

WAYNE FIREMEN ATTEND STATE MEET

Monday evening a dozen members of the Wayne Volunteer Firemen, including the company's drum corp left for the annual meeting of the state organization at Hastings. The Wayne members had a very neat badge. In the form of a pennant, hung from the shoulders, in white letters on a black background appears the words, "Wayne, Neb." In addition to this the delegation took several hundred ribbon badges which are used much the same as personal cards at gatherings, and most of the companies attending are provided in the same manner; and the Wayne delegation will bring home quite an assortment of these badges, no doubt, to add to the collection which now adorn the wall at headquarters in the city hall. The Wayne ribbons carried the following sentiment:

"Compliments of Wayne Fire Department. Plenty of Oil and no Brakes. 43rd Annual Convention, Hastings, January 20, 21, 22, 1925."

The delegation went only as far as Norfolk Monday evening and there with sixteen other groups of volunteers they took part in a reception and banquet tendered by the Norfolk people in the American Legion rooms at which about 200 were in attendance, and it was a successful gathering.

The Wayne delegation and members of the drum corp were Martin Ringer, E. E. Fleetwood, Harry Barnett, John Bingham, B. F. Strahan, R. B. Judson, Maj. Powers, R. L. Will, Fred and Frank Korff.

The drum corp gave some good music at the Norfolk meeting, and are being heard often at Hastings. A delegation of about 150 went by special train from Norfolk, Tuesday morning.

A dispatch from Hastings tells that about 1200 visitors and delegates are at Hastings, and that there are three candidates for the place of vice president, and that Fremont is a candidate for the 1926 meeting.

ROBBERS RAID HOSKINS BUSINESS HOUSES

Wednesday morning as city marshal and wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bruse of Hoskins came to the station to visit at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Barlemann, about ten miles out from Wayne, they saw that Hoskins State bank had been broken into; but that the safe had proved too much for them to enter, and they secured but a dollar for their trouble and risk.

The burglars also broke into two other places, the Geo. Bruse pool hall and the Elmer Thongren pool hall, securing about $37.00 from the two places. From one place they took the slot machine and contents.

Mr. Bruse told us that there was absolutely no clue to the robbers up to the time they left the place, and a later report says that there is no clue as to who did the job. At any rate, they took some risk for a little gain.

MEETINGS AT CARROLL BEGAN WEDNESDAY EVENING

Last evening Dr. E. L. Benedict and wife began a series of services or lectures at Carroll, which are planned to last two or more weeks. There is to be no admission charge, and we glean from the program of their meetings in other places that there is to be a series of lectures accompanied by song and harp by Mrs. Benedict, and illustrated by a series of nearly 1,000 pictures by some of the great artists of the world. They announce a part of the service for the children each evening, and then there will be nights for young men, a young woman's night, and nights for everybody. The meetings are to be held at the Methodist church; but we do not know whether under the auspices of that church or a union of the churches of the place.

MRS. ELIZABETH FRESSE DIED TUESDAY

At the home of her son, W. H. Moore, about eight miles southeast of Wayne on Tuesday, January 20, 1925, death from the infirmities of age, came to Elizabeth Fresse, at the age of 85 years and 14 days.

The body was taken from here Wednesday afternoon, to Council Bluffs, Iowa, for burial.

FIREMEN CALLED SATURDAY

An alarm at noon Saturday called the firemen to the old monument works building on Main street, owned by Dr. W. B. Vail, and occupied by Fred Ahlvers and family as a residence. A spark from the pipe caught on the roof and soon fanned to a blaze. Mr. Ahlvers had his garden hose on when the firemen arrived, and with their aid it was soon out. A hole was burned in the roof about 4x6 feet we estimate; and the loss of about $30 was covered by insurance. Mr. Ahlvers had no insurance, but had no loss beyond a bit of damage from water, and the musing things up in getting them out of the way.

The story goes that when A. T. Cavanaugh started to fire he looked at his home first to be sure it was not there that the call was for, and it might soon have been, for he saw a spark just starting there, and extinguished that before going to the home of his neighbor.

MRS. J. T. HOUSE ENTERTAINS MEMBERS OF W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. J. T. House Friday afternoon with Mrs. Mae Young, Mrs. P. C. Crockett and Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer assistant hostesses.

Mrs. House is an accomplished musician and each year she gives an afternoon of delightful piano numbers to the members of the W. C. T. U.

A large crowd was out to enjoy the musical feast and all felt deeply grateful to Mrs. House, Miss Frances Beckenhauer and Miss Helen Gildersleeve for the enjoyable afternoon.

The following program was given: Theme and Variations—Mozart. Vocal Solo—

- (1) "In the Garden of My Heart."
 - (2) "A Little Bunch of Honeybees"
- Frances Beckenhauer.
Miss Helen Gildersleeve, accompanist.

- (1) Waltz—Chopin.
 - (2) The Nightingale—Liszt.
 - (3) Prelude—Gunnor Raermaninoff.
- Each member invited a guest. An admission of 25 cents was charged and the annual budget was about two-thirds raised.

Mrs. Beckenhauer, as chairman of the finance committee, deserves much credit for her tireless efforts to make the meeting a success.

The hostesses served a two-course luncheon at the close of the meeting.

The W. C. T. U., as a state and national organization, is doing a great work and every mother at Wayne should be a member—an active member. Never has there been a greater need of organized christian women to combat crime and it is discouraging when members drop out because "social duty calls elsewhere."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Elsie Johnson Swanson, wife of Mr. Lewis Swanson, died, Friday morning, January 16, 1925, at her home three miles southwest of Concord after several years of illness, and for the last five weeks sickness which caused her death.

Mrs. Swanson was born in Esphult parish, in the Province of Kristianstad, Sweden, February 3, 1871, and was at her departure 53 years, 11 months, and 13 days of age. She received her christian baptism religious instruction and confirmation in the Lutheran church in Sweden. She came to this country in 1893, from Rorum, Sweden, locating in Omaha, Nebraska. She was united in marriage to Lewis Swanson June 4, 1896, at Omaha. To this union five children, 2 sons and 3 daughters were born. Their first child died at about 2 years of age. In the spring of 1904 the family came to this vicinity from Gretna.

Mrs. Swanson was a devoted christian wife and mother, and loved by all who knew her. She was a faithful member of the Lutheran church. She leaves behind her, to mourn her departure her husband, one son, Emil, three daughters, Edna, Emma and Alice, some other relatives and a host of friends. Her father died in her home 1915, and her mother and only sister died when she was a young girl. The bereaved family has the sympathy from the Concordia Lutheran congregation, here, and also from this community, in which she deceased was held in high esteem.

Interment at Concord cemetery. Funeral services were held Tuesday at one o'clock from the house and two o'clock from the Concordia Lutheran church. Rev. P. Pearson, the pastor, conducting the services.

KIWANIS MEMBERS ENJOY DISCUSSION

At Meeting Dr. J. T. House and C. H. Hendrickson Discuss Proposed Child Labor Amendment

Members of the Wayne Kiwanis club had an interesting and profitable session Monday, when the question of the proposed constitutional amendment to the United States Constitution regarding child labor was under discussion. Many guests were in attendance to hear the talks.

Dr. J. T. House of the Normal faculty defended the affirmative in able manner showing what the amendment would do in the way of making a uniform law for all parts of the country, taking from big corporation interests that became powerful enough to control state legislation and make the labor laws to their liking, the power to legally enslave children who should be in school or at play, developing into sturdy man and womanhood. Dr. House claimed that it is duty which society owes to the helpless. No selfish interests should be permitted to wrong the weak and helpless and at the same time deprive the nation from its right to give to all equal opportunity.

C. H. Hendrickson spoke for the negative, and presented as the greatest objection to the measure the tendency, all too marked now, to centralize power in Washington. He would have the state stick to the good democratic doctrine of "state rights," claiming that the people were placing a power in centralizing government at Washington that might at any time be used to the detriment of the governing powers of the states. He reviewed the forces and sentiments of those who were favoring the measure, and those who opposed it, and that it possible for the centralized power to do greater injury to the people than was probable to come from law evasion which might be found in what Roosevelt so happily termed a "twilight zone" where all law was evaded because of the fact that there was a conflict as to which power should be recognized. Such is now the case in regard to protecting the wards of the nation in some instances.

The Proposed Amendment "Section 1. The congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

"Section 2. The power of the several states is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of state laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to the legislation enacted by congress."

Naturally there was difference of opinion as to who won the most and best points at issue, but that matters little—the benefit comes from the open discussion of such matters and the presentation of the two sides of the question. Discussion is a wonderful help in clearing the vision of the public, and the speakers and the Kiwanis members are to be commended for bringing the question before the people in this manner.

MERRIMAN—MORRIS

At Rockford, Illinois, November 8, 1924, occurred the marriage of Mr. Alvin Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morris of Beloit, Wisconsin, and Miss Nellie Merriman, daughter of Mrs. Alice McIntosh of this place, the Rev. Wm. Listen of the Grace M. E. church of Rockford, performing the ceremony.

The bride is well known at Wayne, having been a student in the city high school, and spent much of her childhood days in this county. The groom is in the employ of the P. B. Yates Machine Company, of Beloit, where the bride and groom are residing.

J. L. PAYNE SELLS BUSINESS TO FRANK POWERS

For a year past J. L. Payne has been conducting business in the Phileo building on 1st street, buying hen and cow products and selling feed, salt, etc., besides using a lot of space in the building for storage. This business Frank Powers has taken over and will continue it at that place. Mr. Powers has just installed a new and approved washer for the cream cans.

Henry Hachmeyer will share the building with Mr. Powers, moving his machinery repair equipment there the first of February.

WAYNE HIGH QUINT BEATEN BY STANTON

In A Closely Contested Game on Normal Floor Stanton Team Wins Over Home Team 13 to 8.

The Wayne Boys were defeated in a basketball game held on the Normal floor Friday evening by the Stanton team. The Waynites showed a decided improvement over the Carroll game in passing, shooting and guarding. The Stanton team was composed of tall, heavy men as compared with Waynes men, all of whom are under the average height of their opponents. The game ended with a score of 13 to 8.

