FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR COUNTY PIONEER

Sophus Thompson, 76, former Carroll Pioneer, laid to rest in local cemetery, Thursday.

DIED AT THE WINNER HOSPITAL

The funeral of Sophus Thompson was held at the Beckenbauer parlors Saturday afternoon at 1:30, with Rev. W. C. Herdinrich in charge. After the services the body was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Thompson was born in Denmark November 19, 1852, and passed away January 1, 1929, at the hospital at Winner, South Dakota, following a week illness, at the age of 76 years, 1 month 12 days.

He enjoyed fairly good health for a man of his years up to that time.

He came to Pentwater, Michigan, in the late seventies and a few years later to Wayne county, Nebraska, where he lived until 19 years ago. He then moved to his late home near Hamill, South Dakota, where he has since resided with the exception of four years of which time he lived at Winner, South Dakota.

Deceased is survived by one sister and two brothers in Denmark, two sisters of Scottville, Michigan, and two brothers, Fred and Christ of this place, having preceded him in death. Deceased also leaves a number of nieces and nephews to mourn his departure.

Fred and James Thompson, Jens, Eric and Andrew C. Thompson nephews, and Theodore Larsen, nieces husband acted as pallbearers.

Out of town relatives here to attend funeral: James Thompson of Dalton, Nebraska, and Fred Thompson and John Kay, of Council Bluffs, Iowa.

WAYNE COUNTY PIONEER DIES AT NORFOLK MONDAY

Charles Linn, Wayne county pioneer who lived at Hoskins for many years, died at a Norfolk hospital Monday, it is reported. Arrangements for the funeral were not learned here.

Mr. Linn is survived by his aged mother, living in Norfolk at the home of a daughter; two daughters, Mabel Linn and Mrs. Lenzien of Norfolk; three sons, Floyd, Vernon and Victor of Hoskins. One sister and three brothers living in or near Hoskins also survive. His wife died about ten years ago.

For many years Mr. Linn lived on a farm north of Hoskins. He is reported to have been in failing health for some time.

HOLDRIGE FAMILY MOVE HERE FIRST OF WEEK

Byron Hooper, who will be employed in the Golden Rule Store, and wife and child moved here Monday from Holdridge, and plan to make their home here for a year at least.

Mr. Hooper will have charge of advertising for the local Brown-Eikberg store while he is here getting acquainted with their system of operating, said Mr. Brown, manager of the local store, and will probably be promoted to a management within the near future.

RANDOLPH PIONEER ANSWERS SUMMONS

Fred Muhn, father of Mrs. Albert Watson, dies on his Homestead From Lingering Illness.

Fred H. Muhn, 67, father of Mrs. Albert Watson of Wayne and a resident of near Randolph 46 years passed at his home last week following a lingering illness from which he had suffered during the past three years.

He came to the Randolph territory as a pioneer and homesteaded on a timber claim near that place in 1882 on which he lived since, coming to Nebraska in a covered wagon with his parents several years before.

During his first five years on his timber claim he lived in a dug-out as a temporary home, building a frame home in 1887. He was treasurer of the school in his district 41 years and otherwise was an active supporter of community affairs.

Surviving are his wife and seven children. Mrs. Albert Watson, Wayne; John, faculty member of the Peru state college; Mrs. Hazel Collier, Hartington; Mrs. Omar Swearingen, Lakeside, California; May of Walthill.

J. S. HORNEY SUFFERS APPENDICITIS ATTACK

J. S. Horney, prominent lumber dealer here, suffered an acute attack of appendicitis last Friday and was rushed to the local hospital where he underwent an operation for relief.

According to late reports he is recovering nicely and it is thought he will be able to leave the hospital within a few days.

Mrs. Horney was in Chicago, where she had been called by the death of a relative, at the time Mr. Horney became sick and came home immediately upon advice from Wayne. She is confined to her home suffering from an attack of flu, it is reported, the contraction of which is blamed largely to the excitement she experienced.

LOCAL MEMBERS AT NORFOLK MEETING

Members of Council Attend State Meeting of Municipal Representatives Yesterday.

Four members of the Wayne city council including Mayor Orr, Walter Miller, Walter Bressler and James Brittain, attended the annual state meeting of representatives of municipalities of Nebraska held a Norfolk yesterday.

Mayors and other officials of between seventy-five and 100 Nebraska cities and villages were gathered in Norfolk Wednesday for the start of the two-day convention of the League of Nebraska Municipalities, which the first time since its inception is holding an annual session in northeast Nebraska.

Officers of the association, including President F. R. Kingsley Jr., mayor of Minden, and J. H. Hale, secretary and treasurer, Kearney, were among the first to arrive in Norfolk. Early that morning many city officials reached Norfolk, arriving in time for the opening session which started about 10 a. m.

After the convention had been called to order by President Kingsley, Mayor Paul Nordwig extended the official welcome to the convention delegates and visitors. This was followed by President Kingsley's response. In the afternoon, with Vice-President L. A. Goines, city manager Alliance, presiding the municipal utilities program was held.

McConaughy to Speak

C. W. McConaughy, Holdrege, spoke on "The Duties and Responsibilities of Municipal Government in Nebraska." His talk was followed by a general round table discussion of important topics and operation of municipal utilities of Nebraska.

Convention delegates and visitors were entertained in the evening in Hotel Norfolk by the city of Norfolk and the local Chamber of Commerce. Judge E. B. Perry Lincoln, spoke on "The Municipalities' Part in the Progress and Development of Nebraska."

After the banquet program, the delegates and their guests were entertained at the Granada theater where "The Singing Fool," starring Al Jolson, was the attraction.

This morning, N. M. Stineman, Portland Cement association Chicago, is to talk on "A Model City Building Code." At the same session Mayor A. O. Abbott Jr., Grand Island, will speak on "Features of Grand Island's Building Code and Their Operation."

The afternoon will be devoted to a business session, at which officers will be elected and the 1930 meeting place chosen.

MRS. HOWARD HRABAK AGAIN AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Hrabak, who recently was able to return to her home following a major operation at an Omaha hospital, underwent a minor operation at the local hospital Monday.

According to reports she is making satisfactory progress and it is hoped that she will be able to again return to her home within a few days.

CARROLL COUPLE ARE MARRIED YESTERDAY

A. R. Davis Elected President of Wayne Community Hotel Company Tuesday Eve.

Directors and Officers are Selected at Two Special Meetings Held at Hotel.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE EFFECTED

At a stockholders meeting held

Tuesday a board of directors was elected, who later elected officers for the coming year. It was also decided to make come additional improvements in the new hotel including the enlarging of the kitchen, which has been found to be inadequate in size to handle the large patronage.

The directors elected who will serve three, two and one years are: J. S. Horney, three years; C. M. Craven and Rollie Ley, two years; C. E. Carthart and E. W. Huse, one year.

Officers for the year are: A. R. Davis, president; C. M. Craven, vice-president and H. E. Ley, secretary and treasurer.

The hotel management has been compelled to turn away patrons several nights each week. It is reported, and additional rooms are being added in the basement to be used in emergencies.

It was voted to recommend that the amount of the insurance carried on the hotel building be increased from $30,000, now carried, to $40,000.

MOTHER OF MRS. A. E. MEARS DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Mrs. Emma Rattenne, mother of Mrs. A. E. Mears, died at the Mears home in Sioux City Friday morning following a lingering illness. She was 64 years old and had been a resident of Sioux City 56 years.

Funeral services were held Monday from the Congregational church of that city. Members of the ladies auxiliary of the Patriarchs Militant and members of the Canton Sioux Patriarchs Militant attended the final rites in a body.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant S. Mears of Wayne, parents of Mr. A. E. Mears attended the funeral services Monday, which was the coldest day of the winter.

According to the Pilger News 1481 tickets were sold for their New Years dance. Although the expense of the dance was great the Pilger Legion Post realized a good sum from the venture, it is claimed.

TRACTOR SCHOOL WELL ATTENDED

Local Implement Dealers Hosts to 150 Farmers at School of Instruction, Tuesday.

Tuesday afternoon about 150 farmers of this vicinity accepted the invitation of H. J. Sorensen & Son to come and learn about the John Deere tractors, and why they claim the attention of the progressive farmer.

As one would say, the "meeting was called to order" at the city hall by H. R. Sorensen, the junior member of the firm which but recently located at Wayne to represent the John Deere line of implements. He made his own introduction to a bunch of farmers, many of whom he had never before met, and told of their policy of business, and the demonstration that was being made, and then introduced A. Petersen, who came with slides to show the tractor on a screen as he explained the different parts and the why they were built as they are. At their headquarters, in the Way building on east 2nd street they had three tractors in operation, and a great many farmers were interested spectators.

