THE WAYNE COUNTY

FAIR MOVEMENTS

Wednesday the directors and various committees were in session during the afternoon working out fair problems. The secretary informs us that building plans were discussed and that specifications are soon to be submitted to contractors for bids.

The secretary did not have much else to say at this time, but when told that the organization had been accused by a Wayne visitor, or several of them, for that matter, that the association had selected and was making it the finest and most suitable fair ground in not only this state, in several states, he would not deny the charge. In fact, he admitted that he had heard similar charges before.

The grounds have been put in the best of shape, and the seeding that has been done this spring is coming fine. The ample shade is what pleases all.

COUNTRY CLUB NOTES

Never has the grass at the Wayne Country Club shown any greater growth than the last few weeks. The damp weather has been great for the new grass and the greens are looking fine.

The Greens Committee is holding play off all the permanent greens until the various captains can report that their Green has been cleaned of dandelions.

Number Four green was opened for play last Sunday and the weeding process is finished on Number 4 and number 8 at this time. The process of cleaning is well under way on six seven and one. Little or no work has been on three five and nine.

Just as soon as the permanent greens are opened the program committee will put on some regular week end tournament.

Some enterprising Wayne firm or citizen cannot get in the philanthropist class my donating a Golf Cup to be played for each year as a Championship affair and we also need one for a handicap cup.

The club suffered from a cloud-burst in the hills southeast of the club on Decoration day but the fairways are again mowed, and in reasonably good shape.

The roughs are being mowed week and playing conditions will be much better by the end of the week.

Fred and Frank Korff are two new members of the Club.

Get your work done on the dandelions! The greens committee will do the rest and let's be playing on all of the permanent greens.

Jas Ahern shot a thirty-nine this week. He had 19 for the first five holes but had a little engagement with the rough on No. eight.

The ladies social afternoons will start next week we are informed.

GREAT REMOVAL SALE

The Mrs. Jeffries sale, reducing stock preparatory to moving into her new building and starting there largely with new stock is going forward daily with gratifying results. Of course, new goods are coming to keep stock complete, and they all go on the bargain list for they are keeping an assortment of styles, sizes and popular shades of dresses, waists, skirts, sweaters and summer wraps. Hats, shoes, hosiery, underwear, corsets and all manner of notions are on the bargain list. Many people have taken advantage of this removal sale, and there are still bargains for others. It is bargain time for one and all.—adv.

MISSION FESTIVAL JUNE 17th

Krieger of Milford will speak. The last named speaker is a foreign missionary, and will have some interesting things to tell.

Card of Thanks—We wish to express our appreciation of many kind acts of aid and sympathy so freely given us in our hours of sorrow during the illness, death and burial of wife, mother and daughter. Also thanks for the tribute of flowers given in her memory.

KALLEMEYN-CHINN

At the First Methodist church at University Place, Saturday evening June 2, 1923. Mr. C. R. Chinn of this city and Miss Elizabeth Kallemeyn were united in marriage. Rev. D. W. MacGregor, formerly pastor of the Methodist church officiating.

This was the occasion of a double wedding, Miss Mildred Kallemeyn, sister of Miss Elizabeth being united in marriage at the same time and place to Ralph Pettis of St. Joseph, Missouri.

The bride was attended by four bridesmaids—Margaret Lind Strömberg, Julia Steiner, Lincoln, Frances Waggoner Lincoln, Martha Elsie University Place. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Edith A. T. Cavanaugh of this city was roomsman. Ushers were W. C. Hunter of Wayne, Ralph Schabert of Omaha, Gilbert Kartes, University Place, Manford Waggoner Lincoln, Cella Waggoner was flower girl and Tommy Cavanaugh page.

The bride wore white charmeuse with pearl trimming, court train of broaded satin, veil, tulle carried out Grecian effect. The groom wore a full dress suit.

A reception followed the ceremony of marriage, in the church parlor, the maids of honor serving punch and wafers.

The bride has been a successful instructor in our public school for the past two years, in charge of the department of domestic science. She is charming young lady who made many friends during her sojourn at Wayne.

Mr. Chinn is most favorably known here as a young man of character and many qualifications of citizenship. His boyhood home was at Wakefield. He is a graduate of the college here, and of the state university and Columbia college. Since returning from service in the late war he has been assistant in the department of physical science and biology of the State Normal School and Teachers College.

The newly weds are at home in the LeRoy Ley house in the west part of the city, where they received royal welcome from the juvenile band upon their return from their short wedding trip.

THE CITY OF WAYNE

Our city water had an unusual and unpleasant taste Saturday and Sunday, but it is no longer detected. The causes were the new paint on inside of the standpipe and pumping the water thru the new ten-inch main which has just been connected from pump to tank. This makes a reduction in the power required to force water into the stand pipe, for the smaller old main could not carry the capacity of the pump freely for a part of it was but 4 inch pipe.

The new pump is being installed, and may be ready for use yet this week, with good luck. Then Wayne will have a duplicate equipment practically all round for power, light and water. The engine power would not be adequate now should anything happen to the larger engine, because one of the two smaller ones is not what it once was, and order has gone in for a larger new one to take its place.

A REAL LAND SALE

O. S. Whitney of the neighborhood northeast of Coleridge sold his farm at $200 per acre. In making mention of the sale the Blade says that this is the first out and out sale in vicinity of Coleridge in the past three years. George Gray, a neighbor, purchased the place. When boom prices were on $325 per acre was offered to Mr. Whitney, and refused, so as this place sold to one who has lived in the neighborhood for thirty years it may be considered as a fair estimate of the market price of similar places.

The editor of the Blade is of the opinion that bottom has been touched, and that the price trend for good land will be up now for a time.

YANNORMAN-WARD

Thursday afternoon, May 31, 1923, at the office of county Judge J. M. Cherry, and by him, Mr. Harry O. Ward from Lubay, Kansas, and Miss Marie E. Yannorman were wed. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Yannorman, and is well known in this her home town where she attended school. Last year she taught a school near Hoskins. We have not learned where they plan to make their home.

For a market for poultry, eggs and cream, remember Fortner.—adv.

WAYNE-COUNTY STOCK

Will Blake, of Wayne, Nebraska, was on the Sioux City cattle market May 28 with two cars of high grade Hereford steers, which averaged 1051 pounds and sold for 10.25 a hundred-weight within ten cents of the top market. The top price was $10.35.

Mr. Blake's cattle had made excellent gains on feed and the price which they brought was fifty cents a hundredweight above the bulk of sales at Sioux City the same day.

Mr. Blake was well pleased with the results of his sale on May 28. He reports that there are the usual number of cattle on feed in Wayne county, and the country is full of finished hogs. Mike Lower, of Wayne, was represented on the Sioux City market by a load of 63 hogs that sold to an order buyer for $7.00.

APPRECIATION OF OLD SOLDIERS

Bloomfield, Nebraska, June 5, 1923.

Editor Democrat Wayne, Nebraska
Dear Sir: Another Decoration Day has come and gone, and our nation has paid tribute to our fallen heroes, who paid the Supreme Sacrifice, for our country. In Bloomfield this day was well observed. We had a large gathering who listened to our program. The principal address was given by one of your loyal citizens, Lawyer P. S. Berry. His address was well given and well received. Wayne should feel justly proud of such citizens as Mr. Berry, and I want to thank him for his efforts here on Decoration Day. I beg to remain
Yours very truly
B. Cunningham.

