

Winside Man Faces Trial in District Court

Pierce Judge Sets Bond at $15,000; Jones Held in Jail.

Milton Jones, 50, Winside man, accused of attempting to kill his niece, Myrtle Granfield, 24, who lives near Hadar, Nebr., was ordered bound over to district court by County Judge McDonald of Pierce county after hearing of testimony Tuesday, Nov. 18.

Jones was held in jail, since he was unable to make the bond set at $15,000.

The Winside man faces two charges, shooting with intent to kill and shooting with intent to injure. The alleged shooting took place at Miss Granfield's home on the night of Nov. 3.

Jones explained to the court that the shooting was accidental. He said he took his gun with him because he feared that some men whom he claimed had made threats against him would be at the Granfield farm when he stopped to call on Myrtle and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Granfield.

Myrtle's parents asserted that the shooting was deliberate.

A number of Winside people attended the trial in Pierce, and interest in the case in Winside is said to be running high.

Mat Madsen, 34, and Joe Carvell, 43, both of Winside, who were with Jones at the time of the alleged shooting and who were unable to pay fines assessed by Judge McDonald after they had pleaded guilty to liquor charges, are still in the Pierce jail. Madsen was fined $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to being drunk and Carvell was assessed $100 and costs after admitting possession of liquor.

MOTHER OF WAYNE RESIDENTS PASSES

Mrs. Susan Kingston Dies at Daughter's Home; Burial at Allen.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church at Allen for Mrs. Susan Bennett Kingston, 81. She passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Wharton, near Allen on Sunday, November 16, after an illness of only three days. Interment was made in the cemetery at Allen.

Susan Bennett, daughter of James and Mary Ann Bennett, was born in Ireland on September 6, 1849. She was united in marriage to James R. Kingston on February 19, 1873 and came to America with her husband the following year, settling on a farm in Stanton county, Nebraska. Here they endured the many hardships of pioneer life. In 1877 they moved to a farm in Dixon county, close to where Allen is now situated. Here they resided until 1897 when they moved to Pender, where they resided until the death of Mr. Kingston. Mrs. Kingston then made her home with her children.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother, nine children as follows: Richard of Caldwell, Idaho, Mrs. J. P. Lynch of Rock Valley, Iowa, Ernest of Platte Center, Neb., Mrs. E. C. Wharton of Allen, Mrs. Wm. J. Clover of Pender, James, Mathew, Mrs. E. R. Nutz and Robert of Wayne, besides 27 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Two Men Contribute on Bad Check Fines

Contributions from "rubber" checks were added to last Thursday, Nov. 13, by George W. Darnell of Wakefield and J. M. Holdorf, Wayne county farmer.

Mr. Darnell paid a fine of $5.00 and costs of $2.40 for issuing a check for $3.00 with insufficient funds.

Mr. Holdorf paid a fine of $5.00 and costs of $6.40 for cashing a check for $10.50 with insufficient funds.

Both men pleaded guilty in County Judge Cherry's court and paid their fines.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day

"Turkey Day" is just around the corner.

Next Thursday, November 27, has been designated by President Hoover as Thanksgiving day (as if we didn't know it all the time.)

The kids are thankful that there'll be no school that day and because mother is going to prepare a big dinner.

Dad is thankful for the dinner, too, but Dad has to pay the bills the first of the month, so he's thankful that every month has only one first day.

Mother is thankful that Thanksgiving, with its big meal to prepare, comes only once a year. She'll forget how much trouble the dinner gave her, though, when the kids, bright-eyed, say, "Gee, mother, you must be the best cook in the world. Kin I have another helpin', huh?" Even mother is susceptible to flattery.

Wayne meat markets report heavy advance orders on turkeys, ducks, geese, and chickens. Local grocers anticipate heavy buying this week-end.

MOVIE TECHNICIAN TALKS AT KIWANIS

Explains Ways of Adding Sound Reproduction to Silent Film.

Max Newman, sound technician for the Western Electric company, initiated Wayne Kiwanians into the intricacies of sound recording for "talkies" Monday noon, Nov. 17, at that organization's regular weekly meeting.

Mr. Newman gave a detailed non-technical explanation of the physical properties relative to the recording and transmitting of sound in motion pictures.

He explained both the "sound on film" and "sound on disc" methods of reproduction, and stated that most companies now manufacture film by both methods.

The disadvantage of the sound on disc methods, according to Mr. Newman, is that sometimes the reproducing needle jumps a track in the record and that throws the pictures and sound out of synchronization.

In the sound on film method, he explained, the sound is recorded on one film and the picture on another. These two negatives are then edited together, so that the positive film which comes to the theatre contains both sound and pictures on one roll of film.

E. E. Gasley had charge of the program.

Former Wayne Girl Weds Spokane Man

Miss Stella Libengood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Libengood of near Laurel, and Lloyd Robertson of Spokane, Wash., were married last Thursday afternoon, Nov. 13, at Yankton, S. D. They were attended by Miss Garnet Childs and Lawrence Libengood. Miss Anna Libengood and Eddie Stalder were also with them at the time of the marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson left last Monday afternoon for Great Falls, Mont., where they will visit the former's sister before going on to Spokane to make their home.

The bride is a former resident of Wayne and has a number of friends here.

Churches to Unite in Thanksgiving Service

Union Thanksgiving services of all protestant churches in Wayne will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church next Thursday morning, Nov. 27, at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Wm. E. Braisted of the First Baptist church will give the Thanksgiving sermon this year. Pastors of all Wayne churches have invited their congregations to attend the joint service, and a record crowd is expected to be there in charge. Everyone is invited.

WAYNE-HIGH DRUBS WISNER TEAM. 45-0

Substitutes Run Up Heavy Score Against Lighter Football Squad.

