School Begins Its Fall Term Monday A. M.

New Time Schedule Is Among Important Changes.

Two New H. S. Teachers

While registration will not take place until Friday and Saturday of the present week, indications at this time point to a considerable increase in attendance in high school. A number of requests have come from pupils desiring to earn their expenses or at least part and the Superintendent would appreciate being notified by parties interested in a boy or girl to work for their board or room. There has been a slight change in the schedule for the high school and the grades above the fifth school will take up at 8:30 in the morning and at 1:00 in the afternoon. This will allow dismissal at 3:30 in the afternoon. A large number of the high schools are adopting this schedule including such representative towns as Norfolk, Neligh etc. This has been found desirable through the fact that in the past we have lost a large amount of school time through extra-curricular activities which occur in the afternoon following the dismissal of school. Under this plan it will practically do away with the necessity of dismissing school early for activities, and thus losing a large amount of school time. A second advantage is in the fact that where parents wish to have pupils work at home after school or in case where children have positions, it is possible for them to get to work early enough to really accomplish some worth while results. Where pupils are practicing outside activities by starting at 3:30 it will enable them to get through and be (continued on page four)

New Group Plan Adopted At Conf.

Missouri Lutherans Divide District Into Fifteen Circuits

Rev. H. Hopman, pastor of Grace Lutheran church of this city, has been placed in charge of Circuit No. 4, of the Northern Nebraska district of Missouri Synod Lutheran churches. His appointment is a part of a plan adopted last Friday at the annual conference of Missouri synod churches of the northern part of the state, which was in session at Columbus at that time. The plan adopted at the conference calls for the dividing of the congregations in the district into ten circuits, each circuit to be composed of about nine to twelve congregations. Churches in each of these circuits will be grouped around a central point, and be under the supervision of a pastor living within the circuit. In this way, it is believed, information on any subject may be secured more readily and closer contact between congregations may result. Each circuit will meet twice a year, probably in April and October.

Wayne Folks Return From A Trip Abroad

Mrs. Clara Horsham and her daughter, Miss Emily Horsham, of this city arrived home Sunday, August 17, from a tour of Europe. They traveled with the Student Travel Club and left Montreal, Canada on June 13th, on board the Scotch ship, Letitia. The party was made up of about 30 persons which toured nine different countries, including Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, and France. They left France on August 2nd, on the English ship, Carimania, and landed at New York on August 10th. After spending a few days in New York, Mrs. Horsham and Miss Emily returned home, arriving here on August 17th. The tour was very educational as well as most enjoyable, an account of which will undoubtedly be of exceptional interest to many. An interesting account of the trip will appear in next week's issue of the Democrat.

Contract For Fine Farm Home Let

A contract for the construction of a $12,300 home has been let by Henry Vahlkamp, residing five miles west of Wayne, to J. H. Foster, a local contractor, who begins building operations this week.

The home will be an eleven room dwelling. 32x34 of brick veneer construction, with two large screened in porches and all of the modern conveniences such as electric lights, and modern plumbing. The brickwork will be red with white trimmings, the flooring and woodwork will be oak, in fact it will be the very latest word in farm home construction throughout.

Homes such as this are responsible for the cessation of a practice noted in the recent census report—that of farmers retiring and moving to town. They have every modern convenience at home, so why move to town?

Fremont Named 1931 Legion Conv. City

Memorial Service For Herb Welch on North Platte Program.

Marcus Poteet of Lincoln was named commander of the Nebraska department of the American Legion for the ensuing year and Fremont designated as the convention city for the coming year in the business session which brought to a close Wednesday, the Legion convention at North Platte which had been in session since Monday.

Norfolk made a strong bid for the 1931 conclave, but lost out in the final analysis to the city closer to the environs of Omaha and Lincoln.

Of especial local interest among matters of consideration on the program was the memorial services held in honor of late district commander Herb Welch. The services for Mr. Welch were held in conjunction with similar memorial services for Dr. E. O. Webber of Plainview, during the past year. Wade R. Martin, past department commander, conducted the memorial services.

Carroll Orr attended the convention as delegate from the local post. Mrs. Fontenelle Smith and Mrs. W. H. Phillips were also in North Platte, attending as delegates to the Legion Auxiliary convention which also held its sessions there at that time.

FALL TERM AT TEACHERS COLLEGE OPENS SEPT. 15

Instructors Enjoying Brief Vacation Between Semesters

Main v New Instructors

A stillness far from characteristic of the place, pervades the campus of the Wayne Teachers Normal Training school, which closed a very successful summer session last Friday and will remain closed until Monday afternoon September 15, when the fall term begins.

But for the registrar's office where Miss Clara Smothers presides and the President's office, where Mrs. Elva Brockway, secretary to the president is in charge, the campus is a deserted place.

Practically all of the faculty, who have been on the job all summer, have set out on vacation trips to summer resorts or with their home folks.

President and Mrs. U. S. Conn and daughter Miss Ardeth are spending a short vacation at Spectacle Lake, near Cambridge, Minn., where the Prof. I. H. Britell family have been summering.

