

Normal Board Makes Plans for Dormitory

Arthur D. Baker of Grand Island Is Appointed Architect

Authorization for the signing of all necessary papers to start the construction of a new girl's dormitory at Wayne State Teachers' college was granted Monday by the state normal board, which met at Lincoln. Dr. U. S. Conn represented the local school in the negotiations.

Pres. Conn proposed a dormitory corporation to comprise Rollie W. Ley, Mrs. Elva Brockway, Fred S. Berry, James J. Ahern and Charles M. Craven. Dr. Conn told members of the board that he believed the $150,000 from the state board of educational funds would be sufficient to build and furnish a proper dormitory. The building is to be paid for out of rentals from its use, and is then to become the property of the state. Bonds are to be issued by the dormitory corporation under the amortization plan.

The board selected Arthur D. Baker of Grand Island as architect for the new building. Other architects who were present were Leo Dally of Omaha and E. J. Christensen of Columbus.

Dr. Conn reported that college cafeteria had since Dec. 1, 1929, made a profit of about $8,000, with prices of provisions on a downward trend. The value of the meals sold was $52,627, the average cost being 23 cents. A total of $6,600 has been paid into the treasury of the state and $2,012 is on hand.

Dr. Conn reported that the city of Wayne desires to widen Tenth street and widen the pavement and said that if this is done a 10-foot strip off the campus must be given. He recommended that it be given if the city pays expenses of widening the pavement.

FAIR BOARD GETS JUBILEE PROFITS

Celebration Committee Is $450.95 Ahead After Paying Bills.

Assurance of the financial success of Wayne's Golden Jubilee celebration, held July 2, 3, 4 and 5, was given when Treasurer Perry Theobald made his final report to the Jubilee board of directors Friday night at the city hall. Mr. Theobald reported that there was a balance of $450.95 in the treasury after paying all bills.

The board of directors decided to turn the money over to the Fair board, feeling that the money could thus be distributed back to the community in entertainment, the purpose that it was donated for.

Of 4,796.24 collected, $4,345.29 was paid out for expenses. Outside of money spent for decorating, balloon ascensions and a small expense incurred by special advertising, the greater part of the money stayed at home. Mr. Theobald wrote 80 checks, and by far the majority of them were spent in Wayne. The Dutton circus, the most expensive attraction of the celebration, had a lay-over in Wayne and spent practically all of the money earned by that organization here.

Mr. Theobald has collected $25 since the meeting Friday night, and there is about $100 yet to be put into the Golden Jubilee treasury.

Wayne Weather

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week are conceded by old timers to be three of the hottest September days in Wayne's history. The maximum temperature was 101 on Monday and Tuesday, but raised to 103 on Wednesday afternoon. There has been no rainfall registered on the rain gauge during the month of September, the last rain being Aug. 31. The forecast is generally fair for today, but partly cloudy and somewhat cooler for tomorrow.

Contracts totaling more than $1,200,000 on Federal aid and state highway construction and maintenance have been awarded at Lincoln.

Natural Gas Will Be Installed Soon

Three carloads of pipe have been unloaded here for laying of natural gas mains by the Peoples Natural Gas company, and work on that organization's office is going ahead rapidly. The gas company hopes to be able to furnish Wayne residents with gas before the end of the month.

Local labor will be used wherever possible in the work of installing gas mains throughout the city.

The board of county commissioners has entered into an agreement with the gas company whereby natural gas equipment will be installed at both the court house and the county jail. Under terms of the agreement, the commissioners are given until May 31, 1932, to decide if they wish to purchase the equipment.

City Schools Have Increase In Enrollment

Registration Figures Show 441 Students Entered for Fall Term.

Wayne's public school system shows a total enrollment of 441 this year, with gains in all departments. The grade school enrollment is 181; Junior high enrollment is 82, and high school enrollment is 178. There will be about 15 late enrollments.

In the high school, there are 18 new enrollments in the freshman class, one new sophomore, and three new juniors, with three transfers. There are 13 rural freshmen this year, as compared with seven last year. Forty rural pupils enrolled in high school. There is a reasonable increase in attendance despite a large graduating class last year.

The commercial department is filled to capacity, with 13 students in advanced typing compared to four last year, 10 in shorthand as against six last year, 22 in book-keeping, 24 in commercial arithmetic and 24 in general commerce. The equipment of the department has been added to considerably, with three new tables and five new typewriters.

Twenty-five pupils have enrolled in an expression class, taught by Miss Verna O'Neill. The class will work along the line of individual instruction. Activities of the group include a speech recital to be given later in the year and organization of a dramatic club.

Everything started smoothly in the Junior High school with an increase in enrollment. Miss Loula Avery, new junior high teacher, is teaching literature and reading, and plans on doing considerable work in declamatory, literary societies and outside activities. She will also have charge of girls' physical education. Ray K. Holder is reorganizing the physical education course for boys.

All grade school and junior high school pupils new to the system have been given standardized tests and will be classified on basis of results, which is regarded as the only fair way in view of the fact that promotion and classification are based on these tests.

Wayne County Boys Attend 4-H Contest

Allan Stamm and his brother, LeRoy Stamm, Lindsey Keeney and Robert McEachern went to Lincoln Friday to take part in the 4-H stock judging contest. The boys made up the judging team representing Wayne county. There were 41 judging teams present from various counties taking part. The Wayne team placed about twentieth among the 41 teams.

