City Election To be Held April First

Caucus To Choose Candidates To Be Held Friday, Feb. 28.

Quiet Election Is Foreseen

City election looms in the offing, as another infallible sign of impending spring.

This week's issue of the Democrat contains a notice of caucus calling for a meeting of the Citizens Party at the city hall on Friday evening, February 28, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for city officers to be voted on at the city election on April first.

The offices to be filled in the coming election are Mayor, treasurer, clerk, three councilmen and two members of the board of education. All of the candidates with the exception of those for councilmen will be named at the meeting in the city hall, the councilmen nominations will be made in three separate places throughout the city, for the First Ward at the city hall; Second Ward at the Beckenhauer Garage and Third Ward at the Blair Clothing Store.

The present incumbents of these offices are:

Mayor, W. M. Orr; Treasurer, O. L. Randall; Clerk, W. S. Bressler; Councilmen—First, L. B. McClure; Second, G. W. Lewis; Third, C. E. Wright.

Board of Education—Mrs. E. W. Huse and B. W. Wright.

At present there is no indication given as to whether those whose terms expire choose to run for office again or whether any sentiment is developing favoring a change. From the distance it looks as though a very quiet election is in prospect.

HERBERT A. WELCH PASSES AWAY TUESDAY AT NORFOLK

End Came Following Appendicitis Attack—Was Ill Two Weeks.

Funeral Held Friday A. M.

Herb Welch is gone. Death finally overtook the popular young Wayne attorney who has been critically ill at a Norfolk hospital for the past two weeks following an operation for the removal of a ruptured appendix. The end came about one o'clock Wednesday morning.

His friends had feared for the worse ever since he was stricken, for attending physicians had held that nothing short of the unusual could save his life. His pluck and long sustained fight, however, against the impending end, had given hope that he might overcome the poison which the affected appendix had spread through his system.

Sunday, at the suggestion that a blood transfusion might help restore his depleted vitality, about sixty of his Wayne friends came to Norfolk and submitted to tests in the hope that out of that number one might be found whose blood would group properly with his to permit such an operation. The effort was unsuccessful and physicians gave up the attempt when it was discovered that he was too weak to make such action advisable.

He was taken ill on February 11, while he was preparing to go to West Point to attend a district convention of the American Legion, over which he was to preside. He was rushed to Norfolk that night and operated

College Team Humbles Fast Chadron Five

Swamp Them In Hot Game Featured By Basket Shooting.

Win By 50 To 26 Score

Chadron was "duck soup" for the Wayne Wildcats.

In a game at the local gymnasium last Monday evening, the much touted quint from the normal school way out west went down to humiliating defeat by a score of 50 to 26.

The Wildcats' form was by far the best that it has shown this season, especially so in their basket shooting which was the big sensation of the game.

Chadron started the scoring, making good on a free throw given them a few minutes after the game began. Then the fireworks started. In quick succession, at intervals of not over two minutes the Wildcats connected for six field goals while the visitors had to be content with one lone tally. While Wayne's offensive was splendid, their defensive playing was equally good. The Chadron players were dead shots, but during the first half they were able to connect for only three field goals, the other seven of the thirteen points made during that period were made on free throws.

Wayne doubled the visitors in this period, making 26 points.

The Wildcat's playing at the beginning of the second half did away with any apprehension lest the visitors stage a comeback, for their basket shooting was, if anything, an improvement over the first half. Their pass formations were also more sensational. Finally, when the Chadron score hovered around 20 and the Wildcats were nearing the half century mark, Coach Hickman called in his stalwarts and supplanted them with a bunch of recruits who have been chaffing all season to get into the fray. This made matters somewhat more even, but did not slow up the game to any appreciable extent.

The Wildcat's remarkable showing against Chadron came as a complete surprise to everyone, for Chadron's showing this season has been out of the ordinary. By reason of its recent victory over Kearney, coming at the heels of Kearney's victory over Wayne, Chadron was rated by many sport dopsters as being a faster team than Wayne. The way Wayne "ran rings" around them would hardly bear out such a rating.

Next Saturday afternoon Wayne meets Chadron in another engagement at the local gym. In this engagement Chadron promises to stage a comeback. Judging by their showing in other games this season it is not at all improbable that they will make good their promise. At any rate, the game is looked forward to with much interest.

In a preliminary game, the Wayne College High team defeated the Laura High school team by a score of 22 to 18.

Wayne Cigar Store Changes Hands

Dollars Spent At Home Do Home Service

How many highways do the foreign chain stores of any city construct? How many public buildings were erected with taxes they paid? How many schools have they built? How much of the burden of State, County or municipal government do they bear? A very small amount, if any. And if you spend a dollar at a foreign chain store and that dollar is carted overnight to foreign territory, how many debts in the local community are paid in the transaction—just your chain store bill and no more, and the profit in that dollar is gone forever under their system. Yet, if you spent that same dollar at a home-owned store, the grocer must pay the butcher, the butcher must pay the baker, the baker must pay the hardware man, the hardware man must pay the doctor, the doctor the lawyer and so on, so that in the end that one dollar spent in home-owned business has the potential debt paying possibility of many dollars, and independent home banks keep their assets liquid, the book cleared of debts, the farmer advanced with money to tide him through the lean period of the year and community life wears the lofty look of conscious independence instead of clerical slavery.

