REV. JONES TELLS KIWANIANS WHAT MAKES GOOD TOWN

Committee Appointed To Cooperate With Other Agencies On Christmas Activities.

TO DECORATE BUSINESS SECTION

Rev. F. C. Jones gave an unusually interesting talk at the Kiwanis luncheon, at Hotel Stratton last Monday noon.

Rev. Jones gave the Kiwanians his idea of what it takes to make a good town; He stated that "progress is often made over a catastrophe; yet such should not be the case; progress should be made without such". He figured that "men like Norris and Brookhart are very valuable to our country, not so much for what they accomplish personally; but their greatest value is due to the fact that they keep the other fellows keyed up to a high point of activity."

Rev. Jones gave a very fine talk. It is true that what Wayne needs is the opinion prevalent that "We all can do a little," when they should say "we all can put over anything we attempt", therefore they should attempt greater things that will enlist the cooperation and best effort of all.

Rev. Jones gave a very fine talk, it is true that what Wayne needs is to attempt big things that will enlist the cooperation of all and entuse them to put forth their very best effort.

At the business session the Kiwanians appointed Carl Wright, R. B. Judson and P. A. Theobald to cooperate with other agencies on Christmas festivities. Included in these activities perhaps, plans will be completed for the decoration of the business section of our city, to make it more inviting to the Christmas shopper.

The writer is very glad indeed to receive this information as a report has been circulated to the effect that "the business section of our city would not be decorated, neither would we have any Christmas festivities."

We hope the committee will get busy and give us the greatest program of festivities Wayne has ever known.

Ivar Jensen Fined For Possessing Intoxicants

Ivar C. Jensen appeared before Judge Cherry last Monday, to answer a charge of possession and sale of intoxicating drinks, and was given a fine of $100 and costs of $29.20 on charge of possession, and Casey withdrew charge of sale.

It seems that Jensen's trouble originated from a dispute he had with Vurt Casey, regarding change Casey claimed Jensen owed him of a purchase of beer. Casey went before Judge Cherry Saturday and made complaint that Jensen would not give him the change he owed him on the purchase.

Judge Cherry issued a search warrant and sent Sheriff Stephens out to investigate at the source of the trouble. He brought back 55 bottles of home brew beer, 17 gallons and four quart bottles of mash wine.

Jensen appeared in court Wednesday morning and paid the fine and court cost, a total of $129.20, and upon order of court Sheriff Stephens emptied the wine and beer, which the court had confiscated into the sewer.

Business Houses Take Christmas Appearance

Wayne stores are taking on a holiday appearance. The merchants have been busy the past few days, getting out their Christmas goods and putting up Christmas decorations. More Christmas goods are being placed on display from day to day and by the end of this week our whole business section will take on the gay appearance of the holiday season, and Christmas shopping will begin in earnest.

The weather reports predict fair and warmer weather for the later part of this week; and due to the fact that most of the farmers of this section of the state have about finished husking corn, business over the week end should be exceptionally good. Due to the stormy weather last Saturday only the farmers that had urgent business in Wayne came, but with the clearing weather over the week-end they will start Christmas shopping in earnest.

"MUMMY AND MUMPS" AT GAY THEATRE

Junior Class of Wayne High School Will Present Play, "Mummy and The Mumps", Dec. 18.

The Junior Class of Wayne High school will present "The Mummy and the Mumps", a farcial comedy written by Larry I. Johnson, at the Gay Theatre Wednesday December 18.

Extra sessions started this week in order that the play might be rounded into excellent form for presentation. Each member of the cast is working hard to make his or her part "star part" of the play.

The story of the play is laid at a Girl's school in a small town in New England. The plot centers around a certain Sir Hector is an archeologist and he is bringing a mummy with him, but to tell the whole story would take too much time. All we can say is, "you will laugh 'til your sides ache" when you see the farcial situations in which the characters find themselves.

The following students are to take part in the play: Zola Wilson, Mary-an Noakes, Letha Porterfield, Flora Rhoades, La Vern Erxleben, Dean Winegar, Max Hendrickson, Charles Berry, Walter Bressler, and Herbert Perry.

The Mummy and the Mumps is just the play to drive the blues away. The cast promise you your money's worth in laughter.

The development of the carrier current systems, storm proof cable and other improvements in equipment and practices have contributed toward making these reductions possible, according to the announcement.

