THE HOSPITALITY OF THE SOUTH

Mission, Texas, March 12, 1924.

To My Many Wayne Friends, Greeting. My heart was surely made glad by a package of Wayne papers, as I had only seen one since I came down. I was also made proud by the fact that a busy editor took time to sit down and type me a friendly letter. I was also made sad when I tho't of the home on the hill missing Ben's cheery laughter, of light hearted Edith left alone to care for her children, for the wife and parents of another of our Legion boys gone. All dear old time friends of my own.

I want to say a little more about Dallas. It has the longest viaduct in the world, one and a quarter miles. It crosses the Trinity river and a strip of low, swampy land, mostly covered with mosquito bush, between the railroads and one of the suburbs, Oak Cliff—I decided to walk across as it gives you a good view of that part of the city. continual stream of traffic passes the Union depot and a cab man standing on the corner when I went to cross the street said, "No Miss"—not "No grandma", as you would imagine he would have said. "I'll call the police man." So he called the traffic cop and he kindly led me across both streets, directing me the way up on the viaduct.

When I was about one fourth across I was passing a coupe, filled with ladies, standing still. The door was open and they called me to them asking me to ride. They took me across around thru the suburb, then brot me back across to the hotel, chatting away as tho. we were old time friends—Southern courtesy if you please.

Near the court house I found a house belonging to the county, consisting of a parlor, rest room, dining room, kitchen and bath room down stairs, and auditorium up stairs. The lady who cared for it told me that the county had two women and two men, county agents, I presume you would call them, who have a meeting once a month in the auditorium. Every three months securing speakers from abroad.

It is raining today, a cold March rain but everything is in bloom, and the fragrance of the orange blossom is delightful.

BALLOON TIRES TO HELP ROADS

The balloon tire is as yet too new to tell its own story, but some of the reasons urged against it by its opponents do not seem warranted by facts. Misled, perhaps, by the undoubted fact that the pneumatic tire caused great destruction to the then common type of hard road the water-bound macadam, conservatives now state that the balloon tire with its greatly increased size of wearing surface will cause damage to roads of other than cement or brick surface.

This is not borne out by facts already recorded of other wide tire bearing surfaces. Heavy trucks, equipped with double wheels and flat solid tires, do no damage to the surface of the highways they use, whether that surface be oil-treated or tar-impregnated stone, sand-clay shell, concrete, brick or cement. Road damage done by such vehicles is from blows or pressure and not from surface wear. It is, with the modern road, almost always the weight or the blow which damages the road and seldom or never the abrasion of the surface.

According to this, the balloon tire should preserve rather than injure roads, since its lessened air pressure increases the elasticity of the cushion between the road and the weight, and therefore decreases the force of any blow struck by the wheel.

AGNES ELIZABETH HITCHINGS

Mrs. Agnes Elizabeth Hitchings, who moved to Wayne about 18 months ago with O. L. Ward and family, her daughter, passed away Monday, March 17, 1924, at the age of 75 years.

She was born in Blackrock, Massachusetts, but spent most of her life at Saginaw, Michigan. She is survived by two sons, four daughters and two sisters: Edgar E. Hitchings, Cleveland, Ohio; Stanley J. Hitchings, Detroit, Michigan; and Mrs. W. J. Morgan, Saginaw, Michigan; Mrs. J. V. McDowell, Los Angeles, California; Mrs. Carl Grapenent, Oakland, California; Mrs. O. L. Ward, Wayne, Nebraska. The sisters are Mrs. Wm. Arnold, Chelsea, Michigan and Mrs. Clara Goffery, Los Angeles.

Following a short service at the Ward home in this city the body was accompanied to the old home at Saginaw, Michigan, by Mrs. Ward, where funeral and burial will be tomorrow.

VOTE ON BONUS BILL SHOWS ENOUGH TO OVERRIDE VETO

Washington, March 18.—The house today passed the soldiers' bonus bill. The result indicated there are enough votes in the house to override a president veto.

The vote came after forty minutes debate under rules requiring two-thirds' majority and paring amendments.

As sent to the senate, the bill provides for a paid up, 20-year endowment, life insurance policies and cash payments to those veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted compensation.

The adjusted service credit is figured on the same basis as in the old bill which twice passed the house, $1 a day for home service and $1.25 a day for over seas duty, the first sixty days of service not counting.

Chairman Green, opening the debate said that the house twice before had passed a bonus bill and "it is now time to pass a measure which will become law."

Representative Treadway, Massachusetts, a Republican member of the committee, said the bill was not satisfactory to any element except those who are hopeful that the senate will substantially alter it.

Representative Howard, Democrat, Nebraska, said he was "between the devil and the deep blue sea" and though not favoring the terms of the bill would support it "for to oppose would necessarily be to defeat any bonus."

Representative Dickinson, Democrat, Missouri, was applauded by Democrats, when he criticized the house act on the bill under rules shutting off amendments.

The vote was 355 to 54.

The margin over the necessary two-thirds was eighty-two.

Every Nebraska congressman voted for the bonus bill.

PERCY E. STRAHAN

Son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Strahan, was born at Wayne, January 17th, 1890, and grew to manhood here, and here he passed away Tuesday, March 11, 1924, at the age of 34 years, 1 month and 24 days. In February 1913 he was united in marriage to Faye Powers, who with two children, Doris Lucile 6 years and Donald 3 years mourn his death. Since marriage he has devoted his energies to farming, on a farm just west of Wayne, and was successful in the business.

He was a member of the Elks, belonging to the local lodge at Norfolk, and representatives from his lodge attended the funeral, which was held Sunday afternoon from the home of his parents in this city. The funeral service was largely attended, and was by Rev. Parker Smith of Tekamah, a former pastor of the Baptist church at this place. A wealth of flowers attested the sympathy and regard of many friends in this time of sorrow. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

DISTRICT COURT ADJOURNED

Last Saturday was the last day of the February term of district court for this county, and while quite a docket was cleared up many of the cases were of little public interest. The greater part of the last week was devoted to the hearing of the George Buskirk will case.

When the evidence was all in, and the pleas made by the contending attorneys, the jury brought in a verdict setting aside the will presented as the last will of the late Mr. Buskirk. Motion has been made for a new trial, but had not yet been passed upon, and it is possible that if new trial is not granted an appeal may be taken. This leaves the estate to be settled according to the law governing such matters unless other will is found, or other settlement made by mutual agreement.