Wayne Girl Becomes Bride of Gering Man

Wedding of Pauline Judson And Horace Southwell Saturday

Miss Pauline Judson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Judson of this city, and Horace C. Southwell of Gering were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents last Saturday morning, February 22, at 10:00 o'clock, the Rev. J. E. Ellis, pastor of the Episcopal church at Bancroft performing the marriage ceremony. Mr. Southwell and his bride-to-be came from Gering Friday evening, bringing the Rev. Ellis with them, and were married the next morning at a quiet wedding at which there were no guests. They returned to Gering that afternoon.

The bride is a graduate of the Wayne High school and of the Wayne State Teachers college, being graduated with the college class of 1926. During the past four years she has taught in the primary departments of the Inman and of the Gering public schools, spending two years at each. She has been very successful in her chosen field of work, and is at present in charge of the primary department at the Gering school. Mrs. Southwell is well known in this city and has a host of friends.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and is employed as chief electrician at the beet factory at Gering.

Mr. and Mrs. Southwell will make their home at Gering. Their many friends are happy to extend to them the heartiest congratulations and best wishes.

Basket Ball Tournery Here This Week End

14 Teams Will Compete For Honors In Elimination Contests.

Another Set Next Week

Wayne will be the Mecca Friday and Saturday for hundreds of young people from towns throughout northeastern Nebraska—high school students accompanying their favored teams which are scheduled to participate in a sectional basket ball tournament being staged at the College gymnasium at that time.

This will be the first of two tournaments to be held in Wayne for the purpose of determining who shall be eligible to compete in further tournaments which will have the high school championship as its ultimate goal.

Friday's tourney will decide the championship of teams of this section of the state from schools having an enrollment of 100 students or less. The following teams will compete: Belden, Carroll, Emerson, Maskell, Beemer, Wynot, Fordyce, Wayne College High, Dodge, Waterbury, Colridge, Winnebago, West Point Academy (parochial) and Magnet.

There will be four sessions of games on Friday, the opening set to begin at nine o'clock. The semi-finals will be held Saturday morning and the windup occurs in the evening with a consolation game between the semi-final losers, the championship game being scheduled as a grand finale.

Following is the schedule of games: 9:00 A. M.—Maskell vs. Beemer. 10:00 A. M.—Wynot vs. Fordyce. 11:00 A. M.—Wayne College High vs. Dodge.

1:00 P. M.—Waterbury vs. Colridge. 2:00 P. M.—Carroll vs. Emerson. 3:00 P. M.—West Point vs. Magnet.

Belden and Winnebago are each scheduled to meet the winner of one of the foregoing contests, in the evening session.

The Saturday sessions will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continuing through the morning until the eligibility of those to participate in the finals is determined.

At this time it is practically impossible to make any prediction as to the outcome of the contests. Several of the teams participating have had a brilliant season and it would be impossible to make a comparison until they had met. Outstanding among the contenders are Belden, Emerson, Beemer, Waterbury, West Point and Wayne College High. These teams have made the best showing in their respective territories, but the "dope" is often upset in basket ball tournaments and some school, overlooked in the shuffle is just as apt to win as the team that is conceded to have a walk-away.

On Friday and Saturday of next week another tourney of a similar nature will be staged in which schools of the region having an enrollment of more than 100 will compete.

What is back of the Chain Idea—the Control of Prices for both distributor and producer. Who controlled the producer's prices the past 19 years? How many farmers made money and have it left today? New renters yearly inhabitate the farms. Why? Because the ability of Capital to govern the markets, lower them when they knew the producer had to sell, forced oftentimes by financial conditions. What per cent of the farming people could hold their stock or grain? They merely took what they were offered and had to be satisfied. The farmer has paid Capital and paid PLBNTY.

The farmer whipped or controlled, they turned to labor and the retailers. Gradually they have gained a foothold, holding up the lure of cheaper prices, until hundreds of businesses went to the wall. They lured the Public into their nice Stock Market Trap and sold them out for their own benefit. BUT now the public sees the tricks of the game. They understand what the ultimate goal is MONOPOLY CONTROL OF DISTRIBUTION and PRODUCTION. Are they awakening? Watch the newspapers to see the results. Daily new organizations are coming out in defiance of the scheme so nicely garbed in their advertising: LABOR, RETAILERS, MANUFACTURERS, FARMERS and POLITICIANS are taking a stand. What stand are you taking? Are you in favor of them or will you look out for yourself? Think It Over!

SMALL TOWN IS NOT DOOMED

Contrary to the general opinion held, the contention that the doom of the small town is sealed, is found to be very much exaggerated. According to national business surveys, the volume of business in these small town stores has increased rather than shrunk.

In spite of the fact that larger trading centers may present a more alluring appeal to the buying public and good roads and automobiles have made them more accessible, the small town merchant, with his limited variety of merchandise still has the advantage of being close at hand and that is an advantage not to be underestimated.

It is also true that the small town merchant has greatly improved his methods of merchandising and increased the variety of his goods in the last decade in order to keep pace with the ever increasing variety of merchandise demanded by the buying public. This has resulted in larger volume sales and resultant profits.

While it is true that automobiles and good roads have been beneficial to larger towns, the benefit has not necessarily been at the expense of the smaller towns. People are living on a more expensive plane than they did ten years ago.

Compare most any small town and the small town store of today with and more often than not, their present showing will be decidedly advantageous.

This talk about the doom of the small town merchant is "all wet."

AMERICAN SPUNK

Fritz Kreisler, the great impresario, was featured in a semi-editorial way recently in a newspaper interview in which he took the late stock market crash as a cue for a glowing tribute to the American people.

