Last Rites for A.C. Thompson Here Saturday

Business Houses Closed During Funeral Services.

Wayne business houses were closed from 2 to 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 9, so that local business men could attend the funeral services of A. C. Thompson, who died Wednesday, May 6, at Slou City, Iowa.

A short service at the home preceded the public service at St. Paul's Lutheran church. Rev. W. C. Heidreich read the last rites, and burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

Andrew C. Thompson was 38 years, 8 months and 14 days old at the time of his death. His early life was spent in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Thompson.

On June 4, 1913, he was united in marriage to Miss Esther Madsen. To this union three children were born: a son, Donald, who died in infancy, and two daughters, Lois Maxine and Jean Marjorie.

Mr. Thompson spent his life on a farm until December, 1926, when he went into the implement business with Ernest Bichel, under the firm name of Thompson and Bichel.

Several years ago he united with St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church of Wayne, and was a member at the time of his death.

Besides his wife and two daughters he leaves to mourn his departure his mother, Mrs. Chris Thompson of Wayne; five sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Theodore Larson and Mrs. Thomas A. Sundahl of Wayne, Mrs. John Kay of Omaha, Misses Anna and Nina Thompson, and Jens and Eric Thompson of Wayne, besides many other more distant relatives. He was preceded in death by his father, Chris Thompson, and a brother, Thorwald.

Mr. Thompson was a popular business man, respected for his integrity and uprightness, and he leaves many friends who sympathize deeply with the family.

Students Hold Annual Junior-Senior Banquet

Members of the college high school junior and senior classes attended the college high's annual Junior-Senior banquet last Saturday evening, May 9, at the Stratton hotel.

Paul Hunter acted as toastmaster, and the following toasts were given: Wings ..... Dr. U. S. Conn Exhaust ..... Kenyon Lewis Controls ..... Prof. A. F. Gulliver Airport ..... Hazel Nielsen Navigator ..... Dean H. H. Hahn Because We Think We can ..... Miles Tyrell

Table decorations were in the class colors, blue and silver. Place cards carried out the airplane motif, and nut cups were miniature parachutes. Bouquets of blue sweet peas, the class flower, were on each table.

Between courses, a vocal duet was presented by Ruth Stamm and Ina Ruth Jonson, and a vocal trio was given by Robert Templin, Robert Gulliver and Paul Hunter.

The college high is graduating 15 students this year. They are: Myles Tyrell, president of the class, Hazel Neilson, Robert Gulliver, Kenneth Johnson, Robert Theobald, Elmer Lossman, Alfonso Martz, Ruth Stamm, Jack Kingston, Ina Ruth Jonson, Margaret Baker, Robert Temple, Elizabeth Jones, Helen Swanson, and Helen Steele.

Territory Gets Heavy Rains Over Week-End

Wayne and the surrounding territory was visited with one and eighty-one hundredths inches of rainfall during the "wet" days the latter part of last week and early this week.

Weather critics regarded the rain as being particularly good, because practically every drop of rain went into the ground. A slow, steady drizzle, they believe, did much for the subsoil.

Dirt roads in this territory were reported practically impassible over the week-end. The rainfall was not heavy enough, however, to slow up traffic over the gravel roads.

Celebration Money Being Subscribed

With over $2,000 already subscribed, the success of Wayne's Golden Jubilee celebration is practically assured, according to Martin L. Ringer, chairman of the celebration's board of directors.

"Raising of finances was regarded as the most difficult hazard to clear," Mr. Ringer said Tuesday, "and now that we have had evidence of the public's attitude toward the anniversary celebration, we can go ahead with plans to make it the greatest thing of its kind ever held in the immediate territory."

Perry Theobald, chairman of the finance committee, said Tuesday that, with over $2,000 definitely lined up and about 75 prospective donors yet to be seen, he felt confident that there would be plenty of money to finance all celebration plans adequately.

A meeting of the board of directors was held Monday evening, and committee chairmen were instructed to go ahead with plans for the three-day jubilee.

SAVIDGE SHOW TO EXHIBIT HERE SOON

Will Open Season Week of June 1 With New Attractions.

The Walter Savidge amusement company will open its 1931 season in Wayne on Monday, June 1, and will be here for an entire week, presenting a host of new novelties and shows, as well as a complete repertoire of new plays in the big canvas theatre.

Mr. Savidge announces that considerable change has been made in the big dramatic company, with new people and new vaudeville between the acts. He says that he has secured a top-notch group of new plays. The opening play on Monday evening, June 1, is "For Crying Out Loud," a three-act comedy-drama by Joe Lawless, well-known actor-playwright.

The story of "For Crying Out Loud" rotates around a family by the name of Kelly, and their friends—poor, rich, Yiddish and Irish. Those who have seen the bill report that an equal volume of sure-fire comedy material has seldom been done. Mr. Savidge says, "If you liked 'Abie's Irish Rose,' you will be more than pleased with 'For Crying Out Loud.'"

For Tuesday night, Mr. Savidge's players will present Edmund Paul's story of southwest Texas, "Modern Wives and Absent Husbands." Wednesday evening, "The Little Hoodlum," a comedy drama in three acts, by Ted and Virginia Maxwell, will be presented. This is one of the comp-

SCHOOL HEAD GIVES TALK AT CONVENTION

Pearl E. Sewell Speaks on Christmas Seal Project.

"Selling Seals in Rural Schools by Messenger" was the subject of a talk given by County Superintendent Pearl E. Sewell at the twenty-third annual meeting of the Nebraska Tuberculosis association Monday, May 11, at the Hotel Fontenelle in Omaha. The meeting was held in connection with that of the state medical association.

Miss Sewell had the best per capita seal sale of any county superintendent in the state.

By using the messenger system, Christmas seal sales were increased nearly 100%, the amount this year being $414.09 as compared to $233.66 last year.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds of the sale each year are returned to the county to be used for local health work. When the sale reaches 6 seals per capita, 60% of the money will be returned.

Of the money raised by Christmas seal sales each year, 95 per cent is used for the prevention of tuberculosis in Nebraska.