Peter Paulsen on a liquor or gambling charge was said not to be guilty by a jury, but the matter of closing his house as a nuisance by permanent injunction is under advisement, so that the verdict cannot now be reported.

Reinhardt Peters was not convicted as to transporting liquor illegally, and his car was released, but he is held guilty of illegal possession of liquor that is prohibited.

There was considerable interest in the case of Anna Ulrich vs. Geo. Beck, and it was decided that the plaintiff could not recover pay for oats sold, because she had neglected to cash check when given. The bill was paid by check, and the money was in the bank, but plaintiff did not present check until after bank had failed, thus making the loss her own rather than defendants.

The two boys were playing with a loaded gun Sunday, when the accident occurred.

"THE SUNNY SOUTH"

Louisville, Kentucky, March 9, 1924.

Editor Democrat:—I will try to tell you a little more about the "Sunny South" as you called it, but the mercury registered as low as 10 degrees below zero the past winter, but not much snow—about two inches for the entire winter. Our cold days lasted but a day or two at a time.

Some Louisville Industries.

According to the newspaper clippings sent, Louisville has the largest factories in United States and often in the world the following factories: Saddles, base ball bats, table rims and slides, steel and copper trade engravers, oxygen and hydrogen plant, printing books for the blind, wagon making plant, paint factory in the south, varnish factory, automobile body plant, caskets, ice cream plant in south, manufacturing fireplace fixtures, etc. besides many that are near top in size and output. It is quite a distributing point of manufactured goods to the south because of the river freight rates. Has five large hotels; the Schriners are building a million dollar temple, a home for crippled children and for beautiful churches of all denominations. The Baptist church is now building a fine hospital, in addition to the many located in the city. The Southern Baptist students from all south and west come here for training, and the Presbyterians have a theological seminary at this place. We also have fine theatres and movie houses, and flowers everywhere.

Large modern street cars are always crowded, and it is by this company that I am employed.

There is a large armory here, and active posts of American Legion and national guard regiment. Louisville is the largest city in the state, with 350,000 people.

The river is spanned here by a number of both wagon and railroad bridges, and ferries also ply between the Ohio and Kentucky sides, making it literally the gateway to the south. Private and public schools give education to all who care to take advantage of their opportunities. There are many other good features of which I hope to write later. O. R. PROTECTING WOMEN AND CHILDREN

In its decision upholding the New York law for regulating women's hours of work, the United States supreme court warns all subordinate courts not to question the right of such regulation, when exercised by their state legislatures. The court holds that ordinary police powers are sufficient authority for any state to regulate such matters. That is worth nothing by the public in states not yet possessing laws to prevent the overworking of women, especially in night work.

Miss Laurence Skavahn left Saturday morning for Omaha going there on business.

Chas. McConnell was a passenger to Sioux City Friday, having business to look after at that place.

Randolph candidates for the post-mastership are to have a civil service examination March 29th. The office now pays a salary of $2200. Applicants may take their examination at Wayie, Norfolk or O'Neill, or if they so elect, may go to Lincoln or Fremont, stating in their application which place they elect to take the work.

N. O. Soryene from north of Wayne several miles, is home from a business trip to Villisca and Stanton, Iowa, having a farm near the latter place that he went to look after, and see about rents and renting. He reports that it is quiet there in a business way, and tells of a number who were well-to-do farmers before the deflation struck them, who are now really worse off than the fellow who has no money, for they have a debt to meet. Some may be due to mismanagement—but some are unavoidable under conditions under which they have been working. When farming does not pay in the valley of the West Nodaway, there is something wrong, for it is one of the earth's fertile spots. It is a land of big corn and rich meadows and pastures that carry many head of stock.

Cattle feeders who finish on grain for market fared well during the past year says the United States department of agriculture. Prior to the war cattle ranging in weight from 1,200 to 1,350 pounds were about 17 per cent above the price of range cattle. In 1922 cattle of this weight sold about 36 per cent above the price of range cattle. In 1922 good prime cattle were about 50 per cent above the price of feeder steers, whereas in September, 1923, they ranged to about 70 per cent above. The high industrial activity has given a good market for the higher grades of cattle which come finished from the feed lots of the corn belt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Moore from McLain were here the last of the week visiting at the Mike O'Connell and Schuyler Fox homes, both of whom they had long known. Mr. Moore lived near Wayne in an early day, and having served in the Civil War, was then a member of the G. A. R. post at this place, and remembered a number of those who were living here at that time. He asked about a number of them only to learn that most of them had answered the final roll call. Mr. Moore said, that he had traveled about considerable, looking for the Garden of Eden, or some place like it, and had come back to this part of Nebraska, considering it the best possible place he could find in which to live.

A Straight Spine Means Health and Happiness

See that your spine is normal. Call on your chiropractor and let him give you a Spinal Analysis. If there are any defects, these are generally found to be subluxated vertebrae (displaced small bones of the spine) which press upon the nerves where they leave the spine, pinching them and preventing the ALL IMPORTANT VITAL FORCE from flowing freely to the various organs. When the flow of this Vital Force is thus impeded and the organs are unable to functionate, the condition is what is known as dis-ease. The competent chiropractor, by the use of Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments, given with the bare hands alone, puts the displaced bones back to their normal positions, the pinching of the nerves is released, the Vital Force flows uninterruptedly and the condition known as dis-ease disappears.

Put yourself in the hands of a competent chiropractor, heed his advice, and you will not get old before your time.

COMMENTS OF AN OLD-TIMER

(By Mrs. Katherine Mitchell)

"Just why Katherine Mitchell should write for the Wayne Democrat under the caption of 'Comments of an Old-Timer' is a mystery. She isn't an old-timer. Women never are. The Wayne Democrat, always a good newspaper, would be still better if Mrs. Mitchell would make her 'comments' a weekly feature. A woman's viewpoint is doubly interesting these days, and Mrs. Mitchell is a close observer."—Will Maupin in Omaha Bee. Thank you, Brother Maupin. But you see I might as well admit I am an old-timer. I learned my "ps. and qs" away back there in the yesterdays from Brother Fry of the Niobrara Pioneer. He taught me the secrets of type lice, left handed monkey wrenches and where to find the extra dots for the lower case. Araboln Natives may wear the hair bobbed, wear the Dutch doll make-up, wear 'em transparent and rolled, but the Seer of "47 years ago" is a stickler for dates.

