WAYNE COUNTY FAIR IS SURELY COMING BACK

At the meeting called for last Saturday afternoon at the city hall to pass on the question of having a fair at Wayne this fall, there was a fairly good representation of farmers and breeder present and a number of the Wayne business men. Last season it had been decided not to hold an exhibit, as times were too much mixed up with reconstruction of affairs, and no grounds or buildings were available.

President George McEachen, who held over by reason of the vacation last year, called the meeting to order and asked an expression from those present as to the wisdom of starting for a fair this fall. The sentiment was favorable.

The treasurer's report was not made, except that it was given verbally by the treasurer, and was to the effect that the organization was without any debts to speak of from previous fair. He said that there might be a few little hang-overs both ways, but that the balance would not exceed $50 on the wrong side of the ledger. In view of this statement practically all present favored the fair for this fall. This was especially true of the live stock breeders, who are anxious to secure their part of the benefits that come to a community thru a good county fair.

Among those present who expressed themselves as favoring a fair were V. L. Dayton, Wm. Lessman, Fred Sundahl, J. E. Hufford, Harry Craven, R. W. Ley, Claud Forney, Wm. VonSeggern, H. V. Cronk, Geo. McEachen, H. J. Miner, E. F. Shields, who offered the use of what are perhaps the most available grounds just at present. Wm. Meyer and others.

After carefully canvassing the situation, it was decided to begin work at once for an exhibit this fall. It was reported that in 64 counties of the state dates had already been fixed for their county fair, and so there is no time to be lost.

H. J. Miner was elected president, Harry Craven vice-president, Wm. VonSeggern secretary and J. E. Hufford assistant secretary and Rollie W. Ley treasurer. A committee composed of D. E. Brainard, Harry Craven and J. E. Hufford was named to nominate a board of directors, and they reported as follows, and the members present elected them, and with the officers elected they will comprise a board of directors: V. L. Dayton, Carroll, Wm. Lessman, Wakefield, J. J. Ahern, Wayne, E. F. Shields, Wayne Roy Jeffrey Wayne, and R. G. Rohrké of Hoskins.

A meeting of the officers and directors was called for Wednesday evening.

It should be the aim of every citizen of the county from now on to do all in his power to make the coming fair a success. It can be done, and it will be done. If each will do some little part and boost, it will go on to a successful exhibit.

WAYNE COUNTY BREEDERS TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

A call is out for a meeting of the Wayne county Purered-Breeders association members to gather at Wayne Saturday afternoon and get in line for more active work on the part of the association. Stock growing has had its share of depression, but is coming back, better and on a more stable basis than ever before. Perhaps there will not be so much wild speculation possibly no more big prices will be paid for fancy bred animals—but these two years of depression have shown that the breeder of stock of known quality has fared a little better as a rule than most any other agricultural industry.

Every farmer and stock breeder should be present at the Saturday meeting—come and both give and receive benefits.

WAYNE MAN HONORED

Lincoln, Neb., May 28.—Dr. D. D. Tobias, of Wayne, has been appointed by Leo Stuhr, of the state department of agriculture, to be chief of the bureau of animal industry. Dr. F. R. Woodring, who has been acting chief since the resignation of Dr. W. T. Sevenser, has been designated as assistant chief.

New summer dresses made ready for your wear in Swiss organdies in late weaves, crisp airy, summery fabrics—pretty gingham—frocks for Misses in summer dress goods. You will be delighted when you see them at the Mrs. Jeffries store for women and children.—adv.

THE OMAHA BOOSTERS AT WAYNE

Last Friday Wayne business men and others broke their usual routine as to the dinner, and took an hour off to greet the pilgrims and hear the music of their band, and the chin music of their orators.

A large number of Wayne citizens welcomed the travelers, and talked business more or less with them. A number of cars were in waiting, and as many as felt that they could spare the time from their business, accepted an invitation to look Wayne once over, for it was but fair that Wayne do a little boosting with the boosters who were here. They visited the state Normal grounds, drove thru the residence district, and expressed themselves happily surprised at what they saw in the way of miles of paved streets and hundreds of modern homes and neatly kept lawns and parkings—something hardly to be expected to surround our none too prosperous-looking business district. The guests appeared to greatly appreciate the courtesy extended.

Their excellent band pleased the people who heard them play. The young ladies were given rings and feathers. Some called the rings bells. The small boy was made happy with a cap. Balloons, and other novelties were passed out among the little folks. It was a happy hour for Wayne people and Omaha boosters will be welcomed whenever they wish to invade this good town as they did Friday.

TAXPAYERS MEET MONDAY

A meeting has been called in the interest of lower taxation, to which all are invited. Of course, we will all go, if by that means we can aid in lowering taxes. We have no information other than appears in a notice published elsewhere. We certainly wish them well in their endeavor to solve the question. It is possible taxes might be less—much less—they used to be and we used to get less in road work, less in service, less of many things that are needful and beneficial. We also received less in administration of affairs by appointive officials who may be doing a world of good, but we believe that fully two-thirds of them might be dispensed with and the community still get along comfortably. Wayne, for instance, might not need a food inspector here every month—but let them do their duty when they find any need of it. We might get along without a host of deputy game wardens to protect the fish in the Logan. Legitimate fishing is not going to take all the fish, and the wardens seldom catch the fellows who fish illegally, except it be some kid, trying hook 'em without any licence. Lets all go to the meeting and boost for more service and less tax.

A NEW LIGHT PLANT FOR WAYNE COUNTRY CLUB

Our country club is always advancing and improving. The latest addition is the installation of a light plant, a really modern, down to now electric plant. Light has been one of their troubles in the past, but now they are over, in part at least. The new plant is now wired to light the building and the immediate grounds. Of course there are members who are urging that a 9th green be established, and so lighted that it may be used for evening practice.

J. J. Ahern is said to be the first to advocate this added feature. Thus we see that the members are ever looking forward to making added attraction to the place.

To be sure there are those who seriously objected to the establishment of a country club and grounds, but it seems to be growing in popularity and membership. It has proven a life-saver to a number of our citizens who had nothing to live for, apparently. They are coming to life, and getting a new release from the care of the doctors and the attending undertaker.

IS IT A METEOR?

Last evening we saw on the city clerk's table an irregular shaped rocky appearing substance as large as a half bushel measure, which he said was a meteor; and it is quite a curiosity. He kindly broke a fragment off and presented it to the Democrat, and it may be seen on the table here, where it will be useful, if not especially ornamental as a paper weight. If more is learned of and you may read of it in the paper next week, perhaps.

MEMORIAL DAY LOYALLY OBSERVED AT WAYNE

Tuesday the people of this vicinity gathered at Wayne to pay a tribute to the memory of those who had died for their country, in three wars—died for a cause that made men feel that it was a sacred duty to offer their all. Flags floated from practically every business house, and from many homes. The people carried flowers to the cemeteries and covered the graves of loved ones.

To the members of the American Legion, too much credit cannot be given for the part they took in assisting the G. A. R. members in observing a day which members of that order were instrumental in establishing in honor of their departed comrades, and which has grown to be a national day—a day that will be observed long after a few feeble remaining members of that once great organization have been called to their reward. While Wayne post now has but about a dozen members, we saw but seven who attended the services here. It is well that this younger and virgorous organization so willingly assumes a place in the ranks now so fast thinning.

The program was carefully followed, the assembling, the singing, the speaking, the flower girls on their mission of love, scattering tokens of remembrance on the graves of those whom they never knew, but whom they knew were thus honored by reason of a cause they had sacrificed for.

The opera house was filled to capacity and all listened to the splendid program of which the outstanding feature was the address by the Rev. Carl C. Hoon, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Sioux City. Rev. Fenton C. Jones offered the invocation, Rev. Teckhaus gave the benediction. Post Commander, James Milliken presided. Seated in a body in the front of the room were about a half hundred of the ex-service men—sturdy, vigorous young men in uniform. One to look at their perfect step as they marched in and out from the building and then to the cemetery for their service at the graves of the dead could but imagine what a force—what a power was developed when this government assembled and trained more than four million of these men—a mighty army, the greatest ever gathered, trained and equipped in the world history in the short time that elapsed from the time we entered the war until the armistice was signed. The United States may well be proud of its prowess.

But the talk of Rev. Hoon was grand. We could not tell it in print so that you would get a correct impression—you should have heard it. He spoke in a language of action, he voiced convictions, and found a response in the audience. He almost talked politics. He did not commend what we all condemn in politics—as it is being and has been played. He hoped for a leader of the people to develop from the great army of ex-service men—even as Lincoln had met the crisis of rebellion days, and as a grant and a McKinley had seemed to have been baptized in war to become leaders in peace. He criticized the negligence of government to the needs of 360,000 ex-service men who gave much to their country when asked. They should not now and never should have been neglected while representatives elected to do will of the people played politics with great corporation interests. It was a fitting and dignified appeal for better things and a scathing rebuke for the bad.

BASEBALL

Our baseball enthusiasts were fitting up the diamond for the coming contests. They have erected a grand stand with seating capacity for four hundred or more, depending upon the size.

Coming Games

This afternoon the home team will have a return game with Laurel, whom they met at Laurel a week ago. Wayne was the winner at Laurel, and the visiting team say that cannot happen every time.

Sunday afternoon the Wayne boys are to meet the Dakota City lads, and are looking for a fast game, if Wayne wins, as the home team is quite confident they will do.

My line of new summer shoes, and real comfort shoes, at popular prices, appeal to all who see them, says Mrs. Jeffries. They are going fast, but are kept coming in to keep stock complete.—adv.

