MRS. HOSTETTER TAKEN BY DEATH

Last Rites Being Held At 2:00 p. m. Today. Interment Here.

Funeral rites are being held at the St. Paul's Lutheran church here this Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Sarah Catherine Hostetter who passed away at her home here at 7:15 o'clock Monday evening, Sept. 22, death being due to infirmities of old age and a last illness of two weeks' duration. The Rev. W. C. Heidenreich, pastor will give the funeral message. Interment will be made at the Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Hostetter was for many years a resident of this city, and though she was nearly 75 years old, she was exceptionally spry in spite of her years. The condition of her health took a sudden turn for the worse two weeks before her death and she gradually grew weaker until the end came.

Sarah Catherine Harmond was born on November 2, 1855 at Blaine, Pennsylvania. In 1873 she was married to Francis Marion Hostetter. In 1894 the family moved to Nebraska, taking up their abode in Wayne, where, with the exception of five years which they spent at Torrington, Wyoming from where they returned in 1918, they have since resided. Mr. Hostetter died seven years ago.

The departed is survived by the following children: Charles A. Hostetter of Lewistown, Montana; Harvey C. Hostetter of this city who made his home with his mother; Marion C. of Wheatland, Wyoming; Mrs. Eliza Blanche Bradford and Mrs. Christina Steele of this vicinity.

Mrs. Hostetter was not affiliated with any lodge, but was a member of the American Legion auxiliary and of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of this city.

Miss Schemel to Give Talk to Womans Club

Miss Margaret Schemel, instructor of modern languages at the Wayne State Teachers' college, will speak before the Wayne Woman's club tomorrow afternoon, Sept. 26th, at 3 o'clock at the Gay Theatre. This will be the opening meeting of the club for this season and the Women's clubs of Carroll, Winfield, and Wakefield have been invited to attend. A special invitation is also extended to all in this community who care to attend whether they be members of the club or not.

Great Throngs Greet Congress

Visit By Many Prominent Dignitaries Made Congress Impressive.

These have been days of great moment to the people of the Catholic faith residing in this region. The Omaha diocese, of which Wayne county is a part, served as host to the national Eucharistic congress which convened the first four days of the week.

The congress was of especial significance by reason of the fact, that among the distinguished members of the clergy and laity who were present, the gathering was given the added impressiveness of a visit by the most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, D. D., archbishop of Dioclea and apostolic delegate to the United States who addressed the convocation and pronounced the blessing of the Holy See.

The activities in connection with this event will terminate today. One of the great events scheduled for today will be a parade in which members of the faith, both clergy and laity will participate. According to reports this will be one of the most impressive spectacles ever held in Omaha for it is estimated that the number of visitors to the city during the past week is equal to the population proper. Hotel accommodations have long ago proved inadequate to take care of the throngs as well as the thousands of reservations in private homes provided by the committees looking after these details and accommodations have been sought in Council Bluffs, Fremont and other nearby cities.

A large number of local people have been present at these meetings, among them are Rev. William Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nuss and daughter Helen, and Mrs. F. S. Berry.

Prisoners Escape From Cedar County Jail

Lois Mitchell and George Smith, two young forgers, who gave the local authorities such a thrill a couple of weeks ago when they staged an attempted escape in a corn field here and were arrested when they later tried to board a freight train, are at large again.

They made their escape Monday from the Cedar County jail where they were held awaiting a journey to the penitentiary at Lincoln. The jailor made the sad mistake of giving the young scamps the freedom of the jail corridor and they made the most of an opportunity that presented itself of chipping away the mortar from several cement blocks and making an opening sufficient for them to crawl through.

The escape was effected some time during the night and when discovered the prisoners had made such a slick get away that no clues were apparent as to what direction they fled, other than that a Buick coupe belonging to a Hartington residence had disappeared.

The boys pleaded guilty to a charge of passing forged checks in Randolph and were given a sentence of one year each in the penitentiary at Lincoln. Mitchell is wanted at several places in this region for similar activities and is due for more serious trouble if he should be caught again. About two months ago he staged a sensational jail break at Madison by removing bricks from the wall of the building and crawling through. Added seriousness to the Madison County jail break is noted by reason of the fact that he slugged the jailors wife as she tried to stop his progress.

FIRST NIGHT FOOTBALL AT COLLEGE NEXT FRIDAY

Season To Be Opened With Fast Trinity College Eleven.

First NE Neb. Night Game

Night football makes its bow in Wayne this week.

Friday night the Wayne Teachers open the football season at the local field meeting the Trinity college eleven from Sioux City, Iowa, and at that time what is predicted to be the most successful football season in the history of the local college, will have its inception.

Friday night's game will be of great interest for many reasons, chief of which will be the innovation of playing football after dark. The local field is the first one in Northeast Nebraska to be equipped for night football. Twelve sixty-foot poles set along side of the field, each equipped with a number of high power lights and flood light reflectors, will furnish light that will make the game as vivid and spectacular from the side lines and the grand stand as if the game were played in the afternoon. It is expected that the gate receipts will be greatly increased by this improvement as many people who could not otherwise attend the games, because of their business, will be able to be present in the evening after working hours.

The nature of Friday night's game should also be a big drawing card. As a usual thing early season games are little more than practice games, but not so in this instance. Trinity College is rated as the "Notre Dame" of small colleges of the Middle West. It is doubtful if the local college team runs up against stiffer competition during the entire season than in this setto with the husky Irishmen from Sioux City next Friday night.

The biggest drawing card, of course will be the local team itself. Last years efforts were eminently successful and Coach Hickman states he has every reason to believe that this years lineup will be even better in every respect. His line is one which any College coach would be proud to have on his team. They are husky—the average weight being about 185—several of the men tip the scale at over 200 pounds, and all of them are veteran football men. The backs, while lacking in weight, more than make up in speed, and he has a wealth of dependable reserves to pick from.

Being an early season game, the teams playing will not have acquired the polish and machine like precision that will be theirs later on in the season, but it may be depended on that no harder fought game is in prospect for the season than Friday evening's game and that's predicting a lot.