Wisner girls team triumphed over the Wayne team in a very close game played Friday on the Normal floor. The game was a tie all the way through until the last few minutes of play, the score standing 17-16 at the final whistle. Chris Will refereed the girls game and Guy Bert was the official in the boys clash.

The Wayne Boys basketball team will meet the Norfolk aggregation on the Normal floor Friday evening. This will be one of the fastest hardest fought games of the season and every Waynite is cordially invited to root for their home boys. Norfolk has a no defeat record, having defeated Fremont on their own floor by a one point margin and Fremont is one of the best teams in the state. We won't be able to meet Norfolk in the tournament this year since they will have their own district so the High school is going to take their revenge for last years defeat at this time.

Both teams are up to their proper form at this writing the boys having improved wonderfully over both the Carroll game and the Stanton game.

The Wayne Girls will play the Wausa girls Friday night on the Normal floor. The girls team shows great improvement day by day and in the game this Friday will give their best. In the Wisner-Wayne game last Friday the girls outplayed the visitors consistently, and the game was anybody's until the last minute when a foul gave Wisner the advantage.

A party in the second grade Thursday marked the passing of the A class into the third grade, the B. Class being hosts at that time. Mrs. Bernston was a visitor.

The kindergarten had a farewell party for the outgoing A class Friday. Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Barrett were visitors. New pupils in the kindergarten are: Betty Strahan, Betty Ellis, Vernon Mace, Mildred Ringer, Vincent Snyder, Byrl Love and Garrett Rhodes.

Margaretta Foltz is a new pupil in the third grade. The B class of the first grade entertained the A class at dinner January 16th.

Frank Strahan and Hazel Brock had birthday parties in the second grade this week.

Visitors for the week in the second grade were: Mrs. J. Pile, Mrs. A. D. Lewis, Mrs. Gaertner, Mrs. E. E. Fleetwood and Mrs. B. F. Strahan.

ELIZABETH WELSH TO WED VERN LEWELLEN FRIDAY

The announcement came in the Sunday Lincoln papers of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Welsh of Lincoln. The Welsh family were for a number of years residents of Wayne where Mr. Welsh was in the jewelry business, selling to E. A. Fenske, and later being interested in the hardware business with Harry Craven. They moved from Wayne a dozen or more years ago. Of the approaching wedding the Sunday Journal says:

The Chi Omega sorority house will be the scene of the largest wedding of the week when Miss Betty Welsh, will become the bride of Vern Lewellen of Green Bay, Wisconsin, son of Mrs. J. C. Lewellen of Winner, South Dakota, formerly of Lincoln, at 8 o'clock Friday evening. One hundred and sixty guests will be present for the ceremony which will be performed by Rev. S. S. Hilscher, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Miss Dorothy Welsh, sister of the bride, will be her only attendant, and Adolph Wenke of Stanton will be Mr. Lewellen's best man. Preceding the service Miss Thelma King will sing "Calm as the Night" and "O, Pristine Me." Miss Ruth Lowrie of Chicago and Miss Viola Forsell will play the wedding march as a piano and violin duet for the entrance of the bridal party. A reception at the sorority house will follow the ceremony, after which Mr. Lewellen and his bride will leave for Green Bay, Wisconsin, where they will make their home.

EDITORS MET AT WEST POINT

Last Friday and Saturday editors to the number of about twenty from the northeastern corner of this state were entertained at West Point in most royal manner. The local community club gave a banquet in their honor, about 200 plates being laid.

Good talks were made by W. H. Warner, Monsignor Joseph Ruesing, Mrs. Marie Weekee and C. E. Nevin. The business and round table sessions were of much interest. The summer meeting will be at Neligh.

The following officers were elected: Mark Murray of the Pender Times, president; Charles Kuhle of the Leigh World, vice-president; and J. P. O'Furey of the Cedar County News at Hartington, secretary.

A RABBIT HUNT BY LEGION MEMBERS

Members of Irwin Sears Post No. 43, American Legion are planning for a big rabbit hunt Sunday, and are to meet at the post rooms between 7:30 and 8 o'clock that morning to choose captains and sides and assign territory for each team.

The penalty for belonging to the losing team is to clean the rabbits killed and pay for the feed to be served to the winners. It will be great sport for those who enjoy hunting. Just what will be done with the surplus rabbits will be determined when they know how many are left after the victors have had their feed. Some might be sent to the Children home in Omaha, if there are rabbits to spare.

Hunters should get their license, and be prompt in reporting.

$10,018.39 FOR THE SCHOOLS OF COUNTY

The State school funds for Madison county have been divided and certified to this week, by County Superintendent, Mrs. Alice Hall. The amount coming to Madison county, for this purpose is $10,018.39, $2,313.91 coming from fines in the county. This is $2,349.01 more than the December apportionment last year, but does not come up to the usual July sum.

The sum is divided by giving each district $18.50 plus the sum of $1.15 for each name on the school census. On this basis, Madison City receives $635.76.

The rural district receiving the largest amount is No. 56, Walter Feilung, director, with $90.96. Those next with $88.66 apiece are No. 10, Rudy Tiedgen, director, No. 20, Otto Zutz, and No. 25, Warnerville B. McGinnis.

CLOTHING EXHIBIT

The work of the clothing classes of the State Teachers' college will be exhibited on Thursday afternoon, January 21. An invitation is extended to all who are interested in the department. Physical and Industrial Bldg., room 422.

J. W. MORGAN AND WIFE 55th WEDDING

Tuesday the 20th was the Anniversary of Marriage of John W. Morgan and Wife

This morning it came to the ears of the Democrat that this worthy couple had quietly observed their 55th wedding anniversary at their home on Main street, Tuesday, January 20th. We say they observed the event quietly, for it was not until well toward night that day that Mr. Morgan mentioned to any one that it was his wedding day. Five years ago, they kept open house, and many friends called, while the four children and some of their children and near friends made merry in the evening.

In 1875, John W. Morgan and Miss Jane Chapman were married in Livingston county, Illinois, and later moved to Iowa, settling near Harlan, where one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Graves lives. Wilder Morgan at Granite Falls, Minnesota, Frank S. Morgan and Mrs. Roscoe (Ella) Jones living here, make up the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan made their way thru the hardships incident to the farmer and stockmen for the past fifty years, and they were many, and by hard work and wise management acquired enough of the world goods to permit them to spend these later years in quiet and at ease. May they live and enjoy health for many other anniversary dates is the wish of a host of friends.

ONE GIRL IS UNAFRAID

Speaking of marriages and the Nebraska law, aroused the admiration of her friends through her loyalty to the state. She is a business girl, and she expects to work right up to the time she is married in order to help prepare for the delightful little home they are building. Only her closest friends know of her plans and none who work in the big office around her know that she is to be married in the near future. She is certain that a full measure of railery will be her lot after it becomes known that her wedding license has been applied for, but as she says: "I figure that I am old enough and proud enough of my state and I wouldn't think of such a thing as going over the Kansas line for the greatest event of my life."—Hastings Tribune.

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

Who? Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $2,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period is from January 1 to March 15, 1925.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Form 1040A and Form 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? Two per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Four per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Six per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

Peter Henkle was called to Norfolk Tuesday evening by word that his brother Philip Saul, from Gregory, South Dakota, was to undergo an operation at a hospital at that place Wednesday. He was accompanied by Albert Doring, a brother-in-law. They received no word as to the nature of the illness.

LeRoy Owen of Chicago is in Omaha today, having a mission there of some important law matters, and called his parents at noon time, just to tell them how near home he is, but that he is under hurry orders to leave for Chicago this evening, and report there Friday morning. He is well and very busy.

J. W. Gildersleeve and sons left the last of the week for their new home well up in the northwest part of North Dakota, and planned to make the trip in a car. So far as heard from they were not having impassible roads nor very bad weather. Mr. G. has a large ranch to exercise on the coming season, and the chances are that the main crop will be wheat, with some other small grains.

TO CORRECT CONVENTION PERVERSIONS
A few months ago The Searchlight presented the principles of a simple, common-sense program of legislation to correct the abuses of our national convention system. These constructive suggestions should be kept in mind until they are enacted into law. That article was as follows:
"It should be understood, once and for all, that—
The selection of presidential candidates ought not to be the perquisite of self-seeking professional politicians, nor the special privilege of predatory organizations, but the most important duty of the people.
Accordingly, there must be—
Public sponsorship and auspices from beginning to end.
Public payment of all necessary and legitimate expenses.
A presidential preference primary for the election of delegates.
A legally established procedure for conventions which will enable the majority to prevail in all controversies respecting issues and individuals.
In compliance with these principals the Congress and the States, working in harmony, should enact legislation which will provide that:
1. On a fixed date every four years, in all states, there shall be held a presidential primary for the election of delegates to all party conventions.
2. From each State where a party polled a majority or plurality of votes in the last preceding gubernatorial election, the number of its delegates shall equal the number of Senators and Congressmen from such States; from each other State the number of its delegates shall be prorated according to the percentage of votes cast for that party's gubernatorial nominee in the last preceding election.
3. Any citizen of the United States who is a qualified elector shall be eligible for election as a delegate to a national convention, excepting those holding public office or political position in a party organization.
4. To be eligible for the nomination, each candidate for President, Vice President shall file a notice of his candidacy in all States, with a statement of his platform, not exceeding 1,000 words.
5. In addition to voting for the delegates committed to a certain candidate, the electors shall be required to register second and third choices, which shall be binding upon the delegates so elected.
6. All national conventions shall be held in the chamber of the House of Representatives at Washington.
7. The public shall be excluded, the galleries being reserved for representatives of the press.
8. When assembled in convention, the Vice President shall be nominated first, the President second, and the platform then adopted, which shall contain the declarations made by the successful candidate.
9. On the first ballot for President each candidate receiving less than five per cent of the votes of delegates shall be dropped from the list, and on each succeeding ballot the lowest candidate shall be dropped, until a nomination is made by majority vote.
10. The same procedure shall apply to the nomination of Vice President.
11. All necessary expenses of candidates and delegates in connection with primaries and convensions

NEBRASKA'S SERVANT THESE MANY YEARS

A few facts about STANDARD OIL COMPANY

THE Standard Oil Company of Nebraska is chartered under the laws of Nebraska and is therefore a state corporation.
Practically its entire business is in Nebraska.
Its direction and operation are entirely in the hands of executives resident in Nebraska.
It pays salaries and wages that settle the bills for over six hundred Nebraska families.
It maintains stations for the convenient purchase of its products by every resident of the state—in town and country.
It was a pioneer in developing an adequate system for supplying standard quality petroleum products before automobiles and tractors came to Nebraska.
The Standard Oil Company of Nebraska has pursued the policy of anticipating the needs and requirements of Nebraska communities and providing for their growth. Today it maintains 347 bulk stations, 90 service stations and supplies the requirements of 1500 garages.
During its whole history the Company has met competition with high quality products and willingness and ability to give courteous, and efficient service.
A Nebraska institution that has grown with Nebraska, understands her needs and serves them, this Company seeks to make it possible for all Nebraskans to buy standard quality petroleum products at uniformly fair prices in the smallest hamlet and in her large cities.
Suggestions for improving the service of this Company are always welcome and receive careful consideration.

