SUDDEN DEATH OF

JOHN MEISTER SATURDAY

Shortly after noon Saturday, the sad news of the sudden death of John Meister of the Gem Cafe passed quickly from lip to lip. Mr. Meister had been in his usual health so far as any one knew, busying himself with his regular duties until nearly noon, when, complaining of not feeling well, he followed the advice of the boys and went to his room for a rest. Here he grew rapidly worse, and when one of the sons followed to the room shortly afterwards he realized that his father was seriously ill, and at once called a physician, and in spite of all that could be done he continued to fall rapidly, and passed away before 1 o'clock. He was conscious to the last, almost, and assured his physician that he would not rally, that nothing could be done for him then. The only sickness he had known in recent years was an occasional sensation of heart trouble—and it was something of the same symptoms that he felt at this time, but more severe. The physician said it was an attack in the nature of apoplexy, and that and heart trouble were given as cause of death.

Obituary

John Meister was born in Germany September 22, 1859, and came with his parents to America before he was two years of age. They sailed to New Orleans, and thence up the river as far as St. Louis, and for a number of years made their home in Illinois at Breese in Clinton county. A few years later they decided to come to Nebraska, and embarked on a steamboat at St. Louis to Omaha, more than fifty years ago. From there they came by team, possibly ox team to Westpoint, and settled near that place and farmed for a number of years. There being need for a postoffice in the vicinity, Mr. Meister secured the establishment of one and he became the postmaster. Monterey was the name given the office, which has been discontinued by reason of rural routes. A church, store and school are still there.

He was united in marriage November 9, 1882, with Miss Theresia Kriener, who survives him, with four daughters and two sons, all of whom were present at his funeral. They are Mrs. Herb Bluchel (Theresia) of Omaha, Mrs. Bey Strahan (Mary), Joe, Mrs. E. Paulson, (Anna) and John of this place and Miss Cecelia of Omaha. With Mr. and Mrs. Bluchel came their two sons, Teddy and Herbert. Two sisters survive him, Mrs. John Decker of West Point and Mrs. C. Rozien of Randolph, both of whom were at the funeral service. Other relatives who attended the funeral were Jos. Kriener of Osmond, a brother of Mrs. Meister, Mr. and Mrs. John Schorn of West Point and others.

The Funeral

The funeral services were held Tuesday morning from the St. Mary's Catholic church, and the attendance was limited only by the capacity of the church, the business houses all closing their doors during the hour of the service. Soluna High Mass was given by the Rt. Rev. Father McNamara of Bloomfield, assisted by Rev. Father Loudermann of Randolph and Rev. Father Wm. Kearns of this place.

In his talk during the service Father Kearns paid high tribute to Mr. Meister as a citizen and a father. He said that he had that sterling honesty that was so often developed among the pioneers—men whose word was as good as their bond, because made good to the utmost, and without quibbling over technicalities and fine points or looking for any loophole to be used to escape their obligation to their fellowmen or the community. As such a man was John Meister known during the seventeen years he resided in this community. It is men of this class that the Father said the world is today in need of.

Mr. Meister had a wide acquaintance, and a large circle of friends, for he had been in business here and in Cumming county almost continuously for more than forty years.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many friends and neighbors who so promptly came to our assistance during the hour of sorrow and distress when husband and father was so suddenly called last week; and for aid and sympathy and rich floral offerings.

Mrs. Meister and Children.

DEATH OF THEODORE SCHULTE

Sunday morning, May 13, 1923, at the home of his parents five miles west of Wayne, the death angle called for their only son, Theodore William H. Schulte, after an illness which kept him from his place of business at Wayne but nine days. He was born in Wayne county December 6, 1902, and had attained an age of only 20 years, 5 months and 7 days.

Theodore had for a number of years been making what looked like a winning fight against tuberculosis of the bone, and had suffered much and frequently spent much time at Rochester for treatment. For the past year he had been assisting at the Wayne Grocery, in which his father had purchased an interest for his benefit largely. Tuberculosis of the hip was given as the cause of death.

The funeral services were held Wednesday, Rev. W. Fischer, his pastor, officiating in a service at the home, and assisted at the church by Rev. Teckhaus and Rev. Fetterolf of this place; at the Evangelistic church near the Schulte home, and interment was in the cemetery near the church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends in the neighborhood of his home. Generous floral offerings attested the regard in which he was held in his home, and the sympathy of friends for the family.

During the year he has been connected with the grocery he has made friends by his uniformly courteous ways.

Among the relatives who came a distance who were here to attend the funeral services were his grandparents from Missouri, Wm. Schulte from Rosebud, Missouri, his grandmother, Mrs. Johanna Winter; two aunts, Mrs. Henry Rohlfing of St. Louis; Mrs. Higler from Netha, Missouri; three uncles from Missouri; Ed Schulte from Berger, a cousin; Will Schulte, from Stoneville and Fred Schulte from Geneva.

HARRY SIMON SUPREME REPRESENTATIVE, K. P.

At the state meet of the Nebraska Grand Lodge, K. P., Harry Simon of Winfield was elected for a second time one of the representatives of that order in this state to the supreme lodge of the order, which is to meet in Toronto, Canada, next year. Mr. Simon is doing a good work in his capacity as representative in equalizing some matters in his jurisdiction.

SHALL CITY ENLARGE

POWER PLANT?

That is a question now being seriously discussed by members of the council, and at their meeting Tuesday evening they decided to ask for bids on another unit of equipment, and then consider the matter carefully in the mean time.

The editor asked about the matter, and was assured in reply that the demand for service is rapidly growing and that the load now has a peak well toward the capacity. There is a profit to the city in the rate now collected, and from it the wells and some of the present equipment has been paid for without a levy of taxes. Now the question comes as to whether it is wise to reduce the rate a little and thus increase the load beyond capacity, or to maintain the rate as at present, and plan to expand and thus make the current cost still less in the future, and when the cost of the new unit is paid reduce the selling price. From his view, it looks wise to anticipate future needs.

THE LEGION AUXILIARY

It was a busy meeting that they had last week, making preparations for their poppy sale, which will be May 19th, beginning at 9:30, with headquarters at the Legion room. The proceeds from the sale of the flowers will go for hospital and welfare work. The sale will be under the direction of Mesdames Gailey, Wells, Phillips, C. Carhart and Miss Pryor. The following captains have been appointed, and each will be assigned to a district, and also be allowed an assistant to help canvass their district. The captains named are Misses Mildred Shannon, Thelma Peterson, Margaret McMurphy, Pauline Judson, Clara Korf. It seems quite possible that all will have opportunity to purchase poppies.

The reporter tells us that the auxiliary has sent a fine birthday box to some one at Bellevue hospital, and have received word back that it was received and appreciated.

Another evidence of the good work of the auxiliary may be seen at the Legion room in the form of new chairs placed there, and new hat racks. This will doubtless be appreciated, for the Legion rooms have not been any too richly furnished. Let the good work move forward, we all say.

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION FOR WAYNE, JUNE 12TH

The postmaster general has issued a notice calling attention to the fact that there will be a civil service examination of those who aspire to become postmaster at this office and draw down a salary of $2600 per year, on June 12th. Candidates may secure blanks and needed information by applying at the local office from the local secretary of the commission. Candidates must not be more than 65 years of age, and must be a resident of this community. Candidates will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on education and training 20 points, and on business experience and fitness 80 points. Full and detailed information will be found in papers received by those applying at Washington at the local office.

DEATH OF MRS. ALEXANDER CAMPBELL, MAY 7TH

The editor received a copy of the Santa Ana (California) Daily Register of May 8th, 1923, which contained the death notice of Mrs. Bessie G. Campbell, at the age of 38 years, wife of Alexander Campbell, formerly of the neighborhood northwest of Wayne, where himself and brother farmed in the earlier days of Wayne county. Besides the husband, one son, Lawrence A. Campbell survive her. Services were held from the Mission Funeral home Friday the 11th. With a paper came the name, the husband, and information that he was an old resident here. We find a few old settlers who remember Mr. Campbell and his brother, and who express sorrow at his sad loss.

Bessie Bailey was the maiden name of Mrs. Campbell, and they were married in 1902, and soon moved to South Dakota, and later to their late home at Santa Ana, California. While residing in this county the Campbell Bros. lived on what is now known as the Albert Saas farm.

Miss Imogene Shick left this morning for Oakland where she will spend a few days visiting with friends.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR COMMUNITY HOUSE

Now that the Woman's club have finished paying the mortgage on the Wayne community house, they are proposing to make it more of a community house. They have plans drawn for an addition which will utilize that part of the lot between the walk and the present entrance, and also extend a part of the building to the north lot line.

According to plans outlined by Mr. Huntener this proposed addition will be utilized for a kitchen 32x15 on the north, a matron room 19x12 at the northwest corner, then a closet and a toilet room and place for dishes, then a parlor 19x12 for ladies. Then the front entrance, and south of that a waiting and toilet room 19x21 for men. The addition will be nearly 20 feet deep, and the width of the present building and the 15 feet added to the north for kitchen. The proposed addition will add the most needed features to the building for everyday use. It is to add 50 per cent to the utility of the building without great expense, or taking anything from the stage or auditorium.

The Junior-Senior Banquet

Saturday evening, May 12th, the Juniors of the State Normal School and Teachers College delightfully entertained the Seniors at a banquet. The gymnasium was decorated and arranged to represent King Tut's palace, and the feast was served by girls dressed in the costumes of that faroff day and land. Table decorations were roses and snap dragons. Following the banquet a pleasant hour was passed listening to toasts by members of the faculty and students, which were excellent. The closing feature on the program was an Egyptian dance by four of the Junior girls.

THE GREATER WAYNE CLUB

At their regular meeting Monday evening much of the time was given to routing volunteers who are going out to put up Wayne road signs, more than 100 of the signs being now ready for placing. A second 100 is to be made, and plans were started to join with the fair association in a set of larger signs to be placed at places where one highway leaves another, as for instance, west of Wisner, where the highway to the north leaves the Lincoln highway. It is easy to miss that turn, and on a cloudy day, especially, one might find themselves at Columbus, instead of thirty miles on the road toward Yankeon. In this move they are joining the Kiwanas, who are urging the same improvement.

They authorized a resolution asking that the platform at the station be made better—perhaps all brick or concrete, instead of the cinder and sand we have had for several years past.

The plans of the Woman's club to enlarge the community house making it more of real community house were shown at the meeting and the co-operation of the members will be with the women in their improvement.

