Wildcats Win 20 to 0 Game from Midland

Copeland Stars in Second Gridiron Victory for Local College.

It was pretty much Mister Copeland last Friday night at the college football field, when Wayne's Wildcats sent the above-average Midland football team home with a 20 to 0 defeat. Ray Copeland, vest-pocket edition of "Red" Grange, chased his 155 pounds through seemingly impossible places time after time, with two break-aways good for touchdowns. On his first sprint to a touchdown in the first quarter, he got away from the Midland safety man with as much skill as Houdini ever displayed in escaping from a strait-jacket. Manger's toe was good for the point after touchdown.

In the fourth quarter he got away for another sprint, and in between times he had been ripping off 161 of Wayne's 280 yards from scrimmage. Andrews made the third Wildcat touchdown in the last quarter. Manger's kick for point after touchdown failed only once, giving him a season average of three out of four, which is regarded as good in anybody's football league.

Hansen, Wildcat tackle, was an especially irritating fly in Midland's grid ointment, turning up at unexpected places at highly inconvenient times.

Midland threatened twice in the third quarter and again in the last quarter when the Wayne lineup was composed largely of substitutions. Beck, guard, Carlton, quarterback, and L. Coe, halfback, stood out for Midland.

A humorous sidelight which was not by any means the least enjoyable part of the game was the decision of referee Harry King of Norfolk at the (continued on last page)

Free "No Hunting" Signs Going Fast

Approximately 2,000 "No Hunting" signs were given out this last week by Wayne merchants and professional men cooperating with The Democrat in the free distribution of the placards to farmers who wish to post their places.

Farmers have expressed themselves as being highly appreciative of the campaign to distribute "No Hunting" signs without cost.

Those participating in the distribution of placards are Orr & Orr, W. A. Hiseox Hardware, L. W. McNatt Hardware, State National Bank, Fisher-Wright Lumber Co., Martin L. Ringer, Billy Patterson, Miller and Stirtz, Craven Hardware, Dr. T. T. Jones, Jacques, Dr. L. W. Jamieson, Electric Shoe Shop, Dr. W. A. Emery, Denbeck's market, Johnson and Hawkins, First National Bank, Wayne Creamery, Merchant and Strahan, Theobald Lumber Co., Wayne Grain and Coal Co., and The Nebraska Democrat.

Gas Company Starts Work Here Tuesday

Pipe Laying Operations to Be Completed Before November 15.

Work on natural gas pipe lines for Wayne began Tuesday, following the posting of a $25,000 bond by the gas company, to insure the city against any liability which might result from the gas company's operations.

Pipe stringing is practically completed, and street crossing holes are being made wherever necessary. The extension of franchise granted to the gas company gives that organization until November 15 to have natural gas service ready for Wayne citizens.

The most intensive work will probably be started about the first part of next week, and will continue until the early part of November, with prospects of work for about 100 men during that time.

Wayne's gas supply will come across the county from Winnebago to the Wayne county line in six inch pipes, which are laid in ditches about a foot wide. Four inch pipes will bring the natural gas supply the rest of the way from the county line to the city.

It is not considered necessary by gas company workers to have the pipes entrenched very deep in the ground, with the average depth of the ditches running about 30 inches.

Much of the equipment and stock for the gas company's retail store has arrived, although the exact opening date has not yet been announced by gas company officials. The Jeffries building is being put into readiness for use as retail store and office headquarters for this district.

Practically all of the material needed by the pipe line construction company is now on hand.

J. A. Frydenlund Is Leaving for Denmark

J. A. Frydenlund is leaving Wayne Sunday, Oct. 11, for a trip to Denmark, where he plans to visit with relatives and old friends. It has been five years since his last visit to his native heath.

Mr. Frydenlund's boat sails from New York on Thursday, Oct. 15. He has three sisters and one brother in Denmark.

Amos Laase Passes Away after Operation

Amos Laase of Wayne passed away last night at about 7:30 p. m. at a local hospital. He underwent an operation on Sunday, Oct. 3. His condition yesterday afternoon was said to be very critical. He had been a resident of Wayne county for many years. Funeral arrangements had not been made at press time.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF WINSIDE DIES

Mrs. Marie G. Rohlf Is Taken by Death After Month's Illness.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, Oct. 4, at the Trinity Lutheran church at Winside for Mrs. Marie G. Rohlf, who died Friday, Oct. 2, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martin Pfeiffer, following a month's illness. The services were in charge of Rev. W. F. Most. Interment was in the Winside cemetery.

Marie G. Gradert was born in Germany on May 1, 1868, and she came with her parents to Washington county, Nebraska, in 1891. During the same year she was united in marriage to Adolph Rohlf, and the couple lived in Washington county for five years.

They moved with their family in 1896 to a farm near Winside, where Mrs. Rohlf has since resided. Her husband, Adolph Rohlf, preceded her in death on Nov. 23, 1924.

With the help of her younger children she continued to farm until she was taken ill.

She is survived by three sons, John, Adolph and Carl Rohlf; four daughters, Mrs. Freda Pfeiffer, Mrs. Dora Ritz, Mrs. Ella Reinhardt and Mrs. Rose Maritz.

Mrs. Rohlf was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church.

Wayne Band to Hold Benefit Dance Friday

Wayne's municipal band is holding a benefit dance at the Colonial pavilion tomorrow night, starting at nine o'clock, for the purpose of relieving the shortage in the band treasury.

Music for the affair will be furnished by Eli Rice and his Dixie Cotton Pickers, a Brunswick recording orchestra which is known throughout this territory as one of the most pleasing dance band aggregations on the road.

Band members have made a ticket sales canvass of surrounding towns during the past week, and report that advance sales indicate a record crowd.

The dance is in charge of the band committee, of which Howard Hrabak is chairman.

Wayne Weather

Wayne county farmers' hearts were gladdened Tuesday night by a rain which started shortly after 6 p. m. and continued through the night. The rain gauge registered a total rainfall of .62 inches. The rain was followed by cooler weather, with the average temperature for Wednesday, computed by averaging the maximum and minimum, at 63 degrees Fahrenheit.

Forecast for today is generally fair, and slightly warmer in the afternoon.

