MRS. LOUIE KOCH PASSES THURSDAY

Wife of Prominent Farmer Dies Following Injuries Received in Accidental Fall.

SECOND TRAGIC DEATH IN YEAR

A fractured skull received as a result of falling from a wagon while assisting her husband upheld grain caused the death of Mrs. Louie Koch at their farm home Thursday evening. Just how the accident happened is not known, it is reported, as no one saw it, Mr. Koch having gone to another granary for an instant found his wife lying unconscious under the wagon upon his return.

This is the second tragic death on the Koch farm within a year, Gustav Broberg, a farm hand, fell off the tractor he was operating and became tangled up in the plows and was dragged to death last April. His lifeless body was found late in the evening by Mr. Koch, who went to the field to learn why Broberg failed to come to the house when it became dark.

Mrs. Koch, it is thought, lost her balance when the team jerked the wagon causing her to fall in front of it, a wheel of which apparently passed over her head and body, crushing her skull and breaking some ribs. The accident happened Wednesday afternoon and she passed about a day later, without regaining consciousness.

Besides her husband and little daughter Lorene, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Augusta Koplin of Norfolk; three sisters, Miss Hattie Koplin and Mrs. Otto Christian of Norfolk, and Mrs. Albert Yeager who lives in Canada, and one brother, Albert Koplin of Winside.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, at Winside with Rev. H. M. and Rev. H. A. Hilpert in charge of the final rites.

WORLD WAR VETERAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

W. F. Horril, who was sent to Hot Springs, South Dakota, a few months for treatment, has not gotten relief and will return to the same hospital, leaving here tomorrow, it is reported.

Mr. Horril, veteran of the World war, with his family moved here from Pennsylvania last spring. He has been unable to work most of the time since coming here, and he and his family have been cared for by the county, much of the time.

The local veterans are attempting to either get him permanent medical relief or have him permanent medical treatment for disability, as he apparently is entitled to.

OLD HOSHINS SETTLER PASSES

Fred Krause Sr. died Thursday, January 10, 1929, at the home of his son, Fred Krause Jr., after a few weeks' illness. He was 86 years old.

Mr. Krause was born in Germany December 15, 1842, and came with his parents to America in 1857. He was married to Miss Hanna Boness in 1861. To this union eight children were born. In 1892 they moved to Hoskins. Mrs. Krause died in 1910, and son Richard was killed in 1909.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Hanna Marotz of Hoskins, Mrs. Ed Behmer of Norfolk, and Mrs. Frank Vick of Columbus, Wisconsin, and four sons, Henry of Hugo, Colorado, William of Norfolk, Fred and Louis of Hoskins, besides many other friends and relatives.

The funeral service was largely attended the last of the week. Burial was in the family lot besides his wife and son.

OUTGOING STOCK

We do not have a complete list of the shipments for the past week, quite a number of car loads of hogs going in, mostly to Sioux City.

George McEachen went in with two cars of good, well-finished white face cattle Monday, shipping to Omaha. John Geewe was on the market with a car of cattle, and so was Wm. Baerman.

C. E. and W. F. Wright each sent double-deck cars of sheep to Sioux City market, and Otis Stringer is said to have also sent a car or two of feeding lambs to market.

F. E. Shields sent a truck of fatted sheep to Sioux City, all he had ready for market at the time—and it was a good time, for he hit the peak of the market for the season, selling at $16.25.

LOCAL ESSAY CONTEST WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Local winners in the national essay contest on "Why I Should Vote," which is being sponsored by the federation of women's clubs are announced as follows: Jeanette Lewis, first place; Doris Judson, second and Irol Whitmore third.

The essays written by the local winners will be entered in a district contest and the winners of this competition will be entered in the state contest next fall. The state winners will be submitted in a national elimination and the winners of this competition will be awarded prizes as follows: first prize, $250; second, $150 and third, $100.

The Wayne federation of Women's clubs sponsored the local contest and a committee from that organization judged the papers submitted.

PROMINENT READER HERE TUESDAY EVE

Final Number of Lyceum Course to be Presented at High School Auditorium.

Miss Evelyn Gaston, called one of the county's most noted readers, will appear in the final number of the Lyceum Course, sponsored by the Kiwanis club, the Woman's club and the high school, next Tuesday evening.

In this final program Miss Gaston will present, "My Lady's Dress," a human interest story centering around a dress Anne has bought to wear to a dinner party being given by Sir Charles, an Englishman who holds great influence in the outcome of the future of Anne's husband.

Anne's attention and flattery to Sir Charles, an Englishman who holds husband. This leads to a violent quarrel between the husband and wife. John leaves in a rage and Anne throws herself down and falls into a troubled sleep. Her dreams carry her to foreign lands where she catches glimpses of all those loves whose tool makes such a flimsy thing as "My Lady's Dress."

She has a glimpse of the trials and hardships of the poor Italian peasant in breeding the silk worm. Next she has a glimpse into an Old Dutch garden and sees a struggle between father and daughter. The last scene takes her to France where the life of the weaver and the unmerciful merchant who buys material is revealed.

In the concluding scene Anne is aroused from her troubled sleep by the telephone. It is Sir Charles telling her that he has given her husband the much coveted post.

But her dream has made a lasting impression upon her. It changes the whole attitude of her life. After a happy reconciliation between Anne and John they pledge themselves to do all in their power to help those whose tool goes into "My Lady's Dress."

Miss Gaston depicts the characters of those different countries in native costume.

INTERESTED IN ISLAND FUR FARM NEAR BUTTE

Harold Pierce, who was here from Wausa Saturday, and is in partnership with his brother Joe in conducting a fur farm near Butte, gave the information that while they have not yet reached the stage of stocking the farm fully, they have been trapping some along the Niobrara river, their farm being on a 200 acre island, they disposed of about $250 worth of furs at Christmas time. They plan to have the place ready to stock during the coming fall. Last fall they put in a few coon and perhaps some other of the less expensive animals.

MID-YEAR CONFERENCE IN SESSION HERE TODAY

The mid-year conference of the northeast Nebraska Baptist association is in session here today. The opening meeting was held at 10 o'clock this morning and the final gathering will be tonight.

