ESTABLISHED 1884

WAYNE, WAYNE COUNTY, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1929.

$1.50 PER YEAR

MOBILITY IS BLAMED For CRIME INCREASE

Dean Hahn Pleads for Character Training at Plainview District Women's Meeting.

WAYNE DELEGATES ATTEND

That women have outgrown the home and should give themselves to the community was the keynote of the convention, said Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, delegate to the 26th annual convention of the third district of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, held at Plainview Wednesday and Thursday last week, and attended by over 500 delegates and visitors. The slogan of the convention was, "Woman, once the homemaker, is to become in fact what she is in theory—the community builder," and all the talks were tied to this central idea.

Dean H. H. Hahn, of Wayne State Teachers' college, gave an address Thursday morning on character education, in which he stressed the fact that the general increase in lawlessness is due to the increased mobility of our population. Control of the home is not so readily attained in a mobile home as in a static home, he pointed out. Dean Hahn called attention to what is recognized by educators and psychologists today, that the character of a child is largely made in the first two years of its life, and said that while the schools are willing to cooperate, character education must begin in the home.

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, chairman of music for the district, and Mrs. E. W. Huse, one of the judges of the club yearbooks, were the Wayne delegates. Mrs. Lutgen also appeared on the program Thursday morning talking on the subject of attractive programs of old songs. She explained her "Song Story of the Nation," in which the history of America is given in a combination of readings, songs, and tableaux.

The officers elected for next year are: Mrs. Fender of Meadow Grove, president; Mrs. McDuffy of Norfolk, vice president; and Mrs. Broynhill of Dakota City, secretary. The convention of the third district next year will be held at Neligh.

The Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs is divided into districts identical with the congressional districts. The third district was the first to hold its convention this year.

JOE SMOLSKI RETURNS FROM SCHOOL IN CHICAGO

Joe Smolski, who spent several days attending a school of instruction in Chicago, returned to Wayne last Saturday and is again on the job in his Beauty Parlor over the State bank.

There are always a lot of new things to learn. Mr. Smolski remarked, and especially in our line of work. New ideas are developed every day by experts who passed the new theories along to a large delegation of operators from all parts of the country who were in attendance, he said.

GEORGE BAIRD TO VISIT IN EUROPE

Will Visit "Little Bit o' Heaven" During Summer Months; Third Trip To Old Home.

George Baird, well known resident of Wayne county who came here nearly 37 years ago, will make his third visit to Ireland, the land of his birth, this summer, according to plans he is now entertaining.

"The big trouble with going to Europe, Mr. Baird states, is getting the passports. And you know I want things lined up so that when I get tired of it over there I can come back to Wayne."

Among other relatives Mr. Baird has five brothers still living in his mother country. Two brothers are still living on their old home farm near Belfast, two live in Belfast and one is now residing in England. He has made two other trips back to Ireland, one in 1911 and one six years ago.

Belfast, said Mr. Baird, is just across the channel and only a few hours ride by boat from Liverpool, where he plans to land. Although he likes this country much better than that there are many nice things to be said for the land of his birth and a visit there is always looked forward to with considerable anticipation. Mr. Baird intimated.

SCOUT IS COMMENDED BY JUDGE W. B. ROSE

Lawrence Dayton, Norfolk boy scout who formerly lived in Wayne county, was awarded a gold medal at a special function Monday night when his uncle Judge W. B. Rose of Lincoln spoke.

The lad was commended for being the 14th of 275 boys who have been Scouts in Norfolk to receive the gold medal mark of merit which is awarded to boys earning 17000 merit marks. The honor came as a result of nearly four years of industrious work and training.

His mother Mrs. Zuella T. Dayton and three gold medal scouts were guests of honor.

"Men and women of commonplace ability and talent, through perseverance and the will to stick to their task, have accomplished what genius has often failed to do," the judge said in commending the youth, following the banquet given in his honor.

KIWANIANS HEAR ADDRESS ON BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Benjamin Franklin has not been sufficiently recognized as a scientist, said Dr. C. E. Snyder, past Kiwanis president, of Sioux City, in an address before the local Kiwanis club at the Stratton Hotel Monday noon. Dr. Snyder pointed out that Franklin was the first American to devote himself seriously to science, and that his inventions of the Franklin stove and the lightning rod were but two of his many contributions.

Franklin carried on his scientific work said Dr. Snyder as an adjunct to his diplomatic career, his founding of the Junto Club, later to become the American Philosophical Society, his founding of the paper later the Saturday Evening Post, and his activities in the colonies and early states. Dr. Snyder observed that Franklin continued to be an active force in world affairs until he was eighty years old.

The address was well attended by the local Kiwanians.

CARROLL MAN HURT WHEN TRUCK UPSET

Wm. Thomas Loses Control of Machine Heavily Loaded With Stock, is Badly Bruised.

Losing control of the truck he was driving as he was going down a long hill near Nocora Monday night, Wm. Thomas, Carroll, was seriously injured when the machine, which was heavily loaded, rolled over twice righted itself and left the road.

