CARROLL BANKER DIES AT NORFOLK

August Huwaldt, 75, Early Pioneer of Cedar and Wayne Counties Dies Suddenly.

WAS AN EARLY HOMESTEADER

August Huwaldt, 75, one of the first homesteaders of Cedar county, vice president of the Carroll National bank and member of the board of directors of the Security National bank of Randolph died suddenly from heart trouble at his home in Norfolk, where he had lived since 1926, early Sunday.

Huwaldt came to Nebraska when a boy, and homesteaded in Cedar county as soon as he became of age. For many years he lived in a sod house, experiencing the difficulties of the earliest pioneers. He became one of the most extensive owners of real estate in the Randolph territory and at one time held 1,300 acres on which most of his ten children are now living. One son, Edward, is cashier of the Carroll bank.

Funeral services were held at Randolph, where he lived many years, yesterday.

CHANGE IN TRAIN SERVICE NOW BEING CONSIDERED

Wednesday Superintendent E. C. Blundell of the "Omaha" branches of the Northwestern railway, was here on his way to visit Bloomfield and other towns along that line. Doubtless he will or has been visiting the stations along the line from Wahoo to Crofton.

According to our informant, the mission of the superintendent at this time is to learn whether or not the patrons of the branch would consider with favor a change of train time, similar to the schedule of several years ago, before the morning train from the branch was taken out of the running.

If found agreeable to the patrons, we are told, the morning train from Bloomfield may be restored, on practically the old time, coming to Wayne, and returning after the arrival of the trains from Sioux City and Omaha. The afternoon train now due here at about 1:30 to run on much the same time card.

Here are some of the advantages to the public, as presented to the editor. An early morning train making it possible for those who must visit the cities of Omaha and Sioux City to make the trip in the morning—and for a short stay at Omaha, and a bit longer one at Sioux City may return home the same day, where necessary.

People from up the branch line who come to Wayne may thus have two opportunities to come and return the same day.

Since Wayne is showing such activity as a trade center that it doubtless will be advantageous to both the Wayne merchant and those who in increasing numbers are coming to Wayne for their shopping to come by train, especially in winter or bad road times rather than by auto or bus; if they may make the trip so as to have more time here.

But the big item is the stock shipments, said our informant, and it is quite evident that their wishes will have more weight than other interests, because they have the greater volume of business. It was explained, that with the change now being considered the stock shipments to the east will have a better connection to Chicago leaving here in the afternoon and connecting at Blair with fast thru stock trains, rather than by Sioux City way as much stock is now sent.

UNDERGOES APPENDIX OPERATION LAST THURSDAY

Last Thursday Mrs. Art Likes accompanied her son Kenneth to Sioux City, where the young man entered the Methodist hospital for an appendix operation, which his local physician had said was needed, if the patient was to be speedily restored to health. Upon arrival at the city, the decree was that the sooner the operation was done, the better, and so the work was done that evening. Mrs. Likes returned home Monday evening, and reports that the son had come out of the operating room in good shape, and had continued to show improvement day by day. He is hoping to be able to return home within the next ten days.

H. A. WELCH ADDRESSES WISNER LEGIONNAIRES

A plea for those for whom the war has not yet ended—the disabled—was made by H. A. Welch, commander of the Wayne post and state executive committee member, at a membership rally in Wisner last Thursday night.

In asking for a strong membership Mr. Welch declared that the worthy causes for which the World veterans are fighting deserve a united support which can be made effective only through the prestige a large membership affords.

Caring for the disabled, he defined as the first duty of the Legion. The Wisner post has already passed the 1928 quota.

Mr. Welch was accompanied by P. F. Jacobs and A. W. Christensen and all enjoyed the experience. The auxiliary served dinner and a dance followed the program.

MRS. WM. BLECKE PASSES FRIDAY

Resident of County Since 1890 Passes at Home of Her Daughter Mrs. Geo. Harder.

Mrs. Wilhelmine Karoline Blecke, widow of Wm. Blecke who died in 1905, passed at the home of her daughter Mrs. George Harder Friday, following a lingering illness which became serious only recently.

Neen Thun was born February 6, 1864, on Tetzetz Island, Ruegen Germany. With her parents she emigrated to Omaha, Nebraska, in 1882 and in 1884 she was married to Wm. Blecke with whom she came to Wayne county in 1890. She and her family lived on a farm north of Wayne until 1905 when her husband died, following which she came to Wayne.

During the past 14 years she had lived with Mrs. Harder, being nearly sixty-five years old when death summoned her.

She was a faithful member of the Evangelical Lutheran church and an active member of the Ladies' Aid of that church. She experienced many hardships during her life, and was always a faithful worker and good mother.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. George Harder and one son Wm. Blecke, five grandchildren and three brothers, August, Carl and Ferdinand Thun. A host of friends and other relatives also mourn her death.

Funeral services were held from the Evangelical church Sunday afternoon and burial was in the Greenwood cemetery, with Rev. Teckhaus in charge of the final rites.

HORRELL UNDERGOES OPERATION

About three weeks ago, W. E. Horrell from this place, was sent to the Battle Mountain Sanitarium, at Hot Springs, South Dakota, for care and treatment, at that institution for those who served their government in war.

Horrell is a World War veteran, who has been in poor health since his discharge from service, having suffered from gas and other hazards of war.

Word has been received here by his family stating that he had underwent an appendix operation at the home, and also treatment for rupture. It developed during his operation that the appendix was not in its normal position, but was found in the back of the abdominal cavity, grown fast near the back bone.

His folks after learning of his passing the ordeal, and rallying, are hopeful that he may be restored to normal health again, after ten years of suffering and failing health.

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR VETS WILL MEET IN OMAHA

Wm. Assenheimer, veteran of the Spanish American war, is in receipt of an invitation, signed by "The Committee In The Hole" inviting him to attend the 30th annual convention of the Nebraska regiment survivors, which will be held in Omaha February 2 to 4 inclusive.

Three big days are assured according to the announcement, and Mr. Assenheimer plans to join his army of buddies if he can arrange to get away.