Wayne high school was rated "above average" in conduct and sportsmanship displayed during games by the team, school administrators and townspeople last year, according to a list recently made public by Walter L. Black, secretary of the Nebraska High School Athletic Association. The schools were rated by football officials.

Best Tells Kiwanians of Economic Control Plan

Superintendent of Schools H. R. Best opened the fall season of Wayne Kiwanis club meetings at the Stratton hotel Monday noon with what was regarded by many Kiwanians as one of the most interesting and practical talks ever given at a local Kiwanis meeting.

Mr. Best spoke of study and research work he had done this summer at Columbia university in New York city in the subject of economic planning and control. He said that he had first been asked to speak on the depression in New York, but that such an attitude was entirely foreign to that of the east. No Westerner, he said, was ever asked to speak of the West in New York. This he attributed to the East's self-centered attitude and the fact that the east regards the West as provincial.

As a matter of fact, he added, provincialism is more apparent in the Eastern urban sections than in the West. Eastern newspapers carry little western news and publish only that news which is adaptable to "scare" heads.

Mr. Best said that for the past two years he had heard much about economic planning and control, but that everything he had heard had been abstract. He confessed that his interest had been aroused, and said that he went to Columbia this last summer with the idea of studying it.

The situation in the east, he asserted, is far from encouraging. He told of hearing a talk before a New York Kiwanis club by a member of the commission which went to Europe a year ago and interviewed Mussolini, Stalin, and Dr. Schmidt, former head of the Reichsbank in Germany. Dr. Schmidt, this speaker said, had always been accused of opposition to payment of German reparations. In an interview with the commission, Dr. Schmidt said that Germany was ready to pay, but that he would like to ask one question. "The United States," Dr. Schmidt said, "has half the gold in the world. France has 40 per cent. That leaves one billion in gold for the rest of the world to do business with. Germany obviously can't pay in gold because she doesn't have it. Germany can't pay in manufactured goods, because other nations have put up high tariff barriers. What do you want?"

The United States, Mr. Best said, is in somewhat of a similar position. The United States has a surplus of goods and gold. The question arises as to how the United States is to get rid of this surplus. How are other countries to do business with us if other countries do not carry a balance of trade against us?

The question is being raised by economists, Mr. Best said, as to how cancellation of war debts would help the United States. The other nations still would not have gold.

Mr. Best said that he had been particularly interested a year ago in reading Sturart Chase's book, "Prosperity—Fact or Myth." This book, written in 1920 pointed out that we have been through five major depressions and five major booms in 17 years. The development of machinery it says, brought the first boom and the first depression. "Gold being discovered in California brought another boom which led up to the Civil War, the panic in 1907 was followed by a boom brought on by the automobile industry, and so on.

PRETTY WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED MONDAY

Hartington Girl Is United in Marriage to Joe K. Corbit.

Marvel M. Hansen, Hartington teacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hansen, was united in marriage to Joe K. Corbit, Wayne farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence K. Corbit on Monday morning, Sept. 7 at 10 o'clock. Rev. Fr. William Kearns, pastor of St. Mary's church, read the marriage lines.

The bride was lovely in a gown of brown chiffon velvet fashioned in jacket style with a waist of ivory color lace. The jacket was lined and trimmed with silk satin, also of ivory color. The bride's bouquet was of ivory roses and her hat, necklaces and slippers were of brown.

The bridesmaid, Romaine Corbit, was attired in a suit of gray and henna, with hat and other accessories to harmonize. She carried a corsage of dark red roses. Lyle Hansen acted as best man.

The Catholic manse where the ceremony took place was decorated for the wedding occasion with bouquets of cut flowers.

After the wedding, there was a wedding breakfast for the bridal party at the Stratton hotel. A color scheme in which the bride's colors of brown and ivory predominated was carried out in the table decorations. Tall ivory color tapers in brown candle sticks added to the beauty of the table decorations.

Wayne Boy to Attend Oberlin College in Ohio

Robert A. Theobald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Theobald, will enter Oberlin college at Oberlin, Ohio, as a freshman this fall.

As one of the 400 members of Oberlin's freshman class this year, he will take part in Freshman Week, which begins Sept. 18. Five days have been set apart for the freshmen before the arrival of the rest of the student body, in order that new students may have an opportunity to become acquainted with their surroundings and with one another.

Robert Theobald graduated from Wayne college high school in May.

FIREMEN ATTEND DISTRICT MEETING

Nine Represent Wayne at Northeast Nebraska Convention.

Frank F. Korff, Martin L. Ringer, John L. Soules, Harry Barnett, Chas. Reise, John Bingold, E. E. Fleetwood, Walter Bressler and Len McClure represented the Wayne volunteer fire department at the meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Volunteer Firemen's Association at Pender Monday.

The meeting was called to order by President Frank F. Korff of Wayne at 1:30 o'clock. Judge Mark M. Ryan of Pender gave an address of welcome and a talk on fire prevention was given by a fire-fighting authority from Omaha.

Features of the program were a ball game between Thurston and Pender, a water fight between the fire departments of the same two towns, the demonstration of a new force pump, and the banquet and dance in the evening.

Nineteen towns were represented at the meeting by more than 100 volunteer fire fighters. Towns represented from this immediate territory were Carroll, Winside, Norfolk, Hartington, Homer, Randolph, Emerson, Crofton, Concord, Coleridge, Bloomfield, Laurel and Wayne.

The Democrat's secret operative No. 692 reports that Wayne firemen did not attend the "Hooche-Kootchie" show presented as a side-attraction.

