Memorial Talk Stresses Need of 'World Family.'

Rev. Wm. E. Braisted addressed Wayne Kiwanians at their regular meeting Monday noon on the subject, "Appreciation and How to Prove It." The talk had been arranged for as a special Memorial week feature.

Speaking of the Civil War veterans, Rev. Braisted said, "In these men, who represent all men involved in that war period from 1861 to 1865, living and dead, it is only fitting to consider them representative of all those who, anywhere, at any time, have served to save."

"We find it easier to gain an appreciation of these men who 'served to save' when we visit the great battlefields, such as Gettysburg, and the great cities like Baltimore, Atlanta, and Washington—the White House, Ford's theatre, and the holy place where Lincoln died."

"Lincoln, in his Gettysburg address, said, 'It is for us, the living, rather than the dead to be here dedicated to the unfinished task to which these men gave their last full measure of devotion!'"

"It might not be worthwhile for us to think of appreciation and how to prove it in some measure of faith in human life. 'How is it in business where men are bearing all they can carry—where a knock may make men fail and cheer may bring victory?'"

Sixty-nine Wayne State Teachers' college students were given bachelor's degree diplomas by Dr. U. S. Conn, president of the college, at graduation exercises at 10:30 Wednesday morning in the college auditorium.

One hundred and eleven received diplomas for completion of the two year course.

Dr. E. N. Tompkins, pastor of the First Methodist church at Sioux City Iowa, was the principal speaker, and used as his subject, "The Unseen Star."

The program was as follows: Processional, March Rakoczy, College Orchestra Serenade, Double Mixed Quartette Louis Rickabaugh, Mildred Moses, Gretchen Teckhaus, Francis Hills, Harry Langley, Franklin Philbo, Hugh Linn and Henry Hull.

Work on the Girl Scout cabin, located eight miles southeast of Wayne, is practically completed. Members of the committee in charge say that there is only half a day's work left, and that the building will be finished by Sunday.

Girl Scouts are planning to hold a housewarming soon after the cabin is completed.

Aviation Official Inspects Wreck

Joseph E. Boudwin, Jr., representative of the aeronautics branch of the United States department of commerce at Washington, D. C., flew to Wayne from Omaha Monday to investigate the airplane accident in which Guy Strickland and Wayne Putnam lost their lives Sunday. He made the trip in a government plane, and was taken County Attorney H. D. Addison, to the scene of the accident by the government report is still confidential, and Mr. Boudwin is not allowed to give out any details of it.

The government report is still confidential, and Mr. Boudwin is not allowed to give out any details of it. County Attorney Addison, acting as coroner, reported the cause of death in the plane crash as accidental. No inquest was held. Mr. Addison went to the scene of the crash Sunday immediately following first reports of the accident, and gave order that the wrecked remains of the plane should be left untouched until a government representative should have time to examine them.

Crowd Views May Fete at College Gym

366 Take Part in Old English Festival Tuesday.

Approximately 1,700 people witnessed the annual May festival, "An Old-English May-Day," presented in the Wayne State Teachers' college gymnasium at ten o'clock Tuesday morning.

The program, directed by Miss Esther Dewitz, was given by 260 training school students, 50 rural school students, 50 college women and six college men.

Kindergarten children were directed by Miss Alwine Luers. Costumes for the elaborate presentation were made under the direction of Miss Mary Currier of the Home Economics department of the college. Miss Crystal Dragon acted as pianist, and orchestra music was furnished under the direction of Professor W. C. Hunter.

WIRE TAPPING CASE TO BE HEARD HERE

Charges Are Said to Be Result of Community Telephone Row.

What is characterized by reliable informants as a "neighborhood row" got into County Judge J. M. Cherry's court Tuesday afternoon, May 26, with filing of charges of telephone wire tapping against John D. Clausen, farmer in Leslie precinct in the southeast corner of the county.

The Farmers' Mutual Home telephone company charges in the complaint that Clausen tapped onto their wires. The penalty for such action is a minimum fine of $25, with the maximum set at $500, or from one to three years in the penitentiary, or both.

Services for Airplane Victims Held Tuesday

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the home for Guy R. Strickland, one of the two victims in the airplane crash on the Rolle W. Ley land just east of the W. A. K. Neely farm. Wayne business houses were closed from 1:45 until 3:00, so that friends of the deceased air pilot and garage proprietor could attend the funeral. The Miller and Strickland garage, of which the crash victim was one of the proprietors, was closed all day Tuesday out of respect to the memory of Mr. Strickland.

At exactly the same hour Tuesday, services were held at Naper, Neb., for Wayne Putnam, Wayne State Teachers' college student, the other victim of the fatal crash. Mr. Putnam's body was taken to Naper Monday morning.

Clarence Sorenson had just returned from a short flight with the ill-fated plane Sunday afternoon when Mr. Strickland, owner of the plane, decided to go up. Mr. Putnam, who had been intensely interested in aeronautics, asked to be taken aloft with the pilot, and Mr. Strickland obliged.

Those who saw the accident say that the plane had gained only about 350 feet altitude when it went into a tall spin. They say that Mr. Strickland had straightened it out of the spin, but that the plane had come so near the earth by that time that the pilot could not get back his lost altitude. At the scene of the accident, it appears that the plane went through a barbed wire fence and that part of it struck a fence post. When it crashed, gasoline in the tank caught fire and the plane was soon enveloped in a mass of flames. People going by the road were attracted by the flames and drove in, but were powerless to extinguish the fire.

The terribly burned bodies of the crash victims were imprisoned in a mass of charred and twisted wreckage, and it was necessary to saw part of the wreck away with a hack saw, in order to remove them. No one will ever know just what caused the accident. Flames which enveloped the plane immediately after it crashed ate up all evidence of the cause of the fatal accident.

An earlier report to the effect that the accident took place at 2:30 was found incorrect, when Willard Wiltse examined Mr. Strickland's broken watch and found that it had stopped at exactly 2:05 o'clock.

Many rumors as to the cause of the accident have been afloat in Wayne this week. Some have said that the plane had not been working satisfactorily for several days and that a mechanic had been sent for to come and (continued on page four)

CHELSEA THOMPSON VIOLATES PAROLE

Must Serve 113 Days in Jail as Result of Spree.

Panther sweat, a dynamic form of firewater, put Chelsea Thompson face to face with 113 days in the county jail, when he was brought into County Judge J. M. Cherry's court Tuesday afternoon on a charge of intoxication.

Judge Cherry's first action was to revoke a parole given to Thompson last September, when he had served 37 days of a 90 day sentence on an intoxication and possession charge.

On August 9, when Thompson was arraigned on the intoxication and possession charge, it was brought out in the testimony that he had choked his wife brutally until she had given him four dollars' room rent money. Testimony was to the effect that his wife had refused to give him the money, because she wanted to use it for buying food for the family. After choking her into a state of semi-consciousness, Thompson took the money from her, went out and bought a jug of liquor, and proceeded to run about of county officials.

Tuesday afternoon, after revoking the parole, Judge Cherry read a charge of intoxication to Thompson. Thompson pled not guilty, but was found guilty and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail, giving him a total assessment of 113 days to serve.

Ernest C. Kohrt, charged with intoxication, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and payment of costs of $6.40. Upon payment of costs, he was paroled.

JOHNSTON LOSES SUIT OVER PLANE

Attempts to Collect $200 Balance on Air Transaction.