Wayne Man Is Wed At Hartington Thursday

Marvin C. Sorensen of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Sorensen of Hartington, and Miss Alda Erickson, daughter of Charles Erickson of near Hartington, were married at 11 o'clock last Thursday morning, Sept. 18, at the Congregational parsonage at Hartington, the Rev. A. R. Hyatt performing the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives.

The bride was gowned in black chiffon velvet and cream colored imported lace. She wore a black velvet hat, faced with rose satin and wore tan hose and black suede slippers.

After the wedding there was a wedding dinner at the Hartington hotel.

The young couple left that afternoon on a short wedding trip to Omaha and Lincoln after which they are making their home in this city.

Mrs. Sorensen is a graduate of the Hartington high school and taught school two years in the Hartington vicinity. She later attended business college in Sioux City and was employed in Hartington several weeks previous to her marriage. Mr. Sorensen is also a graduate of the Hartington high school and attended the University of Nebraska for one and a half years. He is in charge of the Wayne Implement Ship where he has worked since the first of the year. Previously he worked in the same capacity in Coleridge.

Taking Orders At Gun's Point Not Pleasant

Such Was Experience of Local Boy During Bank Raid.

"Yes it's a queer sensation" avers Lorenz Kay, son of Mrs. Anna Kay of this city, in describing how it felt to be covered by a holdup man. Lorenz was one of the pedestrians who unwittingly passed the Lincoln National Bank when it was held up recently, and had the unpleasant experience of having a man give him orders at a point of a gun.

He was walking along the street at the time paying no particular attention to anything transpiring in the immediate vicinity and when he neared the bank building a man walked up behind him, stuck the muzzle of an automatic in the region of his short ribs and ordered:

"Stand still, don't say a word and don't move or I'll pop you."

Lorenz didn't cherish the idea of being "popped" so he obeyed the orders but kept his eyes open and noted the number of the large black Buick sedan that was purring out in front of the bank.

Soon there was an exodus from the bank and the man guarding Lorenz left him with an order to stand still and remain quiet until the car had gone. The car gave a roar as it went in gear and raced out of sight at full speed with a fire siren blowing full blast.

The number furnished by Lorenz furnished the first clue of any consequence for the authorities, but was of little use as it was found to have been stolen from a Chevrolet coupe in Iowa a few days previous.

Lawrence also was able to give a fair description of one or two of the bandits, but the surprise attendant, to the holdup and the handicap he was placed under for taking note of his surroundings has made it hard to give very complete description of the men so badly wanted at this time.

Wisner Church To Celebrate Anniversary

The First Congregational church of Wisner will observe the fiftieth anniversary of its beginning on Sunday, October 19, and appropriate plans are in the making to give the event the proper honor the occasion demands. The plans include morning and afternoon observances with a morning address delivered by Dr. Tyler, state superintendent of Congregational churches. Rev. M. G. Jones is the pastor of the congregation.

FRESHMAN CLASS AT COLLEGE VERY LARGE

Comprises 59 Percent of Entire Student Body.

This year's Freshmen class at the Wayne Teachers Training School is the largest the school has enrolled in a number of years. It comprises fifty-nine percent of the college enrollment of over six hundred.

The enrollment figures are exclusive of the number attending the training department made up of grade and high school students and indicates a twenty per cent increase over the first week's enrollment a year ago. The number of boys attending this year is unusually large, totalling thirty-two per cent of the student body.

The increase in the number of Freshmen students is in a large measure due to the work of Prof. K. N. Parke who served as field secretary the last semester of the past year.

The percentage of students in each class is as follows: Freshmen, 59; Sophomore, 26; Juniors, 7; Seniors, 8.

INSTRUCTOR AT SYRACUSE

Randolph—Miss Mildred Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bacon, left Saturday, Sept. 13, for Syracuse, New York to take up her work on the faculty of the university there.

Wayne Livestock Pavilion is Sold

Don Cunningham has purchased the livestock sales pavilion from the Wayne Pavilion Association this week the association having agreed to dispose of same to him for a consideration of $1,500. While this is considerably less than the original cost of the structure the deal is a source of satisfaction to all concerned for dividends paid stock holders in the past have netted them 180 per cent on their investment. Of late years, a change in the methods of marketing livestock has caused a decline in the need of such a structure in the community. Mr. Cunningham will find ample need for such a building in conducting auction sales of various kinds.

Rev. Whitman To Remain Here

Will Make His Fourth Year In Charge of Pastorate.

Rev. W. W. Whitman has been reappointed to serve as pastor of the local Methodist church, according to the announcement of assignments made at the state conference at Lincoln last week.

This makes Rev. Whitman's fourth year as pastor of the local charge and the appointment was made in conformity with the wish of his congregation that he remain for another year. The reassignment is a matter of much satisfaction, not only to the congregation, but to the community in general, for he enjoys a wide popularity in the community.

MAN IS INJURED TRUCK DAMAGED

Henry Foltz and Wife Sustain Injuries in Accident Near Wakefield.

A badly bruised shoulder and a severed artery in one of his arms also badly bruised were the extent of the injuries sustained by Henry Foltz, trucker here, last Saturday evening when the large International truck in which he and his wife were riding was smashed into by a large Buick touring car. Mr. and Mrs. Foltz were enroute home from Homer with a part load of posts. When they reached a point about a mile and three quarters west of Wakefield on the highway they were met by the touring car near the top of a small hill. Mr. Foltz saw that the car was headed straight for him and pulled over to the edge of the gravel as far as he could. But the car kept coming and smashed squarely into the big truck, throwing it into the ditch. This happened at about 7:30 o'clock. Fortunately neither the truck nor the car were traveling very fast and neither of them upset.

The driver of the touring car, who with his wife and four children were traveling east, said that he was blinded by the lights. He sustained severe cuts on his head and one ear was nearly severed. Eight stitches were required to close up his wounds. His wife had some of her teeth broken but the children escaped without serious injury. Mrs. Foltz sustained a severe bump on her forehead and a badly blackened eye, but did not realize that she was hurt until later.

