SANTA CLAUS IS BIG ATTRACTION FOR CHILDREN

Beginning Wednesday Wayne Stores Remain Open Each Night For The Convenience of Shoppers.

BAND CONCERT SATURDAY 2 P.M.

There were over a thousand children visited Santa Claus in his chimney home on main street last Saturday. Each of them received a sack of candy. Santa Claus was assisted by the Wayne Legion Municipal band, who furnished some very fine music for the occasion. The children, a great many of whom were accompanied by their parents, began to gather at Santa's chimney home on main street long before the hour he was scheduled to appear in Wayne, and although the weather was cold they waited patiently for Santa to arrive. Quite naturally the time passed slowly for the little fellows who were very anxious to see Santa Claus, and he was in their midst before many of the children noticed his approach. He surprised the children by climbing to the top of the chimney and greeting them with a merry wave of his hand, after which he went down through the chimney to prove to the children that it is his custom to enter their homes by way of the chimney.

Santa Claus will be at his home on main street again Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and each afternoon until Christmas, and invites all the children to visit him and requests that they bring their parents along as he wants to see dad and mother.

The merchants of Wayne are co-operating with Santa Claus in entertaining those who visit Wayne to do their Christmas shopping, and beginning the first of next week they will put on a stunt that is entirely new, something they have never had here before.

Beginning Wednesday, December 13th, stores will remain open each evening until Christmas for the convenience of Christmas shoppers.

Fine Response On Tax Notices

The county treasurer reports that these are busy days around his office. They have issued 1900 tax receipts up to date. The automobile license certificates have arrived and Treasurer Steele states he has already issued 24 auto licenses.

In addition to bodily bruises and burns, from friction he suffered dislocation of one hip. McGill's life was, probably saved by his clothes clogging the tractor, causing it to stop. His brother and a hired man who happened to be near by freed him by cutting his clothing.

She was graduated from the Wayne high school in 1915 and from the Wayne State Teachers college in 1917 thereafter teaching school in Hooper, Nebraska. She was married August 20, 1918, at the home of her parents to William Proctor Canning. Mr. and Mrs. Canning first made their home in Dixon, Nebraska, later moving to Clifton, Arizona. They returned to Nebraska in 1923, residing in Carroll and in Dakota City. Wayne High To Debate Norfolk

The debate teams of Wayne high school will tangle with the strong teams from Norfolk High School on December 19 at 3:30 and seven-thirty o'clock. The debates will be held in the high school auditorium. The question which they will discuss is, Resolved, "That the present jury system in criminal cases in the United States should be abolished."

Eleven debaters are struggling for positions on the squad that will debate the crack Norfolk squad. The names of those seeking positions are: Helen Hanson, Virgil Keeney, Mary Jane Morgan, Margaret Fanske, James Morris, William Von Seggern, Kathryn Kemp, Max Hendrickson, Ralph Jacques, Frank Claycomb, and Melvin Seymour. Several of these debaters have shown excellent flashes of debating the class encounters. Most of the squad are inexperienced in the art of verbal combat, but they are working hard to be in fair shape to meet the Norfolk team.

This is to be a decision debate but the decision will not have any bearing on the season's outcome because the season has not been formally opened by the state officers.

Jacques Installs New Heating System

Mr. Jacques has just finished installing a new heating system in his dry cleaning plant. The new system which he has installed is the return pipe process, which gives more heat in the drying department, making possible quicker drying and more thorough deodorizing.

In addition to the new heating system Mr. Jacques is installing an automatic water control on his boilers, which removes the danger of explosion from low water, as the feed pipes open automatically before the water in the boiler lowers to a point where there is danger of an explosion.

Mr. Jacques has also remodeled his work room and repair department, providing more light and heat to make it more convenient for his operators.

CHRISTMAS PLAY SUNDAY, DEC. 15

"Eager Heart" to be Presented at College Auditorium Sunday Eve. Churches Invited.

"Eager Heart" is the name of the Christmas play to be given in the college auditorium on Sunday evening, December 15. A special invitation is extended to all the churches of the community. No admission will be charged, but there will be an opportunity to give free will offerings. The Y. W. C. A. which is sponsoring the play will be assisted by a glee club chorus, instrumental music, and several young men selected from among the students.

The story thread of the play centers around the three sisters, Eager Heart, Eager Fame, and Eager Sense who are looking for the King of Kings who is said to be coming. Eager Heart prepares to welcome Him to her humble home, but her sisters try unsuccessfully to persuade her to accompany them to their place of pleasures, for surely a king would not come to such a humble place as hers. Nevertheless, Eager Heart remains waiting at her home and finally takes in a humble, poor family who need food and shelter. These prove to be none other than the Holy Family, and Kings and shepherds come to pay their respects to the new-born King while the heavenly choir sing. As the doors close before the Holy Family, Eager Fame and Eager Sense appear on the scene, but too late to meet the King of kings. The play is interesting and impressive, reviving the Christmas spirit. Everyone is welcome.

REV. JONES GIVES REVIEW OF WORK

His Review, In Sermon Dec. 8th, Of Accomplishment Of His Church Shows Great Progress.

In reviewing our work together for the last eight and half years let me remind you that my first sermon as pastor on the 29th day of May 1921, was based upon Paul's assertion "I determine to know nothing among you save Jesus Christ and him crucified." That I have preached Jesus Christ to you, no one will deny. That the crucified Saviour has been held before you as the Christian's example of service and sacrifice will not be questioned by those thinking people who know that the religion of Jesus has a message for the militarism of today, for the administration of justice, for child labor, for race prejudice and our pagan self indulgence. If the time ever comes when the religion of Jesus has no message for honesty and integrity in public affairs, then I for one am willing to cease its preaching. When my religion does not effect politics, my social life and my business, I shall abandon it as useless.

Early in the present pastorate this church undertook some forward steps of great significance. First among these was the step away from the idea of leaving to our children and grand children the inheritance of our debts. We were facing the necessity of deciding whether the church's bill for paying should be paid in one sum or in twenty annual payments. I regret exceedingly that there are no records which I can find of that joint meeting of the elders and trustees when it was decided to pay the bill at once rather than let it hang over the church for a period of twenty years. It cost some of us a fair amount of money, but it was worth it. The twenty payment plan which many seemed to favor would have blocked the work of the church for many years.