The enrollment was about the 900 mark Wednesday evening, and there are still more to come. The dormitories are filled, and students are rooming in every Wayne home that can make place for any. Plans are made to make this the banner term in many ways. The school is getting bigger and better day by day, in every way.

TWO DEATHS AT WINSIDE

Joseph William Overman passed away at his home at Winside Tuesday morning, June 5th, 1923, at the nearly 65 years. Was born in Missouri and later lived in Iowa. He was among the early settlers of the county, and was a man with a high sense of personal integrity. He is survived by one son and five daughters. The funeral service was today, by Rev. Litterell, and the body was buried at the Wayne cemetery, at 12 o'clock.

Chas Reed Passes Away

Charles Reed, who has been unconscious from a fall about two weeks ago, died at his Winside home Wednesday, and the funeral service will be held Friday at Winside and the interment made at Carroll. Revs. Litterell and Wiley will conduct the funeral service. He was among the early settlers, and a splendid citizen. He leaves several daughters to mourn his death.

RANDOLPH BANKS PAY TAXES AS INTANGIBLE

Treasurer Martin Nelson has accepted payment for 1922—taxes on the capital, surplus and undivided profits of the Randolph banks as of April 1, 1922, at the intangible rate of one-fourth actual value. This is for the 1922 tax only, and further hearing of the question will determine the payment for the present year. This action is in accord with the idea that a thousand dollars earning interest by a private party should be taxed the same as a similar sum loaned by a bank. The banks held there should be no discrimination.—Randolph Times.

The Bible Study Circle met at the Albin Carlson home Tuesday afternoon and studied the life of "Nehemiah the Bold Builder." The threatened storm interfered somewhat with the attendance, a car of guests from Concord not remaining through the meeting and others afraid to venture out, however quite a goodly company were present and enjoyed the time meeting.

A telegram was received saying that W. L. McLanahan of Egypt could be in Wayne next week and the matter was discussed as to his coming. Many requests were remembered in prayer and especially the Friday evening class in Romans was remembered. This class will meet each week with Mrs. E. B. Young, the leader.

SPAHR-CAAUWE

A very pretty home wedding occurred Saturday, June 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Spahr when their daughter, Mabel Edyth, and Mr. Edwin P. Caauwe were united in marriage. Only members of the immediate family were present.

The bridal couple took their places, unattended, under a beautifully decorated arch. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Grant Shiek of the M. E. church.

After the ceremony a delicious three-course luncheon was served by the bride's mother, assisted by sisters of the bride and groom, the Misses Nellie M. Spahr and Barbara M. Caauwe. The pink and white color scheme was tastefully carried out in the table decorations and luncheon.

The bride was dressed in a dark blue all over embroidered canton crepe dress with hat and dress to match. The groom was attired in a suit of blue serge.

The bride has grown to womanhood in Wayne county and was graduated from the Wayne State Teachers College with the class of '22. For the past year she has been a successful teacher in the Hartington Public School. The groom is a prosperous young farmer and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Caauwe of Wayne.

The happy couple left Saturday afternoon for a short wedding trip after which they will be at home to their many friends on a farm northwest of Wayne.

June 2nd was also the brides parents wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Caauwe returned from their wedding trip on Sunday evening. A crowd of about thirty-five young folks pleasantly surprised them at the bride's home. They were treated to cigars, candy and gum. The young folks spent a pleasant evening and departed wishing them many happy years of married life.

GREATER WAYNE CLUB MEET MONDAY EVENING

Monday evening is the regular meeting of the Greater Wayne Club, and all members should try to attend and be ready to take a part in the good work now under way. They meet at the library basement, and when the attendance is large enough for an overflow from there, we suggest the city hall until a larger room is needed.

NEBRASKA LANGUAGE LAW NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

That is the court opinion handed down by the supreme court Monday. Not only is the Nebraska law said to be unconstitutional, but Iowa's as well, and about eighteen other states. The law is contrary to the fourteen amendments to the constitution.

LICENSED TO WED

Wednesday Judge J. M. Cherry issued license to Clarence S. Cooper and Mrs. Ediza Collins, both of Lynch. They attempted to come to Wayne by auto, but too much rain, and they finished the trip by train. It was their plan to return to Winside Wednesday evening and be united in marriage there by Rev Litterell, which we suppose was the plan carried out.

SURBER-SURBER

Robert Dallas Surber of Belden and Mrs. Lillie May Surber of Coleridge were married at the Methodist Parsonage in Wayne by the pastor John Grant Shiek at noon on Wednesday, June 6. They will reside on a farm which the groom is operating near Belden.

NEBRASKA

ROADS IMPROVEMENT

So rapidly the national road building program progressed that now the transcontinental traveler may take his choice of 5 organized ocean-ocean highways and be sure that most of the way he will find the roads to be excellent, and all of the way passable. These five roads which actually extend from one coast to the other and are marked practically throughout their entire route are:

Lincoln Highway—New York to San Francisco.

Yellowstone Trail—Boston to Seattle.

National Old Trail Road—Washington to Los Angeles.

Old Spanish Trail—Jacksonville to San Diego.

Pershing History Highway—New York to San Francisco.

The motorist is not restricted to the use of these five great trunk highways, however. There are many marked trails west of the Mississippi which parallel the national routes and make possible a wide variety of detours.

Nebraska occupies a strategic position on the national highway map. It is crossed by the best known of the ocean-to-ocean trails—the Lincoln Highway. It has short-cuts to Colorado points on the D. L. D. and the Golden-Rod Highways; detours to the Black Hills in the Black Hills Trail and the Potash Highway, and is crossed north and south by the Meridian Highway, the King of Trails, the Comhusker Highway, the K. S. P. and several others.

Many thousands of cars traverse the state during each season and many eastern people who associate only sod houses and grasshoppers with Nebraska are being surprised by our prosperous farms and towns and by our bountiful crops.

It now remains for Nebraska people to properly advertise the state's advantages. Beautiful and historic Arbor Lodge and Morton Park in the east, Pine Ridge range, trout streams and the Agate fossil beds in the northwest, the fishing of the central section might well make a strong bid for the tourist's attention.

More important is the advertisement of Nebraska's industrial and agricultural opportunities. There is probably no better opening in the United States for the man with small capital who wants to secure a farm home than can be found in Western Nebraska. This part of the state waits only for capital and an organized effort to become a great truck growing and canning district.

With the opening of the tourist season every Nebraska community should launch an honest, consistent advertising campaign for the purpose of selling Nebraska to the touring world.

NEWSPAPERS BEST MEDIUM FOR CHURCH ADVERTISING

"The churches of today should not hesitate to use paid advertising to spread the gospel of Christianity," the Rev. Robert Gibson of New York City, head of the national publicity department of the Episcopal church of the United States, declared yesterday. The Rev. Mr. Gibson is in Omaha to attend a regional conference of the publicity men of the church.

"The church of today cannot wait for the people to attend its services," he continued. "Whether or not the people attend, the teachings of Christ must be carried to them, and in this manner there is no medium that can compare with the newspapers."

