Records For Attendance at Fair Broken

Fair Rated Among the Outstanding Fairs of State.

Fair Board Much Pleased

The eighth annual Wayne County Fair has passed into history as the most successful of any fair given here since the Wayne County Agricultural Association, its sponsors, began.

Clear bright weather, good roads and by far the best array of exhibits and entertainment attractions ever booked here, made not only for a record breaking attendance, but advanced the exposition into a far more exclusive circle among the prominent county fairs of the state.

Attendance Exceeds 20,000

The total attendance for the four days has been placed at approximately 22,600 with Thursday the banner day of the fair. Wednesday's attendance was also exceptional for opening days usually have a light attendance, but this day being an exceptional to the rule made the attendance unusually large. As school children were admitted free on this day, a definite checkup on the attendance for the day is impossible.

Saturday's attendance, while not quite up to that of Thursday, was nearly so, the night attendance being larger, Friday proved an off day, threatening weather in the forenoon evidently keeping many away who had planned to attend at that time.

4-H Club Exhibits Interesting

Among the exhibits at the fair, none created more interest than that of the 4-H Baby Beef club exhibit. Eighty fat yearlings were placed on exhibition. Of this group the chubby Hereford steer raised by Vern Troutman of Winside, was adjudged winner of the grand champion award and William Ruhlrow, of Hoskins won the reserve champion prize.

Hog Exhibit Extensive

The most imposing display at the fair, by way of the number of exhibits was that of the swine department. About 700 animals were on display. Winners in the various breeds are as follows: Hampshires, Ed S. Rennick and Son, Pilger; Durocs, Henry Stuthman, Pilger; Spotted Poland Chinas, Ernest Stevers, Wayne; and Earl Hancock, Dixon; Poland Chinas, Krause & Krause, Allen, and Gus Paulson, Carroll; Yorkshires, H. W. Seabrandt, Iowa; Chester Whites, H. C. Holloway, Iowa, and James Byers, Wisner.

Cattle championships were awarded as follows: Brown Swiss, R. H. Durland, Coleridge; Ayrshires, Ed S. Rennick, Pilger; Holsteins, W. E. Von Seggern and W. L. Taylor, Wayne.

Death Takes Steve Nichols Last Evening

Steve Nichols, familiar figure in this city and for many years a resident here, passed away at the O. S. Roberts home at 6:35 o'clock last evening, Sept. 17, death being due to old age.

Mr. Nichols was born in Rochester, New York in about the year 1840. When about 17 years of age he came to Minnesota where he stayed nine or ten years and came to Nebraska in about the year 1868, taking a claim south of La Porte. He later went to South Dakota where he remained for a number of years and became the owner of a considerable amount of land. He retired from that place about 22 years ago and went to California where he stayed about seven years. He then returned to this vicinity and made his home as a boarder at the O. S. Roberts home. That was about 14 or 15 years ago, and he has since made his home with the Roberts'. He became ill about the 1st of last June, really getting down sick, and gradually became weaker until the end came last evening.

The Odd Fellows, among whom Mr. Nichols was numbered, will have charge of the funeral services. Interment will be made in the Greenwood cemetery. Funeral Saturday at 2 p. m. at the undertaking parlors.

New Clothing Store To Open Up Soon

Workmen are busy putting the store building of the Bressler Block next door to the First National Bank in readiness for occupancy by the National Clothing Company. A new clothing store, which will open for business in the course of a week or ten days. The store will handle gents furnishings and a few items of Ladies Ready to wear in addition. The proprietor is B. L. Stark, who until recently conducted a similar business in Omaha.

The building is being completely remodeled and redecorated with a new front, one of the most prominent improvements.

Moonshine Car Held By Sheriff

Sheriff Stephens Makes Arrest After Watching Car.

Loss of his car through confiscation and fine of $100 along with $8.35 costs was the price John N. Anderson of near Thurston, had to pay for having moonshine in his possession apparently for the purpose of sale.

Anderson was arrested by Sheriff Archie Stephens last Thursday night at the parking space adjacent to the Colonial Dance Pavilion. Complaint had been made that bootlegging activities were becoming objectionable at the dance and Sheriff Stephens came on the ground to investigate. He spotted a Ford roadster containing some jugs of what proved to be moonshine, a funnel and a number of empty bottles. Deeming that this was one of the sources of supply he wited in the shadow of another car a short distance away and soon Charles Anderson a brother of the arrested man and two companions arrived on the scene. As Stephens stepped out in the open the two companions bolted and made their escape, but Anderson was caught. He claimed that the car did not belong to him, but to his brother, and after taking the car into custody, Sheriff Stephens and Anderson returned to the pavilion and placed John Anderson under arrest.

John was taken to the county jail and held on a charge of transportation and possession. Monday morning when arraigned before Judge J. M. Cherry he pleaded guilty to the charge and drew the penalty. He is in jail at present serving out his sentence.

Credit Belongs Not Only to Prize Winners

Credit and congratulations are due the young winners in the boys' and girls' calf club competition at the fair for the splendid showing made. But it would be unfair to confine credit and congratulations to them alone for the race was close and the showing made of every calf truly remarkable. What pleases us was the commendation the judge made of the efforts of two lads whose calves did not place among the prize winners. He pointed out that the calves because of their build and general physical deficiencies could not hope to compare with some of the favored animals, but the boys by their perseverance and unceasing care, had obtained results the judge said, which entitled them to as much credit as the blue ribbon winners and he predicted that when these baby beeves were sold these boys would realize a profit on their animals equal to that of the best calf shown.

