

WAYNE GOLFERS LOSE AT NORFOLK

Wayne Men in Championship Flight Eliminated Before Finals; Hunter Last Out.

Wayne hopes for the Northeast Nebraska golf trophy flickered out Wednesday afternoon when Professor W. C. Hunter, only Wayne man left in the championship flight, lost to "Biffy" Rickert, Norfolk crack, 1 down. Hunter had previously eliminated Frank Morgan, another Wayne hope, 3 and 1. Dr. A. D. Lewis lost his second round match to Nelson of Norfolk, tournament medalist, 2 and 1. As a result of his victory over Hunter, Rickert now ranks as favorite to take the tourney. It was said here this morning that he set a new course record yesterday, shooting the nine hole course in 34, two under par.

J. H. Kemp and J. E. Hufford were still in the running in the secretary's flight at noon today.

The Wayne men failed to show well in the qualifying round, Morgan topping the Wayne contingent with an 36. He stood sixth in the ranking and was closely followed by Dr. A. D. Lewis with 37. Hunter, who can usually be depended upon to be among the leaders, turned in an 38. F. R. Mildner and John Ahern qualified in the president's flight and James Brittain and D. E. Brainard in the secretary's flight. Richard Hall of Madison, a member of the Wayne club, also qualified in the third flight. J. E. Hufford and J. S. Horney went into the surprise fight.

In the first round Morgan defeated Baldwin 4 and 3; Hunter easily disposed of South; and Lewis beat Collins 5 and 4. Ahern was defeated in his first match and Brainard fell before Ready of Hartington, a Nebraska letter man in the stick sport. Hall went out before Rieffer but Hufford shot a good game to win his match 7 and 6.

At the banquet Monday night Dr. Eby of Hartington was elected president of the association succeeding Tom V. Golden of O'Neill, who has held the office for the past two years. Ralph Kryger of Neligh was chosen vice-president and A. W. Breyer secretary and treasurer. The tournament is reported to have been, in spite of the heavy rains which slowed up the course, the largest and most interesting in the history of the annual meetings.

Dr. L. L. Nelson, of Norfolk, former champion, won medalist honors when he made the qualifying round in 79. B. M. Beeler, defending champion, and William Reckert, former Norfolk professional, were tied for second with 82. The best score of the tournament to date has been made by Dr. McKinnon of Norfolk, who made the nine hole course in 37, tying the course record. This record was also tied by "Bill" Witherspoon, of Omaha, in an exhibition match Sunday.

YANKTON PLANS

BRIDGE OPENING

Yankton, South Dakota, August 5.—Decision to hold a 10 day celebration marking the formal opening of the Missouri river bridge here, and fixing of the dates at October 15 to 25, featured a meeting of directors of the Meridian Highway Bridge company Monday. Plans for the celebration, and making of committees, will be taken up at a meeting later this week.

Special days will be designated during this celebration, one of which will be "Nebraska" and another "Pioneer day," the annual home coming festival for Yankton college and city.

ADDITION TO COLLEGE FACULTY

There will be room for about twenty more children from the town and country in the State Teachers College training school this fall as a result of the employment of an additional critic teacher for the fourth and fifth grades. This increase in the size of the faculty has been made necessary by the large increase in the size of the graduating class. Last year one hundred thirty-nine seniors taught in the training school and as many are expected to do their practice teaching there this year. The addition of the extra critic will provide facilities for a dozen more practice teachers.

CAUGHT IN STORM AT SIOUX CITY

Professor E. J. Hunter and family were among the Wayne people who were at the circus when last Friday's storm struck Sioux City. Mr. Hunter says that about one-third of the main show was over when the storm forced the crowd to leave. The big tent was reeling in the wind and the fifteen thousand people crowded into every possible kind of shelter in the vicinity of the grounds. Hundreds were drenched by the down-pour. Mr. Hunter drove his car into the Sioux City Iron Foundry's plant and was held there for an hour and a half while the rain continued. He left Sioux City at five o'clock and found water on the roads all the way until he came within two miles of Wayne. He reached home at nine o'clock in the evening.

IRA HOSHAU HURT IN RAIL ACCIDENT

Wayne Section Man Seriously Hurt When Gas Car Leaves Track in Sioux City Hospital

Ira Hoshaw, Wayne section man, was seriously injured about 8:30 yesterday morning when the gas car on which he was riding left the track about three miles east of town. Prompt medical attention was secured and he was taken to the Methodist hospital in Sioux City. The two men with Mr. Hoshaw were uninjured and can give no explanation for the accident. The car was running along at the usual rate of speed when it suddenly lurched itself from the track. The wet rails may have been the cause.

Mrs. Hoshaw left this morning to join her husband in Sioux City.

STEELE-BARGER

Mr. Pearl M. Barger and Miss Nelle Steele were married today, August 7, 1924, at 2:30, at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Miss Steele is the daughter of Mrs. Caroline Steele of Wayne and a graduate from the High School and the two year course of the State Teachers College. She has taught school for four years. Last year she taught at Bayard, Iowa.

Mr. Barger is the son of John Barger of Coleridge and is engaged in the electrical engineering work on the Union Pacific railroad at Omaha. He graduated from the Electrical Engineering department of Iowa State College at Ames last June.

Mr. and Mrs. Barger will make their home in Omaha. Mrs. Barger has many friends in Wayne who wish them much happiness.

UNUSUAL YIELD OF OATS

E. M. Laughlin last Monday threshed oats that yielded over seventy-two bushels to the acre by actual measurement of land and weighing of oats.

Mr. Laughlin bought the land ten years ago for $120 an acre. At that time the average yield per acre was less than twenty bushels to the acre. He has built this land up to its present standard by careful farming and scientific rotation of crops. The oats this year served as a nurse crop for sweet clover which he will pasture this fall and plow under next spring. Corn will then be planted on the land.

NEW CAFETERIA COMING

A new cafeteria will soon be opened in the building formerly occupied by the Judson Furniture Company. P. L. Miller, owner of the building, said yesterday morning. The place has been rented by the Lincoln Supply and Fixture company of Lincoln, which operates a chain of restaurants in a number of Nebraska towns, including Beatrice and Grand Island. The building is now being prepared for occupancy and the Lincoln concern will take possession at an early date.

SCOUTS TO CAMP

Wayne Boy Scouts, accompanied by Veri McKim, J. H. Kemp, and L. A. Fanske, left by truck Wednesday morning for a week's outing at Lee's Camp on Crystal Lake. The boys making the trip were Henry Gulliver, Charles Carhart, Kelly Peterson, Herbert Perry, "Waddy" Felber, Wallace Johnson, Stanley McChesney, and Harvey Gildersleeve. They were all set for a roaring good time and a taste of real camp life.

E. E. Galley, scoutmaster, and A. W. Gildersleeve furnished transportation.

HEAVY STORMS SWEEP SECTION

Rain, Wind, and Lightning Cause Damage Over Wayne Territory; Savidge Tent Destroyed.

Big Wind at Wisner

Following close on the heels of last Friday's storm, another heavy rain swept the same territory early Tuesday morning. Dog Creek was again out of its banks north of town and county commissioners reported two bridges out in Chapin and Strahan precincts. No estimate could be placed on the damage as we go to press but culverts and grades were damaged all over the county.

The center of this second storm seems to have been south of Wayne. Tracks on the main line between Stanton and Norfolk were washed out in no less than eleven places and were not repaired until four o'clock in the afternoon. The roadbed is still softened by the rains and trains have not been able to maintain schedule time until today.

The brunt of the storm fell on Wisner where a windstorm lasting about two minutes wrecked farm buildings and tore down trees and chimneys. The Walter Savidge Amusement Company sustained heavy losses as the big tent was practically torn to pieces by the wind.

Every building on the Werner place west of Wisner, was demolished and the barn, corn crib, and several other small buildings on the Newbrigg farm were destroyed.