You may remember that when I first became your pastor, I told you that I would ask you to do but little for me; but I would ask you to do big things for yourselves. Here, too, I have kept faith with you. For a long period of time, you had talked about building adequate rooms for your social and Sunday School work. I asked you to stop talking and try praying for twenty minutes. You have never told me that you did pray about it, but you did build and today have the finest equipped plant for a town of this size in northern Nebraska. Not only did you build, but you paid over twenty-three thousand dollars for the building when it was completed, and the best evidence that you were not financially embarrassed, is in the fact that the next year you raised the largest budget in your history, amounting to $6600.00 and at the same time you contributed $2465.00 to benevolence.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE WITH THE TARIFF

Washington, Dec. 12.—It is expected that the Senate will resume consideration of the tariff bill as soon as the Vane contested election case, which comes up on December 3, is disposed of.

The program of the Democratic and Progressive Republicans in the regular session is thus outlined by Senator Walter F. George, a member of the Finance Committee who has figured largely in the debate on the bill:

"The Democrats and Progressives will carry the tariff fight into the regular session with renewed vigor and determination.

"The Democrats and Progressives will not surrender or consent to the destruction of the constructive administrative provisions written into the act. The legislative flexible provision the Consumers' Counsel and other constructive provisions already passed upon will be retained, and there will be no let up in our efforts to give to agriculture all of the advantages that can be gained for agriculture through revision of the tariff.

"At the same time we will treat industry justly, and no rate which can be economically justified now enjoyed by industry or essential to distressed industry will be denied.

McCormick-Deering Feed Grinders

Built in three sizes, from 6-inch to 10-inch, requiring from 3 to 16 h. p., according to size and type. Designed to grind various combinations of grain and forage crops.

SAVE 12 PERCENT TO 26 PERCENT ON YOUR GRAIN BILL. Actual tests with whole grain, fed to healthy, full toothed animals, showing an average loss of from 12 percent to 26 percent. In other words, out of every 100 bushels of whole corn fed, 26 bushels yield practically no nourishment. The unground oat diet shows a loss of 12 bushels out of every 100.

Even though you feed only a few animals, such feeding loss cannot be overlooked. A few minutes now and then, with a McCormick-Deering Feed Grinder will turn whole grain into nourishing, easily digestible feed at a low cost.

McCormick-Deering Corn Shellers

For every need; ranging from the 1-hole steel hand sheller to the power cylinder sheller of 350 to 400 bushels per hour capacity.

Son Insurance

Have you a son that is worth insuring? Statistics show that few young men go wrong who have been brought up to attend church services regularly. The cheapest insurance you can take out against being disgraced by your son is to go to Church yourself and take the boy along. You can take him where you cannot send him.—Author unknown.

Why not every father take his son to School session and remain with him to worship service, and begin at once? What better time could there be to start the habit in good earnest than at the Christmas season?

There is a cordial welcome for everyone.

Carl Critchett, Pastor.

J. C. Nuss 5c to $5.00 Store To the Girls in the Doll Contest:

Dear Girls—

About 125 Girls in and around Wayne have so far registered in the Hendren Doll Contest. It seems nearly every girl would like to have this beautiful doll, which can talk, sing and pray.

With so many in the contest, the votes are naturally scattered, and there is no decided advantage in voting strength for any of the girls up to the present time. The Doll is anybody's doll today.

As this store carries a full line of Christmas goods for young and old at the most reasonable prices, each one of you girls can easily obtain additional votes, by asking your friends and neighbors to save their votes for you.

We give one vote with every 10 cent purchase, therefore, it does not take very long for you to get a few hundred votes and that may be just enough to win the doll for you.

We are posting a list of the contestants and their voting strength; just over the voting box, in the front of the store. If you will work hard your name can easily be among those on the top of the list.

Next week we will publish the names of the 10 highest in the contest, with their voting strength.

I know you want to own this wonderful doll! So, work hard and win it.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE WITH THE TARIFF

Washington, Dec. 12—It is expected that the Senate will resume consideration of the tariff bill as soon as the Vore contested election case, which comes up on December 3, is disposed of.

The program of the Democratic and Progressive Republicans in the regular session is thus outlined by Senator Walter F. George, a member of the Finance Committee who has figured largely in the debate on the bill: "The Democrats and Progressives will carry the tariff fight into the regular session with renewed vigor and determination."

"The Democrats and Progressives will not surrender or consent to the destruction of the constructive administrative provisions written into the act. The legislative flexible provision the Consumers' Counsel and other constructive provisions already passed upon will be retained, and there will be no let up in our efforts to give to agriculture all of the advantages that can be gained for agriculture through revision of the tariff."

"At the same time we will treat industry justly, and no rate which can be economically justified now enjoyed by industry or essential to distressed industry will be denied."

Son Insurance

Have you a son that is worth insuring? Statistics show that few young men go wrong who have been brought up to attend church services regularly. The cheapest insurance you can take out against being disgraced by your son is to go to Church yourself and take the boy along. You can take him where you cannot send him. — Author unknown.

Why not every father take his son to School session and remain with him to worship service, and begin at once? What better time could there be to start the habit in good earnest than at the Christmas season?

There is a cordial welcome for everyone.

Carl Critchett, Pastor.

"I WISH"

"I WILL"

"I wish" is the dividing line between desire and attainment. Nothing is ever attained by wishing unless there's the will to do it.

The man or woman who says "I will have money", and begins that minute to save, will generally have their desire gratified.

The determination back of the desire spurs them on to greater effort. Opportunities are theirs that never come to the moneyless, thriftless spender.

Stop wishing. Start saving—

To the Girls in the Doll Contest:

Dear Girls:—

About 125 Girls in and around Wayne have so far registered in the Hendren Doll Contest. It seems nearly every girl would like to have this beautiful doll, which can talk, sing and pray.

With so many in the contest, the votes are naturally scattered, and there is no decided advantage in voting strength for any of the girls up to the present time. The Doll is anybody's doll today.

As this store carries a full line of Christmas goods for young and old at the most reasonable prices, each one of you girls can easily obtain additional votes, by asking your friends and neighbors to save their votes for you.

We give one vote with every 10 cent purchase, therefore, it does not take very long for you to get a few hundred votes and that may be just enough to win the doll for you.

We are posting a list of the contestants and their voting strength, just over the voting box, in the front of the store. If you will work hard your name can easily be among those on the top of the list.

Next week we will publish the names of the 10 highest in the contest, with their voting strength.