Fall Is Gradually Asserting Itself

Beautiful weather continues with bright and warm sunny days prevailing, but there is no mistaking it that fall weather is gradually encroaching. The evenings have been distinctly chilly, the thermometer registering 42 Tuesday morning. The corn crop being somewhat retarded in its growth this year would be seriously damaged by an early frost and farmers are hoping that clear weather will prevail for another two weeks and thus ward off the killing frosts that usually come in the wake of rainy weather.

OPEN PHEASANT SEASON IN WAYNE COUNTY LIKELY

Up To Game Commission After Co. Commissioners Approve.

Local Petition Presented

Hunters of this vicinity who have been wishing for the opening of pheasant hunting season in Wayne may have their wish gratified this year if the state game and fish commission concurs with the action taken by the county commissioners in acting favorably on a petition signed by local hunters to include Wayne county among the list of counties granted an open season.

The game commission has announced that 16 counties are to be open to pheasant shooting during the season this fall and the commission has decided to accept petitions until October 4, when it will hold another meeting to act upon applications received up to that time.

It is thought that 25 counties will be open when the season begins October 23.

The only change in the laws for hunting pheasants is that one hen will be allowed to each bag of five birds. The limit per day is five and the limit in possession at any one time is five. The measure allowing one hen pheasant to each bag was adopted in an effort to save the hens that were left to rot in the fields when they were killed by hunters. Among the counties open are: Antelope, Boone, Dixon, Madison, Merrick, Pierce, and Stanton.

PRUDENCE BUSH BRIDE YESTERDAY

Becomes Bride of John A. Kay Here Wednesday P. M., Sept. 17.

Miss Prudence L. Bush became the bride of John A. Kay Wednesday afternoon, September 17, at 2:30 o'clock when the young couple exchanged nuptial vows at a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. W. C. Heidenreich at the St. Paul's Lutheran parsonage in Wayne. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kay.

A reception was held for the bridal party and about 60 guests at 8 o'clock that evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bush Jr., near Coleridge. The bride's chosen colors of lavender and cream predominated in the color scheme decorating the home of the occasion.

The bride is a former resident of this city. She is a graduate of the Wayne high school and has attended the Wayne State Teachers' college. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Kay. Both are well known here and have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of their many friends for a prosperous and happy future.

After a brief wedding trip the young couple will make their home with the bridegroom's parents for the present. They will make their home on a farm the coming spring.

Wildcats Will Be Heavy and Fast Says Coach

Many Veterans Back In Squad—Lots of Beef In Line.

Night Games New Feature

Forty-five husky young men, all ambitious to make the team, reported to Coach Hickman when the fall season practice began at the Wayne Normal last Monday. As a result, prospects look mighty promising for the Wildcats this coming season.

Many veterans will be back in the lineup this year. Fifteen who remained on the squad throughout the whole of last season are back and several others are expected to join the squad in a few days. Many of the new recruits have had three and four years experience on high school teams and it is expected that some very reliable timber will be drawn from this source.

This year's lineup will have the advantage of both speed and weight. Especially is this true of the line, whose average weight will be about 158 pounds per man. Three of these linemen are veteran football men weighing better than 200 pounds each.

The backfield, while not quite so heavy, will be very fast.

Equipping the field for night football is rapidly nearing completion. There are twelve sixty foot poles set along side of the field, each equipped with several high powered lights and necessary flood light attachments. Much interest is shown in the prospect of the night games and it is expected that these games will be featured with an especially large attendance. The first night game of the season is not known at this writing as several changes have been made in the schedule which has necessitated a change in several dates.

Baptist Church Undergoing Repairs

Turn about is fair play, and the ladies of the First Baptist church, after working diligently serving the hungry multitudes at the county fair, have set their men folks to work repairing and redecorating the church. As a result of volunteer labor by the menfolks of the congregation the past week, the roof has been treated to another coat of asphalt, the decorative metal cornices given a new coat to paint. The work has been under the direction of Rev. W. E. Bratsted, pastor of the church, who donned overalls and did his share of work as well.

NOTICE TO WAYNE CONTRACTORS

The City of Wayne will build a small brick and tile structure to house one of the city pumps. Materials will be furnished by the City. Completion of the work is desired by about October 20th. Wayne contractors are invited to call at the City Hall to see specifications and submit bids for the work. COMMITTEE OR CITY COUNCIL.

Fire Threatens Rail Road Warehouse

A blaze at the railroad freight house, started Saturday noon when workmen were removing paint from the exterior of the building with a blow torch, caused a fire that threatened the destruction of the whole building.

The fire started at the east end of the building and by the time it was discovered the flames had swept up underneath the siding and under the roof. The fire proved a hard one to get at and gave the department much trouble to put it under control. About twenty minutes after the firemen arrived, however, the fire was out.

The loss will not be a serious one. It is estimated that it will amount to about $500.

Nebr. Second State In Corn

Yield to Exceed That of Illinois—Iowa Slightly More.

Dispite the prospects of a curtailed corn yield in the state, Nebraska will be a close second among the states in the production of corn for the year, according to A. E. Anderson, state and federal crop statistician, at Lincoln.

Only an unexpected heavy frost can keep Nebraska from making a "big killing", says Mr. Anderson, as two thirds of the counties of the state report crops average or better.

The tremendous slump in the nations corn crop with the expected higher prices for the product, as a natural consequence, should mean a prosperous condition throughout the state except in a few scattered regions where drought and hail did damage with more than usual severity.

Dry, warm, and windy weather will put Nebraska over the top with its crop, says Mr. Anderson. It is estimated that the average yield for state will be about 24.5 bushels per acre, or about 226,258,000 bushels all told. This will place Nebraska second among the corn producing states, Iowa, as usual, retaining first. Nebraska will thus usurp the place usually held by Illinois.

