C. J. Lund, Retired Farmer and Business Man, Passes at His Home Here Sunday.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD TODAY

Following a short illness, C. J. Lund, prominent retired Wayne county farmer, banker and business man, died at his home here Sunday night at the age of 72 years. Mr. Lund, who was a resident of Wayne county since 1885, although suffering occasional attacks had been very active almost until the last and took an active part in the management of his farm until he died.

Funeral services will be held from the Lund home this afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. W. C. Heidenreich, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran church of which he had been a member since coming to Wayne nearly 45 years ago, in charge of the final rites. A quartette of Miss Minnie Wm, Miss Pearl E. To this union one daughter was born. Mrs. Herman Lundberg of Wayne. This bond was broken by the death of the wife April 31, 1903.

On September 1st, 1909, he was again united in marriage to Mrs. Effie M. Repine of Wakefield, Nebraska.

The deceased was baptized in infancy and confirmed in early youth in the Lutheran faith. When the family moved from Illinois to Wayne county, Nebraska in 1885, he united with St. Paul's Lutheran church of Wayne. He has since been a faithful member, having at times held offices of trust in the church, which he faithfully fulfilled.

Upon coming to Nebraska the deceased engaged in farming until in 1896, when he retired and moved to Wayne to enter the business life. The deceased, it is said, was a man who by integrity and hard toil achieved success in his earthly vocation.

COLERIDGE PEOPLE ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY IN CRASH

The occupants of a Buick coach driven by Edgar Schwarzenbach of Coleridge narrowly escaped serious injury when the machine crashed into the guard along a grade east of Altona last Sunday.

The machine was being driven at a fast rate of speed, it was reported, when the driver lost control and crashed into the protective guard when several posts were broken and the car was considerably damaged before it could be stopped.

The radiator and front end of the car was caved in and glass in the windshield and doors broken. The occupants escaped with minor injuries it was stated.

WAYNE KIWANISANS HOSTS TO HARTINGTON DELEGATES

The Wayne Kiwanians entertained a group of Hartington men at their regular weekly dinner Monday noon. Hartington business men are considering a Kiwanis organization in that city, and have asked advice from the international Kiwanis organizers.

Following the dinner at Hotel Stratton there were speeches by Joe Nuss, past president of the Wayne club, and J. H. Kemp, past lieutenant-governor of this district. Nuss described the difference in conditions locally before and after the formation of the Wayne chapter, and pointed out the beneficial influence of the weekly get-together of the business men of the city. Nuss believes that it is the more stable organization of the Kiwanis that has enabled it to survive and function, while other clubs of a similar nature which were organized here in Wayne, failed.

Kemp gave an impressive talk on the ideals and purposes of the Kiwanis. Dr. F. O. Robinson made the response for the Hartington men, expressing their appreciation at the entertainment provided by the Wayne Kiwanians.

WAYNE KIWANISANS TO EAT GOLF STEAK

C. E. Wright and F. G. Dale to Captain 29 Man Teams With Golf Dinner at Stake.

Fifty-eight Kiwanians have been separated into two groups with C. E. Wright and F. G. Dale captain of each to form two golf teams that will play each other a series of 18 hole matches during the next three weeks.

Each round of nine holes will count one point for the winner and an additional point is at stake for winning the eighteen hole match—making it possible for each player to earn a total of three points for his team. In order to score the matches must be played out—forefeits will not be counted.

The tournament ends June 2nd and the results of each contestant's match must be turned in to his captain before that time, or he will be penalized according to the discretion of the captain—not to exceed being whacked on the bezer nine consecutive blows by each of his team mates.

The winners of the tourney are to be treated to a six course dinner with the principal course, it is said, to be a T-bone steak from a Golf, which will follow the opening course of Golf ball stew, in the meantime they are requested to be on the lookout for anyone who has "Shot a Golf."

Two Championship Field Meets Are Scheduled for College Field This Week

District Meet Tomorrow and State Meet Saturday Will Bring Many Athletes Here.

WILDCATS ARE SLIGHT FAVORITE

Northeast Nebraska track and field followers will be afforded the opportunity of seeing two days of real competition here this week-end, when the Northeast Nebraska Athletic Association meet will be pulled off tomorrow and the state N. I. A. A. meet will be staged Saturday on the college field.

More than 400 high school athletes are expected to participate in the Friday competition, Fred G. Dale, secretary of the association, announced. The largest showing ever represented in this annual event is expected to compete and many of the schools are represented by valuable men who are likely to spring surprises and upsets.

Norfolk, Wakefield and South Sioux City have been doped as the three strongest schools in the district, but with a strong crop of individuals scattered over northeast Nebraska there is no telling what might happen. Honors may be so evenly divided that some school with only a few points to their credit will cop the championship bunting.

Randolph is Out

Randolph, last year's winner and for many years a serious contender is not counted to cop many laurels this year, but they are coming down to show their wares, such as they are, and they may uncork some upsets.