Friday Night's Storm

A heavy cloudburst and thunderstorm last Friday afternoon did several thousand dollars worth of damage in the territory north of Wayne between Randolph and Sioux City. One life was lost, thousands of bushels of harvested grain washed away by high water, and wind and hail added to the damage in several places. Tracks were washed out in many places and trains on the Crofton branch of the C. St. P. M. & O. were not running on schedule until Monday. The storm apparently centered around Beldah, where a four inch downpour was reported, but damage was done over a wide stretch of territory from McLean to Sioux City and as far south as Wayne. A severe hail storm swept the territory north of Randolph, where crops were wiped out over a considerable area. Martin Wendell, a farmer living three miles east of Bloomfield was struck and instantly killed by lightning and at Randolph Mrs. William Bowles was knocked unconscious when her home was struck. The lightning made a special target of Randolph, as three houses were damaged during the electrical storm. Heavy rain and wind at Sioux City forced the Barnum & Bailey circus to shorten its afternoon performance. A crowd estimated at fifteen thousand was on the circus grounds when the storm broke and a panic was narrowly averted. Little rain fell in Wayne itself but the country just north of town shared in the general cloudburst. A great amount of damage was done when Dog Creek rose, washing grain shocks away over a large area. The creek commenced rising as soon as the storm broke and rose at the rate of more than three feet an hour until by midnight it was out of its banks and had blocked the Laurel road.

NEVIN HERE

Editor C. E. Nevin of Laurel dropped in at the Democrat office Saturday on his way to the Black Hills. The Laurel scribe spent the last of June and the first two weeks of July in the Hills and left his family and car there when duty called him back to Laurel. He says that he expects to stay awhile this time; at least until he gets the limit in trout. He reported a heavy rain in Laurel Friday and said that the Logan was out of its banks near the depot. The Burlington tracks were washed out between Laurel and Randolph.

FIFTEEN CENT GAS IN NORFOLK

Gasoline prices in Norfolk dropped to fifteen cents when the Blackstone garage began the stampede Saturday. This is declared to be the price in most of the towns of this section, Fremont and Columbus both having fifteen cent gas.

The price in Wayne remained at 18 3/4 this morning. The situation here seems to have reached an impasse. The "trust" claims to be afraid to cut prices while independents hesitate to take the lead for fear that once the price is forced down they will be unable to raise it should conditions change.

CONN DISCUSSES STATE COLLEGE

President of School Came to Wayne Thirty-one Years Ago; Has Seen Many Changes.

Dr. U. S. Conn, president of the State Teachers College, first came to Wayne thirty-one years ago, he told a Democrat reporter Monday. "Changes? Of course there have been all sorts of changes since I arrived in Wayne. When I came here from Fremont to teach in the old Nebraska Normal College there was no town north of the standpipe. The Normal had five or six buildings, none of which, except the north end of East Hall, is now standing. Everything between the College hill and the corner where Professor Lackey lives was a corn field. There were eight or nine teachers employed in the public schools, and the building equipment consisted of a frame building on the site of the present high school and a two room ward school near the standpipe."

Not one of the present building at the College was built, President Conn said, until ten years later, when Kingsbury Hall, which was remodelled last year, was erected. Two or three years later Terrace, North, and West halls were built and, a little later, the building which is now used as the teacher training school.

Dr. Conn taught in the Pile school for three years and was then superintendent of Wayne public schools for four years more. He later became superintendent of schools at Columbus and when the private normal was purchased by the state in 1910 he was chosen president. "The legislature appropriated $90,000 to buy the institution and they got it for $70,000. So we had $20,000 dollars available for running the College that first year. The next legislature appropriated $55,000 for a Library and Science building and $15,000 for a sewer and water system, as well as providing for maintenance. The present replacement value of the plant is $750,000 and the last biennial appropriation $305,000. This, however, does not cover our total expenditure, as we yearly collect about $20,000 in fees."

Growth of College

The yearly enrollment during Dr. Conn's administration has increased from 500 to 1700 different students and the faculty from 15 to 40. "A notable change has come about in those fourteen years in the kind of student who comes to Wayne. During the early days most of our students were seeking to prepare themselves for securing a county certificate by examination. Now ninety per cent of them have high school certificates and have in mind the completion of either the two or four year course.

"The future development of the school depends largely upon the attitude of the legislature. The departments have reached such size that an increase in the teaching force and in the number of class rooms is imperative. The present appropriation is not large enough to provide for any expansion either in equipment or attendance and an increase of one hundred thousand dollars in the next biennial appropriation would not only be of great value to the educational interests of northeast Nebraska, but it would be a wise and economical use of funds."

While he feels proud of most of the changes which have taken place during his career in Wayne, Dr. Conn takes pride in the fact that the college faculty has changed so little. "Of the fifteen instructors who opened school on September 19, 1910, seven are still with us. They are Miss Piper, Miss Stocking, Dr. House, Dean Hahn, Professor Britell, Professor Lewis, and Professor Hunter."

Plans for Next Year

When asked concerning plans for the next term of school, he said that there would be some changes in the teaching staff. Among the instructors who are returning from leave of absence are Miss Alwine Luers, Miss Edith Stocking and Miss Louise Wendt. Mr. Orr, of the Department of Education, has been granted leave to take work toward his doctorate at the University of Chicago. Kenneth N. Parke, M. A., Chicago, has been secured to take up Mr. Orr's work during his absence. Miss Jessie Bell Woodworth of Lexington, Missouri, will be employed in the home economics department to take the place of Miss Lenore Lindsey, resigned. Professor Paul E. Andrews, at present a member of the faculty of the University of Missouri, who holds a master's degree from Clark University and

HUNTER IN ACCIDENT

Professor W. C. Hunter narrowly escaped serious injury last week when the car which he was driving lost its right front wheel and threw him into the ditch on the road north of Wayne. Mr. Hunter was returning from Laurel at the time and was going about thirty miles an hour when he noticed that something was wrong. He at once shut off the engine and put on the brakes. At the same instant the wheel, which had been running loosely on the axle, came off. The car stopped; but Mr. Hunter, in accordance with several well established laws of physics, kept right on until he reached a suitable landing place in the softest and muddiest ditch in the vicinity. The car was undamaged.

MORE TENNIS COURTS AT WAYNE COLLEGE

Move House Off Campus to Secure Room for Courts to Be Made This Fall.

The cottage on the southeast corner of the College campus is to be moved to a lot east of its present location, President U. S. Conn said Monday. The change is for the purpose of securing ground for a number of tennis courts which will be laid out this fall. The increased popularity of the court game among the students has made the two courts which have been in use this year altogether insufficient to meet the demand and five or six new courts are to be put into shape for the opening of school in the fall. The maintenance of the courts is taken care of by the Tennis Association, a student organization.

ODD ACCIDENT

Frank Kahney, southwest of Randolph, was burned in a rather unusual manner last week. In an effort to rid a grain pit of rats he sprayed it with a strong dip solution. The next day he went down looking for results and during his investigation struck a match. The noise of the explosion attracted his brother-in-law, Lawrence Kolterman, who pulled Kahney out of the flaming pit. At last report Kahney was doing nicely.

EDITOR GARDNER IN DENVER

Editor E. O. Gardner and party reached Denver Monday evening, Mrs. Gardner informs us. They left Wayne Saturday morning and that night reached Mason City, where W. D. Redmond, former registrar at the college, brought the band to serenade them. The 265 miles into Sidney were covered the next day and, in spite of tire trouble, they reached Denver the next night.

comes highly recommended by President Atwood and Missouri University officials, will head the department of Geography and Geology, made vacant by the resignation of Professor E. E. Lackey, who has accepted a position at the University of Nebraska. One teacher will be added to the training school staff.

Recovering from Injury

President Conn seems to be in fine shape and has almost completely recovered from the injury to his leg, which has necessitated his taking treatments the past two months. He was very cheerful over good news from his daughter, Ardath, who is in Minnesota recovering from an operation for appendicitis and said, "The only thing which could make me feel better would be news that we were to have a new training school. We are remodeling the old building to put it in more useable shape, but it would still be needed and utilized if we had a new one, and we need the new building badly."