"Of course, it is to be expected that the newspapers print the real genuine news of the church just the same as other news is printed, but so far as the propaganda of the church is concerned, the church should be willing to pay for it."

Others in attendance followed. The Rev. Edwin F. Wilcox, secretary of the diocese of western Missouri, J. M. Miller, executive secretary of the district of South Dakota, the Rev. Philip Nelson, Denver, publicity director of the diocese of Colorado and the Rev. Ralph F. Blanning of Omaha, publicity director of the diocese of Nebraska, Omaha World Herald.

Rolland Rippon is at Sioux City, going over Sunday to the St. Vincent hospital where he is having additional treatment applied to the leg he so near shot off last spring. His mother, accompanied him, and is there with him, and reports that good progress is being made by the wounded place.

The first of June this year, as if by pre-arranged program the weather man warmed up enough to receive the "June Bug" and they headed for the lights, and often struck a screen. The morning of the 2nd, the walk about the street lights carried a lot of dead ones, they evidently having dashed their brains out—if they had any, flying against the globes.

Frank Klopping marketed a car of hogs from his farm west of Carroll last week at Sioux City. He did not estimate that there was real fortune in hogs at the present price, when the dollar that he got for them was not worth more than 63 cents in supplying the farm with average need, as compared with what a dollar would pay for of the same commodities in 1914. So really the hog and cattle money is not as big as it looks, when you come to spend it.

The state of Illinois is preparing, by act of legislature to proceed further against "Pittsburg plus". Pittsburg plus is the rule of the steel industry under which the west pays the equivalent freight from Pittsburg on steel dug from Minnesota ranges and manufactured in Illinois or Indiana mills. This arbitrary and oppressive practice might be insisted upon until it is regarded so conservative a state as Illinois into a socialistic venture of its own in steel making.

Chicago & North Western System C. & N. W. Ry. C. St. P. M. & O. Ry.

Providing Equipment

When crops are good, business brisk, and every one employed, statements are often made that there is a shortage of railroad cars and locomotives. A most natural question just now is, What action is the Chicago & North Western Railway System taking to meet the present situation? I will answer by concisely setting forth facts below to show just what has been done to provide cars and locomotives for the service of its patrons.

EQUIPMENT PURCHASED during the seven years 1916-1922 inclusive, consisted of 398 locomotives, 190 passenger cars, 14,352 freight cars, at an aggregate cost of	$ 45,636,039
EQUIPMENT IN SERVICE on December 31, 1922, consisted of 2,434 locomotives, 2,439 passenger cars, and 78,773 freight cars.
NEW EQUIPMENT purchased for delivery in 1923, consists of 150 locomotives, 250 passenger cars, and 7,951 freight cars, at an aggregate cost of	$ 24,000,000
COST OF REPAIRING EQUIPMENT during the past seven years aggregated	$182,995,684

This expenditure of almost $10,000,000 per year for new equipment and $26,000,000 per year for upkeep emphasizes the earnest and continuous effort to meet the public requirements.

Purchases for the year 1923 are larger than usual. In 1922 there was moved 2,448,000 carloads of freight, of which 1,704,000 were loaded on its lines, an average of 31 carloads for each car—a real achievement. It required 448,871.816 car miles to deliver this at destination and required 223,030,650 miles to empty haul to move cars from points of unloading to points of loading.

At best there will be times when the demand for freight cars will exceed the immediate supply, and at such times we must ask the forbearance of our patrons, who are assured that every possible effort will be made to meet their requirements. A reasonable shortage of equipment at the peak of traffic is not easily overcome, and is no occasion for alarm; and within bounds, indicates a healthy condition of business.

Everyone using freight cars who loads and unloads them promptly increases the available supply of cars and best secures his own interests and those of others. Experience shows that over one-half of the time taken for handling freight is used for loading and unloading, and if this be done promptly there is more than sufficient equipment to handle the traffic of the country.

To the extent of our financial ability and with faith in the future, we have made these expenditures for new cars and locomotives and for the repairing and maintaining of our equipment in service. Our faith in the American people, and our duty to our patrons compel this action. The splendid co-operation of our shippers in prompt loading and unloading of cars, coupled with the effective service of our employees will enable us to make full use of our increased facilities in our effort to move satisfactorily all traffic offered us.

President

Several weeks ago we told of the arrest of Herman Rheder of the Pierce neighborhood, a young man well shot of there, we are told. The charge on which it was elected to try the young man was having intoxicating liquor in his possession. Rheder contended at all times that he did not know that there was liquor in his car, and if so how it came to be there. The car first attracted the attention of the officers because it had no number, and was searched by them while parked at Pierce, and the bottle discovered. The car was one the young man had just traded for or purchased, and was delivered to him at Pierce that night, and he was to drive it to his home. The watching officers with their find pinched him he came for the car. This fact accounted for the car not having a license, and was considered ample excuse, but the officers did not want to excuse the bottle in the same manner. At his trial last week he was acquitted. The county will have costs to pay.

MARTINSBURG MILL
QUITS AFTER 50 YEARS

On Wednesday, May 16, the Martinsburg Mills made their last flour, after half a century of operating. N. P. Wellenstein, the present owner, announces that it was necessary to give up the unequal contest against the larger mills, and that milling on a small basis is a losing proposition as the small miller cannot hope to produce flour today for as cheap a price as can the larger mills. Although Martinsburg Mills will continue to grind grist, pan-cake, buckwheat and such flours, it will not again make wheat flour with the rolls, and the rolls will be sold as soon as possible. The space hitherto occupied by the milling machinery is to be used for the general store stock which Mr. Wellenstein has. He has found that the general store business is far more profitable.

The history of Martinsburg Mills, is rather interesting, inasmuch as it is one of the older institutions of the county.

In 1872, Johnathon Martin manufactured a crude paddle wheel, and placing it on one end of a shaft, and some grinding burrs on the other end, built a small dam and building, thus starting Martinsburg Mills. A short time afterwards a freshet washed out the dam, and destroyed the building.

The following year Mr. Martin rebuilt his mill and operated it until 1875, when he sold it to Hurley Brothers. They later sold it to P. G. Wright and John Duren, who operated it under the firm name of Duren, Wright and Co. Wright later sold his interest to a Mr. Marks, who finally sold out to Mr. Duren.

Mr. Duren operated the mill until 1900, selling on May 1st of that year to N. P. Wellenstein, who has operated it since that time.

Floods have several times destroyed the property, so that the present building is the fourth building to houses the business. When Jonathan Martin first built the mill, he cut logs and layed them near the site until he could find time for the work. A prairie fire came along, and destroyed part of the logs, and burned the ends of others. The latter logs were used, however, and some of them are in the present building, charred but still as solid, apparently, as when first cut.

In February, 1918, Mr. Wellenstein decided to do away with the old fashioned mill race and paddle wheel, so South Creek, from which power was obtained, did not always save enough water to turn the mill. At that time a gasoline engine was installed and has since furnished the power.

One by one the old relics of early days and early business enterprises are disappearing.—Allen News.

