Wildcat Team Trims Omaha Squad 12 to 0

Dennis Puts Over Both Touchdowns for Local Grid Men.

Wayne's Wildcats found it no easy job to take Omaha university into camp last Saturday, Nov. 22, when they whopped the downstate football team by a 12-0 score. A blocked punt and a long forward pass just about tell the story of the Wildcat's win.

Omaha gained 66 yards from scrimmage and Wayne gained 87. Omaha lost 19 yards from scrimmage and Wayne lost 28. Omaha made five first downs and Wayne made six. Wayne completed two forward passes and Omaha three. Wayne took 75 yards penalties and Omaha 65 yards. Omaha fumbled three times and Wayne fumbled twice. In every instance the opposing team recovered.

Dennis' Putting Good

Only in punting did Wayne show any marked superiority over the Omaha gridmen. Captain Dennis' kicking was an outstanding feature of the game and put the Wildcats out of danger a good many times. Wayne's punts averaged 43 yards, whereas Omaha's averaged only 34 yards.

Early in the first period the Omaha team, with their backs against their own goal line, punted. The Wayne line charged through too quickly for Larson and blocked his kick, giving Wayne the ball. It took only two tries for Captain Dennis to put the pigskin it to the end zone for the first Wildcat marker. Try for point after touchdown was unsuccessful.

Score at Finish

The Wildcats played smart football and held onto their six point lead until the last quarter when the Wayne quarterback opened up with an attack that might have given Omaha an opportunity to tie the score. A long forward pass, Dennis to Grubb, worked however, and placed the ball on Omaha's 15 yard stripe. Dennis shoved it across on the third down.

Wayne had the Indian sign on the Omaha offense, and stopped everything they had to offer. Wayne's defense, led by McKinley, was about all that could be asked for.

Dennis, Andrews, and Grubb all functioned nicely in the backfield, and McKinley, Hansen, and Ambrose looked particularly good in the line.

Score by quarters:

Wayne 6 0 0 6-12

Omaha 0 0 0 0-0

Officials: Referee, Adams of Benson; umpire, Hutchinson of Nebraska; linesman, Noble of Nebraska.

Wayne Boy Leads in College Percentages

Frederick Berry led all students in the Wayne State teacher's college for the first quarter with a grade average of 96.5-8. Mr. Berry is a sophomore.

Alice Lister of St. Edward, also a sophomore, had the second highest average, 94.3-4. Inez Nelson of Wakefield, another second year student, was third with 94.1-3.

Missionary Tells Wayne Folks of Customs on Tibetan Border

Miss Anna Haupberg, for 14 years a missionary on the Tibetan border in China, spoke before the young people's bible class last Friday evening.

Dressed in a Chinese costume consisting of a long sleeved, high collared jacket or tunic made of dark blue brocaded material and a full skirt of black brocade, Miss Haupberg showed the class the style of costume ordinarily worn by the ladies of the Tibetan border region. The missionaries there dress as nearly like the native people as possible to avoid unnecessary conspicuousness for they are enough of a curiosity as it is.

However, Americans who delight in variety and wear first long wide sleeves, then short ones, and then long narrow ones, have nothing on the Tibetans, for they too change their styles in like fashion.

Wildcats vs. York on Gridiron Today

Wayne's Wildcats will meet their ancient rivals, York, in the traditional turkey day football game this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The game will be played at the college field.

One of the few daylight games of the season in Wayne, the Thanksgiving engagement is expected to bring out the largest crowd of the now waning season. With local business places closed, many who could not otherwise attend a daytime game are expected to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Captain Dennis, who has been on the hospital list, played for a good share of the Omaha game last week, and is expected to be in shape to take part in today's battle.

Wayne Lodge Making Plans for Convention

Degree of Honor State Organizer Arrives Here to Assist.

Lena Cerre of Norfolk, state organizer of the Degree of Honor protective association, arrived in Wayne Monday evening and will spend as much time here as possible during the next two weeks assisting the Wayne lodge with preparations for the Degree of Honor district convention. The convention will be held here on Wednesday, Dec. 10, in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Arrangements for the all day session are progressing nicely, according to Mrs. Jane Barnett, secretary of the lodge.

National President Frances Buell Olson and Grand President Florence D. Owen will be among the officers of high rank who are to discuss questions pertaining to the work of the society and the different forms of certificates offered by them.

The afternoon session of the convention will be open to the general public. Mothers of Degree of Honor juveniles are particularly welcome.

Woman Recovering from Effects of Fall

Mrs. Ellen Armstrong is doing as well as can be expected in recovering from a broken thigh bone received when she slipped and fell as she was about to go up the steps of her home upon returning from a visit at the Anton Lerner home. The accident occurred Wednesday evening, Nov. 19.

Mrs. Armstrong's daughter, Mrs. Forbes of Rhinelander, Wis., came to Wayne last Friday evening and is staying with her mother. Harry Armstrong came to Wayne Thursday morning to visit his mother and went back to Sioux City Friday evening.

She had returned home last Wednesday from the Lutheran hospital at Norfolk. Two weeks previously she had undergone a major operation, and was apparently making a marvelous recovery at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Art Auker.