FREE GIFTS FOR EVERY CHILD

A message has just been received from Santa Claus which states "he will arrive at Wayne, next Saturday, December 7." Santa Claus says that he will have a gift for every child under 13 years of age. He has requested the merchants and business men to arrange to have the very best music for this occasion that they can obtain, so Wayne's big Municipal band have promised to give Santa Claus some nice snappy music; the very kind of music he asked for. Santa says he will only be here a few days, and wants to show the children a good time while he's here.

The business and professional men of our city will assist Santa Claus in entertaining the children while here; the streets of the business section of our city will be decorated with Christmas trees and lights, the fireplace in Santa Claus' home on Main street will be one of the wide old fashioned kind, and they will assist Santa in putting on some new stunts that the children have never seen before, and then Santa Claus says he will send several big husky fellows to help him store the candy and gifts, for the children, in his big fireplace.

The following committee will be in charge of the big Christmas program: Carl Wright, L. A. Fanske, F. L. Blair, J. C. Nuss, A. T. Cavanaugh, R. B. Judson, C. A. Orr, F. E. Gamble and J. J. Ahern.

The prize will be absolutely free, and you will not be required to make any purchase in the store to secure the prize. Every balloon brought in bearing one of these numbers wins a prize.

Many School Children In Spelling Contest

The missing and added letter spelling contest which appeared in last week's issue of the Nebraska Democrat attracted the attention of a large number of school children of Wayne county, and the city of Wayne.

There were thirteen missing and added letters among the ads appearing on the spelling contest page; with the use of these letters the contestants were able to spell a large number of words.

Raymond Sala headed the list with 337 words composed of the thirteen letters; Norma Wolff of Winside was second with 232 words; Geraldine Gamble was third with 213 words; and Helen Welland, Route 2 Wayne, was fourth with 199 words spelled correctly.

If the contestants had taken the trouble to read the instructions more carefully, perhaps a large number of the contestants who only corrected the misspelled words would have stood a better chance of winning.

Raymond Sala wins first prize of $2, and Geraldine Gamble second prize, $1, in the city of Wayne. Norma Wolff, Winside, wins first prize, $2, and Helen Welland, Route 2, Wayne, second prize $1, in the county outside of the city of Wayne.

LUCKY STUDENT WILL GET FREE TRIP TO DETROIT

A Trip To Detroit With Expenses Paid Will Be Awarded Student Who Writes Best Essay

TWO HUNDRED ENTER CONTEST

More than two hundred students at the Wayne State Teachers' college have entered the contest which the Anti-Saloon League of Nebraska is sponsoring throughout the state. A trip to Detroit to the National convention of the Anti-Saloon League, with all expenses paid, is to be awarded two students, one who writes the best oration and one who writes the best essay on the subject, "Ten years of Prohibition."

On December 10, five local judges will read and judge the efforts of the students and the two winning contestants will go on the prize trip January 15.

Every student competing will really be a winner as the subject is one of wide interest and has been one on which our greatest thinkers have given much time and study.

The writer spent a day in Tia Juana, Old Mexico, last summer, where liquor flows as freely as it used to here in Nebraska in the saloon days. The open saloons; the reeling human dorellists; the painted dolls serving liquor over bars which line the main street; the women of gaudy attire drinking with the men; gambling devices of all kinds, running wide open. All these brought to the mind when Nebraska had streets like this one, replicas of Tia Juana's own noisy main street full of sin and evil. How glad and thankful the writer was when we reached the line and a khaki clad U. S. soldier smiled and let us over the line at dusk. "Get over the line before six p. m." is the admonition, after that the dangers are greater and Americans do not linger after night fall.

Every student who studies hard enough and works enough long hours to write either an oration or essay on the subject of "Ten Years of Prohibition" will be well paid for the effort in the store of knowledge attained of one of the vital problems of the day.

Cattle In Cornfields Should Be Watched

This is the time of the year when so much of the so called "corn stalk" disease is reported, and it's a good plan to keep a pretty close eye on the cattle running in the stalk fields. Careful study shows that many of the corn stalk losses are due to an infection, better known as hemorrhagic septicemia. This infection is about the cattle all the time and whenever anything occurs to lower the body resistance of the animals the disease may break out. Cattle in stalk fields are exposed to all kinds of weather, live a rather unbalanced and often meager ration. This lowers the body resistance and permits the disease above mentioned to get the upper hand and cause death. It could be largely prevented by vaccinating the cattle against it (hemorrhagic septicemia) before turning them into the stalk fields.