Delegates from most of the Baptist churches of this corner of the state are in attendance.

Rev. G. C. Cress, D. D. of New York City will be the principal speaker. Others who are on the program include: Mrs. W. E. Lincoln of New York; Mrs. E. E. Bennett of Lincoln; Mrs. R. B. Elrod, Lincoln and Dr. H. Q. Morton, Omaha.

J. M. Cherry Honored at Masonic Banquet Held at Hotel Stratton Here Tuesday Eve.

Extended Expression of Appreciation for 25 Years of Faithful Service.

PROMINENT MASONS SPEAKERS

As an expression of appreciation for 25 years of faithful service, a gold watch was presented to Judge J. M. Cherry at a banquet held at the Hotel Stratton, Friday night. The presentation was made by Dr. G. T. Ingham on behalf of the local Masonic lodge at the close of the banquet and program attended by about ninety masons, including some out of town visitors.

Judge Cherry has served as secretary of the Wayne lodge continuously during the last 25 years.

Only a very few of the members of the lodge at the time Cherry began his services are still members of the local order. Included in that group besides Judge Cherry are: J. T. Bressler, Sr., George Fortner, George Porter, J. G. Mines and J. S. Lewis.

Mr. Bressler is a charter member and has been a mason for more than fifty years. He became a mason at West Point when he was a pioneer and living at La Porte.

O. R. Bowen presided at the Friday night meeting and the following responded with short addresses: Grand Master F. H. Woodland and Grand Secretary L. E. Smith, both of Omaha; Past Grand Master A. R. Davis and C. T. Ingham of Wayne.

At the close of his address Dr. Ingham presented the gold watch to Judge Cherry, who admitted that he greatly appreciated the gift, and "is indeed proud of it."

TWO OF IVER JENSEN'S TRUCKS IN COLLISION

A new Ford truck and a negro man G. M. C. truck both belonging to Iver Jensen were badly damaged in a collision near Hubbard last week, which is reported to have been caused when the brakes on one of the machines failed to operate successfully.

As they approached a curve on the highway the head driver applied his brakes and the one in the rear, it is reported, was unable to slow up his machine crashing into the one ahead.

Both trucks were upset in the mix-up, and considerably damaged. Mr. Jensen was not in either of the machines, two of his men operating them at the time, both of whom escaped without serious injury.

PENDER MAN PAYS HEAVY FINE HERE

Taken into Custody by Sheriff When He Crashes Car on Highway
South of Wayne.

W. B. Douglas, Pender barber, who was found stranded with a broken wheel on his car south of Wayne Sunday, by Archie Stephens, county sheriff, was arrested and found guilty in county court Monday on charges of possession, intoxication and driving while intoxicated. He was fined $130 and costs.

Douglas was said to be in an extremely drunken condition, by passing motorists, who notified local authorities resulting in the arrest.

According to indications, as evidenced by the car tracks, Douglas had been driving from one side of the highway to the other and left the road several times, finally crashing a wheel as he went over a two-foot bank and tried to come down again.

According to his statements he didn't remember much of what had happened. He said he was going to Stuart for his wife, who was visiting with her mother.

Two empty gallon jugs, that apparently had contained bootleg whisky, and some bottles containing liquor were in the car, according to the finding of the court.

ENSLEY MOORE, FORMER CITIZEN DEAD AT 83

George K. Moore received word last week of the death of his father, Ensley Moore at his home at Jacksonville, Illinois, at the age of 83 years. Mr. Moore was formerly a resident of the county, and owned a farm or more in the county.

WAYNE FIRE-FIGHTERS AT FREMONT MEETING

Tuesday afternoon three cars left Wayne carrying fourteen members of the best fire-fighting volunteer organization in America, so far as we can determine, who went to represent Wayne at the annual meeting of the Nebraska volunteer firemen, at Fremont. The list of those in attendance consists of the mayor—Wm. Orr and the following active members of the department:

B. F. Strahan, Chas. Riese, II. W. Barnett, Joe Baker, Wes Bonawitz, Walt Bressler, E. E. Fleetwood, L. W. Vath, M. L. Ringer, John Bingold, Geo. Lamberson, Ray Larson and Robt. Henkle.

A number of the other members may drive down today to attend the last day sessions. The delegation is expected home this evening.

RESERVE TICKETS FOR PASSION PLAY

Local Legion Sponsoring Sale of Tickets for "Passion Play" at Omaha Next Week.

The local Legion post is sponsoring the sale of admissions to the "Passion Play" which will be given at Omaha five days next week and anyone who plans to see the show would do well to arrange for a reserved seat, it is claimed, as a complete sell-out, before the performances begin, is anticipated.

Paul Mines has charge of the Wayne section and can get you a good seat for any of the showings which will be given Wednesday and Friday afternoons and every evening of the five days of next week, providing that reservations are made early.

The play, it is claimed, is shown by the original Freiburg cast, and has not been shown out of Europe before. There are a number of Passion Plays being shown in Europe and this is one of the larger.

The Passion Play originated during the middle centuries as a result of a plague when the peasants of Germany made a vow that they would devote themselves to the presenting of the story, every ten years. This original play is, and always has been, shown at Over-Annergau, Bavaria. They hold the privilege of being on the cast as sacred, and have never appeared anywhere else. There are more than 500 characters in this cast.

The Freiburg cast, which will be in Omaha five days next week, is one of the larger plays, but is not the original Passion Play cast which shows in Bavaria.

HERE, TOO

Most newspapers, if they published all the legitimate news that happens from week to week, would no doubt be in "hot water" most of the time. Some weeks The Tribune finds it difficult to find enough strictly local news that we can publish without overstepping the bounds of discretion, while other weeks it is difficult to handle it all. The average public does not appreciate the fact that many times really interesting and sensational news is omitted out of regard for the feelings of innocent persons who would suffer if it were published.

The Tribune tries to be discriminating in this regard, where no good is subserved by publishing things of this kind. —Wyomat Tribune.

