EDGAR JOHNSON DIES SUDDENLY AT SIOUX CITY

Former Resident Here Dies Suddenly Tuesday Morning While Putting Storm Windows on Home

DIES AT AGE OF 65 YEARS

Edgar A. Johnson of Sioux City, former resident here for several years, passed away very suddenly yesterday morning, Tuesday November 26, at his home in Sioux City, death being due apparently to heart failure.

Edgar A. Johnson was born March 11, 1864 at Somerset, Ohio, and passed away at his home in Sioux City, Iowa Tuesday morning November 26, 1929 at the age of 65 years, 8 months, and 15 days. He was stricken suddenly, as it were, with heart failure, and fell dead while working at his home. His death came as a great shock to his relatives and friends.

Mr. Johnson came to Wayne about 25 or 30 years ago and, in partnership with W. M. Fleetwood now of Sioux City, was engaged in the furniture business in the building now occupied by J. C. Nuss's Variety store. He later entered the real estate business in conjunction with Grant Mears and W. L. Fisher. About fifteen years ago he and his wife and daughter moved to Sioux City where they have since resided. Since leaving Wayne, Mr. Johnson has engaged in the real estate business in Sioux City. He was a member of the A. F. A. M. lodge.

He leaves to mourn his sudden departure his wife, Mrs. Edgar Johnson of Sioux City; his daughter, and grandson, Mrs. Harold Long and Harold Edgar Long; one sister, Mrs. Lily Hall, and one brother, Will Johnson, both of Denver, Colorado, one other sister, Mrs. Sarah Law of California, also survives.

Funeral services will be held at the West Funeral Parlor in Sioux City next Friday afternoon, November 29, at 2:00 o'clock. Interment will take place in Sioux City.

STEAM LAUNDRY TO START SOON

Installing Modern Plant. Will be in Operation in December. Will Employ 10 to 15 Persons.

The citizens of Wayne and community will soon have the convenience of a modern steam laundry.

Mr. A. A. Gilstead, who for the past eight years has conducted a laundry at Omaha, is moving his plant to Wayne. He has leased from J. W. Baker, the building formerly occupied by Hachmeier's Implement shop on west first street, and will remodel the building to meet his requirements.

Mr. Gilstead has already begun to move his equipment from Omaha, and will add other new equipment to make it a strictly modern laundry in every respect. He will have five large washers and one giant mangle, the mangle alone weighing four thousand pounds.

Mr. Gilstead's long experience in the laundry business is serving him well in his desire to equip his laundry with every modern convenience to aid him in turning out high class work and speeding up his service. His brother P. B. Gilstead of Grandview, Wis., will be associated with him in the business. They expect to be ready for operation soon after the first of December. When in full operation they will employ about fifteen persons.

A modern steam laundry is needed in Wayne. Our town is plenty large to support a good laundry, and Mr. Gilstead will only give him a trial he will prove to them he will turn out as fine work as they can get in any big city.

We welcome Mr. Gilstead and his family to our city and wish them success.

Personal Tax Notices Are Being Mailed Out

The personal tax list has been turned over by County Clerk Reynolds to County Treasurer Steele and his office force is busy now making up cards, some of which were mailed out yesterday, Wednesday, and the remainder will be mailed out by the last of the week.

The County Treasurer has also received the real estate list and while the real estate taxes are not delinquent until May 1, 1930, they can be paid now without interest.

Community Creamery Sold To Mr. Seymour

E. E. Kearns has sold the Community creamery to Ed. Seymour of Appleton, Minn. Mr. Seymour has a broad experience in the creamery business, and has been very successful. He came to Wayne from Appleton Minn. where he has conducted a creamery for the past five years.

Mr. Seymour has a reputation for making a superior quality of ice cream, and expects to add new equipment and develop this branch of the business. By increasing the volume of cream received he expects to materially increase the price received by the farmer for his cream.

Mr. Seymour took charge of his new business the first of the week. We welcome him to our city and wish him much success.

AS THANKSGIVING nears we're prompted to ask ourselves—"What have we to be thankful for?" Upon sincere retrospect, the answer will come—"many blessings". Has not our generous Creator seen fit to bestow upon us Peace and Plenty—and undisturbed Contentment and Happiness that makes life worth living—a Prosperity the steady growth of which assures us of the still brighter future to come?

No matter what direction we turn our eyes—north, south, east or west—everywhere we see material evidence of Good Times! Business humming—unemployment rare—the farmer harvesting the greatest crop he has raised for years with prices of his product as good if not better than for years—money plentiful at least to meet all present requirements—every street the line of march for a continuous "big parade of smiling faces!" Yes, even in our very own homes, science and invention and skill have placed many comforts that are bringing us countless hours of enjoyment! Is not that worth giving thanks for? As the occasion draws nigh, one's thoughts can't help but drift back to the few blessings our forebears had—what hardships fell to their lot—of the subsequent perils and privations they suffered—and yet how, after their first meager Harvest, they found it within their hearts to set aside a day of Thanksgiving.

When we compare the little they had with ALL we have, surely our conscience urges us to bow our heads in appreciation of it all.

COMMITTEE URGE SPEED OF ROAD WORK ON NO. 35

Delegation From Wayne, Winside, Norfolk, Wakefield and Hoskins Interview Gov. Weaver.

WILL LET ROAD CONTRACT SOON

A delegation of citizens from Wayne, Norfolk, Winside, Wakefield and Hoskins called on Governor Weaver, and state engineer Cochran, at Lincoln Friday November 22, to urge the hastening of highway improvements on route No. 35 to provide all weather travel between Norfolk and Sioux City, E. W. Wright and Don Cunningham represented Wayne good roads committee, and President U. S. Conn of Wayne State Normal school and Dr. J. C. Johnson represented the Kiwanis club of Wayne. Atty. H. E. Siman was spokesman for the group.