Mrs. Benshoof was born in Muscatine, Iowa, Dec. 17, 1848. She was married to Wm. Benshoof in 1865 at Blue Grass, Iowa, and in 1875 she emigrated with her husband in a covered wagon to Red Oak, Iowa. After living there on a farm for nine years, the family came to Wayne county.

She had lived in Wayne county since 1864 with the exception of 10 years she and her husband had spent in California. She had lived in Winside for the past 11 years.

Mrs. Benshoof had been actively associated with church and community activities. The entire community was saddened at her death, as her sunny smile and warm handclasp had cheered many lonely hearts.

She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. Ed Lindsay of Brenna and Mrs. Art Auker of Winside; two sons, Perry Benshoof of Van Tassel, Wyo., and C. E. Benshoof of Winside; 18 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren; two sisters, and one brother. A son, Fred Benshoof of Wayne, died in 1919.

A certain lady who owned three idols and who had become a Christian came to Miss Haupberg wanting to know what to do with them. In reply, Miss Haupberg told her to give them to her which she did, glad to be rid of them. Intending to bring them back with her to America to show to friends, Miss Haupberg kept them a while, but later realizing that they were an abomination unto the Lord and that He detests them, she

High School Football Team Claims Honors

NORTHEAST NEBRASKA HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL CHAMPIONS!

That's the title being claimed by the Wayne high school football team after going through one of the most successful seasons in years.

Following Wayne's victory over Wakefield last Friday, Coach Ray K. Holder said that he had decided to claim the Northeast Nebraska title, inasmuch as he had been unable to find any team with a record which equals that of the Wayne gridirons.

The local team has scored 174 points during the season, as compared with 13 points by their opponents.

The team has played schedule of nine games, all within the state, and has won seven, lost one, and tied one. The lost game would have been a win, but for a highly questionable penalty.

State Admits Lack of Evidence in Nichols Case; Asks Dismissal

Saturday morning, Nov. 21, at 10 o'clock, before County Judge Cherry's court, representatives for the attorney-general of the State of Nebraska asked that the state's petition to set aside the probation of the Steve Nichols will be dismissed.

Attorney-general's representatives said that after considerable investigation into the case, they found that there was insufficient evidence to warrant even a hearing of the case, so the will, as probated, was allowed to stand.

Several dozen spectators were present for the short hearing.

The report of the Legion committee, made out by Dr. J. C. Johnson, shows splendid management on the part of Legionaires.

The report has been accepted by Bur R. Davis, chairman and treasurer of the municipal band committee. Mr. Davis complimented the Legion organization on the manner in which they have conducted the band affairs.

Checks from the city council and money from concerts and prizes have been the main sources of revenue for the band. However $3,176.75 has been raised by popular subscription during the five year period.

Skiff (Not a Boat) Collides With Law

Edward Skiff of Norfolk was sailing right along in his automobile when he was apprehended and brought before Judge Cherry's court for speeding. A skiff may be a "slow light sailing vessel," but there was nothing slow about Edward, according to testimony offered against him.

He was charged with speeding and driving in such a way as to endanger the lives of others. Skiff found it tough sailing to pay the fine of $10 and $2.45 costs.

The man with the nautical name was advised not to try to get airplane speed out of an automobile hereafter.

Churches Hold Union Service Thanksgiving

Pastors of All Groups to Participate; Braisted to Give Sermon

Protestant churches of Wayne will unite in a Thanksgiving service to be held at the Methodist Episcopal church at 10 o'clock this morning.

Pastors have urged members of their congregations to attend the Thanksgiving service and a record crowd is expected.

Rev. Wm. E. Braisted of the First Baptist church will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon. Thanksgiving and thanks giving will be the theme of his message.

Rev. P. A. Davies of the Presbyterian church will read the scripture. Rev. W. C. Heidenreich of the English Lutheran church will offer the prayer. Rev. H. A. Teckhaus of the German Lutheran church will read the benediction. Rev. W. W. Whitteman of the Methodist Episcopal church will preside.

Special music has been arranged for, and Franklin Philco will preside at the organ.

County Superintendent Will Have Charge of Christmas Seal Drive

County superintendent Pearl E. Sowell will serve as chairman of the 1930 Christmas Seal sale, and will be assisted in the drive by school teachers of the county. The campaign is to be held in Wayne county during the first week in December.

Half of the proceeds of Christmas Seal sales will be used for health work in Wayne county and the remainder of the money will be used for health work throughout the state.

Money from Christmas Seal sales was spent last year in Wayne county in hiring a physician to give a health examination in all rural schools of the county. Part of the money was spent for health projects which are sent out to schools each month by the Nebraska tuberculosis association.

The Inquiring Reporter

(Every week a Democrat reporter will ask a question of five people, picked at random. If there's any question you would like to have asked, let us know about it.)

This Week's Question
Do you think Wayne should have a public rest room?

Burt Page, Wakefield, piano tuner: "Yes. It gives your people a convenient place of headquarters for accommodations they cannot secure in the average place of business. They feel at home because they know the place has been created for their benefit."

