COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT NORMAL

A Busy Week, Full of Thrills, Amusements, Instruction, Happy Home Golings and Sad Partings

The first four days of the passing week are busy ones on college hill, when 313 students of the nearly one thousand in attendance are granted diplomas, certificate and credit standings. The list is made up as follows: Twenty-eight finish the four year course and are granted the A. B. degree. One hundred and fifty-nine graduate from the two-year normal course and are given diplomas entitling them to teach in any of the schools of the state; these certificates becoming state life certificates after a two year teaching experience. In addition to these 159, there were 16 students who complete two full years of college work but who did not take the required subjects in education to entitle them to diplomas to teach. Then sixty students passed as candidates for Elementary State Certificates; and another eighteen were candidates for Rural State Certificates in the Elementary class. Two earned and were granted special certificates.

Commencement for graduates of the Wayne State Teachers College held this week. The baccalaureate service was Sunday evening at the State Normal auditorium and Dr. Benjamin Nyce of Lincoln spoke.

Christian organizations of the school gave a program Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. D. E. Brainard of Wayne spoke.

Students of the music department gave a recital Monday evening at 8. Prof. Leon F. Berry and Prof. W. C. Hunter in charge.

The State Teachers College band played Tuesday afternoon on the campus. The class play, "Expressing Willie," was Tuesday evening with Miss Maud Joseph in charge.

May festival day Wednesday and there was a physical education demonstration in the morning, orchestral concert in the afternoon and cantata and artists' recital in the evening.

Commencement exercises were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock. Dan V. Stephens of Fremont gave the address. Pres. U. S. Conn presented diplomas to 175 who have completed the two-year course. Twenty-eight receive A. B. degrees. Sixty receive Elementary State certificates and eighteen receive Rural State certificates.

POPPY DAY SALES AT WAYNE TOTAL $161.00

The president of the Legion auxiliary at his place reports that they sold $161.00 worth of poppies last Saturday, and had they purchased more of the flowers they might have had more money. They were out of flowers quite early in the evening. They purchased in a conservative manner, believing that it would be better to sell all and want a few more rather than purchase so as to have a profit tied up in surplus stock for a year. They had a very good day for the sale; the number of people coming to Wayne that day being fully an average Saturday gathering.

OLD SOLDIERS GUEST OF KIWANIS MONDAY

At their Monday noon session and dinner the Wayne Kiwanis members were hosts to the old soldiers of the Civil War, and five only were able to be present. They were Jack Hyatt, John Grimsley, S. Fox, R. P. Williams and J. W. Ott. Others, Dan McManigal, and S. Taylor could not attend. A. B. Carter of Winside was not able to come, and C. Lowry of that place is at Sioux City having his eye treated, and could not be present to enjoy the occasion.

Rev. Jones was speaker on the occasion and made a talk most fitting for the occasion.

WILL VISIT EUROPE

Miss Frances Oman, who is just finishing her second year of successful school work at Lewiston, Idaho, is not coming directly home from that place when the schools close next week, but is planning a trip to Europe, going with an excursion party, to visit San Francisco about June 13. They will go south and then the canal, the gulf of Mexico, and across the Atlantic to visit England and a number of the countries of the continent, France, Belgium, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, and possibly other countries on that side.

FLOWERS WANTED SATURDAY

Mrs. Paul Mildner is at the head of the auxiliary committee to solicit flowers for Decoration day, and on behalf of the auxiliary asks all who have flowers they can spare to call her at phone 276, and the offering will be called for. Or if the flowers can be brought or sent to the Legion room before 11 o'clock Saturday morning, each one may feel that they have aided in the observance of the day set apart for honoring our soldier and sailor dead of all the wars in which the armed forces of the United States has had a part. Mrs. Swan, president of the Auxiliary will be glad, also to receive flowers for use that day.

THE FREEZE AND THE DAMAGE TO CROPS

Sunday night we had quite a frost in this part of Nebraska, and in fact in much of the state, and the Tuesday papers some of them at least, carried distressing tales of the loss and damage. Such may have been the case in some localities—but farmers about here generally express the opinion that aside from the fruit and gardens, the damage here is very slight. Corn that was up, and that was quite a percentage of the crop, they do not think injured. Oats in low lands may have suffered a little. Alfalfa leaves were curled but the general belief is that by the end of this week the mark of the freeze will be hard to find outside of the tender garden stuff.

Of course, the freeze was used by the board of trade gamblers in grain to make the market fluctuate. When the price went up, they could sell, and by this time, we presume the fluctuation is the other way, and they may buy back again at a profit—but they never see a bushel of the grain they buy—and it is simply a gamble. The real grain moves at prices as much governed by local conditions as by the board of trade quotations. As an illustration, corn has been selling higher here in this great feeding center, than it would bring at Omaha, and it is a fact that cars of corn have been bought in Omaha and shipped here at as low a price as the home-grown could be had. Freight and the need of the product has been the governing feature in the matter.

FARMER OPPORTUNITY OFFERED

R. J. Forsyth of Neligh was a Wayne visitor this week, and called at the Democrat office to tell what he is offering for some farmer of this vicinity in the way of a money-making farm home. Mr. F. is a sales manager who has been successful in disposing of a number of farms this spring to the satisfaction of both owner and purchaser, and his visit here was that those possibly interested in securing a fine, large stock farm, with chance to trade in a smaller place, might know of the opportunity that will be presented to them Friday, June 5th.

As one means of letting the details be known he left advertising copy telling of the land, the improvements, the convenience to market, the fertility of soil and the opportunity for diversified cropping and also the favorable terms, as well as the fact that they are to be the judge of what the farm is worth, and quit bidding when you have reached your top. That is the fair way to sell. This farm is not so far away but that interested people of this vicinity can drive and see the place, and get home before chore time. From the large bills put out, and what is generally known of that part of the country, it looks like the opportunity for some one now on a small farm with a large family of boys coming on to help, to expand in manner that would be profitable to all.

It would be useless for us to tell of the very probable fact that just now land prices are at the bottom, and that the upward trend of prices has commenced; making it an ideal time for investment. It will well be worth the time necessary for a man to see this place and the surrounding country.

CIT'S INTEREST RATE

Land Bank at Omaha, which serves Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Wyoming, announces that on June 1, they will reduce their interest rate from 5 1/2 percent. This is the only one of the twelve federal banks to make a reduction. Perhaps the bank for this district thinks it can see what is coming, and wants to be the first to set a good example.

ENDOWMENT FUND DRIVE NOW GOING

This is the Week to Add Your Mite With Others and Go Over the Top For a Worthy Cause

While some of the towns and cities of the state have already reported their quota subscribed, Wayne has waited the official call time, and has plans all made to finish their canvass of the community between now and Saturday night. A committee composed of D. H. Cunningham, Ben Carhart, Fred L. Blair and A. T. Cavanaugh has been given charge. This committee have the business section districted, and some one assigned for each district, and no one need worry but that they will have opportunity to make contribution.

It is also planned to have several booths open Saturday afternoon and evening where the many country people who will want to aid the good cause may make their contribution with the least trouble for themselves and the committee.

The quota for Wayne and vicinity is just a little less than $350, and the committee feel confident that it will be filled. The town is to be solicited today, and the country folks will be waited upon Friday, if plans are followed as now told. This, with the booth plan will make it so that no one need miss opportunity to subscribe; and besides, each member of the committee has a telephone and you can make your offering by wire. The cause is one that is worthy—and while it may seem that it is a government duty, to the men who served and their families, it is not promptly and efficiently doing so, and those who would gladly do so, cannot cut the "red tape" which binds them. The endowment plan provides not only for the present; but assures the meeting of future needs.

WAYNE STUDENT WINS STATE PRIZE

The essay written by Miss Lella Mitchell of this place, in competition with students from all the colleges in the state was awarded third place by the committee named to act as judges. This contest is sponsored by the Nebraska Bar association, who offered a first prize of $100 for the best article on the Constitution and the Courts, and a $75 prize for the second best and $50 for third which Miss Mitchell won. There were also a number of $25 prizes. The first place was awarded to a student from Peru, the second place to a Hastings student.

Miss Mitchell is to be congratulated, for her work and also on winning a place among some twenty or more competitors.

Mrs. Grace Jones of Carroll was a Wayne visitor between trains Wednesday morning.