The delegation was favorably received, and they were given the assurance that a contract would be let to put highway 35 to grade between Wayne and Winside before spring.

It is very fine to see committees from these five towns working in such unison. It has been said that "In unison there is strength". Singly perhaps they would have made no headway, but when a delegation representative so large a portion of the state speaks they are more apt to receive recognition.

Putting highway 35 in condition to provide all year travel will be beneficial to all the town represented by the delegation and many farmers who have been handicapped for an outlet to market, especially in bad weather, a time when they cannot work on their farms and would like to do their extra hauling.

If there is one person above all others that really needs good roads, it's the farmer. If you doubt this, vision the farmer starting to town in a truck or wagon heavily loaded with grain and get stuck in the mud on a cold day, then you will know at least one reason why the farmer wants a good road. The farmer wants good roads, and the town that wants his trade should appreciate his business sufficiently to assist him in getting them.

K. N. PARKE TO BE FIELD DIRECTOR, THIS YEAR

Beginning with the second semester Professor Parke will devote the major part of his time in visiting high schools in northeast Nebraska. He hopes to be able to gather first hand information in regard to the success of our graduates who are employed in this part of the state. His work in this connection will quite likely be confined to one semester after which he will return to his class work. The matter of having a Director of Public-Relations has been under consideration for some time and this is merely the first step in that direction. Such a director would have charge of all extension work, follow up work, and publicity.—Goldenrod.

PROF. OWEN SPEAKS ON CHEERFULNESS

Cheerfulness, A Blameless Life and a Sense of Responsibility are Essential to a Useful Life.

Professor J. Q. Owen gave a very interesting talk about Attitude at the Kiwanis luncheon Monday at Hotel Stratton. He stated that cheerfulness is a virtue; that it is better to find a cheerful man than a five pound note. Live in the world of appreciation. Fulfill your twofold obligation: Live a blameless life; pass on the torch of progress. To meet the first, develop a sense of responsibility, a desire to serve your day and age, a belief in life.—To measure up to the second... establish a home, make it a center of right influence; train the future generation to live courageously, without complaining, honorably, without infringing on the rights of others, appreciatively, enjoying the best there is in life.

Professor Owen's talk was very inspiring and shows that so much depends on the attitude we take of life. The world today needs the cheerful man who lives a blameless life, and who has a sense of his responsibility to assist in training the future generation to live courageously, without complaining; honorably, without infringing on the rights of others.

Professor Owen says: "The world asks not that we win... it demands only that we play the man in all things. Custer lost at the Little Big Horn, Brown at Harper's Ferry; Wilson at Paris; Nathan Hale, too, failed to bring to his general the information that he sought; Captain Scott failed to return from the South Pole. Each a model of courage, endurance, noble living that we shall not soon forget."

Nebraska Highways Now In Winter Garb

It is no longer enough in Nebraska to provide pleasant highways for summer travel; so they must be sturdy roads fit for all-winter use. Under the direction of the state engineer, 600 miles of snow fence is in place against the first day when the north winds will carry before them the snow that finds easy lodgement in the unprotected places on the highways.

About a hundred more miles of snow fence are being erected this year than last. The fence is being erected early by reason of the fact that a new legislative enactment allows the placing of the fence on or after October 15th. Heretofore November 15th was the earliest date the fence could be placed. Last year an early snow arrived before the fences were in place and many roads were blockaded for several days.

In many sections of the state where highway surfaces have become worn the state department is spreading a maintenance coat of gravel before winter sets in. This work is being rushed while gravel pits remain open.

Road conditions in Nebraska are steadily improving as time and funds derived from the gas tax permits the improvements to be made. It is the hope of the highway department of Nebraska within the next few years to have truck lines of the state traveled or hard surfaced and to have them protected and to keep them in such a manner that the use of automobiles for pleasure and business purposes will not be curtailed in winter by reason of mud or snow.

The goal in Nebraska may be summarized in one sentence: The best roads that can be afforded, kept in good condition all the year around, and paid for when they are built.

Nebraska's first governor was inaugurated in 1854, seventy-five years ago. Nebraska was then a territory and Francis Burt was the first governor.

Nebraska Beet Sugar Abundant This Year

The beets, grown in Nebraska during the late spring and summer, are now being harvested and their pulp being used in sugar making.

It is estimated that the 1929 beet crop will bring the North Platte valley farmers a total of $8,750,000. The average yield in the valley being 131-2 tons per acre.

At Grand Island, the factory has 9000 acres of beets under contract which will go about nine tons to the acre, and will bring a little less than $7 per ton. The factory will pay its growers about $500,000. The difference in the yield of North Platte valley and the Grand Island district is explained by irrigation and different soil conditions.

Nebraska sugar this year will fill $3,000,000 one-hundred pound sacks, or a twenty pound sack for every inhabitant of the state.

Much as Nebraskans like sugar in their coffee, on their breakfast food, in their candy and cake, and on the puffy white popcorn balls made from popcorn in the world's greatest popcorn country near North Platte, there is still some sugar to spare. Nebraska beet sugar has overcome the aversion to sugar made from anything but cane and is now accepted on a par with cane sugar on the tables and in the kitchens of American homes.

Improvement Asso. Accredits Poultry

More than one third of all the poultry raisers who applied for accreditation in the Nebraska poultry improvement association now have their birds on the accredited list according to an announcement from the secretary of the association. This is part of the poultry improvement program underway in this state. The following counties are among those which have large numbers of birds inspected and branded this year: Lancaster, Buffalo, Cuming, Richardson, Colfax, Madison, Clay and Dodge.