Aviation wedged its way into the Wayne county court Saturday, May 23, when County Judge J. M. Cherry heard the case of J. V. Johnston vs. Mrs. Henry Tietgen.

Johnston had sold a one-half interest in a Lincoln standard airplane to Albert Tietgen, 12 years old, in 1929, for $500. Mrs. Tietgen had given her son $300 as a down-payment on the plane. Johnston alleged in court that Mrs. Tietgen should pay the $200 balance on the transaction.

The court found that she was not liable, and assessed the costs of the action against Johnston.

Memorial Day

Wayne's observance of Memorial Day will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Gay theatre, with Rev. P. A. Davies of the Piosbyterian church giving the sermon.

R. P. Williams will be the only Civil War veteran in the procession. A. J. Hyatt, Wayne's other living Civil War vet, is visiting in Montana and will not be home for the services.

The American Legion will have charge of the procession which will march from the theatre to the cemetery.

Memorial Day came into being through an order issued by General John A. Logan. On May 5, 1868, Wayne business houses will be closed Saturday morning, in order that local business men and women may attend Memorial Day exercises. The stores will be open Saturday afternoon and evening.

while General Logan was commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, he issued an order setting aside May 30 as the date on which members of that organization would pay tribute to their fallen comrades.

For some years, Decoration day was the name used, but in 1874, Congress, by enactment, designated Memorial Day as the official name and set aside May 30 for its observance, declaring it a national holiday.

Graves of soldiers are decorated with flowers and flags on Memorial day. Battles which were only troublesome names to schoolboys came to have vivid meaning as youngsters watched bent, gray old men kneel besides graves and heard them say: "Charlie never came back from the Wilderness," and "Joe fell at Fort Fisher."

To the easily remembered names of American battles have come others: the Marne, Belleau Wood, Verdun and a hundred others at which some of those school-boys gave their all.

Willard Wiltse Goes to Chicago to Study

Willard Wiltse, assistant to Wm. Beckenhauer, mortician, is leaving Saturday, accompanied by his wife, for Chicago. He will be there for six months, attending the Worsham college of Embalming.

Farmer Discovers Bed of Peet Moss

John Schroeder, who lives eight miles northwest of Wayne, is building an artificial lake which will, he believes, be the envy of every angler in this locality.

The lake is 14 feet deep at the east end and eight feet deep at the west end, according to soundings made Sunday. It covers a space of seven acres, and is being stocked with fish from the state hatcheries.

An unique feature of the lake is a peat moss bed which was unearthed during dredging work. So far as Mr. Schroeder knows, this is the first peat moss ever unearthed any place around this vicinity.

He plans on using the peat moss for fertilizer and baby chick bedding. Many of his friends have been going out to his place to get samples of it.

Jubilee Plans Are Coming Along Nicely

Committee Arranges for Radio Advertising Schedule.

Wayne's Golden Jubilee celebration will be well advertised, as a result of plans made at a meeting of the celebration publicity committee Sunday. E. W. Huse is chairman of the committee in charge of advertising plans. Members of the committee are Jim Pile, Homer Scace, Fred Blair, E. B. Gallely and G. A. Wade.

Homer Scace, E. B. Gallely and Fred Blair made a trip to Norfolk Monday afternoon and arranged to have advertising of the celebration broadcasted over radio station WJAG.

Several members of the free attraction committee plan to go to Sioux City Saturday evening to interview members of the Dutton equestrian circus. The Dutton troupe, appearing in Sioux City under auspices of a lodge, are heralded as leaders in outdoor entertainment.

Committee members are afraid that the Dutton troupe will want an exorbitant price, since they are headliners in "big time" theatrical circles, but they are going to endeavor to sign the troupe, if such a thing is at all possible.

Plans to erect a monument commemorating the establishment of Wayne 50 years ago have been definitely established by the "old timer" committee. Members of the group have been looking at various styles of monuments, and have not yet decided just what kind of marker will be purchased.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADS RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Dr. Frank G. Smith Talks on 'Sure Formula for Success.'

Forty-six graduates, the largest graduating class in the history of Wayne high school, received diplomas Friday evening, May 22, at commencement exercises held in the Methodist church.

Dr. Frank G. Smith, pastor of the First Central Congregational church at Omaha, delivered the commencement address, using the subject, "A Sure Hit Formula for Success." A masterful speaker, he held the graduates and the audience spellbound from the start of his talk to the finish.

His formula for success included Work, Living, Love, Faith and Humanity. Special music was given by the girls' chorus and the girls' sextette. The diplomas were presented by acting-president of the school board E. W. Wright, in the absence of President Carhart.

Wayne Band Opens Season Sunday Night

Memorial Concert to Be Dedicated to War Veterans.

Wayne's municipal band director, F. C. Reed, will open his sixth season as director of local musical organizations Sunday evening, May 31, when the band gives a memorial concert at Bressler Park. The concert, which will start at eight o'clock, is dedicated to the union soldier and the World War veteran.

Professor Reed says that the opening concert is usually held on Memorial day, but that Memorial day's falling on Saturday this year made it advisable to change the date. Seats in the park will be reserved for the older people.

In case of rain, arrangements have been made to hold the concert in the Methodist church.

Band concerts will be given every Thursday evening during the summer, starting Thursday, June 11. No concert will be held on Thursday, June 4, due to the appearance here every day during the week beginning June 1 of Walter Savidge's concert band.

Professor Reed says that his musical organization is in splendid shape to begin the concert season, and he promises music lovers band selections of high calibre.

Wayne's band is recognized in band circles throughout the middle west, as being an outstanding musical organization, and has won many honors in band competition. The program for the Sunday evening concert follows: March, "Memoria".....Sault Sacred Fantasia, "The Angelus".....Buys Encore, "Old Comrades March".....Telke Descriptive Overture, "The Battle for Democracy".....Fuhres (An overture depicting the World War.) This Week's Question

If it were possible for you to go any place you cared to on a vacation trip, where would you go? Martin L. Ringer: "Colorado, around Denver and Colorado Springs would be my choice. I would cross the mountains and get on the western slope."

Dr. C. T. Ingham: "To the mountains. I wouldn't care where, just so it was the mountains." Chas. Hiscok: "I'd go to Denver and Colorado Springs. I would like to go to the Black Hills country, too, but don't believe it would be as nice a trip as the Colorado one."

McMaster: "Although I have been told that the scenery in the Black Hills country and Yellowstone Park cannot be surpassed in any other country, yet I have always wanted to see the red wood forests of California in the Sequoia National Park, and see the beautiful sunsets that I have read about in the mountains of Switzerland."

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

First Baptist Church
W. E. Braisted, Pastor
Sunday, May 31, 1931.
10:00 a. m. The Church Bible School. Classes and a welcome for all. Lesson: "The Meaning of Gethsemane."
11:00 a. m. The Morning worship with inspiring music, and a teaching ministry. Subject: "Oh Love that Will not Let Me Go." Interested? If so, try it.
6:30 p. m. The Young People's Fellowship and Discussion Group. This has proved of great value and joy in many lives. Welcome.
The Evening. On a special appeal it was desired that the churches close for the evening to permit and share in a Patriotic Band concert in the park. All things considered, it has seemed advisable to do so. This only, and let it not be misunderstood in any way, please. This town should know better from me. If it should be too stormy that evening to have this at the park; and, if no other alternative place for any meeting that evening is provided; rather than go with none anywhere, even in a stormy evening, the First Baptist Church will be ready and open to the band and all who might wish, if any did, to share in a simple, substitute service, with music and a brief talk.
It would seem too bad not to use the evening in some such way, if no other and better way.

