

REPUBLICAN RALLY HERE TUESDAY EVE

Arthur J. Weaver Principal Speaker in Political Meeting Here Tuesday Evening.

STATE DEFICIT IS EXPLAINED

Arthur Weaver, candidate for governor; James Nichols, candidate for national representative from this district and Wm. Stebbens, state treasurer, spoke here to a good sized crowd at the community house Tuesday evening, in which the principles of the republican party were defended.

A. R. Davis, Wayne attorney, introduced the speakers and presided at the meeting which was open to the public.

Talks on Deficit

Responsibility for the state deficit which has been a political football for the past two years, was placed on three administrations by Mr. Stebbens, who said that a bi-partisan committee had found that McKelvie, Bryan and McMullen were about equally to blame for this shortage, which is now wiped out by the higher levy of the last year.

Legislation enacted last year, he said, eliminated any danger of another deficit being created.

He intimated that he didn't believe that Bryan is justified in insisting that he in no way is responsible for this deficit.

The intangible tax law, the bank guaranty fund and the gasoline tax were taken up by Mr. Weaver, who stated that legislation with regard to all of these would have to be enacted during the next administration.

Any additional gasoline tax, according to his statements, should revert to the counties to improve county roads. He declared against any form of property tax for road improvements but said he would leave this to the legislature.

The bank guaranty law, he said, "is sick," and will offer one of the main problems for the next administration, adding that "some of the load will have to be removed."

Mr. Nichols spoke very briefly of the problems of national government, and pledged himself to work for the interests of his state if elected.

EARLY SETTLER TALKS

J. W. Gifford of Belden and Big Springs, well known in these parts, came this way several days ago from the western part of the state, and while at the station waiting a train, gave expression to a few of his thoughts. He is of the opinion that the automobile is a wonderful help in speeding up farm business—and that they have helped in many ways—but he is of the opinion that many people buy too freely of this necessity.

He said that when he was farming near Belden, and his four sons helping and the gas wagons first came in use, they got along without one for a number of years; and laid a foundation for an income which he is now enjoying, traveling in a modest way from one place he wishes to visit to another. Mr. Gifford also told of the things that are common now that were extravagant thirty years ago, and he still regards many of them extravagant and even harmful.

BENEFT BALL GAMES SUNDAY A SUCCESS

The Altona ball club proved its supremacy over the Wayne Woodmen nine by winning 9 to 7.

A ninth inning rally which netted 4 runs won the game. Sand pitched good ball until this inning when 3 hits and 2 errors gave the visitors their runs. Farrow pitched good ball for the winners.

The second game proved to be a thriller. The married men though old, still proved that they possess a batting eye, for they pounded Ingerham continually and won 14 to 5.

Will Lerner pitched a good game for the married men. He allowed but six hits and fanned 10 batters.

MORE FEEDERS COMING

Jas. Grier returned Tuesday morning from Cherry county, where he had been buying feeders, and told that he had purchased 200 head, and that he is bargaining for more. Mr. Grier has just been marketing six or eight car loads of finished cattle, and we think has a few more to go yet, for he has carried cattle feeding on extensively for several seasons.

STRONG PONCA ELEVEN PLAY WAYNE TOMORROW

The Ponca high school eleven, considered the outstanding team of this corner of the state this year, will demonstrate their strategy when they play the local high school on the college field tomorrow afternoon. The game is scheduled to start at 3:30.

Suffering a reverse at the hands of Stanton last week prospects are decidedly gloomy for the locals as they face tomorrow's task. No hope is entertained of downing the highly touted eleven who have snowed under all opponents, including South Sioux City.

Entertainment Pleases

The Brown-Menley entertainers, who appeared here Tuesday proved a decided success. The listeners were most enthusiastic in their praise for this duo.

The entertainment is one of the numbers of the lecture course sponsored by the Kiwanis club, the Womans club and the high school.

GOLF TOURNAMENT PROVES THRILLING

Several Matches End in Draw Following Two Trips Around the Courses.

The annual city golf classic has developed into a real meet with a number of matches going the full eighteen holes before being decided and others deadlocked at the end of the regular match.

Lewis, who has one leg on the cup to his credit, has advanced to the finals of the championship flight by eliminating Canning and C. E. Wright in two close matches.

Tied Up

Ahern and Dale, both of whom won their opening matches, are in a deadlock, in the semi-finals.

Their match was stopped at the fifteenth hole, because of darkness, with the count knotted. They will finish it some of these days and the winner will meet Lewis to determine who is to have possession of the trophy during the "next year."

"Fagged" Out

In the third flight McDonald and Hickman battled 27 holes to a draw, and both being all "fagged" out decided to call it quits, and made some kind of a secret agreement the context of which has not been learned.

Conn and Craven played to a tie in their eighteen hole match and the winner of this round will be decided somewhere besides on the course by mutual agreement, it is reported.

MRS. POLLARD IN CHARGE OF PROGRAM COMMITTEE

Allis N. Pollard, principal of the Wayne high school is secretary of the high school and administration section of the convention program of District Three, Nebraska State Teachers Association which meets at Norfolk on October 31, November 1, 2, 3. More than three thousand teachers from northeastern Nebraska are expected to attend.

Principal Pollard has already assisted her colleagues in constructing a strong program upon which many of the leading school men of the district will appear. The sessions will be held daily and discussion will be allowed as each program is presented. It is a compliment to the Wayne schools for Nebraska teachers to select Mrs. Pollard for this important role upon the convention program. It is a recognition of the fine work being accomplished in the Wayne schools. We predict that the convention visitors will thoroughly enjoy the programs of this section.

B. W. WRIGHT BUYS EIGHTEEN PASSENGER GRAHAM BUS

A new luxuriously upholstered eight passenger Graham bus has been added to his equipment during the past week by B. W. Wright, who drove the new machine home from Cleveland, Ohio, the last of last week.

The new bus is very comfortably arranged and upholstered and is about as fine as any built.

MRS. WALTER TAYLOR REPORTED VERY LOW

Mrs. Walter Taylor, who has been failing for many months, is reported to be very low. No hope for her recovery has been held for some time and it is now thought that she cannot live more than a few days at the most and that she may pass at anytime.

Former Wayne Man Struck By Automobile at Sioux City Early Monday Morning

J. C. Jones, Son of D. A. Jones, Wayne, in Sioux City Hospital and Driver of Car in Jail.

CONDITION THOUGHT CRITICAL

Struck by an automobile as he was walking along the sidewalk on Pierce street Monday morning, J. C. Jones, 410 Isabella street, an automobile mechanic, suffered injuries to his head which may result in death. Mr. Jones is son of D. A. Jones of this city, and moved to the city about ten years ago. He "grew up" at this place.

According to the latest reports received by relatives here, some hope is entertained for his recovery as his condition doesn't seem to be any worse. He is still in a semi-conscious state.

The Journal says:

"Harold Harnett, (car.) 23 years old, the driver of the car, was arrested and is being held for investigation. Officers who investigated the accident said that Harnett's automobile jumped the curb at Ninth and Pierce streets and struck Jones, who was walking south along Pierce street.

"The injured man was taken to St. Vincent's hospital where his condition was said to be critical. Jones suffered a deep hole in his head. It is believed that his skull was fractured.

"Police said that Harnett was driving west on Ninth street at an excessive rate of speed and attempted to turn south on Pierce street. Harnett was unable to turn the corner successfully because of the speed at which the automobile was going and the machine ran over the curb.

"Jones did not see the car in time to get out of its path and the machine struck him, knocking him to the sidewalk. Police were called immediately and Westcott's ambulance was summoned to take Jones to the hospital.

"Officers said that Harnett had been arrested Saturday night for intoxication. When his name was called in police court Monday he pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $7. At the time he gave the name of C. A. Jacobsen, police said."

IT WAS A HAPPY GATHERING

We are confidentially informed that there was a jolly, boisterous gathering at the home of one of our citizens, at 1208 Main street last Thursday evening, some of the citizens participating in the festivities, having learned that the man of the house was born 60 years before, in some state east of this his chosen home. Be that as it may, about 40 guests trooped in upon the unsuspecting family, and with them brought a plentiful ration, for all who might partake of the repast, and leave a sack or two for the folks at the home invaded. In fact, the man surprised intimated that he had presence of mind enough before the guests departed, to search the baskets and see that plenty of provision was left.

Cards, music and visiting and other games made the evening pass all too quickly, and a jolly evening ended as the guests said good morning to their hosts with many wishes for other happy returns of the birthday. The surprise was complete, as may be inferred from the host being caught with his old clothes on, and in his stocking feet.

ST. PAUL CHURCH ELECT PASTOR LAST SUNDAY

Rev. W. C. Heidenreich, pastor of the Lutheran church at Leigh, was elected to fill the vacant pastorate of the St. Paul Lutheran church here last Sunday, but the local board have not been advised whether or not he will accept, although they are hopeful that he will.

The elected minister spoke here two weeks ago, and made a favorable impression, it is reported.

ANDERSON-GRAMBERG

At the home of Rev. S. X. Cross, and by him, Sunday, October 7, 1928, the marriage vows were given to Ludwig Henrich Gramberg and Mrs. Lucy Ann Kester Anderson, both of this part of Nebraska, and who are to be at home after a few weeks spent in a wedding trip and visiting relatives and friends at Shenandoah and Red Oak, Iowa; on a farm northwest of Carroll.

REBECCA WARNER PASSES SATURDAY

Daughter of Alex Scott Dies Following Many Months Suffering From Cancer.

With the passing of Mrs. Rebecca Warner, Saturday, October 6, 1928, at the home of her father, Alexander Scott relieved one from suffering who had endured her full share of pain since she was taken down last March with what was later diagnosed as an incurable disease—cancer of the kidney.

Mary Scott, daughter of Alex and Mary Scott, was born in Iowa, May 16, 1865, and came to Wayne county with her parents who were among the early settlers who settled here in 1870—about eleven families coming in a party. Here she grew to womanhood and in August 1886 was united in marriage to Henry Warren, who preceded her in death about five years, passing away at Deer Park, Washington, after several years of suffering, during which time the wife ministered to his wants with devotion.