Both the truck and the car were sorry looking specimens as a result of the accident, one wheel of the touring car was put totally out of commission, the frame and the motor being badly twisted and bent. How it could have been so damaged is hard to understand. The damaged to the truck is estimated at about $500.

Laurel Woman Victim of Fatal Bus Accident

Mrs. Alfred Mittelstadt Is Dead Following Crash Tuesday.

Bus Is Badly Wrecked

Blinded by the dust stirred up by a truck just ahead of them is ascribed as the cause of a fatal collision just north of town in which a local bus plying between Wisner and Hartington was practically demolished and one of its passengers, Mrs. Alfred Mittelstadt, of Laurel, so badly injured that she died the following evening.

Mrs. Mittelstadt occupied the front seat next to the driver and being directly in line with the point of contact where the bus crashed into the rear of the truck, received the full force of the impact. One of her limbs was terribly crushed and she was otherwise badly cut and bruised by broken glass and wreckage. She did not regain consciousness after being brought to the hospital.

Joe Dougherty, the driver was badly cut by flying glass and somewhat bruised. Several stitches were required to close some of the glass cuts and attending physicians had trouble in stopping a serious flow of blood from a gash alongside of his nose.

The other two occupants, Mrs. Ceilian and her small son of Coleridge, received injuries and bruises of a minor nature. All were taken immediately to the Wayne hospital where first aid treatment was administered.

The truck owned and driven by Sigurd Jensen was not seriously damaged. It was heavily loaded with shell-ed corn and was not seriously phased by the other car which struck it a glancing blow, the upper part of the bus taking practically all of the impact, the running gear being practically undamaged.

The accident happened about nine o'clock Tuesday morning as the bus was approaching town. Jensen had entered the highway from a side road near the Taylor farm. Having stopped before going onto the highway the truck had not gained its full momentum when the bus approached it from the rear at its customary rate of speed. The warning to turn out came too late and the crash occurred.

The bus swerved to one side, but fortunately did not turn over. Passing motorists appeared on the scene almost immediately afterward and rushed the injured people to the hospital.

Judging from the appearance of the bus it is considered truly remarkable that any of its occupants came out of it alive for the entire top and right side of it was entirely crushed and caved in.

Mrs. Mittelstadt was but 22 years of age at the time of her death and had been a bride of but a few months, having married last June 28. She was a daughter of Peter Clauson of near Altona and was on her way to visit him when the fatal crash came.

Funeral services will be held from the Laurel Presbyterian church at 2:30 this afternoon, Rev. E. R. King officiating. Out of respect to the Mittelstadt family all places of business in that city will be closed during the funeral hour.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

When buying anything, you want full value. But what is it that makes value?

Is it style? Is it a perfect fit? Is it low cost?

Do you wish credit, deferred payments, or the cash and carry system? Possibly you demand a certain well known brand, or perhaps that is less important than quick, convenient delivery.

How important to you is the certainty of uninterrupted future service? You may be one who insists, first of all, in buying everything possible within your own community and at a store in which you have full confidence.

VALUE is determined by your idea of the proper balance between all these interrelated factors.

Some combination of the above factors must decide every purchase. No purchase can embody all of them, but each has a direct or indirect bearing upon the price you pay.

Buying decisions made with price as the only basis for comparison are grossly unfair.

You will find merchants in Wayne who make it a practice to cater to special and various desires of their trade. They deliver FULL VALUE according to your own ideas of value.

GOOD FROM ILL

If there were no wrongs to right, if there were no ills to cure, if there were no misdeeds to correct, we would not have those great acts of humanity that have blessed mankind and made the world richer and happier. Every great and noble deed done by man has been the direct result of the desire to right or correct some wrong, vice or ill. Every step of progress that the world has made has been brought about by the yearnings in the hearts of men to correct the evils and ills of their generation, whether mental, physical, political or spiritual.

—The New Age.

A HOUSE DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF CANNOT STAND

"If we didn't have men like Norris, Brookhart and Nye down in the Washington, the East wouldn't give us a chance." So said a local resident the other day. He was a man who by no stretch of imagination could be called a man of radical views—just an average Nebraska citizen—and he voiced the sentiment of a large per cent of the people of the state.

But is that a sound attitude to maintain?

Is there such a distinct line of demarcation between the interests of the East and the West that the two sections have to be at each other's throats every time legislation of any consequence comes up for consideration?

If such there be we may well look to the future of this country with deep concern for "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

Thanks to such men as Norris, Brookhart and Nye, the West has developed an attitude of self-pity that has not helped stabilize the farming industry nor solve its problems.

The men and organizations that can bring the various sections of this country into a more harmonious understanding will achieve more for the good of his country than can ever hope to be attained by the politicians whose political stock in trade is class consciousness and sectional mistrust.

Theodore Roosevelt achieved his place among the country's great immortals by pursuing the policy of "A Square Deal for All." The country would profit by harking back to that policy.

PAYING FOR CHICAGO'S SINS

People of Nebraska were deeply stirred by the brazen daylight holdup of the Lincoln National Bank one day last week. Bank raids are not necessarily new in these parts, but they have been staged in smaller towns where there was small danger of police interference.

The Lincoln holdup was different. In the heart of a fair sized city, well policed, and during a busy day, six men entered the bank, terrorized the employees and leisurely went about looting the place. And after completing their task, they leisurely took their leave.

There is a sinister significance in this ever increasing wave of crime that is not pleasant to contemplate. What will it lead to?

Crimes such as this are crime breeders. Others of a criminal bent will be induced by the success of this raid to do likewise. Each big haul that remains unsolved leads others in to a career of crime. Not only will it breed more bank robbers, but all the other adjuncts of the underworld system that goes with it—the shyster lawyer, the bribe taking official, the professional bondsman, the fence, the blackmailer, and the whole gamut of human parasites that make their living off of crime.

Plainly the forces for bringing the criminal to justice—honest and painstaking though they may be—are inadequate to cope with the present situation. This machine gun toting riff raff does not belong to Nebraska. Chances are that they got the way they are by the immunity they enjoyed in Chicago, St. Louis or New York.