BLOOMFIELD VOTES TO BUILD LIGHT PLANT

Bloomfield, Nebraska, May 27.—The Tri-State Utilities Company which has been serving this community with electricity lost a contest yesterday when the city of Bloomfield voted 361 to 86 in favor of issuing bonds for $50,000 for a municipal light and power plant. The Tri-State company put up a great fight. The company had representatives in town several days prior to election conducting a house to house canvass for votes in their behalf.

Bloomfield gained considerable notoriety by calling a telephone strike three years ago when the city was without telephones eleven months as a remonstrance against a raise in rates.

TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES CONFER

Last Friday there was a meeting at this place of a number of the Northwestern Bell Telephone employees when and where operating plans and business methods were discussed for the present year. Those who met with O. L. Randall at his office here were the following from Norfolk joined in discussion of their department work: E. Shirley, switch board installation; J. A. Duff, district traffic chief; John Erwin, district special agent; and G. F. Hartzell, district commercial manager. From Omaha was P. D. Gleason, district special agent for that district. All took a part in the discussion.

Miss Katherine Lienman departed Tuesday afternoon for Storm Lake, Iowa, where she expects to visit for some time.

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED HERE

Plans are Complete for the Proper Observance of Decoration Day. Mayor W. S. Gilman Speaks

Plans to properly observe Decoration day here next Saturday are well advanced at this writing, with officers and members of the Irwin Sears post of the American Legion, assisted by the few surviving members of the G. A. R. will join the public in holding a service in honor of the soldier dead. The meeting will be at Community house, beginning at 11 o'clock. The program tells that W. H. Hawkins, the post commander will preside, and the service will open by the audience joining in singing "America." Rev. J. G. Shick will give the invocation, after which a male quartet will give a selection. The address of the day will be given by Mayor Gilman of Sioux City. Next the audience will join in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." The benediction will be given by Rev. Coy L. Stager, after which veterans of three wars will march to the cemetery where the flower girls will decorate the graves of the departed veterans; and the memorial service of the day will be conducted for the soldier dead by G. A. R. and World War veterans.

All should participate in the day's exercises. Wayne business houses are to close from 10:00 until 1:30 that all may be free to attend the exercises.

FALL SINCLAIR AND DOHENY REINDICTED

Washington, D. C., May 27—Albert F. Fall, Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair, whose indictments as a result of the oil scandal recently were dismissed on a technicality, were re-indicted today by a District of Columbia grand jury.

As in the previous case, the indictment charged conspiracy in connection with the Teapot Dome and Elkhill oil leases. Edward L. Doheny Jr., who previously had been indicted also, was not re-indicted.

PROF. PHILLIP SPONG DIES

Prof. Phillip Spong, one of the faculty of the Wayne Normal, who was taken seriously ill and taken to a Sioux City hospital, where he underwent an operation, rallied a bit in health and strength, and was later taken to his Indianapolis, Indiana, home where he underwent another operation, after which he failed to improve materially, and died on Thursday, May 21, 1925. The faculty and students of the Normal held a memorial service in his honor at the Tuesday morning chapel.

THE PERRY CATTLE SELL WELL

That is, Mr. Perry says they found a poor market time but that the quality helped them out, the most of them bringing $10.60, which he said covered cost; for he gave them a short feed, and they had made good gain. Cattle feeding had not been all that was hoped for; and one wonders, when he goes to the market for a slice of meat who is getting the difference between selling price and buying, and not many think it is the home butcher.

CRADLE

BRADER—Monday, May 25, 1925, to Albert Brader and wife a daughter.

DALEY—CRONK

At Del Rio, Texas, Monday, May 18, 1925, occurred the marriage of Mr. H. V. Cronk of this place and Mrs. C. E. Daley, of Del Rio, the ceremony taking place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bobbins of that Texas city.

The bride and groom, who were acquaintances if not lovers, in their younger days, made a wedding trip to Wayne, where they will make their home. Mr. Cronk has long been a resident of this part of Nebraska, and of Wayne for about eight or ten years, and his numerous friends will extend hearty congratulations, and a welcome to the bride.

A WORLD OF TROUBLE

The national assembly of the Presbyterian church in session at Columbus, Ohio, is finding many things to disagree over. One is the question of uniting the Congregational and Presbyterian church organizations. Then they have some decided differences over the policy of the church as to creed. New York Presbyterians are not in accord with those of Pennsylvania and other states, and a move is on to hoist them out thru the ransom, so to speak. Other differences occur, but we presume that some one will give a bit, and then another yield some, and in the end all will be harmony in the main, tho a few who are not pleased will cease to very zealous workers if they remain in the organization; while others will retire and enter some other organization for worship where they may feel more at home than would be possible in a church with which they were not in accord.

GOODWIN BANK ROBBERY IN PEN

Lincoln, Nebraska, May 27.—M. O. Wibe, confessed robber of the Goodwin, Nebraska, State bank, last week, is in the penitentiary shirt factory here today, serving a flat fifteen year sentence.

Ray Hines, caught with Wibe and the $1,600 cash and $4,000 travelers certificates taken from the bank, denied participation in the robbery and will be tried on June 25.

YOUNGREN—WORTH

At the county court room, by Judge J. M. Cherry, on Wednesday, May 27, 1925, Mr. Harold Worth of Wakefield and Miss Elsie M. Youngren were united in marriage. The groom is son of H. J. Worth formerly of Wakefield, and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Youngren live south of Wakefield, where the newly weds went following the ceremony.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska, May 26th/1925. Board met as per adjournment. Present: Frank Erleben and Henry Rethwisch, commissioners, and Chas. W. Reynolds, Clerk. Absent: Otto Miller, commissioner.

Minutes of meeting held May 22nd, 1925, read and approved.

Action on both fire and tornado insurance on county buildings having been deferred until this date, was taken up, and on motion $4000.00 fire and $20000.00 tornado insurance is ordered written on the Court House. $3000.00 fire and $2000.00 tornado insurance on Jail.

This to be straight insurance at board rate and divided equally between the following agents:

—Martin L. Ringer.
—Fred G. Philico.
—J. J. Steele.
—Cavanaugh & Wessel.

Said policies to date as of June 1st, 1925, and expiring June 1st, 1930, and to meet the approval of Frank Erleben as Chairman of the County Board.

Report of L. W. Ellis, Clerk of the District Court, showing amount of fees earned by him for the quarter ending March 31st, 1925, amounting to the sum of $656.95 was examined and on motion duly approved.

Whereupon Board adjourned to June 2nd, 1925.

CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, CLERK.

Leaving Wednesday, Miss Irma Rennieck started on a trip to the far west, to visit during the vacation time with her sister, Miss Lenette Rennieck, who is just completing her second year at Northport, Washington. The sisters are planning an auto trip into Canada, which is very near where Miss Rennieck has been teaching, then they will drive to Seattle to attend a summer school there. Miss Irma started her trip in an auto, going to Omaha with W. C. Andrews and wife. It will be a fine manner in which to spend a vacation.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENING DAY

Tuesday Will be Opening Day for Wayne Country Club. Golf and Social Time Planned

As a golf event for the Country Club opening day the program committee has arranged a very unusual medal play golf match. The players of the club have been arranged approximately according to merit. Then a player is taken from the top of the list and a partner from the bottom or poorer players and this combination constitutes a team.

Each team will play nine holes of golf using only one ball, the players of each team alternating strokes. The team which makes the lowest score for the nine holes will win. The supposedly poorer player of each team must drive off at the first tee but thereafter the strokes must be made alternately.

If any player's name has been omitted from the list please report at once to Frank Morgan. This is also true if you know that you can not play in the event. Please let us know as soon as possible should it be so that you can't play or if your name has been omitted.

Please look up your partner at once and arrange to play the match in a foursome with any other pair. This match should be played on Tuesday afternoon and is only a nine-hole match.

The prizes for this event have not yet been selected but will doubtless be costly and unusual.

The team arrangements follow below:

- C. M. Craven—J. T. Bressler.
- F. S. Morgan—E. W. Huso.
- C. H. Fisher—Rev. Teckhaus.
- W. C. Hunter—Horace Theobald.

CAR PRODUCTION INCREASING

W. C. Andrews, who is again resuming activities in auto distribution, left the following figures of the present output of the Chevrolet since they have started on their improved models for 1925:

"Productions during the first quarter also will be influenced by the record output of Chevrolet cars. This company brought out a new model which did not get into full swing until late in March. Approximately 2,300 vehicles every 24 hours is the best Chevrolet can do, and is now doing. May and June schedules call for 52,000 units each month and unfilled orders now on hand will take care of this output."

NOTICE

Lights will be shut off from 3 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. Sunday morning, May 31.

