

College Head Seeks Money for Dormitory

Conn Asks State Board to Purchase $140,000 Bond Issue.

President U. S. Conn of Wayne State Teachers' college, in Lincoln Monday conferring with school authorities, announced he would ask the state board of educational lands and funds to use $140,000 from the permanent school fund for purchase of bonds to be used for construction of a dormitory at Wayne.

The Nebraska state legislature passed an act permitting the board to invest five per cent of the permanent school fund in dormitory bonds issued by the university board of regents or normal school heads. The total amount available would be about $650,000.

Wayne State Teachers' college present housing facilities are considered inadequate by local school officials, Neihardt Hall, girls' dormitory, is considered one of the finest buildings of its kind in the country, but other dormitory facilities are not on a par with it, and many students who would like to stay at a school dormitory are forced to seek rooms in private homes.

Wayne people are heartily in favor of Dr. Conn's proposal, since construction of a new dormitory would furnish considerable employment and would aid materially in increased prosperity of the community.

SEVEN WINSIDERS HAVE CLOSE CALL.

Narrowly Escape Death in Boat Upset at Norfolk.

Seven residents of Winside narrowly escaped drowning in the north fork of the Elkhorn river near Norfolk Sunday afternoon when their boats turned over in midcurrent. They were riding in a rowboat and a canoe.

Those who saw the accident considered it a miracle that all seven escaped, since none of them could swim at all. The last ones to be rescued sank several times.

Members of the Winside party of young people were James Troutman, Fred Anderson, Alfred Janky, Setta Dandberg, Freda Dandberg, Irene Dandberg and Ella Jensen.

Four of them were in the canoe and three were in the row boat as they left King's Park for a short paddle up stream. At the spot where the craft upset, 100 yards north of the Norfolk amusement park dance pavilion, the river is more than 100 feet wide and is over a person's head.

One of the girls said that the canoe tipped over, spilling four into the current. The victims clutched at the second boat, and in trying to pull themselves aboard, tipped it over.

Harry King, amusement park proprietor, heard the cries, rushed to the river and grabbed the first ones he happened to reach, two girls who bobbed up beside him as he neared the spot. He fought his way toward the shore and was met some distance from land by Clarence Martin, park employe, who towed the girls the rest of the way in.

King started back after a third girl and saw her go under three or four times. The girl grabbed at the boat's bottom and sent herself and her rescuer under. She is said to have tried to get the "death grip." Donald Carle of Lincoln came to King's relief and took the girl just as King was about to give up. After towing the girl in, it was necessary for him to carry the completely exhausted King in.

The three boys and the other girl reached shore aided by their own struggles and work of Carle and Martin.

Former Wayne Boy Injured in Accident

Robert Jorgensen of Shepandoah, former resident of Wayne, suffered a bruised leg on Sunday, July 27, when a bleacher section collapsed during a bathing beauty contest at a Shepandoah swimming pool. Five other people were injured.

Local Man Finds Peculiar Animal

W. F. Horrell of Wayne has two animals, found out in the county last week, which, for want of a better name, are being called "What is its." Several faculty members at Wayne State Teachers' college who have seen the little animals have been unable to figure out what they are, and Mr. Horrell, himself, says that he is completely in the dark as to their identity.

The animals somewhat resemble rodents, and might well be mistaken for white rats, except that they are covered with long, wiry white hair and have larger heads than white rats.

Mr. Horrell brought one of the "What is its" into The Democrat office Saturday afternoon. It was a friendly little animal, not at all vicious. He says that the "What is its" do not try to bite.

One man who saw it expressed the opinion that it was a white weasel, but nobody else agreed with him, the others saying that it was too small and too friendly for a weasel. Mr. Horrell is going to send one of the animals into Washington to find out what it is.

BARN BURNS EARLY MONDAY MORNING

Flames Do $2,200 Damage on Farm Owned by Ben Nisson.

Damage estimated at approximately $2,200 was caused by fire about one o'clock Monday morning, when the barn on a farm owned by Ben Nisson and tenanted by Wm. Palmer burned down. The farm is located about nine miles southeast of Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer had been to Wayne Sunday evening, and returned to their home at about 11 o'clock. At about one o'clock, they woke up and discovered that the barn was on fire. An alarm was turned in, and the Wayne fire department answered the call promptly. Their quick action is said to have saved some of the other farm buildings from the flames.

Eight hundred bushels of oats, 200 bushels of corn, a quantity of hay and straw, and all of Mr. Palmer's harness were destroyed, when the barn and adjoining cattle shed went up in flames. Fortunately, the horses had been turned out into the pasture.

Mr. Palmer had $1,000 insurance on the barn. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Wayne Lady Writes French Text Book

Mrs. B. B. Pollard, who has written a new French text book, received her first copy of the same just a few days ago. The book was published by the University of Chicago Press and is just off the press.

Mrs. Pollard's book is a reading text belonging to the University of Chicago French Series. It is scientifically constructed on the basis of word frequency and idiom counts. It may be used either as a class or outside reading text, depending upon the needs of each class, and either with or apart from the other texts in the series.

The careful control of the reading and grammatical vocabulary used has reduced to a minimum the need of explanatory notes. These appear conveniently as foot notes. A set of comprehensive exercises, one for each chapter, consisting of the question, completion, true-false, and multiple-choice types, direct the attention of the student to the content and serve as a check upon the understanding of it.

The idiomatic expressions used in the text have been collected and arranged by chapters for the convenience of the teacher who wishes to give the students a more intensive study of those peculiarly French modes of expression.

The book is designed to develop that facility necessary for speed in reading and to give the student the feeling of pleasure that comes from a consciousness of achievement.

WOMAN HURT WHEN TWO CARS COLLIDE

Baby Escapes Injury in Automobile Wreck Sunday Night

Mrs. Emil Swanson, who lives about 10 miles north of Wayne, suffered several broken ribs, and a two inch cut on her chin, a cut on the top of her head, and had several teeth knocked out in an automobile accident Sunday evening at about 8:30 o'clock. She was able to leave the Wayne hospital yesterday.

Her baby was on her lap when the accident occurred, but she managed to throw the child clear of the car, and it escaped injury. Mr. Swanson, the other occupant of the car, was considerably shaken up, but suffered no injuries aside from minor bruises.

The Swanson car was coming over a hill-top when it was struck by another automobile. The other car is said to have been on the wrong side of the road.

