

The Nebraska Democrat

ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1925.

$1.50 PER YEAR

COLLEGE OPENING SEPTEMBER 14TH

The Coming College Year Is One of Bright Prospects. Ten Percent Increase in Enrollment.

Registration for the coming school year of the Wayne Normal and State Teachers College will be in full swing Saturday and Monday next, with every indication of a substantial increase in attendance for the school year. The numerous changes in the faculty for the coming year promise to measure up in every respect to the coming requirements.

President U. S. Conn evidently knows as much of the school, its faculty, its excellent equipment and the qualifications of the new members of the faculty and teaching force, and he will tell you that:

Ray D. Nelson, of the University of Iowa, becomes head of the English department to replace Dr. J. T. House, who has accepted a position at Green River college, Montgomery, West Virginia.

Miss Nellie F. Behm has been elected librarian to fill the vacancy occasioned by a leave of absence granted Miss Jessie Jenks, who will attend the University of Illinois. Miss Behm is a graduate of Des Moines university and the St. Louis Library school.

Miss Mary M. Hallock, of Lawrence, Kansas, will become dean of women and assistant in expression to fill the place of Miss Elsie Ford Piper, who has accepted a position as assistant dean of women at the University of Nebraska. Miss Hallock has been dean of women at Texas Presbyterian college, at Milford, Texas.

C. E. Wilson, a graduate of the University of Indiana and instructor at Wake Forest college, Wake Forest, North Carolina, becomes head of the biology department. There also will be new instructors in the Latin department and in the training school department.

Miss Clara F. Smothers, registrar, predicted the registration for the present year would be about 10 per cent above that for 1924-1925, when 700 students registered for the regular year.

The Budget

The Wayne budget for the biennium 1925-1927 is $355,000, which represents an increase over the last biennium of $50,000, when the appropriation by the state legislature was $305,000.

New Building Progressing

Construction is under way at present on the new education building which will accommodate the training school and department of education. An appropriation was made by the last legislature for construction of normal school buildings of $300,000. Wayne, Kearney and Chadron will share equally in the amount.

E. J. Hunter, who is in charge of the construction of the new building tells us that work is going forward rapidly. They are laying the walls, of the second story and are nearly up to the window openings. When the brick work reaches this point the concrete for the second floor will be run and the stone for the window sills, now due, will be set, and then brick laying resumed. The work is now far in advance of the schedule time promised.

WHORLOW-JENSEN

Miss Mary M. Whorlow and Mr. Leonard H. Jensen, of Kennard, Nebraska, were married at the bride's home five miles northwest of Wayne by the Rev. John Grant Shick at noon on September 9, 1925. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony. The ring ceremony was used. After congratulations a bounteous dinner was served by the bride's mother to the assembled guests. Mr. and Mrs. Jensen will live on a farm near Kennard, where the groom has been farming the past summer.

START A HOT LUNCH CLUB

The recipe for a good hot lunch club is just a little encouragement from the folks at home, a willing teacher, and a bunch of hungry youngsters who get the right idea before school starts. The parents can be entranced. After school starts the teacher will have her help and the healthy appetites of farm youngsters will not go begging on a few sandwiches and a pickle. County extension agents and the agricultural college at Lincoln can help organize hot lunch clubs.

TRACK LAYING FINISHED

Last week the steel gang of about fifty men who have been placing heavy new steel between Wayne and Winside, finished that work, and have moved to a siding at Laurel, near which place they are now engaged in surfacing the road.

The last of the week a small crew and a dummy engine were busy gathering up the discarded lighter rails and hauling them to some other point with the completion of this work, the Sioux City, Emerson, Norfolk line is all laid with 90-pound steel, except a few miles between Norfolk and Hoskins.

BRUECKNER-BASLER

At high noon, Wednesday, September 9, 1925, at the Evangelical church at Hoskins, occurred the marriage of Mr. August H. Basler of Wayne and Miss Irene Brueckner. Rev. H. Hoesch giving the vows by which they became husband and wife, about 200 friends and neighbors of the bride and groom witnessing the solemn service.

Miss Betty Harringfeld was the bridesmaid and Miss Lisetta Deck was maid of honor. The groomsmen were Mr. Henry Kieper and Mr. Arthur Segner. Mrs. Johnson of Wayne played the wedding march and sang an appropriate selection.

The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Basler; and the bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brueckner of Hoskins, and a reception was given at their home immediately following the ceremony at the church, at which about thirty guests were entertained at a sumptuous 3-course wedding dinner.

Pink and white decorations prevailed at church and home, bells being used at the church, the same color scheme being carried out at tables. The bride wore a gown of dunitan charmeuse, and carried a corsage of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore pale crepe and the maid of honor wore blue crepe. The groom wore a suit of blue.

The groom is an accountant, and employed by the state in connection with the State Bank Guarantee Fund Commission, and has had an office at Wayne for a year or more past, and is competent in his exacting task. They will be at home at Hoskins following a wedding trip to Sioux City and the Black Hills of South Dakota.

THE WAYNE GROCERY HAS SMALL FIRE

Tuesday morning early a fire alarm was turned in from the Wayne Grocery. At an early hour, Wm. Rocherbaumer, who clerks there, went to the store to telephone out of town, and met the store room full of smoke coming from the basement. An alarm was at once given, and quickly responded to and the fire was soon out, the smoke lingered in the basement all day. The fire is supposed to have started from the electric wires, judging from where it seems to have been the hottest, and carried to a pile of kindling boxes. The fact that the basement was so closed as to not admit much circulation of air kept the fire in only a smoldering stage, but had it burned a way thru to air it would soon have wrecked the place.

The building is owned by Frank Schulte, and the stock by the Grocery Company. The loss on both building and stock is fully covered by insurance, the no estimate of the loss could be made at this writing. But it is not that it will be much, unless water damaged the stock in the basement. Aug. Cisler, who owns and operates the meat department, tells us his loss was light, consisting in part of heating his refrigerator and some contents, but he quickly restored normal temperature.

MILLER-KORTH

Mr. Ernest C. Korth and Miss Mabel M. Miller were married at Council Bluffs, Monday September 7, 1925. Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller of Wayne, and Mr. Korth is a resident of Platt Center, and engaged in blacksmithing, at that place. Miss Miller has been employed at Whalen Bakery for a couple of years.

The young couple after taking a short wedding trip will make their home at Platt Center.

Cattle receipts on the Omaha market in August totaled 140,207 head, an increase of 8,265 over the August, 1924, receipts. Hog receipts were 33,757 head less last month than in August, 1924.

FIFTH ANNUAL GOLF TOURNEY

Monday was Opening Day for 5th Invitation Golf Tourney by Wayne Country Club.

With seventy-five entries, and among them some of the best golf shooters in this part of the state, the greens have been kept busy early and late until now the finals are being played in the different flights and the winners will try titles for the very top place.

In the qualifying rounds honors were won by H. M. Krupinsky of Fremont with J. J. Ahern runnerup. The score was 73.

Sunday the course record of 35 for nine holes was twice tied—once by Morgan and once by Lewis.

Monday evening the annual banquet was served at the Club house, by the proprietor of the Chanticleer cafe, and more than sixty plates were laid, and the evening was most happily spent, the program being one of much mirth.

Towns represented in the tournament are Sioux City, Omaha, Wakefield, Wayne, Fremont, Randolph, Norfolk, Stanton, Madison, Pender, Hartington and Laurel.

Eight leading golfers of northeast Nebraska, who have survived the process of elimination in the annual tournament here this week, began playing the third round Wednesday morning. The survivors are, Billy Reckert, H. M. Krupinsky, H. Russell, H. Schultz, C. H. Fisher, Dr. Lewis, Gene Huse and D. T. McKinnon.

The leading battle of interest is between Reckert, district champion, and Krupinsky, Fremont youth, who is making a brilliant showing this season. Russell battles with Lewis; Fisher and Schultz are matched and Huse and McKinnon are in a golf mix. These play are in the championship flight.

Fremont Youth Wins Easily
Krupinsky has had comparatively easy sailing in the tournament. In the first round he defeated J. Ahern 6 and 5, and after a brilliant exhibition in the second round won his match against Craven, the score being 2 and 1.

Reckert passed the first round on a default, and defeated F. May 3 and 1 in the second session.

Russell has defeated Don Brainard and Tozzer, the latter staging an excellent fight but lost to Russell 1 up in the second round. To remain in the battle, Lewis won from J. W. Eby, 2 and 1, and from J. M. Strahan 6 and 5.