PRESIDENT CONN, LL. D., OF WAYNE-NORMAL

At Lincoln Wednesday the degree LL. D. was conferred upon U. S. Conn of this city by the Wesleyan University. It is an honor well merited, and his Wayne friends are proud of the recognition given our citizen. A number of the members of the faculty and other Wayne friends were at Lincoln to witness the ceremony and extend congratulations to their president. The following brief review of Dr. Conn's life and his association with schools and school work follows.

President Ulysses Sylvester Conn, head of the State Teachers College at Wayne, on Wednesday morning, May 31, received deserved recognition by Nebraska Wesleyan University in the award of the degree LL. D. President Conn is oldest in point of service of all the presidents of state teachers colleges in Nebraska, having been elected to his present position in August 1910, nearly thirteen years ago. The latest edition of Who's Who reveals that President Conn was born in Middletown, Indiana, in 1865, began teaching at the age of nineteen, was graduated from Valparaiso University with the degree of A. B. in 1891 and that he was awarded the A. M. degree by his Alma Mater in 1901. President Conn has also studied in the University of Chicago. Most of his educational life has been lived in Nebraska, where he has had a career of substantial achievement. He was a member of faculty of the Nebraska Normal College at Wayne, superintendent of city schools in Wayne, professor of mathematics in Fremont College, superintendent of city schools in Columbus. From the last named position he was called to the presidency of the State Teachers College at Wayne when the Commonwealth purchased the property of the old Nebraska Normal College. President Conn was also elected president of the Nebraska State Teachers Association, but being temporarily away from the state, he did not serve in that capacity.

President Conn regards his career as president of the Teachers College as the crowning honor and achievement of his professional life. When, thirteen years ago, he assumed his duties at Wayne there was little to encourage him in outlook. The property was meager and in poor condition and the school year opened with fewer than one hundred students in attendance. Today no finer equipment can be found in any institution of learning in Nebraska than that at Wayne, the annual enrollment of students approaches fifteen hundred and the faculty numbers over thirty. During the years of the administration of President Conn a spirit of co-operation and good fellowship has prevailed among teachers, students and the community that has made for the success of the institution. It is a graceful thing for Wesleyan to award this well-deserved degree and the act is appreciated and approved by all who know the work of this eminent educator.

MRS. CHAS VANNORMAN AT WAYNE HOSPITAL

Tuesday Mrs. Chas. VanNorman, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks or more, was taken to the hospital, that she might have better care than could be given her in a private home. Her trouble has not been named to us, but the circulation in one foot seems to have stopped, and it has been most painful; and finally reached a stage no means could be applied to restore circulation, so physicians decided that the one slim chance for life was in removing the foot, and this was done Wednesday afternoon. Whether or not she can rally from the shock, and whether or not the system may not have absorbed too much poison from the foot to permit of recovery is a question.

TRERICHS-JURGENS

At Wayne, Friday, May 26, 1922, at the county court room by Judge J. M. Cherry, Mr. Miner H. Jurgens and Mrs. Augusta Trerichs, both of Coleridge, were united in marriage. The groom is a farmer of Cedar county.

STANTON-BURBRIDGE

Wednesday, morning, May 31, 1922, at 8:30 at the St. Mary's Catholic church, in this city, Rev. Father Kearns officiating, Mr. Arthur L. Burbridge of Logan, Iowa, and Miss Madeline Stanton of Carroll were united in marriage. Their wedding was a quiet affair, only members of the family and most intimate friends being present. William Collins and Miss Marie Stanton were groomsman and bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, James Stanton, near Carroll, to the family and immediate friends. Then the bride and groom left by automobile to visit the home of the groom's parents at Logan, after which they will be at home at Missouri Valley, Iowa, where the young man is establishing an office for the practice of law. The groom is a graduate from the law department of Creighton college at Omaha, of the class of 1921, and has spent a part of the time since assisting and reading law at the office of F. S. Berry of this city, and he won some warm friends during his stay at Wayne, and is a young man of ability, and studious habits. The bride is the daughter of James Stanton, a worthy young lady who grew to womanhood in this county, a graduate from the Carroll schools and the normal college of this place, and one of the successful teachers of the county. They have the well wishes of a host of friends.

COUNCIL DOES BUSINESS

Last evening was a busy one for the members of the city council, who were all present. They met the evening before, that being the regular time, but a legal holiday, so adjournment was had until Wednesday evening, and here are some of the things started:

Gave firemen order to purchase a pulmotor for community use.

Authorized the purchase of a flag for the staff on the city hall.

Will install a small scale at the power and light plant for weighing the coal used, with a view of determining more accurately the cost of producing light and power—and give a gleam of hope that electricity rates may be reduced.

They have set a committee at work with a view of establishing some "silent police" on some of the busier street intersections. That is a mark in the center which will keep auto drivers from cutting corners, endangering themselves, other drivers and pedestrians.

They have the paint now with which to zone the streets for car parking, and cars not parked properly will be cared for to the extent of about five berries for the first offense; and parking within so many feet of a street intersection will be an offence, as it is now, tho no one seems to know that, judging by the way they park cars.

A hand cart is to be ordered for the use of a street cleaner, and the trash will be cared for more promptly. Good work.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

John Minihan of Leslie precinct has filed with the county clerk his claim to a place on the democratic ballot as commissioner from the first district, which takes in the east and southeast part of the county. There is already one other democrat filed, P. M. Corbit, the present incumbent, and there are also two republicans who will try for the nomination.

TOURIST CAMP GROUND AT WAYNE

The city has arranged for a half block of ground just east of the city park, and had it graded down for the use of such tourists as may wish to camp at Wayne during the coming tourist season. We know not how many may come this way who will want to take advantage of this privilege. We have seen two or three tourist equipments passing this way already. One, according to the car license number came from Texas, and beyond a doubt as the season advances and real vacation months approach there may be many passing, and in that event some will want to spend a night here. Storms may stay some for a time, and it is a very proper thing to make a place where they may feel that they are welcome.

Oh, Girls—I want you to remember that I am ordering a large line of dresses for 1st of July wear. When you celebrate the national birthday wear one of these pretty dresses, says Mrs. Jeffries.—adv.

FOUND SUPERVISION PROVIDED

The commissioners have engaged Albia Putman of Ponca to be supervisor of the play ground in the city park during the vacation months, and she is to begin her duties today. Her hours are from 9:30 to 11:30 in the forenoon and from 1:30 to 5:30 afternoons. This will be a great thing for the little folks, and also for the mothers, who may feel that the little folks will be looked after and cared for. More than that, their play will doubtless be so directed that it will be instructive as well as a pleasure. To be sure there are some who might prefer to run wild and at large, and do just as they please, but if their natural trend, in that direction can be curbed, and their energies directed to some better work it will be of benefit to them in all their lives.

More playthings are provided also. A half-dozen teeter-totters, four new tables, four waste baskets, a drink fountain and fourteen new seats. This will make it fine for the boys and girls of our city, and they should most certainly appreciate the interest taken in their play, and be very careful not to mar any of these fixtures.

And it has been whispered to us that if there should be any children inclined to be rude and destroy their city playthings, their punishment will consist of not being permitted to play in the park and have access to the swings and slides and teters, so we feel confident that the little folks will take a pride in keeping everything as nice as new, except the natural wear that comes with their right use. Here's hoping that all of the little ones have a happy vacation.

WAYNE COUNTY FAIR VOTES TO INCORPORATE

At the meeting last evening of the officers and directors elected Saturday, matters began to move. The first decision was to incorporate at once, and a committee composed of A. R. Davis, R. W. Ley and J. E. Hufford was named to draft constitution and bylaws and look after the proper incorporation of the association. Stock will soon be offered for sale.

A number of committees were named for various duties. Publicity is J. J. Ahern and J. E. Hufford. Lands and buildings will be looked after by Harry Craven, Jas Ahern and Wm. VonSeggern. Many other things were discussed, before adjournment, which was to meet at City hall Saturday afternoon, June 10, when the officers and directors hope to have a large number of interested farmers and business men with them, for their meetings are not to be star chamber affairs. They want all interested to help make the fair the best possible. The date of the exhibit is not yet definitely fixed, but it is hoped that it may be announced next week.

Miss Gladys Porten who has been attending the Normal, and her sister Eunice who spent a few days visiting here left Monday morning for their home at Lake Preston, South Dakota. They were accompanied by Mrs. Porter, their grandmother, who will make her home with her son G. G. Porter at that place.

Richard Hall, who has been a student at the Normal the past school year, left Monday morning to visit his mother at Madison for a few days. He is not yet fully decided whether he will return for the summer school. He is a member of the graduating class year, and is elected as one of class this year, and is elected as one of the teaching force at Walthill.

John Morgan and Gus Hason, having their spring work well in hand left here Monday afternoon for Granite Falls, Minnesota, to visit at the home of Wilder Morgan and family. Mr. John Morgan seems to have heard that the fish are biting there better than along the Logan, and he is getting fish hungry. The writer has been admiring Mr. Morgan's garden, and the layout he is shaping for a pretty corner on his parking this summer. Competent judges say that the diploma for the best garden in Wayne this spring would be about an even break between John Morgan and Rev. S. X. Cross—and by the way they are both quite cronies, and enjoy fishing as well as gardening.

Mrs. Fritz Averman and Miss Mithida Reuter went to Minnesota, where they will visit with the former's sister.

Mrs. Chas. Olson, who has been visiting here with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Gildersleeve, went to Blair Monday to visit a sister for a short time.

E. Q. Sala came from Oakdale last Thursday to visit his sons here and greet a lot of his old friends, and attend the college commencement exercises, one of his sons being a member of the class.

