FARMER OUTLOOK FOR NEBRASKA

Representatives of Agricultural College Greet Many Wayne Farmers At City Hall

FOUR INSTRUCTIVE SPEAKERS

Responding to the invitation of Wayne citizens sponsored by the Kiwanis club and business men of Wayne, last Thursday was a big day of interesting events for the farmer and such business men as could attend. Speakers from the agricultural college presented a program at the city hall that was carefully listened to by from 150 to 200 farmers of this part of the state. Wayne county has never indulged in the luxury of a county agent as a head of such movements; but they have been fortunate in having a citizen in the person of Dr. Wm. Hawkins, V. S., who has taken as much interest in the development of calf, pig and poultry clubs in the county, just for the good of the cause, as many county agents seem to, and his salary is apparently satisfied by noting the good it is doing the young farmers of the county. As we see it, Dr. Hawkins has been the moving spirit leading such movements here to real success.

The meeting Thursday was in charge of D. H. Cunningham, another booster for better stock in the county, and he presided during the morning and afternoon sessions.

For the refreshment of the inner man, the Wayne business men had provided a luncheon of a substantial nature to be spread at the noon hour in the council room of the city hall, which the ladies aid of the St. Paul Lutheran church provided, and served cafeteria style, both at the noon hour and at the close of the afternoon session about four o'clock, and it appeared to be greatly appreciated by the visitors. Many of those in attendance were from neighboring towns where no similar meetings were held for the Wayne gathering was one of the very few similar meetings planned for in this corner of the state.

THE WAYNE COUNTY FAIR

Wm. Von Seggern, secretary of the local fair, was talking a little this week about fairs in general over the state and the one at Wayne in particular, and said that Wayne not only had a good fair, but that it came out of the season with a reduced debt—and added that the debt of this fair is not at all embarrassing, as that the grounds and improvements are well worth all or more than they cost. A truly good condition to be in.

He said, when we asked the dates of the fair this season, that number of people were beginning to ask that question, so we may just pass out the dates he told us: September 11, 12, 13, 14, the same week which Wayne had last year, but of course, not quite the same date. Mr. V. said that the directors and officers are already planning for the event, and are expecting a bigger and better fair than that of 1928.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS

Stock shipments have been mostly of hogs the past week, and as many of them go forward by truck when the roads are good or fairly good, the rail shipment have not been up to normal.

Four cars of cattle have been shipped during the week, one by C. J. Lund to Sioux City and one to Omaha by Wm. Mellor, and two by H. Heine-mann to the same market. Hog prices have been fluctuating, during this time, and selling a part of the time above the $11.00 price.

NORFOLK LEGGER WILL HAVE HEARING, MONDAY

Paul Salsbury, held here on charges of bootlegging, was released on a $1000 bond and the time of his hearing set for next Monday.

Paul alias "Jake" Salsbury, is alleged to have sold nine gallons of whisky to a Wayne county customer, and is also charged with contempt of court.

WAYNE BOY HONORED

Ed Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reynolds, who has been teaching Latin and Spanish in the public schools at Douglas, Wyoming, has been re-elected for the coming year at an increase in salary.

FORMER CITIZEN DIED TUESDAY AT LINCOLN

Word was received here Tuesday of the death of Mrs. Wieble Hansen, which occurred at the Tabitha Home at Lincoln, where Mrs. Hansen was given a home several years ago, to spend her remaining days in comfort and ease.

The body is being brought to Wayne for burial, and the funeral service will be from the Evangelical Lutheran church, of which she was long a member, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

NORFOLK MAN FINED FOR SHOOTING PHEASANT, HERE

Herb Hoffman, Norfolk, paid a $100 fine and costs, in the Wayne county court yesterday, after he was found guilty of shooting a pheasant on February 28, northwest of Wayne.

ELEVEN MEN ARE AWARDED LETTER

Hickman Will Lose Only Three of His Letter Men From This Year's Cage Squad.

Eleven of the Wildcat basketball squad members were awarded letters this year, Coach Hickman announced this week, and with all but three of them returning next year and a fine crop of freshmen coming on prospects are very bright for next season.

The men awarded a "W" are as follows: Hunt, captain; Farrow, Decker, VonMinden, Felix, Pieper, Eike, Ray, Alexander, Andrews and Langfeldt.

Of these, all but three seniors, Hunt, Decker and Ray, plan to return to school next fall. Wayne should have one of the strongest teams ever to represent the local college with Farrow and Langfeldt back at guards and VonMinden again jumping center.

Hickman will have a nice crop of second year men who should develop into real offensive material. Alexander, Andrews and Eike, all of whom lettered should show up like a million dollars by next winter with a few pounds added to their weight and this year's experience to acquaint them with the college brand of the game.

Busy at Track

The Wildcats are entertaining considerable hope of coping the track conference championship this spring and when the weather has been fit, they have been going through limbering up exercises on the college field, each afternoon.

Wayne had little trouble coping the majority of the track events in their competition last year, but were weak in field performances. With practically his entire squad back which is strengthened a lot with some additional men who will bolster up the field representation the Hickman proteges are going to be hard to lick.

Tigue Andrews, is the most valuable man in the additional field material.

KIMBALL MAN MARRIED TO NORFOLK GIRL HERE

John Linn, Kimball, and Miss Vyvyan Hazen, Norfolk, were married here Friday March 8, 1929, with Rev. W. W. Whitman performing the rites.

The groom is reported to be a business man of Kimball.

COURT REVOKES DRIVER LICENSE

Emerson Man Enjoined by Wayne County Judge From Driving Auto for One Year.

Walter Zastrow, Emerson, was found guilty in county court Monday on charges of being intoxicated, in possession of intoxicants and driving while intoxicated. Besides being assessed a fine of $173.05, including costs, he was enjoined from driving his car for one year. He was paroled out and his car turned over to his father for safe keeping.

Francis R. Blume, also of Emerson, who was accompanying Zastrow at the time of his arrest by Sheriff Archie Stephens, was found guilty of intoxication and possession and fined $119.85 including costs.