I enjoy Sunny Side Up particularly because of the real understanding of human greatness and human weakness so evident in every line. In these days when we hear so much about old fashion religion, old fashion notions, and old fashioned Mothers and Dads, and we are told exactly what we need by the speakers on Chautauqua platform and by university graduate, I cannot help but believe that the new thought advocates need a little old fashioned gumption. Will Maupin is delivering a good sized dose of it every day and it is worth reading.

If every teacher in our schools could have heard Rev. John Grant Shick Sunday morning and would take heed of the challenge he threw out to all teachers, there would be fewer young people thrown anchorless on the world. He likened teachers to civil engineers and said that teachers should not tear down a structure unless they are ready to build a better one. In other words, "Do not say a thing or do a thing, as a teacher, which will shake the faith of an earnest believer, unless you have something just as good to offer in return." That is good advice for all of us. The next time you tell children that you have delved deep into the secrets of the past just remember that we want you to have something just as good to offer if you, by your superior knowledge, steal something precious from their lives.

"Why worry about the origin of life? Better be worrying how you are spending the present and where you expect to spend eternity," said a minister recently. That is a big question. Digest it and if you have any time left after you get that problem solved, you can take up the origin of life from a scientific standpoint. It won't hurt you.

Sitting in a pew at the church Sunday morning were two visitors who have never, to my knowledge, missed a church service—Unjust Criticism and Greeneyed Jealousy. Have you seen them? Have you heard them? What are you doing to keep them away from God's house? They are not pals and sometimes when one is busy attending the various clubs about town, the other is trying to enter the heart of some unhappy woman who is "left out" where "numbers forbid her not." We all have a speaking acquaintance with these fellows and they are not partial to women's clubs. They are in evidence wherever humankind gather, and even follow us to our closets, where we go alone to pray and juggle our elbows in persistent endeavor to be heard. They take up permanent abode in the heart of some politicians and throw dirt during campaigns. I have seen the Greeneyed One curl the lip of a beautiful woman and make her hideous to look upon and I have seen the Unjust One sit in a church pew and cause the man of God to fail to put over his message. In my opinion we need not the new thought offered to us daily—we need the old fashioned religion of the Man of Galilee, the old faith of our Mother's, the childlike trust in Him—as old as the hills of Jerusalem. We need it in our lives, in our churches, in our schools. And only when we believe and live our belief can we force Unjust Criticism and Greeneyed Jealousy, with their numerous attendant sins, to wrap the mantle of silence about them and depart.

CO-OPERATIVE CORN SALE PLAN ADOPTED

Kankakee, Ill., March 5.—A Committee of fifty will control the price of corn in America, if the National Farmers' Union succeeds in its plan outlined here today at the convention of corn belt farmers, by Paul B. Talbot of Des Moines, Iowa. Farmers from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Minnesota attended, and at noon, paraded the streets carrying banners demanding "Cost of Production, Plus a reasonable Profit."

From here, Mr. Talbot and other speakers said the farmers must return to their communities and pledge enough corn farmers to withhold next season's crop from the market, to assure the national union power to control the prices farmers will accept. After the four states are organized, fifty districts or more will be created, and from each district an active farmer will be elected to the statistical committee, which will determine the production cost and announce the country-wide minimum corn price farmers will demand.

From November 1 to January 1, next, the union will exert every effort to complete organization. Their committee of fifty will not commence deliberations until after the corn is harvested, and the acreage and yield known exactly. Then labor cost, taxes interest, machinery and equipment costs and overhead, will be figured exactly. Each farmer who joins the union will record his own production cost on a statistical blank which he will file with his representative of the committee, and from these blanks the necessary averages will be calculated.

"Acreage, yield and consumption of corn is well known," Mr. Talbot declared. "Three million bushels have been produced and consumed in each of the past three years. With maximum production and consumption known, we have all the elements needed to control orderly marketing. Through cost accounting and knowledge of the yield, we can determine the cost and the reasonable profit. "It is granted by financial, professional and business interests, that we must have a better price."—Omaha World Herald.

EAT VEGETABLES

"Eat vegetables (other than potatoes or dry beans) twice daily," says the University of Nebraska, agricultural college extension service. It also suggests that we learn to eat at least ten different kinds of vegetables, if we do not already do so. No doubt the question comes to one's mind, "why should we eat vegetables?" Some of the many reasons are to: Give bulk to the food. This acts as a laxative and tends to prevent constipation. 2—Furnish vitamins which are necessary for growth and good health. 3—Aid digestion. 4—Supply mineral nutrients to the body. 5—Build bones and teeth. 6—Prevents the body tissues from becoming acid.

WHAT IS NEWS?

This question has been pretty correctly answered in the following terse words: "What you want to keep out of the newspaper is news, and what you want to get into a newspaper is an advertisement." If some of these propaganda promotionists could only get this idea through their heads a lot of paper could be saved which otherwise reaches the waste basket of the printing offices throughout the country. And to think they draw large salaries with the understanding that they will get their stuff into the newspapers, without cost to their employers. But their day of reckoning is coming.—Ex.

THE WOMEN VOTERS WANT TO KNOW

Questions Issued by League of Women Voters Cause Candidates to Say Unprintable Things Under Their Breaths.

Questionnaires have been sent to all candidates for office who have filed in Nebraska by the Nebraska League of Women Voters. It is expected that the next issue of the Intelligent Voter, the league periodical, dated March, will be given over to the compilation of the answers to these questions.

Besides the usual questions put to every candidate, nine special queries are made of candidates for United States senator and congressmen. They deal with measures in which the women's organizations have recognized a special interest and run as follows:

1. Are you in favor of the entrance of the United States into the world court on the terms of the proposal made by the late President Harding to the senate?
2. Are you in favor of international reduction of armament as a step toward general and permanent world peace?
3. Are you in favor of extension of the merit system in the civil system?
4. Are you in favor of adequate and reasonable support for federal agencies dealing with matters of special importance to women, such as the children's bureau, women in industries bureau and home economics bureau?
5. Will you support the present federal law for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, with no weakening of the Volstead act, if you are elected?
6. Would you, if in office, support the pending child labor amendment to the constitution?
7. Do you favor the enactment of federal uniform marriage and divorce act?
8. Would you if in office, support pending legislation to increase appropriations for home economics under the Smith-Hughes act?
9. Do you favor the passage of the Sterling-Reed bill, creating a federal department of education, with its head a member of the cabinet?