Wm. Thomas, an uncle of W. P. Thomas local Ford salesman, was rushed to a Sioux City hospital, where he is reported to be in a semi-conscious condition, suffering severe cuts and bruises about his head and body.

The truck, it is reported, was being operated without brakes and was heavily loaded with 15 hogs and a cow which gave it momentum going down a long hill and caused the driver to lose control as he attempted to negotiate a curve.

The truck was badly damaged, it is said, but the stock with the exception of one hog was recovered.

Mr. Thomas has been making regular trips from Carroll to Sioux City and other places having been in that business for some time.

SOUTH DAKOTA MAN TO HEAD SCHOOLS

H. R. Best, With Degree From Nebr. University Selected From Fifty Applicants.

AT WAGNER LAST SIX YEARS

H. R. Best, superintendent of the Wagner, South Dakota, schools during the past six years, was selected to head the Wayne schools for next year at a meeting of the board members held last Friday night. His salary, the amount of which was not announced, it is said, will be $2,800 for the year.

A graduate of Yankton college and earning his Masters degree from the University of Nebraska, Mr. Best who also has a year of study in France to his credit, was selected strictly on the merits of his qualifications, members of the board said.

With about fifty applications for the Wayne superintendency the board carefully investigated the records and qualifications of each and were unanimous in agreeing on the selection of Mr. Best, who, they believe has exercised outstanding ability in managing the Wagner schools, where he has served during the past six years.

Supt. T. S. Hook, who will be succeeded by Prof. Best, resigned his position here several weeks ago. He has not announced his future plans, but will retire from school work, it is intimated.

There are still some vacancies on the Wayne faculty to be filled for the coming year, and these will probably be disposed of at one of the early meetings of the school board.

WILLIS NOAKES TO HEAD COUNTY DAIRY CALF CLUB

Wayne county is to have a boys' dairy calf club, according to Mr. Wm. Hawkins, county leader of baby beef clubs. Willis Noakes has agreed to take charge, and the club is now being organized. Membership is open to boys between the ages of 10 and 20, who can start with heifer calves. The project will extend over four years, says Mr. Hawkins, and the calves will be entered for premiums on dairy calf club exhibits, both at the county and state fairs.

Although dairy calf clubs have been organized for a number of years in other parts of the state this is to be the first one in the county.

BARN BURNED TO GROUND HERE LATE MONDAY NIGHT

A barn on the J. H. Murry property in the southeast part of the city was entirely destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin late Monday night. The property was fully covered by insurance.

Fire had gained such headway before it was seen that firemen were summoned too late to attempt to extinguish it, the building being a mass of ruins when they arrived.

ASKING RELEASE FROM GUARDIAN

Robert Fenske, Hoskins, Files Petition Declaring That He is Mentally Capable.

Robert Fenske, who during the past two years has been confined in a Norfolk sanitarium, filed a petition in county court yesterday asking that he be freed from the obligations of his guardian, appointed a couple of years ago, when Fenske was found incompetent.

Fenske is now competent to handle his own business and affairs the petition contends and asks for a hearing to be held on April 23 before the Wayne county judge.

Fenske at one time was declared an inebriate and later was found incompetent to take care of his affairs and E. O. Strate was named as his guardian. Since the time his home burned, when he barely escaped with his life, at Hoskins two years ago he has been cared for at a Norfolk sanitarium.

Other unsuccessful attempts to have the guardianship court order set aside have been made.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The members of the Presbyterian church held their annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening in the church dining room, the largest congregational meeting for a number of years. One hundred and twenty-five were present for the covered dish luncheon at 6:30.

Mr. J. H. Kemp acted as chairman and Mr. F. H. Jones as clerk of the meeting which followed. Reports from all departments of church work indicated that all activities were in fine shape.

The Sunday school enrollment and average attendance has shown a large increase over that of last year. The enrollment reported was 311; and the average attendance for the year was 166.

The new church officers elected are: F. G. Philcox and C. W. Hixcox, elders; W. R. Ellis, Fred Blair, Paul Mines, and Ray Larson, trustees.

DR. U. S. CONN'S BROTHER STRUCK BY INTERURBAN

Dr. U. S. Conn's brother Luther M. Conn and wife of Muncie, Indiana, were instantly killed early last week when their car was struck by an interurban on a crossing near Muncie, according to a message received at the local college, yesterday.

Dr. U. S. Conn, president of the Wayne college, and Mrs. Conn and daughter Ardath left for Muncie following the receipt of a telegram stating that Luther Conn and his wife were accidentally killed Tuesday of last week.

Luther Conn was an only brother of Dr. Conn, and lived on a farm not far from Muncie.

Mr. and Mrs. Conn were struck by the interurban on a crossing, when apparently they failed to see the car or hear the warnings of the motor-man, according to word received here. They had no children surviving.