I know you want to own this wonderful doll! So, work hard and win it.

It's mighty hard to persuade the younger generation that two is company, and three is a crowd, when they go for a joy ride in the modern coupe.

Russia and China have been pursuing an outlawed sport. Their signatures to a peace pact has been violated. The United States has seen fit to protest the Russians reply.

The 104th bomb of the year and the most powerful ever planted in Chicago exploded last Thursday blasting a four story building and injuring 20 persons, one seriously. Property damage was estimated at $50,000.

The Kellogg pact has committed us to efforts to maintain World peace which is of concern to every country of the world, and the rebuff handed the American note by the Russians does not set very well with this country.

If there are any among us who have any doubts regarding the future of agriculture in Nebraska they should look up the wonderful showing the Nebraska boys and girls of the 4-H clubs made at the International Live-stock show at Chicago.

Hoover says: "This country must have prosperity, if we have to spend our last cent to get it." He should not waste his valuable time on such matters. With a new and complete change of styles in women's apparel direct from Paris, American women can handle the small matter of spending dad's change.

Some of the parents and grandparents will lose a lot in weight of years and hearts will grow less heavy and the world will look a lot more joyful to many a hard old sinner who will pause for a few minutes to live youth over again with his children, children's children and other people's children along about December 25.

The last month of the year is the time that dad received the most consideration from home folks, and January the first is the time he receives the most attention from the bill collector, and then there are all those misfit presents he must exchange, so, "don't blame dad," if he breaks a few perfectly good New Year resolutions.

The news of greatest importance that has come out of Russia in many moons is the report of discovery by a Russian botanist of a new hybrid grain, a cross between wheat and rye. It is said to combine the food qualities of wheat with the cold resistance of rye and to yield three times as many bushels per acre as ordinary wheat.

General John J. Pershing in an address prepared for delivery to the Nebraska Manufacturers' association convention which convened at Lincoln last week, predicted he will be able to travel up and down the Missouri river as a natural artery of commerce, finding its banks dotted with chimneys of industry within a few years.

Attorney General Sorenson has given an opinion to County Attorney Hadley Kelsey of Norfolk, holding that a man who has been convicted twice of possession of liquor and is now charged with sale of liquor may be punished under the law which makes a third conviction a felony, punishable with penitentiary imprisonment for a term of six months to two years.

In reply to President Hoover's request which he has sent out to the governors of the different states, Governor Bulow of South Dakota says: "The people of South Dakota are not getting unduly alarmed with the economic equilibrium among speculators at financial centers. About ten years ago we got our first jolt. Our people have been battling the situation every since, and we are getting used to it. On Thursday, Thanksgiving day, the people of South Dakota gave thanks to all mighty God for the blessings they enjoy, and are especially thankful for the fact that they are not dependent for their bread and butter upon wheat raised or cows milked in Wall street. The President's proposal to adopt a national, state and municipal improvement program to help industry seems to me would only furnish temporary relief, postpone the agony and afford no permanent cure," says Governor Bulow.

WOOL AND SUGAR KEEP UP INTEREST IN TARIFF

Washington, Dec. 12—Adjournment of the special session of Congress does not mean that there will be any abatement of interest in the tariff bill for more than a brief time, if at all. The two most controversial schedules in the bill are wool and sugar, and discussion of them has been reserved for the regular session.

The Senate abandoned discussion of the wool schedule after it had voted to retain the House rate of 34 cents a pound on the clean contents of scoured wool, thereby rejecting a Committee amendment to reduce it to 31 cents, the present rate.

The higher rate was adopted largely because wool is regarded as an agricultural commodity, and the representations were that the woolgrowers were included in those who suffered from the agricultural depression.

The real fight on the wool schedule will come on Senator Smoot's proposal to step up the rates on manufactures of wool to correspond with the increase on the raw product.

The West Point school will be closed for two weeks on account of scarlet fever. Fifty cases of scarlet fever were reported up to the middle of last week. The majority of the cases were of a mild form.

The largest share of the depositors of the Antelope State Bank have signed the 50 per cent waiver of their deposits in the bank. Only a small number of signatures are now needed to reorganize the bank on a sound basis.

Herman Winter, 69, for 49 years a merchant of Norfolk, died last Wednesday. Winter was the oldest volunteer firemen of the state and held offices in the state and local organizations.

Nile Gibson, a brother of W. H. Gibson, of Laurel, died recently in San Diego California.

Scarlet fever is quite prevalent in the Hartington community.

A raccoon, so large that it might be mistaken for a boy all dressed up, was captured alive a few days ago in a hay stack near Sholes, it is said that it weighed 50-pounds.

In Germany a way has been found to use mud for fuel. In this country they use it in politics.

The ideal tariff law is one that will benefit everybody except those who can't cause trouble if they don't like it.

Judge A. B. Black at Lake Andes Monday afternoon Dec. 2, refused to grant the application of Richard S. Fox, of Yankton, for appointment of receivers of the Yankton, Norfolk and Southern railroad on the grounds that assets of the company were to meager to warrant a receivership for benefit of creditors and that they were not likely to be dissipated.

S. O. Black, Randolph veterinarian, is confined to his bed with a badly sprained ankle, as a result of an accident which occurred Tuesday of last week, about 8 miles east of Sholes when the car in which he and his son were riding stalled in a snow drift. The elder Mr. Black got out and waded into a ditch alongside the road to see if it was possible to drive into the field nearby.

Three pupils in the 6th grade at the Ponca public school were painfully injured Wednesday of last week when several yards of plastering fell from the ceiling in their room.

Oscar Aaberg of Daily township was taken before Judge Fales, at Ponca last week, the first defendant under the new provision of the Nebraska Compulsory Education law requiring 160 days attendance in school each year. Mr. Aaberg was found guilty and was fined $5.00 and costs of $17.60, a total of $22.60.

Attorney General Sorenson says that county commissioners have no legal right to extra fees for road work, following the decision of Judge James in the district court of Adams county at Hastings a few months ago, in which he ruled that "compensation was limited to amounts definitely fixed by the statute as a maximum and that additional compensation could not be taken from other funds". There was a disposition to claim that Judge James's decision did not apply to counties with commissionership system, but the Attorney General points out "that it applies to all persons holding public office."

