ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1928.

$1.50 PER YEAR

MRS. W. L. TAYLOR IS CALLED BY REAPER

Resident of Wayne and Vicinity for 25 Years Passes Following Long Illness.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD MON.

Mrs. W. L. Taylor, who since her marriage had lived here died Saturday night following a lingering illness from which she had suffered for many months.

Mrs. Taylor was well known in this vicinity and was a daughter of Wm. Patterson one of the early pioneers of this territory. She moved to a farm south of Wayne when a little child and had lived there and at Wayne and vicinity ever since, and her death is mourned by many relatives and friends.

Elizabeth Lynette Patterson was born October 13, 1882, at Wilton Junction, Muscatine county, Iowa. In the spring of 1883 she moved with her parents to Pilger, and settled on a farm six miles north of Pilger where she lived on a farm until her marriage February 11, 1903 to Walter L. Taylor. They have resided in Wayne and vicinity for the past twenty-five years. To this union were born nine children, Mrs. Charles Siecke of Wayne, Frances Esther, Gertrude Monfoe, Edward, Esther, Walter Jr., and Isabel. All at home.

She leaves besides her husband and children, her father, W. J. Patterson of Wayne, three brothers and two sisters, Mrs. T. S. Sadtler of Bloomington, Illinois; Mrs. James Guthridge of Macon, Illinois; James E. Patterson of Donna, Texas; William J. Patterson of Lead, South Dakota; George H. Patterson of Wayne; her mother and one sister preceded her in death.

She united with the Methodist church in early life, and was a faithful member until the time of her death.

Funeral services were conducted from the Methodist Episcopal church Monday afternoon October 22, W. W. Whitman pastor officiating assisted by the Rev. W. D. Smith of Kennard.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Oman with Mrs. J. T. Bressler, Jr., presiding at the organ, sang, "Asleep in Jesus", "God Will Take Care of You", "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", favorite hymns of the deceased. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery.

FACULTY FORMALLY MEET STUDENT BODY OCTOBER 23

Members of the college faculty gave a reception in the Administration building on Tuesday evening, October 23, from 7:45 to 10 o'clock, in honor were entertained by a short program and refreshments were served.

This reception gave an opportunity for students and teachers to become better acquainted.

WAYNE HIGH HANDS RANDOLPH DEFEAT

Sund Intercepts Pass and Romps 75 Yards for Only Score of Hard Fought Game.

The Wayne high school squad sprung a surprise on Randolph and upset the dope bucket when they romped away with a 7 to 0 win over the Randolph eleven on the latter's field last week.

The two teams battled on quite even terms throughout the game, but "Patty" Sund snagged a long forward pass late in the game and romped 75 yards over an open field for the only score of the game, other than the extra point which was made.

Play Hartington Here

The locals will take on Hartington here tomorrow and will go into this game with little hope of repeating last week's triumph, but from now on they will not concede any game until after it's actually played.

Hartington is reported to have a strong eleven this season and are banking on a win by a decisive margin.

TEAM AND WAGON STRUCK BY HIT AND RUN DRIVER

A "hit and run" driver struck the rear end of a wagon in which Munroe Taylor, son of Walter Taylor, was riding on the highway just north of Wayne Tuesday evening, causing considerable damage to the wagon and harness and young Taylor barely averted a runaway, when the mule team he was driving became frightened.

The car which was badly damaged carried an Omaha license, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of the driver, who was charged with reckless driving.

When he struck the wagon, in which the Taylor youth was riding, he "crabbed" about not seeing a tail light, and drove away without offering any amends, it is reported.

JULIA ANN JENSEN PASSES SATURDAY

Resident of County 43 Years, Dies Following Lingering Illness Buried Near Carroll.

Mrs. Julia Ann Jensen, a pioneer and old settler of Wayne county who has lived many years northwest of Winside on the farm which she and her husband purchased about forty-three years ago, died Saturday, aged 71 years, 5 months and 4 days. She has been failing for some time and death came as a relief following a long period of suffering.

She was born in Denmark and came to this country in 1880 first locating in Washington county and later came to Wayne county where she has since lived. She was married in 1879, and to this union, six sons, Martin, Nels, Harry, Jens, Carl and Elmer and two daughters, Mrs. Agnes Larsen of Oldham, South Dakota, and Laura Jensen were born, there being one son by a former marriage, Chris Frederickson of Carroll. Of the nine children, two sons and two daughters are living, the husband died seventeen years ago.

Mrs. Jensen was a member of the Danish Lutheran church. Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday afternoon at the Welsh Presbyterian church southwest of Carroll by Rev. W. O. Jones of Decatur and Rev. M. G. Jones of Carroll. The funeral was very largely attended and the body was interred beside that of her husband and sons in the Presbyterian cemetery.

WISNER MAN KILLED IN FREIGHT WRECK SUNDAY

Will R. Mansfield, prominent live stock man of Wisner, was killed and Tom J. Harris of Merriman is believed to have lost his life in a rear-end collision of two extra stock trains, eastbound on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, three miles west of Crookston, at 12:50 Monday morning. Mr. Harris' body had not been recovered when the last report was received at the railroad office here.

Fireman M. S. Starkey of Chadron suffered a crushed hand and Brake-man L. J. Murphy was injured internally as they jumped from the train when they saw that a collision was inevitable.

Three carloads of stock were destroyed by fire and six other carloads were derailed and more or less badly damaged.

W. R. Mansfield, who lost his life in the wreck, operated a 600 acre ranch between Wisner and Pilger, and had been west after several car load of feeders and was on his way home when the accident occurred. He leaves two daughters, one attending Doane college at Crete, and the other a student at the University at Lincoln.

KIWANIS DELEGATES GIVE REPORT ON DISTRICT MEET

The Wayne delegates to the Iowa-Nebraska district convention of the Kiwanians, held at Newton, Iowa, last week gave a report of the meeting at the regular Monday meeting here this week.

Joe C. Nuss, F. L. Blair and Wm. Beckenhauer represented the local club at the Iowa meeting and reported a very satisfactory meeting.

Newton is a city of about ten thousand inhabitants, and is a thriving little manufacturing city. Three washing machines are manufactured there, with the Maytag leading with 1,700 people employed and making 1,000 machines daily.

Former Wayne Resident Is Critically Hurt in Headon Collision at Lincoln

E. J. Larison Formerly of This Place, Son of John Larison and Wife in Near Fatal Collision.

LIFE SAVED BY TRANSFUSION

Last Thursday evening, Erwin J. Larison, coming to his home 1441 South 11th street, Lincoln, on a motor cycle about six o'clock met a car head on, as the motorcycle and a car tried to meet each other and pass a car at the same time. Larison was thrown fifty feet, it is said, and his left foot completely severed at the ankle, and the leg above badly crushed and bruised nearly to the hip.

He was brought to the Bryan Memorial hospital in a delivery truck and attended by Dr. Aaron S. Speier. He had lost much blood and later in the evening physicians were forced to resort to a blood transfusion. The blood was given by Mr. Bryant, a fellow lodge member. The leg was amputated above the knee in an effort to save the limb. Dr. Speier said later Thursday night that the man had an even chance to live.

The State Journal of Saturday gave the following account of his very critical condition following the accident and the loss of much blood.

Blood transfusions are believed to have saved the life of E. J. Larison, of 1441 South Eleventh street, injured in an accident Thursday night, according to the statement made by his attending physician, Dr. A. S. Speier after an examination Friday night. The second transfusion seemed exceptionally successful and it is believed that the young man for whose recovery little hope was held Friday morning, will live.

Mangled when his motorcycle collided with an auto driven by Walter Paling of Waverly on a highway near Waverly Thursday night, Larison's left leg was amputated just below the hip. He was weakened by a severe loss of blood and by shock and it was found necessary to perform a transfusion immediately on his arrival at the hospital. George Bryant supplied the blood for the first transfusion.

When Larison's condition failed to improve Friday morning another transfusion was made. Henry Carroll a friend of the injured man, supplied the blood for the second transfusion. Larison rallied a short time later and continued to improve throughout the day.

The accident in which Mr. Larison was injured occurred as he and Mr. Paling attempted to pass cars on the highway. Mr. Paling's car was driving east and Mr. Larison was going west. The machines met headon. Mr. Larison was thrown fifty feet by the force of the collision and his left foot was severed at the ankle.

DEMO. CANDIDATE HERE NEXT TUES.

Chas. Bryan, Will Defend the Famous State Deficit, in Talk Here Next Tuesday.

Chairman Kemp of the county democratic committee has the announcement that Chas. Bryan, the party nominee for governor will speak at Wayne next Tuesday, October 30, at 3 o'clock.

Reports from Mr. Bryan's meetings are that they are full of interest—and that he discusses state issues without stuttering—and calls a spade by its proper name. He talks of the alleged deficit under his previous term as governor, and the manner in which the voters were deceived two years ago. He also talks of the bank guarantee law, the code law and other questions in which all Nebraska voters are vitally interested.

Mr. Bryan is not having any brass bands with him, but in his talks he gets down to brass tacks. He is a consistent advocate of economy in government and believe that the laborer is worthy of his hire, and that the employer, be it public or private paymaster is entitled to value received in service. He opposes the idea of having two tax-eaters on a one-man job. Mr. Bryan also opposed the idea of having the state business and the state finances kept in the dark with regard to spending the people's money. He thinks the fellows who dig up the taxes have a right to know what becomes of them. Better listen to him Tuesday afternoon.

HICKMAN HOPEFUL OF WIN AT OMAHA

All of Squad Available Following Three Weeks of Sickness and Many Injuries.

TEAM BEGINNING TO FUNCTION

Following three weeks of sickness and many injuries all of Coach Hickman's fifty candidates are out for scrimmage and baring last minute misfortunes will be available for the annual game with Omaha tomorrow, and the gloomy tutor has actually conceded his team more than an even chance to win from the Omahans.

"We've got to win, and we're going to shoot both barrels," he said in referring to the tomorrow's tilt.

Deciding that his team is to dumb to execute a successful aerial attack or trick plays, he plans to batter the forward wall of the Omaha eleven until it crumbles, having a weight advantage that will come in handy in straight football.

Usual Form

The Wildcats played up to their usual form in their tilt with the Kearney eleven. Several times they carried the inflated pigskin within scoring distance and then generously fumbled or pulled a dumb play that caused their chances to go for naught.

Every trick play got all bailed up before it was started, and boneheaded football reigned supreme. From now on they will be versed in common old eight grade football schooling, and the local professor believes he has at last solved their trouble.

No Slouch Team

The Omaha outfit is no slouch team, by any means, they held Tarkio to a scoreless tie last week and this team handed Peru a 6 to 0 defeat two weeks ago, so the results of the battle tomorrow will give followers a chance to learn whether things have been bettered.

WORLD WAR VETERANS HOLD REGULAR MEETING THURSDAY

Plans for the greatest dance ever sponsored by the local World War veterans were completed at the regular meeting last Thursday evening, when about fifty members of the local post responded to the call of the adjutant.

A nominating committee was appointed to make selections of names for officers for the coming year which will be presented at the next meeting of the veterans, at which time they will be acted upon. The committee was composed of A. L. Swan, Carl W. Madsen, R. D. Hall, Ed Panhorst and A. W. Christensen.

