WATER FROM THE NEW CITY WELL

Monday evening water from the new city well in the north part of town began to flow thru the mains and pipes. Those who drink water, living along Main street in the north part of the city, noticed the change quite early in the evening. The new well is furnishing a water more clear and free from any sediment than from the old wells. It has a different and better taste, too.

Monday afternoon the pump and the well were given their first test. The new pump discharges more than 230 gallons per minute, which is going some. The man sent to install the pump said as they started it going that it would tell in less than thirty minutes whether or not the water supply was adequate, and when a half hour of pumping had passed without any lowering of the water in the well, he said that the supply was inexhaustible. Later tests bear out that statement. Tuesday and Wednesday the city has been flushing hydrants on the water mains, to have every one supplied with the new water as quickly as possible. The standpipe was emptied and flushed. Starting with it empty, the pump filled it in four hours besides the water used over the city, and the flushing of mains, Wednesday the work of draining and flushing mains went forward. It was impossible to give the pump and well the ten-hour test intended without opening the main and pumping out on the ground, for with flushing going on, the tank was filled to over flowing more than once within seven hours, and neither pump or wells showed any signs of failing.

The pump is so arranged that it may be stopped and started from the powerhouse, a mile away at the will of the operator. It is that that the old pump and wells will no longer be needed—but that it will be well to keep them in working order to become immediately available at any time should anything happen to pump or well, or a fire cause need of vast quantity of water at any time. It makes the place doubly fortified.

NORTON-MEYER

Mr. Harvey Meyer and Miss Marvlyn R. Norton were married Thursday January 18, 1923, at high noon at the home of brides parents Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Norton. Rev. J. H. Fetterolf performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a suit of blue and carried a corsage bouquet of roses, simlax and narcissis. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Norton of this place and is a graduate of the high school. She also attended the Normal and is well known in Wayne.

Mr. Meyer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Meyer of Pender. He is a graduate of the Pender high school and has since been engaged in farming.

After the ceremony a three course dinner was served by the bride's mother where just immediate relatives were present. The decorations were pink roses, simlax and fern.

The young couple left on the afternoon train on a wedding trip to Omaha where they will visit relatives. They will be at home after March 1st, at Baneroff. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer have many friends who wish them much happiness.

HASKELL-MILLER

At high noon, Wednesday, January 17, 1923, at the home of the bride, Miss Faith Haskell at Wakefield, and Mr. Severn Miller of New York were united in marriage, in the presence of relatives and friends from both home and abroad. From Wayne Judge and Mrs. A. A. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Phillo and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harrington were invited guests. A goodly number from Sioux City were guests, as follows: Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Manley, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Shu, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shull, Mr. and Mrs. Odil English, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Norris, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Pelletier and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Morse.

BASE-BURNER COAL WANTED

As the weather has been mild for the past six weeks, perhaps some one is going to have a surplus of hard coal of base burner size, or possibly some one moving away may have a supply. If there are such, and they will call phone 145 or 77 the may find a purchaser for a ton or more.—adv.

JOHN CHRISTOPHER WISCHHOF

John Christopher Wischhof was born in province of Hanover, Germany, January 27, 1854. He came to America in 1872, and being a brick mason, found plenty of opportunity for work at his trade in Chicago, that being the year following the great fire. A few years later he moved to Minnesota, and here was united in marriage, September 28, 1877, to Miss Barbara Kirchner, in 1884 they moved to Nebraska, settling on a farm in Dixon county, a few miles northeast of Wayne, where they resided until ten years ago, when he retired from farm life and moved to Wayne, residing here until he passed away at his home in this city Monday morning, January 15, 1923, at the age of 68 years, 11 months and 19 days.

Paralysis was cause of his death, being taken ill Sunday evening a week before his death after he had returned from attending church at Rev. Gherke's church six miles northeast of Wayne.

Of the six daughters and one son born to Mr. and Mrs. Wischhof all are living except one, Mrs. Aug. Roerber, who passed away four years ago. The five surviving daughters and son are residents of this vicinity, and part of them still living in the home of the father. There are also four brothers, one in Germany, twelve grandchildren and a host of relatives and friends, besides many friends of years standing.

The funeral service was from the German Lutheran church northeast of Wayne Wednesday afternoon, following a short service from the home, and his body was laid to rest near that of his wife, who passed away a few years ago. The funeral was largely attended by the friends of many years standing, for Mr. Wischhof was one of the early settlers, and was a man who won the respect and good will of many people.

MRS SARAH J. BRITTON

Sarah J. Britton was born October 18, 1837 in Mercer County, Pennsylvania. She was married to DeGrasse W. Britton in Paw Paw, Illinois, December 5 1861. Two children were born to this union; both of whom survive. They are John E. Britton, of Sanborn, Iowa and Mrs. Mary J. Strickland, of Wayne. There were also 8 grand children and 8 great grand children. Mrs. Britton was the last of a family of nine children. She came with her family to Wayne county in March 1881 and has made her home here since that date. Her husband preceded her in death several years; having passed away on November 2, 1890. Mrs. Britton died Sunday, January 14, 1923. The funeral was held at the Beckenhauer undertaking parlors January 16th; Rev. John Grant Shick, officiating. Burial was made in the Wayne Cemetery.

BASKETBALL BRIEFS

Last week the Wayne High school team met defeat at Bloomfield, in a close game, the score being 24 to 27. Again on their home floor they were outplayed, the score being 18 to 26 for West Point. Both were good games.

Saturday evening at the college Gym, the Wayne High will meet the lads from Norfolk, in what promises to be one of the good games of the season, for Wayne's strongest players are now in shape to participate in the game.

College Games.

This evening the college team play Cotner on the home floor, and Friday evening they meet the quintet from Doane, giving promise of two good games for those who love the sport.

HEIER-VAHLKAMP

Wednesday, January 17, 1923, at the Theopolis church southwest of Wayne, by the pastor, Rev. Fischer, Mr. Emil Vahlkamp and Miss Fredi Heier, both of this vicinity.

Following the ceremony a sumptuous wedding feast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Heier, when many friends attended. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vahlkamp, and the bride and groom are to live on the Vahlkamp farm.

P. M. CORBITT APPOINTED HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER

At the meeting of the county commissioners Tuesday the question of a highway commissioner was settled by the board naming P. M. Corbitt to that place. Mr. Corbitt has filled that place in this county since the office was created, and under his direction and with the co-operation of the board and the state forces Wayne county has won the name of having as good or better roads than any of the surrounding counties, even if you go a circle two deep round. True, not all roads have been or could be put in perfect condition; but a system of main roads, both north and south and east and west have been put in good shape, and kept in good condition, and the coming year the roads of lesser importance, because less traveled will no doubt be given more attention.

A BUSINESS CHANGE

This week the Crowell Elevator people, for many years in charge of an elevator and coal business, disposed of their buildings and business to Carl Madsen, who has taken possession, and will conduct the business under the name of the Wayne Grain and Coal Company. The Crowell people have long had Wayne as one link in their chain of elevators in this part of Nebraska, under the management of different ones. Mr. Foley, the last of the line of managers at Wayne is to be transferred to some other station, as we understand.

Mr. Madsen is not a novice at the business, having been the successful manager of the Farmer elevator here until he retired to enter the service of Uncle Sam in the late war. When that job was done, and Carl had rallied from two or three years of suffering from a near fatal wound he was again selected for that responsible position, which he filled with marked ability thru very troublesome and trying times, until the first of the present year, when he began to plan getting into the business for himself.

SCHOOL NOTES

Part of the material on the question for debating has arrived. Students who are to try out for the debating team are busy preparing their speeches for the try out, which will take place in about two weeks.

New pupils enrolled in High school this semester are Bernadine Sherbahn, Walden Felben, Arthur Ochester, William Ross, Gaylord Griffith, Ralph Kruger and Bernard Polard, making the enrollment one hundred and ninety eight. Every seat in the assembly is now filled.

Lillian Goshorn and Paul Bowen have completed their high school course but are coming back to graduate with the spring class which now numbers forty-two.

Roland Rippon entered the Senior class Monday.

This Semester Domestic Art, Business English, Botany, Civics, Advanced Bookkeeping, Solid Geometry and Economics which is entered as a new subject, have been added to the regular schedule.

The following entered the Kindergarten Monday: Frank Gamble, Evelyn, Mae Liveringhouse, Alice May Young, Hazel Brock, Paul Young, Tom Cavanaugh, Peggy Strahan, Mary Ella Pile, Margaret Jones and Frank Strahan.

Sophomore's Party

Last Saturday evening the Sophomores had their first party of the year. It was a grand and glorious time that those who were there enjoyed and the absent missed. The evening was begun with games shortly after eight as per schedule. Many pleasant pastimes were indulged in among which were, Circle ball, Game of chance, Up Jenks, and a movie. After these games refreshments were served consisting of two kinds of sandwiches, cocoa, ice cream and angle food cake. The fun and refreshments were planned and served by the excellent committee: Frances Erxleben, Bernice Erxleben, Hildegaard Berres, Ralph Gansko, Burr Davis and Wm. Johnson.

NEW BLOUSES COMING

Those interested in seeing the latest and prettiest in the 1923 patterns of blouses should visit the Mrs. Jeffries store soon. These beauties are on the way, due to arrive at any time.—adv.

STATE FIREMEN MEET THIS WEEK AT NORTH PLATTE

Tuesday morning the delegates elected by the Wayne volunteer firemen left for Norfolk, where they joined the Norfolk firemen and others from this part of the state, filling two Pullmans, which will be their headquarters until they return the last of the week. The Wayne delegation, five in number were E. E. Fleetwood, Harry Bennett, Bev. Strahan, Wm. Kugler and John Bin-gold. It is expected that there will be at least 1,000 delegates at the meeting, representing all parts of the state and all of the larger towns and cities having volunteer firemen.

The Wayne bunch were supplied with ribbon badges telling of some of the advantages of Wayne, and the good things that may be found here. These badges, according to the custom, are exchanged among the delegates much the same as personal cards are exchanged at conventions. The lettering on the Wayne badges read:

Iowa legislature is having code law troubles—also opposition to a bank guarantee law.

The trial of the K. K. K. in Louisiana is dragging on, and the rope seems to be tightening about the necks of some of the "leading citizens," whom the evidence tends to show are guilty of hideous crimes.

Baltimore, Maryland had a great fire, destroying nearly a million of property, and threatened for a time to duplicate in losses their great fire of nineteen years ago, when a great part of the city was destroyed.

Governor Bryan is cutting deep in the budget recommendations he is making to the legislature. He seems to believe that when he was elected on an economy platform that the voters meant it—and that is not the view a politician usually takes after he is in. Perhaps Bryan is more than a politician.

In Washington they are playing politics. The dead ducks are trying to make laws which the voters repudiated at the last election, and others are trying to leave them open questions that the new congress will settle when they take their seats in about six weeks.

In Europe the flaming swords of war hang over the different countries by a slender thread which may burn off at any moment and precipitate another conflict, possibly as disastrous as was the one but recently closed, and not yet settled. The Balkins, Lithuania, the Ruhr and the Near East are but smoldering fires which may flame out at any time.

NEIHARDT READS AT WAYNE

Omaha papers tell that eight hundred people listened breathlessly for an hour and a half to John G. Neihardt as he read from his unpublished poem "The Song of the Indians Wars" last Sunday afternoon and that as many more faltered of admittance to the meeting. Well may Wayne people feel a throb of pride in this spontaneous and eager tribute to the gifted son of their town. If the community house can be made to hold a thousand people, that many should hear him on his visit to the home of his boyhood next week Friday.