The two men, it is said, were driving at a dangerously fast rate of speed when they were arrested.

All Of Nebraska Joins Wayne In Final Tribute for One of State's Greatest Men

Masonic Grand Lodge In Charge of Funeral Services From Presbyterian Church.

DEATH SHOCK TO ENTIRE STATE

Albert R. Davis, Wayne attorney, called one of Nebraska's most prominent citizens and outstanding in this section of the state, was instantly killed when an M. & O. passenger struck his coupe 5 miles northeast of Wayne at a crossing as he was returning to his home last Thursday evening. He apparently was in deep concentration and was oblivious of the warnings of the engineer who tugged frantically at the whistle, the engine striking the coupe squarely throwing Davis out and dragging the car nearly a quarter of a mile before the train could be stopped.

Davis was a past grand master of the Masonic lodge of Nebraska, being elevated to that high honor in June 1927, and serving a year. He was two times delegate to the republican national convention from Nebraska. In 1920 he was the only Nebraska delegate to consistently oppose the nomination of Harding until the last. He served 2 terms as Wayne county attorney.

He was a member of the Nebraska Bar Association, and as an attorney was often referred to with great respect and admiration by member attorneys and fellow citizens, as possessing unusual ability and integrity.

Final Rites Tuesday

Funeral arrangements which were delayed until the arrival of Mrs. Davis and daughter, Katherine Lou, from California, where they were visiting, were held Tuesday from the First Presbyterian church with Grand Master Frank H. Woodland, Omaha, in charge of the Masonic rites; he being assisted by Fenton C. Jones, as pastor of the church of which Davis had been an influential and devout member since coming to Wayne 26 years ago.

In behalf of the Masons of Nebraska and the state bar association Frank H. Woodland referred to the life of Davis as one that exemplified everything for which Masonry stands, and as an attorney one who possessed all the qualities regarded by lawyers as most essential.

Otis A. King, Denver, a roommate of Davis at college spoke briefly of his early life as observed from the intimate angles of a chum.

Davis aimed at a high goal when a youth, King intimated, and then worked toward achievement of his idealistic ambitions.

A tribute to the 80-year-old mother was paid by Mr. King, giving her much credit for the value of her sons.

Rev. Fenton C. Jones referred to Davis as a master of friendship, with a heart that was big enough to love all the world, and big enough to overlook the frailties and faults of human nature.

Every business house in Wayne was closed during the afternoon-out of respect for the memory of the man who for years had been regarded as a leader of the entire community.

Last Ambition Thwarted

Those intimate with Davis have referred to his greatest ambition of having his son, Burr, Nebraska law student, as his partner in a law firm.

To assure this realization he refused to accept opportunities, he was importuned to accept, which would have given great honor. This he did, it is said, because of his great love for his son and family, wishing to offer whatever assistance he might, to them.

Albert Russel Davis was born in Fremont county, Iowa, September 26, 1872. He grew to manhood at Blencoe, Iowa, and attended the Lincoln normal school at Lincoln, Nebraska, following which he taught school for a time.

He was graduated from the law college of Drake university and in 1902 came to Wayne where he lived since. For a time he was a member of the Davis and Kiplinger firm. He became an associate of the late Anson A. Welch, which was continued until the latter became District Judge.

In 1926, H. A. Welch, son of Davis' previous associate became a partner in the Davis and Welch law firm.

He was married to Edna Bush June 27, 1906, who with a son, Burr, and a daughter, Katherine Lou, survive. A brother, W. F. Davis; a sister Mrs. Lettie Comfort and his 80-year-old mother, Mrs. J. F. Davis, too

MRS. SUMNER FOX CALLED BY DEATH

Widow of Civil War Veteran, Married 67 Years, Dies at Her Kansas Home Recently.

LIVED HERE UNTIL LAST FALL

Word has come from Lone Elm, Kansas, of the death of Mrs. Sumner Fox, at that place, February 22nd, after a lingering sickness due to the infirmities of age after nearly 86 years of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox, who had lived at Wayne for more than 20 years, went last September, to spend the winter at their former Kansas home, both being in feeble health. Mr. Fox is several years older than his wife, and they celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage here in August 1921, when all of their children were here. A few years later an anniversary was observed here.

Mr. Fox is and has been quite feeble all winter, and is about 88 years of age. They were neighbors of Abraham Lincoln in Illinois before he became president, and Mr. and Mrs. Fox were married the day he enlisted to serve in the Union army, in August, 1861, when he marched away to training camp.

G. A. GRUNEMEYER AND WIFE WED TWENTY-THREE YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Grunemeyer have numerous friends here who keep pretty close tabs on their wedding anniversary, and on now and then such an occasion come unannounced to their home in this city, as they have done some other years; and as they did last Sunday, the 23d anniversary of the day when George led his bride to the altar in this city, and Judge Gene Hunter officiated at the ceremony which bound them to each other for nearly a quarter of a century.

It was evening Sunday, when the following people invaded their home at 421 Windom street with ample provisions for a pleasant repast at the proper time, and proceeded to enjoy an evening of sociable chat, games and reminiscences of other anniversaries when they had been welcome guests at the hospital home.

Those present were H. Clausen and wife, W. H. Echtenkamp, wife and family, Ernest Coleher, Chas. Murphy, wife and family, and Mrs. Dora Mier and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Grunemeyer have lived all of their married life at Wayne, and have a host of loyal friends who are always sure of a welcome beneath their roof. It was with good wishes that they bid good night, and a hope for all to be present at some future anniversary of the event which has meant so much to their host and hostess.

G. PERRY DIED AT ST. EDWARDS

Mrs. H. H. Cone from this place and her sister Mrs. Geo. Frances of Sioux City were called to Cedar Rapids, Nebraska, the first of the week by the sudden death of their brother, George Perry, who died quite suddenly at the hospital at St. Edwards, where he was taken for a fractured leg. The funeral service was at Cedar Rapids, where he has long lived. He was a man of about sixty years of age. Mrs. Cone returned last evening.