Three sons and a daughter born to this union, survive their mother, but were not present at the funeral. They are John, Walter, Harvey and Mary. One sister, Mrs. Emory of Los Angeles came some weeks ago to care for sister, and remained until the end game, she but recently from a hospital where she was sent following a serious injury in an automobile accident. Her aged father, 92 years of age and his sister Mrs. Mary, Hunter and the sister were the members of the family attending the funeral services which was held at the M. E. church Monday at 1 o'clock, the pastor, Rev. Whitman and the pastor of the Christian church at Norfolk conducting the service.

The body, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Emory, was taken to her former home at Deer Park, Washington, and placed beside that of her husband.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. AT WAYNE NEXT WEEK

The annual W. C. T. U. county convention will be held Friday afternoon, October 19th, with Mrs. C. O. Mitchell, at 2:30. Following is the program:

- Greeting—Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer, Wayne.
- Song—America.
- Election of Officers.
- Report of State Convention by Mrs. A. H. Holmes of Norfolk.
- Song—Sweet Hour of Prayer by Margaret Whitman.
- Report of County Union, by Mrs. Chas. Jones of Carroll.
- Report of Carroll Union by Mrs. Ernest Elder of Carroll.
- Report of Wayne Union by Mrs. Walter Miller of Wayne.
- Report of Welfare Work by Mrs. W. C. Fox of Wayne.
- Song—God Be With You Till We Meet Again.

SIoux CITY MAN FOUND GUILTY OF INTOXICATION

Emil Hallberg, Sioux City, was found guilty, on charges of intoxication filed against him more than a week ago, when he escaped following an arrest and walked to his home in Sioux City, he claims.

He was again arrested by Sheriff Stephens at Sioux City and brought here to answer the charges and found guilty and fined ten dollars and cost amounting to $32.10.

He was also charged with possession, but was not found guilty of this charge.

DAKOTA'S DEFICIT LARGE

Dakota to state records published in a Dakota paper which Wm. Assenheimer, Wayne county assessor, brought home when he visited that state last week, South Dakota is facing a debt which makes the famous Nebraska deficit look rather insignificant.

The state is bonded for more than 63 million dollars, according to a statement of the governor of South Dakota, and has been reduced considerably during the past year, he claims.

C. O. MITCHELL VISITS AT MILBANK STONE QUARRIES

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Mitchell were at Milbank, South Dakota, last week, where Mr. Mitchell visited the quarries, and doubtless bought some of that excellent stone for the winter dressing at his work here. They returned home by the way of Niobrara, where they visited relatives, and Miss Ada Cash, who had been visiting there for a couple of weeks, accompanied them home.

The largest stone which Mr. Mitchell ever saw removed was taken out while he was at the quarries, 35 feet long, 18 feet deep and 16 feet wide. The estimated weight of this large stone was two million pounds and had to be cut into many smaller stones before it could be lifted out of the pit. The trips to the quarries are always interesting, according to Mr. Mitchell, who says he usually learns something that is new to him.

POLITICAL RALLY IN WAYNE TONIGHT

Congressman Edgar Howard and I. J. Dunn of Omaha Will be Making This Evening.

Nearly all of the voters like to listen to Congressman Howard make a political talk, and this evening the opportunity will be given to gratify that liking. With the congressman will be that able and fearless champion of progressive democracy, I. J. Dunn, a most eloquent and forceful speaker.

Momentous questions are to be considered in this campaign, and not one of us can be too well informed as to these questions. We should know all that we can learn of the candidates who head the ticket—their ability, honesty, and for whom they will work—the people or the big monied interests. Many of the agricultural people feel that it is time for the great middle classes to have an inning. You will be welcome if you can attend.

THE PASSING G. A. R. PARADE

Nearly 2,000 veterans of the Civil war were reported to be in the line march at Denver last week Wednesday—a portion of them, however being conveyed in automobiles, at the 62nd annual reunion of the great army of the republic. Twice before this have these soldiers been entertained at Denver. In 1883, about 18 years after the close of the war, in line of march there were mustered many thousand, some states being represented by as many, perhaps, or more than were at Denver on this occasion representing all of the states. But two veterans were present this year from each Rhode Island and New Hampshire. The men in 1883 were vigorous, middle aged men, marching with a firm step and a brisk marching rate.

Again it was the writer's fortune to see this army march in 1905, their ranks showing that 23 years had furnished many grey heads and bent forms—but they marched to file and drum with a vigor greater than one would expect from men who had been in line of battle or perhaps a southern prison forty years before. On this occasion the excursion rates made by the railroads thronged the city with visitors, and on the day when the greatest number was coming in, the tally showed that 20,000 people flowed thru the union station gates in four hours. It is doubtful if ever another camp of the boys who wore the blue in Civil war days will convene at Denver—for their death rate is great in these later years.

FIREMEN GET EARLY CALL THIS MORNING

A fire, caused by a combustion of oil at the city power plant, five o'clock this morning, did little damage. The coal shed was slightly damaged, but the fire was extinguished before it had gained much headway.

The fire fighters were called to the Chelsea Thompson home last Saturday evening to extinguish a fire in a small shed near their house. This also was extinguished before it gained much headway, and the damage was not great.

BREAKS ROB WAYNE OF OPENING GAME

Outplay Visitors But Two Touchdowns Go For Naught Because of Penalties.

SETTLE FARM RELIEF PROBLEM

Mendel's fast legs and the breaks of the game gave Yankton the long end of a 6 to 0 victory over the Wildcats in their opening appearance here last Friday, although the Hickman proteges outplayed the visitors in every department of the game.

Mendel, flashy halfback and ten second man, broke loose early in the final period and scampered across the Wayne goal line lugging the pigskin from midfield to score the margin of victory. This was the only long gain for Yankton during the game.

Robbed of Markers

Late in the opening stanza Tigue Andrews, Wayne fullback, thrilled the spectators with a beautiful run when he picked a big hole in the line and dodged the secondary defense to romp sixty yards across the goal for what looked like the opening touchdown only to have the play called back because of holding by a Wayne lineman.

A few minutes later Wayne blocked a Yankton punt which was scooped up by Evans, right end, and, who scampered across the Grayhound goal, but again the play went for naught because of an offside in the line.

On the kickoff in the Yankton touchdown Ray, Wayne captain, carried the fall from his own ten yard line to the Yankton twelve yard line when he sifted through the entire visitor's defense, but slowed up when it looked like he had a touchdown cinched, permitting a slow lineman to nab him.

A couple of line smashes and two incompleated forward passes netted only five yards, and Wayne's big chance was lost when the ball went to Yankton on downs.

Play Good Game

Although statistics don't win football games they are at least consoling for Wayne out yarded, out punted and generally played a better game, although the visitors had two more weeks of scrimmage and one game to give them a decided edge in experience.

The Wayne backfield performed beautifully and the line also showed up very well during the second half. The spectators were particularly impressed with the fighting spirit exhibited in every play.

Finishing Touches

A couple of holes in the line will be plugged this week as the fifty moleskin clad candidates are polished up by the Professor of Strategy for the Friday's appearance on Iowa soil. From all indications the Telegraphers will have their hands full when they entertain the Wildcats on their field at LeMars tomorrow.

Solve Farm Relief

Although it cost them a victory the local squad claim they have solved the problem of farm relief. From now on they are not going to rely on fate for the handing out of the breaks, they say, but are going to make their own when breaks are needed. That's their advice to the tillers of the good old terra firma.

Hansen at tackle, Dennis' punts, defensive playing by Farrow and the ball lugging by Ray, Farrow and Andrews were the fetters of Wayne playing.

S. B. Sprague and family left Wednesday for a few days visit with relatives at Sheldon, Iowa, and will go on over the line a ways in Minnesota for a short visit before returning.

Best work shirts for the cornfield at Gamble's.

Mrs. Nettie Sears, who has been visiting here at the home of relatives and friends, left Friday morning for Council Bluffs, where she now makes her home when not away for a visit.

Mrs. Jennie Turpin from Chicago, came Saturday for a visit at the home of her brother, J. H. Fitch, and with her nephews of this vicinity, Mrs. Turpin visited here about three years ago.

B. J. Hyatt and wife are at Onawa, Iowa, today to visit at the home of his brother, living at that place, and remind him that it is a half century today, since he first appeared on the scene.

D. O. Dockendorf and wife from Windom, Minnesota, who were here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sprague, a brother of Mrs. Sprague, returned home the last of the week.

Arthur Carlson left Tuesday morning for Stanton, Iowa, where he will be busy for a while at the home of Axel Vennerberg, who has been making some fine improvements on his place there this season.

H. C. Bartell from Carroll was a Wayne visitor Tuesday. He reported that all are quiet and orderly in his home town. Of course, we suppose there may now and then be a bit of political discussion on the street corner.

Another shipment of Oxford gray suits at Gamble's.

T. C. Thompson and family from Council Bluffs, came to visit and spend week-end here with his friend, W. R. Launt and wife. Mr. Thompson is general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, with office at Omaha.

Rev. A. C. Downing left for Fremont Wednesday morning to attend the 61st annual session of the Nebraska Baptist State Convention. He will return Saturday with Evangelist Richard who is to conduct a brief series of services here at the Baptist church.

Mrs. P. N. Hancock, who has been visiting here at the home of her parents, P. C. Crockett and family, left Saturday morning for Dallas, Texas, where Mr. Hancock has employment. He had been conducting a street car in Arizona, but the line quit business, so it was moving time.

Special attention to all kinds of fillings. Robt. W. Casper, D. D. S.

J. A. Farnsworth and family came Friday from Hudson, Wisconsin, for a visit here with Mrs. Farnsworth's sister, Mrs. G. A. Wade, and Monday Mr. Farnsworth went on to Colome, South Dakota, to look after some matters of business and will return the last of the week for a few days visit here.

