J. H. MOHR DIES AT SIOUX CITY HOSPITAL

The body of J. H. Mohr was brought to Wayne Sunday morning, he having passed away in a Sioux City hospital where he had been taken a few days before in hope of some relief—some aid in prolonging life; but his case was incurable, and while it was hoped that he might undergo an operation, he was not in condition to withstand the shock, and death came Saturday. The body was met at Wayne by a delegation from Laurel, near which place he lived, in the north edge of this county.

A funeral service from the home Monday afternoon, and at a church at Laurel, where burial was had, was largely attended, and was a Masonic funeral. A large number of Wayne men attended, friends and former neighbors. He had many friends in all parts of the county and in Cedar county as well, for he had lived many years on his farm of a half section, and was a good neighbor, and an energetic, hardworking farmer.

He was a little past fifty years of age, and leaves to mourn his death a wife and twelve sons and daughters.

THE MISSES OMAN IN JOINT RECITAL

At the Methodist church Friday evening there will be a rare treat for music lovers, when Misses Ferne and Frances Oman, assisted by Mrs. Maude Brittain Miller at the piano, will present a classey program. WELLS-BALCOM WEDDING

Mrs. L. A. Fanske and children Dick and Marjorie went to Sioux City last week Thursday to visit her father, sister and brothers, driving over with them after they had been here for a short stay. Mr. Fanske went over and spent Sunday with the family.

The occasion of the visit was to attend the wedding of her sister, Miss Marjorie O. Wells and Mr. Leonard C. Balcom, which took place at 6 o'clock Monday morning, June 25, 1923 at the First Methodist church of Sioux City, the pastor officiating.

Miss Wells has frequently visited her sister here, and has quite a circle of Wayne friends who will wish her a happy life, for she is a most excellent and deserving young lady. The groom is an energetic young business man of Sioux City. They are spending their honeymoon at Spirit Lake.

KIWANIS ASKED TO BOOST WITH FAIR ORGANIZATION

At the regular Monday noonday meeting of the Kiwanis members in matter of co-operating with the fair association for the coming fall meet was under discussion. A committee was placed in charge of the matter, and it is naturally supposed that results will follow which will be helpful to the community interests.

FAIR WORK PROGRESSING Secretary Wm. VonSegger tells us that the plans and specifications for some of the proposed buildings are in the hands of contractors, and that bids are expected to be coming in shortly. This is a work in which all should participate to the extent of their ability in every way.

BIG GOLF TEAM MATCH

The tournament committee of the Wayne country club has arranged a team match to take place at once between two teams captained by Jas. J. Ahern and Frank S. Morgan, the losing team in the match will banquet the winning team next Monday evening at the club grounds.

The match will be 18 holes and the scoring system used will be a modified Nassau system of scoring. Each player will score a point for his team if he has won more holes on each nine than his opponent. He will also score a point for his team if he plays the 18 holes in less strokes than his opponent. Thus it is possible for a player to win three points for his team.

Play will start at once and all matches must be finished before Monday evening.

Look over the list Mr. Golfer, find out whom you are to play and arrange the match with your opponent. If for any reason your opponent cannot play, report the fact to your captain and he will arrange for another opponent if possible.

This tournament is a fore-runner of a series of week-end tournaments that will take place each week end until the close of the season. The handicapping committee will begin with these score-cards to give you proper handicaps and each golfer can help the committee by leaving his cards each time he plays in the special box for this purpose that is being placed on the caddy-house.

In this contest each player will keep his opponents score. When you have finished the match copy the score hole by hole on the big cards that will be placed in the caddy house. Also leave your score cards in the box that is being placed for this purpose.

If you are a golfer and do not find your name in this team match report the fact to one of the captains and he will arrange a match for you. The complete list of all who play golf is more or less incomplete and the two captains have had to resort to their memories chiefly in getting out these teams:

The golf course is now in good condition for play and all of the permanent greens have been opened for play so get out and get your man or you may have to buy his feed.

This is the line-up of the two teams:

FRANK NOELLE COMES BACK FROM FADERLAND

Twelve years ago this summer, Frank Noelle, who has then been a resident of this county for 21 years, left Wayne to visit Germany, and unite his fortune with that of the wife of his choice, and make an extended visit there. He rented his farm for a term, and planned to stay until it pleased him to return. Before that time came, the war cloud came suddenly, and he being a German by birth, and by marriage, could not leave, for while he had taken his papers to become a citizen of this country, he had again become a citizen of Germany before marriage.

The match will be 18 holes and the scoring system used will be a modified Nassau system of scoring. Each player will score a point for his team if he has won more holes on each nine than his opponent. He will also score a point for his team if he plays the 18 holes in less strokes than his opponent. Thus it is possible for a player to win three points for his team.

GOVERNOR PREDICTS O'BRIEN WILL RESIGN

Lincoln, Nebraska, June 26—Governor Bryan said yesterday he had reason to believe that W. J. O'Brien, for thirty years superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Gretna, would tender his resignation within a few days. July 1 was given as the date for his resignation. The governor said he based his prediction on a recent conference he had with the superintendent. There has been some friction, the governor said for considerable time, because of Mr. O'Brien disinclination to become subordinate to the state game warden. He regarded the fish hatchery as an independent branch. The governor complimented Mr. O'Brien as being an excellent superintendent.

IN NEW QUARTERS

Business is going on just the same, except in our new store room, just south of the Crystal, says Mrs. Jeffries of the new Style Store, when she opened her room for patronage this morning. The move was so planned that the stock was transferred from the old to new quarters almost without loss to any time, when they could not serve their patrons with anything they needed, and today we venture to say that you may be able to have your needs supplied promptly. At any rate, the door is open for you, and the new goods that have been coming from week to week, are ready for inspection. At the new store.—adv.

LOVE BROTHERS TO NEW ROOM

Love Brothers are fitting the room just vacated by Mrs. Jeffries for their barber business, and will add a third chair and a shave equipment. Herald Wolf is putting the shoe shine outfit, and Orle Birdsell from Hartington is here to man the extra chair.

They plan to move to new quarters in time to open the shop there Monday morning.

TRACY KOHL SPEAKS AT COLLEGE MONDAY EVENING

Perhaps there will be no more interesting number on the entire college summer course of lectures and amusements than will be that of Tracy Kohl of this city is to tell of Government Work in Russia, in which he had a part under Hoover's relief work, spending two or more years there. To Wayne people this number will have a double interest, first because of the great service performed, and next because of the fact that the speaker is one so well known to most of the citizens.

Mr. Kohl doubtless has a fund of most interesting facts in regard to Russia, her people, and conditions there that all want to know. Russia is a great country, and it is possible that most of the conflicting stories one reads of conditions there may be true; but all cannot be true if applied to any one part of Russia, nor all be applied to conditions there as whole, it would seem.

WAYNE WOMAN'S CLUB MEET

The Wayne Womans Club met the Community House June 22, after the business meeting the following program was given:

Miss Jessie Jenks of the Normal gave the first talk.

The following is an excerpt from a talk that was given Friday afternoon June 22, at the Wayne Woman's Club on the subject of summer reading, by Miss Jessie Jenks. The following titles are not all new ones, but are ones which may interest different readers. All of the books may be obtained at the Wayne Public Library.

The books are divided into three classes (1) books purely for pleasure, (2) books of a more serious nature for those who do not have time to read them during the other part of the year, (3) books of travel.