With her husband, who represents an eastern manufacturer in middle western cities, she passed through Sioux City, Tuesday, where Mrs. V. A. Senter visited her.

She obtained a divorce from her former husband, Mr. McIntyre, about two years ago; it is reported.

RANDOLPH COUPLE WED FIFTY YEARS

Pioneers of Cedar County Observe Golden Anniversary at Norfolk Home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buol, pioneers of Randolph where Mr. Buol opened the town's first hardware store in 1837, and later became president of the Security National Bank of which he still is an officer, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their Norfolk home Monday.

Their four children, Martin of Randolph, Mrs. Francis Mayo, Omaha and Ida Ann Buol and Kate Buol, both of Norfolk and a host of other close relatives of Iowa, California and Nebraska, were entertained at a dinner.

During the afternoon the couple were hosts to a large number of callers of this corner of the state, holding open house from two to five o'clock. Mrs. John Ahern and Mrs. R. L. Larson of Wayne, formerly of Randolph attended the afternoon festivities.

Mrs. A. W. Christensen is a niece of the Buols, and enjoyed a pleasant visit with relatives, some of whom she had not seen for several years.

CHECKER ARTISTS LOSE TO PILGER

Visitors Win 31, Lose 17 and Get 24 Draws to Defeat Wayne Sextette, Tuesday.

Every now and then we have heard rumors of the prowess of the Pilger checker players, and the intimation that they were going to make a date and come and clean the alleged experts of Wayne—and they did that Tuesday evening.

The players from Pilger were one short of the six supposed to make the team, but Wayne generously loaned them a player in the person of D. Craig who did his best for his adopted team. The Pilger team was made up of Nieberg, Bare, Coney, Davis, Barndt and Craig.

The Wayne six were Foot, Wright, Patterson, McMurphy, Norton and Larson. The score made by the two teams is given below, but we did not get the individual scores out in table form.

Pilger won 31 games and lost 17, with 24 draws, and their points totaled 86, and their percentage of points won was 597.

Wayne won 17 games and lost 31, and had, of course the same number of draws, 24, and they won 53 points, which was 403 percent.

Nieberg of Pilger was the high man and his percentage of points made was 833. Foot and Wright were high percentage men of Wayne, each being credited with 541 percent, and each winning 13 points.

The Wayne players were at some disadvantage, not having been accustomed to playing a tournament, and not entirely familiar with the rules of a tournament.

Checkers may look like a simple game, just pushing the checkers over the squares, but there is a lot of science in the game, and any good checker player realizes that he must move with great caution or be cleaned up by an experienced player. It is a game which used to be played much more than at present, and possibly played better.

FORMER HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER'S HUSBAND DEAD

The husband of a former high school teacher, Miss Cora Schlaak, who taught here two years ago, died a few months following their marriage, according to meagre reports received here.

Miss Schlaak of Findley, Ohio, is again teaching at her home town, it is said. It is also rumored that she will teach in a small college in Nebraska next year.

The lower house at Lincoln voted to see what, if anything, there is to the story that our new state house is to fall down. Why not wait and see?

NORTHEAST NEBR. TEAMS TROUNCED

Winside and Laurel onl Wayne Tour; Winside and Laurel Only Wayne Tour-Barrier at Lincoln.

Tournament winners of the Wayne district fared badly at the state competition at Lincoln last week, and with the exception of Winside and Laurel were eliminated in the opening rounds of competition of the various classes.

Winside romped over Primrose 18 to 6 in the first round of class G and bested Kennard 8 to 4 in the second round to battle their way to the semifinals.

They were eliminated in the semifinals by Mascot when the lads became weary from playing two tough games in one day and were unable to make good on many chances at the hoop. They lost 21 to 14 after making a brilliant late-spurt that fell short by 7 points.

West Point, Wayne, Pender, Ponca, and Magnet were eliminated in the first round while Laurel managed to get by the first barrier although they were handicapped by the loss of Martin's services at center. Martin suffered a fractured ankle late in the finals at Wayne's district meet.

The Holder quint were tamed by Rushville in a close hard fought struggle in their first mix in class C.

St. Paul won their second championship in two years by taking the measure of Hastings in an overtime fracas in Class A.

Phil H. Kohl, who has been looking after business matters in eastern Colorado, and also in other parts of the country, came home Tuesday morning to look after some business matters here, and also to be present at the A. Mrs. Geo. Fortner, who spent a pleasant winter in California, at the home of their son at Long Beach, reached home Sunday morning. Mrs. Fortner was detained fourteen hours in the mountains by a snow slid which blocked the train for that length of time. It is unusual to have snow slid at this time of the year, but a warm rain came in some parts of the mountains and loosened a part of the heavy snow which has been clinging to the mountain sides during the past few months. It is fully a month earlier than such trouble usually comes. But they were fortunate not to be buried by the sliding snow, which at times covers everything to great depth.

A bill permitting counties to vote bonds to meet Federal aid in completing the State and Federal road system will be up for final vote soon. The bonds are to be retired with gas tax money. We do not like the proposition very well for two reasons. First, the counties who bonds first will get all the surplus Federal money and then we will have a 4c gas tax with only a small Federal amount to match and second the interest will amount to as much as the bonds and we will be paying twice as much for our roads as we should. We cannot help but think that a general slowing down should be practiced. If not the common people will not have anything left and will have spent their all in order that the more fortunate may enjoy themselves.—Niobrara Tribune.

What most interests in a paper, seems to be where the money is, or might be. A traveler who visits these parts with more or less regularity called one day last week, and after making his business known, saw a daily on the desk and asked to see it—wanted to see the market—and the market he wanted was not in that edition. Thinking that he might be interested in an account of the great explosion at Scribner, just at hand in that copy of the paper, his attention was called to the story. He looked at the head line and gave the paper back, and moved on, apparently not the least interested—except in the market. We wonder if he had a shipment of stock on the market, or stock on the board of trade. At any rate, it seemed of more interest to him than the snuffing out of a half dozen lives and the serious injury of a score of others.

What TWIN IGNITION Does

THE New Nash Twin-Ignition motor has two big aircraft spark plugs for each cylinder, instead of the ordinary single plug, as you can see in the simplified diagram above.