Five inspectors have been at work several weeks inspecting and banding flocks in various states. These banded birds now bear the stamp of approval of the poultry improvement association. The following men are doing the inspecting work: B. J. Japs, Lincoln; R. S. Hill, Lincoln; Wendell Woodward, Denver; Henry Granke, West Point; and S. S. Case, Clay Center.

The plan of Nebraska poultrymen to improve their flocks through accreditation is carried on by hatcherymen, county agents, farmers, and the Nebraska poultry improvement association. More flocks will be accredited this year than in any other one year since the association was organized, the secretary said.

It is estimated that 500 flocks will be inspected and banded before the end of the winter. These flocks are located in the leading poultry producing areas of the state.

A Few Notes On Farm Butchering

Sometimes little but important things in connection with the slaughtering of farm animals for home consumption are overlooked. The following are a few pointers that may help in the general success of the farm butchers:

Always choose a healthy animal; one that is "off feed" will not make first class meat.

Keep the animal from feed for twelve hours or more; he will be more easily dressed.

Hogs should be stuck and bled to death; shooting may stun the hog so that he does not bleed well.

Scald the hog in water of from 140 to 160 degrees Fahrenheit; the lower temperature makes a slow but a better scald.

Lay out the needed equipment and put it in good condition the day before the hog or beef is butchered; after the animal is bled is always too late to hunt up half the tools that are needed right away.

Allow the carcass cool (but not freeze) twenty-four to forty-eight hours before quartering; getting lard rendered out the same day it is butchered is a foolish waste of quality in the product.

Health Secrets

More and more we are learning to rely upon nature, rather than upon medicines, for health. If we all followed nature's laws most of our serious diseases would disappear. Certainly the so-called "diseases of civilization" affection of the heart and nervous system would be abolished. Sunlight, fresh air, exercises, right food, avoidance of worry, and the prompt repair of any injury or defect, these are practically all anyone need to maintain perfect health.—Dr. Dale H. Abbe in the American Magazine.

now shipped is going out of the state, some to Kansas and some to Missouri. Orders already booked by the company will keep the crew of twenty-five men working all winter long if the weather will permit.

Platte river gravel is in demand not only for Nebraska roads but for roads of other states. Its coarseness and packing qualities make it an exceptional gravel for road surfacing. A large amount of the 3500 miles of graveled road in Nebraska is surfaced with Platte river gravel, the availability of which has been on small contributing factor in making Nebraska's good roads system.

What is Chiropractic

It is Not Medicine
Not Surgery Not Osteopathy

It is a scientific method of adjusting the cause of disease, without drugs or instruments, based on a correct knowledge of anatomy, and especially the nervous system. The Chiropractic idea is that the cause of disease is in the person afflicted, and the adjustment in correcting the wrong that is producing it. The function of every organ in the body is controlled by mental impulses from the brain, which it transmits through the nerves. Any impingement of these nerves interfering with the transmission of mental impulses results in an abnormal function called disease. This interference is produced by subluxated vertebrae pressing upon nerves as they pass out from the spinal cord. The trained adjuster is able to locate the point of obstruction or interference and, by means of adjusting the subluxated vertebrae, corrects the cause, and normal conditions, or health, is the result.

WAYNE MARKET REPORTS

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press Thursday:
Corn (No. 4 Yellow) $.60
Oats36
Butter Fat37
Eggs42
Springs 8c, 10c, 13c
Hens 9c, 11c, 14c
Roosters08
Hogs $7.50 to $8.00

In the American Legion parade at Louisville, the Iowans who marched along singing their corn song got the horse laugh. Nebraska delegates just ahead carried a banner flaunting the slogan, "Columbus, Nebraska, where Iowa gets its seed corn."

We should have a Christmas decoration of some sort for our town for the holidays! It is high time that this matter should be given attention. Some say it is "too much trouble". We can accomplish nothing worthwhile without work, drudgery, hardship and sacrifice; but after all it is worth the effort. We need something that is suggestive of the season, and in a business way it is good investment for the merchants and business men of our town; it encourages buying, and will bring more people to our town to do their Christmas shopping. We should put forth a great effort to welcome our neighbors, the farmer, to our city.

Shall we have a Chamber of commerce, a Commercial club or a Retail Merchants Association? We need an organization of their character where all the merchants and other business interests of our city can meet and discuss the problems that are so vital to them, such as cooperative efforts for bringing more shoppers to Wayne through special sale days, market days for the farmers, etc.

In the united effort of all, or a large percent of our merchants, there is strength to accomplish a great many things that are impossible of accomplishment individually.

The merchandising problem is getting to be more serious each year through the coming of the chain store, with volume buying and their advanced methods of obtaining a quick turnover. The great problem to be solved by our local merchants is to increase their volume of sales, not cooperation to hold up prices. Since the automobile has become so popular, you not only have the problem of local competition, but your neighbor as well, the merchants of cities and towns within a hundred miles radius. The only salvation of the local merchant in the "survival of the fittest," is to cast aside selfish interest and cooperate with his local competitors to bring more shoppers to Wayne. When they come to our city to shop you have an opportunity to get your share of their business.

HOOVER SEEKS COOPERATION OF CAPITAL AND LABOR

President Hoover is endeavoring to maintain a labor truce while the construction activity of the country under goes an artificial expansion stimulated by a government building program, and he is convinced that he is backed by a united public opinion.

Agreements which are reminiscent of war times are being made under the influence of governmental persuasion. This is one of the strangest episodes of American history. Just how far reaching it will be cannot be estimated at this time.

The power of the president is being exercised in an informal fashion but with consequences almost, if not equally as great, as if it were the result of a legislative mandate.

The reason, of course, is that big business requires prosperous conditions for employer and employee—abundant capital for expansion at low rates as well as steady purchasing power on the part of the consumer.