WOMAN DRAWS 30 DAYS IN BASTILLE

Check Writer Sentenced to Jail Term by County Judge.

Amanda N. Winner, alias "Mrs. J. Harder," alias "Mrs. Den Herder," is serving 30 days in the Wayne county jail as the result of a sentence meted out by County Judge J. M. Cherry. The woman was charged with issuance of fraudulent checks.

Local authorities have discovered that the woman has served a sentence in the Sioux Falls, S. D., penitentiary and was held in the Yankton, S. D., insane asylum for observation.

The woman created a furor when she was brought here by Sheriff A. W. Stephens to face charges of fraudulent utterance of checks. She alleged that she was the wife of a Wayne man. Local authorities could find nothing to substantiate her claim, and discovered that her past record was far from savory.

Floyd Hogan Gets 30 Days on Check Charge

Floyd J. Hogan was sentenced yesterday morning in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court to 30 days in the county jail on a charge of passing a worthless check for $5.30 to Fred Ellis.

The check was signed "H. J. Meriman, Dicken, Iowa," and was on a Spencer, Iowa, bank. Hogan said that the check had been given to him as part-payment of a $12 deposit on a job for Meriman. The state contended that Hogan knew the check was worthless when he passed it.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Strahan Return from 4,000 Mile Tour

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Strahan, arrived back in Wayne yesterday afternoon from an 18-day vacation tour of eastern scenic spots. They were accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Nitz of West Point, Neb. Mr. Strahan's automobile registered 4,380 miles for the tour.

Niagara Falls, one of the first beauty spots which the Strahans visited was particularly impressive to them. From Niagara Falls they went into Canada.

A trip through the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence river and along the St. Lawrence up to Montreal was one of the highlights of the trip. On this part of the trip Mr. Strahan says, they met ships coming right down the river. He explained this statement by saying that in the territory where the rapids are located canals have been built alongside the roads.

The Green mountains of Vermont and the White mountains of New Hampshire, regarded by many as the finest scenery in the United States, gained the unqualified approval of Mr. and Mrs. Strahan. They were particularly impressed by the splendid resort hotels in the eastern mountain resorts.

They found Portland, Maine, to be

Torrid Wave Keeps Wayne Hot and Dry

Slight Relief from Heat Promised for Today

Sweltering weather this past week, with the torrid wave broken only slightly Tuesday night by cool breezes has kept Wayne county people worrying about the heat. Tuesday and Wednesday were registered as two of the hottest days of the summer, with the thermometer hovering around 102.

Promises of rain Tuesday failed to materialize, although the air was so heavy that a few scattered drops fell during the afternoon. The last rain registered for Wayne was .15 inches on July 9.

Accompanying the terrific, long enduring heat wave, grasshoppers are said to be bringing terrible destruction to crops in South Dakota and parts of Iowa and Nebraska.

The weather bureau forecasts partly cloudy for today, with cooler temperatures, but says nothing about rain.

The highest temperature registered in the state yesterday was 107 degrees at Seward. Aurora had a maximum of 106.

Prior to Tuesday, a number of Wayne people predicted rain for that day, saying that it had not failed to rain on July 28 for many years. The prediction, however, had no effect on the terrific, dry, hot weather.

Farmers say that a good rain is absolutely imperative to the success of corn crops. Most of them agree that the dry, hot weather has done little damage so far, but are unanimous in their belief that the crops cannot survive much more weather such as that which has been current since July 4.

Savidge Shows Start at Madison August 8

All but three of 125 people who started the summer season with the Walter Savidge Amusement company will be back on the roster of the organization when the Savidge shows re-open at Madison, Neb., on Monday, August 8. The Madison engagement will be a still date.

On Monday, August 17, the Savidge company will go to Broken Bow, Neb., where the shows will be a feature of the Custer County fair.

The entire cast of the dramatic repertoire company will be the same as when the show opened in Wayne June 1, according to Mr. Savidge. The same plays used earlier in the season will be presented.

Members of the dramatic company arrived in town early this week to start rehearsals.

Farm News Page Starts This Week

The Nebraska Democrat presents a new feature, The Farm News Page, in this issue. The page, which will appear regularly in The Democrat, is designed to appeal to everyone interested in agriculture, which should include all residents of Wayne and the surrounding territory.

In today's paper, the W. A. K. Neely farm is reviewed in detail. Each week, the farm page will carry the story of some farmer in the Wayne territory.

In addition to the farm reviews, other farm news will be published on the page, and all advertising will be of particular interest to farmers. Pictures of farm homes will appear from time to time, as will other farm news photos.

Another new feature of The Democrat will be the four-color comic section, to be added about the middle of August. From that time on, readers of The Democrat will be able to follow the antics of the comic characters regularly from week to week.

The Democrat is endeavoring to publish a better, more interesting, more friendly newspaper. Any suggestion or criticisms will be gratefully received.

DORNBERGER RITES MONDAY AFTERNOON

Former Wayne Resident Is Brought Here for Burial.

Funeral services for George J. Dornberger of Miller, S. D., former resident of Wayne, were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Beckenhauer funeral chapel. Rev. H. A. Teckhaus was in charge of the services, and interment was in the Wayne cemetery. Mr. Dornberger died on Friday, July 24, after a two day illness. He was 43 years old.

George Jacob Dornberger was born at Wayne on January 31, 1888. He was baptized and confirmed in the Evangelical Lutheran faith while a resident of this city. On Nov. 30, 1908, he was married to Myrtle Dean and took up residence at Miller, S. D. Four children, Wayne Lee, George Raymond, Dean Edward, and Margaret, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Dornberger. Margaret died in infancy.

Mr. Dornberger was a successful contractor and builder at Miller for 23 years. He had been a member of the Methodist church in that city since 1913.

Besides his faithful wife and three sons, he leaves to mourn his passing his aged father, John Jacob Dornberger of Los Angeles, Calif., and seven sisters: Mrs. Lizzy Bodenstedt of Carroll, Mrs. Ella Ellis of Tekamah, Mrs. Ernestine Fichett of Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. May Branly of Tekamah, Mrs. Emma Beckas of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Sophie Simpson of Alameda, Calif., and Mrs. Elsie Frohlich of Geneva, N. Y.

School Driving Permits Ready After August 3

Permits for minors to drive to and from school can be secured from County Treasurer J. J. Steele after August 3. The limited driving permits will be issued to children under 16 and over 14, with the provision that the children must live a mile and a half or more from the school house.