Nebraska Hay Wins At National Show

At the International hay and grain show, held in Chicago last week, Nebraska hay swept the ribbon counter. It was a Lexington farmer whose sample of alfalfa was chosen as the best exhibit of the show. The same farmer's red clover placed second in the superlatively rich in all the elements red clover section. Nebraska hay is superlatively rich in all the elements that make a substantial rough feeding ration.

Not "Among Those Present"
In an effort to encourage the reading of good literature by young members of the Victorian police force, the chief commissioner, General Blamey, established a well-stocked library at their barracks.
Recently a new librarian, in the person of a stockily built youth from the country, who had just joined up, was approached by an enthusiastic reader. "Have you got The Pickwick Papers?" he was asked.
"No, sir," he replied. "We only get the three morning papers.—The Sun, Sydney, Australia."

volence, an amount more than double the largest gift of any year prior to 1927. I also told you eight years ago that I would be the most expensive pastor you have ever had, and again I have kept my word.
During this time when you have taken these forward steps, it has been my privilege to be your leader. I use the word leader advisedly for I have never asked you to do anything which I was not already doing. When I have urged upon you the value of the family altar, I have only offered you a blessing which my own home enjoyed. When I have told you that a tenth of your income belonged to God, I have always been able to say "I tithe, and find that ninety cents with God's blessing, will go farther than one hundred cents without God's blessing." It may interest you to know that because of tithing, we have been able to pay into several treasuries of this church during those eight and one-half years, the sum of over $1600.00.
Just as an athletic coach enjoys seeing his team win victories or his men break previous records, I have enjoyed and appreciated your record during my pastorate. 1. You have spent more money in the improvement of your plant than you have in any like period of your existence as a church. 2. You have given more liberal support to the various benevolence boards of the church than you ever have before. 3. The present pastorate has continued for two and a half years longer than any other pastorate in your history.

I have always been proud of this church, and I am proud of it today. I would, however, be false to you and the great trust imposed upon me, if I did not remind you that there is always room for improvement. Greater and better opportunities are ever before us. You owe it to yourself, you owe it to him whom you will select as my successor, you owe it to your God to go on to better an ever better accomplishment. God's old command to Moses is ever true "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward." You are capable of performing in the eight years before you better work than you have done in the past.

CONSUMERS TO HAVE HAND IN TARIFFS

Washington, Dec. 12—One of the new administrative features of the tariff bill adopted by the Senate—the creation of a Consumer Counsel—is expected to make the Senate draft of that measure popular with the average citizens who pay the tariff taxes.
This provision was originated by Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, one of the eminent jurists of the Senate, whose sense of justice prompted him to demand that the buyers of tariff taxed products be represented in the making of tariffs as well as the producers and sellers.
The Consumer's Council is to cooperate with the Tariff Commission, but also is vested with powers to make independent investigations to see that the buying public is justly dealt with and its interests protected.

This is the first proposal of the kind ever made in connection with tariff levies, and it is predicted that when and if the pending bill becomes a law the office of Consumers' Council will have influence in the shaping of

Death Only Can Open Gates of Greatness

The trouble with great men is they always are dead. You have to be dead before the world will admit that you were great. And the greater you are the longer it takes the world to take your measure. Great men are like great mountains. You have to get a long way from them to realize what big fellows they are, writes A. G. G., in Passing Show, London.

When we are near them we see all the little kinks in them. He, a great man? we say. Why, he doesn't pay his butcher bill, or he drops his atches about the floor, or he was rude to his wife—and so on and so on.

It took this country a couple of hundred years to discover that even Shakespeare was something quite out of the common. I daresay that when he died the people at Stratford thought no more of his departure than if he had been the village parson.

I have no doubt that Abraham Lincoln was a very great man—one of the greatest—and also one of the best men that ever lived. But even his colleagues in the government hadn't a suspicion of the fact until he was dead. They thought he was a queer country bumpkin whom a prodigious feat of circumstances had flung into the White House.

Great Adventure

Four-year-old Marvin's parents were planning something unusual for a vacation, and during that period grandma was expected to care for the children. Daddy gave the little lad in junction to "be very good" during his absence.

"I will, daddy, for it is going to be a great adventure for you."

He could not remember a time when dad and mother had before taken a trip.

Not Expected to Know

A class of small boys at Sunday school was being queried on the lesson, but none appeared to know his lesson.

"Perhaps this new little member of our class can tell us who it was that led the children of Israel across the Red sea?" the teacher said.

"Oh, teacher, he's just moved into our neighborhood last week and you couldn't expect him to know," volunteered one lad.

Farm Prices Show General Increase

Figures produced in a number of Nebraska newspapers show a general increase in the prices of grain and farm products. A David City newspaper surveyed the local market last week and found that wheat was 6 cents higher, old corn 4 cents higher, oats 2 cents higher, eggs 3 cents higher. Hogs showed a decline of 75 cents a hundred, chickens and ducks were 1 to 2 cents lower, and cream was down 4 cents.

On the whole the local markets were cheering to the producers. The retail prices of grain and farm produce compare very well with those of last year, wheat, corn, oats and eggs being higher; poultry and cream lower.

The gain in prices over what they were earlier in the season reflect many bankers and economic observers believe, a better feeling that exists about agriculture. The collapse of the stock market recently broke the spell of speculation and released broker money for legitimate investments. Money is easier and now that speculation in stocks has run its course, safe investments based on land are becoming attractive again to investors. As a result of this changed attitude of mind about what constitutes good investments it is believed that farm land values will be favorably affected and crop prices will continue to improve.

A fact of great importance should never be overlooked. Back of every business, whether it is steel, oil, coal or an industrial project, there must be the soil and the products therefrom. Let the productive lands of this nation lie idle a year and the smoke would disappear from every factory chimney, every industry would shut down, every oil well would be capped, William Jennings Bryan said the same thing in his eloquent way: "Destroy the cities and they will rise over night; destroy the country and the grass will grow in the city streets."

Grand Champion Steer Brings New Record Price

J. C. Penny, chain store operator, again was the successful bidder last Thursday, for the grand champion steer, when he paid a new record price of $8.25 a pound for Lucky Strike, the grand champion steer of the 1929 International livestock show. Elliot Brown, the 20 year old farm boy of Rosehill, Ia., whose steer won the premier award of the exhibition, will receive nearly $7,700 for his 930 pound animal.

Last year Penny purchased Dick, the grand champion of the 1928 show, owned by Clarence Goecke of State Center, Ia., at a new record price up to that time of $7.00 per pound.