It does not seem fair that Nebraska should have to pay tribute to crime nurtured in such centers as Chicago. But that is just what it is doing. For that reason Nebraska has a vital interest in Chicago's crime problems. The crime problem is one that has got beyond the control of administrative departments of justice of limited jurisdiction.

It is time that federal authorities took a hand in the matter.

ONE WAY TO CURB CRIME

"What action will ultimately be taken to bring about a curbing of the crime menace that exists today?" we asked the other day of a man, who long experience had made him thoroughly familiar with the administration of justice and the enforcement of law.

"I am sure I do not know," he replied. "But I think that when the law is done away with that requires a law enforcing officer to be tried for murder every time he shoots a fugitive from justice, we'll go a long way toward making crime less popular as a vocation."

"When a gang of thugs armed with machine guns kill a couple of officers, the press dispatches give the matter three or four lines, but if a policeman, sheriff or federal officer happens to kill a gangster, especially if the gangster happens to be identified with the booze racket, the metropolitan press waxes indignant and demands severe punishment for the 'murderers' even before they are brought to trial.

"We can never curb crime effectively until the law gives the law enforcement agencies an even chance with the criminal."

According to reports from Omaha the authorities are "seeking" to have a citizen of Italy residing in that city deported. He is known to be an instigator of a gang feud, a keeper of a disorderly house and a bootlegger. Last week he was placed under arrest on a liquor violation charge. He was freed under bonds, but failed to make his appearance when his case came up for trial. Later he and his wife were hauled up in court charged with assaulting a woman in their neighborhood because she was supposed to have tipped off the police concerning the man's liquor activities. And yet, the authorities are "seeking" to have him deported. Sacramento! What effort he should not like to go!

Arthur Brisbane, in his column of comment on matters of daily importance, says that the notion that the Eighteenth Amendment can be abolished is utter folly. He states to substantiate his view the fact that thirty or more state would have to concur in the vote to repeal the measure. It is reasonable to presume that at least sixteen states, the number required to balk a move of this kind, may be depended to stand pat. So, when the booze issue is brought up in politics, it's a pretty sure sign that the candidate or the party using it is trying to dodge some other issue of more importance.

"Lincoln is next on the list for the Nye Inquiry"—Headline in daily newspaper. Gerald is sure getting ambitious.

State Holds High Rank in Products

Listed Second Agricultural State in Union Says Expert.

Nebraska is a state of outstanding opportunities, according to A. E. Anderson, Nebraska crop statistician, who in a recent statement lists the advantages enjoyed by this commonwealth that places it in the forefront among the favored states of the union.

Agriculture, Mr. Anderson says, is Nebraska's leading industry. Manufacturing, the second industry, derives 70 per cent of its raw products from farm materials. The wide range of climate enables the state to produce a large variety of staple crops and past records show that there has been very few years that Nebraska did not have a large surplus production of farm products.

Nebraska ranks second in swine, second in sheep feeding, third in cattle, usually fourth in horses and third or fourth in all livestock.

Sweet clover, the greatest soil building crop yet discovered, as well as a splendid pasture crop, is now grown upon more than a million acres in the state as compared with 30,000 acres in 1920. The dairy industry has increased 75 per cent in the past decade. An abundance of pasture and cheap feeds gives Nebraska dairymen possibilities that cannot be exceeded in any other state.

No other state offers better opportunities to honey producers than Nebraska. A total of 2,252,000 acres are devoted to alfalfa and sweet clover, two of the leading honey producing crops.

Nebraska is one of the leading agricultural states in the union. It occupies third, if not second place, in the production of staple crops, such as are needed for food every day in the year. There is a reason for such progress, a progress that is reflected in the fact that: One out of every six farms in Nebraska has a water system. One out of every eight farms has modern bath facilities and lighting systems. One out of every four farms has a gas tractor and one out of every three farms has a truck.

Nebraska's greatest resources is her fertile soil. Diversified farming has enabled Nebraska farmers not only to maintain, but increase soil fertility. Manufacturers and farmers with capital and managerial ability will find a fertile field in Nebraska for their operations. The state prides itself on its fertile soil with its great production of staple crops, live stock and its products, such as are needed every day in the year for feed. Its fine climate and health giving sunshine, and its large surplus production makes it a state full of opportunities. The market progress of a half century from a state of barren prairies to one of the leading agricultural states in the union is concrete evidence of past and present advantages and the future possibilities that Nebraska has to offer.

THURSTON'S CELEBRATION

Thurston—The free watermelon celebration at Thurston Friday, Sept. 12, was a big success. The citizens of the little town thought they would entertain their trade customers but when the time came they discovered they were entertaining a throng of people from Pender, Emerson, Wakefield and other towns as well. Watermelon, furnished by the business men was served all day. A fine program was arranged for the occasion also, consisting of a 10-inning ball game between the House of David (colored) team of Sioux City and Thurston's team, novelty races, games, etc. Addresses were made by Atty. A. D. Raun of Walthill and Mayor Charles G. Frey. Music was furnished by the Pender high school band under the direction of Prof. L. Crow. The ball game resulted in a score of 14 to 12 in favor of the colored lads. The affair wound up with a dance at the Thurston pavilion.

MODERN METHODS EASE STUDENT STATE OF MIND

Nightmares vanish as modern methods are brought to bear on old problems. The first-year course in rhetoric has for years headed the list as the chief bane of freshman life. Today it is losing some of its horrors. In the Wayne State Teachers College the entering students are required to take a scientifically prepared placement test on English fundamentals. Those rating low on the test are required to make a passing grade in grammar before being admitted to freshman English.

As a result of discovering at the outset that certain students need special training to remedy their language defects, they are saved from pursuing through a semester course in which they have little chance of success. The anticipation of probable failure in freshman English enables the English staff to start the students on elementary work that clears the way for success in the more difficult course in rhetoric. This is the third year in which such tests have been used in the State Teachers College.