The work of the Greater Wayne club is beginning to bear fruit in various ways. It is one of the hopes that plans will be agreed upon to give parking or camping privileges to tourists in a part of the city park. Camping tourists are already beginning to arrive. Two California cars were seeking a place here Monday night. This is a matter that should help very materially to put our city on the map. Work is also going forward on a parking camp in the south part of the city, but it is not yet finished, and we should show the courtesy due to strangers.

GOOD SCHOOL WORK

For several years the mastery of irregular verbs has been made a project in the first year French class at the high school. Mrs. Allis Polard, the instructor of the class, reports that exactly half of the twenty-eight students who are finishing the work, have averaged above 95 per cent in this feature of the study. Miss Alice Wright and Miss Rose Kugler of the Senior class, receive first and second honors, the former having an average of 99 27-28 per cent and the latter averaging 99 4-7 per cent.

Other students ranked in the following order: Herbert Fortner, Alice Anderson, Leo McMurphy, Elinor Isom, Marcus Kroger and Nina Barnett, the last named having an average of 97 1/2 per cent.

The class is open only to Juniors and Seniors. The Juniors named are Alice Anderson, Elinor Isom, Nina Barnett and Marcus Kroger. It will be seen that of the eight students ranking highest four are Juniors and four are Seniors. A closely graded series of tests determined the averages.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

This week the supreme court has handed down three decisions of interest in this community, and in each case the decision of the district judge has been affirmed. One case between the city of Wayne and the Greenwood Cemetery, in which the paving assessment of the city was appealed from. The lower court held that the assessment of $6,437.76 was excessive, and fixed the assessment of the association at $3,000 less, and the higher court affirmed the decision.

The other two are land cases, in which the question of title was raised in an apparent effort to get relief from contract on land bought at high prices, and the date of final settlement and transfer coming after the price had materially decreased.

Edward Perry was defendant in both cases. One involved the sale of nearly 400 acres of land just south of Wayne to Chas. Meyer—Meyer appealing from the lower court. The other case is the same defendant, and Richard Ritze appealing, and is similar, the land being the S. E. Auker farm just east of Wayne.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW; WHO MAY MARRY

The late legislature did pass one law that will be of interest to some people, and probably it is a good law in many respects. We refer to Senate File No. 92, introduced by Senators Hastings of Grant and Anderson of Lancaster and Representatives Svoboda of Howard, Johnson of Washington, Johnson of Antelope and Gilmore of Adams, relates to marriage.

Some of the provisions, given with the proper form to make them sound legal and lawful, which they are, provide that none shall marry in this state under the age of 18 years for the male and 16 for the female. No person who is afflicted with a venereal disease shall marry in the state. No person who has been adjudged an imbecile, or a feeble-minded person, or afflicted hereditary epilepsy or hereditary insanity shall marry in this state until after he or she has submitted to an operation for sterilization.

Must give notice, says amendment to section 1492, making unlawful to marry in this state unless a county judge of the county in which the marriage is to take place shall grant a license, and this may not be done legally unless not less than ten days notice is posted, giving notice of their intention which the county judge shall cause to be posted in a conspicuous place continually for the ten day period. If persons under the age of 21 years, but of legal age shall ask license their parents shall be notified by registered letter containing a return card.

FAIR MOVING FORWARD

—LIGHT AND WATER

At a meeting of the directors and managers of the Fair organization last evening T. E. Henton of the extension department of the college of agriculture was present and reported the plans suggested for the arrangement of buildings track and other features of the ground. He also submitted outline plans of the proposed Art building and Agricultural hall and a home for the hogs. Suggestions from members of the board were made, and about the first of June completed plans for these buildings will be submitted in shape to receive bids for the erection of same.

Plans are about consummated for city water and light to the grounds. A contract has been let for digging trench for the water main. Thus it is seen that a lot of work well under way, and also that there is yet a lot to do.

This is a community enterprise, and as such should have the community support freely given, and to the limit.

THE NEWPOSTMASTER

Wednesday Grant S. Mears, appointed as acting postmaster at Wayne, took possession of the office and assumed his new duties, relieving Postmaster C. A. Berry, who has served faithfully in that capacity for more than 8 years. We hope that the new postmaster will become as efficient as did Mr. Berry. All patrons of the office should do their part, co-operating with Mr. Mears for the best service possible.

Mr. Mears has the advantage of a wide acquaintance with patrons of the office, having long lived at Wayne, and having served several terms as sheriff of the county and several times a member of the legislature from this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Mears returned from Lincoln Sunday, where they spent three months, and where Representative Mears was often in the storm-center of the most hard-fought battles in legislative halls of Nebraska in recent years.

The best shaped silk hose are those which are first knit in a flat piece then cut out in true leg shape, sewed together in the back and the foot put on last. Such hose are called full fashioned and they fit snug about the ankles and keep their shapes. Cheaper hose are knit in tubes like pillow tubing—a board the shape of the leg is placed inside and the hose is ironed to shape. These hose soon loose their shape and look clumsy about the ankles. Often a mock seam is run up the back to make them look like the fashioned hose. Some concerns called these fashioned hose but they were compelled to stop it as such advertising was misleading. If you want to be sure of getting your moneys worth when you buy hose try our Wayne Knit silk stockings. Folks who have worn them for years will tell you that these are stockings you can always depend on. We have them for your girls now in both black and white.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JOHN MEISTER SATURDAY

Shortly after noon Saturday, the sad news of the sudden death of John Meister of the Gem Cafe passed quickly from lip to lip. Mr. Meister had been in his usual health so far as any one knew, busying himself with his regular duties until nearly noon, when, complaining of not feeling well, he followed the advice of the boys and went to his room for a rest. Here he grew rapidly worse, and when one of the sons followed to the room shortly afterwards he realized that his father was seriously ill, and at once called a physician, and in spite of all that could be done he continued to fail rapidly, and passed away before 1 o'clock. He was conscious to the last, almost, and assured his physician that he would not rally, that nothing could be done for him then. The only sickness he had known in recent years was an occasional sensation of heart trouble—and it was something of the same symptoms that he felt at this time, but more severe. The physician said it was an attack in the nature of apoplexy, and that heart trouble were given as cause of death.

Obituary
John Meister was born in Germany September 22, 1859, and came with his parents to America before he was two years of age. They sailed to New Orleans, and thence up the river as far as St. Louis, and for a number of years made their home in Illinois at Brees in Clinton county. A few years later they decided to come to Nebraska, and embarked on a steamboat at St. Louis to Omaha, more than fifty years ago. From there they came by team, possibly ox team to Westpoint, and settled near that place and farmed for a number of years. There being need for a postoffice in the vicinity, Mr. Meister secured the establishment of one and he became the postmaster. Monterey was the name given the office, which has been discontinued by reason of rural routes. A church, store and school are still there.

He was united in marriage November 9, 1882, with Miss Theresia Kriener, who survives him, with four daughters and two sons, all of whom were present at his funeral. They are Mrs. Herb Bluchel (Theresia) of Omaha, Mrs. Bev. Strahan (Mary), Joe, Mrs. E. Paulson, (Anna), and John of this place and Miss Cecelia of Omaha. With Mr. and Mrs. Bluchel came their two sons, Teddy and Herbert. Two sisters survive him, Mrs. John Decker of West Point and Mrs. C. Rozien of Randolph, both of who were at the funeral service. Other relatives who attended the funeral were Jos. Kriener of Osmond, a brother of Mrs. Meister, Mr. and Mrs. John Schorn of West Point and others.

The Funeral
The funeral services were held Tuesday morning from the St. Mary's Catholic church, and the attendance was limited only by the capacity of the church, the business houses all closing their doors during the hour of the service. Solemn High Mass was given by the Rt. Rev. Father McNamara of Bloomfield, assisted by Rev. Father Loudermann of Randolph and Rev. Father Wm. Kearns of this place.

In his talk during the service Father Kearns paid high tribute to Mr. Meister as a citizen and a father. He said that he had that sterling honesty that was so often developed among the pioneers—men whose word was as good as their bond, because made good to the utmost, and without quibbling over technicalities and fine points or looking for any loophole to be used to escape their obligation to their fellowmen or the community. As such a man was John Meister known during the seventeen years he resided in this community. It is men of this class that the Father said the world is today in need of.

Mr. Meister had a wide acquaintance, and a large circle of friends, for he had been in business here and in Cuming county almost continuously for more than forty years.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many friends and neighbors who so promptly came to our assistance during the hour of sorrow and distress when husband and father was so suddenly called last week, and for aid and sympathy, and rich floral offerings.

DEATH OF THEODORE SCHULTE

Sunday morning, May 13, 1923, at the home of his parents five miles west of Wayne, the death angle called for their only son, Theodore William H. Schulte, after an illness which kept him from his place of business at Wayne but nine days. He was born in Wayne county December 6, 1902, and had attained an age of only 20 years, 5 months and 7 days.

Theodore had for a number of years been making what looked like a winning fight against tuberculosis of the bone, and had suffered much and frequently spent much time at Rochester for treatment. For the past year he had been assisting at the Wayne Grocery, in which his father had purchased an interest for his benefit largely. Tuberculosis of the hip was given as the cause of death.

The funeral services were held Wednesday, Rev. W. Fischer, his pastor, officiating in a service at the home, and assisted at the church by Rev. Teckhaus and Rev. Fetterolf of this place, at the Evangelistic church near the Schulte home, and interment was in the cemetery near the church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends in the neighborhood of his home. Generous floral offerings attested the regard in which he was held in his home, and the sympathy of friends for the family.

During the year he has been connected with the grocery he has made friends by his uniformly courteous ways. Among the relatives who came a distance who were here to attend the funeral services were his grandparents from Missouri, Wm. Schulte from Rosebud, Missouri, his grandmother, Mrs. Johanna Winter; two aunts, Mrs. Henry Rohlfing of St. Louis; Mrs. Higer from Netha, Missouri; three uncles from Missouri; Ed Schulte from Berger, a cousin; Will Schulte, from Stoneville and Fred Schulte from Geneva.

HARRY SIMON SUPREME REPRESENTATIVE, K. P.

At the state meet of the Nebraska Grand Lodge, K. P., Harry Simon of Winside was elected for a second time one of the representatives of that order in this state to the supreme lodge of the order, which is to meet in Toronto, Canada, next year. Mr. Simon is doing a good work in his capacity as representative in equalizing some matters in his jurisdiction.

SHALL CITY ENLARGE POWER PLANT?

That is a question now being seriously discussed by members of the council, and at their meeting Tuesday evening they decided to ask for bids on another unit of equipment, and then consider the matter carefully in the mean time.