The estimated average for Wayne county has been placed at 28 bushels per acre. The highest estimate from any section of the state comes from Hamilton county where the estimated yield is placed at 36 bushels per acre. Madison, Cuming and Stanton counties will average slightly higher than Wayne county, while the average of Cedar and Dixon counties will be lower.

Mining Operations May Mean Much Locally

Alfred Dragon, janitor at the Wayne Teachers Normal, is watching with anxious interest developments at Chamberlain, South Dakota, where he owns some land. His land is in close proximity to some land where rich deposits of manganese ore are said to be located and he is watching to see what developments are to be made in the exploitation of the region. Development of mining operations are already underway and the results may materially affect the value of his property holdings there.

Local Attorney Gives Address On Constitution

F. S. Berry, Gives Radio Talk In Keeping With Constitution Week.

Gives Address Over KFAB

"The Judicial System Under the Federal Constitution" was the subject of a radio talk delivered over Station KFAB Lincoln, last Wednesday evening by Fred S. Berry of this city.

The talk was in keeping with the general observance of Constitution Week and was especially timely in that Wednesday marked the one hundred and forty-third anniversary of the signing of the national constitution.

In a simple and concise way Mr. Berry treated of this great subject, producing a very instructive and interesting treatise out of an ordinarily dry subject.

He explained how the constitution came into being, explaining how this country, after trying out the Articles of Federation that bound the colonies into one country, were found to be inadequate. The colonists realized that the rights of the people rested on a sound judicial system. Under the Articles of Federation the courts were subject to political whims and regional prejudice so, when the Constitution was created, the provision was made that "the judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as Congress may from time to time establish."

By this wise provision the stability of our country is assured. Said Mr. Berry:

"Judges of the federal courts are appointed for life instead of being elected by the people. Their office is secure during good behavior and they are thus removed from any possible influence of popular will, local clamor or partisan politics.

Now a few words about the Constitution of the United States and the federal courts under it. The men of a century and a half ago were students of history. They knew the capacity of unrestrained liberty for anarchy and the torch of the mob, and that to form a government, it was necessary for the people to surrender certain rights and give to government certain power and authority. But on the other hand they knew the capacity of government for tyranny and that throughout the ages armies had marched and counter-marched over hills white with bones of men and across valleys drenched with human blood fighting for liberty and against the oppression of government. Our ancestors desired to and did give to the government in the constitution those things essential for a government to efficiently function, and at the same time retained for the people and kept safe from domination and encroachment of government the liberty and the rights of the people which were justly theirs. Bandits Stage Holdup At Lincoln Nat. Bank

Aeroplane have been pressed into service in an effort to locate the men who staged a sensational daylight holdup of the Lincoln Bank making away with about $19,000 cash and negotiable securities estimated to be worth several hundred thousand dollars.

The bandit made their getaway in a car bearing an Iowa license which was traced by police officers in planes till it neared the Kansas line and then lost track of. Clues are meager for although the men staged the holdup without masks, the whole affair was staged with such machine like dispatch that no one outside of the immediate vicinity of the bank were aware that anything out of the ordinary was happening.

The bandits entered the bank and forced the employees and those present to lie on the floor while they made the haul. One of the employees, Phil Hall, remonstrating with one of the bandits was slugged with the butt of the bandit's gun which knocked him unconscious. His injury was slight, however.

Alive to Its Responsibilities

Wayne enjoys a privilege accorded to but comparatively few towns and cities of the state. It is what is commonly termed a "College Town." Within the confines of this city is an educational institution that enrolls a student body of many hundreds of young men and women every year. Naturally, the city of Wayne realizes its responsibility in providing a wholesome community for these young people to live in and this fact contributes in no small degree to the splendid attendance the school has been accorded year after year. Wayne business men are alive to the trade opportunities the location of the school creates which is reflected in the high quality merchandise and the many splendid bargains offered from time to time. Here are a few.

DEPRIVITY OF YOUTH

Deep concern is commonly expressed over the present trend of modern youth. Popular fancy likes to picture the young folks of today as jazz mad, drunken and immoral nit-wits with neither moral or religious convictions and absolutely void of restraint.

Every so often one hears some moralist deplore the so-called depravity of youth. We heard one the other day who went so far as to cite statistics to the effect that a large percent of the young women attending our great universities and colleges had fallen in virtue, that a large percent of both men and women were drug addicts, and that a large percentage of both men and women were drunkards, etc., etc.

Stuff and nonsense!
Where did that man get those statistics? Who gathered them? Who, or what agency considers itself worthy or qualified to probe into the intimate private affairs of these young people?

It's pure, unadulterated, evil-minded bunk!
The only way available of judging these matters is from surface indications, and if we are honest in our comparisons the young people of today will not suffer. Youthful human nature has been the same throughout the ages and it always will be.

Back in dad's day the closets were as replete with family skeletons as they are today. The young bucks used to shock the natives by driving half tamed three-year-olds down the main drag "Hell bent for election." They used to play Kelly pool, get drunk, get "mixed up in scrapes", and carry on "somehthin scandalous." And the sessions of the ladies aid used to discuss their escapades in overawed whispers and throw up their hands in holy horror and gasp: "My stars, what is this world coming to?"

The world moved on. The young sprouts got married and settled down. Figuring out the family budget and wheeling the baby carriage has always had a very subduing effect upon the most exuberant spirits. Memories are short.

In a few short years these erstwhile gay Lotharios begin to look with concern upon the actions of their children. Soon we begin to hear them deplore the passing of the good old days and its wholesome influences.