Another cause of losses in stalk fields is impaction of the digestive tract with dry food and lack of water. This results in severe constipation, or complete impaction. It can be prevented in most cases by keeping a supply of salt and plenty of good water accessible at all times.

During some seasons losses among cattle in the stalk fields are due to molds which form on the forage. These cases of forage poisoning are usually seen after periods of damp, unseasonable warm weather. The animals usually get down, refuse to eat much if at all, and seem insensible to their surroundings. They do not seem to be in pain, but rather seem as though they were in a coma, unable sometimes to see clearly. They also have no control of their muscles so that they are unable to stand.

Such cases taken in time may respond to an immediate removal from the source of forage poisoning, accompanied by the use of quick acting purgative given hypodermically. One should be very careful about drenching for the throat may be paralyzed, permitting the fluid to pass into the lungs instead of the stomach, and causing a fatal pneumonia to develop.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE

When market prices began to tumble in Wall Street a few weeks ago there were only a few if any that expected them to reach the depths they did, yet, the big crash may be a blessing in disguise. The reports of big profits made on stock margins have been broadcast to the nation so affectively that they were draining the ready cash of our nation from not only the big capitalist but the small merchant, the small manufacturer, the farmer, and worst of all the skilled laborer who withdrew his life savings from a safe investment to play the stock markets.

Their losses will have a sobering affect that will be long remembered cause them to invest their earnings in local and safer investments. Instead of the usual crisis that follows a crash in Wall street markets the recent crash may be a blessing in disguise.

The greatest danger is that people will think there is danger and curtail their normal buying. It is for the purpose of forestalling any slump in public confidence that President Hoover called the business leaders of Nebraska into conference, in order that a true picture of the nation's economic condition can be presented to everybody.

Facts already developed indicate there is nothing to fear. On the contrary, this is a good time to spend money. The farmers of Eastern Nebraska are in better condition now than they have been for a number of years. There is plenty of money available for any useful and productive purpose. In many lines, commodities are cheaper now than they have been for some time past.

Nebraska Has No Unemployment Problem

Reports gathered over the state by investigators for the federal department of commerce and labor showed that labor, both skilled and unskilled, is well employed. Industrial plants are in full operation, except those influenced by winter conditions. Overtime prevails in flour mills. Road work is being carried on almost in the teeth of winter. Farm labor has been in good demand during the husking season. Much building is reported over the state, giving employment to masons, carpenters, plasterers and common laborers. On the whole the report recites, labor conditions in Nebraska are good. The lines open fall, common in this state, allows a long season for the employment of labor.

If the full moon rises clear, expect fine weather.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

At the annual meeting of the Dixon County Agricultural Society held in the town hall in Concord Friday afternoon, November 22, it was decided that the Dixon County Fair dates for 1930 be August 27, 28, and 29. An election of officers also took place with the following results: John McKinley, president; Earl Hughes, vice president; Roy E. Johnson, secretary; Charles Sherman, treasurer; C. A. Kingsbury, J. M. Hurley, and Fred Koch directors, the last three being elected for a term of three years.

The financial condition of the fair board is better than ever before, and officers plan to make the 1930 fair the best ever.

A forty acre field of land near Wisner, farmed by J. V. McGill, produced a yield of 3,800 bushels of corn, making an average of 90 bushels to the acre.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hattung of Ponca died at birth at the M. E. hospital in Sioux City Monday last week. The little body was brought to Ponca Monday afternoon where burial took place.

The Ponca post of the American Legion has a German machine gun, two German rifles, three bayonets, a German helmet and breast plate, and a 155 Mm. shell. These trophies were surrendered by the Germans at the close of the war and were secured from the United States War Dept. by the Ponca post of the Legion. They are on display in the window of Carl Scheffel's shop and attract a great deal of attention.

The annual Newcastle school carnival, held Saturday, Nov. 23, at the school house was a great success. A big crowd attended to enjoy the various features, and $125 was realized by the school.