Huse was in top form, scoring several putts from off the green. His opponents were U. S. Conn and Dale, the match with the latter being won 1 up. D. T. McKinnon won from Paul Mines, 4 and 3, and from A. W. Brewer, 1 up.

First Round Pairings
Pairings in the championship flight follow:

CITY SCHOOLS HAPPILY STARTED

Supt. T. S. Hook has Things Moving From Very Start. Mrs. Pollard and Teachers all in Harmony

Not much may be said of what the school year will prove to be during the first few days, and so it is this year. The plans are well laid, and superintendent, principal and instructors all appear to be working in harmony, and thus the pupils will naturally fall into line and work with the true spirit—for that is for their best interest—they are the ones for whom it is all done—and unless they do their part they are the losers.

With a new superintendent in charge the work starts off with but few changes from the old order—just some minor details thus far. The school board at their Monday meeting found things starting in fine shape, and are inclined to co-operate in every possible way with the teaching force.

The opening enrollment was a little above the 400 mark, and is divided nearly 50-50 between the high school and the grades. Compared with the last year opening days the high school shows a gain of enrollment, and the grades a bit of decline.

In connection with the year school work, athletics will have a place, and coach Peterson was at Norfolk Wednesday attending the district meeting of representatives of this work over the district. Beyond a doubt Wayne will measure up in this department as well as in debate and oratorical events.

It has been decided to speed school up three days next week that a part of the day may be devoted to the attendance at the fair. Will open an hour early Wednesday, Thursday, Friday.

WILL CLOSE FOR FAIR TWO AFTERNOONS

Wayne merchants in the spirit of co-operation, will close their stores two afternoons, 1 to 5 (Thursday and Friday) that they may see the great show, and that their employees too may be at liberty to attend. This is right, and those who come to the fair and wish to do shopping while at this place, should remember to make that their first business, unless they wish to wait until five o'clock for their chance.

ONE OF THE VALUABLE FAIR EXHIBITS

Next week at the Wayne county fair there will be a fine exhibit of the artistic productions of the Wayne Monument Works, showing the high polish they can put upon the hardest and roughest of granites. Also visitors may note the clean-cut lettering produced by their sandblast method of cutting designs and inscriptions. Of course they cannot show the people how this work is done at the fair grounds, for it takes powerful and heavy machinery; but you may see what it is like, and they will be pleased to show you the way it is done, when ever you can find it convenient to visit their factory at Wayne; and by the way, it is well worth the time to see the improved methods now in use in cutting stone. Not many years ago the stone cutter used a hammer and chisels only, and that is what most people think of when they say stone-cutter. But the hammer has given place to air to do the hammering, and in these very last few months the newer, better and faster method of cutting by sand blown with great force carves any desired characters on the hardest of granites. Sioux City and other large dealers and manufacturers send particular jobs to Wayne for a finish.

championship flight follow:

Krupinsky beat Craven, 2 and 1.
Reckert beat F. May, 3 and 1.
Russell beat Tozzer, 1 up.
Lewis beat Eby, 2 and 1.
Fisher beat Wright, 1 up, 20 holes.
Schultz beat Chase, 2 and 1.
Huse beat Dale, 1 up.
McKinnon beat Bryer, 1 up.
E. Robertson of this place won in finals in Presidents flight, defeating Raymond Russell.

In the consolation flight McEwing won from Canning.

C. H. Hendrickson won the secretary's flight, defeating J. H. Kemp in the finals. Ed Reynolds was among the last to lose out in this flight. Father Kearns and Dr. C. T. Ingham are to play finals in the surprise flight.

THE GRAVE—RALPH HORSTMAN

Ralph Horstman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Horstman, was born near Wayne, Nebraska, August 20, 1921, and died September 6, 1925 after a brief illness. Funeral services were conducted at the family home east of Wayne the afternoon of September 8 by the Rev. John Grant Shick. A large attendance of neighbors was present. Mr. Charles Horstman and Miss Clara Horstman, of Berger, Missouri, grandfather and aunt of the deceased, and Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Holt, of Winside, grandparents, and several other relatives were present at the services. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery.

DOW DYSART, WAYNE COUNTY PIONEER, DIES

Lorenzo Dow Dysart, who left Winside about a month ago to visit his daughter, Mrs. Russell Williams, in Huron, South Dakota, died suddenly Thursday night, September 3, 1925, from an attack of apoplexy. He was born in Indiana an January 27, 1849.

When a young man he went to Kansas and engaged in railroading. About thirty-five years ago he moved to Wayne county where he has since resided living on a farm until twenty years ago when he moved to town, being compelled to give up an active life because of age and ill health. He was married at Wayne in 1891 to Miss Emma Gray, who survives him. Two children were born to this union, one child dying in infancy and Mrs. Williams of Huron.

Mr. Dysart was identified with the pioneer work in this county and has seen wonderful progress since he first came to the state. He was a member of the Royal Highlander lodge and the Methodist church. The body was brought to Winside Friday. Funeral services were conducted in the Methodist church on Monday afternoon by the Rev. L. R. Kieckler and the Rev. J. E. Wylie, and the body was brought to Wayne for burial.

BRIEF SKETCH OF LIFE OF CONRAD FREVERT

Born in Germany, November 6, 1834, when death claimed Conrad Frevert September 2, 1925 he was nearly 91 years of age. He passed away at the home he moved to when coming to Wayne county forty years ago, the place now occupied by Carl, his youngest son. This place had been his home nearly half of his life. In 1860 he was united in marriage in Germany to Christina Bierbaum, and the family came to America in 1884, and to the farm where he passed away in 1885, and here the wife died in 1893.

He is survived by a daughter and four sons, Mrs. Ed Hagerman, Herman, Henry, Fred and Carl Frevert, all living in vicinity of Wayne except Fred, who has resided at Wausa for the past ten or more years.

He was, from the establishment of the Lutheran Evangelical church south east of Wayne, one of its devoted members, and the pastor, Rev. Fischer, was one of those taking part at the funeral service at the Lutheran church at Wayne, where the service was held Saturday afternoon. Rev. Teckhaus, its pastor, spoke in the English language at the service, which was largely attended by friends of the early days, and others who had long known and respected him for his many sterling qualities. His grandsons acted as pallbearers and gently laid the tired body to rest in the cemetery at Wayne.

The choir of the Wayne church sang most appropriately at the sad service.

Himself and family have been factors in the development of this community, and their worth as citizens is fully appreciated.

Those from out of town for the funeral were as follows: C. J. Fuhrman, Ed Fuhrman, and Ed Behmer of Norfolk; W. F. Behmer and E. O. Behmer of Hoskins; Fred Jensen and family of Dallas, South Dakota; Carl Hagemann and family of Correctionville, Iowa; Fred Frevert, Carl Frevert, Wm. Wricke and Mrs. Wricke of Wausa; Boremann and family of Oakdale; Mr. and Mrs. Henske, and Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Wakefield and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brummond of Pender.

CRADLE

AHLVERS—Wednesday, October 9, 1925, to Ben Ahlvers and wife, a daughter.

AHERN—Saturday, September 5, 1925, to John F. Ahern and wife a daughter.

WAYNE COUNTY FAIR BIGGER AND BETTER

Track, New Buildings, Floors in Pans, Racing and Free Attractions, Baseball and Quizzes.

It has been a busy time for the management of the county fair organization and they feel that exhibits and the attendance at the fair next week will indicate something of the appreciation of the public of the efforts put forward to build a real fair for this county. In spite of the handicap of a month of very hot weather the track is reported in good shape for the few races to be held this year, and for the chariot races which are to be daily features of the meet.

The superintendents tell us that the exhibits will be many and excellent in all departments. In the live stock, horses, cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry will each have good showings. The new horse barn is near completion. The new educational building in which each school district has an interest because they helped build it, is to be dedicated. It will give a splendid exhibit from the schools of the county ample display room and good light. The schools of the county will also put on a pageant the last day of the fair.

The new grandstand will afford a comfortable place for viewing the racing and other attractions, including the parade of winning live stock. The fine arts exhibit will be well housed. The pens for swine and sheep have been floored with concrete and many other improvements show for the year work.

On another page you may find the complete program with list of purses and prizes. The baseball and horse-shoe throwing. Everything is getting in shape for the best of showing.