Coach Ray Holder's Wayne high school football team went to Wisner last Friday afternoon and came home with everything except the goal posts. The adding machines gave 45 to 0 as the final count in favor of the Wayne gridsters, but statistics were somewhat mixed up as a result of "too much football" on the part of the locals.

Most of the Wayne second team played, with regulars in for only a short time. Ronald Young, second string quarterback, played the entire game and looked good to football critics. It was his first experience for any length of time, and he will be eligible for next year's team.

Hendrickson Scores

The score at the end of the first half was 14 to 0. The final score was 45 to 0. Nobody connected with either team seemed to know anything about the score by quarters.

Hendrickson led in the scoring with four touchdowns. Sund, who got into the game for about two minutes, found that enough time to make one touchdown. Ronald Young took the ball across for another touchdown, as did William Mellor. Hendrickson made two of the extra points after touchdown and Walter Bressler made the other conversion with a drop kick.

Battle of Midsets

An interesting "bantam battle" was put on by Harry Kemp, Wayne guard who makes the scales just barely quiver at the 72 lb. mark, and the Wisner guard who weighed all of 100 pounds.

The Wayne team outweighed the Wisner aggregation slightly, although Coach Holder tried in every way possible to make the teams stack up evenly. Wisner had only four substitutes on the bench, and their line was light enough to cause difficulty to the backfield.

Wayne Man's Mother Passes Away Monday

Mrs. E. S. McMaster, 84, mother of Dr. C. A. McMaster of Wayne, passed away at her home in Lincoln on Monday noon, Nov. 17, after a final illness of about a week. She had been injured in an auto accident about two years ago and never fully recovered.

Mrs. Ellen Amelia McMaster was a resident of Lincoln for 22 years, having moved to Lincoln in 1908 from Pawnee City where she had lived for 29 years. She was born in New York state in 1846.

Surviving are seven sons, Dr. C. A. McMaster of Wayne, F. H. McMaster, of Baltimore, Md., A. G. McMaster of Lincoln, W. M. McMaster, also of Lincoln, D. B. McMaster of Pomona, California, Clarence McMaster of Corvallis, Ore., and Chester McMaster of Pahme, S. D. Her husband preceded her in death about 20 years ago.

Funeral services were held today at Lincoln and the body taken to Pawnee City for interment.

Sholes Man Passes Fiftieth Year There

Fifty golden years in Wayne county have passed for W. H. Root of Sholes who this week is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his arrival in this territory.

Mr. Root left New York state for the then "wild and woolly" west on Nov. 11, 1880, and arrived in Wayne county on the fourteenth day of November.

It was a trip for a hardy, rugged pioneer in those days, and stories of dangers to be encountered in Nebraska were prevalent in eastern states. The same call of high adventure that lured other men to western lands of opportunity led Mr. Root forth on a journey that left other easterners shaking their heads dubiously.

He crossed the Missouri river at Blair on a railroad ferry and came to Wisner, then called Elkhorn Missouri Valley. It was the terminus of the railroad.

His father and uncle had preceded him in the spring.

Conover and Cleaver had settled the farthest north from the county seat, which was then La Porte. Everyone thought they were foolish to homestead so far from the railroad, Mr. Root says, but they were later rewarded when the railroad came to them.

Mr. Root weathered the terrifically hard times of pioneer days and stuck out the trials of an early settler. When others gave up and went back east, he was one of the hand who grimly determined to "do or die."

His fifty golden years in Wayne county have treated him well. He has been rewarded justly for his efforts. His friends sincerely hope that "the first fifty years are the hardest" and that the ensuing years will be his pleasantest.

Kiwanians to Sponsor Inter-Club Meeting

Members of Four Groups to Attend Banquet Monday Night.

Members of Kiwanis clubs at Norfolk, Stou City, Iowa, and Fremont will attend an inter-club meeting and banquet to be held at the Stratton hotel Monday evening, Nov. 24.

Howard T. Hill, head of the department of public speaking at Kansas State agricultural college, Manhattan, Kansas, will be the main speaker. His talk is titled, "How Did We Get That Way?" and will be a history of social conditions leading up to the formation of service clubs.

Dr. C. A. McMaster is chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting and banquet. Other members of the committee are Dr. J. G. W. Lewis, Wm. Beckenhauer, C. M. Craven, R. L. Larson, Dr. R. W. Casper, and J. S. Horney.

There will be no Monday noon meeting of the Wayne Kiwanis club, since the banquet will be held in the evening.

Crowd Attends D.A.R. Service

Wayne Chapter Has Large Part in Marking of Woman's Grave.

Many people from Wayne and the surrounding territory attended the services attendant to marking the grave of Nancy Wayman Stewart at the Allen cemetery last Sunday afternoon, Nov. 16.

Nancy Wayman Stewart was the daughter of a Revolutionary soldier, and the services were in charge of the American Revolution chapters of Wayne, Coleridge, and Norfolk. A black and white granite boulder, bearing a bronze plate with the D. A. R. distaff, Mrs. Stewart's name, and the names of the chapters in charge upon it, was unveiled by two little girls who are related to Mrs. Stewart. The granite boulder had been taken from the Andrew Johnson pit five miles northeast of Wayne.

Mrs. H. S. Ringland and Mrs. I. H. Britell of Wayne had charge of securing the marker. Mrs. E. W. Huse, regent of the Douglas King chapter in Wayne, presided.

Wayne Gun Club to Hold Shoot Tuesday

Dressed ducks, geese, and turkeys are offered as awards for the most skillful shooting in the Wayne gun club's turkey shoot, to be held Tuesday, Nov. 25.

Competition will last from ten o'clock in the morning until sundown, and the shoot will be held at the Wayne gun club grounds half a mile south on main street. Roy M. Meier will have charge of the event.