Quite recently a picture was published showing Congressman Edgar Howard holding a "Columbus produced" ear of corn 25 inches long. The picture has given Nebraska corn so much publicity that corn growers are writing to Columbus, wanting some of the seed that will produce that kind of maize. A seed corn specialist from Tulsa, Okla. wrote to the American Legion wanting the ear for a souvenir, and a gardener in Connecticut wrote for a package of the seed that can raise such large ears, "if the seed is not too expensive."

But the corn is the product of John Messing, who glued the kernels onto an artificial cob for display in the American Legion parade at Louisville, Ky. When the Iowa delegation marched along in the parade singing their corn song they got the horse laugh because a group of Nebraska delegates were marching ahead displaying the banner, "Columbus, Where Iowa Gets Its Seed Corn." Since then Congressman Howard has taken the ear to Washington where he jokingly said "Columbus is where Iowa gets its seed corn."

All bids received by the board of control for the construction of two buildings at the Norfolk state insane hospital have been rejected because they exceeded the available appropriation of $100,000 for a new receiving hospital and $16,000 for an addition to the administration building. The architect will be asked to revise the plans, cutting down the size of the buildings, before new bids are asked.—Wausa Gazette.

The Nebraska State fair led the nation in attendance in 1929, the total attendance for 1929 being 437,660 people. The Ohio state fair was second with the attendance of 437,000. The Nebraska fair led the list of all the large state fairs in the United States in respect to attendance.

Don't worry. Fear and worry are as unnecessary as they are debilitating. They are our race's heritage from the dim dawn of time, and only clear-thinking, audacious souls have risen above them.—American Magazine.

A week ago Saturday, August Fischer, assistant road master at Emerson, was notified by Supt. Blundell to meet him Sunday morning at his car to answer charges that had been filed against him. Sunday morning Mr. Fischer was on hand before Supt. Blundell and B. R. Bitney, the roadmaster and local officials and section men from towns on the Omaha division, and heard the charges. The charges were to the effect that Mr. Fischer had gotten married without notifying them. Mr. Fischer plead guilty, and was presented with a beautiful parlor set consisting of a davenport, a large chair, table and lamp, compliments of the men on his division.

Students from 503 Nebraska towns, thirty-five states outside Nebraska, and sixteen foreign countries are attending the Nebraska state university this year. Iowa ranks second to Nebraska in sending students. The Philippine Islands contribute the largest number of foreign students, and Canada, British West Indies, Panama, Denmark, Switzerland, Holland, Turkey, Greece, Korea and Russia are among the distant nationalities represented. "Johnson" is the most common name and "Smith," "Miller," "Anderson," "Peterson," "Williams," and "Davis," rank in order named.

Plans are being made to dredge Mud Lake, west of West Point city park, for the purpose of making a lake to be used as a swimming pool and for boating, skating and fishing. The Izaak Walton league has agreed to stock the lake with all kinds of fish as soon as it is in proper shape. The project is being planned by the City, County, and Civic Improvement Committee of the West Point Community club. The cost of doing the work is estimate at about $2,000.

A glass house, dimensions fourteen by forty feet, for rats is being built on the east side of Pharmacy hall at the state university. Cats, dogs, guinea pigs, and other small animals also will share the benefits of this new structure, having outgrown the tower building formerly used for this purpose. The structure will be equipped with sun-lamps as well as violet-ray glass. The animals will be used for scientific experiments.

A parsnip 27 inches long and 11 inches in circumference is being exhibited at Stanton. It was raised by Con Roberts, Stanton county farmer.

The Chevrolet Coach belonging to A. C. Sals, which was stolen Friday evening of the 22nd while Mr. and Mrs. Sals were attending the high school play at the Carroll Community Hall, was found the following day by Roy Landauer on the road west of Carroll. The battery, cushions and robe were missing.

Sunday movies were approved by Tekamah voters Monday last week by a vote of 453 to 273. The election held was the fourth election of the kind held in the past five years. The opposition vote was weaker at each election.

Many Take Advantage of Democrat Dollar Offer

Are you among the lucky ones who have subscribed for the Nebraska Democrat on our special "Gift Month" offer? If you have not taken advantage of this one year subscription for a dollar you should do so at once.

All during the month of December we will accept subscription to the Nebraska Democrat at the extremely low price of $1.00 for a full years subscription, new or renewal, to any part of the United States.

There are a large number who have taken advantage of this offer. If you have not sent in your subscription, do so now.