It was an interesting presentation of the tractor which is coming to perform such an increasing part of the farm work in any community where the farms average as large as they do in Wayne county.

The guests were nicely entertained, and the new firm and their line of implements gained friends from the meeting.

M. W. A. AND R. N. A. HOLD JOINT INSTALLATION

Tuesday evening the Modern Woodmen camp and the Royal Neighbors met at the Odd Fellow hall for their annual joint installation of officers for the coming year. A list of the officers elected was given following election, and they were there for installation. In addition to the two installation ceremonies there was a program of speaking and singing, and a bit of dancing. It was one of their usual get-together meetings in which all took a part—and where choice refreshments were served before the party retired to their homes.

Both of these fraternal insurance organizations enjoyed a very good year in 1928, and are planning that coming year will see added members added to their list.

WAYNE'S WILDCATS CLAW OUT VICTORY

Win From Yankton and Lose to Wesleyan in Two "Nip-and-Tuck" Battles.

PLAY MIDLAND HERE TOMORROW

A long shot from the center of the floor by Miller, Wesleyan's star forward, enabled the visitors to snatch a one point lead in the dying moments of the game and the Methodists coped the fracas by a 27 to 27 count here Saturday night.

Miller started the scoring with two nice baskets and was instrumental in keeping his team in the lead during the most of the opening half. Only once were the visitors headed during that time and then only for an instant.

Hickman injected four of his freshmen just before the close of the half when Wayne was trailing by six points and they succeeded in overcoming the margin and gained a slight lead which they were able to hold until the last moments of the bitterly contested game.

The first stringers were returned to the lineup in the late minutes with a hope of widening the narrow margin and cinching the game, but the strategy proved, not so good as by reasonable logic it should. Wesleyan again assumed the aggressive role and coped by the scant margin.

Several of the Wayne men played a good game of basketball, and showed up brilliantly on the floor. Their weakness was in missing a number of easy chances at the hoop and many gift shots.

Hunt played brilliantly but missed three or four setups that should have won. Farrow also played well but fouled consistently to grant four free tosses to the visitors, who also were weak in converting their gift shots into counts.

The four freshmen, Andrews, Alexander, Eike and Lindemann all played a stellar game for first year men and no doubt will get an opportunity to perform more regularly in later games.

Trounce Yankton

The Hickman pupils after an uphill fight to overcome an early lead piled up by Yankton, on the Greyhounds home floor Tuesday night, emerged with the long end of a 29 to 26 score.

Enthusiased by the showing of his first year men in the Wesleyan mix Hickman started them against the Dakotas, but they failed to get going and had spotted their opponents a 14 to 2 margin at the end of the first quarter. The regulars, who got into the fracas at this time performed beautifully and tied the count at 17 all at the end of the half. From then on it was a nip-and-tuck affair with the locals emerging with a three point lead.

Midland Here Tomorrow

Enthused by their showing in the last two games the Wildcats are out to avenge the defeat at Fremont last week, when the Warriors invade the local camp tomorrow night. Midland has not been licked this year and a victory for Wayne would add greatly to their prestige.

One of the feature battles of the winter is anticipated at this time and the boys will fight for a victory.

WANDSHER'S ARREST LEADS TO RECOVERY

Has Possession of Car Stolen From Fremont Doctor Last April; Had Been Repainted.

DISCOVERY MADE BY SHERIFF

An Essex car stolen from Dr. S. H. Berhenke, Fremont, last April and which was in the possession of Fred Wandshier, when he was arrested here last week on a theft charge has been identified and returned to its owner, who came for the machine Sunday.

The car had been repainted and otherwise altered in appearance, but the motor number had not been mutilated and identification was not difficult. It was being driven with the owners license plates attached, and was seen about Wayne often during the past several months.

The recovery was a result of an investigation of Sheriff Stephens, who became suspicious when Wandshier was arrested, he said, and found that the car was stolen property.

An effort to have Wandshier deported may be made it is believed by some, if he is found guilty of charges filed against him. He is reported to have lived in this country only a few years. A gun in his possession was confiscated by the county court at a preliminary hearing last week.

TO FLORIDA FOR WINTER OUTING

John Larson came up from Lincoln Friday to look after some business matters here, and met the cold wave of Saturday morning and headed south again. Mr. L. tells that they will start for St. Petersburg, Florida, for the remainder of the winter this week. Because of the climate at Lincoln will not permit their son Erwin, who lost a leg in an auto accident about three months ago to get outside in open air and sunshine as much as he should, the two families decided to go to Florida for the winter, that the young man may have the benefit of an outdoor life, which his physicians say will be far more beneficial to his complete recovery from the effects of his loss of blood than any medicine. Weakened by the loss of blood, at time of accident, it was necessary for Erwin to receive blood by transfusion from others, and the need of plenty of outdoor exercise to assist in properly assimilating that produced with that produced by the young man.

The first stringers were returned to the lineup in the late minutes with a hope of widening the narrow margin and cinching the game, but the strategy proved, not so good as by reasonable logic it should. Wesleyan again assumed the aggressive role and by transfusion from others, and the need of plenty of outdoor exercise to assist in properly assimilating that produced with that produced by the young man.

In view of the condition of health the young man has sold his interest in a growing and profitable business in musical instruments and all will go south for the winter. Mr. John Larson says that the weather man at Lincoln has not seemed to be overly good to that part of the state this fall and winter—too much rain and snow and too little sunshine.

Wayne friends, and they are many, hope for the best of benefits from the change to the land of flowers and perpetual youth, as it was once heard, many years ago.

NO CASES AT DISTRICT COURT SESSION MONDAY

The special session of District court here Monday, which was called to clean up unfinished business carried over since the last term of court closed without any litigation being transacted as the cases which were to be heard were not ready for presentation.

No new cases were introduced and the criminal cases on file will probably not come up before the regular term which convenes March 11.

Two hundred ninety pounds is all Harry Krumwiede, Elmor, weighs, but the he is only sixteen and still has a chance to grow into a good sized man. He is in his third year of high school and has filled the pivotal position in all their football games during the last three years, not missing a minute of play.

According to a move under way, Creighton is to have a new electric plant, and the investment necessary to carry out the project is talked of as being around $100,000. At the end of a contest before the council between two competing companies, the council voted to have a contract made with the Western State Public Utilities Company for the plant.

Drinking and carousing among college students is not common as often claimed, according to the Blair Pilot, which adds that this indulgence is unheard of in their little college. The claim that it is uncommon, says the Pilot, is verified by the fact that when it does happen it is big news and not a common occurrence, and is therefore "played up" by papers.

NO REST FOR THE POTATO
Science has awakened an extra amount of ambition in the common potato and literally "kidded" it out of its usual winter vacation. Everyone knows that spuds like to rest about four months before they begin to sprout. At the Nebraska Agricultural college experiment station, the spuds are gassed and made to believe that the long winter is all over.

They begin to grow within three weeks after they are dug in the fall. They are dipped in a liquid called ethylene chlorhydrin for a minute, then put in an air tight container to be gassed for 24 hours.

The comparatively new treatment is of great economic importance to the potato industry of Nebraska. Western Nebraska certified seed potatoes are recognized as the best seed stock that southern growers can buy.

In the extreme south of Florida in the West Indies and also in the Bermuda Islands seed potatoes are wanted for early fall planting. The treatment makes it possible to dig the annual crop in western Nebraska, ship it to these places and get it to grow immediately, thereby producing two crops of spuds in a year. Without the treatment, many of the growers in these areas would have to use inferior seed.

The treatment also makes it possible to start experimental work October 15 in the station greenhouses. Without it the work would be delayed until December 15, and only about half as much could be done. Disease-free potatoes are being developed thru the experiments, and the more rapidly the work can progress the more benefit Nebraska potato producers will receive from it.

PETITION SIGMA TAU DELTA
Twelve students ranking high in general scholarship are petitioning the Sigma Tau Delta professional English society for the establishment of a chapter in the Wayne State Teachers College. They are: Hildegarde Berres, Irene Carpenter, Laura Isom, Lola Faye Peck, Helen Ray, Mrs. Laura Richards, Jeannette Robertson, Virginia Sahs, Dorothy Saxton, Barbara Sperry, Margaret Whitman, and Genevieve Wright. Sigma Tau Delta has chapters in forty colleges. It seeks to promote a mastery of written expression, encourage worthwhile reading, and foster a spirit of fellowship among men and women especially interested in the English language and literature.

Flop—the mercury dropped at Norfolk Sunday night to 10 below zero. Glenn Hall, who has been wanted at Bloomfield for the abduction of Miss Ruth Rogers, 14, has been apprehended at Sioux City, and has been brought to Center, the county seat, to answer to the charge. The girl was found and brought home a few days earlier. From the news story of the episode, Hall is quite likely to be a state boarder for a number of years.