LAND IS COMING BACK

Land in this good county of Wayne is responding quickly to any improvement in farm crop prices or conditions. Wm. Lessman, who recently sold his farm northeast of Wayne, has closed a deal for 20 acres of the J. K. Johnson farm at $700.00 per acre. This is at the southwest corner of what is known as the Munsinger farm.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Woman's club had a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Lou Owen Friday, January 12. The committee in charge were: Mrs. H. H. Hahn, Mrs. Ada Rennick, Mrs. H. J. Miner, Mrs. A. McEachen, and Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer. The program was as follows:

Solo—Fern Oman accompanied by Mrs. Oman.
Piano Solo—Mrs. Jas. Miller
Reading—Bessie Hiscox
Solo—Frances Beckenhauer accompanied by Mrs. Miller.

A committee of business men, farmers and professional men will be appointed to investigate the hospital question.

January 26, John G. Neihardt will lecture here under auspices of the club. Admission 35c and 50c.

Mrs. J. H. Miner, Mrs. W. R. Winegar and Mrs. Chas. Ash gave a miscellaneous shower at the Winegar home Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Marvlyn Norton, who was married this afternoon to Mr. Harvey Meyer of Pender. Besides the ladies a number of Miss Norton's old school mates were present. A mock wedding was performed. Miss Bessie Hiscox was the bride and Miss Celia Rennick bridegroom, and the preacher was Miss Myrtle Philben. Fae Winegar was flower girl and Jean Wright acted as ring bearer. The bride to be received many beautiful and useful gifts. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses. At the departure of the guests they all wished Miss Norton much happiness in the future.

Members of the Monday Club and several invited guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. D. E. Brainard Monday afternoon, at a three course 1:00 o'clock luncheon.

The committee of ladies were: Mesdames D. E. Brainard, O. R. Bowen, and E. Kostomlatsky. Roll call was responded to by each member. The hostess played several selections on the piano which was enjoyed much by all. The guests of the club were: Mrs. E. W. Huse, Mrs. J. J. Ahern, Mrs. J. H. Foster, and Mrs. M. S. Davies and Miss Marjorie Bebee of Wakefield. The club will meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. Robert Mellor.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer Friday afternoon. Mesdames W. D. Noakes, J. Liveringhouse, H. Griffiths and J. W. Krueger will be hostesses. Mrs. H. M. Crawford will lead devotions. Miss Imogene Shiek and Miss Frances Beckenhauer will sing solos. Rev. Lida M. Herrick, national organizer and lecturer, will give an address with helpful ideas and aids for local workers. Every member should be in attendance at this meeting.

The U. D. club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Kemp. Roll call was answered to with "Current Events." After the lesson study on the "Government of Nebraska" the club went to the home of Mrs. L. A. Fanske where the Coterie club was meeting, and had a social hour and refreshments were served, which was enjoyed very much by all. The club will meet January 22, at the home of Mrs. Jessie Reynolds.

There was a gathering of the Baptist people at the church basement Wednesday evening at a 6:30 dinner served by the ladies and a social hour was spent about the tables—a sort of a farewell party for Rev. and Mrs. Owings, who left this morning for their new home at Grand Island. Rev. Owings and wife made many friends during their few months stay at Wayne, who regret their going.

The Coterie held its regular weekly meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. A. Fanske. Roll call was answered to by giving the parts of a ship. After the lesson the U. D. club came in and the two clubs spent the afternoon socially, after which the hostesses served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Don Cunningham Monday, January 22nd.

The P. E. O. held their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. W. Jones, with Mrs. Huffard as assisting hostess. A covered dish luncheon was served at 7:00 o'clock, this was followed by their regular business meeting and program. The evening was enjoyed very much by all. The next meeting will be February 12th.

GREATER WAYNE CLUB ORGANIZES

At the meeting of those interested in a booster club for Wayne, the report of the committee drafting a constitution and bylaws was passed upon and altered and amended and adopted, and the organization is now on its feet, and will begin growing, we believe.

The following officers were elected: E. J. Huntmer, president; U. J. Ahern, vice-president; D. E. Brainard, secretary; J. H. Kemp, treasurer.

We had hoped to have a list of committee chairmen for this week, but it has not come. Wayne again has an organization to look after the matter of providing information to any who may be looking this way for information about the best place in Nebraska for a home and a business enterprise.

REV. LIDA M. HERRICK TO SPEAK HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Herrick is lecturer and organizer of National W. C. T. U. and comes to Wayne under the auspices of that organization. She is to be present at the W. C. T. U. meeting at the Wm. Beckenhauer home Friday afternoon, and is to address a union meeting at the Methodist church Sunday evening, to which all are welcome. She has a number of interesting subjects from which to make selection for her address, but it is not known here which will be given.

HENRY KAY SELLS INTEREST IN IMPLEMENT HOUSE

The firm of Kay & Bichel has been succeeded by Bichel & Meyers, Bernard Meyers having purchased the Kay interest. Like Mr. Kay he will be a silent partner for this season at least, as he is to remain on the farm. Ernest Bichel will remain in charge of the business as he has really been for several seasons past. Mr. Kay will devote his energies more exclusively to the live stock business than before. The implement business will continue as before so far as the public is concerned.

MY AIR RIDE
(From The Goldenrod)

Have you ever been in the air so high That you felt you could almost touch the sky?

What wondrous sights you are able to see! This amazing experience has come to me.

I started south of the City of Wayne In a powerful eight-cylinder aeroplane.

Then sailed northward on the west side And overlooked the country far and wide.

The Normal seemed of miniature size As I gazed down on it from the skies. We circled around and around it again And flying southward landed the plane.

I took this ride of my own free will, The plan gliding smoothly as thought it stood still. With kodak in hand I took a snapshot, And this is a sample of what I got.

"This is now my eleventh year in school and I have observed some of the students' defects that is almost common in the Philippines. I believe that in judging such a question is quite hard; but my judgment is not based upon observations from one school alone but from several provincial high school and in the schools in the city of Manila which are represented by students from all parts of the Philippine Islands.

The principal defects that ruined, still ruining and continue to ruin the progress of most students are (1) extravagance, (2) neglectful of duty and (3) untimely marriage. A student is greatly loved by his parents, whom he depends for his support and all needs while at school. He being away from his town to the school that he attends, has practically the protector and manager of himself. Being influenced by his environment he uses costly clothings which are unnecessary need of a student, but on the other hand the expenses of his parents who is exerting their effort to work for his support is greatly increased. Often times, they sell their properties to cover his unnecessary expenses. Because of the large amount that he needs for school life, his parents will then be exhausted of fund before completing his course. Then he ought to left school undone. Of course, he enjoyed much while at school by using costly things and spending much money. But what is the fruit of the enjoyments? The only answer that I can think of is no other than 'disappointment'. We can then say that in order to be successful in life, youth is not a time for enjoyments and extravagance but it is for struggle and economy to prepare for the old age that is sure to come, so that when that old age is reached, you will surely enjoy because you have truly prepared when you were young.

"Another defect of most students as I have said is their being neglectful of their duties, specially school duties such as written work. Instead of doing what they ought to do, they just spend their time in taking a walk, visiting friends and useless conversations. Being ashamed to face his teacher because of having no work he just copies what others had done and then reform it a little to have a distinction. He might get a high grade in it. But what does a high grade mean to him? That is a disgrace on his part because in so doing he is not trained to think so that when he go out of school and practice and apply those principles and theories that supposed to have learned by him in school he will be entirely blind of the facts on account of his parasitic custom at school. So, to avoid future danger, we must always do our duty every day.

"The last defect that I can cite is to take marriage before the right time. Many students have been displeased because they took marriage before they had made themselves to hold and maintain a family. They believe that such a hardship as was always happened would not come. But when they come to realize the hardship to hold and maintain a family they are already helpless. Nothing then can be done but to sink deeper and deeper to the chamber of poverty until his family is reduced to a very miserable condition. It is then necessary that before marriage a person must establish a strong foundation on which to stand to maintain a family, to progress and to make all his sons and daughters be all educated and prepare them for future success."

"Dancing." An Informal Essay by Aurelio Rivera.

"To young men who have just passed the boundary of boyhood, dancing has a vague form in their minds. "When a young man commences to dance, he enters a garden where the sweet scent of the flowers unburdens a troubled mind. Altho this garden is the abode of pleasure and happiness, a continued visit to it is pernicious. The physical and moral natures will be cast into utter darkness if they are not constantly illuminated by the rays of sound judgment.

"Some young men are ready to embrace the dreadful consequences of dancing. They are no better than the moth that sacrifices its life in reaching a flame.

"We should therefore be accompanied by Miss Intelligence and Mr. Iron Will if we like to visit our paradise-like garden."

USURY IS CLAIM SET UP IN CUMING COUNTY

Lincoln, Nebraska, January 13, (Special).—A legal point on which attorneys say there are few precedents was raised Friday in the supreme court in the appeal of Albert Lemkuhl and wife of Cuming county from a judgment for foreclosure of a $5,000 mortgage in favor of J. M. Soden and his wife. Lemkuhl's attorney says only the principal can be collected because a case of usury is established in that the mortgages provided for interest at 10 per cent, in case the debt was not met at maturity.

Wayne people will naturally take much interest in the disposition of this case, not only because one of the parties to the case lives near Wayne, but because if 10 per cent interest is usury in private business transactions why is it not the same in municipal matters—for instance—the interest asked on delinquent paving assessments? We understand that in the paving matter, even a higher than 10 percent interest is asked.

SHALL STATE SELL OUR SCHOOL LANDS?

That question is up again for the legislature to pass upon. There are a lot of politicians who cannot see why the state should own its school lands. Why not get it into funds that may be squandered? We say that the school lands should not be sold—but that they should be leased, like other lands for all the traffic will bear. In some instances it is said that such is not the case, or at least was not a dozen years ago.

A bill has been introduced at Lincoln to have the Bible read in the public schools and the selections to read daily are to be selected by a committee of three named by the governor. Are some parts of that book so bad that it need be censored?

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska, January 9, 1923. Board met in regular session. All Members present.

Minutes of meetings held January 3rd and 4th, 1923, read and approved.

Upon motion it is hereby resolved that each member of the Board be and is hereby appointed a committee of one to investigate claims of demand upon the county for pauper maintenance, and for temporary relief, and also to investigate claims and demands of any party on county road and bridge funds to be expended in the several road districts of the county. Frank Erxleben is hereby directed to act as such committee in the 1st Commissioner District. Henry Rethwisch is hereby directed to act as such committee in the 2nd Commissioner District. Otto Miller is hereby directed to act as such committee in the 3rd Commissioner District.

Provided, however that in case of emergency anywhere in the county coming to the knowledge of any of the commissioners where it is necessary to give immediate relief to a pauper and no other commissioner being present, the Commissioner present shall see that the necessary relief is provided. Each member shall report to the full board at its next meeting, and all acts performed by him as such committee with his recommendations for action by the board. All Justices of the Peace and the county clerk are hereby forbidden to give any aid whatsoever, except as stated below, and all persons requiring county aid, such as medical attendance, and other necessities shall make application direct to the commissioner for the district for which he acts.

Under this resolution the county clerk is given authority to call the county physician for medical attendance, or emergency cases, whenever he deems it necessary.

On motion the county is divided into three road dragging districts as follows:

Road Dragging District No. 1 shall comprise all territory within the 1st Commissioner District and shall be under the supervision of Frank Erxleben.

Road Dragging District No. 2 shall comprise all territory within the 2nd Commissioner District and shall be under the supervision of Henry Rethwisch.

Road Dragging District No. 3 shall comprise all territory within the 3rd Commissioner District and shall be under the supervision of Otto Miller. County commissioners as Overseers of the respective road dragging districts are to receive no extra compensation.