Both plugs fire simultaneously. The gas vapor is ignited at two points instead of the usual one. One effect is quicker combustion, which produces more power, more speed, much faster acceleration.

Another result is, more uniform combustion, which helps to create the very noticeable smoothness and rhythm of Nash motor performance.

And still another result of Twin Ignition is more efficient combustion, which prevents wasted fuel.

With Twin Ignition, instead of single ignition, higher compression is practical, and the same Nash motor produces 9 1/2 more horsepower, 5 miles an hour more speed, and 2 extra miles from every gallon of gasoline you buy.

"Beauty calls and gives no warning,
Shadows rise and wander of the day.
In the twilight, in the quiet evening,
We shall rise and smile and go away.
Over the flaming leaves
Freezes the sky.
It is the season grieves,
Not you, not I.
All our spring-times, all our summers,
We have kept the longing warm within.
Now we leave our after-comers
To attain the dreams we could not win.
O we have wakened, Sweet, and had our birth,
And that's the end of earth;
And we have toiled and smiled and kept the light,
And that's the end of night."

THE CREAM WAR PENDING

The new cream rule of direct buying is being adopted by the big central plants in this corner of the state at least, and at this time it looks like a slap at the mutual of co-operative creameries, of which there has been an increasing number in the past few seasons. If the competition to the big stations can be eliminated, it is safe to predict that the price of butterfat will decline so far as the farmer is concerned. For years, it has been the apparent aim of the big combines to increase their margin of profit by a low price for cream and a higher price for butter.

A dozen or more years ago, Wayne producers were organized on a good basis—and in addition to the home-produced cream, it was coming in from a number of outside towns because of the better price paid here. But in an evil day, the tempter came and raise to stockholders in the creamery, which was handling their cream on a small margin per pound and making a quality of butter that brought them more than the market price of the central station agents. But the central plants put their price in this territory higher than the market really afforded, and the short sighted share holders in the home concern sold to their competitors for a little immediate gain, and when the creamery decided to close, and the price dropped well down to make up for the higher prices that had been paid, the farmer man woke up—but too late, but he hollered just the same and many of them sold their cows or turned the calves in to do the milking. Yet they get just what they should have expected, and we predict that if they desert their home concerns they will get the same treatment again—or at least we fear that it may be so. Most of the local agents are quitting, or threatening to do so—and they cannot be expected to fight the battle alone. It is a question of who makes the profit on the farmer produce.

The public schools at Maskel were closed last week because of an epidemic of scarlet fever.

Crofton claims to be losing business because of the high freight rate to that town, via Sioux City, from some point in northern Iowa. The rate per car by the route mentioned was $80; but the same load could be sent to Yankton for half the sum—and that was done, and trucks used for the short haul—and the railroads wonder that their freight and passenger business is going to the truck and the car. Too much red tape in the freight rates.

She—Did your watch stop when it fell to the floor?

He—Of course, did you think it would go through?

A GALA DAY AT MADISON

At Madison last week they celebrated the opening of butter factory, or creamery, as most such concerns are called, and it was reported that an attendance of 5,000 people were in the town that day to participate of the festivities and compete for the various prizes offered, of which there were a goodly number. There were speakers, and an interesting program. For the best name for the product a $25 prize was given, Mrs. Wm. Armstrong of Norfolk winning when the name "Madison Maid," was accepted as the most appropriate name. It was three minutes past midnight when the first can of cream came in, and it won a $5.00 prize. A $5.00 prize went to the one bringing the largest lump of butterfat, and also for the highest test. C. A. Altschler won won both firsts, with 169 pounds of pounds of fat, testing 59. There were close second and third competitors for these prizes, each receiving a lesser prize. The best decorated can and cream that came the greatest distance, also were awarded prizes.

Madison merchants had stimulated attendance by making a special bargain day of the date, and it was well worthy of the enthusiastic opening, for the creamery, properly managed and community owned, or just doing an aggressive business in converting milk and butter fat into a finished produce of high quality is one of the most valuable assets to a community that has the climate, water and feed to make good cow products into good butter or cheese. We have watched the wealth of a community increase year by year—a community that pioneered in dairy products in Iowa, beginning more than a half century ago, and they have not needed other farm relief, and it is today one of the richest farming communities in that wealthy state. They builded better than they knew, and so it doubtless will prove as to Madison.

He—Aren't rosy checks a sign of good health?

She—I should say they are.

He—Well, you're a lot healthier on one side than on the other.

The Finest Little Piano The World Has Ever Seen or Heard

The Bush & Lane Small Upright

has been called "The Ideal Upright." For though it is only 3 feet 10 inches high, it has all the tone volume of most large uprights on the market today and a better tone than any other piano of its size in the world.

Here is the ideal instrument because it represents the happy medium of piano production problems—not too small for a large home or too big for a little room. And "just the thing" for schoolroom, bungalow, or small apartment.

This dainty and charming "Baby Piano" differs from the general run of small instruments because it has been built up to a standard and not down to a price. Yet it costs very little to own one of these rare pianos.

This small upright has a width of 23 inches and is 5 feet 1/2 inch in length. It may be had in either mahogany or walnut or in special art-woods in a variety of attractive designs.

"You can't go WRONG if you buy a Bush & Lane because it's made RIGHT."

We gladly stop the press this morning to commend President Hoover for locking the oil reserves and putting the key in his pocket. Let us hope that he proves a guardian of the people's natural resources.

Representative Hovis, from Lexington, who is charged with having the staff correspondent of the Omaha World-Herald excluded from the press room of the legislature, is now charging the Bee writer with ignorance, at least, if nothing worse. Better throw the Bee man out. By the way, was it not this same Hovis who wanted all news of the legislature eliminated from the papers, unless it was given out by the official head of the legislative body? If so, we move the appointment of a committee of sane men to feel of his head.

IS "LONDON TOWER" FALLING?