Weather Man Says "Snow--Probably"

Page the weather man! Just as everyone in Wayne county was convinced that winter was with us, it rained! At press-time Thursday morning indications were that we would have still more rain.

Official weather reports indicated that the rain would "probably" change to snow, but "probably" does not give much assurance.

Farmers believe that the current wet weather will be of real value in putting moisture in the ground for next spring.

GURNEY TO START GAS STATION HERE

Yankton Man Will Operate Business; Plans to Open Soon.

Don Gurney, Jr., of Yankton, S. D., has leased the lot next to the Haas Body and Fender repair shop, on the corner of South main street, and has started work on a gasoline filling station. Graders have been leveling off the ground and gas tanks have been sunk this week. Mr. Gurney expects to be operating his station at an early date.

He says that the Gurney Seed company of Yankton has no part in the ownership of the station and that it is being installed and will be operated by him. He has rented a house in Wayne and will move his wife and eight-months old son here the latter part of the week.

He has expressed himself as being enthusiastic over the business possibilities of Wayne and says that he made his decision to go into business here after investigating the trade conditions in a number of towns.

Wayne Gridmen Play at Omaha Saturday

Wayne State Teachers' college Wildcats will journey to Omaha Saturday, Nov. 22, where they will tangle with Omaha university in the Western League park. The local football team, which has not been taken to the Omaha gridsters in weeks, should be in excellent condition to take the Omaha gridsters into camp.

Thanksgiving day will see the Wildcats doing battle at the local college field against their ancient rivals from York. With only a four day rest after the Omaha engagement, the team will be in none too good shape if Omaha offers any opposition.

The turkey day game is expected by college officials to draw one of the largest crowds of the season.

Larson Will Serve on Nominating Committee

R. R. Larson, who attended the area meeting of the Boy Scout executive board at O'Neill last Thursday, Nov. 13, was appointed to serve on the nominating committee which will select candidates for district offices. The election will be held at Norfolk.

Scout executives who attended the meeting decided that scout troops which do not pay their quota to the area will not be serviced in the future.

People Report Petty Thieving in Wayne

Wayne citizens have complained lately of considerable petty thieving in this vicinity. A farmer's wife reported to The Democrat office that she parked her car on the street last Saturday night and that when she returned two hours later the spare tire had been stolen.

Other cases of thefts, some of them not so small, have been brought to The Democrat's attention. Most of the thievery is laid to itinerant "laborers" who have been drifting through this part of the country.

Until the "floaters" move on to other territory, The Democrat advises people to watch any property that is not nailed down as closely as possible.

Fire Fighters Construct Ice Skating Place

Will Make No Admission Charge; Plan to Add Floodlight.

Hockey and shinney should prove popular recreation for Wayne's boys and girls this winter. Young folks, and the more daring "oldsters", will have ample opportunity to experience the joys of ice skating as a result of action taken by the local firemen. The Wayne fire fighters have constructed an ice skating rink one block south of the German Lutheran church.

The best part of the rink from the children's standpoint is that skating will be free. No admission or fee of any kind will be charged.

Firemen have debated the advisability of building an ice rink for some time, the general consensus of opinion in the organization being that Wayne's boys and girls should have some place to skate this winter.

They have had the ground surveyed and have laid out the rink so that all it needs is to be flooded with water as soon as the ground freezes thoroughly. They have used 800 feet of lumber in constructing the skating pond. Members of the fire department plan on getting a floodlight with which to illuminate the rink at night.

S. A. Hemple, Pete Davidson, and Walter Savidge were the committee in charge of construction.

Try No Jury Cases in District Court Here

No jury cases were tried before Judge Stewart in the November term of district court here last week. Many of the jurors had asked exemption from jury service because of cold picking.

William Mellor took exception to the action dismissing his suit against County Superintendent Pearl Sewell.

The case of the Dodge Agricultural Credit association against John J. Paulsen was dismissed for want of prosecution.

Clarence F. Buck's suit against B. W. Wright was taken under advisement.

Judgment for $1115.75 against Walter B. Weber was given the Nicholas Oil corporation, and the action against Mr. Weber's wife was dismissed.

Wayne High School Exhibits Art Prints

Cause of Hailstorms

The stones which fall during ordinary hailstorms measure from one-eighth to one-half inch in diameter, their size depending upon the violence of the upward columns of air that produce them. Hail, like rain, is caused by the vertical circulation of the air. Rain is formed by the condensation of drops of moisture in cooling air which grow larger as the air rises until they are heavy enough to fall. Each of the drops rises and falls at least once. Hail, which is frozen rain, is caused by the drops being tossed higher.

Electrons in Atom

Physicists of today state that there is evidence that all atoms known have in them a certain definite number of negative electrons and exactly the same number of positive electrons. For instance, the lead atom consists of a positive nucleus charge of 82 units about which 82 electrons revolve; zinc, a nucleus charge of 30 units with 30 revolving electrons; helium, a nucleus charge of 2 units with 2 revolving electrons; sulphur, a nucleus charge of 16 units with 16 revolving electrons; platinum, 78; gold, 79; radium, 88, etc.

Magnetic Poles

The geographical poles are the points at the imaginary ends of the earth's axis of rotation, lying 90 degrees north and south latitude. The magnetic poles are the points on the earth's surface where the lines of magnetic forces are vertical. They are the ends of the axis of the earth's magnetic polarity. The north magnetic pole is located in latitude 70 degrees north, longitude 97 degrees west, and the south magnetic pole in latitude 72 degrees south, longitude 158 degrees east.

Carp a Public Enemy

There is no estimating the damage the slovenly, rooting, lazy carp has done to our inland lakes, both in respect to driving away all other fish and in destroying the vegetation which provides food for wild fowl. The carp does his damage by rooting in the mud of the lake bottoms with his nose, killing the vegetation which provides food and shelter for the little fish and food for the wild fowl. Lakes infested with carp are always muddy.