CARROL INDEX SOLD
The Carroll Index was sold by Receiver Charles Randall to Clifford Dawson of Elgin. The latter plans to take possession about January 19th. The newspaper suspended publication something over a year ago but was leased by C. B. Wylie, who has since published the paper and built it up on a fairly sound basis. The Index was owned by the First National Bank of Carroll, since defunct, and Receiver Randall has had it for sale for some time. We know nothing regarding the ability of the new editor but learn he has been in the employ of the publisher of the Elgin weekly. Mr. Wylie has no definite plans as to his future activity but in all probabilities will continue to follow the newspaper game.—Winside Tribune.

WAKEFIELD TALKING LIGHT PLANT OWNERSHIP
There seem to be some differences of opinion as to the light plant and service and price of juice at Wakefield, and steps have been taken to have the city take the plant over and own and run it as a municipal plant. The last issue of the Republican has the following to say regarding the movement, and its progress thus far:
At a recent meeting of the City Council Oscar Swanson was appointed to represent the city in appraising the local light plant. The light company appointed E. E. Hyspe as their representative.
These two men, who have no stock in the company will now appoint a third man, and the three of them will appraise the local plant, after which the city will, no doubt, call an election for the voting of bonds for the purchasing of the plant.

BLOOMFIELD GOLFERS ELECT 1925 OFFICERS
Bloomfield, Nebr., Jan. 17.—Golf enthusiasts here have organized for the season. W. H. Needham, editor of the Monitor, was elected president and Lyle Yeager, E. C. Sendel, Fred S. Muelled, E. E. Simmons, L. D. Harmon and Eric Eklund were appointed as membership committee. Plans were made to stage a home talent play the latter part of February. G. H. Liddell, Dr. L. D. Harmon and Prof. Eglund were chosen to have charge of this feature. Negotiations are on for the leasing of eight acres of land adjoining the fairgrounds. It is planned to start work on the greens just as soon as weather conditions permit.

of such a club.
Mr. Nuss declared that dollar bargain days, a community Christmas tree and perhaps other live up-to-date community co-operative projects were a good thing. He advocated that beggars and solicitors for charity be required to have a permit before calling on business men. He told of the prejudice that sometimes exists against the town man and told of co-operative means of a better understanding that smooths away their preconceived and false impressions, leading to better relations. Through all he contended that the business man must be fair.
Mr. Nuss declared that home dealers could successfully compete with mail order houses on price and services. He was strong for advertising as a means of combating catalog houses and said that "a small ad each week was better than a big one every six weeks."
After the address the business of the club was taken up.

NEWS AND VIEWS

The new version is, "What are the cold waves saying to you?"

The secretary of the treasury is authority for the statement that the promise of this year is equal to that of 1896—it is to be the best since the far-a-way day when we fought out the issue of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. That was a lively campaign, but do not remember so much about the business of the time.

The Woman's club of Pender has passed a resolution favoring the entry of the United States into and participation in a permanent court participational justice; and asking that the powers that be at Washington work toward that end. Copies of the resolution have been sent to members of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations. It is a wise thing to let the people know what you want, and also let members of congress know. If they come to know enough of what the people want, they may do it—if they think their place depends upon the doing of the will of the people.

Looks now as tho the legislature need not vote a tax on gasoline, for the oil trust is beating them to it. Gas prices jumped two cents a gallon in the east last week, and it nearly always comes west if they start in the east and goes east if the raise strikes the west first.

The Iowa legislature is beginning the 1925 session this week, with promises of retrenchment of expenses, and the news from Des Moines at this stage of the proceedings indicates that the members are determined to reduce government costs, and will fight it out along that line if they have to stay in session all summer. It is sure that the longer they are in session the greater will be the tax costs, judging the future by the past.

President Coolidge seems to think the best way to stop bootlegging is get the fellow next higher up, who is supplying the booze retailer. That may be the proper way to suppress the evil.

Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the medical college of the University of Nebraska, is to leave the school, to take a like position with the medical school of Northwestern University of Chicago. Nebraska school will lose an able man with the departure of Dr. Cutter.

It is intimated that the republican members of the legislature now in session at Lincoln have lost their state and legislative platforms, and a result cannot remember just what they should do to fulfill their pre-election pledges.

That retiring disposition appears to be becoming quite prevalent among federal office holders. There is Hughes and Slemm, and Haynes the prohibition commissioner is said to be going to quit.

Here is the remedy—cattlemen who want better prices are told to stop production. That's the idea. Let their pastures and range be idle—and let the price of cattle on foot and meat on the block go up and up, until the fellow who makes one steer grow where three grew before can get more for the one than he formerly received for three. Then let the rich bid up for the choice cuts, and the soup bones go to those not so flush in money. It is intimated that money to properly finance the industry is lacking, and that many cattlemen are forced to sell before the proper time because of that fact. A remedy is needed. What shall it be? Kill the goose that lays the golden egg—or simply starve the bird?

Many things are moving at Washington, and while there is outward calm, there is a seething inside of things political. The resignation of Slemm as private secretary to the president, some think, means much.

We are told that there are competent persons on the waiting list for practically every place now being filled in the postal service by one who wants to resign because the pay is not sufficient. Might try out a few.

A COMMUNITY TEST (Stolen)

During 1924 what have I done to help this town, my community?

How many meetings in relation to civic problems have I attended? If my answer is that I have not been asked to attend such meetings, still my alibi is not complete. For why have I not placed myself in position to be asked? Why am I not on the list of live wires subject to call to battle when my community faces crisis? What is wrong with me? In fact why have I not called some meetings myself? Besides, is volunteer leadership ever outlawed? Is there, after all, any monopoly on civic work and community service?

How many committees have I served on to help my community, or its churches, charities, or its civic, commercial and industrial growth?

Have I stood on the street corner and criticised, or have I aided in the construction and in the discussion of problems to help bring about remedies for my town's conditions?

Have I "kicked" about certain civic leaders and officials and then smiled in the faces of my accused?

Have I really understood, or have I honestly tried to understand what my town is facing in regard to its future growth and the prosperity and happiness of its people? In short, have I cared?

Have I cleaned the rubbish off my own lot before criticising my neighbor for not cleaning his?

Have I had the spirit of calmness, the quality of civic-mindedness, the love and charity of community life?

Have I seen and higher than my own counter, or looked any father than the curbstone in front of my place of business?
Have I realized that, comparatively speaking, a few men and women of my community have actually supported it in a civic way while I have not done my full duty nor contributed my full share?

Have I merely been 'staying' in Wayne, or have I been living here. Have I been merely a resident of Wayne, or have I been one of its Citizens?

Here is the community test, a real test of citizenship. How many of us can make a satisfactory and passing grade?

WALTER SAVIDGE ESCAPES INJURIES IN AUTO SPILL

Walter Savidge, owner of the Savidge Amusement Company, Wayne has death when his car skidded from the road and turned turtle over narrowly escaped injury and per an embankment on the Upland highway between the Remender and McGehee farms late Wednesday night. Savidge, who was alone in the car, was uninjured.
Savidge was coming from Albion where he had been on business and meeting another car turned out of the icy ruts too suddenly. He was unable to straighten his car out before it had plunged over the embankment. Although the car brought up in the ditch lying on its top and wheels in the air Savidge escaped with only a shaking up. Madison Star Mail.

OF GENERAL INTEREST
(From the Wayne County Teacher)

A program and box supper were held in district 51 on Monday, December 22. A good crowd was present. The proceeds were $40, of which $10 were given toward the fair exhibit building. With the remainder a set of maps, new flags and playground equipment will be purchased. Clara Korff is the teacher.

A program and box social were given in district 75 on the evening of December 19. The program by the pupils was very good. There was a good crowd present. There were 28 boxes and the proceeds were $33. Mrs. Ira George is the teacher.

On December 19 a program and box social were given in district 26. Part of the program was by the pupils of the school. Two dialogues "The Sweet Bouquet" and "Grandma Shaw's Visit" were given. There were three songs and a recitation. Then Miss Gingles' English class from the Wayne High School presented the little play "Sauce For The Goose." A fairly good crowd attended. Burritt Wright was the auctioneer. Proceeds were $26. $10 of this was given toward the exhibit building fund. They plan to get some nice pictures for the school with the remainder of it. Emily Horsham is the teacher.