Prof. O. R. Bowen has taken no vacation trip, but is adding variety to his routine work by giving two addresses at the Knox County institute at Center.

Prof. C. E. Wilson and family are visiting in the Professor's old home in Indiana. Miss Enid Conklin has gone to her home in Milwaukee, Wis., where she will visit for a short time. She will not return this semester, having been granted leave of absence to attend the Columbia University.

Miss Ruth Pierson, instructor in the latin department, is visiting with relatives at Hershey and Miss Martha Pierce is spending her vacation at her home in Lincoln. Miss Gladys Sulzer had gone to Fargo, N. D., to visit relatives at that place and at Halstad, Minn.

Miss Mildred Snyder, assistant librarian, is vacationing at her home in Indiana, Ill. Miss Coral Stoddard is at Jessup, Iowa, and Miss Vera Elefson is doing research work at Topeka, Kansas. Miss Elefson who served as instructor in the English Department last year, will have charge of the Seventh Grade department work.

Coach and Mrs. W. R. Helkman are sojourning in Montana where Mr. Helkman began his teaching experience years ago.

Numerous new faces will greet the student body when school commences next month. Among the new acquisitions are: Mrs. Isabelle Rush, P. H. D. Michigan, who will have charge of the English department.

Miss Marie Smith, who holds a masters degree from Columbia University, is replacing Miss Ida Fisher as Second Grade supervisor.

L. P. McGrath, who received his doctor's degree at Leland Stanford University, takes charge of the commercial department, relinquished by W. C. Lowrie.

Prof. Dale has added to his duties the position of athletic director of the boys of the training school.

The college opens Monday afternoon September 15th for registration purposes and the day following will be taken up entirely with the same duties. Classes begin Wednesday, September 16 and school will then again resume its customary grind with every prospect favorable for a successful year.

Prospects Bright For Strong Team At Wayne Normal

Line Will Be Heaviest In Years—Backs Fast.

Night Games To Feature

With fifteen first string letter men expected to answer the first call, football prospects at the Wayne State Teachers college are exceptionally bright.

There is an abundance of line material that will give Coach Hickman an experienced forward wall that will average over 190 pounds. With Captain Dennis in the backfield, Wayne will have one of the best punters in the conference.

Teamed with fast, hard hitting backs, behind a heavy forward line Dennis should lead a powerful team.

Added interest in this fall's season is assured because of the introduction of night football. Several titular games will be played under the glow of the recently equipped floodlights at the athletic field.

The schedule follows:
Sept. 26—Open.
Oct. 10—Midland at Wayne, night game.
Oct. 18—Kearney at Kearney.
Oct. 25—Chadron at Chadron.
Nov. 7—Peru at Wayne: Homecoming, night game.
Nov. 8—Western Union at Wayne.
Nov. 15—Open.
Nov. 22—Omaha U at Omaha.
Nov. 28—York at Wayne.

Many Heard Local Band At Sioux City

Nebraska Day at Riverside Park Sioux City proved a very enjoyable day for the hundreds of Nebraska people present at the park that afternoon. Wayne Municipal Legion Band was one of the features of the occasion and though the circus at Norfolk served as a lure to divert many people of Wayne from going to Sioux City, many local band boosters were present.

Special features to the program were solos by two artists from the band ensemble: Miss Katherine Lou Davis, gave a saxophone solo and Herman Eickhoff a baritone solo. Both were favored with hearty applause and responded graciously to encores. "Mose" Reed, veteran bandmaster from Sioux City was present and directed the band during a couple of selections.

There was a large representation of people from Mapleton, Iowa, present at the park during the afternoon, drawn there by the announcement that Prof. Reed's band from Wayne, was to play. Prof. Reed was at one time director of the municipal band at that place.

Crop Prospects Much Improved During Month

Plenty of Rain Fall, Mild Weather Featured August.

Small Damage From Hail

In sharp contrast to the deplorable drouth and heat of July, August weather in this region has been unusually fine with no extremes of weather to blight the crops which suffered so severely in the previous month.

Prospects for a fair corn crop in this region are now entertained, the only concern left being the possibility of an early frost which is deemed remote.

Wayne and northeast Nebraska in general received an abundance of rainfall the past week. In some regions of the county in the neighborhood of Hoskins damage from a hail storm which occurred Thursday morning is reported. The hail, while fairly heavy, was not accompanied by wind, which accounts for the lightness of the damage reported. The estimated loss will not exceed ten per cent, and in most cases are negligible. The corn leaves were quite badly slashed, but the stalks were not affected.

Dark and lowering clouds gave threat of a serious storm here Thursday morning, but outside of a heavy fall of rain nothing materialized.

Drake Appointed to Railway Commission

Appointment Made By Gov. Weaver After Curtiss Resignation.

Hugh Drake of Kearney, who in the recent primary election won the Republican nomination for railway commissioner, has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of railway commissioner John Curtiss, resigned.

Drake is the present secretary of the commission a position he has filled for the past two years. In announcing his appointment Governor Weaver stated that Mr. Drake's experience as secretary has familiarized him with the many of the cases pending which made him well qualified for the position.