Appeals Decision of Wayne County Court

Herman Dinklage has filed an appeal with the supreme court from the action of the Wayne county district court which gave an $8,300 judgment to the administrator of the estate of Charles Killion. He claims the judgment is a result of passion and prejudice, the misconduct of the counsel for Killion and error of the court, and also says that it is excessive.

Dinklage's car collided at the top of a hill with a car driven by Killion, who was 16 years old. Killion and one of the girls in the car was killed. Dinklage claims he was driving on the right side of the road at a moderate speed and that the Killion car was going at a high rate of speed down the center of the road.

The accident occurred in August, 1929, west of Pender.

THE "POLITICAL SAVIOUR" MYTH

Daily newspapers throughout the length and breadth of the land are wasting column after column of space in publication of their puzzlement as to what will happen to the United States with political control split up as it is.

It is our belief that not much of anything will happen to the country. At least, events will be altered little by the swerve in political control. New men elected to office will neither increase nor decrease the number of jobs available for the unemployed.

It will take more than a democratic or a republican label to gift a man with capability to change present economic conditions.

It is about time for people to realize that our representatives at Washington have very little to do with living conditions. The credo that they are responsible for prosperity was instituted by the politicians. When periods of depression arrive, they are quite ready to admit that they have no control over economic conditions, good or bad.

If Nebraska could elect men to Wall Street, then the state might expect some results. There is no way of dodging the fact that the not so distant stock crash was responsible for whatever financial depression the country is undergoing at present. No one is silly enough to believe that governmental control had anything to do with that.

Big business interests of the east have a lot more to do with mid-western prosperity than republican or democratic control.

"IF I WERE RICH!"

"If you were a millionaire for one day, what would you do?"

That question was recently asked in a contest sponsored by a Danish newspaper. The prizewinner was to be given an opportunity to spend one day in the manner he or she described.

The remarkable thing about the contest was that the prize winning answer, sent in by a medical student, was, "If I were a millionaire for a day, I would spend that day with Professor Albert Einstein."

What would YOU do if you were a millionaire for a day?

You'd probably do a good many of the same things that occupy your attention now. We often fail to appreciate the common, every-day things of life. Deprived of them, we would find little happiness.

The millionaire can change the setting, the background, of his existence, but the soul and the feeling of life can be altered only by mental change. A sick man can be just as sick in a palace as in a hovel. By the same reasoning, a happy man can be just as happy in a thatched hut as in a gilded mansion.

If being a millionaire incurred the loss of present connections, few people would be as happy with the added wealth as they are under existing conditions.

FOOTBALL HYPOCRISY

It looks to the average layman as if college conference football organizations have been paying too much attention to rules in their refusals to benefit unemployment funds throughout the United States.

Football games that could have brought hundreds of thousands of dollars into unemployment funds have been coldly rejected by conference officials on the ground that strict adherence to conference rules was necessary.

Their statements could be taken somewhat seriously if it were not for collegians' notorious disregard of rules in the subsidizing and proselytizing of athletes.

After all, it looks as if college football officials are more interested in bringing cold, hard dollars to the school coffers than in being of service to anyone other than themselves. Football has always been a glorious spectacle, and it has been magnani-mously rewarded by the public for the thrills it has given.

Now that the game, and the schools that have benefited from it, have a chance to repay a small part of the public debt, they are not living up to the public expectation.

DEMOCRACY

The democrats seem to have gotten the best of it in the recent election. Hard times helped. As usual, the outcome in New York state was awaited with interest. Tammany received an airing, but the country and small town folks were not interested.

The public voted, whenever opportunity afforded, in behalf of its economic interests. The outcome of the balloting is more than a rebuke to the republican party. It is a rebuke to reaction, in whatever party and guise.

Governor Roosevelt stood for liberalism, and the people in New York knew it. He merited the confidence of the electorate and won it.

An interesting development is recorded from Kansas. Arthur Capper, with long and distinguished service in the senate, was returned to office with an impressive majority. Henry J. Allen, his running mate, whose record has been one of evasion and subterfuge, was defeated by a democrat.

Butler was defeated in Massachusetts; hard-boiled reaction got another set-back.

In time of depression, the American people perceive their own interests more clearly than at other times. They have struck a blow at the infamous Grundy tariff; and at those republicans who have signally failed to fulfill their pledges.

William Randolph Hearst has often said that the democratic party can and will succeed when it has the courage to be democratic. This last election has demonstrated the truth of that observation.

THE QUEEN

Mary Lucile Bess is not the name of a bathing beauty or a movie star, high-toned as it sounds, but the pedigreed title of a cow. The chances are pretty strong that the hired man calls her "Bess."

Mary Lucille Bess lives on the Rolfsmeier Jersey farm near Seward, Nebr., and has suddenly become famous. Fame has neither gone to her head nor her udder, and unconscious of the headlines written in her honor she picks grass in the pasture as a modest, industrious Jersey cow should.

At the age of two years this retiring animal has achieved the honor of being the best milk producer of her breed registered with the American Jersey cattle club. It is the first time this honor has ever come to Nebraska. In ten months Bess produced 6,147 quarts of milk, the equivalent of three pounds of butter a day.

Let poets toast men of fame. In Nebraska, it is "Hail to Queen Bess!"

"I THINK--"

Last week a Wayne man whose judgement we esteem highly asked us why we didn't run an editorial on a certain subject. We obliged by giving the discussion considerable space. He was gratified and so were we.

The Democrat wants to be representative of the thoughts of its readers. If YOU know of any problem which should be discussed in this paper, let us know it; and we'll see to it that something is said.

The Democrat doesn't guarantee to agree with you, but we'll give you an opportunity to express your side of the argument.