STATEHOUSE TANGLES

The administrative tangle now on at the state house, with treasurer and auditor refusing to ratify the governor's arrangements as to code departments, is largely the ripe fruit of the whifer's politics. The legislature's refusal to appropriate for department heads and the governor's veto of the legislative bill to reorganize the departments have created a situation which will take some lawsuits and may take a special session of the legislature to solve.

The spectacle is calculated to give great aid and encouragement to the considerable number of Nebraskans who are ready to put an end to the play of party politics in state affairs by the means already adopted with satisfactory results in most cities.

If the laws of the state prevent the switching of code department employees from one department to another, the law is wrong and should be changed. The possibility of such a shifting, enabling departments whose "peaks loads" come at different seasons to make one set of employees do the work of two is one of the great advantages of the cabinet system.—State Journal.

Control over the full power range of your motor is most easily attained with BALANCED gasoline

THE satisfactory behavior of a motor is largely governed by the properties of the gasoline used. Users of Red Crown Gasoline know that they can depend on instant response when they step on the accelerator or throttle down.

Flexible power is only one of the advantages this properly balanced gasoline assures. It has ample proportions of both the instant ignition elements and the slightly slower burning elements. One insures quick starts with a cold motor. The other elements provide constant pressure to the end of the stroke—full power and big mileage.

Red Crown Gasoline is balanced gasoline that is perfectly suited to the modern motor.

Rigid specifications, improved manufacturing processes and careful tests safeguard the uniformity of Red Crown Gasoline. They guarantee every desirable gasoline quality, wherever you buy—here or at the other end of the state.

Adjust your carburetor to Red Crown and you can run on a lean, economical clean-burning mixture that makes big mileage certain and gives you full control over the complete power range of your motor.

At filling time drive in to the nearest Red Crown Service Station. You are assured prompt, courteous service and accurate measure of high quality gasoline and motor oils that provide protective lubrication.

WELL KNOWN TRUSS EXPERT COMING TO NORFOLK

E. J. Meinhardt, the Truss Expert from Chicago, will personally be at the Norfolk Hotel, Norfolk, Nebraska on Thursday only, June 14th.

Mr. Meinhardt says "The Vacuum Shield" will only hold the Rupture perfectly, but will contract the opening in ten days on the average case—usually giving instantaneous relief withstanding all strain regardless of the size and location of the Rupture. This truss is positively guaranteed.

Caution: Ruptured persons should beware of old-style trusses with understraps. These trusses usually place the pad on the lump and not at the rupture opening. This often causes serious trouble resulting in strangulation, and necessitating a surgical operation. Mr. Meinhardt will be glad to demonstrate without the use of surgery, medical treatment, prescriptions or injections, the unusually rapid results produced by "The Vacuum Shield." These demonstrations will be given free to all who call at the hotel from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. The largest and most difficult cases, those following operations, are especially desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section and he will be here for one date only.

BURYING THE HATCHET
 (Forbes Magazine)
 In an attempt to settle the war of rivalry that has so long existed between the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, it was decided by the civic organizations of the two cities to have a banquet and get-together meeting to see if ways and means could not be found to bury all animosities.

 After partaking of good food and pre-Volstead refreshments, speeches were in order. The chairman called on a prominent citizen of Minneapolis, who in a very forcible manner eulogized the twin cities, their resources, their advantages, and the pleasure of living in the united city. When he had finished, a gentleman from St. Paul arose and stated that there was just one question he wanted to ask: "What shall we name the united city?"

 The gentleman from Minneapolis arose and after considerable thinking, said: "I would name it Minnehaha—Minne' for Minneapolis, and 'Ha! Ha!' for St. Paul."

The extreme top of $10.60 was secured by cattle from the feedlots of Arthur Deenan of Aida. The Wantoch herd had been on feed about seven months, according to Mrs. Wantoch's son, who accompanied the shipment to market. They had made rapid and substantial gains.

The one nice thing the redeeming thing of the new tariff law was admitted by friends and foes alike to be that part which empowered a president and a commission to reduce or remove the tariff if it was found to be used to increase the price without other reason. Now comes the sugar combine and appears to have convinced the president that he must not take the initiative in robbing his friends of the sugar combine. He is between the finger and the thumb. One of the two will get the goat.

CHIROPRACTIC

Removes the Cause of Disease

1. Slight subluxations at this point will cause so-called headaches, eye diseases, deafness, epilepsy, vertigo, insomnia, wry neck, facial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, etc.
2. A slight subluxation of a vertebra in this part of the spine is the cause of so-called throat trouble, neuralgia, pain in the shoulders and arms, goitre, nervous prostration, jaundice, dizziness, bleeding from nose, disorder of gums, catarrh, etc.
3. The arrow head marked No. 3 locates the part of the spine wherein subluxations will cause so-called bronchitis, felons, pain between the shoulder blades, rheumatism of the arms and shoulders, hay fever, writers' cramp, etc.
4. A vertebral subluxation at this point causes so-called nervousness, heart disease, asthma, pneumonia, tuberculosis, difficult breathing, other lung troubles, etc.
5. Stomach and liver troubles, enlargement of the spleen, pleurisy and a score of other troubles, so-called, are caused by subluxations in this part of the spine, sometimes so light as to remain unnoticed by others except the trained Chiropractor.
6. Here we find the cause of so-called gall stones, dyspepsia of upper bowels, fevers, shingles, hicough, worms, etc.
7. Bright's disease, diabetes, floating kidney, skin disease, boils, eruptions and other diseases, so-called, are caused by nerves being pinched in the spinal openings at this point.
8. Regulations of such troubles as so-called appendicitis, peritonitis, lumbago, etc., follow Chiropractic adjustments at this point.
9. Why have so-called constipation, rectal troubles, sciatica, etc., when Chiropractic adjustments at this part of the spine will remove the cause?
10. A slight slippage of one or both innominate bones will likewise produce so-called sciatica, together with many "diseases" of pelvis and lower extremities.

Examination Free at office. An opportune time for students who have no resident Chiropractor to secure examination, and adjustments, if needed.

At Ainsworth they are cutting the teaching force by eliminating some departments and also reducing the teachers salary, as they have a new school house to pay for, and taxes had to come down, or at least cease to advance. So one can easily see that such financial conditions as we now are "enjoying" hit education, church, and newspapers, as well as the small bankers and farmers. In fact you cannot discriminate against the people who produce the bread and butter and clothing of the land but that it soon comes back to hurt the rest of the people in many ways. John Payne has moved to Wayne, coming from Wausa. He recently purchased the J. H. Boyce property on Pearl street, south of first street, and has taken possession. Mr. and Mrs. Payne formerly lived at Wayne, but sold and wandered away, living several years in Wyoming. When he was told that the altitude was too high for him in that state, he came back to look over Iowa and Nebraska, with the natural consequence that Wayne was the logical place of any one seeking and ideal location.

J. H. Kemp was invited to speak at the annual alumni banquet at St. Edwards and accepted. Mr. Kemp sounded some people as to political sentiment as opportunity offered, and from what he heard he expressed the opinion that W. J. Bryan or Henry Ford are as popular here as reports indicate that they are all over.