Fordyce, a town that has never been represented in a Wayne meet, will compete and is reported to have a couple of men that are counted to get into the winning columns.

From twenty to twenty-five schools will be represented, Mr. Dale stated, and they are expected to swell the entry list to more than 400 individuals.

State Meet Saturday

Saturday the Hickman proteges will face their most severe test of the season when they will attempt to cop the state championship in the N. I. A. A. meet when all four state normal colleges will display their wares.

The Wildcats are a slight favorite to cop the highest honors this year, although competition is considered so close that the entire squad will have to be in top form to come through according to the prediction of dopsters.

The result of the meet will probably hinge on whether or not the Wayne tracksters can best their rivals on the cinders. Dennis will have to be in top form to dispose of Bailey of Chadron, who holds the Nebraska high school state championship in the 440, which is Dennis' feature sprint.

Andrews is expected to cop the broad-jump and javelin heave and Littel must unlimber his legs to the extent that he shows his heels to the rivals in the century dash. If all these things happen, which they may not, then the balance of the squad should cop enough lower birth honors to give the local school the bunting.

COLLEGE TEACHER'S FATHER IS INJURED

Mrs. Henry Luers Passes at Home of Daughter Here Following Several Months Illness.

WAS PIONEER OF PLATTE COUNTY

Mrs. Henry Luers, mother of Miss Alwyn Luers of this city, following an illness from which she suffered during the past six months, died at the home of her daughter, here, last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Luers, a pioneer of Platte county, where she settled with her parents 60 years ago, and who with her surviving husband celebrated their Golden wedding anniversary in 1926, suffered a serious attack last fall from which she never fully recovered, although for a time she was believed to be regaining her strength.

She came here the first of January to spend the winter with her daughter Miss Alwyn Luers, kindergarten teacher in the college training school, where she passed following a severe setback from which she was unable to rally.

Following a short service from Miss Luers' home Friday morning with Rev. H. Hopman in charge, the body was taken to Columbus where funeral services were held from the Immanuel Lutheran church of which she was a charter member since 1883, with Rev. A. H. Guettler officiating at the final rites.

Deceased was born in Germany April 21, 1856, and with her parents came to America and settled on a farm 9 miles northeast of Columbus in 1869. Since that time she had been a resident of Platte county. In 1876 she was married to Henry Luers with whom she lived in Columbus until her death, and who with five children survives.

Gladys Nelson, a victim of the falsifiers, who called at the Jacques plant stated that she had given them some clothes two weeks previous, and when they were not returned within a reasonable time came to learn what was the reason. How many others are victims of similar actions has not yet been learned, but Mr. Jacques has announced a $10.00 reward to anyone who will give him information leading to the apprehension of the solicitors.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY MAKES GREAT HIT WITH AUDIENCE

Very good, was the verdict of the audience that witnessed the production of The Whole Town's Talking, the three act farce staged at the Gay theatre by the senior class of the Wayne high school last evening. The parts were all uniformly well acted, which bespoke the effort put into the play by the cast and Miss Glennie Bacon, their coach. Every seat was taken.

Henry Reynolds played the lead, with a character part which moved the audience to continual laughter. Viola Yocum played opposite him.

The Whole Town's Talking is a farce by John Emerson and Anita Loos, who is the author of Gentlemen Prefer Blondes, recently pronounced a success in New York. The play was enthusiastically received by the Wayne audience.

The senior class cleared a good sum from the venture, which will be placed in the student activities fund. It has not been decided what use will be made of the money.

FORMER RESIDENT HERE IS INJURED

Mrs. A. E. Childs Seriously Hurt When Car is Struck by Passing Motorist Monday.

Mrs. A. E. Childs, who formerly lived here and at Wakefield, was badly injured Monday when the car in which she was riding was struck from the rear by a passing motorist and was upset by the impact.

She was rushed to a Norfolk hospital where her condition is said to be regarded as uncertain. She was badly bruised and attending physicians, it is said, have been unable to determine whether or not she is suffering internal injuries, as she had to be so much bandaged that an X-ray could not be satisfactorily taken.

A lady friend, who was in the car is reported painfully hurt and is also confined at the hospital but her condition is not considered alarming.

Mr. Childs and a son, who also were in the car, escaped serious injury. They were returning to their home near Osmond Monday night. It is reported by relatives here, when their car was struck from the rear by a passing motorist and was rolled down a grade turning over several times and pinning Mrs. Childs underneath the wreckage. The car was a total loss.

Mrs. Childs is a sister of Mrs. Chas. Johnson, Mrs. J. K. Johnson, Mrs. Ray Robinson and Frank Larson all of this vicinity. For several years they were in business in Wakefield and for some time lived on a farm near Wayne.

TWO FARMS ARE SOLD HERE DURING THE PAST WEEK

The R. T. Malloy quarter four miles west of Wayne was sold at forced sale to Wm. Koch for $23,500, which is the highest price paid in Wayne county for a farm sold at sheriff sale in five years.