A parent or guardian of the child must sign an application before a permit can be granted. County Treasurer Steele says that the School Driving permits are absolutely free.

Horizontal Bar Act to Be Attraction at Fair

Among the smart new acts engaged for the Wayne County fair is a new type horizontal bar act, presented by a trio billed as Carroll Brothers and Josephine. Three hickory bars are used for the presentation, and a unique showing of skill is exhibited in the demonstration.

City Council Plans Lower Electric Rates

To Purchase 400 Gallon Pump; Paving Bid Approved.

Ordinance has been drafted incorporating the proposed commercial light and power rates, and will probably be acted upon at the next council meeting, according to City Clerk W. S. Bressler.

The rates recommended by the light committee and incorporated in the ordinance are as follows:

Commercial Light Rates
First 60 KWH	19c
Next 500 KWH	105c
Next 440 KWH	104c
Excess of 1000 KWH	103c

Power Rates
First 100 KWH	107c
Next 500 KWH	104c
Next 400 KWH	103c
Next 1000 KWH	102 1/2c
Next 5000 KWH	102c
Excess of 7000 KWH	101 1/2c

The above rates were recommended by the City Council's light committee, consisting of Ernest Blehel, chairman, Walter Miller and J. S. Horney. It is understood that the council is favorable to the low rates and that the ordinance will be passed.

At the council's regular meeting Tuesday evening, it was voted upon to purchase a 400 gallon pump from the Interstate Machinery and Supply company at a cost of $2,171.

The council voted to accept the bid of Booth and Olson for paving in paving district No. 10. The Booth and Olson bid of 35 cents per cubic yard for excavating and $1.67 per square yard for paving was the lowest bid submitted.

Mayor Orr appointed Mrs. Leora Wright to the library board to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of Mrs. James Miller and appointed R. W. Casper to fill the unexpired term caused by the resignation of F. G. Phillo. Mrs. H. B. Craven will succeed herself.

An ordinance making the annual tax levy for the city of Wayne was passed. The levy calls for a tax of 21 3-5 mills on the dollar.

L. E. PANABAKER IMPROVING

L. E. Panabaker who has been suffering the past 16 or 18 days with an attack of flu followed by pneumonia has been quite seriously ill but is improving. Friends are hoping for his speedy recovery and are happy to hear that he is improving in health.

The Inquiring Reporter

This Week's Question: How do the crop conditions in this territory compare with conditions in other territory which you travel through?

W. A. Dabrow, Omaha: "Crop conditions in the Wayne territory are as good or better than in other territories on my route."

Wm. Stubblefield, Fremont: "Wayne is fortunate. Much of the crop will be lost in part of my territory. Things look better around Wayne than in most places."

Warren Hyde, Sioux City: "My work as a traveling man takes me through Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota on a seven week's route. Crop conditions in part of all three states are pitiful. Wayne's outlook is far brighter than the prospects for Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota as a whole."

G. Montgomery, Norfolk: "Wayne is going to be in much better condition than most of the towns I travel through. The corn around Wayne looks great. Of course, it needs rain—but some of the farms along my route are completely burned out."

A. L. Pierce, Kansas City: "Crop conditions around here are better than in any territory I visit."

W. A. K. Neely Deserves His Title Of Farm Pioneer

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of farm reviews to be published in The Nebraska Democrat. The management feels that with agriculture the outstanding industry of this territory, people should be informed of the splendid farms surrounding Wayne.

We would appreciate it if any farmer who would like to have his farm reviewed would telephone The Democrat and make an appointment with the Farm Reporter.)

"Pioneer" is a much-abused term, and pioneering is comparative, but W. A. K. Neely, farmer living three miles northeast of Wayne on Highway No. 35, is a pioneer in every sense of the word. He bought his 160 acre farm 50 years ago, when the only evidence of Wayne was a frame house under construction. Mr. Neely started living on the place in the spring of 1890, and has been there ever since.

Mr. Neely bought his farm from the firm of Bressler and Patterson of La Porte, paying them the then munificent price of $5.50 per acre. It was quite a level farm, half on the Logan bottom. When the Neelys bought the place the road—or trail—went through what is now the back yard of the Neely home. Seven years after Mr. Neely had purchased the place, the trail was moved from his back door to the front of the place. At that time, it ceased being known as a trail and became dignified by the title of "road," although Mr. Neely says that it was not comparable with the present fine, graveled highways.

Mr. W. A. K. Neely's wife, who died this last spring, was the first school teacher in Wakefield.

The pioneer heritage runs all through the family. W. H. Neely, son of the elder Mr. Neely, works the 160-acre farm with his father, in addition to his work as an auctioneer. On Feb. 1, 1919, he married Gladys Gertrude Orr, whose folks were pioneers in Dakota county, having come there in 1865.

This trio, W. A. K. Neely, W. H. Neely and Mrs. W. H. Neely, conduct the farm with young William Harvey Neely, 10, and John Orr Neely, 2, eager for the time when they, too, will be able to help. Besides W. H. Neely, Mr. W. A. K. Neely has another son, John who is a civil engineer in St. Louis.

Farming nowadays is vastly different thing from what it was 40 years ago, says the elder Mr. Neely. In those days, he says, it was the customary thing for a farmer to walk about 20 miles a day to put in crops. Farm life was nothing but work, all day long. Now, he says, it is all tiding. He does not, however, lament the change, being a progressive farmer, always ready to accept innovations which will be of assistance.

The Neely place has the reputation of being one of the best small stock farms in the territory.

The 160 acre farm has seven buildings with an 11 room house. The home is pleasantly situated with a pleasant, grass lawn and massive shade trees. A 10 acre grove with a good many fruit trees, is a feature of the Neely farm which the two youngsters find enjoyable. Improvements which the house possesses are an acetylene lighting system and a bathroom.

Fifty acres of the farm are in corn, 25 in oats, 30 in alfalfa, 25 in timothy clover, and the rest, with the exception of acreage occupied by the grove, in pasture. There is no waste land.

During the post-war boom times, Mr. Neely was offered as high as $300 an acre for his place, and he wishes he had sold it—but the reporter thinks that his fondness for farm life would never permit him to do it. Mr. Neely says that his corn this year looks especially good, but needs rain badly. Much delay in further moisture supply, he thinks, might damage the crop seriously.

Buildings on the farm occupy a square footage of 5,359 feet. Two 65-foot deep wells furnish the water supply. The Neelys feed about 30 head of shorthorn cattle and about 100 hogs. They keep an average of about 250 chickens, and have raised Barred Plymouth Rocks for 47 years.