The editor asked about the matter, and was assured in reply that the demand for service is rapidly growing, and that the load now has a peak well toward the capacity. There is a profit to the city in the rate now collected, and from it the wells and some of the present equipment has been paid for without a levy of taxes. Now the question comes as to whether it is wise to reduce the rate a little and thus increase the load beyond capacity, or to maintain the rate as at present, and plan to expand and thus make the current cost still less in the future, and when the cost of the new unit is paid reduce the selling price. From his view, it looks wise to anticipate future needs.

THE LEGION AUXILIARY

It was a busy meeting that they had last week, making preparations for their poppy sale, which will be May 19th, beginning at 9:30, with headquarters at the Legion room. The proceeds from the sale of the flowers will go for hospital and welfare work. The sale will be under the direction of Mesdames Gailey, Wells, Phillips, C. Carhart and Miss Pryor. The following captains have been appointed, and each will be assigned to a district, and also be allowed an assistant to help canvass their district. The captains named are Misses Mildred Shannon, Thelma Peterson, Margaret McMurphy, Pauline Judson, Clara Korf. It seems quite possible that all will have opportunity to purchase poppies.

The reporter tells us that the auxiliary has sent a fine birthday box to some one at Bellevue hospital, and have received word back that it was received and appreciated.

Another evidence of the good work of the auxiliary may be seen at the Legion room in the form of new chairs placed there, and new hat racks. This will doubtless be appreciated, for the Legion rooms have not been any too richly furnished. Let the good work move forward, we all say.

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION FOR WAYNE, JUNE 12TH

Candidates may secure blanks and needed information by applying at the local office from the local secretary of the commission. Candidates must not be more than 65 years of age, and must be a resident of this community. Full and detailed information will be found in papers received by those applying at Washington or at the local office.

DEATH OF MRS. ALEXANDER CAMPBELL, MAY 7TH

The editor received a copy of the Santa Ana (California) Daily Register of May 8th, 1923, which contained the death notice of Mrs. Bessie G. Campbell, at the age of 38 years, wife of Alexander Campbell, formerly of the neighborhood northwest of Wayne, where himself and brother farmed in the earlier days of Wayne county. Besides the husband, one son, Lawrence A. Campbell survive her. Services were held from the Mission, Funeral home Friday the 11th. With a paper came the name of the husband, and information that he was an old resident here. We find a few old settlers who remember Mr. Campbell, and his brother, and who express sorrow at his sad loss.

BESSIE CAMPBELL WAS MAIDEN NAME OF MRS. CAMPBELL, AND THEY WERE MARRIED IN 1902, AND SOON MOVED TO SOUTH DAKOTA, AND LATER TO THEIR LATE HOME AT SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA.

While residing in this county, the Campbell Bros. lived on what is now known as the Albert Saas farm. Miss Imogene Shick left this morning for Oakland where she will spend a few days visiting with friends.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR COMMUNITY HOUSE

Now that the Woman's club have finished paying the mortgage on the Wayne community house, they are proposing to make it more of a community house. They have plans drawn for an addition which will utilize that part of the lot between the walk and the present entrance, and also extend a part of the building to the north lot line.

According to plans outlined by Mr. Huntmer this proposed addition will be utilized for a kitchen 32x15 on the north, a matron room 19x21 at the northwest corner, then a closet and a toilet room and place for dishes, then a parlor 19x12 for ladies. Then the front entrance, and south of that a waiting and toilet room 19x21 for men. The addition will be nearly 20 feet deep, and the width of the present building and the 15 feet added to the north for kitchen. The proposed addition will add the most needed features to the building for everyday use. It is to add 50 per cent to the utility of the building without great expense, or taking anything from the stage or auditorium.

THE JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Saturday evening, May 12th, the Juniors of the State Normal School and Teachers College, delightfully entertained the Seniors at a banquet. The gymnasium was decorated and arranged to represent King Tut's palace, and the feast was served by girls dressed in the costumes of that far off day and land. Table decorations were roses and snap dragons. Following the banquet a pleasant hour was passed listening to toasts by members of the faculty and students, which were excellent. The closing feature of the program was an Egyptian dance by four of the Junior girls.

THE GREATER WAYNE CLUB

At their regular meeting Monday evening much of the time was given to routing volunteers who are going out to put up Wayne road signs, more than 100 of the signs being now ready for placing. A second 100 is to be made, and plans were started to join with the fair association in a set of larger signs to be placed at places where one highway leaves another, as for instance, west of Wisner, where the highway to the north leaves the Lincoln highway. It is easy to miss that turn, and on a cloudy day, especially, one might find themselves at Columbus instead of thirty miles on the road toward Yankton. In this move they are joining the Kiwanas, who are urging the same improvement.

They authorized a resolution asking that the platform at the station be made better—perhaps all brick or concrete, instead of the cinder and sand we have had for several years past.

The plans of the Woman's club to enlarge the community house making it more of real community house were shown at the meeting and the co-operation of the members will be with the women in their improvement.

The work of the Greater Wayne club is beginning to bear fruit in various ways. It is one of the hopes that plans will be agreed upon to give parking or camping privileges to tourists in a part of the city park. Camping tourists are already beginning to arrive. Two California cars were seeking a place here Monday night. This is a matter that should help very materially to put our city on the map. Work is also going forward on a parking camp in the south part of the city, but it is not yet finished, and we should show the courtesy due to strangers.

GOOD SCHOOL WORK

For several years the mastery of irregular verbs has been made a project in the first year French class at the high school. Mrs. Allis Polard, the instructor of the class, reports that exactly half of the twenty-eight students who are finishing the work, have averaged above 95 per cent in this feature of the study. Miss Alice Wright and Miss Rose Kugler of the Senior class, receive first and second honors, the former having an average of 99.27-28 per cent and the latter averaging 99.4-7 per cent.

Other students ranked in the following order: Herbert Fortner, Alice Anderson, Leo McMurphy, Elinor Isom, Marcus Kroger and Nina Barnett, the last named having an average of 97 1/2 per cent.

The class is open only to Juniors and Seniors. The Juniors named are Alice Anderson, Elinor Isom, Nina Barnett and Marcus Kroger. It will be seen that of the eight students ranking highest four are Juniors and four are Seniors. A closely graded series of tests determined the averages.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

This week the supreme court has handed down three decisions of interest in this community, and in each case the decision of the district judge has been affirmed. One case between the city of Wayne and the Greenwood Cemetery, in which the paving assessment of the city was appealed from. The lower court held that the assessment of $6,437.76 was excessive, and fixed the assessment of the association at $3,000 less, and the higher court affirmed the decision.

The other two are land cases, in which the question of title was raised in an apparent effort to get relief from contract on land bought at high prices, and the date of final settlement and transfer coming after the price had materially decreased.

Edward Perry was defendant in both cases. One involved the sale of nearly 400 acres of land just south of Wayne to Chas. Meyer—Meyer appealing from the lower court. The other case is the same defendant, and Richard Ritze appealing, and is similar, the land being the S. E. Auker farm just east of Wayne.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW WHO MAY MARRY

The late legislature did pass one law that will be of interest to some people, and probably it is a good law in many respects. We refer to Senate File No. 92, introduced by Senators Hastings of Grant and Anderson of Lancaster and Representatives Svoboda of Howard, Johnson of Washington, Johnson of Antelope and Gilmore of Adams, relates to marriage.

Some of the provisions, given with the proper form to make them sound legal and lawful, which they are, provide that none shall marry in this state under the age of 18 years for the male and 16 for the female. No person who is afflicted with a venereal disease shall marry in the state. No person who has been adjudged an idiot, or a feeble-minded person or afflicted hereditary epilepsy or hereditary insanity shall marry in this state until after he or she has submitted to an operation for sterilization.

Must give notice, says amendment to section 1492, making unlawful to marry in this state unless a county judge of the county in which the marriage is to take place shall grant a license, and this may not be done legally unless not less than ten days notice is posted, giving notice of their intention which the county judge shall cause to be posted in a conspicuous place continually for the ten day period. If persons under the age of 21 years, but of legal age shall ask license their parents shall be notified by registered letter containing a return card.

—LIGHT AND WATER

At a meeting of the directors and managers of the Fair organization last evening T. E. Henton of the extension department of the college of agriculture was present and reported the plans suggested for the arrangement of buildings track and other features of the ground. He also submitted outline plans of the proposed Art building and Agricultural hall and a home for the hogs. Suggestions from members of the board were made, and about the first of June completed plans for these buildings will be submitted in shape to receive bids for the erection of same. Plans are about consummated for city water and light to the grounds. A contract has been let for digging trench for the water main. Thus it is seen that a lot of work well under way, and also that there is yet a lot to do.

This is a community enterprise, and as such should have the community support freely given, and to the limit.

THE NEWPOSTMASTER

Wednesday Grant S. Mears, appointed as acting postmaster at Wayne, took possession of the office and assumed his new duties, relieving Postmaster C. A. Berry, who has served faithfully in that capacity for more than 8 years. We hope that the new postmaster will become as efficient as did Mr. Berry. All patrons of the office should do their part, co-operating with Mr. Mears for the best service possible.

Mr. Mears has the advantage of a wide acquaintance with patrons of the office, having long lived at Wayne, and having served several terms as sheriff of the county and several times a member of the legislature from this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Mears returned from Lincoln Sunday, where they spent three months, and where Representative Mears was often in the storm-center of the most hard-fought battles in legislative halls of Nebraska in recent years.

According to the report of the papers, Nebraska and Kansas and North Dakota nonpartisan league people have refused to be led by A. C. Townley into an organization called the national producers alliance. The league now has seven organizers in the field in this state, according to the same report that told of the secession from Townley. The league had a number of mighty good ideas that have been pattered after by many of the leading progressives of the land. In the senate and the house at Washington party lies failed to bind. In our own state in the last legislature there was a lack of united party harmony—or submission to boss rule that brought a bit of independent legislation and stopped some of the vicious measures proposed. Let the good work go on, no matter what becomes of the league or Townley.

AS WE SEE EACH OTHER

The following clever burlesque on the evil of mail-order buying is taken from the Des Moines Publishers' Review. Read it over; it may contain a new angle that never came to your notice before:

"A dry good merchant was starting down town when his wife reminded him of his most important duty during the day. 'Now, my dear, be sure and send to the city for that new radio outfit, so we can have it for Sunday. You know our old victrola is getting so that it is not fit to be heard.'

"Just a few blocks away the merchant who handles victrolas and furniture was sitting at breakfast with his family. The conversation drifted around to the near approach of school. 'And that reminds me, John,' said the lady, who sat at the head of the table, 'I must be going to the city not later than next week. I must get school clothes and see about a fall suit for myself, and while there perhaps I had better see about the new lace curtains for the front windows.'