Omaha is organizing to finance and erect a $750,000 plant for making the otherwise wasted cornstalks into wallboard. They have taken over the idle plant of the Fred Products company. Albert Krug and others are at the head of the concern, which expects to be ready to operate in July, and will employ about 150 men, and have a capacity of 100,000 square feet of board daily. It is estimated that they will make a market for cornstalks at about $8.00 per ton. Let us hope that they may buck the lumber trust prices somewhat.

Over at Bloomfield they have been installing a new oil engine for their light and power plant not so very long ago,—and now the editor is beginning to worry for fear something will happen to the engine, as at times does happen to engines, you know, and leave the people in darkness and without power, and so to stop the editor's worry—he is advocating the purchase of another engine right soon before the worst happens. Suppose they get another engine and something happens to both of them—or suppose lightning strikes the plant—should they not have another plant sticking round somewhere?

WANTED—AN EPIDEMIC!
(Answers, London)

The doctor's little daughter took a lot of interest in her father's profession.

One day a lady friend called to see her mother, and on the course of conversation turned to the little girl and asked how she was and how her father was getting on.

"Oh, we aren't doing so badly," replied the young woman, with a new interest in the entertainment—"not so badly, all things considered. There's plenty of colds, some bronchitis, and a little fever here and there; but as daddie said yesterday morning, what we really want is a nice little epidemic."

Well, we now have near the epidemic—and possibly this is in some way related to the lad whose father was an undertaker. In visiting with little Billie, one of the neighbors asked how his father was getting on in his new profession, and the lad said: not real well; but daddy said if he could only have a funeral a day he would be satisfied.

GET A HEN AND BOOSTER.
There are good times ahead in 1929 for farmers who make poultry raising a serious part of their year's work, according to U. S. Government reports and opinions of poultry experts throughout the country. Conditions are favorable, and a good market awaits the producer.

This is not mere guesswork. Here are the reasons:

1. Government reports show a scarcity of hens and a short crop of pullets on farms throughout the country. Chicago Produce News says "about 30,000,000 less than a year ago."

2. This means fewer eggs laid and satisfactory egg prices.

3. Reports indicate bumper crops of corn and oats. Poultry feed prices are declining as a result of these big crops.

4. The serious shortage at the present time of beef cattle, swine and sheep is going to make even greater demand for poultry meat and eggs.

5. Prices of meat, especially beef, are being forced to new high levels which may exceed the wartime peak.

6. If poultry meat is cheaper than beef, people are going to eat more chickens.

7. Thousands of poultry farmers everywhere are now eager to replenish their flocks to increase egg production.

8. Leading hatcherymen, uniting under the slogan, "Hatchery Chicks For Greater Profits," have organized to assist in raising the poultry standard of farm flocks by pledging better chicks and fair dealing.

9. Greater egg production from flocks means increased profits per pound of feed.

THE O'FELLON CASE
IN SUPREME COURT

(By George L. Knapp in Labor)

As Labor goes to press, arguments in the greatest lawsuit of all time, the O'Fellon case, are being started before the most Olympian of all tribunals, the Supreme Court of the United States.

The O'Fellon case has been described many times before, but a few words to refresh the reader's memory will not be amiss. This suit is of very great importance to the people of the United States in general, and to railroad workers in particular.

The Transportation Act says that when any railroad earns more than 6 per cent on its fair value, the Interstate Commerce Commission shall recapture half the excess earnings for the United States.

A GIGANTIC STEAL CHECKED FOR PRESENT

The marriage took place at the home of the groom's brother, the Rev. D. B. Carne, M. E. pastor at Pierce performing the ceremony.

The groom has spent most of his life in Pierce and was engaged in the barber business there before he came to Winside about two years ago.

Miss Petersen is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William

Petersen and has conducted a beauty parlor here and it is understood will continue her work here.

The newly weds spent a few days at Omaha and other points, returning home Friday evening. They will live in the Dr. B. M. McIntyre residence on west Main street. Their many friends extend the heartiest of congratulations.

Winside Social

The Social Circle meets on Wednesdays afternoon with Mrs. Perry Brodd as hostess.

The Woman's club meet Thursday afternoon of this week with Mrs. Chas. Needham as hostess.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society held their regular meeting on Friday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage with Mrs. Robt. Morrow and Mrs. Clint Troutman as hostesses.

Thirteen members and five visitors were present. Mrs. Walter Gaebler was in charge of the devotional service. Mrs. M. L. Halpin was the program leader, reviewing a chapter of the study book and also reading two leaflets on the program. Mrs. Mac Huffaker was in charge of the Mystery box. Luncheon was served by the hostesses.

Royal Neighbor Installation

The Royal Neighbor camp installed their newly elected officers at their regular meeting Friday evening. Eighteen members were present. Mrs. H. S. Moses was the installing officer.

At the close of the lodge session, an oyster supper was enjoyed by the members.

ANOTHER WORLD TRUST FORMED

The world-wide Zinc Trust is now an accomplished fact, says Labor. A group of American and European magnates who control 96 per cent of the production of the world have perfected an international combine.

Production is to be cut 7 per cent the first quarter of 1929, and after that may be raised or lowered still more, according to conditions. The price of zinc is not to be allowed to drop below $135 per ton. The maximum will be as high as "the traffic will bear."

The Trust will operate from three offices in London, Brussels and New York. The American producers stayed out of the earlier pool. They were waiting to get their price and they got it.

Since the United States produces more zinc than all four countries next in order Belgium, Poland, Germany and France—the importance of getting this country into the combine needs no explanation.

Aluminum, copper, to a large degree steel and now zinc the world trust business is growing fast, and the metal trades are taking the lead.

And is there anywhere on earth a public authority willing and able to protect consumers from the exactions of these great combines?

"Do you sell hooked rugs?"
"Madam! This is a perfectly honest establishment.

DR. J. C. W. LEWIS DISCUSSES CONVENTION OF HISTORIANS

(from the Goldenrod)

A year or two ago there was a move on foot that looked to rape the Woodmen of the World, which had been for forty or more years building. The Globe Life Insurance company, an organization formed by the traitors of the W. O. W., and a part of their executive committee. The supreme court of the state held that they must put back the $2,000,000 of money and securities they had loaned themselves with which to form a rival company, and that they could not use the records of the W. O. W. and their membership lists as a rival organization to ruin the great fraternal order.

It was instituted by members of the fraternal order, and the court held that no fraternal insurance company or benefit corporation, organization under the laws of Nebraska has the power or right to write, either directly or indirectly, insurance membership certificates for a profit; nor can it use its funds to incorporate an old life insurance company and subscribe to its capital stock to be sold to members of the order under the guise of having such company cooperate in writing oldline insurance. The court decision seems to effectively stop the proposed stealing of a part of the W. O. W. offices from the membership and from other officers.

A similar deal was pulled off in Iowa about five years ago, when the officers, directors and henchmen of the Brotherhood of American Yoe-men wrecked that society without due regard for the rights of their membership, and raised rates and froze out thousands of members who had helped in upbuilding the society, without regard for their rights. Among them were many who aided when it was struggling for a place among the successful fraternal orders of the time. Thousands of members were forced to lose their protection, long carried and paid for according to the terms of their contract, without any recourse. It was a gigantic robbery in the name of fraternity—and to date, no legal action has operated to make the guilty ones do justice to their early members. It seems to have been a very smoothly worked steal.

One of the concrete results of this co-operation will be an ambitious Cyclopeda of the Social Sciences to appear in 15 volumes, the first being published next summer, and the remaining volumes following at the rate of two or three a year.

Another concrete result of co-operation is to be a monthly journal of Social Science Abstracts, a publication devoted in concise paragraphs to the substance of various articles on economics, sociology, history, political science and so forth, which may have appeared in the world's literature in the social sciences. The first number of this publication will appear in March 1929.

Still other evidences of co-operation may be seen in the projected Dictionary of Biography to be sponsored by the American Council of Learned Societies.

So we may say that American scholars are busy; in fact the scholars of the world are busy. They are finding ways to work together. One is simply baffled at the number of associations and organizations that cut across each other's lines. One is reminded of Emerson's description of the period just preceding the election of Andrew Jackson in America and the great period of revolutionary disturbances that swept over Europe in the 30's and 40's of the last century.

It is as true as then that almost every one we meet has in his pocket some kind of constitution for a society to benefit the world.

We may confidently venture the suggestion that all of these things are hopeful signs. The world has upon the whole no true friends anywhere than are to be found among its scholars. They are faithful seekers after the truth. They are jealous that no one of their number shall misrepresent the truth for the sake of money or other gain. To this end a resolution was passed unanimously by the Political Science Association to the effect that a code of ethics should be formulated and that charges against any professor implying that he accepts subsidies outside his regular line of duty ought to be thoroughly investigated. This would no doubt involve disciplinary measures of an appropriate sort.