The elder Mr. Neely does not look for much of a rise in farm prices this year, but says that if other commodities will come down to a level equal to that of farm products, no increase will be necessary.

He thinks that farmers must get up in arms and tell America's politicians that they cannot spend so much money. Taxes, he says, must be lowered if the farmer is to survive. He maintains that taxes could be lowered considerably with an increase in efficiency of governmental officials.

The Neelys have played a significant part in the growth of the Wayne territory, and their claim to the "pioneer" title is as unquestioned as is their ability and efficiency as farmers.

Crop Reports Show Corn Condition Good

Over 80 percent of the winter wheat has been harvested to date and the yields over most of the state are well above the average according to bankers in their mid-month report to the state and federal division of agricultural statistics. Yields of other small grains were somewhat reduced by early freezing temperatures and dry weather. The condition of corn is 90 percent but the moisture supply is somewhat short.

The average wheat yield will be 20 bushels, bankers say, which is nearly 1.5 bushels above the estimate made by them at this time a year ago. The final estimate of wheat yield last year was 19.4 bushels. Yields in western Nebraska were reduced by early freezing temperatures and dry weather and are now estimated by bankers to be nine bushels in the Panhandle district and 16 bushels in the southwestern counties. Yields in other important wheat growing districts range from 22 bushels in the central and southwestern districts to 25 bushels in the south central counties.

Corn is good at present, with an average condition for the state of 71 percent. Corn has made excellent progress during the past 30 days and is now, on the average for the state, about as far advanced as usual for this date, being slightly late in southern and eastern districts and somewhat advanced in central and western counties. Corn is generally in need of rain, since it is now at that stage when much moisture is needed for proper development. Little evidence of serious damage is noted at present, but additional moisture will be needed in the near future. After more than three months of below normal precipitation, Nebraska does not now have the reserve supply of moisture which enables crops to withstand the drouthy conditions experienced last summer. Northeastern Nebraska reports a yield of 28 bushels on oats. Barley yields are below average, varying from 13 bushels in western counties to 29 in the southeastern section.

VULTURES

In a ringing statement from the White House, President Hoover soundly rebuked the professional gamblers who have been taking advantage of the harvest season to sell the wheat short. He did not undertake to discuss the economics of short-selling in ordinary times, "but in these times," said he, "this activity has a public interest. It has but one purpose and that to depress prices. It tends to destroy returning public confidence. The intent is to take a profit from the losses of other people. Even though the effect may be temporary, it deprives many farmers of their rightful income." The President said he would gladly expose the names of the gentlemen (?) if he was not prevented by law from doing so.

The heyday of the professional gambler in the commodity market is when harvesting and marketing is at its height. Large numbers of farmers are obliged to market their crop from the machine to meet pressing bills. This is particularly true of wheat for it is the cash crop that is used to liquidate bills that have been carried over from spring and early summer. In itself, this is enough to insure such a heavy flow that prices may be depressed. Add to this the short-selling of wheat that does not exist and the result is inevitable. Thus the gambler takes advantage of the farmer's necessity, and profits at the farmer's expense. Those who do this are nothing short of vultures who feed upon the misfortunes of their fellows.

When Congress meets again this will be a live subject. It has been discussed in those halls, almost from time immemorial. Successive efforts have been made to curb the operations of gamblers and a little progress has been made. President Hoover undoubtedly secured his information from sources that are authorized by law. The fact that he was not permitted to publish the names of the offenders suggests a change that might well be made in the law. Had we been in his place we would have been strongly tempted to over-step the law in this case. But there are other, and more important changes that may be made.

Short selling for speculative purposes is the reverse of the manner in which trading is customarily done. Ordinarily the trader does not sell something that he does not own, or for which he does not have the option of purchase. The speculative short-seller trades in something that he does not own and does not expect to possess. In order to make a profit he must buy back at a lower price than he sold. This induces him to use every influence he has to force prices downward. It is surprising the numerous ways there are of doing this and they are most accessible to the professional who is close to the machinery and knows how to take advantage of it. Add to this the heavy selling of actual grain at harvest time and you have a set-up for the vulture.—Nebraska Farmer.

STOCK YARDS FEES ORDERED REDUCED

Sioux City's Commission Men Commanded to Lower Rates.

Farmers in the Wayne territory have been evincing considerable interest in the order issued Saturday, July 25, by the department of agriculture at Washington, ordering commissions charged at the Sioux City stock yards reduced.

The Sioux City rate reduction order was issued on findings developed at a hearing in May, 1930, to inquire into the reasonableness and lawfulness of rates charged by Sioux City commission men in buying and selling livestock. Most rates will be lower than those in force in 1929.

Department officials said the new rates would apply to all patrons of the market, including traders who heretofore have paid one-half of the regular rates for having their livestock sold on a commission basis.

The department estimated shipments marketing livestock at Sioux City would save approximately $125,000 annually in commission charges under the new rates, which are to be effective in 30 days. Principal reductions are on shipments of cattle, sheep and hogs received by rail and cattle by truck.

Charges on cattle and calves received by rail were reduced to a flat rate of $15 per car from a varying rate of $16 to $21. Sheep charges were reduced $2, and the truck-in rate on cattle was cut from 80 cents a head to 70 cents.

The commission charge on a carload of livestock of any one species shall not exceed the amount which would be charged on the same number of animals of that species arriving in a mixed car.

Cattle and calves arriving in one car shall be subject to the maximum of $15 on the car.

Pointers for Work Around Farm Homes

A shipment of hogs fattened at the United States Range Livestock experiment station, Miles City, Mont., on barley, tankage, and alfalfa pasture produced Wiltshire sides that sold on the Liverpool and London markets with noteworthy success.

You can make watertight a crack in a slate, soapstone, or cement laundry tub with a mixture of litharge and glycerine or a specially prepared commercial cement. Mix the litharge and glycerine to make a smooth paste and work it into the crack with a case knife.

Experiments by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with different fertilizers for fall-sown oats in the South showed that acid phosphate applied 200 to 400 pounds per acre in the fall at seeding time, and a top-dressing of nitrate of soda applied 100 to 150 pounds per acre about March 1, gave the best yields. Ammonium sulphate at the rate of 80 to 100 pounds per acre may be substituted for the nitrate of soda.