Wayne Kiwanians Entertain 52 Farmer Guests at Special Meeting Monday Noon

C. Y. Thompson, West Point, Talks on Swine Production at Special Meeting Monday.

SECOND OF SERIES BEING HELD

A control of the production of hogs was urged as a means of eliminating the congestion of markets and a solution to the low prevailing prices experienced during recent years, by C. Y. Thompson, Cuming county farmer and Nebraska representative of the National Swine Producers Association who addressed the Kiwanians and 52 farmer guests here Monday, at a dinner program.

Explaining the finding of the national meeting of the Association's representatives, recently held in Chicago, Mr. Thompson went into detail to show how hog raisers are getting less money for their hogs than they would for a number that could be handled without a market congestion. The surplus production he estimated has reduced the prices about four cents per pound, which would indicate that six million hogs really net the producers one million dollars less than five million would. He estimated the overproduction to be about 20 percent.

Fifty-two farmers of this vicinity were guests of the local club at the special meeting, which is the second of a series they are sponsoring, and was held at the Hotel Stratton dining room.

WAYNE BAND PROGRAM TO BE BROADCAST 2:45 SUNDAY

The Wayne Band program will be broadcast from the Norfolk sending station beginning at 2:45 p. m. Sunday, and all who are interested in hearing the local talent can listen to them at that time, it is announced.

A fine program has been prepared for the occasion, it is said, and is referred to as one radio listeners will enjoy. A number of concert selections will be given. The entertainment will last one and one-half hours.

TORCH IS BLAMED FOR $1,000 LOSS

Kate Baker Home Practically Total Loss, Result of Fire Started by Torch.

Fire, said to have been started by sparks from a torch used to thaw out frozen pipes, caused practically a total loss of the Kate Baker home on Nebraska street, Tuesday.

The fire apparently started in the basement and had gained such headway before it was discovered that firemen were unable to check the blaze and the house was practically razed.

When firemen arrived flames were leaping up the walls and with great difficulty they removed practically all the furniture, confining the loss to the home, which was partially covered by insurance.

Miss Baker, who is employed in the Ahern Store, had no fires in any of the stoves, and reported that she sent plumbers to the home early in the morning to thaw out frozen pipes, and it is believed sparks from torches used for this purpose ignited the dry timber, the loss resulting.

DRAWS HEAVY PENALTY FOR LIQUOR OFFENSE

Two Wayne men were arraigned in county court Tuesday and each found guilty of various offenses following a hearing.

John Harder, who is believed to be merely a "Go-between" for a Norfolk gang, got off with a $500 fine and a mere sentence of sixty days tacked on for good measure. He was charged with three sales and other violations.

John Roberts, charged with intoxication and illegal possession was fined $100 and given a thirty day sentence, but paroled on good behavior.

TO BOARD WITH STATE

Lambert Clausen of Norfolk, known also as "Cyclone Taylor" was sentenced to 18 months at the penitentiary when he plead guilty to stealing a car at Humphrey, this week. His brother Leonard was charged also with a part in the crime, but claims to be innocent. His bond was placed at $2,500 at Columbus this week.

STERLING PIONEER DIES HERE SUNDAY

Jacob S. Welsh, Father of Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, passed Sunday following Lingering Illness.

BODY TAKEN TO FORMER HOME

Jacob S. Welsh, 82 year old pioneer of Sterling who repeatedly was refused admittance to the Union army during the Civil war because of his age, passed at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, Sunday following a lingering illness from which he suffered about four years.

When a boy he served as an apprentice to a cabinet maker, but returned to his home to care for his family during the Civil war while three brothers were in service. He was refused admittance because of his youth.

Following the war he worked in the P. H. Marsh factories as a cabinet maker and machinist. In 1873 he came west employed as a foreman of bridge construction for a railroad.

In 1877 he returned to Mt. Joy, Pennsylvania, the place of his birth, where he was married to Sarah F. Carpenter, April 19, of that year. Both he and his wife were children of Methodist ministers.

Following a few years with his previous employers, the Marsh Company, with his family he came west and entered the undertaking business at Maryetta, Missouri, making caskets.

Because of Mrs. Welsh's poor health they moved to Johnson county where he lived until ten years ago. His wife died in 1903.

He was one of the early pioneers of that territory and as a carpenter and contractor had much to do with the early building of Sterling, where he became very well known.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. S. A. Lutgen of Wayne, Mrs. J. H. Case of Portland, Oregon, and four grandchildren, Joe Lutgen of Wayne and three Case children.

Funeral services were held at Sterling Tuesday.

WORLD WAR VETS MEET HERE TUES.

Arrangements for District Convention Completed at Special Meeting Last Night.

Plans for entertaining American Legion post delegates who will convene here Tuesday were completed at a special meeting of the Wayne post last night.

Details for entertaining the visitors and an outline of the scheduled business sessions were discussed and committees appointed to handle various matters.

Wayne merchants will be urged to display the national banner in front of their places of business during the day in welcoming the guests from 27 towns of seven counties of this corner of the state.

An army luncheon will be served at noon to which all Veterans are invited and a banquet will be given at the Hotel Stratton at seven in the evening, following which the members will adjourn to the Legion parlors for a social evening.

The afternoon will be devoted to business sessions at which state officers will preside.

Special music and entertainment will be provided for the banquet and other functions of the day.

Announcement of the division of the Nebraska State High School Debating League into 14 districts and the district directors of each group was made from the office of the president of the league, Prof. H. A. White, Instructor in English and debate at the University of Nebraska. Total membership of the league is 89.

Debating teams of each district will meet each other, and the winner of the district championship will compete for the state championship in Lincoln at the University of Nebraska. The date for the state championship has not yet been definitely set, but will be either the third or fourth week in April.

Second North Central district: Hartington, Meadow Grove, Newcastle, Norfolk, Pierce, Royal, Wakefield, Wausa, and Wayne. Director: Professor Maynard, Wayne.

CORBIN KOPP IS CALLED BY DEATH

Resident of Wayne Since 1906 Passes at His Home Following Lingering Illness.

Corbin Sylvester Kopp, a resident of Wayne since 1906, passed away at his home in this city after two months illness from a complication of ailments, due in part to his age, Monday afternoon, January 28, 1929, at the age of 64 years, 8 months and 13 days.