The following named individuals, firms, corporations, or copartnerships have been assessed in the precincts as herein shown, and the amounts set opposite their names are the valuations fixed by the Assessor, and are as they appear from the assessment record and also are the totals upon which the tax for the year 1923 will be computed unless changed by either the County or State Boards of Equalization. Bear in mind that these are the actual valuations, as all levies are now based on actual instead of assessed values.

arrangements with the machine. Older people will remember Boss Butler and his "Indians," the rulers in that day of the city of St. Louis, with profitable diplomatic connection with the state government.

In a misguided moment the machine gave the democratic nomination for district attorney to young Folk. It was taken for granted that the republican incumbent, a friend of the ring, would be re-elected. But Folk was elected and in due time the penitentiary filled up with St. Louis statesmen. The achievement made Folk a national hero and had much to do with starting the country on the career of ring busting which marked the ensuing ten years. Such plunderers of the public as Folk convicted were responsible for the political reforms which have nearly everywhere operated to keep such machines from returning to power—direct primaries, direct legislation and the public regulation of public utilities.

American politics has now passed into new phases. The reforms for which such as Folk paved the way registered permanent gains. Such political organizations as Ed. Butlers' working thru spoils and direct bribery, are now well high obsolete. Problems not less intricate and difficult still confront us but a definite gain has been made. Folk passed from district attorney of St. Louis to governor of Missouri, where he performed creditable service. But for the play of political circumstance he might have gone farther. He had an early start. Tho at the time of his death he had passed from public view, he was only fifty-three years old. For what he long ago accomplished, for the new standards in politics which he helped, with the unanimous opposition of the professional politician, to establish, Joseph W. Folk deserves the permanent remembrance of the American people. He was one reformer who did more than talk. He delivered the goods.

MISSOURI RIVER DEVELOPMENT
There appeared on the front page of the Kansas City Star, May 9th issue, an extended interview with Mark W. Woods, of the Woods Brothers Corporation regarding prospective developing of the Missouri River and cities, towns and farming country in the Missouri Valley. The Star, using this interview as a basis, discussed at length this important problem.

Not a Big One
A rather self-centered young man was talking to an outspoken girl. "My face is my fortune," said the egotist. "Well, there's one thing sure—you won't have to pay any income tax," was the girl's reply.

Effective August 3, 1923.

H. R. 71

This bill was passed with the emergency clause and became effective April 2, 1923.

H. R. 121

H. R. 197

Amends Section 6393, Compiled Statutes, 1922, by increasing the maximum levy for the county high school exclusive of the levy for paying the principal and interest on bonds, from 1.6 to 2 mills on the actual value of the taxable property of the county. This bill was passed with the emergency clause and became effective April 18, 1923.

One district may be discontinued and its territory attached to other adjoining districts upon petition signed by one-half of the legal voters in each district affected. This bill was passed with the emergency clause and became effective April 12, 1923.

H. R. 524

Provided, where any consolidated district has been established by a majority of the votes cast by the electors of such district, said district may be dissolved and the various parts thereof reconstructed by a majority of the votes cast at such dissolution election. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any consolidated district which has voted bonds subsequent to its consolidation while said bonds are outstanding. Effective August 3, 1923.

JOHN M. MATZEN

State Superintendent.

TO SCHOOL OFFICERS

(From the Wayne County Teacher) I wish to suggest to school boards that they follow the order of the business calendar found on the back of the book of legal blanks and also found in the front of the school laws.

The date of the annual meeting is the second Monday in June, June 11. This meeting is to be held in the SCHOOL HOUSE, if there be one, or at some other suitable place in the district, NOT over the phone.

Notices of the annual meeting shall be posted in three public places in the district and shall be posted 15 days before the date of meeting.

Pupils transferred to other districts are to be counted in the districts to which transferred, not in the one in which they live.

The school census must be taken within 10 days previous to the annual district meeting. Please be very careful in making out these lists this year. Be sure that every child of school age is listed. Will you please give name, EXACT date of birth and age of each person between the ages of 5 and 21? We have had quite a bit of trouble this year when checking up the attendance of pupils under the compulsory attendance law because the census list did not give date of birth or did not give it correctly.

If directors would do this carefully ONE year it would not need to be done each year except for new pupils. Members of the school boards are supposed to report and help with enforcing the compulsory attendance law but am sorry to say that quite often it is children of the members of the board who do not attend regularly. Directors' reports must be delivered to the county superintendent within 10 days after the annual district meeting.

FAILURE to make a complete and correct report may cost the district its share of the STATE APPORTIONMENT.

This report must be made under oath. (The county superintendent or moderator may administer.) So if the report is SENT in to me, please have the moderator sign it first. But would be glad to have you BRING IT IN IF YOU CAN.

The reports to come in to me are: 1. Certificate of school tax voted. 2. Annual report of director. 3. The census report. 4. Blind, Deaf, Crippled and Feeble Minded children in the district.

Be sure to fill in the names of the school officers for the new year on the back of the directors' report. Please fill in ALL items in census report.

I often need them. We are wonderfully pleased to receive full and complete reports from directors.

It will help us a great deal in supplying teachers for the county if the school boards will notify us as soon as they have promised their school to a teacher. There are cards in the legal tablet for this purpose. If you have a teacher in your school who is giving general satisfaction you had better make sure of her for next year at once. Do not hire a strange teacher without trying to find out something about her beforehand.

Transfers

Application for transfer must be made before the annual meeting. Quite often newcomers, especially if they be from other states, do not know the laws of our state and the matter is not attended to until too late. In case land is transferred from one district to another and the person so transferred removes, the land goes back to the original district.

The new tenant on the land must take out new transfer papers. This is not generally understood by school boards, the general opinion being that "once transferred, always transferred." School boards should notify all such newcomers that this is necessary and have them file the proper papers. Blanks for this purpose may be obtained from this office. To be transferred, a family must live at least a mile and a half from the school house in their own district and nearer to the school house in the adjoining district. Any one transferred to the district has a right to vote in that district on all school matters except that of issuing bonds.

The estimate of the expense for the school year should be large enough so that it will leave about $200 in the treasury to run the school for two or three months in the fall or until the taxes begin to come in for the next year.

All school houses should be provided with a lock, and the building should be kept locked during the time school is not in session.

The director shall with the concurrence of the moderator and treasurer or either of them provide the necessary appendages for the school house and keep the same in good condition and repair during the time school shall be taught in said school house. Many of the coal houses and out-buildings certainly need some repairs. Will you please see that they get it?

The treasurer shall have on file with the county clerk a bond of not less than $500. It is the duty of the school board to see that the bond is given and filed. The director and moderator cannot become surety upon the treasurer's bond for the reason that they are the proper persons to approve his bond when it is ready.

The law does not allow the county treasurer to pay out money to any district until proper bond has been filed.

When vacancies occur in school boards, the vacancies are filled by appointment or by election at a special district meeting. If by appointment, the appointee serves until the next annual meeting; if by a special election, he serves for the remainder of the unexpired term. All the qualifications necessary for a school district officer is that he be a legal voter in the school district.

To be a legal voter (man or woman) must be 21 years of age and must have resided in the district for a period of 40 days immediately preceding the meeting, and must be the owner of real estate in the district or must own personal property that was assessed in his (or her) own name at the last annual assessment or must have children of school age residing in the district and MUST be a CITIZEN.