The farm purchased by Mr. Gehmer is six miles west of Wayne.

MRS. F. H. JONES BELIEVED TO BE SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Mrs. F. H. Jones who has been confined at the Methodist hospital in Sioux City for several weeks was, according to attending physicians, slightly improved in her condition the first of the week, but is still regarded as dangerously ill. No definite change has as yet been noted.

them except when they have been called to homes in Wayne.

No evidence leading to the identification of the parties who gathered the clothes in the name of the Jacques plant has been found, and little hope is held of their apprehension, but Mr. Jacques is particularly anxious that it doesn't happen again. Should it again occur he will pay those who inform him of the act, providing it leads to the apprehension of the offenders, the reward.

Dies at Her Home Here Tuesday Following Many Months of Severe Suffering.

Mrs. Eickhoff was known as a helpful neighbor as long as she was able to be about, a true mother who forgot her own trials in devotion to her children. Although an invalid for several years, she bore her cross with true Christian fortitude.

Motor Licenses Cost Cut by Legislature

Big Cut Made on Trucks and Heavy Cars For Next Year.

Buying your license plate next year will be a less painful operation according to a new law passed by the recently deceased legislature, which provides for cuts in all motor driven vehicles with the exception of those carrying more than seven passengers. Trucks are the greatest benefactors with a big slice cut from the amount they are to pay.

According to the provisions of this act, the registration fee for motorcycles remains the same, $4.00, but there is a material reduction in the registration fee for motor vehicles. Under the old law, the fee for vehicles of 2,000 pounds or over was $8 for the first 2,000 and 50 cents for each additional 100 pounds, but under the new law, there will be a flat fee of $8.00 for vehicles of less than 2,700 pounds and $12 for vehicles of 2,700 or more.

Busses Pay the Same

There is no change in the law as relating to motor vehicles carrying more than seven persons, or busses. The fees on these is the same—$25 and $7.00 additional for each person except within municipalities and a three mile radius, where it is fixed by the department of Public Works.

For trailers up to 1,000 pounds, $1.00 registration fee will be charged and over that, $4.00 as before.

Trucks Get Big Cut

In the matter of trucks, the new law will show the most radical cut. Under the previous statute, the registration fee for trucks of a 2,000 pound capacity was $15, but the new act reduces it to $8.00 and larger trucks in proportion. Trucks of 2,000—3,000 pound capacity reduced from $26 to $12; 3,000—4,000, $45 to $18; 4,000—5,000, $65 to $25; over 5,000 $70 or $75 to $25 and $10 for each additional 1,000 pounds.

This act, also, provides that no fee shall be charged for previous years when a motor vehicle was not used or driven, which is different from the old law, and the applicant is required to make affidavit to that effect.

The official registration year is from January 1 to December 1 and, if a car is bought and registered between April 1 and July 1, the fee will be 75 per cent of the full amount; July 1 to October 1, 50 per cent and October 1 to December 1, 25 per cent. If a car has been in storage, however, from the beginning of the current year, the full amount of the registration fee must be paid.

Young Farmer Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury

Dragged About Field as Tractor Runs Wild.

William Olson, young Cedar county farmer narrowly escaped serious injury when he was caught by the plows while removing rubbish.

Mr. Olson, who was plowing with a tractor, jumped off of the machine to kick some cornstalks out of the plow and while so doing his right leg caught in the machine. The big tractor kept moving forward and as it was early in the morning and no one else was in the field his cries for help were unheard. The big machine followed the furrow for about 25 yards and then started across field with the young man dragging alongside of the plow. It crashed through a barb wire fence, made a complete circle and finally was stopped when the plows caught in some loose fence wires. Mr. Carlson's right ankle was badly sprained, his clothes were cut in the wire and he received several scratches but escaped more serious injury.

Divorces Are Granted In All Nebr. Counties
Wayne County Grants 11 Divorces and 130 Permits to Wed

The Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., announces that, according to the returns received, there were 9,932 marriages performed in Nebraska during the year 1927, as compared with 9,800 in 1927, representing an increase of 132 or 1.3 per cent. In 1916, there were 12,786 marriages performed.

During the year 1928 there were 1,538 divorces granted in the state, as compared with 1,620 in 1927, representing a decrease of 82 or 5.1 per cent. In 1916, there were 1,675 divorces granted. There were 54 marriages annulled in 1928, as compared with 57 in 1927.

The estimated population of the state of Nebraska on July 1, 1928, was 1,408,000 and on July 1, 1927, 1,396,000. On the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population was 7.05 in 1928, as against 7.02 in 1927; and the number of divorces per 1,000 of the population was 1.09 in 1928, as against 1.16 in 1927.

According to the report Wayne county issued 130 marriages during the two years period and granted 11 divorces during that time—2 last year and 9 during 1927.

Every county in Nebraska granted at least one divorce during the two years, Wheeler and Knox each granting only one, but they also issued respectively, only 20 and 10 licenses to wed. All other counties granted a larger number of divorces.