Dr. Conn and family, who were required to stay until business matters could be arranged, plan to return to Wayne the first of next week.

DR. W. A. EMERY OPENS DENTAL OFFICE HERE

Dr. W. A. Emery, who during the past six months operated a dental office in West Point has moved, his equipment to Wayne and has opened his office in the Stratton Hotel.

Although he enjoyed a nice patronage in West Point, said Dr. Emery, he made the change because he felt that he would experience greater opportunities here. He is greatly impressed with Wayne, he stated.

Dr. Emery is a graduate of the Creighton university at Omaha. His wife who for the present remained in West Point will join him here within a month he stated.

COLLEGE SQUAD TO HASTINGS RELAYS

Strong Squad to Represent Wayne School at Initial Competition This Saturday.

TWENTY-FIVE WILL MAKE TRIP

If recent tryouts are a fair indication of what to expect from the college Wildcat track representation opponents are going to find tough going in disposing of the local outfit this season, which will be opened for the Wayne school when they tangle at the Hastings relays Saturday.

All practice performances indicate that the Hickman squad is well balanced and generally much stronger than any ever turned out on the local college field.

The running events look like "duck soup" to the many aspirants to a chance of representing the school in real competition. A two mile relay team that looks like a million dollars and candidates "galore" for the shorter relays as well as the various dashes have been doing their "daily dozen" during the past few weeks, and are apparently all set to "raise Cain" with the state's best at the Saturday performances.

If the Wayne mentor has any notion who are likely to make the opening jaunt this week end, he is not making his thoughts known, but fans will await with interest the actual results of the competition.

Alexander of Arlington, the best pole vaulter ever to wear the orange and black, has been wrestling with the cane pole and is now rounding in to fairly good condition.

The high jump and shot put events are the only weak spots on the team, and little hope is held of uncovering anyone to successfully fill these gaps.

WANT TO BE A PIONEER— WHY NOT TRY ALASKA?

Vast Areas of Large Territory Are as Yet Not Explored.

Although more than 60 years has passed since Alaska, "Seward's Folly" was purchased from Russia, says the Geological Survey, there are still large areas in that northern territory about which little more is known today than before the transfer to the American flag. However, it is to be remembered that Alaska contains 586,400 square miles—nearly one-fifth the area covered by the United States itself.

In a new, unexplored country, where streams are too swift for boating and the only trails are those of the wild animals, the surveyor must still use the primitive methods of transport—the slow but sure pack horse and the boat dragged by hand through water too swift for even a modern power boat. Both of these methods were used by the Geological Survey expedition that in 1926 undertook to extend topographic and geologic surveys into the upper portion of the basin of Skwentna river. No human being was seen during a period of over two months, and even the few signs of native camps indicated that they were 20 or 30 years old. In September, when the approach of winter put an end to the work, the expedition retraced its own route to the coast.

As a result of the season's work about 700 square miles of hitherto unexplored territory was mapped geologically and topographically, and 350 square miles, previously mapped in an exploratory way, was remapped and corrected. This work gave a clue to the position and courses of the rivers that drain many thousand square miles of one of America's great mountain ranges, and to routes of approach to other unexplored areas.

The results of this exploration have just been issued by the U. S. Geological Survey as Bulletin 797-B, by Stephen R. Capps, in which the geography and geology of the Skwentna river country are described. The report is accompanied by a map on a scale of about 4 miles to the inch, on which the drainage and the distribution of the rock formations are shown. The report may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents at 50 cents a copy.

PUNCHBOARD DEALERS GET AWAY WITH A GOOD ONE

A pretty clever bunch of crooks dropped in to Orchard last Saturday, according to a local paper, and slickered a dealer out of forty bucks while they were spending twelve.

During the forenoon a salesman sold the proprietor of a cafe there a punchboard which would pay the customer from nothing up to twenty times the amount he wished to play—to be paid in merchandise.

A little later two strangers dropped into the restaurant, looked the board over and started playing at a dollar a punch. After twelve punches they had forty dollars coming.

McCormick Deering "102 Series" Planters

Before Planting Time, Make Sure Your Planter Is Right

The McCormick-Deering "102 Series" planters combine old, time-proven principles with a simplified design which insures greater accuracy, a wider range of adaptability, and easier ways of adapting the planters to different requirements. It has taken a number of years to perfect this combination. The result is a series of planters, which have no untired features. Their superiority lies in the manner in which these proved principles are combined and applied.

The McCormick-Deering "102 Series" planters are furnished both as check-row planters and drills. The check-row planter can be quickly set for drilling, and only a moment is required to change it to power hill-drop for bunch-drop drilling.

The pea and-bean and fertilizer attachments are of an improved design, and can be quickly installed both on planters and drills. If you are looking for a planter that will plant your crops accurately and that will require minimum attention, it will pay you to ask us to demonstrate a McCormick-Deering "102 Series" planter.