Money raised in any district for free high school tuition is not lost if not used. If no pupil from the district attends high school, the money is later turned back into the general fund of the district.

We hope that during the summer an effort will be made to put the school buildings in good repair. Perhaps the pump also needs fixing. If more care was used in supplying good water to our schools, we would have less sickness during the school year. Take special pains to see that the toilets are in good shape. Clean their walls and remove all writing from them. Let us start the new year with everything clean and it will be an incentive for the pupils to do better work next year.

FREE HIGH SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

Pupils desiring to take advantage of the free high school attendance law must file written application with the county superintendent before the second Monday in June. These applications must be sent in every year. All who finish the eighth grade this year will be mailed application blanks which they must have filled out and properly signed and return.

All others must see to it that they secure the necessary blanks from the superintendent of the school where they are attending or from this office.

Those who attended the high school last year will not be entitled to high school privileges for the ensuing year without making new application. Application may be made at any time within the forty day limit immediately preceding the annual meeting the second Monday in June. A diploma does not entitle the holder to free high school privileges, but application must be made on blanks procurable at this office.

DIPLOMAS OF HONOR

Pupils who have recently received Diplomas of Honor for three years' perfect attendance are: Rufus Mann of district 57, Blaine Getman and Ralph Austin of district 65, Thomas Church of Carroll, Harvey Magee of district 13, Melvin Long of district 47, Pearl Brumels of district 3 and Alvin Osburn of district 43.

TRUTHFUL (American Legion Weekly.)

"Look here," exclaimed the prospective car purchaser, hurrying into the repair shop. "Beatum tells me he has run his car for three years and hasn't paid out one cent for repairs. I can't believe it."

"It's right," affirmed the mechanic sadly. "I did his repair work."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE THREE WRETCHES

"I'm as mean as mean can be," said the Headache Wretch.

"You're not as mean as I am," boasted the Toothache Beast.

"You're not any worse than I am," bragged Earache Rascal.

"I go wherever I please," said the Headache Wretch.

"I make people feel as though they just could hardly do anything and I like to make them feel that way when they have lots to do and when they just must keep up."

"Then I pound away. Oh, I'm a mean one, all right," said the Headache Wretch.

"That's true," said the Toothache Beast. "If you were not mean you wouldn't be a friend of mine. But still I am meaner than you are."

"Of course it is true that you're around more than I am. I take more holidays than you do. I go away a great deal more and in that way you are meaner as you are about so much."

"But when I'm around I just do things properly. I make people feel as though their heads were going to come off."

"They know their heads are not going to come off and it makes them most miserable to know that their heads are going to stay right along there with all the pain I'm giving them."

"They'd not want to lose their heads but they don't love their heads when I'm around."

"For I not only make their teeth ache. I make their faces and heads feel wretched all over."

"I jump about, too, and that makes people suffer so. Oh, many the child there has been who has cried that I've made them suffer so and many a person, too."

"But I don't care. That is my mean disposition. I jump about and play my games and sometimes I pretend that I've gone away for a little bit and then back I come and say in my tooth-aching fashion, 'Boo! I scared you! See I'm back again!'"

"Yes, that is what I say to them."

"I hate dentists. Dentists drive me away. They do away with all my games. —Yes, I cannot bear dentists."

"But oh, it's hard to have to go to dentists—the grown-ups and the children all dread going and that rejoices my mean tooth-aching nature."

"For they dread going, so that they put it off and put it off and then I get more chances to come around the next time I'm not busy and ready for a good time."

"Because it isn't pleasant for them to have their teeth poked at and they hate it even if it's going to drive me away for keeps or for much longer than I'd stay away otherwise."

"But some will go to dentists regularly and I don't like them. They're enemies of my ways."

"Well," said Earache Rascal, "I do my mean little stunts. I'm a friend of yours, too; I'm very apt to come around when you do."

"We all play such nice mean games together."

"Yes, we all have the same mean ways," said the Headache Wretch.

"I like to go about at night," continued Earache Rascal.

"I like to keep grown-ups and children awake. That shows how mean I am. When they're tired and want to sleep I try to keep them awake."

"That's one of my tricks, too," said the Toothache Beast.

"My favorite of all," said the Headache Wretch, "is to visit those who have to go on doing things whether I'm there or not and it makes it so dreadfully hard for them. That's what I like."

"Oh, I'm a regular wretch without a doubt."

"And we're all such friendly wretches in our mean, mean ways," said the Toothache Beast.

"But, of course, I don't know whether you can call us really and truly friendly if we're separate if any one of us wanted sympathy, or kindness or help from one of the others."

"We're only friendly because we're mean together. We wouldn't do a kind thing for anyone. Not even for each other."

And then the Headache Wretch and the Toothache Beast and the Earache Rascal, buzzed this horrid, grating, pounding song:

We're mean, we three, As mean as can be, And we like it that we are so mean it can be. We like that, we three, And that shows you that we are as mean as can be.

When They're Tired.

Butter Made on Farms.

While millions of pounds of butter are made in the large creameries, it is estimated that 90 per cent of all the butter used in the United States is made on farms, and from herds of less than 10 cows.

Successful Dairyman.

When you find a clock, a thermometer, a set of milk scales and a milk record sheet in daily use in the cow barn you are quite certain to be in the vicinity of a successful dairyman or of one who will succeed.

DAIRY FACTS

TIMOTHY HAY NOT GOOD FEED

Animal Husbandry Men at New York State College Point Out Superiority of Legumes.

If you want to increase the cost of producing milk, feed timothy hay to your dairy.

This is the way the animal husbandry men at the New York state college of agriculture are pointing out to the farmers of the state the superiority of legume hay over the non-legumes, such as timothy, for feeding.

They tell of an experiment which showed this clearly. Two lots of cows received identical rations aside from the hay feed. The groups were alternately fed either ten pounds of alfalfa hay or ten pounds of timothy hay. The result indicated that the alfalfa ration produced 17 per cent more milk.

For dairy cows, clover and alfalfa have practically the same value. Alfalfa sharpens the appetite and gives greater gains in weight, but excessive feeding without sufficient variety may overstimulate the kidneys.

Legume hays are good substitutes for concentrates in the ration. With all factors equal as to cows, feeds, nutritive ratio, and the like, milk production has been fully sustained in some tests by substituting eight pounds of alfalfa hay for eight pounds of wheat bran. Good soy bean hay can be used in the same way. With wheat bran or other concentrates at $45 a ton and alfalfa and clover at $20, what this means in cheapening rations the college thinks is apparent.

AGE FOR BREEDING HEIFERS

Safe Rule to Follow is to Wait Until Animals Are at Least Seventeen Months Old.

It is a recognized method among the best dairymen that crowding heifers to breeding season never makes them as strong, and is apt to lower their production later. Breeding them too young, say at twelve to fourteen months of age, often gives trouble at calving time; they are usually smaller and not so strong as more mature heifers, and seldom have as good records.

Heifers that are well fed at the start may be bred earlier than those which have but little feed besides pasture. A safe rule to follow is to wait for breeding until they are at least seventeen months old, and later if they are not well grown.

SOY BEANS SUPPLY PROTEIN

Provide Valuable Supplement to Ration of Corn Silage, Alfalfa Hay and Oats.