As a matter of fact young manhood and young womanhood of today is the finest that it has ever been in the history of the world and there are more wholesome influences at work today than there ever have been before.

Take for instance, two organizations affecting young folks locally—the Boy Scouts and the Four-H Club activities. "One need not go into any lengthy discussion of the merits of these two organizations. The results speak for themselves.

The Boy Scouts are setting examples for courtesy, helpfulness, patriotism and healthy living not only for boys their own age, but to their elders as well.

The wholesome enthusiasm and the splendid results obtained by the boys and girls of the Four-H Club movement is likewise an influence for good that did not exist twenty years ago.

So when we hear some sad-eyed holy roller or rabid beer and light wine advocate malign and slander the young folks of this country merely for the sake of gaining a point in his argument we size him up as being deficient in one of two things—he either has a bad memory or is talking through his hat.

Americans should be proud of their young people. They are better fit mentally and physically than their fathers were at their age, and we dare say they are on a par with them morally and spiritually.

It is very evident, from the internal political unrest that is rampant throughout many nations of the world that the hard times we hear so much talk about is not confined to these United States alone. Revolutions, even in South America, are not effected unless the state of mind of the people is such that they are willing to make a change. That necessary state of mind is usually brought on by financial depression on the part of business and hunger on the part of the masses.

If there has been any complaint because of the absence of "corn games" and other petty gambling devices at the fair, the complaint has not come from the fair board. A lot of money that ordinarily would have gone into the concessions was spent for grand stand seats. Better patronage of the grand stand means a continued booking of the best attractions available. In that way everybody is benefited.

Prohibition may or may not be a failure in Wayne county. That depends on your politics and the resultant view point. But certain it is that the bootleggers and moonshiners didn't get rich off of the county fair crowds. If there were any drunk people at the fair they either watched their step pretty closely or kept under cover. That's more than you could expect in the old saloon days.

Have you noticed that the publicity given the prize fight game has just about petered out since Schmeling took the heavyweight title with him over to Germany? It is to be hoped that he keeps that title in hibernation for a long time. From the stench that has been arising from that so-called sport it is high time that it was buried.

By the way things have been going in South America the past few weeks it is quite evident that the people there take their politicians a bit more seriously than we do.

The Rev. P. Pearson and daughter, Mae, of Hershey, Miss Ruth Pearson who has been visiting them the past few weeks, and their son and brother, Carl Pearson, of Columbus, came Saturday for a brief visit with relatives and friends here and also to take Miss Ruth back to resume her work as instructor at the local college. They went to the Ivar Anderson home northeast of Wayne to visit over Sunday. Mrs. Anderson was formerly Miss Hannah Pearson.

year," the corn exhibit in the general exhibit building, was up to its usual good standard with more than 100 entries listed. The specimens were fully as good as those shown in the most favored years. Yellow dent varieties predominated and were accorded highest honors, the award for the best ten ears on exhibition went to College View Farm, Wayne, W. E. Von Seggern, proprietor; and the best single ear to Clement McGuire, of Wisner. Both were late yellow dent varieties.

Winside Wins in School Exhibits

Winside School had very much the best of it in its exhibit in the educational building. Winning a total of 254 points. Wayne school came second with 135 and Hoskins and Carroll were tied for third place. In the rural school section district No. 43, Mrs. Roy Day, teacher, won first, District 23, Norval Stecks, teacher, was second and District No. 10, Mrs. Leroy Olson, teacher, third. In the poster competition, District No. 13, Miss Beatrice Cobb teacher, won first, District 34, Miss Georgia Keeney, teacher, second and District 65, Miss Blanche Johnson, teacher, third.

Grandstand Gate Large

One of the gratifying features, from the standpoint of the promoters of the fair, was the unusually large sale of grandstand seats. More than $1,000 was realized from sale of grand stand seats on two different days of the fair. The management is also gratified from the fact that the people who paid their admission fees got their money's worth. The professional entertainment features were splendid and the races and ball game attractions were also very good. There was just enough good snappy horse races to give the crowd the necessary "county fair thrill" and the ball games in each instance were close and strenuously fought. The Junior league teams of Winside and Wayne played the opening game Wednesday afternoon. Winside had a trifle the best of the argument besting the local lads by a score of 9 to 7. Pilger and Carroll played a very thrilling game Thursday, Pilger winning by a score of 3 to 0. Wisner and Wayne tried issues Friday with Wayne winner by a score of 4 to 5. Winners of the two contests, Pilger and Wayne, tried out conclusions Saturday afternoon in which Pilger won the game in a ninth inning rally by a score of 2 to 3.

A brilliant and elaborate display of fireworks terminated the fair's activities at the close of Saturday night's performance.

Blanket Games Banned

Conspicuous by its absence at the fair were the usual gamut of "Bingo" the blanket games, which had come to be accepted in many regions as an indispensable adjunct to fairs of this kind. This form of entertainment did not seem to be seriously missed and it has been generally accepted that interests in the better and worthwhile things the fair contained was increased as a result. It has been conceded that Wayne county Fair had many features on a par with those to be found in some of the best county fairs in the state. It was, to use the hackneyed phrase, a decided success.