MRS. ELSON VISITING HERE

Mrs. Henry Cozad was at Burkett last week, where she went to accompany her mother, Mrs. Sara Elson to Wayne for month furlough from the soldier home, where she spends much of her time. Mrs. Elson had been quite seriously ill for several weeks, but was rallying nicely.

Speaking of the home, Mrs. Elson said it was a fine place to stay, but that the death rate had been high this fall, as most of the inmates are old, but few of them being under seventy-five years of age, soldiers of the Civil War, and their wives or widows mostly, the now and then one of the Spanish-American war of a quarter of a century ago. Of about 400 inmates of the home, Mrs. Elson said that she is now the only one from this vicinity, since the recent passing of Mrs. Maholm.

There was a decrease in number and total indebtedness of the farm mortgages of Madison county. Let them continue the good work.

FIRST CONFERENCE GAME NEXT TUESDAY

Prospects for Winning Conference Honors Considered Bright Following Late Work-outs.

PLAY CHADRON AND PERU, HERE

The Midland Warriors were given their worst scare of the season last Friday night when the Wildcats opened up with an attack that more than matched the strategy of the visitors until late in the game when Farrow was banished from the fracas because of four personals. With Wayne leading by four points Nordstrom went on a scoring spree when Farrow was taken out, and coupled with some assistance overcame the margin and gained a seven point lead before the game ended. Wayne led 17 to 15 at the half, the final score being 35 to 28.

Wayne's defense was the feature of the game with Langfeldt and Farrow playing great basketball. Von Munden also worked a good game being the high point man for the locals with five field goals. He also tipped one in for the visitors but, unfortunately, this was credited to Krebs who helped to make it.

There is little doubt that Wayne would have copped the game but for Farrow being ejected, as he kept Nordstrom, Midland's main threat, well under surveillance, allowing him very few shots, before he was taken out.

The local squad will play Western Union in a hard game tomorrow night and next week they will open their conference season when they play both Chadron and Peru on the local court.

Chadron will be entertained Tuesday night and Peru will be here Saturday night.

GOOD CHANCE TO WIN

Prospects for Wayne winning both these games and enough of the remaining games to cop the championship are very bright. The squad has been looking fine all week and are making most of their gift shots, on which they have been drilling consistently.

Hickman has worked out a number of new combinations and is in the best spirits of the season.

LEGION MEMBERSHIP IS SHOWING GOOD INCREASE

More than forty members have renewed their membership in the local Legion post, which is the largest membership for so soon after the opening of a new year the Wayne post has enjoyed in several years.

An effort will be made to bring the membership up to its original standing this year, and with the good start made thus far prospects are bright for a favorable showing.

A BAND CONCERT EVENING OF THE 31ST

Announcement is made that the Wayne high school band will present a band concert program from the Community house Thursday January 31. No program copy has yet been presented for publication, but those who have heard this band in recent concerts well know that the music presented will be high class and properly played. The band members and their leader, F. C. Reed have many compliments on their recent presentations, and music lovers will plan not to miss the entertainment.

AL SMITH SPOKE

Many people listened to the talk of former candidate Smith broadcast over a chain, and the burden of his talk was urging the democrats to maintain an active organization constantly, and not hope to convert or convince the voters of the good things which the principles of the democratic party promise to win public approval in a four months campaign in the heat of a presidential contest. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and of the true principles of a government of, by and for all the people.

J. L. Davis is reported ill at his home in the southeast part of the city, and it is also said that Mrs. Davis is not in the best of health. Mr. and Mrs. Davis have long been residents here, and many friends will hope that their illness will not prove serious, and be of short duration.

Simplicity of cooling system is a feature of the new Ford

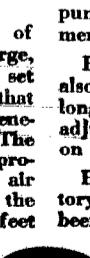

A COMPLETE water plant is a part of every automobile as it is a part of every modern city.

The purpose of this water plant is to keep the engine cooled to a temperature that will make it efficient in operation. If it were not for this, the cylinder walls would become overheated and the pistons refuse to operate.

The cooling system of the new Ford is particularly interesting because it is so simple and reliable.

When the radiator is full of water, the engine of the new Ford will not overheat under the hardest driving. Yet the water is so regulated that it will not impair engine operation by running too cold in winter.

The cooling surface of the Ford radiator is large, with four rows of tubes set in staggered position so that each receives the full benefit of the incoming air. The fan is of the airplane propeller type and draws air through the radiator at the rapid rate of 850 cubic feet per minute at 1000 revolutions per minute of the motor.

The hot water around the cylinder head is drawn to the radiator to be cooled by a centrifugal water pump of new design.

The entire cooling system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little attention.

The radiator should be kept full, of course, and drained once each month so that sediment will not collect and retard the free passage of water. In cold weather, a reliable anti-freeze solution should be added.

As owner and manager of this important water plant you should also see that the water pump and fan shaft are properly lubricated and the packing around the pump shaft kept in adjustment.

Hose connections may also need replacement after long service. For those little adjustments, it pays to call on the Ford dealer.

He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to do a thorough, competent job at a fair price.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stambaugh received the sad news Wednesday of last week of the death of a niece of Mrs. Stambaugh, Mrs. Wm. Herrmann at her home at Waterville, Kansas. Representative August Wittler was home from Lincoln Sunday, returning Monday to answer roll call and vote when questions come up for action, as they doubtless will be long, for up to the adjournment Friday 100 bills have been thrown into the big hopper to be ground out in some form—or perhaps killed in committee on the floor. There is promise of an interesting session, and possibly some fighting—for there is an apparent move to thwart some of the reforms to which Governor Weaver is committed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jacobs from Kennard returned home Monday, following a visit here at the home of H. H. Echtenkamp and family northeast of Wayne. They tell us that they have been having more snow there than here, and also that it has stayed with them longer. Speaking of their corn crop, they said that it had been pretty good, but not quite up to the year before, as they had a touch of dry weather which kept it from being 100 per cent corn season. Mr. Jacobs spoke of the growth of Wayne as evidenced by the new buildings.