Decceased was born near Keota, Iowa, May 5, 1864, his parents being Sylvester Kopp and wife. Spending his boyhood days in Iowa, he came to Nebraska, and here was united in marriage November 13, 1891, at Elton, Custer county, to Anna Louisa Parkhurst, who survives him. They lived for a time at Broken Bow before moving to Wayne, in 1906. He is also survived by sons and daughters: Mrs. Mamie James of Pierce, Mrs. Ethel Milliken of Randolph, Claude of Emerson, Mrs. Viola Whorton of Brooklyn, Montana, and Venita, Calvin and Maurice at home. Mrs. Myrtle Long and Edith, were called by death before the father was taken. Two brothers also survive him, William and Fred Kopp of Putnam, Oklahoma, besides a number of nephews and nieces.

Mr. Kopp was for a number of years affiliated with the Baptist church of this place, a faithful member; and the funeral service will be held from that church this afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. C. Downing, and interment in Greenwood cemetery.

MRS. ANN MCQUISTAN PASSES AWAY TUESDAY

Mrs. Ann McQuistan passed away at the home of her son, Robert McQuistan, after a short illness. Death was due to a mastoid coupled with her advanced age. Mrs. McQuistan was nearly 82 years of age. A complete obituary will be published next week.

The above is from the Bloomfield Monitor, and the deceased is mother of Mrs. J. C. Baker, northeast of Wayne, where Mrs. McQuistan frequently visited.

ROBINSON-ATTEBERRY

At Yankton, South Dakota, Saturday, January 12, 1929, Mr. Bilse Robinson of Randolph and Miss Neva Atteberry, formerly of Atkinson, were united in marriage. The groom is well known at Wayne, where he attended the college for several school years, and he is now principal of the Junior High at Albion. Miss Atteberry has been a student at the normal the past semester, after several years of successful teaching at Inman and other places.

Their announcement of marriage coming at the close of the semester, was a complete surprise to most of their friends. They went at once following the announcement to Albion where the groom has a house rented and partly furnished and began life at home. Many friends congratulated them.

The report is that the proxie war has been won by Rockefeller over Stewart in the battle for control of the Standard Oil of Indiana. At any rate it seems to have been a real fight of dollars for control. Of course, the Stewart opponents are not admitting defeat of their gang.

The proposal is now pending to add 700 more miles to the good road plan of the last legislature, and thus make the cost correspondingly higher. The objection, if any, is not likely to come from the parts of the state that the added miles may go to—but some others may boller.

Former Senator Underwood from Alabama, passed away last week, and his funeral service was held from his home city, Birmingham, Sunday. He was for many years a member of congress, first in the house and later in the senate, for which office he declined to run at the expiration of his term. He became nationally known, and was mentioned on different years as a strong candidate for the democratic nominee.

B. F. Banks of Wausa, says the Gazette, has purchased a quarter section of land adjoining a quarter already owned. The price reported was $17,000. His purchase is known in that place as the P. O. Linberg quarter and is north of the town. Mr. Banks was representative from that county about 14 years ago, and in those days was well acquainted at Wayne, when a daughter or two attended the normal here. By the way, we are not sure that Mr. Banks was not a member of the legislature which decided that Wayne was the proper place for the school. That was a year or more before the Democrat proprietors located at Wayne.

Lost, Strayed or Delayed—A much-needed January thaw. It has not only seemed to miss the great west, but the middle west—for the Ohio river has not been heard from with the usual flood condition from the melting snows of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The flood should have been turned on several weeks ago.

Andrew Stamm attended the pavilion stock sales at Norfolk the last of the week, and intimated that he might buy some stock hogs if any were offered, at a reasonable price. Mr. Stamm raised some 50 bushel an acre corn that he wants to feed up.

It was busy school days here thirty years ago, according to the report in the Republican, one of the local papers of those other days as reported in the Norfolk News column of three decades back. The Republican in acknowledging the receipt of an invitation for the school to take a part in a high school contest at Norfolk in April, says it is that the invitation will not be accepted, as too much time had already been lost, and none of the pupils feel that they can spare time to prepare for it.

Calf clubs are beginning to get started for the 1929 year. The calf and pig clubs have in the past few years done more than any other one thing, we believe to make the young farm folks interested and contented with farm work and farm life. Wm. Hawkins has taken an active part in establishing and perpetuating the clubs in this vicinity. It is a work that is frequently looked after by a county agent, but we believe that no club has had a more efficient leader than Dr. Hawkins has given the Wayne county clubs.

In accordance with a plan instituted by Governor Donahoe, the state of Ohio will erect nineteen white crosses near the spot where nineteen lives were lost in a collision of a bus with a trolley car. Hundreds of these crosses, marking the location of fatal motor accidents, have been erected in Ohio. The intention of the crosses was to caution drivers with these silent warnings. The plan has worked only too well. Tourists report that the crosses that line the main highways are so depressing that they are glad to get into another state where these grim reminders are not to be seen.

The Baptist ladies will hold a food sale at Denbeck's meat market Saturday afternoon, February 2.—adv.

Over in Montgomery county, Iowa, a genius in crime named C. E. Dotson was having a great sale of pumpkins on the streets of Villisca and Elliott, a search of his cargo developed the fact that he had plugged the fruit of the pumpkin vine and removed the seed and inserted a pint bottle of the extract from the corn stalk, and they sold like "hot cakes." Twenty-five or thirty years ago, they used to get it in jugs, sent to the express office with the name of some unknown person, and then some one well known would come to the express office with a order for a package addressed to the unknown person, pay the charges and get the jug. And the express agent looking after that line of smuggling was always out in the interest of the party which claimed the credit of giving Iowa the blessing of a prohibitory law. Now they use a pumpkin.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Mitchell returned the first of the week from a business trip to the western part of the state. Business conditions are good out there and prospects seem bright for a bigger and better 1929.

A talk with ranch owners and cattle raisers finds all in an optimistic frame of mind. They are real boosters for Nebraska and especially their own section of the state. It is certainly the country of "great open spaces" dotted over with cattle and in some places hundreds of fine hogs and sheep, all speak of the wealth of the rancher. Thirty-five miles between towns, sixteen below zero and a flat tire, dampened the spirits of the travelers a bit, but altogether the trip was one of pleasure and profit.

They visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langmack at O'Neill, they were formally of Wayne and Emerson. Mr. Langmack has a ranch seventeen miles north of O'Neill. They visited Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Miss Marcella Lindberg, who finished earning her credits for a state certificate with the close of the semester last week, left Saturday for Cheyenne, Wyoming, where she will make her home with a sister while she takes a commercial course in a business college at Cheyenne.

Mr. Gray of Central City, a cousin of Supt. T. S. Hook, was a Wayne visitor the last of the week. Rev. Wylie Buys Morrow Store
A deal was closed Saturday by which the Rev. J. B. Wylie takes over the stock of groceries and general merchandise owned by Robert Morrow and with Mrs. Wylie and son, Raymond will continue the business in the McIntyre building now occupied by the Morrow store.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow have been identified with the business interests of Winside for more than twenty years and their many friends and customers will regret that on account of Mrs. Morrow's new duties as Postmistress they will be compelled to quit the grocery business. Mr. Morrow however will remain in the store for some little time until new proprietor gets acquainted with the business.

The Wylies will need no introduction to the people of this community, having lived here for ten years, having been pastor of the local M. E. church for three years, pastor of the Wisner church two years and pastor at Walthill the past year, besides sometime that he lived on his farm south of town now occupied by his son William. The many friends both here and throughout the county will wish them well in their new business venture.

This ends January, and the month will go at midnight with no regret—and the hope that February will be better and shorter.

"Ogeegosh," as Ella says, here it is February, and that old 1928 license plate hanging to the car. Who ever that it would last 13 months?

Wonder what the republicans are afraid of down at Lincoln that they railroaded the bill providing for investigation of the guaranty fund to a dark pigeon hole Tuesday? Honest conduct of government need not fear investigation.

What the people seem to want is a fair investigation of the bank guarantee situation, with out fear or favoritism—and as we, the people are supposed to be the big IP in this land of equal opportunity—they should have it, regardless of the fears of a few fellows who think they are big, because crooked, or perhaps have money. "Hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may."

Militarism is not dead, we think, unless we shall learn that the Kaiser had no fit clothes in which to act as hostess at his 70th birthday celebration last week than his military uniform. His many guests naturally felt that they had to follow the style of their old leader, and so the affair was reported to be quite an exhibit of the uniforms of what was once prominent officers of the Kaiser's army. Perhaps this was to be the last exhibit of their outlawed pomp and splendor.

The members of the state senate, last week drew the newspaper reporters out of their near sacred "holy of holies" and excluded every one except the members, and proceeded to reject the nomination made by Governor Weaver of Mrs. Ryan as a member of the board of control. If they felt it a duty to the state to refuse to confirm this nomination, why such secrecy? It is the opinion of many that the servants of the people should permit the people who employ them to see that they do their work well, and know why it is necessary for "secret sessions." If Mrs. Ryan is competent and eligible under the law, the senate should confirm—and not reject her simply because she was true to the party label she wears. If this is a free country, no one should be penalized because of their party affiliations.

Representatives of the sugar trust are hovering about Washington and congress like flies about a molasses barrel, and their demand is for a tariff to protect the sugar industry of the states that produce beet sugar by a tariff on sugar from our island possessions—the Philippines. That is a new doctrine of protection. Why not make a tariff which will protect the little farmer of the near barren lands of some of our eastern states against the competition of grains, meats and other products of the fertile fields of the west? The fact is, as we see it, the principle of protection is founded on greed. The tariff is a tax, and if unjustly levied should be rejected in the same spirit as was the tax on tea a century and a half ago. Why should a representative of the farming districts have to be disfranchised in a vote on that which may be of interest and value to his district by the dictator from another district?

Congressman Howard of this district in his notes from Washington intimates in such language as might be read almost as a statement of fact that some of the republican members from the west might be far more outspoken as to the tariff but for the fact that to do so would put them in bad with the representative Snell of

New York, chairman of the rules committee, and once he has a question to settle with the congressmen who are daring to do that which he does not approve of, gets no favors from him. In most cases it is for Snell to say whether a bill has a chance to become a law or be smothered in a pigeonhole until congress has adjourned. It is a vicious system which permits a one-man rule over a body of the representatives of the people—bulldozing them to an extent that they dare not work and vote for that which they honestly believe to be for the best interest of those they were sent to represent. The case which the congressman had reference to had to do with a tariff for the agricultural interests as well as the manufacturing and right in which the committee from Iowa should not have been influenced by the member from New York.

COMMERCIAL CLUB APPOINTS ROAD COMMITTEE

The Emerson Commercial Club met at a regular meeting at the Fire Hall last Friday night. After the transaction of regular business, a communication from the Pender Commercial club was read regarding a joint committee meeting by members of the two clubs about a road between Pender and Emerson.

The Pender people want Number 51 road gravelled on north to Sioux City by way of Emerson. A committee was appointed consisting of Frank Hause, Jule Bonderon and A. Ira Davis. The club went on record favoring a gravelled road by the best route between here and Pender.

They also favor making and completing No. 35 from Wayne here and on to Sioux City. The Norfolk Chamber of Commerce are in favor and will help in securing the grading and graveling of that road.

The committee will report at the next meeting.—Emerson Press.

THE PEOPLE VOTED IT

At the election last fall the voters of Nebraska voted to place the school for the blind and the school for the deaf under control of the regents of the university, the claim being that they were educational institutions the same as the university. There was some question as to the legality of the change, owing to alleged errors in the matter of presenting the question to the voters; and so there is a friendly suit now pending before the supreme court of the state at Lincoln. The petition asks the court to order the regents to at once take over the management of the two schools. The regents are to file their answer to the request, and it is a question as to who will have the burden of control.

THE THIRD NEW STANDARD SCHOOL IN THE COUNTY

(From The Wayne County Teacher) The school in district 16, which is two miles west of Winside and one south, is to become a standard school. The plate will be placed on the building just as soon as it is received from the state superintendent's office. The school house is a new building completed last summer at a cost of $4,200. The dedication program was given on the night of August 31, 1928. It stands on a hill surrounded by trees. Has a bungalow style roof. It is 30 feet by 32 feet. It has a large entrance hall, two cloak rooms, and a library room. There is a full basement with furnace and separate rooms for coal and cobs. Basement is provided with seats so children can eat their lunches there. The building has five cold-air drafts and a ventilator.