Christmas window displays, already installed by a number of Wayne merchants, offer mute testimony to the fact that "Christmas is coming."

Postal officials and local merchants are unanimous in their request for people to do their Christmas shopping early.

"The early Christmas shopper unsuitable gift to pick from. And the suitable gift to pick from. And the buying is accomplished with far less worry and trouble," one merchant says.

Prices, according to local business men, are lower this Christmas than they have been in years.

They have anticipated a record volume of sales on this account, and have ordered larger amounts of Christmas merchandise than usual.

Have you started your Christmas shopping yet? If you have, you are one of those few far-sighted individuals who will not be running around in circles, worrying and wishing, a few days before the holiday.

Thanksgiving is coming. And we folks out here in Nebraska can be mighty thankful we aren't a part of the current depression in the east.

Where you start doesn't matter. It is WHAT you start. . . . Columbus Telegram. And HOW you finish.

The Book Box

"The Island," by Naomi Royde-Smith, is published by Harpers and sells for $2.50. It deals with the tragedy of a lover who loses the whole world for the sake of one woman, and finds her nothing at all. It is essentially the same tragedy as that "Dusty Answer."

The book is a psychological study and should not be allowed to enter the hands of the young. Once you get beyond the somewhat inadequate explanations, which hold back this book as they do "The Well of Loneliness," you will find an interesting narrative.

There is no emphasis on the abnormality. That is shown merely as a cause of complicated unhappiness. The reader knows from the start that the book can never have a happy outcome.

The story is altogether depressing, and is apt to strike you as being pretty morbid. It is good writing, though, and as a psychological study, is worth scanning.

The Phoenician in The Saturday Review of Literature says, "A few sure shots at books to buy and keep this fall are: John Hodgson, Bradley's "Parade of the Living," a successful humanizing of scientific knowledge; Michael Ossorgin's "Quiet Street," "The Bitter Tea of General Yen," by

RISE UP AND WALK

(Reprinted from Forbes Magazine) The San Francisco earthquake, if I may use that forbidden word, cured hundreds of cripples. They jumped up and ran for their lives.

They weren't as badly crippled as they thought they were. They didn't know they could run until their houses began to shake.

So, here is the thought that I would like to send out to the business men of America:

You are depressed. You think you are crippled. You are afraid of the future. You are full of fears.

You have the greatest home market in the world.

You are ruled more by ideas and less by traditions than any other people in the world. You have usually done what you thought you could do.

How can it be possible that a progressive nation of 120,000,000 people can be wrecked by the speculations of a little handful of fools in Wall Street?

The prices that were forced too high had to come down.

The way to create a fortune is to buy from pessimists. Pay your money and take the risk. Hundreds of fortunes have been made by buying from pessimists. Ye Gods! What a chance there is at the moment!

In five years from now, most American business men will belong to the I-Wish-I-Had club.

When a horse balks, the balk is in his head, not in his legs. He moves when he thinks he will.

When fear rules the will, nothing can be done, but when a man casts fear out of his mind, the world becomes his oyster.

To lose a bit of money is nothing, but to lose hope—to lose nerve and ambition—that is what makes men cripples.

This silly depression has gone on long enough. It is inside of you.

RISE AND WALK!

—by Herbert N. Casson, editor of Efficiency Magazine, London, England.

DISAGREEABLE

One of the few disagreeable things of being an editor is this thing of even mildly criticizing a candidate who is in default when it comes to measuring up for the office he aspires to. For months—or years afterwards—maybe forever—he carries a more or less wicked gleam in his eye against the editor. His next door neighbor, who is absolutely opposed to him—and perhaps has called the editor's attention on numerous occasions to the "duty" the editor owes the community to "write up" the candidate—he smiles at him and jollies him and goes on as a good fellow. It was always thus—no evolution there.—The Pender Times.

BRYAN'S JOB

One Madison county office holder says Bryan will be a one-term governor. And I say that will all depend on Bryan. Bryan's job is to make good. It is my job as a Nebraskan to help him do that.—The Norfolk Press.

Men who are actually worth more than they are receiving usually go out and get it.

Soviet Russia is celebrating its thirtieth anniversary, and it's natural to suppose they'll be pampering their towns Red.

Grace Zring Stone; "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," by F. Yeats-Brown (reviewed in The Democrat last week), and "Swift," by Carl Van Doren."

"The King's Minion," by Rafael Sabatini, is that novelist's twenty second book, and is published by Houghton-Mifflin.

It is a story of love and intrigue in the court of King James I, and Robert Carr, a poor boy who has become the most powerful man in the land, is the hero.

It is a crackerjack of an historical novel until you get about half way through with it. Then—blooey—the book's "gone movie." The last half of the novel is old-fashioned meller-drammer. In the first part of the book we have good characters, excellent plot, and interesting situations. In the latter part of the book, all those qualities are gone.

If you are an admirer of Sabatini, you'll like the book, anyway, so nothing we can say will influence you.

"Saint Johnson," by W. H. Burnett is published by the Dial Press and sells for $2. It is a western story of Arizona life in the frontier days. Wayt Johnson, federal peace officer and chief character of the book, tries to clean up the town of Alkali, in which "Citizens" and miners and unruly cowhands mingle in nightly carousals in saloons and dance halls.

There is a rapid-fire bang-bang series of absorbing incidents, and Wayt nearly civilizes the town of Alkali, but the unprovoked killing of his younger brother by a member of the hostile forces so enrages him that he relapses into two-gun methods, avenges his brother, and leaves town with his men.

There is a climatic rise of interest based on simple statement and understatement of breath-taking events, relieved by the homely dry humor of the conversation. The story differs in style; there are no trite phrases, and the use of nicknames and other wild west machinery is almost nil. It is a convincing story, one of the best in its field.