Don't Bite At It

Along about this time of the year the mails are burdened with goods sent out "on approval" by mail-order houses. They buy a lot of addresses from firms making a business of selling them, and then they proceed to send out an assortment of neckties, socks, Christmas cards or so-called silk stockings to every name on their mailing list. With the goods is a form-letter suggesting the recipient inspect the contents of the package, and if they wish to retain them to send a stipulated amount. Otherwise they are instructed to return them.

Those who do not return them in the specified time will also receive some caustic and threatening form letters. For their benefit we want to state there is no reason for accepting these threats seriously. Of course, no honest person, wants what does not belong to him. But the concern that sends out goods that are not ordered or requested does it at its own risk.

If postage comes with the goods, shoot them back in a hurry. If it does not toss them aside and wait until postage is sent for their return and take your sweet time about it. Uncle Sam is with you for he hasn't much use anyhow for fellows who do this kind of merchandising. And if they get too obnoxious it is easy matter to file a complaint with the postal department thru your local postmaster.—Emerson Tri-County Press.

"I have always been religiously inclined," said the oyster as he slid down the minister's throat, "but I never dreamed I would enter the clergy."

So our old friend Pat has gone to his everlasting rest.

Domestic Demand For Nebraska Flax

An increased demand for flax resulted in a larger acreage in Nebraska this year and may bring about a revival of this crop that used to be general in many sections of the state. Flax has been imported for many years to meet the needs of U. S. manufacturers. A Minneapolis flax concern contracted for a large acreage in western Nebraska which resulted in the acreage in this state being doubled this year.

Sheridan county is the banner flax county, according to the State and Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics. Over half the flax crop of the state was raised this year in Sheridan county. The yield is about 9 bushels to the acre. The 9005 acres planted to flax yielded $1,045 bushels. At the prevailing market price the crop in Sheridan county is worth $243,125.

The U. S. department of agriculture has been advocating an increased flax acreage for some time. It has been necessary to import large quantities of this crop. Flax does well on newly broken prairie. The objection to its production is that it reduces soil fertility rapidly.

Western Nebraska soil being well adapted to flax, the change from wheat to flax is being advocated, though not in a wholesale manner.

The rapid development of western Nebraska and the breaking up of its dry farming areas into fields in which wheat, potatoes and now flax are successfully produced bring that section into new prominence and indicate that it is facing a new era of progress and prosperity.

Nebraska Prison Wards Feast Thanksgiving

Lincoln, Nebr. Special:—Wards of the state here had extra "feeds" on Thanksgiving day. The 717 inmates, including eight women, had pork sausage with all the trimmings, mashed potatoes and brown gravy, oyster dressing, celery, carrots, piccalilli, ketchup, bread, butter and coffee, grape butter, pumpkin pie, spice cake and oranges. In the evening a home talent play was given. Work in the shops was suspended. At the state reformatory for men a football game between two teams of inmates was held in the morning and in the afternoon an inmate team and an all-star team from Lincoln clashed. The reformatory inmates also had roast pork.

The 1,100 inmates at the state insane hospital had roast pork, mashed potatoes and brown gravy, lima beans, cranberries, celery, hot rolls and butter, grape preserves, mince pie and coffee.—Sioux City Journal.

WORTHWHILE READING

A large number of people read in their leisure and odd moments. What do they read may be asked? A casual observation of what is read by the average reading public brings one to dire dismay concerning current literature.

This same sort of investigation if carried out among the average college students would not vary much from that of the general reading public. It is apparent that altogether too many "sappy stories", "sentimental novels," and kindred publications are read. Magazines stands are reaping a golden harvest while those eager for such "mushy truck" flock for more, and cannot even wait for the next issue of their "favorite" magazine. Both sexes are guilty of this perversity, but a talk with any magazine dispenser divulges the fact that by far the greater number of customers are counted among the "gentle sex."

Often the question is asked: "What shall I read?" One need not search far if he has a yearning for the best in literature. The adventure in reading good literature is as great and fascinating as the adventure in other activities desirable to the mind. College students, then, are no exception. There is no denial that some are readers of cheap literature. College students through their training and position should be vanguards for the better type of magazines and good books. Who was it that said: "A book is for him who finds it?"