Fifteen associations of livestock owners grazing cattle on the Carson National Forest in New Mexico have provided for salting livestock under Forest Service rules. Some of the associations provide herding on the range. Such co-operative actions by National Forest users have gained rapidly in favor during recent years. The latest method of harvesting grain sorghums is with a combine.

The cost of labor, power and fuel for harvesting and threshing grain sorghums with a tractor-drawn combine is about 65 cents per acre.

More Farm Profits with Good Equipment

You can save time and labor, make more money for yourself with equipment that runs right and keeps running without many repairs.

We know what farmers and farm equipment are up against—That's why we only carry McCormick-Deering equipment. McCormick-Deering farm equipment will stand up.

It is time-tested. Everything we sell is guaranteed to give satisfaction and money saving service.

You can be sure when you purchase anything in the McCormick-Deering line from us that you are going to get your money's worth.

Repair Service

A few dollars spent with us in keeping your equipment in good repair will make your job easier—save you money in the long run. Don't make "patch jobs" when something goes wrong or breaks. We have parts to fit all machines and can repair and replace worn parts.

Your Buildings are worth ... How Much?

And think how much of that value is represented by the colorful beauty of painted protection. Perhaps you say 10, 25 or even 50 per cent, for a home is bleak indeed without color's cheerfulness. Let us explain the economy of painting your buildings with our paint.

When to Repaint

Ordinarily, a good paint job lasts three to five years, but don't judge by time alone. The first signs of cracking, scaling, or chalking are danger signals. To delay means unnecessary expense.

HATS OFF TO EDGAR

Congressman Edgar Howard never has much opposition for office from the Republicans—and there's a reason. Edgar Howard is too good a man for even a Republican to vote against. He has always had the interests of the territory at heart, and has not let the urge for publicity swerve him from working for the good of Nebraska. Edgar Howard hasn't been a stormy petrel and he hasn't spent all of his time yowling to the four winds about the iniquities and depravities of his fellow representatives.

However, when Nebraska really needed aid in the fight against the grasshopper plague, Edgar Howard went to Washington and went to bat for the Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa territory infested by the plague. Nebraska's brass band senator was nowhere around. He was conspicuous by his silence and lack of co-operation with Mr. Howard.

Government officials passed the buck in their customary style when our Quaker Edgar tried to find the answer to the government's lack of interest in the tragic situation brought about by the hopper infestation. Mr. Howard wasn't able to get much done in the way of relief appropriations—but he tried. It is doubtful if anyone in the world could have accomplished any more, because our enigmatic administration like Bret Harte's heathen Chinese, "is peculiar."

But that's not Edgar Howard's fault. He did his best for the people he represented, and he can have our vote any time.

BOXING BALLYHOO

Old-timers like to talk about the good old days when boxing was fighting, and a prize fight was decided by flailing fists and not by managerial strategy. It was this gory era of boxing that led to the period known as the "million dollar gate" age. In turn, the million dollar gate age has led to the tea dance period, closely followed by the racketeer era. Without any question, boxing ain't what she used to be, and the prospective customer is becoming more and more doubtful about the entertainment, if any, to be seen in return for payment of a sizable sum of money for a ringside seat at an alleged fight.

Man's desire to attend prize fights is a throw-back to the age of savagery. Every man likes to see an honest-to-god, knock 'em down and drag 'em out battle. He doesn't pay his money to see a scientific exhibition of footwork and graceful dodging. He pays to see somebody get hit hard.

It has seemed that, the more money fighters get for their efforts, the less their efforts amount to. With a fighter's increase in value, his tendency to avoid danger of punishment has increased.

Boxing will completely lose its popularity if somebody doesn't get hit viciously and frequently in just about every fight.

NO TOLL ROADS, MR. BRYAN

Ever since announcement was made several weeks ago that the federal and state governments would pave Highway No. 20 between South Sioux City and Jackson, conflicting interests in South Sioux City have been tearing each other's throats in an effort to get the highway routed according to their particular business interests, regardless of how it would affect those who use the highway.

On the first survey owners of abutting property thought they saw an opportunity to get a little easy money so hiked the price of the land needed to some $65,000 although the engineers had estimated the damage to be only around $30,000.

Governor Bryan then ordered a survey of other routes, in spite of the opposition of certain interests who are reported to be primarily representing the combination bridge and their property at Crystal Lake, near which they would like to have the improved highway pass.

But the old route, used for years and years, known as the Ninth street route is again being advocated as the shortest, cheapest to build and so located that traffic will avoid the main street of South Sioux City which is only 44 feet wide.

This route is over two miles shorter from South Sioux City to the Blessing corner, which is the first corner east of Jackson. It will require less paving and paving costs a pretty penny. But more important—the Ninth street route will not be a toll road as would the other route.

Automotive engineers have shown that it costs at least ten cents a mile to operate a motor car. If the present long winding route is chosen Nebraska will be going back to the toll-road days by compelling every person who uses the highway to pay at least twenty cents in cash each way each time he uses the road—not to mention the waste of from five to ten minutes time on each trip.

South Sioux City officials should remember that Highway No. 20 is a federal and state highway that will rival, if not excel, the Lincoln highway in importance. They have no right, whatever, to ask the users of that highway to pay toll in order to look at their particular places of business or look at the edge of their lake.

Governor Bryan may not please every one as governor. But he has some qualities that compel admiration of all.

And Governor Bryan is not going to put Nebraska back into the toll road class, or this newspaper is very much mistaken.—Cedar County News.

GERMANY WORLD ASSET

The seven power statesmen's conference came to a close at noon Thursday after a plan had been decided upon for the relief of the financial situation in Germany. The conference worked swiftly and made its decision in a remarkably short time. While it is unusual that representatives of seven world powers could reach an agreement so quickly, the circumstances in the present case made agreement fairly easy. All persons present at the conference were convinced of the need of some action. The plan was all that could cause disagreement.

The conference had up for consideration what is known as the "second Hoover plan" which supplemented the moratorium suggestions. The conference preferred to call it the Anglo-American proposals, which doesn't make a great deal of difference anyhow. The important thing was to strike Germany out of its present slump.

After the moratorium had been decided upon, there was only one other thing to do. That was to see that Germany had ready cash or credit with which to get into action in the economic battle. The statesmen's conference decided what was about to be done along this line. The plan contemplates extension of credit along various lines such as extension of time on loans, the making of further short term loans and the urging of private banking interests that credits be left in German hands.

