representatives at Washington who let this waste and inefficiency run on, year after year, pay no penalty. We pay the piper to the tune of millions and billions—literally, that much. And the condition will endure until we make a real roar about it. Congress increasingly shakes its head over the situation and brings in various proposals of reform, and says how wrong it all is; but lacking a lively, inflamed public pressure, nothing gets done.

The lives of several kinds of plants have been doubled by a Vienna botanist who has discovered ways to delay their blossoming and germination.

Through the column of the Medical World, C. L. Schang, M. D. of Greenville, Pa., gives the following recipe for making home brew: "Chase a bullfrog for three miles and gather up the hops. To the hops add the following: Ten gallons of tan bark, one half pint of shellac, a bar of home made soap. Boil the mixture thirty-six hours and strain through an I. W. W. sock to keep it from working. Then bottle and add one white mule to each pint to give it a kick."

AUTOCRAT HAD UNHAPPY LIFE

Mighty Czar Could Find No One in His Dominions That Would Tell Him the Truth.

A dramatic little story that illumines in a flash the strangely unwholesome life that the czar of Russia had to live in the old days is to be found in Mr. James L. Ford's book, "Forty-Odd Years in the Literary Shop." Mr. Ford had an intimate acquaintance with Baron de Grimm, whose father had been the tutor of Alexander II of Russia, and who himself had been an intimate friend of the czarevitch.

From De Grimm, he writes, I gained an idea of the isolation of an autocrat and the atmosphere of dread, suspicion and uncertainty that surrounds an autocratic court. When the Czar Alexander II sent his son to the Riviera for the sake of his health he received from the young man's attendants only vague reports in regard to his condition, although couriers arrived daily with letters. On one occasion the soldier who brought the post bag was ushered into the presence of the czar, who after a hasty glance at his correspondence exclaimed: "There is no letter from my son, and it is some days since I have heard from him!"

"But, sire," exclaimed the soldier, "he is no longer able to write!"

"Not able to write!" exclaimed the sovereign of all the Russias. "Will nobody ever tell me anything?" And it may be remembered that Nicholas II uttered a like despairing cry when the news of the January massacre, which his courtiers had sedulously kept from him, finally reached his ears. ### MARRY IN HASTE

"SAM OWLEY brought his bride home last evening," announced the horse doctor, "and they're going to begin housekeeping right away. Sam says he married the girl three days after first seeing her, and seems to think he did something pretty clever, but there's an old saying about marrying in haste and repenting at leisure."

"It's worth just about as much as the rest of the old sayings," said the village patriarch. "They're all cheap goods, and you don't get a chronicle with any of them. Most married women repent at leisure, whether they married in haste or took their time about it."

"I sometimes think that the longer an unmarried woman contemplates the man she is going to marry, the less she knows about him. If there is a protracted courtship, the man has every opportunity to work up a reputation that doesn't belong to him."

"Just this morning my present wife was telling me that if she had known what sort of a man I really was she'd never have married me. Yet she had six months to study me before the wedding bells rang out their glad chimes, and she thought I was an exemplary man. I'm naturally of a stoupy disposition. I never did take much pride in my appearance, even when I was a young man, and as I waxed older I became downright careless. I considered it a waste of money and effort to have my clothes pressed, and having my shoes blacked seemed merely vanity and vexation of spirit."

"Yet when I began courting the excellent woman who is my wife, I braced up in the most surprising way. I always did that when I went courting. And the surprising thing is that it never seemed a dishonest proceeding. It never struck me, until my wife called my attention to the matter, long afterwards, that I was obtaining money under false pretenses, so to speak, when I created the impression that I was the glass of fashion and the mold of form."

"I'd go to see that woman all togged out like a young man who is billed to sing a tenor solo. I'd have my whiskers and hair trimmed, and my shoes shined, and my teeth manicured, and I'd be wearing a collar as white as the driven snow, and a handkerchief in keeping. It seemed the natural and proper thing to do, yet I was working a slim game with the best intentions in the world."

"The more Arabella considered me, the more she was convinced that I was a marvelously neat and tidy man, and she was so impressed that she married me without the slightest hesitation. No sooner were the last sad rites performed, however, than I lost all interest in the task of dolling myself up, and I've been a sort of scarecrow ever since."