LEIGH MAN ACCEPTS CHURCH CALL HERE

Rev. W. C. Heidenreich, Pastor at Leigh, Accepts Unanimous Call of English Lutherans.

W. C. Heidenreich, for two years pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church of Leigh, has accepted a call to fill the vacancy in the local church of that denomination, and will assume charge of his pastorate here about December 1, it is announced by the local church board.

Rev. Heidenreich has been a pastor for 22 years, and comes here highly recommended. He was unanimously elected following a trial sermon delivered at the local church a few weeks ago, and his acceptance was received this week.

According to his acceptance announcement he plans to take charge of the Wayne pastorate about December 1. He has served as pastor at Leigh for the past two years, and has filled other pastorates satisfactorily and comes here highly recommended. It is reported.

The vacancy in the local church was caused when C. F. H. Krueger resigned to accept a call to a Jacksonville, Florida, church. Rev. Krueger found that the cold winters of this territory did not agree with his health and accepted the Florida pastorate because he was advised that the warm climate of that state would be beneficial to him.

F. C. REED IS APPOINTED MANAGER OF WAYNE BAND

Following the appointment of a citizens committee, by the Legion Executive committee, to assist with the problems of continuing the Wayne band, F. C. Reed has been appointed manager and will have charge of arrangements during the coming year.

The band committee selected are as follows J. C. Johnson, R. F. Jacobs, J. H. Kemp, L. A. Fenske, A. R. Davis, and Dr. C. T. Ingham.

This committee will take the place of the former Legion committee, it is reported, and the additional members were selected to make the committee more representative.

J. C. Johnson, who acted as manager in the past, will continue as finance officer, but Mr. Reed will have charge of the band management.

BOY SCOUTING IS ORGANIZED HERE

Four Counties Form Permanent Organization at Special Meeting Here Friday.

More than 50 men representing Hartington, Coleridge, Laurel, Allen, Carroll, and Wayne, met at the Boyd hotel at Wayne Friday evening October 19th, for the purpose to unify and advance scouting in the district composed of Thurston, Dixon, Wayne, and Cedar counties through the assistance of the Omaha Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, which was represented by Leon J. Artgotsinger scout executive, Omaha; Clarence L. Owen Vice President Stock National Bank, Omaha; Ralph D. Child, Field Scout Executive, Omaha.

Temporary organization is composed of W. R. Ellis, Wayne Community Chairman; S. E. Littrel, Allen, Director Camping; W. S. Rowden, Coleridge, Director Troop organization; R. R. Larson, Wayne, education and publicity; A. F. Gulliver, Wayne, director training; C. F. Petersen, Laurel, director finance.

Laurel was selected for the purpose of holding Scoutmaster school on the second and fourth Monday of each month, this school is for the benefit of scoutmasters and those interested in scouting. This course will take the student thru scouting from the tenderfoot stage to first class scout it is not a lecture but will take the student thru the actual tests that a Boy Scout takes.

It is hoped thru this organization that one or more troops may be organized in every town in the district.

THE CORN CROP LIGHT

Corn harvesting has been going forward during the week with increasing speed when weather permitted. The fact that much corn was down and a large percentage of the ears had been broken from the stalk by the high dry wind of two weeks ago is causing a worry, and a hurry to rescue this part of the corn before snow comes to cover it. The heavy rain of ten days ago is said to have left much of this broken corn buried or partially buried by mud. Two things are feared. One that continued warm weather will cause the corn to sprout, and this spoils it for feed; the other that a snow may come and bury it entirely from sight, and perhaps keep it there until spring, when its value would be much less, if worth recovering.

The dry August had greatly reduced the corn yield before this later weather damage came, thus leaving this part of Nebraska with a corn crop of from half to two-thirds the normal average, it is estimated by farmers with whom we have talked.

MODERN WOODMEN FEED AND FROLIC TUESDAY EVENING

There was a class adoption Tuesday evening when members of the local camp adopted a number of new neighbors and after the ceremony of adoption, which is a real ceremony as put on by the foresters of the camp, all gathered round the banquet table and partook of oysters, crackers, coffee and cake until the inner man was abundantly satisfied, while the new members were made to feel that they were indeed in the house of their friends.

COUNTRY SCHOOL HOUSE DEDICATED

Fifteenth Modern Country School of Wayne County Dedicated Friday Evening.

SOUTHWEST CORNER IS LEADING

The new modern school building in district 11, six and one half miles south west of Winside, was dedicated on Friday evening, October 19. The building is 28 by 36, with the classroom 27 by 27. It has a full basement, windows on the north and west. Cost $3,790.

A Mother Goose Operetta was given by the pupils of the school. A male quartet consisting of Herbert Behmer, Ed Fahrman, Harry Strate and Edwin Strate sang several songs. County Superintendent Pearl E. Sewell and Prof. A. V. Teed were the speakers. Winfred Miller sang two songs of his own composition, one of them concerning his attendance at the old school house and the building of the new one.

Refreshments of cake, pickles, sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served by the ladies of the district. Miss Anna Anderson is the teacher. She taught last year in the old building.

The members of the board are Wm. E. Deck, Otto Miller, and Henry Deck. This is the third new modern building to be dedicated this fall. The others were in district 16, three miles southwest of Winside and in district 35, eight and one half miles southeast of Winside.

12 out of the 15 modern rural school buildings of the county are in the southwest part of the county.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT NORFOLK NEXT WEEK

The annual convention of District three of the Nebraska State Teachers' Association will be held at Norfolk, October 31, and November 1-2, 1928. The program for the convention promises to be the best in the history of the association. Many speakers of national prominence are on the program assuring an interesting and instructive session.

Specialists in every line of school work have been secured to take part in the sectional and departmental meetings. Special attention is being given to the program for rural school teachers. The state superintendent has urged school boards to close school for the days of the convention that teachers may attend.

A get-acquainted luncheon for school men and Norfolk business men will be one of the features of the convention. The Nebraska Educational Women's club will also hold its annual dinner at convention time.

POLITICAL MEETING

Richard L. Metcalfe and Congressman Howard are to speak at the Wayne community house Saturday evening, and it will be opportunity for many Wayne people to learn a bit as to the political situation. The bills tell that the ladies are especially invited, and it is to be hoped that they can and will attend. Congressman Howard is a pleasing speaker, and it is a pleasure to listen to him. One of his talks as a rule is as good as the ordinary 50 cent lecture, and this is free.

Then, if you have not heard Metcalfe, the Nebraska candidate for the national senate, you know not what you have missed, Richard L. Metcalfe is a pleasing speaker, and he knows Nebraska, and can tell what he knows in a pleasing manner. One is not fair to themselves or their state if they neglect opportunity to hear Metcalfe on the issues of the campaign for he is eminently fair.

SHERIFF FINDS VISITOR ASLEEP ON JAIL PORCH

When he awakened Sunday morning, Sheriff Stephens, found Chas. Thompson sound asleep on the porch of the county jail, where he apparently had wandered sometime during the night.

He was placed in the jail where he was allowed to stay and "sober up" which took most of the day. Later in county court he was fined $10.00 and costs on complaint of being intoxicated.

a certain grade in their studies are not eligible to play with their team. Perhaps that is a foolish rule—and we understand that the enforcement of that rule is what has barred more than half of the Bloomfield team—until they can have time to make up on their studies. Guess the rule is all right and if it is enforced a few times in all of the schools it will either kill football or improve the standing of the pupils in their studies. Which will it be? The students must decide.

FORMER INSTRUCTOR HERE NOW STUDYING IN CHICAGO

Professor Lewis has received a letter from Walter T. Orr who was formerly professor of psychology at Wayne, having left Wayne so that he might be nearer his aged father in Indiana. Mr. Orr writes that he is enrolled in the university of Chicago doing all his work in psychology. If he completes work for his doctors degree he plans to major in that subject, and take up philosophy for a related subject. Philosophy seems to be coming back into its own again, Mr. Orr thinks. Students who took courses in philosophy have expressed themselves highly pleased that there should be this renewed interest.

Mr. Orr extends greetings to all friends in Wayne.

WILDCATS TO MEET MIGHTY PERU SQUAD HOMECOMING NOV. 3

Real Battle Anticipated as Wayne Faces Bobcats Before Alumni and Student Crowd.

HOLD ANNUAL FROLIC AT NIGHT

(From The Goldenrod)
The annual fall Homecoming is planned for Saturday November 3. All alumni, old students, and parents of the students are cordially invited to come and make merry.

The main feature of the day is the big game of football between the undefeated Peru Bobcats and the Wayne Wildcats on the local grid. If the local team has ever fought they will be called upon to put up a real defense at this time.

Peru has one of the best teams in her history and flaunts a list of victories to prove her prowess that might stanch the bravery of any but a Wildcat. The Wildcats, the alumni with them in the grandstand, are going to strive hard to put a blot on Peru's record. Everybody come to see how it is done.

After the game there will be the renewing of friendships and the meeting of new friends at the supper hour.

In the evening is the annual homecoming frolic in the gymnasium. There will be music and fun and dancing and opportunity for more visiting.

LITTLE DAKOTA CITY GIRL LOSES ARM IN PULLY, DIES

Bettina Lischke, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Lischke of near Dakota City, died following an accident in which she suffered the loss of her arm which was torn from her body when she stepped too near a pulley on the grinder which was being operated.

Her hand was caught in the belt and pulled into the pulley, and before relatives could stop the machine her arm had been torn off. She died in a Sioux City hospital the following day.

Motor Cars of the Future will be low, slender, graceful, like the NASH "400" today

NASH has achieved tomorrow's motor car vogue in the Nash "400," today.

Every line and contour of the new Salon Body style suggests the fleet, clean-cut profile of the thoroughbred. The "400" models are big, roomy cars, but without excess bulk, smart cars without exaggeration. They're low, slender, and graceful.

new cars of the year, to know definitely that you would rather have the Nash. You only need to drive the "400"—to steer it, park it—to know that here is exactly the kind of a car you've always wanted to own. Its new Twin Ignition performance and ease-of-handling are easily the year's most important additions to the pleasure-of-motoring.

You only need to compare the appearance of the "400" to that of the other

We'll give you the key to any model you care to drive. Then, we'll leave it to you!

Woman's Club Meets

The Woman's club met on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. I. O. Brown as hostess and Mrs. M. A. H. Carter as program leader. Seventeen members and twelve guests were present. The members responded to roll call with their favorite kind of music. Mrs. Frank Wilson told of her vacation trip in Canada. Mrs. Art Auker read an original poem on "How I spent my vacation." Mrs. I. O. Brown sang a solo, "Drifting and Dreaming" accompanied by Mrs. A. T. Chapin on the piano. Mrs. H. E. Siman gave a piano solo, "Polish Dance" and Mrs. A. T. Chapin played a "Patriotic Medley". Mrs. Harry Tedrick gave a pianologue, "Auld Lang Sang". The next meeting will be social meeting with Mrs. Leonard Needham of Norfolk as hostess. The next program was to have been on the political parties and platforms but on account of the social meeting, it was abandoned and a straw vote was taken with twenty-three voting, 14 for Hoover, 8 for Smith and 1 for the Prohibition ticket.