Radio Manager Disapproves of Mail Order Type of Advertising

Lloyd Thomas, business manager of the Westinghouse radio stations, including KDKA at Pittsburgh, KYW and KFKX at Chicago, WBA at Boston and WBZA at Springfield, Mass., agrees with the stand taken by The Nebraska Democrat on advertising run by many of the smaller stations.

"The biggest trouble with the smaller radio stations," he says, "is that they are giving too much attention to mail-order business. Strictly high class commercial stations do not approve of direct mail-order selling over the air and will not accept business of that nature. The small station has a definite place of service, but is not as highly organized as the larger units, and it must clean up its advertising if it is to survive."

Mr. Thomas, with his wife, who was formerly Belle Liveringhouse of Wayne, is visiting here this week at the Dick Auker home. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were married here in 1908. Mrs. Thomas is a sister of Mrs. Dick Auker.

Mr. Thomas received his first experience in the radio field at KFKX at Hastings, where he was employed for two and one half years. His rise

Club Women Gather Here for Meeting

Group Endorses Mrs. W. E. Minier for National Vice-President.

About 100 women, including more than 50 out-of-town delegates and guests, attended the tenth annual convention of the Cedar, Knox and Wayne county Inter-County Federation of Women's Clubs held at the Methodist church in Wayne on Saturday, Oct. 3.

Outstanding features of the convention were talks by Mrs. W. E. Minier of Oakland, general federation chairman of community service, and Mrs. M. S. McDuffee of Norfolk, third district president of the national federation.

Mrs. Minier spoke on "My Observations at the Phoenix Council-meeting." After giving a panoramic word picture of the changing beauty of the landscape in and around Phoenix, she gave the essence of several addresses of speakers of national and international note who appeared before the convention. Then she briefly outlined under six or seven heads the working program of the general federation for the coming biennium: child welfare, community service, law observance, Washington Bi-centennial, world peace, foundation fund, and economic depression, with a study of all these topics to be made.

Mrs. Minier is a candidate for second vice-president of the general federation of Women's clubs, which holds its biennial convention in Seattle, Wash., next June. A letter from the tri-county convention was written to Mrs. John F. Sippel of Baltimore, Md., president of the general federation, endorsing Mrs. Minier's candidacy. Copies were also sent to the district and state presidents.

The theme of the address given by Mrs. McDuffee was "The Public Welfare Bill" enacted by the last Nebraska legislature, in which the county is (continued on last page)

Presbyterian Pastor Is Named State Moderator

Rev. P. A. Davies, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Wayne, was nominated Tuesday as the new moderator of the Nebraska Presbyterian synod, at the annual synod meeting at Aurora. The election was to be held later, but nomination to the office practically assures election.

Rev. Davies and A. F. Gulliver attended the synod as delegates from the local Presbyterian church.

The Niobrara presbytery this year had the privilege of nominating the moderator. Selection of Rev. Davies to fill the office meets with the whole-hearted approval of the members of his church, who are anxious to congratulate him.

John Soules Finds 'Free Silver' Bill

All this recent talk about bimetallism and the abolishment of the gold standard brought John Soules into The Democrat office this week with a handbill printed in 1896. It read:

"BRYAN RALLY! The Concord-Dixon Free Silver Club have arranged for an evening's entertainment at Concord, Saturday night, Oct. 10, 1896, in the school house, at 7:30 o'clock.

"HON. JAMES BRITTON of Wayne will address the meeting assisted by the Celebrated Wayne Glee Club and the Hon. George R. Wilber of Wayne.

"All who are opposed to Labor being nailed to 'a cross of gold' and wear a 'crown of thorns' should attend this meeting and hear the grand speaking and songs.

"Come one, come all, come everybody and listen to the advocates of true Republicanism and new Democracy.

By order of the Concord-Dixon Free Silver Club."

"You see," said John as he brandished the bill, "The democrats were right all the time."

Open Season on Pheasants Starts Oct. 13

All Hunters Must Secure Trespass Permission from Landowners.

Shotguns will start blazing away at pheasants at 7 a. m. next Tuesday, Oct. 13 and continuing for seven days, with the open season ending at 6 p. m. on Monday, Oct. 19. Special attention is called to the fact that the season opens at 7 a. m. and not 6 a. m., as published elsewhere last week. Anyone shooting a pheasant before seven o'clock next Tuesday morning will be subject to a fine.

All counties in Nebraska will be open for the time specified except Box Butte, Cass, Cherry, Dawes, Douglas, Gage, Johnson, Lancaster, Nemaha, Otoe, Pawnee, Richardson, Sarpy, Saunders, Sheridan, Sioux and Washington.

No hunting will be permitted on any farm unless the hunter has the permission of the owner or the person in charge. No tags are necessary this year, but all hunters taking birds in to closed counties must be prepared to show where the birds were taken.

No hunting is permissible between sunset and one-half hour before sunrise of each day, and the daily bag limit is five male birds or four male and one female bird, with the possession limit the same.

Farmers who desire to collect 50 cents for each pheasant taken on their own land as a trespass and feeding charge may do so by using the official "Hunters Shooting Scrip." Hunters are not required under the law to use scrip if they have hunting fields where it is not accepted. It is unlawful, however for a hunter without scrip to hunt on private land where scrip is required by the farmers. Scrip may be secured from the county clerk.

It is not expected that there will be as many hunters from outside the county this year as in previous years, due to the fact that all Nebraska counties with open season are having it at the same time.

Gretchen Teckhaus Is Member Famous Choir

Gretchen Teckhaus, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Teckhaus of Wayne, has become a member of the famous A Capella choir at Midland college, where she is attending school this year. This choral group of 65 voices is to make a tour which will take them to California in March, 1932.

Miss Teckhaus is a member of a vocal trio which will be heard from radio station WOW during the Midland hour tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Paul Mines to Be New Head of Legion Post

Wayne Legionnaires Plan to Hold Pheasant Feed Soon.

Paul Mines will serve as commander of the Erwin Sears post of the American Legion for the coming year, as a result of the annual election of officers held at the Legion meeting at the county court house last night. With Mr. Mines as the Legion head, the following assisting officers were elected:

1st Vice Commander... Herman Lutt
2nd Vice Commander... Ray Ash
Adjutant... L. W. McNatt
Finance Officer... Carroll Orr
Chaplain... Rev. H. C. Caspey
Sergeant-at-Arms... C. J. Ferrin
A. L. Swan, John Brishen, J. J. Steele, C. E. Wilson, and Dr. J. C. Johnson were elected to membership on the executive committee.