In the first class are "Tin soldier," "Contrary Mary," "Mistress Anne," and "Dim Lantern" by Temple Bailey; "Enchanted April" by the author of "Elizabeth in Her German Garden."

"Mr. Waddington of Wyck" by May Sinclair; "Poor Relations" by Captain McKenzie; "Stella Dallas" by Prouty; "The Man Who Lived in a Shoe," by Forman; "Smiles" and "Smiling Pass" by Robinson, both delightful stories of a southern girl in Kentucky; "River's End," "Country Beyond," "Flaming Forest" and others by James Oliver Curwood; "Fair Harbor," "Shavings," "Portygee" by Joseph Lincoln; "Dust flower" by Basil King; "Certain People of Importance" and others by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

In the second class, books of a more serious nature, are: "Maria Chapdelaine," by Hémos; "Ponjola" by Cynthia Stockley; "Danger" by Poole; some mystery stories, "Red Redmaynes" and "Gray room" by Phillipotts; "Ravensdene Court" by J. S. Fletcher; "Conquest of Fear" by Basil King; "Story of Mankind" by Vanlo; on; "Cathedral" by Walpole, and "Challenge" by V. Sackville-West.

In the third group are some books of travel that are extremely interesting when one can not go to the lakes, mountains, ocean or distant country. They are also very good to read for those interested in these places. Among them are: "In the Wilds of South America," "New Mexico, the Land of Delight-Makers," "Virgin Islands of the United States of America," "Cuba, and Porto Rico," "Vagabonding down the Andes," "Tramping with a poet in the Rockies," "Our national parks," and "White Shadows in the South Seas."

A talk on books of the Wayne library by Mrs. Blair, she spoke of the many good books for reading. Especially the reference books and magazines. Both talks were interesting and instructive. Then she told of the new index poster telling where to find the different kind of books.

BURNED BY CHEMICALS

Ellis Powers suffered some serious burns the first of the week. He was preparing a can of liquid with which to clean pipes, and when he added water to the powdered ingredient, it boiled up onto his arms, causing him to drop the can, and some of the contents splashed into his face making quite a serious burn.

The most painful being about the eyes. He was taken to the Wayne hospital for treatment.

Upon examination it was learned that no permanent injury was likely to follow the accident, and he is again at his usual work after a day or two for repairs.

The undertakers of Hartington evidently must be real go-getters. One of the papers tells that a really live man was reported dead the week before, because he had been ill for a time, and for some reason the undertaker had been at the home, and was soon going away.

The Spring Running Meet held at Ak-Sar-Ben Field, June 2-3, was the most successful since the races were established according to Charles L. Trimble, secretary. More than 500 horses were entered and the attendance was larger than ever, but Spark Plug was not there.

Geo. Hofeldt went to Chicago Monday afternoon with two cars of fat cattle of his feeding. He plans to be absent until the last of the week, for when at Chicago he is home. He grew to manhood practically in that city, and enjoys a visit there now and then.

Mrs. P. G. James went to Sioux City Friday with her daughter, Miss Irma, and they visited the George Fisher home during the day, and at evening Miss James left for the east, going to take a term of summer school work at Harvard. Miss James will be all the week making the trip to the college town, according to plans, for it was her purpose to go by the Great Lakes from Chicago. Mrs. James returned home Friday evening.

More than 14,000 canaries were imported into the United States during April under permits of biology of the department of agriculture. Is not that discriminating against the infant bird industry or violating the immigration laws? Why not put a protective tariff on canaries, or else let sugar come in free—both are tropical productions, but may be cultivated in this country if given protection enough. One is a necessity—the other a luxury.

GOVERNOR BRYAN INITIATED AT TO INDIAN TRIBE

The first report we hear of the editorial meeting at Niobrara last week tells us that our Governor was there, and won a new title:

"Permit us to introduce Walking Buffalo, yeapt Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska. The new name was acquired in a baptismal ceremony conducted on the Santee Sioux Indian reservation near Niobrara Saturday evening. The governor left Friday afternoon to meet with the Northeast Nebraska editorial association, which he addressed, and afterwards was invited to visit the reservation.

There the governor was duly baptitized in Indian fashion, which means by a ceremonial and dance, as Walking Buffalo. This is the name of the chief of the Santee Sioux, and was bestowed as an honor upon the big white chief of the state. He was presented with a chamois skin bag, beautifully beaded, which he was informed was to be handed over to his daughter, Mary Louise. Later the Poncas, whose reservation adjoins, made him a present of a pair of black velvet cuffs, embroidered with beads.

The presentation and the bestowal of the name were at the hands of an aged chief. White Shirt, who expressed his pride in being an American, expressed his feeling of gratitude for the care taken of the Indians by the federal government, and at the end pulled out a large American flag. The governor responded, but not in Sioux. He said that the Indians had him "buffaloed" for a time, but he was glad to know the good feeling that characterized their relations with their white neighbors and wanted them to know that the state felt a wide interest in them.

The Indians gave a war dance in full regalia, squaws and bucks taking part. These were mostly of the older persons, the younger persons being dressed in civilian garb and taking no part in the dance. On the way up the governor dropped in at Stromsburg to visit C. H. Morrill.

REORGANIZING HIGHWAY FORCES

The state and federal aid road work in this county having been practically finished so far as the new construction work is concerned, headquarters of the northeast division of the state highways was removed from Wayne to Fremont last Monday, when the entire department was reorganized by State Engineer Cochran, under whose plan four division engineers were retained at a saving to the state of more than $12,000 annually, says the Cedar County News.

Under the new districting plan, the first division, with headquarters at Lincoln, will include eighteen counties and be in charge of R. O. Green. The territory will extend from the Missouri river, on the east, to the west line of Hamilton, Clay and Nuckolls and take in everything south of the Platte river except Saunders, Butler and Polk counties. It will also embrace Sarpy county north of the Platte.

Division No. 2, fourteen counties, lying to the north of No. 1, will be under M. F. Black, with headquarters at Fremont. It will extend from the Missouri river to the west line of Boone, Nance and Merrick counties. Its northern boundary follows the north line of Burt, Cuming, Stanton, Platte and Boone.

The third district, which includes all territory between No. 2 and the South Dakota state line, from the Missouri river to the west line of Cherry county, will be under A. C. Tilley at Norfolk. There will be fifteen counties in this division.

Other districts in the western part of the state underwent reorganization where the changing fields of labor made it seem advisable.

Of the old force of division engineers, C. E. Wright of Hastings, W. D. Kimmel of Norfolk, and W. T. Hole of Neligh retire from the service. Mr. Lobdell goes from York to McCook, Mr. Tilley from North Platte to McCook, and Mr. Black from Wayne to Fremont.

The McCook position was formerly held by M. C. Noble, who has recently been appointed as chief of the state bureau of roads and bridges.

THE WORLD COURT

(State Journal)

The president's speech on the world court breaks no heads and imperils no peace, political or otherwise. It brings us to a point where no rational mind with no politics to play with much worry one way or the other over the issue. The president announces that he will not try, on behalf of the court, to coerce the senate and will make no demand on the people. Why should he?

The world court was set up by the league of nations. The president bows to the will of the irreconcilables in his party by agreeing that America shall adhere to the court only on condition that it disown its parent. The members of the internations Hague tribunal make nominations for judges of the court. The judge elected must then be approved by a majority of the large nations as represented in the league council, and then by a majority of the small nations as represented in the league assembly. Under this method, one American, John Bassett Moore, has been elected a judge.

The president agrees to make America's adherence to the court conditional on the league's having nothing to do with selecting the judges.