It seems as though common decency would suggest that such complaint of our $12,000,000 capitol building be delayed at least until the building is finished before the story is started that the structure is falling down. But perhaps now is the time to make the holler, before the appropriations are all spent. At any rate, the story is in the press of the state that the building is unsafe, and that stone in the walls are cracking and splitting, due to faulty construction, or perhaps defective material. An investigating committee is asked for. The claim is that the cost of the building is limited to $9,500,000 instead of $12,000,000 as told by the story of the defective walls. Well, the lesser sum is twice as much as was asked in the original bill—and so should be paid by other than the tax payers of the state.

NEWS AND COMMENTS

Commissioner Burge of the Indian bureau has resigned. He was an appointee of President Harding. Some papers say that Cato Sells, who was appointed by President Wilson, and who favored Hoover in the late campaign is to be named. Cato Sells was an efficient officer during the term he served.

George E. Martin, president of the state teachers college at Kearney, has been asked to resign his office; and this he declines to do, unless there shall be an investigation of the charges that are said to have been made about his conduct of the school. Would you?

It sounds like a harsh sentence to deprive a driver of the use of his car for 30 days, just because 40 dozens eggs were broken in a mix of cars. We have heard of instances of more serious losses and worse damage, and the driver kept right on going. We are not finding so much fault with this decision, however, as the more serious cases that go scott free. Time to make human life and limb at least on a par with a handful of eggs. Of course forty dozen sounds big, but it is only a case and one-third, and there are many farmers who bring more eggs than that to town as the output of but a day or two.

The Great Western Sugar Company of Denver is charged by the government with unfair methods, an stifling competition; and the company comes back with the statement that the government's complaint is not sufficient. Well, if they were made sufficient, what show would the company have but to enter a plea of guilty?

What is the matter with dry law enforcement? Here is one thing, according to County Attorney Dowling of Madison county, while talking of that question, too much talk and too little action, and is quoted as follows: "I can say frankly that during the year 1928, with one or two exceptions not one citizen of the county, however loudly he may profess to be in favor of the law, has lifted a finger in any way, shape or form to aid the county attorney or other public officers in securing convictions." Perhaps that is "what's the matter with Hannah," as the old saying went. That seems to be the whole cause of lack of enforcement. One official against a hundred law-evading bootleggers, and expect him to cope successful with the many who are trying to evade the law for the profit there is in the illegal sale—and trying both day and night. Citizens should if they hope for enforcement.

More U. S. troops are being sent to the southern border, where citizens fear they may need the protection of the soldier, because of the revolution now under way in Mexico. Stray shots, from the revolutionist have done some damage, on this side of the border, and killed one or more people of this country.

Mrs. Sarah Joslyn of Omaha has been awarded by the American Legion of that city the prize given annually to the city's "most valuable citizen for 1928." Mrs. Joslyn is immensely wealthy, and has many humanitarian ideas which she is able and willing to give for the aid to those less favored with this world goods.

It now seems quite probable that the United States will enter the World Court as one of the members of that body. This is the right thing to do, as most citizens view it.

And we are glad to note that President Hoover is clamping down on the oil leases, or leases of oil lands to private concerns. Now we hope he will go another step and apply the same rule to the water power sites. Both, of right belong to the people, and should be preserved for their use. Perhaps our new president will make more wise decisions in favor of the people.

TWINS OF DESTRUCTION

The gun that wasn't loaded and the stove where the fire was (supposedly) out. Do not tempt fate.

We might add to the dangers of the east that of blizzards. A Michigan woman was lost and perished in a blizzard last week in that state, not far from her home, near Bessemer.

It is time for the members of the legislature to take another vacation and visit home folks. The house majority killed a bill pledged by the governor and their party which would require listing of campaign expenses in this state. Mark the fellows who opposed the measure, and leave them home next time. Let the house reconsider the measure, if they are wise.

At Lincoln, according to the dispatches, we have the spectacle of the tender-hearted F. A. High, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league and Mrs. Clara Clayton, president of the W. C. T. U., and most ardent law enforcement speakers and actors as not in favor of the bill to put added penalty for violators of the amendment to keep the world sober. Perhaps that is the reason the present law has been so easily evaded; its provisions may have been working a "hardship" in some cases. The measure was killed in the senate, and the hypocrites should have the excuse for its defeat laid at their door.

Now they have found a kid at McCook Junction who has no mark of absence or tardiness against him for six long weary years. Good—but the Democrat still has the lead with the record of the Villisca, Iowa, lad who went from bottom to top—twelve years—without such a mark.

Rev. Alberswert from St. Louis, was here and preached at the Theopolis church southwest of Wayne, as a candidate for the pastorate of that church, which has been supplied by Rev. Fischer for nearly a year, in spite of the fact that he had resigned, but consented to preach a part of the time until a new pastor was secured. It is not known yet whether or not he will be called, or if called whether he will accept.

Miss Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Erxleben of the Altona neighborhood, who is teaching at or near Sioux City, was taken to one of the city hospitals the first of the week, and her case diagnosed as appendicitis trouble, and an operation advised her father went to the city Monday evening, and was there when the operation was performed. The report is that the young lady rallied quickly from the effect, and all symptoms indicate a speedy return to normal health.

A rural mail carrier near Pawnee City got struck while carrying mail, and left his auto and made the remaining nine miles on foot. That sounds like deeds of the early days when mail carriers on star routes frequently "hoofed it" all the way, and nearly every trip. One of those hard carriers, when the pay was on a percentage basis received 11 cents a trip for his services. He was out of luck in getting a very full mail pouch; but he filled the contract, and by saving his pennies, became the richest man in the township before he died.

W. E. Howard and wife of Pomona were elected president and secretary for the ensuing year to take the place of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pittenger.

Sight Seeing

It was my pleasure a few weeks ago to visit the park like home grounds and library of the Henry E. Huntington estate at S. Pasadena. There is a very beautiful Japanese garden, big cactus garden and pond lilies bloom in profusion in one section of the grounds. The tickets are free, but one has to write and secure them and a guard accepts them at the gate, at 1 p. m. We wandered around the grounds then entered the spacious old home where much art is on display for the benefit of the public. We saw the original "Blue Boy" by Gainsborough which cost $100,000. Several more of his paintings, also many relics of interest were in evidence. I saw a page from Benjamin Franklin's diary which would put some of us moderns to shame I think. He began the day at 5 by asking "What Good Shall I do Today?" and at ten wrote in the margin "What Good Have I Done Today?" also saw in a glass cabinet some of Geo. Washington's hand writing, giving the vital statistics of the Washington family.