Do any of you folks enjoy reading plays? The writer of these book notes has always been particularly fond of reading them, and was greatly surprised to find in a discussion the other day that a good many people don't like to read the drama.

Perhaps a course in Modern Drama, in which we read 85 modern plays of all sorts and kinds, has something to do with our liking for the stage form. The play, in our opinion, gives you faster action, because of less narration and description. Insight into characters is given by notes, asides, and by dialogue, which after all, is a pretty good way of getting it.

Of the plays we have read within the last year, Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude," his "Desire Under the Elms," "The Queen's Husband," "Lucky Sam McCarver," "The Silver Cord," and "The Front Page" stand out. "The Front Page" looms above all the rest, probably because it is a newspaper story and because Ben Hecht, the author, knows the newspaper business. It is a brutal photograph of the big city newspaper business, full of rare comedy. The tag line on the play has shocked practically everybody except newspaper men.

The most delicate play we've read in ages is "Little Accident." The play, be assured, is similar in few things except the title to the Hays dry cleaned version that was made into a moving picture. We saw the play at a matinee in Chicago, and delicate as the theme was, staid matrons, prim grandmothers and young flappers laughed uproariously. Nobody who saw the play thought that it was offensive in any way.

Has anyone in Wayne read "The Fool of the Family" by Margaret Kennedy? Can't we get somebody to write a review for his column? Our desire is to make this feature of The Democrat a place where book lovers can exchange views. This column should be a place for readers to give expression to their feelings concerning certain books. If those people who like to read will cooperate, we can make this into an interesting column. Without your help, it can't amount to much.

Won't somebody break the ice with a book review?

Local Pastor Speaks at Dad-Lad Banquet

Carroll fathers and sons who attended the father and son banquet in that town Tuesday evening were loud in their praises of the speaking ability of Rev. P. A. Davies, pastor of the Wayne Presbyterian church.

Reverend Davies was the main speaker of the evening at the banquet, and the theme of his speech was the promotion of a stronger tie between fathers and sons through mutual understanding. A large number of Carroll dads and lads attended.

SCOTT SHOTS

by

"SCOTTY"

An old statement of Abraham Lincoln's can be revised to apply to the newspaper business, "You can please part of the people all of the time, and all of your readers part of the time, but you can't please everyone who reads your paper all the time."

Last week we took a little rap at the way Wayne celebrated Armistice Day. We meant it, and we still think what he thought then. Some people didn't like it, but there were others, more in number, who complimented us on it. We don't know which side was right, but the point we're trying to bring out is that we didn't please everybody and can't hope to please everybody when we make any statements of a controversial nature.

First of the Month

The deceased merchant knocked at the gates of hell and demanded admittance.

Satan—What do you want here? Merchant—I want to collect from several of my customers who died before I did.

Satan—How do you know they are here?

Merchant—Well, they told me to come here every time I tried to collect.

A farmer named his son "Mortgage" hoping he would always stick on the farm.

This One's Terrible

A Scotchman stayed away from a banquet because he didn't know the meaning of the word "gratis," which appeared on the invitation. The next day he was found dead over an open dictionary in a library.

Poems That Palpitate

The people on the billboards Have an awful lot of fun. They smoke a certain cigarette And all their goals are won. They never fret and worry, They're always bright and gay. They use the right electric range And work becomes as play. The people on the billboards Wear everlasting smiles— They always pick a tire that lasts Some 20,000 miles They always choose tobacco That cannot bite the tongue, Or soap that keeps a woman's face Perpetually young. It's great that on the billboards Life is full and free, Because, along the the public roads, There's little else to see. And it surely gives one courage 'Mid punctures, sand and rocks, To find you can achieve success By careful choice of socks.

Hot Stuff

(From an Iowa newspaper) The icehouse belonging to R. H. Dress burned last week. The ice was not burned very badly. However, so a new house is being built around it.

You can't make a fool out of a man, but you can give him a little authority and let nature take its course.

Interesting Figures

Dr. E. F. Dotson showed us some mighty interesting figures on the cost of radio broadcasting. In fact, they're so interesting we thought we'd pass 'em along to you.

Pepsodent, presenting Amos 'n' Andy, are on for 15 minutes, and the cost to the Pepsodent company for one month is $80,403 for radio tolls alone. Other enterprises pay in the following, exclusive of talent:

|-------------------------|----------|
| True Story .....        | $63,097 |
| American Radiator ..... | 58,188   |
| Paramount-Public .....  | 46,062   |
| R-K-O .....             | 44,927   |
| Atwater-Kent .....      | 44,670   |
| Fleischmann .....       | 40,325   |
| Victor .....            | 36,966   |
| Lucky Strike .....      | 36,140   |
| Old Gold .....          | 35,092   |

Dr. Dotson was amazed at the cost of the programs, and we can't say that we blame him. We wonder if the firms who paid out that money get a dollars and cents return of equal value from it?

Life's Little Tragedies

The little boy came home from school crying.

"Why, what's the matter, son," the father asked.

"Boo, hoo, I asked you last night how much a million dollars was (sob). The teacher asked me today, and (more sobs) a hell of a lot of money isn't the right answer."

A charming wife is one who is always an optimistic listener.

Flamin' Mamie, the hash-slinger in the cafe where we eat, sez she went out ridin' with a fellow the other night an' after they got about ten miles out in the country the car stopped an' he sez, "There's somethin' wrong with the damned motor," and he got out and tinkered around the motor a while an' got back in the car an' they started back to town, an' she sez she'll never go ridin' with an automobile mechanic again.

Short Stories

"Abey, vot you say ve eat it a hem sandwich?"

Milo Kremke says not to pity the bird in its gilded cage. "The bird can sing," he adds, "but if a goldfish ever tries to whistle, the only result is bubbles."