Douglas leads in both marriages and divorces granting for the two years 3,352 permits to wed and granting 1,291 cancellations, or more than one-third as many divorces as marriages.

Coleman Cookers

Then as he lights the Preheater... time him. When he touches a match to it, it lights instantly. A hot, pressure-driven, blue flame plays against the generator. And before you know it, the master burner is going full tilt. Check the time! Full Cooking heat in less than a minute from a cold start!

The other burners are ready, too. See, he lights them with a match just like city gas.

The Coleman is a gas stove. It makes its own gas from regular, clear-white gasoline. Cooks with a clean, blue flame actually hotter than natural gas. And there's no piping nor wiring to bother with. Just fill the gas tank and the Coleman is ready to go!

Take time to check up on this time-saving stove. It's now on display at our store.

Road Overseers Held Liable For Land Mark

Must See That Survey Corners Are Not Destroyed or Lost.

R. H. Jones, Wayne county surveyor, is in receipt of instructions of new laws regarding the perpetuation of markers of land surveys according to which county supervisors and road overseers are held directly liable for the destruction of any existing identification of these.

To Notify County Surveyor
In the event any new road work or damage construction is being contemplated that might destroy a marker the supervisor or overseer, according to the rules outlined, must notify the county surveyor, who must make proper steps to perpetuate the corners.

Parts of the instruction which were signed by the state surveyor, E. C. Simmons, are as follows:

It shall be the duty of the Department of Public Works, the highway commissioners and every road overseer in the construction and maintenance of the public highways where work is to be done that may cause the destruction of any corners of land surveys, to notify the county surveyor.

Overseers are Liable
"Section 2770. Any road overseer who shall fail or neglect to notify the county surveyor, as set forth in the preceding section, shall be liable for the expense of a resurvey and restoration of such corners as are lost or destroyed and for any damage sustained by the interested land owners by reason of such failure or neglect."

"Section 1. It shall be the duty of every individual or corporation engaged either directly or indirectly in the construction of any irrigation ditch, railroad, side track or spur track, or any other construction, or any other means whatsoever, that endangers or may endanger or may cause the loss of destruction of any land mark or corner of land surveys or boundaries, to employ the county surveyor of the county wherein they are situated to properly perpetuate or witness said landmarks according to law.

Section 2. Any individual or corporation who shall fail to protect such land marks or corners shall be responsible for all damage that may accrue to the party injured by reason of such loss or destruction.

GIVE MR. FARMER A HIDE

Edgar Howard has written some of the newspapers of this territory a nice letter in which he explains the workings of the proposed tax legislation and some that has not been proposed. Following considerable detail explaining that favored barons are in the saddle and will not permit any legislation that increases duties on farm products unless they are awarded additional protection that would much more than offset any advantage the agricultural districts might receive—Edgar asks, "What shall I do?"

What he wants to know is whether or not to support the plan—which he says is the only one possible to get through—of raising duties on farm products a little and raising the duties on manufactured products much, or leave them as they now are.

We believe if Congressman Howard and all other representatives in Washington from the agricultural districts will stick together and work as faithfully for the interests of their districts as do the representatives of the "money barons," as he calls them, we believe would they do that something could be accomplished.

To support a plan merely because it is the only one possible to attain knowing that it would not be beneficial is little short of treason—and certainly is at least an unpardonable sin.

The thing for representatives of agricultural districts to do is stick together, form an organized plan of attack and fight for the interests of those who sent them to Washington. If they will do that conscientiously then, eventually, a constructive and influential accomplishment will be possible, but not until then.

The thing to do Mr. Howard is to put the Farmer in the saddle for a while!

NOW, WHERE TO?

About as regularly, and at about the same season of the year, as spring housecleaning we seem to be visited by one kind of band malady or another. Ever since the Wayne Legionnaires first conceived the idea of a band at quite regular intervals we have been visited by first one dissection and then another, all of more or less varied complexes, but each tending to the same ultimate conclusion—the destruction of one of the best organizations of its kind in the state.

The most recent of these annual visitations resulted from the city council passing a resolution which would turn the spicket supplying the necessary funds of operation into the school board's reservoir, instead of the regular committee treasury where it has been dispensed during the past several months.

The ensuing row thus far seems to have resulted in a draw so far as realizing any definite accomplishment is concerned. Apparently the resolution was passed without due consideration, and in all probability cannot be carried out.

The one mill levy as passed by the vote of the citizens provides, that this money shall be used for the support of a MUNICIPAL BAND. No reference is made to the city supporting a high school band and on the face of it there seems to be some doubt as to the legality of turning this money into the high school treasury.

However, the legality of the resolution is not the basis of the present dispute and if it is brought into the frains it will be done so merely as a means of attaining the end sought.

Band friends apparently are skeptical of turning the management of the organization over to the school board, fearing that it will result in the defeat of plans they contend have been well executed, in the past.