He said that he had never fully known the American people before the crash came, for it was not until then that he came to understand their splendid attitude toward life.

It impressed him profoundly to note how lightly his American friends regarded their losses—they even joked about them, although in many instances these losses represented every cent they possessed in the world. Such a sudden transition from affluence to poverty, in Europe, he said, would have resulted in hundreds of suicides.

There is, however, more than the splendid makeup of the American people responsible for their optimistic outlook on life. Loss of a fortune in Europe means abject poverty and loss of social standing far more humiliating and galling than it ever could be in America. In America there is opportunity to give hope and a democratic spirit that builds up and maintains friendship on merit rather than social standing.

That is why Americans meet calamity undismayed while Europeans under similar circumstances look to the future with black despair.

A SENTENCE SHOULD BE A PUNISHMENT

A short time ago a half breed Indian returned to Montana from a very extended stay in Canada. He spoke very disparagingly of Canadian hospitality and in philosophizing on the subject, stated that hereafter when he set about to do any horse stealing he would be reasonably sure that he did it south of the Canadian boundary line.

This particular Indian had for many years been a familiar figure at the Montana and Wyoming state penitentiaries. Each fall, when the chill winds began to blow, he would commit some depredation that was of serious enough consequences to send him to the penitentiary for several years. But after spending the winter in confinement, he was always turned loose when spring came.

But he made the mistake at last of "pulling a job" a few miles over the line in Canada, and a Mountie nailed him. He was sentenced to five years and was sent to the Saskatchewan penitentiary way near the Arctic Circle. Here he spent five years at hard labor. Consequently Saskatchewan will not be bothered by any further depredations from him.

Somehow or other it does seem that with crime the serious problem of this country, this country could inaugurate a system of punishment that would to a certain extent, abate the evil. The recent announcement that the Nebraska state penitentiary is installing radios is not tending to serve as a crime deterrent, nor the fact that men sentenced to serve long terms are released on parole a few months after they are sentenced.

Just why a ten year sentence should mean ten months is a question the public has never had satisfactorily explained.

RUSSIA'S WAR ON GOD

Christian people throughout the world, of all denominations, are deeply concerned over Soviet Russia's so called war on God.

One need not be even religious to experience a feeling of deep sympathy for the unfortunate Christian peoples of Russia in their plight. One can readily understand the feeling that must surge through the Russian masses—a fervently religious people—to hear the name of God ridiculed and blasphemed, to see their churches desecrated, their holy icons destroyed and their priests and ministers executed.

The Soviet government cannot reasonably expect recognition from governments of the rest of the world when by their treatment of their own people they show such utter disregard and intolerance of those influences responsible for all that is honorable, just and good in the makeup of mankind.

One thing is certain, and that is that the Soviet war on God is doomed to failure. It is a historical truth that governmental edicts have never yet been able to suppress the religious convictions of a nation, and in Russia, where the people are of a deeply religious makeup, the government is going to have its hands full in coming anywhere near realizing its objective.

JUST ANOTHER BOOZE TRAGEDY

One of the saddest tragedies of the week comes from a neighboring town—Lyons—where three boys, just at the threshold of manhood, are dead as a result of drinking a concoction they mistook for home-made liquor.

Not the least among the deplorable phases of this sad affair is the fact that it is "just another" foolish escapade that resulted disastrously. If the experience would really serve as a warning to others there would be at least one circumstance to mitigate the grief of the dead boys' parents, but these things happen in spite of dozens of similar object lessons happening every day.

Foolish boys. They thought they were "pulling off something smart" when they pilfered a jug from somebody's cellar. They thought it was "smart" to make the raid and "smart" to get gloriously drunk. One can be charitable and say they were foolish boys. But it is not so easy to be charitable with the grown up fools whose continual harping on the subject of illicit booze brought this influence into the lives of the boys that led them into this escapade which ended so tragically.

The petition of Mrs. Lenoa Boughn has been filed with the clerk of district court asking that the title secured through tax sale be set aside and made void. Have you ever looked at the interior decorations of your home with the same critical eye that the disinterested stranger would view them. Perhaps you have grown so accustomed to them that you don't realize how they appear to others and that a change is really necessary.

The appearance of the walls affects the entire home and all the scrubbing, polishing or rearranging don't give a home bright cherry air, if the walls are soiled or the wallpaper old.

We would be pleased to show and tell you all about our paints and wallpapers, whether you buy from us or not.

If you decide to redecorate your home this spring, come in and give us the opportunity of at least showing you the new line of 1930 wallpapers. You will be surprised of what you can do in the way of interior decorating at a slight expense.

We have all the new patterns, both in low priced and the finer papers. DINING ROOM PAPERS—tapestry and floral effect in rich colorings. LIVINGROOM PAPERS—everything you could want to make a cheery room and a rich looking background for your furniture. BEDROOM PAPERS—dainty all over flower patterns or the bold richly colored larger designs. KITCHEN PAPERS—in the new decorations or the older staple patterns.

The majority of these papers sell for 10c to 50c the double roll. Just now we have about 25 new up to date patterns, which sell for 25c the double roll and are suitable for any room in the house, front and sitting room included. For those who want the very best in wallpapers, we carry the BIRGE LINE, considered the best wallpaper manufactured in the United States. The Birge papers are priced at 90c the double roll and up. There is nothing in wallpaper made that is better in quality or finer in design or colorings.

All our papers are guaranteed to hang perfectly and to give complete satisfaction in wear and appearance.