The longest questionnaire is that put to candidates for state executive offices and for the legislature. It runs as follows:

1. Have you any suggestions for improvements in our state government? Do any of the following suggestions commend themselves to you: Repeal of the civil administrative code of 1919, retention of the civil administrative code of 1919, return to a precede status, modification of the code, an executive council of elective state officers to formulate policies, with unlimited power in the hands of the governor to administer the policies make appointments and determine expenditures?
2. Would you favor curtailing any activities of the state government?

Which ones?

3. What, if any, changes would you suggest for the forms and functions of the state legislature?

4. What changes in the laws concerning taxation do you favor: Repeal of the income tax law, state income tax, gasoline tax, reduction of the tax limitations on local taxing units?

5. Do you favor a system of state police?

6. Do you favor making Nebraska women eligible for jury service?

7. Would you remove the party circle from the ballot?

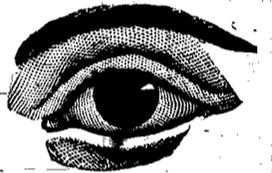

8. What, if any, changes in the Nebraska primary law do you favor?

9. Do you favor the continued support by the state co-operative work with the federal government in aid of infancy and maternity, under the Sheppard-Towner act?

10. Do you favor the present Nebraska marriage law? If not, what are your objections?

11. Do you favor the appropriation of funds for the adequate enforcement of the prohibition law?

The brief questionnaire addressed to candidates for supreme and district courts is made up of questions 5, 6, 10 and 11 in the preceding questionnaire.

LaFollette might be a third party candidate this campaign. It is evident from the reports that he is not for Coolidge and a stand-pat platform.

Don't fall to vote for Charley for the democratic nominee for governor; there are two of that name on the primary ticket. One is Bryan, the other is Graff.

There are some questions in the coming campaign that are pertinent. One is whether or not Coolidge pictures hung about the town are done in "oil". They bid fair to be done by "oil."

Congress has been in session nearly four months, and not a bill has come to the president for his signature. That is hard on the fellows who are waiting for the pen used in signing their bills, we'll say.

We can give congress this recommendation just now. Having done nothing they have not enacted bad legislation. But they might have repealed some laws that would have been of benefit to the people.

There will be more kinds of politics blowing round in the next few months than has ever been on tap in the United States before, is the opinion no one need fear to express, and feel that holds a true prophet.

There might be a chance for some live democrat to get the nomination as alternate delegate to the Democratic National convention by a bit of work in this 3rd district to have the name written in, for as we read the hat no one has filed for that place in this district.

A lot of people seem to be getting a new angle on this protective tariff legislation, and wondering why the government should tax one class of its loyal citizens for the benefit of a smaller class of its citizens? Only the other day we read of some one seeing the game as never before, and saying that it is worse than the oil robbery scandal. Yes, and beyond a doubt there has been as much or more bribery for a protective tariff than for oil leases.

More than 30,000 voters have signed a petition to have the question of the party circle settled at the coming election at the ballot. Ten thousand more signatures are necessary to get the question on the ballot for the voter, and the work of securing the signers is going forward under direction of the publishers of the New State, who have been largely instrumental in getting the 30,000 already signed. Any who believes this a question the voter may help secure the names. If you feel the call, head it.

One idea that some of the republican exchanges seem to have of clearing their officers and candidates of wrong doing in the oil scandal is to charge some democrat with being in the same boat, and therefore equally guilty. Since when did two wrongs make a right? They appear to be very much pleased if per chance they may find a bit of suspicion leading toward any prominent democrat. In this respect they hope to be at least non-partisan. Correct in that. We hope that all of the guilty are punished, regardless of their party or their high rank in government.

We always hate to publish anything bad about the government and the officials; but sometimes we must. Just now no one can fail to condemn the acts of some of the cabinet officers, if they are guilty as charged. We would call them traitors, and condemn them to be shot at sunrise. Evidence keeps coming in tending to show that he who had been made head of the department of justice was conniving with crooks, law-breakers and sports to violate the laws of the land. The deeper the investigation goes the blacker the case appears to be looking. According to the evidence published Tuesday the attorney general appears in the light of one who is to suppress evidence in an extortion plot in the motion picture scandal. Again, according to reports he is consulted for advice as to the best way to evade a law, and sanctions the idea of letting one man be arrested and fined to get pictures into a state, and then all interested within that state use them and divide the earnings; for it seems that the federal law is not against showing the films, but transporting them from one state to another. Very fine scheme for cabinet officers to be dabbling in. In one such venture Daugherty and his partner in the crime are reported to be hoping to clear $180,000.

During the present discussion of the desirability or undesirability of the Japanese as American citizens it can do no harm to peruse this letter by a young Japanese soldier from Berkeley, California, to a friend who was about to enlist. He said "I know you will live straight and be a true and loyal soldier of democracy. My advice to you is to keep your life a clean sheet. Use pure English and avoid and abstain from language unbecoming a true American. It is the only way, by your actions and daily life, that you can prove to the American people the true worth of Japanese blood in an American community. You are one of the chosen ones and upon you and me rests a great responsibility. You are the link of friendship and the bond which will tie the East and West. All I can ask of you is to do your level best and be worthy of the people who bid you godspeed and await the news of your progress. And last, the most important of all, be true, be loyal, be faithful to the land of all lands, my own United States." Surely such a spirit reflects elements of good that might well be incorporated in the body politic of the United States.

So far as we can learn he has filled the place with signal ability, and to the satisfaction of those who simply want a square deal. At any rate, those who want him on the bench will have opportunity to say so at the primary next month.

AW, WHAT'S THE USE

By L. F. Van Zelm
Western Newspaper Union

Terminating a Joint Account

A Report to the Taxpayers for 1923 and a Legislative Program for 1924

(By Governor Charles W. Bryan.)

During the campaign in Nebraska two years ago the taxpayers were promised, by the present Chief Executive of the State, a reduction in the cost of government, reduction in taxes, reduction in the number of state employees who were riding on taxpayers' backs; protection to the people from unconscionable profiteering in the necessities of life, and legislation to assist in the above program.

Also legislation was promised to promote agriculture, cooperative marketing, promote the welfare of labor, development of water power, and municipal ownership of public utilities.

Reporting to the taxpayers will say that since 1921 there has been a reduction in State taxes in Nebraska of 40 per cent as a result of a determined fight by Democrats for tax reduction.

State taxes in Nebraska in 1923 are 13 percent less than they were in 1922.