How to Start a Fight

Call John Soules a Republican. Call Grant Mears a Democrat.

Inside dope—We can remember back when it wasn't "County Attorney H. D. Addison, "Ty" Addison. The "Ty" was an abbreviation of Tyrus, taken from Tyrus Cobb, and the nickname was tacked onto the attorney because of his proficiency as a baseball pitcher.

Names Withheld by Request

One Wayne Man: I look forward every Sunday to the after-dinner nap. Friend: I thought you never slept after dinner.

O. W. M.: I don't, but my wife does.

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. It looks to us like people here in Wayne have a great deal to be thankful for. For one thing, they can be thankful that they live here and not some place else. After all, the old home town's a mighty good place.

New Nebraska Auto License Plates Are Maroon and White

County treasurer J. J. Steele has received Wayne county's shipment of 1931 license plates, but they will not be available to motorists until the first day of December. The new plates have maroon numbers and lettering and a white background. Those who have seen them say that they are far better looking than any license plates Nebraska has had in recent years.

Wayne county ordered 3600 license plates for passenger cars, 500 truck plates, 50 trailer plates, and 25 motorcycle plates. The cost of automobile licenses will be the same as last year. The license charges are as follows:

- Passenger cars, under 2700 lbs., $8.00.
- Passenger cars, 2700 lbs. and over, $12.00.
- Trucks, 1 ton, $8.00
- Trucks, 1 1/2 ton, $12.00.
- Trucks, 2 ton, $18.00.
- Trucks, 2 1/2 ton, $25.00.
- Trucks, an additional $10.00 for every half ton over 2 1/2 ton capacity.
- Trailers, over 1,000 lb. capacity, city, $1.00.
- Trailers, over 1,000 lb. capacity, $4.00.
- Motorcycles, $4.00.

DISCOURAGING

(From the Cedar County News)
 The most discouraging aspect of elections in the United States is the number of people who fail to vote. What makes it more discouraging, the condition appears to grow worse instead of better, especially in the older communities. The people of this country seldom vote in the proportion they ought or in the proportion that people of other countries vote. The English outdo us right along when it comes to percentages. And so do the Germans, French, Austrians, and Canadians.

As You Please

This remark was overheard recently. "Why all this talk about trading in Wayne; why shouldn't I trade where I please?"

The answer is "CERTAINLY". Everyone should trade where he pleases, but the one who thinks pleases to transact his business where it will promote prosperity and wellbeing for himself and family.

Your answer to these questions will solve the problem.

- 1 - When you need something in a hurry and just can't wait, on whom do you depend for service?
- 2 - When something you've bought goes wrong, who is always ready to make it right without trouble or delay?
- 3 - If misfortune comes and cash is scarce, where do you seek credit accommodations to "tide you over"?
- 4 - Whose capital is invested so that you may supply your needs without inconvenience, delay or money in advance?
- 5 - Who shares with you the taxes which provide most of the good things that make life worth living in this town and county.
- 6 - Do the business establishments of any other city or town except Wayne enhance the valuation of YOUR prosperity?

Be square with yourself. Trade where you PLEASE!

LIVE STOCK

SHORT-FED HOGS WILL GAIN MOST

New Record Made at University of Wisconsin.

An average daily gain of 1.86 pounds for 81 days during the hog feeding trials at the University of Wisconsin established a new record in pork production. The feed cost per 100 pounds was $6.32, a record in economy of production.

This same lot of hogs made an exceptionally high gain in dressing percentage after being butchered by packers at the conclusion of the trial. The four pigs dressed 79.05 per cent of their live weight.

Thirty-nine other hogs competed for highest places and some high records were made. A second lot, also of four pigs, made an average daily gain of 1.61 pounds for a period of 92 days at a feed cost of $6.58 for each 100 pounds of gain. This lot dressed slightly higher than the first four, 78.1 per cent.

The highest scoring pen of hogs received a daily ration consisting of 0.49 pounds of shelled corn with a 14 per cent moisture content, .84 of a pound of protein mixture, and .007 pound of mineral. The second highest pen received an average of 5.47 pounds of shelled corn, .77 pound of protein, and 0.14 pound of mineral.

Gains by the remaining hogs varied from 1.54 pounds daily down to 1.15 pounds. A general conclusion was that the longer period of time the hogs were fed, the lower the daily gain. This same general rule is holding true in the case of the required feed for each 100 pounds of gain. The pen making the highest gain at the cheapest cost of feed was fed only 81 days at a cost of $6.32 for each 100 pounds of gain. The pen making the lowest gain was fed 126.5 days, and the corresponding gain was 1.15 pounds at a cost of $7.47 a hundred pounds of gain.

Dressing percentages did not vary as much as gains. In all cases the dressing percentage did not vary over 2 per cent in any of the lots. All of the hogs were fed to the average weight of 225 pounds before the contest was closed.

To Preserve Old Bulls for Breeding Purposes

As a means to preserve aged bulls for breeding purposes and not impair their utility by high fitting as necessary for the showing, the International Livestock exposition has decided to bar all bulls, except Angus, born before September 1, 1928, and with the Angus breed the date is set at May 1, 1928 for this year. Aged bulls have been brought back year after year for competition, even though they have carried off premier honors once, often endangering their usefulness as sires because they must be maintained in high flesh for showing.

Another change in the premium list of the International this year is elimination of the heavyweight barrow classes, with no barrow over 300 pounds being permitted. Present day markets discriminate against such heavy hogs, and this move is in accord with this trend of the market.

Plan for Hog Testing Is Under Development

A method of testing strains of hogs, just as cows and poultry are being tested, is under development in various sections of the country. Records are being kept at some of the experimental stations and the United States Department of Agriculture on size of litter, quantity of feed required, and dressing percentage of the pigs. It is to be expected through this plan that we will be able to isolate and develop strains of hogs which can be depended upon to uniformly produce good-size litters of thrifty pigs which will feed out well and give high dressing percentages.