NEW SEMESTER WILL SEE CHANGE IN PRECEPTRESSES

Neihardt hall will probably be ready for occupancy about January 15. All girls having rooms in Neihardt hall will then move in and the remaining halls will be filled by the girls who are vacating Kingsbury hall.

The boys from East hall will move into Kingsbury hall and East hall will be torn and removed as soon as possible. Mrs. Gleason will be preceptress of Kingsbury hall and Mrs. Linn will assume the duties of Mrs. Gleason at the Cafeteria.

Miss Pence will become preceptress of Neihardt hall and a preceptress for Terrace hall will be selected soon.

It is costing practically a half billion annually to maintain the near 200,000 officers, privates and others who make up our army.

One good way to avert war is to deal honestly and justly, and make the other nation do the same, if you have to fight him to make terms to your liking. "Peace if you have to fight for it," as Pat used to contend for.

It is estimated by those who should be in position to know that the cost of maintaining our little war in Nicaragua cost Uncle Sam as much as it would have taken to pave a highway from New York to San Francisco, and we all know that this nation could not have afforded that.

Just to set a good example of patronizing a home industry, and using a home grown product, the stationery to be used by the members of the senate and house is to be made from corn stalks. Farmer "corn-tassle" will then be right in his elements in the legislature.

Our legislature is in session, and the house has passed one appropriation bill, which makes immediate provision for the salaries of the members. Of course, the state will have to pay that bill, and it is well to have it first in the line of march to the treasurer, before any deficit is developed.

Speaking of radio advertising in the Public Pulse, G. H. Nichols of Norfolk suggests that the radio advertising broadcast would be far less objectionable if it were boiled down to plain statement of facts, and not too many of them. The fellow on the air may think the people listening like to listen to a detailed story of the excellence of the dried peaches that are so excellent that they melt in your mouth. Cut out the "bombast" would be a good motto. Some people are frankly disappointed when their shipment comes for the reason that it does not come up to specifications as given to the air. For instance, dress goods guaranteed six months ago not to fade are now almost colorless after a couple of washings. Stick to the truth and make it snappy.

Dr. Mulford of the New Jersey Medical society seems to feel that he has authority to speak as to the dress men should wear, that they may be fit to live and enjoy life when they have attained the retiring age. He would have us men dress decently, and the wearing of V-necked shirts, with short sleeves and knee length pants, bare legs and short hose so as to give sun's ultra-violet rays a chance to build up a more sturdy race of men. He wants us to cease dressing as tho we were going to the arctic regions. Now we wonder just how happy and healthy one of our Wayne men would have stepped to it coming down to work Monday morning with such leg covering as the learned doctor wants. With the mercury down toward the bulb, and a nice breeze fanning their whiskers, it is evident that a lot of us would have stepped the distance in half the time or frozen in our tracks. That may do down in New Jersey, but a few of us want to try it out here in January.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS

Governor Weaver has started out boldly to make good his campaign pledge of retiring the code bill and its beneficiaries. Opponents to this measure of economy are just as prompt to begin a fight to retain this duplication of salary income for their friends. Their first counter move in the senate is to refuse to confirm the appointment of Ernest Pollard, named by the governor to fill the joint office of secretary of the code departments of labor and public welfare.

Senator Reed, known as the czar of the senate is at the head of the movement, and the fight is made because it is the entering wedge of a fight to cut the code expense down as much as possible until such time as the legislature can act upon the question. If the governor is defeated in his reform step, we believe that it will be only after a fight to a finish.

Our district senator, J. C. McGowan, of Madison county came out in an interview in which he declared himself in favor of opposing the program of the governor in his plan of consolidation. The objections of senator McGowan were based on his idea that the combining labor with welfare department would not give to labor a standing accordance with its importance in the state. However, the senator said that he wanted to talk with the governor first and not finally decide his position until he knew more fully the attitude of Governor Weaver toward labor, the special representative of which he poses in the senate, and as he did in his campaign.

Two Dozen Bills First Day
When the hopper was opened Tuesday for the introduction of bills, Tuesday, fifteen bills from the house and nine from the senate were introduced.

The house voted to exclude the radio from its hall—and we suppose that is right—the members are supposed to make laws—or perhaps repeal some, rather than listen to radio advertising.

There is very apt to be plenty of skirmishing in the session now opening, and perhaps some good legislation. There are plenty of vital questions pending.

Some members of the legislature say the Journal, suspected a deep dark plot on the part of the senate when that body showed no signs of immediate confirmation of Governor Weaver's three code secretary appointments Tuesday afternoon when the two houses met in joint session to receive and consider the nominations.

Griswold of the senate moved that the appointments be referred to a committee to investigate and report. The motion prevailed; the committee was appointed and within five minutes the joint convention adjourned and the two houses went to their respective chambers.

Members of the senate assured members of the house after the joint session adjourned that no significance attaches to the movement for delay. It simply comports with senatorial dignity to go thru a certain amount of red tape and is entirely in accord with custom, it is explained.

The committee is friendly to the appointees, no one is heard raising objections to the governor's appointees, and in due time confirmation is promised. It is understood the joint committee will go thru the motions of hearing any one who cares to be heard, and that it will deliberate and report to the joint convention about Friday.

Two Succeed Selves

The governor's appointees are Roy L. Cochran, whose full and correct name is Robert LeRoy Cochran, to be secretary of the department of public works. H. J. McLaughlin, to be secretary of agriculture; Ernest M. Pollard, to be secretary of labor.

The governor expects later to submit another separate appointment naming Mr. Pollard to be Secretary of the department of public welfare.

The investigating committee comprises Senators Griswold, chairman, McFarland and Banning; Representatives Essam, Bailey, Burr and Kier. Banning and Burr are democrats.

Two of the appointees, Cochran and McLaughlin, are to succeed themselves and are holding over even without nomination or confirmation. Pollard is in charge of labor and welfare departments, acting for the governor who is Head of all code departments.

NEBRASKA INDUSTRIAL NOTES

A water work improvement for Herkimer contemplates an expenditure of $30,000 to be raised by a bond issue. New wells are needed and extension of service into outlaying sections is demanded.

At a special election to vote bonds for the establishment of a water works system at Edison there were lacking five votes to make the required 60 per cent majority. The next evening the only hotel in the village burned and the issue will be resubmitted with the assurance of a substantial change of sentiment.

Charles Graff, Bancroft, heads a group of citizens in north-east Nebraska who are urging for a free bridge across the Missouri river at Decatur.

The two railroads that serve Greeley county paid more than $25,000 in taxes on the same day.

Work has begun on the erection of a new municipal electric plant at Wausa.

A new building is to be erected at Hartington for Holy Trinity high school.

Forty-five states held legislative sessions in 1927. In all 50,893 bills were introduced and 17,189 became laws, or about one-third of the proposed measures were enacted. In the same year 947 bills were introduced in Nebraska with 203 passed, or about one-fifth of the proposals becoming laws.

There are twenty-five varieties of native grasses growing in Nebraska's eastern section and more than 125 species of grasses and sedges abounding in the Sand Hill regions.

There is only one highway of consequence on a Nebraska state line and that one is about thirty miles long, between Perkins county and Colorado. Nine highways cross the state line to the south, 7 to the west, 7 to the north and 6 toward the east.

At the end of 1927 electrified farms other than by private systems in thirty states numbered 249,000. This is double the number at the close of 1923.

In Nebraska only 2,000 farms receive electric service from high lines. Power companies are, however, giving particular attention to this difficult but important problem in the state.

A vacuum cleaner will successfully remove tobacco odors from heavy clothing. It is also against moths.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. R. F. Jacobs was hostess to the Alpha club Tuesday. Pictures illustrating various types of architecture formed an interesting roll call. Mrs. R. H. Hehlbeck read a very interesting paper on Spanish architecture and interior decorations of Spanish homes. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The club meets January 26 with Mrs. C. E. Gildersleeve.

The Altrusa met with Mrs. Faye Strahan. Roll call was answered by naming famous paintings. Mrs. R. H. Hehlbeck gave a report on Spanish famous paintings. Mrs. Bev Strahan played two piano solos and Miss Peggy Strahan also played a piano selection. A two course luncheon was served by the hostess. The club meets on January 21 with Mrs. Martin Ringer.

The Coterie met this week with Mrs. Carol Orr. The lesson was Descriptions of Famous European Resorts with Mrs. John Ahern as leader who gave an illustrated lesson showing several interesting pictures. Mrs. Orr served refreshments. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Warren Shultheis.

The Minerva met with Mrs. Lambert Roe. Nebraska authors were named in response to roll call. Mrs. A. F. Gulliver gave a review of "A Lautern In Her Hand," a pioneer story by Bess Streeter Aldrich. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The club meets in two weeks with Mrs. R. R. Smith.