Never before has a governmental conference brought out this relationship between producer and consumer as emphatically.

Henry Ford, one of the many business leaders called by President Hoover for consultation, advocates an increase in wages and a drop in price of merchandise.

With plants shutting down and curtailment expected, the fear has been that industry might cut wages. The president's conference had for its object the foregoing of an understanding whereby wage levels could be maintained. In fact, the construction program might easily lead into such a competition of labor as to advance the costs and defeat the object.

The problem is complicated enough normally but with capital and labor sitting in the whitehouse cabinet room attempting to cooperate for the general interest, there is an atmosphere of optimism about the whole affair which is expected to be the controlling factor in restoring confidence in the business outlook.

Flanders poppies, products of seeds picked on the battlefield during the war, will be growing in the American Legion plot of the Wahoo cemetery next summer. Dr. E. O. Weber of Wahoo received the seeds last week for planting next spring. He received them from Sam Reynolds of Omaha, national committeeman for the Legion. The seeds are a product of the seeds carelessly picked by Col. Monroe Johnson as the Rainbow division was making an advance during the war. Thoughtlessly he put some of the seeds into one of his pockets and later enclosed a few of them in a letter to home folks. They were planted by the home folks and seed from these plants have found their way all over the United States.

Cornstalk disease seems unusually deadly in the Winside locality this year. Jurgen Nielson has lost four head of cattle as a result of the disease. Mrs. Lambrecht has lost three, and several other farmers have lost from one to two head. Hog flu is also serious in the locality, a number of hogs having already been lost. The disease seems to be at its worst at this time.

Ed. Granquist of Winside has added another new International one-ton truck to his truck fleet. He now operates four trucks. The new truck is a six speed special. Mr. Granquist has enjoyed a constantly increasing truck business since coming to Winside two years ago. He then had only one truck. It may well be added that Ed. is well improving his success, being unusually efficient in his line, accommodating, and congenial.

WRITES OF TRIP TO OLD COUNTRY

Miss Edna Swanson Writes of Trip to Sweden Enjoyed by Her and Her Father Last Summer.

Miss Edna Swanson who, in company with her father, Louis Swanson, spent the past summer in Sweden visiting relatives and friends, has kindly consented to write a letter to the Democrat telling of their trip. The substance of her letter is as follows:

We left Sioux City May 8th and sailed from New York May 11th on the Swedish ship, Kungsholm. The Kungsholm is a beautiful new, white liner, 608 feet long, and 78 feet wide, and with a displacement of 26,700 tons. She was just making her fourth voyage. Thirteen hundred passengers were aboard. It certainly was a fine boat. Although we traveled third class, we found everything as nice and clean as anyone would wish. The weather was grand during our trip over there. The boat rocked very little, for the ocean was smooth and the trip across the water was most enjoyable. We landed at the Swedish port, Gothenborg, Monday, May 20th, it being the second Day of Pentecost, celebrated two days in Sweden. Several hundred people were at port when our ship arrived.

From Gothenborg we took the train for Linderod, from where we went by taxi to my cousin's home. Our relatives were quite surprised to see us. We made our home with an Aunt Hanna in Tollarp, Skone, who is a widow keeping house for Per Anderson. She has a daughter, Harlo. Father has a sister married and living in Hjärsås, Wanas. We spent part of the time with them. This was father's third visit to Sweden since he migrated to America.

The first thing that seemed queer to me was that on the roads and highways, everyone had to keep to the left. It seemed we would run into everyone we met on those narrow, crooked country roads. I believe the roads must have been following the old paths and trails of long ago, they are so crooked. However, the highways were as wide as they are here, but I didn't see more than two miles of straight road in a stretch on any of the Swedish highways. They are full of curves.

I can hardly explain just how I felt or thought when I first saw the old country. For one thing, I felt as though I would be ready to return to the U. S. A. within a month, but to my surprise, the more I saw of Sweden the better I liked it. However, there was one thing that I didn't like, and that was to be speaking Swedish continually. It really did get tiresome, even though my relatives were surprised to find that I, having been born in America, could speak it so well.

The climate in Sweden is wonderful. The summer there is cool, and refreshing, seeming more like spring or fall to us than like summer. The sun doesn't seem as hot or bright there as here. The women never wear hats, even when working out-of-doors.

The people in Sweden dress about as they do here, excepting that they all wear wooden shoes when working. When one considers that the soil there is quite rocky, and that it is very hard on ordinary shoes, it is easy to see that our Swedish friends are really wise in wearing "Dutch" shoes.

I didn't see any corn in Sweden, most of the crops being oats, wheat, and rye. The farmers also raise a great many long white beets which they use to feed their cattle. The grain fields were seldom larger than thirty or forty acres, and I saw as many women working in the fields as men. The machinery used is smaller than what is used here. A farmer usually has only one horse. Hogs are scarce, but there are many dairy cattle. The farmers as a rule milk several cows. The lay of the land is not usually as hilly but gently sloping. In many places it is too rocky to farm and is used as pasture for the dairy cattle.

The buildings in Sweden are usually built close together, especially in Skone, where they are all built together, forming a square with an open yard in the center. This is surely handy in the winter time, for one can go from house to washhouse, granary, cow barn and stable without going out of doors, by simply going from one department in the "square" to another. Besides the open yard in side the square, there is a front yard outside the square on one side. Here there is grass and plenty of flowers of all kinds and colors.

Prices in Sweden seemed to be about the same as here but the wages are lower. Hence, one has a better chance to get ahead in America than in Sweden.

There is no middle class in Sweden. The people are either very poor or quite wealthy, yet there is little class distinction, and rich and poor associate together with little if any thought of financial difference.