Teachers Entertained at Bridge

Friday night at the W. B. Lewis

home north of town. Miss Mable Lewis entertained all the lady members of the school faculty and Miss Ruby Reed at a bridge party. Those present were the Misses Bess and Myrtle Leary, Mamie Prince, Grace Zellinger, Fredericka McCormick, Gladys Mettlen and Ruby Reed. Miss Reed won the high score. The hostess served a two course luncheon.

Birthdays Party

Elvin Troutwein entertained the senior class of the high school at his home on Thursday night. The evening was spent in playing Progressive Bunco. Margaret Nelson and Leo Jordan were the winners of the high score and Viola Radford and Ross Holcomb held the low score. Mrs. Troutwein served a two course luncheon at the close of the evening.

Social Circle Meeting

The Social circle met last Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Tom Pryor as hostess. Fifteen members and five guests were present. Each member responded with the name of political candidate at roll call. Mrs. W. B. Lewis and Mrs. John Brugger read a leaflet on "Good Citizenship". A straw vote was taken with eleven for Hoover and eight for Smith. The hostess served a two course luncheon. The next meeting will be a Halloween party on October 24 with Mrs. Fred Bright and Mrs. Harry Tedrick as hostesses.

FACULTY MEMBERS TO PRE-SIDE AT NORFOLK MEETING

(From the Goldenrod.)

Many of the teachers plan to attend the Northeast Nebraska State Teachers association at Norfolk, October 31, and November 1 and 2.

Some of the teachers have been asked to appear on the program and the Boys' Glee club from the Wayne State Teachers college has been asked to present a one-act operetta, "Freshies" before a group at the meeting.

Among those going are the following:

Dr. J. G. W. Lewis gives the main address before the Social Science section.

Professor J. Q. Owen is to lead a discussion before the Edglish sectional meeting on Friday morning.

Miss Lenore Ramsey speaks at the sectional meeting of the teachers of public speaking on Friday. Her topic is "The Training of Contestants for Declamatory Contests."

Professor Costerisan will address one of the educational sectional meetings.

Professor Horn is to lead the singing at all of the general meetings.

Professor Hunter is to take the Trio and Flute and furnish music one day.

School will not be dismissed for the purpose of allowing faculty and students to attend, and provision for all classes will be made for those teachers who do attend.

At the coming meeting Wayne will extend to the Northeast Nebraska Teachers association an invitation to meet in Wayne on the following year. In the past Wayne has been unable to accommodate so large a group of people as are present at a meeting of this teachers association. Next year the new hotel will be completed as also will be the new dormitory. It is thought that by dismissing school and making use of the dormitories there will be ample room for all the teachers who will attend the Northeast association.

Statistics of the American automobile industry leave the British with the inference that well over 1,500,000 vehicles were scrapped in America last year.

New registrations were little more than 5 per cent up on the year before which is the smallest figure yet recorded. This represents a gain of 1,123,000, whereas there were 3,394,000 vehicles manufactured and sold.

The exports amounted to 543 thousand, which is about 12 per cent up on 1926. Incidentally, it shows how small a proportion—some 15 per cent of the United States' output—is sent overseas.

It is their enormous home market that enables them to manufacture in the large quantities that mean low prices.

WHAT IS A TOMATO?

(Nation's Business Magazine)

"Way down in Australia it seems there has been a tariff argument as to whether the tomato is a fruit or a vegetable. It seems that when the immigrant tomato comes in as pulp, it is vegetable, but when it enters dry and concentrated it is a fruit."

Ourselves, we had always rated the tomato as a vegetable, but eager always to learn we turned to Funk & Wagnall's New Standard Dictionary of the English Language, confident that somewhere in its three thousand pages we should learn the truth. Of the tomato it says:

"The fruit . . . is a berry . . . highly esteemed as a vegetable." "That ought to satisfy everybody."

The above shows how fine they split hairs over the tariff. Not many years ago there was a disagreement as to the duty on lined rubber boots. One interest wanted the wool tariff to prevail because of the wool lining, and the other fellows said it should be called rubber and taxed accordingly. It was finally settled by dividing the boot for tariff reasons—that is the percentage of wool in the article was made to pay the wool tariff and the rubber was let in the rubber tariff and the fellows who wore the boots paid the tariff, and also for the foot covering.

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the upkeep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

When you get into the voting booth, remember that more than half the lies they tell about Smith are not true.

If you want to know some facts about the next president, read the adv entitled the "Reasons Why" for they may prove convincing if you have been wavering.

Governor Smith's speeches do not seem to please the republican press. In his opening speech he seemed to have much boldness, and some of his later speeches sound to the same people like a confession that he is seeing defeat, and has taken to ranting and unfair criticism—and then add the later speeches are a rehash of the earlier speeches. Well, some of the truths Smith told need to be "rehashed" several times, even tho not pleasing to the defenders of the policies criticised.

One of the questions to be voted upon November 6 by the voters of Nebraska is that of a constitutional amendment to take the schools for the deaf and the blind from the fostering care of the Board of Control, and leave them under the care of the Board of Regents of the University. Earl Cline, a Lincoln attorney sends us a lengthy communication relating to the matter, in which he fears that as our constitution is, that such change would not be for the real benefit of the schools; but an added burden to the Regents of the University, who serve without salary. The members of the Board of Control have each an annual salary of $4,000. It is a question deserving careful consideration before you mark your ballot.

Saturday is the homecoming day and game of football at the university when the undefeated cornhuskers meet the undefeated Bengals of Missouri. It will doubtless be a great contest, and worthy of a news mention in such obscure papers as the Democrat—and yet we did not fall for their liberal offer of a guest ticket without cost (in cash) for admission, for the very good reason that it was too exacting. It was good for no other person than the editor, and must be applied for in proper form, and it did not include transportation to and from or compensation for time—nor even any adequate compensation for the space which might be used if an editor should feel inclined to use the publicity so freely sent. If they will simply send in legal tender the regular rates for the publicity they expect we will be glad to run it, and send them many admissions, beyond a doubt.

PLACE THE BLAME RIGHTLY (Ord Journal)

The guaranty fund commission is in no wise to blame for the failure of any Nebraska state bank. It is not responsible for the supervision of any going state bank. It steps in and takes charge only when a state bank goes floozy.

The department of trade and commerce has entire supervision over and examination of going state banks. When Paul Wupper of Beemer deceived bank examiners for years, and then slipped a fast one over on the department of commerce, the guaranty commission was in no wise to blame. The state bankers to all intents and purposes name the members of the guaranty commission. They recommend men from the separate districts and the governor appoints from the names submitted. But the governor appoints the secretary of trade and commerce on his own motion, and that secretary appoints the bank examiners and is supposed to keep a set of watchful eyes upon the conduct of all state banks. There has been a lot of nodding in the department of trade and commerce, to say the least. Perhaps it would not be out of place to say that somebody was sound asleep while Paul Wupper was burrowing.

The guaranty commission is to be praised for its splendid work performed under the most difficult conditions.

AN EDITOR'S OPINION

Not many weeks ago a farmer friend (we suppose he was a friend) paid the editor the compliment of telling that he considered him too nice a man, and too good a citizen to vote for that candidate, pointing to the Smith button on the coat. That was a fine compliment, apparently, and evidently was so considered. And I felt that he was too nice a man, too much dependent upon agriculture as we all are, to vote for the republican nominee. A short talk developed the fact that he was afraid that Al Smith would be elected, and that the Pope would at once assume control of affairs in this fair land of ours. He did not seem to realize that the Pope has a plenty to keep him busy where he now is, and that under our laws of religious freedom no foreign power, prince or potentate could come to our shores and usurp control of the nation and its policies. There would be the house and the senate to be considered. The courts of the land would see that justice would be maintained for our citizens.

He then flashed the false fear of the appointing power which our laws give to a president, and seemed to forget that we have a senate composed of two men selected by the voters from each state, and that one of their duties is to pass upon the qualifications and standing of the appointees of the president, and, by the way, President

Coolidge has felt the rebuke of the senate on more than one occasion when he had made appointments of candidates whom the senate did not deem worthy or qualified to serve in the place for which they were named. Other presidents have also had their plans thwarted by this duty imposed upon the senate.

He was then informed that the editor was sincere in his belief that the election of the democratic nominee was for the best interest of all of the people except those interested in great monopolies of various kinds and bootleggers; the many of them do not appear to realize that their party and their candidate are fully under the control of this great combination of greedy grafters—men not content with exploiting the natural resources of our own land; but who were reaching with greedy and greasy hands for the rich oil and mineral deposits of our southern neighbors. That blood of our marines and sailors had already been shed to protect the interests of these seekers for the wealth of the world regardless of the rights of the people in whose lands they had been found. Even now, troops of this nation are on duty (?) in a sister republic in which we are otherwise at peace, for Congress has not declared war on them, and no other power than congress may make such declaration; and but that it is a weak nation torn with internal strife because of the greed of our wealth seekers, we would not send marines to govern their elections.

Our friend was then informed that Smith was our choice because of his courageous, outspoken manner in telling what he believed to be right; because of the progressive measures he had sponsored and had enacted into law in the state of which he has served as governor at the demand of the voters for four terms—eight years as governor of our greatest and most populous state.

He had raised the standard of the public schools; he had made it a legal duty of the state to pension mothers that they might keep orphaned children and widowed mothers together in their own home, rather than to farm the little children out to institutions for their care often much like a prison to the little folks.

He forced upon the landlords of the cities laws compelling better tenement housing in great city districts where people had been compelled to reside in places unsanitary and unfit for human habitation; at his urging, the legislature made factories properly house their workers in more sanitary buildings and where the danger of being burned alive was greatly reduced. He exacted from the legislature a law requiring that women be paid the same wage as men for the same work.

He urged and secured the enactment of legislation conserving the water, power of the state to the people for all time.

These, and other good measures he urged. He is not a tool of Tammany, but rather, that organization is compelled to do his bidding in matters politic. That has been demonstrated in many ways, and to the benefit of all.

Governor Smith in this campaign may not always have been right on all questions, but he has never failed to let his position be known.

The Opposition Just Opposite

Candidate Hoover seems to lack the courage and initiative for leadership as the editor has observed him. Careful study of his attitude and his utterances gives the opinion that he has told it all when he said that the present Coolidge administration would be his platform and his policy—and that policy has not appealed to the writer. So far as we can see or hear that has been the extent of the Hoover pledges or policies.

His great New York speech to which many listened might have been told in few words: he careful of our particular brand of prosperity, its a fragile thing, like a soap bubble, pretty to look at, but nothing left should some reckless, careless fellow blow against it and cause it to collapse—be careful all of you—for it is the prosperity of the corporations and the monopolies, and should you common people break it you all might starve to death for want of the crumbs from the tables of those who are appropriating to themselves the great riches of this and other lands—their natural resources.

Because the editor believes in what are termed "progressive" measures—in the right of the people to own and control the natural resources—because he admires courage and honest leadership in the interest of the great human family he expects to cast a vote for the Democratic nominee—not asking any other voter to do more than follow his example—study the situation as best he can, and vote according to the dictates of his conscience. Even an editor should have that right.