This should disarm the opposition of the irreconcilables. It was perhaps understood in advance that it would have this effect. An irreconcilable can see that a vote for American adherence under those conditions would probably have no effect. The nearly fifty nations already committed to the court will hardly care to alter its fundamental provisions merely to fit the convenience of a few American politicians. Or if the rest of the world should come to our terms, the league of nations, the red rag to the irreconcilable bull, would be out of it.

The president remembers clearly that he personally and the republican party in general were committed in the 1920 campaign to an "association of nations" to guard against a return of the calamities of 1914-18. The irreconcilables wish to flout those pledges. With strange frontier they have sought to turn a victorious campaign for an "association of nations" into a mutual her-American isol-

Farm Bargains!

A Wise Investor Buys on the Low Market

You will concede that the market on land is low now. We are offering farms for sale at practically 50% of what they were sold for during the period of inflation.

Following Are a Few Wayne County Farms

160 acres, improved, 5½ miles from town, ½ mile from highway, good set of tenant improvements consisting of six room house, barn with room for 10 horses on one side and cattle on the other with three large bins and plenty of hay room; granary, garage, 2 chicken houses, crib, hog shed, good well, land is rolling but clear and in good shape, has good pasture with living water, about 125 acres farm land and 35 acres pasture. Price $115.00 per acre.

160 acres, well improved, six miles from Wayne, large ten room house, horse barn, cattle barn, hog house, cribs, sheds, tenant house, water works, fine pasture and wild hay, land lays good but needs building up, 10 acres alfalfa, price $175.00 an acre.

80 acres, seven miles from Wayne, this is an ideal farm home and one of the very best improved places in Wayne county, the land lays well and is in best of condition. The house is as fine as any city home and has every modern convenience, there is also a very good old house on this place, and plenty of barns and out buildings. This is the place for some one that wants a real home and is willing to pay about what the improvements are worth and get the land for the price of improvements. Price $275.00 an acre. This place must be seen for it is a big bargain at that price.

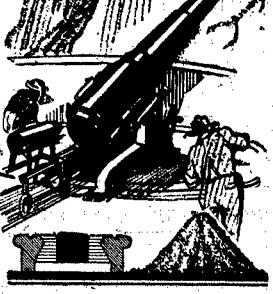

160 acres five miles due North of Wayne. This place would have sold for $400 an acre four years ago. It is an extra good quarter and has fine pasture and hay. The land lays well and is in a highly productive state of cultivation. The improvements are fairly good. Extra good terms on this piece. Price $200.00 an acre.

We have a good list of other lands and are glad to show these farms anytime.

Clean, complete combustion and lots of power are standard results from BALANCED gasoline

Like the proportioned charge of a modern cannon

An efficient detonator and a properly proportioned starting and propelling charge determine the accuracy, range and fighting efficiency of a modern big gun. Similarly, a proper proportion of instant ignition elements and some slightly slower burning elements are necessary in gasoline to assure a quick starting motor and the development of pressure to the end of the power stroke—outstanding characteristics of balanced gasoline.

USERS know they can depend on Red Crown Gasoline for clean combustion, and plenty of power. Quite as important—Red Crown assures a lively, quick-starting motor, liberal mileage per gallon and is always uniform—an array of advantages that only balanced gasoline can give.

Red Crown Gasoline is balanced gasoline—manufactured for and perfectly suited to every requirement of a modern motor.

Elaborate specifications rigidly adhered to, improved manufacturing processes and careful tests guarantee strict uniformity and every desirable quality gasoline should have.

An abundance of instant ignition elements and a proper proportion of slightly slower burning elements insure both quick starts and the development of full power. Balanced gasoline provides a lean, economical, clean-burning mixture.

At filling time drive in to the nearest Red Crown Service Station. You are assured prompt, courteous service and accurate measure of high quality gasoline and motor oils that provide protective lubrication.

The president has sought, thru his efforts to join the world court in some measure to keep faith with his and his party's 1920 promises.

There is a principle at stake, however, even tho but weakly enforced. The world court makes a beginning at settling international issues on a basis of international law.

Recognition of the principle is something, even tho the proposed practice as now whittled down be exceeding small. As the president has finally compromised the matter, the world court proposal is still worth adopting albeit, as the president tacitly suggests in his own case, not worth fighting for.

Senator King a democrat said that Harding killed his world court project in his St. Louis speech, at least so far as democratic support might be needed to put it across.

One of the things up in the air these days and nights is a bunch of army aviators who are trying to do a four-day, non-stop flight. If they are not up in the air, they have failed in their undertaking.

Capt. Donald B. McMillan, who is starting to fly to and over the north pole has sent wireless back telling how far he had gotten already. Of course he has not taken to the air yet, and his ship was out from Booth Bay Harbor, and the wave was picked up at Marion, Massachusetts.

Uncle Sam seems to be kept pretty busy these days taking in the booze from ships coming to our ports with the forbidden juice. Our prohibition is making itself felt outside of America. President Harding, in one of his speeches is reported to have declared for strict enforcement. That is the proper thing. Then, if that is not good, repeal the law. If there is to be respect for law it must be enforced.

The Bradstreet report tells that July price level is to average a little lower than June, and in food stores averages about 2 percent less than June of last year. There has been a slight increase in a dozen items, mostly farm products, and twenty-five declined a little and forty-four remain unchanged from the week before. Coal continues to move at prices much the same as in 1918. The automobile industry is not buying as much steel as a short time ago, or some other year, at both Omaha and Sioux City the wholesale trade is reported only fair and a little quiet.

Our president is out on a trip to tell the voters where he stands and for what, and as he is not or was not the particular brand of president we voted for, we might be a little prejudiced if we tried to tell just what we think of his talks and his acts as president, so we have been watching to tell our readers what some of the editors of his own party seem to think of his speeches and his attitude.

Read elsewhere what the State Journal says, and who is there to impeach the republicanism of the leading republican paper of the state. Then we also give some comment on his declaration of a few weeks ago as to drafting money as well as men, if ever we come to war again. We practically all agree with that sentiment, and hope that when congress convenes this fall the president urges the enactment of such law. It will not do to wait until war comes. Make the law now, so that all may know what the government will require of them if war come. Some know that it will take their bays and every man should know that it will take of his wealth as much as will be necessary to win the war and not create a great interest and debt burden for the fellows who did the fighting to pay after they return from the front—or perchance they return. Most of our bonuses are a bigger bonus to the wealth that slacked during the war than to the young men who went out to win it. The men who did the fighting at the front should not be taxed to pay themselves a bonus, or to pay wealth interest on the what they are putting into the bonus.

Governor Preus of Minnesota, candidate for the national senate, attending the wheat conference insists that farmers be permitted an income comparable to that of city people. Thus begins the competition for farmer votes on which next month's senatorial election is to turn. Governor Preus is a Minneapolis lawyer of Norwegian parentage. Magnus Johnson, his farmer-labor opponent, came to America from Sweden thirty-two years ago. He was a farm hand, then a lumber-jack, and for twenty-four years has been a farmer. Johnson and Preus were antagonists last November as candidates for governor. Preus won by 14,000 votes while his senatorial running mate, Senator Kellogg, was losing to the farmer-labor candidate. The price of wheat is lower now than last November and going daily lower. Each drop in price wears at that November margin of 14,000 votes. Unless Governor Preus and the wheat conference should perform the miracle of reversing the wheat market, there is an evident possibility of a second farmer-labor senator from Minnesota.—State Journal.