The bidding, last Thursday, started at $1.00 a pound and ran up under spirited bidding.

Attorney General Sorenson has ruled that the organization of chain banks by Nebraska interests is prohibited. He cites supreme court decisions to substantiate his decision.

Don't Make a Toy Out of Baby - Babies Have Nerves

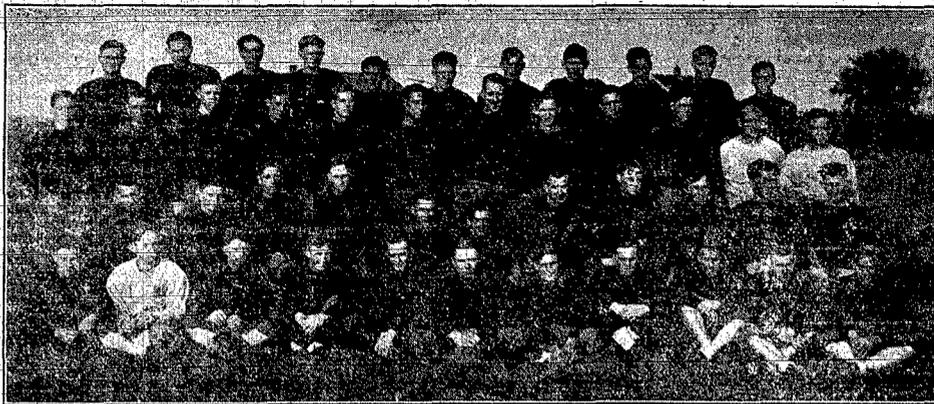

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the overstimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour to an hour daily. Beyond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's soothing and soothes him quickly. It's safe, it's natural, it's the only baby medicine that's as good as a mother's milk. It's the only baby medicine that's as good as a mother's milk. It's the only baby medicine that's as good as a mother's milk.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Chas. H. Fisher's signature on the package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many that imitate.

Nebraska Contributes To Christmas Cheer

Western Nebraska turkeys in large numbers are being groomed just now for the major part they are to play in the making of the Christmas dinner. Eastern Nebraska apples will grace many rich boards. Western Nebraska potatoes and Central Nebraska pumpkins will give substance to the feast. And when the corn is popped, to add that touch of gleaming white so generally demanded, it will likely be corn from the pop corn kingdom of all the nation, Valley County, Nebraska. There the soil and the climatic conditions combine to make a condition for the culture of pop corn that is not equalled anywhere. The kernels pop better and the flavor is richer than those of any other section. Valley county pop corn vendor to the world.

This year 3000 acres of land in Valley county were planted to pop corn. The average yield is about 800 pounds to the acre, which is an estimated total of 6,400,000 pounds for the country. The present market price is $2.50 per 100 lbs which makes the total crop in Valley county worth $160,000.00. The quality is high except for a high presence of moisture. Contrary to the general belief, pop corn is not ready for the popper when it is harvested. It must season. The 1929 crop will not be in popping condition before next spring. But in the meantime last year's corn is popping its way into the delighted affections of those who enjoy that delicious and wholesome confection, beautiful to see and delicious to eat Nebraska grown pop corn.

which are very soluble and therefore are most quickly available to plants. Through fermentation a large share of the nitrogen in the manure may be dissipated into the air as a gaseous product called ammonia or gaseous nitrogen. The strong smell which every farmer has noticed in close, poorly ventilated horse stables is due to the escaping ammonia produced by the breaking down of nitrogen compounds. In the hot fermentation which takes place in dry, loosely-packed litter, the temperature may rise high enough to cause "fire fanging," when as much as 80 per cent of the nitrogen may be lost. Phosphoric acid and potash are not lost through fermentation, but heavy losses of these constituents may occur through leaching.

Agricultural Hints

- Alfalfa is profitable!
- A barn protected by lightning rods can laugh at a thunder storm.
- Fall-plowed land is best for alfalfa; the plowed soil is firm and compact.
- Soy beans are more prolific growers than cowpeas and would benefit soil more in proportion.
- Most weeds have little or no feeding value while some are poisonous and some flavor the milk.
- Quack grass, Canada and sow thistles, and leafy spurge may be killed by spraying the foliage several times with sodium chlorate.
- Contrary to former belief and practice, continued cultivation of corn, potatoes and similar crops on most soils is unnecessary after weeds are eradicated.
- The growing of legumes, such as sweet clover, previous to the growing of wheat is a method followed by many farmers that is resulting in wheat of higher protein content.
- Trimming, removal of diseased leaves, and discarding injured or diseased specimens are necessary to give the bunch or pack of vegetables a neat appearance and to check the spread or development of disease.

Cornstalk Tests Show Deficiency

Farmer Is Enabled to Identify Faults in Plant Food and Soil.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cornstalk testing by chemical methods has proved valuable by enabling the farmer to identify deficiencies in the plant food in his soil. Nitrogen, potassium, and phosphorus salts are the plant foods most often found to limit the crop yields. George N. Hoffer, of the United States Department of Agriculture, describes the symptoms and the chemical tests by which the farmer may establish shortages of nitrogen and potassium.

Nitrogen Starvation.
"Corn plants growing under soil conditions of nitrogen starvation," he says, "display a yellowish green to yellow color of the leaves and stalks. By splitting open cornstalks and applying to the tissues a few drops of a solution of diphenylamine in concentrated sulphuric acid the presence of reserve nitrates is indicated by the production of a blue color. The absence of any reserve nitrates is indicated when the chemical produces no change in color. The chemical is applied to the split stalk between the nodes or joints.

"Potassium starvation is not indicated directly by chemical test, but it has been discovered it usually happens that iron accumulates in the joints of the stalk. Potassium deficiency usually shows in marginal leaf firing and by a tendency of the plants to die prematurely or to produce chaffy, starchy ears. Iron accumulation in the joint may be identified by applying to the joint tissues of a split stalk a few drops of a 10 per cent solution of potassium thiocyanate and then adding a few drops of dilute (1 to 2) hydrochloric acid. If potassium is deficient the joints will discolor."

Qualitative Tests.
These tests, Mr. Hoffer makes clear, are qualitative, rather than quantitative. They do serve to show the element which is limiting the best growth and productivity of the plant. When used as a guide for the interpretation of the direction in which increased fertility should be established they are valuable and practical, and the tests may make possible important savings in the fertilizer bill, or else indicate that increased expenditure for some fertilizing element would prove profitable. Testing chemicals are inexpensive and should be used at the time the ears of corn are maturing.