Marcus Kroger has the foundation and concrete floor in for a new five-bin coal house to take the place of the old ones that were about down and out from many years of usage. The concrete floor is an ideal one for coal. The floor does not break, and there is no waste of the fine coal. Besides, the rates will not harbor mud.

The paving company that paved Blair about five years ago, according to the Pilot, are now making some repairs necessary to keep good their contract as to defects for five years. The fixing seems to consist mostly of repairing and lowering humps or bulges in the pavement caused by not leaving slack for expansion. Seems as tho Wayne has some upheavals of that nature in a few places, and possibly they should be looked after, if our contract has such a clause, and we believe it does.

H. G. Fields of Ponca was here the first of the week, visiting at the home of A. V. Teed and wife, his daughter. He reports that all are normal at the old town by the river. We found him comparing notes with R. P. Williams and they were just saying that they were the only surviving charter members of the lodge of Old Fellows which was instituted at that place almost forty years ago. Naturally they had much to tell about how the goat performed on that and many other occasions, the days when Mr. Williams was a citizen of that town. R. P. intimated that he has often thought he would like to again live where he could fish in a stream he could not jump across.

Fortner wants poultry and eggs.

Mrs. Moran was here last week staying at the E. J. Hunter home, looking after the place and the children while Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were at Madison, South Dakota, where they were called by the death of Mr. Hunter's father. She returned to Omaha Sunday, and came back to Wayne for the college graduation exercises today, her son Bon Moran being one of the graduating class.

An exchange tells how to remove the marks made on a painted wall by scratching matches thereon; and we are wondering if the same rule will apply to the "gabie-end" of a pair of Sunday pants. We have seen some marked in that way, while the fellow's every-day trousers needed to be sent to the tailor for darning. Some one should introduce a fashion of wearing a bit of sand paper over that part of the hind leg which is most convenient to scratch.

This morning early, R. H. Jacques and wife and daughter Miss Hildred and son Ralph jr. leave for a ten day outing. They plan first to drive to Larned, Kansas, where they will spend a day at the home of a sister, and she is to join them for the remainder of the trip to Wichita, where their father, T. A. Brady and another sister lives. Here they plan to stop until time to leave for home, so as to reach this place Saturday of next week. They have been looking forward to a pleasant trip.

An exchange tells that a preacher has quit taking the Bee because the Bee endorsed the Methodist bishop who defended the theory of evolution. That is right and proper, if the preacher felt that way; but to publish the fact, apparently with a view of hurting the Bee makes one think of the illustration used to convince a big-headed fellow of the general opinion of his importance. He was asked to stick his head into a tub of water; then pull it out, and look into the tub for the hole in the water.

Quality Goods

Means Satisfied Customers

No matter how low the price, you generally feel cheated if QUALITY is lacking. On this theory we have builded our Grocery business—and we also find by careful buying we have made it possible to keep the price down and the quality up.

Just now the first in the mind of the home cook is the good fresh fruits. Strawberries, near home grown are now being offered. The Pineapple and Sweet Cherries are also here, and very fine.

The VICTOR CHIC MASH and the VICTOR CHIC FEED and the SHELLS, all come in the quality line; for they make the little birds into larger ones very quickly.

FLOUR

We are still selling our good flours at the old low prices.

Mrs. E. E. Rippon came from Pender Tuesday morning and will visit her daughter Mrs. Francis Jones and family.

Editor Nevin of the Laurel Advocate was a caller last week. He was accompanied by Mr. Mason from Bellefourche, South Dakota, who came down for a short visit and to see a real farming country. Mr. Mason is landlord of the hotel owned by Mrs. Nevin and Mrs. Nevin returned with him, and will be in charge of the hotel while Mr. Mason does his duty as one of the National Guard of that state, and is going to camp. Mr. Nevin plans to join Mrs. Nevin there a bit later for a fishing vacation trip in the Black Hills country. He indulged in the sport last year, and feels the fever coming again with the warmer weather we had last week.

THE MONEY GLUT

Nebraska building and loan men in session in Lincoln join in the common complaint. They are flooded with money.

Interest rates to investors in and borrowers from building and loan companies have been sagging more or less steadily for years. The companies now have so much money offered that some of it must be refused. Is there no danger that this idle money and the low interest rates prevailing may cause a building boom and an oversupply of houses? It was agreed at this meeting that building has now about made up the shortage caused by the war. Normal needs should in that case call for a somewhat slackened rate of building.

Meanwhile it is agreed that Nebraska land values have recovered during the last year by as much as five dollars an acre on the average. Last year's good crops and good prices had much to do with this. "Easy" money has also had its part. Money has been begging for investment in farm mortgages, with a rate often as low as 5 per cent and seldom rising above 6 anywhere.

As long as mortgages are conservatively placed, this flood of money may do no harm. The tendency in such circumstances is to grow lax, to force money into use by risky loans or speculative investments. Then comes the fever and its final sequel of chills.

The above plaint of the money men is from the State Journal of Lincoln, and while bank statements generally indicate a surplus of cash, it is so carefully hoarded and guarded about that it is not working as it should be. There is so much uncertainty in a business venture that people are afraid to enter on borrowed capital which is not often let out except on advantageous terms. The man with the money does not seem to be willing to let it out in such a way as to give the borrower an equal show in case of a depression of prices of commodities in which he may be dealing. The fiat of the law gives all advantage to the man with the dollar. Then again the law steps in and says in many states that the dollar may escape its full share of taxation. A man may own a farm, that is, have the title to it; but with an equity of less than half its value; the money man owning the plaster which represents the other half to escape taxes on that part. The law permits a mortgage which exempts the mortgage entirely from taxation—thus doubling the tax of the one often incapable to pay and releasing the other partner in the ownership of the land.

It is possible that to make all property equal for taxation might tend to put some of the idle money at work where it is most needed. Why not try it?

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Fertner wants poultry and eggs and Eggs.

Misses Anna Kay and Stella Morrell of Emerson were Wayne visitors between trains Monday.

Miss Vida Beck, who has been teaching the school year at Wilsonville, came home the first of the week to spend vacation with home folks, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beck, just a few miles south of Wayne.

Mrs. C. W. Hiscox, who was at Hastings visiting her daughter Mae and visiting her niece returned home Monday afternoon. She was accompanied by her niece Ferne Reed of Madison who spent the week.

Wm. Nissen, who is farming near Sterling, Colorado, was here the last of the week, visiting relatives and friends a short time. He had been to market with cattle, and came this way to spend a few days. He visited his father-in-law, O. J. Olson and family; his brother Ben and his sister Emma, Mrs. Beck. It is reported that he likes the land he is in, and doing nicely in a financial way.

Nathan Leopold, of Joliet, Illinois, who aided in the murder of a young student in a Chicago school, and is undergoing a 99 year sentence, has been taken to the prison hospital for an appendix operation. He took part in the killing for the sensation of the act—and now he will have another sensation.

There is a movie war commencing, according to the daily news. Three of the "big" concerns are banding together to battle the independents and announce that they have $25,000,000 to put into the game of crushing out all opposition or competition. It seems to be their purpose to build picture houses in all the larger cities. It is to be, in reality, if we understand it right a war between producers and exhibitors. Well, let them fight—but it seems as tho no one should try to have a monopoly on the business.

Now the new worry is about the coal situation. Deflation seems at last to have struck the coal fields. The soft coal operators and miners just now appear to be getting the worst of it. Many mines are shutting down, and the operators facing bankruptcy. Mines operated by union labor have only been able to give work to their men two days of the six working days of the week, for which they received $15. In the non-union mines the wage was less, but the work could be kept up, so that the men had six days work at $30.00 while the others had but two days at $15.00. It seems that the hard coal mines are in the better shape—as they are non-union, and are cutting a price to dealers, so that they are able to hand coal out to the dealer at a less price. The Lincoln Star says that an entire readjustment of the coal industry appears to be inevitable. While a lot of people of the class who were inventing and making carriages and wagons a quarter of a century ago are now following around with automobiles—while the class who then thought they saw a big future in the gas wagon are now looking higher, and think they see the sky filled with air crafts. Perhaps they are right, as the ones who visioned the autos were looking in the right direction when they were just beginning to learn to make a '9 for the second figure when dating their letters.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of an order of sale, made May 13, 1925, to me directed, issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, upon a decree of foreclosure of delinquent paving assessments rendered in said court on the 13th day of April, 1925, in an action then pending in said court wherein the City of Wayne in the State of Nebraska, was plaintiff, and Ashby M. Helt, and Bessie A. Helt his wife, Mesach Hale and Ferdinand Schmiedeskamp, were defendants, I will on the 22nd day of June, 1925, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the door of the office of the clerk of the district court in the court house in the city of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, sell to the highest bidder for cash the following described real estate, to-wit: The South forty (40) feet of Lot five (5), and all of Lot six (6), in Block Two (2), Lake's Addition to the City of Wayne, in Wayne County, Nebraska, to satisfy said decree. The amount due plaintiff under said decree on the south 40 feet of lot 5 is the sum of $111.37 and the amount due plaintiff under said decree on said lot 6 is the sum of $139.65 together with interest thereon as provided by law, and costs and accruing costs.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 19th day of May, 1925.