"An hour or two later a leading grocer stepped into the bank to buy a draft which he was going to send to a catalogue house for a swell bedroom suit.

"'How's business?' asked the banker. 'Oh, not so very good,' replied the grocer; 'things are dull just now.'

"Before the banker finished writing the draft, a dapper young man with a grip stepped up and asked how everything was. The banker seemed glad to see him. He was a representative of a big printing establishment in another state. He and the banker chatted pleasantly for a few minutes, after which the young man inquired casually of his friend behind the window if he wanted anything. 'Well, yes,' replied the banker. 'I believe I do. Print us 5,000 drafts, 5,000 checks and a couple thousand letter-heads.'

"The young man thanked his friend cordially and hustled out.

"That night the local business men had a meeting at the town hall to discuss the growth of the mail-order evil. All the gentlemen mentioned in the narrative delivered short talks. They agreed that the farmers were guilty of treason to their home merchants when they persisted in ordering their goods from mail order houses, and the meeting ended by adopting strong resolutions against trading away from home."

FORTY YEARS AGO FROM PONCA JOURNAL

Forty-one years ago Geo. Beards hear moved a billiard room equipment from Ponca to Wayne to open a hall in a building built by Mr. Boyd. We suppose that was in a part of the present Boyd hotel. That house was built about that time.

Newspaper History
The Courier last week gave its final and expiring kick, and will go hence to Wayne, where, amid the reviving influences of that booming town, it will put on new life, and again bud and blossom.

The Courier office was brought to Ponca about six years ago. It comprised a good newspaper press, a splendid job press, and a large and excellent assortment of type. The paper was commenced here by the Smith Brothers. After a few months their establishment was sold to Porter and Wigton who afterwards sold to Wood and Wigton, by whom, about two years ago, it was sold to T. J. Welty. Last summer Mr. Welty disposed of the office to Stewart Munro, of whom last winter it was purchased by J. D. Smith, one of the original proprietors. Under the different owners, the Courier has much of the time been well edited and managed. But there being not business enough to support two papers in the county, it is not surprising that Mr. Smith should conclude that it would be better to remove to a more open field. In his new venture, he has our best wishes for his prosperity.

AN OIL WAR (State Journal)

One notices daily now reports of reductions in prices of petroleum and of gasoline. Behind all this is a story, the just what the story means is hard to decide. Independent oil companies say it is a movement of Standard Oil to crush them. Standard Oil says it is a product that lower prices are called for. Independents say the California increase does not counterbalance the decrease in Mexican oil.

The discussion has brought forth much interesting report on oil politics. The most sensational item is the reported secession of the Standard Oil of Indiana from the general Standard Oil entente. The supreme court, it will be remembered, ordered the Standard Oil company dissolved. If did dissolve, technically, into its several corporations, but always the control of each other. In the meanwhile developing the Standard of Indiana is placed with the independents. The interests in control of the other Standard companies have lost control, one hears, of the Indiana company. And leading the independents is the Sinclair company, formerly regarded as a Standard ally.

This is very significant if true. It would indicate that the supreme court decision dissolving the Standard may at last be slowly effecting a real dissolution. Further support for this supposition comes from the statistics of oil control. When the dissolution of the Standard was ordered by the court, that interest was in control of 85 per cent of the country's oil output. It is claimed by the independents half of the country's oil. The Standard is refining more than ever before. But the independents have gained faster still.

FARM LABORERS DO NOT GET VERY RICH IN SWEDEN

Gunner Johnson arrived Saturday morning from Smoland, Sweden. He is a brother of Oscar Johnson, who lives on the Forsberg farm five and one-half miles south of Laurel (formerly known as the Wilder Morgan farm). Mr. Johnson went to Sioux City to meet his brother, this being the first of his people he has seen since he came here ten years ago. The brother left for here April 19 and was 13 days on the water, but reports having had a nice trip.

Mr. Johnson says times are very hard in Sweden, farm labor getting only from $40 to $50 a month. But when you consider that one United States dollar will go as far as four Swedish dollars one can readily see that laborers on the farms in that country will never get rich. He says great numbers of people from Sweden and Norway are coming to this country to better their condition—and would come in greater numbers were they able to. The young men from Norway came as far as Wakefield with him.—Laurel Advocate.

YOUR BOY

The imagination of boys exceeds the dreams of men. Boys are imitators and their youthful minds develop many interesting and fantastic situations in which they have a part. Many a lad, with a rooster feather stuck in his cap, has ridden a broomstick around the back yard—a mighty general, leading a numberless and victorious army.

Ask a boy his judgement on a matter of import; instantly he displays a spirit of responsibility. Show him a kindness; you have made a friend. Take an interest in his welfare; you are making a man.

Where is the grown-up without treasured recollections of the kindly interest of some other grown-up, back in childhood days? Where is the man or woman, who in youth did not, through misconception worry over trifling or imaginary situations that would have been quickly dispelled had some one of mature years sensed the matter and offered a word of explanation.

When boys understand that there is as much call for sportmanship in the game of life as in athletics, and that the possibilities for honors are infinitely greater, they are in a fair way of development.

Let the reader try the experiment of a half hour's chat with a boy, his boy or anybody's boy, and note the effect on the boy—and on himself. He will be encouraged to repeat the experience.—Foresight.

MOSES COMES FROM THE WILDERNESS

(New York Evening Post.)

The great summer demonstration began yesterday—the demonstration that Europe is the evil thing that senatorial geographers have long insisted. Senator Moses returned yesterday after an exhaustive stay of fully fifty days which confirmed all his views. He found that the French speak an unintelligible gibberish and serve a breakfast of rolls and chocolate that is an insult to any New Hampshire stomach. He learned that the Germans speak another unintelligible lingo, like music which bears no relation to American jazz, and read newspapers of incredible dinginess. In Italy he came across still another unintelligible jargon, and noted that the people have suspiciously swarthy countenances. Even in Holland there was a dreadful foreign tongue and dogs were hitched to carts. In all, it was a terrible nightmare for Mr. Moses, who is going to Concord to prepare an account of the jungle which he braved.

Europe is going to be found out this summer. She is going to be caught whichever way she turns. Mr. Moses was horrified to see all European nations hate each other. Senator Johnson will come back horrified to find that they have stopped hating each other to concentrate their venom on this country. A third senator will be horrified to observe a total apathy has overspread the ruined continent—no emotion of any kind is felt. Again, Senator Moses' views with indignation the zeal which Lord Robert Cecil and others express for the league. But Senator Johnson will expose the fact that nobody in Europe believes in the league, anyway.

All this is going to convince Americans the more readily because they realize what a peculiarly openminded group these senators have been. They have always shown such a sweet reasonableness concerning the league that their word on it must be final.

Our farmers should grow more poultry, for we are comparatively free here from colored enemies of the birds. Here is the way one Sambo tells of the chicken: 'de chicken is the usefulest animal what is. You can eat them before they are born and after they are dead.'

Does your motor just use up oil? or is it properly lubricated?

JUST because there's plenty of oil in the reservoir and you use up lots of oil, you can't be sure your motor is getting proper lubrication. Bearings may be heating and parts wearing out at top speed.

The temperature of the pistons and the cylinder walls varies from 400 to 900° F. Unless your motor oil is of the right grade, the normal operating heat of the motor can destroy its lubricating efficiency.

Years of laboratory and practical service tests have proved the lubricating efficiency of Polarine. It resists heat and always flows freely. Made in five grades—light, medium, heavy, special heavy and extra heavy—but one unsurpassed quality.

Consult the Polarine Chart for the grade best suited to your motor. Standardize its use and your motor will run quietly—a protective film guarding every moving part against friction and wear.

Ask for Polarine by name and be sure you get what you ask for. Sold where you see this sign.

RAILROAD ADVERTISING

Last week the Democrat and numerous other papers along the line of the Northwestern reaching into this part of Nebraska carried an announcement from the railroad offices of St. Paul announcing that they want the people to understand their side of the railroad question...

The railroad tells much truth in their first letter—and it is well that they ask the people to realize that the roads have a side to present for consideration. The people, too, have their grievances which the road management should know and recognize...

Henry Ford is trying to make rubber out of milkweeds. This ought to be easy compared to making a president out of a man who thinks history is "bunk" and who wants to flood the country with fiat money...

Senator Norris says that he is going to retire from the senate at the end of his term in less than two years, now, and try to do something to simplifying the state's law making machinery...

opinion, but then there must be pioneers before the hoodlums can be driven out, the politician converted and the people made to see the benefits of what should easily appeal to them as wise action.

One of the signs that the political bosses are afraid of Henry Ford is evidenced by the fact that some propagandist is directing publicity against him and soon this will be as in this case that two republican papers in no way related, with the length of the state of Nebraska between them use the same editorial the same week, unless it is sent from the same source.

Sugar is responding nicely to a protective tariff and the push of the profiteer. Its retail price is now said to show an increase of 64 per cent. Let the good work go on.

RAILROAD WATER

The inflated value of railroad lines has existed since they were constructed. It is a form of piracy practiced by promoters and construction companies.

For instance take our own road, an Omaha syndicate was formed to construct a railroad to Decatur about 60 miles north. It was called the Omaha and Northwestern railway company. It induced Douglas county to vote bonds to aid construction in amount $250,000, it got Washington county to give them $150,000 and Burt county voted them $150,000 that made a total in county bonds donated to the promoters of $505,000 which with donation of townsite properties made the free gifts exceed $1,000,000 a mile which was more than the cost of construction and rolling stock at that time.

Another similar instance that came under our observation was the road from Hebron to Hastings, 75 miles miles, built by promoters, who received more county and precinct bonds than the cost of construction. When they had the line ready for the rolling stock, they sold it to the Goulds who owned to Missouri Pacific for $7,500 per mile, the Goulds immediately stocked and bonded it to the value of $42,000 per mile and arranged their tariff schedules to earn dividends on that valuation above the cost of operation and maintenance.

—J. R. Southerland, in The Burt County Herald.

EXTRACTS FROM CALIFORNIA LETTER

Thru the kindness of E. Ferrel and wife we are permitted to give the readers some of the impressions received of the California country by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ferrel, who left for that land of sunshine two or more months ago, driving thru, visiting on the way.

It starts with the important information that they are all feeling fine and like it very much at their new home at Anaheim, California, a thriving young place, where quite a number of former Pender people have located within the past two years.

He tells how it happened that he had a day off. He had been employed with a crew building a new school building, and when a new wage scale became effective the directors of the school would not comply with all the details of the demand of the carpenters.