Fire Does Damage on Norton Farm Tuesday

Fire at about 12 o'clock Tuesday night did damage estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000 on the Chan Norton farm a mile south of town. Two chicken houses, a garage, about 80 chickens and an automobile were destroyed by the flames.

The origin of the fire is not known. The Wayne volunteer fire department answered the call and kept the flames from spreading to other buildings. Many Wayne people drove out to the farm to witness the conflagration.

Grading operations are underway on the new route of Primary Highway No. 20 between Jackson and South Sioux City.

Golf Tourney to Be Held Sunday

A large number of prizes have been donated by Wayne business and professional men.

A banquet will be held in the club house Sunday evening following the final match play.

The course is in excellent shape for the tournament, and the committee in charge is preparing to take care of 150 entries.

Assenheimer Goes to Veterans' Convention

William F. Assenheimer left Wayne on Friday, Sept. 4, for New Orleans, La., to attend the annual reunion of Spanish-American War Veterans as delegate at large from this district.

By a peculiar coincidence, Friday, Sept. 4, was the forty-sixth anniversary of Mr. Assenheimer's arrival in Wayne county. He came to Wayne on Sept. 4, 1885. During the 46 years of his residence here he has been engaged in various occupations. He farmed at one time and then went into the farm implement business at Altona. Next he was connected with the Kohl land company, buying and selling real estate.

For the past eight years he has served the county as County Assessor and since Jan. 1 has been connected with Martin L. Ringer in the land and insurance business.

He was a member of the Nebraska National Guard which was merged with the regular army and was sent to the Philippines in 1908.

One of his friends describes him as "a good fellow, a Lutheran, a Mason, a bachelor and a good Democrat."

Judge Names Guardian for Aged Recluse

Henry E. Ley to Safeguard Interests of August L. Moeller.

Although little of the aura of mystery which has surrounded August L. Moeller, Wayne county's hermit, was lifted, Henry E. Ley was appointed guardian over the aged recluse at a guardianship hearing in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court Tuesday morning, Sept. 8, at 10 o'clock. Moeller offered no explanation for his conduct and made his visit to the court house a short one.

The hermit had little to say. "A lawyer can't do that," he stormed when Judge Cherry told him that a guardian had been appointed over him. That was all. Following that declaration he left the court house and went back to his farm which has not been tilled in 10 years.

Sheriff A. W. Stephens had met with no more response when he served notice of guardianship hearing upon the modern anchorite. Moeller had accepted the papers with a surly manner and had hurried the sheriff on his way.

Once before, neighbors had caused guardianship proceedings to be brought for Mr. Moeller, but Judge Cherry had ruled at that time that Moeller's conduct was not dangerous anyone, that he was not dangerous and that he had a right to live as a hermit if he so desired.

At the hearing Tuesday morning, however, a guardian was appointed more to safeguard the hermit's interests than for any other reason. Moeller has nearly $2,000 coming to him from the failed Farmer's National Bank of Wakefield. Dividend checks have been mailed to him from time to time, but he has refused to accept them. He has turned down all other mail. In time the money would revert to the comptroller of currency as unclaimed. Judge Cherry said that one of the principle reasons for appointing a guardian was to see (continued on last page)

GAS COMPANY ASKS LAND CONDEMNATION

H. Paul Olson Refuses to Give Right of Way to Pipe Line Firm.

The Missouri Valley Pipe Line company of Nebraska entered application in County court Tuesday, Sept. 8, to condemn rights of way and easements over, through and across the real estate of H. Paul Olson and his wife, Mable C. Olson. The Olson property is located six miles east of Seventh street.

Representatives of the pipe line company say that they have been unable to reach any agreement with the owners of the property and that it is necessary for them to put pipe lines across the land if they are to serve Wayne with natural gas.

In their application for condemnation proceedings, they asked the appointment by County Judge J. M. Cherry of three disinterested commissioners to examine the Olson land and determine the damages sustained by the owners of the land from laying of natural gas pipe line.

Judge Cherry appointed George Berres, Martin L. Ringer and Herman Mildner as commissioners to examine the property.

CIRCLE PACEES

The economists are traveling around the circle again and getting after much exertion just where they started. Alexander Legge finds that in its capital situation agriculture is in far better shape than some of the major industries.

That moves the Omaha Journal-Stockman to inquire who is to buy the products of the farms if others are worse off than the farmers. It holds that it is more necessary to find buyers than it is to produce merchandise.

That's going around the circle again. When you argue for the farmer argue the necessity for his market first. When you argue for the man out of a job find a market for what he can produce first. In each instance prosperity will follow.

After a few times around the circle there is so much money in the hands of the people that they go farther. They buy stocks on the market and from traveling salesmen. At the height of the stock buying, with a demand for everything produced, we have flush times.

Some of the plans that are being brought forward to cure the depression remind us of some of the cantaloupes we have cut into lately. Pathos.

HARD LUCK

President Hoover, it is said, has more push buttons on his desk, more telephones by his elbow, more secretaries and clerks at his beck-and-call than any of his presidential predecessors.

But the president doesn't seem to have any luck with his system. There are more embarrassments, more misunderstandings, due to failures in office routine than it is possible to recall from the careers of former presidents.

able breaks. Our former presidents do not seem to have had the same bad luck with dinner invitations and important correspondence. There were breaks now and then but they were inconsequential.