FARMERS IN TOILS OF ISOLATION

(New York World.)

Organized restricting of acreage and organized marketing seems to be the favorite remedies for low prices with the National Wheat conference meeting in Chicago.

Since the country continues to produce wheat by about 200,000,000 bushels a year above what it consumes, the more obvious as well as the more practicable remedy would seem to be larger markets abroad for American wheat. But the conference has small ear for any such proposal, and why shouldn't it? The party in power at Washington through its high tariff has chosen a policy of restricting foreign means of paying for it in foreign products other than gold, of which we already have practically a world monopoly. The wheat-farmers have generously traded this endorsement for a tariff of 30 cents a bushel on wheat, which is worthless to them unless they can cut production by 200,000,000 bushels yearly.

Therefore, they must cut production and cut it heavily, if they are to collect from consumers the extra 30 cents supposed to have been accorded them by the Fordney-McCumber tariff. But when they come to apply this remedy they may find the experience of the cotton-growers to be theirs. Everybody will plant more acreage in the expectation that everybody else will plant less.

Before the American wheat-farmer is many years older he is likely to have learned along with all other American producers that the commercial isolation of this country from the rest of the world has become no more tenable in the march of events than its political isolation.

Facts Relating to Railroads

RAILWAYS—A NATIONAL ASSET

The United States is the wealthiest nation in the world today. It contains 5 4-10% of the land area of the world; 6 1-10% of the population of the world, and 38% of the railway of the world, or 259,555 miles.

The railways are one of the nation's greatest assets. They provide transportation which is the basis of commerce and the means whereby exchange of products is accomplished. For each person in the United States in 1900 there was transported 8 tons of freight. For each person in 1920, 12 tons. The increasing cost of living is really the cost of better living.

VALUE OF TRANSPORTATION: Transportation is the measure of civilization. History confirms this statement. Production without transportation must be very limited, and if so limited would have greatly retarded the progress of civilization. Transportation increases the worth of all property it serves. Property values are largely determined by the ability of the property to produce and the owner's opportunity to dispose of the products at a profit. The value of all farm property in the United States increased from twenty-one and one-half billion dollars in the year 1900 to seventy-eight billion dollars in the year 1920, add the value of all farm products, at the same time, increased from five billion dollars to twenty billion dollars. This is due in part to adequate transportation.

INCREASE OF MANUFACTURES: Production is the measures of human efficiency and human progress. There is no limit to the amount of wealth that may be created except the limitation of production. The purchasing power of an individual community or nation lies in its power of production. Manufactured products in the United States increased from a value of eleven and one-half billion dollars in the year 1899 to sixty-two and one-half billion dollars in the year 1919. Transportation contributed substantially to this development by affording an easy method of exchange.

PROGRESS OF UNITED STATES: The total wealth of the United States has increased in the twenty-year period, from 1900 to 1920, two hundred ninety-five per cent. During the same period, farm values in the United States increased two hundred eighty-one per cent. Investments in manufacturing industries have increased three hundred ninety-eight per cent. Investments in railroads in the United States have increased ninety-three per cent. The expanding commerce of the country requires an expansion of railroad facilities and equipment. It is clear that railroad development has not kept pace with the growing commerce. A new era of expansion is necessary.

ADEQUATE RETURNS: The railroads in the United States increased their investment in locomotives, cars, yards, terminals and other railway property, in the ten years ended December 31, 1922, by more than five billion four hundred million dollars. The income they received in the year 1922 was eleven million dollars less than in the year 1913, being smaller income from a substantially increased investment. Investors cannot prudently place their money in an industry which does not yield a reasonable rate of interest. An expanding commerce requires continued investment. It is clear that investments in railroads in the United States must be made more attractive and secure.

REASONABLE RATES: Railroad rates to be just and reasonable must, among other things, be sufficient to meet the cost of wages, materials and fuel, taxes and the interest on capital. No one expects a person to sell his wares at less than cost, and all agree to a fair margin for the use of capital. The railroads should receive the same consideration, in order to render efficient service which is always our purpose.

Mrs. E. Ferrel, who was here visiting, returned to Sioux City Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Trautwein of Winside was a Wayne visitor between trains Wednesday morning.

Miss Lenore Fitzsimmons from Tekamah spent Saturday and Sunday here with her friend, Miss Winnifred Main, returning home Monday morning.

Miss Mammie Wallace, who teaches in the Omaha city schools, and has for several years, came home Tuesday evening for the summer vacation with her brothers and sister on the farm southwest of Wayne.

Fortner wants your eggs—adv.
Mrs. C. B. Davie was a Norfolk visitor between trains Wednesday morning on business.

Mildred Wright left Wednesday afternoon for Herman where she will spend a month visiting with her aunt. She will also visit Omaha.

It was a very nice shower Wednesday afternoon—one that would have been of great value some seasons and more appreciated than them.

Mrs. A. G. McLean, who spent a few days visiting with her daughter Mrs. A. L. Swan returned to her home at Oconto, Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peters, Mr. and Mrs. George Peters and Florence Neiman went to Omaha Wednesday afternoon where they will spend a couple of days.

Rev. Frame from Villisca, Iowa, who is traveling in this part of Nebraska was at Wayne Wednesday and stopped off to visit his old friend, J. B. Wallace, going west in the evening.

Neligh will soon have a municipal swimming pool, if recent plans materialize. However, before the pool, which it is planned to construct in Riverside park, can be built the Elk-horn river will have to be put back in its old channel in order to eliminate stagnant water that now surrounds the west part of the park.

John James has sold the new house he is just about completing in the west part of the city to Fred Bichel, who with his wife are planning to leave the old farm, southeast of Wayne, which they are not able to work, and spend their remaining days where there will not be the temptation to work beyond their strength.

Elwin Staarn from near Carroll left Tuesday for Lake View, Michigan, where he has three sisters living, with whom he plans to spend the summer, and possibly remain there indefinitely. His father came as far as Wayne with the lad, who is but about eight years of age, we would guess. Quite a trip for a lad to make alone.

Among those who spent Sunday at Homewood park at Wyo were: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ringland and daughter Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Larson, Edith Huse, Peggy Milford, Helen Feller, Marion Surber, Lowell Henry, Charles Senter, Leslie Rundell, Henry Ley, Raife Hufferd, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sund, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kemp and baby, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simminon.

Mrs. E. N. Laham was a passenger to Norfolk this morning.

Mrs. H. B. Jones and Mrs. H. J. Felber went to Sioux City Wednesday and spent the day there.

Miss Daisy Fox went to Winside Wednesday morning to attend the Sunday school convention.

Mrs. Wm. Schrumpf went to Winside Wednesday morning to visit for a couple of days with relatives.

Miss Stella Arnold left Tuesday morning for Emerson where she spent a couple of days visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Auken left Wednesday afternoon for Sioux City. Mrs. Auken will go to the hospital, believing that she has an attack of appendicitis.

Gretchen Smith, who spent about a week visiting at the home of her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. John Harrington, left Saturday morning for her home at Tekamah.

C. Wells and his son Lee drove over from Sioux City Wednesday morning, and are visiting for a short time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fanske, his daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Evans of Carroll were called to Red Oak, Iowa, this morning by word of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Evans, who is past 96 years of age.

Chautauqua sentiment is developing as the time for the annual meet draws nearer. The meet is to come in less than a month, and the best of talent obtainable is coming to entertain us.