"My wife has to remind me when it's time to change shirts or have my hair cut, and she's completely disheartened. I don't blame her in the least, for I realize now, since she has explained the matter ten thousand times, that she married a counterfeit."

"It would have been far better had she caught me when I was running wild, and married me without taking time to think the matter over. But she studied me for several months, and you see what sort of a prize package she drew."

"I believe a woman, or a man, either, will do well to trust to luck in matrimonial matters."

"WHO'S WHO" WINS PASSPORT

Writer's Somewhat Caustic Comment on Authorities Would Seem to Have Some Justification.

A man who applied in New York for a passport recently was told that he must have a certificate of birth before the document could be issued. He had a passport issued during the war bearing the vise of several European countries. That passport bore the date of his birth. The passport was rejected because it was issued before 1917.

There was no time to send to Chicago for a copy of the certificate of birth. A certificate of baptism was offered and rejected, the explanation being that he might not have been baptized for years after his birth.

"What is your business?" asked the clerk. The applicant said that he was a writer. "Are you in 'Who's Who'?" was the next query and the answer was in the affirmative.

"That settles it," said the clerk. He got a copy of "Who's Who" and found that the brief biography gave the date of birth. The application was indorsed, "See 'Who's Who' edition of 1921, page empty ump," and the document was forwarded to Washington with the assurance that the passport would be back in a few days.

"The government," said the writer afterward, "will not take its own document and would not take my word, but accepted a printed biographical sketch which presumably I had written."

After Pirate Lafitte's Chest of Gold.

Two energetic young men have established a camp on the lower part of Padre Island in the Gulf of Mexico on the Texas shores, in an effort to locate the gold-laden chests of the Pirate Lafitte who, according to the legends of the country, frequented those parts and it is supposed that some of the wealth which he accumulated must be buried in the sands of that shore. The men say they are there to stay and they have brought some machinery with which the work will be facilitated. It is said that they have uncovered some interesting material which leads them to believe that they are on the right track.

Oh, Boy!

A filing clerk in a downtown department store, one of those light jazz models whose mind is always out toddling at the last dance of the night before, or the next one to come.

One day she went to the manager's desk with a salesman's report on a city customer. The report gave the customer's name and bore the notation that he was "hopelessly ill."

"Mr. Grant," she said indignantly. "I have looked through all the directories and I can't find any city like Hopelessly in Illinois."—Los Angeles Times.

Some Other Fellow's Sister.

Our family consists of my father and mother, myself and my sister, who is several years younger than I am. Returning home unexpectedly after a long absence in China, I walked in unannounced. About the time my father and mother and I were through hugging each other, a young girl of nineteen entered the room. I grabbed her in my arms, kissed her and said, "Kid, if you were not my sister, I would fall in love with you." "I am not your sister," said a smothered voice. And she wasn't. But I kept my promise—Exchange.

"Calls" Telephone Users.

A miniature "hour glass" is now being used to time the telephone conversation, says the Scientific American. Its upper compartment exhausts itself of sand in just three minutes; with one eye on the glass, the telephone user sees when the time is almost up, and can speed up his business accordingly, so that the talk may be finished within the specified three minutes of the long distance call.

Millions for Defense.

Charles C. Pinckney was one of three envoys sent by the United States to France in 1797 to settle disputes which had arisen between France and the United States. The American grievance was caused by the seizure of American vessels by France. The French grievance was that commercial privileges had been granted to England. Talleyrand, the French foreign minister, refused to receive the envoys, but it had been conveyed to them by secret agents that before any settlement could be reached it would be necessary for the United States to pay a large sum of money, which was, in fact, little more than a bribe. It was then that Pinckney made his famous declaration that the United States had "millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

Much Affected.

"Come, now! Don't look so miserable!" said a Tumbler photographer. "Just pretend in your own mind that you are going to get married tomorrow."

Dad-burn the Dad-burned Luck!

"Dad-burn the Arkansas sifter." "That's precisely what I am going to do!"

A Real Sport.

"But, man, you would make thousands in the deal. It's a sure thing!" "Thanks!—But I prefer to take a reasonable chance."