The cost of administering the State Government for the year 1923 is $867,000.00 less than the taxpayers had to pay for the last year of the last Republican administration.

The number of state employees in the Governor's departments were reduced more than 300 persons or 50 per cent, the first six months of the present administration as compared with the first six months of the last Republican administration.

The cost of gravel, through state official pressure, has been reduced about 33 per cent, saving hundreds of thousands of dollars to taxpayers on road and home building in Nebraska.

The price of gasoline was reduced $800,000.00 per month by threatened state competition, saving millions of dollars to the people last year and plans are now under way to secure a reduction in the present outrageous and inexcusable high price of gasoline and oil which the oil monopoly has brought about by combining the oil producing agencies outside of Nebraska.

Through competition established by the Governor acting in his personal capacity, the price of coal during the past winter has been reduced throughout Nebraska from $3 to $5 per ton, saving millions of dollars to the people and making a sufficient saving on their coal bills alone to pay all of the taxes levied in Nebraska for the year 1923 or 1924.

The state taxes for the year 1923 and 1924 could have, and should have, been reduced another 7 per cent had the Republican majority in the legislature followed the Governor's recommendations. The Governor's budget, as shown on Page 229 of the House Journal for 1923, called for a total of $21,937,554.41 for the cost of administering the state government from 1923 to 1925.

The Republican majority in the legislature by retaining the code law and adding other items of expense and extravagance, appropriated as shown by the Republican auditor's statement of legislature appropriations—$23,191,532.44. In other words the Republican majority appropriated $1,203,978.03 more money to run the state government than the Governor asked for, and that amount more than the Governor said was needed to run the State's affairs for the present biennium.

The Governor recommended to the legislature many measures for the relief of the taxpayer and for the development of the State and especially for the protection and encouragement of the basic industries of the state, viz. agriculture and wage earners. Among the progressive measures recommended to the legislature by the Governor were—

Repeal Code Law

The repeal of the code bill which was demanded by the people and which is a menace to the people's government.

Repeal Intangible Tax Law

Repeal of the Intangible Tax Law that enabled wealth to shift a large amount of their taxes onto the farms and homes of Nebraska.

Automobile License Tax

Reduction of the Automobile License Tax one-half.

Soldier Bonus

Hospital accommodation in Nebraska for Ex-service men and a bonus for world war veterans to be paid by war profiteers.

A State Income Tax Law

A State Income Tax Law modeled after the Wisconsin law discriminating in favor of earned incomes.

Agriculture and Live Stock

A cooperative marketing facilities law.

A law making cooperative companies exempt from the operations of the Anti Trust Law.

A cooperative marketing law so that non capital, non profit organizations can incorporate in Nebraska as they do in Kansas.

Amend Nebraska Warehouse Law to conform to Federal law to aid farmers in financing their crops.

A rural credit law to supply financial needs to farmers and stock raisers.

A law that would eradicate bovine tuberculosis, scabies, and other diseases of live stock in Nebraska and eliminate the graft and tax impositions on the farmers, home owners and consumers.

Labor

Recognize the right to collective bargaining by labor's representative.

Opposition to the Industrial Court. The eight hour day and a living wage at American standards with a margin for old age is a right that should be accepted by all good citizens.

Establishment of a non compulsory arbitration and mediation board to investigate labor disputes before a lock out or strike is resorted to.

Water Power Development

A bill that would permit the development by districts of water power under the control of the State and thus save millions of dollars to the people annually in fuel, light, power, freight and development of manufacturing plants to utilize Nebraska raw materials.

Municipal Ownership

A general law that would authorize all cities and towns in Nebraska to establish municipal coal yards, ice plants, gas and oil stations, electric light and water plants to enable the people to protect themselves from the extortions of the trusts and combine which gets control of the essential necessities of life.

These measures are all progressive measures. They all are measures that have been tried in other states and cities and have proven their worth to the people.

The people of Nebraska demanded this legislation at the election two years ago by a majority of 50,000 votes.

The legislation referred to above was all recommended to the legislature to enact these measures into law.

The Republican majority in the legislature either defeated practically all of these progressive measures or prevented them from being enacted into law although practically all of the Democrats in the legislature and the two progressives voted to carry out Governor Bryan's recommendations.

The refusal of the Republican majority of the legislature to repeal the infamous code law is costing the taxpayers a million dollars that is worse than wasted.

The Code Law is patterned after the Cabinet Form of Government at Washington, D. C., which has produced the Veterans Bureau graft and the Tea Pot Dome scandal and must be repealed.

The loose, wasteful, inefficient and extravagant code system has resulted in a large deficit in the road department, also in the Bridge Fund and other funds under the last Republican administration, amounting to over $500,000.00.

The Republican majority of the legislature when in session, denied there was a deficit when the Governor called their attention to it but the Supreme Court has unanimously decided there was a deficit and the taxpayers will have to foot the bill by extra taxation next year.

If the large reduction in taxes, the reduction in the number of useless employees on the state's pay roll, the great reduction in the price of coal, gravel and gasoline is in accord with what the voters in Nebraska want—

If the people want the progressive legislation enacted into law which they voted for two years ago which no one dare dispute is in the interest of the farmers, laborers and the common people of Nebraska who make up 85 per cent of the state's population—

want him to continue his efforts to put the government of Nebraska on a business basis and to put the profiteers out of business—

Governor Bryan calls on all those who approve what has been done and will help carry out the rest of his progressive program to go to the polls primary day, April 8th, 1924, call for a Democratic ballot, put a cross after his name and then nominate and elect a Democratic legislature and a Democratic State ticket that will cooperate with him to repeal the Code Law and to enact this progressive legislative program into law.

CHARLES W. BRYAN.

SCIENCE CLUB MEETS

(From the Goldenrod)
Before a meeting of the Science Club, March 17, Professor Britzell spoke on the Modern Molecular and Atomic Theory.

The speaker first gave an explanation of Dalton's theory of the molecule and atom. He told of how Dalton, a Quaker lad, alone and unnoticed, worked out his theories in a little country school; of how the great scientists of his day first laughed at his theories, but later took note of his work and adopted his theories of the atom and molecule.