Chairman Curtiss resigned to accept a position with the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Company.

Hugh Drake's appointment is of special interest locally by reason of the fact that his wife is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Hess of this city. His prominence in American Legion affairs has also given him a wide acquaintance in this vicinity among ex-service men.

NEBRASKA CANARIES SING IN FAR OFF INDIA

Sleepy citizens of far-off India, twisting on their hot couches are awakened about dawn by a reveille that is strange and foreign. Some of the sound sleepers may turn over for another nap, but the light sleepers prepare to rise, for once that call has sounded, sleep for them is done. The American mule, voicing his homesickness, in one melodious effort has announced another day.

The Missouri mule is presumed to excel others in the beauty of his form and the cadence of his voice, but it is to the Grand Island mule market the agents of the British army come to buy mules for army service in India. Just two weeks ago a British buyer was at this market and bought a carload of selected mules to be shipped to India. A long journey awaits that company. By rail they will go to an eastern concentration point, where they will join a larger shipment to go by water to the far end of the earth. There they will be used in transporting supplies and light artillery, and making a tardy but effective American contribution to the power of Great Britain in its distant possessions.

Grand Island is the second horse and mule market in the country, being exceeded only by St. Louis. Through the Grand Island yards go horses gathered from twelve northwestern states, including Nebraska.

An interesting side feature of the India shipments is the great trip eager American boys get who act as muleteers on outgoing slow-sailing boats and come back on the liners, richer and wiser for their unusual experience.

Cook—Why, you're the same man to whom I gave a piece of mince pie yesterday.

Hobo—Yes, but I hardly expected to find the same cook here today.

The wedding had been planned for early in the evening but poor connections delayed the arrival of the bride who came all the way from Mississippi for the ceremony. Mr. Ashley is a barber in Dixon's Shop and came from Mississippi about a month ago. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ashley. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Williamson of Oakvale, Miss.

A Piece Of News

about the Improved

McCormick-Deering Manure Spreader

THE popular McCormick-Deering Spreader has been improved. It is now better than ever. It has a stronger, low-built box that a short man can load without backbreaking pitching. Steel braces all around. The new saw-tooth beaters can't warp and bind. The spike tooth spreaders do a real job of pulverizing. Manure doesn't drift because the spiral gives a steady, uniform throw.

You have to see this spreader to appreciate it fully.

CORN GOOD IN STANTON COUNTY

Stanton—Plenty of moisture recently has almost assured a pretty good corn crop in Stanton county. Earlier rains falling during the time when most of the surrounding territory was in the grip of the hot dry spell were also a great help. The small grain crop was of average quality and size, this year, but the third cutting of alfalfa was short with not very bright prospects for a fourth cutting. Not many cattle and hogs are left in the county.

Fulmer of Lincoln and Miss Edna Durland of the Omaha public schools were speakers. About 100 teachers of the county were present.

A THOUGHT FOR SUNDAY

A college girl who spent the summer as counsellor in a girls' camp, was also expected to help out in the kitchen. One day she was busy peeling potatoes when the head of the camp came and spoke to her. "It's too bad," she said, "that a young woman of your education should have to peel potatoes." The girl looked up brightly. "But, Miss Baldwin," she said, "I don't have to think about the potatoes while I am peeling them."

That was a Pauline utterance. "Whatever things are lovely, think on these things." Our minds are ours, though our fingers may be hired out. And even if our humdrum tasks require constant attention as we work there is an upper self that may be living at the same time, and communing with the angels. If we "set our minds on the things that are above," the "things that are upon the earth" will not suffer—be sure of that—but will be vastly advantaged.

"Whatever things are lovely—think on these things." Read Philippians 4: 4-9.—Exchange.

Convenience Counts - -

Were there no other reasons for transacting one's business among one's friends and acquaintances, the fact of CONVENIENCE should alone be sufficient.

Buying from a Wayne MERIT MERCHANT means that you get what you want when you want it, whether it be something to eat, wear or use.

There are no letters to write--no guessing about quality--no costly delays--no money in advance--no delivery costs nor substitutions--no misfits or off-colors. There is no need to buy excessive quantities to get a good price, nor need there be any misgivings about the lasting quality of goods.

Shouldn't these reasons suffice to convince even the most thoughtless buyer that his own marketplace is the safest and surest place to trade?

These MERIT MERCHANTS provide convenience and economy for all

SOMETHING MORE THAN A FIGHTER IS NEEDED

There is a tendency at present on the part of the public to rate the value of those who serve in the national halls of congress by the reputations they have established as fighters.

The middle west seems to be especially productive of this type—Quixotic characters continually at war with everything that does not conform to their narrow political creed. Not one of them have any constructive legislation to their credit and they would be totally at sea if it fell their lot to devise any, but they are considered wonders in their own balliwicks simply because they are "Great Fighters."

No one questions their ability to create a disturbance. They are continually at it—investigating, accusing, denouncing, and creating class hatred and sectional mistrust.

It may seem paradoxical, but it is true never the less, that the more these "fighters" investigate, bloc and denounce the worse their causes seem to fare. Eventually voters of the regions they represent may come to the realization that they might be better served if they were represented by men less spectacular but more broad minded.