On motion it is hereby resolved that the contract for the printing of Commissioner proceedings be let to the Wayne Herald and the Nebraska Democrat at full legal rate, one-half to each paper.

On motion it is hereby resolved that the printing of the delinquent tax list, treasurer's statements, and all legal notices and other notices ordered published by the Board be let to the Wayne Herald and the Nebraska Democrat as follows:

Delinquent tax list at full legal rate, one-half to each paper, all legal notices and other notices ordered published by the Board at full legal rate, one-half to each paper.

In compliance with section 2737, Revised Statutes of Nebraska, for 1923, as amended, the Board of county commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska for the purpose of creating a board of health for Wayne County, Nebraska, hereby appoint O. C. Lewis, who as Sheriff will be chairman of board, Dr. C. T. Ingham, who will be physician, and Pearl E. Sewell, who as county superintendent will act as Secretary of said board.

The county board hereby adopts the following rules and regulations to prevent the introduction and spread of contagious, infectious or malignant diseases, and for the purpose of safe guarding the public health and preventing nuisances and unsanitary conditions.

1. That a board of health for the county be appointed by the county board, the same to consist of three members, one of whom shall be a practicing physician.

2. That said board of health be and they hereby are empowered to enforce such regulations as may be adopted by this board to prevent the introduction of contagious, infectious or malignant diseases into the unincorporated territory of the county, and to enforce quarantine rules made for that purpose by it or the board of commissioners.

3. That in case in their judgment it shall become necessary to establish a pest house and if the pest house be established by the county board, the same shall be under the supervision of the board of health, and the said board of health shall have power to cause such person to be removed thereto as they deem necessary in order to enforce the quarantine rules and prevent the introduction and spread of such contagious diseases.

4. The said board of health or any member thereof may enter and premises in the county not within the corporate limits of any city or village for the purpose of determining whether or not any contagious disease exists therein and shall adopt such rules and regulations for their own control and for the carrying out and enforcement of the quarantine rules and regulations adopted by this board as in their judgment they may deem necessary. They shall elect such officers from their own body as they deem necessary and shall keep a record of all their proceedings and persons quarantined.

5. The expense of said board of health which are not properly chargeable to the persons affected with such contagious diseases or persons occupying the premises where the same exist shall be paid from the county treasury upon bills duly allowed by the board of county commissioners in the same manner as the other indebtedness against the county. The compensation of the members of this board of health shall be 50 cents a mile one way and for examination and quarantine of each family $2.00. They shall be allowed by the county board and paid from the county treasury, in the same manner as other bills against the county.

6. The County Board may at any time remove any member of said board of health and appoint another in his place.

7. All persons who have been quarantined, shall be thoroughly fumigated in the manner provided by the rules of quarantine, and adopted by this board at the expense of such persons and the occupant of the quarantined premises and no quarantine shall be raised until such persons and the premises have been fumigated. Provided that paupers and premises occupied by paupers may be fumigated at the expense of the county. All fumigating shall be under the personal supervision of one member of the board of health, under the personal supervision of a practicing physician.

On motion the following regulations and rules for quarantine of contagious, infectious or malignant diseases were adopted.

1. Whenever within the limits of this county and without the corporate limits of any city or village a person is suspected of having small pox, scarlet fever, diphtheria or other contagious diseases he shall immediately be isolated within his own household as carefully as possible and as soon as a contagious disease is recognized it will be the duty of the attending physician and householder to give written notice of the same to the clerk of the county giving the name of the disease and of family where it exists with the number exposed and all other particulars that may be of value.

2. The premises where the above contagious disease exists must be duly quarantined by the county board of health through its proper officer or any appointee (a) by placing upon the house or some conspicuous point upon the premises, a placard giving the name of disease in letter not less than three inches (3) in height, (b) by a verbal or written notice to the householder to remain on the premises and in no way mingle with other persons nor to allow others (except the physician) to approach nearer than thirty (30) feet to any house or person thus quarantined. This rule to apply also in case of exposure.

3. Such quarantine to continue until in the opinion of the medical advisor of the board of health, the last case of the disease likely to occur therein has completely recovered and is ready for disinfection, provided however that in case of extreme necessity one free from disease may be released earlier after thorough disinfection of person and clothing and with a certificate from the above medical advisor.

4. The necessities of life as often as occasion demands may be carried within thirty (30) feet of the quarantined house by a neighbor or other appointed messenger, but no nearer, nor shall any effects whatever be brought away from the household until thoroughly disinfected.

5. In case of death from contagious disease there shall be no public funeral and the body of the deceased shall be closely wrapped in sheets well saturated with disinfectants and closed in a tight casket, this to be again wrapped in a disinfected cloth, and in such cases the corpse shall not be carried to or near any body of people while on its way to the cemetery.

6. When in any school district or community several families, say five to eight are infected with contagious disease or very many exposures have occurred, the board of health may prohibit all gatherings of people in that community, including sessions of school until in their opinions the emergency is past.

7. All physicians should use due precaution in their visits to quarantined households to avoid the danger of contagious to the well.

8. When in the opinion of the medical advisor of the board of health, quarantine can be safely raised, it shall be done with fumigation with a 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde, using at least five ounces to each 1000 cubic feet of air space, solution to be applied by an approved evaporation or by the sheet method. The room to be sealed at least six hours; all persons to receive a disinfecting bath and their clothing to be fumigated and the house thoroughly cleaned. This to be done in accordance with the "Suggestions of the State Board of Health to Physicians."

9. When in the opinion of the board of county commissioners a hospital is needed to which individual cases of contagious diseases may be removed, or when such method will accommodate those without homes at much less public expense or for any other reason it is deemed best, a building suited to their needs shall be provided.

10. Whoever, in any way willfully or negligently disobeys these rules of quarantine and disinfection shall be subject to prosecution and a fine of $25.00 for each and every offense, and shall meanwhile if infected, and subject to quarantine be held at the quarantine house or hospital until the time for disinfection.

And be it further resolved that all rules and regulations of the Department of Public Welfare of the State of Nebraska, passed July 9th, 1919, are hereby approved and adopted.

Whereas, the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture represented by Dr. C. H. Hays and the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture of Nebraska, represented by Dr. D. D. Tobias, for the purpose of improving the pure bred dairy and beef herds of such cattle in Wayne County, and encouraging recognition of the importance of maintaining herds of such cattle free from tuberculosis, and promoting the interchange of healthy cattle, proposes as far as available funds permit, to cooperate with the breeders of cattle, by assisting them to eradicate tuberculosis from their herds and to maintain tuberculosis-free herds.

Now, Therefore, in consideration of receiving assistance from the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry and the Nebraska Bureau of Animal Industry along the lines and for the purposes above specified the Board of county commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska, do hereby agree to cooperate with the said Bureau and state officials by bearing so much of the expense for the year 1923 only as pertains to mileage, which in no case is to exceed the sum of $100.00 per month.

It is hereby resolved that the use of small horse graders be discontinued for making grades by the road overseers, unless authorized by the county commissioners.

$1080.00 is hereby made the compensation for extra help in the office of the county clerk for the year 1923, over and above the salaries of the clerk and his deputy, which are fixed by law, same to be paid by the Board through claims and warrants to be drawn on the County General Fund.

$1600.00 is hereby made the compensation for extra help in the office of the county treasurer for the year 1923.

On motion George T. Porter, county Assessor, is allowed the sum of $100.00 for extra help in his office for the year 1923.

L. E. Panabaker is hereby appointed Janitor of the Court House and grounds for the year 1923 at $80.00 per month.

On motion the salary of the County Superintendent for the year 1923 is hereby fixed at $1900.00.

$800.00 is hereby made the compensation for extra help or clerk hire in the office of the County Judge for the year 1923.

R. P. Williams is hereby appointed a member of the Soldiers Relief Commission for a term of three years.

Paul L. Harrington is hereby appointed a member of the Soldiers Relief Commission for a term of one year, to fill vacancy, caused by the death of R. H. Skiles.

It is hereby resolved that the Board allow for the year 1923, the following wages for road work for the year 1923.

Fifty cents an hour for man and team.

Seventy cents an hour for man and two teams.

Thirty-five cents an hour for single man.

And further that Overseers shall show the dates the work is done on the receipts, and also show location as to where work it done, also show just where all lumber purchased by them is used, also to account for all old lumber.

All Overseers are hereby notified to purchase lumber from party with whom the county has a contract, also sign for all lumber before leaving the yards.

It is hereby resolved for the year 1923 that the Board allow the sum of $3.00 for sharpening both large and small grader blades.

It is hereby resolved that 75 cents a mile round trip be allowed for road dragging for the year 1923, wherein four horses are used, and a written contract must be entered into with the county commissioners of your respective road dragging district before any claim will be allowed. A report to be furnished to the commissioner after each dragging and a monthly statement to be filed on the 1st day of every month on cards furnished for that purpose.

On motion the Board hereby makes the following estimate of expenses for the year 1923.

County General Fund	$50,000.00
County Bridge Fund	40,000.00
County Road Fund	40,000.00
Mothers Pension Fund	2,000.00

The Mears-Osterman bill introduced at Lincoln proposes to abolish the party circle from all election ballots in the state.

The annual meeting of the members of the state board of agriculture met at Lincoln Tuesday, and the prediction was that there would be little if any change in the members of the board. Chas. Graf of Bancroft is now president of the board, and they are the power that makes the state fair what it is, be it good or bad. Of course each is judge of the merits of their endeavor, but we have not heard any serious kick.

W. H. Moore, who died in New York last week is said to be the father of the present monopolies commonly known as trusts. He is dead, but he did not take his trusts with him. It will remain for the people, some time to bury them—and they should be buried deep, and face down. The good which men do is often interred with their bones has been written by a sage—but the evil lives after them. If that could be reversed, what a blessing.

Just about ten years ago the agitation against "jay walking" began in the western cities. When ordinances prohibiting pedestrians from going over street crossings, diagonally were first introduced they were met with a storm of derision. Now the situation has so changed that careful people follow square turns as a matter of personal safety. Cars come so fast and so frequently now that a man cutting across an intersection is in danger of being hit in the back before he is half way over. Even when all the rules and precautions are followed, it is no longer a safe job to get across a busy street anywhere.

The extent of the hardship of the recent deflation of currency a year ago is evident when it is known that banks, solvent as soon as credits could be thawed, were unable for considerable time to secure money with unencumbered land as security. That is banks in rural communities like Nebraska, we mean. Perhaps speculative banks fared better. Some banks were able to raise a little cash if they could put personal property in "hock." The farmer and those who depended upon his trade for business, whether bank or merchants, were hard hit. When the dollars more than doubled in value, measured in what the producers had for sale, it soon became hard sledding for all; unless it was the fellows who were selling wind.

STOCK SHIPMENT

Wayne feeder farmers have been sending their corn to market in the form of beef and pork during the past few days, and we noted that quite a number have just shipped out, some eight or ten cars going, mostly to Omaha, with Sioux City getting some. Chas. Meyer, A. Sydow, C. A. Chichester, Carl Gust, Carl Beck, Wm. Plueger, M. F. Jones, Carl Victor, Dan Baier, Wm. Blecke, Jack Denbeck, Chris Graverholt, Henry A. Timme were among those who contributed.

COMMENT

Chicago board of trade is preparing to radio broadcast grain prices every thirty minutes. Wonder if that will make prices any better. Now, when a farmer wants to know what his grain is worth, he tunes his receiving set as he come in to dinner, and finds that wheat is off 2 cents. Eats his dinner, and listens again, and he discovers that it has rallied, perhaps dropped another cent. He can then go back to work and know just what his wheat is worth—if he knows how much he has and how it will be graded. But is quite vital that he may know as often as every thirty minutes just what the grain gamblers are doing to him and his crop.