Mrs. Alice Ley is entertaining a group for bridge this afternoon, among the guests expected is Mrs. Bert Brown.

Last evening it was our great privilege to hear "Bon Hur" as sung by a Hayden-Handel group of 75 voices and a very splendid pipe organ and orchestra accompanied. The First Baptist church was packed.

Gasoline has been selling as low as 9 1/2 and 10 cents for some time now and as a result a good many "little fellows" have had to close down their filling stations.

The big horseshoe pier has its frame work up and big car loads of rock are being daily deposited now, later the new Auditorium will be erected in this still water space and wonderful facilities for bathing will be possible. This is all under contract to be completed by 1930. The city of Long Beach has been bonded several million dollars for this improvement.

At least twenty large buildings have been put up south of Anaheim street and between Cadar and Elm avenues in the past two years. Only those who see it now will ever realize the change having taken place since we came here first in January 1919.

Some friends of ours were leaving for Honolulu a few weeks ago and I accompanied them to the Wilmington docks where the Calawal started on the 2,200 mile trip. The guests were permitted to go practically all over the boat until 15 minutes before its departure a whistle was blown and such a scramble and farewells being spoken on all sides, soon the orchestra struck up the notes of "Farewell To Thee" and the people went to second deck and threw vari-colored serpentine streamers. When the boat slowly left the thousands of papers made a very pretty spectacle as those on board were holding their parting gifts of flowers or "leis" which had been placed about their necks. When our friends arrived they wrote that their relatives met them and almost smothered them with the "leis", for that is a Hawaiian custom. I was much interested in watching the crew lift large slugs of luggage, or an auto as case may be, and the crane would slowly move over and get another load and the crew in the hold deposit them just where they should be. A pen (made on the deck where I imagine the spray would fall) of pigs was also ready to go, and much California fruit. Will close with greetings.

Public Should Know About Schools, Taylor

Chas. W. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction is not one of those who believes that the business of handling public school affairs should be done behind closed doors and the public permitted to know what they can dig up. In an address delivered before the state convention of school executives at Lincoln last week he urged that best cooperation could be secured when the people of the district were kept fully informed, particularly in the matter of school finances.

Few people realize that the average school system spends several times as much money as the city council or village board of the community in which the school is located. Yet the village authorities are required by law to publish a summary of their official proceedings so that the people may know what is being done.

I can imagine nothing that would be so helpful to the schools of the country as the publication of an accurate record of the activities of the school boards. Too often individuals who secure places on these boards get the idea that they are the autocratic guardians of the institutions temporarily entrusted to their care and under the cloak of 100 per cent patriotism ignore the wishes of the rank and file of the people, whose interest can be depended upon, even if they are not always fully informed.

Mr. Taylor also urged frequent audits of the financial transactions and in case of the larger systems, urged that this be done by professional accountants, says Cedar County News.

They report that crop prospects are very doog there.

Mr. Goeman reports that other former Wayne folks in that vicinity are doing well, and remarked that Carl Englert, who had the misfortune some years ago to lose his eye sight now has artificial eyes, and while they do not restore sight, they greatly improve his looks, and add to his comfort, not having the annoyance of the old useless eyeballs. Mr. Goeman seems to think it was a wise move for them when they moved to that newer country to help develop it.

Maurice Goeman, a lad here a few years ago, came this week from Danton, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Goeman moved about a dozen years ago, and is visiting a few days in this part of Nebraska. He tells us that his folks are well, and his father actively farming, buying and selling stock and getting along well. The young man is farming, and also finds time to buy and ship a car of horses to Iowa points occasionally.

With him came J. W. Smith from the same place, who was a resident here some thirty years ago, living in the neighborhood southeast of Wayne.

STANDARD OF EDUCATION
The legislature has before it in the form of H. R. 482 and S. F. 207, a bill sponsored by the state teachers' association which has for its purpose the equalization of educational opportunity in the state and the raising of standards of education. The plan incorporated in the bill, which is drafted along the lines of similar measures introduced in other legislatures, is to set up a minimum educational program to be provided in each district the state to supply the funds which local taxation and other district district aid does not raise.

The bill provides a minimum of $800 for each elementary teaching unit, which means the salary of the teacher and the upkeep on the school or a fraction of the school's upkeep, according to its size. The program is to go into effect in July if the bill is enacted. In 1931 the minimum was raised to $1,000 and in 1933 to $1,200 which is the present goal. The minimum for high school units is approximately a third more.

A minimum for the local contribution to the upkeep of the schools, the equivalent of a tax of 1.7 mills for the biennium beginning July 1, 1929, 2.2 mills for that biennium beginning in 1931 and 2.7 mills after July, 1933, is also provided.

Local option prevails for participation in this state aid. Any district may obtain it by providing nine months of school and complying with other state requirements. Under this system the local taxes would more than provide for the minimum program in some districts. In others considerable state money would be required to bring the schools to standard. Proponents of the bill argue that while state taxes would be increased, this increase would be almost compensated by a decrease in most cases of district taxes. In the wealthier districts a tax-increase would result. The claim is made that the sum total spent by the state for education is not necessarily increased by the proposed law. No organized opposition has been encountered at the present stage.

The above is from the State Journal, tells of the aims of the teachers' association of the state, and if you think their proposed plans are not what they should be—or that the tax raise proposed is too great and too fast—you had best lose no time in entering your protests. True it is that money properly expended for the schools is usually well invested—yet there are those who rather object to more taxes, and also some who do not like the idea of financially interested organization dipping in too deep in a measure to feather their own nest. Better study the measure and do it now, and then support or oppose it as seems wise to you. Do it now, for the measure may come to a vote at any time.