RAILROAD COMPANY HELD RESPONSIBLE

Blame For Emerson Tragedy Placed On Company by Coroner's Jury; Engine Was Unlighted.

The coroner's jury which finished the inquest into the cause of the railroad accident which occurred at the crossing near Emerson recently, in which three people were killed, decided that the railway company was criminally negligent in the operation of its trains and put the blame for the accident on the company.

It was brought out at the inquest that according to a recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission, an engine while running backwards at night must display a rear light. The engine which struck the car in this case had doubled-headed a freight over the ridge from Emerson to Nacora. As it was not equipped with a tail light it was to make the return trip behind another freight train. This train was late and left Nacora without waiting for the extra engine. In an effort to overtake the freight the engine backed toward Emerson and was but a short distance behind the train when the accident occurred. Indeed, it is supposed that the occupants of the car, seeing the train pass the crossing, took it for granted that there was no other train near and attempted to go over the crossing where they were struck by the unlighted engine.

Mrs. Payne, the only survivor of the accident, is unable to give a clear account of the crash. The engine was almost on top of the car before it was seen and she was about to jump when she was given a violent push and thrown clear of the car. Little was left of the car but a tangled mass of steel, as the Nash burst into flames immediately after the impact. Miss Lewin, of Thurston, was killed instantly and Johnson and Rastede, the remaining occupants, died within a few hours.

BETTER LAWN CONTEST WINNERS

Judging the lawns for the July awards in the better lawn contest took place this week and the winners will be announced in an early issue. A slight delay in naming the winners is probable, as several of the judges are out of town.

Winners of the June contest were: First district (First to Third streets), Wm. Dammeyer; Second (Third to Fifth), Dr. A. D. Lewis, first, H. C. Henney, second, and Dr. E. S. Blair, third. In the district between Fifth and Seventh D. E. Brainard took first, Dr. G. J. Hess second and L. Wax third. Between Seventh and Ninth streets A. W. Ahern took first honors with Dr. A. C. McMaster second and A. B. Carhart third. The fifth district, comprising everything north of Ninth street, honors were awarded to William Beckenhauer. The Wayne Hospital stood second and Adolph Kieper third.

When the contest closes the first week in September ribbons will be awarded to the first three in each district for the entire three month period as well as to the individual in each district whose lawn shows the greatest improvement.

SOUTH NORFOLK PASSES

Ticket for South Norfolk? But there is no such place. You couldn't find such a station in Madison County with a fine-tooth comb and a microscope, for last Sunday morning at 1:00 a. m. South Norfolk became as extinct as the dodo. It is Norfolk now, may it please your honors, and the old Norfolk station is now known as the Seventh Street station.

The change is due to the agitation of Norfolk business men who objected to seeing their town listed as on a branch line and demanded that they receive recognition for their more important station on the main line. It was announced several weeks ago but did not become effective until the new time card was issued Sunday.

The outstate men played remarkable golf and the match was all square up to the ninth hole where the Omaha pros began to shoot birdie golf. Five of the next seven holes were won in three and Witherpoon ended the match, 4 and 3, when he sank his mashie shot for an eagle 3 on the long sixth. Morgan and McKinnon teamed well and forced their opponents to better than par golf to win.

THE raw materials of concrete are sand, stone and cement, while petroleum compounds, boiling point fractions, are the components of gasoline. But concrete won't wear well or gasoline give big mileage and power unless the ingredients are in properly balanced proportion.

In Red Crown the balance of light and slightly heavier boiling point fractions is so accurate that adding or taking away any fraction gives a less satisfactory motor fuel. That is why we call it the balanced gasoline.

PRESIDENT U. S. CONN OF THE STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

LAFOLLETTE TO ENDORSE NORTON FOR GOVERNOR?

Lincoln, August 3—Promise of a warm three-cornered campaign in Nebraska has been increased by the news that Frank A. Harrison is to be here directing the fight for LaFollette and Wheeler, with the supervision of matters in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Wyoming also in his hands. Mr. Harrison, who has been in Washington and Chicago conferring with LaFollette and his national managers, is expected to be here today or Monday.

The acting state committee for the La Follette movement in this state met Saturday afternoon at the Lihedell hotel, with five of the seven members present. They discussed the question whether the new party organization which will be formed as a legal merium to get the names of La Follette and Wheeler on the ballot would be compelled to nominate one or more candidates for state office also, in order to continue its existence after election and be assured of a separate primary ticket in 1926.

Sentiment at this meeting was distinctly favorable to J. N. Norton, the democratic nominee for governor, as against Dan Butler or any third party candidate. But A. H. Bigelow of Omaha, one of those friendly to Norton, thought it might be well to have at least one state candidate on the La Follette ticket, merely as a safeguard.

He feared that the new party might not be sure of its legal status for the future if it had no one on its ticket except the nominees for president and vice president.

It was finally to leave this matter open until the committee meets again.

which will be at Grand Island on August 18. In the meantime, all the members of the committee are to study the election laws and see what they can find to guide their action. Secretary of State Pool will also be consulted.

No suggestion of aid or comfort was given to the gubernatorial candidacy of Dan Butler, launched at Omaha on Friday by J. L. Beebe, W. H. Green, and half a dozen others claiming to be the state committee of the progressive party. While Butler is reported willing to get behind La Follette for president, this sentiment is not likely to be reciprocated. La Follette and his national committee have said that they do not want the presidential ticket loaded down with local candidates in the different states.

BIG POWER LINE PLANNED

The Nebraska Gas & Electric company will soon start the construction of a 66,000 volt transmission line from Lincoln to Plattsmouth. It will be about sixty miles in length, although the exact route has not yet been determined by the engineers.

The enlarged capacity of the Lincoln plant of the same company and its connections with other plants afford a super-power system that will run 200 miles, from Grant City, Missouri to Phillips, Nebraska, where connection is affected with the Central Power company and current is inter-changeable. At Plattsmouth current may be distributed to the Iowa territory that is served by affiliated companies.

MOVE FOR FREE BRIDGE ATTACKED

Columbus Telegram: That George Halle, self-styled Meridian highway booster, who halted here Saturday on his way from his home in St. Helena, Nebraska, to Lincoln on his way to see Gov. Bryan in an effort to ascertain what this state would do to make the new bridge across the Missouri river at Yankton a free instead of a toll bridge, is merely promoting personal interest, was the conviction expressed today by Herbert Hahn, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Halle declared Saturday that Governor McMaster of South Dakota had given his assent to the free bridge idea for the two states to purchase the bridge and that he was going to get Governor Bryan's support for the same object. Mr. Hahn, speaking as secretary of the Nebraska State Meridian Highway association, declared that Halle did not even know who was the president of the association until he told him and added: "The real reason Halle is fighting the project is that his farm up near St. Helena is right next to the bridge and he hates to pay for the privilege of driving across it to Yankton, forgetting that the stockholders who built it are entitled to some return on their investment."

ARE THE FARMERS SILLY?

The reactionary papers are rejoicing because the grain markets are rising and declare that these manipulations by speculators will hurt the chances for LaFollette and make votes for Coolidge. This opinion is especially voiced by the Hearst papers and even by Arthur Brisbane.

This assumes that the farmers are all silly.

If the mere nomination of LaFollette inspires such fear in the speculators that they manipulate the price of grain upward to such an extent that The Chicago Tribune declares that the rise in price has added $1,000,000,000 to the value of America's grain crops—then the farmers will all the more surely work hard for La Follette.

If his mere nomination is worth $1,000,000,000, what would his election be worth?—Milwaukee Leader.

The idea that the market is being deliberately manipulated to encourage the farmer is so wild as to scarcely merit serious attention. We have little doubt, however, that the rumor, first started, we believe, by Brisbane, that the market would be manipulated, may have induced several of the pit gamblers to become "bullish" and thus secure the same result. Up to this time no one has reaped any of the profits but the speculators. The big question is whether the prices will stay up till the crop is ready.