Among the Saturday visitors at Sioux City were Mrs. Earl Merchant and sons, Stanley and Bob, who were accompanied for the drive by Mrs. R. B. Miss Sterling and Miss Doris Judson remained at the city until Monday morning, the others returning home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Agusta Swanson, who had been spending a number of weeks traveling, and visiting in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois, came home last week, upon receiving word that her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Glenn Swanson is at a Sioux City hospital, and she is now keeping house for her son, until his wife is able to return home and look after her household duties. Mrs. Swanson reports a very pleasant vacation while away.

See the non-rip husking mittens at Gamble's.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hackett from Oakland, Iowa, drove to Wayne Friday afternoon to visit at the homes of Jas. Baird and other friends. With them came Mrs. Mc Reynolds from the same Iowa town, who visited at the Trv Reed home northwest of Wayne. The Oakland is but about 125 miles southeast of Wayne, Mr. Hackett tells that it has been as much too wet there as too dry here for the best results on the farms.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kleper from the north part of Wayne returned last week from a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chapman, their daughter, at Poison, Montana. Mr. Kleper seems to have fallen in love with their fall climate—said it was lovely; and besides the country looked good to him. He then added, that if he could sell his Wayne residence, near the college, he would migrate to that land. That looks as tho he was interested; but perhaps he had best rent his place and try a year in the west first, for it may not be sunshine out there all the year round.

Harry Kirkpatrick, who has been working north of Carroll on the Phil McCann farm, left Monday for Sioux City, and will seek work in Iowa, if he find where they have a corn crop. There will be no husking to amount to much on the McCann farm this fall, the drouth having saved that labor this year. His son-in-law and wife came to the station with him, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lang. Mr. Lang is of the opinion that his corn crop this season will not average more than 15 bushels per acre. A few farmers have commenced husking a little, but to date there are no reports to indicate what the yield may be in this vicinity.

Miss Celia Rennick, who has been spending some weeks here at the home of her father, James Rennick and family, left Monday to return to Phoenix, Arizona, where she has spent several years because of her ill health. Miss Rennick is much improved by the climatic condition of the west, and now returns to continue the climatic improvement so marked since she moved to that land of dry weather. On her way back she plans to stop at Omaha, then at Denver, and from Trinidad, go to Utley, about 90 miles from Trinidad, where her sister, Mrs. E. O. Milburn resides. After a visit there she will stop when near home at Williams, Arizona, and visit her sister, Ruth, now Mrs. Hudson.

Andrew Anderson from Lowville, New York, is visiting here at the home of Gerson Alvin, a relative. Mr. Anderson drove out in a Studebaker, and so had a chance to note the country along the 1,000 or more miles he traveled, and the crop conditions—tho he confessed that he did not know much of the corn crop, for in his part of the state they use their corn all for silage, and cannot expect it to mature for husking as the Nebraska and Iowa farmers do, and also some parts of Illinois. He likes the country here very much, and we are informed that he plans to take a few lessons in corn husking. Politically, he is for Al. Smith for president, because he has given such a good administration as governor of his state.

We did not ask him how he thot the state of New York would vote, but he seemed to be satisfied that the people who know him as governor will not reject him for the higher office.

OPEN SEASON FOR PHEASANTS

In the following counties there will be a ten day open season for male pheasants beginning October 22: Hall, Buffalo, Howard, Sherman, Merrick, Valley, Greeley, Garfield and Wheeler.

The season will open beginning at 7 a. m. eastern standard time of Monday, October 22nd, and close at 6 p. m. central standard time, Wednesday, October 31. The daily bag limit shall be five birds, and no more than five birds may be in your possession, and before taking them out of the county they must be tagged with a special tag, of which the county clerk has a supply. If by accident a hen is killed it shall be retrieved by the person killing same, who shall take it to the nearest game warden who will give receipt for same and the bird will be given to some charitable institution.

To hunt on private owned property, the consent of the owner must be obtained. No birds may be shot from the public highway, and prosecution will follow in such cases.

Wayne Public School News

Prepared by the class in Journalism

OFFICE NEWS

At a meeting of the student council, Tuesday, October 2, Doc Surber was appointed to choose the committee to select pins which will be given to students in place of the regular season activity tickets.

New officers elected for the band this year are: president, Herman Eichhoff; vice-president, Donald Beaman; secretary-treasurer, Dick Fenske.

It was decided by the school board that the teachers of the high school should be given two days to attend the State Teachers' Meeting which is to be held in Norfolk, October 31, November 1, 2 and 3. At this meeting Mr. Hook will give a talk on "Teacher Tenure." Miss Dorothy Cooley is to act as chairman of the round table discussion in the commercial department. Mrs. Pollard is secretary of the High School and Administration Department.

The regular monthly meeting of the faculty was held Monday, October 1. Plans were discussed for teachers to do resource work on their particular subject.

Professional meetings for the high school faculty have been scheduled for the future. These meetings will consist of a short discussion of business matters and of general and specific problems. The latter part of the meeting is devoted to a discussion of professional methods. Teachers in charge of these meetings are: Miss Huse and Mrs. Pollard, October 15; Miss Mielenz and Mr. Albert, November 12; Miss Bacon and Mr. Hook, December 10; Mr. Holder, January 14; Mr. Maynard, February 11; Miss Cooley, March 11; Mrs. Johnson, April 15. The slogan for 1928-1929 is, "Excellence in Teaching".

On account of the County Teachers' Institute held in the high school Monday and Tuesday, October 8 and 9, school was dismissed for those two days. The instructors who gave lectures at this institute were: Professor F. M. Gregg, Lincoln; R. B. Clarke, Kearney; Superintendent F. E. Alder, Pierce; and Mrs. Gladys E. Jackson, Lincoln.

School was dismissed at 2:30 last Friday that the students might have an opportunity to attend the football games at Stanton.

An extension telephone has been installed in the lower hall for convenience of teachers and students who formerly had to use the phone in the office.

A new Underwood typewriter formerly used in the office has been placed in the commercial room.

ATHLETIC NOTES

Coach Holder made some changes in the lineup of the football squad before the game with Stanton which was played on the opponent's grid Friday afternoon. All players were eligible to play last week and as a result there were a large number out for practice.

There was a meeting of the W club on October 2, when officers were elected and plans were discussed for initiation of new members. This may not take place, however, until after the football season as more may then be eligible for membership. Officers elected were: president, Carl Peterson; vice president, Fred Davis; secretary-treasurer, Clemith Johnson. The W Club at present has a membership of 8.

ASSEMBLY NOTES

The Dramatic club elected Harriet Craven president protem. She will be the representative of the recently combined dramatic and debating club on the student council.

Health reports were distributed Tuesday noon to take home to the parents. Thirty-five of a hundred and fifty-five students were normal. The pupils filled out reports on health rules. Some of the questions were: Do you eat breakfast and dinner? Do you sleep with an open bedroom window? Do you own a toothbrush and use it? Can you read writing on the blackboard twenty feet away? Do you go to bed by ten o'clock? Do you bathe once a week?

Tuesday afternoon Governor Davis of Idaho gave a talk on the "Future of high school students and their better opportunities today."

The high school with the Women's club and Kiwanis club engaged three lyceums to appear during the winter at the opera house. The first one was Given Monday night. Musical numbers and readings were given by Brown and Meneley. The second program will be readings by Redpath.

Posters have been placed in the assembly room to aid in character building.

Examinations were given last Thursday and Friday.

Last Thursday attendance was perfect. No one was absent or tardy. Sophia Damme played the march the past week.

MUSIC AND COMMERCIAL

The shorthand class has finished the reading of the Diamond Necklace. The class is now reading The Great Stone Face.

Sentence speed tests were given Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in the typewriting class. Lowell Gilderleeve ranked highest in the first test and Irol Whitmore ranked highest in the Wednesday tests.

SENIOR NOTES

There are now forty seniors and it is probable that two more will join the class before graduation time.

The largest class ever graduated from the Wayne high school was the class of twenty-three of which Paul Bowen was president. Forty-three students received diplomas that year. This year's seniors are out to break that record and they need two more class members to do it.

The solid geometry class is completing Book I.

Students in the advanced typing class are typing all high school news items.

The class in news writing is studying the body of a newspaper story.

"The economy of spending and saving" and "prudence in investing" are topics being discussed in the economics class. The class is studying sources of investment. In order that they may know what balance sheets and profits and loss sheets of a sound firm should look like, they are studying simple balance sheets and profit and loss statements of several well-known companies.

The United States history class is studying colonial life. Maps showing the early stages of the westward movement, are being made. Charts are being started which show the division of slavery, the westward migration, democracy and representative government and territorial expansion.

THE VECTO - FOR COMFORT and ECONOMY

The Ideal Vecto Heater is a clean, compact, self-contained heating unit—a perfected, scientific application of nature's way of spreading warmth.

Instead of radiating an intense heat for a short distance in one room only, the Vecto Heater distributes an even, comfortable warmth through every room. This it accomplished by its very extensive and scientifically designed heating surface.

Large volumes of air are continuously warmed at moderate temperatures. In accordance with the natural law of gravitation the warmed air rises and circulates steadily throughout the home, bringing clean and healthful warmth to every nook and corner. The Ideal Vecto Heater thus actually warms and circulates the entire body of air in a home, six to ten times each hour. Yet because of its special, exclusive features of design, it consumes no more coal than is ordinarily used by old-fashioned heaters to warm one room!

Forty-six and two-thirds percent of the members of the student-council are seniors.

JUNIOR CLASS

Raymond Keem is a new student in the junior class. His father, Martin F. Keem, is manager of the Boyd hotel. Raymond Keem formerly lived at Herman, Nebraska, but most of his school work was done in Nebraska City.

On the student council this year there are fifteen representatives. Five of these are juniors, giving the class 33 1-3% of the vote of the council. They are Herman Eichhoff, Wilbur Porterfield, Carl Peterson, George Downing, and Frederick Dowling. Other junior officers are: Kathryn Kemp, vice president of the girls' glee club; and Clemith Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the W club.