F. H. Vall, Plaza Tuner will be back in Wayne about November 1st.—adv. May 17-1f.

OBSERVATION

(Wynot Tribune)

We are inclined to agree with the Yankton Press and Dakotan when it says: "Campaigns may be won on volume of political oratory, without regard to its quality, but we are inclined to doubt." The spellbinders are orating to an alarming extent over the radio and on the streets and in the halls, wherever they can get a handful of people to listen to their fulminations. We know that it is practically impossible to get a respectable crowd out to hear a public speech along political lines, unless the speaker is of national repute, and it is our observation that the same is true regarding radio audiences. They listen to the presidential candidates and maybe a few of the big guns; but the air is filled with the voices of the smaller fry each night and it doesn't look as if either party is getting much for the vast amount of money they are spending for radio broadcasting. To our selfish way of thinking, the pertinent facts on both sides, placed before the voters effectively in the newspapers, would get more tangible results than the method that seems to be the vogue.

The Nebraska bank guaranty law will no doubt come up for discussion and possible change in the coming legislature. It is an important matter, of concern to almost the entire population of the state and for this reason it should be considered in friendly hands. W. H. O'Gara, democratic candidate for representative from this county, has had long years of experience in the legislature and with matters of this kind. He is a friend of the bank guaranty law and as such will do his best to help strengthen and safeguard the measure. This is one item which voters should keep in mind.

SENATOR NORRIS FOR SMITH

It is announced in the World-Herald and Bee-News of that city, that Senator George Norris will speak at Omaha Saturday evening, and that he is to declare for Governor Smith for president. Because the people know that the senator does not play politics, but says what he means and means what he says, his attitude has great weight for the reason that voters believe him to be honest in his opinions, deciding his course only after giving careful study to the questions. Beyond a doubt Senator Norris' opinion is valued higher than that of any other citizen of the state, because he has ever shot square.

H. Q. Morton, state secretary for the Baptists of the state, was in this city Wednesday, in connection with his church work.

Yes, we have had some very light frosts, but there are olifers in bloom this morning that have been out in the open all fall.

Five Per Cent Loans make farming profitable and farm ownership easy. Information gladly given.—Roper Loans, West Point, Neb.—adv. O25-2t.

The Rev. J. E. Ellis will hold service at the English Lutheran church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. All are cordially invited to attend.

Three light housekeeping rooms for rent, 520 east Sixth street.—Mary Schmalsteig.—adv.

R. P. Williams was at Wakefield Tuesday, going over to visit at the home of his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Delaney.

POTATOES for sale, Early Ohio, fine large spuds, delivered anywhere in city, 75c per bushel, Alex Scott.—adv.

Nelse Nelson and his stepdaughter, Miss Marcella Lundberg, were passengers to Sioux City Monday morning, going over for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Mitchell drove to Omaha Sunday, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Langmark, of O'Neill who went to that place to consult a specialist.

W. J. Patterson went to Wisner Wednesday to attend the funeral of his friend, Mr. Mansfield, who was killed in the train wreck earlier in the week.

FURNISHED HOUSE FOR RENT—Five room house good location, Kate Baker, phone 118.—adv.

Mrs. Ray Smith of Tekamah, returned home Wednesday morning, following a visit here at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Harrington.

County Judge, J. M. Cherry slipped away from duty a couple of days last week, going to Des Moines, Iowa, to visit at the home of his sister, his brother-in-law, R. A. Beney, being quite seriously ill.

John Finn from Sioux City was here last week visiting his brother James Finn and family, and greeting numerous friends of those other days, when he was a resident of this county, and not far from Wayne.

Straight Farm Loans—Five, Seven and Ten years. Five per cent. State Bank of Wayne.—adv.

Owen Tyrrell of Pender is at the Bryan Memorial hospital at Lincoln, where he underwent an operation for hernia. Mrs. Tyrrell who was at Lincoln for a few days, returned to Wayne the last of the week, and accompanied by Mrs. Mary Sellers, returned to Pender Saturday. Mrs. Sellers plans to remain at Pender until Mr. Tyrrell is able to return home.

FOR SALE—Large Round Oak heating stove, in first class condition.—Phone 134.—adv.

Fred L. Blair, who attended the Kiwanis meeting at Newtun, Iowa, last week stopped at Dunlap, Iowa, and spent a few hours with old friends of several years ago. Mr. Blair lived in this city 28 years ago. The Wayne delegation visited with Jim Barret, who formerly lived here, but who now is in business in Dunlap. The corn in all of the Iowa territory through which they travelled was very good, according to Mr. Blair, and is yielding as much as 70 bushels per acre.

Farm Loans falling due in November should be taken care of without delay.—See us, State Bank of Wayne.—adv.

Grover E. Larsen and family from Dalton have been here visiting relatives, the Larsens and Biehels, and a host of friends, and are planning to leave the last of this week for their home. His brother, Art Larsen and family are expected here about the time he leaves, to visit among their relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Lane from Tyrone, Pennsylvania, are here visiting among the Bressler families, and perhaps other former Pennsylvanians, and are planning to start home next week. They have visited here before. While chatting with Mr. Lane, he said he had read the predictions that the vote of Pennsylvania might be cast for Smith, but like other people he did not think it probable, saying that the state had never before cast its vote for a democratic presidential candidate. He said the state had named a democrat for governor on more than one occasion. If it should be that Smith carried that state, the Hoover cause is lost. Mr. Lane, who seems to be a typical Pennsylvanian so far as politics is concerned, remarked when leaving to go to his car, that he supposed he had better get home so as to be counted for Hoover in case they needed him.

SOCIAL NOTES

The Miserva club met for their regular meeting at the Art department of the State Normal with Miss Martha Pierce as leader. The subject was Nebraska Artists, and Miss Pierce had an exhibit making a most interesting lesson. Miss Pierce named as the three outstanding artists of Nebraska today—Wallace, Gilder and Dunbar. Also named four other popular artists in their line from Nebraska. Lawton Parker, painter, having won the Paris medal; Wilda Cather, literature; Nelhardt, poetry; Paul Swan, pastie dancer. After the lesson the members, including two guests, Mrs. Don Larson and Mrs. H. S. Scace went to the residence of Mrs. Fred Dale where a two-course luncheon was served. The next meeting will be November 5th, with Mrs. H. J. Miner and Mrs. C. K. Corbit as hostesses. Mrs. Lutgen will review her book which she has just completed at that meeting.

Several of the Wayne ladies are attending the state meeting of the Federated Womens club which is in session at Omaha this week. Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis and Mrs. James Miller are delegates. Others in attendance are Mesdames Caldwell, D. J. Cavanaugh, McEchen, Brittain, Lutgen. Mrs. Lutgen will also attend a meeting of the Writers Guild of which she is a member, and which is holding their meeting in Omaha Thursday. Thursday night a joint banquet will be held by the Federated Woman club and the Writers Guild, with the Womens club as hostesses.

The Monday club met with Mrs. C. A. Chase. Roll call was responded to with the name of a Nebraska candidate. Mrs. O. R. Bowen gave a report on the republican and democratic platforms. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The club will meet next week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ley when the husbands will be guests at a 6:30 dinner followed by a bridge party. Mrs. C. A. Chase and Mrs. C. A. McMaster will assist Mrs. Ley in entertaining.

The Alpha club entertained their husbands when they were guests at the R. C. Habbeck home Tuesday evening. A sumptuous two course dinner was served at 7 o'clock with the guests seated at small tables with pink and white chrysanthemums as table appointments. The evening was spent at games with Mrs. C. E. Gilder-Loeve, Mrs. B. W. Wright and O. L. Randall receiving prizes. The club meets November 3 with Mrs. George Crossland.

The Coterie met for their regular meeting this week with Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh. Mrs. Warren Shultheiser gave a very interesting article on Greek Myth and the Poets. Their next meeting will be next Monday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Casper for a Halloween party, starting with a 6:30 dinner. The husbands are invited.

Claycomb. A sketch of a book was given in response to roll call. The club will hold their anniversary party November 2, when they will be entertained by Mrs. J. W. Jones, who will be assisted by Mrs. J. H. Kemp, Mrs. Jim Miller, and Mrs. W. K. Smith.

The Acme met with Mrs. I. H. Britell Tuesday. Mrs. H. W. Theobald gave facts and stories about chinaware. Mrs. Britell gave a report on "Fabrics and how to dry and care for them." The club meets next week with Mrs. C. E. Carhart.

The Business and Professional women will meet with Miss Glennie Bacon next Tuesday evening, the meeting called for this week having been postponed.

The Fortnightly will meet next Monday when the husbands will be guests at a Halloween party at the Hobart Auker home.

The P. E. O. will meet on November 6 with Mrs. Reba Jones.

A WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT
by Marie Weekes

I heard a national field secretary of the Federated Business and Professional Women's club tell a group of Norfolk women the other evening about the economic independence of women. I wonder!

Her sentences were beautifully phrased and they rolled off her tongue with a richness I could have appreciated twenty years ago. "The economic independence of women." What does it mean? "The right to go out and bruise a woman's heart on the stone wall of business hardness?"

If I had the power of the fabled fairy queen and could wield a wishing wand I'd put women back into their homes and never let them ever hear about economic independence—much less work for it.

I like Herbert Hoover because he was born of Quaker antecedents because I know something of the fluency of Quaker teaching. I like Herbert Hoover because his old friend

Prepared by the class in Journalism

ASSEMBLY NEWS

Rev. R. E. Richards of Grand Island spoke to the high school Monday, October 15. He spoke on Wales, the country in which he was born. He compared the country of Wales to one of the larger counties of Nebraska as to size and population.

A vote was taken in the high school Monday, October 15, in regard to adopting standard rings. There were only three people against the plan. Designs are being submitted to the student council by all companies interested.

A meeting of the high school teachers was held Monday, October 15. Mrs. Allis N. Pollard and Miss Olive Huse were in charge of the program. Mrs. Pollard spoke on the "Side Lights of the National Education Association Convention" held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, this summer. Miss Huse spoke on the "Principle Speeches of the National Education Association Convention."

Another series of history pictures is going to be put on by the high school and normal. Eleven pictures will be shown. All of the high school students are given the privilege of buying a season ticket for these pictures.

Franklin Phillo played the assembly march last week.

OFFICE NOTES

That Senior Class rings are to be standardized was decided by an almost unanimous vote of the students Monday. The rings will have a design symbolical of Wayne. Although it has not yet been decided, a likeness of Anthony Wayne will probably be used. Rings will be bought from the Josten Manufacturing Company of Owatonna, Minnesota.

The Student Council recently held a meeting and elected the following officers:

President, Doc Surber.
Vice-President, Harriet Craven.
Secretary-Treasurer, Jeanette Lewis
The treasurer reported that the student council has about three hundred dollars on hand at present.

Miss Pearl Sewell was at the head of the recent teacher's institute held at Wayne. At the close of the institute she was given a floor lamp as a token of appreciation of the teachers.