The Monday club met with Mrs. John Kate at the John Hufford home. Mrs. A. A. Welch had charge of the lesson and gave a map study and paper on the conditions in Nicaragua. The club meets with Mrs. H. H. Hahn next week.

The U. D. met with Mrs. C. M. Craven with Mrs. H. S. Ringland lesson leader which was a contest with each member reporting on a noted man and woman. The club will meet with Mrs. John Hufford next week.

The P. E. O. will meet for a 6:30 dinner at the Hotel Stratton next Tuesday, when Mrs. Paul Mines is chairman.

Miss Fanny Britell, who underwent a major operation at an Evanston hospital last week, is reported to be well on the road to recovery and hope for her being able to leave the clinic in the very near future is now held, according to reports received by Prof. Britell.

James Rennick was called to Wilton Junction, Iowa, the last of last week by news of the death of a sister. Mrs. Mary A. Doran, who passed away at her home there in her 33d year. Mr. Rennick attended her funeral and returned home the first of this week.

The Wayne Monument Works are making some alterations in their office for the convenience of their force and the benefit of visitors. A separate waiting room for the visitors and a more convenient arrangement of their supplies and files will be effected.

Be sure to hear Miss Evelyn Gaston, a reader with a national prestige, in the last number of the Lyceum Course, January 22 at the Community House. You'll enjoy her program. adv.

Caps are proving a profitable form in which to market poultry. A Foster lady marketed 22 caps last week for $50. More than $2.25 each, and it probably cost no more to grow them than it would have cost to keep the same number of young roosters the same length of time. A little later in the season—February and March, we are told that the caponized birds of the larger breeds command turkey prices and attain turkey weight. Better investigate if you are growing poultry for all there is in it.

Bix, in his daily drift in the State Journal, writing for some time now from Salt Lake City, is sort of complaining that his appetite is not the best, and that when a friend sent him a couple mallard ducks to tempt his appetite, he felt so badly that he turned a paragraphed to moruning the fact that alleged sportsman are fast devastating the country of much wild game. The wild pigeon, once so numerous as to darken the sky with their flight has gone never to return. The prairie chicken, quail and duck, he hears are soon to be exterminated.

OBITUARY

Caroline Wilhelmina Johnson, nee Nilsen, was born in Tuna, Kalmar, Sweden, June 19, 1846. On November 25, 1876, she was united in marriage to Lars Reinhold Johnson. In the year 1880 the family emigrated to America, settling on a farm south of Wayne. There they resided until the year 1902 when the family moved to the Wausa community. About fifteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Johnson retired and moved to town. Here they lived until the fall of 1919 when Mr. Johnson passed away.

Since then Mrs. Johnson has been lying during the summer months in the country and in winter in the town home. The departed one leaves the following children to mourn her loss: John of Wayne; Andrew and Mary of Wausa; Mrs. Gust E. Nelson and one grandchild, Myrtle Nelson, also of Wausa. A sister, Mrs. John Anderson of Vale, Iowa, also survives and was present at the funeral.

Mrs. Johnson reached the ripe old age of 82 years 5 months and 28 days. She passed away Monday evening, December 17 after a lingering illness. Funeral services were conducted from the Lutheran church Thursday afternoon. Rev. A. E. Olson officiated and based his sermon upon the Psalm 4. —Wausa Gazette.

AGRICULTURE AT LINCOLN

On another page you may find much of the program which the farm interests of the state are following this week at Lincoln. It was the plan to have published this program last week but advertising coming in late crowded it out. Practically every agricultural interest in the state has its department. Talks from leaders of national prominence as well as home people will have a part in the activities. There will be banquets of many kinds and much of entertainment of a light, happy nature as well as the more substantial parts.

Many of the needs of agriculture such as canneries and diversified farming and gardening will come for consideration. Agriculture is our greatest industry, and it should be studied and made the most of on every occasion. The farmer of today has many things far better than those of earlier days—and he also has conditions to meet that were unknown in those earlier days, so at the best, it seems quite a struggle.

BAPTIST MID-YEAR CONFERENCE AT WAYNE

The mid-year conference of the Northeast Nebraska Baptist Association will meet with the Wayne Baptist church Thursday next, January 17th. Delegates from all the Baptist churches of this district are expected.

The speakers will be: Rev. G. C. Cress, D. D., of New York; Mrs. W. E. Lincoln, of New York; Mrs. E. E. Bennett, Lincoln; Mrs. R. B. Elrod, Lincoln; and Dr. H. Q. Morton of Omaha.

GLEN FOLTZ APPEALS CASE TO HIGHER COURT

Glen Foltz who was found guilty on three charges of alleged sales of intoxicants and fined $300 in county court last Thursday appealed to the district court and was released on a bond of $750.

His hearing before the district judge will probably be heard at the next term of district court which convenes March 11.

GET 'EM TO FINANCE STATE

The Farmers' Union of Nebraska ended 1928 with a surplus of $123,041.52, Secretary E. L. Shoemaker told nearly one thousand delegates at the sixteenth annual convention Tuesday afternoon in the Odd Fellows temple. Total expenses were $11,702, which was $2,343 more than receipts for the year. Gross dues from members brought in $32,449. Salaries amounted to $8,675, compared with $9,093 in 1927.

RANDOLPH MAN OPENS AN AVIATION SCHOOL

Harvey Mart, former Randolph man, has opened an aviation school and airport at Oshkosh, Wisconsin, and plans to open a second one at Sheboygan, Wisconsin, within the near future, according to messages received by his parents of Randolph.

He is experiencing good luck with his new business venture according to the messages received at his former home.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks for the kindness and sympathy extended to us during our bereavement and for the beautiful floral offerings.

Relatives of Sophus Thompson.

The State Journal assures its readers that Andrew Mellon will continue in the new cabinet as secretary of the treasury. What is the senate for?

HOSKINS COUPLE ARE MARRIED HERE MONDAY

Alvan A. Marshall and Miss Ella V. Greene, both of Hoskins, were married here Monday January 8, 1929, at the Methodist parsonage with Rev. W. W. Whitman performing the nuptial rites.

Miss Irene Benghoof and Worley W. Benghoof of Carroll accompanied bride and groom. They will be at home on a farm near Hoskins.

The young couple are the first to be married in Wayne county this year.

WINSIDE LUMBER YARD SOLD

The Chicago Lumber company of Omaha have purchased the lumber yard at Winside which had been owned for the past two years by Ludwig Schomberg, and possession was given upon the completion of invoice.

Mr. Schomberg disposed of the plant because of the illness of a grandson, for whom he must seek a change of climate. Fred Trampe from Grand Island, where he conducted a business for six years, is the new manager.

Grand Duke Nicholas, of Russia, considered by many royalists as the one entitled to become czar of Russia, if they should have another czar during his day in court is dead. Pneumonia is the cause.

ORGANIZED AGRICULTURE HAS ITS WEEK INNING
January 7, 8, 9, and 10 to be Great Days for All Farm Interests at Lincoln.

READ OUTLINED PROGRAM

Next week may be a real vacation time for many Nebraska farmers, for four days are to be given over to the great farm interests of this farm state; and practically all farm interests will have their interests discussed, and those interested in securing a more complete program than we can give, should write at once to Lincoln agricultural college, for one, for we can only outline it here, for hundreds of men and women are to take part—leaders in different lines from this and other states.

One thing that seems strange to us is the fact that of all of the names of those who are to have a part on the program, we failed to notice any from this great northeast corner of the state, and we have been wondering whether or not the farmers and breeders up this way are not interested, or whether the other parts of the state hold a monopoly of the committee which selects the names of those who are to take a part, or whether the people here are modest, and don't push in; for certainly this part of Nebraska has talent equal to that of other communities of the state.

The printed program as it came to our desk seems to me mixed as to the order in which they are given, but during those days the following topics are to be under consideration, and closing with a general meeting the last day.

There will be a fine program for poultry, presided over by Dudley Beck of Decatur, and occupying a part of two days, in which practically every interesting and profit making phase of the hen and egg problem will be considered.

The Master Farmer

Tuesday the "Master Farmers," whatever they may be, will hold a session, under the guiding hand of Sam McKelvie, and it seems that the master farmers may not be masters, for a number of their wives are given place on the program.

The Dairymen Will Meet

They have an extended program in keeping with the importance that dairy interests are assuming in this state. L. H. Daft of Lincoln is to preside over the deliberations of this gathering. They will handle all phases of the dairy question, even recognizing the importance of the Milk Goat, which maintains an association to advance its interests. They will meet January 9 morning and afternoon, and the general dairy interests will hold sessions both 9th and 10th.