Bernice Forsberg, of near Laurel: "I think it is really needed."

Mrs. Edwardd Seymour, Wayne housewife: "Absolutely. A town of this size ought to have one by all means. Women with little children are especially in need of it."

Mrs. George Crosland, Wayne housewife: "I think it should. For a town of this size I think it is quite essential."

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, Wayne housewife and writer: "Anything that would add to the comfort of Wayne's out-of-town shoppers and visitors should be had. Certainly a rest room would be a convenience."

Kiwanis Clubs in Inter-City Meeting Here

Members of Four Groups Attend Wayne Party Monday Night.

Approximately 140 people, Kiwanis club members and their wives from the Fremont, Sioux City, Norfolk, and Wayne clubs attended an inter-club dinner at the Hotel Stratton Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Howard T. Hill of Manhattan, Kansas, head of the speech department at Kansas State agricultural college and an international trustee in the Kiwanis organization, was the featured speaker of the evening. His talk, "How Did We Get That Way?" dealt with the history of social conditions leading up to the formation of service clubs.

Mr. Hill said that the formation of service clubs was indicative of higher ethics in business and greater regard for service to the general public. He stressed the fact that not so many years ago clubs such as Kiwanis could not have existed, because business and professional men would have been unwilling to follow the precepts of the organizations.

Kiwanians say that his talk was one of the finest ever given before the Wayne club.

J. H. Kemp, president of the Wayne Kiwanis club, acted as toastmaster and introduced various visiting Kiwanians. Those who responded with short talks were Dr. Howley, president of the Norfolk club; Jerry Brown of Norfolk, lieutenant-governor of this district; Dr. Blackburn of Fremont, lieutenant-governor elect for this district; Mr. Sidler, president of the Fremont club, and Mr. Fitzgerald, vice-president of the Sioux City club.

Miss Arlene Urban and Miss Verna Mae O'Neill sang a number of songs.

Following the dinner, dancing was the entertainment of the evening.

Goes to New York for Mother's Funeral

F. H. Jones left Wayne last Thursday afternoon for Binghamton, N.Y., after receiving word that his mother, Mrs. F. W. Jones, 92, was seriously ill there. She died Friday morning and Mr. Jones did not get there until Saturday morning.

Funeral services for the aged lady were held Monday afternoon at two o'clock in Binghamton. Mr. Jones will return to Wayne the latter part of this week.

W. C. T. U. Ladies Meet For Special Program

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen and Mrs. R. Porterfield were hostesses to the W. C. T. U. at the Lutgen home last Friday afternoon. Mrs. P. A. Davies was the leader for the afternoon. Two songs, "America the Beautiful" and "God Will Take Care of You", were sung by the group. Mrs. Davies led the devotions, using as her scripture a portion of the third chapter of Galatians. A vocal duet, "Walk Beside Me," was sung by Mrs. Lutgen and Mrs. C. O. Mitchell. Mrs. H. R. Best gave a reading, "Papa and Me." Miss Lisle Clayton, superintendent at the Wayne hospital, spoke of the Modern Social Problems of America. Inasmuch as her talk was based on her view point as a trained nurse, her paper was intensely interesting. She stressed particularly the need of home instruction for children and of close companionship and understanding between the parents and the children.

Mrs. T. T. Jones, accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Oman at the piano sang the solo, "Morning", and Mrs. Oman, accompanied by Mrs. Jones, sang, "The High Road." Mrs. Davies gave several very interesting extracts from the Union Signal after which she introduced Miss Clara Madson, who recently returned from a two year stay in Porto Rico as a teacher in the schools there.

Miss Madson's close observation of the life of that interesting country and her keen insight into the lives of those neighbors of ours is unusually thorough. From an American point of view, by true comparison with the hustle and bustle of American life, the Porto Ricans are a slow race of people, not given to worry, trouble, or the amassing of wealth. In fact, being fed and happy today, with no thought of tomorrow, they have little cause to be nervous or in danger of nervous prostration.

Their women are fine, but the double standard of living gives their men all too much freedom and seems to be creating a social problem that is really serious in the country. Real leaders are needed. The country has wealth, but it is not utilized because no one has the energy or the interest to work.

The salvation of the country seems to be in good hands now, having as the present governor of the island, Theodore Roosevelt Jr., who is taking up the problems of the country and is doing all in his power for the people.

The W. C. T. U. ladies appointed the following directors for the year at the Friday meeting: Americanization, Mrs. P. A. Davies; Child Welfare, Mrs. C. W. Fox; Evangelism, Mrs. W. C. Heidenreich; Health and Medical temperance, Mrs. S. A. Luther; Social Morality and Motion Pictures, Mrs. R. W. Casper; Publicity, Mrs. C. O. Mitchell; Flower and Mission, Mercy and Relief, Mrs. Wm. CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are due J. P. O'Furey, publisher of the Cedar County News, on his election to honorary membership in Sigma Delta Chi, national professional honorary journalistic fraternity.

As a fellow member of the organization, we feel that it is an honor to belong to the society, and that belief is borne out by the intense jealousy Mr. O'Furey's election has caused on the part of other editors. If "every knock is a boost," his initiation into Sigma Delta Chi has brought forth one ardent booster.