Serve Salmon

If you serve salmon you'll save money and secure a large amount of nourishment. For only thirty-five cents you can serve four people this delicious dish:

Creamed Salmon and Celery: Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups milk and salt and pepper. Add two-thirds of the contents of a tall can of pink salmon and one-half cup cooked diced celery. Serve on a hot platter surrounded by mashed potatoes.

Here's another good salmon dish replete with protein:

Salmon and Egg Loaf: Mash the contents of a tall can of salmon and flake. Add two slightly beaten eggs, two tablespoons chopped green pepper, twelve chopped stuffed olives, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, three tablespoons cream and one cup crumbs. Fill a buttered loaf tin with half the mixture. Place three hard-cooked eggs in a row through the center, end to end. Cover with the rest of the salmon, pack well, place in a covered steamer, and steam one hour. Remove, unmold on a serving platter and garnish with parsley. Serve in slices. Serves eight.

This Serves Fifty

Salmon Puffs with Hollandaise Sauce: Beat sixteen eggs well, add two quarts milk and the contents of four one-pound cans of salmon, flaked. Add two quarts soft-bread crumbs, four tablespoons salt, paprika, nutmeg, three tablespoons lemon juice and turn into well-greased small molds, each of which has a hard-cooked egg in the bottom. Set molds in hot water, bake in a slow oven, 300 degrees, for forty to fifty minutes, or till set and a knife comes out clean. Turn out onto plates and garnish with Hollandaise sauce and a bit of watercress.

The Ministerial Association will begin Sunday evening, June 21. However several of the churches may unite in evening services June 7.

BUY REAL ESTATE
According to Roger Babson now is the time to buy real estate. It has been years since the market has been lower—and with indications pointing to better times we may be just on the verge of a rapid rise from the depression. Mind you, I am not stating that we are on the rise but only that there are indications that would make us optimistic. Resident property can be purchased in Newman Grove more reasonably now than at any time in recent years. If we may judge by the past the rise will be rapid when it once starts. Always buy when everybody wants to sell and sell when everybody wants to buy is good advice. Young couples should purchase their homes instead of renting for they can, through a building and loan association, pay for a home with but a little larger monthly payment than the rent of a good residence would cost them. Then there is the satisfaction of ownership with the joy of improvement that comes to all home owners which is entirely missed by renters. All renters should give this matter careful consideration.—Newman Grove Reporter.

Do YOU BUY GASOLINE blindfolded?
Many buy gasoline from the nearest pump, believing all gasolines are alike. When their motors lose pep they blame the motor, or the kind of gasoline they bought last.
That's not quite fair, because the quality of gasoline you use has a lot to do with the way your motor behaves.
Some gasolines contain sulphur compounds which attack metal and destroy the perfect fit of the parts. Unless scientific refining completely removes it, tar collects on valves, clogs piston rings and heavily coats the combustion chamber and the exhaust manifold with carbon.
That's why many motors lose much of their power after a few thousand miles of operation—why low grade, cut quality gasoline often proves the most expensive fuel you can use.
Balanced RED CROWN GASOLINE gives quick starts and all the power and mileage your motor is capable of on refined gasoline. It contains no sulphur or tar to injure your motor or cut down its mechanical efficiency. Clean, high power, balanced Red Crown Gasoline is the safe road to cheap power and mileage.

AVIATION RISKS

Wayne last Sunday received a horrible example of what happens when an airplane "goes wrong" and the memory of what occurred is vividly fixed in the minds of those who saw it.

"Aviation is past the experimental stage," we've been told lately. "Flying is safe," aviation propagandists have insisted.

Well... all the publicity designed to make the public "aviation conscious" can't erase the picture of what had been two fine men... their bodies burned beyond recognition... imprisoned in a mass of charred and twisted metal that had once been an airplane.

Did you ever smell burning human flesh? Those who went out to a pasture to see an airplane wreck last Sunday afternoon have smelled it... and they wish they hadn't.

"Aviation is safe," air enthusiasts insist.

Monday's daily newspapers say "Crash on Mountain Kills Mail Pilot," "Three Are Killed as Wing Drops Off," "5,000 See Pilot in Fatal Fall."

Aviation is still in the experimental stages. Pilots can still be classed as pioneers. The man who goes up in a plane is taking a chance. The risk may not be as great as it was a few years ago, but Sunday's accident is vivid testimony to the fact that there is danger in flying.

Wayne's enthusiasm for airplanes has been dealt a heavy blow. It takes a long time to forget.

TAX BURDEN

The world is groaning under tax burdens traceable directly to war costs. Aside from employment given to men and industries connected with military enterprises, war expenditures are largely non-productive.

For instance, more than half of the federal appropriations for the next year is chargeable to war expenses in the form of army, navy and other national defense costs. Interest on war debts, pensions, soldier bonuses, veterans' hospitals, and so forth. This is not an expense for one year. This, but has been a tremendous item since the recent world war, and will continue to be for years to come.

There is something sporting about a gun battle that appeals to the public. It seems as though the bandit had a chance to fight for his life, a chance which he does not have when strapped in an electric chair. That may account for the policeman being a hero and the sobs when an execution is contemplated although the state is responsible in both cases.

On the other hand, the criminal is not a sportsman. He takes as few chances as possible. He seeks out the moment when the chances of interference are as small as possible and then takes every precaution. And when he is interrupted he shoots without warning and kills without mercy. So why be sporting about such things? Why not regard the criminal who contemplates killing by carrying weapons as a poisonous viper worthy only of being crushed on the spot?—Lincoln Journal.

SPENDING OUR MONEY

It is a sad commentary on the efficiency of governmental methods that practically every state and municipality in the country is faced with a financial crisis, as result of mismanagement or worse, while the federal government exhibits a mounting deficit.

Still, our countless departments, bureaus, and other agencies for the spending—and often squandering—of tax money clamor for more and more funds. Bureaucrats do awake nights it would seem, thinking up new ways of spending the public revenues, while legislators also lose sleep trying to discover how to impose new tax burdens. Through the operation of this vicious circle the cost of government in the United States has increased to more than four times what it was in 1913.

An increase of governmental expenses from year to year is to be expected, owing to the growth of population and wealth, but the rapidity of increase in recent years is entirely out of proportion to that growth even making liberal allowance for the improved public facilities which have been provided.

Too much of the public money is devoted to purposes foreign to the legitimate functions of government. For example, hundreds of millions of dollars are appropriated for the purpose of bringing more farm land under cultivation through irrigation, while other hundreds of millions are appropriated in an effort to aid in disposing of the surplus farm crops that are raised in the land already under cultivation. The mania for investigations is costing the taxpayers many millions, with practically no resulting benefit to anyone. Still other millions are expended in the attempted enforcement of a multitude of laws and regulations of doubtful advantage to the public. All this governmental waste will continue until the taxpayers themselves are aroused to the point of calling a halt, by relegating to private life the legislators and others who are responsible for it.—Neilgh News.