Legionnaires will participate in a special Armistice Day service at the college chapel on November 11, with Prof. C. A. Chinn as the speaker of the day, and Fr. Wm. Kearns in charge of devotional. Special music will be arranged.

The local Legion post plans to hold a pheasant feed following the open season on pheasants, and all Legion members were asked to have their pheasants at the ice plant by Sunday, Oct. 18.

Rev. H. C. Caspey, new Methodist minister, gave a short talk. Rev. Caspey was the first Nebraska Legion chaplain following the World War.

Lightning Hits House on Chas. Craven Farm

Lightning struck the roof of the house on the Chas. M. Craven farm five miles west of Wayne Tuesday night at about eight o'clock, but the damage was slight.

The lightning struck close to the chimney, knocking three or four holes in the roof. The farm is tenanted by the Luther Keeney family. No one was hurt.

College High to Play Bloomfield Tomorrow

The college high school football team meets Bloomfield here tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock at the college field, in what should be an evenly matched game. The college high team lacks weight, but is said to show signs of promise.

The Inquiring Reporter

This Week's Question
Which baseball team, the St. Louis Cardinals or the Philadelphia Athletics, do you think will win the World Series?

Carroll Orr: "I pick the Athletics, because of their superior playing ability. The Athletics have the heavy hitters."

E. E. Fleetwood: "The St. Louis Cardinals are going to win, of course. They're the under-dogs, and have more to fight for."

F. M. McCluskey: "I'd like to see the Cardinals win, but I'm pretty sure that the Athletics will take the series. I think they have the better team of the two."

Bud Hall: "I pick the Cardinals. They've shown up well so far, and they seem to be fighting harder than the Athletics. They're working every minute of every game and they're going to be hard to beat."

Sime Cahan: "The Athletics are my choice, because of their superior power. The Cards may win another game, but it's just about impossible for any baseball team in the country to demonstrate any consistent superiority over the Philadelphia Athletics."

that first of all the radio public must be given interesting programs. Secondly, our radio advertising clients must derive benefits from money spent with us."

The plan of radio station operation, he said, is similar to that of the management of a newspaper. He compared radio listeners to newspaper subscribers, radio features to newspaper copy and radio advertising to newspaper advertising.

He said that the first essential of a successful radio stations programs is variety and plenty of it. He classifies the material that is broadcast into four major divisions—

1. Entertainment, which is largely musical, although dramatic presentations are meeting with increasing success.

2. Educational programs, of which he says the Farm and Home hour is a good example.

3. Informative or bulletin service, under which classification come the farm market reports, stock market reports, weather bulletins, time signals and other things of similar nature.

4. News service, which consists largely of spot news and features, with elaborately complete coverage of spot news events. The Westinghouse stations, he said, have installed teletypes, automatic telegraph hook-up typewriters, and get the Consolidated press service, consisting largely of features.

Mr. Thomas, with 18 years in the newspaper profession behind him, said, "Radio does not feel that it takes the place of the newspaper or the theater or the telephone or of anything, but it believes that it adds to these other services by making them more interesting."

He maintained that radio advertising does not compete with newspaper, magazine or billboard advertising, but adds interests to all of it. He said that the radio stations he represents have their own offices, with their own national advertising representatives and contact men, and that most of the advertising comes through the national advertising agencies.

In answer to questioning as to how a radio station determines its number of listeners, Mr. Thomas said that KDKA audiences average from two and a half to three million people daily, and that these figures have been arrived at by means of statistical surveys and studies. During the first six months of 1931, he said KDKA received 221,000 letters from a 125 mile radius of Pittsburgh, which meant that one family out of every eight had written a letter, and that one family out of every four having a radio set had written a letter. He said that men are sent out to visit homes with questionnaires, and that accurate conclusions can be drawn from the surveys. A large statistical research firm is employed by the Westinghouse company.

Questioned as to television, he said, "Television is coming. It is getting nearer and nearer. It will not, however, be available for home use for a long time after it gets here, but will probably be introduced to the public from television theaters."

Mr. Thomas plans to attend the state firemen's convention at Norfolk. This will be the twenty-third Nebraska firemen's convention that he has attended. "Wayne has one of the finest fire departments in the state," he said, "and will undoubtedly be one of the leading groups at the meetings."

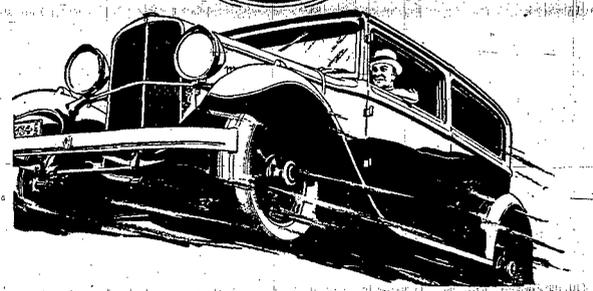

A. F. Gulliver and Rev. P. A. Davies attended the Synod at Aurora Monday. The synod convened Tuesday evening but the men had a pre-conference Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brink of Le Mars, Iowa, are visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eben Brink. They are traveling through to California by motor, and will make their home for the winter in Santa Monica. Mr. and Mrs. Brink expect to spend some time visiting with friends and relatives in Grand Island before continuing on their trip.

After visiting a few days at the home of Mrs. W. L. Fisher in Wyoming, Mr. and Mrs. George Hays of Los Angeles brought Mrs. Fisher to visit her daughter, Mrs. Ben Ahlvers in Wayne, Tuesday and remained until Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Hays have been on a vacation tour since May 8, and have just returned from spending the summer months in Scotland and Canada.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

First Baptist Church
W. E. Braisted, Pastor

10:00—The church school for Bible study. The young people's class is led by the pastor.

11:00—The morning worship hour—Chorus and special music. The pastor will speak on: "If Any Man Willetth To Do, He Shall Know."

6:30—The young people's discussion fellowship hour. These meetings are interesting, informal, helpful, to all who help make them so.

7:30—The evening worship, with general singing, led by the chorus choir. Everybody likes this informal music part. The pastor will speak on "Unshamed of Saving Power". The attendance last Sunday at all meetings was very encouraging.