president or executive, however mighty, and no congress, however large the majority, can take from the humblest citizen the liberty and rights of the people not surrendered to the government in the Constitution. Why is this true? Because the men who framed the Constitution, after careful study, deliberation and debate, created the Federal Judiciary I have mentioned and there vested the power to see that such things never could be done. I am not unmindful of the contention that has been made by certain individuals, largely self-styled friends of the people, that any law passed by congress is valid and that no court has, or should have, authority to declare it void. Follow me a moment. The Constitution gives to every person in this country and to his home the right to be secure against unreasonable search and seizure, gives to the individual the right of freedom of speech, the right to worship God as he sees fit, the right to one accused of crime to a speedy trial, the right of trial by jury, the right to own property and not to have it taken away from him against his will except for a public purpose and then only upon payment of its value, and the right to live his own life in his own way so long as he does not unlawfully transgress upon the rights of others. Wherever the law embraces the individual or the individual comes in contact with the law there shall be no distinction, under the Constitution, of race or creed or condition of life. If by a mere act of Congress these rights could be taken away from the people it is self-evident that the written Constitution of the United States is an absurdity, that a sovereign people cannot keep the kind of a government it formed, and the words that the Constitution is "the supreme law of the land", are but an idle gesture. If the courts have no authority over unconstitutional legislation then the Congress could destroy the states and their governments, declare there should be no president or other executive office of the nation, establish one church as the only church or prohibit worship entirely. The fathers never intended, and we don't intend now, to place our lives, at the mercy of mere congressional legislation."

Bringing the matter of our constitution down to a personal basis Mr. Berry closed his talk by saying:

"In the final analysis we will have the kind of a constitution and the kind of a government in this country we are capable and worthy of. May we intelligently and morally equip ourselves to meet the storms yet to come and thereby be assured of our destiny."

Injured In Runaway At Fair Saturday

O. M. Scherer, owner of the eight Belgian horses that created so much favorable comment at the fair, was quite seriously injured Saturday afternoon. The accident happened when he was giving a driving demonstration with all of the eight horses hitched together. When making a sharp turn, the whippletree caught in the wagon box in such a way that the wagon was tipped over. Scherer lost control of some of the lines and the team became unmanageable. He was dragged a short ways and was struck several times by the hoofs of the frightened animals.

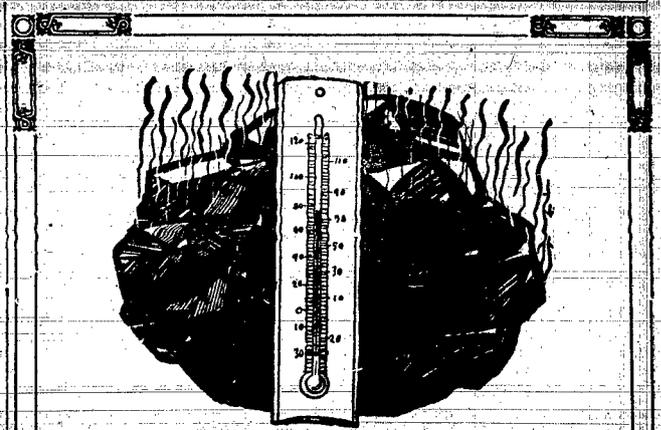

The injured man was rushed to the hospital where an examination disclosed that several ribs were broken, and a bad gash was sustained at the top of his head. It is also feared that he may be internally injured.

The horses were caught before they had gone very far and were not badly tangled up in their harness. Under ordinary circumstances nothing serious would have happened, but the crowd and the excitement no doubt frightened the animals.

Rigid Rules of Conduct For Released Prisoner

The way of the transgressor is hard. An inmate of the local jail serving a ninety day sentence with a bread and water stipulation on a charge of liquor violation, was released from jail last Monday after he had signed a document stipulating eight promises that should have a markedly deterring effect on his conduct in the future.

First, he must procure employment as soon as possible and turn over the entire wage to his wife for the support of herself and their children.

Second, he must totally abstain from intoxicating liquor.

Third, he must treat his wife decently.

Fourth, he must keep away from pool halls and from company that might have a tendency to bring him back to his old ways.

Fifth, upon violation of any of the foregoing rules he must return to jail to serve his sentence.

Sixth, he must pay the cost involved in his case as soon as possible.

Seventh, the smell of liquor on his breath will be sufficient to revoke his parole.

Eighth, his release in no way shortens his sentence, as he must return to finish immediately upon the infraction of any of the foregoing.

"A DISTINCTLY FINER GASOLINE"

GASOLINE "END POINTS"

The temperature at which gasoline completely vaporizes and combines with air is the "end point."

This temperature determines goodness of gasoline—how completely it burns—how much power it develops.