NEBRASKA FARMER TO PROMOTE ERADICATION

Will Offer Prizes For Best Collections of Bad Weeds.

A contest for boys and girls under 17 years of age in which $75 in cash prizes is offered for the five best scrap books of weeds kept during the next four and a half months is being sponsored by The Nebraska Farmer, Lincoln, Nebraska. A common, bad weed is to be described in The Nebraska Farmer each week and the boys and girls who keep the scrap books are to find a specimen of the weed, press it and mount it in the book.

The mounted specimen of the weed will be on a page of the scrap book opposite a page upon which the description and method of eradicating the weed is pasted. The scrap books are being distributed at cost, 15 cents a copy, and the $75 in cash prizes goes to the five boys or girls who have the best scrap books when the contest ends next August. Miss Elva Morris, Nebraska State Seed Analyst, is writing the descriptions of the weeds and will be one of the judges of the contest.

Weeds are said to cost farmers of Nebraska more than $32,000,000 per year and it is hoped that through keeping the scrap books, the boys and girls of the state will familiarize themselves with some of the worst weeds and learn how to eradicate them successfully. Any boy or girl not more than 16 years old is eligible to enter the contest.

MAP OF NEBR. SAND HILLS REGION IS NOW AVAILABLE

Accompanied by Text and Tabulations of Each Land Type Area.

The third of a series of five maps showing land classification of the central Great Plains has just been issued by the Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. This map covers the northwestern part of Nebraska and shows by conventional symbols three grades of dry-farming land, irrigated land, rough and smooth grazing land, and sand hills. Accompanying the map is a text which contains a tabulation of the areas of each land type by counties, the acreage of cultivated land, and the acreage devoted to each of the principal crops, as well as a general discussion of the methods and practices of land utilization in the region. Copies of the map and explanatory text are on sale at 50 cents by the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

An outstanding feature of the map is the large area of sand hills shown. These hills form a conspicuous feature of western Nebraska, and under more arid climatic conditions the material of which they are composed would constitute a desert waste of shifting dune sand. However, the rainfall in that region is sufficient to support a luxuriant growth of vegetation, mainly grasses which are highly palatable to livestock, and the region is believed to be one of the best in the West for livestock industry.

There is also considerable dryfarming and irrigated land. The map and report are based on field work and information collected primarily for administrative use by the Secretary of the Interior. Such maps are believed to be of extensive value and interest to the general public, however, especially those interested in the similar plains of the Middle West.

NELIGH HEALER'S CASE BEFORE WELFARE BOARD

Thirty on Waiting List as Faith Healers Are Arrested.

J. Perry Philbin, barber, and his brother Frank and his wife appeared before Richard Wood, Omaha, by order of the state welfare board last week when they were charged with violation of the laws of Nebraska pertaining to the public welfare in practicing certain professions licensed and regulated, under and by the authority of that department.

About thirty patients were in Neligh the night before their arrest, it is said, waiting to be treated by the healers who claim to heal by laying on their hands. They do not diagnose ailments, they testified.

Evidence taken at the hearing was sent to Lincoln for the board to act upon.

Your present car will probably cover the entire first Payment.

The H. M. C. Purchase Plan Offers the lowest available finance terms on the balance.

EASY TO OWN

On our own streets Essex the Challenger, under competent observation, averaged 22 miles per gallon. The average owner in this city can expect 18 to 20 miles and upward. Hundreds of records all over the country during "Challenger Week" prove Essex economy. Commercial users operating large fleets of Essex cars say that service and maintenance costs, covering millions of miles of operation, are lowest of any car they ever tested.

Essex the Challenger sweeps aside the barriers of price class. It challenges the performance, the style, the luxurious roomy comfort of any car at any price, on the basis that no other gives you back so much for every dollar you put in. That is why the big buying swing is to Essex. That is why motorists by thousands are switching from past favorites, and trading in their present cars for the big values Essex the Challenger gives.

WISE ECONOMY

Announcement of the selection of a Wayne public school superintendent relieves the anxiety of Wayne citizens who regretted the resignation of T. S. Hook, who has served efficiently in this capacity for four years.

Any program of economy in the handling of public trusts is so novel that it is likely to be regarded with suspicion.

Many believe the Wayne schools have shown a marked improvement under the supervision of Mr. Hook and hoped that his services could be retained, even though he had other plans.

H. R. Best following a careful sifting of more than a half hundred applicants was selected to fill the vacancy, not because of the monetary saving, but because he is believed to possess outstanding ability.

ROBERTSON—To Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Robertson, a daughter Saturday, April 6, 1929.

Explanation

We often hear this expression from our many customers: "How can you do such beautiful work and give such wonderful service at these remarkably low prices?"

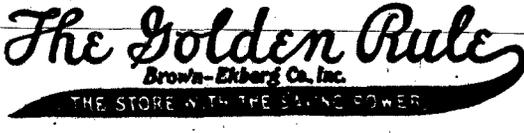

Now, folks, we are going to continue this sale for sixty days, until June first, and if the volume of work justifies these low prices we will make them the standard prices.