Valuable Constituents Lost From Manure Pile

A manure pile under the eaves, against the side of the barn, or manure lying for months in an open barn yard is a sight all too common on American farms. When this product is exposed to the leaching action of the rains, the losses are great, even amounting to half of the total value in periods of two to five months. Obviously, the loss falls on constituents,

Dispose of All Surplus Fowls

No Profit in Holding Cockerels Longer Than Twelve Weeks.

All surplus males, indeed all of the cockerels whether they are to be raised or not, should be removed from the company of the pullets before they are old enough to become bothersome. On most farms it is the custom to sell the males at the age when they weigh about 2 pounds each. Chicks that are hatched before the first of April bring good prices at the 2-pound stage. This should be by the time they are 10 or 12 weeks old, or earlier. Many grow good broilers of 2 pounds in eight weeks, sometimes in six.

No Profit in Holding.
There is no profit in holding the cockerels longer than 12 weeks, unless they are to be kept for breeding purposes, or to supply a special market. I know of a number of poultry men who supply motorists chicken lunches and dinners during the summer and early fall. These men make a good profit by holding the cockerels to a later date, sometimes to the age of four or five months, because they can dispose of them at a large price to the traveling public, says a writer in the Indiana Farmer's Guide. Poultry men who are located on main-traveled roads should consider this method of making larger profit from their flocks. It is a field of endeavor not yet overcrowded.

Cockerels to be kept for breeders should be removed to a separate house and range. If there happens to be but one good range available, let the pullets have it. It is of more importance to them than it could possibly be to the cockerels. However, it is a good plan to take good care of the males. Remember, they are responsible, jointly with the females, for the future welfare of the flock.

Grow Good Pullets.
There is one last rule that poultry men should observe in endeavoring to grow good pullets. Be careful in changing them to the laying quarters. I would house the birds just before they start laying or as soon as a few eggs are found. Do not delay the matter, as they learn to hide the eggs in out-of-the-way places; also, and most important of all, never house the cockerels with the pullets. It is tight enough to introduce males when hatching eggs are needed a year later.

Whale Was Monster

The enormous skeleton of a 5,000-year-old Greenland whale has been found at Kistinge, near Halmstad, Sweden, by workmen digging a ditch near the seashore. A monstrous jawbone, measuring about thirteen feet in length, has already been unearthed. On account of its size it was first taken by the workmen to be a part of the hull of an ancient vessel.

The bone has been examined by archeologists, who estimate the whale to have lived at the end of the Ice age, about 5,000 years ago.—Kansas City Star.

After Sedan

In his book, "Napoleon the Third," Mr. D'Auvergne gives an interesting picture of the meeting between the vanquished emperor and Wilhelm I of Prussia after Sedan. "The old king took the Frenchman's hand and said something about the fortunes of war having decided between them . . . with a friendly, encouraging gesture, Wilhelm of Hohenzollern gripped the broken monarch by the arm and led him into an inner room. They discussed the battle and the origins of the war. . . . 'Really, I think I cheered him up,' wrote the chivalrous old king to his wife."—Illustrated London News.

Odd Topic of Discussion

There is a story of the late Earl Rosebery which gains peculiar significance through his death. One night at dinner he was observed in deep conversation with his partner, paying no attention to any other member of the company. In the smoking room his host rallied him upon his undivided attention to the lady in question, suggesting that they must have found a topic of absorbing interest. "We did indeed," replied Lord Rosebery, "we were considering what it must feel like to be dead."

Plants Not Forced Will Endure Low Temperature

Garden vegetables such as cabbage, tomatoes, etc., will endure lower temperatures and greater extremes of drought without injury, after transplanting, if grown more slowly in the forcing bed than is customary. Such vegetables grown in a seedbed of sandy soil, low in plantfood, watered sparingly and ventilated freely, have large fibrous root systems, short, stocky, firm, woody stems and a concentrated sap of low freezing point. Vegetables grown in a seedbed of rich soil, highly manured, abundantly watered and in a high temperature with little ventilation, have scanty root systems.

Feeding Soy Bean Hay

Soy bean hay may be fed to dairy and beef cattle and sheep and, to a certain extent, take the place of linseed meal or other similar concentrates used for balancing the grain ration. To illustrate, a ration for a dairy cow composed of 20 pounds soy bean hay, five pounds ground corn, four pounds ground oats and one pound linseed meal, contains as much digestible protein as 20 pounds sudan grass, four pounds corn, and three pounds linseed meal.

ASPIRIN

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Conservation of Labor in Filling Silo Profitable

As silo-filling time draws near, many farmers in all parts of the country are preparing to follow a plan which differs greatly from silo filling in the days of the steam-powered rig and the large crew. It is the small crew plan now growing in popularity.

The small crew plan is essentially labor saving. Only two men are necessary to fill. When the binder is equipped with a bundle elevator, two loads may be cut and put on the racks without the hard labor of pitching the bundles by hand. The loads are then drawn to the silo and run through the cutter as it takes only a minute to start the tractor which furnishes the belt power, or to turn the switch which starts an electric motor.

Experiments at some of our state colleges and practical experience have proved that tramping is not necessary for keeping the silage and in many cases this job has been eliminated. Neither is it necessary to have a man at the feed table of the modern ensilage cutter.

Round Bin Capacity Is Figured Quite Easily

To find the number of bushels of grain in a round or cylindrical field grain bin is a matter of simple figuring, according to Prof. Cap E. Miller, head of the department of agricultural economics, North Dakota Agricultural college.

The first step is to get the circumference or distance around the bin in feet. Then, square this figure and multiply the result by .07958. This will give the area in square feet. Now, multiply this area by the depth of grain in the bin and the result will be the number of cubic feet of grain in the bin. Multiply the number of cubic feet by .8 or divide by 1 1/4 for the number of bushels of grain in the circular bin.

The following article appeared in last week's issue of the Norfolk Press and while it is exceedingly difficult for the writer to vision a Wayne county farmer being guilty of such we submit it for what it is worth.