AIR MAIL SAVES HOURS OF TIME

Few residents of Nebraska are yet aware of the advantages the air mail offers them in speedy delivery of their mail, east, west, north or south, officials of the new service inaugurated July 1, report. The mistaken notion exists, air mail officials state, that the air service is confined solely to carrying mail posted in cities along the trans-continental route.

L. K. Bell, of Washington, D. C. traffic manager of the air mail service in a talk recently at Omaha, explained the manner in which the air mail and railway mail schedules are co-ordinated so that hundreds of towns within a 500-mile radius of each of the air way can save from one to two days in the delivery of mail to desti-

EMPLOYMENT FOR VETERANS ASKED BY GEN. HINES

Washington, August 7, 1924.—General Frank T. Hines, Director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, today made an appeal to the employers of the country on behalf of the disabled world war veterans who are completing their Government training at the rate of 3,000 a month.

"These men and women," said Hines, "served their country at a time of great need and they now ask only a fair chance to find employment long the lines in which they have received their training."

There were in training on July 1, 1924, 52,000 disabled veterans. The Government is endeavoring to educate men and women have been in training for more than two years, some three years, and others even four years. They have been enrolled in the country's best universities, colleges, trade schools, and commercial schools or have been given regular apprenticeship training "on the job" in factories and workshops.

Reports being received at the Central office in Washington indicate that employers of America's rehabilitated ex-service men and women find that they give satisfactory service. Transportation expense to bona fide employment opportunities are defrayed by the Veterans' Bureau.

nations in every state. The cost of sending such mail by airplane and railway service combined is the same for these cities as for those located along the route the mail planes travel.

Letters mailed from Hartington and addressed to Louisville, Kentucky, for example, are forwarded by railway to the nearest division point on the air mail route, which is Omaha. Then such mail on which the air mail postage is affixed, or the required amount of postage with "Air Mail" written below the stamps, is picked up by the air mail service at Omaha and shot through the air to Chicago at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour, then reforwarded without delay by railway mail service to Louisville, reaching there the next morning. The air mail postage required in this instance is 8 cents, since that is the rate between cities in the same zone. A special delivery stamp on the letter in addition to the 8 cent air mail postage will insure immediate delivery that day.

In like manner a letter from Hartington or other cities in Nebraska to Los Angeles will be carried by plane after reaching Omaha, to San Francisco, and forwarded by railway mail service. The postage in this case being 16 cents, and the time saved being two days in delivery. A letter from Hartington to Indianapolis or Toledo, and other points in the Cleveland, Ohio zone, will be carried by combined air mail and railway mail service for 16 cents, and to such eastern points as Washington, Boston or Philadelphia, is forwarded by rail after reaching New York from Omaha by air mail.

COAST TO COAST IN 33 HOURS

Omaha, Nebraska, August 6.—Air mail has cut the distance in hours between New York and San Francisco from 96 to 33 hours.

The air mail service inaugurated July 1 this year by all sections of the country opportunity to reduce the time consumed in delivery of mail east and west by the use of the new system which co-ordinates the air and rail dispatch of letters.

"The first month's trial of the new coast to coast air mail has proved its success and forecasts even greater development of its possibilities as business men of the country take greater advantage of this "Quick Contact" medium between themselves and their customers from coast to coast, east, west, north and south." Colonel Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general in charge of mail transportation declared in an address before Omaha business men. "The air mail planes kept 94 per cent up to schedule the first month despite storms that have caused delays over the central zone of the air route. The income of the air mail has been $2,600 a day, but it must be brought up to $5,000 daily if it shall prove financially successful and warrant its expansion with north and south routes radiating from the arterial transcontinental airway from New York to San Francisco."

TO SWEEP NEBRASKA

Omaha, Nebraska, August 4.—Action of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in endorsing Senator La Follette for president, will mean the active support of the Wisconsin senator by every labor organization in Nebraska. N. W. Stewart, president of the State Federation of Labor, predicted today.

Stewart expressed the opinion that with sentiment among the farmers so favorable to La Follette, and labor now united behind him, he will sweep Nebraska in November.

WAYNE MARKET REPORTS

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press Thursday:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Items include Corn, Oats, Springs, Roosters, Stags, Hens, Eggs, Butter Fat, Hogs, and Cattle.

Allen is improving her tourist park. By the way, what has become of the tourist park which we advertised so widely a year ago?

Just forty-eight years ago Tuesday that the first printing press in Wayne County came to town. If our information is correct C. E. Hunter brought it to Wayne August 5, 1876.

How times change! Five years ago Davis would have denied the story that he once defended Eugene Debs in a coal strike case. Now it is Mr. Debs who denies the canard. "I have never seen the gentleman," says Mr. Debs.

Twice in two years the republican voters of Iowa have nominated Smith W. Brookhart for the senate. Twice the state convention of the same party has refused to recognize him. As between the two bodies it is the party wheelhorses, who are keeping their eyes peeled in the direction of the east whence come orders and campaign funds, who must suffer from comparison. Senator Brookhart is a statesman and a scholar who, in spite of a radical reputation, is far above the average of the men who represented Iowa in the old days of legislative elections.

Quite a few bushels of breath are being wasted across the river just now because Brookhart has refused to support Coolidge. Why should he support Coolidge? He made it very plain during his primary campaign that he was entirely out of sympathy with the views of the White House on most of the issues of the present campaign. No one in Iowa ever expected him to support Coolidge in the senate and yet he was renominated by an overwhelming majority. His constituents signified full approval. Why, therefore, should he give the lie to his principles, as Senator Howell has done, by supporting a man who is in violent opposition to most of them?

After all, what is the republican party in Iowa? Or, in Nebraska? It is the mass of citizens who consistently vote the republican ticket. Brookhart and Norris are republicans. If it is the little group of politicians who control the party machinery and administer it in such a way that they may earn the campaign contributions they are awarded by the national committee, they are not.

Anent the discussion concerning mobilization versus inspection day, certain results are assured. There will be no general drafting of citizens, no parade of schools, etc. All speakers will reduce jingoism to a minimum, each speaker will carefully state that he does not believe that war is the only or the best method of settling disputes between nations and every sort of disclaimer will be uttered as to any warlike intent toward other nations. The word mobilization will be carefully deleted in all reports of speeches and over and over again peace will be exalted and peaceful intentions declared. In fact the celebration of inspection day will be an expression of honor for that soldier, who is not a philosopher or a statesman and who on that day will retire from his position at the head of the army, wearing deserved laurels. All honor to Pershing and to "a lasting peace among all nations."

Called "the greatest living writer of English" Joseph Conrad, the novelist, passed away at his home in England Monday. Born in Poland, Conrad did not learn to speak English until after he had run away to sea at the age of seventeen. He did not commence to write until twenty years later when his sea tales won him instant popularity and recognition. Acclaimed by critics as the greatest realist of the century, his thrilling stories of the sea and adventure won him a tremendous popular following. A seventeen year old Polish peasant boy, who would have imagined that he was to become the greatest English novelist of his generation? Some lives are more wonderful than fiction.

The LaFollette platform is the only one that hints a need of reform of the supreme court, the republicans ignoring the matter and the democrats asserting loyalty to the status quo. Such is the debilitated state of the issue that in 1912 sent the Bull Moose raging across the country. Still the matter will not wholly down. New social problems crowd upon us, the solution of which calls for a positive, constructive, not a negative, repressive attitude on the part of all our governing bodies. A liberal interpretation of the constitution must come, whatever the attitude of the noble venerable gentlemen who sit on the lid in Washington, and LaFollette is right in keeping the issue to the fore. Reform in court procedure and judicial interpretation will be of the very essence of the spirit of the new third party, should one emerge from the strife of this campaign.