PETERSEN-HYPSE

Miss Ada Petersen of this city and Glen E. Hypse of Chicago were married in Sioux City, on Wednesday, May 20, at the Lutheran parsonage by Rev. Oscar Olson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Petersen and has for the past few years been employed as secretary with the Wayne Motor Co. at Wayne and later with the Fred Diers & Son Co., Madison, Nebraska. Mr. Hypse, formerly of Wakefield, Nebraska, has for the past few years been engaged in the jewelry business at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hypse will visit at Omaha and other points of Nebraska before returning east.—Belden Progress.

Down in Charlestown, West Virginia, they found $30,000 worth of liquor in the cemetery. That is a proper place for it—and then those who partake of it may be right there handy for their long sleep.

PERSONAL PROPERTY VALUATION FOR YEAR 1925

The following named individuals, firms, corporations, or partnerships have been assessed in the precincts as herein shown and the amounts set opposite their names are the valuations fixed by the Assessor, and are as they appear for the assessment record and also are the totals upon which the tax for the year 1925 will be computed unless changed by either the County or State Board of Equalization. Bear in mind that these are the actual valuations as all levies are now based on actual instead of assessed values.

Strong Sense of Duty Made Sailor "Missing"

"Man overboard!" stories are usually gruesome. Here is one told by Captain Willis, R. M., that affords a pleasant change. The warning was sounded and the ship stopped. Boats were lowered but though a long search was made there was nothing found. The question then arose: Who was the man? Many had seen him disappear, but no one could identify him. The captain was not at all pleased. It seemed that the lowering of the flaps had not been properly supervised, and the officer in charge of quarter-deck was "getting socks."

"And all I can tell you," said the captain in conclusion, "is that the blood of that unfortunate man will rest on your head." Meantime, the order "Hands muster by open list," was piped, and the crew fell in by divisions. But the mystery only deepened, for no one was missing. At last, up the ladder appeared a scared-looking A. B., and addressing the officer of the watch, he said: "I think, sir, as 'ow the man overboard must 'ave been me, I went over with the flap, sir, but 'eld onto the securing chain, and climbed in again very soon, sir."

Trainmen Earn Their Money in Madagascar

Tamatave, principal seaport of Madagascar, is connected with the capital, Antananarivo, or Tananarive, as the French call it—by a narrow-gauge railway, the trains departing three times a week. E. Alexander Powell writes in the Century Magazine.

It takes the mail train 10 hours to traverse these 225 miles, this being due in some measure to the steepness of the grade, for the capital is nearly a mile above sea level; but even more, I imagine, to the delays incurred in announcing the names of the stations.

How, I ask you, can a train make good running time if it has to wait for the conductor to enunciate such names as Ampanotoamalina, Andavakini-menarana, Ankaramandrakia, Ambohtrandriambanitra? Were the employees of American lines required thus to overwork their vocal cords the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen would make a protest to the interstate commerce commission.

Freak Fruit Tree

In the Transvaal a remarkable tree has been grown as an experiment. A lemon tree was lopped until only three branches remained. Upon one was grafted an orange, upon another a grapefruit, while the third was allowed to remain lemon. The result was that at this time of the year the tree is bearing oranges, grapefruit and a few lemons all at once!

SOCIAL NOTES

Next Tuesday is to be opening day at the Wayne Country Club, when members and families will gather for the first social afternoon of the coming season. Last year the ladies had social afternoons each week, and most happy hours were passed. This season the ladies have completed an organization and plans for each week of the season.

The Altrusa club members met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred L. Blair. After the regular order of business they had a short program. Mrs. Martin gave a short sketch of "Tom Sawyer." Mrs. McLennan gave a paper on "Modern Architecture." Mrs. Ward gave an interesting paper on a "Trip Through China-Town, California." This was the last meeting until September.

The Wayne Woman's club had a social meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Ahern. This was the last meeting for the year. The program was as follows: Trio by Elvera Malloy, Margaret and Marion Ahern. Cello solo by Margaret Ahern accompanied at the piano by Marion Ahern. Alda Surber closed the program with a reading. The hostess served refreshments.

The Young People's meeting held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. E. B. Young, was a farewell service for the out going students. At 5:30 a delicious luncheon was served. They concluded the book of "Acts", and the next week they will have for their lesson study "Book of Romans."

The Rebekahs had their business meeting Friday evening. They had election of officers. Mrs. Chas. Martin, noble grand; Mrs. Anna Kemp, vice grand; Mrs. E. E. Fleetwood, secretary; and Mrs. A. D. Lewis, treasurer. The evening closed with a short program and home made candies were served.

The Bible Study Circle had their regular meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. C. Peterson. Mrs. Ben-shoff was leader of the lesson. The meeting next week will be at the home of Mrs. E. B. Young.

The Royal Neighbors had a social afternoon last Thursday. The hours were spent with Kensington and socially. At 5 o'clock a bountiful covered dish luncheon was served.

The Harmony club will hold their regular meeting Wednesday, June 3, at the home of Mrs. Bernard Meyer.

The Alpha Woman's club will have their last meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. R. C. Hahlbeck.

11:00 Morning Worship. Sermon-theme "The Comforter."
Rev. R. E. Rangel of Emerson and Rev. Coy L. Stager motored to Beatrice, Nebraska last week and attended the State Sunday school convention there. There were over one thousand delegates registered.

Last Sunday morning Rev. Coy L. Stager occupied the pulpit of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran church of Emerson on behalf of Midland College, while St. Paul's pulpit was occupied by Rev. M. J. Harder of the Western Theological Seminary of Fremont.

The third annual session of the Midland Assembly for church workers will be held at Fremont, June 17 to 21. This course of instruction by competent instructors will cover all phases of local church work—Sunday school, Young People's Missionary Society, and Juniors. Dr. and Mrs. Cronk and Dr. D. Burt Smith are without peers on the courses they offer. Miss Tilda Nelson offers unusual things in Missionary work. A fee of $1.50 for the week will be asked, and rates for board and lodging will be reasonable. More than 150 were enrolled in this assembly last June.

Three machine-loads of workers from St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church school made a trip to Emerson last Monday evening and attended the Workers Conference of St. Luke's church, after which a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Rev. Coy L. Stager gave an address at the Wayne County Sunday School convention at Carroll Tuesday afternoon, on "The Chief Factor in the church school work."

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Gettman, near Carroll. Mrs. Gettman and Mrs. Wm. Peck will serve.

MAKE IT SHORT AND SNAPPY

Wayne, Nebraska, May 26, 1925. Dear Propagandist:—We have just received your very interesting communication, and hardly found time to read the same. From it we learn that you think (or at least want) the vacation fever to spread. It is a nice letter, but why take a full page to get that one idea out of your system? When you send such long stories of velleid advertising, please enclose a check for a V, then we can mark it Adv.

Further wants your Cream, Poultry, and Eggs.

One of Nebraska's Greatest Livestock and Grain Farms. Sells on Premises at AUCTION FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1925 1 mile east of Clearwater 774 ACRE ELKHORN VALLEY RANCH Sub-Divided as Follows: 100 Acres in Cultivation, 90 Acres in Alfalfa, 300 Acres in Tame Meadow, and balance in Pasture.

Improvements HOUSE—Nine room house with lights, water, and furnace, surrounded by a fine bluegrass lawn and abundance of shade trees. BARN—The barn is 36x42, has stalls for 12 horses and large hay mow, and is on a good foundation. HOG HOUSE AND CATTLE BARN—This is 70x100 and is arranged that both cattle and hogs can be housed in it and is located in the center of the feed lots. MACHINE SHED—This is 20x70 and has two large doors that open on the south and provides room for two cars, the tool bench is located in one end of this building. DOUBLE CRIB—This is 32x36 with drive way in center and on good foundation. CATTLE SHED—This is located on the north end of the feed lots and furnishes ample protection to the feeding cattle. Chicken house, fuel house, and other small buildings, good set of scales and water piped to all the yards. This place is well fenced, yards being woven wire and sub-divided to make it as convenient as possible to handle the live stock.