Germany had been pushed so near the wall that the representatives of the world powers were convinced that the moratorium alone would not be of great assistance. Germany not only had to have a debt holiday but had to have cash or credit on which to operate.

If the moratorium and the Anglo-American proposals upon which statesmen have acted, achieve the results expected, Germany will soon be a large purchaser on the world market. That is a tonic the world needs. As an active trader, engaged in buying and realizing a profit on her activities, Germany is a world asset. Under other circumstances, she would be a serious liability.—Lincoln State-Journal.

CHINA AND JAPAN

The report out of Hongkong that Chiang Kai-shek, president of the nationalist government of China, had urged a declaration of war against Japan for alleged atrocities against Chinese in Korea may not be authentic. It was given out by officials of the insurgent Cantonese government, who insisted Chiang Kai-shek had invited them to join him in a united movement against Japan.

His past performances may raise some doubt in the minds of students of far-eastern affairs that President Chiang Kai-shek made such a proposal. He has shown ability not only as a military leader but as a statesman of parts. He also has left no one in doubt as to his courage and patriotism. One therefore would hesitate to attribute to him at this time, with only meager reports at hand, a suggestion that only could serve to plunge his country into a deeper abyss.

There is, of course, such a thing as national honor, which, regardless of circumstances, must be protected. At least an effort for such protection must be made lest the civilized world look with contempt upon a nation and people that failed to resist aggression. Belgium fought Germany tooth and toe—nail, realizing what the outcome would be. Belgium was invaded, overrun, all but crushed. Eventually, the Belgians shared in the victory over the central powers, but Belgium did not know when the German guns were hammering at Liege and Namur what the result would be four years later.

China has no chance in war with Japan. That was proved conclusively a generation ago, and today China is not so strong comparatively as she was then while Japan is a first class fighting power, modern, progressive and thorough. Japan would be just another David defeating the Chinese Goliath.

Meanwhile, thought must be given to the fact that China and Japan are both signatories to the pact of Paris, the Kellogg anti-war treaty. The issue between the two countries is one that could be settled through arbitration. Both governments had solemnly promised there would be no recourse to arms in the settlement of international disputes in which they were involved. The rest of the world would expect them to keep that promise, and the powers probably would remind them of its solemnity. But at this distance and under the circumstances, war between China and Japan seems remote. President Chiang Kai-shek is believed to have too much common sense to attempt the impossible.—Sioux City Journal.

REPAIRING BUILDINGS

Wayne County Singers to Be in Vocal Contest

Wayne county, along with 11 other counties, has been placed in District Two in the Nebraska Atwater Kent vocal contest. Other counties in the division are Brown, Holt, Knox, Cedar, Dixon, Antelope, Thurston, Boone, Nance, Madison and Stanton. The District Two contest will be broadcast over radio station WJAG at Norfolk on Sept. 18.

Nearly one thousand amateur singers of Nebraska, between the ages of 13 and 25, are competing in the state contest, for the right to represent the state in the national competition.

Fifty-two counties have been organized for local auditions, putting Nebraska in the lead of all other states in the Union. From each county one boy and one girl will be chosen to represent the county in the district audition.

Last year 36 county winners competed in the state audition, but this year, with one hundred and four county representatives, it has been found necessary by the state committee to subdivide Nebraska into seven distinct districts.

Twenty-six counties have already held their local auditions, and the remaining contests will be held before Sept. 10.

Four Wayne Students at Nebraska University

Four of the six students from Wayne county who have been attending the summer session at the University of Nebraska are from Wayne, according to registration figures released by the registrar.

All four are men, and they are taking work in the graduate college. They are Earl G. Albert, Walter D. Albert, A. J. Foy Cross, who will teach in Superior this year, and Fred G. Dale.

Other representatives from Wayne county are Fred G. Gemmill of Carroll, a sophomore in the college of engineering, and Miss Beatrice Cobb, who lives near Wakefield. Miss Cobb is a junior in Teachers' college, and will teach in Wakefield this year.

The majority of students enrolled in the summer session are teachers who taught during the past year. Of the 2,713 registered, 1,637 are of this group. Those who attended school during the winter number 916, while the remaining 110 were engaged in various occupations.

Registration figures show a slight increase over the number taking work at the university last summer. Most outstanding is a 23 percent increase in the graduate college, with many teachers returning to work toward advanced degrees. Those taking the six weeks term completed their work last Friday, July 17. The nine weeks session ends August 5.

Band Gives Surprise Program at Decatur

Wayne's municipal band, under the direction of Prof. F. C. Reed, went to Decatur, Neb., last night and played a concert with the Decatur band, under the direction of John Brandon.

The Decatur director, Mr. Brandon, had no knowledge of the fact that the Wayne band was going to be there, and was greatly surprised when the local musicians appeared on the scene. Mr. Brandon is an old friend of Professor Reed's, and the local group made the trip as a goodwill gesture to the Decatur organization.

Decatur people were highly complimentary to the Wayne band, and the local musicians had to play a number of encores.

Mrs. James Nielsen, Winside, Dies Monday

Mrs. James Nielsen of west of Winside passed away Monday, July 27, following a brief illness. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the home and from Reform church, with the Rev. Fred Larsen, Laurel, in charge.

Mrs. Nielsen was born in Wensted, Denmark on October 22, 1891 and came to this country in 1900. She was married in 1912 to James Nielsen. For the first year following their marriage they lived on the Frank Weible farm south of Winside. Later they moved to a farm west of Winside where they have since resided.

The deceased is survived by her husband and six children. The children are Leo, Alvin, Howard, Betty, Agnes and a two-weeks old baby daughter. One sister, Mrs. Hans Andersen of Winside, also survives.

Sox Scandal Stirrs Court House Folks

When a hosiery salesman entered County Judge J. M. Cherry's office one day this week, he got a cool reception from the Judge. "I don't wear socks," Judge Cherry told the peddler. "There's no use talking to me because I don't like socks."

It was merely the Judge's way of getting rid of a pest. He has never emulated the habits of "Sockless Uncle Joe" Cannon or Sockless Jerry Simpson. His pedal extremities have always been satisfactorily covered.

The salesman, however, thought that the Judge was serious, and told other Wayne people of Judge Cherry's confession concerning lack of hosiery. He was absounded that anyone in this day and age would be so far behind the times as to go without socks. It was, in his estimation, positively barbaric.

Les Way heard about the sock scandal, and made a trip to the court house. He went into Judge Cherry's office and handed him a neatly wrapped package. "Don't open the package until you get home," he admonished the Judge.