Cars are not as common in Sweden as here, but motorcycles and bicycles are as numerous there as cars are here. When I told my cousin about there being so many cars in America they just wondered how there was room for them all.

I had the opportunity of attending the wedding of my cousin, Torsten Hackansson who was married June 22. It lasted two days as all such occasions do. It was a home wedding, in the evening a large charivari crowd came the same as they do here.

We also had the honor of hearing the Rev. Gulleen from Fremont, Neb., give a sermon at Gualow church. He had come to Sweden to bring his mother back with him to America.

On Sunday, July 28, we served an American dinner and supper for 50 of our friends and relatives at Per Anderson's in Tollarp. They all enjoyed the meals very much, as their cooking is not much different from ours, but the way of serving was quite unusual to them. Over there the meals are served cafeteria style. Coffee is served first. When all have had coffee the table is cleared. Then a sandwich table is spread with fine sandwiches and various kinds of cold meat, etc. After all have been served the table is again cleared and reset with potatoes and meat alone. This served and everyone satisfied, the table is cleared a third time and the dessert, such a pudding, etc., is brought on. I would have served pie, but I couldn't find a pie pan in the whole town so could not make any. Our Swedish friends never make pie. After the dessert, coffee is served again to complete the meal. Coffee is never served with the meal, but some drink instead, such as milk, water, or some Swedish drink.

We hired a car and chauffeur for a week and motored on to Gothenborg. We came through the following towns and cities: Linderod; Horby; Eslov; Varberg; Kingsbacka and on to Gothenborg.

From there we went to Gislaved, Smaland where we spent a few days with Karl Johnson's, parents of my brother-in-law, David Johnson. We then motored to Stockholm and spent a few days there. We visited the national Historical Museum building; the Skansen (park of wild animals); and Slottet (court house). We left Stockholm at 8:00 a. m. and got home to Tollarp that evening, passing on our way through the cities of Soder-talje; Nykoping; Linkoping; Mojobly; Tranas; Hlskvarnan; Jonkoping; Vaggeryd; Kolingaryd, Varnamo; Markyd; Hassleholm. The roads were good, graveled highways.

In August we spent a week in Smaland with Karl Johnson's. We also spent a day at that time visiting Ernest Carlson's folks in Hjo Vastergotland, and were up on the Talputan in Jorkoping, a wonderfully scenic place. We also visited friends at Gemmarp Gallaryd, Smaland.

I had the pleasure of seeing and taking pictures of the places where mother and father were born, the same houses now remaining.

I spent one week in Gards Kopinge with Karin Kjellkvist's folks. That town is surrounded with Pine trees 'as were most places in Skone, and the rocks and stones weren't very scarce to my notion.

On returning to the U. S. A. I brought with me as a remembrance from Sweden a great number of photographs I had taken and a table cover all embroidered on black satin with blue and gold silk floss, the colors of the Swedish flag. The day of our departure all our cousins went with us to Malmo where we parted and they returned home at six o'clock. We took the train from Malmo at nine o'clock for Gothenborg, sailing from Gothenborg Saturday noon Sept. 21st, on the Kungsholm, the same ship that took us to Sweden.

It was terribly stormy across the North Sea, and the majority of the people were seasick. The waves were as high as a two story house, and it wasn't much pleasure being on deck. Fortunately, neither Dad nor I were seasick. There were all kinds of entertainment on the ship so if one weren't sick he could certainly have a good time.

The greatest distance we sailed in twenty-four hours was 457 miles. We sailed from Gothenborg to New York, arriving Monday, Sept. 30, at 8:00 a. m. There were 1600 passengers and a crew of 200 aboard, and it took until noon for all the people to get off the boat. We left New York at 2:00 p. m. and got to Chicago the next evening at six o'clock, arriving at Sioux City the next morning Oct. 2nd, at eight o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson were there to meet us.

I had always declared that I never cross the ocean, but have changed my mind about that for I certainly enjoyed my ocean trip as well as my visit in Sweden during the four months father and I were there. I think that most of you that have been there will agree with me.

Healthful Sweets For The Children

Wholesome Thanksgiving and Christmas sweets for the children may be made from fruits, replacing the sugar candies and satisfying the youngsters just as well. They are to be preferred because they are more healthful for the children than the all sugar candies so generally used during the holiday season.

A ground fruit candy may be made with equal parts of dates, raisins, figs, and nuts. Some cocoanut may also be used. Add lemon juice for flavoring if desirable and put enough graham crackers through the grinder to make the mixture hold together. Form into rolls, balls, or pats and roll in cocoanut or shaved peanuts, or dip into melted fondant. The paste may be shaped into a long roll and sliced and rolled in granulated or powdered sugar.

New Record For Poultry Flock

One hen at the Agricultural college has just "cackled" herself into a distinctive class of birds. The cackling did not interest her keepers but the number of eggs she laid established a new record for the University of Nebraska poultry flock.

Hen numbered X-284 laid 303 eggs in 365 days. This is the first 3000 eggger at the Agricultural college. Only a limited number of birds in the hen kingdom have reached this high production mark.

During one month this bird laid 30 eggs, her highest production for any one month. Nineteen was the lowest number of eggs for any month's production.

Through the breeding season this standard bred fowl laid 63 eggs for hatching purposes, all of which were fertile. Forty-eight of them developed chicks. This would indicate that good fertility and hatchability may be had from high producing hens, poultry authorities declared.

Another point of interest about the 300-egger is the way she continued to lay eggs in spite of outside disturbances, the attendants said. She started her record in a flock mating pen. Later she went into a breeding pen. After the breeding season she moved into another house with 125 strange birds. In the last pen she was cared for by two students from the college.

The eggs from this bird weighed well up and above the standard. They had a strong shell and were in good shape. At present the hen is in good vigorous condition and continues to lay eggs.