If there is not a sufficient volume of work we will, after the sixty days, return to our old prices. So bring in your work and plenty of it, and often. We can take care of all you can bring us with our modern machinery and efficient workers.

Good News! We are discovering that washing clothes in gasoline is no longer necessary. We are now using a standard solvent and there is no longer danger of your clothing being burned up while in the cleaning.

MORAL EDUCATION

(From the Goldenrod)

No one will deny the necessity for some kind of training in the art of living. This is obvious to any one who notices the numerous acts of impropriety and inconsiderateness in any group of people. These acts arise from various causes: ignorance, thoughtlessness, prejudice, selfishness, and hatred. Whatever may be the cause of the misdemeanor, we must admit that the number of misdeeds might be decreased by some kind of training. Individuals can be controlled so that given goals may be reached. Through experimentation and careful research, man has discovered principles under lying the physical and the mental growth of boys and girls. Thus there has been developed a body of facts dealing with the psychology back of physical and mental growth. Based upon this psychological background educators have built up a system of training that has, when scientifically followed, been productive of definite and encouraging results.

Moral education has been left largely to the home and the church. In the opinion of many persons these institutions have failed in the duty entrusted to them. Certain it is that, in many communities, the church is not reaching the young people, and the home in many cases is not the stabilizing factor that it once was.

The simplest definition of morality is that it is good or right conduct. But such a definition will not suffice, because there is no fixed agreement concerning what right conduct is. In the absolute sense, morality is the conduct which produces the maximum of life for the largest number. It refers to the moral life man could live if he would. More often morality refers to what is approved by society. This might be termed morality in the relative sense. Relative morality must never be considered as man's final achievement in social conduct. He must be kept aware of his own possibilities of moral improvement. But if man is to improve, he must have something toward which to aim, some goal, some ideal of life which presents something bigger and better than that which he has already attained. In this sense, we may think of absolute morality as man's highest good. Relative morality is the nearest man can approach to his highest good in his weakness and ignorance. Our problem in the training of youth is to help them approach as closely as possible to this absolute standard in their relative morality.

Define it as one may, morality is after all a manner of living. As education is for the purpose of helping mankind to live to his maximum, the moral training of our youth can not be neglected.

Family Garden Needs Good Plan

To Be Successful It Must Be Thought Out Before Work Begins.

"A garden should grow piece by piece," said Carl Stanton, landscape architect, speaking at Cornell's farm and home week at Ithaca, N. Y., "but the garden which is to be successful when completed is the one which has the whole plan of it thought out before the work starts. Such a plan makes each installment an integral part of the whole; each part dovetails with the rest and there is no chance of duplication or work to be done over."

Many small gardens are lovely at first, he said, but they are enlarged until all semblance of design and balance is lost. Frequently they are not orderly and are greatly overcrowded.

Rules for Planning.

Mr. Stanton gave certain rules for planning the small garden. "No garden or flower bed should be placed in an open lawn area, unless it be tied by plantings or architecture to some permanent feature. Avoid competition between the garden and any other feature such as a vista or a view. The size of the garden, which should be decided from the first, is governed by three important principles: the first is taste—the preference of the owner; the second deals with ability and willingness of the owner to pay for the maintenance, both in time and money; and the third governing element is the chosen site."

Mr. Stanton said that he preferred the rectangular or oval garden to the square or circle. "The garden is only as good as its background," he continued. "In the country the background question is easily solved—in the city more often than not the satisfactory solution is unattainable. Do not give an air of depression to the picture by surrounding your garden with too high fences and walls. Whenever possible, use evergreen trees as a background. For bed edges use such material as will tend to avoid hard lines. Do not cut your garden up into a jag saw pattern of beds."

Planting Important.

"The planting is as much of the design as is the layout. The planting should be counted upon to furnish masses, variations in light and shade, much of the repetition and continuity required, as well as the anticipated beauty of line and color. Particularly avoid any flatness in the planting. Where flower beds are above the average width resort to the use of shrubs to give added height and bulk. Do not grade the height of the flowers in the beds evenly, with the lowest in the foreground. More fascinating will be the picture when the top line is broken up by placing some slightly taller varieties in the front with the lower growing sorts."

Soy Bean as Fertility

Crop Is Disappointing

Another recent development in the legume phase of soil improvement is that the soy bean, which it was hoped would be the leguminous savior of poor land, has, in a number of experiments proved disappointing. It is variously charged with increasing erosion, being a heavy feeder of mineral elements at the expense of succeeding crops, adding only small amounts of organic matter through its root systems, and even robbing the soil of its nitrogen. As a hay and seed crop, the soy bean is rapidly gaining favor, but as a fertility crop, there appears to be serious doubt in many cases. Perhaps the next five years will reveal how soy beans should be grown to make them a first-class fertility crop.

Agricultural Notes

A sharp plow means more work accomplished.