You perhaps are not familiar with the many excellent, Lacquers, Varnishes, Stains, Enamels, which can transform into charm and beauty that which has been less attractive. And this need not require the hand of an artist—so easy and simple is the process that the most inexperienced can be assured of pleasing results.

If you want to refinish your floors or some of your furniture we would advise you to inspect our line of Minnesota Paints, Varnishes and Enamels. You can do wonders with them and you will find that most old pieces of furniture only require a fresh outer coating to restore its old usefulness and beauty.

Boy Lost When Baby Is Found After 17 Years

To find his own parents after nearly 18 years has been the experience of a Cedar County boy, one of 20 orphans sent here from New York for adoption.

The boy is Cecil Wortman, 19, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wortman, Sr., of East Dow. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Van Vlieth of Brooklyn, New York. Since Thanksgiving time, when they found out about each other, there has been a regular correspondence between them, together with happy planning for a reunion soon. It is possible that the Van Vlieths, who have been searching for their son for 16 years, may drive out for him within the next three weeks. And if they do not, Cecil says, he is going east anyway.

The story of Cecil's long separation from his own parents, who have no other children, and of his adoption by Mr. and Mrs. Wortman, who have eight of their own, is dramatic as only a story from life can be. It is the story of a young mother who was ill and a young father who was poor and struggling—of a baby son of whom they could not take care. In desperation they finally placed him in an orphanage. According to agreement he was to have been given a home there for a year, when his mother could reclaim him. Through some misunderstanding, however, he was sent with a number of New York babies to Nebraska and Cedar county.

Since the time when she went for her baby and found him gone, Mrs. Van Vlieth has been searching for Cecil. She has pleaded with the orphanage heads to tell her where he could be found, but strict rules of the institution prevented that. And so, finally, she had given up and reconciled herself somewhat to a babyless home—a home to which, ironically, fortune finally came.

And meanwhile young Cecil was growing up on a Cedar county farm, loved by the eight older brothers and sisters, petted by the foster parents. He attended district school and later did farm work, and finally, on money he had saved, learned the barber trade and bought a half interest in a Laurel barber shop where William Lucas was his partner. He was happy and content doing unusually well for a youngster. He had always believed his parents dead.

And then, last Thanksgiving time, the foster mother, out of her own mother love, wrote to the orphanage from which Cecil had come and asked if perhaps the boy's mother might like to find the boy. Released from the bonds their severe rules put upon them, the orphanage heads were then free to tell Mr. and Mrs. Van Vlieth where they could find him. There followed ecstatic letters, long distance telephone calls, telegrams, plans for reunion. A future opened for the boy of which he had never dreamed.

Wednesday he completed a deal in which he sold his share of the barber shop to his partner. Shortly he will see his parents who, possibly, will come for him this spring. And meanwhile he is visiting his foster parents in the home they gave him—a home to which he will always return, since it was there he found a mother. Cedar County News.

A Dollar Dinner for Four

- Creamed Dried Beef 36¢
- Baked Potatoes 11¢
- English Peas 10¢
- Bread and Butter 8¢
- Apricot Tapioca 23¢
- Coffee with Cream 10¢

If you could lift the lid of a Pandora-box and find that good spirits instead of evil ones were swarming out and showing you the dishes you could use in preparing a dinner for your family of four for a dollar, wouldn't you be pleased? Here, in type is a description of such a dinner, with prices and recipes indicated.

Creamed Dried Beef: Frizzle contents of a 3 1/2-ounce jar of dried beef in three tablespoons of butter for about five minutes. Add three tablespoons of flour and stir until smooth. Mix one and one-fourth cups evaporated milk with one and one-fourth cups of water and add slowly, stirring constantly until creamy. Serve hot with the baked potatoes.

English Peas: Add one and one-half tablespoons of vinegar, one and one-half tablespoons of sugar and two tablespoons of crushed fresh mint to the peas and juice from an eleven-ounce can. Simmer gently for ten minutes.

Apricot Tapioca: Scald one and one-fourth cups of milk in a double boiler, add two tablespoons of minute tapioca mixed with three tablespoons of sugar. Remove from fire, add one-half of a beaten egg and the syrup from an eight-ounce can of apricots. Return to the fire and cook until thick and creamy, stirring frequently. Then pour over the apricots, arranged in a serving dish, and cool. To measure one-half of an egg, beat the egg, measure the amount in tablespoons and then use half that number.*

Last Rites Held For Miss Loretta Utecht

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, February 18, at the German Lutheran church south of Wakefield for Miss Loretta Utecht, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Utecht of near Wakefield who passed away at the St. Joseph's hospital shortly after midnight the previous Saturday morning. The Rev. W. A. Gerdes was in charge at the services, and interment was made at the Wakefield cemetery.

Miss Utecht had been in the hospital about two months and had undergone two operations. During the last week she had received blood transfusions, but though it was thought she was on the way to recovery she really did not rally. She suddenly became seriously ill Friday evening, February 14, and passed away at 12:45 that night, having attained the age of 18 years.

Loretta Pauline Katherine Utecht was born January 24, 1912. She was baptized into the Christian Lutheran faith February 11 that same year by Pastor H. L. Bornemann, and was later confirmed by the same pastor. Miss Utecht was a member of the 1930 graduation class of the Wakefield High school. Her classmates attended the services in a body.

Those left to mourn the loss of the departed are her parents, three brothers, Wilbur, Fred, and Herman, and four sisters, Frances, Helen, Mary Alice, and Arelene.