The Dramatic and Debating clubs have been combined this year in a forensic league.

The third year English class wrote the second book reports Wednesday. The class is starting the study of the play "Hamlet" by Shakespeare. A day each week is given to oral reports. The purpose of oral reports is to familiarize the students with the leading magazines and the events of the day as well as to train them in the rudiments of correct grammar.

The physics class is studying the mechanics of gases, which includes a study of the compressibility and expansibility of gases. A study is also being made of weather maps, the atmosphere, and compression and exhaust pumps.

SOPHOMORE NOTES

The sophomore class, this year holds 13 1/2 per cent of the votes on the student council. The English II classes have just completed a review of the parts of speech. The class will write themes next week.

RECORD BREAKING MONTH!
GREATEST SEPTEMBER IN WILLYS-OVERLAND HISTORY

141% AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

MONTH after month, Willys-Overland's sales records have been smashed throughout the year. And the big parade goes on—last month being the greatest of all Septembers in the Company's 20-year history, and 141% ahead of last year.

This towering structure of success has its foundations deep down in the sound elements of dollar-for-dollar value—in proved operating economy and dependable performance of the Whippet Four, Whippet Six and Willys-Knight Six.

The Whippet Four offers to light car buyers many engineering advantages formerly found only in costly cars. The Whippet Six is the world's lowest-priced Six, with 7-bearing crankshaft and other important superiorities. The Willys-Knight Six—at the lowest price in history—is bringing the marked advantages of the patented double sleeve-valve engine to thousands of new owners.

should be their task, more than any other force, to get the voter out on election day—a job neglected by the ordinary political speaker who works for pay. What remuneration is the publisher to have for this task? Why, as a rule he gets fully 25 column of propaganda each week to dump into the waste basket. Fine.

An exchange announces that a new money is soon to be issued—that is, it is to be of a new design and a new size—smaller bill, and that is to be a specimen of the Coolidge brand of economy. The report is spread that this reducing the size of the bill one third is to save to Uncle Sam millions of dollars annually, for there is to be a saving in paper of one third and a like amount in the press work—but it seems to have forgotten to mention that the making of new plates for the various bills will probably wipe out at least the first year of saving in press work and paper. What most of us want, is a bill that is easier to earn and that will buy a little more of the necessities and luxuries of life than the old rag dollar. It is about 60 years since there has been any marked change in the size or form of the plates from which our paper money is printed. Better find a nice, new dollar bill of the present make and frame it, and within the next 100 years it may be quite a curiosity. The writer has a $5.00 gold piece that was minted nearly 100 years ago, and we notice that gold money of any denomination of old or recent mintage are not very commonly seen in the marts of trade these days.

POLITICAL HODGEPODGE

Hodgepodge is defined as a mixture of many things, and that perhaps, tells the political situation of today as clearly as it can be told this campaign. Politicians will make their predictions for one side or the other—tell how this state or that state will go—but they do not know, and few if any of them feel at all certain on either side. Party lines are disregarded more than we can remember of in our life time. The individual voters, many of whom are keeping their intentions as how they will vote under their hat. Some will talk freely of their change of heart, for beyond a doubt there will be many changes.

When the nomination of Smith seemed to be assured we heard many say that they would not vote the democratic ticket, and evidently they meant what they said; but since then they have learned more about this governor of New York, who has carried a republican state for its highest office on the democratic ticket, four times out of five. They have learned that he did many things for the people—that he is not a Tammany tool, but that he makes the Tammany tiger come and eat from his hand, and call it good.

Tammany opposed the nomination of Roosevelt for governor, Smith called him the ablest and best man for the place, and so told the people of the state; and they told the delegates and he was nominated. It has been thus with other instances. Smith seems to be his own boss, except that he appeals to the people as to what they want. In many instances they have endorsed his position.

Then there was Hoover and the lack of agricultural recognition by the republicans. That indicates that no one who favors the farm relief as it was presented and passed by Congress on two different occasions and vetoed by the president—no one unless it be our governor—who would feel that Hoover could or should be given a vote by any farmer who believed in farm relief and its justness. When they know that Hoover in his platform and his speeches endorses the Harding and Coolidge administrations. They ask themselves when in the voter's booth, why should I vote for the man who endorsed the veto of the measure for farm relief? And the echo from the walls of that private apartment echo WHY? and is there any answer?

Then, too, many are remembering than endorsement of the administrations above mentioned means an endorsement of the administration; with all of the evidence in said was a fraudulent transfer of the people's property to private interests. Do you approve and endorse that steal?

Then there is the Vire frauds in Pennsylvania—and Vire is the man said to have dictated to the republican convention and the delegates there, who should have the nomination. Then there is Smith of Chicago, who is in bad as a corruptionist—and he is for Hoover and was for his nomination.

That Tammany Tiger was a fierce beast, politically 60 years ago, but now its mission seems to be to make the great metropolis city of America, the city of New York, the best governed city in all America. And it seems to be so doing, Chicago, next in size to New York is badly governed, and has many things which Tammany would not tolerate. Philadelphia is charged with being governed by bootleggers and rum runners.

Then while Al Smith has been governor of New York, he has put the public schools of the state in an enviable position among the state, and it was a tall-order in many respects before the money was found to make the rural and smaller city schools what they should be.

Many of the women who do not understand what the governor of New York state has been doing for women feel that they are not voting for justice and their own interests as a class in supporting the democratic nominee. But to Al Smith is given the credit of having a law placed on the statute books of his state—and in opposition to the political bosses of the legislature and the state, enabling women to draw the same pay for the same work as the men. Before this law was enacted the women in many instances were doing as good and often better work than the men for from a half to two-thirds the compensation.

There is the temperance question. Al tells for just what he stands, and his opponents, if the present administration is a guide, and it is endorsed, stand for nothing that looks as good, and know that enforcement of the Volstead law is a farce, and is not enforced in the otherwise best governed communities—where ordinarily the laws are respected and reasonably enforced. This tends to bring all law into disrepute.

It is a case, this year where party lines are not holding, and the individual should study platforms, men and measures and vote as seems best to him.

BAPTISTS HOLDING STATE MEET AT FREMONT

Rev. A. C. Downing is at Fremont this week where he is in attendance and taking a part in the annual Baptist state convention, when much of the state work for the year is planned. Ministers and delegates from over the state are present, as well as many of the leading men of the national organization, and all phases of the church work will be considered.

The Women's Society, under the leadership of Mrs. Thomas from David City, the president of the organization, will have a part in the program. Mrs. Mary Bloomer from New York, treasurer of the organization, will give one of the main addresses.

The young people of the church are also recognized and have a place on the program. Their convention will be held Saturday and Sunday with a banquet Saturday evening, and a pageant will be given by the young folks of the Omaha Immanuel church.

"Sharing Christ with the World" will be the theme of the convention. Below we give a few of the men who will speak at the sessions:

- Rev. James H. Franklin, D. D., New York, foreign secretary, American Baptist Home Mission society.
- Rev. W. H. Bowler, D. D., New York, executive secretary, Board of Missionary Co-operation.
- Rev. F. A. Agar, D. D., New York, stewardship secretary, Board of Missionary Co-operation.
- Rev. Owen C. Brown, D. D., Philadelphia, editor-in-chief of Sunday school publications, American Baptist Publication society.
- Rev. G. W. Cassidy, D. D., Chicago, field secretary, Judson fund.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Alpha club met Tuesday for a nine o'clock breakfast with Mrs. O. L. Randall, who was assisted by Mrs. C. L. Wright and Mrs. C. W. Hixcox. Margaret Randall received the guests presenting a flower to identify their places at the small tables where a three course breakfast was served. The tables were decorated with centerpieces of garden flowers. Plans for entertaining the husbands on October 27, were made at a business session following the breakfast. This meeting will be held at the home of R. C. Hahlbeck. A very interesting roll call in the form of a question was conducted by Mrs. C. L. Wright.

Mrs. Eli Laughlin, with Miss Cora Haglund assisting, entertained the Laporte community club at her home yesterday, with twelve ladies from Wayne as guests. The hostesses served a two course luncheon. The afternoon was spent at games. The ladies were dressed in old time costumes, and each was presented with a carnation.

The Minerva met Monday with Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis, when Mrs. E. W. Hase had charge of a drill on parliamentary law. Miss Jeanette Lewis played a special selection on the piano. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The club meets in two weeks with Mrs. F. G. Dale.

The Monday club met with Mrs. G. J. Hess. Roll call was answered with current events. Mrs. H. H. Hahn had charge of the lesson on "Saiscois Rebelais". The club will meet next Monday with Mrs. O. R. Bowen.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh entertained at a bridge luncheon for Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Robertson of New York City, last evening. Places were filled at eight tables, and a two course luncheon was served.

The Acme met Tuesday with Mrs. E. S. Blair. Mrs. H. F. Wilson led the lesson on current events. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. J. T. Bressler, sr.

The U. D. Met Monday with Mrs. H. B. Jones. The lesson was on magazine articles. The club meets next Monday with Mrs. A. T. Claycomb.

The Coteri met Monday with Mrs.

Art Ahern for a study of current events. Next Monday the club will meet with Mrs. John F. Ahern.

The Fortnightly meets next Monday with Mrs. D. S. Wightman.

MRS. ANTONETTE FUNK SPEAKS

Last Saturday afternoon and evening, Mrs. Funk from Washington spoke to the ladies of Wayne and vicinity on the political issues and the presidential candidates. She first talked a short time to the ladies at the City hall, and was then tempted out by the very pleasant weather for a 30-minute talk on the street where quite a crowd gathered and heard an interesting speech.

Mrs. Funk was once a republican, in the days when Roosevelt made that party more of a party for the people and had the big stick out for the bad combines; and when he felt the call to lead the progressives in a revolt against the conservatism of President Taft. Then Mrs. Funk went with Teddy—and began campaigning for those same progressive measures that the democratic nominee now stands for in this campaign. For the people and against the greed of corporations, and that is why Mrs. Funk is in the battle.