The great depression isn't the only thing which stamps Herbert Hoover as our champion hard luck president.—Omaha World-Herald.

THE NEW WOMEN

Woman has invaded the air and today seems to be particularly bent on proving her equality in that line. Anne Lindbergh, that shining example of the modern bird-woman, is blazing trails through strange skies with her famous flying husband.

And now we learn that six young women will compete with men fliers in a cross-country race from Santa Monica, Calif., to Cleveland, O., in the National Air Races.

Woman, so long considered man's inferior in brain, brawn and courage, is rapidly demonstrating that she is inferior in one respect only. Consider her achievements of the past decade in the light of her position down through the ages.

Formerly, woman had to depend on her charm to get her things she wanted. Now that she is revealing mental ability equal to man's, there are those who feel that her increasing power, added to her ability to charm, will make her a dangerous rival in business and world affairs.

There are a great many of them nowadays, and their number is increasing. What is to become of man?—Cedar County News.

A McADOO BOOM

A new development in democratic circles is seen in persistent talk of a presidential boom for William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet. If the boom takes shape, it will be definitely aimed at the campaign to put Gov. Roosevelt of New York through at the democratic national convention as the nominee.

A meeting is said to have been planned within the next few weeks in Washington to determine whether sufficient strength could be mustered by the McAdoo adherents to cut any figure in the National situation. There appears to be considerable doubt that the McAdoo group can threaten the Roosevelt movement in the convention.

It is generally accepted that the McAdoo people have just one purpose in starting a boom for the former cabinet officer. They have no hope that he could win the nomination. They would content themselves with creating a deadlock that would keep Gov. Roosevelt out. They are counting on western and southern dry democrats to rally to the McAdoo banner.

However, that is not all there is to the McAdoo movement. Aimed directly at the Roosevelt boom, it also would be opposed to the Smith-Raskob organization that is now in control of the party's national machine.

There is no question whatever as to the New York domination of the democratic party. New York had the candidate in 1928. New York wants the candidate in 1932. New York overshadows the hope that New York leaders will continue to guide the destinies of the party.

The beneficiary of a McAdoo movement of this kind would not be Mr. McAdoo himself. A conservative would suit the McAdoo group. Newton D. Baker is mentioned now and then as a possibility of a deadlock developing between Gov. Roosevelt and someone else. Whether the McAdoo people have their eyes on Mr. Baker no one knows, but it must be apparent to anyone that the democratic party is not yet a unified organization as it faces the next national campaign.—Sioux City Journal

SAVAGES

Unspeakable savagery is a characteristic of the tide of crime which is at its flood in America. Outstanding illustrations are the St. Valentine's day gang massacre in Chicago, the shooting, clubbing and burning of two boys and two girls, by thugs in Michigan, the recent murders in New York in which three victims were bound to chairs and used as targets for stiletto throwing assailants.

This savagery is of course no new thing. The pages of the progress of civilization are blotted with instances of revolting cruelties, inflicted by man upon man, often unconnected with crime, according to the code of the times. Still the instances seem to come with greater frequency and more spectacularly than are recallable from the near past.

It is a strange phenomenon, this pleasure which men living in a cultured environment appear to derive from cruelties which transcend bestiality in ferocity. "Thou has made him a little lower than the angels," sang the psalmist of man. But when he goes jungle man uses claw and fang as few of the jungle beasts ever do.

But even the fiercest animals seldom kill their own kind. Their prey is always an animal of a different species. The males of herd animals frequently fight during the mating season for possession of the females, but in their duels there is no such wanton savagery as marks the pain inflicted by members of the human race upon their own kind.—Omaha World-Herald.

THE TRUTH AT LAST

Evidence before the Nye investigating committee has removed some of the gloss from the Hoover campaign of 1928. It has made abundantly clear that at a time when the present occupant of the White house was mouthing meaningless phrases about religious tolerance, his managers were actively fomenting a religious revolt against Mr. Hoover's Democratic opponent and were arranging by devious means to provide funds to give that revolt increased effect.

The public knows now what every sensible man suspected at the time—namely, that the Hoover campaign was tainted with the poison of a religious vendetta more bitter and more ignominious than any which ever disgraced American politics. The republican candidate may not have known the intimate details of the secret Cannon, Good, Sleep arrangement but he could have known had he any desire to clothe his professions about tolerance with the reality of practice. He could have stopped the whole miserable business with a word, but he shut himself in his ivory tower and let the traffic between his party and a bigoted group of churchmen go on.

BEST TELLS KIWANISANS OF ECONOMIC CONTROL PLAN

now asking, "What is going to pull us out of the present depression?" "Wayne people who have recently returned from the west coast say that the situation out there is charged with dynamite," Mr. Best said. "The situation is even more pronounced on the east coast. Communism has made more gains in the last two years than in 20 previous years. Radical statements that would not have been countenanced ten years ago are being made openly on the streets."

He attributes this new consideration of communism to the fact that this present depression is different from others, since we have an oversupply of everything. Because of the present depression's nature, people are more ready to accept radical propaganda.

Approximately 10 million men are out of work. Government statistics, he said, show that where it took three men to produce a manufactured unit in 1920, two men can do it today, and technical experts claim that production can be increased three to five times. Mr. Best said that he saw a textile factory this summer that operates 24 hours without a worker in it. When the machinery in any unit goes wrong, that unit is automatically shut off until a battery of mechanics can come and fix it. Such mechanical work, he said, is being done and will be done in other lines. This means that with a normal increase in population there will be more workers and fewer jobs. The employment problem will be more acute in the future and economists predict that the next depression would see 20 million men out of work instead of 10 million. The added question is raised, if men are thrown out of work, what about over-production?