Miss Florence Gardner, who has been teaching at Butte the last half of the school year, returned home Saturday afternoon, the school closing Friday. Prof. O. R. Bowen was speaker at their commencement exercises Friday evening.

Mrs. Lee Hughes left Friday for her new home at Norfolk, Mr. Hughes having a position in a creamery at that place, and also having secured a house into which they can move. He was at Columbus for a time, but could not find a house there.

Claude Courtwright from Lincoln was here last week to visit his sister, Mrs. Chas. VanNorman and also meet and visit with his parents, who were called here from Minnesota to be at her bedside during her sickness. Mr. Claude tells us that a son was born to himself and wife at their Lincoln home May 9, 1922.

Wm. Prince and daughter Miss Emily of Winside were Wayne visitors Monday morning. Mr. Prince was assessor of Chapin precinct, and came to turn his books over to the county assessor. The assessors are supposed to now be thru with their assessing, and the final reports are coming in daily now.

Prof. E. H. Britell is visiting different places in the state this week, where he inspects the radio equipment in different places, for that is his particular business just now. If there is one in the state who gives this new means of communication more time, more intelligent study, or is getting more from their study than Prof. Britell, we do not know who it is, or where they are to be found. The Normal owes much of its advancement in this science to his untiring application to his chosen work. He has been at Lincoln, Omaha, Wahoo and perhaps other points. This evening he is to give the commencement address at New Castle, where their closing in a little late, owing to fire destroying their old school building a few weeks before the new one was ready for occupancy.

We Do Tailoring

Yes, we have engaged the services of a competent tailor, and can make you new garments and furnish the goods, or properly repair your worn clothing. If that will not do, we have a fine line of samples from which to select a made-to-measure and made-to-fit suit from guaranteed 100 per cent Woolens—and the prices are well back toward the pre-war times.

We are taking orders every day and will be glad to have you counted among our customers. It makes no difference whether you want a full suit or an odd pair of trousers we will well take care of your wants.

We are also in position to do your dry cleaning, clean and reblock your Panama hats, or dyeing.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

What we mean by Balanced Gasoline

VOLATILITY that insures vaporization and quick starts at all temperatures—certain fractions in proper proportion that provide additional mileage per gallon—high flame speed that develops maximum cylinder pressure—complete, clean combustion that keeps down carbon deposits—these are the properties of properly balanced gasoline. Red Crown Gasoline excels in these important respects. It is properly balanced gasoline that is certified to meet all U. S. Government specifications.

Measured by a dynamometer or by the performance of any automobile, Red Crown Gasoline stands first. For dependable power, big mileage per gallon, and freedom from carbon troubles, get the habit of using Red Crown Gasoline.

Drive in where you see the Red Crown sign. Wherever you go you can get Red Crown Gasoline. Wherever you buy Red Crown Gasoline you get properly balanced motor fuel.

Do They Ever Forget?

FROM COAST-TO COAST WITH- OUT PAYING TRANSPORTATION

That is the task undertaken by three ladies from Los Angeles who have made a small wager that they can make the trip without paying anything for car fare or transportation on the entire trip. They came into Wayne Monday afternoon, riding with Mr. Kostomlatsky, who overtook them as they were walking from Hoskins to Winside, and brought them as far as Wayne, for they may accept automobile or wagon rides if offered by those passing their way. A Democrat reporter happened to be passing as they alighted from the car, and he learned from them that much of the story. Their names are Bessie D. Erhard, Geraldine Erhard and Bess Humphries. The one first named said that Wayne looked natural to her, except the paving, for she had formerly lived at Allen, and had been here frequently. She remembered the late President Pile of the old school here, and chatted a few moments with his son, having asked about his father.

They had been seven weeks on the way, but had spent a week of that time at Denver. They had found the worst trouble to get along in the mountains, in the early stages of their journey, and the next was when south of Columbus. This latter was because of bad weather, and newly graded roads. No automobiles were running, and the walking in loose wet dirt was not the best. They were clad in suits much resembling a soldier uniform, carried each a small haversack, a canteen for water, and at least one of them had what appeared to be a little shooting iron.

The ladies stepped from the car here, got their bearings, chatted a few moments with some who had the curiosity to ask questions, and then they adjusted their packs to carry easily and marched briskly north on Main street, hoping to reach the former home of one the party at Allen. Within a few moments they were out of sight, marching with the free and easy swing of trained pedestrians.

They plan to rest a day at Allen and then move on to Sioux City, and from there they will go to Kingsley, Iowa, to visit the sister of one of the trio. They had carried blankets and slept out during the earlier stages of their journey, but when it became so warm that they were a burden they had sent them to some point ahead, and if too cold for their lighter wraps had stopped for the night at hotels.

They expect to present the mayor of New York with a letter from the mayor of Los Angeles within a few weeks.

CRIMINAL

An exchange says: "In one year the 12 federal reserve banks of the country have reduced their commercial loans from $1,234,533,000 to $362,662,000. The reduction is more than two-thirds. There seems to be little human interest in these figures. Back of them, though, is the greatest tragedy of our generation—the story of deflation, with its hurricane of desperation, fear, loss, despair and necessity." It is a dishonest manner of stealing. The inflation was perhaps excessive, and the deflation needlessly sudden and extreme.

COUNTY FINANCE SHOULD BE MANAGED

According to the State Journal, county finances need a bit more attention in some counties. They are in bad in our adjoining county of Stanton, and the tax-payers are asking the court to annul the excessive issue, and if they should, it might be hard for the bridge companies, for they are the concerns to which much has been issued. Here is the story: That many of the county governments in Nebraska manage their financial affairs in a perilously loose and haphazard way was shown in the course of the state's road investigation. The suits filed last week in Stanton county by farmer taxpayers involve further charges on this point. The allegations made would show, if proved, a remarkable neglect of the laws governing the levying of taxes and the issuing of warrants.

The Nebraska law limits the county levy to three and a half mill. In certain circumstances the levy could be raised to four and a half. The Stanton county farmers allege that five and a half mills was actually levied, and they ask the court to annul the levy insofar as it is in excess of the legal amount. Meanwhile, it is said, a great many taxpayers have paid their taxes under this levy. There is a report, moreover, that more knowing taxpayers including the railroads, have tendered only the amount of the legal levy and so have escaped with a lower rate of taxation than the more unsuspecting taxpayers have paid.

There is another Nebraska law which forbids county boards to issue warrants in excess of 85 per cent of an uncollected tax levy. The Stanton county taxpayers allege that the county board has actually issued warrants in excess of the legal limits to the amount of nearly half a million dollars. The court is asked, accordingly, to annul these excess warrants most of which have been issued to a bridge construction company. This feature of the case is similar to one which arose in Johnson county a few years ago.

These suits are the outgrowth of a mass meeting of farmers of Stanton county, and are a variation upon the Dawson county movement recently reported. The hearings in court and the facts as finally established in this case will be of general interest. Apparently our counties need business management. The growing disposition which is here illustrated of the common, ordinary taxpayers to combine for effective defense against loose management of public affairs may well lead to that result. Is there not room to judge, just now, that a more businesslike organization of county government could be contrived?

A DREAM COMING TRUE

Very little has been said about it, but the old populist idea of warehouses in which surplus farm products could be stored and await a better market is at least becoming a reality says a leading republican exchange. The demand for government loans bearing interest at only 2 per cent, is the part of the program that has been lost by the wayside. Private money must be used and ordinary commercial rate will prevail in all of these transactions.

Eight years ago congress passed an act providing for the licensing of public warehouses. These structures must have certain elements of safety and certain facilities for grading, storing and handling commodities. During the war but little progress was made in establishing these concerns. Of late considerable activity has been shown. There are now 530 of these licensed and bonded warehouses in existence and many more are under consideration. The system has aroused much interest among bankers, who have suddenly discovered that a warehouse receipt on staple goods issued by a licensed corporation is the very best kind of security.

A uniform warehouse receipt is issued under government inspection. It shows the character of the commodity, its weight and value, and the exact terms of the loan. The goods are inspected quarterly, and more frequently on request. In case of theft or other loss the receipt is protected by the bond of the house and by other established forms of insurance.

To complete the success of the plan, the federal reserve system has placed these receipts on the accepted lists. This will carry the benefits of the reserve system right down to the farmer as soon as enough warehouses are built to meet his needs. Warehousing is becoming one of the greatest aids to general business, for storage houses without federal licenses are handling goods on low costs and with surprising efficiency. The warehouse business is rapidly passing into the hands of competent and responsible business men who will develop in a short time into a great aid to the farmer as well as to general business and to banking.

Dr. J. H. Mullen, formerly of Bloomfield, but now a resident of Omaha, was thru here Monday evening on his way to Bloomfield, where he had accepted an invitation to deliver their decoration day address. We would be glad to have had opportunity to hear his tribute to those who gave their all for the cause of peace. Naturally, we know that the Doctor would like to talk politics on this occasion, were it the proper time and place—but he will forego that pleasure and talk peace, which, in the final analysis is the desire of the great mass of the people. When the people can forget politics, and come somewhere near agreeing upon what they want, and then work for that, they will certainly get it. But until such time as they can unite upon what they want and the best method of obtaining it, they will find that reforms come all too slow. As long as the politician can befuddle and divide the people as to what is best for all, and best way to obtain their wants, so long will results be tardy and doubtful. But Dr. Mullen will have the people with him when he preaches peace; and we believe that Mr. Mullen has enough Irish in his make-up to have peace, if he desires it, even if he has to fight for it.