I have been asked to give my opinion concerning the shortening of the noon hour, and perhaps doing away with the recess, then dismissing pupils earlier, during the cold winter days.
I think that doing this now and then, especially on a stormy day, would be all right but to do so regularly each day I would not consider a very good plan. The school day is supposed to be from nine o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. If I were teaching I don't believe I would do it very often for there is sure to be dissatisfaction somewhere. Besides this the children need some exercise during the day and should go outside during the intermissions for exercise and fresh air. Some of the teachers, if it is too cold for the pupils to go outside, open the windows and have the children take some physical exercises which is very fine and which does away with the confusion there is when pupils are tearing about inside the school room.

Mr. Earl C. Douthit of Winslow is selling to school officers a set of books called the Boys and Girls Book Shelf, 17 volumes, published by the University Society of New York. The price is $64.50. The books are very fine. If any of the school boards feel they would like to purchase them I think they will find him very reliable to deal with.

We are said to be (all of this week that has gone into the past) on the last half of the winter, as the season has averaged in Nebraska. January 17 has been the middle of winter here on an average for a number of years. Then what about "groundhog day?" They used to say that was the mid-winter line—half your winter and half your hay.

The board of trade gamblers are trying to corner the bread of the world—robbing both producer and consumer. They should be outlawed—for they are as much like the Louisiana lottery scheme as anything so much worse than that can be. If they want to make the mills serve only the honest people, Uncle Sam should bar the board of trade gambling in food stuffs, from the mills.

There are some optimists in the newspaper game. They could see much good to America a few years ago when the gold was all coming to our shores; and now that it is starting back to Europe in great lumps, they profess to see in that move a blessing to us, because it means sound money in the old world. The first 27 days of December they say, saw more gold go across than during the entire year of either 1921, 1922 or 1923. More than forty million dollars worth passed out in four weeks.

The embargo on western poultry is not so tight as it was, and the birds are beginning to go to market in greater numbers. And now the west may be having its day, for there is typhoid scare over the oysters from Maryland. The typhoid epidemic in some western cities are attributed to the oysters from the Potomac below Washington. Perhaps some of the political corruption of the national government has contaminated the waters, and the oysters have imbibed something rotten.

At Lincoln the retiring governor, Chas. Bryan, made up a conservative budget of what the expenses of state government need not exceed; but it is that that Governor McMullen will plan an administration which will call for more money. In such event, the State Journal suggests that members of the legislature do a bit of figuring, and set the cost where they think it should be, disregarding the budget suggestions of the two governors, provided the new governor gets out an estimate. We would suggest that old motto that used to apply to these in doubt: "of two evils, choose the least."

Herbert Hoover would have the farmer helped by cheapening distribution both to and from agriculture. But ten percent of our agricultural production is exported, but that seems to be plenty to knock out all benefit for the farmer from a "protective tariff" on farm products. Perhaps we can speed up our consumption and take off that one tenth that is now blocking the farmer from becoming a monopolist—for we have little doubt but that many of them would be that if they have the chance.

The Senate has gone on record as confirming the report of the finding of the oil investigating committee of which Senator Walsh was chairman, charging Fall, Denby and Roosevelt with improper conduct in their official capacity in the oil deals. It was largely a party vote which put the stamp of disapproval on the acts. The administration senators held together, but were outvoted by the democrats and six insurgent republicans. The vote was 42 to 48, six republicans voting with the democrats to sustain the finding of the investigation. The six are Senators Borah, Idaho; Brookhart, Iowa; Frazier, North Dakota; Johnson, California; Noebeck, South Dakota; Norris, Nebraska; and Shipstead of Minnesota, a farmer-laborite. It was a vigorous debate that preceded the vote. The vote looks as tho it was a party question rather than one of honesty in office. It might be well for honest voters to consider the idea of breaking away from the habit of voting with their party, right or wrong. Principle and common honesty should come ahead of party, we think.

Those taking part in the program were: Mesdames Ralph Randall, C. M. Craven, H. W. McClure, Wm. Von Seggern, Amos Claycomb, Homer Seace, Horace Theobald and Miss Mabel Dayton. The next meeting will be held February 6.

Mrs. Arthur Norton entertained the Altrusa club at her home Monday afternoon. Mrs. F. E. Brock gave several short humorous stories. Mrs. J. E. Dowling favored the club with a piano selection. The rest of the afternoon was spent with kensington. Mrs. R. G. Hahlbeck was a guest of the afternoon. The next meeting will be February 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Elmer Noakes.

The American Legion Auxilliary met Tuesday evening in the Legion rooms. Plans were made for a food sale in the near future, the proceeds of which will be used for curtains and chairs for the Legion rooms. A joint social for the Legion and Auxilliary was also planned to be held sometime in February. The Auxilliary will give a banquet for the new members sometime in March.

The U. D. club was entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Kemp. Members responded to roll call with Current Events. Mrs. H. B. Craven had a very interesting article on, "The Count of the Wedding Guests," by O. Henry. The club will observe housekeeper's day Friday January 30th, at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hufford.

The ladies Aid society of the Methodist church will meet Thursday, January 29, with Mrs. Rollie Ley. Following committee will have charge of meeting. Mesdames G. L. Strickland, J. W. Mason, Burret Wright, Hazen Atkins and I. H. Britell. Quilting and other sewing will be provided.

The Bible Study Circle met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. C. Peterson, with Mrs. Ziegler leader of an interesting lesson. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. W. Hiscox.

The Light Bearers of the Presbyterian church met Saturday with Evelyn Mellor. The program for the afternoon was an article from their Missionary Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Mabbott will entertain about thirty friends at their home this evening. The time will be devoted to playing 500. At the close of evening refreshments will be served.

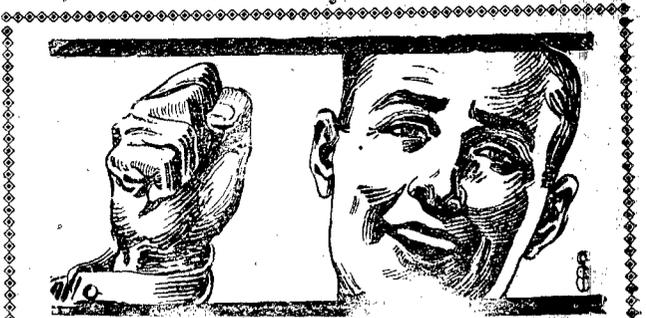

The D. A. R. will have a meeting Friday or Saturday when the State Regent Mrs. O'Linn Smith will be present.

The Baptist ladies missionary circle will meet with Mrs. Kellogg on January 29th. Mrs. Sprague will be the leader.

JUDGE PUTNEY WILL GO TO LINCOLN

County Judge Putney's term of office expired January 8th and he laid down the duties and responsibilities of the office and retired leaving a record that any one should be proud of. Judge Putney brought to the office the experience of years and he leaves the office with that record unblemished. His ability to fill the office is unquestioned nor is his intent to do right disputed. He has filled the responsible position with credit to himself and to the good of those who have estates to settle before his court. If he has made mistakes they have been of the head and not the heart.

Judge Putney as been a resident of Tilden, Nebraska since 1894 and to the time he became county judge. In 1891 he was a member of the Washington legislature. At Tilden he was always among the foremost

A Personal Announcement to Housewives

So many of our patrons thought, and quite correctly, too, that was not equalled by any other—that it was a real hardship to them when this mill burned, and the supply of that excellent flour was exhausted.

We are now glad to announce that the mill is restored where it gets the same quality of home-grown wheat, and that we have just received our first shipment of the famous PLEAZALL Flour, and can assure all a quality flour.

Now we want to talk to you just a moment regarding quality in the food we have. There are groceries with a price and groceries with a quality—pure, wholesome, full weight and measure, and up to a known standard of excellence. That is the kind we furnish our patrons, and a satisfied customer is more to be desired than a long profit on second grade merchandise.

Mildner's Grocery

pushing citizens for the welfare of the community in which he lived. He practiced law there till he came to Madison to serve as county judge. He served Tilden in many capacities and was city attorney for several years.

Mrs. Putney died over 20 years ago and his children are all grown up. His daughter, Mrs. Whitney, lives in Chicago. His son Fredrick is head of the Globe Delivery company in Lincoln, William, assistant secretary of the Mutual Life Insurance company at Lincoln and the younger son Edward is attending the state university. The judge announces his determination to go to Lincoln for a time and re-establish his acquaintance with his sons.

The above is from the Madison Star-Mall, and we wonder why the editor did not dig back more than twenty years from the time he starts history in 1894, and tell of the arrival of the Putney family, including F. L., then a lad just entering his teens. They were Nebraska pioneers, coming to Antelope county flat broke in the early '70s, lived on corn bread spread with pumpkin butter; and corresponding only with his mother, who lived in western part of New York State—and she was remembered with a letter because she sent a stamp with which to mail the reply to her letters—something many other friends of W. W. Putney and family did not know was necessary, for they did not know to what extent "hard times" had visited the Putney family. It was no disgrace to be poor and hard up, but was mighty inconvenient, as many of us can testify.

The Putney family belonged to race of pioneers, tracing their ancestry back to the Mayflower on its first voyage to America. The grandparents of Forest were among the early settlers in the heavily timbered hills of Chautauqua county, New York, where they chopped and dug and burned out a farm among the trees and stone. As a boy the writer well remembers a visit to that old home, because it was in the spring time, and the sap was running from the maple trees of their "sugar bush" of giant hard maples; and great aunt Eunice Putney made mighty good bread, and spread it thick with butter and maple sugar for a small boy who never forget the experience. From such a home, W. W. Putney came among the first settlers in northeast Iowa, and there proposed with others for nearly twenty years in that great wheat land. Then came the war and inflation, followed by deflation of currency. With the scarce dollar came the chinch bug, and wheat yield averages dropped from 20 to 30 bushel per acre to a scant six or eight bushels, and the price per bushel from $2 to $3, and even more, to 75 cents. Then came real "hard times" and men of courage and determination flocked to the great prairies of this state, and mostly came flat broke. Many lost their Iowa new blood came in from the east, and among them some dairymen. Gradually the wheat fields were changed to pastures and hay lands, cows took the place of horses to a certain extent, creameries and cheese factories sprang up and Clayton and Delaware counties in Iowa gradually became a great dairy country, and that brought wealth to the communities, and added richness to the soil.