"Shipping Fever" of Cattle Is Prevented

Protective Agent Quite Efficacious Against Disease

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Hemorrhagic-septicemia aggressin is a recently discovered protective agent against the disease known as hemorrhagic septicemia, which is so highly infectious among farm animals, particularly cattle and sheep. The bureau of animal industry of the United States Department of Agriculture developed this aggressin. In a revised edition of Farmers' Bulletin 1018-F, Hemorrhagic Septicemia, "Shipping Fever" of Cattle, just published, Henry J. Washburn says: "Numerous experimental animals were vaccinated with this material and subsequently were given a severe artificial exposure together with some unvaccinated control animals. In these experiments all the vaccinated animals remained healthy, while the unvaccinated ones developed fatal hemorrhagic-septicemia infections. This aggressin is a germ-free, sterile product. It is now manufactured under commercial conditions and is proving to be quite as efficacious in practice as it has proved experimentally."

The disease is known popularly as "shipping fever" of cattle. The bulletin describes the bacterium causing the disease, the symptoms and anatomical changes produced, and gives suggestions for diagnosis and for distinguishing the disease from other malignant maladies. It also gives directions for prevention and for the care of animals and premises during and after outbreaks of the disease. No effective medicinal treatment for infected animals is known. If the presence of the disease is suspected, the owner should call a competent veterinarian, who will advise as to protective measures and preventive treatment.

The revised edition of Farmers' Bulletin 1018-F may be obtained free on application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Storing Green Alfalfa to Secure Best Results

"Brown hay" from alfalfa results when the alfalfa is put into the mow so green and tough that it heats and drives off the surplus water. At the same time it is discolored. During the process of fermentation the moisture driven off will condense on the top layer of hay and will spill it as the top layer of silage is spoiled.

The top of such a mow may steam for three weeks or more after the hay is put in. Below the spoiled top layer, if the hay has been properly stored, there will be no mold. This brown hay is very palatable to stock and while there is a certain amount of loss from the fermentation, it is not serious if the hay has not been badly discolored.

When first-cutting alfalfa is nearly cured, but tough, and is likely to be rained on if not taken in, it is far better to take it in and make brown hay of it, than to leave it in the field to be damaged by rain. If put in this way, the hay should be exceptionally well stacked back into the hay mow, to break up the green bunches sometimes found. It should be packed and not left loose, unless there is space enough to spread a thin layer of the tough hay all over the mow. After fermentation starts, do not put other hay on top of it, or disturb it in any way. The use of salt on tough hay is often recommended and should be of value in reducing fermentation and mold.—C. J. Willard, Ohio State university.

Warm dry weather is important when a good paint job is wanted.

Soy beans and cowpeas are legumes and will benefit soil some by raising them.

MOST people know this about aspirin for pain, but are you careful to say Bayer when you buy it? And do you always give a glance to see Bayer on the box—and the word genuine printed in red? It isn't the genuine Bayer Aspirin without it! A drugstore always has Bayer, with the proven directions tucked in every box:

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

Very many people call indigestion once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

LIVE STOCK

NEED FOR 1,000,000 COLTS EACH YEAR

Animals Wanted to Replace and Maintain Work Stock.

Even on the farm, his last stronghold, the horse is now giving way to the automobile and tractor at the rate of 500,000 a year, reports C. D. Lowe, Department of Agriculture statistician, writing in the Farm Journal. Where there were 21,555,000 farm horses in America in 1918 there are barely more than 14,000,000 today.

Of course, an abnormal increase in horse and mule breeding marked the war year, when the animals were shipped overseas by the million, but the years since have seen a distinct falling off even from normal pre-war figures.

"The Department of Agriculture puts the total number of horses on farms in the United States at 14,029,000 head, and mules 5,447,000 head," reports Mr. Lowe. "This is a reduction in horses of approximately 500,000 and in mules of 85,000 in a year."

"Assuming that the average life of a farm-work animal is 15 years, about a million foals annually are required to maintain the work-stock population at its present level. At present it is only on a half-rate replacement basis."

However, the horse has, and will hold his place in the city where he has been found more efficient than the motor truck for certain types of heavy hauling in congested traffic, and on the hilly farm, as well as in sport, where he can never be replaced.

Mr. Lowe's Farm Journal figures indicate a trend toward more heavy-duty horses and the selective breeding of riding and racing types. The draft breed stallions now being licensed, he points out, outnumber the lighter type stallions by approximately 12 to 1.

Live Stock Does Best

on Fresh, Warm Water

Good feeders have long recognized the value of liberal quantities of water to all classes of live stock. Hogs "do better" and are more thrifty, and cows give more milk when they drink freely. One justification of the old stopping method of feeding hogs was the fact that it encouraged them to drink great amounts of water.

Experiment station tests and farm experience have established beyond question the value of warm water for stock during winter weather. In one test with fall pigs, the use of automatically heated waterers saved $1 per pig in feeding costs. A cow producing 5 gallons of milk a day will drink about 20 gallons of water. If she is compelled to drink that amount of ice water, much of her energy is required to heat it to body temperature, and her production suffers.

Tank heaters and automatic waterers help solve the problem of warm water in winter. Some of the automatic waterers can be used to heat water in cold weather and to keep it cool in summer.