Horticulture Gets Attention

Guy Shubert of a town of that same name is to preside in this department and all manner of fruit trees and their enemies such as codling moths, scale and other blights will come for consideration, prevention and cures, while pruning and training trees will have attention. Then, too, in this section the development of improved strains of vegetables and fruits and the sections of the state where they may be successfully grown will be enlarged upon. It is a feature of farm production much neglected, and often little understood, and much benefit may be had from the discussions, by those who wish to make the state more nearly produce its own fruit than it is now doing.

The Farm Federation

This department will first meet the 7th, and Mrs. D. A. Benson of Silver Creek is the president and they will discuss many questions of importance and interest, including needed legislation, the tax system, the colleges and schools state and farm mutual insurance as well as auto insurance.

Nebraska Crop Growers

Have an organization, and their place on the program will be filled with a program full of information and experiences. Profitable crops, seeds, stopping smut, the need and profit of growing a greater diversity of crops, including more barley and less oats. The corn contests, and what they demonstrate in the way of possibilities of yield are to be considered. Quality of meats, and how to secure best quality, the feeding of roughness, sweet clover as a hay and also sudan grass. Pastures of different kinds will be discussed, and their economy as a food producer.

Farm Equipment

C. B. Noyes of Waterloo is president of that branch of the farm interests which has to do with farm equipment, and they meet Wednesday forenoon and afternoon, and tell their tale of woe and their good things to give and bad to avoid.

Livestock Breeders

Chas. Graff of Bancroft is and long has been president and head of that highly developed branch of farm industry. They meet the 8th, 9th, and 10th, and consider sheep, cattle, horses and hogs, and close with a banquet the last evening.

The Family Fun Feed

The sixth annual meet of that feature of the week will be held at 5:30 Wednesday evening, when in addition to a feed put on by the kitchen department of the college of agriculture and at the same time the students will provide entertainment in the form of an interesting program. Every one wants a ticket to this event.

Honey Producers Tuesday

This is one of the growing industries, and has had a wonderful impetus of late years. It is a pleasant occupation if you like the bees and they like you. Honey is one of the most healthful of sweets for most people, and the bees gather a sweet that would otherwise be lost to use of man. There has been wonderful improvement in the production of honey since the days when it was gathered wild from the trees. The extraction of the sweet from the comb and returning it to the hive has added many fold to the output of honey, for the making of the comb required much time and bee labor. There are many kinds of bees, and the old-time black honey bee is now a back number. The Italian bee is one of the great honey harvesters, as he can get honey from flowers that some other kinds of bee cannot reach.

Home Economics

This important branch of home life in both farm and city is to be well represented, and all that is late and good will be subject to discussion. Hundreds of the domestic problems will be considered. The property rights of women has a place in the discussions of this department, and there are those who maintain that in this state, women have not had a fair chance in the settlement of estates they have helped to create. This department is one that will be of especial interest to most of us, for it has to do with questions close to the feed place in many homes, and with what we eat, and how it is prepared. Community social functions also have a prominent place here.

Architectural Achievement

At this time and in this department pictures will be unveiled, a modern architecture be discussed at a luncheon Thursday forenoon. Every year this feature of the state agricultural activities is growing in importance and interest, and so doing much good to many industries and interests of the state. It is an activity that is bound to grow as the years go by.

CHARACTER DEMANDED ON ATHLETIC FIELDS

Lincoln, Nebr.—Personal character and ability as teacher both in the classroom and in athletics seem to be more desirable qualities for high school physical education instructors in Nebraska than ability to turn out winning teams or to please the "fans" according to a report compiled by Dr. O. C. Weidemann of the University of Nebraska.

Questionnaires were submitted to a representative group of high schools in the state. Answers were received from approximately 100 superintendents and 150 members of boards of education giving reasons why athletic coaches were dismissed.

The predominating cause for dismissal was given as undesirable personal habits. Inability to control or hold respect of the boys was the next most frequent reason for dissatisfaction with the coach. Six other reasons were given as cause for dismissal before inability to produce a winning team—because the coach was a poor example to the boys, incompetence as a classroom teacher, incompetence as an athletic teacher, no consideration for policies of the administration, lack of interest or laziness, and poor sportsmanship. Only two board members and five superintendents gave as the reason for dismissal that the "fans" wanted a new coach. Dr. Weidemann pointed out that a third qualification for a coach, not considered so much by the board members as the superintendents, was sympathy with the policies of the administration.

Harry—Jimmy, I have found out where the holes in doughnuts go.

Jimmy—Zat so?

Harry—Yes, my daddy says he uses 'em t' stuff macaroni.

Retired Seal Hunter—Getting seal skins in the old days was often a hair raising job.

Friend—It still is.

Retired Seal Hunter—What?

Friend—A hare raising job.

POULTRY

EARLIER HATCHED

CHICKS FAVERED

Good Business to Have Good Laying Flock in Summer.

By hatching a part of the poultry flock between January 15 and February 15, so that the birds will mature in July, the poultryman takes a big step toward maintaining his late summer and early fall production, advises R. R. Hannas, poultry research specialist, in the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

Mr. Hannas points out that the price of eggs begins to climb as the summer wanes and that it is good business to have a flock of layers at this time. Ordinarily a decline in production takes place with the old fowls about July. If one-quarter to one-third of the flock is hatched between the middle of January and the middle of February the poultry keeper can offset this decrease.

The article goes on to say that brooding of chicks early in the season has been carried on successfully for a number of years. Chicks thus produced will reach a good growth and development before hot weather comes on, thereby giving them an advantage over later hatched stock.

One precaution, to prevent leg weakness, is advised. Because bad weather is likely to make it unsafe to let the chicks out on the ground and there is a lack of green food at this time, cod liver oil and sprouted oats should be supplied. The oil is given at the rate of 2 per cent either of the amount of grain or of the amount of mash fed. Experience has shown that it is easier to mix it into the grain, and that however used, it is highly effective in preventing leg weakness.

The writer concludes with the suggestion that the earlier hatching enables the general farmer to get this phase of his work out of the way before the heavy rush of spring arrives.

Crowded Conditions in Many Poultry Houses

A recent survey of a number of farms shows crowded conditions in the poultry houses. Many of these houses are almost wholly lacking in ventilation.

At night when one of these buildings is crowded with chickens the air is not fit to breathe. A human being will not remain long in such a place. If he did remain throughout the night, he would be "all fit" by morning. And this is just the trouble with a lot of chickens now.

The chickens are badly crowded at night in a poorly-ventilated house. They are forced to breathe bad air. They become too warm. They are "all fit" in the morning, and emerging into the cool outside air is a sudden change that many of them cannot withstand.

These crowded conditions at night and sudden changes from warm to cool air are responsible for many of our poultry ills. Giving the chickens medicine will not do any permanent good so long as the cause of the trouble remains unchanged. Either additional room should be provided or the size of the flock reduced.

Crooked Breast Bones Found in Chickens

Crooked breast bones may be caused by inbreeding and general debility, or may come from improper food and feeding, or poor management of some kind, writes Michael K. Boyer in the Farm and Ranch. There is no question about heredity being the fault, at least to a certain extent. That being the fact, it should be bred out, which might be done by the selection of only straight breast-bone fowls for the breeding pen.

Lack of bone-making material in the feed of growing stock, which is the prime cause of leg weakness, has also the effect of producing crooked breast bones in young chickens.

There used to be theory, which by many still is believed, that very early roosting of growing birds causes the soft breast bones to bend. This might be so in some instances, but does not hold good with the general run of stock.

Buying Pullets

Buying pullets by weight may be more satisfactory than buying entirely by age. April hatched pullets on insufficient rations may be of less value than May hatched pullets which have been properly fed and brooded. A May 1 pullet is much better than a May 30 pullet if the conditions have been equal. The later hatched chick has missed four fine weeks for the development of poultry meat, but the name of the month is not fully descriptive of quality.

Culling Farm Flock

There are two essentials in culling farm poultry. First, to get rid of hens that are not laying, and second, to distinguish between the hens that have been good producers and those that have not laid enough to pay for their feed. Culling should start in late May or June and continue throughout the year at regular intervals. Eliminating the hens as they become unprofitable saves feed and labor and improves the conditions for those that are laying.

French City Supplies Perfumes of Quality

The little town of Grasse of 16,000 inhabitants, picturesquely situated on the French Riviera, is the greatest center in the world for the making of scents and perfumes.

During the past year the quantity of flowers used for the making of perfumes reached the total of 13,000,000 pounds. Included were orange blossoms, violets, jasmines, roses, tuberose, carnations, cassia, mimosa, muguet and wallflowers. Thirty thousand pounds of roses are required for a single quart of essence of rose.