MRS. HENRY THEILFOLDT DIES AT WINSIDE

Tuesday, September 8, 1925, death claimed Mrs. Marguarite Theilfoldt who had been critically ill for some time. She was born March 5, 1872, and had been a resident of Wayne county since 1892. The funeral will be held at Winside this afternoon, Rev. Teckhaus officiating.

A husband and two sons and two daughters survive her, besides her father, and three brothers and three sisters, and thirteen grandchildren.

Her son Fred Theilfoldt and wife from Iroquois, South Dakota, came last week to be with her during her last hours.

SIoux CITY BOOSTERS HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Wayne citizens and many from the surrounding country were royally entertained Saturday afternoon when a train load of Sioux City boosters for trade and the fair came to Wayne with two excellent bands, and bushels of souvenirs and fruit for the little folks. They marched the street and entertained with music treated the crowd and gave a nice talk, then beat a retreat in good order. It was a very pleasant diversion, and some 200 business houses were personally represented.

PASSED WORTHLESS CHECK

Herman Kuhnemann, who has been employed here for some time on farms in this vicinity, is charged with buying a car of cattle at Sioux City and paying for them with a worthless check, having them shipped to Wayne. It is also reported that he left wife and two children here without support. Either charge is bad enough to put the man in the pen, and for the two, perhaps he should get twice. The commission house from whom he purchased the cattle took them and resold the bunch.

HOSKINSON-BANNISTER

Thursday, September 3, 1925, at Hartington. Mr. Richard Bannister, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bannister of this place and Miss Fanchen Hoskinson, also of this place, were united in marriage. The young folks kept their marriage secret several days but the boys learned of it and serenaded them royally Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bannister plan to continue to live at Wayne.

Bloomfield is to have a new school building, workmen now laying brick on the wall above the second story. The new building will soon be enclosed, and then, no matter what the weather the work can go forward to completion.

WANTED—A nice place to work for room and board, by a girl who wants to attend the State Normal School. Not far from school preferred. Mrs. Milo Miers, Box 23, Jackson, Nebraska.—S3-2t pd.

Joseph Bennett of Elgin, an ex-service man died at Norfolk the first of last week. He was a newspaper man, and had been employed at different times by different offices, the Madison Star-Mail and the Norfolk News being the places where he was recently employed.

At Ponca they are adding a new vocational course in the school, which includes agriculture and manual training; and this has necessitated securing additional room, as they had no proper place for their shop where the noise of the shop would not disturb the quiet of the rest of school.

Bloomfield schools started Monday. Miss Faith Phileo of this place is one of the teachers; and is to teach Latin. Miss Florence Hoy of West Point, for a number of years instructor in the primary at Bloomfield, was visiting here Saturday, with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White, while stopping here for train to her destination.

Mrs. N. P. Johnson of Wausau fell twice down stairs, the other night and broke two arms and a leg. The leg, however was a table leg which she bumped with her head as she reached the bottom. Her first fall ended on a stair landing midway down, and in her confused condition she lost her balance in trying to rise from there, and fell to the bottom.

Miss Beulah James came home last week from Colorado where she had been spending several weeks of her vacation, at Longmont, with Miss Genevieve Dorsett, and at Ft. Collins with Mrs. Hall, and camping in the mountains. Both Miss Dorsett and her mother wished to be remembered to Wayne friends. Miss James left Saturday for Council Bluffs, Iowa where she is to teach. Sunday afternoon her sister, Miss Amber James, went to Council Bluffs to visit with her during part of the week.

In striking contrast to the almost worshipful admiration which was paid soldier during and for a short time after the World War, is the somewhat shabby treatment now received from the public by the boys of the National Guard. According to reports, the guardsmen in camp at Ashland were shown scant courtesy by the people of the town and, not only were they accorded no favors, but were "held up" and discriminated against in many ways. And as far as the newspapers were concerned, one would scarcely know from reading them that a state encampment was being held at all. We do not intend to draw a comparison between a war-time army and peace time forces—we realize that there is a vast difference; but, at the same time, these boys are doing their bit and are entitled to a certain amount of consideration. And as far as service is concerned, the national guardsmen are incurring quite as much risk as some of the boys who held down "shell proof" jobs during the war.—Harrington Herald.

Fortner wants poultry and eggs.

Miss Liela Mitchell, who will teach at Lyons, departed Friday morning to begin her school work Monday.

Miss Martha Crockett departed Saturday morning for Beresford, South Dakota, where she will teach for the second year.

Mrs. Ann Gildersleeve and two children Twila and Lloyd, who were visiting at Newport, returned home Friday morning.

J. Shumway, who spent a few days visiting with Wayne friends returned to his work at Mapleton, Iowa, Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meier departed Friday morning for Menfro, Missouri, where they expect to spend a couple of weeks visiting with his folks.

I will sell the three remaining Irish Setter pups cheap if taken at once, all of good breeding. Enquire of R. F. Jacobs at Democrat office.—adv. tf.

No one in this part of Nebraska is going to be allowed to forget the fair, which comes next week—September 16-19—and after it is over those who see it will long remember.

Mrs. Tobias and daughters left for their Sioux City home Sunday, following a visit at the home of her father, Gus Will and with other relatives and friends. School now calls people with little folks home most of the time.

One who attended the state fair the opening day writes that it is a wonderful exhibit—the entire day was spent seeing the attractions, and then the day was not long enough to get to all. It is a big show at Lincoln this year.

Andy Thompson and his mother and sisters Misses Anna and Nina are spending a couple weeks vacation in the Black Hills. They will be joined there by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Larson who have been autoing through parts of Wyoming.

In searching for the cause of the rain Monday, due credit should be given to the telephone picnickers who met at Norfolk on labor day in their annual picnic. From Wayne, O. L. Randall, local manager and wife and their two daughters, Margaret and Jane were present, and they were accompanied by Misses Ione Jorgenson and Anna Jacoba, two of the local operators. It was not as dusty coming home as on the trip over.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Swanson are home from a week auto driving, camping and visiting. Mr. Swanson that it was not the best of crop condition at home before he left, but when he returned he was willing to admit that it looked as good here as any place he had been, and they were in the three states of Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota beside the home state of Nebraska. At Big Stone lake they joined forces with Wilbur Spahr and wife, who has been stopping there. Mrs. Swanson said that the camp life suited her, especially when they camped where fishing was good. Mr. and Mrs. Spahr returned home when they came.

W. J. Tompleton and wife, former residents of this county, came from their home at Wessington Springs, South Dakota, to attend the funeral of their former neighbor L. D. Dysart whose body was brought here for burial. They were guests of their former neighbors, G. G. Haller and wife during part of their stay in the county. They went to Winside Tuesday morning before leaving for their home at Wessington Springs. Although they had been away from Wayne many years they recognized many of their former friends during their short stay. Mr. Tompleton remarked of the great improvement in Wayne since they had lived here.

If the coal strike is successful in continuing—a lot of eastern people who are fixed to burn only hard coal will be "keeping cool with Coolidge."

Truth is coming out about Bryan, now that he is dead—truths that were withheld in the heat of political campaigns when they would have been valuable to him. Not only was truth withheld then, but untruths were broadcasted to deceive the people.

The department of agriculture is authority for the statement that 70 per cent of the value of the onion crop is taken for distribution. The producer gets 30 per cent and the other fellows who get in between the producer and consumer grab the other 70 per cent—and we had that all the time that the onion was strong enough to do its own delivery.

that, and he now wishes that there might be a way made so that he could find out which branch of his business made Secretary of the Treasury the most money and the most tax—whisky or aluminum. Some people are hard to please.

The Iowa senatorial recount has placed the committee, literally "between the Devil and the Deep Sea," for on the face of the returns Brookhart has a lead of 184 votes. However, the Steak forces have asked that certain votes be thrown out which would leave the democrat in the lead. To do this would make Brookhart the candidate against Cummings, who is hoping to fool the people once more, and we do not think he could do so if the aggressive Brookhart should be in the field asking for the nomination.

The American Economist (which should be named the Protectionist), is having a busy time in its recent issues—telling why it is that wages were cut in the highly protected cotton industries. It was because of the weak spots in the tariff of 1922. We infer that somewhere along the line a loop hole was left. Another reason may be that the people would not pay the added cost, and therefore the fellows who have been and still are milking the public had to cut the wage to get the means to pay big dividends on their watered stock.

The move to pool the railroad earnings and permit an increase in freight rates is to be seriously opposed by most of the "Jones" who pay the freight. The question which arises in the minds of many who oppose the advance, is "why should the railroads be permitted to capitalize the unearned increment of the roads, with water and stock dividends, and then be guaranteed a sure percent on the padded and puffed up assets?" And then some one wonders why the one who makes the guarantee should not have a bit to say as to the book-keeping.