John Meister was at Dallas, South Dakota the last of the week, going up to properly file his claim for the bonus paid by that state to its soldiers, and John entered the service from that state. The Iowa soldier lads are also getting their pay these days.

Ora Martin came from Ponca the last of last week, where he has been working, and plans to leave here Friday afternoon for Louisville, Kentucky, with a view of remaining in that vicinity if he finds work plenty, and likes it there. Hope he enjoys it in the sunny south land.

Irvin Sala and his sister, Mrs. Emma Hayes came from Oakdale Wednesday to visit at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sala, for Mr. Sala was recently united in marriage to Miss Eva Hintz of Coleridge. Mrs. Hayes brought Mr. Sala's little son to make his home here. She reports that her father, E. Q. Sala is in very good health for an old soldier who was feeding on "hardtack" in the days of '61-'5.

Land seekers are beginning again to ask prices on the good farms in this vicinity and to anticipate their questioning in advance—the Kohl Land and Investment Company are quoting a few prices, showing the prices now asked on several farms in this vicinity, so that prospective buyers may know about how much of the peak has been knocked off. The opinion is gaining that the bottom has been hit, and that it would be expensive to wait much longer if a farm is wanted in this good country.

The latest Nebraska figures in the Colliers' presidential vote show 1,220 for Ford out of a total of 2,730 votes cast. The next highest is Harding with 374 votes. Then the other possibilities string along in this fashion: Cox 264, McAdoo 202, Hughes 174, Johnson 155, Hoover 113, Wood 61, Davis 56, Borah 53, LaFollette 24, Al Smith 23, Underwood 11. In the total of 193,805 votes cast in the United States Ford has 64,948 against 128,857 for all other republican and democratic possibilities. The poll has been closed but the final figures will not be tabulated for two weeks.

Jas. Evans of Dallas, South Dakota was a caller recently. Mr. Evans was one of the lucky ones in the Rosebud drawing; his number being the second one out of the box, so if he failed to get a good place it was a fault of judgment rather than opportunity. He left Wayne county twelve years ago, and notes many changes in that time. Mr. Evans thinks they have a country there that will compare favorably with this, and he is looking forward for great development. He came to this county thirty-three years ago, and made his home for 21 years with Mr. and Mrs. Evan Jones, and it was a summons to attend her funeral that called him back to Carroll, and Wayne county.

Miss Addie Stambaugh was hostess at a very happy meeting of the Bible Study Circle Tuesday afternoon at the home three miles northwest of Wayne. The character studies in the New Testament were begun. John the Baptist being considered with profit and blessing. Mrs. E. B. Young leading the study. A letter was read from Mrs. Martin Ekval depicting the present condition of China with bandits and robbers looting and carrying off prisoners which they hold for ransom. She says a train was held up and fifteen passengers taken from it and carried away by robber bands before their eyes.

Prayer was offered for China and other needy fields and for a revival for the world. Next meeting with Mrs. Dora Benshoof.

Rev. Frame from Villisca, Iowa, who is traveling in this part of Nebraska was at Wayne Wednesday and stopped off to visit his old friend, J. B. Wallace, going west in the evening.

Miss Daisy Fox went to Winside Wednesday morning to attend the Sunday school convention.

Mrs. Wm. Schrumpf went to Winside Wednesday morning to visit for a couple of days with relatives.

Miss Stella Arnold left Tuesday morning for Emerson where she spent a couple of days visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Auken left Wednesday afternoon for Sioux City. Mrs. Auken will go to the hospital, believing that she has an attack of appendicitis.

Gretchen Smith, who spent about a week visiting at the home of her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. John Harrington, left Saturday morning for her home at Tekamah.

C. Wells and his son Lee drove over from Sioux City Wednesday morning, and are visiting for a short time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fanske, his daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Evans of Carroll were called to Red Oak, Iowa, this morning by word of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Evans, who is past 96 years of age.

Chautauqua sentiment is developing as the time for the annual meet draws nearer. The meet is to come in less than a month, and the best of talent obtainable is coming to entertain us.

John Meister was at Dallas, South Dakota the last of the week, going up to properly file his claim for the bonus paid by that state to its soldiers, and John entered the service from that state. The Iowa soldier lads are also getting their pay these days.

Ora Martin came from Ponca the last of last week, where he has been working, and plans to leave here Friday afternoon for Louisville, Kentucky, with a view of remaining in that vicinity if he finds work plenty, and likes it there. Hope he enjoys it in the sunny south land.

Irvin Sala and his sister, Mrs. Emma Hayes came from Oakdale Wednesday to visit at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sala, for Mr. Sala was recently united in marriage to Miss Eva Hintz of Coleridge. Mrs. Hayes brought Mr. Sala's little son to make his home here. She reports that her father, E. Q. Sala is in very good health for an old soldier who was feeding on "hardtack" in the days of '61-'5.

Land seekers are beginning again to ask prices on the good farms in this vicinity and to anticipate their questioning in advance—the Kohl Land and Investment Company are quoting a few prices, showing the prices now asked on several farms in this vicinity, so that prospective buyers may know about how much of the peak has been knocked off. The opinion is gaining that the bottom has been hit, and that it would be expensive to wait much longer if a farm is wanted in this good country.

The latest Nebraska figures in the Colliers' presidential vote show 1,220 for Ford out of a total of 2,730 votes cast. The next highest is Harding with 374 votes. Then the other possibilities string along in this fashion: Cox 264, McAdoo 202, Hughes 174, Johnson 155, Hoover 113, Wood 61, Davis 56, Borah 53, LaFollette 24, Al Smith 23, Underwood 11. In the total of 193,805 votes cast in the United States Ford has 64,948 against 128,857 for all other republican and democratic possibilities. The poll has been closed but the final figures will not be tabulated for two weeks.

Jas. Evans of Dallas, South Dakota was a caller recently. Mr. Evans was one of the lucky ones in the Rosebud drawing; his number being the second one out of the box, so if he failed to get a good place it was a fault of judgment rather than opportunity. He left Wayne county twelve years ago, and notes many changes in that time. Mr. Evans thinks they have a country there that will compare favorably with this, and he is looking forward for great development. He came to this county thirty-three years ago, and made his home for 21 years with Mr. and Mrs. Evan Jones, and it was a summons to attend her funeral that called him back to Carroll, and Wayne county.

Miss Addie Stambaugh was hostess at a very happy meeting of the Bible Study Circle Tuesday afternoon at the home three miles northwest of Wayne. The character studies in the New Testament were begun. John the Baptist being considered with profit and blessing. Mrs. E. B. Young leading the study. A letter was read from Mrs. Martin Ekval depicting the present condition of China with bandits and robbers looting and carrying off prisoners which they hold for ransom. She says a train was held up and fifteen passengers taken from it and carried away by robber bands before their eyes.

Prayer was offered for China and other needy fields and for a revival for the world. Next meeting with Mrs. Dora Benshoof.

Economy In Feeding Durham Molasses

Carload Just Received

A new and valuable feed is coming from the south to this northland, and its merit is fast winning it a place among progressive stockmen.

A by product of sugar cane when made into sugar and syrup. Here are the claims for its merit:

All Livestock Like it

Lessens the Feed Bill 20 to 50 Percent
Makes Unpalatable Feed Appetizing
Value Proven by Experiments

All livestock relish molasses. It is the big source of 100% carbohydrates for the production of heat, energy and fat. It will improve the general health of the herd; stock will fatten faster, or produce more milk, as the case may be.