Miss Sewell went to Omaha Sunday afternoon, and returned Tuesday evening.

Remaining Testimony in Dynamite Case Friday

About 150 people tried to crowd into County Judge J. M. Cherry's courtroom last Thursday, May 7, to hear testimony in the preliminary hearing of Joseph A. McAllister and William Hingst, farmers living near Emerson, on a charge of dynamiting fish.

The case is an outgrowth of the dynamite tragedy of two weeks ago, in which George Pope and Raymond Lute were killed. Complaint against McAllister and Hingst was made by Deputy Game Warden C. A. Gray of Norfolk and Deputy Game Warden C. A. Parkhurst of Creighton. Both Gray and Parkhurst are active in prosecution of the case.

Testimony was given to the effect that George Pope was making a garden and that McAllister went to Eggerston and coaxed him to go on the fishing trip. Arthur Pope, a brother of the dynamite victim, testified that he heard McAllister coaxing George Pope to take part in the affair. Emma Pope, George Pope's widow, offered testimony to the same effect.

Harold Pope, 16 years old, testified that he was standing on an Emerson street corner when his father told him to get into a car which he and McAllister were riding in. The Pope boy said that no mention was made of what was going to happen, but that he knew, because of the box of dynamite, fuses and caps in the back of the car. He said that he was scared, because the men were smoking.

Frank Kettler, Homer hardware man, testified that three men in a yellow car answering to the description of that driven by the dynamiters came into his store and bought dynamite. He refused to positively identify McAllister.

The men drove to the Wakefield home of Raymond Lute, second dynamite victim, and were told that he was down town. They found him there and he, Hingst, McAllister, George Pope and Harold Pope are alleged to have made up the party.

Glenn Lute, brother of the Wakefield dynamite victim, testified that the fish dynamiters made two blasts on his place and scared his team of horses so badly that he had difficulty in averting a runaway. They left the Lute place after making two shots and went to a spot about seven feet over the county boundary line in Wayne county. The accident happened at this spot, in a drainage ditch.

Lambert Englehart testified that the men came to his place to get help, secure medical service and notify officers.

Hingst is represented in court by County Judge Archie Smith of Pender county; McAllister is being defended by Attorney Phil F. Verzani of Ponca.

The case was continued until Friday, May 15, at 10 o'clock. Further testimony will be introduced at that time.

Game laws specifically state that anyone found guilty of the charges preferred against McAllister and Hingst must be given a fine of from $200 to $1000 and from one to three years in the penitentiary. Charges were not pressed against Harold Pope, son of the victims.

Hingst is in the county jail, and McAllister is at liberty under bond.

Clark Will Receive Admission to Probate

Admission to probate of the will of the late A. B. Clark was given in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court Tuesday, May 12. The admission to probate, it is understood, will be appealed to district court by the late Mr. Clark's daughter.

Hearing on the will case, originally set for last July 11, has been delayed for nearly a year by illness of various parties concerned and other causes.

Under the terms of the will, the major portion of the estate was left to Mr. Clark's widow.

COUNCILMEN MAKE EXPENSE ESTIMATE

Wayne's city council met Tuesday evening in regular session, and decided that the probable amount of money necessary to be raised for the city of Wayne for the fiscal year commencing May 1, 1931, would be $128,800. Total receipts for the year ending May 1, 1931, were $91,570.21.

The $128,800 estimate includes the following: light plant, $60,000; water plant, $11,000; parks, $2,000; library, $3,000; bonds, $17,000; sewers, $1,200; streets and alleys, $6,500; fire department, $2,000; highways, $1,200; musical and amusement organizations, $2,400; general fund, $22,500.

An ordinance prescribing the fire limits of Wayne was approved. The ordinance prohibits the use of certain building materials inside the city limits, prohibits moving of buildings constructed of combustible materials within the fire limits; requires a building permit, provides the extent and character of repairs to existing buildings which will be permissible, requires the removal of buildings when damaged by fire, and prohibits accumulation of combustible material.

TO ADDRESS KIWANISANS
Attorney C. H. Hendrickson will address Wayne Kiwanians on the sales tax at that organization's regular meeting next Monday noon. Mr. Hendrickson will explain the tax, its purposes and its operation, to members of the Kiwanis club.

Dog Heroes to be Presented Medals

Where is Nebraska's most heroic dog?

The National Anti-Vivisection society wants to know so it can present him (or her) with a medal. The society has asked The Nebraska Democrat to receive nominations for this district.

Owners of dogs that have performed heroic deeds within the past six months should submit photographs of their dogs, together with verified accounts of the dogs' feats, to The Democrat.

The society will award a bronze medal, suitably engraved, twice annually to the Nebraska dog performing the most outstanding heroic and intelligent feat during the preceding six months. In the event that the winning dog lost its life in the effort for which it was nominated, a posthumous award will be made to the owner.

A jury of noted American dog lovers will be asked to select the hero dog. Presentation of the medal will be made at a public ceremony in whatever Nebraska city the four-footed hero lives. The first medal will be awarded December 1.

Glenn Lute, brother of the Wakefield dynamite victim, testified that the fish dynamiters made two blasts on his place and scared his team of horses so badly that he had difficulty in averting a runaway. They left the Lute place after making two shots and went to a spot about seven feet over the county boundary line in Wayne county. The accident happened at this spot, in a drainage ditch.

CONN SAYS SCHOOL NEEDS MORE FUNDS

Reports Resignations of Hunter and McGrath to Normal Board.

Dr. U. S. Conn, president of Wayne State Teachers' college, attended the first meeting of the new state normal board at Lincoln this week, and told members of the board that he would recommend use of $5,000 remaining from the last biennial appropriations for betterments and repairs badly needed.

Two governors, he said, had recommended appropriations for the next biennium which would cause the institution to be pressed for funds. In the matter of repairs, he mentioned a portion of a tin roof and gutters for the gymnasium building to cost about $1,700, $400 for grading a campus recently bought, relaying of steam pipes, and other repairs.

Dr. Conn and Fred S. Knapp were appointed a committee to act on the recommendations.