One newspaper editor who has shown intense jealousy against Mr. O'Furey's election to office printed a malicious statement, designed to reflect on the Hartington publisher, which read in one part as follows:

"Whatever the Hartington publisher has been doing of exceptional merit should be patent to the field secretary, and we would suggest ought to have been brought to the attention of Nebraska publishers by him, so that they might invite the home university to bestow marks of distinction and all share in the exultation and applause. It pains us to lose to another state."

That paragraph was most certainly ill-advised. In the first place, nobody, "brings to the attention" or "invites" Sigma Delta Chi to elect anyone to membership. Sigma Delta Chi does not have to take recommendations from anybody. It is the greatest newspaper fraternity in the world and not even a self-important weekly newspaper editor can dictate to it.

In the second place, Sigma Delta Chi is a national organization and state boundary lines mean nothing whatsoever to it. It is not a state honor but a national one to be elected to membership in the society. The fact that he happened to live in closer proximity to the University of South Dakota than the University of Nebraska was probably wholly accountable for the fact that he was initiated by the South Dakota group.

Ignorance of existing conditions is no excuse for a malevolent tirade such as was printed against Mr. O'Furey.

The writer was formerly president of the Iowa chapter of Sigma Delta Chi and vigorously resents any aspersions on the integrity or judgment of that group. For the editor of a weekly newspaper to slam the society is about on a par with shooting lions with a pea shooter.

We congratulate you, Mr. O'Furey, and we know that you will overlook the inanities of those who are jealous of you.

Pipe Dreams

Watson, the needle! We've been sitting here trying to concentrate on editorials for The Democrat. Our mind wanders.

Why wouldn't it be possible to construct a solar ray furnace, doing away with the use of coal or fuel of any kind? Certainly the sun gives off enough heat energy so that if it could be concentrated it would heat this world's homes.

Impractical, you say? H-m-pf! Boston newspapers warned their readers against the telephone not so many years ago, saying that it was an impractical fake and that no smart person would believe you could really send your voice over a wire.

Why wouldn't it be possible to construct some sort of a machine to do away with the linotype? Sound makes delicate waves. Take these waves on a graph and have a keyed machine that would change them to type. All the newspaper would have to do is let the editor read the copy loud to a machine. Presto! Galley after galley of type.

Foolish? Maybe, but then again, maybe not.

Does YOUR mind ever wander when you're trying to concentrate on something?

The real invention would be one that would make this writer's mind stay on the job. THERE'S a real puzzler for you.

How to Become President
Time magazine lists the rules of getting the presidential nomination. The secret of becoming a presidential nominee, according to Tim, is to follow these rules:

1. Acquire a wise devoted friend who will work and speak for you as you would for yourself.
2. Have an eminent banker or financier close in the background.
3. Find strong communities of interest with the leaders of the party.
4. Identify yourself early and firmly with a national issue.

5. Get the press. Newspaper publicity.

6. The candidate must move about the country.

7. Seem always full of health.

8. Don't go around without a ladder. That is, always have handy a means of climbing down from the eminence you achieve, that you may live to try again four years later.

Now that we've passed the secret along to you, you can't blame The Nebraska Democrat if you don't get the presidential nomination.

WAKE UP!

Prosperity is not dead in America . . . it has simply been asleep . . . dreaming bad dreams, dreams of depression; of the fear of spending . . . the delusion of hoarding. We've been in a stupor from which only a real alarm could arouse us.

But we've heard the alarm now . . . the alarm of stagnant business; factories with muted machinery and deplorable unemployment . . . and we are ready now to get up and put our dollars to work.

No, Prosperity is not dead. America still has its great natural and industrial resources . . . its tremendous capital reserve . . . fertile lands . . . immense savings deposits in the banks . . . the greatest industries in the world . . . the most skilled workmen . . . the highest percentage of home-ownership . . . the highest percentage of literacy . . . the highest standards of living and the most cultivated desires for the better things of life.

It's time now for us to put activity back of our resources; to indulge our desires; to release the money we have been hoarding . . . in other words,

"invites" Sigma Delta Chi to elect anyone to membership. Sigma Delta Chi does not have to take recommendations from anybody. It is the greatest newspaper fraternity in the world and not even a self-important weekly newspaper editor can dictate to it.

But we must all do our part in the Buy Now program. Don't wait for "George to do it" or George will wait for you and none of us will get anywhere. You start patronizing George today and George will start buying from Tom and Tom from Dick and Dick from Harry and Harry from you.

Depression is merely an obsession . . . a confession of fear . . . a compression on the pulse of prosperity that stops the circulation of money. And money is just as important to the life of a business as the circulation of the blood is to the life of the human body.

WAKE UP—it's time to buy.

—Reprinted from the Review-Reporter, Plymouth, Wisconsin.

AID TO PROSPERITY

For 10 years, hand-to-mouth buying has been practiced by American stores. Stocks of goods have been kept small. This has meant that when consumers bought, the stores immediately placed orders to replenish their stocks. And since factories did not carry large stocks on hand, new orders for goods meant more employment for labor.