The following shows the rating made by students:

- Highest possible score; 200. The number taking the test; 287.
- Elizabeth Roemer, East High School, Sioux City, First 182 points.
- Beredine Bruner, Randolph High School, Randolph, Second, 178 points.
- Grace Sorensen, Bancroft High School, Bancroft, Third, 174 points.
- Marie Carstensen, Neligh High School, Neligh, Fourth, 173 points.
- Mary Jones, Central High School, Sioux City, Fifth, 171 points.
- Frances O'Gara, Holy Trinity High School, Hartington; Vesta Kildow, North Loup High School, North Loup; Nellie Troy, O'Neill High School, O'Neill, tied for Sixth place 170 points.
- Marjorie Snell, Central High School, Sioux City, Seventh, 164 points.
- Dorothy Winterstein, Wayne High School, Wayne, Eighth, 162 points.
- Cecil Mitten, Hartington High School, Hartington, Ninth 160 points.
- Kathryn Kemp, Wayne High School, Wayne; Ruth Paddock, Osmond High School, Osmond, tied for Tenth place 158 points.
- Marvin Anderson, Wausa High School, Wausa; Alberta Russell, Grand Island High School, Grand Island, Tied for Eleventh place 156 points.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING WEDNESDAY MORNING

Miss Audrey Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lewis of south of Wayne, and George H. Grone, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Grone of southwest of Wayne, were married at a pretty home wedding at 11:00 o'clock at the Lewis home Wednesday morning, September 24th, the Rev. W. W. Whitman, pastor of the M. E. church at Wayne, performing the ceremony in the presence of about 40 guests.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white georgette and carried an arm bouquet of pink and of white roses. The bridegroom was attired in a suit of dark gray.

The young couple were attended by two of the bride's cousins, Miss Dorothy Lewis, as bridesmaid, and Miss Elvena Faussett, as maid of honor, both of Tekamah, and by the bridegroom's brother, Ernest Grone, as best man.

Orchid and Yellow, chosen colors of the bride, predominated in the color scheme ornamenting the home, cut flowers and others decorations being used. The colors were also carried out in the table decorations and in the menu.

The bride is a graduate of the Wayne high school and completed the Elementary Course at the local college. The bridegroom is an industrious young farmer. Both are well known in the community and have a host of friends.

At about four o'clock that afternoon, the bridal couple left by auto for a honeymoon trip to the West. The bride's costume was a traveling suit of wood brown with hat and accessories to match.

They will be at home to their friends on a farm near Carroll after October 10th.

Henry Bojens, Succumbs to Long Illness—Funeral Sunday.

Henry Bojens, a long time resident of the Winside vicinity and prominently identified with numerous activities of the community, is dead. The end came at his home three miles west of Winside last Thursday, following an illness of long duration.

Mr. Bojens was 62 years of age at the time of his passing.

The deceased was born in Grag, Schleswig-Holstein, Germany, April 21, 1868 and lived in that country until he had reached his majority and had served two years in the German army. Leaving his native land he came first to Avoka, Iowa, where he worked as a farm hand for a number of years, coming later to Nebraska, to Winside, where he followed the same pursuit for about three years when he purchased the farm which has been his home since.

He was married to Miss Lena Pfeiffer in 1910 to whom two children, Esther and Herman, were born. These survive the deceased. Other surviving relatives are a sister in Germany and several cousins residing at Fremont, Dunlay, Iowa, and El Paso, Texas.

Mr. Bojens was a man who always maintained the highest esteem of his neighbors for the fine example he set both in his home and his interest in the community. He had been a member of the Lutheran faith ever since his confirmation when a lad fifteen years old and during his residence here was active in the duties of his membership in the Winside Lutheran congregation. For a number of years he was secretary of the Trinity Lutheran church of Winside and relinquished the duties only when forced to do so by his last illness.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. Most of Lincoln at the Trinity Lutheran church last Sunday afternoon and the body laid to rest in Pleasant View Cemetery at Winside.

TELEPHONE CO. ADOPTS NEW BILLING SYSTEM

A new and improved method of issuing telephone bills, known as "Rotation Billing," will be placed in effect in Wayne by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company on October 22nd.

It is announced by Mr. O. L. Randall, manager. After October 1, telephone bills in this community will be dated the 16th of each month.

"We are making this change in the interest of greater efficiency and so that we can provide better billing service to our patrons," Mr. Randall said. "Under rotation billing, the statements sent out will be neater and more readable as figures written by hand will be eliminated and all items printed on a billing machine."

"Another change in billing is that long distance charges will be included up to the date of the bill. At present with all bills issued on the first of the month, long distance charges are included only up to the 20th of the preceding month."

"First bills under the new method involve a change in billing date and will cover charges for periods of more or less than one month. Thereafter, each bill will cover charges for one month's local telephone service following the date of the bill and long distance charges for the month preceding."

The change in billing date will not affect the amount of charges in any way, Mr. Randall explained. The period within which a discount is given will end the 1st of each month.

Every community in Nebraska and southern South Dakota in which the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company operates will be changed to this new billing method, Mr. Randall said.

Requiem high mass will be held at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning, September 27th, at St. Mary's Catholic church here for Mrs. Charles Foltz who passed away Friday, September 19th, at Huntington Park, California following an operation. The body is arriving here tomorrow and will be kept at the Tim Collins home until the funeral mass, Mrs. Collins having been a close friend of Mrs. Foltz. Interment will be made in the parish cemetery.

Only one of the five children, Mrs. Guy Lewis, survives her mother.

Two years ago, Mrs. McManigal was married to Charles Foltz, who, with the one daughter, survives.

GRAVELING OF NO. 20 MEANS MUCH HERE

Will Insure Graveled Highway Clear Through To Sioux City.

A through way to Sioux City on graveled roads is soon to be available for people of this vicinity. Highway No. 20 is now being graveled and in the course of a few weeks will be completely graveled between Laurel and Dixon. With this new improvement motorists driving to Sioux City from here can change their customary route and keep on the gravel without lengthening their mileage to any appreciable degree. The new route would be to follow Highway 35 as far as Wakefield, then switching to Highway No. 9 to Allen and from Allen on to Sioux City via Highway No. 20.