In the big blizzard 35 years ago the death toll was 285 people, and 14 of them were in Nebraska. The mercury dropped from near the freezing point in less than 18 hours to 35 degrees below zero—about 4 degrees an hour is cooling off some.

The returns from diversified and more intensive farming are far greater per acre than from single crop growing on large acreage. No one ever heard of Connecticut as a corn growing state, yet crop statistics show that the yield per acre of corn in that state was the greatest in the United States, but the chances are that they did not have 5,000 acres in the entire little state. We once heard a resident of western New York state say in comparing corn there with that grown in Iowa where the person to whom she was talking, was harvesting 10,000 bushel of corn: "Why, Abner Jones had 70 baskets last year, and it was the neighborhood talk." So it may be in Connecticut.

Congressman Tilson from the "nutmeg" state wants the government to fix a maximum and minimum price on grain by creating a fund of $30,000,000 with which the government may purchase wheat whenever the price goes as low as $1.10 per bushel, and sell same when ever it goes above $1.85, thus the price would not vary much more than the 75 cent per bushel. This would be a measure of protection to both producer and consumer, and might grind the speculator as between the upper and the nether millstones. And who would care? Let 'em work.

Nebraska's criminal identification bureau is temporarily—possibly permanently—out of business. When Expert Hans Niessen wasn't looking the statehouse draymen carted off his paraphernalia along with that of State Sheriff Hyers, after the latter had quit. When Niessen followed his stuff to the statehouse, he was told he was off the payroll along with Hyers, although the two jobs are not created under the same law, and he hasn't interested anybody in getting his back on again.

Rickard has introduced a bill abolishing the office of deputy in a number of county offices in counties having under 35,000 population. A bill by Osborne provides that hereafter legislators shall be elected on a non-partisan or non-political ballot.

All junkets at the expense of the state will be cut out under the administration of Governor Bryan, so far as he has any power. He made this announcement when he told the reporters that he had refused to permit Lum Doyle, state boxing commissioner, to attend the national association of commissioners in New York next week, at the expense of the state. The governor said he did not feel that the trip was necessary to the preservation and development of the boxing sport in the state. The department pays a yearly fee of $25.

The pastor will preach at the morning hour next Sunday. There will be a union meeting at night, under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U. Rev. Lida M. Herrick, organizer and lecturer for the National W. C. T. U., will be the speaker. Hear her.

The first chapter of "India on the March" went off in fine shape at the Epworth League devotional meeting last Sunday night, with forty-four present to hear it. Let's make it at least fifty for next Sunday night.

A meeting of the Sunday school Board is called for next Monday evening, January 22nd. Keep this in mind.

Here is a good motto "Don't stop when you have won your first victory. It's not a goal, it's only a step toward the goal." Alice Amy and Howard W. Beckenhauer were received into Preparatory membership last Sunday morning. This was a fine step for these young folks to take.

The Christian Brotherhood recently held its annual election. The following officers were elected:— President D. E. Brainard Vice President Don Fitch Secretary-Treas. L. C. Gildersleeve Discussion Leader Prof. S. X. Cross Asst. Discussion Leader

Prof. E. E. Lackey Here is a good motto: "Don't stop when you have won your first victory. It's not a goal, it's only a step toward the goal."

English Lutheran Church (Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor) Sunday school 10:00 a. m. Last Sunday we had the largest attendance at the church school for a year. Will you help to keep up the record to this high mark? With a little effort we can even do better. Let us all aim for a bigger and better school. A new class has been organized in the primary department with Miss Zephin as teacher.

Worship and sermon 11:00 a. m. The subject of the sermon is: "There is No Difference."

The newly elected members of the church council were installed last Sunday and are now ready for work.

The congregation is planning to give a Father and Son Banquet, Thursday, February 1 at 7:00 p. m. Nearly every congregation in the Synod is in on this campaign with a view of enlisting young men for the ministry. Prof. Tilberg of Midland will be the speaker. Let us get busy and plan to make it a success. Talk it up and work it up until there is sufficient enthusiasm aroused to put it across as a big success.

HOSKINS NEWS

The sale of Chas. Bernhardt, held last Thursday, was well attended and the proceeds netted approximately three thousand dollars. Mr. Bernhardt expects to leave for Colorado very shortly.

The Hoskins post office has been changed from the Headlight building to the Gus Schroeder property north of the defunct Farmers State bank. Eugene Benthall is the new postmaster.

Miss Emma Koepke is quite ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. August Hohneke was taken critically ill last Saturday evening. She is slightly improved at this writing.

Mrs. C. L. Davidson and son, Carroll are spending a few days with relatives at Elgin.

Miss Gladys Chambers and pupils will present a box social program, Friday the 26th at her school, eight miles north of Hoskins.

A number of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Koepke last Friday evening the occasion to surprise the later on her twenty-sixth birthday. The evening was spent with games and music. Refreshments were served at twelve o'clock, after which the guests took leave, wishing their hostess many more happy birthdays. Those present were the Ed Bernhardt, Chas Bernhardt, Carl Mittelstadt, William Voecks, George Halls and Gustav Martin families. Misses Gladys Chambers and Greta Grimm and Henry and John Klempling.

WAYNE LOST FIRST-BASKET BALL GAME TO YANKTON

Wayne opened their season here Wednesday, January 6, when they lost to Yankton College in a close game of basketball. The game was somewhat spoiled by the frequent calling of fouls. In fact Wayne had as many field baskets to their credit as Yankton but lost the game by a score of 31 to 24 due to the unusually large number of fouls called.

Previous to the game Guy Best was chosen captain of the team for this season. He is extremely popular among the boys and well liked generally, besides being a good basketball player and field general. His men all show a fine spirit of fair play. The team that started the game consisted of:

Capt. Best and Folda, forwards. Grant and Rogers, guards. Kroger, center. Schroeder, Rickabaugh, Rennick and Moran substitutes in the last half. Although Wayne took an early lead of 10 to 4, Yankton was able to take the lead before half time was called by caging several free throws. Best tied the score with a long basket in the last half but Yankton was never headed.

A good team and lots of pep were in evidence last Wednesday night. Let's get behind the team and go through a winning season.

Coach Dale and seven men left Thursday for three games with Cotner, Midland and Peru on their home floors. The men making the trip were Capt. Best, Rogers, Folda, Moran Grant, Kroger and Rickabaugh.

The Johnson Mattress Co.

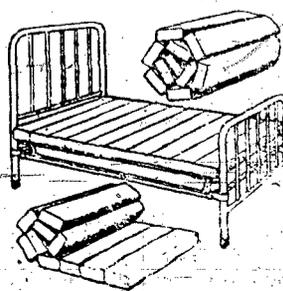

Has Located in Wayne

In the John S. Lewis building for a number of weeks or longer, and they want you to see how they make old feathers like new and clean the new one making them light and fluffy. Then make them into a feather mattress that makes each feather remain in its place, makes the making of the bed merely a pleasure, and sleeping on the feather mattress a real comfort.

Mattresses made light or heavy weight, as desired.

We call for feathers and deliver mattresses within a radius of 20 miles of Wayne. We also clean pillows and feathers, and guarantee satisfaction.

One of their cars will call for your feathers and deliver same.

Compare this with the old FEATHER BED. The feathers are there, clean and fluffy, and put in shape, and held there.

Ask the following people, a few of those we have done work for since coming to Wayne:—Mrs. R. H. Hansen, Mrs. J. M. Barrett, Mrs. Jack Denbeck, or others who are now getting work done.

Phone 39 if you wish them to call.

C. H. Green was elected president of the Nebraska State Florists' Association at the annual convention and exhibition held at the Fontenelle Hotel January 10. The exhibition of flowers entered in the annual contest by the florists was the best since the association was organized.

John Britton of Sanborn, Iowa, who was here the first of the week to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Britton, returned home Wednesday morning. His daughter, Miss Lola, who is teaching at Clarion, Iowa, left to resume her school work on the afternoon train the same day.

The Indian heard that a feather made a good bed, and tried it—one feather, and said "white man's story a lie." The old feather bed has a way of letting the feathers slip out from under you—they don't stay put. But look at the work of the new feather mattress shop in the Lewis building. Even the Indian could not deny that a good bed.

E. Hallberg, who left Wayne nearly a year ago, going to Minnesota, is again at Wayne, and expects the family to follow soon from Little Falls, Minnesota, where he has been working. He reports that the weather there has been quite severe, and that they have a foot of snow to keep it cool. Mr. Hallberg is a stone cutter, and will again enter the employ of the Wayne Monument works.

Mr. Perry Francis, who has been spending a few weeks here at the homes of Mrs. Geo. Francis and Mrs. J. P. Jeffries, is to leave Friday to join Mr. Francis at Pittsburg, where he will make headquarters from now on for a time, he having been sent east from this western part of the country to show the easterners how it is done in the west. He is in the employ of one of the big meat packing plants, as a salesman.

The proposed irrigation and power project fostered by the Central Nebraska Supplemental Water Association which was explained by C. W. McConaughy, Holdrege, was unanimously endorsed by the Nebraska Manufacturers Association at the annual convention held in Omaha January 11. According to Mr. McConaughy the project will assure power, heat and light to residents of twelve western counties as well as supplying water which will be the equivalent of 30 inches of rainfall annually. Two million acres of arid and semi-arid land will be reclaimed to fertility. J. W. Steinhart, Nebraska City, was named chairman of a committee to present the matter to the state legislature and ask for its immediate endorsement. We hope that the legislature will not endorse the project. Not that we do not want to see such a project put across—but we want the state of Nebraska to take over all such projects. The people of the state are entitled to its natural resources and should develop and own them, and not be for ever and a day paying tribute to corporations for water, power, light and heat. Here is a great state, not possessed of a ton of coal, so far as known, with little if any oil; but opportunity to develop unlimited waterpower, letting its waters run waste and buying fuel and rock well mixed, paying freight on the same from Pennsylvania, when those people care to ship it this way; and then permitting corporations to control and develop our only natural source of heat and power. Are we fools? Perhaps just foolish or thoughtless. The generations to follow us may well curse us for disposing of their birthright for less than Esau got for all he had to sell to a grasping brother.

Geo. F. Sebald, who was for many years a resident at Wayne is now comfortably settled in a home for aged people. His son Otto was here last week after having made arrangements for him, and accompanied him to the home. He then returned and arranged for the care of the old home property.

The next annual convention of the National Farmers Co-Operative and Educational Union is to be held in Omaha next November according to an announcement made by President C. J. Osborne at the state convention of the Nebraska Farmers Co-Operative and Educational Union. Delegates from every state in the Union will be present.

S. Fox, collided with Ralph Rundell's car Friday evening, last, and suffered a broken rib and some bruises as a result, is getting along nicely, in spite of the fact that he is 84 years of age. The accident was one of those kind in which no blame attaches. The car was being backed from parking, and Mr. Fox came on the scene just as it was started ahead, neither saw the other. Mr. Rundell has seen to it that Mr. Fox has had the best of care.

THE BIBLE STUDY CIRCLE
The Wayne Bible Study met at the home of Mrs. C. E. McClennen on Tuesday afternoon, the advance Sunday school lesson being led by Daisy Fox. The touching parable of the prodigal son being one of the mountain peaks of Luke's Gospel. Letters were read by the Correspondent Secretary as follows: from Rev. Harry Strachan of South America, depicting in graphic terms the great Evangelistic campaign in Colombo where the big theatre building is packed to capacity with eager listeners to the liberating gospel, and many are accepting and witnessing in power. A letter was also read from Miss Braudon from England, now settled in New York representing the "Heart of Africa" Mission in America. She plans to visit Wayne before March first, and a heart stirring message will be the portion of those fortunate enough to hear the "English Cyclone moving westward." After the letters, prayers and heart to heart talks, election of officers resulted in Miss Pearl Beeks being chosen as president, Mrs. E. B. Young and Mrs.