The way out of our present employment difficulties is clear. Consumers with sustained incomes hold the key to the situation. They have it in their power to restore jobs to the unemployed by buying now. If those who are able will buy only their normal amount of goods they will enable the retailer to send orders to the manufacturer, who will call his unemployed workers back to their jobs. Every one with an income can help the return of better days.

Are you doing your part to bring back prosperity?—Chicago Tribune.

Grafters Again

The advertising grafters are abroad in the country again, soliciting $5 to $10 advertisements on maps, church directories, bus schedules, hotel rules, shirt boards and a dozen other schemes, lauded as advertising mediums by smooth-tongued salesmen or saleswomen but which are wholly worthless if the business man gives the matter a moment's thought. As a general rule the printing is let to some printing plant in some outside town for about one-tenth of what the solicitor gets. Then the salesman goes to other fields. The home town merchants whine, "Advertising doesn't pay." We'll admit that sort of thing doesn't pay, as it isn't advertising, even though the glib-tongued solicitor calls it that. Use your home town paper and play safe.—Brainerd, Minn., Tribune.

The Book Box

Three marvelous novels which you probably know about already are:

Thomas Beer's "The Road to Heaven" (Knopf), published several years ago.

"Laughing Boy," by Oliver La Farge.

John Dos Passos' most recent novel, "The 42nd Parallel."

Beer deals with the life of a farm boy in the great city. The theme is not original—Horatio Alger used it a good many times. Thomas Beer, however, shows rare genius in clothing a common American young man with an aura of real-life realism.

Beer practices economy in his novel. The book is a segment of one life mixed up with a few others.

Dos Passos gives us a lot about a lot of lives. He pictures the contemporary economic maelstrom in which we find ourselves. Where Beer presents a fine miniature portrait, Dos

Passos paints a large, sprawling canvas.

Oliver La Farge gives us the contemporary Navajo Indian, featuring the one who breaks somewhat from his tribe. The contemporary Navajo, incidentally, hits this writer as the type of human being it would be nice to be.

The white Americans in Beer's and Dos Passos' books are convincing enough. Beer is the sophisticate with a reticent but deep understanding for the simple, average human being. Dos Passos runs a gamut successfully. He is lavish with his material where Beer is terse.

You get a vaudeville show with

Dos Passos: the long shots, the close ups, the juggler, the jazz from the orchestra.

Thomas Beer gives you a clean-cut story. He knows how to build a complete book.

Both books are intensely alive and impress with their accuracy. So is La Farge's.

You'd enjoy all three of them.

Hey, hey! Here's a simply swell book, and the title of it is "24 Hours".

It was penned by Louis Bromfield, whose "Green Bay Tree" has probably come to your attention.

It's a story of speakeasies, penthouses, nightclubs, singers, aristocrats and racketeers. It takes the fevered pulsebeat of mysterious New York and shows the lives of a group of people fusing and coming to a crisis.

You'll like it.

You'll get a terrific wallop out of Dorothy Parker's "Laments for the Living." It's a $2.50 book, published by Viking Press, and has run through six large editions already.

This is prose—and the prose maintains the qualities which gave Dorothy Parker the distinction of being one of the wittiest and most brilliant writers of our time.

Robert E. Sherwood, writing in Scribner's, says, "The incomparable

Mrs. Parker at her best is the superior to Ernest Hemingway added to Ring Lardner added to Aldous Huxley added to Rebecca West."

Laments for the Living are incomparable prose pieces, full of ironic humor.

Since the appearance of last week's told us that they, too, enjoy reading plays.

It would be impossible in this small space to do justice to Marc Cornel-ly's Pulitzer prize winning play,

"The Green Pastures," which has recently been published in book form.

The play is an adaptation of Roark

Bradford's negro stories and has been regarded by critics almost unanimously as the most beautiful play staged on Broadway in many years.

This fine piece of work, like many others, had a struggle to get staged,

but once put on the boards, the success of it was assured. People couldn't pass by anything as splendid as

"The Green Pastures."

The book will give you real pleasure. If your imagination is at all vivid you can picture the original

New York production with a Negro cast.

Speaking of negro productions, did any of you happen to see the Theater

Guild's production, "Porgy?" This

WAYNE HIGH WINS FROM WAKEFIELD

Hendrickson Makes Two Markers on Soggy Field.

Soggy condition of the playing field kept both the Wayne and Wakefield football teams from showing much speed or fancy playing last Friday afternoon, Nov. 21. The Wayne high school team won the verdict with a 12 to 0 score after a hard fought battle which had utilized line smashes and power plays to a great extent.

Neither team could get going at the start of the game, and both teams failed to make first downs four times in succession. By that time it was evident to both teams that straight football would be the only thing to use.

Max Hendrickson made the first touchdown early in the second quarter, going over for about four yards on a center smash play. The ball had been brought down to the four yard line on three successive first downs.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, and in the fourth quarter Wakefield made a desperate rally, but the Wayne line held. With about 50 seconds left to play, Hendrickson made another touchdown and insured victory for the Wayne team.