Location It is located just one mile east of Clearwater, Nebraska, and also only 80 rods from State Highway No. 8, this makes it very convenient to attend the Clearwater High School. Very few farms are located as this one when it comes to marketing livestock, both hogs and cattle can be driven in a few minutes to the loading station at Clearwater and be on the main line to Omaha market. This farm is also ideally located for feeding cattle, being just between the hay and corn country and also out of the high priced land. Anyone looking for a livestock farm should not fail to attend this sale.

TERMS: Ten per cent of purchase price on date of sale, ten per cent on December 5, 1925, 20 per cent on April 1, 1926, when deed and abstract will be delivered. Balance carried on land. Such reasonable terms should and will be appreciated by bidders. Will Accept Small Farm as Part Payment if Notified in Time so that Satisfactory Investigation May be Made.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of an order of sale, dated May 18, 1925, to me directed, issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, upon a decree of foreclosure of delinquent paving assessments rendered in said court on the 18th day of April, 1925, in an action then pending in said court wherein the City of Wayne in the state of Nebraska was plaintiff and Arlos Page Frear was defendant, I will on the 22nd day of June, 1925, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the door of the office of the Clerk of the District Court in the courthouse in the City of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, sell to the highest bidder for cash the following described real-estate, to-wit: Lots nine (9) and ten (10), in Block five (5), Colledge Hill Addition to the City of Wayne, in Wayne County, Nebraska; to satisfy the aforesaid decree. The amount due plaintiff under said decree for such delinquent paving installments is the sum of $206.11 together with interest thereon as provided by law and costs and accruing costs. Dated at Wayne, Nebraska this 19th day of May, 1925. M21-5t A. W. STEPHENS, Sheriff of Wayne County, Nebraska.

JOHN L. WAS A FIGHTER

(Detroit News.) Some wonder why the name of John L. Sullivan has been so much in print of late. In the last year no other American of the generation just past has been so assiduously written up. An excellent biography of the Boston Strong Boy is just off the press, a series of racy reminiscences of an old companion are now current and half dozen articles written around the champ have appeared in first-class magazines. The process of canonizing Sullivan in the popular imagination is definitely under way. John L. was a braggart and, in his cups, considerable of a hooligan, fighting indiscriminately in rings, bar-rooms and alleys. For years he paid no attention to the magnificent physique with which nature had endowed him. In the essential meaning of the word he was uncivilized. Yet he was adored by the populace, was a great favorite of that other warrior, Roosevelt, was able to talk to statesmen and princes the world over without the impediment of any inferiority complex, was infinitely more popular at the time of his death than any of his successors and until the end was unable to appear anywhere in public without attracting a mob. There is no mystery about the irresistible appeal of the man. It was partly due of course to an invariable lack of affection, partly to his renowned generosity and partly to his intrinsic quality as a fighter. But mostly it was because Sullivan was a fighter, as distinguished from the financial wizards who now dominate the game. Sullivan fought for anything or nothing, anywhere at any time. He was no hand to haggle, it never took an act of congress to get him into the ring and no Montana county ever went broke trying to pay him off. In fact, the total of Sullivan's earnings in a long ring career was not as large as the amount the present champion demands before he climbs into the ring for a one-punch fight. Sullivan is a ring immortal because his soul was the soul of a roaring medieval chieftain, not a cash register.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Notice is hereby given that the board of county commissioners, the county assessor, and the county clerk will sit as a board of Equalization, commencing on Tuesday, the 9th day of June, 1925, for the purpose of equalizing the valuation of personal property of the county as returned by the precinct assessors for the year 1925.

Bear in mind that your land, lots and improvements are not reassessed this year, but in case of gross error, if our attention is called to the fact, such gross error may be remedied. Any and all complaints on the assessment of personal property will be heard at this time.

All that are assessed are especially urged to call and inspect the books relative to your assessment, as this will materially aid us in avoiding errors. The board will continue in session for not less than three (3) days, and all complaints or protests must be made at this time. Witness my hand and seal this 9th day of May A. D. 1925. (Seal) CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, County Clerk.

NOTICE OF SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNT

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss. To all persons interested in the estate of William Gnrk, deceased: On reading the petition of Amanda Gnrk and Gerhardt Gnrk, Executors, praying a final settlement and allowance of their account filed in this Court on the 27th day of May, 1925, and for distribution of the residue of said estate. It is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 12th day of June, 1925, at 3 o'clock P. M., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Nebraska Democrat, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing. (Seal) J. M. CHERRY, County Judge.

Cleaning, Pressing and Tailoring That is our business and at this spring season you should go over your wardrobe and have your old clothes cleaned and pressed and what alteration necessary made, and you will be surprised at the saving made. We can call for the garments.

JUST BE A GOOD BOY, GOOD-BY
How oft in my dream I go back to the day
When I stood at the old wooden gate,
As I started for school in full battle array,
Well armed with my primer and slate.
And as the latch fell, I thought myself free,
And I gloried, I fear, on the sly,
Until a sweet voice called out after me,
"Just be a good boy, Good-by."
"Just be a good boy, Good-by,"
Those words have followed me all these years,
They have given form to my childish hopes,
And have banished my foolish fears.
They have stayed my steps on many a brink
Unseen by a blinded eye,
For just in time I would stop and think,
"Just be a good boy, Good-by."
Oh, brother of mine, in this battle of life,
Just starting or nearing its close,
That banner aloft in the midst of the strife
Will conquer wherever it goes.
Mistakes we will make for all of us err,
But, Brother, please honestly try
To accomplish your best in whatever occurs,
"Just be a good boy, Good-by."

"WHY DO THEY CALL THEM BUDDIES?"
Why do they call them Buddies?
What other name as sweet?
Has ever been war hallowed
By rain and snow and alest?
What other name than Buddies
Would men like our men bear
When all hell beleched its baptism
And death was everywhere?
Why do they call them Buddies?
Though not of common kin,
Old Glory called them brothers
When Freedom said, "Go in!"
They swept the mighty legions
To man, land, sky, and sea
God, devil dog and doughboy—
A fighting trinity!
Why do they call them Buddies?
Because they stand today
Still Buddies to the Buddy
Left shattered by the fray,
Though peace may grow unmidful
Of War's unsettled debt,
The Buddy to a Buddy
Stands fast—and can't forget!
That's why they call them Buddies
The sharpnel's shriek is gone
The Buddies carry on!
And so, tonight, heart-happy
I breath this frevent prayer,
God make the way all roses
For Buddy Legionaire
The man who lives by the side of the road nowadays has a house full of dust.
Mail crossing the continent in a day now travels about as fast as bad news.
If the next war is to be fought in the air, as predicted, it will have to wait until the last one gives it up.
American women spend $78,000,000

another staggering fact man is face

Motor Transportation would quickly become a memory

if suitable Lubrication were cut off

THE same oil that penetrates the closest fitting bearings and maintains a wear-preventing cushion between moving parts must also supply a film of oil between cylinder walls and piston rings which will maintain compression and prevent leakage of gasoline vapors and explosive gases. This film on the cylinder walls is constantly being burned off and constantly renewed. Somotoroil must have the quality of burning up without producing hard, gritty particles.

Plain Facts About Modern Motor Fuel and Motor Oil

NO machine is more dependent on proper lubrication than a gasoline motor. No lubrication problem has been more carefully studied or is better understood. But careless lubrication cost American motorists half a billion dollars, from 1914 to 1923, for repair parts and labor (the figure given in a paper presented before the Automotive Service Association at their recent New York conference).

This repair bill would have been a lot smaller if the lubrication rules outlined in "Plain Facts About Modern Motor Fuel and Motor Oil" had been observed. On request, we will gladly send you a copy.

Plenty of oil does not guarantee protection, full power or big mileage per gallon of gasoline. Only clean oil of the right grade can do this—and no oil is clean after 500 miles of operation.

Polarine is made in six grades—Light, Medium, Heavy, Special Heavy, Extra Heavy and a special grade for Ford cars and trucks only, Polarine "F"—a grade to suit every make of motor.

So consult the Polarine Chart and get just the right grade for your motor. Empty your crankcase every five hundred miles and refill with fresh Polarine. It will save you money. Buy it at the Red Crown Service Station where you buy Red Crown—the balanced gasoline.

The board of county commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 7th day of May A. D. 1925.