Is good literature and classical writing on the wane because of the modern trend toward realism and demand for utmost in brevity which is so peculiar to this age? Probably if the publishers would decorate some of the classics with leggy girls, long motor cars, and glittering cabarets, then they would popularize their publications.

With the long winter evenings at hand, students would do well to select their reading material with care, and thereby not only add pleasure but enlightenment to their mind. It is well not to read just one thing, but read also from the many fields of good books and magazines. No one can afford to miss some of the novels of the hour, so much discussed, as well as the histories, biographies, travel, and philosophy. All reading should be for a purpose, and this will never be realized unless worthwhile literature is read and appreciated.

Farm Woman Dies, Husband Is Burned

Mrs. Edward Rhode, 30, died in a hospital at Sioux City, Iowa, last Friday, as a result of burns received in an explosion at her home near Emerson, Thanksgiving day.

The lighting system of their home had failed to work and Mrs. Rhode had started to the basement with a lighted lamp to investigate the cause of the trouble. It is believed that gas escaping from the system was ignited by the flames. Her husband was painfully burned in tearing the flaming clothing from his wife's body.

Ring Lardner Character Wise-Cracks On Screen

Elmer (Hurry) Kane lives on the screen. The famous character of "You Know Me Al" series created by Ring Lardner, is interpreted for the first time, in "Fast Company", by Jack Oakie, popular young comedian of the smart-cracking who was seen in "The Wild Party" and other recent successful pictures.

"Fast Company," will show at the Gay theatre, starting Friday, for two days, is a new kind of a boy and girl romance. It is fast-moving and un-sentimental and decidedly amusing.

A number of farmers hereabouts have corn in the fields yet. The amount runs from one to one hundred acres. Those who are through are helping those who are not and two weeks of good weather would finish the work up.

A farmer in this vicinity who is unusually successful with hog raising had a very unpleasant experience last week. His hogs contracted "flu". He fumigated for it and at bed time decided the air was clear enough for the night. He shut up his hog house and retired. In the morning 20 of his best hogs were dead. This represents a loss of several hundred dollars to him but may be a warning to others to air the buildings thoroughly after fumigating.

Many Kinds Of Timber In Forests Of Nebraska

Nebraska, which the nation thinks of as a treeless plain, and to the extent of limiting the amount of native timber, has 79 different species of forest trees growing within the boundaries of this state.

Less than three percent of the land area of the state is covered by natural timber. Dr. R. J. Pool, points out in the tree guide of Nebraska, but the state represents several interesting problems in distribution of timber growth.

Only eight species are common to the entire state, these are the almon-leaved willow, red and green ash, box elder and white elm. In any part of the state these trees may be found.

Even for a Small Washing DEXTER Fastwin

is more CONVENIENT Not only the large, but also the medium size or small family which has only a small washing, is also much better off with the surprisingly compact Dexter Fastwin than with any single-tub washer—because with no single-tub washer is it really convenient to use the "two successive suds" needed to keep clothes permanently free from "that all-over grayish tinge."

Even for the smallest washing the Dexter Fastwin makes thorough washing far more convenient than with any single tub washer.

- 1 Even for a small washing the Dexter "Fastwin" saves handling at least one tub of water, and saves time and effort as compared with any single-tub washer properly used.
- 2 The Dexter "Fastwin" can wash properly at least twice as much clothing per hour (including all operations from hamper to line) as any single-tub washer made.
- 3 Only by the "2 suds" washing method (which is thoroughly convenient only with the Dexter "Fastwin") can that "grayish tinge" and that "harsh feel" be kept out of clothes month after month, without soaking or boiling.
- 4 The Dexter "Fastwin" thus offers a very substantial and easily demonstrated advantage over any single-tub washer that is, or ever can be built—even though the Dexter Company builds the finest of single-tub washers, also.
- 5 Builders of fine washers for more than a quarter century, the Dexter Company originated the double-tub type of washer 16 years ago, and the first one ever made is still in weekly use.
- 6 More than 100,000 delighted users say they could never again be satisfied with any more single-tub washer.

Nebraska Wealth May Be Under The Surface

Operations that have been carried on in the vicinity of Alliance the past two years under the direction of engineers employed by a Joplin, Mo., capitalist have produced the belief that under the surface of the sand-hill country are valuable deposits of potash, tin and perhaps other mineral substances of commercial importance. The investigators began drilling for oil but they have been examining with a good deal of care the formation of the soil beneath the coating of sand. Outcroppings of tin were found about thirty miles from Alliance. There is a conviction on the part of some of the engineers that potash deposits will be found in a form that will not require an expensive process of refining to make it commercially usable.