"We're going to weather this depression," Mr. Best stated. "There's no question about it. But we can't afford to take chances on another one. Economists believe that the situation would be extremely critical."

He said that the old Adam Smith school of economics and the "laissez faire" idea were being entirely thrown out by the new school economists who advocate economic control and planning, with an analysis of our attitudes, both moral, political and economical.

A review of our constitution, he pointed out, shows a change of viewpoint in government. He said that he had been interested this summer in studying various constitutions, all old, comparatively speaking. The newer constitutions were largely economic, showing the realization of governments for the necessity of economic control clauses.

Economic organization, he said, was very crude at the time the United States constitution was drafted, but a need for economic control has now developed through the development of complex industry.

Our constitution, he said, guarantees certain rights to man, freedom of speech, etc., whereas the German constitution guarantees every man who wishes to work the right to work. "Isn't that really more of a test," he asked, "to guarantee protection of a man's right to earn a living?"

Modern economists believe, he said, that we are too much inclined to hand a man a ballot when he is asking for bread.

"The theory of economic planning," Mr. Best asserted, "is not new. The city of Washington, D. C., is planned. Large cities all have zoning ordinances which regulate construction. The new school of economists believes that the only way to get rid of depressions and unemployment is through planning, mobilization and distribution of labor through commissions. They believe that a commission should distribute labor. This might mean that the average individual would work only five days a week, but the economist believes that such a plan would be better than to have a few men working long hours and many not working at all."

"Such a commission," he said, should be composed of technical experts."

He said that the plan generally accepted is one of a central commission, with subsidiary state and local commissions, organized somewhat after the system of the Federal Reserve Board.

"The natural reaction to, such a plan," he said, "is negative. I'm not so sure that it is the only way out, but up to this time it seems like the only logical one. Perhaps the best advice would be to keep an open mind, to study and read the opinions of experts—which, after all, is the responsibility of every good citizen."

"It is possible that such a plan cannot ever be worked out. If we fall in solving the problem, it will be because of our incapacity and our own selfishness. But when Owen D. Young, one of the world's leading industrialists, makes the statement that he is interested in control and feels that it is the only thing which can work out a solution to the present situation, we are convinced that economic planning and control are not the mad ideas of mere theorists."

GOES TO VETERANS MEET

SCOTT SHOTS "SCOTTY"

There's a tab show coming to town next week, with the appearance of the Happy Day Revue at the Wayne county fair. "Tab" is a contraction of tabloid musical comedy, and the tabs are usually known to the general public as "revues."

Tab shows had unusual success at fairs—unusual because they have been up against it for theaters outside of fair season. Just as the resident stock company has been driven out of many cities by lack of a showing place, so have the tabs fared badly at the hands of the movie chains. But the Tab Show has certain qualities which have made it a desirable grandstand attraction for fairs.

In the first place, considerable of the tab show's appeal is to the eye. Then there is much music, and music is more plainly heard by large crowds than the spoken word. The tab usually has plenty of dancing and dancing draws the crowds.

Walter Winchell in the Omaha Bee-News pulls a fresh miffy about a chorus man who is often mistaken for his own daughter.

The honeymoon is over when the bride wants a heater in the coupe to keep her feet warm.

Love is funny business, isn't it. It makes a fellow want to pay some girl's board and room when he can't even pay his own. It makes a fellow dress up and go to church when he wants to put on a pair of old pants and a work shirt and go fishing. It makes a man wear a gift necktie from his girl that he wouldn't ordinarily wear unless told to do so at the point of a gun. It may not make the world go round, but it surely does make the world dizzy.

And now we come to our Fred Howard department. Mr. Howard's column, "A Broader View", in the Clay County Sun always has some clever material. Here's some of the best in his paper this week:

An odd kid seldom gets an even break. Billing and cooing is purely a pre-nuptial sport. After marriage the cooing stops but the billing grows even more serious.

The versatility of the folks of the silver screen is indicated by their ability to marry "the only girl I ever loved" every 30 days—two off for cash.

Don't know whether there is any connection, but it seems to be true that most men go to church on Sunday and most men have their clothes prest on Monday. Sleeping in a suit is sure to get it full of wrinkles.

"If you don't raise my salary," said the minister, "you can all go to hell."

"Do you object to kissing on sanitary grounds?" the Wayne Romeo said to his Juliet.

"Oh, no!" she replied. "Well, then," he suggested, "let's take a stroll up past the hospital."

Now that school has started they're reviving that old wheeze about the little boy who took his kindergarten teacher an apple and she kissed him. "I'm taking her a watermelon tomorrow," the infant prodigy announced.

Whenever a man gets rich, there's always someone to say "I knew him when he didn't have a pot to cook in."

Where Reporters Tell The Truth—The Brushville Bugle carried the following story: "The Methodist Ladies were meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Ella Mills for their regular August meeting. We did not get a report on the meeting but a safe guess would be that there was plenty of one thing—namely, a conversation."

Clothes give a fellow a lot of confidence. He goes lots of places in them that he wouldn't go without them.

Stories of Success—A red-head once applied for a position in a messenger office. The manager, after hiring him, sent him on an errand. Half an hour later the manager was called to the phone.