Resignation of W. C. Hunter, instructor of band, orchestra and violin, was reported to the board by President Conn.

Prof. W. C. Lowry was nominated for head of the commercial department to succeed Prof. L. E. McGrath, resigned.

Fred S. Knapp was elected vice president to succeed Attorney Fred Berry of Wayne, retiring vice president.

Stolen Car Wrecked Near Here Tuesday

A mysteriously abandoned Chrysler sedan was found at the nine-mile corner nine miles south of Wayne Tuesday night, badly wrecked. The car was practically new, but had no license plates or identification marks on it.

A car was stolen from F. H. Kay of Wayne during the same night. Sheriff A. W. Stephens investigated the matter, and discovered that the wrecked sedan is the property of a Council Bluffs man who had owned the car for less than a month.

The sheriff is working on the assumption that the car thief who abandoned the Council Bluffs sedan then stole the F. H. Kay car. Sheriff Stephens has unearthed several clues as to the identity of the thief, and believes that he is hot on the trail of the Kay car.

City Officials "Order Out" Miller Family

Man Convicted on Grand Larceny Charge Is Evicted.

Harrison Miller, wanted here on a grand larceny charge for some time, has come back to Wayne with his family. His reception was not all that could be asked for.

City officials first learned of Wayne's new residents Saturday. The Miller residence at Seventh and Douglas had been sold for taxes, but that proved of little worry to the Miller family, who moved into their old home.

Wednesday afternoon, City Clerk Walter S. Bressler, City Attorney James Brittain, Police Officer W. A. Stewart and Sheriff A. W. Stephens decided to pay a call on the Miller family. The purpose of their call was to put the family out of the house.

The Millers saw the official delegation coming, and proceeded to lock the doors of the house.

"We want in," Bill Stewart shouted.

"Come on in, then," Harrison Miller challenged from the other side of the door.

Officer Stewart lunged against the door, and it sailed half way across the room.

The officials started the work of "moving out the Millers."

Mrs. Miller complained that she was sick. She couldn't be moved. A doctor was called and pronounced his opinion that she could be moved just as well then as any time. The city and county officials got a cot and were going to move her out on it, when the Miller family assured them that they would be out by evening.

Officers say that the Millers had a large enough stock of automobile tools in their house to start a first-class garage.

Harrison Miller was tried here on a grand larceny charge and found guilty. He slipped out of town, however, before sentence could be pronounced. County officials are debating whether to pick him up and put him in jail, thereby getting the family back into Wayne county, or to let them move on.

College Plans Activities for Graduation

May Festival, Play, and Recitals to Feature Occasion

Commencement plans for Wayne State Teachers' college call for busy days from Sunday, May 24 to Wednesday, May 27.

Baccalaureate services for all graduating classes will be held in the college auditorium on Sunday, May 24, with Dr. Paul C. Johnson of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Lincoln delivering the sermon.

Monday evening, May 25, college high school commencement exercises will be held, with Dean B. E. McClelland of Nebraska Wesleyan university giving the commencement address.

Tuesday morning, May 26, a May festival will be presented by the physical education classes of the college and children in the training school. The festival will be given under the direction of Miss Esther Dewitz. Music students will give recitals during the afternoon.

Tuesday evening, members of the dramatics class will present the comedy, "Skinner's Dress Suit," under the direction of Miss Lenore Ramsey.

College graduates will get their sheepskins Wednesday morning, May 27. Dr. E. N. Tompkins, pastor of the First Methodist church at Slou City, Iowa, has been engaged as the principal speaker.

Approximately 70 seniors will receive normal school diplomas.

About 130 one-year students will complete the course for general elementary and elementary rural state certificates.

Chemists' Club Meets at College Saturday

Wayne's first meeting of the Slou Valley Chemists' club will be held in the Wayne State Teachers' college auditorium on Saturday, May 15. The May meeting of the club will be the organization's first meeting in Wayne. The club is a tri-state group of chemists in the colleges and industries centering about Vermillion, S. D., and Slou City, Iowa.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. with an address of welcome by Dr. U. S. Conn.

Dr. J. A. Wilkinson of the Iowa State colleges at Ames will give an address on "Chemical Reactions in Liquid Hydrogen Sulphide." A club dinner will be served at noon.

At 1 p.m., Dr. H. P. Cady of the University of Kansas at Lawrence, Kansas, will give an address on "Dry Ice."

The meetings of the club are open to the public.

Saturday, May 23, to Be Poppy Day Here

Saturday, May 23, will be Poppy Day in Wayne. On that date, members of the American Legion Auxiliary will sell the little scarlet poppies which are made by disabled war veterans.

A larger sale of the memorial flowers than ever before is anticipated by the unit.

The Inquiring Reporter

This Week's Question

Do you think Wayne business places should be closed Memorial Day?

Carroll Orr: "Yes, I believe that the business houses should close in observance of this holiday."

Paul Mines: "Certainly, Memorial Day is a legal holiday, and everyone should be given an opportunity to observe it."

Fred L. Blair: "I believe that every place of business should close, at least during Memorial observances."

J. C. Nuss: "Ordinarily, I would be in favor of closing all day. This year, however, Memorial Day comes on Saturday, and I think we should keep open part of the day. I believe the stores should be closed in the morning during memorial services."

L. W. McNatt: "Yes, I do. Ordinarily, I would favor closing up all day, but since Memorial Day falls on Saturday this year, I think we should stay closed all morning and open at one o'clock in the afternoon."

Golden Text: Galatians 6:8.

The subject of the Lesson sermon read at all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, May 10, was "Adam and Fallen Man." The principal object of the lesson was to show that man in God's image and likeness is spiritual and never has fallen to a lower plane, and that the story of Adam and Eve in the Bible is in reality a denial of the popular supposition that man is or can be material. One of the citations read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 281) is as follows. "When we

Monuments are Never Built For Failures

IT WAS the men who had saved that made places for themselves in history—in their governments—in their city—and in their community. They saved and when the opportunity to act came they were prepared. Their names today are on the lips of millions of men and women, although they have long been dead. Of the failures we never hear—for what have they done to make themselves remembered? ## Auto Accidents Take Toll of Five Lives

One hundred and sixty-eight automobile accidents caused five deaths and 198 injuries in Nebraska during the two week period ending Tuesday, May 5. Twenty-three reckless drivers caused accidents in which 35 persons were injured; 17 drivers lost control of their cars and 28 persons were injured. Speed was the cause of all accidents. Intoxicated drivers contributed to three accidents.