Wakefield tried four forward passes during the battle, and completed two. Wayne tried six passes and completed two.

Wayne's supremacy over the Wakefield team is most clearly shown by the fact that Wayne made nine first downs, while Wakefield made only four.

The soggy field made punting difficult, and Wakefield's punts averaged only 16 yards. Hendrickson's punts, for the Wayne team, averaged 36 yards.

Hendrickson was the outstanding member of the Wayne team.

The Freshman class of the Sholes high school entertained the members of the high school and Miss Velma Burnham and W. S. Ickler at a Thanksgiving party Tuesday night. Games furnished entertainment for the evening and refreshments were served. All report an enjoyable evening.

Dance Fantasy, "Eratos' Triumph," Wins for Mochajays.

About 800 people witnessed the annual stunt night performance in the Wayne State Teachers' college auditorium Monday night, Nov. 24, and went away saying that it was the best exhibition in recent years.

First prize, a plaque, was won by the Mochajaya club for a delightful fantasy, "Eratos' Triumph," written by Frederick Berry. The Apache dance was the highlight of this stunt which the judges picked for first honors.

Alpha Psi Omega, dramatics fraternity, took second honors with a clever burlesque of different forms of modern drama. The mystery show scene was liked most by the audience.

The Spanish club's extravaganza, "A Night in Spain," was awarded third prize.

The Mochajaya club must win the plaque for three years to gain permanent possession of it.

First American Thanksgiving and Present Vastly Different

(This article was written by Edwin S. Townsend, and was printed in his newspaper, The Rock County Star, at Luverne, Minn. We class it as the most interesting commentary on Thanksgiving we have ever read.)

The first Thanksgiving day in America was celebrated in October, 1621. The exact date is not known. Four men were delegated to shoot turkeys and bagged enough of these wild birds in one day to serve the entire company for a week. Game was plentiful.

The first Thanksgiving feast lasted three days. There is no record that any of the days was set apart for giving thanks. The whites and Indians joined in the feasting.

The year following was filled with misfortune and the Pilgrims held no feast. It is not until 15 years later, in 1636, that we find a record of a celebration such as we now keep.

During the Revolutionary War the Continental Congress appointed December 18, 1777, as a "Thanksgiving Day," in consequence of the surrender of Burgoyne.

Washington Sets Day

Later President Washington issued a proclamation recommending November 26, 1789, be kept as a day of "national Thanksgiving" for the establishment of a government that made for safety and happiness.

For years the festival was almost exclusively a New England celebration. Observance of the day gradually became a custom in western and southern states.

In 1864 President Lincoln issued a proclamation in which he "appointed and set aside" the last Thursday in November as a day of national Thanksgiving "for the defense against unfriendly designs without and signal victories over the enemy who is of our own household."

Day Becomes Tradition

Since Lincoln's time each president has set aside the last Thursday in November for a like festival so that Thanksgiving day is now as firmly fixed a national festival as the Fourth of July.

The Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock December 21, 1620, according to our present calendar. Under their system, it was December 11th.

The first winter more than half of the little band died of suffering and pestilence. Of 16 mothers only four survived and of 25 fathers only 12 were left.

The bodies were buried at night so that the Indians would not know how great the loss was.

Pilgrims Discover Corn

A treaty was arranged in the spring with Massasoit, a powerful Indian chief, and while any of the signers remained alive it was never broken.

During the first winter, with starvation staring the Pilgrims in the face, some baskets of corn were found which had been hidden in the sand by the Indians. Corn was an unknown grain to the colonists but they found it to their liking. In the spring, friendly Indians gave them more for seed and showed them how to plant it.

First Popcorn

At the first Thanksgiving feast the Pilgrims were introduced to popcorn for the first time, when the Indians loosed several bushels over the tables to the delight of the whites.

What would our Pilgrim fathers who participated in that feast think if they could come back today and visit the nation they founded? Could we make them believe we were having hard times?

Let us be thankful that pestilence and starvation are not wiping out 75 per cent of the mothers and 50 per cent of the fathers of this country today, as they did with that brave little band of Pilgrims, strangers in an unfriendly and forbidding land. We only need one-tenth their fortitude and courage to whip the present depression, born of uncertainty, fear, and lack of initiative.

The Pilgrim spirit never faltered, even in the face of terrible adversity, and the indomitable courage of this brave little band founded the greatest nation in the world.

University Places One Instructor in Wayne County School System

Out of 587 teachers placed through the bureau of educational service at the University of Nebraska, only one teacher was given a position in Wayne county. In the 1929-30 school year, the bureau received calls from various parts of the state for 1,032 teachers and was instrumental in placing 587, most of them 1930 graduates.

The bureau's service is offered without charge to all schools in Nebraska.

Lancaster county led in number of bureau placements last year with a total of 33. Cass county was second with 21. Custer, Gage, and Madison were in a three-way tie for third with 18 placements each. In all save 10 of Nebraska's 93 counties some placements were made. Sioux, Arthur, and Gosper were the only three from which no calls or placements were reported.