Durham Cuban Cane Feeding Molasses poured over hay, straw, corn stover, or fodder, or over the grain, makes the entire ration palatable, using up cheap roughages on the farm, and at the same time adding a feed of definite nutritive value!

Everywhere—farmers, feeders, and breeders of livestock are benefiting by the use of Durham Cuban Cane Molasses. Feed bills are 10% to 50% less, with a marked benefit to the health of the stock. There is a remarkable difference in the appearance of hogs, cattle and horses fed on Durham Cuban Cane Feeding Molasses. Regular users tell us it rids hogs of internal parasites.

It has been demonstrated for years that it has a feeding value equal to corn—that it puts horses, cattle and hogs in condition to make rapid, healthful growth. It reduces the feed cost of producing beef or pork—it is of great value to the dairy cow.

Eggs wanted at Fother's—adv.
Mrs. Louise Sprague left Saturday morning for Tekamah where she will visit for a short time with friends.

Mrs. Mel Norton was a passenger to Edgerton Friday, going over to visit a short time with her daughter.

More than 200,000 cows have been tested annually for a number of years past to determine whether or not they produce enough to pay board.

Mrs. Herman Echtenkamp went to Norfolk Saturday to visit her son and family a couple of days and from there she will go to Fremont to attend the orphans festival.

Pheasant eggs, the ring-necked English variety have been sent to this part of Nebraska, and the young birds are to be turned loose and be protected by the game laws. One farmer intimated that inside of a few years they will be considered a nuisance.

Now we have it again, and right straight this time: Henry Ford would give the presidency serious consideration, should the nomination be offered to him by some responsible party. Certainly. Why not? Last week a different story was sent out, but no one believed that it was authentic.

Down at Lincoln there is a judge who soaks the young "mashers" with a fine of $25, and promises to pass such penalty to all who are proven guilty in his court of persisting in asking young ladies to ride, walk or associate with the lads. Very good, and it might be helpful right here to make an example.

The Omaha Bible Institute will open a five weeks' training course for Christian workers July 10. Forenoon session will be held in the Bible Institute at 302 South Thirty-eighth Avenue. Evening sessions will be held in the Third Presbyterian church. The course includes all subjects needed for efficient Christian teaching.

The Radio Corporation of America has offered as a prize an up-to-date decieving set to the young man who makes the best record in radio instruction in this year's Citizens' Military Training Camps, to be held August 1st to August 30th, 1923. This competition will be open to students of the White and Blue courses.

"The Banquet Club" is the very appropriate name adopted by the Battle Creek civic organization which had been offering money for a name. That is inclined to be popular if the club is true to its name. But the fact is that the banquet feature is too often all that a civic organization means to many of its members.

A veteran interviewer who strangely enough is not a newspaper worker says that every man has a good story in his system and that it is not difficult for a seasoned expert to get at that story. A few men have more than one, more have three or four and a few others have a great many stories. His deduction is that the men who get in the newspapers often are the men who always have something worth while to say.

John Morgan was busy making hay Monday morning, mowing the fine crop of sweet clover that has been growing on the community house parking. Mr. Morgan said that it was a wonderfully large growth of this fragrant hay and that before he finished he discovered a nice "havenest" rear the building, so snugly hidden by the vegetation that no one could have mistrusted that it was there—and he would not have found it, had he not been cutting the crop close to the ground.

Mrs. Chas. D. Natsky came from Los Angeles Saturday morning to visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. W. Vennerberg and at the home of her brother, John Vennerberg. She has been living in Los Angeles for the past 13 years, and it is ten years since she last visited Wayne, and notes much improvement in that time. The depot, the paving and the growth on college hill. Of course our growth has been slow and insignificant compared with the moving events in Los Angeles, but they are easily noticed by those who knew Wayne fifteen years ago and now.

A person at Herman paid $15.00 good, lawful money for two one gallon jugs of water. He was thirsty and the fellow with the jugs was in a hurry to get out of town and go after more water, we suppose. That reminds us that over in Iowa during the dry times there, a joker, who was known to occasionally fall heir to a bottle became generous, and invited now and then a friend to follow him into an alley and a coal shed or some secluded spot and take a pull at a bottle of "cold tea" he had received that morning. After shifting about for a secluded spot until he was sure no one was watching, the cork was drawn, and it was really cold tea—and it was also April 1. But after getting a half dozen different fellows out for the cold tea he hooked a fellow who could not take a joke well, and he smashed the bottle.

does your motor just use up oil?
or is it properly lubricated?

UST because there's plenty of oil in the reservoir and you use up lots of oil, you can't be sure your motor is getting proper lubrication. Bearings may be heating and parts wearing out at top speed.

The temperature of the pistons and the cylinder walls varies from 400 to 900° F. Unless your motor oil is of the right grade, the normal operating heat of the motor can destroy its lubricating efficiency.

Years of laboratory and practical service tests have proved the lubricating efficiency of Polarine. It resists heat and always flows freely. Made in five grades—light, medium, heavy, special heavy and extra heavy—but one unsurpassed quality.

Consult the Polarine Chart for the grade best suited to your motor. Standardize its use and your motor will run quietly—a protective film guarding every moving part against friction and wear.

Ask for Polarine by name and be sure you get what you ask for. Sold where you see this sign.

CHAS. F. CARPENTER AT TRAINING CAMP

FORT SNELLING, MINNESOTA, June 21, 1923.—Approximately 1100 students representing 28 universities, colleges and preparatory schools of the Middle West arrived at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, June 14, for six weeks' military training in the annual summer camp of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

The purpose of these camps is to round out by practical means the training which these young men receive under the supervision of Army Officers in the various educational institutions which they attend. The ultimate object to be attained by this sort of training is to create a corps of well-trained reserve officers who with some additional training will be available for service with our Army in the event of another emergency. This method of obtaining a corps of trained reserve officers is in accord with our traditional military policy which provides for a small army of professional soldiers and a large reserve of citizen officers and soldiers.

The schedule provides for training in almost every branch of military work. While the majority of the students will receive training in the Infantry branch, instruction will also be given in the Engineer, Medical, Dental, Veterinary and Motor Transport branches.

The states represented in this year's camp are Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Missouri, and Arkansas. Wayne is represented this year by Mr. Charles F. Carpenter.

AN IDEA PRESENTED FOR CHURCHES TO CONSIDER

Editor McCormick of the Wayne Tribune fathers the following idea, and we pass it on for consideration of Wayne people:

We've spoken before in these columns about the desirability of churches being conducted on a progressive and modern-business basis in order to attain the greatest success.

A person at Herman paid $15.00 good, lawful money for two one gallon jugs of water. He was thirsty and the fellow with the jugs was in a hurry to get out of town and go after more water, we suppose. That reminds us that over in Iowa during the dry times there, a joker, who was known to occasionally fall heir to a bottle became generous, and invited now and then a friend to follow him into an alley and a coal shed or some secluded spot and take a pull at a bottle of "cold tea" he had received that morning. After shifting about for a secluded spot until he was sure no one was watching, the cork was drawn, and it was really cold tea—and it was also April 1. But after getting a half dozen different fellows out for the cold tea he hooked a fellow who could not take a joke well, and he smashed the bottle.

PERSONAL PROPERTY VALUATIONS FOR 1923

The following named individuals, firms, corporations, or copartnerships have been assessed in the precincts as herein shown, and the amounts set opposite their names are the valuations fixed by the Assessor, and are as they appear from the assessment record and also are the totals upon which the tax for the year 1923 will be computed unless changed by either the County or State Boards of Equalization. Bear in mind that these are the actual valuations as all levies are now based on actual instead of assessed values.