Of 17 pedestrians struck by cars, nine were children and eight were adults. Three were killed.

During the two weeks, 30 industrial workers were injured; two were disabled and two were killed.

Sixty-four accidents on the farm were responsible for 62 injuries, one disability and one death. Farm animals injured 34 people; 11 were injured in runaways, 10 were kicked by horses or cows, 6 were trampled by enraged bulls and 7 were injured in other ways.

Accidents in the home caused 60 injuries, three disabilities and seven deaths. Sixteen small children were injured while playing at school. Sports were responsible for injuries to 13 older children.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ames returned home Sunday from Elburn, Ill., where they had taken the body of Mrs. Ames' mother, Mrs. Ella Godding, for burial. Interment was made in the cemetery at Kanawville, Ill., about six miles from Elburn, Ill., being the nearest railroad town.

"CLINKER"

CLEAN BURNING gasoline?

The gasoline your motor actually burns measures the power and mileage you get per gallon. If it is "near kerosene" doctored up with casing-head gasoline, your motor cannot and does not completely burn all of the heavier elements—the "clinker" part.

That's why much of the cut quality gasoline sold, turns out to be an expensive fuel—when you check its actual power and mileage performance against full quality, full price gasoline.

Balanced RED CROWN GASOLINE contains no "clinkers." It burns up completely—gives you all the power and all the mileage your passenger car, truck or tractor can get from completely refined gasoline. It gives you less dilution of crankcase oil. It is free from sulphur compounds which attack metals and from tar which sticks valves and piston rings and otherwise reduces the mechanical efficiency and power of the motor.

For dependable power and economy, use clean burning, high power balanced Red Crown Gasoline.

HAVE A GUESS

W. D. Jamieson, former Iowa congressman, says in his syndicated newspaper feature, "The Window Seat."

"I was at lunch three or four days ago with a little group of various political affiliations were represented; they were all men experienced in national politics, nationally known, and men who are in touch with the situation. They know what's going on, and as far as any body can do so, they are keeping in touch with the public sentiment. If I would mention some of their names you would probably know them. Two things in particular were discussed:

"1. The unemployment, turmoil, distress, the economic hogwashness of the selfish little group who are grabbing everything in sight, the hopeless bitterness, so far as politics is concerned, of many of the masses, and the utter disgust many of them feel toward both the old parties.

"2. Senator George Norris, with a Southern running mate, as a third party candidate for President next year.

"The very best thing they see in sight is Senator Norris for President; plenty of great Southern men could run with him; he could not be nominated either on the Republican or on the Democratic tickets; if he were nominated the country would go wild for him, all except the selfish big business men, the trusts and the extreme partisans; plenty of money could be raised to finance his campaign; the country is ready for it, and something must be done. The radio enables his organization to start quickly down into the voting precincts. His candidacy would give hope to every man and woman in the United States who is feeling the pangs of oppression. Here is something tangible they can get hold of.

"All the group, every one of whom has held high national office, thought such a ticket would sweep the country at this time."

There you see one side of the story. It sounds optimistic for the Nebraska senator, doesn't it? But then turn around and read the other side.

Charles S. Ryckman, editor of the Fremont Tribune, won the Pulitzer prize for the best editorial of 1930. In his editorial, he said: "The people of Nebraska would not listen to George Norris long enough to let him tell them how to elect a dog catcher in the smallest village in the state, but they have been sending him to the senate so long it is a habit. . . . And yet, George Norris is not a political power in Nebraska. The people of other states believe he is revered as an idol in his own state. As a matter of fact, he is probably held in lower esteem in Nebraska than in any other state in the union."

"His endorsement of another candidate is of no real value. He could not throw a handful of votes over any political fence in the state. He gave his tacit support to La Follette as a third party presidential candidate in 1924, and the Wisconsin senator could have carried all his Nebraska votes in his pocket without a bulge. He came into Nebraska in 1928 with a fanfare of democratic trumpets and of radio hookups, stumped the state for Governor Smith, and Nebraska gave Herbert Hoover the largest majority on a basis of percentage, of all the states in the union."

"Nebraska is not interested in the smallest degree in what progress he makes, or what he accomplishes."

"That's part—a small part—of the other side of the story. Now all you have to do is get out your little Ouija board and figure it out for yourself whether George Norris would make good material for a third party leader. Could he be elected to the Presidency? Your guess is just as good as ours."

THE STATE LEGISLATURE

Nebraska's bad boys vetoed Governor Bryan's state appropriation bill, leaving the state without, as the ma-receiver for one of the large chain visible means of support. Nebraska's bad boys don't like Governor Bryan. They don't like the limitations of his appropriations.

Well, there are things about Charley Bryan that we don't approve of, either, but we must admit that Governor Bryan is most certainly not at fault in trying to carry out his pre-election promises. Bryan pledged himself to cut down the cost of state government and to see that taxes were reduced. He was elected by a sizable majority. He has not forgotten his pre-election promises.

Nebraska's bad boys evidently forget that they are responsible to the same majority of constituents who put Governor Bryan into office on his economy program.

Their actions have been childish all through the past session of the state legislature. They have not made the slightest attempt to work with the governor. They seem to have the idea that they were put into office to obstruct governmental machinery. They are sadly mistaken.

As miniature imitators of George Norris, Nebraska's bad boys make very poor Lon Chaney's.

They seem to have been determined to make the state spend more money, and their wishes will have to be fulfilled. An extra session of the state legislature will cost plenty.

It's your contention that Nebraska's bad boys need to be put to bed without any supper, or spanked, or—well—they need some sort of punishment that is effective with naughty six-year olds.