To become a standard school it must meet certain requirements. If a school justifies a score of 75% in the minimum requirements which include a term of nine months, qualifications of teacher, size and condition of school grounds, heating, lighting, airspace, and seating of room, sanitary methods for the use of water, proper teaching equipment and proper condition of outbuildings, it may be standardized. This school scored 85 points.

The members of the board are Otto Ulrich, director; Otto Stender, moderator; and August Bronzynski, treasurer.

Mrs. Maude Pierson Prince is the teacher.

We are hoping that the school in district 35, shown elsewhere in this issue, may soon become standardized also.

He took her about her delicate little waist and lifted her lightly up into his arms. His eyes closed and a wisp of her golden hair caressed his forehead. His breath was fanning her waxen cheek. Suddenly he set her down almost harshly. "Gee," he said, "it's sure the bunk to work in a tall department."

The trouble with some people is—they never bring their backbone to the front.

THE SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS IN WAYNE COUNTY FOR THE NEBRASKA TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

(From The Wayne County Teacher)

The schools of the county did very well with the sale of the Christmas seals again this year.

The Christmas Seals are for the support of the work the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association is doing through our schools and through our county for the benefit of the health of all our citizens.

Fifty percent of the proceeds of these Christmas Seals will be used for health work in our county and the remainder is used for health work throughout the state.

The Seals sold for one cent each and the amount coming in for them this year is $203.74.

Half of it will be returned to us to use in this county and with what we had left from last year we hope next year to have a doctor or nurse give the health examinations in all of the schools instead of the teachers having to give them, which the school law says must be done during the first month of school in the fall.

427 double-barred cross pins were given pupils of the county who sold 23 seals each. The Wilson valley ball's given to the town and rural school selling the most Seals per capita school enrollment went to Carroll and to district 44. 34 pupils of the county each received a health game having sold $1 worth.

One lovely book "Healthyland" was given to Miss Roma Jackson's room at Carroll for selling $10 worth of Seals. Her sales amounted to $12.

The two rural schools selling the most were district 44, Frances Taylor, teacher, selling $6 worth; and district 55, Carrie L. Stamm, teacher, selling $5 worth. Carl A. Finup's Parochial School at Hoskins sold $5.32 worth.

The report just received from W. H. Wilson, M. D. Chief, Bureau of Health, Collaborating Epidemiologist, U. S. Public Health service at Lincoln shows that 202 cases of Tuberculosis in the state were reported during the year 1928, for Wayne county 6 were reported for 1928. The number reported in the state during 1927 was 230.

Following is given the number of the district, the name of the teacher, and the amount sent in for sale of seals—300 seals were sent to each Teacher..

chairs about the table; when the boys wash their hands, the girls put the lunches on the plates. Everyone stands behind his chair until all are ready to be seated; then all sit down together. The teacher sits at the head of the table, while eating we have great times talking, telling jokes and riddles, and playing games.

Those who are through eating at the end of twenty minutes may ask to be excused, and the others remain until they are through. This provides a splendid opportunity for teaching table manners.

The work of washing dishes and putting the room in order is so divided among the different children that within half an hour much is over and all are ready to play.—From The Normal Instructor.

East Indian View

The stricter code of morality applied to women is really a compliment to them, for it accepts the natural superiority of women. But the modern women, if I may say so, is losing her self-respect. She does not respect her own individuality and uniqueness, but is paying an unconscious tribute to man in trying to imitate him. She is fast becoming masculine and mechanical. Adventurous pursuits are leading her into conflict with her own inner nature.—S. Radhakrishnan in "The Hindu View of Life."

Bread From Peanuts

If the general public were educated to the great value of peanuts as a food for human beings, the farmer in the South could grow more with profit," an expert of the Department of Agriculture declares. "A bread made of a mixture of 25 parts peanut flour and 75 parts wheat flour is a very nutritious and palatable food. In experimental feeding of rats, the bureau found that the rate of growth of animals fed on peanut bread was much greater than that of animals on a diet of whole wheat bread."

We have a table which is large enough to accommodate the entire school. It is covered with white oil cloth which is firmly tucked underneath the edges of the table top, making it firm, neat, and easily cleaned. The table is made attractive and homelike by a bouquet of cut flowers, artificial flowers (which the children make), a plant, or some fruit.

A few minutes before noon the table is washed, and plates and napkins, which have also been made by the children, are placed upon it. During the cold weather a hot dish is served and is placed on the table at this time.

The girls are then dismissed to wash their hands, while the boys place the

Gardener Lucky When Father Toad "Locates"

If a family of toads take up their residence in the garden it is time to feel that good luck has smilingly descended upon the place.

The toad is an asset. As a worker he does not believe in short hours, but is constantly on hand throughout the 24-hour day. He asks for nothing, only that he be left alone. And his presence means better vegetables and lovelier flowers and richer grass.

One joy in life is his—that of eating. He is at it so continuously it might be regarded as almost a religion. The biggest eater among the field hands is a novice compared to him. In 25 hours the toad will consume insect food of a volume four-fold the capacity of his stomach.

Variety is his long suit, and the majority of the things the toad loves are in their state pests of every man who puts seed into the ground. With few exceptions, everything in the

The main speaker of the evening was Rev. J. L. Elrod of South Sioux City. His theme was "Fellowship" and he gave an interesting, inspirational message. The men's double quartette sang several selections, accompanied on the piano by Lura Belle Johnson. To F. H. Jones, president of the men's class, to the untiring efforts of Rev. Penton Jones and his loyal supporters, credit is due for the success of such a splendid cooperation.

At the regular meeting of the Rebekahs Friday it was decided to extend an invitation to Rebekahs at Carroll and Winslow to be guests of the local order, Friday, March 8, at which time a special program will be given and the local degree team will put on some work for the visitors. An invitation from Bloomfield Rebekahs to the degree team to come to Bloomfield in June to assist in initiation was read and accepted. The degree team, under the able leadership of Mrs. P. L. Abbott, puts on the work of the order in an efficient, pleasing manner and the teams is very popular.