Piles of trash about the yard are fire menaces and breeding places for flies.

It is easier to kill a thousand weeds in the spring than a hundred in mid-summer.

The first most important thing is a fine deep seed-bed, so you must be careful not to work your land too wet.

Rape and oats are sometimes sown together and some feeding results give this combination as preferable to rape alone.

The object in growing a green manure crop, is to produce especially on poor soil as much material as possible to turn under.

Efficiency in farming, as in other industries, is profitable for the individual, profitable for the industry as a whole, and as its own protection.

It is up to each individual farmer to consider first of all his own interests and those of his family and take every fair advantage he can get to go ahead.

Rape may be sown any time after the danger of hard freezing is past and, if sown early, it should provide pasturage by the middle of May or a little later. It is advisable to sow rape several times during the season so that continuous forage will be provided.

Disinfect Seed Potato Pieces

Old Standard Treatments With Bichloride of Mercury Still Best.

In disinfecting potato seed pieces for the control of disease, the old standard treatments with bichloride of mercury or formaldehyde still prove best.

Test New Mixture.

This statement is made by G. W. Fant, extension plant disease specialist at the North Carolina State college, who has been testing some of the new commercial mixtures placed on the market recently. Mr. Fant states that these new mixtures are still in the experimental stage. They have not yet been developed to where they are perfectly safe. Several growers have had poor stands of potatoes resulting from the use of the mixtures. The new materials require a shorter time for treating the seed pieces and this is important at planting season, but if any of the material is allowed to collect on a seed piece in the form of a paste, as so often happens, injury will result.

In tests made by the county agents of Wayne and Pamlico counties, Mr. Fant found that injury to germination of the seed pieces was especially pronounced if any paste was allowed to collect. The new materials must be kept in suspension by constant stirring or a poor stand of potatoes will result. Mr. Fant made several photographs which showed a poor stand where potatoes were treated with the new materials as compared to the old, standard treatments with bichloride of mercury or formaldehyde.

Treatment Necessary.

In spite of this, however, Mr. Fant finds that potato growers realize that seed treatment is necessary if disease is not to be introduced into the soil. More attention is now being given to such seed treatment and better potatoes are being grown as a result. For the time being, however, growers had best use the old, time-tried disinfectants and leave the new mixtures alone until they have developed further. The saving in time may be offset by the loss in stand of crop.

Grit Quite Necessary to Hens When Confined

Grit seems necessary to hens when they are confined, but the supply is neglected in some flocks, and it must greatly reduce their powers of grinding feed like whole corn. We have been using a commercial mineral grit with good results, says a writer in an exchange. It contains 70 per cent carbonate of lime and 22 per cent tricalcium phosphate. This grit seems to have good grinding powers, and supplies some phosphorus for the making of eggs. It also seems to help in producing eggs of a good shell texture, and there are practically no soft-shelled eggs laid, at least they are not found. But we use oyster shells along with the mineral grit, and the combination seems all right. I don't know which material deserves the most credit for the good shell texture on the big Leghorn eggs.

Roughage Mills Favored for Cutting Bulky Feed

The popularity of roughage mills for cutting up corn stalks, straw, hay and other coarse feeds for live stock is indicated by their use on 35 adjoining farms near State Center, Iowa. On each of the 35 live stock farms is a roughage mill and no farm within this huge block is without one.

These 35 Iowa farm operators and many others find that by chopping it up with a roughage mill they can save much feed that would ordinarily be wasted. Feeds are made more palatable in this way for all classes of live stock, including hay for poultry. Roughage may also be chopped by means of recutting attachments for ensilage cutters.

Kindly Shoppers Had

Consoled Mary Ellen

On a shopping expedition in the Christmas holidays, little Mary Ellen had a dollar with which to buy a present for dad. On the way downtown with her mother they met her aunt and little cousin. Arriving in a large department store, the children received permission to go to the toy department while some shopping in another part of the store was done by the elder folk.

After about an hour the mother and aunt saw a crowd collected at the basement stairs and found Mary Ellen in the center of the group in tears, with several of the women weeping copiously, she having thought she had lost her dollar.

Everything was lovely when mother explained she had her pocketbook and the present was then bought for dad. The next day while on another shopping trip with her mother, Mary Ellen had 60 cents that her mother did not know she had.

"Where did you get that money, Mary Ellen?" asked her mother.

"You know yesterday, when I thought I had lost my dollar, those women made me take it."—Indianapolis News.

"Old Sol" Classed as Quite Ordinary Star

The sun is a very humble unit amid the great stellar population according to a leading astronomer. It is, he says, a very ordinary star about midway in the scale of brilliancy. We know of stars which give at least 10,000 times the light of the sun; we know also of stars which give 1-10,000 of its light. But those of inferior light greatly outnumber those of superior light.

In mass, in surface temperature, in bulk, the sun belongs to a very common class of stars; its speed of motion is near the average; it shows none of the more conspicuous phenomena, such as variability, which excite the attention of astronomers. In the community of stars the sun corresponds to a respectable middle-class citizen.