Mrs. Funk also campaigned for equal suffrage, and thus was known by reputation to many of the Wayne women, who participated in those campaigns.

Saturday evening she addressed a fine audience of men and women that comfortably filled the city hall. She personally knows both presidential candidates, and for what measures they stand—that is as near as one may know from his utterances for what Hoover stands. All may know where the democratic nominee stands for he tells the people, and appeals to them in an honest straightforward manner—for he has no issues to dodge—and hopes that the voters will appreciate the honesty with which he appeals to them. Mrs. Funk gave both candidates with ability, but the republican does not take the people into his confidence, as does Al Smith, and one has ever worked with big business and for it—the other a leader, bold and aggressive in his demands for the rights of the people, in whom he confides his views.

Thus, Mrs. Funk spoke as one having real knowledge of the men and measures of the campaign, and as they appealed to her, she could only follow the ideals she saw in Roosevelt years ago and now sees in Al Smith.

CHAS. NIES DIES AT HOSPITAL. Word came from Mrs. Emma Baker that her brother Chas. Nies passed away at the Deadwood hospital the day following her arrival there, and she accompanied the body to his late home at Ekalaka, Montana, where burial was had. An obituary will be given next week.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Walter Green has been visiting at Norfolk returning this morning.

Wayne A. Norris of Council Bluffs, a missionary from South America, and soon to return, was a guest at the E. B. Young home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hiscoc are in McCook on a combined business and pleasure trip, planning to return today. Mr. Hiscoc is installing a refrigerator plant while there.

Earl Barker, a former resident here, but now of Bassett was here the first of the week, while returning from Omaha, where he had been with cattle from his Bassett home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Foster left this morning to visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Donald Lowe, at Granite Falls, Minnesota. Before returning they plan to spend a few days at Minneapolis. Mr. Foster has had a busy season, and now plans a ten day vacation.

10 corn pickers wanted Monday at Gamble's.

Mrs. L. W. Jamieson went to Norfolk, Tuesday to visit at the home of Mrs. W. L. Dunn, a sister of Dr. Jamieson.

E. B. Young was at Yankton Tuesday, driving over to attend a great meeting of the workers of the American Sunday school organization, with which he worked for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fleetwood of the Fleetwood Studios, Sioux City, have been engaged to teach in the summer classes of The Chicago Musical college, during the summer of 1929, 30 and 31.

F. G. Kanman, who underwent an operation for hernia at the Methodist hospital at Sioux City, returned home Tuesday and reports that he is getting along very well. He says he is glad to be back on the job at the Rehder pool hall.

Mrs. F. A. Sandberg from Laurel was here Wednesday morning on her way to Omaha, where she is a delegate to the annual meeting of the Presbyterian synodical sessions being held at that city this week. The session began Wednesday and will close Friday.

Sorensen & Son, who will open a John Deere implement store here about the first of next month were in Wayne the first of the week looking for a suitable building in which to store their implements. They have leased a portion of the Kingston building for office and sales room. The firm operates implement stores in Hartington and Coleridge.

Chas. Holley, of Lorenze, Iowa, spent Sunday at the home of J. H. McMurphy. Mr. Holley is well acquainted with the political situation of the Hawkeye state and predicts that Smith will give Hoover a hard race in that state, although it has always been republican. There is a strong sentiment of disfavor for the present administration, he said, and Smith will get many votes.

There has been a number of friends interested in missionary work at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Young during the past few days, several of them coming for a week-end. Among them were Miss Kathryn Buck and Miss Hodge from Minneapolis, Miss W. Madsen from Mound, Minnesota, Miss A. Ferne Houser, missionaries from Africa, and soon to return, and with them a Miss Pauline Jove from Central America, her native land. It is needless to tell that it was an interesting time for those who are much interested in the cause of missions.

Chas. Schellenberger, who is the democratic nominee from this county for a seat in the state legislature, was at Wayne Wednesday, and visited the Democrat a short time. He tells us that if elected it will be his purpose to serve the people of the county and state to the best of his ability, and hopes that there may be a working majority in the legislature for the good things democracy advocates, which to him means the preservation of the Bank Guarantee Law and the proper application of the funds from a gasoline tax, be it little or much, so that each county will have its proper share of what it pays to apply to the home road maintenance. Mr. S. has so arranged his business that he will from now on devote most of his time to his campaign. He plans to be here this evening to the political gathering.

Winside News

The Woman's club held their first meeting this year with Mrs. Walter Gaebler as hostess Thursday afternoon, seventeen members and the ten guests were present. The program consisted of a vocal solo—"Anna Laurie", Mrs. I. O. Brown; paper "The First Play in the United States", Mrs. G. A. Mittelstadt; Pianologue, Mrs. Harry Tedrick; "Chinese Theater" Mrs. Art Auken; "Eugene O'Neill, the great play writer", Mrs. Chas. Needham; piano solo, Mrs. H. B. Siman. The hostess served a two course luncheon.

Fritz Dimmel and Wm. Kruger went to St. Louis Saturday to see the World series baseball game.

Dorothy Rew entertained a party of thirty young people at her home on Saturday evening the occasion being her birthday. Cards furnished the entertainment of the evening. Lunch was served.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

First Methodist Episcopal Church
William W. Whitman, Pastor
We had four wonderful services in our church last Sunday, beginning with the Sunday school session at 10 o'clock when promotion day was observed.

The church was filled to hear Prof. F. M. Gregg at eleven o'clock. Again in the afternoon a fine audience with delegations from the neighboring towns attended the institute conducted by Prof. Gregg.

A large congregation attended the evening service in charge of the young people. Prof. Gregg delivered an address on the subject of "The Psychology of Happiness."

Services next Sunday will be held as follows:
10 a. m. Sunday school session.
11 Morning worship, sermon by the pastor.
Solo by Prof. W. Irving Horn, Anthem by the choir.
7 Evening service in charge of the young people.

First Baptist Church
Rev. A. C. Downing, Pastor
Evangelist R. R. Richards will begin a series of services Sunday morning next. Services every night at 7:30.

It is said of Rev. Richards that: "He has a record of notable achievement as a genuine revivalist, is vigorous, sane, and sincere; does not lose his temper, falsely accuse his brethren, or stir up strife; presents the gospel in a wholesome manner, inspires faith, and really does the work of an evangelist. Mr. Richards sings and does not need the help of a special musical director."

We invite all to join us in these special services.

First Presbyterian Church
Fenton C. Jones, Pastor
10 Sunday school.
Watch the Brotherhood class grow—also the young men's class. Still there is room and a welcome, in all departments.

11:00 Morning worship. Sermon, "Planning for Progress." We had a nice congregation last Sunday morning and invite all to return for next Sunday.

6:30 Young people's meeting. Something of interest to all young people who like companionship and friendship mixed with their religion.
7:30 What then? Well, that's the

STATE NORMAL BOARD MEETS - APPROPRIATIONS REQUESTED

(From The Goldenrod)

Governor Adam McMullen at the State Normal Board meeting at Lincoln received the requests for maintenance and building improvements of the presidents of Wayne, Chadron, Peru and Kearney. A provisional budget will be submitted to the Legislature this fall.

President Conn of Wayne State Teachers College requested that this school be permitted to build the west wing of Neihardt Hall. The central structure and one wing of this hall are now being constructed at the cost of one hundred thousand dollars. Fifty thousand dollars is asked for the building of the west wing. Since the roof of the Library-Science building must be renewed, President Conn asked that a third story be added to the Library and Science building. This third story would then be used to house the library for a tentative period or until appropriations could be made for a separate library building.

Peru asked for a sum sufficient to complete the new science building. Kearney requests the completion of a training school and tunnel connections with the heating plant. Chadron asked for a new auditorium and a fund asked for a new auditorium and a fund for maintenance funds were asked for by each school.

The State Normal board holds its next meeting in Wayne on November 19th.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 60 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 60 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

KANGAROO CREATURES

"Why do you say that your adventures are finer and more interesting than ours?" asked the tree kangaroo. "Because we see a great deal of the world, too. We don't walk out to meet the world, but the world comes to our cages and yards to meet us," the oldest kangaroo inhabitant said proudly.

The rat kangaroo looked at the tree kangaroo and they both shook their heads as though to say: "Poor old inhabitant—his brain is a little queer."

But while they were thinking this and saying nothing aloud, the oldest inhabitant went on talking. "You see, people from all over the world come to see us. There are people who speak different languages, and stand in front and chat about us. Ah, the many languages which have been used in describing our charms!"

And the kangaroo who had lived longest in the zoo waved his tail delightedly. "We have seen people from the south, the north, the east and west, and even from the center."

"Whatever do you mean by the center?" asked the tree kangaroo. "I mean here, of course," said the oldest inhabitant. "I am judging the other directions from where I stand."

"Here in the zoo the keepers come to see us, and then the outsiders come to gaze and admire as I've said before. You see," he continued, "it is true, though we don't travel we see people who have traveled."

"And that's fine. We hear their stories. It's far greater and more superior to hear of many journeys than it is to know of just one which we have taken ourselves."

The oldest inhabitant certainly did bring out his point, and the tree and rat kangaroo visitors wished they hadn't boasted so much.

"It's fine," he continued, "to be talked about in many languages." "Soon we will be as lucky as you are," the tree kangaroo said.

The oldest inhabitant smiled a kangaroo smile. He had made them feel less superior, which was what he wanted, and now he felt he could satisfy his curiosity and hear about the trip they had just taken in coming to the zoo.

He had seen to it that they wouldn't boast by making out his life to be so interesting. "Who came along on this trip?" he asked.

"Well," said the tree kangaroo, "there was the rat kangaroo and then there was myself."

"That's right," smiled the oldest inhabitant, "begin with yourselves."