Called the "City of Scents," Grasse began its perfume making away back in the Sixteenth century, when Queen Catherine de Medici sent an expert to Grasse with the purpose of "finding a laboratory." The city's busiest period is from May to July. Then visitors are shown great shallow vats of liquid lard or some other equally basic preparation, upon which large quantities of flowers are laid, so that the greasy substance underneath may absorb any essence coming from these floral heaps.

When this process takes place the mass of fat is boiled down and other liquids are mixed with it, liquids having special properties for strengthening and retaining the particular perfume desired. Then comes the time to bottle, pack and transport the fragrant scents. No less than 400 factories are engaged in scent making in Grasse, which gives employment to 80 per cent of the population.

Bat Tribe Members of Animal Kingdom

Bats are animals, not birds. They suckle their young at the breast and are classed by zoologists as flying mammals. There are more than 250 species and subspecies of bats in North America alone.

Some of the tropical species are blood-sucking vampires, and others are fruit eaters, although nearly all the bats of the United States and further north are insectivorous. Usually the female gives birth to one young, but cases of twins are not uncommon. One authority says on this subject: "They never make any nests or even attempt to fix over the crannies where they hide and where the little bats are born. These helpless little things are not left at home at the mercy of foraging rats and mice. When the old bat flies off into the twilight the youngsters often go with her, clinging about her neck. At times she deposits them on the branch of a tree, where they hang, sheltered by the leaves."

Novel Coined Phrase

The Jewish people are not often referred to as children of the ghetto, although the expression is the title of a very well-known novel by Israel Zangwill, a successful English novelist, wrote "Children of the Ghetto," a study of modern Jewish life, in 1892. He died in 1926.

Ghetto means the Jewish quarter in a European city. Ghettos have not existed, except in Russia and Poland, for about fifty years. Jewish people now living may have had grandfathers who were children of the ghetto but are not in any sense children of the ghetto themselves.

Movements of Waves

Roughness of waters depends to a large extent upon prevailing weather conditions as well as configuration of the coastline and of the ocean bed. The ocean as a whole is not necessarily rough than a small body of water forming a sea. Many inland lakes may become extremely rough during a prevailing storm. For instance, the English channel, a narrow and partially enclosed body of water, is known to be one of the roughest in the world. Undoubtedly waves attain a greater height in the open ocean during a storm.

At Sunday School

The five-year-old son of a South side resident had just returned from the ever eventful first Sunday school class and was being questioned as to what he had learned during the course of the morning.

His mother asked: "What did the teacher say to you this morning, Charlie?"

The youngster pondered a moment before answering. Then he looked up finally and said: "The teacher said to keep still."—Indianapolis News.

On the Ark

Noah (in cabin)—"Water, water, not a thing in sight but water. I think I'm going mad." Mrs. Noah (entering from aviary)—"Oh, there you are, dear. The dove just brought in a postcard for you." Noah—"Great. We're in touch with the outside world at last. What does it say?" Mrs. Noah—"It's from your Cousin Fanny and she just writes: 'To Big Boy Noah—Oceans of love.' (They had dove for dinner).—Kansas City Times.

Far From Perfect

"Why don't you call me a donkey and have done with it? You've tinted it at long enough," said the hen-pecked husband.

"It wouldn't be quite true," replied Mrs. Meek.

"I suppose not. I haven't ears long enough for that animal."

"Oh, yes, you have. You don't need longer ears."

"What do I need then?"

"Two more legs and a better voice."

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

FIREPLACE DREAMS

The Blue Fire Fairies and the Red Flame Fairies arrived for the ball in the fireplace.

The blue and red colors in the fire soon seemed to be dancing and playing and frolicking together.

Then came the Yellow Fire Fairies and the Green Fire Fairies, and some queer ones dressed in black.

They were the Witches.

They wore the black costumes to make them look more interesting and mysterious.

After the dancing was over the Witches always told the Fire Fairies the most beautiful stories of everything that had happened in the fireplace for years and years and years.

They always told them of the games the sparks had played, how they loved to tease the grownups by jumping out on the rug in front of the fire.

They told them of the castles that had been made in the fireplace and of all the Fire Kings and Queens who had lived in them.

But when they tell them about the sparks you will see that the sparks still jump out and land on the rug—for they want to show that her stories are still very, very true.

Later on, though, they will become sleepy so that they will go to sleep right in the fireplace.

So you can watch the dancing that so often takes place in the fireplace.

You can see the beautiful costumes of the Fire Fairies, and you can see them blaze and flame while the queer sounds seem to grow fewer.

The Dancing That So Often Takes Place in the Fireplace.

Then you can see them eating their banquet—you can tell how the Enchanted Fire Cooks bring in their little flaming dishes, and you can just imagine how they are all enjoying the goodies.

Then you will notice how the flames begin to die down and only a few little flashes of light and fire are seen from time to time.

Those flashes and flames are some of the Fire Fairies who are still wide awake enough to ask the Witches questions.

The Witches tell fireplace bedtime tales, and soon the Fairies go sound, sound asleep.

They love to be put to sleep by the Fire Witches.

The flames die down entirely and only a little smoldering goes on in the fireplace.

Then the Witches say good-night. They too will go to bed.

But the ashes will be left—the nice warm ashes—they are the pleasant dreams that are left behind for the Fire Fairies.

And now the ball was over in the fireplace, the stories had been told—the fire had gone out.

Only some ashes could be seen, but in one corner a few red coals had appeared.

Do you know what they were?

They were the King and Queen of the Fireplace and they came to see that their people were all fast asleep.

Then they went to sleep, but first they whispered a "thank you" to the Witches for the marvelous bedtime stories they always told.

And if you had been in front of this particular fire where there had been so much going on, you would have heard a faint, crackling noise, and you would then have known that all had gone to sleep in their warm ashes of pleasant dreams.

Puzzles

Who can stop a train with one hand? The engine driver.

Why is a tidy house like the letter "O"? Because they are both in order.

Who is the most popular fellow at a Halloween party? Peter Pumpkin.

What tree is half a musical instrument and half a ray of light? Hornbeam.

If a witch could change herself into something to eat, what would it be? A sandwich.

When is a chair badly treated? When you have it caned because it cannot bear you.

Why are bad friends like the loose pages of a book? Because they are always falling out.

What country ought to become rich? Ireland, because its capital is always Dublin. (Dublin).

What do I need then?

Two more legs and a better voice.

Traits Revealed by Abnormalities in Nose

It is true that singers frequently have noses that are too broad to conform to the accepted standards of feminine beauty.

The typical singer's nose is said to be wide at the top and broad and muscular in the wings. It has been observed, too, that singers whose noses were, to begin with, rather delicate and slender, acquired in the course of their training broad noses of the sort described. Jenny Lind had a nose that was even ugly. The nostrils were broad and the ridge though spacious was flat. This formation was said to be especially favorable to a soprano voice.

Napoleon Bonaparte chose men with large noses for responsible stations, because, as it was explained, such noses allowed free and full inhalation, and thereby kept the brain cool and clear. However, among notable men who possessed quite small noses might be mentioned Peter the Great, Thomas Jefferson, Oliver W. Holmes, Robespierre and Thackeray.

Width between the eyes is said to indicate ability in judging distances and conditions. It was especially marked in the face of George Washington, who was an able surveyor and, of course, an excellent judge of conditions.

French Nation Shown as Great Landowner

The greatest landowner in France is the French state. It possesses palaces, castles, mansions, buildings of all kinds, and forests—besides roads, ports, railways. A record of all its properties, just drawn up, reveals a total value of $3,800,000,000. The castle and park of Versailles are estimated at $240,000,000. Fontainebleau is much cheaper, $4,280,000, and its wonderful forest is worth only $2,000,000. Also, the lovely castle of Azay-le-Rideau, in Touraine, is entered in the inventory for the ridiculous sum of $20,000. To make up for that, the Louvre, in Paris, with its immense palace and the Tuilleries garden, comes up to the sum of $200,000.

But the French administration refused to assign any monetary value to certain monuments, such as Notre Dame de Paris and the Arc de Triomphe, which symbolize a glorious past, or to the war cemeteries in foreign countries, under the French flag, where lie the children of France who sacrificed their lives for justice and liberty.—Washington Star.

Moved All Ports Inland

In ancient times so terribly did the sea rovers infest the Chinese coast that one emperor with a stroke of his vermilion brush solved the problem by ordering all seaports to move inland 20 miles. Vast populations and great cities were moved from the mouths of rivers by this one act.

Old walls and dwellings were abandoned; new walls and properties were set up.

The old sites were used as observation posts, and fortresses were located near them, so that it was no longer possible for a fleet to descend without warning upon the inhabitants of an unsuspecting city. This is why, today there are no ports on the actual seacoast of China.

Loss of Food Animals

The annual loss of food animals in the United States, through disease and neglect, is estimated to be in excess of $200,000,000. It is likely that this estimate on the part of government officials is far below the actual loss.