"Davis," said a Lincoln man who is deeply versed in Nebraska politics and is not for Coolidge, "will come out a bad third in Nebraska."

"That will be a terrible blow to his running mate, our vice Presidential candidate," said his unsophisticated companion.

"It will not," said the expert, "Decidedly it will not. It will please him well."

Pityingly he charted the matter. "The fewer states Davis carries and the more LaFollette, the better the chance that the senate will elect the next vice president, and that the man the senate elects vice president will become president. And that won't be Charles Dawes."

"In short," said he, "Davis and Bryan are running against each other for president."

The rest of the story was lost in the shrieking of the approaching ambulance.—State Journal.

All of which seems to indicate that Bryan supporters should vote hard and often for LaFollette.

The value of a protective tariff on farm products was strikingly illustrated last week when wheat sold for 14 3/8 more at Winnipeg than at Chicago in spite of the fact that the Chicago wheat was "protected" by a tariff of 42 a bushel. America always has a surplus of farm products and the selling price of that surplus on the Liverpool market will always determine the price paid for the whole crop. The farmer is at a clear disadvantage when he exchanges his unprotected produce for the highly protected produce of the manufacturer and the greater share of the West's troubles since the war can be attributed to this fact. The farmer has been skillfully and artistically deflated while the eastern manufacturer has been saved the agony of the process by a benevolent tariff. Crop failure in Canada and a rumor that the market is about to be manipulated in such a manner as to rebound to the honor and popularity of the republican party have caused a rift in the cloud for this year but no permanent relief can be secured without radical revision of the tariff downward.

"Talking of tariff on wheat" said a man who owns farms in the north, in speaking to the reporter for the Democrat, "you know lots of Canadian wheat comes into this country duty free. It is this way," and the speaker gestured didactically, "Canadian wheat mixed with 30 per cent American wheat for milling is not taxed—so the American farmer is bunked."

"Well," the reporter ventured, "for whom should the American wheat farmer vote in November?"

"For LaFollette" was the decisive answer, and the interviewer walked off with an emphatic tread.

HAIR-CUT TRUST

Long, flowing locks and beards may again become fashionable in Wayne as a result of the new schedule on barber work which went into effect August first. Emboldened by the fact that their labor has now become a vital necessity to the great majority of the men, women, and children of our city, the bristle reapers took advantage of their monopoly and raised the price of haircuts and shaves. Taking the position that this latest combination in restraint of trade has seized upon an article of universal necessity, a commodity as necessary as food and as universal as gasoline, the Democrat has appealed to Governor Bryan to establish a municipal barber shop to crush the hair-cut trust. Should he realize the value of the opportunity which is in his hands and act at once there could be little doubt of his overwhelming success in the coming campaign. At last, Mr. Bryan, here is your issue. Raise the standard of the fifteen cent shave and the quarter bob and the embattled citizens of the nation will rally to your support by the million. Perhaps thirty-five per-cent of the voters may believe that Tom Marshall was right when he said that what this country needs is a good five cent cigar; a few more would vote for fifteen cent gas; but where, Mr. Bryan, lives the man with soul so dead that he would not thrill to the vision of the quarter haircut? It would not be unanimous, Mr. Bryan, for there are a few barbers and a few unshorn spinsters, but it would be sufficient.

And now, citizens of Wayne, while you await the action of our governor, we can but advise you to be of tranquil spirit and to eschew hair tonic.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS AGAIN

In spite of the gloomy statement, quoted in another column, of the World-Herald that the biggest fund always wins the indications are that this campaign may be different. Concerning the walls from the campaign managers that parties who have in the past swelled the party coffers with their funds are perfectly satisfied with both Coolidge and Davis and refuse to view LaFollette with alarm the State Journal says this:

"Say what you please, there is no use setting the net in sight of the birds. Nobody is going to flip a hundred thousand dollars into the campaign pot for naught. He must have an ambassadorship. At least he must be assured of profitable consideration by the administration to whose election he contributes for his personal business interests. But none of these repayments can well be made if all the world is aware of the transaction. An incorrigibly idealistic public insists that Job serve God for naught. If it sees the rich campaign contributor paid back in ambassadorships, in tariffs, in concessions it raises a roar. The public is rather dog-in-the-manger in this attitude. It does not contribute well to campaign funds itself, yet it stipulates that those who do must have only their virtue as their reward. Now stands Borah, ready to tag every fat contribution as made, setting the country to insisting that the gift horses be looked in the mouth and no bonds issued in consideration therefor. Why should the big purses open up? What wonder the campaign treasurers are in the dumps!"

THAT CREAM QUESTION?

Last week the Democrat tried to do a service to this community by informing the merchants, the farmers and the creamery men that the cream buyers at Norfolk had gotten together (nine of them, some one said) and it had been agreed that on or after Monday or Tuesday last all stations at that city were to discontinue paying a premium of 5c per pound on cream sent in by express from neighboring towns. Now we thought that a fair warning for the 20 to 25 who had been shipping from Wayne to Norfolk more or less regularly. Perhaps there is where we should have stopped—but fool-like we ambled on, saw two of the five or six cream station men who gather in cream here, and talked with them. We showed them what the Norfolk paper had said, and also the price they quoted as to what they should pay for butter fat. These men both agreed that the price was higher than Wayne buyers were quoted by four cents; but said that all they could do was to buy at the price fixed by the central plants. We then asked if there was any way of getting around the discrimination that appeared from the different prices quoted.

Our first visitor Friday morning was one of our good friends who was a bit vexed; but he came right to the point, just as we like to have a man do when the paper is not edited to please him. He said that we were misinformed as to the prices quoted; that he knew for a fact that Norfolk cream men pay a cent less than the Wayne stations for cream delivered at the door from the farmer; that while the Wayne stations were paying 27 cents the Norfolk men were paying but 26 cents. The editor has long known that the Norfolk stations were paying more for cream than came by express, and now we want to know who is right, the Norfolk paper or the Wayne dealer. There was no discounting the conviction of the Wayne dealer that he was correct—and what worried him most just then was the time he was going to have to make the cream producer believe that the paper had not quoted the prices correctly.

But this does not answer the question raised last week of how can Wayne community meet a condition that seems to exist? How can we become independent of the combine of central butter concerns?

LATER: Reports from Norfolk inform us that the buyers there have gone back to the old 5 cent premium for cream shipped in from out of town.

THE SUGAR CONSPIRACY

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch) Unless the review by Senator LaFollette of the conspiracy of the sugar interests and the government against the American people is a fabrication of lies it must dawn upon the public that the sugar conspiracy belongs among the major scandals of a corrupt administration. That the LaFollette charges are not a fabrication is borne out by the public record of the past year and a half. LaFollette traces down with names and dates the main facts of the conspiracy, naming his sources. Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance committee, active in behalf of the Utah sugar beet interests, wrote to Ambassador Crowder a request that he propose to the Cuban government an agreement that, in consideration of the artificial curtailment of Cuban sugar production, the duty to the United States would be reduced. The most significant link in the LaFollette account is that a delegation of Cuban representatives sent to Washington to ask a lower tariff on sugar were received by Smoot, Hoover, Crowder and C. C. Hamlin, lobbyist for the American beet sugar interests. As it turned out sugar alone was represented in that reception committee, the membership of which, says LaFollette, appears in the official records of Cuban government. The official representative of the people Mr. Hoover, as it later turned out, ideally served the ends of the sugar monopoly by prostituting the authority of the department of commerce in an official report falsely announcing a shortage in the world's sugar supply of three-quarters of a million tons. The immediate effect was the well-known advance in the price of sugar from 7 to 10 cents a pound, where it has remained to this day. Cuba, because it would not agree to an improper bargain with American sugar interests represented by the Harding-Hoover administration, was duly punished, as was the American consumer.

It is now up to the president to make public the report of the tariff commission after an investigation of a year and a half, "carried on with the utmost dispatch," during which time the sugar barons have reaped a harvest of hundreds of millions. Unless the administration can put up a strong defense for a seemingly indefensible course it should be defeated on its sugar record alone.