Said that he had first visited this place about thirty years before, and frequently since then, but never before had he noticed so great improvement between visits as at this time.

FARMER UNION OF STATE IN BIG ANNUAL MEET

Last week at Omaha, the Farmer Union held its annual meeting, and told where the farmer stands on questions of state interest. Edward Lindsay was one of the members from this vicinity who attended.

The following report of the activities of the sessions will be both interesting and instructive.

For the Guaranty Law

A new plan of clearing up the state bank situation in Nebraska was recommended by the Nebraska Farmer's Union at the final session of its sixteenth annual convention Wednesday afternoon in the Odd Fellows temple Here are the resolutions voted:

1. Pay no interest on claims of depositors of failed banks.

2. Levy a state luxury or income tax to meet 30 per cent of such claims and assess operating state banks for 30 per cent of claims. The assets of the guaranty fund commission shall be deemed of 40 per cent value in settlement until such assets shall otherwise be definitely determined.

3. All legitimate depositors' claims shall be based on a settlement period not later than four years after a bank failure, and semiannual pro rata payments shall be made on all claims pending until date of settlement.

Delegates, in stormy debate, discussed the guaranty fund situation, the state gasoline tax and a dozen other state and national problems.

Oppose Gas Tax Increase

The convention opposed unqualifiedly any increase in the gasoline tax, after voting down an amendment and a substitute motion. The substitute motion was for legislation which would permit a county to levy its own tax on gasoline sold in the county, and to collect the tax and expend the proceeds on farm-to-market and post roads.

The convention voted to urge a law providing that no tax be levied on any gasoline except that used by motor vehicles on the public highways. One delegate said he uses three thousand gallons of gas a year in farm work in the field.

Keeney is Re-Elected

Although H. G. Keeney, president had previously declined to run for another term, he was cheered when his name was proposed from the floor after nomination of John Mavercost, farmer of Hooper, and Peter Peterson, manager of the Farmers' Union creamery at Fairbury. After the nomination of Mr. Keeney, the other candidates withdrew from the race, and Keeney was re-elected by acclamation.

Three directors for three-year terms were named. Emil Becker, Clarks, was re-elected from District 2, and Charles Grau of Bennington from District 6. Chris Millius of Jefferson county was elected a director from District 4. Directors who hold over are: H. L. Click, Chadron, District 1; George Larsen, Bostwick, District 3; Harry C. Parmenter, Yutan, District 5; J. D. Reynolds, Niobrara, District 7.

Other Resolutions

Other resolutions adopted by the convention favored:

Completion of the proposed farmers' union creamery at Norfolk within six months.

Retention of the building committee to push the erection of the proposed state headquarters building in Omaha. The fund now totals $14,245 and is in tact, none of the checks having been cashed.

Establishment of local junior organizations to teach farmers' children co-operative buying and marketing.

Repeal of the intangible tax law with no distinction in the classification of property.

Electoral of all county officers on a non-political ballot.

Recommendation of a state income tax.

Support of inland waterways development, including the Mississippi and Missouri river projects and the St. Lawrence waterway.

Recommendation of legislation giving the federal government ownership and control of the stock of the federal reserve banks and making members of the federal reserve board public officials responsible to congress for their official acts.

Recommendation for seating of the president, United States senators and representatives in January following election.

Opposition to "dollar-matching" with the federal government in road construction, which, it was said, "is poor business and leads to extravagance."

Opposition to the county unit plan of educational organization that includes discontinuance of the rural school district, and also to any law which weakens the present authority of school boards and tends to further centralization and standardization in education.

Approval of the federal inheritance tax.

Crist Anderson of Bristow was elected to represent the Nebraska Farmers' Union in dealings with the legislature.

The Farmers' Union Co-operative Insurance company re-elected all officers and directors. M. Witzenburg of Blue Springs is president.

A SHEEP'S HANDICAP

(A. B. Gilgillan, a Sheep Herder, in Atlantic Monthly)

There are so many ways in which sheep can and do die that it is a wonder any of them are left alive.

The most peculiar method of all is that called "dying on their backs." When horses or dogs roll, they either roll all the way over or roll back to the position from which they started; they are unable to balance themselves on their spine, as it were. But when a sheep rolls and reaches a position with its legs pointing upward has completed the work of the first it is often unable to complete the turn, especially if it has a heavy coat of wool, as is the case in spring.

The reason for this is that a sheep's legs, being very thin, are not able to exert any pull to one side or the other and thus aid the sheep in righting itself. Its only chance is to twist itself violently, in the hope that some movement may turn it on its side. If unsuccessful in this the unnatural position for some reason causes gas to collect in its body and it begins to bloat. Finally the pressure of this gas on its heart and lungs becomes so terrific that these organs cease to function. If the ewe is found at any time before life is extinct and is turned over on her stomach she will get up, stagger off and die, looking meanwhile like a misshapen balloon.

LABOR AND THE MACHINE

President Green, at the recent American Federation of Labor Convention in New Orleans, said: "One of the most important problems affecting labor today is the displacement of workmen by machines, by devices which automatically do the work once done by trained men."

The machines and the new processes of production need cause no hardship. It has been the common experience that labor-saving devices, by men thrown out of employment by

labor-saving machinery under these circumstances may suffer hardship,

not because of the labor-saving machine, but on account of the high cheapening the product, have opened more jobs than they have closed. It is the machine-using communities that have the highest standard of living.

But there is another force at work that tends to reduce wages and throw men out of employment, yet it is of such a subtle nature that the effects may be attributed to labor-saving machinery. That force is legal monopoly, particularly the monopoly of natural resources.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that vacant or unused land employs no labor and produces no wealth. Wherever the owner gets wealth from buying land and selling it at a higher price, it comes from the wealth produced by others.

Mere ownership of land, as ownership, does nothing for labor or for society. It is only the user of land who employs labor and benefits society. If, therefore, valuable lands be leased to industry, competition for those lands will force the rentals to the highest amount industry can pay and live.