SELLING AND BUYING AND FARMERS

H. W. Wood, Canadian Farm Leader, Depreciates "Old Line" Political Parties—Says Farmers Must Be Thoroughly Organized.

"Any social group, to become effective, must be thoroughly organized. This is true whether the group is operating in the political or economic field. The social problems today cannot be solved by individuals, nor by unorganized, mongrel groups of individuals—such as the 'old line' political parties. The political party never represented much more than organized piracy on the citizenship of the people. This system was in the foreground yesterday but will be in the background tomorrow, for organized citizenship groups will take its place."

Thus spoke an outstanding figure in western Canada, H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta.

"These groups," he continued, "organized on the basis of a common vital interest, will develop stability and efficiency in dealing intelligently, as groups, with all citizenship affairs, economic and political. When group intelligence is sufficiently developed, the groups can begin to deal with each other in the adjustment of group relationship."

The general tenor of his conversation was as follows: "The farmers of Alberta are facing many problems, some of them depending upon geographic location or climate conditions. Our variety of products is more limited than in some sections farther south, and the distance to markets makes our freight rates high."

"The development of the Pacific route promises some relief, especially as a cheaper way for our wheat. And the completion of the proposed St. Lawrence river waterways project would also be of immeasurable benefit to our whole western country."

"However, the most vital problem that we, along with all agriculture, are facing, is the wrong relationship of prices. Prices of raw material are on one level and those of finished products are on another. The connection between the two has been so nearly broken that healthy circulation of trade has been seriously arrested, and the farmers are the chief sufferers."

"What is the cause? Well, as I see it, the primary causes is that all elements of industrial trade have developed high selling efficiency, while farmers have developed none in selling their products."

"The remedy? Progress calls for efficiency. We cannot turn back from its development, but must meet efficiency with efficiency. The farmers must create just as much in marketing their primary products as has been used in selling of finished or ready-for-consumption products. When general marketing efficiency is developed a normal level of price relations should be established or, at least, approximated. All parts must be made efficient in order to stabilize the effect of the whole."

"Under the present system of selling farm products—wheat, for example—the product is thrown on the market without any regard for consumptive demands. This on the market without any regard places the power of dictating prices almost entirely in the hands of the buyer. By systematic control of movement of the product, and by feeding it to the market as it is required, the seller would have equal power with the buyer in negotiating prices."

"This can only be done through a centralized selling agency that has control of the movement of the product."

"The farmers of western Canada asked for a government-established compulsory wheat board, not because they believe it will be the final or ideal system, but because they believe that, under present conditions, it would be the most practical first step toward a voluntary pool system which they hope to establish eventually."

"Through centralized selling, Canada, the United States and Australia, with approximately three-fourths the world's exportable surplus, should be able to bring the price of wheat to the level of the prices of manufactured products."

"When the price of all farm produce is established on this level, the removal of any other hindrance to general prosperity need not be difficult."

"Competition destroys while cooperation builds. Will competition develop sufficient strength to save it? You know, it has put our social system in grave danger several times and we have not yet recovered from the last event. Yes, I know that was military competition, but military competition is the child and not the parent of economic competition."

"The nations have been making strenuous efforts to effect arbitrary peace adjustments, but they have been doing little or nothing to destroy the cause of war. Military conflict will cease when commercial conflict give way to cooperation."

BANKERS HOLD PICNIC

The bankers of Knox county assembled in convention at the Bazilie Valley Park on Wednesday afternoon of last week. The affair was both in the form of a business session and a day's outing. Rev. A. E. Olson, also a sextet from Wausau participated in the program. The Wausau banks were closed for the day and all employees enjoyed the day at the Park. A big lunch was prepared for the midday meal for which all had worked up a big appetite. This was both a pleasant and most profitable get-together meeting. J. H. Kemp of this

A three-load string of prime, baby beefes from Gretna, sold at the high figure of the day in Omaha, Tuesday $16.85. They averaged 1,020 pounds and were fed and shipped by Hickey Bros. of that place.

"There were some youngsters that we picked up on the Omaha market last November," said Ralph Hickey who accompanied the shipment. "We gave them the usual Nebraska treatment, pasture and stock fields as a prime baby beefe ration for the winter."

FARMERS INVITE PRESIDENT

HARDING TO VIEW RUINS

Washington Men Insist That President See For Himself The Sufferings, Poverty and Suffering Caused By Deflation, and Lack of Marketing System.

Washington, D. C., June 23.—Twenty-one farmers of Yakima Valley, Washington have sent a special invitation to President Harding through the Farmers' National council, to take a sightseeing trip through the northwest personally conducted by them.

They do not promise him the equal of the pleasures in store for him on his Alaskan junket—in fact their program doesn't sound pleasant at all. It should be vastly educational, however, for a president who goes forth in travel to view the happy results of his administration and incidentally to feel the pulse of the people to learn whether it beats in unison with his yearning for a second term.

Here are a few of the sights the Yakima farmers want the president to view:

Widows and orphans of farmers driven to suicide.

Farmers' wives in insane asylums. Aged farmers and their wives, without homes and penniless.

Men and women who have spent a lifetime reclaiming land in the desert and are about to lose their homes for want of a marketing system.

The president is asked to include in his party the former members of his federal reserve board and the leading lights of Wall street so that they may share with him the view of these living exhibits of the ruin caused by deflation of the currency and other policies of three years of Harding rule.

After review of the widows and children of the many farmer suicides, the Yakima farmers suggest that the president and his friends decide how to alleviate the misery of these sufferers.

"We also ask you," they say in their invitation, "to have the farmers and their wives between the ages of sixty and eighty, who are unable to make a living off the farm, assembled so that you can decide whether it is best to put them back on their farms and help them make a living or to build almshouses for them."

"We want you when you pass through the irrigated district to call on together the men and women who have reclaimed this from a desert and are about to lose their homes for want of a marketing system.

"You and your friends, on your long trip up the ocean and back, will have plenty of time to solve these problems and to think over the conditions of the American farmers, for which you are responsible."

CREAM AND ICE CREAM

The editor of the Allen News has been figuring up a bit as to the cost of ice cream and the farmer income from the sale of cream. He does this in two separate items, and we will give some of the figures he has made as to both income and outgo.

The Incoming

Tuesday noon the depot platform was pretty well loaded with empty ice cream tubs which were to be taken to Sioux City on the passenger. Investigation showed that during past thirty days, even with the large portion of cloudy and cool days when the cream didn't sell at its best, Allen ice cream parlors disposed of an enormous amount of this cool confection.

Approximately 685 gallons of ice cream were sold in Allen during the thirty day period ending June 18, if this were sold at the regular price of $2 per gallon in quantity lots it would mean an expenditure of $1,310. But very little ice cream is sold in that way. Most of it is sold in sundaes or cones, and would then bring in excess of $2,620. July and August are by far the best parts of the year for the sale of ice cream, but we will suppose that even in those months, no large quantity was sold, it would still make a total of approximately $7,860 for ice cream during three months time, or about 757 dishes a day.

If we were to go still further on this theory, and suppose that each of the ten towns in Dixon county used the same amount (although the four larger towns would likely sell more than enough to offset the quantity in the smaller towns), Dixon county would be eating $78,600 in ice cream during three summer months.

SECTION 6. There is hereby appropriated from the Library Fund for repairing, maintaining, and improving the streets and alleys of said City, the sum of $5,000.00.