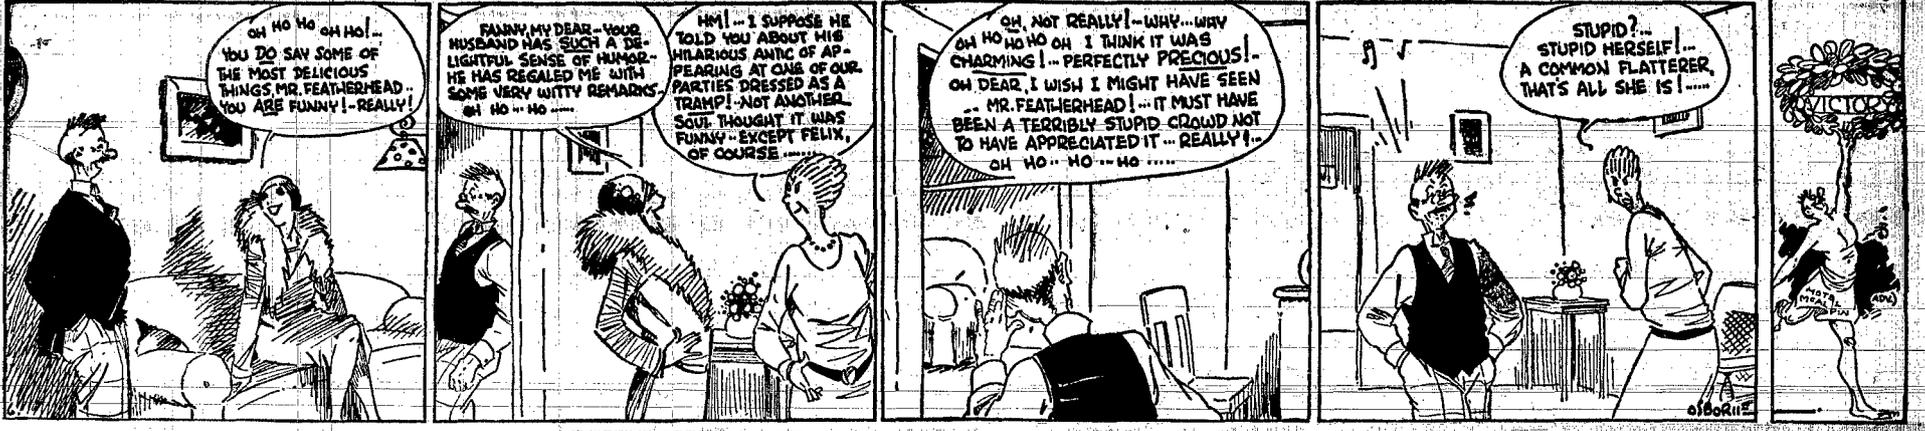

So the new Red Crown Ethyl was given an "end point" suitable for instant power in the coldest weather—for extra power when the motor warms up.

Use new Red Crown Ethyl in all your motors and notice how quickly your motor starts—how rarely you have to shift gears—how much quieter and more powerful your motor is. You'll discover that this distinctly finer gasoline is also an economical fuel—a real luxury but not an extravagance.

BONDS REFUNDED

Laurel—At an adjourned meeting of the village board, Tuesday evening, (last week) $22,000 worth of intersection paving bonds were refunded. The U. S. National Co. of Omaha were the successful bidders on the transaction which means a saving of $330 per year to the city in interest on the bonds. There were four bidders for the refinancing of the bonds and there was some lively competition in the matter. The bonds have been drawing six per cent interest in the past. Under the new plan they will draw four and one-half per cent interest. The company is to pay all costs of advertising in the matter and cost of changing over the bonds and in addition to this pay a premium of $101 to the city. The plan also carries an option where the bonds can be paid off at the rate of $1,000 per year if the city wishes to pay them. It means that the city will get interest on these bonds at four and one-half per cent net plus the $101 premium instead of paying the usual six per cent. It means a big saving to Laurel over the period of years the bonds will run and the board is to be congratulated on their business ability in securing such a favorable transaction for the village.

EDWARD PETERS KILLED

Randolph—Edward L. Peters, 72, father of Dr. G. E. Peters of this city, was instantly killed Friday evening, Sept. 5th, at Deer Lodge, Montana. Mr. Peters went down to the railway yards to meet his son, Forest, a conductor on one of the Milwaukee electric trains. The engineer of his son's train saw and recognized Mr. Peters on the tracks ahead, and signaled him by a blast of the whistle to be careful. Mr. Peters evidently misunderstood the warning and stepped backward directly into the path of an on-coming train on another track. The train struck Mr. Peters, breaking his neck. The son whom the father had come to meet, had the inexpressible grief to see his father lying dead, the joy of the anticipated meeting instantly turned to tragedy. Mr. Peters spent a few months in Randolph the past summer and made many friends.

NEAR CLOUDBURST NEAR OSMOND

Travelers from the Osmond vicinity Sunday night of the 5th report a near cloudburst in that vicinity. Low places in the highway were sheets of water. Dr. A. E. Cook, returning from the Blackhills, ran into the water and report about 30 autos were stalled along the highway. One man thought to better himself on a side road and had to abandon his car after it was in the water over the hood.

IF THEY STAND UP

Our own feeling is that the fate of any community hangs, not on automobiles, good roads, mail-order houses, and chain stores elsewhere as magnets of trade, but on the spirit of the people of which it is made up. If they throw up their hands and surrender, their community is doomed. If they stand up, use modern methods make a real fight, then the automobiles which frequent their roads will be coming to their town after things, not going away from it after things.

There are three things that will keep the current of trade flowing to, rather than away from, a community. They are:

- Good goods at right prices, adequately stocked.
 - Good Service.
 - Effective advertising.
- If the merchants of any community will carry adequate stocks of merchandise of known values, will see to it that the people of their trade territory are provided with all of the modern conveniences of retail trade, and then will tell their little world about it, clearly and persistently, their community will not fade out. On the contrary, it will grow and flourish.—Ex.

Friday evening a dedication concert will be given to which all the folks of the community are invited.

They were married in Germany in 1860 and came to the United States in 1871, settling near Scribner and going to Knox county four years later, where, with the exception of five years spent in Oklahoma, they have since lived. They have fourteen children, nine of whom are living. In spite of her advanced age, Mrs. Dickman still takes care of her husband who has been blind the past eleven years. GOING TO GROW

There is no room for debate. A town with a group of merchants co-operating in the lines carried, so as not to overlap, and giving good goods and good service at right prices, assisted by the publisher who knows how to make a real local newspaper and how to write advertising that will sell goods, is not going to slump. It is going to grow.

The fate of the small town, therefore, is up to the people in it. It is they who will make or break it—not automobiles, good roads or mail-order houses.—Ex.