Fred Benschot vice-presidents; Miss Charlotte Zeigler, secretary and Mrs. Zeigler local treasurer.

Committees were appointed to arrange for the 21st anniversary meeting of the organization which will be celebrated January 23rd at the home of Mrs. E. B. Young, afternoon and evening sessions, being planned for Rev. J. B. Davis of the Omaha Bible Institute, teacher of Rehren and Greek will make the address, also Rev. Carl Anderson of Concord Mission will be invited to speak. The latter's church having recently experienced a new manifestation of the Holy Spirit in their afternoon prayer meetings the like of which has not been witnessed for years in reported by those attending. A quiet deep work of conviction and revealing of sin unusual.

A very hearty invitation is extended to all who are interested to attend both afternoon and evening and be enriched by the unusual messages being prepared for this unique occasion.

Sunkist Orange Special

It's well known the Sunkist brand is safe to buy. It represents well matured fruit, good color, thin skinned, plenty of good sweet juice and wonderful flavor. Don't fail to secure a supply.

Truth About Coffee

To patrons who thoroughly enjoy coffee, rich and mellow in quality, who specify the best grown regardless of price, we suggest Folger's Golden Gate at 50c.

Basket Store Blend Coffee

35c per pound. Thousands of pounds roasted, blended and sold every year. Always uniform and the best 35c coffee value obtainable, often imitated but never equaled.

Hunt's Condensed Buttermilk

Many Wayne folks appreciate the opportunity to secure condensed buttermilk in No. 2 cans (same size as a can of corn) to assist in the making of cake, cookies, muffins, pancakes and biscuits. Hunt's Buttermilk is in a thick paste form; dilutes to fifteen times its volume in water; will convert to the original buttermilk as it came from the churn. A product from a spot and span new factory. A convenience to the housewife and in the near future many of the leading women's magazines will feature Hunt's Buttermilk in their advertising. Wayne has the distinction of being the first town in the U. S. A. to place Hunt's product on sale. In the near future this will be dispensed as a drink at soda fountains, bakers will use it in making their products and the housewife will have an opportunity to buy Hunt's Buttermilk at the corner grocery in every city and hamlet.

Wilson & Colby Have Nation for Client

The law firm of Wilson & Colby, composed of former President Woodrow Wilson and former Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, has accepted as a client the semi-independent provinces of Eastern Galicia.

Aside from the interest attached to the choice of counsel, the "client" is also unique. Eastern Galicia is one of the territories in Europe whose status was left uncertain by the Versailles treaty, and for which autonomy was sought. Hence, politically, the client is of particular interest to former President Wilson, one of whose paramount principles at the peace conference was self-determination.

Colby, it is understood, by virtue of his experience in international affairs, soon will represent the province before the council of ambassadors in Paris in a plea for independence from Poland, the present occupant.

Politically, Eastern Galicia—composed of the three provinces or palatinates of Lemberg, Stanislaw, and Tarnopol—is not recognized by the United States government as a distinct country. Should any international complications arise between the United States and the east Galician palatinates, they would have to be negotiated through the Polish legation here, for Poland has set up a military government there, although a degree of autonomy is allowed.

Major Astor to Sell Out in New York?

Maj. John Jacob Astor, contesting for a seat from Dover, was interrupted by a heckler who inquired whether he was going to expose his wealth to British taxation. In reply he said, "I am transferring my wealth from America to this country." Naturally the London newspapers made much of the incident. One headline read: "Astor millions coming here." By some it was assumed the major, who is a brother of Viscount Astor, merely referred to his recent investment in Lord Northcliffe's share of the London Times stock, which he and J. A. Walter purchased for more than $6,000,000, but others gave the remark a more sensational turn.

New York is quite excited over the incident—and naturally it is. The realty and personal holdings of the late Baron (William Waldorf) Astor in the United States totaled more than $80,000,000, according to a referee's report filed last March in Supreme court. Astor participated with Viscount Astor, his elder brother, $50,000,000 is represented in realty.

The property was conveyed to the two sons in trust in 1918, and the income from that source is placed at $5,201,200. In addition Major Astor was given outright by his father Manhattan realty valued at more than $7,000,000.

A. M. Owsley, Head of American Legion

Alvin M. Owsley of Denton, Tex. (portrait herewith), was elected national commander of the American Legion at the New Orleans convention. The young major outdistanced his competitors early in the balloting, and when the end came was more than 300 votes ahead.

Owsley, who is thirty-three years old, is one of the most popular soldiers ever honored with the biggest job of the Legion.

A lawyer, Owsley resigned as a district attorney in Texas at the outbreak of the war and recruited a battalion. After serving as division insurance officer and senior instructor for the third officers' training camp at Camp Bowie, Tex., he went overseas and took part in two major operations.

Illinois turned the tide of the election. Opposing Owsley were William F. Deegan of New York, Joseph Thompson of Pennsylvania, and John A. McCormick of Colorado. Each nomination brought equal cheers, and the result was doubtful. The first ten states scattered their votes. Then Illinois was called. The leader of the delegation rose and shouted: "Sixty votes for Owsley." The final result was that the election was made unanimous.

Premier Mussolini's Very Lively Career

Benito Mussolini, whose spectacular rise to the Italian premiership has excited world-wide interest, has had a lively career. For instance, when he was about thirty he had a narrow escape from arrest by fleeing to Switzerland. His entrance into that country was dramatic. He was pursued over the frontier at Chiasso by Italian gendarmes who had a warrant for his arrest, but won his race for freedom by a scant hundred yards and the Swiss customs officers refused to surrender him.

Penniless, he crossed the St. Gothard pass on foot and upon his arrival in Lucerne was arrested as a vagabond without visible means of support.

Later he entered the University of Lausanne, but as he was a revolutionary Socialist and wrote many fiery articles for the Swiss and Italian Socialist press he was finally expelled from Switzerland after several police warnings which he refused to heed.

Then he went to Trent in the old Austrian Tyrol, whence he was also expelled in 1911. Upon the declaration of a general amnesty he left Trent for Milan where he founded the newspaper Popolo d'Italia, which is now the organ of the Fascist, of whom he organized the first unit shortly after the close of the war.

He aroused the hatred of the Socialists in the conduct of his paper, however, by his campaign in favor of Italy's entrance into the World War on the side of the entente, and later fought with the Italian forces at Monte Nero and Carso where he was severely wounded.

A WINTER NIGHT

"The rayless sun,
Day's journey done,
Sheds its last ebbing light
On fields in leagues of beauty spread,
Unearthly white.

"Thick draws the dark;
And spark by spark
The frost fires kindle, and soon
Over that sea of frozen foam
Floats the white moon."

These verses by De La Mare wonderfully express the beauty of a silent winter night. In the white sweep of snowy slope and valley, under a calm, pale moon there is a beauty so poignant that it is almost pain. The wonder of it brings quick tears and a catch at the heart.

The loveliness of a soft June night elates one with the joy of living in such delight. But the gripping immensity and the unfathomable mystery of an ice-bound and snow-locked world is far more thrilling. Fragrant summer darkness teases one into straying dreams and a vague contentment. A winter night is startlingly real. Its glory brings awe and wonder.

The moonlight jewels the snow. A million stars glitter ages of miles away. Consider the stars, think of the universe and try to realize what a minute particle of it all, is this planet. Think how insignificant is one person's life on this speck of a world and, with that musician of ancient days, you will wonder, "What am I?"

There is a hint of sadness in pondering so, but never does a wintry night inspire despair. Its calm strength whispers the message of courage. It tells us to face reality and be calm.

Some would gladly dwell in a hand of continual summer. There he belongs whose blood does not tingle to feel a stinging wind; who, warmly wrapped, does not delight to tramp in new-fallen snow; who does not catch his breath at a daring crimson splash of sunset; who by a glowing fire, does not thrill to the blustering roar of a blizzard and who is not stirred by the purity of a winter night?

LEGAL NOTICE

TO AMELLA OWEN and ROBERT OWEN, you and each of you are hereby legally notified that on the 3rd day of January, 1923, I, Anna Roberts, filed a petition in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, together with an affidavit for service by publication against you on the ground of you being non-residents of the State of Nebraska. The object and prayer of said petition, is for said court to determine that I am the sole owner in fee simple of Lot (12), and the North Half of Lot (11), Block (1) Robinson's Addition to Carroll, Nebraska, and to exclude you from any ownership, interest, or title therein, and to enjoin you from claiming or asserting any right, title, or interest in said premises.

You are required to answer said petition on or before the 19th day of February, 1923.

J4-4t ANNA ROBERTS

ORDER OF HEARING AND NOTICE ON PETITION FOR SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNT.

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of Harlan H. Hickman, deceased:

On reading the petition of Glen Hickman, Executor praying a final settlement and allowance of his account filed in this Court on the 11th day of January 1923, and for distribution of the residue of said estate. It is hereby ordered that all persons interested in said matter may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 2nd day of February A. D. 1923, at 11 o'clock A. M., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Nebraska Democrat, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

(Seal) J. M. CHERRY,
J18-3t County Judge.

ESTIMATE OF EXPENSES

The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

I, Chas. W. Reynolds, County Clerk of Wayne County, Nebraska, do hereby certify that on January 9th, 1923, the Board of county commissioners made the following estimate of expenses for Wayne County for the year 1923.

LEGISLATIVE COMMENT

BY OLE BUCK

One of the easiest jobs that can be found is to sit on the side lines and tell the members of the legislature what to do. Unfortunately, most of the advice is impractical and, since so much of it is unusable, the legislators get in the habit of not paying much attention to any of it.

Theodore Osterman's income tax bill provides that each person, firm or corporation that pays income tax to the government shall file a sworn statement of the amount of tax paid with the county treasurer. That official will deduct the amount of personal, real estate and poll tax paid from the amount and then the excess, if any, must be paid in addition to the other tax. The object of the bill is to reach taxpayers who derive their incomes from investments that do not ordinarily appear on the assessor's books. Farmers and country editors have little to fear from the bill.

Committee assignments made by the committees on committees all went thru without a hitch. It is said, too, that the house committee on committees had to do considerable cutting and fitting before it accomplished desired results. Democrats were all given the places selected for them by their steering committees. It is difficult, and often impossible, to give each member the committee assignments he wants.

Representative Whitehead wants to amend the hail insurance law by providing a revolving fund of $150,000 which is to be used in paying losses promptly. He has another bill which limits the number of inspectors that may be employed for state purposes. Another suggestion is that only one inspector be appointed in each congressional district and that he make all inspections instead of having one for each subject as is now the case.

Senator Howell is said to be behind a movement to give Omaha the right to engage in the telephone business and electric business as well as to operate its own water plant.

Representative Orr proposes to repeal the entire blue sky law and leave sellers of bogus stock to the tender mercies of the courts. His idea is to do away with any notion that the state passes upon the value of stock.

Indications are that the telephone companies are in for some hard sledding. There is talk of a bill fixing a maximum charge for long distance calls, similar to the law governing telegraph tolls. The suggestion is that a limit of fifty cents to a dollar be set for calls from any part of the state to any part of the state. It is argued that about the same equipment is required for phone calls as is used for telegrams and that the help expense is less.

Two prominent house members are working on a bill to limit the amount of indebtedness that may be assumed by school districts and towns. The bill will also increase the majorities necessary to carry bond issues and it will probably provide that when a bond issue is defeated that it cannot be resubmitted for six months or a year. It is pointed out that unless some limit is set that it is easily possible for bond taxes to exceed assessed valuation.