Just as an evidence of increasing prosperity, we might add that there seem to be fewer bankruptcy cases now than last year at this time, and it may not be because there are fewer people who have not used the bankruptcy law; but rather because we are further away from the drastic deflation of five years ago, and have learned better than to speculate so recklessly on borrowed capital. When financiers go to blowing bubbles, it is a good time to lay low in a financial way, lest you have the bubbles break when they are in your hands leaving you liable for the prosperity they were supposed to carry to one and all.

Colonel Wm. Mitchell of army and navy and the air service seems to have dared to say what he thought about the various government departments and officials. Now he is expected to have to answer in court martial for his words. Well, that may be all right—in that case the people may learn what is going on in our army and navy and air service. It is, we think, wrong for all who are in the service of the public to have his lips buttoned up so far as expressing an opinion about what he knows to be facts. If those who know are not allowed to speak, how will the people know? how will progress be forced upon the different departments of government? There may be need of a martyr to let light into the dark places—but how can man lose his job for better cause than giving voice to his convictions.

CRASH OF THE DIRIGIBLE TOLD
Last Thursday, just as the Democrat was about to go to press, news of the crash of the great air ship Shenandoah came, and a friend called the Democrat and told of the disaster, and thus we were enabled to give the mere facts of the disaster, which was caused by a severe storm over the hills in the vicinity of Ava, Ohio. Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. W. G. Andrews came to the office bringing a piece of the aluminum metal from which the frame of the great ship was made. This scrap of metal about 1 1/2 by 3 inches seemed to have great strength, yet it was torn and twisted by the storm. The wreck took place but 20 miles from Mrs. Andrews' old Ohio home, where she went for a visit but a few weeks ago, after an absence of 37 years.

With the metal which was sent to her by her daughter living not far from where the wreck occurred was a card on which was written some figures giving people some idea of the size of the great Shenandoah, which we give:

Acquired in 1923.
Length 680 feet.
Weight 37 tons or 74,000 pounds.
20 gas bags with capacity equal to cubic contents of a freight train of 700 cars.
Carried 78 gasoline tanks of 113 gallons capacity each.

The frame was daralumin, from aluminum, an alloy so light that 16-foot girder could be balanced on the little finger. 81 tanks for 1,000 cubic feet of helium, a gas very light and non inflammable and non poisonous. The tanks were lined with gold-beaters skin tissue from the intestines of oxen, requiring the membrane from about 2 million animals. One compartment carried a ton of water.

The Times-Recorder of Zanesville, Ohio, which Mrs. Andrews loaned us tell graphically of the storm which wrecked the great ship, and of the struggle to control it. In a 45 mile gale the ship was not to be controlled and it was tossed about almost at will of the winds. It was as low as 2,100 feet above the earth, and then tossed up to a level 5,000 higher, pitching and tossing so that the men could not keep their feet or do any thing to help in the control of the ship, which soon broke in two great pieces, and the parts blown in different directions. Fourteen of the crew were killed in the great disaster. Others who escaped had harrowing experiences and told them as something they didn't care to repeat.

Who lost a Key? One found on street waits an owner at this office.

Mrs. Leo Brittain of Wakefield was a Wayne visitor between trains Wednesday.

Mrs. J. G. Neely was over from Winside Tuesday afternoon visiting Wayne friends.

C. Wells from Sioux City came Wednesday evening to visit at the home of L. A. Fanske and wife, his daughter.

Bloomfield has a boy band, and they are called upon by neighboring towns to make music. Wynot had them Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gamble departed this morning for Winnebago where they will visit for a short time with their son.

Miss Mildred Thompson came from Sturgis, South Dakota, this morning to attend the Normal. She will stay at the Hans Madsen home.

This is the golf journey week at Wayne. Many of our business men are doing their best to keep their share of the prizes at Wayne.

Mrs. Andy and Mrs. Erick Thompson and children, who were visiting with their sister, Mrs. Rockwell at Minneapolis, returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. J. Z. Christensen of Wayne and her sister Mrs. Bessie Wallace of St. Helena, left this morning for Bloomfield where they will visit their sister.

Geo. McEachen is filling his silos. Lucky farmer this year to have a silo, for they will double the feeding value of much of the corn crop as it is this season.

Miss Dorothy Sillik, who is taking nurses training at the hospital departed for Fremont this morning where she will spend a few days visiting with home folks.

A. R. Davis and J. G. Mines, went to Plattsmouth Friday, where they attended the dedication of the Infirmary of the Nebraska Masonic home, held at that place Saturday.

W. C. Weeces and wife came last evening from Princeton, Illinois, for a fortnight visit at the home of L. M. Rodgers and wife, their daughter, and with former neighbors and friends.

Wm. Benschhof of Winside is reported to be quite seriously ill and his son Perry from Van Tassel, Wyoming is there to assist in his care and be with his parents as the dark days appear near.

V. B. Love, who for the past two years has been active in conducting the work of the Love barber shop, has purchased the Gifford shop in the hotel building at Laurel, and took possession Tuesday. His chair in the Wayne shop will be taken by his brother, Joe Love, who is to come from Yankton next week.

The Legion carnival last week was a jolly affair, but until the bills are all in and settled the profits cannot be known. But the margin of profit will be small, is admitted. For the worthy cause, and the work the local legion members did there should have been a surplus that would have taken three figures to write, without mentioning the cents.

Hackmeyer & Carroll have decided to discontinue the implement business, and are making a cleaning up auction of the remainder of the stock, at their place of business on West First street Saturday afternoon and evening, a lot of useful, new implements to be had by the top bidder. They take space to bid you to come and get goods at your own price, afternoon and evening.

Geo. Denkeger and sons Fritz and Leonard and daughter Marie came home Wednesday noon from an outing by auto to St. Croix Falls, Wisconsin, where they visited friends for a week or ten days, and attended the wedding of a cousin of the young folks. Mr. Frank J. Merz who when a lad lived near Wayne, a son of Wm. Merz, being the groom. The bride was a Miss Edna Fassett of Cushing, Wisconsin. To Miss Marie came the honor of being the bride's maid. They motored more than 400 miles each way and had a fortnight of real vacation.

They say it is dryer at Bloomfield than here, and here is the story to prove it: "A fellow stepped from the train and, going up town, dropped in at a real estate office. Just as he entered, the manager, who was troubled with catarrh, was taking a nasal douche. The visitor took one look, then turned and beat it for the station. "When does the next train leave," he asked the station agent. "In an hour," was the reply, followed by the query, "What's your hurry?" "Well," came the answer, "I have been in countries where it was dry, all right, but this is the first place I ever struck where you had to prime your nose to sneeze!"

A New Cream and Produce Station

Opening Saturday, September 12

I will solicit your Cream, Eggs and Poultry business on these principles:

- FAIRNESS—Same honest treatment to everyone.
- COURTESY—You will be welcomed as a friend and not merely as a customer.
- QUICK SERVICE—Your check always ready in the shortest possible time.
- ACCURACY—Exact weights and the most careful test of quality.
- BEST PRICES—All the market will allow us to pay at all times.

Location—In the rear of the BASKET STORE. You'll find a well lighted road to our door.

If you have never had any business transactions with me, I welcome the opportunity to prove myself to you.

Bring us a can of cream on the opening day. A trial will convince.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lamberson were visitors at Norfolk Sunday.

Miss Mae Hiscob departed Tuesday afternoon to take up her duties teaching music in the Omaha schools.

Miss Birdie Cross spent Sunday visiting with friends at Wakefield, returning home Monday morning.

Mrs. E. E. Dooland, who spent two week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Granquist, her sister left Saturday for her home at Iroquois, South Dakota.

Jas. Brittain left Sunday afternoon for Denver, on a business mission, to be absent several days.

Paul Bowen, who will attend the University of Lincoln, departed for that place Wednesday morning.

Miss Bessie Hiscob departed Monday evening for Denver, Colorado, where she will teach. She specialized in Kindergarten work.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Otto departed Saturday morning for Pierce where they spent the week end visiting with his parents.

Mrs. E. B. Young went to Norfolk Wednesday morning to reopen her Bible classes after her summer vacation spent in the east.

Howard Hrabak and family have rented the Mrs. Phillips property in the west part of the city, and are settling down to be at home to Wayne people.