HELEN HENDRICKSON WED

Hartington—Miss Helen Hendrickson, daughter of Harold Hendrickson of Hartington and J. R. Stewart of Omaha were married at Neligh Tuesday last week. After a fishing and camping trip to Swan Lake they will make their home in Omaha where Mr. Stewart is employed as a marble setter.

R. R. COMPANY WRECKS TANK

Dixon—The C. B. and Q. Railroad Co. had a crew of workmen there recently taking down the water tower and tank which has been used here by the trains here for many years.

JUST 100 YEARS AGO

Someone has dug up the records of the Lancaster, Ohio, school board back in 1828. In these records there is an account of a proposed debate as to whether railroads were practical or not. Permission was asked to hold the debate in the school house and the minutes of the school board ran thus: "You are welcome to use the school room to debate all proper questions in, but such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossibilities and rank infidelity. There is nothing in the word of God about them. If God had designed that His intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of fifteen miles an hour by steam, He would have foretold of it through His holy prophets. It is a device of satan to lead immortal souls down to hell." And this was only 100 years ago. If an airship could abduct one of those old boys from his slumbers today, what a shock he'd receive.—Ex.

Bloomfield—Bloomfield is thriving on the "cash basis".

Even the vendors of coal have now joined the "pay cash" plan and now automobile dealers who sell cars on the time payments are the only merchants of the city not listed with the 30 others who buy and sell for cash. The injured pride of many who had enjoyed credit was considerably healed the first of the following month when the bill collectors failed to appear.

JUST AN ORDINARY DINNER

THIS is not a dinner for any particular day in the week, but just one of those nearly 365 dinners which you have to devise during the course of a year—"nearly" 365, for of course you do go out, occasionally, to dinner. But an "ordinary" dinner, as the ingenious housewife plans it, is not "just ordinary" at all, in the usual sense of the word. It may be ordinary in price and ordinary in dietetic content, but it is refreshingly new and temptingly different from every other dinner served during the week.

It Tastes Extraordinarily Good

Do you know a very good way to plan meals that are different? Systemize your recipes. Some afternoon when you are resting out on the veranda or the lawn, and you have no very stimulating novel at hand, drag out your bulky collection of recipes and "card index" them. You will be surprised to find what a pleasure it is to have your kitchen cabinet file as neat and efficient a system as the one your husband's office desk affords. Sub-divide your cards into groups for the four seasons. Make one classification under each season "Menus," and as you find foods that go well together, such as "Stuffed Pork Tenderloin and Glazed Sweet Potatoes" file it under "Winter Meals," and later you may run across just the dessert to go with this sort of dinner. For summer, such delicacies as Tomato Juice Cocktail, Creamed Chicken and

New Asparagus on Toast Squares, and Fruit Sherbet will link up nicely.

It becomes really very engrossing, this sort of systemizing—and what a life-saver a card index will be on one of those days when your brain simply refuses to function on the week-in and week-out planning of meals. And you will find, too, that what, to you, is "just an ordinary dinner," seems to your family and your guests, if there be any, a most extraordinary dinner. Here is an August menu you'll like:

- Ice Orange and Grapefruit Soup
- Chicken and Mushroom Loaf with Sour Cream Sauce
- Parsley Potato Balls
- Glazed Carrot Slices
- Hot Rolls
- Tart Jelly
- Hearts of Lettuce with French Dressing
- Cup Cakes with Peach Whipped Cream Coffee

Tested Recipes

Ice Orange and Grapefruit Soup: Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in boiling grapefruit syrup from a No. 2 can. Add six tablespoons of sugar, three and one-half cups of orange juice and six tablespoons of lemon juice. Shred the grapefruit from a No. 2 can, very fine, and add. Chill, stirring often to prevent a solid mixture. Just before serving, beat well to break up the jelly. Serve ice cold.

Chicken and Mushroom Loaf:

Chop one 12-ounce can of chicken and one 8-ounce can of mushrooms fine. Add four tablespoons of chopped green pepper, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper, one and one-half cups of soft crumbs and three eggs, slightly beaten. Add the mushroom liquor from an 8-ounce can, to make the mixture moist but not too wet. Place a few slices of bacon on the bottom of a greased loaf pan, pack in the mixture, place more bacon on top and bake in a hot oven—400 degrees—for about 45 minutes. Serve the following sauce over the slices.

Sour Cream Sauce: Sauté three tablespoons of chopped pimiento, in two tablespoons of butter for three minutes. Add one and one-half cups of sour cream. Smooth one and one-half tablespoons of flour with two tablespoons of cold water, add to the hot cream and cook until creamy and smooth. Season to taste with salt and paprika. Pour over the chicken and mushroom loaf when sliced.

Cup Cakes with Peach Whipped Cream: Boil one-half cup of sugar and one-third cup of water to 238 degrees, or the third stage. Pour slowly over four well-beaten egg yolks, beating constantly until cool. Add three-fourths cup of mashed canned peaches and flavor to taste with almond flavoring. Add six macaroons rolled or broken into small pieces. Add one-half cup of beaten cream. Serve over delicate little cup cakes.

Since November 10, 1929, up to August 20, 1930, she has laid 280 eggs. The national egg-laying record for a year is 310 eggs. This record was made by a White Leghorn hen.

Rough Handling Causes Heavy Losses of Swine

The hog is subjected to its first danger of bruising when being loaded out of the feeding pen at the farm previous to being taken to market. Very often the pigs have not been out of the fattening pen for months, and unless strict precaution is exercised in loading out of the pen difficulties will occur. Where the shipper loses his temper and the pigs are beaten and hammered the result is that they are heated up and often bruised before they leave the station. Bruises that occur before shipment are the most serious because sufficient time elapses before slaughter to allow such bruises to fester, thus damaging a portion of the surrounding tissue in addition to the bruised spot.