It happens to be quite near the center of the local star cloud; but this apparently favored position is discounted by the fact that the star cloud itself is placed very eccentrically in relation to the galactic system (the Milky way), being in fact near the confines of it. We cannot claim to be at the hub of the universe.

Birds Dashed to Death

According to authorities on bird life, the lighthouses of the New England coast cause the death of thousands of sea fowl every year. In their migrations to and from the southlands the birds, if caught in a storm, try to find a safe haven.

The fixed white lights seem to have the greatest attraction for them. Flying at high speed, they dash themselves against the thick lenses and are either killed outright or are stunned and fall to the rocks or the sea below and perish. Strangely enough, flashing lights and also red beams apparently repel them, but the blinding, steady white rays take heavy toll from their ranks.

Contrary to popular belief, the sea fowl do not seek southern climes to avoid cold weather.

One of the Band

Saturday afternoon was a day set apart for the village band to indulge in its weekly practice march.

On this particular day they happened to halt outside the local justice of the peace's house. The latter was a very irritable man who hated bands. Consequently, he was far from pleased when the sound of martial music fell upon his ears.

"Look here!" he cried, rushing up to the bandmaster. "If you don't stop that infernal din, I'll go and fetch our policeman!"

But the bandmaster was equal to the occasion.

"You can't do that, sir," he smiled. "That's 'im playin' the trombone."—London Tit-Bits.

Hats Denote Wealth

The Yamlis, who live on a little island south of Formosa, have two ambitions—to build fine boats, whose sides they ornament with beautiful designs, and to possess silver hats—the larger the better, for by the measure of his silver hat is the prestige of the individual judged.

The first requirement is a quantity of silver coins, which are laboriously beaten with a stone into thin strips. The strips are then made into cone-shaped hats. Some of the hats belonging to the more affluent of the colony come down to the shoulders. An oblong opening is left for the eyes, so that the owner may survey the admiration his large hat attracts.

Word's Many Definitions

Of the 414,825 words defined in the Oxford English dictionary, completed after 70 years of labor, the one that gave most trouble to the editors was the three-letter word "set." It has many meanings and so many extensions of meaning. The Living Age reports that the editors were obliged to devote a 30,000-word treatise to it alone.

The sun sets in the west. A surgeon sets a broken arm. A woman gives birth to three sets of twins in five years. A yachtsman watches the set of his sails.

It is an untrifling word, as useful as the 15-in-one tools that boys used to spend 25 cents for.

CALLING

"Let's go calling on Mr. Giant," said Peter Gnome. So the Gnomes all agreed and put on their high rubber boots and off they started.

The rain kept pouring down and the snow was melting quickly.

"I hope," said one of the Gnomes, "that all the snow won't go."

"If it does," whispered a little Snowflake, just before it was melted by a raindrop, "our old Snow King will see to it that we come again."

"We'll have one more snowy time at least."

"That's good," said the little Gnome.

"I love the snow."

"We all do," said Peter, "but today we'll enjoy the delicious slush."

They started off on their walk to Mr. Giant's Cave. They splashed through the melting snow-drifts and had a very jolly walk.

Soon they arrived at Mr. Giant's Cave.

They knocked three times, and a deep voice said:

"Come in! Enter!"

In walked all the Gnomes, and how Mr. Giant did laugh when he saw their high rubber boots.

"Well, you're not afraid of a bad day," said Mr. Giant.

"It's not such a bad day," said Peter Gnome. "In fact, it's quite a good day."

"I don't consider a day naughty that gives us as much fun as this one does."

He Will Dream.

"I never heard before of a day being called naughty," said Mr. Giant.

"Well," said Peter Gnome, "you said it was a bad day, and a bad day means a naughty day, doesn't it?"

"Perhaps," said Mr. Giant, "but it's not usually called naughty, that's all. Anyway I like the day myself."

"Will you come and take a walk with us?" asked Peter Gnome.

"Delighted," said old Mr. Giant.

Then Mr. Giant got his tall boots from a part of his cave.

They only made him look more enormous than ever and the Gnomes looked very tiny as they walked about him while he was putting on his great boots.

"Where are we going?" asked Mr. Giant.

"We're going to call on a little boy," said Peter Gnome, "who has been ill, and we're going to give him a dream play."

"It will seem to him that he can see us and that he is playing with us."

"We'll tumble and play in the slush, and get all wet—and he will dream, he is doing the same—such things as he cannot do now that he is ill."

So Mr. Giant and the Gnomes gave the little boy a dream play and they heard from the Fairy Queen that he would be well in time for the last snowstorm of the season and the last slushy day—so that the dream would be real before the season was over.

But how much he did enjoy his dream—feeling so well in it and being able to play in so jolly a fashion.

Black and White

In this game the players have to stand in a line or ring, black and white alternately, each one to wear something black or white to show which side he is on. One of the players is the thrower and he stands to face the line.