The principal speakers at the meeting were: Professor F. M. Gregg of Nebraska Wesleyan, Superintendent Clark of the Industrial school at Kearney, and Superintendent P. E. Alder of Pierce. Mr. Alder is also president of District Three of the State Teacher's Association.

Both Mrs. Pollard and Miss Huse have been asked to talk to the grade teachers sometime soon.

ATHLETIC NOTES

The Wayne football team went to Stanton Friday October 5. Wayne lost by a score of 38 to 0. This game was better however than the score indicates. The Wayne line was outweighed about fifteen pounds to the man. This game was said to be one of the cleanest and hardest fought games seen on that field for some time. The Wayne lineup was as follows: Morris, center; Gildersleeve, right guard; P. Peterson, quarter; Sund, and Davis, halfbacks and Surber, full.

The Wayne aggregation suffered defeat again Friday October 12, at the hands of Ponca by a score of 26 to 0, on the Wayne normal field. This game was played on the very heavy field which slowed up both teams considerably.

Ponca scored two touch-downs on straight hard football. The other two were "breaks" such as are apt to occur, especially on a wet field. The lineup for the Ponca game was as follows: C. Peterson, left end; Berry, left tackle; Ingham, left guard; Morris, center; Gildersleeve, right guard; Isom, right tackle; Dennis, right end; P. Peterson, quarterback; Davis, right half; Sund, left half; and Surber, fullback.

MUSIC

The music class is harmonizing melodies. The pupils are learning to transpose.

"The Bells of Capistrano" will be given Friday, November 23 by the High School under the direction of Mrs. Lura Belle Johnson. The music to the "Bells of Capistrano" was written by Wakefield Cadman and the libretto by Charles and Juanita Ross.

The character parts have been given to Paunlle Beckenhauer, Gene Beaman, Evan Dennis, Dick Fanske, Evelyn Helkes, Everett Helkes, Kathryn Kemp, Marjorie Ley, Jimmie Morris, Wilbur Porterfield, Leitha Porterfield, Carl Peterson, Paul Peterson and Gretchen Teckhaus.

Those in the chorus are Robert Adams, Donald Beaman, Howard Beckenhauer, John Kemp, Stanley Merchant, Charles Berry, Charles McConnell, Mildred Bonawitz, Ruby Surber, Helen Hanson, Harry Osler

Perdue, Marie Sund, Ina Hanson, Evelyn Pelber, Faye Winegar, Dorothy Hanson, Miriam Huse, Bertha Luders, Margaret Phipps, Dorothy Ross, and Ardythe Gildersleeve.

Don't forget that the Bells of Capistrano will ring Friday, November 23

COMMERCIAL

The shorthand class is taking dictation along with other work in the manual.

The Bookkeeping class is studying sales and purchase journals.

The typewriting class is beginning to take speed tests along with manual work. Irol Whitmore has averaged the best in the speed tests.

SENIOR NOTES

The usual senior class meeting was held last Thursday. A committee composed of Henry Reynolds, Herman Eichoff, and Newell Pollard was appointed to get some good songs ready for the class so when the seniors are asked to offer a class song they will have one not to be ashamed of.

The fact that the high school assembly voted unanimously on the standardization of class rings and pins, means that the class of '28 will be the class to inaugurate the new plan. A committee from the student council is now working on a suitable design for the rings and pins.

The U. S. History class is studying the American Revolution. May work was done last week.

The 12th English Class is taking up a complete study of "The High School Paper." The duties of every member or a newspaper staff are learned. The make up of a school paper has been studied as to the arranging of stories, editorials, sports, club news, and other news.

The seniors are well represented in every high school activity; all four officers of the Student Council are seniors; out of 16 chosen for the cast in the high school operetta 5 are seniors; four seniors are represented on the football squad and three of the four who are playing marbles in the assembly are seniors.

Marion Jo Theobald is back in school after three weeks absence. Marion Jo was a local representative to the National Girl Scout Convention at Colorado Springs. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. P. A. Theobald, and Mrs. W. R. Smith, local scout leaders.

JUNIOR NOTES

The classes of English have begun the study of the play "Hamlet" Parliamentary Law is to be practiced in all class meetings for the year. Hand books "The Main Motion" written by Awana H. K. Staker have been given to the presidents of the classes. The purpose is to teach students of high school age, how to conduct an orderly business meeting.

Carl Peterson, chairman, Helen Hansen and Dorothy Ross comprise a committee which has been appointed by the president of the class to make plans for a party.

Nine of the 32 Junior class members are paying for their activity tickets by "the ten cents a week" plan.

The students in the English 11 classes have begun the study of "The Idylls of the King" by Tennyson. "The Coming Arthur," "Gareth and Lynette," "Lancelot and Elaine," "The Holy Grail", and "The Passing of Arthur" are the Idylls that will be studied.

Book reports in these classes were written Monday October 22.

The Agriculture 11 class is now studying the different types of horses. The students are taking field trips this week to judge some pure-bred animals.

The students in the Latin 11 classes have been reading about a Roman family.

The sophomore class is planning to have a party Friday, October 26, at the high school.

FRESHMAN NOTES

A Halloween party has been planned by the freshman class. The time and place have not been decided. Charles Brown and Ronald Young have been appointed a committee to determine the date of the party. A candy sale will be held to raise money for the party.

Each student of one section of the Algebra 1 class is making a graph of his grades. If he is absent he makes up the work and then graphs it.

The Latin 1 classes have learned to sing two stanzas of "America" in Latin.

The Physiography class has finished the study of the different cyclones, hurricanes, and tornadoes. The class is starting the study of the moisture atmosphere and forms of precipitation such as rain, hail, fog, dew, frost, and clouds.

The English 1 class is learning to make outlines. The pupils are well along in the study of "Silas Marner."

The Agriculture 1 class is making a drawing of a 200 acre farm. The pupils plan crop rotation for four years. The amount of live stock is determined according to the crops.

GEOMETRY TESTS

The Hart's Standardized tests were given in Plane Geometry classes last year. The following results were obtained:

Test 1, at close of book I median for 4500 pupils is 41.

Our Geometry class median is 44. The class was above 3.

Test 2, at the close of book II, median for 7,563 pupils is 24-26.

Our class median is 26. The class was above 1 1/2.

Test 3, at the close of book III, median for 2626 pupils is 25-26.

Our class median is 24-25. The class was above 1.

Test 4, at the close of book IV, median for 2,710 pupils is 12-13.

Our class median is 12-13, same.

Test 5, at the close of book V, median for 2355 pupils is 15-16.

Our class median is 16. Above 1/2. Total above 4.

The total number of questions in the 5 tests is 151.

Marion Jo Theobald ranked first with 147 question o. k.

Evelyn Larson, ranked second with 143 questions o. k.

Baldwin Fischer ranked third with

My only plea for re-election to the Congress is the official record of my speaking and voting.

Has my record been a good record?

I leave the answer entirely to the people of our district. If it has been a good record, then perhaps you will send me to Congress for another term.

Will I make a better record if you shall re-elect me?

I do not know.

I rather believe I will just go along as I have been going, fighting and voting for legislation in behalf of our Middle West farm interests, doing my best to secure adequate pensions for our Civil war and Spanish-American war veterans, and just compensation for our boys who were disabled in the World war.

That's all.

140 questions o. k. These tests will be given in the same way this year.

EIGHTH GRADE NOTES

In art the eighth grade made ship posters and borders for Columbus Day. The history class studied the "Reconstruction Period."

The physiology class studied the teeth and brought specimens to school. Both divisions of the arithmetic class are having progress drills.

The Good Citizens club met last Tuesday, October 15, with a business meeting. Another meeting was held Tuesday October 23. The pupils discussed fire prevention.

Mrs. Hiscox and Mrs. Smith were visitors Monday, October 15.

SEVENTH GRADE NOTES

Those who were neither tardy nor absent the last six weeks were: Inez Perry, Letha Penhollow, Melvin Brown, Kathryn Craven, Ida Eichoff, Helen Jones, Romaine Simmerman, Lucille Surber, Warren Bald, Elnor Bernston, Lloyd Dotson, Margaretta Foltz, Bessie Isom, Ruth Killion, Donald McGuigan, and Billie Rundell. Warren Bald went to Lincoln Wednesday, October 17.

Dean Simpson and Ruth Killion were absent October 17, on account of impassable roads.

Halloween decorations have been put up in the room. Elnor Bernston brought the decorations and put them up.

The seventh grade has been making a special study of teeth the last week. A set of teeth which studied in a laboratory period.

SIXTH GRADE NOTES

Visitors in the sixth grade the past week were Mrs. L. W. Vath and Mrs. Frank Gamble.

The grade organized as a class this week. The following officers were elected: President, Harry Cooke; Vice President, Frank Gamble; Secretary, June Gayle Jones; Treasurer, Alice May Young. A student council was also organized with the following members: Willie Mohr, Harry Cooke, June Gayle Jones, Opal Brown, Mildred Brown, Amy Pearl Barnes.

A letter was received from Ruth Kingdom, a former student in the sixth grade, who has moved to Sioux City.

The class is receiving replies daily from Chambers of Commerce of different states to whom they have written. This material is used in Geography class.

The Art classes are making Halloween decorations.

The history classes are studying Roman and Greek history, especially, the influence of this history upon present day history.

The spelling classes are holding contests to see who can receive the most perfect papers.

The hygiene classes are studying the teeth. Posters have been made of these models.

FIFTH GRADE NOTES

The B class is having a review in Geography. They are making maps illustrating the population, surface features, and rainfall in South America. These will then be made into booklets. The Buicks and Packards are even in the health race which is being conducted between the two classes.

Halloween stories were written for the language lesson. In opening exercises they are enjoying a new book called, "Tik-Top of Oz" written by L. Frank Baum.

The A class has been studying the Revolutionary War and have just finished studying the Battle of Saratoga. The B class is studying about the colonization of New York.

A new plan is being worked out in Arithmetic. Home work is assigned and quizzes are given daily. If most of the answers are correct an O. K. is given. The final grade depends on daily quizzes.

Mrs. T. S. Hook visited the class (continued on last page)

Reasons Why—

The Women and Men of Nebraska Should Vote for Governor Alfred E. Smith for President on Nov. 6, 1928.

I. Humane and Sensible.

ALFRED E. SMITH has done more to promote human welfare and social justice in New York than any other man in public life throughout the history of the state. His record of accomplishment in behalf of the sick, the poor and those with physical or mental disabilities and his success in improving the living conditions of the people as a whole mark him as unique among our statesmen for his contribution to social progress. To the service of those who are out of step in the march of life he has brought a warm and sympathetic understanding, aided by keen intelligence, practical common sense and a passion for facts.