Live Stock Facts.

Good yields per animal are necessary to low cost production.
Oats or rye, either one, are feeds that can be used with fair success in feeding hogs.

Nothing but pure bred sires are now being used by 17,345 live stock owners in the United States.

Dehorning calves should be done when a few days old, or as soon as the horns can be felt under the skin.

A foal makes more than half of its entire growth during the first year. If stunted during this time, it will never fully recover. Good bone and muscle are of prime importance with the horse, and feeds which tend to produce these should be chosen.

Barley is a good hog feed. It is trifle bulky for the best results for fattening purposes when fed alone. When used on a 50-50 basis with corn and a 5 per cent tankage ration, good results have been obtained with barley as a pork producer.

Custom of Challenge by Gauntlet Kept Up

Tossing gauntlets to the ground in challenge was not nearly so common in the old days as some novelists would have us think. In the first days of chain armor, there were no gauntlets at all. The hand was protected by a mitten attached to the sleeve. When gauntlets did begin to appear, in the days of the Fourth and Fifth crusades, they were cumbersome things which were strapped to the wrist so firmly that issuing a challenge by means of them would be more of a job than a hot-headed knight would care to undertake.

It was not until plate armor had reached its full glory that the gauntlet became symbolic of challenge. And it has rarely been anything else but a symbol. Even today, there is a pageant in England—the king's coronation—whose duty it is to cast a glove in Westminster abbey during the ceremonies attendant upon the coronation of a king, and to cry loudly his willingness to fight any man who denies the new king's title.—Popular Biography.

Letter Shows Edison's Keen Sense of Humor

Thomas A. Edison once wrote his intimate friend, Albert B. Chandler, requesting facetiously that "A. B. C." pay certain of his bills. The letter, the first lines of which Edison had crossed out lightly, with the obvious intention of their being read by Chandler, was written November 11, 1875. It follows:

"A. B. C.: Have you any idea? Of course you have. Do you think? Of course you think. What I want to say grammatically is: Can you pay one of the smallest of my bills tomorrow? If you can't it won't work extraordinary hardship to me, but if you could, I think under the benign influence of the comely greenbacks this beautiful world of ours would enhance in beauty. New wonders in the never-ending evolution, revolution and cycloidal transformation of things inorganic into things organic would become conspicuously apparent to my optical nerves."—Kansas City Star.

Where Ocean Is Bluest

Authorities on oceanography say that the purest and deepest blue of the ocean is found in the Sargasso sea, in the South Atlantic, Indian and Pacific oceans. It has been found that these parts of the ocean contain very little plankton, whose presence minimizes the transparency of the water and makes it appear greener. The gulf stream is also very blue. In the open ocean the water is bluish. Nearer the land it becomes green or gray. Within the thirtieth parallels north and south of the equator, the color is a brilliant ultramarine, and south of latitude 30 degrees it changes to deep indigo, which continues as far as the Antarctic circle, where it changes to an olive green. The blue color is attributed to the rays of light being unequally absorbed by the water. Variations may also be due to materials in suspension or solution.

Expressed in Sevens

The term "seven seas" in literature is used as a general term for all of the seas of the world, as known at various time. In modern times it has been held to include the great oceans such as the North and South Atlantic, the North and South Pacific, the Indian, Arctic and Antarctic oceans. The seven seas, according to ancient teaching, were those of understanding, speech, sight, taste, hearing, smell and touch. The seven wonders of the ancient world were the pyramids of Egypt, hanging gardens of Babylon, Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, temple of Diana at Ephesus, Colossus at Rhodes, Pharos at Alexandria, statue of Olympian Jove.

Rated as "Bad Wife"

When somewhat mature in years John Wesley, the famous founder of Wesleyan Methodism, married a very illiterate widow with four children and a comfortable income. She was "a woman of sorrowful spirits." The courtship lasted 16 days at most. The widow was no angel; she was, indeed, in the language of St. Paul—a messenger of Satan sent to buffet her unfortunate husband. Southerly, who wrote Wesley's life, says of her: "She deserves to be classed with Xantippe and the wife of Job as one of the three bad wives."—Detroit News.

Napoleon Liked Camembert

Napoleon the Great counted Camembert cheese among his first loves. On one of his marches through northwestern France, he was first served this new type of cheese which he pronounced delightful and wanted frequently. Encouraged by the noted conqueror's fondness of it, the manufacture of Camembert grew rapidly. It was soon established as a prime favorite of cheese lovers throughout Europe, and later, America.

Robin at Crucifixion

The old belief that the robin will sing near the window of a dying person is founded on a legend which tells how the bird perched on the Cross when our Lord was dying, and tried to comfort His last moments with its song. It is said to have got its red breast from the blood which came from the wounds as it endeavored vainly to pick the crown of thorns from His head.

Greater Milk Production at Lower Cost

3 Operations All in 1 LETZ MILL!
You can chop, grind or mix—or do all three in one operation.

Sharp knives for chopping roughage.
Sharp burrs for grinding grain.
Screw auger for mixing all together.

Because farm animals assimilate feed prepared by the Letz more readily, they are more contented and give a greater milk, beef, mutton and pork production. Stalks, stems and vines formerly wasted by animals, are converted into a palatable, cost-saving feed. There is absolutely no waste to the Letz method of home-crop feeding. Thousands of owners have proved that the Letz Mixed-Feed Maker will:

- 1 Save 25 to 50% of feed crops by utilizing waste.
- 2 Release up to 30% of your usual feed in handling feed crops.
- 3 Increase milk and meat production up to 30% through better preparation of feed.