The tree kangaroo felt ashamed once more and began again. "There were two rabbit-eared hand-cots, two rufous-necked wallabies, two Tasmanian black phalangers, four marsupial mice, two water mongooses, two West Australian rat kangaroos—one my friend here—three yellow-footed rock wallabies, twelve snake-necked turtles, six blue-tongued lizards and ten dragon lizards."

The tree kangaroo paused for breath. "Any more?" asked the oldest inhabitant, as if he had not been in the least impressed by the number.

"That's all," said the tree kangaroo, and the rat kangaroo agreed by nodding his head and saying: "That's all, but when we were all on one boat it seemed enough."

"Well, I give you all a cordial welcome," said the oldest inhabitant with a low bow!

Monkey Has a Toothache A large mangabey monkey called Cherry, at the London zoo, is regretting that he gave way to curiosity, for it cost him one of his beautiful teeth.

Jewish Funerals Simple No flowers are used at Jewish funerals because the Jewish law requires that a funeral be as simple and democratic as possible. Jews use plain pine boxes and plain linen shrouds. They have no music and no flowers. There must be no distinction between the rich man and poor man.

Where Man Can Live, but Not Raise Family advertisement with text about individual existence and reproduction.

In primitive times and in the Glacial period, however, half of the earth's surface may have been so cold that unprotected savages would have frozen to death had they tried to live there. Even now in regions like Greenland and Antarctica the well-equipped, vigorous, adult white man stands an extremely good chance of freezing to death if he tried to remain year after year.

In such places families cannot survive. Until our skill increases very materially it would be suicidal to attempt to raise a family on the Antarctic ice sheet where the intrepid Scott froze to death. It would be almost equally foolish to make the attempt in Death valley, where the thermometer rises above 135 degrees, and the summer is one long discomfort because one's tissues call for water no matter how much one may drink.

Men can live there, but not mothers and babies; the climatic limits of reproduction are more narrow than those of individual existence.—Ellsworth Huntington in Harper's Magazine.

Western Novel Heroes Draw Rap From Critic I wonder why, when a feller picks up a Western novel nowadays, there has to be so much smoke and dust, smoke from six-shooters and dust from one man chasing another. It seems like there's no rest for the good any more than there is for the wicked, and a feller wonders how come all the characters ain't killed in the first round of the first chapter, but if that was the case there wouldn't be no story much, so the characters have got to suffer on through and live anyhow, only the bad boys are relieved at the end, by sudden death or by a term in the pen. That's proper and as it should be, sure enough, but that ain't life. I don't object to the guns, as long as they ain't pointed toward me, what I object at, by making that big fuss over 'em, is that so much that's good in the Western life is covered up by 'em.—Will James in the Bookman.

Gopher's Composition (1) Although I have practiced, my game is not good. (2) The second hole was worse than the first hole, and the third hole was the most bad. (3) I have struck my golf ball over 100 times. (4) The grass near the fourth hole is long and very beautiful. (5) I have lost there my white ball with the pretty dots. (6) While I am hunting for it my partner is angry. (7) No, I have no more golf balls. (8) Have you found my golf ball, caddy? (9) Yes, here it is under this little stone in the sand. (10) Give me my iron and then give me my niblick, too. (11) See, I have struck the ball and it is in the lake. (12) I think I shall not play golf again because I am tired. (13) I shall go to church the next Sunday.—Kansas City Star.

Movie Show Hero Two women sat together in a motion picture theater, and one of them, who was reading the subtitles aloud to the other, was puzzled when one appeared containing the word "kibitzer." Stopping in perplexity, she said: "Say, Dolly, what's 'kibitzer'?" "I'm sure I don't know," Dolly replied.

The puzzled lady was still unsatisfied. Leaning forward, she asked a gentleman sitting in front: "Pardon me, sir, but do you know what a 'kibitzer' is?" "Yes, madam," replied the gentleman in front, politely, but firmly. A 'kibitzer' is a person who reads the subtitles aloud in a motion picture theater, to the extreme annoyance of others within hearing."

Us Girls Bessie spent ten cents of her own money to take her brother to see a picture show. "Mamma," said she, "couldn't I take baby Jackie with me next time I go?" "Why, what do you want to take an eight-months-old baby to a motion picture for?" inquired her mother.

"Well," said Bessie defensively, "if I've got to take him sometime, I'd rather take him now before he gets big and expensive."

Laying Hen Sings A laying hen is usually a singing hen and happiness is encouraged by plenty of good oat or wheat straw on the floor. Practical poultrymen differ as to the respective merits of wheat, rye, and oat straw for litter. Each has been used without any noticeable differences as to wearing and sanitary qualities. Rye straw is somewhat stiff and oat straw breaks rather readily. The best advice is to use what is convenient and keep the house in good sanitary condition.

Cause of Fowl Typhoid Thank your lucky stars if you've never met up with Eberthella sanguinarum. She's the germ that causes fowl typhoid, a most destructive disease. It acts much like fowl cholera, the birds becoming dull, droopy, with pale combs and a greenish or yellowish diarrhoea. Death usually isn't as rapid as with cholera. One mark of typhoid is that the liver enlarges and becomes a brownish or greenish color, while the kidneys look faded, as if cooked.

POULTRY PLAN TO FATTEN HOLIDAY TURKEYS advertisement with text about marketing season and fattening plan.

The marketing season for turkeys is from about the middle of November to the last of December. Fattening turkeys during the fattening season has not proved successful. They will eat heartily for two or three days, but after this they will lose their appetite and begin to lose flesh rapidly. Naturally, they are wild birds and thrive only when they have access to open range. During the summer and fall they find an abundance of feed on the average farm; however, it is advisable to give them a small feed at night for the purpose of bringing them home to roost. Grasshoppers and other insects, weeds and grass seeds, green vegetation, berries and grain picked up in the fields and about go to make up the turkey's daily ration, and when all these are plentiful they are in splendid condition when the fattening season arrives.

A satisfactory plan for fattening is to begin by feeding small rations at night and morning, not enough at a time but that the birds will walk away still a little hungry, and gradually increase the quantity, adding some corn, until they are given all they will eat three times a day. Along at the close of the fattening season corn, supplemented with fresh sour milk, may constitute the full ration. New corn may be fed safely provided the turkeys are gradually accustomed to it, otherwise scours may result.

Various kinds of nuts are a natural fattening feed picked up by turkeys on the range. In parts of Texas, many growers, properly situated, depend solely on acorns for fattening their turkeys, and when the mast is plentiful the birds are marketed in fairly good condition.

Use Lights in Poultry House During Winter A series of cautions for the use of lights in the poultry house is found in the Ohio state poultry calendar. They are as follows: Grade and pen pullets according to age, condition, and laying qualities, so that each group may be properly handled. Excessive fall production makes it hard to keep the flock in heavy production during the winter. Don't use lights to produce more than a 14-hour day. Excessive use of lights means overproduction, followed by a slump. To avoid a spring molt, discontinue lights slowly in the spring. Use lights on breeders only after January 1 to 15, in order to help them back into production. Don't crowd production over 60 percent, otherwise the flock will become thin and molt. Be regular in management and use of lights. Feed grain liberally when using lights. Always have feed and water available when lights are on. Do not turn lights off too early in the spring. Do not stop feeding early and late in the day when lights are finally eliminated.

Early Layers Usually Heavy Egg Producers Pullets that begin to lay early usually are the heaviest producers in the flock and for this reason it is an excellent practice to mark them so that they can be given due consideration for their performance next year when it comes time to cull the flock. It is pointed out by L. E. Card, of the University of Illinois. Pullets that are extremely late in starting to lay are always certain to be the least desirable birds to use as breeders. In breeding for higher egg production, individuals of this type should be kept out of the breeding pens. If the early-laying pullets are banded with numbered leg bands, all that is necessary is to make a record of the individual band numbers and the approximate date on which egg-laying starts. Another equally satisfactory scheme is to use colored leg bands, in which case a different colored band should be used to mark the pullets that start laying in the different months.

FRESHMEN NOTES

Ruth Arnes is a new member of the freshman class. She lived here about a year and a half ago.

In a recent test it was found that the freshmen have 13 1/2 per cent of the student council vote.

The agriculture I class has made two experiments: In the first one, seed corn was tested. In the second one grafting was done.

The class plans to make a hot bed this month. If it is successful they will have plants for sale next spring.

The English I classes are studying Silas Marner. These classes carry out the following plan of study: two days out of the week the class studies Silas Marner, one day is given over to oral composition, another day a lesson in Tanner Composition and Rhetoric, and the remaining day is devoted to theme work.

Wednesday, the 3d of October, the first book reports were written. New blanks for book reports have been received and bought by the pupils.

The physiography class has finished the study of the atmosphere and is now studying the general movements of the atmosphere. Last week two demonstrations were given in class: one showing the expansibility of air and the other showing the pressure of the atmosphere.

The algebra I class has new books. Each member has bought his own. The names of the new books is Exercises and Tests in Algebra by Smith-Reeve-Morris.

EIGHTH GRADE NOTES

The eighth grade had tests last week.

At a class meeting, the eighth grade voted to have a candy sale in the lower hall Friday, October 19. They also plan to have a Halloween party on October thirty-first. The committees in charge are as follows: entertainment, Don Miller, Marcella Weber, Joyce Denbeck, Fred Cross and Mirabel Blair; decoration, Elmer Kibbourn, Mary Alice Strahan, and Isabel Hansen; Marian Jones, Robert Kingston, Gertrude Cash, Elsie Bonawitz, and Pauline Assenheimer are the members of the eats committee. Peggy Morris was absent one day last week on account of illness. The eighth grade made color charts in art class.

SEVENTH GRADE NOTES

There was no tardiness last week. Several pupils were absent. Verona McNatt was absent September 27 and 28 on account of sickness. Edwin Thies, Thomas Liveringhouse and Dean Simpson were also absent. Netha James has returned to school after a two weeks' absence.

Six weeks' examinations were given October 2 and 3. Members of the art class made conventional designs of marigolds.

A speed test was given in the B reading class Thursday, September 27. The fastest readers were Warren Bald, first; Keith Cartright, second; and Catherine Keane, third.