Such was the stock from which F. L. Putney came; such have been his environments thru nearly seventy years of life. A Putney would not think of deciding a question on policy. It was principle, and backed by what appeared to them to be right, and for what they would fight to the last ditch without compromise. We know their characteristics.

FROM THE MONTH'S LETTERS

District No. 3:
Dear Miss Sewell:

We had our program and box social Monday evening, December twenty-second. The money raised from the sale of the boxes amounted to twenty-three dollars and thirty-five cents. I am inclosing a check for fifteen dollars toward the sum being raised for the Fair Exhibit Building. The remainder of the money will be used to purchase small needed articles for the school. My school board has recently purchased and put in a large book case which proves very helpful.

Maye J. Beal, teacher.

District No. 71:
Dear Miss Sewell:—We have recently had built a boys' new toilet. Also new steps for our porch. We bought a new black board for the entire front of the room with our Shadow Social money. We put white oil cloth on our wash stand and the two walls along which the stand is placed make it appear very sanitary.

Johanna Otte, teacher.

District No. 86:
A program and box social were given in school district 86 on December 20. In spite of bad weather and poor roads a fair sized crowd was present. The proceeds of the sale of the boxes amounted to $21.40 which will be used for school purposes. I have seven pupils who have not been absent or tardy this year which I think is pretty good considering the weather.

Ella Strate, teacher.

District No. 34:
Dear Miss Sewell:—We had a Christmas program and box social December 20. We planned on giving it December 19 but postponed it on account of the cold weather. Our program consisted of recitations, songs, a dialogue and the tableaux "Rock of Ages."

We had a fine crowd. Thirty-five boxes were brought. We received $55.30 for them.

We have not yet decided what we will do with it. Am sending the ten dollars for the benefit of the fund which is being raised for the exhibit building.

Lena Bruse, teacher.

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska, Jan. 13, 1925.

Board met in regular session. All members present.

Upon motion it is hereby resolved that each member of the Board be and is hereby appointed a committee of one to investigate claims of demand upon the county for pauper maintenance, and for temporary relief, and also to investigate claims and demands of any party on county road and bridge funds to be expended in several road districts of the county. Frank Erleben is hereby directed to act as such committee in the 1st Commissioner District. Henry Rethwisch is hereby directed to act as such committee in the 2nd Commissioner District. Otto Miller is hereby directed to act as such committee in the 3rd Commissioner District.

Provided, however, that in case of emergency anywhere in the county coming to the knowledge of any of the commissioners where it is necessary to give immediate relief to a pauper and no other commissioner being present, the commissioner present shall see that the necessary relief is provided. Each member shall report to the full board at its next meeting and all acts performed by him in such committee with his recommendations for action by the board. All Justices of the Peace and the County Clerk are hereby forbidden to give any aid whatsoever, except as stated below, and all persons requiring county aid, such as medical attendance, and other necessities shall make application direct to the commissioner of the district for which he acts.

Under this resolution the county clerk is given authority to call the county physician for medical attendance, or emergency cases, whenever he deems it necessary.

On motion the county is divided into three road dragging districts as follows:

Road Dragging District No. 1 shall comprise all territory within the 1st Commissioner District and shall be under the supervision of Frank Erleben.

Road Dragging District No. 2 shall comprise all territory within the 2nd Commissioner District and shall be under the supervision of Henry Rethwisch.

Road Dragging District No. 3 shall comprise all territory within the 3rd Commissioner District and shall be under the supervision of Otto Miller. County Commissioners as Overseers of the respective road dragging districts are to receive no extra compensation.

The county board hereby adopts the following rules and regulations to prevent the introduction and spread of contagious, infectious or malignant diseases, and for the purpose of safe guarding the public health and preventing nuisances and unsanitary conditions.

1. That a board of health for the county be appointed by the county board, the same to consist of three members, one of whom shall be a practicing physician.

2. That said board of health be and they hereby are empowered to enforce such regulations as may be adopted by this board to prevent the introduction of contagious, infectious or malignant diseases into the unincorporated territory of the county, and to enforce quarantine rules made for that purpose by it or the board of commissioners.

3. That in case in their judgment it shall become necessary to establish a pest house and if the pest house be established by the county board, the same shall be under the supervision of the board of health, and the said board of health shall have power to cause such person to be removed thereto as they deem necessary in order to enforce the quarantine rules and prevent the introduction and spread of such contagious diseases.

4. The said board of health or any member thereof may enter any premises in the county not within the corporate limits of any city or village for the purpose of determining whether or not any contagious disease exists therein and shall adopt such rules and regulations for their own control and for the carrying out and enforcement of the quarantine rules and regulations adopted by this board as in their judgment they may deem necessary and shall keep a record of all their proceedings and persons quarantined.

5. The expense of said board of health which are not properly chargeable to the persons affected with such contagious disease or persons occupying the premises where the same exist shall be paid from the county treasury upon bills duly allowed by the board of county commissioners in the same manner as other bills against the county. The compensation of the members of this board of health shall be 50 cents a mile one way and for examination and quarantine of each family $2.00. They shall be allowed by the county board and paid from the county treasury, in the same manner as other bills against the county.

6. The County Board may at any time remove any member of said board of health and appoint another in his place.

7. All persons who have been quarantined, shall be thoroughly fumigated in the manner provided by the rules of quarantine, and adopted by this board at the expense of such persons and the occupant of the quarantined premises and no quarantine shall be raised until such persons and the premises have been fumigated. Provided that paupers and premises occupied by paupers may be fumigated at the expense of the county. All fumigating shall be under the personal supervision of one member of the board of health, under the personal supervision of a practicing physician.

On motion the following regulations and rules for quarantine of contagious, infectious or malignant disease were adopted.

1. Whenever within the limits of this county and without the corporate limits of any city or village, a person is suspected of having smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria or other contagious diseases he shall immediately be isolated within his own household as carefully as possible and as soon as a contagious disease is recognized it will be the duty of the attending physician and householder to give written notice of the same to the clerk of the county giving the name of the disease and of the family where it exists with the number exposed and all other particulars that may be of value.

2. The premises where the above contagious disease exists must be duly quarantined by the county board of health through its proper officer or any appointee (a) by placing upon the house or some conspicuous point upon the premises, a placard giving the name of disease in letters not less than three inches (3) height, (b) by a verbal or written notice to the householder to remain on the premises and in no way mingle with other persons nor to allow others (except the physician) to approach nearer than thirty (30) feet to any house or person thus quarantined. This rule to apply also in case of exposure.

3. Such quarantine to continue until in the opinion of the medical advisor of the board of health, the last case of the disease likely to occur therein has completely recovered and is ready for disinfection, provided however that in case of extreme necessity one free from disease may be released earlier after thorough disinfection of person and clothing and with a certificate from the above medical advisor.

4. The necessities of life, as often as occasion demands may be carried within thirty (30) feet of the quarantined house by a neighbor or other duly appointed messenger, but no nearer, nor shall any effects whatever be brought away from the household until thoroughly disinfected.

5. In case of death from contagious disease there shall be no public funeral and the body of the diseased shall be closely wrapped in sheets well saturated with disinfected and closed in a tight casket, this to be again wrapped in a disinfected cloth, and in such cases he corpse shall not be carried to or near any body of people while on its way to the cemetery.

6. When in any school district or community several families, say five or eight are infected with contagious disease or very many exposures have occurred, the board of health may prohibit all gatherings of people in that community including sessions of school until in their opinions the emergency is past.

7. All physicians should use due precaution in their visits to quarantined households to avoid the danger of contagion to the well.

8. When in the opinion of the medical advisor of the board of health, quarantine can be safely raised, it shall be done with fumigation with a 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde, using at least five ounces to each 1000 cubic feet of air space, solution to be applied by an approved evaporation or by the sheet method. The room to be sealed at least six hours, all persons to receive a disinfecting bath and their clothing to be fumigated and the house thoroughly cleansed. This to be done in accordance with the "Suggestions of the State Board of Health to Physicians."

9. When in the opinion of the board of county commissioners a hospital is needed to which individual cases of contagious diseases may be removed, or when such method will accommodate those without homes at much less public expense or for any other reason it is deemed best, a building suited to their needs shall be provided.

10. Whoever, in any way willfully or negligently disobeys these rules of quarantine and disinfection shall by such disobedience render himself subject to prosecution and a fine of $25.00 for each and every offense, and shall meanwhile if infected, and subject to quarantine be held at the quarantine house or hospital until the time for disinfection.

are hereby approved and adopted.

Comes now Henry Rethwisch, Otto Miller and Frank Erleben, county commissioners, and proceed to an organization as provided by law, for the year 1925, by the selection of Frank Erleben as chairman and Chas. W. Reynolds, as Secretary or Clerk.

In compliance with section 2737, Revised Statutes of Nebraska for 1913 as amended, the Board of county commissioners of Wayne county, Nebraska, for the purpose of creating a Board of Health for Wayne county, Nebraska hereby appoint Archie W. Stephens, who as Sheriff would be chairman of Board, Dr. C. T. Ingham, who will be physician, and Pearl E. Sewell who as county superintendent will act as Secretary of said board.

It is hereby resolved that the use of small horse graders be discontinued for making grades by the road overseers, unless authorized by the county commissioners.

Evolution of Trade Mark and Advertising

The trade mark was invented during a time of grand colonization. A business house in Cathago Nova (Carthage), which manufactured a delicious fish sauce and sent it to all parts of the world in hermetically sealed pitchers, burnt nine stars into the containers. The nine stars were the emblem of the sacred fish, the dolphins. A big lamp factory in the Roman Rhineland adorned all its lamps with the utensils of eye specialists—which those people who used the lamps should ever come to know!