SECTION 7. There is hereby appropriated from the Bonds Fund of

The cream shipped on Monday and Tuesday would be worth approximately $577, figuring average test of .35 and price of 31 cents.

A check was made and the totals added of all the cream purchased in Allen during the month of May by the three local cream stations. The total amount purchased in Allen was 14,122 pounds. Figuring on the same basis as above, it would reach a valuation of about $2,462.23.

The month of June will be even greater for a cream production month according to the statements of the various dealers. Mr. Lawrison, local agent for the C. B. & Q., says that each year the amount of shipments increase during May, and keep on the summer, when the hot weather reduces the milk supply. The amount of cream then decreases until about the first of January, when it again starts on the upward trend.

Say, you take a boy's life, don't you! When you take boys away you take everything they have in the world, that is, their life. You send them to war and the part of that life you don't use you let him come back with. Perhaps you may use all of it. Well, that's the way to do with wealth. Take all he has, give him a bare living the same as you do the soldier. Give him the same allowance as the soldier—all of us that stay at home. The government should own everything we have, use what it needs to conduct the whole expenses of the war, and give back what is left, if there is any the same as you give back to the boy what he has left.

As an example of this, out of the total depot, 275 gallons were shipped by country people who were shipping direct to the creamery. This was over 41 per cent of the total which was not sold through dealers. If only a margin of 25 per cent were allowed as average amount direct that would bring the total amount of cream sold to and through Allen during May to a valuation of more than $3,000.00.

Dixon county people are certainly producing an abundance of valuable products. It is a thought worth notice, that to obtain the amount of milk necessary for that much cream, requires a vast army of men, women and children in the barnyard each morning and evening to do the chores.

It is also noticeable that the cream production (exclusive of the value of the skim milk for hog feed) more than pays the ice cream bill of the same community.

What Should Be

The Allen community seems to be making a very nice showing in the industry—but it should be fully ten times greater in all this part of Nebraska. That is the production of cream should be at least that much. But the ice cream should be made from the best of the cream before it is sent to a city and returned with two express charges and several profits added. What applies to Allen applies equally to Wayne and many other towns in this art of the state. The dairy industry is not developed as it should be. Wayne is shipping a lot of cream out, and it cannot make quality butter. Saw a can the other day that was swelling up with the heat until it was flowing over the top. And that waste of a little cream was perhaps 50 cents—but the waste in quality of that can and the hundreds of other cans that might mix with it at the big central plant was many dollars.

Our farmers lose much by not having their cream up to a high standard and kept in that way. Our pure food inspectors must miss bet sometime. We grow of a community, a town half the size of Wayne that makes more for the community from their cows in a week that is made here in a month. They are right now, we believe, gathering the milk, skimming it and churning 5,000 pounds of high grade butter daily, worth on the market $2,500, and the farmer has his skim milk back to feed. How will that compare with what is being accomplished in most any of these communities? Yet we have a better and richer community for the production of dairy products than they have where they are living up to their opportunities more fully than we are.

A creamery and ice cream plant properly run at Wayne, could in five years build up as profitable a business as any in the town, we believe. The difference in price between properly made and marketed dairy products would add much to the wealth of the community. Let's try it.

CONSCRIPTING MONEY AND MEN

(Christian Science Monitor)

Nationwide comment and applause have been evoked by President Harding's recent assertion that in the event of the United States again going into war, "we will not alone call to service the youth of the land, which has in the main fought all our wars, but we will draft every resource, every activity, all our wealth. It (the conflict) shall be without profit to the noncombatant participants, except as they share in the triumph of the nation." Sometimes it falls to the lot of the humorist to put it more readily comprehensible terms the oft-quoted utterances of the political orator. And so it happened that last Sunday, in a syndicated letter, Mr. Will Rogers translated President Harding's utterances into the vernacular of the common people, in a manner that merits republication, at least in part:

"Good English, clear English, and by this I mean well chosen words that convey the exact meaning to the reader or listener—is in these days an essential accomplishment. There are people who ridicule glibness of speech, but the majority of people will agree that it is worth while to understand good books, to talk well, and to have a large vocabulary at one's command. Words are beautiful things with their delicate differences and shadings. Latin will aid you to discover their beauty."

ain't saying anything. But when

Mr. Harding said that, in case of another war, capital would be drafted the same as men, he put over a thought that, if carried out, would do more to stop wars than all the international courts and leagues of nations in the world.

Of the three things to prevent wars, league of nations, international court and this drafting of capital, this last one is so far ahead of the others there is no comparison. When that Wall street millionaire knows that you are not only going to come into his office and take his secretary and clerks, but that you come in to get his dough, say boy, there wouldn't be any war. You will hear the question: "Yes," but how could you do it?

Say, you take a boy's life, don't you! When you take boys away you take everything they have in the world, that is, their life. You send them to war and the part of that life you don't use you let him come back with. Perhaps you may use all of it. Well, that's the way to do with wealth. Take all he has, give him a bare living the same as you do the soldier. Give him the same allowance as the soldier—all of us that stay at home. The government should own everything we have, use what it needs to conduct the whole expenses of the war, and give back what is left, if there is any the same as you give back to the boy what he has left.

The first and vital thing to do is to make assurance that the world will not embark on any more wars. Perhaps nothing could go further toward making certain this abstinenace from suicidal conflict that the general agreement of nations that capital should suffer equally with manhood, and that the profits of a captain of industry should not again be regarded as more sacred than the life of a boy.

ASPIRATION FOR FURTHER EDUCATION

The most noticeable feature of the group in attendance during the summer session of the State Teachers College is the large number of those who are taking advantage of the opportunity to do graduate work. It has long been a recognized fact that the workers of the world, no matter what their occupation may be, must have minds trained to do their particular kind of work. We are living today in an age of efficiency and those especially who are entrusted with the training and the moulding of the lives of our youth should be well prepared.

The students at Wayne are a fair sample of all schools throughout the country, and thus we may conclude that there is a real aspiration for further education, and that the need of it has been felt and recognized. Not only do we find there those who are doing graduate work for the A. B. degree, but many who have as their goal the completion of the two years course, either by summer terms or during the regular school year. Many are in attendance who have just completed high school and are working for a certificate which will enable them to teach a rural school. But in many such cases the eight weeks spent here will be enough to create a yearning and a real desire for further knowledge, and, as has been true in the past, a proportion of these people will return later, resolved to complete a definite course.

There is no nobler profession in all the world than that of teaching. It is a serious undertaking and such work should be placed only in the hands of those who are well qualified.

THE VALUE OF LATIN STUDY

John M. Siddall, editor of the American Magazine, whose shrewd, trenchant opinions appear each month under the heading "Sid says," writes regarding the value of Latin study: "If a person wishes to have a good understanding of the English language, a knowledge of Latin is essential. The average high school graduate who has studied no other language than English curiously enough does not really understand it. He will meet a new word, but unless he knows the derivation he cannot get its meaning. He has but a superficial understanding. A knowledge of Latin will give him a real understanding. He will get to the foundation of language, he will know the roots from which the words have sprung.

"Good English, clear English, and by this I mean well chosen words that convey the exact meaning to the reader or listener—is in these days an essential accomplishment. There are people who ridicule glibness of speech, but the majority of people will agree that it is worth while to understand good books, to talk well, and to have a large vocabulary at one's command. Words are beautiful things with their delicate differences and shadings. Latin will aid you to discover their beauty."