A Norfolk man tells me he was in Wayne the other day and he saw a man who looked like a farmer buying a couple of pounds of oleo in a grocery store there. A little later he had his convictions confirmed as to the oleo purchaser's calling when he saw him handed his cream check in a Wayne cream station. The farmer who bought the oleo and who sold the cream was rather violent in his remarks about the drop in the butterfat market and my friend proceeded to give the farmer his lecture. Even Wayne farmers make grave mistakes I admit but no more silly, no more grave are these mistakes of the farmers who eat oleo and wonder why the butterfat is down than are these of city and town folks of Nebraska who send their money east and then wonder what is the matter with the middle west.

Nebraska's First Lady

Confirmed Homemaker

"I'm afraid we're a hopelessly old-fashioned family," said Mrs. Arthur J. Weaver, Nebraska's first lady, "Moving" into the governor's mansion hasn't altered our way of living in the least."

Mrs. Weaver sat in a comfortable chair before the fireplace in her high ceiled living room, a bit of sewing in her hands.

"You know," she said with the air of making a confession, "I would rather spend a quiet evening here at home with my husband and our six children than to go to the most gorgeous ball, and I'd rather spend my afternoons mending Phillip's knickers than playing bridge. I love house work and cooking and I can not understand women who consider these duties drudgery."

"Though I have always had some help, I have also done a lot of my own work, and still do. It takes a lot of work for a family of six, with mending and sewing, meals to plan and cook, groceries to order, and the children to get off to school on time. In the summer I do a lot of canning. Two years ago I put up over 700 jars of fruit."

Mrs. Weaver keeps her family together as much as possible. There are Maude Harriet, 20, and Dorothy, 18, who are in the University of Nebraska; Arthur Jr., 17, and Ruth 15, in high school; and Phillip, 10 and Josephine, 7, in grade school. The older children are permitted to go out on Friday and Saturday nights, but on other evenings the entire family is together. Phillip and Josephine have a couple of straw colored kittens named Puff and Seuff, who are usually a part of the family circle.

At dinner, heads are bowed and one of the six children says grace. If it is Josephine's turn, she will likely say:

"For all we eat,
"For all we wear,
"For all we have, everywhere,
"We thank thee, Lord."

After dinner there are lessons to get, books to read, and the radio. Often Mrs. Weaver will read aloud to the governor, or perhaps they will plan a trip together.

"I often go with him on short trips," she said, "as he likes to have me with him and I enjoy it, too. We have lived our lives together as much as we could."

Mrs. Weaver has read lots of books on psychology and has found them interesting, but she thinks the parents' example is most important in forming a child's character.

"I am trying to teach my children that a good home is the finest thing in the world and that marriage is a holy and serious undertaking. I believe that the example Mr. Weaver and I set for them will have more influence on their lives than any other single thing."

first lady think they are the little work to do, but she prefers the tasks of homemaking.

Although she played bridge frequently while living in Fall City, Mrs. Weaver has thus far refused to play in Lincoln, because she feels that if she started there would be no place to stop and her life would be one continuous round of card parties.

Mrs. Weaver was born and educated in Michigan, and studied music at a state normal. She came to Falls City in 1907 as a music teacher in the public school, known as Miss Maude Hart. She had set out on a career and thought she had found her life's work in the teaching of public school music but that was before she met Arthur Weaver, then a young attorney in Falls City. It wasn't long before he came to call quite regularly.

"There weren't many telephones then," Mrs. Weaver explained, "so he would just drop in and call on me. He had a horse and buggy, but I wouldn't ride with him often, as I felt self-conscious about it, being a teacher."

It wasn't long before the then Miss Hart gave up all ideas of a career, and in September, 1908, she found herself married to Mr. Weaver. Mrs. Weaver then took up the career which has kept her busy and happy ever since the career of making a home.---Extracts from an article by Erma Warren Allebach in the World-Herald.

is more CONVENIENT

Not only the large, but also the medium size or small family which has only a small washing, is also much better off with the surprisingly compact Dexter Fastwin than with any single-tub washer—because with no single-tub washer is it really convenient to use the "two successive suds" needed to keep clothes permanently free from "that all-over grayish tinge."

Even for the smallest washing the Dexter Fastwin makes thorough washing far more convenient than with any single tub washer.

- 1 Even for a small washing the Dexter "Fastwin" saves handling at least one tub of water, and saves time and effort as compared with any single-tub washer properly used.
- 2 The Dexter "Fastwin" can wash clothing at least twice as much properly per hour (including all operations from hamper to line) as any single-tub washer made.
- 3 Only by the "2 suds" washing method (which is thoroughly convenient only with the Dexter "Fastwin") can that "grayish tinge" and that "harsh feel" be kept out of clothes month after month, without soaking or boiling.

- 4 The Dexter "Fastwin" thus offers a very substantial and easily demonstrated advantage over any single-tub washer that is, or ever can be built—even though the Dexter Company builds the finest of single-tub washers, also.
- 5 Builders of fine washers for more than a quarter century, the Dexter Company originated the double-tub type of washer 16 years ago, and the first one ever made is still in weekly use.
- 6 More than 100,000 delighted users say they could never again be satisfied with any mere single-tub washer.

A Dollar Dinner for Four

If four people went into a restaurant and tried to get four dinners for only twenty-five cents each, people would begin to suspect their sanity. But at home it's a different matter! Just look at the meal which the intelligent housewife can purchase for her family of four for a modest dollar bill:

Corn and Beef Loaf $42
Scalloped Potatoes 10
Stewed Tomatoes & Celery 17
Bread and Butter 08
Jellied Pears 16
Demi-tasse 03
Total $96

The recipes for this economical dinner are:

Corn and Beef Loaf: Mix the following ingredients and form into a roll: one pound ground rump of beef, one-half pound ground fresh pork, one beaten egg, one tablespoon chopped onion, one-half tablespoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-half cup bread crumbs and the contents of an eleven-ounce can of corn. Place in a well-greased loaf pan and bake in a hot oven (400°) for about 45 minutes. Serves eight. For four, make only half the recipe, or cook the entire amount and use the loaf for two meals.

Steamed Tomatoes and Celery: Combine contents of a number 2 can of tomatoes, one-half cup of diced, cooked celery, salt and pepper, one tablespoon of butter and one teaspoon of sugar. Simmer gently for a few minutes.

Jellied Pears: Drain the syrup from an eight-ounce can of pears and add one-half cup water, one tablespoon of grenadine syrup and one tablespoon of sugar. Dissolve one-half package of lemon-flavored gelatin in the hot mixture and cool. Arrange pears in four individual molds wet with cold water. Pour the cold syrup and gelatin mixture over them, and set away to harden. Unmold and serve cold.