Advertising, of course, grew more and more luxurious. It was a favorite child of commerce in imperial Rome. Dozens of the best painters and sculptors worked for the wool-kings, silk houses, and the big weapon factories which grew up like mushrooms wherever the Roman armies advanced. People vied with one another in erecting altars to the protectors of trade and navigation; but on these altars they inscribed the names and trade of the donors, as a means of advertising. The Roman business men were as though seized by a fever of competition. Eurysaces, the pastry king of Rome, used his own tomb as an advertisement; his tombstone had the form of an enormous cake!—Exchange.

Legend Traces Hyacinth to Sorrow of Apollo

The wild hyacinth was originally found in Greece and Asia Minor. The ancient Greeks had a story about its origin to the effect that one day the god Apollo was playing a game of quoits with a young mortal. Hyacinthus, of whom he was very fond, when Zephyrus, the god of the west wind, passed by, Zephyrus was jealous of Apollo and blew the latter's quoit aside, and caused it to strike Hyacinthus and inflict a mortal wound. In his memory Apollo caused these beautiful and fragrant clustered blossoms to spring from the fallen drops of the youth's blood.

The hyacinth was brought to western Europe in the sixteenth century, and extensively cultivated by Dutch horticulturists. The original blue and purple blossoms were varied to numerous shades of pink, rose, yellow, scarlet and pure white.—Kansas City Star.

Lighthouse Story

Bishop's light rises near the Scilly islands and gives a grim warning of the dangers of the coast. It is one of the most exposed lighthouses in the world and the three tenders have a lonesome time. During a recent storm the beams from Bishop's rock came near to falling. The light weighs several tons and revolves on supports resting in a circular trough of mercury. It is balanced so delicately a child may turn it by a touch of the finger. On this night the tower was so shaken by the heavy seas that much of the mercury was spilled out over the concrete floor of the light chamber. The three guards fell on their knees, scooped up the mercury in their hands and poured it back into the trough.

Sunrising

When the sun approaches towards the gates of the morning, he first opens a little eye of heaven, and sends away the spirit of darkness, and gives light to a cock, and calls up the lark to matins, and by and by glides the fringes of a cloud, and peeps over the eastern hills, thrusting out his golden horns, like those which decked the brows of Moses when he was forced to wear a veil because himself had seen the face of God; and still, while a man tells the story, the sun gets up higher, till he shows a fair face and a full light, and then he shines one whole day.—Jeremy Taylor.

Making Fine Distinctions

"A woman does not mind being called a kitten, but hates to be named a cat. A man, on the contrary, is flattered at being thought a dog, but resents being referred to as a puppy." "When a man describes a woman as a 'sympathetic soul,' you know that she has placed herself like a silent and succulent sponge full in the flow of his eloquence for a considerable number of hours, while he declaimed to her his 'conquests, glories, triumphs, spoils,' in an uninterrupted monologue of complacency."—"Mere Man," by Honor Bright.

Up Against It

"You've heard of a person being in a quandary, haven't you?" Peterson asked. "Sure," replied Brown. "Why?" "Well, I just had a letter from an old friend, and he's in one. He's been in rather bad health for some time, so the other day he went to see a doctor, and the doctor advised him to take two or three months' complete rest. That's where the quandary comes in. He's been working for the government for 15 years and doesn't know where to look for a more complete rest."

Settled Manhattan Island

In the first ship sent to the present territory of the United States by the Dutch West Indies company, the New Netherland, which landed in the Hudson river in 1623, Walloons, led by Jesse de Forest, were passengers. The eight families left on Manhattan, which was named "New Avesnes," constituted the first settlement of that now famous and valuable island and the first homesteaders, in fact, in the Middle Atlantic states.

Positive Proof That Woman Had Been Poor

She looked rich and acted rich, because she had married a rich man, yet at least one woman at the tea party, says a writer in the New York Times, discovered that she had once been poor. "Take it from me," she said, "there was a time, not so very long ago, when she was as poor as the rest of us."

"How did you discover that?" inquired her neighbor. "Because she knew where I keep all my housekeeping things. She knew that the tea caddy was in the writing desk, that the cheese biscuits and other edibles beloved of mice were in that box under the sofa, that the alcohol for my stove was in the corner behind the washstand, that the butter and milk were on the window ledge and that the eggs and other foods were in a box on the bottom shelf of the wardrobe. When we were cooking she went straight to the spot and got every one of those things without asking once where they were, which is something that a person who had not kept house in one room could never have done."

When Barrett Wendell Was Roused to Anger

For all his scholarly dignity, Barrett Wendell, Harvard professor, now and then lost his temper and especially at football games. In his biography, M. A. DeWolfe Howes recalls an occasion when Doctor Wendell and his daughter were greatly annoyed by an excited fan directly in front of them, who kept leaping up and cutting off their view.

When protests proved of no avail, Wendell upraised his professorial cane and brought it crashing down on the man's head, breaking his hat.

A roar of laughter went up from the delighted students who witnessed the incident, increasing when the man turned around shouting furiously: "Who did that?"

"I did," replied Wendell calmly. "Come out and I'll buy you a new hat."

They exchanged cards and were gone from the game long enough to make the necessary purchase.

Sewing Machine Inventor

The father of the modern sewing machine was Elias Howe, who died in 1867. The patent for his first machine was taken out in 1846, and its principles still form the basis of most modern ones. Howe came from Massachusetts, and earned his living in a factory for making cotton machinery; but the honor of inventing the first sewing machine is not entirely American, since various clumsy machines for sewing leather and stuff had been evolved previously in England and in France. Howe visited England, but only managed to sell his patents for a bagatelle of $1,250. The descendants of his machine can do anything from button-holing and darning to the finest embroidery.

That Boston Joke

A number of boys were playing baseball in a vacant lot in Boston, when the ball crashed through the window of an adjacent house. The wrathful householder stormed out in pursuit of the guilty ones. He managed to capture one spectacled, slow-footed youth.

"I didn't do it, mister! I wasn't playing with them," the lad panted.

"Then what did you run for?" roared the injured man.

"I—I'm afraid that I was a victim of the prevailing mob hysteria, sir!"—Country Gentleman.

Value of Self-Control

Self-control is self-direction, as well as self-restraint. The engineer controls his engine not simply by preventing it from running off the track or from colliding with an obstruction. It is rather by making it do the work for which it was constructed and intended.—In pulling the train and getting somewhere—that he establishes his reputation as an efficient engineer. Once give the boys and girls this positive side of the matter of self-control and you set them on the path to development, of operation and a large measure of success. Do not be a prohibitive teacher.—Education.

Women as Inventors

American women have patented nearly 1,400 devices. Women have patented contraptions all the way from hooks-and-eyes to artificial eyelashes, including road-building equipment and intricate machinery. When Howe was trying to invent the sewing machine he reached the point of where he was stumped. His wife, tiring of having him sitting around glowering, showed him aside, sat down before the machine, gave it a few whirrs and said, "Put the thread eyelet in the other end of the needle down by the point." That solved the problem.

Leaf That Will Hide a Man

The ape-man plant is a giant growth which once grew all over the world, but now it is found only on the volcanic slopes of Hawaii, where it grows in great profusion. It covered the entire earth millions of years ago, when gigantic animals roamed over the surface. The best specimens at present are found on the sides of Haleakala, in a gulch, where the conditions resemble those of a hot-house. A fully developed leaf of this plant is sufficient to hide a full-grown human standing behind it.

The Problem of Jimmy

By ELEANOR C. KOENIG

(Copyright.)

JOHN RUTHERFORD wondered why, in the midst of his dilemma, he should pause to consider how charming a vision Miss Bryce was as she blew into the office like a fresh spring breeze. These unspoken poetic words were really his and, it may be added, they were quite contrary to his usual prosaic trend of thought. They were contrary, too, to his usual practice of ignoring just what Miss Bryce had on—the trim lines of her dark blue dress, the fall of lace against her white throat and the most becoming hat she wore.

She actually did not look sixteen, he thought, and thereupon felt a rather queer sensation in his throat. Foolish thoughts for a man of forty to be thinking, and a widower, too, with the ever increasing difficulty of trying to manage the proper upbringing of a seven-year-old boy, who, to use the expression of Mrs. Hills, his long-suffering nurse, was nothing less than a "wild colt."

This last thought led him straight back to his dilemma, which was the immediate and proper care of Jimmy, who was to be this very day deprived of Mrs. Hills' care.

On his desk lay the letter received from her this morning to the effect that she was bringing him back from Silver Sands Beach, whither they had been sent a month previously by Jimmy's father, in the hope that there Mrs. Hills might recuperate her flagging energy and Jimmy receive the benefit of the sea air.

The letter also recorded Mrs. Hills' absolute resignation from her arduous duties.

Somehow or other, Miss Bryce's bright "good morning" sent flying the dark clouds which had settled around this perplexed father, and furthered half-formed resolution to confide his difficulty to her. Come to think of it, he had confided quite a little in her of late. Perhaps he had better tell her his plans for the future; his settled determination to have a "real mother" for Jimmy and of the letter that was on its way to Miss Emily Stephens.

His mind conjured up a picture of Miss Stephens; not at all like Miss Bryce. Miss Bryce was small, with a little, round face. Miss Stephens stood five feet ten and, now that he thought of it, must wear at least a number eight shoe.

Miss Stephens was thirty-nine, a credit to her community, and a good woman. In short, she would instruct Jimmy in such a way as to raise him to self-respecting manhood.

Acting upon the impulse, he tapped on Miss Bryce's door, and, receiving encouragement from her bright smile, was soon outlining his purpose.

Miss Bryce knew Jimmy, but Mr. Rutherford did not know of the wonderful times she and Jimmy had had when he was away from the office. The instinctive motherhood in her had seen at a glance what Jimmy craved—companionship and understanding. There had been one glorious afternoon when Jimmy had sat unceremoniously on the floor and eaten popcorn, several conversations when a complete understanding had been established between them and a warm, throbbing mad love had, in some strange manner, sprung up for the child.

Strangely, too, she felt a mean little prick somewhere around the region of her heart when she heard of Miss Stephens. Then a deep look came into her eyes.