JOHN KATE GROWING OLD

Last week John Kate told us that he had just received wire that himself and wife were again grandparents their sixth grandchild having been reported. A daughter was born Friday, January 25, 1929, to daughter Frances at Algona, Iowa. Then he proceeded to tell that they formerly lived at Wayne, and had sold his interests here and moved to a city, and tried out life in a number of cities, and was happier and more contented in a smaller place and to his mind Wayne was the most desirable of any they knew of.

Mr. Kate told a bit of city experience in purchasing what they must have. One day Mrs. Kate discovered that she was out of thread, when they were living at Des Moines, Iowa, and so she gallantly said we will get it right away, and ran his buzz wagon out. They were living in the suburbs of the city, and it was only seven miles to the thread emporium, and away they went. Parking spaces were full where permitted in that vicinity, so John let the wife out of the car and started for a place to park. Found it more than a mile away, parked and walked back to see if the wife was ready, and before long she had found and purchased the coveted and needed thread of the proper number and shade. So Mr. K. walked back to the place the car was parked, and called for the wife, and together they motored home, and the car mileage registered 45 miles, and the two-mile-walk added made a trip of 17 miles for a five-cent spool of thread.

Then Mr. Kate gave a little talk on the hatchery chicken and why so many of them die. He says it is for want of a proper brooder and good care. So he has been working his think tank for an improved brooder, and has one about perfected and ready to be manufactured soon, after several years of study to perfect a brooder that will keep the greater part of hatchery birds from early death—and this will mean much to those who like plenty of fried chicken in the summer and also to the one who cares for them as well as the hatchery industry. For high death rate has been a fight the hatchery men have had to contend with.

BIBLE STUDY CIRCLE HAS ANNIVERSARY

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wright afforded a most happy scene Tuesday afternoon when the twenty-seventh anniversary of the Wayne Bible Study Circle was celebrated. The fellowship was enhanced by several guests from Wakefield, Mrs. C. A. Beebe, Mrs. Will Miner, Miss Amelia Ring and Mrs. Jackman and small daughter; Mrs. David Reed and Mrs. W. O. Eickelbinger of Norfolk.

The addresses were much appreciated and a solo by Mrs. Wallie of Chicago was beautifully rendered.

The main address was given by Mrs. Bessie Schram of Newcastle, Dixon County. Miss Schram has served seven years in visitation and evangelistic work among the Tamillian women of southern India under the Ceylon and India general mission. She told a gripping heart interest story of her work in a particularly untouched field where the need is great. The natives there are mostly illiterate, the economic conditions so serious that few have time for anything save eking out an existence. A condition of famine prevails making living difficult. Teachers are badly needed and Gospel proclaimers a crying need in hot and hungry southern India.

Miss Amelia Ring, of Wakefield, whose term in China was shortened by the terrible war conditions of the recent rebellion, told briefly and feelingly of God's provision and protection during the days of suspense and danger in that war torn land.

Miss Ethel Curtis of Seward, who has just finished a course in the Biblical Institute at Philadelphia, and is now taking work at the State Teachers college here while waiting to be sent to Africa, gave a very interesting account of her training and outlined her plans for her future missionary work.

Miss Genevieve Craig of Wayne gave a brief talk.

The meeting closed with prayer. Mrs. E. B. Young, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Wright and others served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard James entertained Mr. and Mrs. Edward Owens Sunday evening at parchesi. Mrs. James served refreshments.

VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH

Raymond Mittelstadt of Norfolk died as the result of a crushed skull Tuesday night.

While wiping the windshield on his automobile at the outskirts of West Point last night about 8:15 o'clock Raymond Mittelstadt, 21, Norfolk, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile driven by a hit-and-run driver.

The young man died without regaining consciousness while being brought in an ambulance to a Norfolk hospital.

Mr. Mittelstadt, together with his kinsmother, Mrs. Carl Mittelstadt, Norfolk, and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Rohrke, Hoskins were returning to Norfolk from Omaha where they had been on a pleasure trip. When the windshield became covered with a coating of ice, obscuring his vision, young Mittelstadt stopped his machine at the side of the highway.

He had barely started to wipe the windshield when he was struck down by the automobile, which hit the Mittelstadt car a glancing blow. Without making an pretense at halting his car, the driver sped away. No clew as to his identity has been obtained.

One of the men who won the title of "Master Farmer" at Lincoln a few short weeks ago, Delmar S. Anderson of Dawson county had the foresight to plan for pump irrigation on his farm. As a result, he invested $5,000 in well, pump and ditches, and planted 250 acres of alfalfa sod in corn. By having the water to turn on when needed, he grew a crop of 45 bushels per acre, and but for hail damage, thinks it would have been 70 bushel to the acre. Corn planted on similar land and conditions averaged but 15 bushel per acre. Mr. Anderson estimates that he has his plants and ditches for future crops, and that his corn crop was 250 bushels more than would have been without the irrigation, at 15 bushel per acre. Mr. Anderson will find, if he shall want to again seed that piece to alfalfa he may still use the irrigation plant to advantage, for with irrigation following the mower and staker when a crop of hay is harvested thirty to thirty-five days brings the next crop ready for harvest. In Colorado, with irrigation they cut four good crops of alfalfa per season.

A GUARANTY FUND PROBE
(State Journal)

Senator Wherry, whose resolution has passed the senate providing for an investigation of the guaranty fund laws situation in the state, admits that the proposed investigation would cost the state from $150,000 to $200,000. He is so certain that it will be worth its cost that he is prepared to urge its passage by the house.

The author of this resolution comes from one of the Nebraska towns that has sustained a bad bank failure. He found support for his resolution in the senate from members who also came from localities where bank failures had crippled the business life of the community. The senator argues that the only valid objection anyone can have to the proposed investigation is its cost. With the guaranty fund in the red so many millions that even experts do not agree to the extent he feels that an investigation of the situation would be worth while to the state.

Ugly charges are being made and Senator Wherry feels that the only way to dispose of these is to conduct a searching investigation. He feels also that a searching investigation will retrieve for the fund much more than it costs. A committee for this purpose, properly empowered and conducted in the interest of the guaranty fund, he feels, would be the best thing that the legislature can do at this session for the guaranty fund.