7:30—Wednesday, The enrichment hour: Bible study, prayer.

8:00—Thursday, Choir meet with Mr. and Mrs. Stamm. Cars will be provided to drive out. See Prof. Hanscom or phone him at 529-LW; or to the pastor, phone 309-J.

Friday 6:30—Church fellowship supper, followed by social evening. The congregation as well as the church and S. S. is cordially invited. We had a splendid time last year. We can do better this year.

N. B. Have you noticed that the men howling for beer and wine are of those who made fortunes for themselves in the old days when there were 200,000 saloons; and not from the wives and children who suffered from all that?

Services for next Sunday: Sunday school, 10:00; Morning worship, 11; Evening choir, 6:00; Young peoples intermediate and junior C. E. services; Evening service, 7:30.

The Ladies Aid will hold their guest day at the church Wednesday afternoon. We were very happy in a beautiful day last Sunday with a fine congregation at the morning service. However we are still missing some who have not returned after the summer vacation, with inspiring music, practical and helpful messages kept within the hour and beautiful Sundays as we have them at this time of the year, let us pack our church to the doors.

Mr. Gulliver and the pastor will attend Synod at Aurora this week. Synod convenes Tuesday evening, but the men will gather Monday evening for a pre-conference evening. It will be our privilege to hear Dr. John Timothy Stone of Chicago at the Monday evening service.

Prof. Carlson of the college favored the young people with a special Piano number at the C. E. service Sunday night. It was highly appreciated. The C. E. service, conducted by Miss Peggy Morris, was one of the most satisfactory we have had for some time.

CYCLONE IN MISSOURI

Not often do cyclones go on duty in September, but last Tuesday there was a mighty cyclone in Missouri. No human lives were lost and no property destroyed.

It was a political cyclone. And how it did wreck the proud and arrogant Mellonites!

Two years ago a republican by the name of Palmer carried a congressional district in Missouri by a large majority over Congressman Sam Major, a democrat.

Last year Major came back with a small majority over Palmer.

Three months ago Congressman Major died, and a special election was held in that district last Tuesday to fill the vacancy.

Palmer, the republican who defeated Major in 1928, was the Mellonite nominee last Tuesday. He was opposed by a democrat named Johnson.

Palmer made his campaign as a dyed-in-the-wool Hoover man. He said Andrew Mellon was "the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton."

Johnson, the democratic nominee, denounced the Federal Farm board from soda to breakfast.

And then came the cyclone. Not until this morning did the dispatches tell the complete story of the wreck and ruin visited upon Hoover hopes.

The complete figures now show that the people down there in that farming district in Missouri declared by their votes that they didn't want any more Mellon prosperity.

It is said that Benton county, which had not failed to roll up big republican majorities during the past 50 years, turned a backward flip into the democratic basket.

In order to insure the election of Palmer, the Mellonite nominee, the smooth Mellonite leaders in Washington and Missouri hypnotized a prominent democrat in that district, and put him into the race as an independent "wet" democrat, hoping to divide the democratic vote of the district.

But that smooth gas did not fool those wise folks in that Missouri farming district. The "wet" independent candidate was hardly an "also ran."

The big democratic leaders are applauding the result of that special election in Missouri as a great democratic victory. Seems to me the cyclone would be to regard it not so certainly a democratic victory as it was a pronounced Hoover defeat.

Howard in the Columbus Daily Telegram.

FEDERAL FARM LOANS

The federal government has made available recently a loan fund by which farmers in six Nebraska counties including Cedar, as well as in sections of North and South Dakota and Montana, can secure funds to feed their stock through the coming winter.

This action was taken following a tour of investigation by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, during which he determined that the ravages made by drought, grasshoppers, anthrax, etc., in this section warranted such loans.

A committee has been appointed in this county to supervise the transmitting of applications from local farmers to the federal government. It is revealed that farmers must give ample security and pay 5 per cent interest, deducted from the original amount—thereby preventing this relief measure from having any substance to a dole.

Furthermore, in case a farmer already has his property mortgaged he must secure written consent from the person or firm holding the first lien to give the government's second mortgage equal rights in case of foreclosure.

That is, if the first mortgage were for $100 while the loan mortgage amounted to $500, the government would get 50 cents to every dollar for the first mortgage in case of foreclosure.

In the face of vigorous objections on the part of mortgage holders, the government defends its stand on this matter. Officials point out that to take the farmer's note and vague security of the mortgage would mean that the government would, in many cases, carry the stock thru the winter only to have it sold later for amounts which would satisfy only the first mortgage.

On the other hand, many farmers declare it will be impossible to secure the consent of mortgage holders to give the government equal rights with theirs. Banks, for example, will not want to risk going in the hole to help protect the government—particularly institutions in this section.

So far it appears that only farmers who have no mortgage hanging over them can really benefit by this federal loan plan. Which leads back to the oft-repeated statement that the state can do no more than any other agency toward helping its own people. And according to present indications, such relief work is already being carried out.—Cedar County News.

THE CROSS OF GOLD

"You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns," thundered William Jennings Bryan before the Chicago convention in 1896; "You shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

But they did. In spite of the eloquent magnetic young Nebraskan and his embattled supporters they did just that. And the wicked creditor class, until quite recently, flourished like the proverbial green bay tree. "Money the Master, all things else the servant." Recently, however, the creditor class has been taking the bumps along with all things else.

Even in England, which according to Bryan was the seat of the conspiracy to multiply debts while at the same time multiplying their value all to the glory and power of the creditor.

It is interesting to recall at this time what the platform on which Bryan was nominated said about that:

"We declare that the act of 1873 demoralizing silver without the knowledge or approval of the American people has resulted in the appreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in the prices of commodities produced by the people; a heavy increase in the burden of taxation and of all debts, public and private; the enrichment of the money-lending class at home and abroad; the prostration of industry and impoverishment of the people.

"We are unalterably opposed to monometallism, which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrial people in the paralysis of hard times. Gold monometallism is a British policy and its adoption has brought other nations into financial servitude to London."