When Judge Cherry got home and opened the gift box, he discovered a pair of silk socks—but what a pair! They had evidently been fashioned for the Cardiff Giant, since the feet were about 18 inches long. Judge Cherry thanked Mr. Way for the present.

And leave him all shaky and gory. To hell with the reason! To him it was treason

For any reporter to blunder. And any excuses increased his abuses

And deepened the roar of his thunder.

They cautiously cursed him and swore that they'd bust him.

Some day, in the midst of a panning, They'd show that tough baby, and didn't mean maybe.

"BILL"

Was in Canada one day last week. Then the next I heard from him he was in Akron, Ohio. He went on to tell me about the big dirigible the U. S. government was building there. He says the building they are making their dirigible in covers eight and a half acres of ground.

Now everyone that has ever been in Canada knows how much bigger things look to them when they get back, and I am very much afraid that was the trouble with Bill.

I have never been to Canada but there is one thing that looks awfully big to me right now, and that is a second-hand radio. So if you have an old radio and want a modern up-to-date one, come in and find out just how big your old set really looks to me.

As a matter of fact, used radios look so big to me that I'll give you a trade-in allowance greater than you ever hoped for-- even when you were suffering from delusions caused by a trip to Canada. When you think of radio, think of Hiscox Hardware.

RULES FOR REDUCING

(Editor's Note—Readers of The Democrat may receive answers to any questions regarding the general subject of health by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with their questions to Dr. Victor E. Levine, Creighton University, Omaha, Neb.)

It was T. L. Stoddard who wrote the well-known book, "The Rising Tide of Color." In this book he points out the fact that the yellow and black races are rapidly developing power, and that they will soon successfully compete with the white race and even gain ascendancy over it.

It will take, however, many generations before Stoddard's prophecy fulfills itself. Be that as it may, the question is of no particular concern to most of us. We wish to mention a more imminent danger—by no means remote, and already beginning to overwhelm many members of the white race. This present danger we shall refer to as the "Rising Tide of Corpulency."

About one-fifth of the American people are already burdened with excessive weight. Excessive weight after the age of 40 is a real impediment to an active and vigorous life and is a threat to health and longevity.

We have been asked to give a few practical rules for reducing. We shall begin by giving you the reverse side of the picture, by laying down a few rules for getting fat.

1. Work like a crocodile and eat like a horse. In other words, exercise too little and eat too much.

2. Take double portions and eat between meals. The consumption of food per capita is greater in this country than in any other country. Be patriotic. Keep up the record.

3. Avoid salads, fruits and greens. They do not furnish many calories, but because of their vitamin content they cause food to be burned up more quickly.

4. Do not miss a day without afternoon tea or the dainty sandwiches and coffee after bridge. You need that extra food to show how well you like your hostess and how well you enjoy the party.

5. Take a midnight lunch whenever you go to the symphony concert, the movies, or legitimate theatre. What after all are a few calories among friends?

6. Appreciate the generous father, the fond mother, the kind-hearted neighbor who is always bringing you samples of her culinary art, the boy friend who never fails to bring a box of candy, the genial host, the good cook, the persuasive grocer, the attentive waiter, the business luncheon and the public banquet.

7. Take as many cocktails as you want. Take a few before eating, some during the meal, and some after the meal. As soon as you "get organized," you will feel care-free, indifferent or apathetic, or you may even "pass out of the picture." Thus you gave many calories. Very few habitual drunkards reach the age of 40 or 45 without becoming overweight.

Alcohol depresses bodily action. It cuts down the metabolism or the energy to burn food. The more alcohol you indulge in the greater your chance for being overweight.

We shall continue with the rules for reducing in the next issue.

Not a newspaper in this section has carried an announcement of the chautauqua course this summer. This despite the fact that there is more unemployed "talent" than ever. The chautauqua racket seems done for. No longer can every Iowa village organize its "talent" for a summer invasion of Minnesota and the Dakotas with profits guaranteed by the communities invaded. The guarantors had their pocketbooks burned too many times by the promoters, and are now proof against the prettiest advance girls.—Belle Plaine Herald.

EATING OUTDOORS

If you have ever traded dry meat sandwiches with a genial Alpine guide over the hospitality of the Swiss hospice; if you have rested on the earthen stoop of a white-washed cottage somewhere in Ireland and eaten bread and tea; lingered over a French dinner "au Bois" with artichokes served in hot butter sauce and wine of ancient vintage; or put away "hot dogs," say, at the old county fair—we needn't waste a paragraph on the luxury of eating outdoors.

It's altogether "what to do." The next question, then, is—how to do it. Foods for outdoor refreshment differ widely according to the occasion. There are motor trips, picnics, hikes, camping, porch lunches, garden parties and so on. Thus there are correct foods for each occasion. For one would as soon wear khaki knickerbockers to a garden party, as to take chilled gelatin salad on a hike.

Foods That "Belong"

Here is a brief classification. Welcome foods for a motor trip are compactly-packed sandwiches, package cakes, thermos jugs of fruit juice; on a picnic, generously cut sandwiches, covered jars of delicious salads, fruits, fruit juices, deviled eggs and delicious cakes; for hikes and camping, ready-sliced loaves of bread, sandwich spreads, bacon and frankfurters to broil, and fruit juices; for porch lunches and garden parties, open-faced sandwiches, fruit cocktails, chilled salads, delicious cakes and after-dinner candies.

Incidentally, here is a new stunt for hikers who like to "travel light"—cooking on a tin-can stove. Did you ever hear of one? A No. 3 tin can will make a sufficiently large stove, or you can use a lard bucket. Cut a four-inch square out of the side at the upper edge. Near the bottom on the opposite side cut another square hole, one and one-half inches. Turn the can upside down on the ground and build a fire in it. The large opening is used for refueling and the smoke comes out of the little hole. The top of the stand becomes hot for frying bacon, eggs, pancakes, or to set a saucpan on.

Some "Outdoor" Recipes

A MOTOR TRIP SANDWICH — Piquant Ham Sandwich: Spread between buttered bread the contents of a small can of deviled ham, one teaspoon chopped mustard pickles, one tablespoon chopped walnuts and one tablespoon mayonnaise.

A PICNIC FRUIT PUNCH — Coffee Punch: Mix one cup strong coffee, one cup orange juice and the syrup from two No. 2 cans of grapefruit (reserve the fruit for salads). Add one cup maple syrup and chill. Just before serving add one quart of gingerale and two cups of heavy cream, if desired. The cream may be omitted. This makes almost three quarts of punch.