OBITUARY

Margaret Paul, daughter of James Paul and Jennie Dunn, was born June 1, 1836, at Tullygrawley, Antrim county, Ireland, and died at her home in Concord, Saturday, May 20, 1922, at 10:05 o'clock a. m. at the age of 85 years 11 months, 20 days, death being caused by cancer. She was confined to her bed for six weeks previous to her death. She was baptized at the Cunningham Memorial Presbyterian church in Ireland in December, 1836, by Rev. Hugh Hamilton. At the age of 20 years she was left an orphan and later joined the Walcott Presbyterian church at Walcott, Iowa.

Her father passed away in October, 1854, and her mother passed away in June, 1856. In March, 1856 she came to America to the home of her eldest sister, Mrs. William Paul, who resided near Walcott, Iowa. She made her home there until her marriage to James Paul, June 13, 1859, at Rock Island, Illinois. They resided on a farm near Walcott, Iowa, until the spring of 1885, when they moved to a farm two miles and one-half, southwest of Concord, where she made her home until November, 1899, when she moved to Concord where she made her home until her death. Her husband passed away July 4, 1912. In September, 1915, a son, John passed away after a short illness of 30 hours.

Margaret Paul was the mother of nine children, six sons and three daughters, four sons and one daughter having preceded her in death. She is survived by four children, William E. Paul, of Sioux City, Iowa, Mrs. Annie Van Donselaar, David A. Paul and Martha E. Natley all of Concord, Nebraska, also five grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends. Her brother, David Paul of Grinnell, Iowa, was unable to attend the funeral on account of poor health.

The following nephews and nieces of Gilman Iowa, attended the funeral. John Paul, William Paul, James M. Paul and Margaret McIlrath. Short services were held at the home at 2:30, Monday afternoon, after which regular services were held at the Free Mission church. Rev. Glenn Nelson the pastor preached a short sermon and Rev. W. O. Harper of the Laurel Presbyterian church also preached a sermon.

Interment was made in the Concord cemetery in the family lot. The deceased was one of the pioneers of Dixon county and was one who was held in high regard and esteem by all who knew her.

Dearest Mother, thou hast left us. Here thy loss we keenly feel. But 'tis God that has bereft us, He can still our sorrows heal.

Peaceful by thy silent slumber, Peaceful in thy grave so low. Thou no more will join our number, Thou no more will greet us here.

Yet again we hope to meet thee, When the day of life has fled, And in heaven with joy to greet thee, Where no farewell tear is shed.

CARD OF THANKS: To the many relatives, friends and former neighbors who so efficiently aided in every way in our hour of sorrow with sympathy and kind, helpful acts, and for the general floral offering at the funeral and burial of mother, we extend our sincere thanks and knowledge an indebtedness we can only pay by aiding others in time of need.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Paul and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Donselaar, Mr. and Mrs. John Natley, Mr. and Mrs. David A. Paul and family.

PACKARD STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEBRASKA FORD

For the Packard we recommend the following grades:

- Summer MEDIUM HEAVY
- Winter MEDIUM HEAVY
- Transmission TRANSMISSION OIL
- Differential TRANSMISSION OIL

You Should Know EXACTLY Which Grade of Motor Oil to Use

IT sometimes happens that an unusual operating condition in a given make of motor makes advisable the use of a grade of motor oil which would not have been used had the motorist used ordinary methods of selection or followed casual advice.

The matter of finding precisely the right lubricants for your motor—for everybody's motor—seemed so necessary to this company that our experts examined the entire field of automotive equipment; testing, checking and re-testing, until a chart of specifications was evolved which makes it impossible for you to go wrong.

This chart, called the Polarine Chart, is printed in the Red Crown Road Map, which has been mailed to every Nebraska motorist. If you have not received it, write direct to the company. A brief glance at the chart will tell you which grade of Polarine you should use. Follow the specifications consistently and much of the overhauling, replacement of worn or broken parts, burned-out bearings and other expensive and unnecessary repair jobs will be eliminated.

Polarine Oil is made in four grades—medium light, medium heavy, heavy, and extra heavy—but only one quality. Get the proper grade for your car—at the same place you buy clean-burning, scientifically balanced Red Crown Gasoline.

MORE COMMON SENSE BEING SHOWN

Some business men are beginning to realize that their prosperity really depends upon the other fellows. They are learning that if the fellows who tickle the soil and make food for man and beast grow, are not given a fair chance, all will suffer.

In their little letter telling of the purpose of their trip through their trade territory, the Omaha business men take occasion to say that "Omaha's prosperity depends upon the prosperity of this great region."

THE RADIO AT WAYNE NORMAL

New Equipment Installed at the State Teachers' School.

The Wayne state teachers college has had a licensed radio station during the past eight years. Prof. I. H. Britell, the head of the physical science department has held an operator's license since 1915.

The college radiophone has been heard 250 miles from Wayne and the spark set had a daylight range of 300 miles. The two steel towers just erected are ninety-five feet high and 100 feet from center to center.

This new system has increased the range of the station to twice its former distance. Professor Britell was able to send a message to his daughter who teaches in a high school in West Bend, Wisconsin, air-line 500 miles, thru a rather heavy static interference.

NOT ALL PROSPERITY IN STATE OF WYOMING

The Democrat editor received a letter last week from Thermopolis, Wyoming, written by Wm. Eliason, who has been living in that land for several years, in which he says that it is hard times for lots of people in the coal and oil fields, which are in control of small group of baldheaded Sunday school teachers by the name of Rock & Etc.

The small bootlegger never makes anything. So they come and rent a house, put in a still and sell whiskey. Then the state law says that if a still is found in your house, it may be closed for one year.

It is hot here today, 93 in the shade. People now have plenty of early garden truck. I am pleased to see the political muddle of the politicians. Political parties need a cleaning, and they are out of line with the times.

THE WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI BANQUET

This annual gathering of those who have finished their course in the Wayne high school was held Saturday evening, and was largely attended by members of the classes of other years, in honor of the class of 1922, who were received into the organization in due form.

The gathering was at the dining room of the Baptist church of this city and the ladies of the church served a most pleasing banquet, at seven o'clock. The menu follows:

- Swiss Roast, Mashed Potatoes, Brown Gravy, Scalloped Corn, Rolls, Butter, Radishes, Pineapple Salad, Orange Ice, Angle Food Cake, Coffee, Mints, Miss Elizabeth Mines, president of the Alumni Association, acted as toastmistress.

The new officers elected were as follows: Mrs. Anna Johnson, president; Ruth Ringland, vice-president; Leila Mitchell secretary; and Henry Ley, treasurer.

The evening was happily spent, and those who responded to the various toasts were given much applause as they recounted something of their memories of the journey and its trials, disappointments and pleasures. An alumni association, is perhaps the most democratic and enjoyable gathering imaginable, when the members, in all walks of life meet and for an evening roll back the curtain and look at the days and scenes of other years, when they passed thru the very course that the new members have but just finished.

LOOKING AHEAD The farmer plants the clover—I dream of a happy day to come. When a little bee the bloom will spy And for a moment hush his hum—He'll suck the sweetness from the flower. And make it a honey-comb—And in some joyous winter hour My "Honey," by the fires of Home Will make a flap-jack batch for me. And holler to me, "Honey, come And have a little feast with me." And with my eyes on Paradise, I'll thank the farmer and the bee. —Stolen

Why It Pays To Feed Butter Milk. When corn alone is fed, authentic experiments show that only about 20 per cent of protein, or flesh producing element is retained, 23 per cent from wheat. By adding Semi-Solid Butter-Milk to the corn ration the amount of protein retained is increased to 62 per cent. Semi-Solid Butter Milk is today solving the feeding problems for hog and poultry men. The essential food elements have been retained and 75 per cent of the water removed. One hundred sixty-five Wayne county farmers are using Semi-Solid and fully 20 per cent have come for their second barrel the past week.

The young man has been in the employ of this concern in this kind of work for several years, but this is his first visit to Wayne.

Among the Wayne visitors, Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gibson, their son, and Mrs. Steins, a sister of Mrs. Gibson, who drove out from Omaha; and Mr. and Mrs. Peters of Sioux City, who came to decorate the graves of Mr. and Mrs. Goss, former Wayne people, who now rest in our cemetery. They were guests at the home of Mrs. Shultheis, to whom they lived neighbors for a number of years on their farms near Wayne.

Mrs. Alice H. Hall of Madison, who was here last week to attend the college commencement, is one of the teaching force at Madison, and a woman who has been successful in school work for a number of years. She tells us that at the solicitation of friends who are interested in the schools of their county, she has filed for the nomination for county superintendent. The outlook seems favorable for her nomination, we are told. Well, Madison county might well join with many other counties of the state in placing a capable woman in that responsible position. Fully seven-eighths of the country teachers are women, and a woman may well be selected to superintend them.

REPORT OF THE TOWN SCHOOLS FOR THE YEAR
(From the Wayne County Teacher) Carroll

The past year has gone quickly for the Carroll School and it is closed with many happy thoughts and regrets. There are one hundred sixty one (161) pupils in the school and eight (8) teachers. The teachers are: Misses Estella Ziemer, Bessie Bacon; Eva Griffin; Minnie Crowell; Esther Johnson; Helen Boentje; Fay Southwell and at the head Supt. G. A. Jones.

As yet, Miss Boentje and Miss Griffin are the only ones to stay another year. Miss Bacon and Miss Johnson are going to school, themselves, and Mr. Jones and Miss Ziemer have obtained positions at Rosalia, Nebraska. Miss Southwell is considering the principalship at Randolph.