WAYNE DEFEATED BY WAKEFIELD

But Get an Even Break on Total Games Played This Season. Win 3, Lose 3, Tie 2.

Wayne high school went down in defeat to Wakefield in one of the best played games of the year, last Friday.

The two teams were fairly matched although the Wakefield team outweighed the local team on an average of 31 pounds.

The average weight of the Wayne team was 137, and Wakefield averaged 168 pounds.

Wakefield played a very fine game and scored on a fumble, running through the line for about 12 yards.

Wayne looked good on passes. Bressler made a nice catch on a long forward pass, and made a 33 yard run. Wayne had two good chances to score but were not able to break through Wakefield's strong defense.

The following men played their last game with the high school team: Herbert Perry, Jim Morris, Marvin Thompson, Baldwin Fisher and Chas. Ingham.

Wayne has had a very successful football season, compared to other years, but expect to do much better next year.

The seasons record is as follows: Wayne and Hartington tied 12 and 12; Wayne and Randolph, score of 12 to 0 favor of Randolph; Wayne and Sioux City Central High, tie game 6 and 6; Wayne and Pierce game, 12 to nothing favor of Wayne. In the Wayne and Ponca game the score was 12 to nothing favor of Wayne. In the second game with South Sioux City the local boys went down in defeat with a score of 19 to 7 in favor of Sioux City. They defeated Laurel by a score of 19 to 6; and lost the last game of the season, which they played last Friday with Wakefield with a score of 7 to 0 favor of Wakefield. Wayne won 3 games, lost 3, and tied 2.

Advocate State Law
For Weed Eradication
A state law compelling the eradication of bad perennial weeds and sharing the expense equally between the state, county, and farmer was recommended to a small group of Nebraska people Thursday at the agricultural college by C. B. Ahlson, formerly an extension service agent in Idaho.
Utah has such a law, Mr. Ahlson says, and it works perfectly. It is directed by the state department of agriculture. The work is done with chemical sprays at a considerable expense per acre. The state has appropriated $1000,000 to pay its share of the expense.
Idaho has a somewhat similar law, excepting that the direction of the work lies with the county officers and the expense is assessed against the land owner. Farmers in Idaho used to try to hide their weeds, but now they come to the county weed supervisors and ask for help in getting rid of the weeds.
Mr. Ahlson also exchanged experiences in using chemicals on weeds with a number of the agricultural college men who have been working on the problem also. Every state in the union is concerned with the comparatively new method, Ahlson says. When the results of 1929 work are all summarized there should be some very good information to guide college workers and farmers another year.
Authorities believe the sodium or calcium chorate which is used kills the weeds thru their leaves, stems, and roots rather than by burning off the tops as people supposed. Main roots absorb the chemical more rapidly than the lateral roots, hence one spray does not always kill all the weeds. Shoots can come up from the lateral roots and in instances from the main roots.
A rain immediately after the spray is applied seems to help rather than hinder its action. Likewise, putting the spray on in the fall after the green tops are gone seems to get the weeds with one application of the spray. In most cases, normal moisture during a season and over the winter will take the chemical out of the soil so a crop can be grown on the land the next year.
Most of the tests made by college extension service men in Nebraska to date have been on patches of little white morning glory or bind weed. In some sections of the state this weed has taken possession of the land and reduced its value as much as $100 per acre. It is a community nuisance and the community and state is partly responsible for its spread.

Power Of Colors
Advertising men know a great deal about color psychology. Purple and royal blue lend an air of aristocracy to printed matter. That is why you often find expensive automobiles or high price securities presented to prospective buyers in elaborate circulars printed in these colors and in gold, which is also aristocratic Red, the advertising man say, is a selling color. It has a tendency to excite the acquisitive instinct in men and women. Candles in red boxes sell best. Expensive perfumes sell marvelously in purple, gold and blue containers. A very red dress on a beautiful young woman will often bring the proposal that was withheld for months when more quiet colors were worn; these advertising experts, all men, tell us.

JUNIORS CAPTURE FIRST PLACE WITH NOVEL STAGE ACT

Large Audience is Entertained by the Annual Stunt Nite Program Friday Evening.

NUMEROUS STUNTS PRESENTED

(from the Goldenrod)
A large enthusiastic audience filled the auditorium to witness the sixth annual Stunt night program. Judging from the appreciative applause, the audience enjoyed it immensely. There were ten organizations represented in the program which presented a very pleasing variety of stunts. Generally speaking each stunt expressed very appropriately the idea of the organization which presented it. The Sophomore class, represented by Paul Witt, sponsored the entertainment and are complimented on the creditable manner of managing and directing the procedure.

- Program
1. Maybe, Who Knows? --- W. A. A.
 2. The Supreme Sacrifice --- Sophomore Class
 3. Station N. I. A. R. --- Neilhard Hall
 4. The Book Shelf --- MochaJava Club
 5. Important Nights at Terrace --- Terrace Hall
 6. Little Orphan Annie --- Girl's Glee Club
 7. The Wheel of Time --- Senior Class
 8. Episodes From Freshman Life --- Freshman Class
 9. Opening the Year Book --- Junior Class
 10. A Quartet Rehearsal --- Boy's Glee Club

"Opening the Year Book," presented by the Junior class was awarded first prize by the judges. In a very striking, artistic manner it portrayed the history of the Spizz and brought before us once again one of the outstanding personalities of each year book beginning with the first in 1914 closing with the appearance of the editor of the 1930 annual. The stage setting for this stunt was very impressive; it consisted of fifteen gigantic annuals held in place by human bookends robed in cap and gown, and before whom those noted alumni marched past one by one.