"Has Miss Stephens ever seen Jimmy?" she asked.

"No," Rutherford replied. "That's what bothers me. You see, Jimmy is what is termed 'wild,' and in my proposal to Miss Stephens I did not tell her of this. I am sort of wondering what she will think of him. I met her only last winter in California, and she struck me then as being a good, upright woman who would make a good mother."

"Then, in justice to them both, they should know each other thoroughly before you marry," said Miss Bryce, and mentally accused herself of meanness.

This suggestion accounted for the fact that a week later, the unsuspecting Jimmy was on his way to visit Miss Stephens for an indefinite period.

Meanwhile, Rutherford found himself reluctant to think of his approaching nuptials. Really, it was strange how thin and shadowy Miss Bryce was growing. Then one night when he had unexpectedly returned to the office he had found her face bowed on the desk, crying. What was the reason, he wondered then; and that night he had paced back and forth, calling himself a blind fool and hurling numerous other like epithets at himself.

The next morning he dreaded to go near the office and it was not until late in the afternoon that he ventured there. When he opened the door, he saw a strange sight. Miss Bryce sat in the big leather chair, reading out of a highly-colored book, and on her lap sat Jimmy, in utter content.

"Why, Jimmy, what does this mean?" asked Rutherford.

"Miss Stephens didn't like me and I didn't like her," said Jimmy, "and I like Miss Bryce and want her for my mother."

Which assertion was borne out by a letter that had arrived earlier in the day and which was lying on John Rutherford's desk.

This letter settled forever the question of Miss Stephens, and Rutherford read it with a shivering face.

Parsi Put Their Dead on Towers of Silence

It was a terrifying sight and I was the first European to see it. I had to camouflage myself and to dress and act like a native of India in order to visit the sacred burial places of the Parsi, says a writer in "Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift."

The burial places, or rather the storing places, of the dead are the Towers of Silence. Foreigners can never get there, dead or alive. All photographs are prohibited. Only by special influence was it possible for me to get near these strange towers: a Parsi to whom I had been recommended by a friend agreed to guide me.

On Malabar hill there is a grove, surrounded by a high wall. A road takes one up to the house of the guards. We happened to see the burial of a rich Parsi. The body was dressed in white linen and lay on a network of strong linen straps held up by 12 carriers. The entire mourning crowd, dressed in white instead of black, followed the corpse two and two. Each couple was tied together by a white linen ribbon. Eagles and hawks circled about in the air.

I was unable to get to the Towers of Silence proper, but my companion described the burial procedure. The corpse is laid on the platform of one of the towers-by men who are employed for their whole lifetime in this work. As the body begins to decay the eagles come down. The skeleton remains for about three months and then is buried in a valley.

Possibility Venus of Milo Never Had Arms

It may be some consolation to art lovers throughout the world, who have wondered in what position were the missing arms of the famous Venus of Milo statue in the Louvre, to learn that even the ancients themselves were perplexed on this point, according to a letter to the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Doctor Edda, a French physician, has just made known that during a recent visit to Egypt he came into possession of a small bronze statuette of the same period as the Venus of Milo. This statuette is an exact copy of the famous Venus, and like the original, it has no arms. Doctor Edda therefore concludes that the Venus of Milo never at any time had arms, and he believes that the sculptor, when he had carved out of stone such a divine form, gave up all idea of adding arms.

When the Venus of Milo was discovered on the island of Milo a large reward was offered to anyone who could find the arms, but, in spite of extensive search, nothing was discovered.

For Umbrella Protection

A well-known business man had a bad habit of losing umbrellas, and as they were usually expensive ones, he hit upon the happy idea of having his telephone number engraved on the handle. Since then he lost his umbrella half a dozen times, but owing to the telephone number he has always recovered it. The finder does not have to send it back; he rings up the number and the owner gladly calls for it. If the finder is dishonest he will not feel comfortable with that tell-tale number, and if he himself loses it, as ten to one he will, a more honest person will eventually inform the original owner. The latter, of course, will know nothing of the umbrella's adventures. If only the umbrella could talk!

You Tell Him!

Johnson had obtained work in a railway yard and was told to mark some trucks.

"Here's a piece of chalk," said the foreman. "Mark each of 'em eleven."

A little later the foreman came around again to see how the new hand had been getting on. He found him sitting on a bucket regarding a truck thoughtfully. Marked upon it was a large 1.

"What does this mean?" asked the foreman. "Only one truck done, and the number wrong at that. I said eleven, not one."

"I know," said Johnson, "but I couldn't think on which side of the '1' the other '1' goes!"

How to Win a Man

"A man longs for your love until you have given it to him—after that not only does he cease to desire your love, but frequently ceases to love you also. Moral—Never show him that you love him—he'll be much happier if you don't."

"A man can be clumsy, stupid, ugly and base, and yet have the eyes of a beautiful woman follow him adoringly about a room full of attractive people. Heaven knows what the explanation is!"

"No wife should try to keep her husband at home during the evening. Take a cub from a club and you get 'em."—"Mere Man," by Honor Bright.

Orthodoxy

The orthodox Jew is bigoted and austere. He is a glutton for pain and sorrow. He likes to brood and pity himself. He has no instinct for the joy of living and disapproves of such a trait in others.

But he does not take life indifferently; neither is he humiliated about it. He has strength of character and is able to thrive in the face of adversity. He believes in work. He is seldom a drunkard and eats with prudence, and clean food. He is a man of spiritual ideals and a moral man. He loves law and order and seldom gets into the criminal class.—Sonya Levien, in Hearst's International.

Far North Also Has Its "Emerald Isle"

Were not the title pre-empted, Kodiak, in the Katmai district of Alaska, might have been called the "Emerald Isle" quite as well as Ireland, for its situation in the Pacific is similar to that of Ireland in the Atlantic ocean, is the assertion made by a writer in the Washington Star.

Although the island of Kodiak is 100 miles from Mount Katmai, which in June, 1912, gave one of the most tremendous volcanic explosions ever recorded, it was buried nearly a foot deep in ash. The ashy blanket transformed the "Green Kodiak" of other days into a gray desert of sand, but after a period of two years the ash-laden hillsides were again covered with verdure finer than ever before.

In the words of a resident of Kodiak, "Never was such grass known before, so high or so early. No one ever believed the country could grow so many berries, nor so large, before the ash."

The island owes its climate, as does Ireland, to the tropical ocean current which bathes its shores. The eastern half of the island is occupied by a forest of spruce, whose trees reach a great size. Then comes luxuriant grass land, equal to any grazing land in the United States, and finding a parallel only in the "guinea grass" of the tropics.

Armenians Have Long Survived Other Races

The Armenians have remained unshaken in all vicissitudes and by their courage have preserved until our days their nationality, their language and their customs, asserts Herbert Welsh in the New Armenia.

The races that the Armenians knew in their infancy have vanished from the face of the earth. Their brothers, the Phrygians, are today only a vague memory. Among the contemporaries of the Armenians, only the Hellenes, the Italotes and the Gauls have survived, not, however, without undergoing many changes, and abandoning many of their former customs. Except the Greeks, one must seek the kinsmen of the Armenians among the nations who were brought from the steppes of the North toward the shores of the Mediterranean by the same flood that brought the ancestors of Haik toward Thrace.

It can clearly be seen that the titles of nobility of the Armenian race date back to more than 3,000 years before our era, and that they are much more ancient than those of most of the European peoples. About the time when Rome was being founded, Haik, the eponymous hero of Armenia, led the Armenians to Ararat. The Persians were just commencing their political life when Armenia had already constituted herself a state.

Astronomical Theories

The naval observatory says the belief is commonly held among astronomers that Mars is an older planet than the earth. The old theory of the origin of the solar system, called the nebular hypothesis, was first proposed by Laplace a hundred or more years ago. According to his view, the sun was once so large that it extended as far as the orbit of Neptune. In the process of shrinking to its present size it left bits of itself behind, each of which became a planet; so that the farther out a planet is, the older it is. However, there are many astronomers who do not accept this theory; several different theories are now given to explain the origin of the solar system.

Preserving Trees

Large wounds in trees made by the removal of branches of considerable diameter may be protected by painting the cut surface with a heavy coating of white lead. A large number of waxes, paints and washes have been tried, and the conclusion has been drawn that any substance which is not corrosive or detrimental to growth and which will protect the heartwood from the attacks of rot spores, will prove a satisfactory covering for a cut surface. Among such substances may be mentioned white lead, yellow ochre, coal tar and grafting wax.

Awakens New Hope

Some enterprising California citizen discovered that goldfish are much more valuable in a pond of stagnant water than in a glass bowl. It is said that a few goldfish placed in sluggish water where mosquitoes breed will in one season eat every vestige of mosquito larvae, freeing the neighborhood of this pest. Just about the time we had given up all hope that this metallic colored fish had any value other than as a parlor pet, along comes this news dispatch. There is hope for the gar pike yet.—Detroit News.

Oriental Rug Designs

Authorities on oriental rugs say that the rug itself typifies the universe and the various designs the ever-changing course of life. The principal color, if red, typifies life of victory; if blue, royalty; if white, purity; if green, devotion, and if black, evil. In patterns the Swastika means good luck; the flower and knot, fortune and life everlasting, the circle, immortality. The star of six points represents Allah.

All Art Combination of Hands, Brain, and Heart

In one of Ruskin's essays he talks about art, and points out the difference between manufacture, craft and art. How would you define them? What does "manufacture" mean? You know from your music lessons as well as from your Latin lessons, that "manus" means hand, and "factus" means do, or make. Therefore, manufacture is to make with the hands, says a writer in the London Times. Nowadays, however, machines have been invented to help the hands, and thus more can be made in a given time. The fine work of the brain is not required but is left to others who show the workers what to do.

Craft, he tells us, is anything that is done with the hands and the brain; so more mental control is required and skill results. Thus each worker depends upon his own brain and invents his own methods of producing results, and executes his own ideas.