ARMED CRIMINALS

Capital punishment is the penalty demanded by an eastern publication in a gang-ridden community for crimes committed by armed persons. The combination of a crime and a gun is sufficient to merit the punishment, the paper claims, and the contention is worthy of consideration.

When a man goes forth to commit a crime and carries a gun with him he contemplates killing if necessary. Otherwise he would not be armed. The armed criminal on the job is a potential killer. His death at the hands of the state is a sure method of removing that particular menace.

There is objection to so drastic a method, of course. Some people oppose the taking of life by the state. If a policeman engages in a gun battle with a bandit and shoots him, the policeman is a hero and applauded for his act. The state has, through an agent, taken a life, yet when the electric chair is used, the sobs are loud.

There is something sporting about a gun battle that appeals to the public. It seems as though the bandit had a chance to fight for his life, a chance which he does not have when strapped in an electric chair. That may account for the policeman being a hero and the sobs when an execution is contemplated although the state is responsible in both cases.

ISOLATION

Evidence that the United States is obeying the stern injunction of President Washington to "keep clear of world affairs and maintain its isolation."

of instability, whether social, political or economic.

International confidence cannot be builded upon fear—it must be builded upon good will. The whole history of the world is filled with chapter after chapter of the failure to secure peace through either competitive arms or intimidation.

Another general disarmament conference is to be held next February. No greater forward step for world progress and friendly relationship between nations can be accomplished than in an effective agreement that will result in a material decrease in money spent throughout the world for war.—Nebraska Farmer.

EMPLOYMENT

Some twenty-five thousand workmen were recently recalled to full-time employment in industrial, railway and municipal plants of various kinds. For every re-employed worker included in the statistics, there were two or three, at least, re-employed or newly employed without any statistical report. Granted that there were new lay-offs involving thousands, which was probably the case, the day record was nevertheless a net gain in employment. Most of us are sick of the high-pressure optimism, obviously propaganda and destined to furnish an imitation silver lining to clouds that are all too real. But even the most cynical can hardly fail to feel a little glow of new courage when the recorded facts begin to indicate a turn in the tide. And the tide is turning. One need look no further than the revival of business right here in Tekamah, where close to two hundred men started on their new job this week. Some of them have been without work for months, and when they get through with their present job there will probably be another one waiting for them here. Yes, the tide is turning. It took big business to start it again, but once it is underway lesser concerns will profit and be able to keep it moving in the up-hill climb.—Burt County Herald.

STEEL MOVES WESTWARD

Decentralization of industry is proceeding at a rapid pace. Formerly it was considered essential for industry to locate near the source of its material supply. Transportation costs, ever mounting, now make it equally important for industry to locate as near its markets as possible. "Steel Is Building Its Plants on the Consumer's Doorstep," reads the title of an article in the current issue of Business Week. The old Pittsburgh plus rate has been replaced by a Pittsburgh minus rate, the article says, as mills quote their product f. o. b. factory and encourage buying from the nearest plant.

The fuel advantage Pittsburgh once enjoyed is now being more than equalized by improvements in steel practices, transportation, etc.

All this has significance to Sioux City and the northwest. Canalization of the inland waterways system will materially reduce transportation costs between producing and consuming centers. But if the mills are seeking the raw material to bring their mills still closer to the consumer, it is propitious for the development of the ore beds of South Dakota and Southern Minnesota.

The high cost of steel and iron is a deterrent factor in the industrial development of this territory. Business interests of this community should devote a little effort to placing their situation before the responsible heads of some of the steel and iron manufacturing concerns.—Sioux City Tribune.

COMMUNITY

There is a certain service, community contact and personal influence in small town stores, due to their range of business, which cannot be realized by the big department stores of our metropolitan cities. In this particular the stores differ from the mills. But in the background we still have the principle of advertising. Can you name a single department store in any city which has seasoned the turmoil and rage of our business world which has not utilized a constant and constructive advertising campaign? In these days of keen competition and new systems of merchandising, only the wide-awake and thinking merchants weather the business world storms. Advertising occasionally will not bring customers rushing into your store but a well founded and well balanced advertising campaign will create a demand for your goods if you give service, soil reliable merchandise and stand back of your goods. It takes salesmanship, personality, community boosting, well displayed goods, courteous clerks and continuous advertising well edited to build business.—Stanton Register.

fix it. A story that the plane had been tampered with in the hangar was given little credence. Few people attached much importance to the statement published in the Sioux City Tribune Monday to the effect that Putnam had become scared and thrown his arms around Strickland in such a way as to keep him from manipulating the controls. Guy R. Strickland was born at Wayne on December 8, 1889. At the time of his death he was 41 years, 5 months and 16 days old.

His education began in the public schools of Wayne, and he was a graduate of Wayne State Teachers' college, completing the scientific course. He then attended the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

As a surveyor he spent the year of 1912 in the employ of a railroad in Oregon. In 1913 and 1914 he followed the same line of employment in Central America and in the Panama zone.

Returning to Wayne, he entered the lumber business in the employ of Mr. C. H. Fisher. Later he bought an interest in what is now the Central garage. When the World War broke out, he sold his interest in the garage to his father, the late D. L. Strickland, and to W. S. Miller. He enlisted in the government service and continued until the Armistice was signed.

Returning to Wayne at the close of the war, he purchased his father's interest in the garage and continued a partnership with Mr. Miller until his death.

He was married at Omaha on December 22 to Miss Minnie Miller. Always interested in aviation, he began his airplane experience in April 1919. He bought the plane which caused his death in August, 1929. He had just finished 200 hours of flying, and the fatal accident was the first in his experience.

Mr. Strickland was one of Wayne's most successful business men, giving all of his time to his business and his home. He was a member of the Wayne Kiwanis club.

During the last years of his life, Mr. Strickland had given considerable time to the study of French, Spanish and German, with the thought that he and Mrs. Strickland might visit these lands.

His father and one sister preceded him in death by a few months. He leaves to mourn his going a loving wife, his mother, Mrs. D. L. Strickland of Wayne; and three sisters: Mrs. Frank Morgan of Wayne, Mrs. George Tillquist of Chicago, Ill., and Miss Nell Strickland of Wayne.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. P. A. Davies, assisted by Rev. H. A. Teckhaus. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Wayne Putnam had been a student at Wayne State Teachers' college for two years, and had worked his own way through school. He was regarded by those who knew him as a diligent worker and a pleasant companion.

GRAD GETS LETTER FROM WHITE HOUSE

Dean Winegar Receives Congratulations from Washington.

When one president writes to another president, that's news.

While Dean Winegar, president of the Senior class of Wayne High school, didn't exactly receive a letter from the President of the United States, he received one from the President's secretary—and that's the next best thing.

Dean sent a copy of the Wayne high school commencement announcement to President Hoover, and received the following answer:

The White House
Washington
May 20, 1931.

My Dear Mr. Winegar:
The President asks me to thank you very much for your kindness in sending him the announcement of your commencement exercises. He cannot attend but he wants me to send to you and to all the members of the class his congratulations and best wishes.

Sincerely yours,
Lawrence Richey,
Secretary to the President.

SCOTT SHOTS

by "SCOTTY"

Where the old folks used to save up for a rainy day, the youngsters save up for a wet night.