As to the living cost, rents are rather higher than here for houses that are inferior in many ways and less expensive than those necessary in these parts. They had a five room house that rents at $65 per month; but had found a smaller place—four rooms at $35 per month.

Some build on corner lots, a small house for own use on back of lot and a larger and better one on front for rent. Lots range in prices according to location and improvements—paving, water, sewer, curb, graveling, etc. from $600 to $2,500.

Speaking of the towns, he again refers to some of their nearby towns: Fullerton 2 miles, Garden Grove 5; Olive 3; Orange 6; etc. with Los Angeles 25 miles away.

Living is not high here, writes Mrs. Ferrel in a part of the letter. Fruits of all kinds, fresh and canned are less expensive than in the old home. Meats cost less—eggs a little more, retailing now at 30 cents.

One day they all packed up their dinner and went for a day at the ocean, driving to Laguna beach for the day. The program for such a day is to be hungry when you arrive and eat your dinner; then just loaf about on the beach and watch others doing the same for a time.

They had their little experience or initiation when the tide was due to be receding and the larger waves were not supposed to come. Mr. F. followed a low wave out and climbed upon a rock and cast a fish line. But the big waves had not ceased to come at longer intervals, and just as he got a bite by what seemed a pretty good sized fish, here it came.

him. But he had seen so many others ducked while the tide was coming in that he said let 'em laugh.

Fine clothes were soaked, and spunk, clean kiddies got their sousing, and how it would wilt the starch in fine white dresses and skirts. They just clung like the old man's bathrobe which he had received as a gift, and supposed from its name that it was to be worn in the bath tub.

A little later Mrs. Ferrel joined her husband on the rock, and failed to get in the clear of a high roller, the tide not having gone down according to schedule. But having donned a bathing suit the water did no harm, but it almost took their feet from under them.

MISS SUSIE SOUDERS DOING SUCCESSFUL WORK

From one of the local papers at Ainsworth we learn that Miss Susie Souders, who has been instructor in school music at that place during the school year is planning a musical entertainment for the people by the pupils. It says:

"Miss Souders, music teacher in Ainsworth schools, is busy at work on the operetta, "Princess Chrysthemum," which will be given at the auditorium May 18th. The operetta is being staged by the older girls in the grades and promises to be one of the most pleasing and enjoyable affairs of its kind ever given here.

Miss Souders is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Souders of this place, and a graduate of the teacher's college at this place, and all are glad to know that she is making such excellent record in her first school.

POOR LITTLE RICH BOY (Collier's)

Just yesterday we saw a man under 40, successful, vigorous, doing his work and enjoying his life with great zest. Once he was by way of becoming an indolent, decorative chap; but a lucky thing happened. The family lost all their money. He now looks back at his childhood and youth with amused indignation. You would laugh at his accounts of the family on the steam yacht—everything done by stewards, sailors, and others hired to do it.

"Chimes of Normandy" will be given each Monday night at Ak-Sar-Ben Den during the Ak-Sar-Ben season that opens June 4. The organization has under contract several well known grand opera stars who will sing the leading roles.

A former Nebraska pastor of a large church communion containing many members of foreign birth or descent, remarked recently that in 1903 he was the only pastor of his church in the state that preached in English. For this he was gazed considerably, being called a "Yankee." Recently he wrote to the head officer of the church in Nebraska asking how many churches of the given communion in the state now wanted pastors who could not speak English. The answer came back, "not one." This suggests the query whether the "language question" in Nebraska may not be finding its own solution, irrespective of legislation.—Ex.

The postal authorities are very strict about lottery, and we wonder if the office at Carroll has been indulging in chance games, or permitting some one else to use the lobby for that purpose. The Index said that about 300 red envelopes were scattered at the postoffice window and that quite a number of people gathered to hunt for the hidden check. If it had been checked on the closed bank it might have been hard to cash.

John Grimm, of Wayne, was on the Omaha cattle market on May 7th with a load of stock in which were 15 head of very well finished horned Hereford steers that sold at $9.50 a hundredweight, the day's top price. Six of the steers, averaging 1501 pounds, were of his own raising and feeding, while the other nine were raised and fed by his brother-in-law, Will Lutt, and averaged 1298 pounds a head. They had made rapid and substantial gains on feed as Herefords; usually do. Farmers around Wayne are away behind with their work, according to Mr. Grimm. "It has been raining pretty steadily for three weeks, and there is lots of plowing to do yet," he said. "Farmers in Wayne county still have a good many heavy steers in their feedlots."

The New York Evening Post, testing the minds of the agriculturists, finds a strong sentiment among the farmers who were questioned against the policy of isolation. It may be that some of this trend was carried to the farms by the reporters making the inquiry. Nevertheless the interests of the farmer lie so strongly in the direction of wider world markets that in the long run the policy of isolation cannot be popular unless agricultural prices are at a profitable level. The outcome of the next national election will depend in no small degree upon the prices of farm products and the cost of the things the farmer must buy. Just as a boom in wheat in October, 1896, helped to elect McKinley, a turn in the economic side in favor of the farmer would have a powerful influence upon the election in 1924.—Ex.

Bur Cunningham of Bloomfield, a real boy of some 80 summers, came to the big field meet at Wayne last Friday, and when it rained, took refuge at the Democrat office. Gazing out at the street and the storm, he seemed to see Wayne as he first saw it, back in 1881 or 1882, when he could stand on Main street and see and count six or seven homes of the place. Part of them had been moved from the defunct county-seat Laporte. Main street was paved then as now, only more of it, less costly, for it grew a good hay crop, and so did not get very muddy. More people came to Wayne in those days with oxen than with automobiles. Mr. Cunningham was for many years a resident here, and speaking of land and land prices, he said that he might have bought this Pery land adjoining town for $3 per acre, and now it has been in litigation concerning a sale made when the price was above $300 per acre. Mr. Cunningham came down in a car, but on account of the rain went home on the train.

Among those who went to Sioux City this morning and spent the day there were Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Hess, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Way, J. S. Carhart, Mrs. Julia Gildersleeve and Miss Brace Gamble.

As a boy we used to drag a sled up the hill, unless we could catch a hitch, for the fun of coasting down again. Wednesday, B. W. Wright went to Sioux City, and said he was going to ride back in a car—same old story.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Kohl and their son Tracy came Tuesday from Colorado to their home here. This is first visit home by Tracy since he came from Russia, where he spent considerable time in relief work for the government.

Monday Henry Hollman took his son George, a lad nearly 15 years of age to Sioux City, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Elizabeth hospital. Mr. Hollman came home Wednesday evening, and said the lad was rallying slowly, but very weak yet.

Dr. S. A. Lutgen was at Des Moines a few days ago, attending a meeting of physicians who are using the Abrams treatment. His report is that many were there, and a most instructive and interesting time was the result. They were given several banquets while guests in the city.

Governor Bryan has found another hole in the Code skimmer. He says that there will be no fish dinners served by the fish warden to his friends in the legislature with state fish. The fish might not matter so much, but when it forms and cements a friendship which impells the legislature to increase his salary $100 per month for a year, that is $1200 of tax payer's money.

The Presbyterians are in session at Indianapolis, Indiana, commencing their 135th general assembly. From the reports we read in the daily press, there is to be great strife between the liberal and the conservative elements of the church, with an open question as to which will win. Wm. J. Bryan is prominently mentioned as one of the probable candidates for moderator next year—and strange to say, W. J. is a conservative in religion and a progressive in politics.

Ahern's

The real secret of foot comfort

IT'S all in the way the shoe is fashioned. The Arnold Glove-Grip looks like any high-grade, well-designed and stylish shoe. But inside, curving up snugly against the instep, it follows the natural lines of the foot, gently but firmly gripping and holding up the arch. Lacing a Glove-Grip Shoe raises the arch instead of pushing it down. This is the real secret of foot comfort and it can be had only in Arnold Glove-Grip Shoes, without the sacrifice of good looks.

Both men's and women's styles in a variety of the latest leathers and shapes. The "Arch-Maid," illustrated below, is one of the popular styles for women. Its shapely lines, trim toe and well-proportioned heel of all-leather make it particularly appropriate for street-wear.

Come in and look over the styles. Try on a pair. There is no obligation to buy—just feel that wonderful sensation of foot ease.

ADVANTAGE IN COMPARISON
When the development in Nebraska is compared with that of other states many of which Nebraska far outclasses, it is but fair to take into consideration the duration of this development.

It was three hundred years ago that the Pilgrims made their historical landing at Plymouth Rock. About one hundred and twenty years later there was considerable pioneering this side of the Alleghenies which gradually extended westward.

But Nebraska has only been a state fifty-six years and the early years of its statehood were deeply saturated with primitive pioneer conditions. In the short span of fifty years compared with the period through which her sister states have passed, Nebraska has come to a position of distinction among them all.

The wonder state for its rapid development is Oklahoma with untold wealth in minerals and oil. It required only enterprise to turn these stored up resources into the channels of commerce. So Oklahoma became quickly the mecca of money seekers desiring to convert quickly the hidden treasures into the coin of the realm.

It was different in Nebraska, for Nebraska had only the soil in its virgin state, and those who occupied the land were homeseekers. They filled the soil with such equipment as they could provide. They were limited in financial resources—very limited. They lacked experience in this climate and longitude. They possessed hope and faith and energy—and all these were required. The rich did not come to Nebraska in those early days except in such sections as offered promise in the cattle business on a large scale. The land was peopled by earnest, thoughtful, folks who were willing to work and who began the progress of home building and farm development here on the raw prairie.

There were many disappointments in those early days, many tragedies, but there grew up a sturdy people who converted these prairies into well ordered farming communities. Today the products of Nebraska farms in grain, hay and live stock, reach a prodigious figure, beyond the mind to comprehend. Great markets have been developed on its eastern border and thriving towns and cities scatter throughout the state, the result of this progressive agriculture, which the people of Nebraska have fostered.

This has all come within the life time of many thousands of present day residents without the aid of mines or oil wells or pleasure resort development. It has all come from the soil, and the brain, and brawn, of the patient industrious people. No other state has had a development comparable to this. We have a right to contemplate this achievement with pride and confidence.—Foresight.

AMERICANISM AND AMERICANS

We Americans are a liberty-loving gang, and we don't like to take orders from anyone; we don't like to be told what we may or may not do, and if someone says we must not do some certain thing, then straightway we have a strong desire to do just that. Not only do a lot of us feel that way, but we even have a tendency to boast about it, and are a little inclined to feel that we are not quite American unless we do feel thus, and so we talk a great deal more about these independent feelings of ours than they really warrant.