Governor Bryan announces that the use of mileage books by state employees will be discontinued. Employees must buy tickets hereafter, when they travel and account for each purchase of a ticket. This will do away with the abuse that is possible of mileage books.

The house decided that it should turn down a resolution opposing the showing of Fatty Arbuckle films. Probably all of the members are opposed to the films but the opinion was general that this is a matter outside of regular legislative jurisdiction and that it is not wise to establish a precedent of allowing such matters to take up time.

Big Bill Lundy of Custer, is well named. But he needs all his size to accommodate the cargo of optimism and good nature that he carries with him all the time.

Warden Fenton believes it is wrong to repeal the indeterminate sentence law. He says the few outstanding instances where paroled men go wrong again should not be allowed to ruin the chances of the many who turn out all right. It is said that a very large percentage of the paroled prisoners make good.

Each member of the legislature is to be supplied with 500 letter heads and 500 envelopes. The great seal of the state is embossed on the letter heads and the house stationery will bear a picture of the new capitol. The cost is $7.95 per member. Members of the house are allowed 10 cents per day each for postage on their letters. Senate members have no limit. Speaker Mathers announces his intention of enforcing the no smoking rule. Wonder how he expects this column to function without the inspiration of the pipe?

Representative Jacoby proposes to reduce the salaries of governor, members of the supreme court and other state officers but the constitution will prevent any immediate reductions. Changes can only be made once every eight years. He would increase the salary of the lieutenant governor and, in addition, give him $10 a day when he acts as governor, this amount to be deducted from the governor's salary.

One bill is directed at the Ku Klux Klan and another legalizes half fare for ministers.

The senate resolution, for investigating state banks for the purpose of finding out what amendments to the banking laws are desirable, was referred to the committee on banks and banking.

Senator Anderson's resolution asking congress to pass a law permitting states to tax national bank stock received favorable consideration. Another resolution by Anderson against dollar matching was the cause of considerable oratory. The resolution was finally returned to the committee for further action. Several of the senators expressed themselves as in favor of federal aid in road building and other objects. Others were opposed.

If the proposed bounty of fifty cents a dozen on crow eggs is established it may be more profitable to raise crows than chickens.

Two years ago it wasn't very difficult to get increases in salaries for state officers. This session the drift is the other way and employees will be fortunate if they do not have their incomes reduced. This is especially true in the code department, provided the whole thing isn't put out of business. Anyhow, it seems certain that a considerable number of code employees will have to walk the plank. Sentiment is strong among the members in favor of reducing the number of state employees.

Organizations and individuals who have ideas for tax reductions or other improvements in state government will be more likely to get what they want if they are specific in expressing their desires. General ideas that must be worked out by someone don't get very far.

Governor Bryan doesn't appear to take much stock in so-called child welfare movements that are suggested by people who have no children of their own and have no practical ideas gained by experience. His idea seems to be that parents should take some responsibility and that the state should not interfere so much with family affairs.

One idea that the new governor has is to separate administrative and educational duties. He believes, that the state university should attend to all educational matters that pertain to the state at large and that state house employees and officials should confine themselves entirely to administering the laws. As it now stands there is duplication by the state agricultural department and the state agricultural college, in particular, and in other parts of the state government. It is said that five different inspectors are now doing more or less work that should be confined entirely to one department and under one jurisdiction.

The salary bills were acted upon promptly by the house. Members don't want any delay when their pay and mileage are due.

Representative Smith of Omaha, author of the famous bread law, is preparing a bill levying a tax of one mill each on all cigarettes sold in the state. He estimates that such a law would produce more revenue than was ever produced by saloon license money. Iowa passed such a law two years ago.

Senator Wiltsie proposes to change the present method of employing a county agent. He thinks that the county board should have power to submit the matter to the voters instead of allowing three hundred farmers to say whether or not an agent shall be employed.

The prophets say W. H. Smith of the Seward Independent Democrat is to be tax commissioner. He is helping the governor revise the budget.

Side curtains to keep the sun from spoiling their complexions were asked for by members who sit on the sunny side of the house. Representative Mears, who knows the old building better than the new members do, told them that they will be sitting in their overcoats and glad to have the sun shine on them before the session is over.

Master painters of the state want a law requiring master painters to be licensed. This would mean another examining board.

Governor Bryan has appointed Thomas W. Carroll chief deputy law enforcement officer to succeed Gus Myers. He is to work directly under the governor. It is doubtful if he will get as much advertising out of the job as Gus did.

Construction noises on the new capitol makes some members of the house believe that something in the way of sound amplifiers should be provided so it will be possible to hear all the speeches. State engineer Johnson is trying to provide equipment.

EASY TO MAKE SELF-FEEDERS

Devices May Be Constructed of Any Size Desired and With Any Number of Compartments.

In response to requests for instructions for making self-feeders for hogs W. H. Lovell, in Farm and Ranch, gives the following directions, the illustration giving a general idea of what the feeder looks like:

The illustration shows a hinged lid made of 1 by 8-inch boards, one lid being on each side of the top of the feeder. The dotted lines show the four compartments, three of the compartments being used for feed and the other for a mineral mixture. The outside of the feeder is covered with common siding such as is used in house building, the siding being nailed on the outside of the frame and the end boards nailed on the outside. The frame is made of 2 by 4-inch material. One by 8-inch boards hinged at ends swing free from about 1 1/2 inches from the bottom of the trough. The hogs root these boards when the feed is not coming fast enough or when feed is lodged on the side of the feeder. The troughs are made of heavy boards. A trough is on each side with a partition in the center. The platform is made of 2 by 4 pieces and heavy plank. The feeder is 12 feet long, 5 feet high and 3 feet wide at the top of the compartments.

One farmer wants to know if the feeder should be made on a concrete foundation. No, that is not necessary. But build it on a good, solid, firm wood foundation, and then when you want to move it from one place to another you can easily do so with a horse or mule. About 16 average size hogs can eat at the same time at the feeder shown in the accompanying sketch. Of course feeders may be made any size desired and with any number of compartments. When you have finished making a feeder give it a good coat of paint. It pays to keep such things around the farm well painted.

DEVELOPING HIGHWAYS SLOW

For Many Years Only Paved Roads Were in Cities—Government Finally Took Hold.

County and state governments took years to get momentum. For years the only paved highways were in the cities. Then ribbons of concrete and brick were extended through rural districts to other centers.

County and state governments took up the cause and then the nation got back of the movement with energy and funds.

In 1921 approximately 5,000 miles of concrete highways were completed and put into service in the United States. Pennsylvania alone built 640 miles; New York state 530 miles; Illinois 450 miles; Michigan and Wisconsin each about 340 miles; Ohio 260 miles, and other states have accomplished almost as much.

PROTEIN FOR YOUNG ANIMALS

One of Three Elements Necessary in Order That They May Thrive—Proportion Varies.

Protein is one of the three elements in feeds that are necessary in order that animals may thrive. The proportion of protein in feeds necessary for best results varies with the age and character of the animal being fed. For young and growing animals, and those bearing young or producing milk, an average of one pound of protein to five or six pounds of other constituents is about right.

SHEEP ARE EASY TO DOCTOR

Hundreds Die Each Year That Might Have Been Saved If Owner Had Taken Little Pains.

Sheep are easiest doctored of all our domestic animals. Hundreds of sheep die each year that might easily have been saved if the owner had gone to a little trouble. A sheep is very easy to drench. Why lose one? However, the best of all medicines is that given for prevention.

Burn the Garden Trash.

Troublesome garden diseases and insects may be partly controlled by burning or removing remains of crops after the harvest season.

Money Combination.

The sow and the cow is a money-making combination. "Add corn and alfalfa and the mixture is well-high livable."

More and Better Products.

It is good farm economics to grow more and better products at least cost.

LAND OF VAST RESOURCES

Not Hard to Predict a Great Future for the Island Continent of Australia.

The resources of Australia have not yet been fully exploited. It is possible that at some time in the future the great desert regions in the northwest of the island continent and the wide plains in the center may be brought under cultivation.

The principal vegetable productions of the country are its evergreen trees, which furnish valuable timber, and its pasturage. Vegetable products include eucalyptus, red gum, blue gum, palm, stringy bark, iron bark, acacia, jarrah, karri, salt bush, kangaroo grass; maize, wheat, potatoes, hay, barley, oats, bananas, grapes and other fruits, and tobacco, sugarcane and cotton. The wine industry is an important one. Animals raised are chiefly sheep (Australia being the world's greatest wool-producing country), and cattle (cattle rearing having developed to a large extent lately because of the spread of the frozen-meat trade). Mineral resources include gold, silver, copper, iron, tin, antimony, manganese, cinnabar and coal; and the chief exports are mutton, beef, butter, hides, skins, wool, wheat, gold and copper.

Besides the products already named, there are valuable gems, such as sapphires, rubies, emeralds, opals and garnets—while pearls are obtained through the pearl fisheries off the north coast of Queensland and the northwest coast of Western Australia.

SOUNDLY BEATEN BY INDIANS

Expedition Under Captain Lovell Met With Disaster in the Spring of 1725.

Of all the combats in Maine between the whites and Indians, the best known was "Lovell's fight." In the spring of 1725 Captain Lovell and 46 volunteers started from Dunstable, Mass., to hunt Indians about the headquarters of the Saco. They did this partly because the Indians were a menace to the settlements, and partly to secure the liberal bounty which had been promised for every Indian scalp.

On the night of May 7 Lovell and his men camped beside what is known as Lovell's pond, in Fryeburg, Maine, only two miles from Pigwacket, the principal village of the Indians of that region. Early the next morning, they killed an Indian, and not long afterward were attacked by three times their number. The fight continued until dusk, when Lovell and his band began to retreat. Only nine were uninjured. Some of them died on the way to the settlements, and those who finally arrived home were half starved.

Shark Towed Large Boat.

While crossing the bay from English harbor, Newfoundland, to Fortune, about twenty-five miles, an 18-ton boat was becalmed about ten miles from shore. Hearing several splashes, the owner went forward and looking over saw a blue shark about ten feet long. He writes that he picked up a large iron hook, and tying a stout piece of rope to it he fastened the other end to the mast. He then put a piece of salt pork on the hook and dropped it over to the shark. No sooner was it in the water than the fish grabbed it and swam swiftly away. The rope was slackened out about ten fathoms, brought up with a jerk and the boat commenced to move. The shark came to the surface several times but continued straight ahead, a little out of the course. The boat was towed eight miles when a strong breeze sprang up and it began to go faster than the fish. The shark was hauled alongside and in payment for the tow was allowed its liberty, the rope being cut close to its mouth.—Montreal Family Herald.

Floral Chimeras.

There are orchids of the tropics which exceed in strangeness of form and splendor of color anything produced in conservatories. Among the most remarkable of these plants are those belonging to the genus masdevallia. One species closely imitates the trunk of an elephant and is named accordingly, masdevallia elephanticeps. Another looks like a flying pigeon. The species to which the name "chimera" is specially applied is very extraordinary. With what resembles two slender legs and a ball-like trunk upraised from its head, the flower startles the beholder with its resemblance to some fantastic and monstrous insect. The resemblance of these flowers to animals is so exact that even birds are sometimes deceived by them.

Other Side of the Dime.

Do you know what a dime looks like?

Most people have a pretty good general idea what a ten-cent piece looks like, but when it comes to details their concept is hazy.

The same thing applies to the nickel, penny, quarter and half dollar.

The next time you have specimens of all these coins in your pocket, preferably both the old and new designs, try this on the crowd.

Probably not one person in a hundred can tell you precisely what is on both sides of each coin. They will be able to tell you a woman's head on one side of the new dime, for instance, but not what is on the reverse.

Without looking, now, what is on the other side of that dime?