Which brings to mind a statement Ed Townsend makes in his "Weekly Chats" column of the Rook County (Minnesota) Star. Ed says:

"Who remembers the boy in high school before prohibition days who took a drink? Almost every high school had ONE. He was considered 'tough.' Do you remember any wild parties among the school children in those days? Once in a while some town reared a black eye from one, but the party was generally confined to two or three girls and a dozen boys. Compare those days with today. You can't expect the kids to behave when the parents set an example in the home.

"How many wild parties were held in the homes in those days? It is time the American people faced the facts. One strong, fearless man could settle this prohibition question. It will never be settled by 'wet' or 'dry' planks in political platforms. If the people want this country 'dry' mobilize our army and make a concerted attack on the 'hangouts' of the big boys in the bootlegging industry. Capture them. Courtmartial them. Shoot them at sunrise. It takes a strong man to do this. And he must have the backing of the people. Will the people back him? That's something that should be found out.

"In the meantime, the younger generation that was supposed to prove prohibition a success by growing up 'dry' is shocking the older generation with their wild orgies. It's time this question was settled. But it will take a strong, fearless man to do it either way. Where is he?

If you think politicians have an easy graft, try sitting on a fence and keeping one ear to the ground.

You can find something good to say about almost anyone. Take the case of Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Reilly. Mrs. Murphy's two sons had been sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for burglary, and had just returned home after serving six years of their sentences. They had been given four years off for good behavior.

Mrs. Reilly called, and after Mrs. Murphy had explained that the sons had been given four years off for good behavior, Mrs. Reilly said, "Sure, Mrs. Murphy, and it must be fine to have two such good boys."

Vice encouragement as exhibited by a weekly paper in a near-by community—(It was found in the church notes. Tsk, tsk.) "Young people's social evening. An address will be given on the subject: 'Temptations.' Meeting begins at 8 p. m. We expect a big crowd of young people out to hear about the temptations which beset modern youth. You should know about them."

Here's another on which we offer no comment—(taken from the Wisner news in the Norfolk Daily News). "The 4-H Needle and Thread club held a business meeting in the Rest Room."

These new-fangled bathing suits ought to be a big help to girls who try to appear natural.

It looks as if the Barnyard Golf club is going to completely ignore the Scott Shot scooper's challenge for a game of horseshoes. The challenge was issued two weeks ago, and mentioned again last week, but so far no member of the organization has issued an acceptance of the call to battle.

It looks as if the Barnyard Golf Club members' talk about skill in horse shoe pitching was all talk.

It's the same sort of a proposition that professional boxers and wrestlers are up against. The champion refuses to accept any serious contenders. Unfortunately, we have no State Horse Shoe Pitching Commission, so I can't present my challenge to the commission.

So I'll do what boxers and wrestlers do. My challenge has not been accepted, so I'll claim the championship of Wayne. From now on I am a claimant to the title of Wayne-Horse Shoe Pitching Champion. When you see me on the street, you will please tip your hat respectfully and refer to me as "Champ."

Part of my difficulty in securing a title match I attribute to the fact that Billy Patterson is my manager. The Barnyard Golf Club members know that Billy is a shrewd manager. They know that he never bets on a loser. So, naturally, they are skeptical of arranging a contest with Billy on the opposing side.

A rather feeble joke is the one about the fellow who named his dog Mars, because he thinks it's inhabited.

News Flash Lead all Extra! Rumors are afloat that M. S. G., columnist for the Waterloo Courier-Tribune, has turned poet. Charges hurled at M. S. G. accuse him of perpetrating home-made poetry upon his readers. Accusers are divided into two factions: one group says that M. S. G. has been writing poetry, the other group says that it was not poetry. Both sides agree, however, that whatever it was—it ought to be stopped.

Knowing M. S. G. as well as I do, I cannot believe that the charges are based on fact. Don't destroy my faith in you, M. Stanley. Say it ain't so, Merrill, say it ain't so.

The story is that of a May Day as it might have happened long ago in England.

The lovely Adele has been chosen as the new Queen of the May. While the villagers are waiting for her to appear they start the program. But the lovely Adele does not come. Finally Queen Ethelyn, the retiring queen, dispatches the whiffers (messengers) to see what is keeping her. They return and report that the maiden and her attendants have been stolen by Robin Hood and his band and are being detained in Sherwood Forest.

Queen Ethelyn finally decides to invite Robin Hood to the festival.

Robin Hood and his men come, bringing Adele with them. She is crowned May Queen.

are we so stingy with our thanks? "It is in the home as it is in business. It is a well-known fact that when clerks, stenographers, bookkeepers and other help are given some show of appreciation, we get better service and more of it than we can get with all the 'bawling out' in the world. This is a true economic principle, and it is better for us as well as for them in the culture of things fine and true.

"In 1861-1865 it was a Civil War—a war within a family, north and south: one family—our family. God's family.

"Are we large enough now, men, to conceive a world family? Every problem, all our economic, social, educational and religious problems, have got to be conceived and solved on a world scale. There is no alternative.

"We must learn to appreciate, and prove our appreciation with deeds, not words. We must live a family life the world around, without respect to race, creed, nationality or color. That is appreciation. History will be the proof of whether it is words or heart reality.

"Selfishness is always suicidal, as it ought to be.

"Here goes, men, for a new world life through appreciation.

"It has been put to the test and proved in business, homes, education and religion, and here we go."

TRUCKERS DECIDE TO TEST NEW FEE

Meeting Here Saturday Attended by 150 Truckmen.

Nebraska truckers, 150 strong, met Saturday at the Wayne city hall and decided to contest in court the constitutionality of the new truck license law requiring payment of $250 license fee on six tons capacity. A referendum on the statute may also be sought.

The law, designated by the last legislature as senate file 33, was passed over Governor Bryan's veto and provides greatly increased license fees for busses and trucks of all descriptions. Truckers said that in many instances, the fees would be doubled. Speakers maintained that truck competition with railroads keeps charges down for both types of carriers.

Truckmen agreed unanimously to give a legal fund, 25 per cent of the difference between present fees and fees under the new law. Half the money was paid at the meeting and half will be paid when the test case is filed.

Secretary Frank H. Bealls of the Nebraska Transportation association, W. D. Heflin of Ceresco, president of the group, H. B. Triem, field representative, H. W. Survey of Telephones Shows America Leads Telephone surveys conducted recently indicate that the United States possesses 20,068,023 telephones, or 58 per cent of the world total. With 34,526,629 phones in the entire world, Europe, with 10,035,580, has 29 per cent of the world's total, or only one-half as many as the United States.

Memorial Day

On Saturday, May 30, we pause in the routine of our lives to pay tribute to those brave men who fought for the glory that is America's.

In the Civil War...in the Spanish-American War...in the World War...they paused not to question why, but went into battle for loved ones and country.

It is only fitting and proper that we should refresh our memories of their valor.

THOUSAND DISASTERS RECEIVED RED-CROSS AID IN 50 YEARS

American Society to Celebrate Its Birth Year With Nationwide Observance

Tornadoes, floods, forest fires and other calamities and upheavals of nature have visited the United States more than one thousand times in the last half century.

All of these were of severe intensity, causing loss of life and great property damage. Minor catastrophes were not counted in this list of disasters, which has been made public by the American Red Cross, in connection with the celebration this year of its fiftieth birthday.

It was on the evening of May 21, 1861, in the modest home of Miss Clara Barton in Washington, D. C., that the American Association of the Red Cross was first formed. Before the year was out, and before, indeed, the United States Government had officially moved to approve the Treaty of Geneva, adding this nation to the company of thirty-two others adhering to the treaty to protect wounded in warfare, Miss Barton had plunged the small society into a disaster relief task.