A GARDEN PARTY SALAD — Gingerale and Grapefruit Salad: Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, then dissolve it in one-half cup of boiling water. Add one-fourth cup sugar and one-fourth cup lemon juice and stir until the sugar is dissolved. When cold, add one cup gingerale and the syrup from one No. 2 can of grapefruit. When about to set, add the grapefruit pulp and eight maraschino cherries; pour into a flat pan or into molds and let chill until stiff. Serve garnished at the side with sprigs of fresh mint and top with cream mayonnaise.

Dayton, Iowa, Folks Visit Friends Here

Rev. Dr. Carl Hiller and wife, of Dayton, Iowa, and two of their nieces, from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, were here Friday, Saturday and Sunday visiting their friends, Mr. and Mrs. D. A $2 Dinner for 6

FROZEN fish from the far North, new potatoes delicately creamed with parsley, a green vegetable with the tang of lemon, salad "cool as a cucumber" and served at the tinkling of iced tea. Does this appeal to your summer palate?

No, it isn't a fanciful menu from a "fizzy" hotel cuisine. It is a practical home dinner which you can serve at the very low cost of 33 1/3 cents per person.

Let the menu and tested recipes explain:

Frozen Salmon and Celery 31¢

Parsley Creamed Potatoes 22¢

Spinach with Lemon Wedges 15¢

French Bread and Butter 18¢

Romaine with Cucumber 25¢

Dressing 25¢

Chocolate Sundae 82¢

Iced Tea 6¢

Frozen Salmon and Celery: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, dissolve over boiling water and add two tablespoons vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one cup diced celery and one cup diced green pepper. Carefully fork in the contents of one tall can of salmon, pack in the refrigerator tray or in a fish mold, and let chill for two hours. Do not freeze too long, or the celery will freeze solid.

Chocolate Sundae: Combine three-fourths can of chocolate syrup, two tablespoons corn syrup and one-third cup of evaporated milk. Boil for three minutes. Cool and pour over one and one-half pints of vanilla ice cream.

motion was declared carried and Ordinance No. 367 was read for the second time. Motion was made by Bichel and seconded by Wright that the rule requiring an Ordinance to be read on three separate days be dispensed with and that Ordinance No. 367 be passed to its third and last reading. Motion put by the Mayor and on Roll Call the following members voted "Yea" to-wit: Bichel, Lewis, Miller, Wright, Ellis and Horney. None voting "No", motion was declared carried and Ordinance No. 367 was read for the third time.

Motion was made by Miller and seconded by Wright that Ordinance No. 367 be passed as read. Better Breakfasts

PERHAPS you are particularly so early in the morning. And possibly you are a bit proud of being difficult to please. You would like to breakfast at an interesting table, cheerful with sunshine and flowers, and have placed before you berries from your own, or neighboring bushes, grilled fish from far Norway or the blue Pacific, preserves of quince such as delighted ancient Greek and Roman emperors.

Not so difficult. Nor do you demand too much, in this age of convenience. There are now and inexpensive table linens of rough weave for breakfast settings. Choose one of sunny quality which gives a mellow charm to the table, and place your bowl of flowers or compote of fruit at one side of the table, instead of in the center, for a change.

Foods from far and near have come in your market-basket, and they are at their best in this dietetic and delightful menu:

Ready-to-Eat Cereal With Fresh Red Raspberries
Grilled Sardines
Quince Preserves
Hot Beverage

Grilled Sardines: Sauté the contents of two 3/4-ounce cans of sardines gently in their own oil. Spread six slices of toast very thinly with prepared mustard. Lay on the sardines and garnish with slices of lemon. This serves six persons.

SOCIAL NOTES

W. C. T. U.
The W. C. T. U. met last Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. O. Mitchell, Mrs. Mae Young, Mrs. I. E. Ellis, Mrs. Charles Simpson and Mrs. E. B. Michael were the hostesses. There was a large attendance and a very entertaining program. Mrs. W. C. Fox led the devotionals. The song, Work for Enforcement Where You Are, was sung by the group. Mrs. C. A. Anderson sang two solos, One Sweetly Solemn Thought, and In Thy Hand. Miss Charlotte White was guest of honor and gave a talk on the history of the W. C. T. U. and on the W. C. T. U. convention held last June in Toronto, Canada. One of the most interesting things she spoke of was her personal acquaintance with Miss Frances Willard, founder of the W. C. T. U. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. David Noakes on Friday afternoon, August 21. Mrs. Jack Dawson and Mrs. P. C. Crockett are to assist the hostess.

Bridal Dinner.
In honor of the marriage of their daughter, Frieda, to Mr. Carl V. Spiecker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartels entertained at a three-course reception dinner on Sunday, July 26. Return Saturday Eve From Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McGarraugh and family arrived home Saturday evening from a motor trip to Kansas, Texas, Utah, Wyoming, and South Dakota. On the first day of their trip they stopped at Wichita, Kansas, to visit a brother of Mrs. McGarraugh. They then went on to Perryton, Texas, a nearby town to visit Mr. McGarraugh's mother. From here they traveled up through southern Utah to Salt Lake City where they spent about a week visiting a sister of Mrs. McGarraugh. Leaving Salt Lake City, they went to Yellowstone park where they spent about a week before coming home via the Black Hills.

They report having had a most enjoyable trip but were glad to get back home.

STRAHAN'S RETURN FROM 4000-MILE VACATION TOUR

Massachusetts country has abundant water power, Mr. Strahan says, which makes it an ideal location for manufacturing industries.

The Strahans went down the Hudson river to Kingston, N. Y., cut over to Pennsylvania and followed the Susquehanna river through miles of scenic beauties. On this part of the trip, Mr. Strahan says that they rode along about 2,000 feet above the river, looking down into a valley that would be the delight of any lover of beautiful scenery.

The oil fields of Pennsylvania interested Mr. Strahan, but he says that he would not live in that region under any circumstances.

From Pennsylvania, the Strahans crossed Ohio, where they were surprised at the high quality of farm lands. Mr. Strahan says that Ohio is a wonderful agricultural territory, and that he never saw oat shocks equal to those viewed on that part of the trip. The oats, he said, were weighing 50 pounds to the bushel.

From Ohio, they went through Indiana to Chicago, and back home from what they regard as one of the finest trips they have ever taken.