The thrower shouts "Black!" or "white!"—sending the ball at the same instant to whichever color he calls. If "white" is called, and "white" catches it, "white" side scores 1. But if a "black" standing either side of the "white" catches the ball, "black" scores 1.

The same, of course, if "black" is called, and "black" or either "white" secures the ball.

No player must step forward to catch the ball. If he does that side loses a point.

Six points to a game. Three games to a set.

Watch Tells Time

Four-year-old Mark was the proud possessor of a toy watch. To have some fun with him a neighbor asked him what time it was.

He indignantly replied: "I don't have to know what time it is; my watch takes care of the time for me."

DON'T BLAME THE MOONE FOR YOUR SHORT CROPS
Has no Influence on Conditions of Weather Says Expert.
Curiously persistent are the various superstitions relating to the effect of the moon on the weather or on the farm crops. One of the most unreasonable of these beliefs, says the Weather Bureau in Washington is that if the horns of the new crescent moon tip downward it is a "wet" moon, portending rain.

As a matter of fact, on any given date the position of the crescent moon is always the same in places having the same latitude, so the same kind of weather would necessarily prevail, were this sign of any value, throughout a belt of latitude extending around the globe. Again, near the Equator, in a part of the world notorious for its heavy rainfall, the young moon is generally in an almost horizontal position, or, according to the proverb, it is almost always a "dry" moon. If the moon could be viewed from the North or South Pole, on the other hand, its position would be, for the superstitious, indicative of "wet" weather, but these regions are characterized by so little rainfall and snow that they rank among the arid parts of the globe.

Other superstitions relating to the moon are those which offer guidance in farm practice, such as sowing or reaping, breeding or butchering, shingling or shearing, or any other farm activity supposed to be affected by the "dark" or the "light" of the moon. The scientists points out that the chief things affecting the growth of crops at any stage are: Temperature of soil and air; composition of adjacent atmosphere; kind and intensity of light; presence or absence and severity of plant disease; mechanical condition of the soil, loose or compact; fertility of the soil; and quantity of other vegetation or weeds present. The moon has nothing to do with any of these conditions affecting crops. It has no influence on weather or soil. Even the light of the full moon is not intense enough to have any effect on plant growth or plant diseases. The chief good accomplished by these old beliefs, as embodied in rural lore, is through the systematizing of farm work, fixing a time for various activities, and the force imparted to the frequently-necessary injunction, "Do it now."

Then and Now

Did the hair grow longer with the would-be-longer skirts? This question has been asked, discussed and talked about a number of times. In George Washington's time it was the style, and certainly the only correct thing, to wear a powdered wig, Lincoln, and all people of his time, wore chin whiskers, but that style too was discontinued for something more comfortable. The only people now who continue wearing chin whiskers and mustaches are the ones whose looks are improved thereby. Such is the tale of the long tresses. If your looks are improved by wearing your hair long instead of bobbed in the newest modes, then it is your style. But if you look better, or just as well, with bobbed hair, then your style is bobbed! It is much more comfortable and convenient short, and, needless to say, sanitary. These items enter in the answer to this question. The answer to this question, according to Emil Rhoads, President of the National Hairdressers Association, is that either is very much correct, but like the wigs, the long hair is gone for most people.

Of course, styles of bobs change just as do styles of dress. The bobs are short, but not the extreme tight shingle, and the natural hair line is followed. The sides are not cut straight across the bottom as was formerly done, but are now tapered so it will cling more to the head and give it more shape.

Permanent waves are in vogue now more than ever, and permanents given in an up-to-date shop are certainly proving very satisfactory to the wearer. The latest and most satisfactory permanent wave is the Croquignole, but it is necessary, if you are to obtain good results, to have an operator who knows just how to wind the hair, apply the heat, and the kind of materials to use for your individual kind of hair. Only the best materials should be used. When this method is used correctly, there is no discoloration of the hair, and it is easy to re-wave the hair, leaving the ends, which have been waved, outside the heater.

The question of permanents ranging in price, and the reason thereof, is often asked of me. In permanent waves, as in any other thing you invest in, the quality sets the price. You cannot, and do not, expect a $5.00 dress to give you the appearance and satisfaction that a $50.00 dress gives you. Permanent waves are the same. While in Chicago I had an opportunity to see workings of a shop which specializes in $5.00 permanent waves. You do not have one experienced operator doing the work on your hair, but many whose experience is limited. You do not get quality material used on your hair, nor the kind of material and amount of heat that your individual case requires. One material and one kind of wave to all, whether this is the kind that your hair requires or not.

You will find the best methods in all classes of work done here by expert operators, and the permanent wave which is secured here will last longer, be easier taken care of, and give you more satisfaction. To give you an opportunity to take advantage of these latest methods, which I received while in Chicago, I will give you a permanent wave for $8.00, if you make your appointment on or before April 20, 1929.