This improvement will be greatly appreciated by motorists who make this trip at frequent intervals and have had to contend with slippery roads after every heavy rain. Highway No. 20 was rerouted and graded last spring and with the completion of the graveled will be one of the best roads in this section of the state as far as matters of road construction are concerned.

ABSENT-MINDED PROFESSOR

Hartington—A badly skinned knee, a long cut on one hand and a good shaking up was the price paid by Supt. R. G. Brooks of Hartington for his absent-mindedness about two weeks ago. Mr. Brooks and Donald Helmsdoerfer, members of the high school faculty, were returning home late at night from Lincoln and were taking turns driving. When one became sleepy, the other took the wheel. This worked fine until both became sleepy when they had reached a point between Wisner and Wayne. Here Mr. Helmsdoerfer, half asleep, asked Mr. Brooks to drive. Brooks, also only half awake, unthinkingly replied, "All right," calmly opened the door and as calmly stepped out onto the road. This was the usual procedure, but this time the car was still going about 25 miles an hour, the driver having only begun to slow down to stop. Mr. Brooks didn't realize this until his feet shot from under him as he hit the road and he was whirled end over end for some distance. The driver stopped as soon as possible, fully expecting to have the job of picking up pieces of Mr. Brooks all along the road. Needless to say, both men were fully waked up by this unceremonious incident and no further turns about driving were needed.

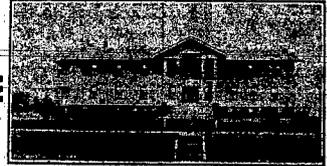

LIFTED AN AUTOMOBILE

Laurel—On Thursday, Sept. 11, as Lloyd Dolph, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuhnhehn, was working under an automobile which he had jacked up, the car slipped from the jack and pinned Mr. Dolph under it. Mrs. Kuhnhehn, seeing his plight, rushed to the rescue and lifted the end of the car high enough to enable him get out. She badly strained her back in doing it however and has been compelled to take to her bed a week or ten days to recuperate. How she managed to lift the car she will never know, but under the excitement of the moment she did the trick.

EARLY DETECTION OF TB BIG HELP

Tuberculin Test When Properly Made Not Injurious.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Post-mortem examinations are often regarded as the final word in determining the presence of diseases in animals, although such examinations are valuable, the tuberculin test used in the eradication of bovine tuberculosis, is actually more reliable than the customary post-mortem for determining the presence of tuberculosis, according to Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture.

"The tuberculin test indicates the presence of the disease but does not show the progress which the infection has made within the body," Doctor Mohler states. "Hence in the early stages of the disease it is entirely possible for an animal which is actually infected with tuberculosis to show no visible signs on either ante-mortem or post-mortem examination."

"Tuberculin is a product prepared by sterilizing, filtering, and concentrating the liquid upon which the tubercle bacilli have been allowed to grow. It contains the sterile product of the growth of the germs, but not the germs themselves. When properly used it can have no possible injurious effect on healthy cattle. Tuberculin commonly used in testing live stock in the United States is made under government supervision, which assures its purity and potency."

"The results obtained thus far in systematic tuberculin testing show the effectiveness of this means for eliminating infected animals. During the last 12 years more than 1,500,000 tuberculous cattle have been removed from herds in the United States and more than 2,000,000 herds have been freed of the disease."

Adapted Feed for Pigs Just at Weaning Time

Corn, shorts, and skim milk plus bright, leafy fourth cutting alfalfa hay make a very satisfactory ration to feed pigs at weaning time. Sweet milk is to be preferred to sour milk. However, if the milk is allowed to sour in clean containers it should prove satisfactory. It is not advisable to change from sweet milk to sour milk or vice versa.

Brood sows should be fed all the alfalfa they will eat, together with just enough corn to keep them in thrifty breeding condition. Oats may be used to good advantage in the brood sow ration. Too much corn will cause the sows to become fat, lazy and unprofitable producers.—A. D. Weber, University of Nebraska.

Breeding Ewes Require Little Grain and Hay

When on alfalfa hay alone, a group of breeding ewes will require in the neighborhood of 3½ pounds of prairie hay per day per head. Usually one needs to figure about a 200-day winter feeding period. This would require a supply of 12 to 15 tons of hay. It probably would pay you to feed a little grain to these ewes beginning around the first of February and continuing until they go on grass. About three-fourths of a pound of grain per head per day would be sufficient and most any type of grain that you can secure easily will be satisfactory. Oats fed alone or a mixture of one-half oats and one-half barley or one-half oats and one-half corn would do very well.

Live Stock Hints

The silage fed steers have invariably been found to be more uniformly finished than steers fed straw and grain only.

Registered cattle with long time records in their pedigrees are bringing the most money.

If one-half gallon of skim milk is fed per pig per day the amount of tankage may be reduced one-half.

If ewes are to have good lambs next spring, they must have proper feed and plenty of exercise this winter.

Horse specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture forecast an increased demand for well bred horses during the next few years.

Some alfalfa or clover hay should be included in the ration for calves or yearlings being fattened for market.

Damp floors in hog houses need attention. Often a line of drain tile around the foundation will eliminate dampness.

CATTLE ABORTION CANNOT BE CURED

Through Good Sanitation Eradication Is Possible.

Cattle abortion cannot be cured, but it may be eradicated, according to Dr. H. J. Metzger of the New York state college of agriculture. Doctor Metzger recommends as a means of stamping out the disease the blood test and the isolation of infected animals. "The complete eradication of abortion disease from the cattle herds is possible, and it would mean stopping a serious source of loss to the dairy men of the state," he says.

No cure for abortion is known, according to Doctor Metzger, and the purchase of any drug or stock tonic as a cure is a waste of money. The blood test will detect the presence of the Bang abortion disease, and then the owner can take the measures which, through sanitation and prevention, will clear his herd of the disease.

Doctor Metzger recommends complete isolation of the diseased animal, complete cleanliness, and the rearing of all animals on the farm to keep from re-infecting a clean herd. A more complete discussion is given in a new bulletin, just written by Doctor Metzger and published by the college, which will be sent free of charge to anyone who will write to the college of agriculture at Ithaca and ask for bulletin B 182.