In the first place these so-called traits of independence are not particularly desirable or laudable, neither are they traits by which true Americanism can be distinguished. They are rather deplorable signs that we have not quite grown away from our frontier habits and are signs of waywardness rather than virtues.

True Americanism cannot countenance lawbreaking in any form, and when it takes on some of the forms now quite rampant all about us, it is not only not Americanism, but is even worse and becomes wholly non-American and sometimes criminally so.

Not long ago a Congregational preacher, at a convention in Chicago, is reported to have said that when "the law commanded him not to drink, he felt like taking a flask of whiskey and drinking it on his church steps," or words to the same effect. The newspapers made great searchlights about this statement and played it up as if it were a wise and timely utterance by a great man, instead of branding it as a gross insult to all decent Congregationalists and other good people, which is what it was. Any man who will make such a statement is not fit to be a preacher and it should not be tolerated in any decent community, for to subscribe to such a doctrine means to repudiate all law. What difference does it make whether the law says, "thou shalt not steal," or "thou shalt not commit adultery," or "thou shalt not drink whiskey?"

Even the preacher referred to will not say we should have no restrictive laws governing our general conduct. If that is true then why dish up the drivel about our personal liberties, etc., when the 18th amendment is under discussion.

Even so, we could perhaps be excused for having a few individuals among us who don't know any better than to make such statements, but we can hardly be excused for having a general tendency to publicly damn any existing laws and boast about it. That cannot be what we understand by Americanism, although it is a trait has been quite common in American. Our newspapers have a great responsibility and to a very large extent they are to blame for much of this undesirable publicity given statements made by irresponsible individuals. The handling of news items about bootleg raids and the finding of stills, etc., can either convey the impression of sympathy with or disgust over the bootlegger without any definite statement either way.

The newspapers offer the alibi that they supply the kind of news wanted by the bulk of their readers, but that too is only an alibi and that too is a non-American statement, for it practically charges the majority of Americans with a desire for news of lawlessness.

Let us realize that the man who carries his liquor is as definitely a law-breaker as the thief, and that he is even more dangerous and destructive; let us take a definite stand against him and soon this will become a form of amusement that is not tolerated in decent society anywhere.

Let us remember that the ideals of true Americanism are the ideals of true manhood and womanhood and that these ideals embrace all that is good, sweet, brave, bold and clean, but there is no room for intemperance, drunkenness or licentiousness.—The Slug.

BELLY CRAWLING TACTICS

The Nebraska State Journal chatters away oblivious of the fact that a republican legislature was in session all winter. Oblivious of the fact that it passed certain measures, seemingly ignorant of the record a republican legislature made, and if not why this kind of cajolery coming from astute minds sitting behind mahogany desks, smoking 15 cent cigars.

"He (the governor) insists that the governor shall be the responsible executive of the state. This is exactly what the supporters of the code and of the short ballot want."

In a bug's eye. A republican legislature standing as it says upon a republican state platform and with Speaker Mathers the main spokesman, passed a code bill that took away from the governor such responsibility and divided it between republican state officials, making six different governors so far as conducting the state's business was concerned. That's what happened. But the Journal, chanting its old time chant, refuses to come out clean listed and tell the people that the republican majority sought to take away from the governor the very thing that it says ought not be done.

The Journal makes a sane remark when it says:

"The plan to take away from the governor with one hand the responsibility vested in him, by the other, don't do. But the responsibility he should and will have."

Of course he will have it. That's why he vetoes a bill passed by a republican majority. Passed by the Pollards and Vances and Garbers and Hardins. He refuses to let them do what the Journal says "won't do." Why then doesn't the Journal turn its guns upon the offenders who sought to give the state a government run by a half dozen men? Why doesn't it tell its readers that Speaker Mathers and his "rule or ruin" supporters in the house, were the one who tried to thwart the best government? Is it afraid of its political nose? Or is it easier to deceive the people into making them think that Governor Bryan was the chief trouble maker, when the record is clean cut as relates to the republican majority in the last legislative session?

Let the Journal quit crawling on its belly. Let it stand up erect like a man.

MR. MAXWELL MEETS A BAT

(New York Sun)
Everything has its pet antipathy, its peculiar fear. An elephant, setting eyes on a mouse, will rise up and cross over into the next county and sit down and cry. A woman, hearing a June bug zoom past in the early spring night, will wrap herself around her husband and try to die. And a man finding himself in the same room with a bat will do things that people would gladly pay admission to see.

Mr. Maxwell opened the side door the other night to air out the house before going upstairs to bed and a bat came in and looked him speculatively in the face and then sat down on a picture frame, squeaking sadly, as if Mr. Maxwell's type of beauty had depressed him.

"Mary! Bats!" screamed Mr. Maxwell, standing right where he was and swinging one arm around in a circle and pointing at the bat with the other. Mary was upstairs in bed. "Mary! Bats!"

"What? Bats?"
"Yes! Bats! Come right down here!"
"Wow!" shouted Mary. "Try to make me!"

That bat let go of the picture frame and came down and sat on Mr. Maxwell's shoulder. Mr. Maxwell excused himself and went out into the kitchen to see about the kitchen fire. He went in a right smart manner. The bat fell off his shoulder and then could not catch up with him again.

By and by, looking sickly, Mr. Maxwell came back into the room with a towel wrapped around his head and a broom in his hand. The bat, poor little thing, had been lonesome. It came down and sat on his shoulder again. Mr. Maxwell laid aside his broom and began to fan his ears with his hands, walking round and round in circles, saying: "See here, now, you cut this out! See here, now!"

Then the bat went back up on the picture frame to sit down and think things through. Mr. Maxwell had a sudden fit of bravado. He picked up a waste paper basket and smashed it up against the wall where the bat was supposed to be and stood there leaning against it, yelling, "I got the darn bird! I got her!"

"What are you going to do with her now you got her?" asked Mary from the front stairs.

"I don't know, but I got the darn bird."

"Reach in and take her out by the tail. She can't bite with her tail. Hold her up like a snake."

"Me?" said Mr. Maxwell. "Me reach in there? Who am I a lion tamer?"

After a long time Mrs. Maxwell slip a newspaper under the edge of that basket and the two of them carried the contraption out into the night and opened it. There was no bat there.

Nor in the house, either. It had got mad and departed, figuring that it wasn't wanted.

THE HOME BUILDERS BALK

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)
All whose livelihood depends on the building industry should take warning from the late building survey reported by the Bradstreet company. The total expenditures of 138 cities showed a decrease of only 6.4 per cent from March to April. But New York city showed a decrease of 57 per cent. Other middle Atlantic cities were inclined to follow New York.

This does not indicate that the Atlantic district is different from the rest of the country. It means only that this district is taking the lead in a rebellion against high building costs which will spread westward, as nearly all movements in this country do. Western builders are not different from New York builders. The same causes will produce the same effect everywhere on the continent.

It is strong testimony to the love of home and home ownership that building in America cities has continued in most parts as long as it has without resistance to confiscatory costs. Home owning at such costs is not good business, and people know it. They could better afford to pay high rents and wait longer before building. Dealers have taken advantage of this fact to maintain high prices. The end of the condition seems now to have arrived. Material, commissions and even some classes of labor must come down if a buyers' strike all over the country is to be averted.

S. TOLEDO-SHEERY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

S. Toledo Sherry, accompanied by an Indian youth who has been trying to get hold of for several days was the victim of an auto accident near the west school Thursday. One wheel broke with him, and the Ford turned over a time or two. The Indian lad was slightly injured, but Mr. Sherry came out of the wreck with a few minor bumps, so we are informed. A doctor from Pender attended the boy.—Thurston Star.

FOR SUMMER WEAR

Ratine Popular in Solid Colors With Large Figures.

Cotton Crepes Available in Many Weaves and Weights in Wonderful Range of Shades.

If you would choose your summer frocks early this is the way the wind of fashion blows.

Ratine is the fabric is the word that goes forth in regard to the frocks of cotton, that is, of course, in the way of cotton fabrics. Ratine was immensely popular last year, but it scarce dreamed how many frocks it should make this season. The new patterns are fascinating. There are solid colors, with large block figures interspersed at intervals, all-over check and corded patterns, ratines with a border in checkerboard effect, and, new this season, ratines with a drop-stitch or open-work check and stripe.

And next to ratine, says fashion, there are the cotton crepes. Nor is the cotton crepe which goes by the name at present anything like it used to be. There are as many weights and weaves as there are of silk crepes, which come in a wonderful range of solid colors. One of the smartest of these heavier crepes is of English weave, with an open-work lace stripe about three-quarters of an inch wide at four-inch intervals. Another rather heavy new crepe has a weave almost like corduroy.

A silk and cotton pebbly crepe, with an almost invisible stripe weave would make very smart tailored cotton frocks. Then there is a cotton canton crepe which is very popular. It is shown in a big range of solid colors. A rather coarsely woven pebbly crepe, almost as heavy as ratine is 40 inches wide. As for the sheer imported crepes in delicate pastel colorings—well, voila, it is said, has a wonderfully big season after several years of comparative unpopularity—but it has a dangerous rival in those sheer crepes with shadow check and cross-bar and stripe designs, but one may buy imported volles and cotton crepes strewn all over with embroidered designs.

The popularity of the printed fabric is absolute for spring, a fact borne out by reviews of lines of all descriptions. Blouses, dresses and three-piece costumes all take advantage of the many possibilities offered by the printed surfaces and employ them to the best advantage.

The plain fabrics are not neglected, however, for in many instances they are brought into play through combinations with the printed numbers. Three-piece suits for summer wear show blouses of a plain material, while the jacket and skirt choose a printed crepe. In some instances the order is reversed, but in any event the utmost that the fabrics offer is appreciated.

A SMART THREE-PIECE SUIT

This chic three-piece suit for outdoor wear is of "chummy crepe" with a bold hand-blocked Persian motif.

Beads in Small Sizes

China beads in the smallest sizes are favored in the embroideries chosen to decorate the printed fabric frocks of more elaborate design. Both the flower and other decorative outlines that are modish in the prints show evidence of bead enhancement, while the use of borders consisting of a series of straight lines in various colored effects is also noteworthy.

Vogue for Egyptian

The vogue for Egyptian ornaments, though widely spread all winter, has been given a new impetus by the excavations along the Nile. A headdress assigned from that found in the tomb of an Egyptian princess is now being worn with draped evening gowns. The headdress covers the whole head and has long tassels over the ears.