That was 35 years ago. The Bryan campaign was denounced and defeated as a campaign of repudiation. Its success would enable the debtor dishonestly to discharge his obligation with a "cheap dollar." And that, to us honest Americans, was unthinkable, much more nearly unthinkable, anyhow, than to compel him to pay with a dollar costing twice as much as the dollar he had borrowed.

The logic may be hard to follow, but the verdict was decisive.—Omaha World-Herald.

A BETTER TIMES PLAN

Jullus H. Barnes, president of the United States chamber of commerce and a close adviser of President Hoover, has suggested a better times plan. He outlined it in an address in Atlantic City before the annual meeting of the American Electric Railway association. Mr. Barnes' plan is probably the most encompassing yet offered by anyone.

The need today, in Mr. Barnes' opinion, is restored confidence. Fear and timidity, he insisted, caused "paralysis in a thousand directions." To the end that confidence may be restored he suggested a broad program of international cooperation and of governmental action to free business from hampering restrictions.

The United States, said Mr. Barnes, should join the world court and thus show its international co-operation and good will. It also should prepare to support a sound program of international finance to follow the year's moratorium. Insistence on effective results from the forthcoming disarmament conference would be the next step. The stretching and spreading of employment and adoption of the shorter week is seen as an economic necessity. Get rid of the 40-year-old antitrust laws, is another Barnes remedy. A just spread of tax requirements is still another. Also give regulated industry such as the railroads "a fair chance to maintain their earnings and credit." Then, of course, economy in government. Preservation of the American tradition that private enterprise would be given a "full and free opportunity was urged." Continued adjustment of tariff rates "to represent only the difference in wage scales and living standards against cheaper labor competitors" was recommended. Use of "the great reservoir of American sympathy and its genius for organization in caring for cases of individual misfortune" was emphasized. And finally Mr. Barnes insisted upon avoidance in any form of donations from the federal treasury as charity doles and maintenance of employment in justified public works until private industry could reabsorb its full quota of workers.

This is a sound constructive program. Beyond a doubt, it would create better times. Mr. Barnes is correct in his assumption. But this does not solve the problem. Mr. Barnes merely has offered something. If now a way could be found to adopt all these suggestions it would be easy sailing, but it is one thing to sense a need and an entirely different thing to supply it.—Sioux City Journal.

SILVER IS THE KEY

It is very evident, and increasingly so, that the world is growing slowly to realize that when the gold standard was inflicted on an unprepared orient, the occident laid low the buying power of a billion people and so dealt a deadly blow to its own business.

And no doubt when the accident realizes that fully, it will decide to do something about it.

How prevalent this thought has become in worldwide circles is suggested by a copyrighted cablegram which Edward Price Bell, one of the most penetrating newspaper observers in foreign fields, sends to the Chicago News. Speaking of the prospective visit to this country of Premier Laval of France and of what they may talk about, Mr. Bell makes this observation:

"Silver is the key to the colossal markets of China and India. Half the population of the planet, that is to say, has silver and only silver to spend. If statesmanship can devise a scheme for valorizing it—can release the purchasing power of nearly a billion Asiatics.

"Experts believe that this almost measureless material boon would tend irresistibly to the pacification of Asia and also end the economic nightmare now oppressing all humanity. And so the call goes out to Mr. Hoover and M. Laval:

"Give to gold reasonable fluidity and rational distribution, set the course of armaments downward, and show that statecraft is not impotent in the presence of the problem of silver."

There is distress and there is chaos in the orient, but distress is inevitable when the maladroit intrusion of the occident has cut in two the buying power of the only money that the east knows anything about. When that is so palpably true, the need of correcting the error is so plain that it surely needs neither argument nor emphasis.—Duluth Herald.

OLD GUARD VISION

Keep taxes from depressing the rich. Rely on "Uncle Andy" and the United States treasury. Put your faith in bond issues. Let posterity pay. Remember democrats are always wrong.

That, in a nutshell, is the old guard republican philosophy for a national and international crisis!

Senator Watson of India is naive enough to admit that the soothing syrup should be generously administered "until after we have passed the presidential election and other highly disturbing factors."

Steer clear of tax legislation, keep up the spirit of the wealthy, squeeze the treasury, let the bills pile up—so that we may glide happily into another republican administration. Superb far-seeing statesmanship for the world's worst times!—New York World-Telegram.

NEBRASKA HENS

One of the reasons the city man cannot sleep in the country in Nebraska is that biday and her brood are busy adding millions to the state's income.

For the year 1930 the chickens and eggs produced in Nebraska are valued at $27,731,000. These figures are furnished by the state and federal division of agricultural statistics. Total value of chickens produced was $13,601,000 and of eggs, $14,070,000.

However, not all these went to market. Only $8,415,000 was realized from the sale of chickens, fowls to the value of $5,246,000 being consumed on the farms. Eggs sold brought $10,350,000, while those consumed on farms were valued at $3,720,000 so the actual revenue to the farmer from the poultry yard is $13,465,000, which looks like real money in these days of stress. And the farmer also had eggs and chickens for the family table.—Omaha Bee-News.

A SUGGESTION

Calvin Coolidge replies to rumors of his political intentions in a 3,000 word magazine article, saying in effect: "I do not choose to run for president in 1932."

Now let Herbert Hoover adopt the same method of disposing of another perennial rumor by explaining that he does not intend to come out for beer, and there is an opening for Andrew Mellon who might enter into some detailed description of how he does not propose to resign as secretary of of the treasury.

There are a fine lot of rumors always flying about Washington, enough so that all the magazines can have a crack at them, if they like.—Omaha Bee-News.

Loan Plan Explained by Government Official

(By Secretary of Department of Agriculture)

In recognition of the needs of the farmers in the drought stricken areas of the northwestern states, the Department of Agriculture has made available to them funds appropriated last spring for such purposes.

We have opened the funds for loans on cattle, horses, sheep and hogs to provide the money to carry the foundation stock of these animals through the winter. We have done this because a careful survey established the need of such loans, and because we were assured that existing financial institutions were not in position to make advances of funds for this purpose.

Our regulations permit loans which are adequate to provide feed for sufficient numbers of these animals for this winter, thus protecting the farmer from being forced to throw his livestock on the market; such forced sales would jeopardize the agricultural of the areas involved.

Among other regulations, we have required that where livestock is already mortgaged, the present mortgage holder shall waive so much of his prior lien as to give the government loan a proportionate part of the security. We have not asked that the government be given the first security with us in such proportion as the amount of his loan and the advances made by the government shall bear to the value of the livestock.