Bands as a general rule seem to be easy prey to various diseases. Wayne has twice before had good bands, both of which became history as a result of factions developing. The same thing is true of bands in many other towns, and the thought that such an end may be in store for the present Wayne band has aroused supporters to action.

Surely, if the Wayne band is to be continued, then the management should be left in the hands of a committee that is one hundred percent for the organization, not just luke warm. If the city council believes that a change should be made, as apparently they do, then they might propose a constructive plan for consideration.

Running a band is no little task and one that will not be properly taken care of by a committee that is not wholeheartedly in its favor . . . and such a committee is what band friends wish its destinies entrusted to, not parties they know are not conscientiously in its favor.

An Early Pioneer Dies at Wakefield

Homesteaded Near La Porte Before This County Was Organized.

Following a short illness Mrs. Mary Hunter, one of the first pioneers of this territory, passed at her home in Wakefield where she had lived during the last 46 years. Funeral services for the 90-year-old pioneer were held from the Methodist church at Wakefield Monday of last week.

She was born in Pennsylvania in 1838, with her parents migrated to Illinois ten years later. In 1860 she was married to Cyrus Hunter, who died in 1913, with whom she came to Nebraska in 1869, coming to the La Porte vicinity by covered wagon from Missouri Valley and taking a homestead there before the county was organized.

Later they conducted a store at that place, and moved to Wakefield forty-six years ago. Their store building at La Porte was shortly afterwards moved to Wakefield and remodeled into a residence, which has since been the Hunter home in Wakefield.

Mrs. Hunter's age at the time of her death was 90 years, 19 months and 23 days.

She is survived by four sons and five daughters: Sarah L. Merritt, B. G. Hunter, and Ethel Hunter, all of Wakefield; Susan E. Hoydar, of Wynot, Nebraska; Joseph E. Hunter, of Green Forest, Arkansas; Jerome L. Hunter, of Coleridge, Nebraska; Bertha E. Hunter, of Two Harbors, Minnesota; C. Curtis Hunter, of Chicago, Illinois; and Grace A. Fritchhoff, of Omaha.

Neligh Oil Survey Called Favorable

Plan to Start Drilling Within Short Time, it is Reported.

Topographical, geological and magnetometer surveys were made recently in Holt county, all by separate companies and at different times, showing an area about fourteen miles northwest of O'Neill to have all the conditions and surface appearance necessary to indicate oil and gas formations.

The "dome" of the prospective oil field is claimed by authorities to be in a direct regional geological line with the Edgemont, South Dakota field, where oil was struck some weeks ago. These same authorities agree that between O'Neill and Sioux City there are several other promising formations which indicate that the field, if successful, might be expanded through Antelope county and eastward to the Missouri river. Observations, from past experience, that oil structures usually run in a north-west-southeasterly direction, support this conclusion.

Show Structural Formations

In explaining the preliminary survey made at Neligh last week it was stated that a greater deformation was found there than on the O'Neill formation by use of the magnetometer. The readings on the instrument showed 300 "gamas" deformation at Neligh, as compared to 160 at Basset and about 200 at O'Neill. He explained that the magnetometer did not "locate" oil, but through its use deformations of a synclinal or anticlinal nature could be located, and that it is in these types of formations that oil is found.

On Sound Basis

"The results of the magnetometer survey corresponded with the topographical and geological surveys, Osborn's report stated. With this triple assurance of oil and gas, we are confident that we will open up a new source of revenue in this section of the country.

Mr. Osborn said that they will make a survey near Alliance this week and, should proper co-operation in securing leases in that vicinity be obtained, he would make a complete survey at Neligh after finishing at Alliance.

If a well is not brought in at Basset or at O'Neill, one of the rigs will be brought to Neligh and the other at Alliance, providing indications are favorable. In case an oil or gas well is brought in either at Basset or O'Neill, he stated there would be no question as to drilling operations be-

Anxious to Begin Work

"With all the care we have taken in making the extended surveys of the Nebraska land, we are confident of success and anxious to drill the test wells," continued Mr. Osborn. "The North Central Development and Drilling Company owns the drilling outfits that will be used to drill the first wells, and future developments only will determine how much equipment is to be brought into this territory. I can only say that we have high hopes and believe them to be well founded. Success in our enterprise would mean a great deal to the development of the natural resources in northeastern Nebraska, and changing of conditions to warrant to establishment of factories and new industries in this section of the country."

Neligh would be paretically in the center of this area, which has depended solely upon agriculture in the past.

Mr. Osborn stated that his company would positively drill a test well in this locality with standard equipment if enough leases can be secured so that he can proceed with a complete survey in order that an "enclosure" might be defined.

SONG STORY OF NATION GREETED BY FULL HOUSE

Nearly a full house greeted the first staging of The Song Story of Our Nation, production of Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, at the Community house Friday evening. The entertainment was a benefit put on by the Wayne Woman's club, whose gross receipts were $51.00. The local Boy and Girl Scouts will receive about $40.00.

In several communities in the state The Song Story of Our Nation was staged by Woman's club organizations during Music week.