41,000 PHEASANTS KILLED DURING OPEN SEASON

The state game warden reports that 41,200 pheasants were killed during the ten day open season this year. That certainly does not include many pheasants, deaths not reported and many injured ones that escaped to die later. The game warden estimated that half a million pheasants are left in the state. What an immense amount of grain food those birds have consumed that brought no profit to the producers of grain.

The reports of pheasants killed by counties are: Nance, 8,100; Boonville, 6,000; Buffalo, 5,800; Valley, 7,300; Garden and Morrill, each 2,500; Garfield 1,600; Sherman 9,900.

Ole Buck reports three deaths among hunters from gunshots, four disabilities and five other injuries. He does not report deaths from automobile accidents but there was at least one. A man was killed near David City by an automobile accident while on the way to Boone county to shoot pheasants.—Madison Star-Mail.

NEBRASKANS PRETTY TRUE TO MARRIAGE VOWS

Compared with other states of the union, Nebraska is shown to be very near normal in the matter of marriages and divorces. A department of commerce report, just issued shows that in 1928 for every divorce granted in Nebraska there were 6.5 marriages. The United States in general could boast of only 6 marriages to every divorce.

Nebraska's total number of divorces for the year were 1538. Per 100 people the number of divorces was 2.22.

Good living conditions in Nebraska a sound social structure. The absence of poverty and high state of literacy, Nebraska being second in literacy among the states contribute to the sanctity of marriage vows.—The Dodge Criterion.

Horses and Mules in Better Demand

Much Practical Information for Breeders of Light and Work Stock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

An increased demand and good prices for well-bred horses and mules, especially during the next few years, are forecast by J. O. Williams and S. R. Speelman, horse specialists of the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture. A report on the horse-breeding situation, just made public by these government specialists, gives the basis for their opinions and contains much practical information for breeders of light horses and work stock.

Proportion of Pure Breeds.

According to information received from 24 states having enrollment laws for stallions, jacks, or both, approximately 82 per cent of all stallions licensed in 1928 were pure bred, while 60.5 per cent of the jacks enrolled were in the same class. These figures show a gain over former years and are an encouraging feature of the report. There has been, however, a continued annual decrease in the total number of stallions and jacks licensed for public service in the 24 states. A reduction in the equine population of the country has also occurred; during the calendar year 1928, the decline amounted to about half a million horses and 85,000 mules. The authors of the report estimate that colt production is now only half as great as is needed to maintain our horse population at its present level. Among other salient comments on the situation, are the following:

Prices of horses have risen during the last two years, the rise being most pronounced in the Corn Belt and in states east of the Mississippi river.

Draft horses with size and quality are in strong demand at good prices, and the demand for saddle horses is nation-wide.

Saddle horses and polo mounts are probably bringing higher prices now than at any time in history.

Producers of work stock, doubtful of a recurrence in the demand for horses and mules, have been hesitant in resuming breeding operations. This has resulted in a present shortage of good work animals, and the scarcity probably will be more acute within the next few years.

Stallions and Jacks Needed.

High-class stallions and jacks are not only scarce but are also of high average age and will soon need to be replaced by younger animals.

Prices of suitable replacement stock probably will be higher in the near future than at present.

Mares as well as stallions and jacks should be selected with great care so as to assure offspring that will develop into sound animals of the desired type.

The foregoing appraisal of the situation is supported by comments from state officials closely in touch with horse and mule breeding in the principal producing areas. The report contains a summary of stallion and jack enrollments by breeds for the calendar years 1926, 1927, and 1928, data on horse importations, and a list of state and national stallion registration board officials. The full report is available as a 12-page mimeographed pamphlet, which may be obtained by addressing the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Plant Lice Have Odd Life Cycle

Little Insects Often Do Serious Injury to Different Crops.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Aphids, or plant lice, which often do serious injury to the plants they infest, have a curious life history, which Dr. P. W. Mason of the bureau of entomology describes in the 1928 Yearbook of the United States Department of Agriculture, issued recently.

"If we examine a branch of a tree or other plant which is infested," says Dr. P. W. Mason, "we will see the aphids, in most species grouped together in colonies, usually either on the under side of a leaf or along a twig. They may be greenish, brownish, black, or of other color, depending on the species, or even covered with a mealy powder or long waxlike filaments.

Unusual Life History.

"These insects have a very unusual life history; one differing from those of almost all other insects. The egg is laid in the fall of the year, usually on the bark of the twig. With the coming of warm weather in the spring this egg hatches into what is known as the stem mother. There are no males until the next fall. The stem mother gives birth to living young, without the necessity of fertilization. These young are all females, and, when mature, give birth to other living young. This continues throughout the summer, there being numerous generations. In each generation there are usually some which are winged and others which are wingless, each form being fully mature. As the spring advances the number of winged forms increases, until, in the case of many species, they fly away to an entirely different kind of plant. Plants so chosen are known as summer hosts; on them new colonies are started, and there may be several generations on them before the return migration to the winter host. On the latter the true sexes which have been produced mate and the eggs are laid.

Forms of Aphids.

"Thus we see that there are several forms of aphids, such as the stem mother, the wingless viviparous female, the winged viviparous female, the male, and the egg-laying female. These may vary considerably from each other in appearance and have often been described as distinct species."

VARIETY IS KEYNOTE OF ALL LLOYD FILMS

Variety has been the keynote of Harold Lloyd's success. He never covers the same territory in any two pictures.

When he started lining up his first talking picture, "Welcome Danger" he sought a locale for his action that had never been touched by himself. After considering a dozen suggestions, he decided that underground Chinatown offered a great latitude for comedy, and in that decision he made no mistake, judging by the ultimate results in "Welcome Danger," which comes to the Gay Theatre on Sun. Mon. & Tues. December, 15-16 and 17.

In his initial audible offering, Lloyd has extremely colorful background throughout the entire story. The sequence in China town which covers approximately half of the picture, extended a liberal invitation for comedy, as well as mystery and thrills, with sound to heighten each incident.

There is a touch of Belasco in "Welcome Danger" with Lloyd creating a tension in several spots underground with only a darkened screen and the voice to hold an audience taut. These moments have been handled in masterful fashion, abetted by dialog that commands unerring audience attention.

Noah Young, as a young police rookie in San Francisco, plays a wonderful "straight" for Lloyd in the underground faction, and helps ma-