DEMOCRACY'S CHANCE

There is no doubt that democrats all over the country are looking forward next year to the best chance their party has had at the presidency since Woodrow Wilson went into the White House because of the republican split of 1912 and again in 1916 when he defeated Mr. Hughes and was re-elected. This may explain why so many potential candidates are fighting hard a year before the democratic national convention to hold their positions and keep their booms going.

Senator Dill, of Washington, has declared that sentiment for President Hoover next year "is growing weaker and sentiment against him stronger across the entire country." He then offered the advice that "in this period of public despair the only political organization to which the people can turn is the democratic party."

That is sound advice. Which does not mean that the Journal agrees with Senator Dill in all he has said, but that, viewed from a political standpoint, the conditions at present may be made into a powerful issue in the next national election. It is good politics on the part of the democrats to emphasize the depression as running along with the Hoover administration. It would be good politics if the positions of the parties were reversed and the republicans pleaded for a return to power and a chance to restore prosperity to the people. It would be such good politics that the republican leaders would seize upon it with the same zeal and promptness as have marked its appropriation by the democrats.

Many things may happen between now and the beginning of the campaign that will change the outlook. But at this time it appears that the division of strength as between the two major parties will be closer than for many years. Normally, as Will Rogers is always saying, the democrats simply haven't enough votes to win. The republican organization is stronger numerically. That fact has been well established since Grover Cleveland's time. The Wilson election in 1912 would have been impossible if the republicans had gone into the campaign united. But today because of the times the weaker party has gained strength in the exact amount of that lost by the republicans.

Anything can happen in the national election next year. The democrats could win, probably, if they had the right candidate. But if they lost with the right candidate, everybody would remember that from start to finish it was a "hoss race."—Sloux City Journal.

NORRIS GETS MAD

Senator Norris takes "The Gentleman from Nebraska" a bit too seriously. That, really, is a habit he has. By this time the senator should have acquired a mellow sense of humor, and anyhow a trifle of tolerance. Then he would be able to take a joke at his own expense, or laugh off a short-arm jab that failed to reach a vital spot. As a matter of fact nobody, not even an insurgent leader, is actually beyond criticism, and if the criticism be unjust all the better the reason for not getting all set up about it.

Mr. Norris has had his day, and a good many of them, with many more, doubtless, yet to come. This is young Mr. Ryckman's day. Why not let him enjoy it, and generously enjoy it with him?

But Nebraska's senior senator doesn't feel that way about it at all at all. He waxes prodigiously indignant. The prize winning editorial he brands as an "insult to patriotism." And the Pulitzer committee that adjudged it excellent ought to have its several heads examined.

From this point of view the situation is serious. Something like treason has been committed to Fremont, and a great semi-public body is functioning stupidly if not viciously. Something ought to be done about that. Another senatorial investigation is in order, to be followed, perhaps by another constitutional amendment defining and punishing the crime of lese majeste.

A simpler remedy, though, would be for George W. Norris to learn how to laugh. "I hasten to laugh at everything," said Beaumarchais, "for fear of being obliged to weep." Beaumarchais was a philosopher. A great statesman should be a philosopher, too.—Omaha World-Herald.

FALL WORN OUT

Albert B. Fall, broken in body and spirit and over whose head hangs a jail sentence and heavy fine, will not again appeal his sentence. He is placing himself at the mercy of his friends who are trying to secure a Presidential pardon. "I am an old man," writes the former secretary of the interior, "I am not guilty of the crime of which I was accused and I have fought until I am worn out."

His luck has almost constantly accompanied Fall since he was first found guilty of betraying his government. His health, his wealth, and his friends, have left him until today in old age and ill health we find him a pitiable object of sympathy.

He suffered about all a man can suffer. He is without money to pay the $100,000 fine and a prison sentence would only hasten the end. These things considered, President Hoover may justify himself in granting a pardon.—Madison Star-Mail.

SCOTT SHOTS

by "SCOTTY"

How should you start a column of this sort? Pipe down, back there! Glenn, the printed just looked over my shoulder and remarked that you shouldn't start a column of this sort. Well, we're under way, now, anyhow.

Hoss shoe pitching seems to be in full swing, with the Barnyard Golf club at Carl Madsen's place going strong. It comes to the attention of the Scott Shot scooper that Jens Anderson defeated H. E. Auker 'tother day.

"Shucks," said the Scott Shot scooper modestly, "I'll bet a bottle of sarsaparilla that I can lick the whole kit and boodle at hoss shoe pitching. It don't look like there's much to it. All you have to do is throw the horseshoe so that it lights wrapped around the stake."

Here's a chance for you horseshoe fans to make some money. The Scott Shot scooper challenges the Barnyard Golf club champagne, whoever he is, to a game for money, marbles or chalk. All I ask is that you explain to me how to play the game and let me get warmed up by pitching a few shoes.

These barnyard golf players have gotten it into their heads that horse shoe pitching is important. They want results of their games published in The Democrat. So here's your challenge. We want to find out how important this horseshoe pitching game really is.

The Scott Shot scooper is going to appoint Billy Patterson as his trainer and coach.

It will be up to Billy to see that we have an impartial judge and that horseshoe pitching conditions are right. Billy must hold out for Queensberry rules and see that there are no brass knuckles in the crowd.

If there is any admission charge, the winner is to take the total gate receipts.

One Wayne man we know of complains that his wife is terribly untidy. He says that only last night he went out into the kitchen to spit in the sink—but the sink was full of dirty dishes.

Here's a story that we don't dare to print as a local joke, because of happenings in Wayne recently.

Magistrate (to prisoner): "How big was the brick you threw? Was it as big as my head?" Prisoner: "Yes, your honor, but not so thick."

Two Wayne tea-dance boys were standing in front of the postoffice yesterday when a gorgeous bit of femininity breezed by.

"Gee," said one of the soda fountain supporters, "I'd like to kiss that girl again."

"You mean to say you've kissed that baby?" the other asked.

"No, but I felt like it once before," the first replied.