Each one of the living pictures produced was very effective. Perhaps the most striking picture was the representation of the statue, The Great Emancipator, with Henry Ley as Lincoln and Harry Ellis Fisher as the slave. The boy scouts presented the famous painting, The Spirit of '76, which was arranged by Prof. A. F. Gulliver, scoutmaster. The picture, Birth of the Flag, was arranged by Mrs. W. K. Smith, with Mrs. Betty Emmons, Helen Hollingsworth, and Berneice Wilson taking part. In the picture, Columbia, Mrs. W. K. Smith posed as the Statue of Liberty. R. P. Williams, one of the Wayne Civil war veterans, in Grand Army blue, represented the Grand Army of Republic.

Mrs. E. W. Huse, president of the Wayne Woman's club, made an introductory speech, calling attention to the purpose of the Wayne Woman's club, which is civic service.

BARNs TO MATCH

This is a day of color harmonies in art, in the home, in journalism, and in business. And now it appears that artistic color schemes are moving to the barnyard. The department of applied arts at Kansas State Agricultural college has begun a crusade to get farmers to adandon brilliant red colors on their barns and paint them to harmonize with the color of their cows! It is suggested to the owners of Jersey or Guernsey cattle that tan buildings trimmed with a darker color would make a fine background for their herds. And the black and white Holsteins should have white buildings to match.

This cultivation of the artistic sense should prove a good stabilizer for agriculture. As the farmer would repaint his buildings every time he changed his breed of livestock, he would be inclined to stick to one line.

The above title does not seem to be elastic enough, for I want to talk about shows this week. Can anybody suggest a title that would give a reporter more liberty?

Between the opening of the Savidge shows, the various Music week programs, and the first talkies Sunday, there has been no dearth of entertainment in Wayne this past week. Those who do not enjoy the "night fights" had several musical offerings from which to choose. And the children's operetta and song program attracted a large cross-section of Wayne's population, who might otherwise have lost out.

But the Savidge players won at least their quota of amusement seekers from Wayne and the surrounding towns. Between the rain and the chilly weather, the crowds about the carnival grounds were rather thin, and nothing—not even the train, threatened at any time to be overloaded. The people flocked into the warmth of the tent.

Thursday evening the entire editorial and advertising staffs of the Democrat might have been seen in the third row back watching the performance of "The Bandit", gasping every time the bandit almost shot anybody, and immensely surprised at the last when the Indian servant turned out to be a member of the United States secret service. And the intellectuals were not lacking entirely that evening. Among others, there were present various members of the high school faculty. Walter Savidge seems to be fun for quite a variety of Wayne people. Of course, some were careful to explain that, "This is the first show I have attended this year."

Walter Savidge still maintains his standard of clean productions.

Prohibition must be still a live issue despite the results of the last election, for the Forum gives the lead of its May number to the first installment of a discussion on that question.

A number of men, leading dries and wets, including Irving Fisher, economics professor at Yale, defender of prohibition and author of a recent book on the question, and Fabian Franklin, an editor and a strong opponent of Volsteadism, met for an informal after-dinner debate on prohibition. The war of words that resulted is published in the Forum.

All who took part were evidently sincere. Mr. Franklin candidly admitted that he takes a little nip now and then, and enjoys it. The article is entertaining and is worthwhile to read for its accurate presentation of the attitudes of both the dries and the wets.

The debaters are agreed on some points. They all admit that prohibition has worked no economic harm, that if people would cease indulging in alcohol they would not be worse off financially. And there seems to be no argument over the question of whether alcohol is a narcotic poison. The crux of the fight seems to be the question of whether a man has the right to poison himself.

Mr. Franklin says in the heat of the debate, "I love to have a little poison in my system and I hope everyone does who cares for anything except the exact number of minutes he is going to live."

Cans For Canines

NO, we don't mean the kind of cans that sadistic small boys attach to terror-stricken curs' caudal appendages, but the kind whose contents produce a far different effect when offered to them at the other end. Did you know that dog food is now scientifically cooked and canned so that it will keep in perfect condition?

One brand which is a blend of beef, cereal and cod liver oil weighs one pound, and on the can are directions as to the approximate amounts of it which should be fed to the various breeds of dogs.

"Newfoundlands," they read, "St. Bernards, Great Danes, etc., should be fed from two to three cans a day, English Setters, Police Dogs, etc., one to two cans a day, Bull Terriers, Chows, etc., one can a day, and smaller breeds such as Pekinese from one-fourth to one-half a can a day."

For the Effete Dog

Another brand, which also weighs one pound, boasts on its label, among other things, that it contains a pure shredded wheat formula and gives even more elaborate directions as to feeding.

"We recommend," it says, "the addition of any well cooked vegetable (spinach or carrots), but do not use potatoes. Change your dog's diet occasionally, as they tire of the same food just like human beings.

"For dogs of the Collie, Shepherd and Setter type use the entire can at one feeding. For dogs of the Airedale, Spaniel and Terrier type use half a can for one feeding."