EACH SUCCEEDING TEST PROVES ABILITY TO PRIVILEGE TO WIN

(Victor Murdock in Whichita Eagle)
If the results of the two national conventions at Cleveland and New York record the late real sentiment of the country, and the general news paper assertion is true that the La Follette movement is not of consequence, then a long era in American history blinked out when the Democrats nominated John W. Davis against Calvin Coolidge. The long era was characterized by a lively, widely scattered but generally unorganized hope that the people would have a more intimate part in government and the privileged classes less. This hope persisted despite knowledge that at all times and in all places the privileged classes have dominated society. It will still persist of course, but the mental attitude which expressed it is due for a change, for the old hope, as naturally expressed, must now be known to all men as a decidedly short ladder for genuine attainment. The assault of Andrew Jackson, the most definite of all attacks upon American privilege, held, in the long run, none of the ground they gained. Lincoln attacked a stilted peculiar institution of a domestic aristocracy, won his ground and the spirit of the age has forbidden any recession. It is the notable gain of the century. Roosevelt voiced the mental attitude of home by dramatic protest. Wilson tried to give it legitimate expression. But privilege continues to exist and sit high, frightened occasionally by popular outcry it is true, but in the end always secure. A lively popular hope of dislodging it will not dislodge it. The popular sentiment which will bring it about must be of sterner stuff than hope. It must be a national determination, bigger than any party or any section, and strong enough to dominate all sections and parties, in obscure places and in inarticulate persons, among those who in humbleness and in silence really love their country, as the final gift of government from the gods to man, the new mental attitude, shifting from hope to determination, must be forming.

PRESS PRAISES LA FOLLETTE

For thirty years Bob LaFollette has been the courageous champion of the people. From the day he attained his majority until this good hour he has been the unpurchasable foe of special privilege. During every waking moment of his life he has steadfastly fought for the rights of his fellow citizens and always with an abiding faith in the sound judgment of the majority and the efficacy of constitutional remedies. Modest in victory, undismayed by defeat, he has fought on and on, writing a record unswayed by one petty or dishonorable act, Robert M. LaFollette without the shadow of a doubt, is America's greatest living statesman. Compared with men like Coolidge and Davis, he is a giant and they are pigmies. In education, in his knowledge of law and government, in his ability to analyze constitutional problems, in his grasp of every national or international question, he is the decided superior of either of them. But in another particular he transcends them both. He visualizes the present and the future as clearly as he comprehends the past and is able to discern the forces which are at work to destroy the nation and the people he loves. Those forces, evil and malignant, produced a war which cost this nation immeasurable grief and incalculable wealth. Coolidge and Davis say that those forces may continue to exercise their controlling influence. LaFollette says that those forces and that power must be limited by the sovereign will of the majority of the people of this country. Coolidge and Davis are political weaklings, pandering to those whose wealth and financial prestige control the avenues of information and popular intelligence. LaFollette has fought that influence for thirty years, and, though he knows its power, defies it. He fought our entrance into the war, but when we went in he insisted that those who were profiting by it should pay for it. Then he was branded as a traitor. Now he is applauded as the wise senator. For every prophecy he made during those trying hours in the senate has been fulfilled. For the soldiers who fought the war he has nothing but admiration and love. His record as a senator proves that; but for those whose alleged patriotism is tainted by dirty dollars wrung from grief and madness, he has the profoundest contempt and he had the courage to pronounce that contempt during the war, at a time when many of us whined a half-hearted approval. The citizen who truly loves his country, whose faith in democracy is unimpaired, who believes that we may have honesty in Washington and that predatory wealth shall not always rule us and that we shall have a government responsive to the wishes of the people, will esteem it a duty, as well as a happy privilege, to vote for Bob LaFollette for president.—Norfolk Press.

BETTER HEALTH FOR WOMEN

Many seemingly hopeless cases of chronic disease have been restored to perfect health by having some rectal trouble cured. Owing to the great nerve centers surrounding the rectum, even a mild case of Piles weakens the whole system.

An instructive book has been published by Dr. Rich, the Rectal Specialist of Grand Island, Nebraska. This book tells how rectal troubles produce pus and toxic poisons which are absorbed into the system and produce a lot of trouble throughout the human body. You can pour medicine down your throat—you can spend your money at the world's best health resorts—you can allow yourself to be cut up by the best surgeons, but you will never be well until your Piles and Rectal troubles are cured.

This book also tells how quickly and easily Piles and Rectal troubles can be cured without the use of knife, scissors, "hot" iron, electric or any other cutting or burning method, without confinement to bed and no hospital bills to pay. The method has been a proven success for more than twenty-one years in hundreds of cases.

The book is sent postpaid free to persons afflicted with Piles or any other rectal troubles who clip this item and mail it with name and address to Dr. Rich, 217 Grand Island, Nebraska.—adv.

Any available matter except that liable to damage by freezing will be carried by air mail, according to an announcement received by Postmaster Charles M. Black, from Harry New, postmaster general today. Packages up to fifty pounds in weight and not exceeding eighty-four inches in length and girth combined, can be sent to addresses anywhere in the world, via air mail, at the rate of 8 cents an ounce for each zone, the announcement stated.

Thirty Nebraska farmers will be picked to receive the first shipment of thirty purpled bulls to be placed by the Nebraska Dairy Development society which was formed last spring.

HAVE FAITH IN AMERICA

In the June Harper's Magazine, David F. Houston has a constructive article which shows that this country is sound in spite of the workings of pessimists, agitators and demagogues, says an exchange. Those whose comparisons are with the heroic days of George Washington are deminded that he was by some of his own day called a hypocrite, an impostor and a murderer. Those whose political demigods are the Clays, the Websters and the Calhouns are told that Cleveland, Wilson and Richard Olney were more worthy to be followed than these statesmen of the former days. And to those who do not look back, at all, but only about them in bewilderment and disgust upon scandals, class conflicts and blocs, Mr. Houston brings the conclusion that no one class or "bloc" has sense enough to govern all the other classes, and that present "blocs" will disappear even as did the ones against which Washington warned the people.

There is, with a safeguarded economic stability, a spirit in the people which will insist upon a clean national household from cellar to attic, and which prompts this financier whose roots are deep in the soil of America to advise the public that "the United States is today the safest investment in the world."

We have succeeded, the ex-secretary contends, despite all our mistakes and failures and official shortcomings because we have had, on the whole, a "competent people." And he adds the corollary that the right kind of people can run any sort of government, while the wrong sort can not run any kind.

One cannot read Mr. Houston's article without new hope for America, and even for Europe, unless a chronic and irreclaimable pessimist.

OLD SPANISH ARMOR FOUND

(Columbus Daily Telegram)
Ancient Spanish armor and military equipment unearthed near Genoa, Nance county, and the discovery of an historical American manuscript by a French editor in French archives, telling of a Spanish expedition up the Loup river valley in 1720, today brought E. E. Blackman, curator of the Nebraska Historical society, Lincoln, to Columbus on his way to Genoa, to spend four weeks and more, if necessary, in an expedition of exploration and excavation in the Loup river valley.

Mr. Blackman, after a short visit with Capt. L. H. North, Columbus pioneer plainsman, left for Genoa, declaring the purpose of the expedition was three-fold.

The first is to ascertain more of the Spanish relics, locate the place where they were found and excavate for more evidence of a Spanish military expedition. Mr. Blackman declared that in 1720 a Spanish expedition came from Santa Fe to the mouth of the Loup and went up the river some distance in search of lead mines they believed, from French reports, they would find in this section, along with gold and silver. The Central West at that time was contested territory. The French were friendly with the Otoe Indians. The Spanish expedition, arriving here and thinking at the time they were with Pawnees, told the Indians that they would attack and kill the Otoes. The Otoe Indians agreed that it was a good idea for the Spanish to do it and said they would have a war dance. They told the Spanish that at the time of a war dance it was considered polite to lay aside their arms and watch the dance. The Spanish did as they were requested, and the Otoes made short work of butchering them off.