The machines and the new processes of production need cause no hardship. It has been the common experience that labor-saving devices, by men thrown out of employment by

labor-saving machinery under these circumstances may suffer hardship,

not because of the labor-saving machine, but on account of the high speculative rents that prevent the starting of new industries.

It may be doubted if most labor leaders have given sufficient thought to this phase of the industrial problem. So occupied have they been fighting capital, and securing good wages and hours from employers that they have overlooked or failed to appreciate the fact that the land monopoly is preying upon both employer and employee, says Tax Facts.

The farmer seems perfectly willing to wait a bit and take his chance with Hoover and a new congress. Naturally, considering what Coolidge did for agriculturist.

The newspapers should not suffer for first page stuff for some time now. Congress and the inauguration are now on, with the Rockefellers, Stewart oil fight menging—and due to culminate March 7th. Then there will be the proposed extra session, and the lining up the new administration.

Congressman Howard has commended coinage, and has coined a new word—"betweeners" in writing of the heck of a time that Mr. Hoover is having at Washington just now in getting the decision of the fellows interested in the offices for the incoming administration. Mr. Hoover has a private room at the Mayflower, and also eleven other rooms in which may camp the waiting list, the stenographers and the grafters in general who have axes to grind. It would be fine to again have a president who had a backbone and used it. A Jackson, a Lincoln or a Cleveland.

An exchange has it figured out that "rust is costing the American farmer practically $150,000,000 annually." Well, don't the farmer have to keep the implement manufacturers busy? and they cannot wear it out fast enough, so they let it rust out. As individuals, they might save quite a part of that wad by giving their machinery proper housing and care. But the American farmer is often too busy to look after some of the small leeks. Then the tariff on lumber and other kinds of building material is rather discouraging to the fellow who has to pay it just to cover a bit of farm machinery.

National prohibition was nine years old last week, and no other youth of those tender years, we believe, has more crime to his credit or discredit than has this law. Lack of honest enforcement efforts and loopholes left open for big profits to the violators seem in a great measure responsible for the condition now existing. We hope the incoming administration will make some new rules and enforce them, and not leave any big distillers at the head of the enforcement of the law. Perhaps it has been handled as is was on the theory that it "takes a rogue to catch a rogue." If so, it does not appear to have worked very well. Better try the other kind of enforcement officials next.

Representative W. H. O'Gara of Cedar county is contributing his name as a member of the legislature to economies of the state. He has introduced two bills thus far. One is to make provision for having the state convicts get out where they will get exercise and fresh air, working on the public highways for better roads. Another bill provides that the state shall manufacture their auto license plates, in a factory properly fitted, and let the prisoners stamp and print and paint them. There is much opposition in some parts to having anything done by prison labor because it makes the convict compete with free labor. But so long as the state has to board and clothe them, we can see nothing very wrong about having them work for the state. There is plenty of work for all—if we can keep taxes down so that we have anything left to pay labor.

Representative George W. O'Malley of Greeley, minority leader, presided over the house at its first session in committee of the whole today and certified the first bill formally approved by that body for passage.

The measure, House Roll No. 3, by Representatives Max Kier and Rollin Van Kirk, both of Lincoln, provides a means of getting legal service on nonresidents of Nebraska in damage suits brought against them within the state, for injury to persons or property received while operating motor vehicles upon Nebraska highways.

Minority Leader Applauded

As a personal and political courtesy Speaker Ben R. Coulter called Mr. O'Malley to the chair after the house voted to go into informal session for consideration of the bill. The members applauded generously when Mr. O'Malley took the gavel.

The measure had been reported out by the Judiciary committee as the first and only bill on the house calendar.

Things started off in a lively fashion with an amendment by Representative Tremor Cone of Benson, designating "the man in the moon," instead of the secretary of state, as the legal agent of nonresidents upon whom suit papers might be filed.

Representative L. H. Aurand of Chapman, promptly countered with a suggestion that Mr. Cone's amendment be referred to the "committee on baled hay."

Serious Action Follows

Both suggestions were ruled out of order and the bill was taken up in the regular way. Mr. Cone moved that it be indefinitely postponed and Representative Kier, chairman of the judiciary committee, offered as a substitute motion that the measure be advanced for third reading.

In explaining the bill, Mr. Kier said its purpose was to protect citizens of Nebraska from reckless or drunken drivers of automobiles coming in from other states, by saving them the trouble and expense of going to the state where such drivers reside to sue for damages on account of injury or damage inflicted by the latter through improper operation of their cars.

The first intangible tax law bill has been presented to the legislative body at Lincoln, fathered by Representative G. R. Curry of Holbrook and Geo. M. Story of Plainview. It provides that an 8-mill tax shall be levied on that class of property now listed as intangible, and would leave bank stocks as at present—but we did notice that any reason is given why an obligation to pay that is 100 percent good, as they always aim to make them, should be taxed differently from farm property or other evidence of wealth.

What Nebraska and western Iowa and the Dakotas and Wyoming and the states beyond have to do is to put on their fighting clothes for the upper Missouri—for its opening not 10 years hence, or 15, but as rapidly as money and engineering skill can bring it about. Further delay can represent only inexcusable neglect.

WITH THE LEGISLATURE

The Legislature is now reported to be getting down to active work, and hope to make the bills go thru at a rapid rate.

The fight against confirming a Weaver appointment—one Mr. Pollard, was almost a fizzle; but one vote being cast at the joint session against confirming the appointment made by the governor.

Several bank bills have been filed, but it is most too soon to tell just what will happen to them.

There is a bill to levy a luxury tax and it defines as luxury some things that appear almost a necessity to some. In fact, there are many measures being introduced, and perhaps some of them may have real merit.

Nebraska is truly in the swim so far as being in fashion is concerned. It has a seat in the legislature contested. The count in the senatorial district composed of Seward and Saline counties, in which Andy L. Welch of Milford was declared the winner by the margin of three votes. Chas. Meacham, the republican candidate

CANALIZING THE OHIO

(World-Herald)

How many Missouri valley people realize that the Ohio river, by next year, will be canalized from Pittsburgh to its mouth, with a great series of dams and locks assuring a minimum channel of eight feet of water the year round, immune to interruptions of river traffic?