Soy beans grown on the farm give promise of providing many dairymen with a valuable protein supplement which will make them independent of high-priced protein feeds, say the dairymen at Iowa State college.

Experiments carried on with a number of cows showed that cracked soy beans proved to be worth $60 a ton for the feeding of milk cows when old-process linseed oilmeal was worth $45 per ton, and so they prove to be a valuable supplement to a home-grown ration of corn silage, alfalfa hay, cracked corn and ground oats. In other words, cracked soy beans, when fed with the home-grown ration mentioned, are worth one-third more than oilmeal.

PUREBREDS REPLACE SCRUBS

Nearly 1,000 Inferior Bulls Discarded in Contest Recently Closed in Kansas.

In the Kansas better-bull contest recently closed live stock men and agricultural college officials of the state replaced nearly 1,000 scrub bulls with purebreds. This is a part of an active purebred-sire campaign which the extension service of the state is conducting. A specialist in animal husbandry has been designated leader in the work and is co-operating with the United States Department of Agriculture in "better sires—better stock" activities.

DEHORN CALVES WHEN YOUNG

Caustic Stick Should Be Kept in Handy Place by All Dairymen—Horn—Soon Killed.

Every dairymen should keep a caustic stick handy and dehorn calves while young. When the calf is a day or two old, the horns or "buttons" are small and can be easily taken off. Applying salve around the "button" before rubbing on the caustic will protect the skin, and the tiny horn will soon disappear. One application is usually sufficient.

Butter Made on Farms.

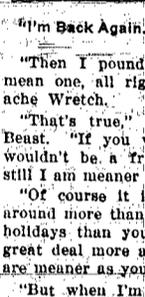

While millions of pounds of butter are made in the large creameries, it is estimated that 90 per cent of all the butter used in the United States is made on farms, and from herds of less than 10 cows.

Successful Dairyman.

"You're not as mean as I am," boasted the Toothache Beast.

"I go wherever I please," said the Headache Wretch.

"I make people feel as though they just could hardly do anything and I like to make them feel that way when they have lots to do and when they just must keep up."

EDUCATION FOR OUR NEXT GENERATION

Prizes have been offered and awarded this spring for safety methods, under direction of a highway educational board of national scope...

Washington, D. C. June 4.—A safety essay by Leon Buckley, a pupil in Junior High school, Norfolk won first state honors for Nebraska and entitles the pupil to a gold medal and check for fifteen dollars...

Seven pupils won prizes in the contest, which have been sent Dr. John M. Matzen, state superintendent of public instruction, for presentation. Essays and lessons were graded by a committee appointed by Dr. Matzen last fall.

The best lesson project intended to teach children correct behavior on the highway was by Miss Lyllis Wetmore, McCook, and her lesson will represent the state in the national competition.

Five third prizes also were given pupils, in addition to the first and second awards. Two of these went to Omaha pupils, while others were won by students in Kearney, Lincoln and Scottsbluff. These students are:

Arthur Grosman, Long school, Omaha; Duane Martin, Whittier school, Kearney; Ernest Bendekovic, St. Wenceslaus school, Omaha; Dorothy Bancroft, Lincoln, and Marion Gretzinger, Scottsbluff Junior High school, Scottsbluff.

Four hundred seventy-eight checks and medals are being mailed by the Board to elementary school pupils of the nation, winners for their respective states in the safety contest. These prizes have an aggregate value of $6,500...

The 478 pupils to receive prizes, and the fifty-four teachers—one for each state and territory—represent a select group out of more than 500,000 pupils and teachers who are believed to have contributed essays and lessons.

One pupil in each state receives a gold medal and a check for fifteen dollars, representing the first state prize. The second state award is a silver medal and a check for ten dollars, while the number of third prizes given each state is based upon the elementary school enrollment.

Pupils winning first state honors are eligible for one of the three national awards offered, and their papers will be graded by a special committee named by the U. S. Commissioner of Education. The first prize is a gold watch and a trip to Washington, in 1921 won by Stanley Newcomb, San Diego, California.

TWO WAYS (State Journal)

A representative of a Patriotic society appeared before Governor Smith of New York to beg him not to sign the repeal of the state's anti-radical laws. There was a law to compel teachers to pass an examination in "loyalty." There was another to compel private schools to pass muster under similar tests with the constituted educational authorities. The legislature voted to repeal these acts as an invasion of freedom of thought and opinion. Mr. Braman told Governor Smith that the Soviets are undermining our schools with their propaganda against God and private property. He dreaded the consequences of repealing laws under which teachers might be employed without proving their abhorrence of these ideas. He predicted, moreover, that within three months there will be a special session of congress to ward off an outbreak of reds, and that a month later Governor Smith will be compelled to call a special session of the New York legislature for the same purpose.

Thru the arguments of the patriotic representative and of the property interests which were also represented there ran a profound pessimism. Mr. Braman told Governor Smith that one bad teacher can undo all that is accomplished thru the wholesome patriotic teaching of 50,000 good ones. That is, in the struggle between Allah and Ahirman for possession of the children's minds, the odds are 50,000 to one in favor of the prince of darkness. Thus prone are the people to the evil way. The only safety, according to these lies in complete insulation of the children's minds against criticisms of the institutions under which we live.

Governor Smith pointed out that this was exactly what the old Russian regime had endeavored to do, with what results we see. And this brings us to Senator Borah, of different view. Announcing plans which he will propose to the coming congress for removing causes of certain of our internal discontents, the Idaho senator describes this as his way of combatting radicalism. If those who are excited over bolshevist propaganda would help remedy internal evils, Senator Borah says, giving the people "just government and the necessities of life at prices untaunted by monopoly and extortion," there would be no need for worry over the teachings and preachings of people five thousand miles away. In short, Borah believes that the people are sufficiently prone to good that they will not upset a system which serves them justly and well.

History shouts from all ages its confirmation of the Borah idea. Why, then, do not the Bramans and the defense societies and Detective Burns and the real estate owner's association and all these other terrified ones cheer up and do as Borah says? The only answer we can think of is that the prescription isn't as pleasant as it looks. There was the ruler who came to Jesus by night in search of eternal life, and the answer he got, in effect, Borah says to folks who grow specially scared about our American longevity: "Give up your special privileges, your combinations in restraint of trade, your conspiracies against consumers, your stock waterings, your land grabblings, your monopolies, and give the poor and every man his equal chance and America will live and thrive till the sun grows cold." And must it be recorded that they went away sorrowing for they had great riches?