The old Greek conception was that matter could be divided up to such an extent that only ultimate particles remained. Dalton revived this old theory and taught that all of the particles in an element are exactly alike in size and weight and that they are unchangeable and imperishable. The number of these was finite, and one could divide matter to a certain point when the limit was reached. According to his theory, atoms of a certain weight combine with others of a certain weight in definite proportion whereby their combination took place always and only according to the laws of Definite and Multiple Proportions. As an example, let us look at a familiar substance as water. The smallest particle consists of two atoms of hydrogen united with one of oxygen. Thus the molecule consists of three atoms. He defines a molecule as the smallest amount of substance that can exist and still maintain its identity.

The little particles that Dalton called atoms suggested to him that their relative weights must be considered in terms of their combining weights. He took the weight of hydrogen to be one; therefore, he reasoned that oxygen must be eight, and that the molecule contained one atom of oxygen and two of hydrogen. However, this was the one question he could not answer—"How many atoms does each molecule contain?"

But in the light of modern research with regard to the atom, it is generally admitted that the old theory of Dalton's, whose atom was an unchangeable unit, is wrong. The smallest particles now known are electrons, whose mass is nearly two thousand times less than that of hydrogen atoms. Modern science says the atom is not a unit but has a central nucleus of positive electricity, surrounded by a system of negatively charged electrons. Those positively charged are much more numerous than those negatively charged.

As an example, let us take sodium chloride (Na Cl), which is neutral. When an electron of Na is in water, it is positively charged, while the Cl is negatively charged. When a current is passed through the cell, they combine. The negative ion leaves and makes it positive, due to the fact that it has lost one negative electron.

By means of the X-ray, additional light has been shed upon the inner structure of the atom. The great question was—"Could the atom be disintegrated by artificial means and what is the nature of the nucleus the central core of the atom, which is positively charged, and around which the negatively charged electrons describe themselves?"

In order to do this, it was necessary to subject the nucleus to a searching examination. This was accomplished with the aid of the X-ray machine.

"Up The Ladder" has been chosen for the Senior Class play. The story concerns the rise of a young business man who takes his stenographer with him in his climb to success. Tryouts will be held immediately and rehearsals will begin after the Junior play which will be given on March 27th.

Chas. H. Sloan for United States Senator

Service of Charles H. Sloan, Candidate for the Republican nomination of United States Senator, in behalf of the farmers discussed in an article on the subject of "Hog Cholera" in the World Herald, written by Earl Gaddis just prior to his untimely death. Mr. Gaddis said:

The subject recalls to mind the activity of former Congressman Charles Sloan of Geneva when he was at Washington. He took more of an interest in this than any congressman ever did, and his persistent steps on the floor and off brought more response than has been in evidence since he left the national capital. Regardless of what some of the farmers have been pleased to call Mr. Sloan's standstillism, the fact remains that no congressman ever represented them with greater fidelity than did he—and more ever accomplished more for them than he in many directions.

BEST RE-ELECTED COURT CAPTAIN

Wildcat Captain Chosen To Lead Wayne Quintet For Third Year In Succession.

(From The Goldenrod)
Guy Best, flashy Wayne forward, was elected to serve a third year as basketball captain at a meeting of the letter man March 6.

Two seasons back, when Coach Dale was tearing his hair over the fact that not a single letter man had returned from basketball, Guy, an All-State man from Norfolk High, entered school. When the squad got together there was no doubt as to who was to be chosen captain. The inexperienced Wildcat, fought their way through to a successful finish and Best won his position as captain of the All-States Collegiate team. Being on All-State teams is no novelty to Guy but it is still an honor and he is expected to repeat this year, especially in view of his scoring record of 185 points in thirteen conference games, a record which was made in spite of the fact that he was a marked man in every game. A four sport man at Norfolk, an injury to his knee has kept him off the gridiron in college. That this is a real misfortune to the football team, anyone who has seen him dribble his way through a five man defense for a close shot will agree.

With Best, Moran, Brainard, Wendt, Reed, and possibly Schroeder, returning next year and with only two members of the squad receiving their degrees, prospects for 1925 could not be better. If the new men coming in next year are as good as the yearlings of this season, Wayne will have little difficulty in floating a conference banner from the Ad building staff.

Here at length was born Upon the southern slopes the baby Spring,
A timid, fretful, ill-begotten thing,
A-suckle at the Winter's withered Paps:

Not such as when announced by thunder-claps
And ringed with swords of lightning, she would ride,
The haughty victrix and the mystic bride,
Clad splendidly as never Sheba's Queen,

Before her marching multitudes of green
In many-bannered triumph! Grudging, slow,
Amid the fraying fringes of the snow
The bunch-grass sprouted; and the air was chill.

Along the northern slopes 'twas winter still,
And no dream dreamed what Triumph-over-Death
Was nurtured now in some bleak Nazareth
Beyond the crest to sunward.

On they spurred
Through vacancies that waited for the bird,
And everywhere the Odic Presence dwelt.

The Southwest blow, the snow began to melt;
And when they reached the valley of the Snake,
The Niobrara's ice began to break,
And all night long and all day long it made

A sound as of a random cannonade
With rifles snarling down a skirmish line.
The geese went over. Every tree and vine

Was dotted thick with leaf-buds when they saw
The little river of Keyapaha
Grown mighty for the moment. Then they came,
One evening when all thickets were aflame

With pale green witch-fires and the windflowers blew,
To where the headlong Niobrara they
His speed against the swain Missouri's flank
And hurled him roaring to the further bank—

A giant staggered by a pigmy's sling,
Thence, plunging ever deeper into Spring,
Across the greening prairie east by south
They rode, and, just above the Platte's wide mouth,
Came, weary with the trail, to Atkinson.

EDITORIALS FROM GOLDENROD
President Coolidge says that teaching "rises above a profession into the realm of art." This will be of great value to all the teachers who may know that they are starving for art's sake. Isn't it thrilling?—The Nebraska Educational Journal.

No one person has a monopoly of all the best brains, although you may sometimes harbor this delusion. "Let competition be an incentive to your energy and ambition." You may become one of the greatest of the great if you choose to cultivate your own intelligence rather than prey upon the ideas of others. "Play square with the other fellow, but prove that you do possess grey matter, then beat him out on your own merits."

According to a report, there is a discussion on foot to move Doane College from its location at Crete, Nebraska. Whatever may be the decision as to the location of Doane College, we hope that the college may profit by it and steadily increase in prosperity and strength. Commenting upon this proposition, the Nebraska State Journal says: "Nebraska contains a number of endowed colleges well distributed throughout the state. It is desirable that these should survive and prosper. To have all educational opportunities under single control would be unfortunate. Nebraska needs its Dartmouth as well as its Yale."