"Have you a red-headed boy working for you?" a voice asked. "Yes," the manager replied. "Well this is the janitor at the Up-town apartments, where your boy came to deliver a message. He insisted on coming in the front way and was so insistent that I was forced to draw a gun."

"Good Heavens!" the manager ejaculated. "You didn't shoot him?"

"No," the janitor's voice replied. "But I want my gun back."

Billy Patterson has been the Scott Scooper's manager in the horseshoe pitching game, but after seeing Billy play a game of checkers, I think I'll have to hunt for a new manager. Billy and Burl Craig were playing checkers in the back of Fred Blair's clothing store the other morning, and what Billy did in the matter of "give-away" was terrible to behold. If you've got a bad checker player, I'll put Billy up against him and bet on my man to lose.

The Hunkum and Bunkum column in J. P. O'Furey's Cedar County News carried a number of wise ones this week:

A tough ex-convict who recently stole a large sum of money near Hartington called up the other day and said: "Say listen, youse newspaper guys, I'm gettin' tired of havin' me name spelled wit two 's's'."

MCLENNAN-FARR

Miss Arline McLennan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McLennan of Fleming, Colorado, formerly of Wayne, became the bride of Louis Farr of Fleming, Thursday morning, Aug. 27. The ceremony took place at 11:30 a. m. at the Christian church in Fort Morgan, Colo., Rev. Thies, pastor, reading the marriage lines.

They are making their home in Fleming, where Mr. Farr is a partner in a meat market and where Mrs. Farr has been assisting her parents in their store.

CROWBAR INJURES BOY

Billy Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller, had the misfortune last Saturday forenoon of having a crowbar which he was using slip back and strike him on the foot, cutting through his shoe and tearing off a piece of flesh on one of his large toes. It also cut through the nail which had to be taken off Tuesday evening. Although Billy has had to go to the hospital each day for treatment, he is doing nicely.

Charming Home Is Feature of Mark Simpson Farm

It has been said that "a man's home is his castle," and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Simpson have a beautiful farm home on their place two and a half miles southwest of Wayne that comes close to perfection in its effect of comfort, charm and attractive appearance. The six-room bungalow was built about three years ago and is all modern, with electric lights in the Simpson's own Delcolight system, running water and bath.

The home is attractively furnished throughout and has light, cheerful walls. Its immaculate appearance is a tribute to Mrs. Simpson's ability as a housekeeper. A spacious lawn with great old trees offering plenty of shade adds to the appearance of the place.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson have only lived on their present farm for five years. Prior to that time they were residents of Wayne. They have 120 acres for which they paid $250 per acre. This year Mr. Simpson planted 40 acres to small grain and 40 acres to corn. The corn is not turning out as well as usual, due to the dry weather. Mr. Simpson is cutting up about half of it. Twelve acres of the farm were planted to alfalfa this year, and the rest is in pasture and farm yards.

There are eight farm buildings on the place, all well painted. The main barn is a large building with electric lights throughout. Cleanliness is one of its features.

Mr. Simpson works the farm himself with the occasional help of an extra man. He keeps his machinery up in good shape, and every piece of farm equipment is kept in its designated place under cover when not in use.

Mr. Simpson has four horses and three colts, 20 head of cattle, most of which are white-faced Herefords, and 150 head of hogs.

Mrs. Simpson is raising 150 Rhode Island Reds and finds poultry a profitable addition to the farm.

The Simpsons' son, Dean, goes to Wayne high school as does a niece who lives with them on the farm.

The farm is well laid out and fairly level. Water supply outlets are strategically located. The water supply is pumped from a mill to a reservoir. Soft water is furnished by a cistern. A scale in the farm yard furnishes Mr. Simpson with an accurate record of weights.

The farm was visited this spring by grasshoppers, although they did little damage. A few of them got into the alfalfa but did little damage. Drouth is the only thing which caused any trouble for this year's crop prospects.

The Simpsons are long-time residents of Wayne and Wayne county and are regarded by their friends as progressive, up-to-date farmers. The appearance of their place is most attractive and one gets the impression as soon as he sees the farm that this is the home of a man who takes pride in his work.

Many Farmers Are Digging Trench Silos

County Agent E. T. Winter of Thurston county laid out 11 trench silos in one day around the vicinity of Walthill. Farmers of the county who have corn that will make better feed than ear corn seem to be interested in the new type of silo. It fits into the drouth emergency and the agricultural depression and can be easily constructed with practically no outlay of cash, according to Mr. Winter.

One hundred silos will be built in Thurston county between now and winter, the agent says. Perhaps the largest silo in the county has been built on George Maryott's farm southeast of Macy. The farm is operated by Mel Hightree. The silo is 150 feet long, 16 feet wide at the top, and 14 feet wide at the bottom. It is nine feet deep. Mr. Hightree does not know how many acres will be required to fill it. It is expected that 1,000 tons of ensilage will be put into the trench.

The cut ensilage is hauled to the silo in wagons and trucks. Each wagon or truck has a heavy strip of woven wire as a false bottom. When the load is hauled through the trench the front end of the woven wire is hooked to a stationary post and as the wagon or truck goes ahead the wire dumps the ensilage out over the back of the wagon or truck.

It is said that the packing of the ensilage in the trench and the proper covering of it with wet straw and hay are the two most important factors in filling a trench silo at this season of the year. This is particularly true when the silage is made from drouth affected corn.

Late Housing May Make Pullets Molt

Delaying the housing of pullets until they are well started laying is one of the main causes of a winter and fall molt, a disastrous blow to winter egg production, according to Miss Cora Cooke, extension specialist in poultry at the University of Minnesota.