"Little Orphan Annie," by the girls glee club, and "The Wheel of Time" by the Senior class tied for second place. The former was a pantomime and song representation of that well known character, haunted by witches and goblins and was very well portrayed by Miss Mardell Schenk.

"The Wheel of Time" turned back to the days of 1850 in the picture of a college senior meeting his lady friend and asking her for a "date". The ensuing conversation of the sweethearts in each picture quite truly characterized the life of that era almost as well as did the costumes worn by them. Clarence McClurg and Miss Theodora Carlson played the Romeo and Juliet in the first scene. Ed McEwing and Lillian Whitmore in the picture of 1875, had a gay conversation which brought forth much laughter from the audience. Jeannette Robertson and Harold Jeffery pictured the vivid flashing jazzy age of 1920. Mrs. Dorothy Rolfe Kaup and Merrill Whitman portrayed our modern refined and sophisticated era of 1930. Turning into the future to 1950 Miss Amy Bengtson and Arthur Graber gave the impression that this age will be characterized by aviation. Lady aviatrix suggested to her pilot friend that she accompany him to New York on a date.
Some of the other outstanding stunts were, "Station N. I. A. R." in which was broadcast a program of jokes singing and dancing. Miss Stromberg is to be complimented on her ability as a tap dancer. "A Quartet Rehearsal" was a music number by four darters. The Sophomore class production, "The Supreme Sacrifice" was a drama in which appeared fair ladies cowboys, indians, and hobby horses. In "The Book Shelf," the MochaJava club portrayed some of the characters in literature which are discussed at their regular meetings.

W. A. A. presented a clog dance by Irol Whitmore and Jeannette Lewis and also a "spook dance," in which a luminous figure skipped about on the darkened stage. In "Maybe, Who Knows?" In "Episodes from 'Freshman Life'" two boys tried to reenact a trick that is usually played on a freshmen student every fall.
"Important Nights at Terrace" were of course the free nights at that dormitory, the important feature being the visits or phone calls of certain Kingsbury athletes.
Give a useful gift this Christmas. See the Democrat's "Gift month" offer in this issue.

How Much Water Should Baby Get?
A Famous Authority's Rule
By Ruth Brittain

Baby specialists agree nowadays, that during the first six months, babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying, upset and rest less spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc. leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of ever increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels, makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increases in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold.

Just a word of caution. Look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine. The forty-cent bottles contain thirty-five doses.

THANKSGIVING

WE all know the feel of the Thanksgiving season. Our blood is tingling with the first fall frosts, and our appetite is responding to its accelerated pace in a way that reminds us of the Thanksgiving of our childhood. And the child part in all of us that always survives the years is secretly wondering just what there will be for Thanksgiving dinner. That remains a dark mystery in most well-regulated households, except for certain rumors that will leak out, but we're going to lift the curtain to reveal what we think will make a most toothsome Thanksgiving dinner.

Of course there must be turkey in it. That has been traditional ever since the Pilgrim fathers carried their arquebusses to church on Thanksgiving morning, and glanced uneasily over their shoulders for a whizzing arrow shot by some lurking Indian. And there must also be cranberry sauce, and pumpkin and cider.

But our mouth is beginning to water. We can't wait any longer. So here's the menu, with recipes calculated for eight people. You can multiply or divide these ingredients to suit your needs.

- Spiced Cocktail
- Olives
- Pickles
- Consommé with Egg Slices
- Oyster Stuffing
- Roast Turkey
- Cranberry Sauce

- Mashed Potatoes
- Creamed Onions
- Mashed Turnips
- Gingerbread and Banana Shortcake
- Pumpkin and Raisin Tarts
- Coffee
- Wassail Bowl

The Recipes

Spiced Cocktail: Drain one 8-ounce can of breakfast prunes, and arrange the tiny prunes in centers of cocktail glasses. To the prune syrup add two tablespoons of sugar, one-half cup of water and an inch stick of cinnamon, and boil five minutes. Cool, and remove cinnamon. Cut out the sections of four California oranges, being careful to leave no trace of white fibre, and arrange flower-fashion around the prunes. Pour over the syrup, garnish with little yellow grapes, and chill.

Consommé with Egg Slices: Cook Italian paste in letter form in two cans of consommé and two cups of water until tender. Season rather highly with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Pour in the soup, and garnish each cup with a thin slice of hard-cooked egg. Excellent cranberry sauce can be bought in cans, and its purchase in that form saves a lot of labor in the kitchen.

Novel Desserts

Gingerbread and Banana Shortcake: Cream one-fourth cup of butter and one-fourth cup of sugar, add one well-beaten egg, and beat well. Add one-half teaspoon soda to one-half cup of molasses, and then add this to the first mixture. Sift one and one-half cups of pastry flour, two teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt. Mix to a paste one teaspoon of ginger, two teaspoons of cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of allspice, one-fourth cup of boiling water and one-fourth cup of evaporated milk, and let stand five minutes. Then add to the original mixture alternately with the dry ingredients. Bake in a sheet in a moderate (350°) oven for thirty to thirty-five minutes. Cool slightly, then cut into new moons, using a cookie cutter of that shape, quite a large one. Split and arrange two sliced bananas between layers, and garnish the whole liberally with sweetened whipped cream.

Pumpkin and Raisin Tarts: Mix together one cup of canned pumpkin, one-half cup of brown sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of ginger, and one teaspoon of cinnamon. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs and one cup of evaporated milk. Add one-half cup of seeded raisins and fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into small pastry-lined tart shells and bake, having oven hot at first, then moderate. This recipe makes eighteen to twenty small tarts.