Both labels agree that your dog should be fed only once daily, either morning or night.*

Farm Leader Picks Out Debenture Fallacies

Nebraska Leader Scores Plan Adopted by U. S. Senate.

The debenture plan passed by the senate in the farm relief bill was severely criticized by C. B. Steward, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau federation in a report made public last Friday, which was published in the Omaha Bee-News. The debenture, he contended, would leave the farmer in a far worse condition than he is to day.

The farmer, Mr. Steward said in his analysis of the debenture plan, would not get even a reasonably small share of the face value of the debenture.

"The broker that handles the debenture would get his share; the exporter would evidently get his share; and the local grain dealer would evidently try to get a share," said Mr. Steward.

"The farmer would be the last to come in and may get a small part of it—but, in any event, the government would lose the full amount of the debenture."

On the other hand, Mr. Steward said, the American agriculturist would lose in the settling up of the debentures by stimulation of farm products imports under the plan.

"The operation of a debenture plan will not accomplish the purpose claimed by its proponents," said Mr. Steward, "but may work a hardship on both the producer and consumer in the end.

How It Would Work

"In order for the debenture plan to be operative, the product must be exported. It would not be put in operation until the price decline would be below what the producer should receive.

"Oftentimes it would be caused by seasonal marketing or a bear influence on the market by gamblers and speculators. At such time it would not be known what caused the price decline. At such times there may not be known what caused the price requirements.

"To operate the debenture plan at such times would remove from the country products that may be needed later to supply the domestic requirements, and because of such removal before another crop could be produced the price may raise to a very high level at the end of the year at a time that a very small per cent of the product would be in hands of producers, and would cause a very high price to the consumers."

Demand Unknown

Mr. Steward pointed out that the exporter is not in the market when wheat flows to the Omaha markets by trainloads. The wheat must be bought and placed in storage by others. No one knows what the export demand will be.

Hence, even if there is a potential advantage of a 21-cent debenture on export wheat, 90 per cent of the farmers' grain would move in and be sold without any reference to the possibility of increased price through securing of debenture certificates on exportable surplus. Mr. Steward said.

When the exporter comes into the Omaha market in the winter, Mr. Steward said, he may bid a 5 or 6 cent bonus to get the wheat, but he would not bid the entire 21-cent premium, because he knows the importer is not going to pay for a debenture certificate.

Must Have Premium

The price the exporter of wheat will receive for the debentures will depend entirely upon the possible demand by the importer, and importers will not bother with debenture certificates to pay tariffs instead of cash, unless they can get them below their cash value, he added.

"There is no restriction as to the character of goods which the importer proposes to import, so he takes his debenture certificates purchased at a discount, and offers them at par to the government in the payment of import duties on New Zealand beef or Australian wool; thus coming into competition with the Nebraska farmer who produces other products than wheat," said Mr. Steward.

"In effect, there is a bounty to the importer to the extent of his discount on the debentures."

Lands Other Plan

Mr. Steward said the commodity stabilization corporations provided in the federal farm board bill could handle the matter of surpluses to much better advantage to the farmer, and the loss to the government's revolving fund, if any, would not likely be as much as it would cost to operate the debenture plan.

The stabilization corporations plan, he said, would assure both producer and consumer of a stabilized fair price for raw material an finished product.

Foul Play Blamed For Pender Tragedy

Missouri Refuses to Give up Bodies of Two Pender Victims.

Foul play in the disappearance of two Pender men who have been missing about a month and whose car was found in the Missouri river, has been suggested by some of those who have been investigating the case.

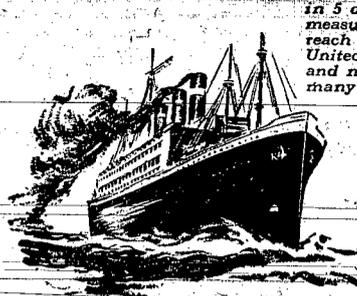

A prolonged search which was taken up with renewed hope during the past week, when the river was low, failed to disclose any new evidence as to the whereabouts of the bodies, supposed to have been covered by the Missouri river silt.

A report that gun shots were heard in the vicinity where the car the two missing men, H. E. Haddley and N. C. Grandgenet, was driving was found in the river started a rumor of foul play, which is discounted by officers, who have been working on the case.

Evidence as to the shooting is conflicting, it is claimed, and the theory that the car rolled into the river with the occupants or was accidentally driven into the channel still prevails.

STRAY THOUGHTS

It takes about 70 years of hard living to know how. Years do not make the man, nor lack of them, the boy. Whether we start north, east or south, we all "go west" at last. No one can do everything, but most of us can do more than we do, and do it better.

Many of us are so busy making good resolutions that we never find time to carry them out.

HERE'S THE POINT

The only time some men work is when they are laboring under a misapprehension.

Following his arrest a beggar was found to have three wives. Cause and effect.