C. Lutter, who spent a week visiting with B. C. Jurhs, and Mrs. C. Shulthies, departed Tuesday afternoon for his home at Three Rivers, Michigan.

Mrs. A. H. Bringham departed Tuesday afternoon for Lancaster, California, where she will spend a month visiting with her daughter and other relatives.

Mrs. Emma Baker, who was visiting with relatives at Winner, Presho, and Vivian, South Dakota, returned home Tuesday afternoon. She was accompanied by Wm. Sharer, who will work for J. C. Nuss.

Miss Evelyn Trapp went to Emerson Monday afternoon and met her sister Mrs. O. C. Hoyer of Omaha, who came to Wayne to spend a short time visiting at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Trapp.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cartright and his sister, Mrs. Chauncy McIntyre from Wallbach came Friday for a week-end here at the home of their brother and family, L. F. Cartright. They went home first of the week.

Miss Verle Wilson, who spent the week end visiting with home folks returned to Pender Monday morning.

Mrs. Herbert Kuhnheim and children went to Emerson Monday morning where she spent a few days.

Miss Dorothy Spahr is one of teachers at Belden, and left the last of the week to help line up for the work.

Frank Martin is at St. Edwards, where he went last week to begin school work at that place. He will have the commercial work of the school the coming year.

Mrs. Grace Gatispie who spent a few days visiting with Mrs. S. Gallispe and with Mr. Box at the Union Hotel departed Monday morning for her home at St. Joe, Missouri.

Nine carloads of hogs, totaling 463 head, were marketed at the Omaha market by Bass Brothers, of Custer county, Tuesday, August 25. This is the largest single shipment this year.

Sales of building supply dealers and manufacturers throughout the state indicate an increase of approximately 25 per cent in building activities in Nebraska as compared to last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dukee, formerly of Wayne county, arrived in Nigeria, West Africa, and are opening a new work among the new tribe of people, with great success, so a recent letter tells us.

Miss Winifred Bruner of David City, who spent a week or ten days at Wayne left Monday for home, from where she goes to Seward to accept a position in one of the stores, in charge of the "Tadies" ready to wear departments.

Miss Myrtle Philbin is teaching this year near Brookings, South Dakota, where they have a really modern country school building. Furnace heat, a fine playroom and full basement. Window on north giving the fine, mild light.

Wyman Jones of Carroll went to Omaha Wednesday morning to enter a school of instruction for barbers, thinking he would prefer that work to some other, and believes he should properly learn the trade if he would follow it. His mother, Mrs. Grace Jones, accompanied him for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith came home last week from their wedding trip, and are now settling in the home in the north part of the city. Frank Erleben and family, who have been occupying the Smith residence, have moved into the Ralph Clark house on 8th and Main streets.

Jack Denbeck and family went to Neola, Iowa, last week to visit among his home folks. Jack tells us that they are talking 75 to 100 bushel corn down that way, and he says it is certainly fine looking prospect; but he is not sure that it will reach their top limit. Mrs. Harder accompanied them.

Miss Elizabeth Gundersleeve, who graduated from Ames at the close of the summer school, left Monday for Imperial, Pennsylvania, where she will teach as assistant in home economics. Imperial is a suburb of Pittsburgh. Miss Gundersleeve belongs to the class of 1925 at Ames, but because of ill health she had to attend the summer term to earn the few credits which she missed because of illness.

Legionnaires attending the national American Legion convention in Omaha, October 5 to 9, are to be urged to register in order to protect the good name of the Legion. Most of the rowdism attendant at former Legion conventions it is claimed, has been committed by men not members of the organization. With a registration check, this can be prevented from being credited to the Legion. Registration will be by states at booths located round the court house.

Last week Bertha Harrison and Emma Arnold came here from Chicago, where they were taking nurse training, and remained at Wayne a few days. Bertha Harrison went the last of the week to visit home folks at Spencer but plans to return here before returning to Chicago about the 16th. Miss Arnold has been staying at the Wayne hospital assisting in the care of her sister, Miss Hazel Arnold, who underwent a major operation here last week. As soon as the sister is able to leave the hospital they both plan to go on to their home at Randolph for the vacation visit of Miss Emma.

Miss Dena Loberg, who has been at Chicago for a year training at Mt. Sinai hospital, came home Sunday evening for a visit with home folks. At the conclusion of the year work she passed the examination before the Illinois state board and now is a fully qualified nurse, and supposed to be equal to any case that she might be called for. Miss Loberg tells us that she is planning to remain here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Loberg for some weeks for rest and visit. She reports that Miss Florence Meyer, who was in training there at the same time, is again quite well, and is out part of the time on cases, and is meeting with good success.

OBSERVATIONS

We have read a great deal of the character of the state and federal prohibition enforcement officers (the so-called booze hounds) and of the "hard boiled" methods they use in the handling of those with whom they come in contact in arresting alleged law breakers. These methods have come to our notice recently at close range as the enforcement bunch has been near our own community. We are heartily in accord with the officers of the law in endeavoring to enforce prohibition so long as it is on the statute books, but we do not think this law enforcement carries with it the necessity for insulting and intimidating women and children or the high handed methods that the booze hounds employ. If half is true that is reported of the high handed actions of these booze hounds, they are worse outlaws than the people whom they are gathering into their nets. The vile language they use and the utter disregard of the rights of humanity or citizenship that they manifest, certainly classes them among the lowest of humans. It is true, that in their activities they have to deal with desperate characters, but this does not give them license to class every one, regardless of sex, in the outlaw category. There must be something radically wrong with the system of employing outlaws to enforce state and federal laws.—Wynot Arribune.

Yes, they had a "hard boiled" bunch in Cedar county, according to the reports we hear from that part of the state. A Wayne citizen was out there last week visiting relatives and a farm he owns there, and had driven into the farm place on which the house was empty for a short time, waiting in readiness for a bride and groom to domicile there. While the owner of the farm was sitting in his car waiting for a few apples to be gathered by his wife and other members of the family, the sheriff and his booze bunch drove in and ordered our peaceful citizen to stand and be searched—and he demanded that they show their search warrant, he wanted to know who they were and by what authority they proposed to search him, his car, and his house; as well as for what they were looking. But they had no warrant for search, and he said no search then—for he was fully within his rights. He told them a thing or two about laws and the rights of a citizen which officers were bound to respect, and which he said they should respect so far he was concerned and his farm. The discussion was becoming quite interesting when the fading twilight seemed to brighten up a bit, for it was at the sunset hour, and the sheriff of the county got a full face view of the man they were talking to and changed his tune to "Hello, Henry; is that you?" "I did not recognize you." "Yes, this is me, and here come the wife and others for whom I was waiting. Perhaps she has some forbidden juice in the car." To this she admitted that she had a glass of jelly. And the sheriff explained that he guessed they had made a mistake—that they were trying to run their bluff on the wrong man—one who had helped to make laws, and who kept pretty well informed as to the laws of his state.

This little sketch may not be quite as we heard it, but if you want the straight of the story, just ask Henry. He can tell it again, we think. We did not take notes, for we wanted to hear it all.

AGAINST THE WIND

Henry Fairfield Osborne, the anthropologist, is not surprised at the new evidence that central Asia was the growing ground of the human race. Central Asia is an arid plateau where it takes alertness to live. The higher type of man could not have developed in a forest or rich river valley, the scientist says. Life is too easy in such places to put capacities to the test. There is no demand for progress. It is out on the cold and barren plateau that the wits must work—discovering fire, inventing irrigation, making tools to help in the contest with nature. In such places we must expect to find man's earliest development.

Within the present boundaries of the United States the greatest ancient civilizations grew in the desert. In the fat Mississippi valley the aborigine remained a barbarian of a low order. In the deserts of Arizona and New Mexico he constructed irrigation works and built goodly cities. Remains of these are now being excavated.

Men seek the easiest life, and the easiest life is fatal. The children of the rich, relieved from the struggle for existence, rarely make a strong race. The inhabitants of the tropics, where there is no need for fire or a complicated agriculture and industry, grow listless and incline to a mere animal existence. The necessities of pioneer life developed a rough, vigorous American race.

Now America has the "softest" thing in all the world. We have the greatest natural resources per person, and the greatest mechanical control of those resources. Our wealth grows so rapidly Congress cannot reduce the taxes fast enough to escape a treasury surplus. All the world owes us money. The nation as a whole could take a sixty day vacation annually on the income other peoples owe us in interest. A third of a million of us were able to travel to Europe this summer. The rest sped hither and thither thru our own huge country. Life is so easy here that an Englishman remarks that America isn't a country; it is a picnic. Small privileged classes in other countries and ages have known what it was to wallow in wealth. This is the first time in world history a people have wallowed by millions.