Nebraska Pretty True To Marriage Vows

Compared with other states of the union, Nebraska is shown to be very near normal in the matter of marriages and divorces. A department of commerce report, just issued, shows that in 1928 for every divorce granted in Nebraska there were 6.5 marriages. The United States in general could boast of only 6 marriages to every divorce. Nebraska's total number of divorces for the year were 1538. Per 100 people the number of divorces was 2.22.

Good living conditions in Nebraska, a sound social structure, the absence of poverty and a high state of literacy—Nebraska being second in literacy among the states, contribute to the sanctity of marriage vows.

SCORE 7 TO 0 IN FAVOR WAYNE

What day was Saturday last. The few spectators who braved cold to watch Wayne play its last game of the year were rewarded. And it was one of those games. A lucky break decided the whole thing and the score was just 7 to 0 in favor of Wayne. Seven to nothing in favor of Wayne against Chadron is something that was never heard before and also something that people can't believe yet. The old dope bucket sure got a healthy kick. But back to the game.

Coach Hickman's Wildcats received at the south goal. Wayne failed to gain and Dennis punted into the wind to Chadron's 28 yard line. Chadron failed gain and kicked. Walden received the ball on the run and returned 12 yards to the Wayne 43 yd. line. But neither team could gain consistently enough to score. Once Chadron fumble on their 24 yd. line but Wayne only got to the 18 yd. line in 4 attempts. Chadron punted out of danger. The first quarter ended.

It came early in the second quarter. Dennis punted to Chadron's 20 yard line. Chadron attempted to punt. Hansen of Wayne crashed through and blocked the kick. Newton of Wayne picked it up and ran about 12 yards for the only touchdown of the game. Schwartz place-kicked the extra point perfectly. Score 7 to 0 Wayne.

You've heard of giants. Well you should have seen the Chadron full-back. His name is Buckingham. That boy could sure bust a line. He began to do his stuff immediately after this break of luck gave Wayne its touchdown. He tore the Wayne line to shreds, and how. Thru his gallant efforts Chadron marched right up the field towards Wayne's goal. We know now how Chadron got to the top of the conference heap. They had Buckingham.

They marched just 4 or 5 yards at a time except for once when Buck broke thru for about 18 yards. The people on the sidelines were praying hard. There's no doubt about it.

But now the true hero of this great game came into his own. It was Captain John McKinley. We have always contended that this young man is good enough for any coach's team and in this game he proved it. Buckingham had just brought the ball to Wayne's 12 yard line. The next play was an end run with Chadron speed king Cheney carrying the ball. McKinley broke thru the line and tossed Cheney for a 15 yard loss. Chadron faltered. They tried 2 passes but in vain. Wayne got the ball and Dennis punted out of danger as the half ended.

Second Half

That march late in the second quarter was Chadron's only real bid for scoring. During the second half they tried many forward passes. Strange to say Wayne, heretofore pie for passing attacks, turned on the enemy and they were vanquished. Chadron completed only one pass out of their many tries and Wayne managed to intercept two of the others. Wayne had the ball on Chadron's 28 yard line when the big upset ended.

The game was over. Some of Wayne's Wildcats had played their last game for their alma mater. And no body can say now, that they aren't Wildcats. We say they are cause we saw that game.

Peiping, China.—The world's oldest man, who, if his given age is correct, would antedate the American republic by almost a century, has been found in southern Sze-chuen province, according to Prof. Wu Chung-chien, dean of the department of education at Minkuo university here.

The man in question is Li Ching-yung. Dynastic records verify to the professor's satisfaction that Li is now in his two hundred and fifty-second year, or more than one-fourth as old as Methuselah, the old man of the Bible, who lived 969 years.

The professor is interested especially in Li because he is reported to have found a "fountain of youth" in the shape of medicinal plants growing on the hills of Yunnan and Kweichow. Doctor Wu has gone to Sze-chuen province to teach and is urging the patriarch to visit Peiping, so that the secret of his longevity can be investigated.

Survives 23 Wives. Professor Wu was told that Li has survived 23 wives and is now living with his 24th, who is a mere sixty years of age.—Chalkbutf Gazette.

World's Best Markets Seek Nebr's. Potatoes

The first car load of spuds for this season, was shipped a few days ago from Northwestern Nebraska, which is becoming famous as potato land. Spuds are grown there in immense commercial quantities.

It is estimated that 400 cars of certified stock will be shipped from the Nebraska panhandle this season.

Certified potatoes are the best quality this year ever produced in that region. Proper conditions during September are given as the reason for the excellent quality.

Nebraska soil is well adapted to the growing of potatoes. They grow to a large size and are unusually free from potato diseases. There is a steady demand for them in other states for seed purposes.

A shortage of potatoes in other sections of the country created an unusually good price for the Nebraska product. This state will yield a crop of over six million bushels this year.

WORLD FAMOUS SPEAKER HEARD AT WAYNE STATE

(from the Goldenrod)
C. Douglas Booth of London, England, publicist and investigator of international problems, lectured at the State Teacher's college last Thursday evening and Friday forenoon. Mr. Booth came through the kindness of the Carnegie foundation and appeared under the auspices of the International Relations club of the college. He had filled similar engagements at the University of Iowa, Morningside college and other schools in the United States.

During his stay here Mr. Booth spoke on two themes more or less related: "The problem of European peace and the relations of England and America" and the "problem of World Peace."

Mr. Booth did not prophesy an allegiance between United States and England but was under the impression that neither wanted an alliance. All that was essential was that both countries should pull together in the direction indicated by their own history and past political experience.

The speaker stated, when asked about the American revolution, that Americans were justified in their rebellion of 1776 and that the world profited by the separation.

Mr. Booth gave the outstanding problems of the southeastern part of the Balkan region which is his special field of study. The League of Nations and international societies are putting forth a great deal of effort to have the Balkan states cast aside all hard feelings in order to benefit the people concerned.