For example, if the Government lends $18 per head and the present mortgagee holds a lien for $36 per head, such mortgagee would, in event of sale or the property, receive two dollars to each one dollar the government might collect. If he holds $54 to our $18, he would collect $3 to our $1, and so on proportionately.

Vigorous objections are being made by mortgage holders in these states to this part of our regulations. It seems to be the view that the government should advance the money for winter feeding, and accept the farmers' note plus such vague security as a second mortgage would give. This would mean that in the large number of cases where the first mortgage is equal to or in excess of the value of the cattle, the government would carry the cattle through the winter, only to have them sold later for amounts which would satisfy only the present mortgage. It would mean in many cases that the farmer would be saddled with an additional burden of debt, while the government loans had served only to make the present mortgage holders safe. This would be relief for mortgage holders—not for farmers.

Our regulation requiring some participation in the first lien is designed to protect the farmer from foreclosure. We want to help him carry his cattle through the winter. Surely the protection of the farmer is no detriment to the mortgage holder. He, of all men, ought to be most interested in the success of his farmer-debtor. His own welfare depends upon it. Clearly the feeding of the cattle through the winter is a larger measure of protection to the mortgagee than any possible detriment which might accrue to him, through sharing his lien proportionately for the advances of cash to feed his security.

In the cases of loans made by Intermediate Credit Banks which, under the law, have no power to waive any part of their lien, it is possible to meet the farmers' needs by increasing their present loans to cover the amount necessary for feed. Where this procedure is not practicable, this department is studying means of filling all legitimate requirements of the farmer through a rewriting of the entire chattel indebtedness.

SCOTT SHOTS by "SCOTTY"

The brilliant comment on jury service which appeared in the Scott Shots column last week was not the work of this writer. In view of the fact that this column likes to give credit where credit is due, I wish to state that the lines were penned by Glenn Bunnell, foreman of The Democrat job printing department.

They came into being as a result of my having been called upon to serve on a jury in Justice James E. Brittain's court. I threw the lines out of the paper, but somehow or another, they mysteriously appeared when the papers came off the press.

Still More Gore

'Tis said that a young bucko who got tangled up with the county law enforcement officers is giving Wayne nothing but absence. After being told that his presence in this immediate vicinity was not desired and might prove costly to him, he decided that what was good enough for the county was good enough for him.

Last week we printed a rumor that the sheriff had a yen to catch a certain young bootlegger and was determined to keep off his trail until he had him in the county bastle. Yesterday the young fellah in question confided in me that the sheriff would wait a long, long time before he got any evidence. The fellah claims that he has gone completely out of the ally business. His reason, he says, is not any sudden reformation, but an inability to make any money at the racket with the sheriff constantly on his trail. The ex-bootlegger is looking for a job. His ability should make him a valuable man for some legitimate business enterprise.

The young fellah spoken of last week in this column—the one who is running a mail-order astrological forecast and horoscope reading business—reports that he is making heavy sugar at his game. As proof, he shows a sheaf of letters, mostly from women, asking for horoscope readings. The letters, incidentally, all begin "Enclosed find one dollar."

The fist fight predicted in last week's Scott Shot column took place according to schedule on Tuesday night. And a Wayne Sheba was more than a disinterested spectator.

Maybe after this, you'll believe the always authentic gossip which is a new feature of the Scott Shot column. Baseball pools were prevalent in Wayne during the World Series. The Scott Shotter is not what you would call lucky. One five-dollar pool excited considerable interest, but not from me. That jazz song, "I've Got Five Dollars," was not written with this lad in mind.

A Wayne couple supposedly happily married are reported to be claw to claw and seriously contemplating a trip to divorce court. Crawl and inhuman treatment, doubtless.

One Wayne fellah tells me that you run less danger of being hooked by game wardens shooting pheasants out of season than in shooting them during the open season. He claims that some of the deputy game wardens are unfit for their jobs and care more about getting their names into the papers than they care about the justice of their arrests.

This local teacher who has made a playmate of a student should be careful. Folks might talk.

Advice to a femme in a public position: If you want to smoke, that's your business and nobody else's. But you should gargle with Listerine (adv.) before going out in public. Your breath excites the suspicions of some of Wayne's blue-nosed reformers. If you aren't more careful you may be branded as a Bad Woman, which you most certainly are not. How smoking could possibly have anything to do with virtue is a mystery that I am absolutely unable to fathom.

A fellah with a wife in Wayne has a red hot mamma in Omaha. Don't worry, I won't tell.

A Wayne-man who looks like he might be a ward of the county is in reality the possessor of plenty of bucks. He's probably salted away most of his horde through living like a destitute.

Another local man who spends money lavishly is said to have an absolute zero financial rating, although few people know it.

Hey, Max and Gaff! I'm finally eligible to join the dog fanciers' organization of which you two are staunch members. And I'm already beginning to understand that poem which has as its refrain, "Give your heart to a dog to tear."

The Scottie pup came to town last Friday night, and was promptly christened "Kilts." It took possession of the household just like Grant took

Richmond, and has been an almost unending source of trouble—such statement you two, being dog fanciers, will probably understand without further elaboration.

It has good teeth, perfectly swell teeth, and it tries them out on anything that happens to be convenient. It has a way of cocking its head to one side, perking up its ears and throwing its long tail into a whirlwind rotation that I'm sure has never been surpassed. It's a homely looking mutt, and will undoubtedly grow homelier as it gets older, but it has already given me more laughs than the life-story of Aimee Semple McPherson, and I'm telling you straight that folks had better be careful of the manner in which they treat my dog. I'm already able to recite its pedigree, and I have dread visions of becoming one of these guys that is always talking dog.

It just doesn't seem possible to print a column of Scott Shots without quoting Fred Howard's "A Broader View" column from the Clay County Sun. Here are some of his best pronouncements from last week's paper.

In business there is no place for the coward. Speaking of Lindbergh's great feat, have a look at Charlin's.

The prodigal son still has a fine time at the housecoming, but the calf is never allowed to dictate the menu.

Just because a girl may fit into your arms do not be too sure that she will fit into your life.

If I must take either, my preference is for a job in the chin rather than a kick in the pants.