Cottonseed or Linseed

Oil Meal for Fattening

A recent test was made at the Illinois experiment station to see if cottonseed meal could replace the linseed meal in the drylot supplement of two parts of tankage, one part of linseed meal, and one part of alfalfa meal. Two lots of 20 63-pound pigs were fed for 112 days in drylot on shelled corn with the two supplements, and each lot had access to a mineral mixture. The gains in both lots were practically identical. Most of the cottonseed meal supplement was eaten, but less corn was consumed than when linseed meal was used. Somewhat less feed was required for 100 pounds of gain when cottonseed meal was used. No harmful effects were noted from feeding cottonseed meal, but it was considered that pigs fed cottonseed meal lacked somewhat in luster of coat and finish at the end of the experiment as compared with the linseed meal group.

With Corn Plentiful

Fattening Ration Easy

Where corn is plentiful this year the fattening ration is simple, as corn is the best as well as the most commonly used fat producer. It is usually one of the most economical feeds for hogs and should comprise the greater portion of the ration. Corn alone is not a complete ration. It should be balanced with about three to five pounds of tankage for each 100 pounds of corn for fattening. It does not pay to soak, grind, or cook corn for fattening hogs.

Legume and Grain Needed

Young stock cannot make normal growth during the winter season on cornstalks, silage and prairie hay. Such feeds furnish enough heat to maintain the body temperature but do not provide the nutrients necessary for building bone and tissue. Legume hays such as clover and alfalfa should be furnished in addition to the poorer grade roughages. For the best possible growth it is necessary to feed some grain to young stock during the winter.

Here's Matrimonial Ad

in Newspaper of 1771

The art of matrimonial advertising seems to be of old standing, judging from an insertion in the Swedish provincial newspaper, the Carlskrona Veckblad, of 1771, recently unearthed and reproduced in a Stockholm daily. It is as follows: "The honorable public will not too adversely note the following well-meant advertisement. As it sometimes happens that a pretty and well-to-do girl long passes unnoticed just because of the fact that honorable suitors do not know her fortune, or how much her parents will bestow on her as a wedding gift, it is herewith announced that, now, an honorable girl, twenty-one years of age, rather pretty, manly, a la mode and well bred, who, besides, understands cooking, washing, baking, etc., which, no doubt, will be further improved through her intelligence when she, through marrying, gets more practice in household things, possesses in property, real and movable, about 15,000 Silver Dalers, besides which she expects a legacy from her old grandmother. If some decent bachelor, preferably a noble, clergyman or otherwise somehow well-situated man, should speculate a somewhat more precise address of the girl's guardian can be had at the printing office of this paper. But it is stipulated as a condition that none but gallant cavaliers, well built and of good carriage, take the trouble of offering their names; in the opposite case no further particulars will be given."

How Term "Thirty" Came to Symbolize an Ending

Charles Payne Smith gave the following information in the Typographical Journal regarding the origin of "30" as used by newspaper men and telegraphers: "The first press association organized in Civil war times was composed largely of morning papers published near the eastern seaboard. Each paper sent into the central office items of local interest, which were there edited and telegraphed to all members. It happened that the first message sent to the association totaled 30 words and this figure, with the words 'Good night' and the signature of the sender, was placed at the bottom of the sheet by the operator. At that time piecework was the rule on all papers. The daily grist was usually set up, corrected and in the forms by 10 o'clock, but the compositors were compelled to wait around at their own expense until the foreman announced that '30' was in. So '30' became a byword among printers, symbolizing the end."

Curly Maple

The forest service says that the cause of curly maple is not entirely known. It appears to be an accidental phenomenon and it is believed that it is not hereditary. Curly maple is secured from occasional white maple (sugar maple) trees among the stands of white maple trees throughout the Lake states. In the curly maple varieties the bark curls inward, forming a notch or depression. Experienced persons can identify curly maple trees by cutting into the bark. In the curly maple varieties little dimples or depressions will show in the wood. Curly maple can also be identified from the ends of the logs.

Waters From Icefield

The stream which ends in the famous Takakkaw falls in Yoho national park, British Columbia, is fed by the melting waters of the Waputik icefield which lies upon the summit of the Great divide. Flowing down the mountain for over half a mile it reaches the precipice that walls the east side of the Yoho valley. Here it takes a leap of 150 feet over the edge, then, gathering itself together, falls in a glorious curtain 1,000 feet down the face of the cliff, and finally tumbles in a magnificent cascade of 500 feet into Yoho river.

Life of a Sponge

Sponges live their own lives and eat their own food as other animals do. The separate existence of a sponge begins when a tiny particle, after being whirled about for a time by ocean tides and currents, eventually attaches itself to a piece of rock, and from that home it seeks its own livelihood. The food of infant sponges consists of yolk cells, which contain a form of nourishment. Later, as the sponge grows, it requires something more solid, and this is brought in by the currents.

"Great Britain"

Britannia Major, meaning Great Britain, was the name formerly given to the whole island to distinguish it from Britannia Minor, which was the name given to Brittany. James I used the title king of Great Britain, but without the sanction of parliament. It was not officially adopted until after the union of England with Scotland in 1707. After the union with Ireland in 1800 the country became known as the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

Not for Her!

Small Jeane, who had been used to having her hair cut at home, was taken to the barber shop for the first time. Proudly she was seated in the chair. When the current was turned on so the clippers could be used she became terrified. "Stop it, stop it!" she sobbed, "I don't have a vacuum sweeper at my home."

Passes 90th Birthday
On Valentine's Day

Mrs. Margaret "Grandma" Hall of Randolph celebrated her 90th birthday, on St. Valentine's day, and dozens of friends called at her home to bring her birthday cheer. The mails too brought many birthday cards from well-wishing friends.