Passage of this resolution need not defer nor prevent such remedial legislation as has been or may be proposed. That can be passed. Such safeguards as can now be thrown about the fund may be provided, and the work of finding out just what has happened and applying needed stays and checks can begin. It is pointed out that during the history of the administration of the law there has not been a searching investigation of its workings and that after the lapse of so many years prudent business men would naturally urge such a move were it their individual affair. Being a public affair makes some people look at it differently.

Naturally there can be no quarrel with members of the legislature who may doubt whether such an investigation would pay its cost and would be worth while to the state, to bank depositors who have lost and to the guaranty fund.

STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

Reductions in certain long distance telephone rates, which will become effective February 1, will lower the charges to points frequently called from Wayne as shown in a new table of rates for a three-minute conversation prepared by O. L. Randall, manager for the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, for instance the present station-to-station day rate to a dozen stations is reduced an average of about 18 cents. This includes some near by stations and some far away.

The reduction in rates applies particularly to day service between points where the present day station-to-station rates are from 6 cents to $5.50 for three-minute call. Charges for person-to-person calls will be reduced in like proportion. Evening and night rates, which are provided only on station-to-station service, will be unchanged except in a few cases where they will be 5 cents lower.

A reduction in rates for appointment and messenger calls is another feature of the new rate schedule. After February 1 these classes of service will be provided at person-to-person rates. The charge for messenger service, however, will be added as heretofore.

Improved equipment and now developments in methods of handling calls for longer distances have made possible this reduction in rates. This and other reductions in long distance rates in the last few years are in keeping with this Company's policy of providing the best possible service at the least cost to the public consistent with financial safety.

"Doc" W. H. Mullen started for Omaha Sunday morning after spending several days in this city visiting with friends and relatives. But he didn't get very far on his homeward journey. After having motored a couple of miles, his engine gave him considerable trouble, so he decided to return to Bloomfield to get it repaired. He however, decided to stay until the following day. The lure of Sheephead and the thought that he was carting home a herd of "Bucks" made him decide to remain in Bloomfield and rid himself of the excess baggage. His many friends were kidding him that it was the overload of livestock that broke down the car. - Bloomfield Monitor.

LEGISLATURE AT WORK
Monday morning the report from Lincoln was that the members of the house, were ready for the work of considering what legislation to pass and what to reject, as they could no longer have new bills presented; but the senate would receive bills till Wednesday night.

Interest in the senate also is enhanced by the furor that has arisen over the "leak" in the executive session when that branch refused to confirm Governor Weaver's appointment of Mrs. Charles G. Ryan of Grand Island as a member of the board of control. Although all newspapermen were excluded and no record was made of the proceedings of the session, afternoon papers in Lincoln and Omaha printed the roll call vote on the confirmation.

Bank Resolution Attracts

The outstanding matter at hand in the house is the resolution for a guaranty commission investigation of Senator Kenneth S. Wherry of Pawnee City, which was adopted in the senate by a slender margin. As this is a joint resolution, the house also must pass it before the provisions can be put into operation.

This proposed investigating committee would be outside of the legislature with the governor as the directing authority.

"Should conditions be found which warrant a special session," Senator Wherry continued, "I would favor the calling of such a session. If maladministration or gross wrong doing should be found in the administration of any of the defunct banks, I also favor immediate reparation in each case."

"The main thing proposed in my investigation, however, is to bring the facts to the people. The citizens of Nebraska believe in the guaranty law and they should know the cause of the present conditions. The people of the nation also are watching Nebraska's guaranty law with a hopeful eye. Therefore, we should be thorough in our endeavors to solve the problems which have arisen under that law."

Members of state senate were given a recommendation to act upon by Henry Behrens, a former member from Cuming county, who visited the senate, and was asked to make a talk to that body. He urged this legislature to make a law offering generous reward for the capture and conviction of the robbers who loot banks from within, as they (the bankers) now do for the arrest or corps of one of the common thieves who break in and steal a few thousand. He severely and justly criticised the law enforcement department for its lax methods in permitting Wupper, defaulting banker from Beemer, the home town of the man addressing the senate. It was a good suggestion, that the former senator made, and should be acted upon.

The state senate in "secret session" found a report of their balloting had gone to the public in an evening paper that was ready for their reading as they adjourned. So, it seems, their secret session was all in vain, as it should have been. Secret sessions have very little if any place in a government of, by and for the people. If the senators could not justify their vote that should have voted some other way, and voted in the open, not like a coward afraid to face the music for what he did.

The revision of the Nebraska congressional districts as proposed, and is to come according to the law, is question that will be a real fight, unless the republicans come to have majority all their own in spite of the interest of the democrats, a Lincoln report says. The Revision of Nebraska's congressional district as proposed in a bill by Senator Clark Jarry of Lincoln was the mooted question in legislature circles today.

Under the provisions of the bill which would become effective if the reapportionment measure now before congress is passed, the Fourth congressional district would be eliminated, thereby reducing the number of districts from six to five.

The bill would add Gage, Seward, York and Polk counties of the Fourth district to the First district. Burt and Dodge counties of the Third district would be added to the Second district, while Saunders and Butler counties of the Fourth district would be annexed to the Third district. Fillmore, Hamilton, Saline, Jefferson and Thayer counties of the present Fourth district, along with Buffalo of the Sixth district would be added to the present Fifth district, which would become the Fourth district. The present Sixth district, with the omission of Buffalo county would become the Fifth district.

Democratic legislators declared the proposed revision was a scheme to prevent the election of Democratic congressmen. They pointed out that it was designed to eliminate the First district and the present Fifth district.

from the ordinary Democratic column. Although the district is considered strongly Republican, Congressman John H. Morehead of Falls City, a Democrat, has been elected from the First district to his fourth term, while Congressman Ashton C. Schellenberger of Alma, Democrat, also has served terms from the Fifth district. Schellenberger was defeated last fall by Fred G. Johnson of Hastings, a Republican.

Another measure, introduced by Senator Jeary yesterday, provides that the state labor department shall provide a code of safety rules to govern places of employment. A commission of employers and employees would be named to confer on the rules and the department would be required to make regular inspections to see that the rules are observed.

The house of representatives yesterday adopted a resolution advocating an increase of the duty on foreign potatoes and their products and also compulsory inspection of potatoes in the United States.