An article in the Cincinnati Enquirer says:

"Acknowledgment has been received from President-elect Hoover by the Louisville & Cincinnati Packet company of an invitation sent him immediately after his election placing the steamer Cincinnati at his disposal for the proposed 'dedication of the lock and dam system of the Ohio river, which is expected to be completed next fall, and will be opened formally in a celebration under the auspices of the Ohio Valley Improvement association.

"It is expected that Mr. Hoover will board the Cincinnati at Pittsburgh for the triumphal cruise down the Ohio river to Cairo, Illinois, passing through the 50 odd locks which constitute the largest canalization project in the world, and will make the Ohio river navigable for its entire length all the year round. As the largest and best equipped passenger steamer on western rivers, the Cincinnati has been chosen as flagship of the steamboat parade which will mark the completion of this gigantic engineering project, which is expected to do so much to improve shipping conditions in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys."

They haven't made much noise about it, these Ohio river people. They have just plugged steadily along, digging funds out of the federal treasury to be spent on their great waterway to improve it and put it to work for the benefit of the vast territory it drains. They have got the money so quietly, with so little squawking, that the rest of us have hardly been aware of it.

And now Pittsburgh and Cincinnati and Louisville and other industrial points will presently be shipping and receiving goods by water all the way to the Gulf and by water from the Gulf to Europe, the Orient, South America and all ports of the world. The advantage to these cities and their hinterland, to agriculture, as well as industry, will be enormous.

While this great achievement has been carried forward—this "gigantic engineering project" which will constitute "the largest canalization project in the world"—we on the western side of the Mississippi have, until very recently, been disputing among ourselves as to whether waterways are really feasible—really necessary or desirable!

We, too, have a great and rich territory, with a great river available for its service if only, like the Ohio, it is made ready for its task. And more than Pennsylvania, more than Ohio and Kentucky, we need waterway service, because our location in the heart of the continent imposes on us the longest haul to and from market and the highest freight rates endured by any similar productive and civilized section in the whole world.

The Ohio river, for the benefit of the eastern central states, has beaten the Missouri to it. The Boulder dam project, largely for California's benefit, has beaten the Missouri to it. These improvements represent a very much larger expenditure of money than the harnessing of the Missouri will cost, and have been ordered to serve a need less pressing than ours.

Largely it has been our own fault. We have been indifferent to our opportunities, and blind to our own needs. But the condition has changed. Indifference has been displaced by activity and eyes that were blinded are opening to clear vision. As a result, probably within two years, the Missouri will be opened to navigation from its mouth to Kansas City. That, however, will represent only a half, or less than half, of what is required.

The opening of the upper river is equally feasible and quite as necessary. And it is proceeding at a laggard pace. The upper river section too needs water transportation to increase the net returns of its farmers, to build up its industries and to lighten the burden upon its consumers. Its only early chance for freight rate relief lies down the channels of the great rivers that connect it with the waterways of the world, and that today are blocked against it.

What Nebraska and western Iowa and the Dakotas and Wyoming and the states beyond have to do is to put on their fighting clothes for the upper Missouri—for its opening not 10 years hence, or 15, but as rapidly as money and engineering skill can bring it about. Further delay can represent only inexcusable neglect.

POULTRY

Less than fifty years ago, in 1880 to be exact, there were at the time the federal census was taken, about 120,000,000 fowls in this country.

Forty years later, in 1920, the same census authority reports a trebling of this number; and in 1925 the latest year for which figures are available, this had been increased to over 400,000,000. These figures represent the actual number of breeding and laying stock on farms at the time the census was taken. When consideration is given to the fact that a great many fowls are sold during the year, estimates by reliable authorities based on

Who said anything about the weather? Several have been commenting on the variations in temperature from day to day, and wonder how the chief weather clerk can run the mercury up and down so quickly. One day it is thawing quite freely, and the next morning it is below the zero mark, and then it comes back again almost as quickly. One of the good things in the opinion of many is the fact that but little snow or rain has come to this community.

The Telephone Almanac, gotten out and distributed by the Bell system has made its appearance. It follows the old style of an almanac in many ways, giving each month some of the event of national importance, and the year when it happened. It will be a good thing to file away for references as to many historical events and the birth date of many persons who have made their mark in the world during their brief stay on earth.

ROAD GRAVELING PROGRAM

The road improvement plans for 1929 in Nebraska are progressive—and the report as given out, includes many miles of gravel, and the northeast corner of the state is slated for a considerable increase in the gravelled road.

As listed, beginning close to home, the Grainland highway from Norfolk to Sioux City—a part of which traverses this county of Wayne from the west line near Hoskins, to the exit near Wakefield is on the list for gravel. First from the county line on the west to Winside, thence east to the Sunshine highway three miles south of Wayne, where it uses about five miles of the gravelled roadway thru this place. Then, where the Grainland turns east, two miles north of Wayne, the report has it mapped for gravel on toward Sioux City.

On Highway No. 20 west from South Sioux City third Allen, Laurel, Bel- den, Randolph and Osmund is to be graded and proper culverts put in making ready for gravel until its junction with the Meridian highway north and south. Stretches of this highway may be given a coat of gravel—but not all of it will be finished Highway 20 is planned to extend from Boston on the east coast to some point on the Pacific coast.

Heavy grading is planned for the vicinity of Plainview, to be followed by graveling later. The Newman Grove Madison stretch of highway is also slated for gravel. Gravel between Pender and Emerson is among the possibilities, and also south from Pilger on the Sunshine line. The bridge being constructed over the Elk-horn south of Norfolk is to be finished this season, and before 1930 rings in, if all goes as planned, there will be many miles of roads in this corner of the state that may be traveled in any kind of weather. The only check on good road from now on must come only thru the perfection of air travel that is safe and common. And one citizen was predicting that to happen within a very few years, but he thought he was just joking. But stranger things have happened in ten short years.