A UNIVERSAL SERVANT

"The world is so full of a number of things I am sure we should all be as happy as kings."

OR happier, would you say? When the old idea that kings were especially happy, was exploded, people began to look questioningly into the happiness of other seemingly favored people—millionaires, for example. They found that the rich man could, after all, eat only so much food, play so much golf, hear so much music, and sleep on only one bed at a time. He can own a certain number of art masterpieces and a certain number of acres of beautiful estate, but the man of moderate income can see more masterpieces in the public art galleries and enjoy the scenic beauty of the millionaire's estate without paying for the cutting of the grass, as he rides care-free past it in his flyover.

Women Like Service

Yet, if you are a woman doing your own work in your own little kitchen, you sometimes think you would like to be the head of a household with just thousands of servants waiting on you. Actually, you are at the head of such a household without knowing it. Not even the ancient emperor who sat upon his throne and had only to lift his hand to have myriads of servants ready to serve his slightest wish, had as many or as efficient servants as the modern housewife who may complain that she "does all her own work." Suppose, for example, Your Excellency favors strawberries in August—or in December, for that matter. You have only to lift your hand to the canned foods shelf and your strawberries are within your own grasp—red-ripe, luscious, ready-sweetened strawberries—grown for you, not by one, but by hundreds of expert gardeners. And they are grown for you in tropical gardens where sunshine and rainfall are exactly right to produce the world's best strawberries.

And so it is, in every department of canned foods. One group of servants supervises for you the growing of fruits and vegetables that come to your table; another supervises the selecting, the sorting, the washing and the peeling. Still another supervises the cooking of these fruits and vegetables, and another sees that they are packed for you in their most tempting form.

These faithful servants are busy in every part of the world, providing the best food for you. You do not have to be limited for your fish supply to the lakes of any one royal estate, or even the streams of any particular kingdom. The waters of the world yield your favorite fish—ice-fish, streams of Alaska produce your sleekest salmon, silver sardines come to you not only from the Pacific Ocean, but from the fisheries of Italy, France and Norway also; Japan's tribute to your regal table is tender, pink crab-meat, ready to be tossed into a salad, if you like, with dressing from far-away Russia.

Meat was a favorite food that graced King Arthur's table—huge venisons roasted and served in great portions to be eaten with the fingers and the bones tossed to dogs who waited beneath the long tables. But the knights and other nobility of that day were limited in their variety of meat to the game which the surrounding forests provided. Today, we may have not only scores of different kinds of meat, ready prepared for us in scores of different ways, but we have servants who inspect these meats for us—far more efficient than the "king's taster."

Ready Prepared Foods

The young housewife, for instance, who wants to serve chicken à la king for her late supper party, but looks with uncertainty and awe at the array of fowl in the butcher shop, may have, not only government inspected and marked chicken in cans, but, if she likes, she may have chicken à la king ready-prepared for her party table—made from the same government inspected chicken.

Are you enjoying the service then of your thousands of servants? Your Royal Highness? Those who make the most of this service have the maximum amount of leisure besides, and they are probably happier than kings for as Robert Louis Stevenson points out—"The world is so full of a number of things."

Obtain Healthy Seed for Spuds

Most Profitable Plan Is to Eradicate All Infectious Diseases.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sweet-potato growers will find it profitable to eradicate, so far as possible, the several destructive diseases which annually cause losses in the growing of the crop. Of these diseases, stem rot is one of the most difficult to control, and control methods minimizing damage from stem rot also reduce injury from several other parasitic infections.

Breeding Plot

L. L. Harter and J. L. Welmer, sweet-potato specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture, in a recent publication say they "have learned from experience that the use of what may be called a 'breeding plot' is of considerable value in eradicating stem rot and other diseases."

Use Separate Field

"While it is advisable to pull up and destroy all diseased plants," they continue, "it is a big task where the acreage is large. Where it is not possible to do that, it is recommended that the farmer set aside a part of his field from which he will take his seed potatoes for the next crop and rogue out all diseased plants from it during the entire summer. Such a practice does not involve great labor and will greatly improve the crop in a year or two. This method is especially to be recommended if the stems are not split when selecting for seed. . . . To prevent diseased plants from producing seed by pulling them up and destroying them would eliminate much loss in the succeeding crop. This practice should be followed each year."

Dairy Thermometer Will Be Found Quite Useful

It may be no fault of your separator that there is a high percentage of fat in the skim milk. Experiments carried on at the Purdue experiment station indicate that milk separated at a temperature of 90 degrees Fahrenheit showed a fat content in the skim milk of .028 per cent, while milk separated under similar conditions except that the temperature had been allowed to drop to 80 degrees Fahrenheit contained .09 per cent of fat in the skim milk.

Sometimes it pays to warm the milk if the separating is done at a long distance from the stable. Many times the purchase of a dairy thermometer will be found to be a profitable investment.

Cockerels and Pullets Should Be Separated

Cockerels should be separated from pullets when they are from eight to ten weeks of age. The pullets for next winter's laying flock will develop faster and more evenly if there are no cockerels in the lot to disturb and annoy them, according to William Kohlmeier, of Purdue university.

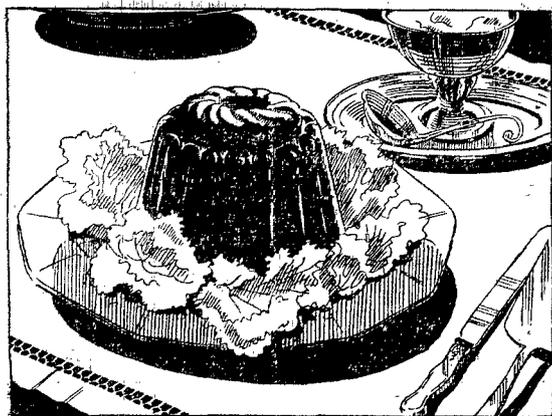

When pullets are left in the brooder house by themselves they have additional room, which in many cases is badly needed. When cockerels are sorted out it is often possible to leave the pullets in the original brooder house until they are ready for the laying house.