The need of supplanting common sense for hysteria in our national government is the most acute that it has been for years. The ill of agriculture and of unemployment are apparent enough—we don't have to be told about them—what we need by way of representation is men who will do something about them.

This need points to G. M. Hitchcock as the logical candidate for the United States senate from this state. He is a man of broad experience and broad views. During the World War, when sound judgement and quick thinking were imperative for this country's welfare, he was rated as one of Pres. Wilson's most dependable advisors. He is a progressive and a fighter, but his bid for the high office he seeks is not confined to those narrow qualifications. He is a statesman who can be depended upon to do something toward solving the problems of the nation instead of merely talking about them.

A PROFESSION AT ITS BEST AND WORST

Our national code of ethics—if there is such a thing—is well exemplified by the American Bar Association. Certain it is that there is no group of men more profound and brainy than that group which constitutes its membership. Names like Ellhu Root, Charles Evans Hughes, George Wickersham and Frank B. Kellogg grace its roster and lend weight, dignity and force to the results of its deliberations. Truly it is representative of American thought and ideals at their best.

But there is a gulf—as far distant as Heaven from Hell—that separates these American lawyers from others identified with the same profession. Particularly is this true of some of the members of the Chicago bar whose names have recently been brought into the spotlight of unfavorable publicity as a result of the disgraceful Zuta exposures. These exposures broadly intimate that several members of the city's judiciary accepted money from the underworld in return for favors in the form of immunity from arrest for murders and vice mongers.

It would seem almost apparent that something is radically wrong with the political structure of this country when, with such a wealth of high minded and brilliant men to draw from, that noble function of government administration of justice, has to often fall into the hands of the inefficient or unscrupulous shyster lawyer.

Dr. Roy L. Smith, the noted Minneapolis divine, has recently returned from Russia, the land of the ungodly. His observations there and in other European lands are of value and carry weight. There is going to be a distinct reaction in Russian in favor of religion and religious organizations in the near future, he claims. No nation can long exist without religion nor can any social structure function satisfactorily without it. Dr. Smith also found unemployment on the increase in every country visited, so the situation is not peculiar to America at this time. The depression we are experiencing is world-wide in scope and Americans are the most fortunate and least suffering of all.—St. Peter (Minn.) Herald.

Ma Ferguson fared disastrously in her attempted political comeback. Returns of the election in Texas last Saturday indicate that she lost to Ross Sterling, the millionaire publisher and capitalist, by a majority of more than 100,000. In a recent primary election Mrs. Ferguson led a field of five candidates including Sterling. The results plainly show how an undesirable candidate may thwart the will of the people by winning out in a divided field.

Why all this fool publicity about Aimee Semple McPherson and her mother? There are hundreds of family rows, just as disgusting, aired in the police courts of the land every day, but the principles get scant mention, let alone having their banged-up snouts pictured in the rotogravure sections of the metropolitan dailies.

James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, has named fifty-nine multi-millionaire bankers and captains of industry as the men who rule America. We have serious doubts that he knows whereof he speaks for in the list he names we searched in vain for the noblest Roman of them all—Scar-Faced Al Capone.

home before six o'clock which has been one of the problems the school has faced in the past. Last, the tendency of pupils to arrive at the building from 8:00 to 8:30 during the past year has necessitated the placing of a teacher in the assembly at 8:00 a. m. When the matter of beginning school at 8:30 was placed before the student body last Spring the pupils voted 100 percent in favor of the move indicating in both cases they preferred to begin earlier than we had in the past.

All grades below the 6th will commence at 8:50 a. m. Miss Ada C. Tollefson of St. Ansgar Iowa, has been selected to teach mathematics for the coming year. Miss Tollefson is a graduate of St. Olaf College of Northfield, Minn. and has had considerable work toward her Masters Degree at the University of Iowa, having fulfilled the subject requirements. She taught the past two years at Grundy Center, Iowa and previous to this was instructor in mathematics at Tama Iowa for four years. Miss Tollefson is interested in girls athletics, and organizations. Work of this kind will be developed in the high school this year.

Registration will be held for the two lower classes in high school on Friday August 29th and for the two upper classes in high school on Saturday, August, 30th. There will be a teachers meeting of all teachers on Saturday afternoon, August 30th at 2:00 p. m. At this time work for the following week will be outlined. Regular school work will be carried out on the first day of school. Miss Geisler the new principal will be in Wayne the entire week and will have the work planned and organized for the opening of school. Miss Geisler has had six years experience as a principal and comes to the school with very high recommendations. During the past year she has been attending the University of Nebraska where she completed her Master's Degree with a Major in Latin and Minor in Education. She will have charge of the latin in the school in addition to her work as principal.

The work of repairing the building and repairing the heating plant was completed the first of this week and the work men have turned over the building to Mr. Henkel the janitor who has the building in readiness for school at this time. A number of very necessary improvements have been made during the past summer.