SIXTH GRADE NOTES

The sixth grade has just completed a study of fractions. An arithmetic test was given last week. Amy Barnes, Earl Bonawitz and Helen Vath all received 100%.

The sixth A class is studying journals. These are very effective in familiarizing the pupil with geography. The boys of the sixth grade gave their teacher, Mrs. Melvin, an apple roll, Monday.

Pearl Barnes had a birthday party Friday.

Miss Nona Colligan of Lyons visited the sixth grade this week.

FIFTH GRADE NOTES

A's, O's and C's of the best penmanship in the fifth grade have been placed along the blackboard.

Frank Strahan is librarian and is in charge of all school library books.

Members of a A language class are giving oral talks on citizenship in the halls, on the grounds and in public place. The B language class is telling short stories to illustrate the types of sentences as to their use.

Peggy Strahan, Josephine Lay, and Gladys Downing received 100 in the first one-hundred word spelling test.

To arouse interest in silk project has been started in the A geography class. The pupils are studying Asia.

Color charts of a tulip design were made in art work.

Dorothy Hook is the new secretary-treasurer of the health club.

In order to have room for the potted plants the club plans to make a fernery from art fiber.

Mrs. Downing visited in the fifth grade Friday, September 28.

FOURTH GRADE NOTES

A health club has been organized by the fourth grade. The officers are as follows: Geraldine Gamble, president; Margaret Randall, vice-president; Neva Jones, secretary; R. B. Peck, treasurer. Each member must observe the rules of the club each day. The rules are: clean hands, face, neck, ear, and fingernails; teeth brushed twice a day; hair combed neatly; shoes brushed; and ten hours of sleep each night; with open windows. The president chooses two health inspectors each morning to see that rules have been observed.

Every Friday, the fourth grade has a radio reading class. An announcer is chosen, and the pupils read poems and stories as the radio program. This improves their oral reading.

Norma Fuesler was absent from school because of illness, last Monday morning. Miss Kate Taylor, of Plainview, visited the fourth grade last Thursday. During the first month of school, fifteen pupils have perfect attendance records. They are: Carol Peterson, Buford Johnson, Ray Bonawitz, R. B. Peck, Geraldine Gamble, Ruth Judson, Margaret Randall, Wilma Baker, Helen Bald, Lueen Barnes, Margaret Mau, Marie Thies, Lois Thompson, Helen Westerhouse, and Deloris McNatt.

THIRD GRADE NOTES

Mrs. F. L. Blair visited the third grade Monday, October 1.

The third grade pupils have made a vegetable border for their room. The pupils have also made a color chart showing the six standard colors and the primary colors. The third grade pupils were entertained by the fourth grade with an impromptu dramatization of a play taken from their reading lesson.

The B class has finished "The Sunbonnet Babies in Holland". They enjoyed it so much that they wrote to Mr. Hook requesting that he order "The Overall Boys in Switzerland."

A special finger nail inspection was held in the third grade. Those with satisfactory nails were allowed to parade before the first grade. All in the class but two were allowed to go.

SECOND GRADE NOTES

Bonnell Jones was absent the first of the week on account of illness.

The second grade pupils have just begun the study of Indians in connection with their language course. They have made likenesses of Indian rugs with paper and have also made Indian pottery with clay.

An apple shower for the teacher was given Wednesday, October 3rd.

FIRST GRADE NOTES

A new pupil, Inamse Meyer, entered the first grade Monday. There are twenty-two pupils in the class now.

Alice Mae Stoven was absent from school a half day last week. The first grade boys had a perfect attendance record.

Using the letters drawn on the blackboard as examples, the first grade has been cutting out the letters of the alphabet freehand from two-inch squares of paper.

The first grade has been studying "The Little Red Hen." To illustrate the story they have drawn a number of posters freehand.

In order to raise their weights to normal, the children are having a "Drink Milk" campaign in hygiene this month. Last month they worked on keeping clean—keeping their finger nails clean in particular.

KINDERGARTEN NOTES

The project in the kindergarten last week was vegetables. The children brought so many vegetables that Miss Will made vegetable soup. The pupils ate their lunch at the school house Friday, September 28. Mr. Craven took pictures of the youngsters eating soup.

The project this week is a grocery store. The pupils are bringing groceries to school to put in the store. Gordon Hrabak and Uona Jane Hall have been absent this week.

Mr. Lloyd Powers and daughter Norma, visited the kindergarten Friday.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP

As required by an act of Congress, of the Nebraska Democrat, for October, 1928, a weekly newspaper, published at Wayne Nebraska:

Editor, publisher, owners and managers are E. O. Gardner and G. A. Wade, both of Wayne, Nebraska, and no other persons or corporations own more than 1 percent of the plant or business.

Signed by E. O. Gardner, editor, and subscribed and sworn to before Martin L. Ringer, a notary public, October 1, 1928.

POULTRY

CULL AND MARK PRODUCING HEN

Fall is a season of year when flocks of poultry should be culled, according to L. H. Schwartz of Purdue university. Getting rid of the nonproducers now means better living conditions for the birds which are left. It gives the better birds a chance to produce eggs from now on when the price of eggs begins to rise. It will also reduce the feed bill.

Poultry flocks should, of course, be culled regularly. Any birds which show indications of positive sickness, poor laying capacity and lacking in vigor should be culled whenever seen. This is the time when a number of birds will take a vacation from laying. The nonlaying bird will show a comb which is either dried or beginning to dry up, a close space between the pelvic bones and keel and between the pelvic bones themselves. The longer they are out of laying the heavier may be the deposit of fat on the pelvic bones.

The birds may also be in a molt. All molting may not be due to poor laying. It may be the result of feeding a ration which is not high in protein. Purdue university recommends the following ration to feed to laying birds: Grain, 300 pounds yellow corn and 200 pounds of wheat; mash, 100 pounds each of ground yellow corn, wheat bran and middlings, and 75 pounds of meat scrap.

It is very desirable also not only to cull the birds now, but to mark those which show every indication of being high producers. Those birds which show no molt have a large body capacity and have a large soft abdomen are the ones which should be marked as possible breeders for another year. Many folks who have culled their flocks at this season of the year have received, actually, more eggs from the remainder of the flock than they did when they had the culs in with the whole flock.

Whitewash Henhouse in Fall for Winter Use

A coat of whitewash or cold water white paint on the inside walls of the poultry house will brighten up the interior and make it lighter during the winter months when the hen needs all the light she can get.

To make whitewash: Slack a half bushel of quicklime or lump lime with boiling water, keeping it covered during the process. Strain it and add a peck of salt dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice boiled in water until it is a thin paste, a half pound of powdered Spanish whiting, and a pound of clear blue dissolved in water. Mix these together well and let the mixture stand for several days. Heat it and apply as hot as possible with a whitewash brush. Alum added to whitewash will make it stick better. Use an ounce to a gallon. Molasses makes the lime more soluble and makes it penetrate wood or plaster more deeply. Use a pint of molasses to a gallon of whitewash. A pound of cheap bar soap dissolved in a gallon of boiling water and added to five gallons of thick whitewash will give the finished job a gloss like that of an oil paint.

Let Wing Feathers on White Leghorns Alone

The practice of pulling out the wing feathers to prevent the birds from flying the fences (a vice especially peculiar to Leghorns) is both slovenly and harmful to the birds themselves. The butt end of the feather quill of a growing bird contains juices which are essential to its satisfactory development, and the wing feathers should therefore be cut, unless the poultryman wishes his birds to undergo a setback.

Probably it is cheaper in the long run to buy a good commercial pullet-mash, ready mixed, rather than to mix one's own ingredients. Several well known firms of feed merchants supply excellent pullet mashes at a price which justifies the saving of labor and possible noxious, however, that it is more than advisable to deal with a reputable firm in this matter.

Good Mash Feed

What is a good mash? That depends. If you have plenty of skim milk for your fowls, say a gallon daily to 30 hens, why then a mixture of such feeds as wheat middlings, ground oats, wheat bran and corn meal will do very nicely—with maybe a little meat scraps or high-grade tankage to tempt the appetite. But if you have no skim milk, the mash should contain 15 to 20 per cent of meat scraps or high-grade tankage with the other feeds mentioned.

Hens to Select

In selecting hens pick those that have capacity for feed. The little short, dumpty kind of a hen cannot consume enough feed to make her a profitable layer. Chickens with good capacity and good appetites are the ones that fill the egg basket. If chickens eat a lot of feed and still do not lay, it is time to look at the ration and find out what is lacking. One of the faults of many feeders is that they do not give their hens enough feed, rather than too much.

Sea Rover's Ambition to Settle New World

America's first real-estate development was promoted by Eric the Red. Eric anticipated modern sales methods by more than 900 years. He spent three summers moving back and forth along the west coast of the land he had discovered, searching for pleasant districts to settle, for he had made up his mind to found a colony. He was thus not only the first Arctic explorer, and the discoverer of the new western world, but also the first of that typical western product—the realtor. For the "Saga of Eric the Red" tells us that, in connection with his plan to secure settlers, he hit upon the device of calling the place Greenland, "concealing that people would all the more desire to go there if it had a fair name."

That winter Eric carried out a publicity campaign so successfully that in the spring of 986 twenty-five ships set sail with him for Greenland. The colonists were something between 400 and 700. The numbers of the domestic animals have never been estimated, but in variety they were all the common ones of Iceland—horses, cattle, sheep, goats, pigs, chickens, geese and dogs.—Viljalmar Stefansson in the Forum Magazine.

Passed Out of Life to Keep Contentment

Charles Driscoll thinks he knows what death will be like when it comes to him. As a boy he was once very ill. He felt life ebbing away, saw members of the family standing around. Then to the watchers and himself he seemed to pass out of life. "I was away," he says, "so far away that space was different, and altogether limitless. I was immeasurably interested and contented. Returning to consciousness was like being born again into a strange world. Somebody was pouring whisky down my throat. I opened my eyes and a great sense of loss and disappointment overwhelmed me. I sat there a long time trying to project myself, in memory, back into that vast country in which I seemingly had been existing for uncountable ages. For in that country a moment seemed eternity. That experience remains a vivid and pleasant memory to this day. When I think of death I think of that eternity I sensed when the earth-life seemed to cease to pull me. And it seemed good, not evil."—Capper's Weekly.