First Red Cross Unit
This was in the north woods of Michigan, where forest fires swept the homestead farms of pioneering families, Miss Barton, as president of the Red Cross, had organized a branch in Danaville, New York, where she was sojourning. This little group immediately raised money, food, clothing and other supplies and sent them to the forest fire victims. In Rochester and Syracuse, New York, nearby, word spread of this charitable enterprise, and Red Cross auxiliaries were organized there to help. So began the disaster relief work of the Red Cross fifty years ago. In the intervening years, millions of men, women and children have been aided. Thousands of homes have been restored. Thousands of persons, overwhelmed by floods, tornadoes, and fires until all they possessed had been wiped away, have been rehabilitated and prosperity and happiness again smiled upon them.

This year has been dedicated by the Red Cross and its chapters in 3,500 communities to commemoration of the events which led to the birth of the society in the United States.

President Hoover Speaks
The celebration of the anniversary was inaugurated in Washington at a dinner, attended by many distinguished men and women, at which Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes presided, and President Hoover, who is the president of the American Red Cross, was the chief speaker. Judge Max Huber of Geneva, Switzerland, the president of the International Committee of the Red Cross, in which fifty-seven nations are joined in a Red Cross brotherhood, also was a speaker, as were Chairman John Barton Payne of the American Red Cross, and Miss Mabel T. Boardman, secretary, and veteran leader of the society.

The Red Cross standard, which flies all around the world where mercy is needed, was first introduced as an ideal in our modern civilization, in Geneva in 1864, when the international Red Cross convention, afterward to be known as the Treaty of Geneva, was signed by twelve countries agreeing that on the battlefield the wounded should be given aid by doctors, nurses and others, who should wear the sign of the Red Cross, and be treated as neutrals in the warfare.

Two Americans attended this first convention, the American Minister George C. Fogg, and Charles S. P. Bowles, representative in Europe of the United States Sanitary Commission, a volunteer organization of sympathizers with the North in our Civil War. Facts they gave resulted in adoption of some of the American ideas.

Returning to the United States, Fogg and Bowles sought recognition of the Geneva Treaty, but the Grant administration took no interest. Under Hayes, the same lethargy was encountered.

Clara Barton Founder
But there had emerged from the Civil War period a middle-aged woman who had seen much service on the battlefields around Washington. This was Clara Barton. Ill health caused her to make a trip to Europe in 1869. There she became interested in the Red Cross idea, and joined a unit which saw service in the Franco-Prussian war. Upon her return home, she launched an active campaign for the treaty, but met the same opposition as her predecessors. However, President Garfield, when he came into office, recognized the merits of the movement, and when death by assassination removed him, his successor, President Arthur, sought approval by the U. S. Senate of the treaty. This was consummated a seventeen-year fight in this nation for a humanitarian ideal. Clara Barton was recognized as the society's founder and was its president for twenty-three years. She died in 1912 at the age of 90 years.

It is not generally thought of, but the flag so familiar in every civilized nation as the emblem of the Red Cross, had a simple derivation. Because the originator of the movement, Henri Dunant, was a Swiss, and the first treaty to protect wounded in battle, was drafted and signed in Switzerland, the flag of that Republic—a white cross upon a red background—was reversed, and the Red Cross came into being.

FOODS IN SMALL CANS

A RECENT survey revealed the fact that an amazing number of different products are now processed and put up in those convenient 8-ounce cans which contain just enough to content two people, or the contents of which can even be consumed by one hungry person alone.

These small individual cans have proved a boon to the cities where storage space is at a premium. When one realizes that 57 per cent of our population now lives in cities, as compared with 40 per cent in 1900, one understands the reason for their popularity.

The season of summer bachelors is fast approaching. For the sake of these bachelor maids and couples without children, nearly a hundred different packs of fruits and vegetables are now put up in these small cans.

Here's the List

The fruits include apple sauce, apricots (plain and peeled), blackberries (including a fancy grade), cherries (Royal Anne, black ring, red pitted and black), cranberry sauce, figs (including a California variety), fruit cocktail, fruits for salad, fruit salad, grapefruit, grapes (seedless), loganberries (including a fancy pack), olives (ripe), peaches (diced, halves and sliced), pears (Bartlett and diced), pineapple (crushed, tidbits and juice), plums (green sage), prunes (fancy purple, fresh Oregon and stewed), raspberries (red and black, including a fancy red pack), rhubarb and strawberries (including a fancy pack).

The vegetables are artichoke hearts, asparagus (cut tips, dainty salad points, large tips, mammoth tips, medium tips, natural green cuts and small tips), beans (cut refugee, cut stringless, cut wax, green lima, lima, medium green lima, New England style, oven baked and red kidney), beets (diced and sliced), Brussels sprouts, carrots (diced), carrots and peas, corn (Country Gentleman, fancy Crosby, golden bantam, golden bantam crushed, golden cream, kenneletope, popping, white and whole grain), kraitine, mushrooms, peas (garden, run of garden, sweet garden and sweet wrinkled), sauerkraut, spinach, succotash (golden bantam corn, white corn and with green limas), tomatoes (plain and sauce), turnips (diced) vegetables (mixed and for salad) and vegetable surprise.

Other products are brown bread, mackerel, molasses (Barbados), spaghetti (plain and prepared) and shrimp. There are probably several more which were missed in the survey, but many good recipes have been evolved from the above.

Some Fruit Recipes

Here are some fruit recipes, for instance, which are easy to prepare and will serve from two to four.

Raspberry Cream: Soak two teaspoons gelatin in two tablespoons cold water five minutes. Bring the contents of an 8-ounce can of raspberries, three tablespoons sugar and two tablespoons lemon juice to boiling, pour over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. When about to jelly, fold in one-half cup heavy cream. A can of the new beating cream which has just been put on the market can be used if you have no refrigerating facilities.

Blackberry Cobbler: Heat the contents of one 8-ounce can of blackberries to boiling, add one tablespoon of flour mixed with one teaspoon of sugar, and cook till slightly thick. Add one teaspoon of lemon juice and one teaspoon of butter, and pour into a buttered baking dish. Cut rich baking powder biscuit dough in tiny rounds and lay over the top. Bake in a hot oven, 450°, for fifteen minutes.

CHAIN FARMING

A request for the appointment of a receiver for one of the large chain farming corporations in Kansas because of alleged mismanagement and insolvency suggests that success and profit in big scale farming are not so sure and satisfactory as the publicity of these companies might lead one to believe. Moreover, whenever one purpose of a chain farming corporation is to put over a big stock selling campaign, as some are said to be doing, its downfall is certain.

If this report be true, it is vindication of the views of those who have asserted that capital invested in corporation farming would be subject to the same risks and obstacles that confront the individual farmer and that such problems might more than offset any advantages through big scale operations.

In other words, corporation farming will succeed only as it proves itself more efficient and successful than individual farming over a period of years, with investment charges in land fairly reflecting average land prices. There may be new methods developed and results obtained which can be applied with profit to the independent farm. It is quite likely that we shall see a further increase in the size of the latter because it offers greater efficiency. However, we cannot conceive that any large number of farmers in the middle west will ever sell out their farms to corporation farming companies. They will meet the competition, whatever it may be, and stay in the game.—Nebraska Farmer.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Notice is hereby given that the board of county commissioners, the county assessor, and the county clerk, will sit as a board of equalization, commencing on Tuesday, the 9th day of June, 1931, for the purpose of equalizing the valuation of personal property of the county as returned by the precinct assessors.