BARLEY INSTEAD OF OATS MAY BE PRACTICAL

Farmers on good land who grow a spring grain crop in the rotation should consider the advisability of substituting barley for oats, says the state agriculture college. Some of barley's advantage are:

There is less danger of lodging with barley than with oats. Grass seeding generally do better after barley than after oats. On good land barley will usually give a larger production of grain in pounds to the acre than will oats. In such cases barley will produce considerably larger amounts of digestible nutrients to the acre than will oats. Each hundred pounds of barley contains more digestible nutrients than each hundred pounds of oats. Hence, if barley gave only as many pounds to the acre as oats, there would still be an advantage in growing it where spring grain crops are produced entirely for home feeding.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

ONE-LEGGED ROBIN

Billie Brownie went to call upon a little robin red breast he had heard about for some time.

He had been told that this little robin only had one leg and that every summer the robin went back to the same home. So he went to the place where the robin was supposed to be and, sure enough, there he saw a one-legged robin.

"I have heard about you," said Billie Brownie to the one-legged robin after he had introduced himself and had told the robin how it was that he was able to talk so the robin could understand every single word.

"Yes, Mother Nature gave me her gracious permission to understand the language of all her different children and that is why I can understand you.

"Then she told me how to speak so all of you could understand me.

"And that is why you do understand me. Won't you tell me your story, Mr. Robin?"

"I'd so much like to hear it," said Mr. Robin. "And I'll also tell you a little secret.

"Someone told me that my story had been in the newspaper. Yes, it seems a little girl read about it and she asked that my story be told to more and more boys and girls for she liked hearing about me and thought others would.

"She really felt the same way about it as you do, Billie Brownie. And perhaps you can get the story around to other boys and girls; do you suppose you can do that, Billie Brownie?"

"I do believe I can," said Billie Brownie, "and it will give me great delight to do so."

Then the robin invited Billie Brownie to perch upon an apple tree in what the robin called his daytime living room.

"We'll be so cozy here," chirped the robin.

"Four years ago," he began, "I was here for the first time. I hurt myself and I didn't think I'd live. But I began to grow better and better and soon I found I was going to live.

"To be sure, I was only going to have one leg. I had lost my other in my accident, but, dear me, I have one leg left and my wings and my voice and my feathers, and I'm happy as can be!

"Oh, the children on the farm nursed me back to health. They fed me; they cared for me. They loved me!

"Every winter I go away to a warmer climate, but every spring I come back here and stay all through the summer.

"They all shout with delight when they see me appear!

"Spring is here, spring is here, our robin is back," they cry.

"Yes, they call me 'our robin.'

"Isn't that nice? And I call them my family. Often I'm saying that in my songs to them and I feel they understand.

"I take many a nice, cheery little meal with the chickens in the barnyard. Oh, I am well looked after and no mistake. And I wouldn't go to another summer home for anything—no, not this robin.

"I'm just as happy as I can be. And if you are going to tell my story I wish you'd tell the boys and girls about my song of happiness.

"Do you suppose you could do that, Billie Brownie?"

"I am sure I could, and I would be delighted to do so," Billie Brownie said.

"This is my song," the robin said. And then the robin sang, and this was his song:

I have a voice, I have a throat, and songs I love to sing. Of all the things there are on earth and of the happiness they bring. There's sunshine and there's laughter, there's singing and there's joy. There's many a lovely girl and many a splendid boy. They feed their friends the bird-lings. They love to see us eat! They give us good, fresh water. So we think they're very sweet. They fix baths for us also.

"They Fed Me."

And put them good and high. So cats cannot go for us. When they see that we are high. Oh, the world is full of glory. And this is the end of my story.

And Billie Brownie, thanked the cheery robin for his gay little story.

Depends on Variety.

"I wonder if my little boy knows how many seconds there are in a minute."

"Do you mean a real minute, mamma, or one of those great big wait-a-minutes?"

OPPOSED CREAM IN COFFEE

Frenchman, a Century Ago, Ascribed All Sorts of Human Ills to the Custom.

Arsene Thiebaud de Berneaud, 11-brarian, a century ago to the Bibliotheque Mazarin, Paris, opposed with ferocity the then comparatively new custom of adding milk or cream to black coffee. The latter, in the author's language, was "consoling, joyful and, I had nearly said, spiritual" in its effects. But let ever so small a quantity of milk or cream be added and the result upon the human economy was most disastrous.

Since the dawn of this vicious custom pneumonia and consumption in the cities had increased one-half and rural communities formerly immune were now beginning to show cases of these ailments.

According to Le Progres Medical, which obtained the above information from a new popular review, La Connaissance, de Berneaud claimed that many eminent physicians shared his opinions. He seems to have had an obsession that all mixtures of fluids were injurious, and extended his prescription of milk addition to tea, chocolate and spirits. Sustained by this pre-conceived notion, he was able to publish a long diatribe in 1826, in which he accuses cafe au lait of causing almost every derangement known to medicine. But, rabid as he sounds, he was fatuous enough to admit that perhaps 10 per cent of the people might be tough enough to drink cafe au lait without disastrous results.—New York World.

BUILDING UP BUFFALO HERDS

Department of Agriculture Has Had Gratifying Success With This Part of Its Work.

Forty-six new buffalo calves are reported on three of the four game preserves maintained by the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture for the special protection of buffalo. On the national bison range, in Montana, there are 417 buffalo, including 28 calves born this spring. Fifteen calves are reported at the Wind Cave preserve, in South Dakota, and 3 at Niobrara, Neb.

The department has been very fortunate in maintaining the herds established at these three points and at Sullys Hill, North Dakota. There are relatively few large buffalo herds now scattered over the country, and the biological survey has made special efforts to provide suitable ranges and protection for what threatened a few years ago to become an extinct species of native American animal.

Interesting Powder Horn Map.

A map engraved on an old powder horn may lead to the location of the sites of several Cherokee Indian towns in western North Carolina, according to the Bureau of American Ethnology at Washington.

The powder horn is a loan from Hugh Kirk, Newtownards, County Down, Ireland, and dates from about 1750 when the English were beginning to open up the Cherokee region. It belonged to James Grant, member of a company of British soldiers stationed near Charleston, and near Fort Loudon and Fort Prince George in the Cherokee country about the time that these forts were besieged.

The horn is elaborately engraved with the royal arms of Great Britain and the map showing the ancient town of Ucassee and other towns in the region in which the soldier saw service.

Perpetual Motion Discredited.

It seems hardly credible, but up to the year 1772, there was no scientist in all Europe who knew enough to categorically deny that there was such a thing as perpetual motion.

It remained for Sir Isaac Newton and the French scientist, De La Hire, to demonstrate beyond doubt the impossibility of attaining it.

Quite a little time passed before the scientific world in general was willing to accept the Newtonian theory, but finally the French Academy of Science at Paris, in 1775, publicly declared that perpetual motion was an impossibility and thereby branded all those who still insisted upon experimenting with it as charlatans.—Pittsburgh Leader.

Multiplies Scenery.

A Russian widow, Mme. Ivan Boutkovsky, has devised an ingenious scheme for "multiple scenery," where by two scenes are painted upon one canvas. Colored lights are thrown upon this drop-scene, which bring out certain colors while concealing others so that with the same stage setting either a landscape or an interior may immediately be brought into view. Playing several acts with one set of scenery is an idea that should appeal strongly to producers, both as a novelty and from an economical point of view.—Scientific American.

POINTS FOR SQUAB RAISERS

Owners of Successful Plants Always Find Plenty to Do in Winter in Caring for Birds.

Managers of successful squab-raising plants always find plenty to do in winter taking care of their breeding pigeons, seeing they are properly mated, culled, housed and fed. If large plump squabs are to be produced next spring the breeding pigeons must be kept in a good thrifty condition or the percentage of hatch will be low. The problem of growing a large strain of squabs depends on the kind of pigeons you select to keep in the breeding pens. By cutting out the small, weak birds, with undesirable color of skin and other such points and disposing of the discarded ones the feed bill will be greatly reduced.

The birds should be looked after closely during the mating season. Odd or unmated males must always be removed from the breeding pens. Pigeons are usually mated at the age of five or six months, and in some cases they are not mated until they are eight or nine months old.

With the increasing demand for plump squabs many of the squab-raising plant owners have been laboring to get larger pigeons. The Maltese, the Wing King, the Corneau, the Runt, and the Mondaine have been extensively produced in some sections. Many of the old-time squab-raisers cling to the Homer. It is hardy, prolific, a hearty eater, and raises a high percentage of squabs.

The pigeon house should be cleaned once a month or oftener, and then sprayed with some of the preparations that are used to kill lice.

EPSOM SALTS CHEAP REMEDY

Useful to Keep on Hand to Tone Up Poultry Flock That Has Access to Spoiled Feed.

Epsom salts is a cheap remedy to keep on hand to help in toning up a poultry flock that has had access to spoiled feed. The occasional use of the salts is to help in reducing losses from sour crop or indigestion due to overfeeding. A hen that has been propped is benefited by epsom salts.

The usual dose is half a teaspoonful for a mature hen. The salts can be dissolved in warm water and poured down the throat of the bird. Then you know the hen has received the dose. She may not eat enough of a mash containing the salts. A flock can be allowed to go hungry about half a day followed by a moist mash containing epsom salts for every bird.

POULTRY NOTES

Disinfectants are cheaper than disease.

Poultry in confinement, to do well, need a variety of food.

Crowding induces disease and lowers the vitality of fowls.

A breeding pen is usually made up of from six to fourteen females and a male.

A stewing chicken weighs about three pounds and a rooster four or more pounds.

Nests should not be too deep or the hens jump down on the eggs and break them.

When a chicken weighs between two and three pounds it is called a spring chicken.

A setting of eggs is usually counted at twelve, although many poultrymen give fifteen eggs.

A broiler is a bird weighing two pounds or less and which is six to twelve weeks old.

A poultard is a pullet deprived of the power of producing eggs, with the object of great size.

There seems to be a value to feeding milk that cannot be expressed easily in cash. It has the vitamins which produce growth and vigor.

Breeding stock that have milk in their ration seem to produce more hatchable eggs than hens which get all their protein through beef scrap or fish scrap.

VOICE MUST BE CULTIVATED

Teacher Asserts That Every Person Has Ability to Be More or Less a Good Singer.

It has been stated by a leading singing teacher that we all would have a good voice if it were cultivated, but still some voices would be better than others. There is a reason why we do not all have really fine voices. The "sound box," as it were, of our body is the larynx, or as most people call it, the "Adam's Apple." Across this stretch our two vocal chords, like the strings of a violin, thick for a bass, thin for a tenor, and so on. The "bow" that strikes these chords is, of course, our own breath, and the different notes are produced by the moving of certain muscles at the base of the larynx.