SEMI-ANNUAL SWINE SURVEY

Questionnaires Will Be Distributed on Agricultural Routes by Rural Mail Carriers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The second semi-annual pig survey, cards for which are now being distributed to rural mail carriers, will cover the entire country, the United States Department of Agriculture has announced. The survey last spring covered only 17 states, but as an indication of present and probable pig production the survey was a great success and readily demonstrated the feasibility of extending the scope of the inquiry, says the department.

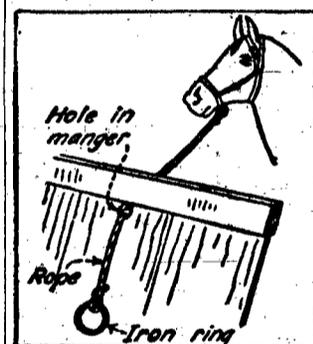

Ten cards or questionnaires will be distributed by each rural mail carrier on agricultural routes. Approximately 50,000 cards will be sent out. They have been prepared in simple form and can be filled out in a few minutes. Where possible, the mail carriers will fill in the answers as made by the hog raisers. The cards will show the number of sows farrowed during the last six months of 1921, the number farrowed during the first six months of 1922, the number of sows farrowed, or due to farrow during the last six months of 1922, and the number bred or intended to be bred to farrow during the first six months of 1923.

The importance of this survey to the farmers in enabling them to adjust their production to the probable needs of the market is stressed by the department. People who deal in crops and live stock, such as packers and commission men, have very extensive organizations for informing themselves of the production of crops and live stock, the department points out. "Farmers have no such organization of their own, and obviously information of this character is just as important to the farmers as to the people who deal in farm products. One of the functions of government is to gather and publish these necessary statistics in order that the producers may have some knowledge of what is going on in the way of production."

SIMPLE WAY TO TIE HORSES

Method Illustrated Obviates Danger of Animals Getting Legs Over the Rope.

The accompanying diagram shows a simple but effective method of tying horses and colts so there is no danger of their getting their legs over the tie rope and throwing themselves or strangling, says a writer in the Prairie Farmer. This is one of the constant dangers on the farm, especially where the barn is some distance from the house.

Hitch for Horse.

Have a snap at the halter end of the rein, then run the other end of the rope through the hole in the manger and tie on a large ring or almost anything which will act as a light weight and which cannot get in such a way that it can be pulled through the hole. When the horse stands close to the manger the ring will go down and thus there will be no chance for him to get his foot over the rein.

COSTS OF MILK PRODUCTION

Bulletin Issued by University of Wisconsin Gives Good Information for Dairyman.

Not many dairymen are thoroughly familiar with the big question of the variation in the cost of producing milk. "Milk costs are necessary in order to determine profits or losses of the herd," say P. E. McNall and D. R. Mitchell in their new bulletin, "Why Costs of Milk Vary," which has just been issued by the University of Wisconsin. "Costs per hundredweight of milk varied from $1.88 to $4.01 for different months of the year." Such facts as these are brought out in the new bulletin, which contains valuable information for the practical dairyman who is trying to hold down production costs.

Excellent Hog Pasture.

Medium red clover makes excellent hog pasture. So does alfalfa. It is usually easier to get clover started, particularly on new land, than alfalfa.

Pasturage for Swine.

Pasturage should be provided for the entire year for brood sows and spring and fall litters.

Gives Needed Exercise.

Gardening affords needed exercise for many "tired business men."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE PINK PIG.

There was nothing in the world Peggy wanted more than a pink pig. Not a really, truly pig, but a nice pig you could hug. Peggy didn't think it would do to hug a real pig. In the first place the pig might not like to be hugged.

She had always heard that they much preferred to have their backs scratched. And then a real pig might want to eat right at the very time for cozy hugging and a pleasant, comfy time.

And that would be far from nice. Besides a real pig would have to live in the barn or the pig pen or the outdoors, whereas she wanted a pig she could take to bed with her. She wanted a pig to sleep beside her on the pillow and she was sure one couldn't take a really real pig for that. She had never heard of a real pig sharing a pillow with a little girl.

So, thinking of all these things, she knew that what she wanted was a toy pig.

Oh yes, there was no mistake about that.

So, some time before Christmas came along she wrote a letter to Santa Claus. Peggy believed in being in plenty of time and so it was long, long before the really Christmas season that she wrote this letter to Santa Claus:

"Dearest and Bestest and Most Perfect Santa Claus:

"I do hope you've been well this past year and that you have not been too busy! I know that you love being busy and of course all the children are glad that you are busy, but I mean that I do hope you're not too tired.

"And I hope your weather hasn't been too terribly cold. I know you don't mind it cold for you always look so well and rosy-cheeked, as my mother calls it, and as though the cold air was just the very kind of air you loved.

"I also hope you'll have a merry Christmas too, and a happy New Year, and my father and my mother and my two brothers and my little sister say the same. My baby sister isn't big enough to talk and that is the reason she isn't sending you a message. I thought you might be hurt, dear Santa Claus, so I just wanted to explain.

"We've been having a lovely time lately. This summer I learned how to swim. But that's a queer thing to be talking about now, isn't it, Santa Claus?

"I've asked my daddy how to spell all the words in this letter so I am sure they are all right, Santa Claus. He is just like you, Santa Claus, he knows how to spell all the words without having to think.

"Well, dear Santa Claus, I thought I might ask you a long time ahead if it would be possible for me to have a toy pink pig as a Christmas present? I would like one to be very pink and pig-like in its looks—with funny eyes which look sort of sideways as a pig's eyes do.

"I would rather have a pink pig than anything in the world, dear Santa Claus, and I hope this won't bother you too much, and I hope that making a pink pig will not be hard and that you'll find in your workshop the right kind of pink stuff.

"Well, dear Santa Claus, this is a very long letter. I have been good and I shall be still more good as Christmas draws near. Doesn't that sound beautiful.

"On His List,"

Santa Claus— that about the Christmas time drawing near? I thought of it all myself.

"So, with loving wishes, and a prosperous New Year, as my daddy says on his business calendar which he sends to his friends and his almost friends—you of course are the real, real of all friends—I remain,

"Your own loving and devoted little friend,

PEGGY.

"P. S.—And I live on the right side of the street—for we moved from the left side last spring. That's all—P."

And Santa Claus put on his list "One toy pink pig for Peggy."

Sounded Like It.

"Gertrude," asked the teacher, "What were the causes of the Revolutionary war?"

"It had something to do with automobiles, but I did not understand just what," replied Gertrude.

"Oh, no!" said the teacher. "That was before the day of automobiles."

"Well, it said it was on account of unjust taxes," said Gertrude. "Chicago News."

ALUMNA VISITS ELLIS ISLAND

Interesting Experience Related by Alumna of School.

(From the Goldenrod)
Miss Gladys Kline, '14, who was an instructor in the training school last year and this year is attending Columbia University, has found time from her work to visit Ellis Island and writes thus of the experience:

"Tuesday, I went out to Ellis Island. That was the most depressing thing I ever experienced. We went down to the Battery and out to the Island on the government barge at about eleven o'clock. Three ships came in Tuesday and there were lots of immigrants coming through the Island. They are brought from the ocean liners on small boats and go through the runway, a medical officer gives them a very cursory examination. If he sees anything they are turned back immediately. If not, they go on into the building where each is given a fairly thorough examination. Anything which might make them a public charge later in life, bars them from entering the country. I saw one Polish woman who was barred because of heart trouble. She was a shabby, stolid-countenanced woman, but you could see that she was scared to death. Imagine, being so far from home, unable to speak the language, and detailed to a hospital with no earthly idea of what they were going to do with you. As they are examined they are tagged, 'Passed' or not as the case goes. They are tagged 'Disinfected' before they come into the medical department.

"From the medical rooms they go upstairs into a long room with benches called chutes along which the lines move to the inspectors' desks. An interpreter stands on one side of the desk with the alien and the inspector on the other records the amount of money they have and any other information they are able to give. Some are sent to the depot from here, but others have to have a hearing before a judge if there is a question about their purpose in coming here. We did not see where or how the mental testing is done. One girl was having a hearing while we were there. You are not supposed to see them, but we were allowed to go through without a guide as they were short of help so we went every place regardless of 'positively no admittance' signs and looked till we were put out. This girl was big, clean, fair, dressed in a full gray shirt, tight waist, high boots and shawl over her head. She had come over to marry her uncle. Ye gods! It needed a hearing didn't it?

"In the depot were three of the best looking young men from the North, probably Sweden. You could easily imagine them owning farms in Minnesota in a few years. When the alien is finally passed he is taken to the depot where he is given his ticket and labeled for the railroad or boat on which he is to go. I wish you could see them. I saw an old Russian wearing his traditional caucan cap and long boots. On the other side, a Roumanian, two slouching their full skirts and if they were already counting the chickens they will steal from Kline's next Fair time. Next to them an undernourished Polish boy of about ten, his hands mere claws, his face white and expressionless, his head the shape that tells a school teacher that he is not and never will be all there; opposite him, a good looking, clean Holland lassie, her spotless white apron bordered with bright embroidery, a beautiful gay-colored shawl over her head, and a dazed expression in her brown eyes. She looked so sad I tried to talk to her, but to no avail. And all about you children, children, children, some fat and saucy, some white and sick, some bright, some dull, each chattering a different language, all marked, 'Passed' and 'Disinfected,' about to become citizens of this great country of ours. What shall we do with them?"

ALUMNI

In the compilation of the Alumni Register many interesting letters have been received from graduates of the school and from those we glean the following:

Vesta Ferguson, '18, has been teaching in Chandler, Arizona, for five years. She appreciates receiving the register as it is only through it that she, living so far from the school, knows about many of the old friends.

Helen Elaine Dudley was born on September 28, 1922. This little lady's mother will be remembered as Bessie York, '16, who is now living in Detroit, Michigan.

Mrs. Olive Griffith Buckstead, '16, is living on a farm three miles from Irene, South Dakota, and she writes that she enjoys her life and work more for having spent the two years in the Wayne State Normal.

Lyle Miller, '21, sends greetings from Red Cloud, Nebraska, where he is an instructor in the high school.

Louise Sprague, '20, is teaching her second year at Laurel where she has thirty-six enrolled in the kindergarten and first grade.

John R. Muhm, '20, and Agnes Graham Muhm, '20, are superintendent and principal, respectively, in the Ewing schools. They have 106 pupils in the high school and 170 in the grades and are enjoying the work. On a trip last summer they were able through the Register to locate Sylvia Elarth at Sheridan, Wyoming and Albert Hering at Lodge Pole, Nebraska.

Ruth Rennick, '22, writes of enjoying her work at Pierce even though school is kept in a one-story, tarpaper covered building while the new building is being erected.

Miss Neoma D. Hoogner, '16, is teaching in the Minneapolis schools.

Rosa Shaffer, '20, is still in training in the Methodist Hospital in Omaha.

Anna M. Baer, '16, is teaching in Wilmington, a suburb of Los Angeles. She has many nationalities represented in her pupils, about twenty per cent being Mexican, one Japanese, one Italian, one Portuguese, one Spanish and the remainder American.

The class of 1914 will be sorry to learn of the death of one of its members, Joseph Paschang, who passed away on September 27, 1921 at York, Nebraska. This information has just been received from Mrs. J. E. Paschang in reply to request for information for the Alumni Register.

Clifford J. Ireland of Yutan writes: "I for one value the alumni register. I want to thank you for taking this interest in your old students who are out in the world fighting the battles of life and thinking of our days with you."

Mrs. B. W. Bonham (Miss Lou-

Beale) writes from Sidney, Nebraska where her husband is in business. Rev. Kilburn, who was pastor of the Methodist Church in Wayne last year, and Mrs. Kilburn are living in Sidney but are lonesome for Wayne and their Wayne friends.