Plans and specifications for the year 1931 bridge and bridge work are hereby adopted and approved and the County Clerk is ordered to advertise for a letting as of June 30, 1931, specifying in such notices the following types of bridges:

One 60 foot steel span, 18 foot roadway, 15-Ton capacity, located between sections 17 and 18, township 27, range 2, east.

Comes now Levl Lundstrom of Wilbur precinct and says that for the year 1930 he was assessed with a valuation of $100.00 on a 1928 Chevrolet coach; that he paid said tax of $3.37 on the above under protest for the reason that he is and was not a resident of Wayne County, Nebraska, but that he is a resident of Minnesota, and was merely a visitor in this county at the time of assessment. He now asks that the county treasurer be ordered to refund the tax of $3.37.

On motion such protest is rejected and the county treasurer is ordered to distribute the funds.

Comes now Ellen N. Backstrom and Alfred Backstrom and say that for the year 1930 they were assessed on NE1-4-6-26-5 with a valuation of $22080.00; that when given notice to Superintendent of their intention to transfer the intended to have only the N1-2 of said quarter transferred or a valuation of $12080.00, whereas through error or misinterpretation of the law, the whole quarter or a valuation of $22080.00 was transferred from School District No. 13 into 60 Dixon; that they paid said total tax of $420.57 under protest as shown by receipt No. 119, and they now ask that the county treasurer be ordered to refund to them the difference in tax between the tax on a $22080.00 valuation figured at 14 mills, the 60 Dixon levy, which tax amounts of $309.12, and the tax on a $10000.00 valuation figured at 1.1 mills in school district 13 (.7 mills general and .4 mills Free High School) which tax amounts to $11.00 and the tax on a $12080.00 valuation figured at 14 mills the Dixon 60-school levy which tax amounts to $169.12, the difference amounting to $129.00.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund the sum of $129.00 to the said Ellen N. Backstrom and Alfred Backstrom.

Comes now C. E. Carhart and says that for the year 1930 he was assessed on a valuation of $2800.00 on Lots 7 and 8, and B-56-ft. Lots 4 and 5, Block 14, Original Wayne, which made the total tax $113.12, that he paid said tax under protest for the reason that such assessment is out of proportion to assessments in the immediate vicinity. He now asks that said valuation of $2800.00 be reduced to $1500.00 and that the county treasurer be ordered to refund the difference in tax.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund the sum of $12.12, the tax on a $300.00 valuation which is the amount of reduction made.

Comes now P. C. Anderson and says that for the year 1930 he was assessed in Chapin with a valuation of $15745.00 on SW1-4-33-26-2, making a total tax of $204.69; that he paid said total tax under protest as shown by receipt for the reason that he was assessed in School District No. 39 making the school tax $125.96, when he should have been assessed in School District No. 53 making the school tax $45.66, he now asks that the difference in school tax or the sum of $80.30 be refunded.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund the sum of $80.30 to the said P. C. Anderson.

The following claims are on motion audited and allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the respective funds as herein shown. Warrants to be ready on Saturday, May 30, 1931.

Woman Fills School Pail for 27 Years

Commencement day at Stella, Nebraska, was completion day for Mrs. Joe Mason. On that day she finished a 27-year old job of putting up school lunches for her children. Harold, her seventh, graduated from Stella high school, laid aside his lunch pail and emancipated his mother from her long time job.

Her children first attended the district school at Dodge, then after finishing the eighth grade entered Stella high school. The preparation of the dinner pail lunch began with the first child's enrollment in the district school and, except for vacation time, has continued ever since. How many sandwiches Mrs. Mason has made in all those years would tax the skill of a comptometer. How many hard boiled eggs the children consumed, how many doughnuts and cookies, how many apples, would busy a shark at arithmetic.

Mrs. Mason's record may be no more outstanding than that of other Nebraska mothers, for here in this state where education is deeply rooted in family life, schooling begins early, and continues until the children have had the benefit of a high school course. For 70 years mothers have been putting up lunches and getting their children off to school. Sometimes they have watched gathering storm clouds anxiously. Sometimes when blizzards swept down from the northwest they prayed for the safety of their children who did not come home, but remained at the school house under the care of a brave teacher, or got to a neighboring home and remained until danger was past. But no matter the risks, school went on and the dinner pail and lunch box continued their daily trips to school and back again with never-flagging regularity.

Report Shows 50 Per Cent of Corn Planted

Nearly 50 per cent of the corn had been planted by May 20, according to Nebraska bankers in their mid-month report to the state and federal division of Agricultural statistics. The condition of winter wheat is 98 per cent and all crops are making satisfactory progress.

Moisture supplies are reported to be generally sufficient for present needs, although reports indicate some shortage in the western third of the state and records of the division show the rainfall during April and May has been below the normal for these months. Weather conditions have been favorable for planting corn and nearly 50 per cent of the crop had been planted by May 20, as compared to 11 per cent on May 15 of last year, when surplus rainfall hindered planting. At present, well over half of the corn has been planted in all districts with the exception of central Nebraska, where about 35 per cent is in the ground, and the east central counties where 29 per cent has been planted. Recent rainfall has been heaviest in these districts.

Acreage devoted to spring wheat has been considerably reduced this season. According to bankers, 25 per cent reduction of this crop has been made in the panhandle district, where about 77 per cent of Nebraska spring wheat is grown. Acreage of corn will be increased two per cent and acreage of oats about three per cent. All crops are in good condition. Hogs for market show little or no change from the number on hand at this time last year. The calf crop was generally good, and is reported to be 90 per cent of the number of cows of breeding age.

Buried Pawnee Village Is Being Unearthed

On the Loup river east of Fallerton, work has already begun on exploring a buried Pawnee village. A party under Dr. Duncan Strong has been at work there bringing to light the visible records of an unwritten page of Nebraska history inscribed before the white man came.

The Pawnees, once a strong nation, lived along the Loup and were the most domestic of the tribes that lived in Nebraska. They lived in villages and had substantial homes built of circles of cedar posts supporting sod and grass roofs. They were rather skillful in the making of pottery. One house site already excavated and explored produced a number of pots, several arrow heads, flint scrapers and bone implements. They were about a foot underground. There was plenty of evidence this home had been burned.

Evidences have been discovered in these village sites of human sacrifices. Ethnologists have been led to believe they have found the exact spot where the Morning Star sacrifice was performed when Petah Liah Choru, the Indian hero, came to the sudden rescue of the sacrificial maiden and carried her away on his horse. The medal engraved in his honor by a Washington society was found several years ago on a hill not far from where the excavations are now being made. A large amount of ground remains to be covered, and before the explorations are completed the scientists believe they will be able to piece together the fragmentary history and habits of the early Pawnees into a continuous pattern which will reveal the home and religious life of the best friend of the white, the Pawnees.

"THE GAME OF LIFE"

The human being is five individuals in one form. He is a physical being, an emotional being, a mental being, a social being, and a spiritual being. The human being is an individual functioning with five cylinders. He is most efficient and most successful when he "hits on all cylinders." To be at his best he must develop the physical, the emotional, the mental, the social and the spiritual side of his nature. Happiness is a triangle, the sides of which are physical vigor, mental equilibrium, and emotional stability.