Tomato Juice vs. Tomato Cocktail

If you live in the West you drink tomato juice; if you live in the East you drink tomato cocktail. But East or West, if you are modern, you drink tomato juice, for, whether you like the juice plain, chilled and seasoned somewhat, or whether you like it combined with lemon juice, horseradish and perhaps a dash of tobacco sauce—in drinking this appetizing juice you are drinking to your own health.

Ripe Tomatoes Best

Tomatoes are rich in vitamins A, B and C and contain also that elusive vitamin E, found in so few foods, which mysteriously aids in getting the iron out of other foods which we eat. Did you know that it is no longer necessary to strain the juice from your regular canned tomatoes, because owing to the popularity of tomato juice, canners now pack the juice ready-strained? And did you know, also, that the tomatoes' vitamins are not lost in the canning process, but are even more potent than those obtained in some fresh tomatoes, which have been picked green, before the sunshine has had time to fulfill its health-giving mission?

Try serving as an appetizer, a delicious glass of tomato juice—cocktail if you prefer the term—made by mixing two and one-half cups of tomato juice, two teaspoons of malt vinegar, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one-half teaspoon of Worcestershire Sauce, ten drops of tobacco sauce and two teaspoons of lemon juice. Chill and serve with long, narrow, crisp crackers toasted with melted cheese over the top, and a dash of paprika.*

Spuds Need Air in Storage Bins

Ventilation Is Necessary to Keep Potatoes in Good Condition.

Freezing has always been feared most by potato growers when considering storages. As a result more losses probably come from high temperatures than low, according to A. L. Wilson of the New York State College of Agriculture.

The difference between good and bad storage is only a few degrees above 40 degrees Fahrenheit; 34 to 40 degrees would be ideal, below 34 means freezing, and above 40 degrees conditions are favorable for sprouting. Shrinkage increases rapidly as sprouts appear.

Moisture Harmful.
If the air is too dry, water losses from potatoes will cause shrinkage, and if it is too moist, moisture will collect on the walls and ceilings and on the tubers. The presence of drops of moisture on the ceiling or on the pile is a danger signal, for rot will begin unless ventilators are provided that may be opened on a relatively cold day.

As potatoes are alive there is need of oxygen, and it must be obtained from fresh air. It is essential to seed that it be well stored so that its vitality can be retained. Firm, bright tubers in spring are better to sell than the shriveled dull-looking ones. Darkened areas on the tubers and a low vitality can be charged to lack of oxygen in the storage.

Ventilation Plan.
Home-made devices will serve to remove stale and moist air. False floors and walls allow air to circulate around the pile, or empty crates turned upside down can be put on the floor and the potatoes piled over them. Empty barrels can also be used either on the floor or up through the pile.

Variation Seen in Cost of Farm Live Stock

The very wide variation in results secured by different live stock men is shown by cow test associations, production contests, ton litter work etc. A recent compilation shows:

In a Minnesota sow test association the cost of producing butterfat varied from 29 to 71 cents a pound, and the income per cow varied from a loss of $36 to a gain of $67.

In a ton litter contest the number of pigs raised ranged from 3 to 12. The number of pounds of pork gained per bushel of corn fed ranged from 7 to 12. The cost of gain varied from 5 1/2 to 14 cents a pound.

During a three-year period the amount of corn fed in an Iowa county for each 100 pounds of pork produced varied from less than five to more than 13 bushels.

In a Minnesota survey the cost of feeding hens varied from $1 to $2.55 a hen per year. The returns from hens varied from a loss of 30 cents to a profit of $1.50.

Electric Pump Valuable Device for Water Supply

An electrically operated pump is very handy on the farm during the winter when the pump handle is ice cold, according to E. W. Lehmann of the University of Illinois. A storage tank is an advantage where the water supply is limited and the flow is slow.

A tank for use in case of fire is not possible on every farm but where electricity is available a motor large enough to raise water in a garden hose is valuable and may save the loss of some of the farm buildings if fire is seen in time.

The cost of operating the pumps on the farm is dependent on the rate charged. At six cents per kilowatt hour the cost of operating a deep well pump for the entire farm water supply should not exceed $2 a month.

Prevent Diseases by Destroying All Rubbish

All dying trees, branches, and dead wood, as well as trash and litter should be removed from the orchard, made into fire wood or carefully burned. Blister canker, black rot canker, as well as other diseases are destroyed by such measures. Apple tree borers may also be combated effectively by such clean-up practices. Over-wintering codling moth larvae, which are tucked away in silken cocoons in cracks and crevices of the bark and in the crotches of branches and under branches, trash, and litter on the ground, are destroyed. Such material affords over-wintering quarters for some of our most dangerous insect pests and diseases. The fight is thus made easier for the grower the following spring and summer when he relies chiefly upon spraying practices.

Rust Infested Oats

Fields of oats which have become badly infested with rust will generally give a better crop of hay than they will of grain. Rust first appears in the summer as dark reddish-brown or rust-colored lines, chiefly on the stems and leaf sheaths, sometimes also on the leaves and chaff. These lines will be found to contain a reddish powder. Later in the season the plants become covered with black lines. Where the infestation is severe on oats the crop may be made into hay by cutting when the kernels are in the milk stage.