REORGANIZING SCHOOLS

The Hartington schools are to undergo quite a complete re-organization at the hands of their newly elected superintendent, Ralph G. Brooks, says the News. The school board and the new superintendent which would combine fifth and sixth and third and fourth grade under one teacher for each combine grade, thus eliminating two teachers, and also at the same time provide some room for junior high school. He would also abolish the position of principal of high school using what is called a principal-secretarial system. To accomplish this he would combine the routine work of the principal and the clerical work of the superintendent and the secretary of the board of education. The recommendation is that the board to pay an athletic coach not to exceed $1800, and that it be divorced from the department of manual training. He then suggested the retaining of a number of the present instructors at salaries ranging from $1,000 to $1,800 and making a total salary reduction of more than three thousand, unless the superintendent shall be allowed a higher salary than the former one was drawing.

BOY SCOUT WILL BE HONORED AT BANQUET

To be the eleventh Norfolk youth to attain the rank of a gold medal scout is the distinction held by Lawrence Dayton, son of Mrs. Zuelia T. Dayton who next month will be the guest of honor at a banquet at which his uncle, Judge William B. Rose of the supreme court, will be the speaker, says the News.

To become a gold medal scout, young Dayton accumulated a total of 17,000 points in various forms of scoutcraft. When he had attained 2,000 points he was awarded a bronze medal. Then he scored 5,000 additional points and attained the rank of silver medal scout. It required 10,000 more marks to become a gold medal scout. Four years' time was spent by this energetic youth in attaining the 17,000 marks.

Judge Rose will present the award to his nephew at the banquet, the date of which is to be announced later.

GOING HENCE BY KEROSENE ROUTE

Almost daily one may read of deaths from the careless use of kerosene oil for kindling, and when it comes close home, as it did last week here, we all stop and take notice. But then a lot of people go right on

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

pouring oil from a closed can into a stove and taking chances of fire being in the stove sufficient to cause an explosion. Biff, and a life is gone—a home burned, perhaps—suffering and loss caused.

There are two comparatively safe ways to do this act of kindling. One is not to do it with oil at all; another way, if you must use oil, is to keep a small open can with perhaps an inch of oil in it, and stand your kindling, be it coals or small sticks in the oil, making the preparation in advance of fire building time. Then light your oil soaked kindling after it is laid in the stove, and add other kindling or fuel on top. It is better to be safe than sorry.

Tires for the new Ford are specially made to give long wear

WHEN the new Ford was designed, it was immediately apparent that a new tire would have to be made to match the car's performance. It was distinctly a new problem, for here was a car with quicker acceleration, greater speed and more braking efficiency than any car of similar size or weight.

So that every Ford owner might be assured of maximum tire mileage at the lowest cost, the Ford Motor Company devoted many months to research and experiment in conjunction with the leading tire manufacturers.

As a result, certain definite specifications were developed for tires for the new Ford. These specify cords of certain strength and texture, a large volume of tread and side-wall rubber, sturdy non-skid design, and reinforced plies for protection against bruise breaks—all the strong features of construction formerly considered for only the largest tires.

Great care also was taken to secure the best riding qualities in connection with the transverse springs and the Houdaille shock absorbers.

Though the Ford tires are designated as the 30 x 4.50, they have the resiliency and air space of much larger tires because of the drop center rim of the steel-spoke wheels.

For best results, the tires on the new Ford should be kept inflated to an air pressure of 35 pounds and checked regularly to insure this pressure all the time. This is important. Low inflation breaks down the side-walls of a tire. By causing overheating, it also destroys the rubber that acts as an insulation, with consequent separation of the cord.

At the end of each 5000 miles, when you have the front wheels packed with grease, it is a good plan to have the wheel alignment checked. This will prevent premature wear.

When punctures come, as they will with any tire, you will find the Ford dealer particularly well-equipped to make repairs quickly and at small cost. See him, too, for replacements. Then you will be sure of getting tires built specially for the Ford car according to definite Ford specifications.

WAYNETTE AT UNIVERSITY AT PHILADELPHIA

Charles A. Keyser of Wayne, is among the undergraduates of the University of Pennsylvania whose election to prominent fraternities has just been announced following the annual "rushing season" on the Pennsylvania campus. Keyser was chosen as a member of the University Chapter of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

By agreement among the fraternities, the "rushing season" does not begin until the second half of the University year, and is limited to a two week period at the end of which all the fraternities make public the lists of their new members simultaneously.

Keyser is the son of Mrs. George E. Keyser, 713 Pearl St., and is a student in the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University. He is a graduate of the Wayne High School, where he was a member of the basketball and football teams and the student council.

Wide participation in fraternity life at the University of Pennsylvania is evidenced by the fact that approximately 66 per cent of the freshman class were elected to fraternities on the Pennsylvania campus, in addition to which there are numerous professional, graduate and honorary fraternities which bring the total number of organizations of this type at the University to more than 90.

Word has come announcing the death of Mrs. William Beery of Chicago, mother of Professor Leon F. Beery, formerly of the music department at Wayne. Mrs. Beery's death occurred Sunday, February 23 following an operation. Mrs. Beery was connected with a publishing company for several years and was author of poems and mottoes. Many people will recall a pleasant acquaintance with her during her visit in the home of her son two years ago, and will learn the news with regret.

FARMER OUTLOOK FOR NEBR.

service, and his remarks and the charts he exhibited were suggestive of and answers to such questions as:

How is the outlook material prepared?

Have past outlook reports been worth considering?

Have any Nebraska farmers utilized outlook forecasts?

H. G. Filly of the rural economic department was the next speaker, and his talk was divided by the luncheon hour. In his morning talk the following four questions were suggested:

Are we producing too much feed grain?

Is the hog price cycle moving up or down?

What is the outlook in the dairy industry?

Are producers expanding cattle production?

In his after dinner talk his answer was to such questions as:

Can Nebraska farmers reduce transportation charges?

Should consumer demand be considered?

Can Nebraska farmers use outlook material when changing their farm organization?