Easterners Prefer Nebraska Turkeys

Trust those eastern epicures to know their turkeys! Not so many decades ago the head of the family, admonished by his good wife to provide the main piece of the Thanksgiving feast, loaded his trusty fowling piece and took to the woods. If he was fortunate he came back with a wild turkey. Since that day there has been no substitute for turkey for the Thanksgiving day menu.

A large concern with headquarters at Philadelphia has discovered that Nebraska turkeys are the pride of the eastern markets. This company placed orders for 10,000 birds with the North Platte Valley cooperative marketing association. Sidney and Scottsbluff supplied a large share of the birds.

Last year the North Platte Valley association sold 21 carloads of tur-

VEGETARIAN MEALS

THE expression "cabbages and kings" usually signifies a wide scope of subjects, ranging from the lowly to the great. If you lived in France and were addressed as "mon chou" (my cabbage), you would have no reason to feel insulted, whereas, in America, we look upon the cabbage as a lowly thing and a person dubbed a cabbage-head as even lowlier, in French "mon chou" is a term of endearment.

Perhaps the reason lies in the fact that to the French person, every vegetable—even those of the most humble origin—take high rank among foods. Americans, however, are more and more coming to this opinion. Hence the growing popularity of the vegetable dinner, or the vegetable plate as the main course of a dinner.

One proof of its increasing importance is the fact that most dinner services now include compartment plates especially designed to hold invitingly a variety of vegetables.

Choosing Harmonious Vegetables

And what a glowing, tempting assortment such a vegetable plate presents if the vegetables are chosen from the angle of the artist and epicure! The first requisite of a well-composed vegetable dinner is that it displays an attractive variety of color and form, since foods must please the eye before they pass palate inspection. Secondly, they must satisfy the taste; and thirdly, they must afford pleasing and healthful after-effects.

Does this sound complex? It is most simple indeed. Let us look first at color. For green, we have at our bidding spinach, string beans, lima beans, Brussels sprouts, okra, green peppers, turnip greens and scores of other greens. Red is a vivid color contrast to green, and it is plentifully afforded in tomatoes, beets, kidney beans, pimientos and other delicious vegetables.

In every color assortment there will perhaps be some light color vegetables, and here you may select from celery, corn, asparagus, wax beans, hominy, sauerkraut or cabbage. And with these paler vegetables the pleasant glow of carrots, sweet potatoes, yellow turnips, or the warm brown of baked beans or mushroom will be a welcome contrast.

Color, Texture and Shape

Canned vegetables are, of course, always plentifully used in the vegetarian dinner, and their colors are quite as inviting as those of the fresh vegetables since the canner now packs vegetables in the popular sanitary enamel-lined can which serve to preserve perfectly their natural colors.

Texture is as important as color in the choice of vegetables in combination. For instance, the perfect vegetable plate will include some of the soft vegetables, such as peas, asparagus or tomatoes; some of the more chewy ones, such as string beans, spinach, carrots, corn and so forth; and at least one of the crisp or leafy vegetables such as celery, endive or lettuce.

Also, there are myriads of ways of cooking vegetables and fascinating shapes into which they may be cut; so be sure that you do not serve all of your vegetables creamed or all of them mashed. If you favor fluffy mashed potatoes—and they are hard to beat!—be sure to see also that your carrots are cut in long thin slivers and simmered golden brown in butter, that your tomatoes are baked a jolly deep red, and that your string beans are scalloped in cream. There is a great variety of ways to season vegetables to make them pleasantly different.

Dinner Is Served

Suppose we plan to serve a dinner that will be varied, colorful, and dietetically correct, and we feature as its main course an attractive vegetable plate. The introduction may be either a soup—jellied, creamed or clear—or a gay decorative canapé. Fish, egg or cheese are excellent choices for canapés, and a tiny cheese rabbit served on circles of sautéed toast with a dash of paprika is a perfect pièce de résistance.

For the main dish, or vegetable plate, a harmonious trio would be pea croquettes, beets stuffed with peas and lima beans, and sautéed corn and pimiento. With this sort of dinner it is not necessary to serve a salad, but dessert may add greatly to the meal. It may be a fairly substantial dessert, and it will be especially welcome if it includes the sweet and fruit quota of the meal. Among the most popular desserts for vegetarian meals are berry shortcake, made from either canned or fresh berries, fruit cobbler with nutmeg sauce, or flaky fruit pie, topped with a generous serving of whipped cream.

ACCIDENTS TAKE 27 LIVES IN NEBRASKA

Motor Vehicles Cause of 13 Deaths and 288 Injuries.

Twenty-seven people were killed and 433 injured in accidents in the state of Nebraska during the two week period ending Nov. 18.

Motor vehicle accidents were responsible for 13 deaths and 228 injuries.

Of the 433 persons injured, 30 were permanently disabled, bringing the number of persons disabled in Nebraska since Jan. 1, 1930 to a total of 447.

Hunting accidents caused 12 injuries, two disabilities, and two deaths. Twenty-seven drivers struck pedestrians, causing 24 serious injuries and three deaths. Four intoxicated drivers were responsible for five severe injuries. Blinding lights caused 11 accidents. Losing control, skids, speed, and reckless driving are still in the lead as outstanding causes of motor vehicle accidents.