Her maiden name was Curyea, the German way of spelling, although she used the name as "Curry." She was born in Jefferson county, Ohio, February 14, 1840. Her grandfather was a German shoemaker who came to Virginia and kept his shop in his home with a large family.

Grandma Hall remembers many incidents of her childhood. She can remember the war with Mexico, even though she was only six years old. Her father wanted to go to war, but, having a large family to support, could not leave them. He was a laboring man, and Grandma Hall well remembers the struggles the family had at his wage of 75 cents a day. For threshing, sheep washing, and butchering the pay was a dollar a day. For cutting a cord of wood in the timber, he received 25 cents. Timber on those days was plentiful and was ruthlessly wasted.

In the 50's Mrs. Hall's parents moved to LaSalle county, Illinois where she grew to young womanhood and was married. Her husband enlisted in the Union army a few months after their marriage.

Forty-seven years ago this spring, she came to Nebraska, her husband taking a homestead in Knox county about one and one half miles from old Armstrong postoffice. Game in those days was plentiful, fish teemed in the Niobrara, and the family trapped prairie chickens by the score. The Wade gang of horse thieves, which was later hanged for thefts, live near

The family came to Randolph about forty years ago, the same year as did the railroad, and built the house in West Randolph now occupied by Frank Kelsch and where Mrs. Hall has lived since that time.

Grandma Hall is now recovering from a severe illness. She is remarkably well preserved, enjoys company, but says the birthday comes entirely too fast. She can hardly realize that she is 90 years old.

She has seven sons and one daughter. They are Frank of Clearwater, George of Scotts Bluff, Roy and Ned of Randolph, Mrs. G. A. Danborn of Hemingford, Charlie and Will of Sioux City, and Herb of Two Rivers, Wisconsin. One daughter and a son have gone before. She also has two brothers, Tom Curyea of Iowa, $8, and Louis Curyea of Flushing, Mich. who is in the 80's; and two sisters at Williams, Iowa, and Plano, Ill. who are both over 75 years of age.

Herbert A. Welch Passes Away At Norfolk Hospital

on immediately after his arrival at the hospital, but the appendix had burst and had poisoned his system, making it apparent from the very beginning that he had scarcely any chance for recovery.

His valiant fight for life had aroused deep interest throughout this part of the state where he had a wide acquaintance through his prominence in his profession and his activity in American Legion circles. His condition was given prominent mention in the daily papers of the state and in news bulletins over the radio. His uncle, Sam Davies, who visited him Sunday, relates his experience that was characteristic of Mr. Welch during his illness:

"The doctors say I haven't a chance, Sam," he said as he grasped his hand, "but I'm going to show them that they are wrong."

The immediate family, including his mother, who had made a trip from California to be at the bedside of her son, were with him when the end came.

Herbert A. Welch was born in Wayne on July 12, 1892, the son of A. A. Welch, for many years judge of the local judicial district. He graduated from Wayne high school and from Wayne Teachers' college. From here he went east and attended Williams college of Williamstown, Mass., from which institution he graduated and later received his law degree from Fordham University in New York City. He resided in New York for a time, but left, shortly after his admission to the bar, for Nebraska where about four years ago he began the practice of law in the firm of Davis and Welch.

The firm was destined to an untimely termination for about a year ago his law partner, A. R. Davis, was killed in an automobile accident. Thus, in a few short months, death had taken out of existence one of the most widely known law firms in eastern Nebraska.

Mr. Welch served with the A. E. F. in France during the World war and was captain in the cavalry when he left the service. As an attorney he was highly successful and enjoyed a wide practice, although he was just at the beginning of his career. In social and civic activities his part was always an active one, especially so in American Legion and Masonic circles, although in Kiwanian, church and social matters in general he never stinted in time nor effort in doing the full measure expected of him.

He was married ten years ago to Miss Carrie Thompson of Norfolk, who with the two children born to them, survive him. Other surviving relatives are his mother, Mrs. A. A. Welch, a brother Leslie A., of Kansas City, and a sister, Mrs. Harry Armstrong of Sioux City.

The body was taken to Wayne Wednesday forenoon. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at the Presbyterian church, Rev. P. A. Davies officiating, assisted by Prof. T. H. Britell. The Masonic order will have charge of the services at the grave.

Foreign Butter Proves That "Tastes Differ"

The old saying that "tastes differ" was amply proved at the dairy show held recently at Ames, Iowa, when butter sent from Ireland, Denmark, Siberia and other countries was compared.

Clarence Switzer, manager of the Norfolk creamery, brought a pound of Irish butter and a pound of Danish butter back with him from the show. The Irish butter is light in color, is lightly salted, and has little flavor or aroma. It is overworked so that it is dry and flaky. The Danish butter has a good yellow color and a distinct flavor and aroma, being more like our American butter. Mr. Switzer reports that Siberian butter was strong and had an almost "fishy" taste. The butter from New Zealand and from Australia was much alike in that it had little flavor or aroma.

Mr. Switzer also reports that some of the creamery men who attended the convention held in connection with the dairy show proved that people would consume greater quantities of butter than they do if the quality served them in restaurants and cafes was better. Six of them took a pound of good butter with them when they went to dinner and ate the entire pound; six other men who sat near by eating the inferior butter served them consumed only one square of butter each, or a total of one-eighth of a pound.