In the High School there are sixty five (65) students. Thirty five (35) of these come from the country and pay tuition. Ten (10) pupils finish the course this year. They are: Johanna Otto; Lester Belford; Jennings Gaywood; Genevieve Bonta; Elsie Gemmel; Marlon Jones; Charles Collins; Kenrick Mitchell; Eleanor Edwards; and Charles Mills.

The girls and Kenrick Mitchell are planning to attend summer school and prepare for teachers. A set of twelve (12) volumes, Nelson's Loose Leaf Encyclopedia, and a framed picture of President Harding have been presented to the school by the Junior Class. The Seniors have left a fine sectional book-case to be remembered by.

The main athletics carried on in the school were in the form of basketball. The Juniors held a box supper and gave the play entitled "THE FOUR LEAFED SHAMROCK" during the last semester.

The Seniors gave "CIVIL SERVICE"

April 28.
Only one event happened to mar this busy year. That was the death of Laverne Thomas, a Junior, during the fore part of the year. —LEB.

Hoskins
(Written by Natalie Krause)
The School term of 1921-1922 closed successfully May 19th, 1922, for a summer vacation of three months.

There were ninety pupils enrolled with the following teachers in charge, Martha Mueller, Primary, Leone Shane, Intermediate, Frieda Zeplin, Grammar Grades and Wm. J. Fegley, Principal, Miss Shane and Mr. Fegley will return in the fall. Miss Mueller will attend school at Wayne this winter and Miss Zeplin is still undecided about what she will do.

Mr. Fegley and Miss Mueller will attend the Wayne State Teachers College this summer. Miss Zeplin and Miss Shane will spend their vacations at their homes in West Point and Norfolk, respectively. Miss Ida Brumels has been secured as teacher of the primary grades this coming term.

Seven out of nine eighth graders passed in the first examinations, making a very good record for our school. Much credit is due their teachers Mrs. Fegley and Miss Zeplin.

Eight pupils graduated from the tenth grade, Commencement exercises were held at the Opera House Thursday evening May 18th. The graduates are as follows, Alice Anderson, Frieda Hamann, Ella Green, Elsie Kollath, Walter Ohlund, Clarence L. Schroeder, Norris Schroeder and Doris Ziemer.

O. R. Bowen of Wayne was speaker of the evening. They will all go on to school next year. Alice Anderson, Doris Ziemer, Walter Ohlund, Clarence and Norris Schroeder will attend High School at Norfolk, Ella Green and Elsie Kollath will attend school at Wayne and Frieda Hamann will leave for her new home at Elkheart, Wisconsin, where she will also attend High School.

City water with fountains was established through-out the school last fall.

Much credit is due our teachers for the interest they have taken in the social activities, athletics and school work. Our Baseball and Basketball teams have done splendid work under the supervision of Mr. Fegley.

Many enjoyable evenings were spent at social gatherings in the homes of different pupils. The play "Brown-Eyed Betty" given by the High School and "Deacon Dubbs", the class play were both well given and well attended. At Christmas time a program was given by the entire school and two short plays were given by the Grammar Grades and High School pupils.

School closed with a picnic for the Primary and Intermediate Rooms Thursday, Thursday afternoon the High school and Grammar Grade pupils were treated to ice cream and cake by their teachers, Mr. Fegley and Miss Zeplin.

The report cards were given out Friday Morning and in the afternoon a Baseball game was played between the Hoskins and Winside High School teams. The Hoskins boys winning with a score of nine to six.

We hope that next year we will have as good a time as we did the past year.

Sholes
(Written by La Rue E. Miller, a ninth grader and Cecile E. Robins, a tenth grader.)

There is a total enrollment of 65 at the Sholes Consolidated School, of which 11 are in the High School and 17 in the 7th and 8th grades.

E. Pibel is principal and teaches all the High School subjects. The 9th and 10th grade have taken Botany and History together. There are three grade teachers. They are Ethel Burnham, Ruth Morrow, and Mae Rasmussen. None of these four teachers will return next year.

Miss Rasmussen expects to spend the summer with her folks at Ainsworth. Miss Morrow and Miss Burnham will go to school at Wayne, the latter to make a specialty of music, and we think that our school is much above the average in musical lines. Mr. Pibel expects to take special work at Lincoln and to teach again next year.

The 10th grade consists of Lucile Sundahl, Edna Carlson, Cecile Robins, Ervin Williams, Mable Stueckrath, and Everett Abts. The last two of these are tuition pupils. All expect to continue their studies, either here or elsewhere. There is some talk of putting more grades in, at this school. Graduation exercises were held May 18, for the whole class.

We are pleased with our 8th grade. The four girls getting an average of 88, with Ruth Pibel first and we are especially proud of Esther Tietgen, who was second, as she is only 12.

Our 7th grade is the largest in the school with 10 pupils, of which Anoma Clark has the best grades, while Mable Follette, the youngest member of the class, is second. The High School took debating during the first semester and were quite interested. The girls of the upper grades play on marches for dismissal, the same being preferred to the Victrola.

The girls have played basket-ball when the weather permitted, but we have had no place indoors in which to play. The boys made a start in soccer football.

Several good entertainments were given, which were a credit to the school. The musical part being especially good.

Our school play was "Deacon Dubbs", given May 5. It was considered to be the best one ever seen in this vicinity. We were fortunate in having players well-suited to the parts, as everyone in the High School had to take a part, there being no choice. We were also fortunate in having Mr. Pibel to train us, as he is very capable in such work, and in athletics also.

(Added by Mr. Pibel.)
Cecile Robins has the best average, 92, in the 10th grade and has done very fine work in Geometry, obtaining 490 marks in the 5 tests taken—an average of 98.

The class average in all subjects is 82. La Rue Miller, who last year obtained the highest average in the County 8th grade examinations, has this year an average of 96 in the 9th grade and her specialty is any subject.

CERTIFICATES OF AWARD
(From the Wayne County Teacher)

Pupils of the county who have recently received Certificates of Award for nine months perfect attendance are: Marvin Brudigan, Violette Suhr, Erwin Fleeer, Lillian Morris, Mildred Tyler, John Lynch, Harold Moore, Clarence May, Bernice May, Arnold Mau, Silas Newman, Beatrice Murrill, Lois Bailey, Elmo Jenkins, Ida Gemelle, Esther Reichert, Vernetta Kay, Alfred Uttecht, Martha Uttecht, Elsie Eckhardt, Agnes Strate, Evelyn Eckhardt, Alfred Drevsen, Olga Chapman, Gustave Nelson, Elmer Wacker, Ervin Wittler, Violet Edwards, Ruby Davis, Ellen Hefti, Bertha Woehler, Otto Sievers, Martha Victor, Gilbert Sundahl, Jessie Sundahl, Inez Benedict, Alfred Behmer, Alma Chichester, Irene May, Clarence Davis, Edwin Longe, Helen Billeter, Myron Walker, Arthur Fletcher, Leona Wittler, Ralph Austin, Blaine Gettman, Elsie Fenske, Blanche Collins, Charlie Vanfossen, Clement McGuire, Richard McGuire, Nannie Thomas, Claude Carpenter, Monte Davenport, Donald Thomas, Russell Warnemunde, Eleanor Brune, Alice Fleeer, Margaret Gabler, Opal Darnell, Edna Nieman, Alice Wylie, Edna Davis, Adolph Kraft, Merriona Jones, Willard Williams, Gladys Phillips, Lillian Cross, Thille Mohr, Donald Theophilus, Freddie Cross, Irma Doring, Evangeline McCorkindale, Lyle Wade, Harold Wade, Irma Doring, Henry, Dora, Louise and Martha Papstein.

A FEW VERY GOOD ANSWERS FOUND IN THE EXAMINATION PAPERS
(From the Wayne County Teacher)

Question. Write a short description of some picnic, fishing trip, hunting trip or a hike you have taken.
Answer 1.

Last summer we planned on going fishing. Papa bought the hooks, string and poles and mamma cooked and made the lunch. We boys went to the creek and dug out some worms. The next day we got up early, did the chores and packed the things into the car. Then about seven o'clock we started. We had a big load. We drove to some homes asking, which way it was to the best river. We arrived at the fishing place about twelve o'clock and there we ate our dinner. After dinner the girls packed the dishes away and we boys and papa went to fish a while. Papa caught the first fish but a pig came along and ate it. Then we pulled out five more big fish. By this time it was time to start for home. We packed up and started for home. When we were about half way home it started to rain. We stopped in to a place and put on chains and side curtains. We reached home about eight o'clock at night but we were all wet.

Description of a Picnic

When I was in the sixth grade the teacher promised us a picnic on the last day of school.

When the day came for our picnic we were all happy and gay. We all brought the 'eats' which we were supposed to furnish.

The boys were all supposed to pick out a trail for us to follow by taking bits of rags and tying them to either twigs of trees or weeds on their way out to the grove where our picnic was supposed to be.

The teacher and all of us girls had to carry the lunch.

It sure was fun following their trail through meadows, pastures, creeks and roads, where we often had to help one another along.

After we came to the grove of trees and a spring near by we happened to see the boys getting wood and brush together for the bonfire we were to have to roast our marshmallows and wienies on. We played many different games and sports after which we ate a hearty meal and soon started for home taking a tired feeling with us.

Question. What does the author mean in these lines?
"Lives of great men all remind us. We can make our lives sublime. And departing leave behind us Foot prints in the sands of time."

Answer. In those lines the author means that if we try to live right and the best that we know how we will leave some things behind us even after we're gone that the people will remember us by.

A good group of sentences using the words was, were, is, are, has, have, see, saw, go, went. I was at home last night. You were at school yesterday. Harding is president of United States.