The indirect loss defies calculation, because we cannot possibly estimate its effect upon the cost of living for both the rural and the urban population. A great variety of maladies afflict nearly all animals which are used for food. They are not only affected with as many diseases as attack mankind, but many young animals die from neglect.—Thrift Magazine.

Cattiness

All men are divided into two classes: Those who are convinced most women are catty and those who insist that they all are.

If, by cattiness, you mean petty vindictiveness sweetly expressed, I do admit that quite a lot of women are gifted in that respect. Men have the vindictiveness often enough but it is seldom as petty and it is likely to be distinctly not sweetly expressed. As I see it, cattiness is mainly a hangover from the days when men were permitted to swear great, big, temper-easing oaths, while women weren't permitted to swear at all—so they relieved their nastier feelings by learning to say sweet things with a sting.

—Plain Talk Magazine.

Failure and Success

Mixed in Blackstone

Blackstone was born in 1723.

There are said to be three ways by which a young man can get on at the bar—by marrying an attorney's daughter, by writing a book or by a miracle. Blackstone wrote a book.

He was a more or less disappointed barrister, and (like many other comparative failures) set out to teach others how to succeed in the profession at which, to put it mildly, he had not won so many laurels himself. The outcome of his Oxford lectures was his "Commentaries," perhaps the most famous law book ever written. He wrote it with a bottle of port always on his desk.

His work is rather snuffed at today as a textbook for

Winside News

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Lewis, William Prince and Mrs. G. A. Lewis were in Sioux City Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jens Andersen entertained Mr. and Mrs. Pio Andressen and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. L. Hansen and daughter for dinner Monday.

Winside Socials

The Eastern Star Lodge held a special meeting Monday night with eighteen present. Mrs. W. C. Logan and Mrs. Geo. Roberts of Carroll were received into the order. Following the initiation, luncheon was served at the Francis Cafe by Mrs. Walter Gaebler, Mrs. B. W. Lewis, Miss Mabel Lewis, Miss Louise Lautenbaugh and Mrs. Alice Keckler.

Bridge Club Meeting.

The Bridge club met Tuesday evening for a seven o'clock dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Marold Neely as hosts and hostesses. All members and two guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Boyd were present. The affair was in the nature of shower for Mr. and Mrs. Boyd. Dr. R. D. Gormley won the gentleman's prize and Mrs. Harold Neely, the lady's prize.

Party for Newly Weds:

Mr. and Mrs. George Coulter entertained a crowd of neighbors and friends Friday night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Longnecker. The time was spent in dancing. Fred Pfeil of Carroll furnished the music. Luncheon was served. Mrs. Longnecker was Miss Lottie Soules of Wayne.

Meeting of Home Department:

The regular meeting of the home department was held on Tuesday afternoon with Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Keckler, entertaining. Ten members and three guests were present. Mrs. Geo. K. Moore led the lesson study. The next meeting January 22 is with Mrs. Mark Benshoof as hostess and Mrs. Geo. Gaebler as lesson leader.

League Party:

The Young People's League of the M. E. church held their monthly social meeting at the church basement Tuesday night with about thirty young people present. The evening was spent in playing various games after which lunch consisting of ice cream and cake was served.

Birthday Party:

Mrs. Jens Andersen celebrated her 54th birthday Saturday afternoon with a birthday dinner at which the following guests were present, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wylie and children, Daisy Wylie, Miss Frances Wylie, Mr. and Mrs. Lauritz Hansen and daughter, Marie and Miss Norma Wolf.

CORDING UP POST HOLES

One of the industries that used to take much attention years ago was that of finding a way to manufacture and store away postholes for use in winter in cold countries. The nearest success ever attained in those days as we remember was attained by fastening some strong pieces to the bottom of the posts, for use in fence posts, and setting the posts and holding them by heaping stone on the cross pieces, for it was too stony to dig a posthole without blasting powder.

A crew of telephone repair men are just now doing this at Wayne, fixing up the lines, and we notice that they have a new way of digging holes for their big poles. An enlarged post auger is attached to the back of a truck, and some connection made so that the power of the motor may be transferred to the auger to turn it down into the ground where a pole is to be set and soon a hole six or more feet is finished so much quicker and easier than digging the dirt loose and hoisting it out with a spoon-shaped shovel on the end of an eight-foot handle.

Then, when the hole is done, they now have a bit of a lift on a truck that maneuvers into position and ends the pole up and guides it, big end down into the nice, smooth pole hole. About three men and the hoist take the place of a dozen men with pike poles in planing a new pole.

They should put on an attachment with which to pull the old poles out, and also tamp the new pole in. If they can keep on improving and saving labor, we may eventually have a reduction of phone rates. Who can tell what science and ingenuity may accomplish?

"I've an idea."

"Beginner's luck."

Creighton Shadows.

NEWS NOTES.

Tex Richard, the boxing promoter is dead. Passed away at Miami, Florida, Sunday, following an operation for acute appendicitis, which he had evidently delayed too long, for his physicians advised an even urged it from 24 to 48 hours before he would give his consent to the ordeal.

The King of England is reported to be improving daily, with increased hope of a permanent recovery.

Kansas and Oklahoma suffered a severe blizzard Saturday and Sunday, and the switch-end of the storm reached southern Nebraska and Iowa, where they had a foot or more of snow, and high wind which tossed the snow into huge drifts. The storm condition was quite severe at Kansas City. We had a bit of cold weather from the storm, but no snow to speak of—just a little flurry.

The fourth national conference on the cause and cure of war will open at Washington next Monday, but it is very doubtful if they will find a way to terminate war, tho the great masses of the people of the world would gladly have it a successful meeting, and its object fully accomplished.

Hearings on the tariff are now being heard, each interest wanting a tariff boost for its benefit having its hour in court—but no where, says an exchange, does the consumers of all of this protection combined have a place in the sun. Why should the fellow who has to pay the bills not be considered?

ALL HAIL THE KING

Albania has a new king; has its first newspaper and has electric lights for the first time. Snuggled down among the Balkan states, half Asiatic and half European and on the boundary line between the two continents, this fervid little principality has undergone all the political changes imaginable since the late war made a new map for Europe. Prince Zogu thought his people were not ready for self government so he proclaimed himself king. He believes that people can not become modern and progressive without newspapers and electricity. A patient world will await results.

NO PARKING HERE

"Where can I park this car?" That is the question that is being asked with increasing interest by drivers in the big cities. And the answer is as discouraging as indefinite, in most cases.

Automobiles may not be parked in the Loop district of Chicago and there are miles and miles of streets in New York where a car may stop only long enough to unload or pick up passengers. At first the shop keepers objected but more recently they are pleased with the change.

It would require 6,500 acres, or practically one third of a Nebraska township, to park the cars that are used daily in Chicago.

NEGRO COOKS GO TO SCHOOL

Negro cooks easily adapt themselves to the use of gas heat. And the use of gas in humble homes all over the Southland is growing. A Chattanooga, Tennessee, gas company has set up a gas-cooking school for colored women. Afternoon instruction over a period of two weeks or more is given free and the waiting list keeps growing. Inasmuch as servants are largely recruited from the colored people in the South, the gas company is adding a free employment bureau in connection with the cooking school and is able to recommend qualified colored cooks for thrifty housewives.

JEFFERSON'S RULES

(From Letter Written in 1826 by Thomas Jefferson to Thomas Jefferson Smith.)

On the rules for practical life:

- Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
- Never trouble another for what you can do for yourself.
- Never spend your money before you have it.
- Never buy what you do not want because it is cheap; it will be dear to you.
- Pride costs us more than hunger, thirst and cold.
- We never repent of having eaten too little.
- Nothing is troublesome that we do willingly.
- How much pain have cost us the evils which have never happened.
- Take things always by their smooth handle.
- When angry, count 10, before you speak; if very angry, an hundred.

BASKETBALL MEET

HERE IN SPRING

High Schools Respond to Invitations to Attend Basketball Tournament at Wayne.

(From The Goldenrod)

It has been the custom of this institution to sponsor an annual northeast Nebraska basketball tournament.

This year the state athletic association authorized that two tournaments be held in this part of the state, one at Wayne and one at Norfolk, each tournament center must have at least sixteen teams enter for competition to insure holding a tournament at that center. The popularity of Wayne as a place for such gatherings has been demonstrated by the response to the invitations sent to the schools which have competed here in former years. Almost immediately the following high schools wrote expressing their desire to enter the lists here:

Wausa, Ponca, Allen, Newcastle,

Coleridge, Niobrara, Winside, West

Point, Wayne, Waterbury, Beemer,

Wisner, Wakefield, Wynot, Crofton,

Carroll, Laurel and Emerson.

Several others are expected to join within the next few days.