The wallowing class of the past decayed and gave way to men grown under more rigorous necessities. The law applied by Dr. Osborne to the rising primitive man seems to have held good in the after-periods. It was hinted at by the poet with his "wealth accumulates and men decay." America may be in more danger from its plethora of goods than ever it was from poverty or from barbarian enemies. A matter worth looking into.—State Journal.

FROM THE WINDOW SEAT

(By W. D. Jamieson)
Written at Washington, soon after the death of the late Vice President Marshall.

Good Democrat doctrine: Psalms 149:15.

We were all shocked recently to get news of the death of Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, at the Willard Hotel in Washington. The Most powerful sermon I have seen about it was the one sentence by George Rothwell Brown, who writes a column for one of the Washington daily papers: "Thomas R. Marshall dies peacefully, reading the Bible—not Darwin!"

Vice President Marshall—we all knew him best as Tom Marshall—was a true type Jeffersonian Democrat, just the kind this country needs a lot of right now. He was plain and simple in his habits, smart and honest, unselfish and unambitious for power or place for himself, and full of confidence in the general run of people. He was not running after fads nor special privilege—he was glad to profit by the experience of nations in the past. He and Thomas Jefferson would have been great friends.

Why shouldn't such a Democrat be reading his Bible? It's his fundamental text book—I believe as surely as I believe anything about politics—and I say this with the most earnest reverence—if the Man of Nazareth were on earth in the body and a citizen of the United States today, he would be a Jeffersonian Democrat. Do you remember that he said to the rich young ruler, "Sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasures in heaven"? No one belonging to the special interest school and party could maintain and feel and live such a platform.

The hope of the Democratic party for a permanent victory any time soon, and the hope of the United States to continue long as a republic, is in the development of a Jeffersonian Mind in this country, to give itself expression at the polls. This isn't original with me, and may be some day I will tell who did talk to me first about it. It took me some considerable time to absorb a good deal of just what it means. I hope you will grasp it quickly. It's full of meat, and worthy of a lot of meditation.

I think Lincoln had exactly that kind of a mind. How happy I would be to vote for him for President if he were alive and young enough. And it would be on the Democratic ticket, too.

Two of three of us were visiting with Tom Marshall in the Vice President's room at the Capitol. He was illustrating with a story the altogether too prevalent fact and idea that many men with money are drawn into the Republican party, simply because they have money. Their best Democratic worker on registration and election days in a little Indiana city, the man who could beat the bushes and get the most Democrats out, was a friend of his whose principal occupation was calling for, delivering and collecting for the washings this man's wife did. One day Mr. Marshall was standing on the curb, watching a Republican parade, when who should go by among the paraders but this same man. Mr. Marshall called to him and told him he was a Democrat and had no business in that Republican parade; the man explained: "I've sopped; my uncle died three weeks ago and left me thirty-five hundred dollars, and us capitalists must stick together; I'm a Republican now."

Champ Clark used to call us Democrats the "one-gallus" fellows. But that isn't necessarily so. Unselfish big money is naturally Democratic. One of the richest men is B. M. Baruch, and we don't have a more devoted Democrat. T. L. Chadbourne, also of New York, is another, and he's just a natural Democrat. A few years ago they had a garmentmakers strike on in New York; he thought the girl workers were in the right—and sent them a letter enclosing a thousand dollar check, saying he believed in them and would send them a similar check each week until the strike was settled. Gavin McNab, of San Francisco, is one of the great lawyers of the world, with a real money practice—if it hadn't been for his work Wilson would not have carried California in 1916, and without California he would not have been elected that year.

And there's another great lawyer to whom Wilson's election may also be attributed—Ed Moore, of Ohio. He started things going early in the '16 campaign that resulted in an overwhelming victory for Wilson in Ohio, and without Ohio, Wilson would not have been elected that year. And Ed Moore is one of the splendid lawyers of the middle west, and a money-making one, too. I saw him have a thousand dollar bill among his "change" one day, and another time I heard him recite all of "Tam O'Shanter," so I think he must be both rich and smart.

Look out, for that trade association decision by a divided United States Supreme Court on Monday. It's full of dynamite. It virtually says trade associations may openly meet and regulate everything about their business. There are about four thousand of these trade associations, and they cover every important field of manufacturing endeavor. Thoughtful men say it means the end of competition. Look out, for this is a powerful way to make Bolsheviks. Better drop some of that selfishness and get back to Jeffersonian ideas and safety.

IT IS A GOOD PLACE TO GO
(Omaha World Herald)

Whatever the automobile and the radio have done or are doing to the local Chautauqua, there is one grand old institution of rural America which they haven't feazed. The Chautauqua, the county agent, the grange, the co-op may come to contribute to a fuller farm life and may succumb to some new wrinkle for getting the farmers together for their pleasure or profit, but that grand old rural institution, the county fair, goes on forever. This is now open season for the county fair and it is here on schedule, apparently bigger and better than ever.

There may be scores of excellent devices to make the life agricultural more attractive, more prosperous, more efficient, but there is no substitute for the county fair. It is excellent education, delightful entertainment and zestfully refreshing in the opportunity it offers for display of that competitive spirit in which red-blooded men delight. All the indications point to the annual return of the county fair until the chemists shall have discovered how to synthesize food and the farmer becomes unnecessary to the preservation of the human race.

City dwellers who would like to see rural Nebraska all dressed up and have a day of two or three to do it in can do no better than pick out a county fair within easy motoring distance and take it in, omitting nothing and paying particular attention to those portions devoted to a display of the best in the agricultural arts.

THE SWIMMING POOL

According to the Wakefield Republican land in the vicinity of Wakefield is held so high that it looks as tho it would not be possible to buy the site and make the pool. Three different owners. One said a thousand an acre, another would sell a chunk at seven hundred the acre, and a third one could be induced to dispose of a few acres at the modest sum of five hundred dollars the acre. The pool on top of the land site would have an estimate cost of $8,000. But hold on, the last lines said that one man offered to donate the site; if they would build the pool there, we do not know that his land is accessible or available. It is to be hoped that it is, and that not all are grasping land owners in our neighboring city.

GOLF AND LIVE LONG

Golf as a remedy for ills is nothing new. It was prescribed and recommended as an exercise by a Philadelphia physician, Dr. Benjamin Rush, one of the first professors of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in a book "Sermons to Gentlemen on Temperance and Exercise," written in 1772.

Recommending golf with other exercises, such as tennis, swimming, skating and running, Dr. Rush described the game as one much in vogue in Scotland. "A large common," he wrote, "in which there are several little holes, is chosen for the purpose. It is played with little leather balls stuffed with feathers; and sticks made somewhat in the form of a bandy-wicket. He, who puts the ball in a given number of holes with the fewest strokes gets the game. The late Dr. McKenzie used to say that a man would live ten years the longer for using this exercise once or twice a week."—Blair Pilot.

Ideal Vecto Heater

It is a beauty—a real parlor ornament, and more than that, "handsome is that handsome does," so this product of one of the largest and most progressive firms manufacturing heating equipment back this with their approval, as the very best system for warming by stove.

It is the circulation of the warm air which counts in heating a home. So they have devised a system which makes the warm air circulate. This is incorporated in the IDEAL VECTO HEATER, and it has been proven that it is successful, so no one is buying an experiment.

This heater is so constructed as to burn any kind of fuel from wood to hard coal. It is the last word in heating for the home, school, church or business house. The price is modest, costing less than many stoves that cannot give near the service.

Mr. Grunemeyer will be glad to show you the stove and tell you what and why about it, including taking your order for the next one to go out. The housewife should see this before thinking the winter warmth is provided for. Phone for an appointment to see the stove.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Fontenelle Delphians met at the city hall Friday afternoon for the first lesson after the summer vacation. Mrs. H. W. McClure was leader of the lesson, "The Rise of the Athenian State." The text reports were as follows: Sources of Greek, "History and early migrations of the Greeks," Mrs. Russell Larson; "Early Sparta," Mrs. H. W. McClure; "Early Athens," Mrs. G. J. Hess; "Development of Athenian Government," Mrs. Harvey Neely; "Greek Statesmen," Mrs. A. R. Davis. Owing to the absence of some of the members, "The Athenian Empire," and "Athens in her Glory," were discussed by the chapter. On account of the Fair the next meeting will not be held until October 2. Mrs. Harvey Neely will be the leader and the text reports will be given by the following members: Mrs. H. W. McClure, Mrs. S. E. Auker, Mrs. J. T. Bressler, Jr., Mrs. Fred Blair, Mrs. Amos Claycomb, Mrs. Chas. Craven, Mrs. A. D. Davis, Miss Mabel Dayton, and Mrs. W. R. Ellis.