The resolution was introduced by Representative Jacob Pedrett of Kimball and others. It recommends that the duty on foreign potatoes be increased to $1 a hundred; potato starch to $3 a hundred and dextrine $4 a hundred pounds.

Concerning compulsory inspection, the resolution recommended "enactment of a federal license law regulating and supervising wholesale produce dealers in conformity with the principles outlined in the United States senate document S-1294, commonly known as the Borah bill.

STATE EDITORS TO OMAHA

MEET FEBRUARY 21, 22 AND 23

Editors of the state are to meet at Lincoln February 21, 22 and 23. That is a proper time to meet along about Washington's birth anniversary, for we are all more or less like George, the not all have established such a reputation early in life for truth telling—but most of us are gaining in that respect. While the program is not fully completed, says the Press, the official organ, enough is known to promise some good papers. Here is in part an outline as far as is known:

Thursday, February 21, 2:30 p.m.: Preliminary session. Miscellaneous business, appointment of committees, etc.

Thursday Evening, 6:30 p.m.: Annual dinner. President's program. President Kuhl presiding.

Saturday, 9:00 a.m.: Regular program will start with the Annual Poem by A. L. Bixby. This will be followed by the President's annual address and reports of the secretary, treasurer, and field manager. Election of officers will come at 11 a.m. The formal program is as follows:

"Country Newspapers," by Wright A. Patterson Editor in Chief of the Western Newspaper Union. No man anywhere knows this subject better.

"Selling Advertising," by Park Keays Advertising Manager of the Broken Bow Chief. You will be surprised and delighted when you see how practically this subject is handled.

"Maintaining and Granting Credit." A practical credit man will discuss this subject from both sides of the fence.

"Out of Journalism and into Newspaper Work," by Mrs. Irma Leggett. Mrs. Leggett is a school of journalism graduate, and now has considerable practical experience in newspaper work. It will be interesting to hear her conclusions.

"How California Handles Free Publicity," by John B. Long, manager of the California Press Association. This is going to be worth hearing.

"Friday evening: The Friday evening program has not yet been arranged but it will be worth while, as usual.

"Saturday morning: Any loose ends left from Friday will be picked up. Then will come general discussions of Circulation Audits and Trade Territory Surveys, prospective newspaper legislation, the proposed state department of publicity, and other subjects that may be presented. Opportunity for questions and discussions will follow each formal paper or talk."

ON FIRST SEEING THE OCEAN

And this is the dream-of wonder!
This—at least—is the sea!

Billows of liquid thunder—

Vocal immensely!

But where is the thrill of glory?

Born of a great surprise?

This is the old, old story;

These are the ancient skies.

But out in my mother country,

Every since I was born,

This is the song my brother Winds

Sang in the fields of corn.

And there, in the purple midnights

Sullen and still with heat,

This is the selfsame drone that ran

Over the heading wheat.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Editor McCormick of the Wynot Tribune is a firm believer in the commercial club for the city or the small town which wants to become a city, and sites instances where the local organization of that place has kept things moving right along. Not always have they accomplished what they went after, but they usually got something. He cites the recent fight made by the organization there against the action of the railroad in depriving that community of service that was in any manner acceptable, and when the case was threshed out in court, the order was for the old service to be restored.

That reminds us that it was the commercial club of this place which fought the railroad to a finish on the proposal for a new depot here about 15 years ago, and when the case came to the supreme court, the railroad came across and agreed to meet the demand.

In the earlier days it was an organization of Wayne people who won the state normal school for this place, of which we are now all so proud whether the vision at that time of some might have been a little defective—but they can now all see the fine state buildings on the hill, as well as the hundreds of studious young folks who gather here from all parts of the state and especially from this corner, as well as from Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota where they are near this school:

There are plenty of other things of merit here for which the community may well thank the boosters, who have done much in and out of season to make Wayne the leading county seat town of this corner of Nebraska. It makes no difference by what name it may be called, and Wayne may have had several different names for the boosters, but they have been bringing home the bacon, the fair being one of the latest winning of good things for the entire community.

EAST AND WEST—A CONTRAST

Last week the editor had the pleasure of a short chat with Attorney and Mrs. W. D. Funk of Bloomfield, who were returning to their home after a month spent in the east, where they visited daughters living in Ohio or Pennsylvania. Mr. Funk said in reply to questions that there was a great activity manifested in places they visited, especially in the region where they are working in iron products. With fuel almost free for the mining, and ore from the Minnesota mines at a very low water freight, and a demand in many parts for the products of mills and factories, it was indeed an active condition that prevailed. The growth of the communities and the industries were hard to understand. Villages and town and cities sprang up and grew. To a stranger it looked like one continuous community—the line marking where one place ended and another commenced might in some instances be marked by a gradual thinning of houses in one direction, and the next place beginning with a gradual increase in number as one left one place and entered another, a street known as the city limit to resident people being the only boundary.

They were at Youngstown and Pittsburgh the great iron centers—at Akron, the center of the rubber industry in this country, the growth of the place had been rapid, and gave no signs of diminishing. Pittsburgh, too, showed great growth and activity, and a pall of smoke over it days without end.

In fact, Mr. Funk said the great industrial center was all like a hive of busy bees. But they missed the clear atmosphere and sunshine of the great prairie land—for there if it was not smoke it was fog too frequently without end.

Mr. Funk seemed to credit a protective tariff with the motive power of all this great activity; and seemed to reason that if that was the propelling power it might be good for the farmer; for it seemed a bit quiet here, after spending a month where everybody worked, including father, where the workers went from five to eight miles by auto for their daily grind.

But, we think, they might not want to trade the Nebraska climate and quiet for the smoke, fog and hustle of the east. Perhaps a farm relief measure, putting the farmer on stilts as tall as the manufacturer has to boost him up, may make farm industry hum and return a profit.

The year was done.

"Have you a new leaf for me, dear Teacher?"

I have spoiled this one!"

I took his leaf, all soiled and blotted And gave him a new one, all unspotted,

Then into his tired heart I smiled:

"Do better now, my Child!"

I went to the throne, with trembling heart.

The year was done.

"Have you a New Year for me, dear Master?"

I have spoiled this one!"

He took my year, all soiled and blotted

And gave me a new one, all unspotted.

Then into my tired heart he smiled:

"Do better now, my Child!"