Great men are always remembered. The World War has ended. I have a new dress. I see you every day. Mary saw him yesterday. He will not go. They went home last night.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a judgment, and an order of sale of attached property duly made, and entered on the 19th day of April, 1922 in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska in an action then and therein pending wherein Harry Griffith and Anna Griffith Owen, were plaintiffs and E. W. Closson was defendant, I will, on the 3rd day of June 1922, at one o'clock p. m. of said day, at the Court House in the city of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the following described real estate situated in the County of Wayne and State of Nebraska to-wit:

"A part of the north half of the northwest quarter of Section thirty-four, Township twenty-seven, North, Range two, Wayne County, Nebraska more particularly described as follows:

"Commencing at a point where the east side of Main Street of the original town of Carroll intersects the north line of the C., St. P. M. & O. Railway right of way, thence north twenty-five feet, thence east 300 feet, thence south 160.5 feet to the north line of the R. R. right of way, thence northwesterly along said line to the point of commencement."

Said sale is had for the purpose of satisfying the above described judgment and order of sale of attached property in an amount of $950.00 and interest thereon at ten per cent from the date of said judgment and costs and accruing costs. Dated at Wayne, Nebraska this 24th day of April, 1922. A. C. Lewis, Sheriff.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Notice is hereby given that the board of county commissioners, the county assessor, and the county clerk will sit as a board of equalization, commencing on Tuesday, the 13th day of June, 1922, for the purpose of equalizing the valuation of personal and real property of the county as returned by the precinct assessors.

Bear in mind that your lands, lots and improvements are all reassessed this year.

Any and all complaints on the assessment of both real and personal property will be heard at this time.

All that are assessed are especially urged to call and inspect the books, relative to their assessment, as this will materially aid us in avoiding any errors.

The board will continue in session for not less than three (3) days, and all complaints or protests must be witnessed my hand and seal, this 6th day of May, A. D. 1922. Chas. W. Reynolds, County Clerk.

PRIMARY ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday the 18th day of July, 1922, at the usual voting places, in each precinct of Wayne County, Nebraska, a primary election will be held, for the nomination by each of the political parties of candidates for the following named offices. Regents of the State University, State Superintendent of Public Instruction and County Superintendent of Public Instruction are nominated by a non-political ballot, regardless of political affiliation. With 7,900 cattle Monday the market developed some weakness and in spite of the fairly broad demand prices ranged from 10 to 25c lower than the close of last week. Best beefs went around $8.25 to $8.00. Cows ruled steady to unevenly lower but feeders showed no material change.

Quotations on Cattle:—Choice to prime beefs, $8.35 to $8.60; good to choice beefs, $7.90 to $8.35; fair to good beefs, $7.50 to $7.90; common to fair beefs, $7.00 to $7.50; choice to prime yearlings, $8.35 to $8.75; good to choice yearlings, $7.75 to $8.25; fair to good yearlings, $7.25 to $7.75; common to fair yearlings, $6.75 to $7.25; choice to prime heifers, $7.75 to $8.25; good to choice heifers, $7.00 to $7.75; fair to good heifers, $6.00 to $7.00; choice to prime cows, $6.35 to $7.00; good to choice cows, $5.75 to $6.25; fair to good cows, $4.75 to $5.00; cutters, $3.75 to $4.50; canners, $3.25 to $3.60; beef and butcher bulls, $4.50 to $7.25; bologna bulls, $4.25 to $4.50; veal calves, $6.50 to $11.50; good to choice feeders, $7.50 to $8.00; fair to good feeders, $6.85 to $7.40; common to fair feeders, $6.25 to $6.75; good to choice stockers, $7.75 to $8.25; fair to good stockers, $7.25 to $7.75; common to fair stockers, $6.50 to $7.25; stock heifers, $4.50 to $6.00; stock cows, $3.50 to $5.25; stock calves, $6.50 to $8.50; stock bulls, $5.00 to $6.50.

Hogs Generally Ten Lower. There were 8,000 fresh hogs here Monday and prices were unevenly lower, generally 10c lower than Saturday's general trade. Tops brought $10.30 and bulk of the trading was at $9.90 to $10.25.

Lambs Sell 25 to 35c Lower. Although receipts of sheep and lambs were rather light for the opening day of the week, about 6,400 head, the demand was slack and trade dull at prices 25 to 35c lower than last week's strong close. California spring lambs brought $14.00 to $14.75 and best clip stock at $18.00.

Quotations on sheep and lambs:—Fat lambs, good to choice, $12.50 to $13.00; fat lambs, fair to good, $12.00 to $12.50; spring lambs, $12.00 to $15.00; feeder lambs, $11.00 to $12.40; cull lambs, $9.00 to $11.00; fat yearlings, $9.00 to $11.50; fat wethers, $6.50 to $8.00; fat ewes, light, $5.50 to $7.00; fat ewes, heavy, $4.50 to $5.00.

SECOND HAND

"YOU have the general appearance of a man who is hunting for trouble," volunteered the low-browed man.

"I am greatly annoyed," replied the professor. "I bought a second-hand typewriter, thinking I was getting a bargain, and it is a constant aggravation."

"A man always thinks he's getting a bargain when he blows himself for second-hand goods. Old Doolittle thought he was getting rich quick when he bought a survey for $17. The man who sold it said it was as good as new, and it broke his heart to part with it, but he had to go to Florida for his health and needed the money. Most of the great bargains are offered by people who have to go somewhere, for their health, and they're wise in doing that, for if they stayed around the neighborhood where they sold the junk, they'd have their heads punched."

"Doolittle was so proud and happy over his bargain that it would have made you feel ten years younger just to look at him. He hitched up his family steed, which is named January, and then invited Aunt Julia and Mrs. Spry to take a buggy ride. He and his wife sat in the front seat, and the invited guests took the rear one, and all went as merry as a divorce bell for about a block.

"Then one of the hind wheels came off, and the surrey keeled over and dumped my aunt and Mrs. Spry onto a pile of gravel that had been left on the street by a cement contractor. He had put a red lantern on top of the pile as a danger signal to motorists. I think the fall must have unsettled Aunt Julia's faculties for the time being, for she grabbed up the lantern and broke it over Mrs. Spry's head. Mrs. Spry has her faults and fallings like other people, but she is dead game, and the way she went for Aunt Julia was the prettiest thing I ever saw. I was sitting on our front porch where I could see the doings, and I don't know when I ever enjoyed myself so much.

"Unless you have seen a couple of refined and cultured ladies clawing each other around on a pile of gravel, you don't know what true sport is. Mrs. Spry showed some fine ring generalship, but my aunt had the best wind and she finally won out and came home victorious. And thus through came and court she bore the trophies of a conqueror," as the poet says, but there was no pleasure in living in the same house with her for a week or two. As soon as she cooled down she was sorry and ashamed, and would have given a million dollars if the row had never started.

"Women are so blamed queer I've given up trying to understand them. When I get the best of a shindy I feel all swelled up for quite a while. I don't have any remorse unless I get the worst of it, and that doesn't often happen, for I am a pretty handy man. When I put a cupola on Tensmith's head last February I was so cheery for a month that everybody noticed it, and thought I must have been appointed postmaster.

"Well, after the women fell out of the rear seat of the surrey, old January ran away, and it was amusing to see that rig go bumping along the street on three wheels, with Doolittle hanging onto the dashboard and his wife waving her umbrella and yelling 'Fire!' January couldn't go very fast, being covered with ringbones and spavins and other blemishes, but he managed to knock several people down and do a lot of damage to property, and the old man had to pay out nearly $200 to avoid some damage suits.

"The one thing that keeps him from despair is a rumor that the man who sold him the surrey is coming back here to live. Doolittle will be at the depot to meet him, and it will be worth $5 to have a ringside seat when the meeting occurs."

Opinions

"What is your opinion of the tariff?"

"It's a great question," replied Senator Sorghum, "on which I do not permit myself personal views. My public opinions are regulated largely by the lines of business in which my most influential constituents happen to be engaged."

"Who?"

"The fellow who will be claiming to have gone to school with Harding. So far he hasn't announced himself."

THE FORTUNE

By AGNES G. BROGAN

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Years ago, when Duncan was an adventurous youth of eighteen, he had gone into the tent of a gypsy fortune teller, and the gypsy told him that his future success would depend upon the woman that influenced it.

"The woman you love shall rule your destiny," said Roma. "Beware, then, whom you choose."

Duncan, later, it seemed, had little to do with that choice. Love descended upon him suddenly, and he accepted it. Lola laughed up at him out of her care-free eyes.

"I must go to this dance," she said, "and to that play, and we must ride here in a taxi, and there I must carry rare flowers; and always, you shall pay the piper." Not in so many words did Lola make her demands, but as time passed, as imperatively. Duncan, striving and striving to make his bookkeeper's salary stretch to the dimensions of his sweetheart's desires, was at last, in desperation, driven to give it up. Then he lost his position in the big manufacturing concern—he was behind in his accounts. When at last the books were properly balanced Duncan was in his boarding place—jobless.

"You will never make any kind of a man," Lola said contemptuously. "You will always be poor, and going down. It's your lack of purpose." Lola had a new and prosperous admirer; but her words were prophetic.

Duncan, still jobless, grew poorer. In his discouragement, fighting against fate seemed futile. He grew purposeless indeed, and so poor that he packed his small belongings, and with a nominal instinct, made for the woods. The particular wooded country toward which he traveled was one rich in lumber manufacture, where great logs floated down stream and where numbers of workmen camped on the banks. Duncan did not join the workmen, he was convinced now of his own vagrancy. And so in a log hut with a fireplace, and his books against the crude walls, he made his home; passing the days hunting, fishing, or even doing petty jobs for the settlers.