The residents of that section are not getting excited over the possibility of a big strike but they will not be surprised if rich mineral deposits and possibly oil are found. The potash lakes in that vicinity evidence extensive potash deposits.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

At this season each year the Christmas Seal Sale is conducted through the schools by the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association. The sale is to begin the day after Thanksgiving. The 1929 Seal depicts a Bell Ringer, a proclaimer of the important tidings that health is the best insurance for happiness.

The story of the Christmas Seal is the story of a dream come true. And the name of the man who conceived it deserves to be recorded among the great humanitarians of our age. It was in 1903 that Einar Hoebell, then an obscure postal clerk in Denmark, hit upon the idea of selling Christmas Stamps to relieve the suffering of tuberculosis patients. Copenhagen needed a hospital for tuberculosis children; and Einar Hoebell was daily cancelling thousands of postage stamps on holiday greeting cards. Why, so he reasoned, should not this flood of mail sent out in the spirit of "peace on earth, good will to men" do a trifle service? Every missive bore a postage stamp of tribute to the government, and merry wishes to friends for the holidays, could it not also carry a much needed Christmas gift to the sick? He enlisted the cooperation of the Danish royal family and in influential officials, out of which came, in 1904, the first nation-wide tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale. The response to the appeal was overwhelming. A happy partnership was formed between the American Red Cross and The National Tuberculosis Association which lasted for ten years, but in 1920 the partnership was dissolved and the Christmas Seal appeared for the first time with only a double barred cross.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds of these Christmas Seals in each county will be used for health work in that county and the remainder is used for health work throughout the state. The money on hand in Wayne county was spent this year in hiring a physician to give the health examination in all the rural schools of the county, which examination the school laws shall be given each year by the teacher, or by a physician hired by the school board. The Seals sell for one cent each and a double-barred cross pin will be given every child who sells 25 seals, and a Health Game to every child who sells $1.00 worth. Two Wilson volley balls will be given, one to the room in the town school, and the other to the rural school selling the most Seals per capita school enrollment. In addition every room selling $10.00 worth of Seals will be awarded a copy of the lovely book "Healthy Land" published by Hygeia, or a wall fixture, containing 250 drinking cups.

Jackie: Tubercu-to-sis? What is that? Are there many people who die of that in this country?

Santa Claus: Yes, my dear, 100,000 people die each year in the United States from Tuberculosis alone.

Jackie: How terrible. Is it getting worse as the years go by?

Santa: No, my dear child, the death rate has been cut 51% in the last twenty years thru the sale of the little penny Christmas Seals.

Jackie: It is only old people anyway that die, it's not little girls and boys.

Santa Claus: That is the very saddest part of the story, my dear, for disease called Tuberculosis, or the white plague, is more greedy for the young. It has always taken the very young and tender children for its victims.

Santa Claus: The Christmas Seal funds have helped thousands of children to form good health habits. Has helped to secure the passage of many important health measures by Legislation:

Drafted the Physical Education Law.

Distributed over a million health pamphlets.

Helped fight animal tuberculosis.

Furnished nurses for school inspection.

Made dental surveys.

Held County Tuberculosis Clinics.

Prompted nutrition work in schools.

Paid the salary of local nurse or done some piece of local health work.

Always and ever has preached the gospel of Good Health and yearly health examination.

Nebraska Farmers

Make Good Record

Farmers in Nebraska have made a record. In the past two weeks preceding the current week or ten days not one was killed in an accident. So states the record being kept by the Nebraska Press Association. Ole Buck, secretary of the association, says:

"You farmers keep out of gas engine belts, don't jump on pitch forks, keep your mitts out of corn shredders and watch your step in general and you will be alive another two weeks. Farmers are the only group of people in the state who have made such a record.

In the same period as previously mentioned, 21 people were killed and 220 injured in various sorts of accidents. For the 28 weeks past, the figures kept show that 483 have been killed, 289 disabled and 3536 injured.

His Great Northern beans yielded 37 bushels per acre and sold at $4 a bushel. Mr. Kath says that early plowing, discing, and harrowing before planting were factors in his success.