The second purpose of the expedition is to conduct a further research into the mound houses of the early Pawnees.

EDITORS FROM THREE STATES TO MEET IN SIOUX CITY

Sioux City, Iowa.—Plans are now going forward for the entertainment of 200 editors and families expected here for the 1924 annual Tri-State Editorial association meeting, September 13 to 15. The entertainment features will be handled by a committee of Sioux City men. The business program will be handled by the officers of the association. W. C. Lusk, of Yankton, South Dakota, is president of the organization; Frank O'Furey, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, is secretary, and Mrs. Marie Weeks, of Norfolk, Nebraska is vice president.

This annual event of the editors is looked forward to with pleasure by Sioux City folks and by the editors. It is the most informal convention held here and partakes of the nature of a vacation for the editors and their families. They are given an opportunity to see the Interstate fair while attending their trade convention. The three states included in the Tri-State association are Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota. However, many attend from Minnesota and some from other states.

ORGANIZED LABOR THROWS SUPPORT TO LA FOLLETTE

Atlantic City, New Jersey, August 4.—Holds of the American Federation of Labor Sunday made public their endorsement of the platform of the Cleveland Conference for Progressive Political Action and that convention's nominees, La Follette for president and Wheeler for vice president.

The document is a denunciation of the republican and democratic platforms. The former party is charged with having "flaunted the desires of labor in an arrogant manner" the latter with having flaunted labor's desires with that evasiness which is the customary mark of insincerity.

Both parties are asserted to be "morally bankrupt" and manipulated by "machine politicians" who have involved the nation in "moral obliquity and unashamed betrayal." Coolidge and Dawes, Davis and Bryan, are dismissed as "unacceptable to labor."

Thus, in the language of the text, "here remains the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette and Burton Wheeler, the first an independent republican, the second an independent democrat, running as such."

Those candidates, it continues, "have proffered a platform in which the economic issues of the day are met in a manner more nearly conforming to labor's proposals than any other," although it does not conform to the American Federation of Labor proposals on international issues specialially the League of Nations.

Nebraska farmers will receive approximately $55,000,000 for the state's wheat crop this year. This is based on an estimated crop of 50,000,000 bushels of which the farmer will receive an average of $1.10 a bushel. Last year's crop totaled 28,220,000 bushels for which the farmer received an average of 80 cents a bushel.

Only clean oil can give Protective Lubrication

THE average motorist feels safe when his oil gauge shows motor oil up to the proper level. But he is mistaken.

Every time you use the choke you dilute your oil. Every piston stroke draws in road dust. A dilution with 5 percent of gasoline lowers the lubricating efficiency of oil fully 15 percent. After five hundred miles operation the dilution averages more than this. Contamination by dust and carbon has changed its nature. It is rapidly becoming a grinding compound.

To give your motor protective lubrication you must keep it supplied with clean oil of the right body.

Take lubrication seriously and your motor will last longer and give you better service.

Consult the Polarine Chart. Buy the right grade of Polarine for your car. Keep the oil up to the proper level. Drain and flush the crank-case after every five hundred miles of operation and refill with fresh Polarine. This will save you many times the cost of oil in the greater mileage and power you will get from gasoline and the smaller cost for necessary repairs.

Buy Polarine where you see this sign—five grades, light, medium, medium heavy, special heavy and extra heavy—to suit every make of motor.

The War Relic Cannon Routed Rivolla's Band

By SELINA HIGGINS

WHEN Pietro Sanchez returned from putting down the insurrection in Modiva, he brought to his home town of Piasta but one trophy of the war—a large brass cannon.

Pietro was an honest, sturdy blacksmith. He had fought just as he set tires on the wagon wheels or shod a horse—his whole soul in the task.

For the family of Pietro had known Rivolla in the past. Two years before he had lived at Piasta for a time.

Then there had come a missive for the little Mexican maid. It was from the renegade Rivolla.

"Have a care!" the words of the message ran. "I have sworn to make you mine, and Rivolla never falls in his purpose."

It was of this that Ninez and Luis were speaking one moonlit night.

"Another month, mio Ninez," spoke the young man fervently, "and you will be mine. Then adios! to all your needless fears of this terrible Rivolla."

"You do not know his treacherous nature," fluttered Ninez, shrinking closer to her manly escort, as though from a sense of protection.

"Rivolla is a braggart and a coward," declared Luis. "It was in the last campaign that he threatened our little army so dreadfully, only to run and hide when we advanced upon his stronghold."

Ninez smiled and forgot her fears as they strolled homewards. Luis did not tell Ninez as he bade her good-night, but he knew there was some foundation for her words.

After leaving Ninez, her lover returned to the bluffs. It was his night for patrol duty. For a long time he sat by the side of the cannon.

His cloak wrapped about him to guard himself from the usual midnight chill sweeping down the valleys, Luis suddenly roused, as, chancing to glance across the broad stream he saw a faint glimmer of blue light.

Without disturbing or alarming any other member of the family, he aroused Sanchez. A grim smile crossed the face of the smith as he listened.

"They will not cross the river," declared Pietro with a grim, determined flash of his lion eyes.

At daylight over one hundred grim-visaged, determined men were gathered on the bluff where the historic fieldpiece stood. The mists, slowly lifting, showed the camp of the outlaws on the opposite bank of the river.

Beside the cannon stood old Sanchez, in his hand an unlighted fusee. His old companion gunner was sighting the fieldpiece.

"Aim low," directed Pietro, and the fusee was lighted.

"Grand old thunderer!" commented the patriarch of the village, as boom and flash and destruction haunted the face of the waters.

There was confusion on the opposite shore, as almost to the last vestige the fieldpiece was destroyed. And then new excitement as Luis, with the Modiva contingent, cut off the inland retreat of the baffled bandits.

Routed, prisoners or destroyed, their evil career was summarily and permanently checked and the power of Rivolla broken forever.

Forced to Beg Off

Mistake That Almost Broke Young Lawyer

By ELIZABETH COBB

"I AM ashamed of you!" spoke Robert Earle with force and indignation.

"And because I resemble you," sneered his spotted and profligate cousin, Ernest Earle.

"See here, Robert," he said bluntly. "Give me fifty dollars and I'll go West and relieve you of your constant dread that I will cut up some caper that may disgrace the proud name of that old curmudgeon uncle of ours, Jerome Earle."

"Again, shame on your manhood!" cried Robert. "You shall have the money you ask for, but it is the last you will ever receive from me until I see you acting the man."

Then Robert seriously contemplated his immediate future. He established himself in the thriving county seat of Dilton. He found comfortable quarters at the one hotel the place afforded.

No word had come from Ernest Earle and Robert was glad he had not found him out.

Robert was gaining ground fast and securely. His uncle abroad had heard of his establishing in the legal profession and had insisted on his accepting a check for a thousand dollars, "as surplus capital for exigencies," as the old man phrased it.

It was the great glorious hour of his life when Robert bade Ada adieu one lovely June night. He had told his love to find it devotedly returned. So happy was he that when he returned to his hotel he could not sleep.

A surprise, a shock, a crisis in his life greeted him as he entered the lobby of the hotel to find a scene of tumultuous excitement. The police were there surrounding an agitated loud talking stranger, who as Robert entered was explaining that some one had rifled his room an hour previous.

Investigation brought out a new circumstance. The door connecting the room of Robert and that occupied by the man who had been robbed was found unlocked.

Slowly distrust began to attach to the young lawyer. The cowardly ones ignored and shunned him. Judge Mills forbade an engagement with his daughter and insisted that Robert should not visit Ada until his name was cleared.

So, weary weeks went on and Robert became well nigh disheartened. His former popularity was on the wane, his clients fell away from him. Only that loyal Ada wrote him of her undying love and faith he would have left the town.