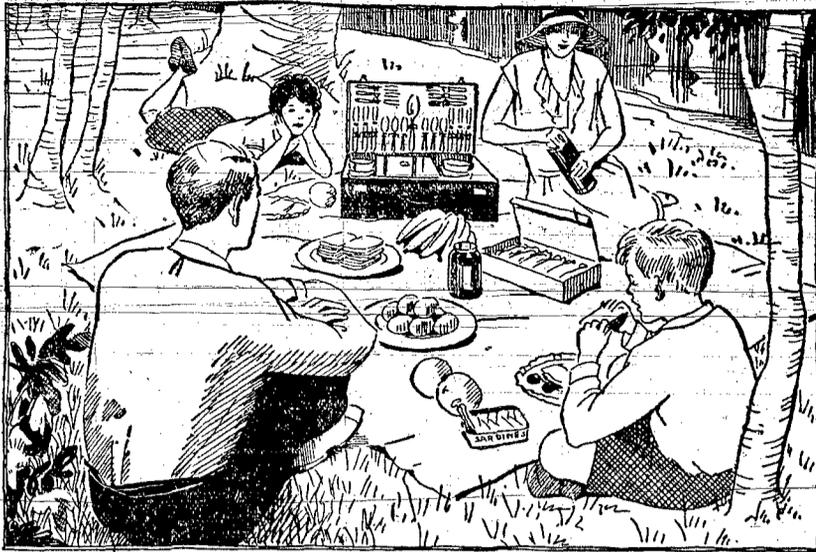

Hubby Does Some Back-Seat Driving in Kitchen

What's the trouble, anyhow, aren't you going to get any dinner tonight? You sure are getting a late start. Watch out there, can't you see you have the gas turned too high? Why don't you put some water in that teakettle or else take it off the fire? Hey, you, don't shake that sifter so hard, you are getting flour all over the floor. My goodness alive, that bread won't be fit to eat if you put all that salt in it. Look out, you came very near cutting your hand severely with that can opener. What's the special attraction outside; don't you realize that you can't look out the window and scramble eggs at the same time? For pity's sake, are you blind? Look at that oven thermometer, over 50 degrees too high. Why don't you turn off those jets when you have nothing cooking over them? No wonder the gas bill runs over $10 every month. Holy smokes, turn that meat over before it burns to a crisp. I don't believe you would ever get a meal ready if I didn't come out here and help you.—Kansas City Times.

Columbus' Coat of Arms

It was in "the spacious times of good Queen Bess" when the Spaniards were Lord of the Earth. All know the story of his "Invincible Armada"; but it had an unforeseen result through one of the vessels being wrecked on the Fair Isle, off the coast of Scotland, and some 200 of the crew being saved. During a stay of some months there, the Spaniards taught the women their quaint patterns. One of the patterns is a golden anchor on a blue ground. This was the coat of arms granted to Columbus by the Spanish sovereigns as one of the rewards for his discovery of the New world.—Montreal Family Herald.

PICNICS—NOW AND THEN

OR, then and now—if you like. Now, we give these outings all sorts of new names and new occasions: the apple blossom luncheon with bridge tables under merry striped umbrellas; beach supper with music and dancing in the moonlight; companionate dinner, with each guest bearing in their car a different course, hot or cold, in thermos pack.

But, after all, they are very much the same old picnics, born of the out-of-door and food urge, which prompted mother to work late the night before, icing the cup cakes and deviling eggs, father to carry the basket and fishing tackle, and the whole family, basket and bundle laden, to meet the So-and-So's, likewise laden, at the street car station where mothers would invariably discover an alarming similarity in sandwiches and fathers look with concern at clouds gathering in the sky.

New Trend in Foods

But proof that "a good time was had by all," is the fact that annually we picnic. And when we think of picnics the first food that pops into our minds is sandwiches. True, sandwiches sound rather uninteresting, but they can taste very interesting and delicious if they follow the new trend which combines many things to produce either the appetizer type of sandwich—blended with cheese, pickles, capers and that sort of thing—or the sweet sandwich fillings which use fruit, nuts, honey and perhaps a bit of preserves.

As for the time-honored "deviled egg," it has developed from a mustard-salt-and-pepper seasoned affair into something that is more like a salad, using chopped olives, creamy mayonnaise, and bits of pimiento for stuffing, and nestled in a lettuce heart like a bud among leaves.

For salads, the popular way is to use both fresh and canned fruits in unusual combinations, pack them into tightly-covered jars and take along lettuce wrapped in waxed paper, ready to serve with the salad.

Small cakes, such as petit fours, are replacing the old-time family layer cake for outings, because they are easier to carry and there is less waste, if one finds the helping too generous at the end of the feast.

Drinks—since the days when mother squeezed a few lemons and added sugar, depending on the water supply at the picnic grounds—have been very much on the up and up. The modern thermos jug contains fruit shakes and cocktails, punches and icedays as deliciously blended and iced as if they were served at home.

How would you like to picnic with some of these good things?