The members of the P. N. G. had their monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alice Rickabaugh, with Mrs. Wm. Bucetow as assisting hostess. The afternoon was spent with Kensington. At the close the hostesses served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be in October at the home of Mrs. I. E. Ellis, with Mrs. Walter Lerner as assisting hostess.

Mrs. Raleigh E. Miller was hostess to twelve ladies at her home on Friday afternoon for a kitchen shower for Mrs. Harry Wert formerly Miss Westlund. Mrs. Wert received many useful gifts. The afternoon was spent playing games appropriate for the occasion. At the close of the afternoon the hostess served light refreshments.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. John Grimsley Friday afternoon of this week. The date has been changed on account of the fair. Mrs. I. E. Ellis will be assisting hostess. There will be election of officers and would like to have all members out.

The American Legion Auxiliary will have their regular meeting Tuesday evening September 15 in the Legion rooms. All members are requested to be present as Mrs. Guffey will give a paper of the convention held at Columbus.

The members of the Country club social will meet Tuesday September 15. The committee in charge are Mrs. D. E. Brainard, Mrs. O. R. Bowen, Mrs. Leon Beery, Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer, Mrs. C. Shulteis, and Mrs. Rollie Ley.

The Young Peoples Bible class met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. E. B. Young. They continued studying the book of Romans. This week Friday they have a meeting and will have the twelfth chapter of the book of Romans.

The Wayne Woman's club will have their first meeting for the season Friday September 11, at the Community house. The women have planned very interesting and novel program for the year.

The Ladies Bible Study Circle will have their regular meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. B. Laase. Her daughter Mrs. Wallick, of Los Angeles, California, will be a guest of the meeting.

The Eastern Star will meet Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock for their regular session. After the usual order of business they will have an hour of sociability and refreshments will be served.

The Sunshine club are meeting this afternoon for a 9 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Chris Jensen. They will have a program.

The members of the Rebekah order will have their regular meeting Friday evening at the U. O. O. F. hall.

MRS. P. F. PANABAKER ENTERS INTO FINAL REST

(Dalton Delegate) A pall of sadness spread over Dalton community last Friday when the announcement was made that Mrs. P. F. Panabaker had passed away. She was taken to Omaha on August 19th and on the Friday following an operation was performed for the removal of gall stones and appendix. Her condition was considered serious from the time the operation was performed, but she had made some improvement. Friday morning surgical attention was again necessary and she sank rapidly, rallied once and then passed away peacefully after suffering greatly for nearly a week. Mr. Panabaker and a son, Earl, were with her at the time, the latter having arrived in Omaha that morning.

The body was brought to the family home southeast of Dalton Saturday evening and funeral services were held there at 1:30 Sunday, followed by a service at the Presbyterian church here. Rev. C. N. Hardin conducted the services. Burial was made in Dalton cemetery.

Phoebe Anna Chichester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Chichester, was born at Marshalltown, Iowa, on June 22, 1873, and at the time of her death was aged 52 years, 2 months and 5 days. She removed with her parents to Shelby county, Iowa, where the home was made for a time, then to Wayne county, Nebraska, where she was united in marriage to P. F. Panabaker on May 24, 1892. To this union four children were born: Earl, Ralph, Mary and Lucinda. The family came to Dalton in 1916 and this has since been the home. Besides the husband and four children, Mrs. Panabaker leaves her father, E. B. Chichester, of Wayne, two brothers, E. A. Chichester of Wayne, and L. W. Chichester of Dalton, and three grandchildren to mourn. All were present at the funeral. Fred Chichester, a cousin, and his wife from Chappell and Ray Chichester from the same place, were other out-of-town relatives in attendance.

Mrs. Panabaker was one of the very highly respected women of Dalton and community. Her early training was grounded on the principle of fair dealing, loyalty to every acquaintance and for her family a love that knew no bounds. Together with these high qualities of character she possessed an ambition of a constructive nature and was known as one of the ablest managers in the community. When misfortune visited the home of a neighbor or friend she always found her place there, ministering cheerfully and tactfully. Her greatest desire was to know that her children were to be numbered among the best citizens of the community and before passing away had expressed her happiness that the aim had been accomplished. Mrs. Panabaker will be missed in her home, by her friends and by the community. To the bereaved goes the sympathy of the people of Dalton and vicinity.

FARMERS KNOW WHAT THEY EARN

It pays a man to spend for his business when a dollar spent returns with an increase. Records kept by Cass county farmers under the direction of the agricultural extension service show that the five best farmers in the group received a gain of 81 cents for every dollar spent while the five poorest received only 43 cents. Three times as many livestock units per man; more efficient horse labor and a larger crop acreage per man, higher yields due to crop rotations and use of alfalfa and sweet clover, and larger investments in the business are all factors accounting for the wide difference in the profit.

COWS WORK ON COMMISSION

Dairy cows in the Douglas County Cow Testing Association work on the commission basis. They are the traveling salesmen for hay and grain feed furnished them by their owners. They work on a flat, uniform salary of so many pounds of hay per day, plus a commission of one pound of grain for every three pounds of milk they produce. The more milk they give, the more grain they get, just as any other commission pays the efficient salesman. Records kept by the official tester of the association are the books of each cow-salesman. As in any other properly conducted business, only those salesman with good records continue with the firm.

SAVE THE OLD BROOMSTICK

After the broom has worn out in regular house cleaning, save the broomstick for a clothes pole in the bedroom closet. Fit it crosswise in a long closet or lengthwise in a small room and place it so that hangers will not touch the wall of the room. Put all the clothes on hangers on the pole. The capacity of the room will be increased many times over the old fashioned way of having rows of hooks around the wall.

ENSIGN YOUNG TELLS OF FRANCE AND SWITZERLAND

In a letter to his father, E. B. Young of this place, Ensign Young tells of a pleasant trip they had to Switzerland for a short vacation. Mr. Young and wife are working with Gipsy Smith, the noted evangelist, Mr. Young having charge and leadership of the music. They have been abroad a year or more, mostly in England and Scotland. The letter is dated at Cambridge, England, August 16, and is to his father, as follows:

This letter will be written to you, as you have been alone, though I suppose mother will be back at Wayne before you get this. You know about our trip to Switzerland, though you will never be able to know about the beauty we saw there unless you go yourself. It is simply impossible to tell it. A person wants to settle down and live there. I told you something about the trip I think, but maybe you would be interested in a little more detail.

We left London from Victoria station on Friday, July 31st, a few minutes before 4 p. m. and arrived at Dover (on the sea) about 6. It took us a little over an hour to cross the English Channel, reaching Calais, France, a little after seven. Our train left Calais at 20:30 (the Continental people always figure time from midnight, up to 24 o'clock) and we arrived at Interloken, Switzerland, after having gone through customs twice, and having shown our passports numerous times. Interloken is a lovely little town in the Alps, lying between two beautiful lakes—hence Inter-laken. Then we had to change into a mountain-climbing railway run by electricity, which took us to Grindelwald, one of the prettiest little villages you could imagine, 3,400 feet in altitude, at the foot of Mt. Wetterhorn and several other huge peaks, including Jungfrau (meaning in German "young woman," because of its beauty, over 14,000 feet high.)

We stayed at the Hotel Belvedere, Grindelwald, for exactly a week, arriving on Saturday and leaving on Saturday, going back to Interloken, where we caught a steamer across the lovely lake to Brienz, and a through train from there to Lucerne, a beautiful Swiss city of 100,000 people, plus as many or perhaps far more visitors. It is a city of hotels, and all them packed full at this time of the year. You have probably wondered how we came to make such a trip. Well, it is this way, Uncle Gipsy has a friend called Sir Henry Lunn, who is president of the Free Church Touring Guild (in Switzerland and other countries called "Sir Henry Lunn, Ltd.") and when we were at Lincoln at the conference, he made arrangements with Uncle Gipsy to send him over there, free of charge, as his guest. Uncle Gipsy paid all the rest save one, and we got 10 percent off on that one, so it was very reasonable; in fact, it would have cost us more to have stayed in London. You see, it was largely through France we had to travel, and as the French money is far below par, it is very cheap to travel over there. It took us from 8:30 p. m. to 11 a. m. to go from Calais, France, to Interloken, Switzerland.