One day when he waited at the boat landing for Jo to come back with the mail, Duncan felt an unaccountable sense of excitement, surely not occasioned by the expected magazine for which he subscribed. And when Jo placed a white envelope in his hand, Duncan was scarcely surprised by this unusual happening.

"Some old sweetheart hunting you up," Jo remarked, while Duncan stared at his head. It was not exactly an old sweetheart, but an old schoolmate who, after all the separated years, sought him out in writing.

"You will remember Lily, I am sure," said the letter, "though I was only a fifteen-year-old school girl when we said our farewells at Hampden. But I know you have succeeded to all the heights of our class prophecy, and are now a rich and growing richer lumberman. At least I've been told that they all end that way—the men who go out to the great forests to study their work from its beginning. Lola Sanderson happened to tell me, when we met recently, that you were out in the very wilds that Brother Buck and I intend to visit on our motor trip, taking a circuitous route. He is professionally interested in forestry, and I am writing with the request that you will be kind enough to meet an old schoolmate, and give us the benefit of your escort through that section. I shall know you, undoubtedly, even though you have grown to man's estate. With best wishes for still further success, and hoping promptly to follow this note, I am,

LILY ORMAND DALE.

Across Duncan's face flashed an unaccustomed smile. Of course he remembered Lily Dale. Little Lily, grown up and coming to see him with her man-of-the-world brother.

"Success!" he laughed harshly. Then Duncan turned to Langdon, the overseer. Confusedly he made confession. "You meet her, Langdon," he begged. "Hold her off, any way."

The shrewd man smiled his affection. "See here, Duncan," he said, "why can't you act the part for one day? Get a shave, get dressed, and—I'll put Katherine wise; she will let you use our bungalow to entertain your guests in. Probably she would like to serve tea to them; you can let on you board there. Katherine will be glad of the excitement. She's mighty lonely at times, poor woman, though she won't admit it to her husband. Go to it, Duncan. Act the part the girl thinks you are living."

And Duncan did. And when he had bidden Lily Dale goodby that evening, Duncan went, his heart and mind filled with dreams, to Langdon the overseer.

"I want a chance in your office," he said earnestly, "a chance to make good. I want to be what—that girl thinks I am."

And because Duncan was not alone in his dreaming, he did make good. Lily, back in the shelter of her own white bedroom, lifted a framed snapshot from its place on the dresser, a place it had held through many years.

"Duncan has not changed his ambitions," murmured Lily; "he is just the same."

Roma, old and feeble, was still telling fortunes.

"Your destiny shall be influenced by the woman you love," she chanted.

SURVEY SHOWS DIFFERENCE IN COST OF TRACTOR AND HORSES

Horses Being Used to Prepare Seed Bed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

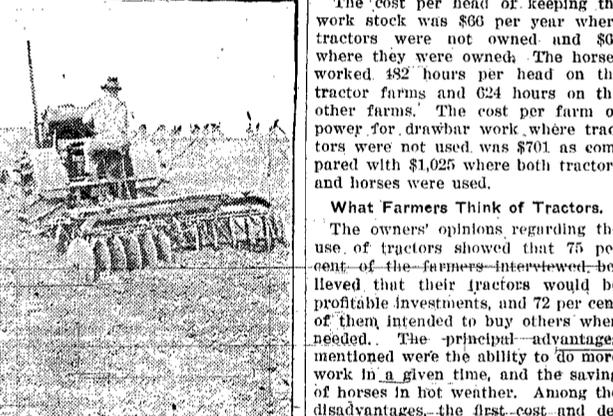

The cost of power on tractor farms in the winter wheat belt is somewhat greater than when horses are used for all the work, according to the results of a survey by the United States Department of Agriculture. A preliminary report just issued shows, however, that three-fourths of the tractor owners were of the opinion that their tractors were proving profitable.

This survey shows differences in the cost of power and labor due to the use of tractors, the work done with them, and the cost per acre for different operations both with horses and tractors. Some 354 tractor owners in northern Oklahoma, Kansas and southern Nebraska were visited and a complete record of all work done with tractors and horses during the year was obtained, together with statements concerning the farmers' opinions of the advantages and disadvantages of using tractors. The farms averaged about 500 acres in size, on which 352 acres of crops were grown in 1921, nearly three-fourths of the crop area being in wheat.

The cost of using tractors for drawbar work on these farms averaged $494 for the year, or $1.00 per hour. These farmers were keeping an average of 8.3 head of work stock in addition to their tractors and the cost per farm of keeping the work stock for the year was $341. Thus the total annual cost of power for drawbar work was $1,025. The tractors furnished the power for 40 per cent of the drawbar work.

Variations in Cost of Power.

There were great variations in the practices and costs on individual farms and the results indicate that often the cost of using the tractors and keeping the work stock was ex-sive for the amount of work done. Many tractor owners have not determined exactly what work they can use their tractors for most profitably and what should be done with horses. The average cost per crop acre was $3.57 per year for drawbar power for all the farms. This cost ranged from $2.21 as the average for the fourth of the farms with lowest costs to $4.76 for the fourth of the farms with highest costs.

The tractors had been in use for 23 months on an average and the first cost had been $1,473, about one-third higher than the present price of tractors of the same size and type. During the year covered by the investigation the cost of fuel and oil was also somewhat higher than at present. On account of these lower prices it is estimated that the present cost of operating tractors purchased at current prices would be something like 25 per cent below the 1921 cost on these farms.

Tractors Reduce Horses and Labor.

The effect of the addition of the tractor to the farm equipment was shown in changes recorded after the purchase of the tractor. On an average, these farms had been increased by 50 crop acres and there had been a reduction of 1.4 months in the amount of regular labor used. Three and one-third head of work stock in addition to those on hand at the time of the investigations would have been necessary if the work had all been done with horses. The tractor owners considered that they needed in addition to their tractors an average of only 6.5 head, whereas they were actually keeping 8.3 head.

Effect of Use of Tractors on Power Costs.

There was a net increase of $206 per farm in the combined cost of power and labor due to the use of the tractor, after deducting the cost of keeping the work stock which had

The Heart of a Princess

By ELLA SAUNDERS

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

It was all over and she was back in the palace. She had been only vaguely conscious all the time of the ceremony in the historic cathedral. "She saw it now, as in a picture; the galleries packed with ladies in their robes of nobility, the crowd of famous men and women in the pews.

She recalled the face of the bishop primate as he pronounced them man and wife; then there was the plain gold band which she felt on her finger with a strange sense of fear and hope in her heart.

She remembered the drive back through the crowded streets lined with soldiers, the cheers of the mob. And she had heard a woman cry as the state coach stopped for a moment. "Isn't she sad-looking! Poor thing, they can't pick and choose like us, can they?"

She hoped the prince at her side had not heard. She had glanced at him, but he had only sat stiff in his uniform, and she had turned her head away and tried to blink back the tears.

Then had followed the state banquet. She remembered the tiny morsel of salmon on a gold plate and the bubbles in the champagne. She had hardly eaten. There had been speeches afterward. Somehow she had felt immeasurably far from her husband.

They were going away to spend the honeymoon in his castle. Even a princess wears ordinary traveling gowns instead of silk and gold. Her maid had put the dress on the bed of the room that she was leaving forever. The princess put on her gown. In the next room one of her ladies said:

"I wonder if she cares."

The princess heard her and remembered distinguished kings and queens, her ancestors, and the stories about their unhappiness that had never appeared in history books. She sighed.

That was one of the limitations that went with her position. The woman in the street had expressed it very well. She had hardly met anybody; and yet she had fancied herself in love three times.

The first time was at seventeen when the heir of a neighboring country was sent over to meet her. Everybody knew why he had come and had pretended not to. She had fallen in love with him perhaps because he was the first man she had ever talked to as an equal. He had stayed three weeks and then asked for the hand of her elder sister. She was so glad she had never shown him by the least sign how she felt. The marriage had been unhappy; she had been so glad she had not married him.

The second was a boy who was attached to the court. They were both the same age—eighteen. He had kissed her—once in a dark part of the grand corridor. She had been thrilled and terrified; but one of the ladies had suspected, and the next day he was given a position in a distant colony. She had thought of him for weeks and then gradually forgotten him. And he was married now and had no doubt forgotten her.

And the third—for the first time the princess smiled. The third was a young and distinguished author, whose books both she and her mother liked, and they had met at the house of a duchess. It had all been arranged, and that love affair lasted ten seconds, while the author was walking toward her from the door. He was thrillingly handsome, and she thought of his last book, "Wayward Souls," and her heart began to beat. And then he stood still like a fool and called her "Your Highness," and appeared not to know what to do with his hands and feet.

Very firmly the princess put all these memories aside and went out into her reception room.

One of her ladies asked her something and she nodded in a mechanical way and stood still beside the window, writing. Then she heard the whirr of the elevator and the opening of the gate, and a man's soft step along the carpeted hall. And in that instant she knew that she was in the hands of an irrefutable destiny, and she felt numb and unable to move hand or foot.

Then he had come to her side. They were alone and she raised her eyes to his with a look of dread and wonder in them. And he had folded her in his arms, and she lay there feeling a sudden inexplicable joy as she listened to what he was saying.

"You're sure you're sure?" she asked.

"For all my life," he answered, and their lips met. "But I wasn't sure either—I hardly dared to believe."

"And it's true," said the princess, laying her head upon his shoulder just an instant, because they had never been alone together before, and they only had two minutes before going away.

British Shipbuilders Active.