Farewell Surprise Is Given Wednesday Eve

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carlson and daughter, Vera, were surprised Wednesday evening last week when thirty of their friends and neighbors came unawares to their farm home north of Wayne and honored them with a rollicking and jolly farewell surprise party. The evening was spent socially, dancing and stunts being the main diversions. The greatest surprise of all, however, was the presentation to the honored guests of an envelope containing money and presented as a token of friendship and good luck. Money was given instead of other gifts because it was thought that the recipients would know best what to buy. Toward the close of the evening, refreshments from the well-filled baskets brought by the ladies were served. Upon leaving for their various homes everyone expressed the good time had and extended best wishes for much happiness and good luck to Mr. and Mrs. Carlson and daughter, Vera.

The Carlsons came to this vicinity from Omaha ten years ago, settling on a farm five miles north of Wayne. They are moving to their farm four and one-half miles northeast of Laurel which they purchased a year ago last fall. They were especially happy that their friends and neighbors remembered them in such a pleasing though unexpected manner, and take this opportunity to express their sincere and hearty thanks to them all.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

Had Narrow Escape From Vicious Bull

Wynot—A bull, which had always been a docile animal, suddenly became vicious and nearly caused the death of Edward Jones last Saturday when it charged him and pinned him up against the gate of the barnyard. Jones managed to reach the top of the gate and with the help of the bull was landed over it. Some bad cuts on the face and a lame leg were the net results of the encounter which might easily have been very serious.

Sheller Takes Farmer's Arm

Hartington—Barney Fischer, a farmer residing southwest of here had his right arm so badly mangled in a corn sheller accident Friday of last week, that the limb had to be amputated at the shoulder. The arm, after being caught, was extricated with great difficulty as the machinery had to be taken apart in order to do so. He suffered great loss of blood and it was at first thought that he would not survive the shock, but at present writing no complications have set in and he will recover.

West Point Matron Dies

West Point—Mrs. Grant Kahler died last Thursday morning at the St. Joseph's hospital in Sioux City following an operation performed the previous Saturday morning. Mrs. Kahler was formerly Miss Bertie Woerman. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, La Verne, her mother, Mrs. Anna Woerman, all of West Point, and two sisters and six brothers.

Helmann-Kaup

West Point—Miss Ella Helmann became the bride of Henry J. Kaup at a pretty wedding which was solemnized at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, February 19, at the St. Boniface church at Monterey, the Rev. Monsignor H. Schoof performing the ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kaup of north of Aloys. They will make their home on a farm two miles southeast of Aloys.

Wausa—Otto Manning proved himself eligible to enter any fat man's race with a good chance of winning Tuesday last week when his car started off without him. Having done up his business about town he took the crank to start his car which was parked in front of a jewelry store. The first pull being unsuccessful, Mr. Manning made a second try, and with one forceful pull the engine started with a roar. This had been all well and good, but no sooner had the engine started than the car which had evidently been left in reverse gear, shot back in the street, leaving the astonished Mr. Manning standing on the curb with the crank in his hand. Presence of mind, however, told him quick action was necessary, and he dashed out after the runaway auto. Fortunately, the wheels were cramped in such a way as to turn the car down the street as nicely as if a driver had been at the wheel. The trouble was that it continued to keep going, and before Mr. Manning could catch it, it had backed up to within a foot of a gas pump which surely had been in a sorry plight had the car not been stopped when it was. As it was all turned out splendid.

Happy Chick News

We got back on the air again this week. The weather has been fine and a lot more people came in and ordered their brooder houses or farrowing houses.

We got a letter from Mrs. E. Peters of Beemer saying, "Please enter my order for a 9x12 Happy Chick Brooder and Scratch Shed". She saw this house at the West Point Fair last year.

Ralph Miller from near Carroll and have one of those 6 pen farrowing houses out on the Gamble place by the time I get moved. You know those houses sure handle those great Big Hamps.

Albert Killion was in last Wednesday and says, "Can you get two of those 6 pen houses out to my place by next Tuesday?" I told him we could for I believe in service. They are out there and on time, too.

Ralph Miller from near Carroll had a 9x16 Happy Chick House taken out to his place Monday.

H. F. Krausamer of northeast of Concord gets a 9x16 Happy Chick Brooder complete with Simplex stove this week.

Alfred Sydow ordered one of the new style 12x16 Happy Chick Brooder House with a Simplex stove. This new style house is sure going good. Alfred raises pure bred chickens capturing lots of prizes with them.

We have had lots of replies in regard to the number of chicks that could be brooded around the stoves in the car load that we were unloading last week. I am going to give you a tip. There were 164 stoves in the car.

Otto Sabs is going to have a 9x12 Brooder House this year.

In looking over the order book I find that we have 21 Happy Chick Brooder Houses to delivered between to-day, Wednesday, and March 8th. We sure can do it. I am making plans for running the factory night and day.

The farmer has the truck, tractor, automobile and a lot of other pieces of machinery to help with his work about the farm. Now the farmer's wife can have a Happy Chick Brooder with the Simplex Stove to help her raise a nice big bunch of chickens. You know this chicken and egg money goes a long way.

Harvey Larson ordered a six pen farrowing house. He had a new brooder house last year.

Anton Pfluger ordered a 9x16 Happy Chick Brooder with a Simplex stove last Saturday.

George Schweers of south of Winside is getting a 9x12 Happy Chick Breeder with a simplex stove. These Simplex stoves are sure going good. One stove seems to sell two more.

Pat got back from the convention all O. K. Now about those ideas that he was going to get. When he got back in Wayne the idea struck him that we had had a convention of buyers right here at the Happy Chick Brooder factory.

As the government controls this broadcasting to a certain extent I think I had better be a little careful at first.