Art, he asserts, is that which is produced by the hands, brain and heart. Thus, painting, sculpture and music, are on a higher plane because they require the co-operation of the head and heart (soul or spirit, some may prefer to call it). Nothing can be called real art which is produced only by the hand and head; although it may be very clever, precise or skillful. It lacks the inner appeal—the appeal of the heart.

Many Ingenious Ways of Ascertaining Time

In the sixteenth century, in polished Parisian society, there came into vogue the etiquette of the watch. One of the rules was that it should not be consulted in the salon, such an act being taken as an indication that the owner was tired of his company.

An ingenious watchmaker therefore brought out a watch with raised figures and a fairly solid hand. When the owner wished to know the time he slipped a surreptitious finger into his pocket, passed it along the pointer and read the hour as the blind man reads Braille.

The watch with the luminous dial, from which the time may be told in the dark, had a number of strange prototypes. One of the most curious was the timekeeper invented by a celebrated member of the French academy, M. de Villayer. He had constructed a clock which, face upwards, was attached to the head of his bed. In the place of the figures marking the hours, there were small cups, which sunk into the dial, and were filled with 12 kinds of spices.

In the night M. de Villayer would moisten a finger, pass it along the pointer, dip it into the cup to which it pointed and taste the spice. The cinnamon might stand for three o'clock, nutmeg for four o'clock and so on.—Kansas City Times.

Cruel Old Custom

There was a time when "laughing" faces were actually manufactured to meet the demand of those who wished to be amused. Up to the end of the reign of James II, human "sculpture" work was carried out by roving tribes of gypsies called Comprachios, who were of Spanish origin. They bought and even kidnapped children, and practiced a science or art of human disfigurement.

Children thus treated grew up with an immovable and fantastic grin. They were an attraction at all successful traveling booths and entertainments until the custom was repressed by William III.

Various Kinds of Seal

Hair seal is the term applied to animals of the sealog family. It is found in extra tropical portions of the sea, along temperate and colder portions of the globe. Only the variety known as Greenland seal is of significance to the fur trade. The two-months-old cub of the Greenland seal has a skin used in the trade, and is known as white coat seal. According to age this animal passes into grades known as small spot seal, muddling spot seal (two years old). Later it becomes spot seal, and, when finally full colored, harp seal.

Old-Time Delicacy

The following is a recipe for old-fashioned hominy, which was recently published in a farm paper: In three quarts of water dissolve one tablespoonful of lye. Shell a quantity of good corn, put it in the kettle of lye and boil until the hulls are removed. Pour off the lye, wash and rewash, and boil in clean water. Pour off the water several times and supply fresh. This is much the same as the hulled corn of the New England states, which is eaten with sweet milk, but which may be served stewed with gravy.

Patriotic Organization

The Army and Navy Union of the United States was organized on March 31, 1888. Peter Eacker of Cincinnati, Ohio, on February 5, 1888, received the response and co-operation of 30 men, through a notice in the press. On that date a temporary organization was formed and adjourned to meet later in the month, February 19, when a permanent organization was effected and styled as "The Regular Soldiers' Union."

Cure for Unrest

By adding about a couple more hours of sleep each night, and about three hours more of work a day, we fancy about 90 per cent of the unrest in this country would be disposed of.—Houston Post Dispatch.

WYOMING FED STEERS SELL TO FEEDER BUYERS FOR $6.40 YESTERDAY

Omaha, Jan. 20.—Arthur Filtner, of Creyball, Wyo., brought down two loads of cattle for Monday's market including 62 head of 976-pound 2-year-old Hereford steers that sold as feeders for $6.40. He also had part of a load of heifers that brought $7.00.

"These cattle were almost pure bred," said Mr. Filtner, "and I had fed them for nearly two months on a mixture of corn and barley. We raise quite a bit of barley and usually some corn but the corn was caught by the heavy frost last fall and most of it was lost to the birds."

County Fair Exhibit Building and Premium List
(From the Wayne County Teacher)

Sixteen rural teachers have had programs and box socials and have said they wished to give something toward the fair exhibit building.

Fifteen have promised to give ten dollars each and one district gave fifteen dollars. This with my ten dollars makes $175. That is a pretty good start. What will your district do to help us?

I intended to put the premium list in this issue but will not have space enough, so will put it in next time.

Almost any of the following will be wanted though: Maps, booklets, pen drawings, pencil drawings, water color drawings, freehand paper cutting and posters. If we have a new building we will want a lot of nice work to fill it, and we do not want the booth for your district to be left vacant.

Why They "Joined Up" for Better or Worse
Little did I think what an interesting task I had set myself when I set out to inquire why some wives and husbands had married.

Let us get over the unpleasant part first. I asked a young wife why she had married, since she apparently took little interest in her husband and home.

"Oh, I wanted to be free. Mother wouldn't let me have a latchkey, and if I was ten minutes late coming home at night there was as much fuss as if the house had caught fire. So I escaped with the first 'boy' who asked me. He's not much of a catch, either."

Incidentally, that woman finds it is impossible to do exactly what one likes even when married. Her husband "watches the clock" when she's out, too!

Next a man told me he married his wife because he was sorry for her. She was unhappy at home and he couldn't bear to see her cry. Now he sees what a fool he's been, and from what I gather it is he who makes her cry nowadays. It's to be hoped that no other man will come along and pity her.

"Why did I marry?" echoed another man. "Why, because she is the sweetest, best and dearest little girl in the world, and I just couldn't have lived without her." Pleasant hearing words like that, isn't it?—Vera Leslie, in Edinburgh Scotsman.

Odd "Jumping" Customs in Various Countries
"Jumping" customs are to be found in numerous countries among the superstitious peasantry. In Russia, on Midsummer eve, young men and maidens carrying a straw figure of a mythical hero, jump over a bonfire in couples. This act is supposed to help the crops. In Baganda, South Africa, when the beans are ripe, a woman calls upon her eldest son to eat some of them which she has cooked. If she neglects to do this it is believed that she will fall ill. After the meal her husband must jump over her. Following this the beans may be eaten with impunity by the family. These people also treat fishing ceremoniously. The first catch of the season is devoted to the god Musasa. The second catch is taken home and, after the fish have been cooked and eaten, the man of the family jumps over his wife and all is well. Otherwise, distress may ensue. In Uganda, when a warrior returns to his home after a campaign, his first act is to jump over his wife. Before starting out on a warlike expedition each general must jump over his wife, or disaster will befall.

First Coinage of Silver
Silver was first coined on the Isle of Aegina. Here the ancient Greeks stamped a turtle on their first silver coins over 700 years before the Christian era. The first silver coins in the United States were issued by the Massachusetts colony, which minted small silver coins, familiarly known as the pine-tree shillings. The mint was closed by order of the crown in 1684. The first coins made by the United States government were in 1793.

Papal Triple Crown
The tiara, a high cap of gold cloth, encircled by three coronets, with a mound and cross of gold at the top, is the triple crown of the pope. It is ornamented with precious stones and pearls, and is decorated with three royal diadems. It is without inscription. A symbolic meaning has been found in the triple crown, as representing the authority of the pope over the church "militant, expectant and triumphant."

Humorist Could Also Be Bitter at Times
For real bitterness the following (from Mark Twain) is hard to match: "A myriad of men are born; they labor and sweat and struggle for bread; they squabble and scold and fight; they scramble for little mean advantages over each other. Age creeps upon them; infirmities follow; shames and humiliations bring down their prides and their vanities. Those they love are taken from them, and the joy of life is turned to aching grief. The burden of pain, care, misery, grows heavier year by year. At length ambition is dead; pride is dead; vanity is dead; longing for release is in their place. It comes at last—the only unpoisoned gift earth ever had for them—and they vanish from a world where they were of no consequence; where they achieved nothing; where they were a mistake and a failure and a foolishness; where they have left no sign that they have existed—a world which will lament them for a day and forget them forever. Then another myriad takes their place, and copies all they did, and goes along the same profitless road, and vanishes as they vanished—to make room for another and another and a million more myriads to follow the same arid path through the same desert and accomplish what the first myriad, and all the myriads that came after it, accomplished—nothing!"

And they called Mark Twain "America's greatest humorist!"—Pathfinder Magazine.

Heart Massage Is One of Surgical Marvels
The heart is a pump, and its work can be done for it quite well for a little while by hand, while its own power fails, and it takes a rest. One has to remember that, normally it never has a rest from the moment of life until death. And what happens in cases of heart massage is that the surgeon rapidly makes his way to the organ, and, taking it firmly and gently in the hand, squeezes it so many times to the minute, thus keeping the stream of the blood circulating. If all goes well, the heart gradually recovers itself, and begins to beat of its own accord.

Thus it practically amounts to this—that a person may actually die and be brought to life again.

There was a time when it would have been thought madness to touch the heart. Yet wonderful things were done in the World War in removing bullets and shrapnel and in repairing heart rents, though often it is better to let sleeping dogs lie undisturbed, and the surgeon is still very chary of touching the great vital organ. For, though the heart is not so fragile as we once fancied, it has a queer temper. Its nervous mechanism is not a little touchy, and easily thrown out of gear.—London Times.

Danger of Deforestation
The forest service says that the reduction of the forests does diminish stream flow. The forest cover acts as a gigantic sponge that holds back excessive moisture and lets it out gradually into streams. Deforestation can take place without danger to a certain point. If the deforestation is carried too far it proves dangerous through periods of excessive moisture such as melting snow, which causes floods. With the forest cover acting as a sponge it does lessen floods to a certain extent. The increase in arable lands would diminish neighboring streams in so far as forest lands would be taken and placed over in the arable lands.

Organization of Scientists
The Royal society grew out of two small groups of friends, who met occasionally in London and Oxford to discuss scientific questions, about the middle of the Seventeenth century. These were organized into a definite society in 1660, and two years later the society was granted a charter by Charles II and incorporated as the Royal society. Its early meetings took place in Gresham college, and afterwards in Crane court. In 1782 the place of meeting was transferred to Somerset house, and in 1857 to Burlington house, London.—London Mail.