The Kellogg pact has been passed by the senate, with only a reservation which will give us the right to fight in self defense, as we understand the terms agreed to. It is a fine thing for a great Christian nation to have its great deliberative legislative body endorse such a Christian ideal as the outlawing of war. While we are proud of the action, we are ashamed that it was so long delayed. It is more than eight years since the rejection of the ideal broke the heart of President Wilson.

Now from this good act for peace the senate is turning to consider the expenditure of many millions for a fleet of fighting cruisers. Don't they think the pact will stand unless supported by a great fleet? And had they considered that an air ship costing but a few thousand dollars can and may knock out a million dollar cruiser and do it in an instant?

A KICK KOLUMN

It frequently happens that private citizens and public servants feel that the public would be benefited if they made a public remonstrance to a practice which they deem not the best. One citizen is hardly to be expected to be a patron of the home-talent play for which an hundred of our citizens, old and young are practicing. Why? is naturally asked. The freedom for which they are posting advertising, with seeming disregard for the rights of property owners. This citizen drives a pretty good car—new not many months ago, and when he came to where he had parked it to drive it home, he found a sticker on the windshield, and as he is not supposed to be carrying advertising on his car front, he took considerable pains to get warm water and soak it off and wash the glass—but a day or two later he found the same kind of a sticker stuck where the other one had been, and he was justly vexed at the liberty taken with his car. Naturally, we feel that a home newspaper is the best place to advertise.

One of the firemen, whose lot is frequently to drive the fire-truck expresses the opinion that there is an element of danger to car owners as well as the firemen in the manner in which so many people jump into their fire and follow or precede the fire-truck when it is called for real business. They do not go to help, and are often a hindrance. The incident which caused this little story was at a recent fire in the north part of town—not much of a fire, but a lot of spectators. The truck, going at full speed ahead is not easy to stop within its length, nor is it always easy or safe to turn from its course. Yet that was what this driver had to do to avoid smashing up a small car, and perhaps the firetruck and the firemen. While he made the miss of the car, it made his hair stand on end for the passing moment, for it was one of those times when only quick action could save the situation with credit to all. So, in the name of the firefighters he hoped that we would suggest that it is up to the spectators at a fire to keep in the clear. A lot of the people here are not city broke. In a city, when the fire alarm sounds, and the trucks come howling down the street, every car or team hugs the curb as closely as possible, and traffic practically all stops until the fire wagons have passed—and this firefighter would rather that the careless get their lesson in caution and the rights of a firetruck answering call from the Democrat than in a wreck and a damage suit. In case the city property or servants in the path of duty are injured. Besides, the average car might damage a heavy fire truck or upset it—but what would the car or the driver look like?

In case of an automobile wreck, who should speak first and should the man precede the lady through the windshield.—Awgwan.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

SHALL WE?

Over at Fremont they are already planning for a celebration July 4th, at that town. By the way, Wayne might begin to think of such an entertainment. It is several years since the day was observed here with a celebration, and last year there were some who felt the patriotic impulse to ring the "starry banner out and shout." If such a plan is undertaken, it should be remembered that it is the early bird that catches the early worm.

By the way, it seems that the citizens generally rather look to the Legion boys to take the initiative in a celebration move, for they have made real successes and great events for the community in other years when they have sponsored the celebrations.

But if they do take a lead in the matter they should have the hearty co-operation of every one in the community.

A WOMAN'S SONG

(Mary Carolyn Davis in the Saturday Evening Post)

A house to clean and a man to scold,
And a warm, little sleeping babe to hold;

What does a woman want but this—
A house and a man, and a child to kiss!

A cake to bake and a floor to sweep,
And a tired little child to sing asleep,

And a man to welcome when work is past—

These are the things whose lure will last.

A vote and a job? Oh, I suppose

That there are women who yearn for those,

Who'd rather be foot-loose, gay and free,

But—a house and a child and a man, for me!

For a house, I'll choose this house to keep

To scrub and dust and paint and sweep;

For the child, our own Elizabeth Ann;

And silent, awkward you for the man!

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

DRESSING UP

Off went the Gnomes to get their sleds, while the Brownies began coasting down the hill to make it good and baird.

When it was all ready, back came the Gnomes with their sleds. They were new sleds they had been given for Christmas, and on each one was written:

"Gnome's Flyer."

"What beautiful sleds you have," said the Brownies admiringly.

"Yes," said the

Brownies Began Gnomes, "the Fairy Queen gave them to us for Christmas."

"How good of her!" exclaimed Billie Brownie. "She gave all of us the most wonderful skates."

"Can you skate?" asked Peter Gnome, looking as though his eyes would pop out of his head.

"Of course! You know we skate! You shouldn't ask that question," laughed Billie Brownie.

"We can skate—and we can also fall down."

"We're going to try this winter to learn to skate as much as we fall down."

"At present we fall down better than we skate. But we love it just the same."

"Then," said Peter Gnome, "we'll give a skating party tomorrow night, or perhaps the next night—the first one when it is clear and cold and the Moon is up."

"And let's ask the Fairies, too, shall we?"

"Oh, yes," said Billie Brownie, "and we'll try to show off and do some tricks for the Fairy Queen."

"If I were you," said Peter Gnome, "I wouldn't try too many tricks, but just try to keep your balance and not trip over."

"Good advice," said Billie Brownie, "we'll try to take it."

But just at that moment Mr. Moon began to grow impatient.

"Aren't you ever going to stop talking?" he asked. "You can talk just as well in the dark, and here I am giving you all the light I can—for the skating party."

"We'll go off right away," said one of the Gnomes.

They all began piling on their sleds. Sometimes they put the sleds together and a great many went down at a time.

Usually the last sled upturned, but that only added to the fun.

Mr. Moon grunted, and said:

"This is the way I like to spend a winter's night. I so enjoy a party."

"Then," said Peter Gnome, "will you come to our skating party which we are going to give for the Fairy Queen and the other Fairies, and at which the Brownies are going to do some special stunts?"

"Indeed, I'll come, with pleasure," said Mr. Moon, smiling broadly. "I'm glad this is to be a gay week. I like it gay when I dress up and wear my best suit and look well and round and fat."

"So you like to dress up for parties, eh?" asked Peter Gnome.