A BOY'S SOLILOQUY I've got the blues somehow today, I guess it's in the weather. Cause first it rains and then it hails. Then rains and hails together. That cause today is Saturday. 'N there isn't any school. It had to go, an' rain, of course. I think it's mean an' cruel. I don't see why a feller can't have one day off for play. But when it rains my ma makes me stay in the house all day. She says I've got an awful cold. An' if I go outside 'Twill make it worse and that makes me So mad I want to cry. But what's the use o' cryin'? That won't make the sun come out. It never does a bit of good. To sit around and pout. Perhaps, if I be awful nice, An' smile, an' sing a song, When Daddy goes to town I might be 'lowed to go along. I hope it won't rain quite all day. If it does I'll fret an' fuss. An' Dad'll laugh and say that I'm An' ornery little cuss. But maybe after while the clouds will all go away somehow. An' then I can—well I'll be darned! The sun's a-shinin' now. THE VANISHING DOLLAR OF THE DADDIES

H. L. LUCKS (In Dearborn Independent) Wherein Is Disclosed a Bit of History Hitherto Kept in the Dark

A Bit of Inside War and Finance News

Senator Pittman says: "I was sitting in my office one day in the early part of 1918 when I received a telephone message from Mr. Raymond T. Baker, the Director of the Mint. He urged me to come down to the Treasury Department immediately to confer with regard to some very important matters. I, of course, went immediately to the Treasury Department. There I found Mr. Straus, Mr. Baker, and other representatives of the government, the British ambassador and other representatives of foreign countries, giving instant evidence by their demeanor of the grave crisis that occupied their thoughts.

"The British ambassador at once frankly stated the case. He informed us that the Indian Government, under British supervision, had spent years and years teaching Indians to accept paper certificates in lieu of silver rupees, which certificates were payable in silver on demand; that to facilitate this development the Indian Government had established many agencies of redemption throughout India.

"The Indians had finally become confident of the power and willingness of the Indian Government to redeem these certificates and a large surplus of silver for redemption purposes was not required. Therefore this surplus had been allowed to decrease, and there was not nearly enough silver in India to redeem the certificates if presented. The Germans, so he told us, had started a propaganda in India to the effect that the British Government could not redeem its silver certificates, and this had started a run on the Indian redemption agencies. He frankly confessed to us that in a very few days the Indian Government would be compelled to admit that it could not redeem these certificates unless a supply of silver could be obtained, with the result that there would be great disturbances in India.

"Astounding as is the fact, it was discovered that there was no surplus supply of silver in the world except the four hundred and odd millions of silver dollars lying in the Treasury of the United States to secure the redemption of the silver certificates issued against them."

Not only does this show that regardless of what the "base" is, the nations are always on "paper," but it also prompts the question: Can any one doubt but that under those circumstances Great Britain would gladly have paid a premium for the coined silver dollars? It is very strange indeed that a government so greatly in need of money, and borrowing at four and a half and five per cent, had not pressed our mints into three-shifts-a-day service, coining subsidiary coin, that would have gone into the public service, free of tax or interest, and at a handsome profit.

"To assist foreign governments at war with the enemies of the United States." We were loaning foreign governments by the billions of dollars, and they were willing to accept of our credit at par. Why then when it came to the actual money should they demand a discount of 20 cents on the dollar?

How the Thing Was Done—Quietly "To encourage the production of silver," encourage production, by demonetizing it! By melting and exporting the silver dollars in the vaults of the Treasury, for an even dollar, when the bullion value was $1.29 instead of buying in the open market. During 1917 silver bullion sold at $1.15, and soon after the enactment of this "encouragement" the price fell to the market level of 82 cents.

"When in December, 1919, additional silver was wanted for coinage of minor coins, instead of encouraging silver production by buying the bullion in the open market, they took an additional 10,000,000 standard silver dollars, then in the Treasury, and melted and used them, and the director of the mint takes credit for making a net profit of $892,068.

According to the February report, there is only $3,348,000 silver dollars to be coined, and that will be the end of dollar silver coinage, arrangements being perfected to ship them to the Orient. Then goodbye for all time to the "Dollar of the Daddies."

Our whole financial system was to be changed from one of money to one of bank ledger credits for private profit. In this case the real reason was twofold. First, to get rid of the possibility of hoarding lawful money against THE DAY when Shylock will spring his trap. Second, to get rid of that menace to their whole financial program, namely, a dollar that can go into circulation without first having to pay a tribute to banks and a perpetual annual tax. Senator Pittman said of the passage of the bill in the Senate: "There were few speeches made on the subject in the Senate, and those speeches carefully guarded the prime purposes of the bill, as publicity would have but increased the danger. Each Senator, however, was personally informed with regard to all the facts. Every now and then some Senator would enter the Chamber who by some chance had not received information with regard to the bill. He would rise to his feet for the purpose of asking questions, but his coat tail would be tugged by some Senator and he would silently and in amazement collapse in his seat.

"The bill passed the Senate with only two dissenting votes. It went to the House of Representatives. It was referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency of that body. No bill of such far-reaching importance was ever so peculiarly passed or so rapidly acted upon."

A UNIVERSAL PREJUDICE (Toledo Blade)

Upon a weathered curb in a Colorado graveyard the curious stranger of a generation ago could make out these lines:

"Here Keno Bill lies at rest— A gentleman of parts. He held four acres to his breast, But two of them was hearts." In a Pennsylvania community the other day, four acres were held against four queens. The betting was all that you would expect it to be. At the call, the owner of the queens sighed and pushed back his chair. Then his eye lit on a card lying by his opponent's chair. The card was a fifth ace. Shooting began on the instant, and the holder of the four aces wafted away into the hearth while yet his winnings lay scattered before him.

The lesson seems to be that there is no sectional line when it comes to prejudices against superfluous or superabundant aces. They spell trouble in the east of today no less than they were the precursors to trouble in that west which was wild and woolly and opposed to being combed below the knees. Cautious citizens must ever be superstitious of the fate which brings them two aces of the same denomination or of aces exceeding the lawful four. It does not matter where it happens. The sequel is dramatic and unhealthy.

HARDING AND HIS PARTY (Louisville Courier-Journal)

"What do you want?" cried the postmaster-general to his fellow-partisans, after summarizing, from his own viewpoint, the Harding administration's "record of monumental achievements." The question seems somewhat belated. Its answer was in the air two years ago. Since that time it has become clearly audible. It serves no good purpose for Mr. New, or any other administration spokesman, to explain that though the elephant is admittedly in bad shape, the donkey's condition is nothing to boast of. Popular electorates have an incorrigible habit of saying: "We want a change. It can't be worse than it is. It may be better."

Does this Mansfield speech mean that the administration is resolved to go to the country in 1924 on the platform: "The Old Guard dies, but never surrenders?" That was the platform adopted by remnants of the McKinley regime which attempted, under Mark Hanna's leadership, to block Theodore Roosevelt's pathway. It was the policy pursued by old guardsters in 1912, under Murray Crane's leadership, when William Howard Taft was renominated. The country's recollection is that in each case this policy was not altogether successful. Experience is a hard school. Whether republican or democratic the political bourbon persists in learning nothing and in forgetting nothing.

The postmaster-general's speech evidences the malady that has long afflicted the G. O. P. That malady was perfectly diagnosed ten years ago when a man, who was at that time president of the United States, said a bit compassionately one day, "The trouble with the republican party is that it hasn't had a new idea in the last fifty years."

GIVE HIM CREDIT (American Legion Weekly)

"Stab between the ribs," bellowed the drill sergeant to the stout and clumsy rookie, "and remember, always, always keep to the right of your enemy." "That's all right," the rookie replied, mopping his forehead. "Yeah, that's all right with you standin' here and the dummy swingin' there, but don't you figger my enemy's got some sense, too?"

RETRIBUTION (Washington Star)

"Did she marry Mr. Wildotes to reform him?" "No," replied Miss Cayenne. "to punish him."