"He wathn't any youth," Lissping Susie complained to the judge, as she applied for a divorce from her 75-year old husband.

There are lots of good column writers in Nebraska, but they'll all have to go some to beat Fred Howard of the Clay County Sun, said the Scott Shot scooper, tipping his hat in respect.

Grapefruit is one thing that manages to get itself into the public eye without the aid of the newspapers.

Now Odd McIntyre revives the wheeze about the banker who was sent to the penitentiary for taking home samples.

Does anybody have a Scotch Terrier pup for sale? (That's one way of getting a want ad into the paper without paying the boss for it.)

HOME TOWN FOLKS

"Papa" Nanson "Papa" Nanson ran the mill. His wife knew that he had diabetes, and watched his diet as if her own life depended on it. She guarded him carefully, saw that he had just the right food, that he didn't stay out too late at night, that his blood pressure did not get too high, that he didn't catch cold. She made a terrific fuss over him, talked about his ailments, petted him, pampered him.

That went on for five years, and one day "Mama Nan" got sick and died. "Papa Nan" was genuinely sorry about her death, but still—life in a cloister isn't the most desirable thing in the world.

Papa Nan had been a model of sobriety and upright living. Two weeks after his wife's death he went down to the Gladstone cafe and ordered the biggest gourmet's dream of a meal on the bill-of-fare. He started out with a rich, far too rich, soup and ended up with a man-size portion of strawberry short-cake with ice cream on it. Between the two dishes, he had taken numerous epicurean detours.

Following the meal, old Papa Nan hunted up the town bootlegger, made a purchase, and proceeded to get lit up like the community Christmas tree. He got past the "rosy" stage and into the advanced degrees of numbness.

The next morning, when he woke up, he felt fine except for a bad taste in his mouth. He was astonished to find, after five years of preaching about rigid diet, that he was still alive. It pleased him.

He repeated the formula, and while the meal was no larger than the one of the previous evening (it couldn't have been) he found that he was able to accomplish more in the liquid refreshment field.

He found a buddy, a bachelor lawyer, who appreciated his efforts in the work of drying up the town. The lawyer decided to help him.

"Papa" Nanson thrived on his new diet. The women of the community decided that something "ought to be done about it." They remembered poor dead "Mama" Nanson's untiring care of the old man—care that had been given to keep the old boy alive. His actions brought on great bursts of indignation.

"Papa" Nan went serenely on his way, casting an alcoholic aroma in his path. He ate as few men have ever eaten.

He's still doing it, seven years after his wife's death.

"It's downright disgraceful," the women of the town will tell you.

It was in Nebraska. It was spring. The sun was shining. (It didn't happen last week.)

The state legislature was in session. The governor of Nebraska had recommended certain appropriations, with which to run the state.

The appropriations had been vetoed. There was no money in the coffers with which to keep the wheels of the state in motion.

"What, oh, what shall we do," wailed little Aloysius Whortleberry, a politician. "We have no money with which to keep our state functioning."

"Don't be a dumb-bell all your life," said Grandpa Printwhistle, an old-timer in the political game. "Of course, we can't run the state without money. We know that and Governor Bryan knows it. The people of the state will yell about our actions. Governor Bryan will call a special session of the legislature. We'll pass an appropriation. Everybody will be happy."

"But why," complained little Aloysius Whortleberry, "didn't we pass the appropriation in the first place?" "Hmph," snorted old Grandpa Printwhistle, "It's easy to see that you don't know politics."

Yours till the wrestling racket is on the up and up.

CROWD SEES GRADE SCHOOL OPERETTA

"Forest Court" Pleases Large Audience Tuesday.

"The Forest Court," an operetta presented by students of the first to fifth grades of the Wayne public schools, was voted splendid entertainment by the crowd which packed the Gay theatre Tuesday evening.

The operetta was presented under the direction of Miss Arline Urban. She was assisted in the direction work by Miss Gillies and Miss Verna Mae O'Neill.

The plot of production appealed to the juvenile portion of the audience and the adults, too. Scenery, designed by Wilbur Porterfield, was adjudged more than adequate by the audience.

Members of the audience were impressed with the freedom of "stage fright" and the well-memorized lines of the juvenile actors and actresses. "Tommy," played by Russell Fox, was the principal character of the play. Uniformly good work was done by all the members of the cast.

In addition to the speaking cast, practically all children in the grade school were enlisted for work in the various choruses.

any's feature productions. Thursday night's bill is "The Schemer's Reward," a three act comedy drama by Tracy Markey. Friday evening's play, "The 18th Amendment," deals with the subject of prohibition. It is the Savidge company's feature bill.

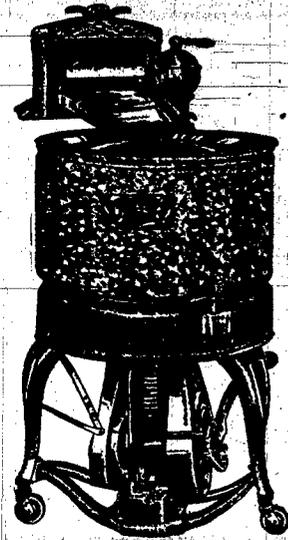

Saturday's matinee production will be announced later. Saturday evening a three act comedy, "Married for Money," will be presented. The bill was written by Tracy Markey.

The merry-go-round, ferris wheel and kiddie rides will, as usual, be features of the well-lighted Savidge midway. Booth's Illusions is characterized as a "show of magic wonders." Baby May, the American fat girl, weighs 480 pounds and speaks seven different languages.

The Converse circus side show, feature last year with the Johnny J. Jones shows, makes its debut in this territory. In it, strange, curious and unusual people from all parts of the world have been assembled. Koo Koo, the bird boy, and Clara-Leroy, sister and brother born joined together, are features of the side show. It is billed as an "amazing congress of living human paradoxes."

Mr. Savidge says that he has gone to a great deal of expense to bring this circus side show from the east.

There will be a band concert each day and evening, and many free acts on the grounds. The show will exhibit for one week only in Wayne this year. Week of June the 1st to 6-inclusive.