II. For Economic Justice To Farmers.

GOVERNOR SMITH recognizes the fact that no family or group of families can be truly happy when they can not enjoy the same privileges of life as their neighbors and cannot give their children the same opportunities in life that their neighbor's children have. HE KNOWS FROM THE STATISTICS COMPILED BY THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE THAT IN 1916 THE FARMERS OF THIS COUNTRY RECEIVED 20 PER CENT OF THE TOTAL INCOME OF ALL THE FAMILIES OF THE NATION, AND THAT IN 1927 THE FARMERS' SHARE WAS ONLY 7 1/2 PER CENT OF THE TOTAL INCOME, ALTHOUGH THE FARMERS REPRESENTED ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL POPULATION. Governor Smith has pledged himself to correct that injustice and to place the farmers among the happy families of the nation by urging and signing, not discouraging and vetoing,—the legislation which is capable of bringing economic justice and equality to agriculture. He has promised to sign the bill to be prepared by the representatives of agriculture. He has never broken a promise made the people. Remember that the representatives of the forty-nine farm organizations in the United States have unanimously endorsed and are supporting Governor Smith.

III. For Public Education.

ALFRED E. SMITH is a true friend of public schools. In 1925, in the state of New York, he procured $9,000,000 additional appropriations for rural schools. During his eight years in office, he has procured an increase of many millions of dollars of appropriations for public education. He has placed the country schools of the state on substantially the same basis as the city schools.

IV. Opposed To The Saloon -- Favors Honest Enforcement.

GOVERNOR SMITH has raised a fine family of children. It is therefore not surprising that he said: "When I stated that the saloon is and ought to be a defunct institution in this country, I meant it. I mean it today. I will never advocate nor approve any law which, directly or indirectly, permits the return of the saloon. I shall to the very limit execute the pledge of our platform to make an honest endeavor to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and all laws enacted pursuant thereto. THE CORRUPTION IN ENFORCEMENT ACTIVITIES I WILL RUTHLESSLY STAMP OUT. Such conditions can not and will not exist under any administration presided over by me."

V. Progressive.

GOVERNOR SMITH has made statements on all issues that are clear and not open to double construction. He has the support of the progressives of the country. Senator Norris has endorsed his position on the important questions of agriculture and power. His candor and directness have brought him the support of all forward-looking voters of this country, irrespective of past political affiliations.

VI. Humble Origin -- A Great Leader.

ALFRED E. SMITH was born in humble surroundings. He has never lost touch with or failed in sympathy for the poor. His record as Governor of New York for four terms, his public activity as a member of the legislature of New York, his addresses in the pending campaign and his state papers, prove that he is a great leader. Very recently Charles E. Hughes, the former Governor of New York and former Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States and a republican, in speaking of Governor Smith, said: "He is an expert in government. The title he holds is the proudest title that any American can hold, because it is a title to the esteem and affection of his fellow citizens."

A ballot cast for Alfred E. Smith for President is a vote for an honest, capable, humane, far-seeing man. Go to the polls and let honest argument;—not prejudice—rule your decision.

It was unusual for a gorilla to be in the zoo.

"I look more like a human being than most of my relatives, too," said the gorilla.

"I come from Africa. Am I not handsome walking upright just as anyone would do?"

The gorilla was really not handsome at all; he was quite ugly.

He was very large and did look quite human, but he hadn't nearly as much sense as the nice orang-utan or the lively, cheerful chimpanzee.

"I'm worth looking at," the gorilla kept saying to himself, and as he looked at the people who hurried to the zoo to see him he chatted and looked at them and said:

"You're all a foolish lot. I don't believe I will stay long in the zoo if you're the ones who're coming to see me.

"Such absurd looking people. And your climate is so different from Africa.

"The zoo is very different from the home I had, very different.

"This zoo is enough to make me cross. There isn't room for me to take all the exercise I want.

"I will have indigestion if I do not take plenty of exercise. Yes, I believe I am already beginning to feel cross.

He Would Look at Himself.

"I don't like zoo life—that is certain—so take a look at me, people, while you can.

"Now is your opportunity. Of course I sometimes like some people.

"I have my pets!"

And the people did come to look at the gorilla for it was unusual to have one in the zoo for even a little while, but the keeper whispered to his beloved orang-utan and said:

"You're the one I like, you are!"

And the orang-utan put his arms around the keeper's neck and kissed him and said:

"The orang-utan is your pet, and loves you, too."

Then the keeper would take the orang-utan into his private room and the orang-utan would play.

Sometimes he would look at himself in the mirror and he would take a special tooth brush the keeper had for him and brush his teeth.

Then he would take another brush and brush himself off very nicely.

Then he would sit on the chair near the mirror and looking at the keeper would say, by means of the expression in his eyes:

"Don't I look nicely now?"

And the keeper would play games with the orang-utan, and then he would give the orang-utan a banana.

The orang-utan would always peel his banana first. He didn't care for banana peels.

After awhile the keeper would take the orang-utan back to his big cage and yard, but often, so very, very often the orang-utan had special liberty and fun back in the keeper's private room.

He enjoyed these times more than anything else, and how he loved it that he was a real pet.

Practically Five Boys

There are four boys and one girl in the family next door. The little girl is the youngest of the group, and being raised with so many brothers, is just as rough and tumble as they.

"Let's see, there are three boys in your family, aren't there?" some one inquired of John, the next to the youngster.

"Oh, no, there's four," corrected the little fellow. "And countin' Jeanie, there's five practically."

Back Yard All Around

Mary had always lived in an apartment in the city where she had no place to play but a little plot of grass in the back yard. One summer she went to visit her aunt in the country.

When it was time to go home at the end of the summer she cried and cried. Her aunt asked her one day why she liked it so in the country and the little girl replied: "Cause your back yard goes all around the house."

Wished Teacher Luck

Helen, aged six, was eager for school to begin and when she recently met her teacher told her she had already purchased her book, pencil, etc.

Her teacher, feigning surprise, asked, "Why, Helen, are you going to start to school?"

And Helen replied, "Oh, yes, Miss C., and I hope you have good luck with me!"

High Reverence Given

India's Holy Milkmen

A certain tribe of southern India, the Todas, regard their purveyors of milk as holy-men. The chief of these is the Holy Milkman, who has an official residence, the Sacred Dairy, which he is not allowed to leave during his term of office. The Holy Milkman, moreover, is usually a bachelor; if he married before being appointed to his high office, he must leave his wife and devote himself entirely to observing the stringent rites of the Sacred Dairy.

No ordinary person may touch him, for to do so would defile his exalted office and he would be compelled to resign. Another restriction is that Holy Milkmen must not be spoken to except on Mondays and Thursdays. On other days, any message must be shouted from a considerable distance.

The dairy temples are usually built in conical form, and the milkman-priest must always sleep in the cow-house, a draughty structure with a small fireplace. There is no door to the dairy, and a Holy Milkman is allowed to wear only one coarse robe. When he is eating, his hand must not touch his lips, and to prevent this the milkman throws his food into his mouth. When drinking, he must hold the vessel aloft and pour the liquid down his throat as from a tap.

Shingles Long in Use

as Building Material

To the materials in most common use and particularly those constantly before us we give perhaps less thought than to those which are so common but which have been more recently brought to our notice, because of the new properties they may possess, or because of a supposed need they may seem to fill.

Shingles, for example, are one of the oldest of our building materials, having been in constant use in this country for nearly 300 years.

Because of the great demand for them the old methods of manufacture have long since been done away with and have been replaced by the use of the most modern machinery. Shingles were first derived from the solid wood and later split in order to obtain a straight and more even grain. Now they are manufactured in a most scientific and economical manner.

Found Few Boyhood Joys

James Gibbons Huneker, the American author, music and dramatic critic enjoyed the present even to the exclusion of boyhood memories. "Happy days?" he questioned of them in his "Steeplejack." "Not a bit of it. I hated them then and I look back to them with a sense of relief that they are over and done with. Often I wished that my childhood could be abolished. I envied my elders; envied their freedom from constructive criticism, from bullying, from flogging, and a hundred other cruel impediments between my wishes and their fulfillment." Huneker added, "I was like other boys of my age and enjoyed myself out of school, but study killed the joy of living."—Detroit News.

Catching a Bird

Little Margaret was found playing in the back yard with her grandmother's best salt shaker. Margaret's mother asked what she was doing.

"I'm going to catch a bird," she replied.

"Surely you don't think you can sprinkle salt on a bird's tail and catch it?" the mother said.

"But Mr. B— told us kids that we could sprinkle salt on a bird's tail and catch it and he wouldn't tell a lie for no bird," Margaret insisted.

"Why, Margaret, that's impossible."

"Well, hasn't Aunt Carolyn a bird in a cage, and how did she get it?"

Noisy

One day a woman who owns a small restaurant served dinner to a man and his wife. The man was deaf. In the midst of the meal, the owner of the restaurant noticed that the woman wrote a message on the order pad and passed it over to her husband. She felt that some comment had been made on the food which had been served.

After the guests had left, she read the slip of paper that had been left behind and found this: "Don't stir your ice tea so hard. It sounds as if you were beating a cake."

Short Memory

A well-known man spent an hour in conference with an oil magnate. His secretary finally came in to remind him that a number of visitors had been waiting a long time. The financier decided to go out and apologize for delaying them.

He was followed to the outer room by the man with whom he had been in conference, and in making the rounds came to him, shook his hand, said he was sorry he kept him waiting, and that he was very happy to see him.

Lucien, who had been visiting his grandparents for the summer, got a present of a puppy as a playmate. He could not help but write his mother about it but still wished to surprise her when he got home so he wrote: "I have a surprise for you when I get home, but I won't tell you what it is, until I get home. But I am going to tell you just one little thing about it, it barked all last night and kept us awake."

Fall Outfits for Girls Are Simple

Younger Set Affects Plain Trimmings on Costumes for School.

One of the problems of autumn is the selection of a wardrobe for the juniors. Clothes must be provided for them for school, for holidays and for home occasions. The principal choice, notes a fashion writer in the New York Times, seems to lie between one-piece and two-piece costumes, both of which are proper for girls between the ages of six and sixteen, depending upon their size and type. Generally speaking, the two-piece is selected for school, the one-piece for home and the most formal wear; but there is a variety of exceptions.

Although the skirt for the autumn is less abbreviated than that in the summer style, it is still very short, and whatever ornamentation it has is grouped on the upper part, the skirt being for the most part left plain. Many attractive frocks of this description are shown in the autumn collections. One, copied from a summer style, is of figured dimity, with collar, cuffs and patch pockets of plain linen. The original had pink blossoms printed on a white background and the trimming was of plain pink linen.

Another of the same sort is of dimity with miniature dots of pale blue on white. It has a narrow turnover collar and bands on the sleeves, which are short and of white linen. A small panel in the shape of a shirt bosom is stitched in the front, and on each shoulder is clustered a triangle of smocking. Both of these models are being successfully reproduced in challis and heavy crepe for service and becomingness, one in French blue, the other in bright red.

Bands Give Effect of Trim.

Applied bands are shown on a great many of the frocks, serving to give an effect of trimming without altering the simplicity of the model. An excellent example is one made of navy blue crepe de chine printed with blue polka dots. The frock is perfectly straight in silhouette and has an inverted plait laid on each shoulder, front and back. Each is fastened at the top by a strap of navy blue cloth with flaring, pointed ends stitched to hold the plaits in place. Narrow cuffs and a turnover collar, which is finished with a frill of red crepe, are also made of the navy cloth.