"Yes," said Mr. Moon, "I love it. I like to look well, and as a matter of fact, I do look pretty well most of the time."

"Even if my shape is only half this size, it's interesting, and when I'm a crescent shape I'm quite beautiful."

The Brownies and Gnomes laughed, for Mr. Moon was so happy he kept boasting about himself all the evening.

He talked of his dressing up—his colors, clouds, shadows, shapes.

And all the time the Brownies and Gnomes coasted down the smooth snow-hill, while a little later they had their skating party which was such fun even though there were many, many tumblers.

But, oh, how Mr. Moon did enjoy his evening. He didn't know when he had enjoyed an evening so much, and he was glad he looked bright and dressed up for the festivities.

In Doubt.

"The teacher told me not to come back to school if I failed to know my lesson," said the small boy.

"I hope you regard that as a punishment."

"I'm not sure whether it is a punishment or an inducement."

Just on Surface.

Mother—No, dear, you mustn't eat any candy today. Don't you know it is bad for your complexion?

Daughter—Well, I know it makes my complexion awful sticky, but it washes off.—Pathfinder.

Wait and See

"I hear you are not going to marry Mr. Newcomer after all. Why is that?"

"Oh, father thinks his position isn't good enough and mother thinks he is too old for me. My aunts think he is too good-looking to make a satisfactory husband, and my Uncle Jim says he has heard rumors about him. My cousins tell me he is a flirt, and I—"

"Yes, and you—what do you think about it all?"

"Oh, I think I ought to wait until he asks me."

Seven Sleepers' Legend

The Seven Sleepers were the heroes of an ancient legend. It is supposed that during the persecution of the Christians, about 250 A. D., these seven Christian brothers of Ephesus took refuge in a cave. Their retreat was discovered and the mouth of the cave was walled up. Two hundred years later the cave was accidentally opened and the men emerged, having slept through the centuries as though but a single night. They found the Christian religion accepted in the city, where they were honored and feted, and where all of them died on the same day.

Seeds Long Retained

Experiments made at Giant forest, Sequoia National park, have shown that the California Big Tree or Sequoia gigantea sometimes retains its cones for 16 years before they drop and discharge their seed contents.

The seeds are preserved from weather and fungi by a powdery pigment which gives them a waterproof and germproof gloss. This pigment when dissolved in water makes a good writing fluid or furniture stain of a rich maroon color—Kansan City Star Science Service.

Human Life Expended

to Produce Fine Lace

Almost every country in Europe knows something of the delicate art of lace making. Egypt also knew it, and other peoples of the Orient. Italy was probably the first to make the almost priceless needle-point, from flax thread so carefully spun that an ounce is worth $2,000. Of the same thread, though less fine in texture, was made the beautiful Valenciennes lace so greatly prized by Marie Antoinette and her "highborn milkmaids." The finest needle-point is done with a thread of cobweb thinness, the pattern drawn on parchment. Finest laces are still made in damp underground rooms, to preserve the thread, only one ray of light being admitted, to fall directly upon the work. Among the church treasures of France and Italy are beautiful altar cloths and other laces, which the visitor is often told are the work of nuns and devoted women who plied their needles in dark and dampness underground until they became blind or died of consumption or some kindred disease.

Irish crochet is made under more cheerful circumstances, by peasants sitting at their cottage doors. The work is done with very fine hooks and hard-twisted cotton thread over a design drawn on cambric, the figures basted on and crocheted round.

Building America

America would have been discovered had there been no Columbus; but there could have been no United States had it not been for the tens of thousands of peasants, artisans, merchants, sailors and adventurers—common men and women—who braved the danger of long ocean voyages, cut down the forests, cleared the land, built the towns, drove back the Indians, and pushed the line of peaceful homesteads across the American continent until it touched the Pacific ocean. Charles A. Beard.

Australian Emblems

The Australian flag is a blue ensign, the description of which is as follows: The Union Jack in the top left-hand corner; in the center of the lower canton next the staff and pointing direct to the center of the St. George's cross in the Union Jack, a white seven-pointed star (representing the six states and the territories of the commonwealth); in the fly, five smaller white stars, representing the Southern cross. A red flag, carrying the same markings, is used by the Australian merchant shipping.

Sweden in History

The place names of Sweden, many dating as far back as the Bronze age, and from viking times, are now being specially studied and it is expected that much light will be thrown upon many linguistic and historical problems in other parts of Europe, as the population of Sweden has remained practically homogeneous for thousands of years. The language spoken has always been Swedish, although Swedish literature cannot be said to have existed earlier than the Thirteenth century.

Japanese Art

One of the most famous pictures of Japan, now in the royal palace at Tokyo, is made up of four panels, three of which are blank. The fourth depicts a crow in flight just disappearing over the horizon. The painting was made at the command of a former emperor, and is considered a masterpiece, following the imaginative Japanese school of art in composition and movement. The single crow represents the last of a flock flying in a direction away from the center of the picture.

Milky Way

The most stupendous of all celestial objects is the Galaxy, more commonly known as the Milky Way. In fact it is our whole universe, or which the sun with all its attendant family of planets, including asteroids and satellites, as well as comets, forms a very humble member. Its appearance as a dim white band crossing the heavens is merely a matter of perspective; that band marks simply the plane of greatest extension of the Milky Way—the direction in which the stars, in reality fairly uniformly distributed, appear congested by the effect of distance. Many of these stars are immensely brighter than the sun.

You now can do all your farming with mechanical power—plowing, planting, cultivating, disking—all field work, all belt work, including jobs requiring power take-off service. All these operations are accomplished quickly, economically and efficiently with the John Deere General Purpose Farm Tractor.

The GP is a tractor of standard, conventional design, light in weight, but remarkably powerful. It does high-grade work on any farm job within its power range.

Here's the John Deere GP Tractor with planting attachment. One man can plant from 30 to 40 acres per day with this three-row outfit. Planter attaches to tractor to form a single unit, saving time at turns. Also makes possible closer planting to the fence or end of field. No levers to operate—power lift raises and lowers planter.