KEEPING FIT FOR SUCCESS

By Dr. V. E. Levine, professor of bio-chemistry and nutrition, the Creighton University School of Medicine.

(Ed. Note—Readers of this newspaper may receive answers to any questions regarding the general subject of health by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope with their questions to Dr. Victor E. Levine, Creighton University, Omaha, Neb.)

THE MEANING OF HEALTH
The most important form of wealth is health, as other forms of wealth are in reality worthless without it. The greatest problem of conservation relates not to forests or mines, but to human vitality.

Happiness is an inward adjustment, but it depends to large degree upon external factors. Among these factors we must mention health. Loss of health is the greatest obstacle to happiness and to joyous activity. It mars the personality. It cramps its possibilities. It limits its usefulness.

Health is not a gift given freely. A positive mental attitude is required to hold this priceless treasure. A knowledge of the simple laws of hygiene and sanitary living is indispensable. This knowledge must be utilized to develop habits of correct living.

We are now passing through an interesting period of transition. Life is becoming more intricate and more complex, while at the same time the hours of leisure are increasing, and the joys of life, physical, mental and spiritual, are multiplying rapidly. We need greater vigor and better health than our forefathers, in order to enjoy the advantages of the interesting age in which we live.

It is high time for us to modify our concept of health. In former days our old definition of good health was satisfied by physical and mental conditions which allowed us to keep at our duties and to avoid the hospital, the doctor, and the druggist. But our conception of health is more ambitious. It implies that the best is none too good for the individual or for the human race.

Good health should carry with it the capacity to live with the joy of living; to awaken exhilarated and eager for the day; to work with zest and enthusiasm for eight hours a day and more if necessary; to rest with pleasure and tranquility; to play with joy and satisfaction; to retire in good spirits to a restful and refreshing slumber.

Good health brings freedom from mental anxiety and physical discomfort. It assures mental, emotional and bodily poise, cheerfulness, self-activity, self-confidence, ambition and outlook.

You ask me who I am and I shall tell you. I am the most wonderful gift in the world.

With me men have felt the power to remove mountains, To fly the air as birds, To gain the wealth of Croesus. I am the secret of happiness. Without me the years are but a menace— Old age but a tragedy.

William Albus has purchased an 80-acre farm from Ernest Stuchen-smidt, about eight miles southwest of Pender.

The new Farmers and Merchants bank at West Point has opened for business.

Plans are being made to expand the federal fishery at Crawford, Neb.

STATE TAXES

The legislature threw up its hands and adjourned last Saturday without passing Bryan's or anybody's budget bill. Governor Bryan will call an extra session, of course, for funds must be appropriated to run the state. The boys will receive ten of the new paper dollars each day, and mileage, spent in special session passing a bill that could have been passed in the regular session if politics and lobbyism and plain bull-headedness had been thrown out. An extra session is a poor way to reduce taxes.—Randolph Times-Enterprise.

Gross farm incomes for the year ending June 30, 1930, totaled $463,758,000 or nearly 12 times the farm income of 50 years ago.

FORD BRAKES ARE UNUSUALLY EFFECTIVE

Reliability and safety due to simple design and careful construction

ONE OF the first things you will notice when you drive the Ford is the quick, effective action of its four-wheel brakes.

They are unusually safe and reliable because they are mechanical, internal expanding, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed. This prevents mud, water, sand, etc., from getting between the band and drum and interfering with brake action.

Other outstanding features of the Ford are the Triple-plate glass windshield, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, torque-tube drive, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, Rustless Steel, reliability, economy, and long life.

You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

SOCIETY and Club

Woman's Club.

The Wayne Woman's club met last Friday afternoon at the W. H. Gildersleeve home for a music program in keeping with Music week. A fine program of voice and piano selections was rendered by various members of the club and by others who responded to the request to take part. At the close of the program a luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Gildersleeve and Mrs. Mae Young. They were assisted by Mesdames McCay, C. W. Hiscox, Lutgen, Crossland and Dolph.

Last Sunday evening, the club members were invited guests at the Mothers' Day guest night service at the Baptist church. Rev. Braisted spoke on the subject: "Realities and Dreams of Martha and Mary." Plans have been made to give a one o'clock luncheon at the Stratton hotel on Friday or Saturday, May 22 and 23, the exact date as yet undetermined. Dr. Lutgen will give an address on the subject: "Public Health, Pioneering in Medicine and Surgery." All those who wish to attend the luncheon, whether members of the club or not, may do so by making reservations. Reservations should be given to Mrs. Fred Berry. May 1 was National Child's Health day and May 12 was National Hospital day. The luncheon is being given to give more people, especially those not members of the club, the opportunity to attend.

Alpha Club.

The Alpha club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. George Crossland for a Mothers' Day program and a Kensington. Mesdames R. C. Hahlbeck, Clarence Preston, and Claude Wright assisted the hostesses, Mrs. Coyle, Mrs. Fuesler, and Mrs. G. Swanson were guests. The topic for the afternoon was "Mothers of Great Men." Mrs. Clarence Preston opened the program with a piano solo. Mrs. D. Hall gave a talk on "How Mothers' Day was Founded." Several others took part in the program as follows: Mrs. Claude Wright, poem entitled, "Mother"; Mrs. Charles Gildersleeve, Whistler's Mother; Mrs. C. W. Hiscox, Lindbergh's Mother; Mrs. Wilbur Spahr, McKinley's Mother; Mrs. Clarence Preston, Carnegie's Mother; Mrs. Crossland, Lincoln's Mother; Mrs. Hahlbeck, Lincoln's Mother; Mrs. Claude Wright, President Hoover's Mother. Mrs. Hahlbeck sang "That Wonderful Mother of Mine." Mrs. Claude Wright read a paper, "My Madonna." After this part of the program there was a discussion of the magazine article, "What 12 Girls

Think of Their Mothers. At the close of the afternoon the hostesses served a two-course luncheon.

Tuesday's meeting concluded the meetings of the year. Plans have been made for a picnic for the Alpha members and their families the third week in June.