Just as the tone of a violin depends largely upon the body of the instrument, so even perfect vocal chords are of little use unless our body contains a sufficient space, properly laced, for their tone to echo in, resonating cavities, we call them. We therefore need for the best voice a perfect sound box and perfect chords, plus fully developed "resonating cavities," and good muscles to work the larynx.

Added to this, our mouth and tongue must be placed in precisely the best position for our particular notes. Perfect health is needed for the breath that is our "bow," a perfect ear to distinguish the slightest variation of tone, and finally a long and expensive training to enable us to work every part of our sound-machine to the best advantage. Given all these factors, we have the perfect singer. Short in any one of them, we have a less perfect singer! —Exchange.

REVEAL LIFE OF PAST AGES

Felices Gathered in Collection in Palestine Museum, Are of Interest to All Civilization.

During the two years that have elapsed since the department of antiquities was founded at the instance of the high commissioner, 7,223 objects have been catalogued, of which a selection has been displayed, with due regard to date and provenance, and the Palestine museum in Jerusalem is now open daily to the public. The present accommodation is not altogether suitable, nor is it convenient for visitors; but the beginning has been made.

The total value of antiquities exported under license during this period amounts only to a few thousand dollars, says a Palestine letter to the New York Morning Telegraph. As the national collection becomes more complete, the proportion of antiquities released for export to foreign museums will automatically increase. In the province of the inspectors 1,407 historical sites and monuments have been formally registered, and measures have been taken to protect them, with the collaboration of the police and gendarmerie.

To Restore Izaak Walton's Home.

Fisherman and sportsmen, both in the United States and England, are co-operating to restore the cottage of Izaak Walton, prince of anglers, as a shrine for followers of the rod and reel the world over. The cottage is at Shallowford, England, six miles from Stafford.

The American leaders in the project are relatives and friends of the late Julien Tappan Davies, attorney and trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company. Mr. Davies was widely known as a fisherman and sportsman.

Maj. T. A. Dunn and other officials of Stafford, the birthplace of Walton, are carrying on the drive in England for an endowment fund for the little cottage, which, under the terms of Walton's will, was left to the town for philanthropic uses.—New York Sun.

War Against Pine Beetle.

A crusade against the pine beetle that has been causing so much destruction in the yellow-pine districts of the Northwest, as to alarm several government agencies and a number of private interests, is reported to have reduced the infestation about 50 per cent during 1922. This work, which is under the supervision of the bureau of entomology, consists of locating and felling all infested trees, and it is expected to result in the saving of over $87,000 worth of lumber during the next three years, over and above the cost of the work. On a million acres as yet untreated, the loss from this pest is now $300,000 a year.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Museum Shows Ancient Customs.

One of the recent attractions added to the historic city of Lourdes, which has been the scene of many pilgrimages for the cure of physical ills, is a museum to illustrate the old customs of the natives in that region of France. Six halls in the museum are reserved for a permanent exhibition of the furniture and costumes of the Pyrenean people, the equipment of their artisans (weavers, potmakers, shepherds, hunters, fishers, etc.) and their characteristic footwear. In other rooms are displayed botanical, geological and entomological collections, also painting, sculpture and applied arts of the region.

Pen Picture of Popular Author.

H. G. Wells is described by a contemporary journalist as being almost shrilly youthful, with a high-pitched voice and vehement temperament. He is a stocky little man with a bristling mustache and a bristling attitude. He is further said to be incredibly industrious, fond of friendship, and a perfect host.

because of their availability, simplicity and permanence.

Buildings of this kind resist the ravages of storm, fire and decay and are an economical investment from every standpoint. The barn roof has been built of frame construction since the cost of the necessary fireproof frame to support a fireproof roof would necessitate uneconomical maintenance charges.

PROPER RATION FOR CALVES

Ground Oats and Oil Meal Are Favored in Small Amounts at Start, Gradually Increasing.

A good grain ration for the calves will be ground oats—seven or eight pounds to one pound of oil meal. For a few days feed one pound per head per day and be sure all calves get their share, when you can increase the grain to all they will clean up twice daily. Feed silage to the calves when they begin eating well by feeding all they will clean up in half an hour. Much trouble is always avoided in getting calves going along well if you are careful in the starting of the calves on new feeds and increased rations. About two pounds of silage per head to start them on would be sufficient, noting that all the calves get to eating. The calves will pay well for the time spent in bedding them well and giving them comfortable quarters during cold snowy weather. As soon as the calves are eating regularly and well and cleaning up the feed before they leave the trough, they should gain between one and a half pounds to two pounds daily. If they are soggy, close to the ground kind of calves, they should do well for you and make baby beef.

After a few weeks, part of the ration, say one-third to one-half, could be ground barley or corn. They will certainly not make enough gain in flesh on silage alone.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR SCOURS

According to New Jersey Specialists Trouble is Result of Carelessness in Feeding.

Ordinary scours in calves are a simple digestive disorder, the result of carelessness in feeding, according to New Jersey dairy specialists. They should be attended to at once. Cut the feed in half and give a dose of castor oil (one-half pint). Clean and disinfect all utensils.

White scours is a germ disease and is usually fatal. Prevention methods constitute clean quarters for cows at calving time, thoroughly disinfecting the calf's navel at birth and clean quarters for calves with plenty of sunlight.

A good remedy when calf scours are prevalent is as follows:

One ounce bismuth subnitrate, One-half ounce salol, Three ounces bicarbonate of soda.

Give one teaspoonful of this mixture in one-half pint of milk three times daily.

Good Sire Will Help.

The fixed charges of maintaining a cow that milks 4,000 pounds of milk a year is but little less than those of maintaining a cow that milks 3,000 pounds of milk. A good herd sire will put the herd on the road to cheaper production by increasing production.

Milk Feed Cost Varies.

Dairy Improvement Association records show that the feed cost of 100 pounds of milk varies from 40 cents to $1.30, depending largely on the production of the herd.

HAS MANY FINE QUALITIES

Araban Horse Needs Little Food or Care and Can Travel Amazing Distances Without Tiring.

It is a popular notion that the Arabian horse is a peculiarly delicate animal, most sensitive to adverse influences. Such, however, is not the case. The wants of an Arab horse are few, and it is contended that he will maintain his health and spirits under conditions that no other species of horse could endure. Indeed, it has been pointed out, not only can the Arab stand under hardships at a pinch but that he actually deteriorates if too carefully tended. This has been proved by the experiences of European purchasers, who have refused to believe that the usual three feeds of grain a day were too much, or that the morning hour of walking exercise was too little.

As a matter of fact, an Arab horse is naturally so high spirited and so difficult to tire that even a single feed of corn is excessive until he is being subjected to hard work. He will answer every requirement as a hunter if his food be restricted to hay, or even to grass. In the summer he thrives best when he has the run of a paddock and can regulate his own food and exercise.

These observations apply also to the ordinary Arab horse in everyday life. What a picked animal can do when put upon his mettle is almost beyond belief. A British officer in the Sudan found that after a ride of 800 miles his Arab horse showed no signs of overwork, although he had cast all his shoes before a quarter of the journey, had been accomplished.

NORTH COUNTRY HER CHOICE

Chicago Woman Tells of Joys of Travel in the Klondike Region—Its Cats and Dogs.

Here's a jolly note in a private letter to the editor from a Chicago lady who spent last winter and spring in the Bahamas and South Carolina, and then—"I got home with the flu baked out but no energy, so as soon as I got my clothes mended I started off again and had a glorious trip up to Dawson and an auto trip into the Klondike region. And now I am sorry I did not get on an ore boat and go out to St. Michael and over to Nome, but there will be a next time for that country, I am sure.

By the way—here is a natural history fact for you. All the cats in Dawson have beautifully thick fur and nicely rounded tips to their ears because they get the thin points ends frozen off in winter. I know, because I saw most of the feline population; and a black kitten told me the reason for the special style in cats' ears in Dawson. But those huskies—for the first time I have seen a finer dog than a St. Bernard! Soulful eyes, and a pelt and a size to make any ordinary kloodie burst into a million pieces with envy and just as friendly as the malamutes are not. If I do not quit, I'll be weeping all over this page. I am so anxious to get back to the Klondike country—seems as if 80 degrees below wouldn't freeze me out!"

Egyptian Idea of Beauty.

The Egyptians made the most exhaustive researches into the care and preservation of the skin. Their success in arresting the decomposition of its tissues as evinced by the mummies of their pre-Christian era kings defies modern science. Just as the secret of mixing paints of the old Italian painters has never been duplicated by present-day artists and their mastery of color remains supreme, so the embalming processes of the old Egyptians died with them.

The ancient Egyptians painted their eyes with a long green line and believed very strongly in applying to the eyes mesd'empt, which was considered to have the soothing and healing properties of kohl, which is still used by eastern peoples—where, incidentally, ophthalmia is very prevalent.

West Indian Women Work Hard.

In the West Indies the women carry enormous loads of bananas, oranges, yams and brown sugar, climbing mountain roads at a steady gait of four miles an hour. These women count a 40-mile walk a mere constitutional. They seem to love their tramp, and gossip along the road with as much enjoyment as many another woman finds in her Saturday night market chat.

South American coffee and cotton planters say the women and children work better than men, though their labor is rewarded with a lower wage. Women barter in fruit, vegetables and dress goods as "desk traders" on the steamships which ply between West Indian islands. In Grenada they act as blacksmiths, shepherds, carpenters and carters.

Love Humanity More.

We do not realize how much good it does us to love animals. One who does so usually loves humanity all the better for it. We make close friends of our pets; they are a source of comfort to us such as few things in life are. They deserve memorial literature full of stories of faithful pets.

Did you ever come home tired at night and find restfulness in the purr and grace of the family cat? Have you felt more like facing the troubles of the world when your dog frisked about your heels and barked his delight in your friendship? These are items of life. They draw him closer to thoughts of faith. This is worth while.—Grit.

THE ILLUSIVE HOPE

"September is a bad month to speculate in. Also January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, October, November and December."—Mark Twain.

It was an important investigation. It was worth making. The result should be enlightening to all who are tempted, by the hope of easy wealth, to risk their savings in speculation.

He found that 2 1/2 per cent of the accounts showed a profit. Ninety-seven and one-half per cent, in the end, showed losses.

No doubt not a few of those who ended losers had periods of prosperity. Some of them, very likely, could have joined the 2 1/2 per cent if they had been content to quit winners with respectable balances in their favor.

Less than three out of 100 of the habitual customers of this house, one of the largest in the country, ended ahead of the game. More than ninety-seven out of 100 quit losers.

There is a lesson in this. Few many are capable of taking profit from it?