Sardine and Olive Sandwich: Bone and mash one can of sardines. Mix with one tablespoon of chopped ripe olives, one tablespoon of lemon juice, two tablespoons of chopped pickled beets and three tablespoons of mayonnaise. Spread between thinly-sliced white bread.

Banana Pineapple Sandwiches: Mash two bananas, add one-fourth tablespoon of lemon juice, one-fourth cup of drained crushed pineapple and two tablespoons of honey. Add one-half cup of grated mild cheese or cream cheese. Cream well and use between buttered slices of brown bread.

Grapefruit and Grape Salad: Drain and chill one No. 2 can of grapefruit and one cup of seeded white grapes. Add chopped canned pimiento and chopped green pepper. Make a French dressing, using the grapefruit syrup instead of vinegar. Serve on lettuce hearts.

Cool and Colorful Lime and Prune Punch: Mix together the juice from one No. 3 can of prunes and one-fourth cup of lime juice. Add two cups of water and chill.

Iced Orange Coffee: Wash two oranges and pare off a thin parting of the outer skin, being careful to get none of the white fibre. Boil one-half cup of sugar, one cup of water and the orange skin together for ten minutes. Cool, strain and add four cups of cold coffee. Just before serving add the juice from the two oranges and one-half cup of evaporated milk. Chill thoroughly.

Potato and Pea Salad: Marinate very thoroughly one No. 2 can of peas and two cups of diced boiled potatoes in French dressing. Add one-half cup of diced pickled beets and one tablespoon of chopped onion, and moisten with mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce nests.

found guilty was brought to the scaffold, and if it were a horse, ox, or any other living creature that he had stolen, that creature was to be the executioner. This was the method: The ax was drawn up by a pulley and fastened with a pin to the side of the scaffold, the beast stolen being tied by a cord to the pin. Then at the given moment, when the prisoner's head was across the block, the jurors who were present would raise each one hand, and the balliff would whip the beast. The movement of the animal would draw the pin, when the ax would drop across the neck of the unfortunate thief. If the execution was not done by a beast then the balliff or his servant had to cut the rope releasing the ax.

Instrument of Torture Used in "Good Old Days"

At the London tower there is still kept the "cravat" or engine for locking the hands, head and feet together, and nicknamed the "Scavenger's Daughter." This was made in two parts, with a broad hoop of iron fastened by a hinge. The prisoner had to kneel on the pavement and contract his body into the smallest possible space. Then the executioner knelt on his shoulders, introduced the hoop under the victim's legs, and compressed the victim closely until he was able to fasten the ends of the iron hoop over the small of the back. The time for this torture was one and a half hours, during which period the pressure of the infamous device made the blood gush from the nose, or even it was said, from the victim's hands and feet.—Detroit News.

Labor Not Everything

The printed record of mankind is full of comments and counsel about work. Bismarck is often quoted: "To youth I have but three words of counsel—work, work, work." Why only three? "Why not 'work, work, work, work'?" Or why not just one word? "Work!" If the boss of the shop said what Bismarck said it would not mean much, except to the employee he said it to; but because the great Bismarck said it, it gets into the books of quotations! It is nonsense. Work is admirable, and necessary, of course. But a man may work, trebly as Bismarck advised, and still be a very useless atom in civilization. Labor is noble—every one says so. But it is not all of life.—Boston Herald.

Miniature Books

Great quantities of tiny almanacs were sold in England, France and Germany, between 1335 and 1850. They were usually inclosed with a magnifying glass in a case which a woman could carry in her purse. The best of these, the A. Schloss series entitled the "English Bijou Almanac," are the smallest books ever made with the exception of an edition of the "Rubaiyat." The "London Almanac" was issued from 1681 until after 1850 by the Society of Stationers. It was only two and one-fourth by one and one-fourth, and elaborate bindings were common in this series.

Just a Little

Little Jane had a very annoying habit. When mother called her she didn't like to answer. One day she was seated cozily among her dolls away upstairs when she heard that familiar summons. Not desiring to respond to mother's wishes, she didn't answer. Finally mother came slowly up the stairway only to find Jane seated there. Mother questioned: "Why, Jane, didn't you hear me call?" Jane looked up shyly, speaking innocently: "Well, mother, I think I heard just a little."

FARM STOCK

SHORTS SLOP NOT AID IN FATTENING

Kansas College Makes Instructive Experiments.

Wheat shorts slop does not improve the ration for fattening pigs, experiments made at the Kansas State Agricultural college and reported on at the hog raisers' meeting at Manhattan recently show. The results of the tests show that the gains were greater and the costs less where no shorts or slop were fed.

Two lots of pigs were used in this test. Their average weight was approximately 114 pounds each when the experiment started. They were uniform in size and quality. All were pure-bred Durocs. There were ten pigs in each lot and they were fed for a period of 80 days. Lot 1 was fed corn and tankage in a self-feeder and given free access to alfalfa hay and salt. Lot 2 was self-fed corn, alfalfa, and salt in the same manner as lot 1, but received one pound of wheat shorts and 4 pound of tankage per pig once a day in the form of slop made with water.