Young People's Bible Circle.

The Young People's Bible circle met last Friday evening at the Charlotte Ziegler home for a study of the second coming of Christ. Mrs. L. W. Kratavil acted as discussion leader and gave a very interesting talk on the evening's subject. Donald Simpson favored the group with a vocal solo entitled: "Beautiful Garden of Prayer." Word was given of Miss Laura Thompson stating that she planned to leave Zanzibar, Africa for Japan on May 2 and expected to arrive in Omaha about the third week in June to visit her mother, Mrs. Della Thompson, and her sister, Miss Lois Thompson. Word from Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Young states that they expect to arrive home about next week from Chico, Calif., where they are now visiting their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Young.

The circle will meet tomorrow evening at the Ziegler home for a study of the 8th chapter of Romans, beginning with the 14th verse and studying the passages on glorification.

Central Social Circle.

The Central Social circle met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John Gettman for a guest day meeting. Mrs. Gettman, Mrs. Will Back, Mrs. Roy Kloppling, and Mrs. Claude Bailey, were on the menu committee and Mrs. Carl Surber, Mrs. Ray Perdue, and Mrs. Will Roe were on the entertainment committee. Guests were Mesdames George Hoffman, Will Jensen, E. E. Lewis, Harold Quinn, Ben Meyer, Alvina Korff, Merle Roe, Albert Sahn, Beach, Hurst, Wallace Elder, Henry Timan and Miss Opal Phillips. Progressive Cootie was the diversion and was much enjoyed even by the charter members, three of whom are 70 years of age or more. Two grand prizes were awarded. These were won by Mrs. E. E. Lewis and Mrs. Merle Roe. At the close of the meeting the hostesses served a four-course luncheon.

The June meeting is to be held at the Elmer Phillips home. Mrs. Will Back is to be the leader.

Merrymakers.

The Merrymakers met last week Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Meyer for a social evening. Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Garwood were on the entertainment committee. Progressive cards were the diversion of the evening. Miss Dorothy Rew was a guest. After the games, a luncheon was served by the committee composed of Mrs. Will Roe, Mrs. Ben Meyer and Mrs. Albert Sahn.

The June meeting will be held at the Merle Roe home. Each family is to bring some number of their own choice for the evening's program. This meeting is to be somewhat of a jubilee as the group plans to celebrate all the June weddings which have taken place among members of the club.

Woman's Home Missionary.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. church met with Mrs. W. W. Whilman at the parsonage last Thursday afternoon. An election of officers was conducted, resulting as follows: Pres., Mrs. Crossland; V. Pres., Mrs. C. W. Fox; Sec., Mrs. C. O. Mitchell; Cov. Sec., Mrs. B. W. Wright; Treas., Mrs. R. Porterfield; and Mite Box Sec., Mrs. Carl Wright. Mrs. Winifred Main was elected delegate to the Norfolk District convention of the Home Missionary society to be held at Norfolk on May 19 and 20. At the close of the meeting, there was a social time and the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Kilborn and Mrs. P. C. Crockett, served refreshments.

Coterie Club.

The members of the Coterie club and their husbands were entertained at an evening party last Monday evening at the L. W. Ellis home beginning at 8:00 o'clock. The evening was spent at bridge of which there were eight tables. High scores were won by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mines. At the close of the evening, a two-course luncheon was served by the following committee: Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Warren

Shultheis, and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Orr.

There will be no further meetings of the club until the beginning of the next season in October.

P. N. G.

The members of the P. N. G. club met last Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. M. V. Crawford. Roll call was answered with facts about Nebraska or about Mothers' Day. There was an election of officers resulting as follows: Pres., Mrs. M. V. Crawford; Vice Pres., Mrs. Walter Lerner; Sec. Treas., Mrs. J. W. Groskurth. Three guests, Mrs. Levin-Johnson, Mrs. L. E. Panabaker, and Mrs. Ida Reynolds, were present. At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

Girl Scouts, Troop II.

The Girl Scouts of the Goldenrod troop, Miss Marian Jo Theobald, leader, met in the calisthenium at the college Tuesday afternoon as usual. Miss Leslie Clayton of the Wayne hospital came to the meeting and instructed some of the girls in first aid. Mrs. Tra George, student at the college, took the rest of the girls on a tree hunt about the campus and pointed out about 8 or 10 trees.

On this week Friday evening, the troop will meet for an outdoor campfire.

Country Club.

The members of the Country club were entertained at a 6:30 bridge dinner last Thursday evening, May 7, at the Country club, with the committee in charge as announced last week. This was the first of a series of parties and high scores are held respectively by Mrs. Charles M. Craver and W. P. Canning for the ladies and for the men.

There will be no more meetings during May. The next party will be sometime in June.

Evangelical Lutheran Aid.

The Evangelical Lutheran Ladies aid met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. H. A. Teckhaus at the parsonage. Just the regular business was conducted and the devotional service held. After this the afternoon was spent socially. Two ladies, Mrs. Blecke and Mrs. Rudolph Kunz, joined the aid.

The next meeting is to be with Mrs. Lizy Mohr of Wayne.

Birthday Supper.
Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Nelson and baby of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McNichols and little daughter of this community and Walter Leonard of Pender were entertained at supper Tuesday evening at the C. E. Liveringhouse home in honor of Mr. Liveringhouse, the occasion being his birthday.

Women's Bible Study Circle

The Women's Bible Study circle met Tuesday afternoon with Miss Charlotte Ziegler for a study of the current Sunday school lesson. Miss Rose Assenheimer led the lesson discussion.

The circle will meet as usual next week. Mrs. Gossard will lead.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Charles Simpson entertained at the Simpson home yesterday afternoon for a group of young folks at a birthday party in honor of her son, Donald Simpson. A social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served. Appropriate gifts were left as remembrances.

D. A. R.

The meeting of the D. A. R. to have been held last Saturday afternoon was postponed until this week Saturday. The meeting is to be held this Saturday afternoon, May 16, at the home of Mrs. Montgomery in Wakefield. Mrs. Nuernberger and Mrs. Johnson will assist the hostess.