He had been engaged as associate counsel in a damage suit where a railroad passenger had received an injury in a collision in another part of the county. Among the witnesses summoned was a surgeon from a neighboring town.

When this person arrived at the court room he sought out Robert. It was to regard him in open-eyed bewilderment.

"Why," he exclaimed, "you have recovered?—so soon!"

"I do not understand you," said Robert.

"Were you not in the hospital at Wayne two months since, suffering from a terrible fall from a motorcycle?"

There were cross questions and many explanations and then the light came. At Wayne this same surgeon had been summoned to assist in a case where the victim of an accident lay delirious with broken bones, crippled for life.

"I see it all," murmured the astonished Robert. "It was my cousin who robbed the man at the hotel."

The next day Robert visited Wayne. He found his cousin just able to get about on crutches. Ernest Earle, broken in health and spirits, handed to Robert what was left of the stolen money. The regretful tears in his eyes showed his contrition.

Two days later Robert received a note from Judge Mills asking him to call upon him. Ernest Earle had written a confession and had forwarded it. Robert would have shielded his misguided relative, but the judge insisted on clearing up the case in the eyes of the public.

Robert wrote to his uncle all the circumstances of the situation and Ernest Earle was placed in comfort with a distant relative.

Big Lips for Beauty Is Idea of Africans

The women of the Lake Tchad region of Central Africa vie with one another as to who can possess the longest lips.

When girls are about four or five years old their future husbands pierce a hole in the center of the upper and lower lips with a big thorn or a knife.

In a few weeks, when the girl has become used to the punctures, wooden pegs the size of a lead pencil are pushed into the holes, says London Tit-Bits. Three months later, when the lips have become accustomed to the distension, larger pegs are inserted.

After this larger disks are inserted about once a year. It is a matter of social pride with a woman to go on increasing her lips as long as possible.

HELD IN JAIL FOR SHOOTING OFFICER

George Allen, Cedar county farmer who slightly wounded Deputy Game Warden Heinzelman with a shotgun a week ago, and also demolished the two rear tires of Heinzelman's automobile, was in jail at Hartington last Saturday, awaiting some disposition of his case, according to information reaching Chief Game Warden Koster. There was some discussion about taking Allen before the insanity board for an examination into his mental condition. This, however, had not been done and it may be decided by the local officials to prosecute him in the usual way.

CUTS GLASS BUT NOT BUTTER

Some fine sand with a stiff breeze behind it is doing quite a little work at the Wayne Monument Works these days. The new sand blast just installed can carve out almost any design in the granite stones in a few minutes. In fact it will carve a design in anything that is hard. In order to protect a hard surface from the blast it must be coated with a soft, yielding preparation. Paraffine would do very well but over at the works they use a rubber sheet that is melted on the stone. The design is then cut in the sheet and the whole thing placed under the blast. It has been said that where a sand blast would cut glass it would not harm any part of a man's hand except the nails. So far no one in Wayne has cared to test the statement.

TOUCHES LIVE WIRE; ALBION MAN KILLED

Albion, Nebraska, August 5.—W. G. Bellows, 67, while doing a job of plumbing in the basement of the Main Street cafe, Saturday afternoon came in contact with a "live" electric wire and was instantly killed. He was standing in water on the floor of the basement. A peculiar coincidence is that about fifteen years ago another man met the same fate in the same place and under the same conditions. Mr. Bellows leaves a widow and three children.

PARTY WAR CHESTS

The largest campaign chest has decided every presidential election but one in this country since the Civil war, the national head of a fraternal order observes. The only upset to the rule came with the second election of Woodrow Wilson, when he defeated Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes in 1916.

In the largest democracy in the world, there is food for cynical reflection in the figures.

"Total republican funds since Grant amount to $42,612,000 against democratic presidential campaign funds of $12,480,000. According to the best figures obtainable, Grant's campaign managers had $400,000 to use in the election against his opponent's $125,000. Hayes had $950,000, Tilden $900,000, Garfield had $1,300,000, Hancock, $350,000. Cleveland beat Blaine when he had $1,400,000 to conduct his campaign as against $1,300,000 his campaign as against $1,300,000 for Blaine. At the next election, Cleveland was defeated by Harrison, but the democratic candidate had a campaign fund of but $855,000 while $1,850,000 was available for the republican managers. Cleveland's second election saw the democrats spend $2,350,000 to $1,850,000. Then came Mark Hanna with mammoth war chests estimated at $25,000,000 for McKinley's two campaigns, against which Bryan could only muster $1,100,000 for both.

"Roosevelt's managers had $3,500,000 against Parker's $1,250,000. Taft had $1,700,000 against Bryan's $750,000. Even in the progressive split, credited with handing Wilson the election on a platter, Wilson had a fund of $825,000 against Taft's $750,000 and Roosevelt's $325,000. Then followed the only upset, Wilson winning against Hughes, although the democrats had but $1,400,000 while the republican managers had collected $2,612,000. Harding's managers had $3,000,000 against Cox's $1,170,000.

Politics has its commercial side.

In the management of a national campaign, the figures show unmistakably that the first requisites for party success is not a candidate whose personality appeals to the voters, but ample funds to conduct the fight for him. In the lone single instance where the individuality of the party nominee has been sufficient to offset the handicap of a lack of funds, differences in the opposition party also aided in the result. Mr. Hughes would have won against Wilson except for the unexpected flop in California. The circumstances surrounding Hughes' California tour when the republican nominee gave open affront to Hiram Johnson and his friends were in reality responsible for the Wilson victory.—World-Herald.

SUMMER TRAINING CAMP OPENS

Nearly 1700 young men between the ages of 17 and 24 years are here for the Civilian Military Training Camp ending August 31. Seventy-five regular army and organized reserve officers are serving as instructors. The students are from Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, the Northern tier of counties of Missouri and a few from Arkansas. Students began arriving Thursday and when Friday night came practically all were examined, equipped and assigned to companies.

The opening of camp was veritable reunion as many of this year students were veterans of the C. M. T. Camps in 1922 and 1923.

Grig. General Halstead Dorey is in command of the camp with Lt. Col. W. G. Doane Infantry as Executive officer, General Dorey is commander of the 14th Infantry Brigade and stationed at Fort Omaha during the rest of the year.

The Seventeenth Infantry, the Third Infantry, Battery E, 9th Field Artillery and Troop E, 2nd Squadron of the 14th Cavalry are here to assist in the training and instruction of the students. These regular army units are of the highest type of officers and men whose example will go a long way to impress the new arrivals.

The work day begins at 5:40 a. m. and ends at 5:30 p. m. with retreat. A light lunch is served each morning at 10:30 in addition to the excellent mess.

EXPLAIN THIS
(The State Journal)

A Lincoln democrat who happened to drop into a popular movie theater in New York city about two weeks ago was astonished at the reception given the different presidential candidates. A picture of Coolidge brought not a single hand clap. An action picture of Davis leaving for his Maine vacation was greeted with absolute silence. Then La Follette was shown and the house went wild. This able democrat has been thinking over the incident ever since. He confesses that it puzzles him.

A republican brings back from Pennsylvania a story that there is so much independence about that I wouldn't surprise him to see a heavy vote for the third ticket there—perhaps not enough to make any change but enough to scare the politicians out of their old time complacency. He was told that the east has a good deal of unrest and that both of the old parties have lost the affections of the political liberals.

EVENING SONG

(From "April Twilights" by Willis Cather.)
Dear love, what thing of all the things that be
Is ever worth one thought from you and me,
Save only love,
Save only love?
The day is short, the night so quick to flee,
The world so wide, so deep and dark the sea,
So dark the sea:
So far the suns and every listless star,
Beyond their light—Ah! dear, who knows how far,
Who knows how far?
One thing of all dim things I know is true,
The heart within me knows, and tells it you,
And tells it you,
So blind is life, so long at last is sleep,
And none but love to bid us laugh or weep,
And none but love,
And none but love.
Tom: Was that your girl I saw you with last night?
John: Yes, "last night."