Robert Richard Thatcher was born on November 26, 1922 to Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Thatcher. Mrs. Thatcher was Miss Alice Will of the 1917 class.

Sara A. Henry, '16, writes from Los Angeles where she is teaching, "I certainly enjoy the alumni register and I wish you and Wayne Normal every success in every enterprise you undertake. I wish I might visit the school once more."

C. L. Culler, '12, has been principal of the Whittier Junior High School in Lincoln for a number of years. He is to have a fine new school building before the year is over.

Bea A. Murphy, '16, is teaching for the fifth year in the O'Neill schools. She has charge of the sixth grade and does departmental work in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Paul C. Peterson, '22, is teaching in the Ponca high school, and finds there are many new things to learn which do not come up while attending school.

Joé H. Cox, '20, and Leona Dietrich Cox, '20, are living in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where Joe is completing his last year in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. During the holiday vacation he worked for an engineering firm in Boston. Mrs. Cox is teaching in the third grade of the Arlington Public School and writes that she finds teaching methods and conditions there very similar to those in Nebraska, although more attention is paid to physical training and industrial art in the grades there than here. Teachers are hired in Massachusetts entirely on recommendations and amount of preparation and there is no law regarding certificates and no attention is paid to them.

QUALITY COUNTS

The Norfolk Press is giving attention to farm questions, and asking that the farmers and their wives aid by giving experiences and figures especially from the small farm, and in diversified farming, and it is an interesting feature of any paper where the people of the community will help the editor make the publication more of a community news paper. Mrs. Weekes under whose direction the local policy of the paper is, has something of interest in the last issue, which we use below. As she spent two years as deputy inspector for the state in the pure food department, it but fair to assume that she knows that conditions she tells of actually exist; and any authority on such questions will assure one that what is said here as to the price difference between good and bad is very marked. What she says of Madison county farms, applies more or less to Wayne county.

The Press has a hobby, the hobby of small farms. That is directly contrawise of the wishes and efforts of many big people in the agricultural world who argue that the big farm is the efficient farm and the farm of the future. This is the age of specialization in many lines. Those engaged in manufacturing production realized that some years ago. Outside of the little dairying done there is very little specialization work on Madison county farms.

With the increased value put upon the farm land, it has become too valuable to continue the practices followed by the pioneers who had cheap, new land for their foundation. Ford says the farmer must learn to handle machinery. With all due deference to Ford, The Press would paraphrase that with the farmer must learn to use his head. Scrub stocks, scrub crops and scrub farmers must go. Farmers must confine their work to fewer acres and on these acres raise better crops, different crops.

There is no use in wasting time, effort, land on poor potato seed. Many of the potatoes we buy at even the reduced prices of this year are not worth the money. They are scrub potatoes that must be cut away in the preparing for meals. We have seen farm orchard after farm orchard the past year that showed the fatal signs of neglect and was so much waste land to the farmer. Butter, thousands of pounds of it that is totally unfit for the table is marketed in towns like Norfolk in north Nebraska every week and is a loss to the farmer who markets the inferior grade butter as well as to the farmer who sells the clean sweet butter in competition. Cream is another food that is handled in a disgracefully slovenly way by many farmers; by cream buyers in the towns. The waste, the filth and the attendant low prices of cream is a subject that reflects no credit on the agricultural department of our state government, the farm extension work of the university and those other factors that are supported at public expense in the name of greater and better farm production. Eggs are in the same category and if those were properly conserved the money saved the producers and the consumer would alone pay the cost of inspection which is in the greater part a tragic joke and outside of giving employment to some folks who like that kind of work does little good. There is a world of opportunity in such work for the conservation of food if the farmer, the dealer, the consumer and the public official employed to work with these other agencies took the matter seriously. But if the first named folks so regarded the problem there would be no need of the public official to tell them what to do for their own good.

The farm without a kitchen garden of good proportions, without an orchard on the sidehill, chickens, pigs and cows and a diversity of farm crops scarcely seems a farm. In this kind of a farm may not lie the greatest production but the farm is more of a home and from many points of view it is stronger as a unit of production. We like to see farmers supply all their own vegetables, eggs, meat and fruit, most, if not all their fuel, much of their building material and some of their household equipment. That is one idea of a farm and it is worth recording here that we find that kind more frequently with the farmers of German and Scandinavian blood. When we see a pile of tin cans at the back of the farmer's kitchen we are not surprised when we hear him tell of the foreclosure he is trying to ward off. When we see a man sell his hogs on the hoof and buy it back in high priced bacon and hams we wonder how long it will last.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT DEMONSTRATION

(From the Goldenrod)
The Physical Education Department gave a very interesting and instructive program Thursday evening, January 11, in the gymnasium. The work consisted of practical demonstrations of the types and kind of work that should be given in a physical education program for daily work throughout the grades from the first to the tenth. The demonstration was purely from the teaching standpoint. Misses Hemenway, Larson, Rabe, Carpenter and LeMonnier had an enthusiastic and charming first and second grade demonstration, while Misses Bacon, Johnson and Ball put the third and fourth, fifth and sixth, seventh and eighth grades through an energetic and well-planned "Day's Order." The folk dances were enjoyed both by the participants and by the spectators, and the games were enthusiastically fought out to the finish, while the relay races added the final height of excitement. Mrs. Beery was heard to say after the performance that she was very much pleased with the work of the girls.

MYSELF AND ME

From "The Antelope"
I am the best friend I ever had,
I like to be with me,
I like to tell myself
Things confidentially.
I often sit and ask me
If I shouldn't
Or if I should.
And I find that my advise to me
Is always pretty good.
I never get acquainted
With myself till here of late
And I find myself bally chum.
And I treat me simply great.
I walk with me, I talk with me
And I show me right from wrong.
I never knew how well myself
And me could get along.
I've made a study of myself
And compared me with the lot,
I finally concluded
I'm the best friend I've got.

RECENT FICTION

The following books of fiction were listed as the best sellers in the month of December with the McClurg Book stores:

A Week End at Terrace as Recorded by One Who Knows

(From The Goldenrod)
Saturday morning six-thirty; Terrace Hall and I.
"Oh, why do they have to ring that bell on Saturday morning?"
I turn over and slide back into unconsciousness. Two hours later I spend fifteen minutes meditating on a bath and then rise reluctantly and journey to the bath room.

"Who is in the tub? Can I have it after you? Will you please tell her to call me when she is through?"
Two hours later I proudly survey my room cleaned from floor to dresser top.

"My, the floor looks nice. It was worth the work to wax it. Shall we go to the library this morning or down town?"

The library is the scene of my endeavors until the whistle blows and then, well the usual thing.
"Oh play 'Georgette,' Mary, please. Come on, that was fine. Play some more, please! Please!"

The clamor is incessant and insistent. Mary plays.
It is a quarter past one. I wish the mail would come. Oh, goody, here it is. Is there anything for me? One letter. I should hope so. It is about time for them to write. And a package slip. "What time shall we go down town this afternoon?"

Two o'clock finds us enroute to town and three-thirty finds us returning hillward, well laden.

"Let's see, I have stamps, envelopes, buns, butter, and I know there is chicken in this box. That was all we were going to get, wasn't it?"

Back again. I suppose I should study a while if I am going to the movies tonight. Still, I just must do some pressing. I receive the promise of the iron after six other people get through so an hour later I depart for the "depths" to do those things which should have been done before.

Six o'clock. The table is set with newspapers, four cups, two glasses and an odd assortment of sauce dishes, plates, spoons and knives. The coffee is "perked" and the chicken carved. It was chicken. Caesar's merriest banquet feast could not have rivaled ours for the next hour. The uke is tuned and we sing. What? Everything. Following the doctrine of socialism we each take up our cup and spoon and wash the same in the bathroom. This operation is hurried for it is time to start for the movies.

Ten o'clock.
"Oh, gee! I don't even have time to undress before the lights go out."
"Yes, come in. Weren't the movies good? What time is it? Nine-thirty? Well, I suppose I will have to get up if I am going to church."

To church we go and afterwards dine down town. We stroll back to the hill and wait on first floor hopefully for the mail. At five I go to Nellie's room feeling that I have accomplished wonders during the afternoon. I made calls at five different rooms, wrote two letters and got two lessons besides reading a story in the "American." Yes, it was a day well spent.

"Oh, you are making fudge? Done already? It is delicious. Just delicious. We are going to make cocoa and have cakes pretty soon. Come down and have some with us?"
Nine-thirty. Oh, dear, tomorrow is Monday. Well, I suppose I might as well begin getting ready for bed.

FINE ARTS CLUB

The Music Section of the Fine Arts Club met Monday evening, January 8, in the music room. It was an open meeting. Various topics were discussed, some of special interest to the prospective members of the club. Members will please watch the bulletin board for the announcements of programs and meetings in the future.

The Art Section of the Fine Arts Club met in the drawing room. A very interesting talk on the Omaha art exhibit was given by Miss Pierce. Club dues were paid and the remainder of the time was spent in home craft work.

FEEDING HEAVILY IN WESTERN END OF STATE; CORN IS SELLING WELL

Feeding operations are comparatively heavy along the western border of the state, and while there is a good supply of corn it is selling well, the present price being 60 to 62 cents, according to Ed Preager, of Vanago, who was on the Omaha market Tuesday with a load of shorted yearlings.

"Farmers are still getting better than the market price for corn by feeding it to stock," Mr. Preager observed. "I put two loads of these yearlings on feed in October, and they had gained so well that I decided to test the market with one car of them. While they will make me a little money, the demand for unfinished light cattle seems so poor that I believe it will pay me to finish out the other load."

His race was run and his battle done. The Old Year was going, going to help make up the annals of past history. The New Year was coming, coming to bring joy and sorrow to nations and people; coming to bring events fateful and which will go down into immortal records of time. For a few brief moments the Old Year and the New Year met. One, old and wearied with the sadness of his mistakes, grief over failures and the weight of burdens too heavy to be borne, yet without having a sense of having made some gain over his predecessors and of having done much good to mankind despite all obstacles. The New Year was eager, earnest, keen for the new adventure, scarce wanting to stop for the few words of advice age and experience offered.

"O Child! Hope of the World! A message I have for you ere I am gone forever. To you I bequeath all the good I have done, the right to finish all the good I have left incomplete, the right to amend wrongs, to be helpful, kindly, and to heal the wounds of the world. I would that you would gladden the thousand, thousand heavy hearts in the world. May you build a mansion of beautiful thoughts, words and deeds."

The New Year, impatient, replied, "I know, and I shall build and do as I please."
"But you will forever have to live in a house built of what you put into it; if materials mean and ugly are used, they will remain so, if good they will remain so. You will inhabit this house when your span here is run. Make your days useful and then they will be happy. In bringing good to others you will best find it for yourself. Good-bye."

And the Old Year had gone into the past. Welcome to the bright New Year. May it bring us nought but lasting good.

THE STUFF

The test of a man is the fight he makes,
The grit that he daily shows,
The way he stands on his feet and takes
Pate's numerous bumps and blows.
A coward can smile when there's naught to fear,
When nothing hinders his progress bars,
But it takes a man to stand up and cheer
While some other fellow stars.

It isn't the victory after all,
But the fight that a brother makes;
The man who, driven against the wall,
Still stands up erect and takes
The blows of fate with his head held high,
Bleeding and bruised and pale,
Is the man who will win in the by and by
For he isn't afraid to fail.

It's the bumps you get and the jolts you get
And the shocks that your courage stands,
The hours of sorrow and vain regret,
The prize that escapes your hands,
That test your mettle and prove your worth
It isn't the blows you deal,
But the blows you take on the good old earth
That shows if your stuff is real.—Ex.