Houses and equipment should be ready so that the pullets can be shovelled in as soon as they start to lay. A ready house is one that is clean, thoroughly disinfected, insulated for winter and well ventilated in the winter as well as now.

Don't have a lot of fixing to be done on the house after the pullets are in. Miss Cooke admonishes, because it worries them too much. She advises sorting the pullets, keeping the big thrifty, yellow legged ones and shipping the runt, pale ones. Any surplus of good pullets should be sold, as an overcrowded house is not conducive to profits even with the best of hens. Miss Cooke also advocates separating the pullets into two lots, if some are further developed than others.

Sterile Grain Heads Due To Stem Maggots

White heads in wheat and barley, which showed up thickly in some parts of Minnesota this year are due to insects known as wheat stem maggots, according to A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist and professor of entomology at the University of Minnesota. The adult of the wheat stem maggot is a two-winged fly.

If the plants showing the blighted heads are examined, the injury will be found just above the joint. For this reason the damage is sometimes incorrectly attributed to the cereal jointworm.

Using up all straw, so that none is carried over from year to year, and burning and cleaning up fence rows and other spots where the maggots live are control measures recommended.

Dakota Farmer Feeds Silage Eight Years Old

The keeping ability of a pit silo is proved by the experience of Frank Monfore, northwest of Springfield, S. D., who is feeding silage which was put away in his pit silo eight years ago. He says that it is every bit as good as the day it was put away.

This silo is about four feet under the ground and Mr. Monfore is getting ready to fill it. He wished to feed the remnants. Many South Dakota farmers are digging pit silos this year and others are getting old ones that haven't been used in shape. Some farmers are putting their corn away in temporary crib silos, some lining the cribs with paper and others lining with bundles.

When to Start Pullets on Laying Mash Ration

A good time to start feeding laying mash to young pullets is when the combs reddened up and the first pullet eggs start to appear. Pullets should be put in the laying house at about this time and it is a good practice to start in with the laying mash then. Many people in feeding this laying mash do not start in all at once with the regular amount of protein that is put in a laying mash. For example, instead of feeding a laying mash containing 20% protein, that is, meat scrap or some form of milk, they start the birds in with about 10% and gradually increase this amount up to 20%. However, if the birds are in good physical condition and are in weight, that is, the weight runs up to about 3 1-2 lbs. and heavier breeds 5 lbs., they may be started in directly on the laying mash.

The increased use of commercial laying mashes has done away, to a considerable extent, with the necessity of correcting the amount of protein in the ration. Where pullets are not quite up to weight a fleshing mash is fed in addition.

This is composed of equal parts of corn meal and ground, rolled oats moistened with milk until it is crumbly, not sloppy.

Dividing Perennials Increases Their Vigor

September is the time for dividing perennial flowering plants to get rid of all old, superfluous or decayed parts of the roots. Such division is necessary every few years to keep perennials in good vigorous condition.

Many large old plants should be divided into three or four new ones with all old roots discarded, particularly those in the center of the clump which have passed their usefulness and remain only as a menace to the rest of the plant.

Practically all kinds of perennials may be dug up and divided during September except such flowers like late asters which are blooming at this time. Dividing time offers a good chance to rearrange borders and to relocate certain plants. —Rock County Star.

Corn Crop Condition Drops 34 Per Cent

Condition of corn crops throughout the state dropped from 91 per cent a month ago to 57 per cent, a thirty-day drop of 34 per cent, according to the mid-month report to the state and federal division of agricultural statistics.

Some areas of Nebraska have a surplus of grain while others are deficient. Financing of farmers to maintain breeding herds in drouth areas is said to be a problem.

Reports on corn by counties show a rather spotted condition, with the best corn in the two southern tiers of counties. Conditions in the balance of the counties are generally very poor with the exception of a few localities which might be rated as fair. It appears that the Panhandle counties and a few of the northeastern counties will raise some corn. The lowest condition is reported from the north central counties where the crop is practically a failure as far as production of grain is concerned.

The present moisture supply is short throughout most of the state. Only 20 per cent of the reports indicate a sufficient supply. Rains, in general, seem to be of local nature.

Despite short corn and hay crops, Nebraska is said to have ample grain, hay and forage to meet all needs if distributed properly.

Big Waste in Killing Unproven Dairy Bulls

Turning good purebred bulls into beef before their actual value as breeders has been shown in one of the most wasteful dairy practices. The real worth of a dairy bull cannot be determined until his daughters have been tested for butterfat production in comparison with their dams. Too often, however, before this has been done, the bull has been killed and all possibility of further service cut off. Nine such examples have been found in the four years of testing carried on by the East Polk county dairy herd improvement association.

This association has proven nine purebred sires whose daughters produced more than their dams, the increase ranging from 20 to 82 per cent. One dairyman owned two of these sires, yet not one of the nine remained alive when their worth was known.

The most recent sire to be proven was a purebred Guernsey owned by Tilford Haugstol of Fosston. Seven daughters of this bull, all that have been tested so far, have yearly production records averaging 507.64 pounds calculated on the basis of maturity. The seven dams have records averaging 333.87 pounds. The average increase of daughters over dams in yearly butterfat production is 273.77 pounds, or an increase of 82 per cent.

Had this bull been saved until the above records were available, he would not only have been worth a good big price, but could have helped other dairymen improve their herds. —Wright County, Minn. Herald-Press.