We passed through Amiens yesterday and saw the remains of that awful wreck that was still lying about. The French trains go about 75 miles an hour and they are made of wood, though quite lovely in the first class (which was the way we went). You know, Amiens was a very much talked of place during the war, as it was under constant fire from the Germans. It now looks like a town of old crumpled buildings with new roofs. The roofs are all made of tile, and it is quite plain that they were blown off during the war. In Switzerland we heard enough German talk to make us sick the rest of our lives. They all talk German, though they are down on the Germans. Most of them also speak French. I learned a few sentences which came in very handy, though I had rather a hard time in telling the maids what I wanted. Many of them can't understand a word of English. We went down into the market the other day at Lucerne and they were selling some funny things that looked something like mushrooms, though somewhat different. I used my favorite question: "Was iss das?" and you should have heard the yards of German that came back at me in the form of information. I knew no more than when I started, but I still believe (after having eaten some of them) that they must be a peculiar sort of mushroom. In France near the war borderline, we saw miles of barbed wire, portions of trenches that had been abandoned and partly filled up and all sorts of buildings that had been shelled to bits. We saw the ruins of a war hospital, I should say covering a square mile, which was bombarded by Germans, and hundreds of the wounded French, English and American boys were mercilessly slaughtered, unable to protect themselves. Uncle Gipsy recognized many places where he was during the war, and pointed out places where he knew there had been secret trenches and underground passages. It was all very exciting, for we passed through it quite rapidly, except as we stopped at the stations, but it brought back to us some of the horrors of the war. ENSIGN E. YOUNG.

No preaching service, the pastor is attending Synod at Hanover, Kansas.

HIS ALIBI

(Life)
Mr. Jones was a prominent member of the B. P. O. E. At the breakfast table this morning he was relating to his wife an incident that occurred at the lodge last night. The president of the order offered a silk hat to the brother who could stand up and truthfully say that during his married life he had never kissed any woman but his own wife. "And, would you believe it, Mary?—not a one stood up?" "George," his wife said, "why didn't you stand up?" "Well," he replied, "I was going to, but I know I look like hell in a silk hat."

TRUTH AND OTHER THINGS

Edgar Howard.
Suppose the United States government was at war with some foreign foe. And suppose British, French and German army and navy officers should enlist with the forces of our enemy. Don't you suppose our government would file some strong protests with those governments? But now the cables report that several former American army officers are fighting under the French and Italian flags in effort to subdue the Rifians in Morocco. The Rifians are not strong enough to make any serious protest to the strong government of the United States, but this government should be brave enough and honorable enough to immediately call home every American citizen who has volunteered to fight under the French and Italian flags against those Rifians who are fighting for liberty against the invading French and Italian Imperialists.

Complaint has been made that one of the new men appointed by the Coolidge administration to enforce the prohibition law in Nebraska is a former prize-fighter. Why complain? That former prize-fighter ought to be able to locate booze with all the accuracy of a Missouri hound on the trail of a coon.

BEEVES ARE PRIME

The baby beeves sold this week by the boys and girls at the auction sale at the Nebraska State Fair will dress over 60 per cent. Their carcasses will please the butchers and the public who buy the meat, because the calves are prime beeves. In order to produce these juicy steaks, the boys and girls in these Baby Beef Clubs began to feed their steers late last fall and gave them a long steady feed. The youngsters who intend to win again next year are already looking for their calves to begin their feeding period in October or November.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thank and appreciation to our neighbors and friends during the illness and death of our father and grandfather, for the beautiful floral offerings, and the Congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran church for the use of the church. We also wish to thank Rev. Teckhaus and Rev. Fischer, and also the Choir, for the beautiful music rendered.

OH, FOR A JEFFERSON

(Sherman County Times)
Oh, that we could have a Thomas Jefferson to lead us back into the simplicities of government. He held to the idea that the best governed people were the least governed. A fellow has to be careful these days where he spits, even, for fear of hitting some federal agent or some state or city or township or town officer, employed to enforce some fool law. Laws surrounded us on every side, telling us what we can and can't do, or eat or drink, or think, or look, or ride, or walk, or everything. Any wonder we have a lot of contempt for them? Let's ask our law makers to do a lot of repealing.

GOT TRE TREATED EXTERNALLY

At Home, Nebraska Lady Tells How.

Mrs. S. H. Goldenstien, Inland, Nebraska, says, "I had terrible choking spells, smothering, nervousness, palpitation, difficult breathing and before each spell it seemed as if my face was swelling, and I couldn't control my tongue. Since using Sorbol-Quadruple these symptoms have gone. It has been six months and I now feel fine." Sold at all drug stores or write Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Felber's Pharmacy.—ady

Editor Peck of the Randolph Times recently published a story intended to show that the pupils of our public schools do not get a very fair opportunity to properly master the English language; with the result that such pupils who go to college commence their work there with a great handicap. Few things are more important than the proper mastery of language, and the sooner it is done the better for the pupil. To be able to speak correctly, and express yourself in writing is a great part of an education—it might be called the foundation from which to advance in all educational matters.

PHIPPS-EGAN

Mrs. Minnie Phipps, of Sioux Rapids, Iowa, and Mr. Reuben D. Egan, of Greenville, Iowa were married at the Methodist parsonage in Wayne, by Rev. John Grant Shick at one o'clock Tuesday, September, 8, 1925. Mr. Egan is looking for a location to enter the butcher business and does not know at present just where he will locate.

THE LAW AND THE LANGUAGE

(Wichita Beacon)
Now comes a distinguished legal light who says that the simple statement, "I leave all I have to my wife," is not a good will. There could easily be circumstances, he says, under which such a will could be shot full of holes by contesting parties. And that, dear reader, is just why the average citizen is growing more and more suspicious about "the due process of law." For in no place in the world except in a court of law could that statement be misunderstood.

SANE TO THE LAST

(Everybody's)
"Well," said the dying business man, "you better put in a clause about my employes. To each man who has work for me twenty years I give and bequeath $50,000." "But," said the lawyer, "you haven't been in business twenty years." "I know it, man, but its good advertising."

WHEN WORDS FAIL

(Ohio State Journal)
Tell a story long enough and earnestly enough and after a while you get to believing it yourself, and we enthusiastic republicans are so honestly astounded at the wage reductions and other difficulties in the New England textile mills under our beneficent tariff law that for once we can't think of any plausible explanation.

PRETTY DARN CLOSE

(Moosheart Magazine)
Farmer Giles had just cashed a check. "I don't think this money's right," he said. "Would you mind counting it again, sir?" the cashier asked. "I think you'll find it correct." Farmer Giles did. "Um-m, yes," he said; "but you be careful, young man—it's only just right."

HERE IS ADVICE

(Family Herald)
Many years ago there lived a wise man named Ptah, Hetep. To his son he said: "Do not argue with your superiors; it does no good. Do not argue with your equals; make a plain and courteous statement and be content with that. Do not argue with your inferiors; let them talk and they will make foods of themselves."

NEEDED A BETTER EXCUSE

A jury was being qualified. A salesman from Plunk Center spoke up. "Your honor, I don't think I'm fit to fer to be a jurymen." "Why not?" "I ain't read all the laws of this kentry." "Neither have I," said the judge. "You'll do."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Same Old Thing

Doolittle was unquestionably the kindest hearted man in town; also the laziest. "Dearie," he told his wife, "when I pass away I shall leave everything to you." "That's what you've been doing ever since we married," she snapped back. —Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

PISCATORIAL ARITHMETIC

"When the boys got home from their trip last week I suppose they divided the fish?" "They did—and multiplied 'em too."

Cow Called Zephyr

A farmer's best cow was called Zephyr; she seemed a real amiable hephy; yet when he drew near she would kick off his hat.

Had Enough of Those

The landlord had at last agreed to repair several of the rooms. "What kind of paper would you like?" he inquired; "something with large figures?" "Decidedly not," answered the tenant. "They would be a constant reminder of the rent I have to pay."

A Surprise

Sutor—I hope my proposal for the hand of your daughter hasn't taken you by surprise, sir. Father—Well, to tell the truth, it has. You've been so jolly slow in getting around to it that I thought it wasn't coming at all.

That Was That

"John, it is bad form to court a girl on a park bench. Why don't you court the young lady in her home?" "No chance. There are eight daughters in her family."