"The Evidence of the Case" was next presented by Ralph Cole, an extension service agent in farm management, and his talk led to such questions as follows, and a suggestion of their solution—a matter in which many of those present in the audience took a part, as they had in other parts of the meeting, and in fact, the speakers all seemed to welcome suggestions and questions from the farmer audience:

Are farm records worth keeping?

How much of a job is it to keep a farm record book?

Have Nebraska farmers changed farm plans from what they have learned from their record books?

What is the most valuable implement on Nebraska farms?

As the time for closing drew near, R. E. Holland again came to the platform and made a short, instructive talk in which he answered such interesting and vital farmer questions as:

Is it worth while for farmers to make use of newest information on agricultural problems?

Where and how can information be secured?

The first question above was answered in the affirmative, with very good reasons why farmers should early make use of the best of new information which looked to the betterment of their particular class of farming.

The reply to the second question above is that the most dependable information comes to the farmer from state and national bureaus of agriculture, because they are making a constant study of farm questions, and are prepared to answer with the latest information of a dependable nature as to nearly every question relating to better and more efficient production.

The Outlook

A summary of the replies to the questions noted as suggested and answered in the talks above referred to was encouraging as a whole, depending in its final summary so far as crops were concerned upon a normal season. The hog outlook is promising—the cattle and sheep apparently not so good, and showing a possible decline, tho the feeding industry will be well up to that of the past season, when high prices for feeders was a handicap to overpome.

The dairy conditions will doubtless continue much as they have been the past season, which may be classed favorable.

Poultry and eggs promise to be good for the increased demand for poultry as a meat, and the shortage of laying hens tend to keep prices up.

SUNSET MOOD

I hunger

Insatiably.

I thirst,

And the waters of all the rivers

Could not ease my torment.

I fear,

And stand appalled

To contemplate

The utter insignificance

Of things like me.

Yet

I am glad,

Gloriously, jubilantly happy!

I suffocate

With so much rapture unexpressed.

My soul

Leaps up, and throbs

In wordless ecstasy—

I praise whatever is,

For all this beauty!

PRES. CONN MAKES REPORT ON N. E. A. MEET IN CLEVELAND

(from the Goldenrod)
During the last week of February or the first week of March each year occurs the meeting known as the Department of Superintendence. This organization is independent of the National Education Association in every respect except that the members of the Department of Superintendence must also hold membership in the National Education Association. This mid-winter meeting convenes in some city having ample hotel accommodations and which is most convenient for those attending. This year the meeting was held in Cleveland, Ohio.

In connection with this meeting there are many affiliated organizations and societies for the study of educational problems. It is really a leadership meeting where authors and administrators meet to discuss problems and principles incident to their work. Personally I was not so much interested in the Department of Superintendence, as in the meeting of Presidents of the American Teachers Colleges which met just previous to the meeting of the Department of Superintendence. This organization is made up entirely of administrators of teacher training institutions.

Such things as standardization, organization, curriculum, support, and equipment were discussed at this meeting. For several years there has been a committee whose business it is to prescribe certain standards for all schools which hold membership in the association. The various institutions are inspected by representatives of the committee and are rated according to the strength of their faculty, their equipment and general character of the work. The highest rating any of the schools may have is Class A. Other classes are B, C, and D. All the state teachers colleges in Nebraska are rated as Class A schools.

It often happens that the city where these meetings are held has unusual points of interest for the visitor, but this is not particularly true of Cleveland. It is just a large city containing about one million inhabitants. It is one of the important ports on the Great Lakes and an important manufacturing and railroad center but it contains no historical points of any special interest.

One of the most enjoyable parts of these meetings is the opportunity to renew the acquaintances of school men and school women from all parts of the United States. It is very interesting to hear about things which are being done along educational lines in the southern states and in the New England or Pacific coast states. One has an opportunity from year to year to become very well acquainted with those whom he meets and to appreciate the friendships thus formed.

SWEET SIXTEEN

(Baltimore Evening Sun)
What a lovely creature she is, with eyes as blue as the skies, lips as red as rubies, teeth as white as pearls and hair like spun gold! She personifies the spirit of youth which the dank and sordid atmosphere of the world has not yet touched.

To look at her, little would one guess that she "simply loathes" cucumber sandwiches, that she "detests" all but one brand of cigarettes, that she "cannot stand" that old bachelor with the bald head who says nice things to her and thinks the girl she must play cards with is "perfectly terrible."

Who would imagine that she "despises" finger rolls and "hates the very sight of" the boy with the protruding teeth, while the girl with the red hair actually "nauseates" her?

The dance she went to last night was, in her opinion, "absolutely frightful" and the music "positively sickening." As for the decorations, they were, to say the least, "revolting." She is "enraged" at the very thought of having to call on that old lady, and the concert is "too dreadful to contemplate."

Words "simply fail to express" what she thinks of the preacher, and the conversation of that blond youth is "perfectly insufferable." She is "inflated" by the red lights at the street intersections and "driven to madness" by telephone calls in the early hours of the morning.

She spent a "hideous" day at home last week with nothing to do and would gladly have "murdered" several people. She "abhors" fixing her hair and "abominates" all her cousins. A tragic spectacle? Not altogether. She went to a movie today and found it "perfectly killing." What is more, she "adores" chocolates with chewy stuff inside. And she is really quite happy, for all the boys tell her she has a good line.

Teacher (illustrating point)—"Now if I went west and leased land and found oil on it, what would I be?"
Pupil—"A Republican."

Keep a John Deere Share on Your John Deere Plow

It's a common saying that a plow is only as good as its share. Costly delays at plowing time and poor work are often caused by failure of inferior shares to do their work properly. Genuine John Deere Shares fit perfectly—are easily put on—assure proper suction—scour to best advantage.

Therefore—good judgment tells you to keep John Deere shares on your John Deere plows.

The word DEERE is cut into the metal on the underside of every genuine John Deere Share.

We sell genuine John Deere shares. We take great pride in the way they are made, in the way they work and in the way they resist wear. Don't cripple your John Deere Plow by using imitation shares; call on us for the genuine.