Quill Pens

Many young men and women who think they can write and who would like to write, put off real work because they dislike the manual toll that writing demands. Even the most modern and smooth running typewriter becomes a wearisome machine. Pushing a pencil or a pen is even more tiresome. Few can dictate as well as they can write, even if they can afford the luxury of a secretary. What is needed, in the face of such trifling discouragements, is more downright energy and less laziness.

Remember that Charles Dickens once wrote a whole book with a single quill pen. But Dickens did not suffer from the commonest complaint of the young person—mental indolence.—Grove Patterson, in the Mobile Register.

Believe Me or Not

I am frank, honest, courageous, and kind. Though I do not talk much of my accomplishments, I feel that I have a serious mind, yet I do not lack a sense of humor. People look to me with respect. I am destined to be a prominent member of my community. Often quiet in company, I nevertheless have a ready wit and a capacity for intelligent conversation. At times I am too reluctant to take other people's advice. This is bad for me. I should not be headstrong, though my naturally powerful will often leads me to make mistakes of judgment. I am very sensitive.

I have just spent 14 pennies on the fortune-telling machines.—Los Angeles Times.

Cicada Not a Locust

The cicada is referred to as the 17-year locust, a name that is incorrect in at least two particulars. It is not a locust at all, that name being properly applied only to members of the grasshopper family, and while it has a 17-year period it also has a 13-year period. It has been so long mis-called by the name of the locust, however, that there is no hope of divesting it of that incorrect appellation.

When Piano Keys Stick

To keep piano keys from sticking open the piano and take the front out where the music rack is located. Expose this place that is open to the sun and air. If any sun comes in the room, move the piano to that spot; if it does not, move the piano to a place where there is sun and air. The reason piano keys stick is because the inside of the piano is swollen with dampness.

Early Britons Unlettered

Neither Caesar's Commentaries nor the writings of Tacitus and other historians of the period of the Roman domination convey evidence that the Britons had any knowledge of letters until the Roman and Greek characters were taught them. Neither do these historians preserve any oral traditions of the British bards or druids calculated to shed much light upon the early history of the Celtic race.

Dalton's Chance Partner

By JOHN GRAY

(Copyright.)

FIVE years had sped since Dalton Drew was graduated from Millard college, and now he was revisiting the little college town for the first time. To be sure, it was a matter of business. A client of the law firm of which he was a junior partner lived in the outskirts of Millard, and Dalton Drew had been detailed to take this necessary trip to see him. Dalton arrived at six o'clock of the evening preceding the morning when he was booked to call on the client, and went to the house of one of his fraternity brothers whom he knew to be still a resident of Millard. Benson Forsyth had married and lived at home, but he apologized to Dalton that, as his wife was taking a vacation, and as the cook had taken French leave, he could not play a very good host.

That is how it happened that Drew and Forsyth, of the class of 1913, looking quite worldly wise and middle aged to the boys and girls who were dining at Barlow's that night, took their places at a small table set up in one of the aisles. It was junior prom night, so the place was packed—just as it had been in Drew's undergraduate days.

"They're not so same looking as I thought," said Benson Forsyth, as he became aware of the fact that he had been looking with considerable interest at the diners at a table near by, which, however, Dalton Drew could not have seen without turning around in his chair. "Do you see anything that looks good to you?"

"Yes," said Dalton, "the girl at the little table to the right."

Benson Forsyth turned enough to notice the girl in question. "You're joking—poor girl, she looks scared enough to choke. And she's with her brother. He's Jack Mateland's younger brother, fraternity brothers of ours."

When Benson and Dalton rose to leave their table it happened that Tom Mateland, junior, and his sister had also risen at the same time. At the door there were introductions and an exchange of the fraternity handshake between the men.

Dalton Forsyth stepped ahead with Jane Mateland when they had gone out. "You are going to the prom?" he asked, and Jane, with some confusion, said that she was not. Then they parted, Tom and Jane going in one direction and Dalton and Benson in another.

"You put your foot in it," laughed Benson. "The women have been gossiping about it for a week. Jane was going to be allowed to go to the prom this year. Her grandmother gave her $50 to buy her first evening dress, and she bought it and all the fixings. But none of the boys asked her. Then they counted on having Tom take her, but Tom, it seems, had got engaged to a girl of his own, and the little fiancée wasn't going to let Tom take little sister. It seems that the girl lives in town and her folks wouldn't let her go to Barlow's to dinner with Tom, so Tom took Jane. She looked a little wistful—kind of pathetic, having the dress and everything—"

"I have a sneaking idea I'll go to that dance," said Dalton Drew. "You and I are about the same size and shape. Let me go home and slip into your evening clothes. It's 7:30 now and the dance is at nine. I guess we can just about make arrangements."

First there was a telephone call to Tom. Dalton had come to town hoping to be able to go to the dance, he said, but he had no partner. Was it possible that his sister would consent to go? Then the florist had arrived with a box so full of orchids that little Jane Mateland's eyes overflowed with tears. At 8:30 Dalton Drew, looking the incarnation of evening propriety, but smelling a little of the Forsyth's cedar chest, arrived. He was immeasurably relieved to find that the evening dress bought with her grandmother's $50 did not fit so well or look so smart as to rob Jane entirely of her charming awkwardness. Dalton had a great longing to tell Jane that she was the most charming girl he had ever seen—he knew it would be the first time anyone had ever told her that. But he didn't tell her then; he wanted to wait until he could gather Jane and her stiff pink silk dress into his arms and feel the firm smoothness of her cheeks against his own.

Many a fate has been sealed and a destiny shaped within the five or six hours of a Millard junior ball. To those who sit in the patronesses' box, defended by the music and fanning themselves to keep away the drowsiness, there seems no opportunity down there among the dancers to fall deeply in or out of love.

But it was possibly the only environment in which Dalton Drew could have brought himself to this important decision, for the whole place was laden with associations of his youth. There was a glamor about it that seemed to close in about him as he started to dance with Jane Mateland and that did not depart from him when, two days later, he found himself back in his law offices with the knowledge that he had asked for and received the hand of Jane.

Let Indians Believe

He Cast Out Witches

Early in 1886, Dr. Benjamin Denison, just graduated from the medical department of the University of Tennessee, went to southeastern Oklahoma and opened a practice among the Choctaw Indians. The Indians, however, would come to him only when their own witch doctors had failed to expel the witch that had caused, they believed, their ailments. Instead of attempting to dissuade them from their belief in witches, Doctor Denison resorted to suggestive therapeutics and told the sufferers that "witch killing" was his specialty. He would then give treatments that he assured them would drive out the witches—and seldom failed to effect the desired result. He followed this line of least resistance for many years, he says in the Daily Oklahoman of Oklahoma City, leaving the labors of enlightenment to those of the Choctaws who in the course of time began attending schools provided for them and who on returning home informed their fellow tribesmen that there really were no witches.

Part Heredity Plays

in Mental Disorders

When there has been a considerable amount of mental disease in several generations of a family, the probability of the continuation in future generations of a mental disorder is fairly great. When, however, a few sporadic cases of mental disease occur in a family, there is little reason to be fearful of the results of the continuation of such a family strain. These are the conclusions reached in an article on causes of mental disease by Dr. H. C. Solomon in Hygeia Magazine.

Study of the ancestry of a group of patients with severe mental disease will show that some mental disorder or peculiarity appeared in about 60 or 70 per cent of the ascendants and collaterals of the previous generation. This would seem to indicate a hereditary connection. However, if one searches the ancestry of a random group of ordinary mentally well persons one will find mental disorders in almost the same percentage, Doctor Solomon stated.

Pure Anglo-Saxon Stock

Ellen Churchill Semple in the bulletin of the American Geographic society says in regard to the inhabitants of the mountainous regions of southeastern Kentucky that they are the purest Anglo-Saxon stock in the United States. There is practically no intermixture. They are direct descendants of the early Virginia and North Carolina immigrants. The stock is chiefly English and Scotch-Irish, which is largely Teutonic in origin. There is scarcely a trace of foreign admixture. Occasionally there is a French name which points to a strain of Huguenot blood from over the mountains in North Carolina, and names of Germans who came down from the Pennsylvania Dutch settlements.

Composition of Fog

The dense fogs which during the winter months, especially, are apt to afflict great maritime cities are in their essentials, merely cumulus clouds resting upon the ground, or near it. It is the soot and other impurities they hold in solution that cause them to be unpleasant. A sea fog is the same thing, minus the impurities. Being composed of particles of watery vapor, it is clean and though dangerous to shipping, it is not particularly so to breathe. Low-lying city fogs are usually shallow, though some have been found by aeronauts to extend upward to a height of 2,500 feet.

Vacations on Ranches

"Dude" ranches are colorful vacation havens in Texas, the Dakotas, Montana and Wyoming. "Dude" ranching is not a new business by any means, according to the owner of one of the largest of such ranches. As far back as 1847 Howard Eaton, pioneer "dude" rancher, moved from Pittsburgh to Dakota. At various times he invited his friends out for visits, and they enjoyed it so much that they came back as paying guests. Later Mr. Eaton moved to Wyoming and started another ranch, and many others of the same kind are now operating.

What is Force of Habit?

The brain is like a dense forest, and our thoughts are backwoodsmen blazing a trail. When once a certain thought has passed through, it is easier for the same kind of thought to come again. That is habit. Fold a piece of paper, then spread it out. It is easier to fold it again in the same crease than in any other way. That is habit. So, to create a habit of cheerfulness, we must seed cheerful thoughts along again and again until the trail in our minds is thoroughly blazed. Then it will be easy to be cheerful.—R. P. Anderson.