Again, bands of cloth in a contrasting color are used to finish a little school dress of washable rosy beige printed with small geometric figures of brown. In this model a fold of brown cloth outlines the yoke and is appliqued as a panel down the front to the hem. There it is rounded in a scallop, from which scallops finish the bottom all around. A cluster of gathers held in the square of the yoke at each side gives fullness to the frock.

This model is varied to give a more chic appearance, with the collar and cuff appliques cut in battlements and the yoke shaped unevenly, with gathers clustered at one side only. Another difference is seen in the back where the skirt, slightly full, is attached to the yoke instead of the plain one-piece back, which is more usual.

These school frocks of light, finely woven wool and of crepe revive an old fashion on the theory that warmth is to be supplied by the overgarment, but many women prefer to dress a small daughter in linen, plume, even in muslin, the year round, with underwear of wool or wool and silk.

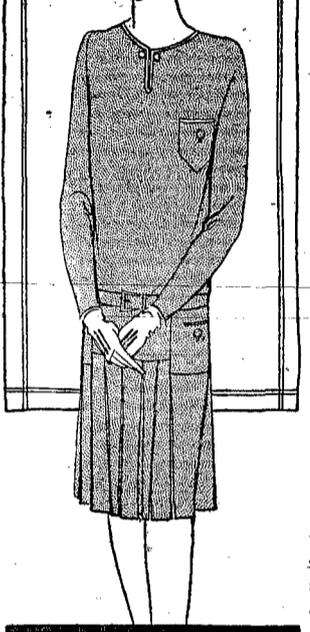

One of pink linen hangs straight from the shoulder, where the material is finely tucked to form a yoke, ending in fullness. The neck is round and collarless and bound with pink linen, of which a band cut in points along the upper edge is stitched around the bottom of the skirt and sleeves. Incidentally, a white Angora coat and tam are made to accompany this to complete an outfit for frosty weather.

Dimity and handkerchief linen, of which some of the year-around school frocks for youngsters are made, are shown with smocking, fagoting, cross-stitch and other styles of needlework, in all white and in colors. Georgette and all the varieties of voile are widely used for children's school frocks and general utility dresses. The new tub-voile and almon are also in favor, since they withstand ordinary wear and tear and are absolutely proof against water and sun. Moreover, in the present-day exceedingly plain designs they are economical of time and labor in laundering.

For all of the softer materials smocking is charmingly adapted and is much used. Genuine peasant patterns of needlework, in color on white, or one color on another, are seen in simplified designs on frocks for small girls and are always decorative, even quaint. A few models from Paris of dark-colored voiles, mostly blue, show a touch of needlework or colored floss, and edges embroidered with hand scallops.

Straight-line silhouettes prevail in most of the models for school dresses, especially in the one-piece. A few circular and flaring skirts with godets are shown, but the greater number are plaited on "the straight of the goods" in kilts or box plaits. In one collection brought from Paris are a number of models of wool fabrics, designed for a girl of eight or ten or older. All of these are quiet in color and simple in style, the sort of clothes that answer the requirement for all-day and every-day wear.

Among the two-piece models is one of leaf-brown wool crepe. Though it has a belted overblouse this little suit is gently feminine in style and has a bateau neck ending in two narrow scarfs that are tied in a bow at the back. A detail of fagoting is introduced in the bodice with lines that radiate downward from the neck, front and back. Another model in brown is more elaborate. A short bolero is added to the blouse and the skirt is trimmed with five narrow tiers that are clustered into frills at one side. This dress is made of flat crepe, with ivory crepe de chine for the blouse, which has the effect of a gulf or vest in front and shows softly a contrast in color all around.

A two-piece of red and brown wool plaid is particularly chic, with box-plaited skirt and a Norfolk jacket belted with a strap of brown suede. With this and other models of the sort a small e-ton collar of white pique is stitched along the edge with scarlet yarn.

Beige and Red Wool Mixtures.

A modernistic note is reflected in a one-piece coat frock of beige and red wool mixture. The lighter weaves of the two colors is used for the upper part of the frock, and for the lower part the darker weave, showing more red than beige, is attached in geometric outline. A narrow belt of lacquered red leather and collar and cuffs of ecru-linen are worn with this model.

A similar collar and cuff set is shown with a one-piece belted frock of wool crepe. Several new two-piece and simulated two-piece frocks are shown in wool jersey, in one of which braid is added as a trimming at the top, and in the other in battlement border around the bottom. Tweed of a rich shade of tan has a woven border of red, green and blue, which is arranged to form a trimming for the bottom of the skirt and a yoke on the blouse. A trim and dainty appearance is given to the wool and jersey frocks with collars and cuffs of linen or pique, usually detachable. Some are handsomely embroidered and all are finished with a scallop or crocheted edge done by hand with white cotton or colored yarn.

Delightful pajama suits are made of crepe de chine in plain colors and figured goods. A suit of white crepe printed in the small pink flowers has short sleeves and a finely plaited frill of plain pink crepe as a rim on the edge of the coat, sleeves, trouser cuffs and ends of the soft sash.

Colonists Placed Ban

on Sumptuous Dress

Nowadays one of the most prominent features in the attire of the fair sex is the use of silks and satins. However, such was not the case with the women in the early days of the colony of Massachusetts. Their mode of dress was not governed by their own discretion and budgets. Rather the authorities took it upon themselves to dictate just what should be worn, not only by the women, but also that the men folks should dress in accordance with the judgment of those handling the affairs of the community at that time.

As early as 1651, the general court was enacting legislation which provided that if a man was not worth 200 pounds, he was not eligible to wear gold lace or silver lace, buttons or points at the knees. They were not permitted to wear boots owing to the scarcity of leather then.

As for the women, if their property was not valued to the extent of 200 pounds, their attire was not to include silk, tiffany hoods or scarfs. Thus, it was possible, by glancing at the dress of neighbors to tell approximately how much of this world's goods they possessed. The distinction of dress was an accepted distinction both of social rank and of occupation.

Was Not Impressed

by Chauncey's Tales

During an Atlantic voyage Chauncey Depew was entertaining a group of friends one evening in the smoking room with some of his inimitable stories. Naturally, the listeners showed their sense of amusement, with one solitary exception. This man maintained an aspect of indifference, and, indeed, almost of gloom.

Mr. Depew, of course, could not help observing this and was prompted to trot out even additional anecdotes. But in vain, at least with regard to the melancholy man. At last Mr. Depew rallied him by saying:

"Well, Mr. —, won't you contribute something to our cheerfulness?"

The man thus addressed, pretending to have a heavy sigh, replied: "Well, I have been ruminating a bit as to what constitutes the difference between me and a turkey; and I have come to the conclusion that it's just this—that a turkey hasn't got to be stuffed with chestnuts until after he is dead."—Kansas City Star.

Beware of Grudges

We haven't a very good opinion of men who try to take grudges beyond the grave, or who strike at the living from the safety of the grave. But such efforts sometimes make interesting stories. A Philadelphia, for instance, branded his wife, in his will, as an "ungrateful and untruthful woman" and bequeathed her $1 with which to buy a rope to hang herself. That may have been the only way in which he could get "the last word" with her. But the fact that he also criticized his son, in the same will, and cut him off with $100 "so that he may have a deep grave dug for himself" indicates that the dead man was either of an unusually mean nature or was unbalanced mentally. It is bad taste to speak ill of the dead. But the dead sometimes speak very ill of themselves in their wills.—New Orleans Tribune.

Danger in Athletics

Doctor McKenzie in "Exercise in Education and Medicine," says: "There are also dangers that accompany the later years of a man's athletic life. Having accustomed himself to a high rate of physical activity it is dangerous to stop all exercise suddenly, as so many college graduates do when they enter business. The combination of over-nourishment and under-elimination that is sure to follow upssets the digestion, brings on palpitation and helps in the rapid accumulation of fat, and these symptoms often make him introspective, morbid and neurotic."

Social Welfare

Little Jerry Cameron had heard the family discussing social welfare, so she decided to help along the good work. One day she came home from school and explained to her mother that she had called on forty poor people that afternoon.

"Do you mean to say you saw forty people in one afternoon?"

"I didn't see all of them, mother. At some places I left cards."—Los Angeles Times.

Well Meaning

Penniless Percy had come into money, and all his friends were giving him good advice.

"Don't forget, my dear fellow," observed one, "that a fool and his money are soon parted."

Percy was about to promise that he would not forget this piece of advice when a voice interrupted:

"Oh, but I am sure that Percy is going to be the exception that proves the rule."

Puss! Puss! Puss!

A grammar-school boy handed in the following composition on "cats." "Cats that's meant for little boys to maul and tease is called Mautese cats. Some cats is reckerized by how quiet their purrs is and these is named Purr-an cats. The cats what has very bad tempers is called Angorie cats, and cats with deep feelings is called Feline cats. I don't like cats."—Church Life.

Penworthy Proves It

By AD SCHUSTER

ALL his married life Penworthy Podd had boasted of his skill with the rod and gun. In his attic there was a green tin box filled with a tangle of line, hooks and sinkers and in his closet, neatly encased in leather and available for frequent inspection, was the prized shotgun, which had been presented him by his office workers years ago.

Penworthy subscribed to magazines of the stream and forest. He could talk big game as easily as the traveling salesman can talk time tables and hotels, and in all his accounts he left the inference that it was his annual custom to stalk the bear, deer and mountain lion.

Mrs. Podd had heard all of his stories many times. She even knew from which magazines he drew his material and could recognize the exact moment, in each tale, when he departed from the text to elaborate from his own imagination. It was worth something to see the gentle Penworthy take the shining shotgun from its case, throw it open with a movement of the thumb, and exhibit its well-oiled perfections. Then Penworthy sought to look fierce. He drew down his gray brows and slumped his open palm upon his knee.

"When I was in Uganda," he would start, and Mrs. Podd, fearful of being an accomplice to deceit, would withdraw. One day she spoke her mind.

"Penworthy Podd"—It meant something when she started in this manner. "We have been married twenty years and not once have you been hunting. Not once, to my knowledge has that gun been pointed at a stray cat, let alone a tiger or an elephant. If you are a mighty hunter, and I have been hearing you say so every day, I would like to know about it. It is my belief," and she recalled an expression of youth, "you could not shoot straight enough to hit a barn door."

Deeply offended Penworthy withdrew to his room where he examined the shotgun, patted its stock, and told it and himself he would prove to the world he had not been making wild boasts. Regolutely and with the air of a man greatly injured he returned to tell of his intentions.

"Martha, we go forth tomorrow on a hunting expedition. It is true, perhaps, I have neglected sport for some time, but it has been because of my love for home. You have seen fit to doubt my word. Now you shall go with me to see for yourself. We will hunt big game."

In an automobile loaded with food, cooking utensils and blankets they set out and in time reached a forest in which Penworthy was confident there was plenty of wild life. He supervised the making of camp, shouldered his gun and left parting directions.

"I will make a wide circle. Do not be alarmed if you hear firing. At sunset I will return."

Perhaps the big game scented his approach, Penworthy walked on without seeing as much as a squirrel. The bear which was his ambition and goal shrunk to a deer, to a coyote, and then a rabbit. When the sun dropped low the hunter yearned for the chance to shoot anything at all.