Cres Swalles says that he can imagine no place more uncanny than a home without a bathroom.

Lots of women find satisfaction in the fact that they are only related to their husbands by marriage.

Do not attempt to kiss any lady's hand until after she has discarded her cigaret. A burnt nose is nothing to laugh about.

A number of the horde who for years have fallen down in mute adoration of our "great" financiers are suffering a rude awakening to the fact that human greatness is a very fleeting quality. Another fact to which we are gradually awakening is that though congress does the appropriating, the people must do the paying.

Just the ordinary devils like you and me. The "common herd" which is given no credit and deserves none for anything but their ability to pay obligations which in the majority of cases we beg our incompetent representatives to lay upon us.

The column writer on the Wayne Democrat says he would like to meet me for my style suits him exactly. Women have been singing that refrain to me ever since that day when I first proved my claim to man's estate by taking a big chaw of terbacker and claiming a position in the barber shop council circle. This is to advise you, Mr. Shoter, that I hate praise just like a kid hates lolly-pops and any further advances made by you along the lines of your recent outbreak will be handled as the conditions seem to warrant.

The Mixed Pickles column of the Wausa Gazette carries this one: A Scotch lassie who applied for a job as an artist's model was told to come down again the next day and bring along a pair of tights. She appeared the next day with her father and mother.

"Who does the aerial work on this football squad?" a fellah asked one of the Teachers' collich coeds.

"Oh, Coach Hickman blows the footballs up himself," the just too-sweet one replied.

What has happened to the old-fashioned girl who had to have her clothes loosened when she fainted? Hmph! The modern gals don't even faint.

Some men who have reputations for being good are in reality only bashful.

A man who makes a pile of money is considered a wonder—and there are always a flock of gals who can work wonders.

Rural Teachers Hold Annual County Institute

Rural teachers of the county met at the county court house Monday and Tuesday for their annual Teachers' Institute, supervised by County Superintendent Pearl E. Sewell. Attendance at the institute meetings by all rural teachers of the county was compulsory, and all rural schools were dismissed for the two days.

Instructors for the institute were Eva B. Shuman, former county superintendent of Jefferson county, Herbert L. Cushing of Lincoln, director of certification in the state superintendent's office, and Prof. H. H. Hanscom of Wayne State Teachers' college.

Family Is Reunited After Fifty Years

Mrs. Ellen Ahern of Wayne, Mrs. Kate Listen of Marshalltown, Iowa, and Mr. Cornelius Regan of Devil's Lake, S. D., were reunited here this last week after 50 years. Mrs. Listen is Mrs. Ahern's sister and Mr. Regan is her brother.

Mrs. Listen came to Wayne last Thursday and visited until yesterday afternoon. Mr. Regan arrived the day before his sister for a two week's visit.

Each had seen both of the others, but never had the three been together at one time for 50 years.

While her brother and sister were here, Mrs. Ahern entertained her sons, Morris Ahern and Jim Ahern, both of near Carroll, and their families, and her daughters, Mrs. Mary Finn of near Carroll and Mrs. Kate Thompson of Wayne, and their families, as well as her granddaughter, Mrs. Rose Corzine, and her husband of Wayne.

Mrs. Ahern, Mrs. Listen and Mr. Regan are the only three remaining members of the Regan family.

Johanna Haarbink of Bloomfield was united in marriage to Chris Lueders of Bloomfield, former Wayne resident, on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 4, at the Evangelical Lutheran church in Wayne. Rev. H. A. Teckhaus performed the marriage ceremony.

Albert Lueders, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and Miss Bertha Lueders was the bride's maid.

SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. FRANK BERRY

Early Resident of Wayne Is Laid to Rest Friday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank A. Berry were held at the Fred Berry home in Wayne on Friday, Oct. 2, at 2:30 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. P. A. Davies of the First Presbyterian church. Interment was in the Wayne cemetery.

Edity E. Bell was born at Ogden, Utah, on Nov. 24, 1866, and died at Long Beach, Calif., on Sept. 27, 1931. She was 64 years, 10 months and 3 days old at the time of her death.

In her early childhood the family moved from Utah to Monona, Iowa, where she grew to young womanhood. She was married to Frank A. Berry at Morehead, Iowa, on Dec. 23, 1882.

The young couple came to Wayne county in the spring of the next year and settled on a homestead near Carroll. Theirs was the life and experience of pioneers. When the town of Carroll was started, her husband owned and operated the first store in the village. He was also Carroll's postmaster for a number of years.

The family came to Wayne in 1901, where her husband engaged in the abstract business and the practice of law, which continued until his death in December of 1912. Mrs. Berry remained in Wayne for some six years after her husband's death, and moved to Long Beach in 1918. She resided there until her death.

While in Wayne she was a faithful member of the Presbyterian church. After leaving Wayne, she took her letter with her and united with the First church of Long Beach, where services by her pastor were held Tuesday, Sept. 29.

She leaves to mourn her going one daughter, Mrs. Hattie Dugaard of Casper, Wyo.; one son, Fred Berry of Long Beach, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Conyers of Sonora, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Glass of Lake City, Iowa.

Although she had been in ill health for some time, her passing was without suffering. Her son and daughter were with her in her last illness.

DAIRYING IN NEBRASKA

Ten years have seen dairying in Nebraska increase by 70 percent in size. More cows are being milked, more cream is being separated, more butter and cheese are being made each year.

For the year 1930 the state of Nebraska produced 85,484,000 pounds of creamery butter. More than 2,000,000 pounds of cheese and more than a million pounds of cottage cheese was turned out. Thousands of tons of ice cream was manufactured and sold, as well as thousands of tons of condensed and dried milk and buttermilk products.

A result of intelligent diversification of farm industry. Forty years ago Nebraska farmers began to redeem their state from the one-crop bonds that had held them. Experiments of various sorts were tried, and finally one after another of other things than corn came to be produced. One of the latest activities to be taken up seriously was that of dairying. Only since the world war has this come to major proportions. In that time the state has risen from twenty-fourth place to fourth, and the gap that separates Nebraska from Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa is being closed rapidly.

Foundations for Nebraska's prosperity are laid in the soil, but the wealth is not all extracted through corn and wheat. These crops are most talked about, but cattle and hogs, butter and eggs bring in the money.