(Seal) CHAS. W. REYNOLDS, County Clerk of Wayne County, Nebraska.

"Right" Means "Go"
To Your Telephone Operator

Trained runners, keenly alert, eager to leap in a spirited dash to the goal, await the crack of the pistol to start them off in the race.

In like manner, your telephone operator, after repeating the number you call, is alert for your acknowledgment before speeding your call through the maze of wire and other equipment to the person you want.

By saying "Right," if your number is repeated correctly, you let her know that she has understood the number. But if your operator repeats the number incorrectly, a wrong number is avoided by saying, "No," and giving her the number again.

The thoughtful cooperation of each telephone user makes the service more valuable to all.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

VALUATIONS FOR YEAR 1925

The following named individuals, firms, corporations, or copartnerships have been assessed in the precincts as herein shown and the amounts set opposite their names are the valuations fixed by the Assessor, and are as they appear from the assessment record and also are the totals upon which the tax for the year 1925 will be computed unless changed by either the County or State Board of Equalization. Bear in mind that these are the actual valuations as all levies are now based on actual instead of assessed values.

BRIDGE NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that bids will be received at the county clerk's office for Wayne County, Nebraska, for the furnishing of all necessary material and labor for the erection and completion of the following bridges or slabs or so many thereof as shall be ordered built, or as many more as the county commissioners may deem advisable for the best interests of the county for the year 1925.

One 16-foot concrete slab, 16 foot roadway, 15 ton capacity, located on west half section line of section 28, township 27, range 2, east.

One 18-foot concrete slab, 16 foot roadway, 15 ton capacity, west of section 32, township 25, range 2, east.

All bids to be made on both 15 and 20 ton capacity.

At the same time and place as herein specified, bids will also be received for the repair of all concrete work which may be ordered repaired by the county commissioners for the year 1925.

All such arches and slabs to be built in accordance with plans and specifications furnished by the state engineer, and known as the standard plans and adopted by the county board of Wayne county, Nebraska.

All arches or slabs to be built within ten days of notice by said county to construct the same and in case any arch or slab is to be constructed where an old bridge stands, contractor to tear down said old bridge and to remove and pile all old lumber in such bridge; this to mean also the removal of all the pile along with the lumber in such bridge, and to deposit the same safely near the site thereof, such lumber and piles to remain the property of the county.

Said bids to be filed with the county clerk of said Wayne county, Nebraska, on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 15th day of June, A. D. 1925.

Said bids for the building and repair of all concrete work will be opened at 12 o'clock noon of the 15th day of June, A. D. 1925, by the county clerk of said county, in the presence of the board of county commissioners of said county, at the office of the county clerk of said county.

No bids will be considered unless accompanied by cash or a certified check for $250.00 payable to Chas. W. Reynolds, county clerk of said county, to be forfeited to said county in case the bidder refuses to enter into contract with said county, if same is awarded to him.

Also bids will be received for all of above work at same time and place and under all conditions as above set forth, the county to furnish all material delivered at nearest railroad station.

The plans and specifications as adopted, and also the bidding blanks are furnished by the state engineer of Lincoln, Nebraska, who will, upon request, furnish copies of the same.

All bids must be on completed work at so much per cubic foot in place, as no extras will be allowed.

The board of county commissioners reserves the right to build or construct any other bridges, other than concrete arch or slab, which bears on other plans and specifications furnished by the state engineer and adopted by this board.

The board of county commissioners reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 14th day of May, A. D. 1925.

Whole Family Vouches for Seeing "Doubles"

Quite amazing is a story told by Mr. Owen in a book called "Footfalls": Some years ago an Ohio farmer built a new house for himself, separated from the one he had occupied by a ravine. One afternoon, about five o'clock, his wife saw their eldest daughter, Rhoda, aged sixteen, holding the youngest, Lucy, aged four, in her arms, sitting rocking within the kitchen door of the new house. She called the attention of another sister to what she saw and was started to hear that Rhoda and Lucy were upstairs in the old house.

They were at once sent for, and on coming downstairs they saw, to their amazement, their exact doubles sitting on the doorstep of the new house. All the family collected—twelve in all—and they all saw the phantasmal Rhoda and Lucy—the real Rhoda and Lucy standing beside them. They were absolutely identical to the most minute particular of their dress. After watching them for five minutes, the father started to cross the ravine and solve the mystery.

Women Ruled in Days of Our Cave Ancestors

Old-fashioned ideas as to man's supremacy in the days when the earth was young have had a rude jolt, according to an eminent statement of ancient manners and customs. It is now declared that woman, in the days of our cave-dwelling ancestors, was regarded as of the more important sex. Men held a secondary position, tolerated for the sake of the food and skins provided. Women ruled, and were the inventors of the earliest arts and sciences. It was the woman's ingenuity which devised snares for animals and made plans for storing food against times of scarcity. Women taught ways of making clothing from skins of animals and by the efforts of their brains improved the lot of all the human race. Woman's cunning and wit were the outcome of her lack of physical strength, which obliged her to resort to strategy rather than force. On the whole, the prehistoric woman apparently held the same position and ruled man in the same manner that she does today. Man possibly thought he was boss, but so long as he didn't know any better, what difference did it make?

LETTING THE WORLD KNOW

Newspaper advertising is an accurate barometer of the progressiveness and enterprise of the community. The enterprise of the individual merchant may also be measured by the extensiveness and quality of his newspaper advertising. The prosperity of the community depends upon the prosperity of its business and the prosperity of any business depends in great part upon advertising.

Merchants long ago learned the wisdom of inviting the buying public into their stores. From the merchant's experience communities have learned the value of inviting strangers to visit them. Through advertising the merchants and communities have succeeded in attracting buyers and visitors.

To succeed in business one must have more than just something to sell. He must let the buying public know what he has for sale. Here again the community has learned something from the merchant and invites new citizens by apprising them of what it has to offer.

But from the beginning the merchant has learned one of the secrets of advertising. The city or town seeking to expand its business and increase its population does not confine itself to praising one of its many civic achievements or institutions. It advertises them all. So the business man knows that while his small ad in the newspaper will be read and bring him his fair share of new business, the large display advertisements will bring him more buyers.

NOTICE OF HEARING

To all persons interested in said estate: You, each and all, are hereby notified that Lizzie Dreyven has filed a petition in said court, alleging that Dona Weather departed this life intestate on or about the 23rd day of April, 1925, and praying that Lizzie Dreyven be appointed administratrix of said estate. Hearing will be had on said petition before me at the county court room in Wayne, Nebraska, on the 5th day of June 1925, at 10 o'clock A. M. (Seal) M. CHERRY, County Judge.

Critics Take Issue With Speech Purists

Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson has taken occasion to criticize our contemporary fashions in pronunciation, says the London Daily Telegraph. Like most of those who are masters of a subject, he has no liking for pedants and purists. Sir Johnston prefers the familiar sound of "often" without the "t," and our usual "agen" to the precision of "again." A long vowel sound in the "my" of "my lords" he considers an invention of the modern public speaker—who is perhaps imitating the linked sweetness long drawn out of the modern toastmaster—and he calls it "perfectly intolerable."

If we go back earlier than the Nineteenth century we fall into manifold trouble. Johnston, who prided himself on his correctness, always said "heard" for "heard," as the illiterate do still. When Boswell challenged him he had, to be sure, a reason. If the word were pronounced in the usual way, he explained, there would be an exception to the rule as to the pronunciation of "ear," and he thought it better not to have that exception.

But we may suspect that the reason was invented after he found himself criticized and that he was in fact following the common Lichfield pronunciation.

Creatures That Man Is Unable to Tame

A wolf can be tamed. Even the big savage timber wolf, if caught young, becomes as passive as a dog. But that queer wolf-like animal known as the Tasmanian devil refuses to respond to treatment. It is usually wild and savage, and usually dies if kept in captivity. It is one of the ugliest creatures alive. The great cats, such as the lion and tiger, can be tamed; so can the South African lynx and the South American panther.

But the black jaguar, one of the most dangerous of wild beasts, always remains savage and treacherous, and even when caught as a kitten refuses to have anything to do with mankind. The ordinary leopard can be tamed if caught young enough, but is liable to revert suddenly to savagery, and the same may be said of the bobcat, the North American lynx.

Another North American animal which has an evil reputation is the wolverine. It is dreaded by the trapper, for it will force its way into a shanty and destroy the stores.