Planting Trees

When planting a fruit tree, dig the hole wide enough so the roots will not have to be bent to fit into the hole, and deep enough so the tree will stand about one inch deeper than it stood in the nursery. Cut off all bruised or broken portions of the roots, hold the tree in the hole, and slowly fill the hole half full of rich top-soil, forcing it between the roots. Tramp this down thoroughly. Then fill the hole to the top and tramp down again. Do not put manure or other coarse material in the bottom of the hole, because it may heat, and kill the tree.

Ewes' Winter Ration

The winter ration that ewes receive has a definite and direct effect on their lamb producing ability, the length of their productive life, and on their condition during the summer grazing season, according to S. Bell, in charge of sheep investigations at the Ohio experiment station. In 1924 Mr. Bell started two groups of ewes on a test to study the effect of rations on flock maintenance and production. The groups were of the same age and of similar breeding and producing ability.

The best way to grow rye is to sow it early in the season, on land prepared about as you would prepare it for oats. Or you may even sow the rye and disk it in, as is sometimes done with the oats crop.

Hammer Mills Favored for Electric Power

In experiments on feed grinding at the University of Wisconsin, Prof. F. W. Duffee has found that hammer mills are much better adapted to farm requirements than burr mills where electric power is used. An improved feeding mechanism was developed which gives a uniform movement of the grain into the mill. The hopper bottom below the grinding auger of the mill should have a slope of at least 60 degrees if the ground feed is to slide over it freely. The tests so far seemed to show that speeds of 3,000 to 4,000 revolutions per minute for the elevating fan give the best results.

Ways to Control English Sparrow

Greater Part of Their Feed Is Various Grains and Garden Stuff.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Where English sparrows become too numerous in a locality it is often necessary to control them. Economical and effective methods of controlling these birds where they become overabundant are described in a leaflet, GL-1, "English Sparrow Control," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Birds Are Vegetarians.

Recent studies of the food habits and economic status of the English sparrow under present-day conditions show that the adult birds are essentially vegetarian, says the Bureau of Biological Survey. More than 90 per cent of their food is mixed feed, various grains, weed seeds, and garden products. The nestlings subsist largely on insects, but the beneficial work the sparrows do in catching bugs lasts for only 10 or 12 days, after which the young become quite as vegetarian as the adults.

Methods of control outlined in the new leaflet include the following: Destroying nests and eggs; shooting; trapping, by means of nest-boxes or other types of traps described and illustrated; and poisoning with a strichnine-grain bait, directions for the preparation and distribution of which are given.

Danger With Poisons.

"Though poison," says the leaflet, "is an economical and effective weapon in controlling English sparrows, its use is fraught with certain dangers. For this reason sparrows should be poisoned only by persons fully aware of the danger to poultry, live stock, and other farm animals from the careless handling of poisoned baits. Poisoning English sparrows in sections abounding in native seed-eating birds should be avoided, since carelessly exposed poisoned baits might endanger beneficial birds, many of which are protected by state and some by federal laws."

Copies of the new leaflet, GL-1, may be obtained free on request to the Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Attention to Sprayers

Is Important Detail

While use of sprayers which are badly worn and will no longer do an efficient job of spraying is not to be recommended at any time, it is good policy to make spraying equipment give full service. Appreciation of attention necessary for maintenance of the fine workings parts of large power sprayers is much more widespread than formerly. Work of agricultural extension agents, manufacturers and various information sources has helped to emphasize importance of sprayer care.

Attention may well be called to some precautions which should be observed before storing the sprayer. Briefly, these include thorough flushing and draining of all parts, with attention to drain cocks and valves; cleaning of moving parts and painting of tank—inside and out; cleaning and storing the hose in a dry place and oiling the rods and nozzles. Old crankcase oil may be left in the pump over winter or simply drawn through.

Culinary Brevities

S. JONES says, "Have your kettle boiling while you gather your corn." Canners have capitalized on this advice and have located their canneries near the corn fields. The housewife needs only to heat the can to have tender juicy corn any day in the year.

Theodore of the Ritz Carlton says that consommé to be properly made should cook from nine in the morning until five at night and be skimmed every fifteen minutes. Incidentally, that is why canned consommé tastes better than that which the average housewife has time to make.

A timely tip for times when spending has to be closely watched is English peas. This dish costs 11 cents to prepare and serves four persons happily. Just take an 11-ounce can of peas, add one and one-half tablespoons of sugar, one and one-half tablespoons of vinegar, and two tablespoons of crushed fresh mint. Simmer for ten minutes.

Hickory-dickory-dock, the hands run 'round the clock—and it's lunchtime for the busy mother before the morning tasks are done. Try keeping on hand some cans of ready-prepared treats—oven-baked beans, Italian spaghetti, veal loaf and perhaps fruits for salads—for those hickory-dickory-dock days.

Women Are Property

Women in this land are private property. If a man does not like his wife he simply sells her—not a bad way to get rid of her and he gets the money besides. If he is in need of money, he may sell his wife or maybe his daughter.