Exporting ships played a large part in the activities of England's shipyards last year, according to the National Business. Thirty-eight per cent of the tonnage constructed was for foreign owners. The total construction in British yards in 1921 was 1,538,000 tons. The tonnage launched in American yards was about 1,000,000 and in German yards, 500,000. Germany's figure compares favorably with her prewar construction, and included 40 vessels between 4,000 and 7,000 tons, 18 between 7,000 and 10,000, and one around 14,000 tons.

BEET NEMATODES SPREAD BY DIRT

Refuse From Dumps Apparently Is Most Common Means of Spreading Parasites.

CROP ROTATION IS FAVORED

When Pests Are Found in Locality, Action Should Be Taken by Whole Community to Prevent Spread—Some Good Rules.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Dirt from the beet dumps apparently is the most common means of spreading the sugar-beet nematode and should be the first to receive attention in planning control measures, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1248, The Sugar Beet Nematode in the Western States, prepared by Gerald Thorne and L. A. Giddings and now ready for distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Prevent Scattering Soil.

Since the removal of dirt from the dumps seems to be the only practical method of disposing of the thousands of tons of soil annually screened from the beets, says the bulletin, precautions must be taken to prevent scattering the soil containing nematodes. Wagon boxes should be tight enough to prevent soil jarring out along the roads and in the fields. Dump dirt should be disposed of in holes, swamps, or waste corners where there is the least danger of its being scattered.

The practice of growing beets year after year on the same field gives the nematodes an excellent opportunity of becoming established if they are once introduced. A definite system of crop rotation is said to be advisable with not more than two years of beets in succession. The fertility of the soil will thus be maintained, and much of the danger from insect pests and plant diseases will be avoided at the same time.

Make It Community Affair.

When nematodes are found in a locality, action should immediately be taken to prevent their spread, the bulletin advises. This should be made a community affair, and the following measures are being adopted by some of the farm bureaus:

The sugar company operating in the district is requested to refuse contracts for beets grown on soil that is known to be infested with the sugar-beet nematodes.

When infested soil happens to be planted the owner and the sugar company are to make arrangements for handling the beets from the infested areas separately and not allow the infested beets to go through the dumps while other beets are being handled. The practice of throwing dump dirt along public highways should be prohibited, by law if necessary.

Copies of the bulletin may be had free by making a request to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

FRESHENING TIME IMPORTANT

Has Considerable to Do With Amount of Profit Cow Returns—Fall Is Favored.

The time of the year that a cow freshens has considerable to do with the profit she returns. An analysis of the figures obtained from many cow-testing associations shows that in most sections the cows that freshen during the fall and early winter produce the most milk and butter fat, and bring in the greatest profit over cost of feed.

BUY ONLY BEST DAIRY COWS

Selection of Most Profitable Producers at Start Determines Success of Herd.

The profit to be made from a dairy herd depends largely upon the selection of good dairy cows to start with. It requires from 50 to 75 per cent of the feed a cow is capable of consuming to maintain her body. It is therefore much cheaper to produce, say, 30 gallons of milk with ten cows than with 15 cows.

MISS MARTHA POWELL OF OMAHA LECTURES ON ART

Those who attended the Woman's club meeting listened to a rare lecture on art by Miss Martha Powell of Omaha. Miss Powell is principal of the Long school at Omaha and since the war has had the opportunity of visiting the art galleries of Europe and of studying their history and beauty first hand. She has lectured before many Nebraska clubs since her return. Miss Powell is a candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the women were glad of the opportunity of meeting her, as well as enjoying her instructive and interesting talk. More Wayne women should have taken advantage of the privilege of meeting this talented woman.

Miss Powell described the twelve "world-pictures" as she saw them in the various European galleries, giving something of the history of the painting of the canvasses, the story and meaning of the picture, the arrangement of the figures and the blending of the wonderful colors from the standpoint of the painter, and the impression that is made upon the thousands of visitors who throng the galleries. She gave Ruskin's rule for determining what pictures may be called great. "Any picture is great that brings to us the greatest number of lofty and noble ideas."

The pictures described by Miss Powell are: The Sistine Madonna by Raphael in the Royal Gallery at Dresden; The Last Supper by Da Vinci on the dining room wall of the Refectory at Milan; The Transfiguration by Raphael Sanzio in the Vatican at Rome; The Assumption by Titian and the Descent from the Cross by Peter Paul Rubens in the cathedral at Antwerp; The Last Judgment by Michael Angelo on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel; The Last Communion of St. Jerome by Domenichino; The Immaculate Conception by Murillo; Holy Night by Correggio; and The Aurora by Guido Reni.

SOME LATE NEWS NOTES AND COMMENTS

Tuesday was memorial or decoration day over this entire country. Then it was that a tribute was paid to those who had made the supreme sacrifice for a cause we all hold dear. But it is hard to square this action and this sentiment with the tribute we do not pay to those who took the same chance of being a dead hero, and by the turn of the wheel of fortune were permitted to live—mangled perhaps, but not a dead one. If this is all sentiment, let us so name it. If it is real, let us live up to it for those who came back.

At Washington, Lincoln, in every way worthy, received his homage. A memorial erected to his memory was given by Ex-President Taft to President Harding as the representative of the people.

Ex-President Wilson, had planned to participate in the impressive ceremonies, but sent his regrets, as he was unable to be present. Veterans of the blue and the gray were given seats of honor, and men of both armies paid tribute to the martyred president.

The story is that rail rates may be lowered still more and also that the wage scale of the laborers will be given another cut—or the cut at least extended to other departments. If they would start cutting wages at the top, and gradually come down toward the bottom, a lot of people would feel better about it. Begin with the big salaries, and if they want to strike, well and good, the public could be served without inconvenience. The little fellows cannot stand it as well as the fellows drawing from $10,000 up.

At Omaha one of the memorial day speakers declared that America must take its place in world affairs, here is the report in brief:

The Rev. J. W. G. Fast, pastor of the First Methodist church, in his Memorial day address Tuesday afternoon at the Auditorium, said America should assume her just obligations as one of the world's powers. His subject was the "Ideals of the Republic."

"When George Washington said we should keep free from entangling alliances this nation was an infant," he added. "We are grown now and we are entangled. In this late war we gave billions of our money, and thousands of our soldiers spilled their blood on Flanders field. We expect to do business in Europe and the Orient and should take an interest in everything that will have a good effect on humanity."

The acute situation between France and Germany is less acute now, as the Germans have made a reply to French demands that appear to be partially satisfactory.

At Indianapolis Memorial day was observed by a great automobile race in which all previous world-records were smashed. One car and one driver making the 500 mile race in just about five hours. That is going some, but it seems as the Hoosiers should observe such a day as this solemn national holiday in some way other than racing automobile to break world records and please a crowd of sporty spectators.

GOOD ATTENDANCE

(From the Wayne County Teacher) Following are the names of pupils who had attended, according to the teachers' reports, each day that school had been in session at end of the eighth month. In the September number of the Wayne County Teacher we will give the names of pupils who attended the whole year without being absent. The final reports from the teachers are not all in yet. FROM THE MONTH'S LETTERS (From the Wayne County Teacher) District 51.

A program and box supper were held at the Pleasant Valley School, Friday evening, May 5. A large crowd was in attendance and they all seemed to enjoy the program which was given by the children and a few others. The proceeds of the social were $23.25, which will be used in buying a sanitary water jar, and playground apparatus of some kind. Doris Swanson, Teacher.

District 36. We had our picnic May 19. Had a crowd of fifty-five. We served dinner in the school house and all seemed to have a pleasant time. The men spent the afternoon in pitching horseshoes, while the ladies enjoyed themselves visiting. Essie Spahr, Teacher.

District 62. Irene Carpenter, teacher, reports the purchase of a giant's stride, double trapeze, and a wall clock with the money earned at the box supper.

District 35. Last Friday a picnic was held at our school. All the parents of the pupils were present and also many not belonging to the district. This certainly showed the interest the people take in the school. Dinner was served at 12 o'clock. At 1:30 all assembled in the school house where the program was held. After the program ice cream and cake were served. Magda Markert, teacher.

District 31. We're beginning work on our program for the last day of school. We're planning on having our picnic and program in Mr. Baird's grove, May 20th. Wish you could be here. We used our box supper money to buy window shades, curtain rods and curtains for our program. Faye Wylie, teacher.

District 65. I must tell you of the surprise. The wide-awake pupils of Dist. 65 surprised me in honor of my birthday, Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock. After being entertained with games and music, refreshments were served. Blanche Johnson, teacher.

District 83. On April 21, with three other schools we took part in a program for the Farmers' Union Literary. The younger pupils gave a mock Lyceum program and the older pupils a short play "Who's Boss?" Eleanor Jones, teacher.

District 61. We have been busy giving the school house and yard its usual spring cleaning. We have new sash curtains for the windows, a sanitary water jar, and a new pencil sharpener. We are planning on having a picnic dinner and waffle roast, with games and contests on May 26, the closing day of school. Mabel Nelson, teacher.

District 1. We are closing school tomorrow. We are having a picnic for pupils and patrons. Florence Kinney, teacher.

District 28 North. The teacher and pupils of District 28 North, cordially invite you to their picnic and program to be held Friday, May 19, 1922. Irene Iverson, teacher.

District 68. As Friday is to be our last day we shall have a picnic dinner with ice cream, and a ball game in the afternoon, with District 63. And to end the year in a profitable way I have arranged with a number of young men that live in the neighborhood to put on the play "The Millionaire Janitor." We will have a box social on Friday evening and this play is to be the main entertainment. intend to buy a new flag and some balls for the boys and volley ball for the school. We shall be pleased to have you with us for the afternoon. Anton Jensen, teacher.