Beethoven's Triumph

One of the most pathetic cases of deafness was that of Beethoven. Why should it have happened that he who lived supremely in the world of sound, the very breath of whose life was made up of sweet chords and entrancing melody, should have been deprived of the sense of hearing? Unconscious even of the storm of applause evoked by his playing, he was on one occasion turned round by a singer that he might see the waving hats and handkerchiefs of his enthusiastic audience. Yet the victory of mind over matter was clearly evidenced in the case of Beethoven, for some of his most sublime compositions were created after his sense of hearing was hopelessly destroyed and the world heard with delight the exquisite harmony that only in imagination could enter his own somber realm of silence.—Exchange.

Low Country

Some flat lands are beautiful, though Ruskin says not—the flatness of Holland, where a barge with rich red color seems to come sailing into the flowering fields; where a windmill or a dyke takes all the wind of the huge sky; where brimming rivers are pearl gray, and the roofs of the close little towns are red, and the lucid horizon line is broken by, instead of mountains, such things as a cow-feeding or a broad-breasted woman towing a barge, from the clean deck of which a child sings, a little dog barks.—Alice Meynell.

Long Hours of Toil

A century ago (6r in the so-called good old days) Amasa Whitney operated a factory in Winchester, Mass., and, according to the American Outlook, he had sixteen rules and regulations, the first of which was: "The mill will be put in operation ten minutes before sunrise at all seasons of the year. The gates will be shut ten minutes past sunset from the 20th of March to the 20th of September; at thirty minutes past eight from the 20th of September to the 20th of March; Saturday at sunset."

Good Business Idea

It was before the day of tin lizzies, and one Kentucky merchant sold lots of buggy harness to farmers who paid up once a year. One day his clerk sold a set of buggy harness and did not charge it promptly. When he did start to charge the harness he had forgotten to whom to charge it. "Charge every man on the books with a set of harness and when they raise a kick, take the harness from their account," the boss told him. There were 180 names on the books, and but two kicked.—Good Hardware.

Question?

"I say, doctor, did you ever doctor another doctor?" "Oh, yes." "Well, does a doctor doctor a doctor the way the doctor doctor wants to be doctor, or does the doctor doctor the doctoring doctor the other doctor in his own way?"

POULTRY

GETTING START IN POULTRY RAISING

The beginner in poultry raising should start in a small way. Mistakes are bound to be made by the beginner and difficult problems will be presented which must be solved before one can expect to make a success in the poultry business. There are two ways of starting in the business. One is to buy fowls in the fall of the year and the other is to buy eggs for hatching or baby chicks in the spring. Perhaps the buying of fowls in the fall is the safer method, but for the money invested the starting with eggs or baby chicks in the spring offers a larger opportunity.

In starting with poultry the beginner should first of all consider the purpose for which he wants to use the fowls. There are four general classes of fowls, the egg breeds, the meat breeds, general-purpose breeds, and fancy or ornamental breeds.

The egg breeds include the smaller or medium-sized fowls, which are very active, quick to mature and which produce white-shelled eggs. They are mostly nonsitters or poor sitters and other fowls are usually kept if natural methods of incubation are used. The Leghorns, Anconas and Minorcas are typical breeds of this class.

The meat breeds represent the other extreme and are especially suitable for the production of roasters. Fowls of this class are slow and somewhat sluggish. They are easily confined with low fences, slow maturing, persistent sitters and rather indifferent layers. The Brahmas, Cochins and Langshans belong to this class.

The general-purpose breeds are medium in size and produce a good quantity of eggs, thereby making them appeal to those who want a bird which will supply both eggs and meat. The general-purpose fowls are usually good sitters and good mothers. They occupy a medium position between the egg and meat breeds in size, egg production and docility. However, it should be noted that in the recent work in breeding for high egg production some of the general-purpose fowls have made very creditable egg records. Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds and Orpingtons are typical representatives of the general-purpose fowls.

Ornamental breeds are not generally adapted to farm flocks unless some one has time to develop some special type. The Polish, Silkies, Sultans and Bantams are representative of these breeds.

Treatment Outlined to Cure Egg-Eating Habit

Hens sometimes acquire a vice of eating their eggs, learning to do this from eating an accidentally broken egg. If one hen learns how to eat eggs the whole flock soon learns from her. Egg shells should never be fed to hens unless they are very finely broken or are mixed with soft food of some kind.

To cure this costly habit cut off the points of the mandibles of the beak, using a very sharp knife. Cut back a little at a time until enough is cut off to leave the tender flesh slightly exposed. As soon as a tiny drop of blood exudes from the cut enough has been removed. Then boil some eggs very hard, selecting those with the thickest shells, and put them on the floor of the poultry house, where the hens can easily get them. They try to break the shells by pecking at them and this hurts the nerves in the shortened beak so they will give it up after a few trials, and thereafter not try to break an egg. In a short time the beak will grow into its normal shape and the hens will have forgotten the vice.

Supplying First Feeds to the Young Goslings

Goslings should not be fed until they are more than 30 hours old when they should be given stale bread soaked in milk or water, to which finely chopped boiled eggs may be added. This should be fed three or four times daily for the first two or three weeks, with chopped grass or some other green feed added. Plenty of fresh, clean water should be supplied, and 5 per cent fine grit or sharp sand may be added to the feed or kept in a hopper before the goslings. After two or three weeks they will need a light feed daily of a mash made up of two parts shorts and one part of cornmeal. When the grass range is good other feed need not be given until fattening time. While the goslings are young great care should be practiced to prevent them from getting wet. They should be left in the coop until after the dew dries in the morning and should not be allowed to get caught in a rain. It is better to keep them separated from the old stock after they are about two weeks old.

Hen Lots Adjoining

Where it is necessary to have lots adjacent to one another it is advisable to use the finished wire for the bottom two feet in order to keep the roosters from fighting. For the remainder of the fence the regular two-inch mesh is satisfactory. The heavy breeds may be kept in a lot with a four-foot fence, but the light breeds often require a fence seven feet high. One wing of the birds can be clipped to keep the birds from flying over the fence.

Dress Really Matters of High Importance

We may say, offhand-like, that we "don't care a thing about style." But is that true? Test the next man who says so by suggesting that he get out the old wedding suit of 30 years ago, burnish it up a bit, and wear it for a month. He won't. Or test the next woman by suggesting that she go into the attic and get the old hat of 20 years ago—that hat which was set atop the hair and was the antithesis of the smart fashion of today. Will she do it? No; she cares, according to the Milwaukee Journal.

And we all should care. For dress expresses our taste, our moral philosophy of life, our inner selves, more than we realize. It is about all that others see of us as we go among them. To be neatly dressed, within a measure of correctness, shows our desire to be held in proper esteem by those around us. It shows, also, a desire not to offend their sensibilities by doing the outlandish thing. Styles have wandered a good deal. There has, perhaps, been too much of the peacock about them. But on the whole there has been progress—better art, a more pleasing blend of colors, a keener sense of the appropriate—and we have saved the best thoughts from year to year.

"Blue Hole" in Ohio Has Odd Properties

Castalia springs, or "the Blue Hole," is at the westerly edge of the village of Castalia, about nine miles southwest of Sandusky, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reports. A good-sized subterranean stream suddenly hobs up to the surface, through deep orifices in the limestone rock which underlies the region. As cold creek it flows swiftly across three miles of Erie county and into Sandusky bay. The phenomenon is said not to be an unusual one in limestone countries. The "Blue Hole," the spring itself, is a beautiful, crystal-clear, very nearly circular pool, some thirty feet across and quite deep. Constituents of the water are lime, soda, magnesia and iron, and though the pool is extremely cold it never freezes. The stream is not much affected by floods and droughts, and the first grist mill in northwestern Ohio was operated by the creek, close to the spring, in 1810.

United States Tombstone

On one of the United States Indian reservations an old Indian lost his wife, whom he had dearly loved. In grief he went to the Indian agent and asked him to send for a "United States tombstone." The agent procured a stone that he thought would please the old man and took it to him for approval. But it did not suit at all. The agent tried again, but with no better success. Finally the Indian went himself for the stone.

A few weeks later the agent noticed from a distance a peculiar looking object in the Indian burying ground. He went closer and discovered firmly planted at the grave of the Indian's wife a barber's pole! The old Indian had procured his "United States tombstone."

The old man has been gone long years, and barbers' poles are nearly all gone too; but that one represented a love as true as many that are commemorated by marble monuments.—Youth's Companion.