Late Ducklings Have Several Advantages

The late hatched ducklings have a number of advantages over their earlier hatched brothers and sisters.

In the first place, the summer and early fall hatched ducklings, if pushed for rapid and cheap gains, will go on the late fall and early winter markets in time for the Jewish and Christian holidays. They are naturally profitable, for at this time the highest prices can be realized and in addition, the weather during the growing season for late hatched ducks is more favorable for rapid growth.

Our Grapefruit Gardens

GRAPEFRUIT is almost exclusively an American fruit, judging from recent statistics quoted by the United States Department of Agriculture. Uncle Sam grows 96 per cent of the world's supply of this popular fruit, while Cuba, our most important single competitor, produces only about 2 per cent of the world crop.

A great increase in our production is indicated for the near future because only about 43 per cent of the trees planted have come to bearing age. Florida now produces about six-sevenths of the United States crop, California about one-twelfth, Texas five per cent and Arizona one per cent.

Cans Contain Only the Best

The increasing popularity of canned grapefruit has made it possible for growers to utilize this immense crop. It has insured a market for the grower and a year-round supply for the consumer. Grapefruit hearts and grapefruit juice are now packed, and these products represent some of the best grapefruit available since growers for centuries pick the fruit only when it is fully ripened and the rich juices have been properly matured in the sun.

A very popular way of serving grapefruit in the daily menu is in a fruit salad which provides the last course in the meal, instead of a sweet dessert. Dentists advocate a last course of fruit as being the best protection to the teeth, as well as adding the necessary calcium to the diet which most people's teeth lack. A grapefruit salad made of ginger ale and grapefruit juice in gelatin mold, garnished with sprigs of fresh mint and topped with cream mayonnaise is a decorative as well as very delicious dessert.

FARM STOCK

MINERAL MIXTURE NEEDED BY SWINE

Grain and Forage Rations Must Be Supplemented.

That the ordinary grain and forage rations used for feeding our hogs must be supplemented with a mineral mixture is a fact upon which all investigators agree. A typical statement relating to this subject was recently made by A. Severson of the North Dakota experiment station, as follows:

"The ordinary grain ration does not contain the variety nor a proper amount of mineral matter required to rapidly develop a large frame for early maturing hogs. One can expect a considerable percentage of weak, undersized or unthrifty pigs when no mineral mixture is used. Without mineral matter sows are apt to go down in the back, become weak in their pasterns and many times become so weak they cannot get up when nursing a large litter of pigs. The milk drains heavily on the skeleton of the sow to supply the proper amount of mineral to the milk. The constant addition of mineral matter to the sow's ration will avoid this ailment. Hogs are more apt to suffer from mineral deficiency than other classes of live stock."

Such products as tankage and skim milk are rich in mineral matter, but under average farm conditions they are seldom, if ever, fed in large enough quantities to supply the amount needed. Those who have been carrying their pigs on a light grain ration with perhaps a rather skimpy pasture should not overlook the feeding of a liberal supply of minerals.

Swine Grading Proves Valuable in Marketing

Hog grading data is a reliable agency for showing up many of the leaks which are prone to creep into the marketing end of our swine industry. For example, it has been pointed out that the percentage of heavy hogs has decreased since the inception of hog grading. The percentage of select bacon hogs, which was below 12 per cent for the whole of Canada at the commencement of hog grading, has risen gradually to 17 per cent. This improvement has been accomplished through closer attention to breeding and feeding; because of the data revealed to farmers through this policy, and also because the policy provided for payment on a quality basis.

Beef Herds Maintained During Severe Weather

Beef herds may be best maintained during the winter with a legume hay in the ration. Liberal use of alfalfa hay, according to practical feeders, helps insure a healthy calf crop. Experimentally the fact has been proven that steers carried through the winter on alfalfa hay make faster gains than non-alfalfa fed steers the following year on pasture. An experimental trial comparing prairie hay with alfalfa showed that the prairie hay gains were but one-half as large as the alfalfa gains.

March Farrowed Pigs Marketed in Winter

January, February, and early March farrowed pigs are probably 50 per cent marketed, but due to corn being high in price there are many pigs lacking the finishing touches. Corn and tankage are rather high prices, but the redeeming feature of the situation is that hogs are also fair priced. If the pigs are thrifty, free from worms, lice, and mange, and are fed a well balanced ration there is no doubt but that they will make a good return on the feed consumed.

Live Stock Notes

Good breeding and good feeding go hand in hand. Success depends upon combination of the two.

Intelligent treatment of animals requires just as much, if not more study, than does the intelligent treatment of people.

Pigs do much better when on pasture than in the dry lot. Hog raisers should plan to provide pasture for hogs during the late fall and early spring months as well as during the spring and summer.

A good draft horse is a ready and willing worker and is neither irritable nor nervous.

A self feeder is an economical method of finishing the spring pig. Place shelled corn in one compartment and tankage in the other.

A Three-o'clock Dead-line

THIS is a true story of "once upon a time there was a little boy." This boy worked out in the fields picking sweet corn through the long summer days. The days were long, even though the day's work was ended at 3 p.m. because a corn-picking day began very early in the morning.

Early Bird Catches Corn

The boy used to get up in the "wee sma' hours," and while the dew was still on the corn tassels, and the thrushes still singing their dawn songs, he picked diligently so that his baskets would be filled before three o'clock, when they were rushed to a neighboring cannery. Sometimes he wondered why the cannery superintendent was so insistent that his corn be delivered before three o'clock, and why he refused a single delivery after that time.

Today, Dr. Carl R. Fellers, Research Professor of Horticultural Manufacture in the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst, who was the little boy who picked corn, knows the reason. In an interesting talk over the radio, recently, he told of his experiences as a corn picker and how later, in his duties of inspecting canneries, he learned that sweet corn has to be canned the same day it is picked. The corn which he rose so early to pick was delivered no later than 3 p.m. because it was canned that same day.

"Sweet corn is picked when the kernels of the corn are very tender, and they are undergoing a rapid chemical change," Dr. Fellers said. "Because they are canned before they lose this succulent flavor, canned sweet corn is usually superior to the so-called 'fresh' corn."