Carrying Beef Calves Through First Winter

When beef calves are carried through the first winter, preparatory to being finished on grass the following summer, there is always the question of how to handle them so that at the end of the feeding period the production cost may be as low as possible. It is a well-known fact among stockmen that when a calf is maintained in a relatively high condition the first winter it does not make as economical gains on pasture the summer following as when it is kept in medium condition on the basis of gaining about a pound per day.

Finish Hogs on Corn

Having well-bred pigs that are farrowed not later than the first part of April, keeping them thrifty, and supplying them with an abundance of good forage, are important items in getting pigs on an early market when their feed has been limited during the growing period. Pigs farrowed too late to be fitted for an early market, even by forced feeding, should be given a limited grain allowance during the summer and be finished largely on new corn.

Coryell Displays New Models of Chevrolet Cars

The Coryell Auto company of Wayne has received models of the new Chevrolet six, and has them on display in their showrooms.

W. C. Coryell says that outstanding features of the new automobile are a two inch increase in wheelbase, larger and roomier bodies with mohair or broadcloth trimming, and scores of refinements in appearance and performance, despite the new prices which bring the level for the 1931 car to a lower figure than any Chevrolet, four or six, has ever sold.

The cars have been put on display nearly two months in advance of the customary date for the showing of the annual new models. This move, it was felt by Chevrolet officials, would contribute to the cause of general business revival by insuring activity during two normally dull business months for the 200,000 people throughout the United States who depend on Chevrolet for their livelihood.

According to Mr. Coryell, price reductions range from $20 to as much as $40.

Tell Mother I'll Be There

"Tell mother I'll be home by ten o'clock," phoned a young girl to a neighbor when she couldn't rouse her own home by wire.

"Sure," said the obliging friend. He went down the street to tell the mother, but she wasn't home. An hour later he went again. It was ten o'clock soon, and neither girl nor mother at home. At 11:30 he quit trying and wrote this note:

"Dear Little Mary—How can I tell your mamma you won't be home until ten o'clock when at 11:30 neither of you are at home at all?"

World's Quickest Trade

The movies have been responsible for some strange trades in their time, but none of them has excelled that of the cobweb maker. In certain films it is necessary to stage horrid looking cellars, complete with suggestive trapdoors and cobwebs.

There is no time to set spiders to work. The cobweb man is sent for and he arrives with his whirling spray apparatus, operates it, and, lo and behold, a delicate tracery of the most beautiful lacelike cobwebs makes its appearance at once.

Fraternal Oddities

It is estimated that the membership in America's fraternal orders exceeds 23,000,000. In their quest for titles the organizations have almost exhausted the animal kingdom, there being among others, orders of Bears, Beavers, Blue Geese, Buffalo, Bucks, Camels, Cooties, Deer, Ducks, Eagles (Red and Gold), Elks, Fleas, Gouts, Larks, Lions, Monkeys, Moose, Mules, Orioles, Owls, Red Roosters, Reindeer, Serpents, Shrimps, Stags, White Rabbits and White Rats.

Silver Hoard Put Away by Romans Unearthed

At Caerleon in Monmouthshire, where a Roman legionary fortress stood to keep the Welsh marches for the Caesars in the Third century, excavators digging there unearthed some interesting secrets.

The one that is the oddest is that of the three centurions of the Second Augustan legion whose names, Quintinus Aquila, Vibius Proculus, and Vibius Severus, have been newly found. One of them must have been a hard-fisted man who had done very well out of the war (like some men of a later day).

Whether it was hidden by Quintinus Aquila or by one of the two named Vibius we may never know; but beneath the floor of the quarters of one of these three centurions was a hoard of 280 silver coins. They may have been wrung from the neighboring Britons. Perhaps they were part of the military chest of the soldiers.

Some of the companies of the legion about that time appear to have been given marching orders for the north, where they were to take part in the work on Hadrian's wall.

Untimely End to Lives of Brave Adventurers

It is remarkable how few of the eminent men of the discoverers and conquerors of America died in peace. Columbus died broken-hearted, Boldin and Bobadilla were drowned, Ovando was harshly superseded, Les Casas sought refuge in a cow, Ojeda died in extreme poverty, Enciso was deposed by his own men, Nicuesa perished miserably by the cruelty of his party, Vasco Nunez de Balboa was disgracefully beheaded, Narvaez was imprisoned in a tropical dungeon, and afterward died of hardship, Cortes was dishonored, Alvarado was destroyed in ambush, Almagro was garroted, Pizarro was murdered, and his four brothers cut off, and there was no end to the assassinations and executions of the secondary chiefs among the energetic and daring adventurers.

Floral Barometers

The sturdy marigolds which enliven our gardens are splendid weather prophets. If the flower is tightly closed in the morning, you may rest assured that there is rain to come, but with true intuition they seem overbold just now in spreading their petals. The scarlet pimpernel is also sensitive to rain, and even an approaching shower will send its petals curling in. From this peculiarity the pimpernel takes its name of the "poor man's barometer." Contrary to these flowers, when the dandelion closes up its petals in the morning, a fine day lies ahead, because it does not like too much sun.

First Milk Bottle

The earliest milk bottle known was the hide of a goat, with the openings tied up to prevent the escape of the fluid. It is said that butter was first made accidentally when milk in a goat-skin bottle slung across a camel's back was bumped and sloshed during the weary miles across the desert wastes. It is a long process of evolution from this crude churn to the modern motor-driven churns in our up-to-date creameries.—Burdette Service.

BIGGER and BETTER

Presenting

The NEW Chevrolet Six

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the smart, graceful, new bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. See the new Chevrolet Six—and you will agree that here is the Great American Value!