"If I should see a bird, now," he said, "it would prove to her I can shoot straight." Then he began to wonder if he were not lost. Before long he should be reaching camp and there his wife would be waiting with dinner. He hoped she was not planning to cook the game he had promised.

"If I had fired a shot she would have heard me," he reflected, "and if I shoot I must bring something back to show for it."

The coffee boiling, Mrs. Podd sat on a log behind a clump of brush reading a book and waiting the arrival of the warrior. Penworthy, dog-tired, stumbled on, searching the trees and bushes for something that was alive and a target.

Then he saw the bird, a little red bird, bobbing about in reckless manner. Penworthy sighted deliberately. It was a pity to shoot so small and unsuspecting a thing and yet a great question of vindication was at stake.

"I've got to hit it," he said, and pulled the trigger.

The bird disappeared in a cloud of feathers, almost as if it had exploded, and there arose a commotion in the brush.

"Penworthy Podd," a strong voice came out of the dusk. "If you haven't shot the very bird off my hat!"

So Silly

It was while the Hoot Gibson company was on location in the mountains that Harry Neuman and Bill Bradford borrowed an ancient fly to carry the cameras to a set. It was a going all the way and once or twice the iron horse threatened to quit entirely. Finally a regular mountain loomed up ahead.

"Think you can make that hill?" asked Harry anxiously.

"I dunno," said Billy in disgust, "but I'd like to know who'll did."—Los Angeles Times.

COUNTY W. C. T. U.

IN ANNUAL SESSION

The annual county convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the C. O. Mitchell home Friday afternoon. Forty women were present and enjoyed a splendid program as follows:

Devotions—Mrs. A. C. Downing, Wayne.

Greetings—Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer, Wayne.

Song—America.

Report of State Convention—Mrs. A. H. Holmes, Norfolk.

Song, Sweet Hour of Prayer, Miss Margaret Whitman, Wayne.

Report County Union—Mrs. Charles Jones, Carroll.

Report of Carroll Union, Mrs. E. E. Elder, Carroll.

Report of Wayne Union, Mrs. Walter Miller, Wayne.

Report of Welfare Work—Mrs. W. C. Fox, Wayne.

Report of Dixon County Union—Mrs. Alma Overboe, Allen.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Mrs. E. E. Elder, Carroll, president; Mrs. C. O. Mitchell, Wayne, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. A. H. Holmes of Norfolk, president of Madison county, W. C. T. U. spoke at length of the program given at the state convention which was held at Grand Island, October 1 to 5 inclusive. She brought in splendid report of a great work being accomplished by the state workers. She stressed the need of more members and urged all to stand by at this critical hour when the leader of the Democratic forces is seeking to slide into the white house with his promise to the wet voters to modify the 18th amendment. Mrs. Holmes, in a severe, but forceful manner, portrayed a picture of the old days and the work of the women through the years for temperance, of the happiness of the workers when the Volstead act and the 18th amendment were at last a part of our constitution. To go back, even a step, in the direction of the open saloon must not be and so greater efforts must be maintained all along the firing line that a man may be put into the white house who will enforce the laws we have, who will not seek to change the result of years of prayer and hard work of the white ribbon forces and other dry organizations throughout this country.

Mrs. Alma Overboe of Allen, president of Dixon county W. C. T. U., gave some interesting high lights of the state convention and especially urged a campaign for more members. She told of plans for service being worked out in Dixon county.

Mrs. Overboe has a strong personality, an enthusiasm that is contagious and is an out standing figure for good in her community.

Out of town members present were: Mrs. A. H. Holmes, Norfolk; Mrs. Alma Overboe and Mrs. Orville tuning, Allen; Mesdames Chas. Jones, Monte Davenport, Robert Demmel, Chas. Whitney, Cradoc Morris and Mrs. E. E. Elder, Carroll.

At the close of the program small tables were placed about the living rooms, four at each table and a two-course dinner was served. Decorations were in white and yellow. Mrs. I. E. Ellis was chairman of refreshments.

SMALL BOYS SHOW ENTERPRISE

At this time of the year the proclivities of the small boy are somewhat dormant. Therefore the recent sudden enterprise of so many of our future presidents has caused no little comment. Mother has not had to call Willie the second time to run errands for some days past and Dad has been agreeably surprised to find the kindling split and neatly piled in the wood box upon his return in the evening. The reason for this metamorphosis? Far be it from us to betray the secrets of any of our young friends, but our idea is just this: Just a few days ago a genial gentleman by the name of P. C. Franklin invaded our fair city with a brigade of bill-poster men who have decorated every available inch of wall space with the announcement of the event of William J. Harvall's mammoth "Uncle Tom's Cabin"—Pleasant memories of our first visit to this time-honored drama flock back to us and we ourselves are waiting impatiently for the coming of the lovely little Eva, gentle Uncle Tom, the funny lawyer Marks, the wicked Topsy and all other favorites. Mr. Franklin assures us that the company is the most perfect that Mr. Harvall has been able to assemble in all his 21 years experience in presenting this play. He claims the most complete of all traveling organizations on account of the tremendous seating capacity the management has placed the price of admission within the reach of all. 25c for children, 50c for adults. REGULATIONS FOR MARKET-ING TATTOOED HOGS

The following regulations pertaining to the payment of the premium for tattooed hogs has been approved by the Tuberculosis Eradication Committee. Said regulations to become effective November 15, 1928.

Tattooed hogs, bred and fed in accredited counties will be eligible to the ten cent premium regardless of the number offered for sale or regardless of previous sorting at the market. The premium will be paid when killing floor records show that the hogs were actually tattooed.

The premium will be paid by separate check to each individual producer, and remitted through the selling agency.

The certificate must bear the signature, postoffice and tattoo code of each producer in the consignment.

Where mixed loads, part loads or sorted loads are involved the premium will be paid on the basis of the average weight of the hogs bought by each packer.

If no legible tattoo marks are found on any given lot, the premium cannot be paid on same. The premium will be paid in so far as the legibility of the marks will permit identification.

If tattooed accredited hogs are shipped in same car with other hogs they must be partitioned in car or marked so that they can be sorted out on arrival.

Remember the Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Morning worship and sermon at 11. Young peoples' at 7:30 p. m.

Evening-song service and sermon at 7:30 p. m.

The young people are planning a party for Friday night. We meet at the church promptly at seven and take autos out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stamm. Pass the word along we want all our young people on hand.

Saturday our ladies are serving supper in the church parlors. There will also be on sale many articles, fancy sewing, basketry, cakes, etc.

Did you read last weeks verse that appeared in our notes? Here's another:—"Each one intends to do what's fair And treat his neighbor on the square But he may not quite understand Why you don't take him by the hand At church next Sunday."

First Methodist Episcopal Church
William W. Whitman, Pastor

9:45 Sunday school session, be sure to note the change in the hour. Our fine fourteen piece Sunday school orchestra directed by Henry Reynolds will play for the opening service. A splendid increase in all departments was recorded last Sunday. Let us make this Sunday still better. Bring a friend.

11:00 Morning worship with sermon by the pastor. A large vested choir will furnish special music for this service.

7:00 Evening service in charge of the young people. Another fine service and fine congregation last Sunday evening. Next Sunday evening will be just as good but different.

A cordial invitation to all the services of this church.

First Presbyterian Church
Fenton C. Jones, Pastor

10:00 Sunday school. Remember we are working toward a goal and every one counts. Every Sunday should show a gain.

11:00 Morning worship with sermon. Theme: "On Selecting Precious Stones."

6:30 Y. P. S. C. E. Mr. Ohme will lead the study. You will enjoy the meetings.

7:30 Sacred concert by the choir as invaded our fair city with a brigade of bill-poster men who have decorated every available inch of wall space with the announcement of the event of William J. Harvall's mammoth "Uncle Tom's Cabin"—Pleasant memories of our first visit to this time-honored drama flock back to us and we ourselves are waiting impatiently for the coming of the lovely little Eva, gentle Uncle Tom, the funny lawyer Marks, the wicked Topsy and all other favorites. Mr. Franklin assures us that the company is the most perfect that Mr. Harvall has been able to assemble in all his 21 years experience in presenting this play. He claims the most complete of all traveling organizations on account of the tremendous seating capacity the management has placed the price of admission within the reach of all. 25c for children, 50c for adults. Community hall, Wednesday—October 31, at 8:30 p. m.

Monday and Mrs. Jones on Tuesday.

Imogene Kilborn is the librarian for this week.

Pupils who have not missed any spelling words the entire term are: Peggy Strahan, Josephine Ley, and Gladys Downing. Those neither absent nor tardy during the first term are: Frances Baker, Weldon Jones, Dorothy Hook, Margaret Jones, Josephine Ley, Mary Ella Pile, Frank Strahan, Peggy Strahan, Paul Young, Verba Berry, Ida Gildersleeve, Maxine Hansen, Imogene Kilborn, Helen Mabbott and Jane Randall. The attendance record of the B class is 100 per cent.

FOURTH GRADE NOTES

For art work the fourth grade made Indian rugs last week. This week the pupils are making Halloween posters, which feature the witches flight to the moon. Decorations for the windows have also been made.

The A geography class is studying the different materials such as silk, cotton and wool. The children bring samples of the materials which helps to make the work more interesting.

The B Reading class dramatized the story "The Open Gate" for the A class Wednesday. This was the lesson in silent reading. Last Friday the fourth grade recited the poem "Fairy Folks" for the second grade.

The books "The Bobsey Twins at the County Fair" have been read in the fourth grade during story hour. Pupils in the fourth grade room were weighed Tuesday. The pupil is to be weighed each month. Pupils who are underweight are to eat fruit and vegetables and drink plenty of milk so they will gain in weight.

Margaret Mau was absent Tuesday morning on account of illness. Helen Bald was absent Wednesday. Mrs. Gamble was a visitor Tuesday.

THIRD GRADE NOTES

Mrs. Percy Smith was a visitor in the third grade last week. The third grade took a field trip to the fair-grounds in the earlier part of this month. The object of the trip was to study the signs of autumn. The Girl's airplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis", is forty miles ahead of the boys airplane, "America", in their citizenship contest.

The pupils made posters for a health project. The class have also made spelling books in which a record of the grades for this six weeks will be kept. Halloween posters were made in art class. By a vote of the pupils, Russel Foxe's poster was chosen as the best. Nearly all the pupils in the B class have received pen and ink. The first ones in the class to receive them were: Marjorie Hook, Betty Blair, Kathryn Young and Wayne McMaster. Toothpaste and health charts which were received from the Colgate Company were distributed in the grade.

Beverly Strahan of the first grade read a story to the members of the third grade. William Kemp and Marian Vath of the second grade also read a poem in the third grade.

SECOND GRADE NOTES

Marvin Scott has moved to Casper Wyoming. Marvin lived in Casper before coming to Wayne.

Two girls and seven boys had perfect attendance the last six weeks. In order to promote orderliness and cleanliness the pupils desks are now inspected.

A letter was received from Raymond Loebbeck of Blackfoot Idaho, a former pupil of the second grade. The study of Indians has been benefited by other talent. Watch for the program. It will be well worth your hearing. Silver offering.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.