Everyone on the "hill" seems to approve of the idea of a student council. Most of the students think it is needed, but no one seems to care about trying to start one. Some say that we are sure of having one here next fall. But who is going to start it?

If the plan is not well formulated this spring, there will be no council next year, at least. There are too many things to occupy the attention of the students and faculty in the fall for them to start a Student Council.

Of course, student representation might not work out as it should here. It would not harm anything to try it for a while if students want it. Let some organization lead and make plans now for next fall.

Why do politicians often turn out to be "crooks"? If you would find the answer, dear voter, take a long look into your own conscience and into the heart of your neighbor. How many times did you and he steal watermelons when you were boys? How many times were you chased from some sweet old lady's apple orchard? "What has this got to do with Secretary Fall's leasing oil reserves to Sinclair and Doheny?" you ask in indignation. Let us follow the story further. Do you remember the first year you were in business and you needed every dollar you possibly could get? Do you remember the day when you had a chance to beat the banker or farmer out of a dollar and you did it, consoling yourself with the thought that it wasn't much?

It's the same story, Mr. Voter. Mr. Fall and Mr. Sinclair both stole watermelons. Neither took any pains to walk ten miles, as did our Lincoln, when they short-changed a customer, and, as a result, you see the oil scandal.

Neither of these men started out to be "crooked" but, by the accumulation of little habits, they have arrived. As long as America teaches her children to worship money and power, as long as America sanctions watermelon stealing and bootlegging, she will have her Falls, Sinclairs, Denbys, and Dohenys. These men are human the same as you and I, and, as you and I, their only protection against temptation is sanction of public opinion and habit.

The remedy is for each American to resolve to change his code of ethics.

AS WE WERE SAYING—

It's a good thing for society that tomorrow is always coming but never gets here. It seems to be innate for one to be always planning on what tomorrow will bring forth. It is this eternal mystery that makes for joy in an otherwise uninteresting world.

We hear the cannibals are suffering with a terrible epidemic of hay fever. It seems that they ate a grass widow a few weeks ago.

We admit that water runs but when they say cement walks—Well, you'll have to prove it to us.

The poets seem to keep the moon in a perpetual moulting condition; shedding its rays.

A king reigns, but when his subjects see him they shout, "Hail! Hail!"

"There's your cue. Get out on the stage!"
"My cue! Say what do you think I am, a Chinaman?"

We once saw a man, who thought that Bill Hart of Hart, Schaffner and Marx wrote "The Outcasts of Poker Flat."

Water, to the poet, must be human. For instance, "The babbling brook ran through the woods, tripped o'er the stones and fell into the chasm."

Many people have felt the window pane but few have had the chimney flue.

Is it a mere coincidence that whenever the night falls in America the day breaks on China?

MARKS RISE IN SECOND QUARTER

Graduates and Sophomores Tie For Honors On Semester Grades. School Averages 82

(From the Goldenrod)
The ranking of the classes on semester grades showed a somewhat different result from the quarter ranking posted on the bulletin board last fall. The school average has risen 1 1/2 per cent, the greatest increase being in the senior class, which raised its average 4 3/4 per cent. The grad class showed a falling off of 2-1/3 per cent but remained in first place, although tied by the sophomores. The seniors came up from fifth place to third while the preps held fourth, the rurals dropping back to sixth when the juniors added 3 3/8 per cent and went to fifth place. The freshmen also showed an increase but remained in last place.

Individual honors are divided between Blanche Merritt, graduate and Mary Tyrrell, sophomore, both of whom averaged 96. Mildred Wilson, junior, and Walter Albert, preparatory, tied for third place with 95 3/4 per cent each. Of the thirty-five students on the honor rolls of the seven classes, fifteen were boys.

Considering the fact that one of the seven classes, the rural class, has no boys enrolled and that the girls, in the whole school, are greatly in the majority, this fact is rather surprising.

WORK ON GROUNDS TO COMMENCE SOON

Extensive improvements will be made on the grounds and campus this spring, it was stated by President Conn in announcing the signing of a contract for shrubbery with the Arlington Nurseries. A hedge of Japanese Barberry will be planted along both sides of all the driveways, and appropriate clumps of shrubbery will be placed at the entrances and turns. Foundation shrubbery is to be planted around the four main buildings, and the water lines will be extended. The planting of the shrubs will be under the direction of a landscape gardener supplied by the nursery company.

While in Lincoln he also took part in the meeting of the Nebraska Chapter of the National Council of Geography Teachers, which was held for the purpose of discussing proposed changes in the course of study for elementary schools. Before leaving, he expressed his opposition to the one-cycle geography course about which discussion was expected to rage, stating that it is founded on faulty pedagogy and that all textbooks are outdated for the two cycle course, involving a slight repetition, which is in use at present.

DAIRY

Fit Methods to Follow in Production of Cream

Since at the present time, our farmers who are milking a few good dairy cows, are generally better fixed, financially, than those following almost any other line, it seems that we should pay particular attention to the handling of the product, that it may be put on the market in the best condition possible and thereby bring the biggest returns.

Methods which will aid in producing a good product:

Keep the barn and cows clean. Remove manure from stable twice daily. Wipe udder and flanks with a damp cloth, before milking.

Milk with dry hands, into a small top milk pail.

Separate while warm, to insure less waste in the skimmilk.

Wash separator thoroughly after each separation. Use a brush rather than a rag. First use warm water and washing powder, then scald all parts thoroughly.

Do not separate into vessel containing the cooled cream. Cool freshly separated cream before adding it to previous skimming.

Stir cream thoroughly every time a fresh supply is added, using a stirrer manufactured for the purpose.

A cooling tank should be on every farm. Run the water pumped for live stock through the cream tank and then into the stock tank.

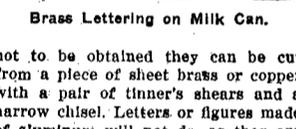

Keep cooled cream in a sanitary place which is cool, sanitary, free from odors and well aired.

Cream should be delivered to market at least three times a week in summer and twice in winter.

Cream should not be allowed to freeze.—L. K. Crowe, assistant professor, animal husbandry, Colorado Agricultural college.