In order to attain the complete, life we have formulated certain rules. Some of them pertain to the physical side of the human being, some to his emotional and mental side, while others pertain to his social and spiritual side. Today, we shall present some of them.

Rule 1. HAVE FAITH, HOPE AND COURAGE.

"Two men look out through the same bars; One sees the mud and the other the stars."

Rule 2. BE CALM. Take your work and your pleasure and even your troubles with the least amount of emotional expenditure. Eliminate hurry and worry.

Rule 3. BE CAREFUL, AMIABLE AND SOCIABLE UNDER ALL CIRCUMSTANCES. The most important cause of high blood pressure is emotional instability—worry, doubt, anxiety, bursts of temper, envy, jealousy, and fear of failure.

Rule 4. PUT YOUR BEST EFFORTS INTO YOUR TASKS. Do not be satisfied merely with "getting by." Before God's footstool to confess: A poor soul knelt and bowed his head. "I failed," he wailed. The Master said:

"Then didst thy best—that is success."

Rule 5. FIND HAPPINESS IN YOUR WORK. You may find it nowhere else. The goal of life is purposeful and creative living and not happiness. Happiness is a by-product obtained in the performance of duty. It can never be had by direct seeking.

Rule 6. CHOOSE FRIENDS WISELY. Avoid bores, vacuums, everlasting faultfinders, unsympathetic individuals, and those who hold out no inspiration for you.

Rule 7. GET INTERESTED IN SOMETHING THAT IS USEFUL AND THAT WILL OCCUPY YOUR TIME. Do not be idle. The idle brain is the devil's workshop. Make the most of your leisure hours.

Rule 8. GIVE SOMETHING TO LIFE. Giving brings happiness much greater than getting. To give a little you must give a little. The unpardonable sin is selfishness.

Rule 9. Be DECISIVE AND CONSISTENT. Set a definite goal for yourself. Do not wiggle and wobble. Heat dissipated leads to no accomplishments, but the heat gathered in the locomotive brings thousands to their destinations. Success and

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

C. F. Redlich, Minneapolis, Minn., will demonstrate without charge his unequalled method in WAYNE, MONDAY, JUNE 1 at the STRATTON HOTEL from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Mr. C. F. Redlich says: The "Perfect Retention Shields" hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief and contract the opening in a remarkably short time.

The secret of their success is in their simplicity. An expertly adjusted device seals the opening without discomfort or detention from work. It is practically everlasting, sanitary, comfortable and actually holds ruptures which heretofore were considered uncontrollable.

Stomach troubles, backache and constipation nearly always a consequence of rupture, promptly disappear.

Bring your children. According to statistics 95% recover by our method.

progress are the rewards for consistency.

Rule 10. AIM HIGH. Few people reach heaven because they set the sky as their limit.

"Life is but a sheet of paper white On which each one of us may write His line or two.—Then comes the night.

Though thou hast time but for a line, Make that sublime; Not failure but low aim is crime."

Nebraska Has Fleet of 112 School Busses

There are 112 schools in Nebraska whose pupils are delivered at school houses and returned to their homes in 325 busses that are either owned by school districts or rented for the purpose. During 1930 the 325 busses traveled 2,227 miles daily on their trips in the interest of education of Nebraska school children.

Figures supplied by the National Association of Motor Bus operators show that Nebraska school districts paid an average of $29 each for the 8,125 school children transported during the year. That this was a fair cost, is shown by the figures for the other states. Wisconsin, for example, paid $25 per pupil and Indiana, $27.

The improvement in highways and the ease and certainty of bus transportation have steadily improved the rural schools in Nebraska and resulted in the establishment of many consolidated schools which give about all there is to be given in public school instruction. Travelers on the highways in the morning and late afternoon encounter the school busses with their loads of animated youth and become constantly convinced that Nebraska's interest in education is lively and sincere.

The office of education in the United States department of the interior reports that approximately two million children throughout the United States are carried to and from school daily by means of motor bus transportation and that 50 thousand of such vehicles are now supplying about 17 thousand schools. The total cost of this service to school districts in a year is approximately $5 million dollars. Practically every state in the union operated more motor busses in 1930 than in any previous year, the department reported.

An Unusual Dessert

WOULD you like to know a peach of a dessert in which peaches are used in an unusual way? It's an elaborate cake, but the very first taste will convince you that it was well worth all the trouble you took.

Here it is!

Peach Croissant: Make a sponge of one yeast cake, one-fourth cup warm water, one teaspoon sugar, one-third cup evaporated milk, one-third cup hot water and one cup flour. Cover, and let rise till very light. Add four beaten eggs, two-thirds cup butter, one-half cup sugar, two teaspoons salt and about three and one-half cups flour to make dough. Knead well, and let rise till double in bulk in a greased bowl, covered. Cut down, knead slightly, and pat or roll out into a thin rectangle. Brush with butter and spread one cup of chopped, well-drained canned peaches and two-thirds cup chopped vacuum packed walnuts along the center. Sprinkle with brown sugar, and bring the long sides of the rectangle together in the middle, pinching well. Place roll in a greased pan in the shape of a crescent or half moon. Brush with butter, and let rise till double in size. Bake in moderate, 350 degrees, oven for about twenty minutes. When slightly cool, cover with white icing made of confectioner's sugar, cream and orange extract.*

Memorial Tribute---

VICTORY was theirs -- those valiant American braves who went forth to battle in the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and the World War.

And so on Memorial Day, once a year, we pause in our daily routine to pay honor to the memory of those stalwart representatives of American citizenship who fought for the honor of their country--for the defense of their principles.

The memory of America's soldiers should be enshrined in our hearts forever. Let us remember them . . . always.

Rely on the John Deere for a Quick, Clean Job of Mowing

The John Deere Mower Is Easy to Handle... Has High, Easy Lift

When you buy a mower you want a machine that's easy to handle, and a machine that will do a quick, clean job of cutting.

These are some of the features you get in a John Deere Mower:

High, easy lift—a boy can do good work with a John Deere, even in rough uneven fields.

Flexible cutter bar—conforms to uneven ground. Powerful lifting spring causes bar to float.

Simple to adjust and repair—cutter bar easily re-aligned.

Hardened knife-head guides and wearing plates at both front and rear of knife-head are replaceable.

Cutter bar and knife are accurately made and carefully fitted. Hardened steel wearing plates and knife holders keep knife cutting clean and true.

Strong construction throughout. Quick-turn tongue truck furnished as an extra. We'll be glad to show you this better mower any time.

COUNCIL TO ENFORCE BAN ON FIREWORKS

To Prohibit Sale or Use of Giant Firecrackers and Torpedoes.

Fourth of July in Wayne will be comparatively safe, with action taken by the city council at its regular meeting Tuesday evening to enforce an ordinance banning giant firecrackers and torpedoes.

The ordinance specifies that no firecrackers over two inches long shall be allowed within the city limits, and specifically bans torpedoes.

Consensus of opinion of council members was that any fireworks dealer violating the ordinance should be punished.

There was some discussion on the advisability of banning fireworks altogether, but council members thought that Wayne boys and girls would be too badly disappointed if such an ordinance were passed. It was also pointed out that some firms had already ordered their stock of firecrackers, and such an ordinance would work a hardship on them.