The pigs in lot 1 that received no shorts or slop gained 2.15 pounds per head per day, whereas the pigs fed shorts in the form of a slop gained only 1.94 pounds per head per day. The pigs receiving no slop required 373.37 pounds of corn to produce 100 pounds of gain in addition to 35.23 pounds of tankage. The pigs receiving slop consumed 348.84 pounds of corn, 20.66 pounds of tankage, and 51.65 pounds of shorts to produce 100 pounds of gain. The consumption of alfalfa was about the same. The cost of 100 pounds gain where corn and tankage were fed free choice was $6.50 per 100; where corn plus shorts and tankage in the form of slop was fed the cost was $6.55 per 100.

The pigs receiving no slop were fatter at the close of the experiment and were valued at slightly more per 100 pounds than those receiving slop in their ration. In addition to the larger gains, the cheaper gains, and the better finished condition of the pigs fed no slop, the slop-fed pigs required a great deal of extra labor in feeding.

Alfalfa Is Excellent Roughage for Horses

Alfalfa hay is an excellent roughage for horses, being more palatable than timothy or prairie hay and richer in protein and lime. For those reasons, it is particularly valuable for balancing grain rations that are poor in those respects, such as corn, says A. L. Harvey, horse expert of the animal husbandry division, university farm, St. Paul.

Many horse owners do not use alfalfa at all for their work horses, because they think it affects the kidney, causes the horses to sweat excessively and is apt to cause heaves. Experiments have proved that no bad effects are obtained if alfalfa hay is not fed in excessive amounts. Not more than one and one-fourth pounds of alfalfa per one hundred pounds live weight should be fed, and even that amount may be too much for some horses.

Many farmers report that they have obtained best results when they replaced about one-half of the usual ration of timothy or prairie hay with alfalfa hay. This method is to be recommended to beginners or when the second or third cuttings of alfalfa are fed.

Profits Made by Swine Following Beef Cattle

The gains made by hogs following fattening cattle from the feed salvaged often constitute an important part of the profits in the enterprise. In discussing this phase of cattle fattening, Prof. E. F. Ferrin of the Minnesota animal husbandry department cited experimental results showing that where cattle are being fed whole shelled corn or ear corn, it is common for the hogs following to make from $3 to $4 worth of pork per steer from the feed salvaged during an ordinary steer-fattening period.

To get best results, active, thrifty pigs should be used. The pigs should weigh 100 to 150 pounds when put with the steers. They should then be marketed when they reach 200 to 250 pounds in weight, and other lighter pigs put in. About one pig per steer following two-year-old steers and about one pig for each two steers following yearlings and calves is the proper number.

To give the most efficient help in making cattle feeding profitable, pigs should gain about one pound each per day.

Feeding for Beef

Just as a pig makes more economical gains when it is given access to grain as soon as it can be taught to eat and is then full-fed till finished for the market, so also does a calf make more beef from a given amount of feed if it is full-fed from birth to block. It should be mentioned in this connection, however, that the ration must always be well balanced with reference to protein and mineral matter, otherwise economical returns will not be secured.

Dumb Animals Used to Inflict Death Penalty

The guillotine was used in Halifax, (Eng.) in the Sixteenth century for the execution of criminals. E. H. W. Meyerstein, poet and writer, has called attention to a description of the way they had in Halifax in the Sixteenth century of chopping off the heads of criminals condemned of horse, cattle, or sheep stealing. The description is given in Bishop Gibson's Additions to Camden's "Britannia" (1695). According to Halifax law: "If a felon was taken within the liberty with goods stolen out of the liberties of the forest of Hardwick, he should after three markets or meeting days within the town of Halifax, next after his apprehension, be taken to the gibbet there and have his head cut off from his body." There were provisos that the thief must be caught in the act or have the thing stolen on him, or confess. A miserable thief being duly

Better Breakfasts

THE editor of a foremost food magazine reproaches Americans for perpendicualar eating. Do you partake of a perpendicualar breakfast? Perhaps at a soda fountain which doesn't even supply a high stool for your morning meal? Whether or not you belong to this "eat it and beat it" group, your breakfast is probably a very hasty affair compared with breakfasting on the continent where one lingers over coffee and a sweet just to prolong the exquisite memory of, say, honey-colored puffs of apple fritters, layer upon layer of crisp bacon slices and guava jelly toast.

You haven't time to linger? Well here is a breakfast that will linger in memory, but can be prepared, served and eaten in "train time."

Schell Brothers Showed Here Friday Afternoon

Schell Brothers Great Consolidated Shows visited Wayne Friday of last week. While the show lacked the spectacular features that one gets in Ringling Brothers and the other great circuses, Schell Brothers was a shade better than the average small shows making the country. The show had none of the objectionable features so prevalent among shows of this kind. Their equipment was in first class shape, and there were several creditable acts in their performance. If there is any criticism in order it would be of the unnecessary roughness verging on to cruelty of those in charge of the animal acts. It may be necessary for mediocre trainers to resort to cruelty to put across their acts, but there is absolutely none of this in evidence in big shows such as Ringlings and Barnum & Bally shows.
Schell Brothers staged a nice little noon day parade and gave two performances. Their afternoon show was quite well attended.