PRICE DEMONSTRATION

When the farm board went into the wheat market to remove a part of the pressure put on prices by the large surplus, the farmers in Kansas responded enthusiastically by increasing their acreage and pouring into the elevators the largest crop they had raised for several years.

When the board, tried to support the cotton market by similar purchases, the farmers of the south came back with the heaviest production of cotton in five years.

The strengthening of the farm board's purchases in both cases was more than offset by the weakening effect of increased surpluses. Can there be any clearer refutation of the claim by political farmers that they have a system whereby farm prices can be supported without regard to the law of supply and demand?

Is there any better proof that artificial stimulation of the market is certain to be followed by a scramble to plant increased acreages, unless some way can be found to control plantings?

Isn't it clear that the same growing surplus would make either the tariff debenture plan or the equalization fee plan ineffective to maintain prices?

The dirt farmers are learning the lesson, even if the political farmers have missed it, that the problem is largely up to the farmer and the remedy is to readjust production to consumption.

This is a simple lesson in economics, which other producers learned years ago, but it has taken a long time to demonstrate that it applies to farm as well as industrial production. —Norfolk Daily News.

Louis Baker Is Hurt in Car Wreck Sunday

The stock truck is said to have been coming down the middle of the road. Mr. Baker was unable to get the road hog's number, as the trucker "hit and ran."

Mr. Baker had a badly bruised knee and a cut lip. He was driving south on GH highway No. 35. The truck was going in the opposite direction.

IT'S hard work to stretch budgets these days, and even the small housewife has to do some tall thinking sometimes to make hers cover the multiple needs of the modern household. But when a grown-up housewife can serve a family of six with an appetizing dinner for two dollars, she can stick at least one feather in her cap. This menu does it, with a penny to spare.

Assorted Cold Cuts 50¢
Dill Pickles 10¢
Potato and Bean Salad 34¢
Corn on the Cob 30¢
Rye Bread and Butter 15¢
Cherry Pie 34¢
Iced Tea 4¢

Pointers for Work Around Farm Homes

Late summer or early fall is the best time to seed new lawns or renovate old ones. Annual weeds and hot, dry weather are likely to injure lawns seeded in the spring.

Smooth vetch is one of the best winter legumes for the South. In commercial plantings in the Cotton Belt it has made somewhat better winter growth than hairy vetch and is preferable to that variety. In the last few years a great deal of smooth vetch seed has been imported under the hairy vetch, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Late-maturing birds in the poultry flock are usually poor producers, at the U. S. Animal Husbandry Experiment Farm at Beltsville, Md., two years ago, the Rhode Island Reds that began to lay in September and October averaged 212 and 200 eggs respectively for their first year, but those starting to lay in January laid an average of 161 eggs in the year. Similar records in other years showed similar results.

Better Breakfasts

WE are never so national as when we are eating. That's why the American demands the substantial breakfast to which he is accustomed whether he is in Hong Kong, Tierra del Fuego, Venice or Paris. Many of us always eat the same breakfast from force of habit, but better breakfasts mean variety. Here's one with fruit and honey, a hot bread and a juicy ham omelet which will start even the drowsiest of summer days off right:

Iced Watermelon
Ham Omelet
Toasted English Muffins
Honey in the Comb
Hot Beverage

Ham Omelet: Beat four eggs thoroughly, add four tablespoons cold water, one-half teaspoon salt, and a few grains of pepper. Melt two tablespoons butter in a large flat heavy skillet, covering every bit of the surface. When foaming, pour in the egg mixture, which should not be very deep. Cook gently, lifting edges with a spatula to let the liquid on top run underneath until all is cooked. Don't overcook. Mash a 2½-ounce can of deviled ham with two tablespoons cream, heat and spread over the omelet. Then, beginning at one side, roll it up, using a spatula, and off onto a hot platter. This serves three. For six, make two omelets separately.*

Orr & Orr Grocers

"A Safe Place to Save"

Coffee Values

It has been a good many years since coffee has been sold as cheaply as now.

Owing to crop conditions our coffees are really better than they have ever been.

CREOLE selling at 37c per pound is perhaps the finest coffee being sold in Wayne.

CHARM at 34c is equal in value to most coffees selling at 35c to 40c per lb. A real full blend coffee.

FAMILY BLEND at 30c per pound is a real coffee bargain. Hundreds of pounds of this fine coffee are being used each year.

REAL GUP selling at 4 lbs. for 89c is generally sold at 25c per pound.

A trial of any of these brands will convince you that your coffee money will buy better values here.

Something that happened about 10 years ago soured Moeller on the fellowship of man. Some of his neighbors say that it was a bank failure. There have been many conjectures. Whatever the reason, Moeller has preferred to live in solitude for 10 years. He has refused to see people. He has refused to accept mail. He has let his farm deteriorate.

Neighbors charged in the petition for guardianship that his farm, four miles south and four miles east of Wayne has not been farmed or tilled in 10 years. They said his land has been allowed to go to weeds and brush. They complained that he has allowed Canadian thistles to grow upon his farm and that the seeds blow to their places. They said his land has rapidly depreciated in value and has become nothing but a weed farm.

They charged that Moeller does not take care of himself and does not have proper food to eat and that he lives alone and will have nothing to do with any other person in the neighborhood.

Will the appointment of a guardian and the consequent adjustment of his affairs restore his faith in mankind? August L. Moeller's neighbors are wondering.