"I don't mind having 'rings on my fingers,'" he said, as he limped from the dance, "but hang me if I can stand 'belles on my toes!'"

"The lif of a taxi driver," said one of them to an interviewer the other day, "is really a very monotonous one." He certainly never seems to have any change.

"How little things change," observed the cynic, in a discussion of modern fashion. "At one time women wanted to qualify for the ballot, now they look as though they were qualifying for the ballot."

Special Program Held When Fourth School of County Becomes Standard

The school in district number 11 has become the fourth standard school of the county. It is two and a half miles west and five south of Winside.

The school house is 28 feet by 36 feet by 12 feet high, the regular classroom being 27 feet by 27 feet. There are four windows on the west side and four on the south side. The blackboards are on the north side.

There are two cloak rooms with a general hall between them. There are two alcoves built in the regular classroom.

The full basement provides a large play room, a room for cobs and one for coal.

The playground is equipped with teeter-totters, a basket ball court, a volley ball court and an eight mallet croquet set.

The members of the school board are; Otto Miller, moderator; Wm. E. Deck, director; and Henry Deck, treasurer.

Miss Anna Anderson taught the school in the old building last year and in the new building this year, but expects to teach the first and second grades at Osmond next year.

A program was given at the school house on Wednesday evening, May 8.

consisting of songs, recitations and dialogues by the pupils of the district. Otto Miller gave a history of the school. It was organized about 1878 and consisted of a whole township of 36 sections.

Some of the finishing lumber for the old building was brought from Ponca but most of it was gotten at Wisner.

One of the early teachers of the school, Mrs. Minnie Sasse-Mason, now of Norfolk, was present and gave a short talk. Her first term of teaching was in this district beginning in the fall of 1888. The term was five months at a salary of $30 per month.

Otto Miller and Gus Deck were two of her pupils at that time.

The Standard Plate for the building sent out by the state department was presented by Pearl E. Sewell, county superintendent.

Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, cake and pickles were served by the ladies of the district. Kugler and Sears of Wayne furnished the electric lights for the evening.

District 6, 21 and 55 are planning to build new school houses during the summer months. They begin working toward standardization right from the start.—Wayne County Teacher.

"DEWARISMS"

Lord Dewar, famous English wit and raconteur, is constantly adding to the long list of "Dewarisms," as they have come to be known. Some additions he recently made were:

Judge not a man by his clothes, but by his wife's clothes.

When marrying to spite some one it is difficult to spite the right one.

When a bachelor flatters himself he knows a woman—he flatters himself.

What the world needs today is more permanent wives and less permanent wives.

To touch a man's heart, sympathize with him, to touch his pocketbook, flatter him.

Train up a housemaid in the way she should go and the first thing you know she's gone.

It is a woman's duty to provide for the inner man, and the man's to provide for the outer woman.

Brevity today is the soul of the rock business. The hem of a woman's skirt will soon be above approach.

I received a book a few days ago. On the outside cover the title was, "What Man Knows About Women," inside the book every page was a blank page.

Television will be a great boon. Wives will not be able to see the whereabouts of their husbands when they are compelled to remain late at the business—Pierre van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Advertisement for 'How Much Water Should Baby Get?' by Ruth Brittain.

Baby specialists agree nowadays, that during the first six months, babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying, upset and rest less spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For teething and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc., leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of ever increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels, makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increases in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold.

Just a word of caution. Look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine. The forty cent bottles contain thirty-five doses.

F. B. Snyder, who took over the reigns of the Wayne college prep athletic squad last fall announces a nine game schedule for his lads for next fall and with 17 letter men returning for the Autumn competition he is entertaining hope of negotiating the season without suffering a reverse. Fred Martischang, at half, and Wm. Mellor, lanky end, have been elected captains of the prep squad, and with the past year's experience and some additional recruits available the coming season the youngsters are doped to give their opponents plenty of trouble.

Completing Year's Work

All the lower grades are holding farewell picnics some time this week, most of them in Bressler's Park or at the fair grounds. The fifth grade, assisted by Miss Edith Barrett, who carried the lunches in her car, journeyed to the fair grounds for the first picnic of the season Tuesday afternoon. The fifth grade health teams The Busy Bees and the Busybodies played a ball game, won by the Busy Bees 8-2. Yesterday afternoon the sixth grade held their picnic at the fair ground and the seventh grade had a picnic in the park.

This noon the girls of the eighth grade, losers of the whispering contest, will give a picnic to the boys at the fair grounds. The whispering contest between the boys and girls of eighth grade was held this last week, a side having one point registered against it on the blackboard when one of its members whispered, chewed gum, or wasted time. The losers, which are the girls, give a picnic to the winners.

The kindergarten, the first, and second grades are holding a joint picnic in Bressler's park this noon. Tomorrow noon the third and fourth grades hold a picnic in the park, with Mrs. Lara Belle Johnson as guest.

All the lower grades are working this week striving to complete the year's work. School will be dismissed next Thursday noon, and the students will return Friday morning for their report cards.