The Greatest Resource

If I were to name three most precious resources of life, I should say books, friends and nature; and the greatest of these, at least the most constant and always at hand, is nature. Nature we have always with us, an inexhaustible storehouse of that which moves the heart, appeals to the mind, and fires the imagination—health to the body, a stimulus to the intellect and joy to the soul. To the scientist nature is a storehouse of facts, laws, processes; to the painter she is a storehouse of pictures; to the poet she is a store of images, fancies, a source of inspiration; to the moralist she is a storehouse of precepts and parables; to all she may be a source of knowledge and joy.—John Burroughs.

First Gas Engine

The first practical gas engine was invented in 1860 by a Frenchman named Lenoir. In general outward appearance the machine resembled a single cylinder, horizontal steam engine and was double acting. Gas was drawn into the cylinder during the first half of the forward stroke and exploded by an electric spark just as the piston was beginning the second half of the stroke. The burned gases were forced out during the return stroke when an explosion was taking place on the other side of the piston. Since the gas was ignited without being compressed, the engine was very wasteful.—Los Angeles Times.

Sloth a Tree Creature

The sloth is a purely arboreal animal, with elongated forelimbs terminating in hook-like digits, never more than three in number, by means of which the sluggish creature clings to branches. The hind limbs terminate in similar hooks. The tail is rudimentary, head short and rounded, ears small, hair long and coarse. The color in natural habitat is greenish. Sloths appear rarely to quit trees. Their movements are slow and deliberate, and there is no power of leaping. The stomach is complex in keeping with the diet of vegetable matter. Only one young is produced at birth.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

TEMPERY TINY

Tiny was very small. She was shorter and smaller than most little girls of her age. But she had a very big temper.

Oh, how angry she could get at times. And how suddenly angry she could become.

She used to pound her little fists and cry when she was a baby, and when she became older she would raise her voice and jump up and down with rage.

When she was like this her friends called her Tempery Tiny.

Perhaps you will be surprised that a little girl with such a temper had a lot of friends. But somehow her friends seemed to know that she was trying her best not to let her temper get the better of her, and she only got angry once in a while.

Of course when she did get angry she got furiously angry but her fits of temper were growing fewer now and several times of late when she was about to get angry she had stopped herself, which was greatly to her credit.

She hadn't been angry for a long time and she was feeling quite proud of herself. She was never sulky. She was never surly.

And all of her friends said they would rather have her as she was than have her cross and surly and hard to get along with most of the time.

She was the most loyal friend, she was unselfish, she was always so very sad, too, after she had been angry.

She used to hate herself after these times.

And the punishment her mother gave her always made her feel so terribly ashamed and miserable. No punishment in the world was worse than this one. It was the punishment she always got when she had been angry or rude.

For when she was angry she was very apt to be rude. She would have to sit quietly in a chair without saying a word for twenty minutes. And no matter who came in the room she had to sit there, and no matter what time of the day.

Sometimes visitors came to call while she sat there and her mother explained she was being punished and so they would excuse her for not speaking.

Oh, how deeply that used to hurt her. It was certainly the hardest punishment of all.

And whatever chair she sat in during this time of silence was always called the punish chair. How she did hate those words.

Brenda had come to supper. Brenda was one of her very dearest friends.

They had salad and thin bread and butter and cocoa for supper, and they were having it on blue china on the little blue table in Tiny's room.

They were laughing and talking when Brenda said:

"I met a new child today. She was ever so nice. Her mother is a friend of my mother's."

"You'll never like her as much as you do me, will you Brenda?" Tiny asked.

"I don't know; how do I know that?" Brenda answered.

"You don't know!" Tiny shrieked. Her whole heart and mind and body seemed angry.

"You don't know whether you love me enough so as to be sure you couldn't love any one else as well! All right, play with your new friend."

Suddenly, before Brenda answered, Tiny had tossed the salad from her plate right over Brenda's head. Brenda got up and left the room, down the stairs, out of the house.

Tiny went chasing after her.

"Oh, Brenda, please don't go, please don't go. I didn't mean it. Only say you love me."

Slowly Brenda came back. "I was only teasing," she said. "It was horrid of you to throw the salad."

They set everything to rights, they wiped the salad off Brenda's hair. No one ever knew what happened between the two. But it was more of a lesson than any punish chair to Tiny: Whenever she felt angry afterward she remembered how Brenda had looked with the salad over her head. That always made her stop her temper in time.

Men-Agerie

On her first visit to a bank with her mother small Marjorie gazed in wonder at the cashiers behind their barred windows. "And what do they feed 'em, mamma?" she inquired innocently.

South African Tells of Odd Sea Monster

One morning I saw what I took to be two whales fighting with some sea monster about 1,800 yards from the shore. I got my glasses and was surprised to see an animal which resembled a polar bear, but in size was equal to an elephant. This object I observed to back out of the water fully 20 feet and strike repeatedly at the two whales, but with seemingly no effect.

So writes H. O. Ballance of Natal, Africa, in a Natal newspaper. Continuing, he says: "After an hour the whales made off and the incoming tide brought the monster within sight, and I saw that the body was covered with half eight inches long, exactly like a polar bear, and snow white." Next morning Mr. Ballance found the carcass lying high on the beach. He measured it and found it was 47 feet from tip to tail. The tail was ten feet long and two feet wide, and where the head should have been the creature had a sort of trunk 14 inches in diameter and about five feet long, the end being like the snout of a pig. The backbone was very prominent and the whole body covered with snow-white hair.

"For ten days," said Mr. Ballance, "this mass lay inert. On the eleventh day there was not a sign of the creature. I met some natives, who told me that while fishing they had seen the monster out at sea, going up the coast, and that is the last we have seen of it."

Matter Was Obviously Question for the Deer

Representative O'Connor was discussing in New York his plan for an investigation of telephone and telegraph companies.

"These companies need investigating, if only for their own good," he said. "They have such a bad habit, when questioned, of giving haughty and evasive answers."

"They're like Colonel Carter of Cartersville. The colonel sat in the lounge of a New York hotel one evening with a New York banker.

"Yes," he was saying, "it's a powerful fertile country down round Cartersville. Why, sah, I know woods down there where the trees grow so close that you can't shove your hand between the trunks. And game, why, sah, I've seen deer in them woods with a ten-foot spread of antlers. Yes, sah, a ten-foot spread."

"But, colonel," said the banker, "how can the deer get those antlers between those trunks?"

"Colonel Carter drew himself up. "That, sah," he said, "is their business."

"Laughter a Low Thing"

According to one authority, Moltke, the famous German general, only laughed twice after attaining years of discretion. The first occasion was when he heard the news of his mother-in-law's death; the second, when some one told him that a military construction just outside Stockholm was considered by the Swedes to be a strong fortress. Moltke would have endorsed Lord Chesterfield's indictment of laughter as "a low and unbecoming thing, not to mention the disagreeable noise that it makes, and the shocking contortion of the face that it occasions. I am sure that since I have had the full use of my reason, nobody has ever heard me laugh." Charles Sumner, the American statesman, could make a similar boast; while, according to John Martineau, who was for some time a pupil at Eversley, Charles Kingsley never laughed.—Family Herald.

The First Circus

The traveling circus originated in London and was kept by a man named Philip Astley, who lived at the end of the Eighteenth century.

From the very beginning, the circus was held in a tent, the center of which formed the arena where the performance took place. The seats for the spectators were arranged in tiers ascending from the central space.

The same exhibitions which characterized our own circus were found in the first one.—There were feats of horsemanship, such as leaping through hoops from the back of a galloping horse, standing with one foot on each of two horses, as they gallop side by side.

Actor Badly Rattled

A young man had to take part in some amateur theatricals. His part was quite a minor one and there was really not a great deal for him to do or say.

After the shooting scene the young man had to enter the wings and say: "Hark! 'Tis the pistol!"

Now, during rehearsals a real pistol was never used, and the youth, on receiving his cue, walked in and performed his part quite efficiently.

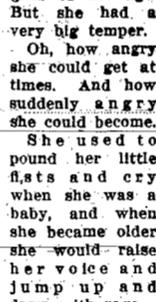

On the opening night, however, a real pistol was substituted for the cue, and this apparently took the young man by surprise, for as the pistol went off he rushed on and gasped: "Ye gods! What on earth was that?"

Fur of the Otter

The skin of sea otters is very loose upon the body, says Nature Magazine. The fur is generally of a deep liver-brown color, frosted with a scanty growth of long, silver-tipped summer hairs and underlain by a preponderance of beautiful soft woolly fur which gives the pelt its value. The animals feed on mussels, sea urchins, crabs and perhaps the tender shoots of kelp.