Brass Letters on Cans Will Prevent Much Loss

When the owner's initials or number is painted on his cream cans, they have to be remarked frequently, as the marks become dim, due to washing and shipping. In order to avoid this I solder brass letters to the sloping part of the can, just below the neck, writes W. R. Taylor of Missouri in the Rural New Yorker. Copper or brass letters can usually be purchased at the variety stores, but if not to be obtained they can be cut from a piece of sheet brass or copper with a pair of tinner's shears and a narrow chisel. Letters or figures made of aluminum will not do, as they are very difficult to solder. Cans so marked can always be easily identified and thus loss will be prevented. The lids should be stenciled or marked to correspond.

Dairy Cow Is Necessity, Claims Florida Expert

"Feed prices continue to soar, and the price of land increases, so will the dairy cow replace to a very large extent the beef steer, the sheep, and the pig as a producer of human food," says John M. Scott of the University of Florida experiment station. "And about the only rival the dairy cow has is the busy hen."

The dairy cow and the hen are the only two farm animals that produce good, nourishing food day after day, when properly cared for. They provide foods that are indispensable in the home.

"What is home without milk and eggs?" asks Mr. Scott. These items enter so largely into the preparation of food for the family, the cow meaning life itself to thousands of children.

"We owe the cow and the hen a debt that can be paid only by giving them the very best of care that they may produce the maximum amount of food," says Mr. Scott. And neither of them are now receiving the attention that will be theirs when their full value is realized.

Cow Is Highly Nervous and Is Easily Excited

The cow is a highly-strung nervous organism and easily excited, shocked or affected in one way or another to the resultant lessening of her milk flow. Turning her out on a cold, windy or wet day to drink ice-cold water causes a serious shrink in milk production. Weigh the milk night and morning, without fail, every day of the year and watch the records. That tells the story of such shocks.

Taxicab Driver Proves Chivalry Is Not Dead

"Don't offer me money, lady—it's so long since I have been a hero," said a taxicab driver, proving thereby that chivalry has not died.

The girl was dressed to impress a possible employer—that is, in her best. She had been job-hunting, and a sudden rainstorm left her marooned in an office building on a Fifth avenue corner. Taxis of all colors, all of them comfortably filled, went skidding past, and for half an hour the girl watched them greedily. Finally an empty cab came along. She dashed for it and jumped in without a word of warning, says the New York Sun and Globe.

"Get up; get up, miss," said the driver, beginning to look frightened. "I've gotta take this cab around to the garage."

"I can't get up," said the girl. "You'll hafta get up," said the driver sternly. "I can't stay here all night—that cop is telling me to move on now."

"Now, man to man," said the girl, looking at him out of black-fringed Irish eyes, "do you want me to get this hot-wet?"

He looked at the eyes and then at the hat. It was a pink silk hat, and, like the clouds, it had a silver lining.

"No, miss, I don't," he answered. "Tell you what I can do—I'll take you as far as I'm going and get you another cab there."

Without even throwing the meter he drove off and did not swerve until they reached the taxi barn.

Quintana Roo Better Than Its Name Sounds

Quintana Roo left a bad taste in the mouths of Mexicans in the days of Porfirio Diaz because it was principally known as the place to which political offenders and "bad Indians," mainly from Sonora, were sent to do time and die in its unhealthy climate. But now comes a report telling of the vast natural resources of this practically unknown territory of 18,000 square miles, comprising the eastern part of the peninsula of Yucatan and extending about 300 miles north and south. Data brought to United States Consul O. Gaylord Marsh at Progreso by prospectors, chicle gatherers and archeologists show that Quintana Roo has several ranges of hills, about nine lakes and several short rivers. The western part is said to contain wide rolling pampas, the interior is rich in valuable tropical woods and the coast abounds in fish. The soil is reported good for all sorts of tropical and semi-tropical vegetables and fruits.

Of the some 9,000 inhabitants of the territory, 2,500 live in Santa Cruz de Bravo, the capital. Transportation to the interior is lacking, but the recent arrival of an American caterpillar tractor has given the more enterprising coast residents visions of a speedy development.

At the present time most of the estate has been distributed, but there are still possibilities of further gains by a kind of retroactivity of the power of money. The proverbial green bay tree has nothing on funds that are wisely placed, in wise control, by those who, realizing their end is near, wish to make wisest provision for their heirs.

Mountain Has 20,000 Deer

Despite the isolated and inaccessible character of Kaibab plateau of northern Arizona, it is one of the most beautiful in the United States, and it is in fact a mountain with 20,000 deer.

Nowhere else in the United States can the same number of deer be found in an equal area, says the Detroit News.

The game preserve is thirty-five to forty-five miles in extent, and the deer are free to roam throughout this immense territory. Its isolation has helped the government to keep the hunters away. When the preserve was established in 1906 it was estimated that the area contained about 3,000 deer. An estimate made by representatives of the United States biological survey and forest service in 1923, after an extensive survey of the area, places the present number at 20,000.

This high, flat-topped mountain, sometimes called Buckskin mountain, but better known as Kaibab mountain, flanks the Grand canyon on the north.

Egyptian Flag Changed

The familiar red and white colors of the Egyptian flag have disappeared. By edict of the king the symbolic white crescent and three stars remain, but green has been substituted for the red background. Green is the color entitled to be worn by those who have accomplished the pilgrimage to Mecca.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale
BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER
THE SNOW SHOVELS

The two snow shovels were resting. They had been doing a lot of hard work.

It is true that they had been helped in their work by two boys, but they had done their share, too. They had been strong and steady and they hadn't objected to shoveling and shoveling the snow.

There had been an extra fall of snow the night before and everything was covered with it.

No one could walk along the streets until the snow was shoveled, for it had fallen in banks and great drifts. And now that paths were made the snow shovels were having a rest.

Then, too, the boys who had been using them had gone off to school. They had been left against the barn door.

"I think it is nice to be a snow shovel," said the first one. "I would hate to be a fan in the summer time, for example, and have to blow about in the hot air."

"It is so much nicer to go through the cool, soft, beautiful snow. I dearly love the snow."

"And I agree with you," said the second snow shovel. "I've often thought how dreadful it would be to be a flatiron and to be put on a stove."

"There was an old flatiron on in the barn once and it talked to me and told me how it used to sit on a stove until it was good and hot and then how it was pushed back and forth over damp clothes until it made them smooth and warm, too."

"That would be a job. I wouldn't care for at all."

"But our work! Our work is play!" "Yes," said the first snow shovel, "and it is so easy to work in good crisp cold weather. In the summer time it is different. I wouldn't blame anyone for being lazy in the summer time."