Gustav Albers Feeds 750 Head of Cattle; 1175 Hogs

This reporter thought he had seen some large scale farming, but he discovered that he had seen nothing approximating the large scale when he visited the Gustav Albers place 13 miles southeast of Wayne. Mr. Albers knows what really big agricultural operations are—and he knows from experience, for he has been one of the largest operators in this territory for many years.

He is farming 804 acres. The home place is a 320 acre farm; then he has 74 acres across the road; there are 360 acres over the boundary line in Cuming county, and he also has 50 acres of pasture.

Mr. Albers is feeding cattle, and when he feeds cattle he naturally does it in a big way. This year he has 750 head, more than he has ever fed before. He does most of his cattle buying out west. All the cattle on the place at present were bought as calves.

He says that cattle feeding has not been profitable so far this year, but has hopes for this fall. When cattle were cheap, he says, there weren't any on the market. Now, he thinks, there will be a fair raise in price with consequent profit to the feeder.

Mr. Albers has 300 acres of corn this year, and he expects it to run 30 bushels to the acre. He says that the farmers situated in the southeastern part of the county are more fortunate this year than those in the northern and central parts. It has been his observation that the corn improves the closer you get to Waver.

He had 100 acres of small grain, which turned out satisfactorily, although it was not any bumper crop. He has 105 acres of alfalfa, and 25 acres of upland and bottom hay, both of which are good crops.

Mr. Albers recently cut up 90 acres of corn fodder for rough feed. He is feeding corn, oil meal and alfalfa.

Mr. Albers is also raising hogs. In fact, he has 675 spring pigs and 500 fall pigs, a total of 1175. He has found the movable hog houses to be highly satisfactory, and has nine movable hog houses with three farrowing pens and 11 with two farrowing pens.

Mr. Albers has fine machinery and good buildings. There are 23 buildings on the various places. In addition to the customary line of machinery, he has a tractor, a truck with stock rack, a big scale, feed grinder, a corn sheller, two elevators and a corn binder. He has been grinding snap corn for his hogs, and his grinder is constructed so that it will cut up corn fodder.

Mrs. Albers has charge of the poultry department, and is raising 700 fine White Wyandotte chickens. She finds that poultry raising has been profitable and expects it to be still more so this fall and winter.

The tractor is used for plowing and heavy duty jobs and has proved to be a wise investment. Mr. Albers believes that the tractor is a highly practical piece of machinery for large scale farming.

He has five men working for him, and they manage to keep most of his machinery busy most of the time.

The water supply is adequate, with running water on all three of the places. There are two drilled wells and two cisterns on the home place, a well and a cistern on the 74 acre place, and a well and two cisterns on the south place.

The home is delightful. It consists of 10 rooms with bath, and is set back in a beautiful, pleasant yard that is filled with fine old trees, attractive shrubbery and a luxuriant growth of grass.

The Albers' have two girls, aged 8 and 13, who must find the beautiful farm yard a splendid place in which to play.

Farming is a business proposition with Mr. Albers, and he runs his 804 acres on an efficient business basis. He must keep an accurate check on his large scale operations, and how he does it is a mystery that the average person is unable to fathom.

The barn on the home place is probably a good example of the way in which farming is conducted on the entire 804 acres. This barn is an immense one, with everything in excellent shape. Each piece of equipment is in its proper place, and everything is clean. Taking care of that barn would be a job for anybody—and it is well taken care of.

Three hundred and twenty acres of the farm are in Wayne county and the remainder is in Cuming county.

If you want to see a man-size farm, it will be well worth your time to inspect the Gustav Albers place.

Pullets Should Be Put into Laying House Soon

R. L. Cochran, Iowa State college poultry specialist, says that early October is the time for old hens to be disposed of to make room for the new crop of pullets.

He points out that at this time many pullets which should have been placed in the laying house so as to become accustomed to their new quarters before starting to lay are still confined to crowded brooders.

In many cases this delay is due to the fact that the laying house is not prepared for the pullets' arrival. If possible, Cochran says, the new pullets should be separated from the old hens by a partition, so they will have less competition and may be fed different feeds.

This makes it possible, he adds, for the farmer to feed and push any undeveloped pullets without interference from the old hens.

"Before placing pullets in laying houses, it is a good idea to thoroughly disinfect any pullets which may have shown indications of worms before housing. Precautions should be taken to clean their surroundings well after treatment," he says.

He says that anything which will help the young birds to develop will benefit the owner, since the young pullets are going to be the layers this winter.

Rye Said to Make Good Spring Pasture

In the northern part of Nebraska wherever the recent rains have been sufficient to sprout grain, rye will probably be the most popular seed grain during the next few weeks. Farmers in that section of the state can still sow rye to provide early spring pasture. Rye will generally make much better pasture than wheat. It is probably too late this season to expect very much fall pasture unless the weather and moisture conditions are exactly right. Any kind of rye will make good pasture but farmers who intend to leave the crop for grain next summer should sow Rosen seed. This is an improved variety of ordinary rye which generally yields more bushels of a higher quality grain per acre. Many farmers who are short of feed and not certain of the pasture next spring, will probably put the rye into fields they intend to plant to corn in the spring of 1932.—The Coleridge Blade.

Pointers For Work Around Farm Homes

Ticks are long-lived creatures, and some individuals may live for as long as two or three years without food. A lime-sulphur or nicotine-sulphur dip will cure mange, or common scab, on cattle and sheep. At least two dips are necessary, from 10 to 14 days apart. The exhaust gas from an automobile will "gas" rats in their burrows. Attach a hose to the exhaust pipe and hold it in the burrow, letting the engine run at moderate speed for about 10 minutes.

REFEREE'S SALE

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of an order of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, made on the 2d day of September, 1931, in a cause then pending in said court, wherein Emma E. Gamble is plaintiff and Sarah P. Gamble, Phebe A. Smith, James M. Smith, John W. Fox, Martha Fox, Velma F. Fox, Elva E. Fox, and Emma E. Gamble, administratrix of the Estate of Sommers Fox, deceased, are defendants, ordering and directing the undersigned referee to sell the real estate hereinafter described.

Now, therefore, I, Hay W. McClure, will on the 12th day of October, 1931, at three o'clock P. M. at the front door of the court house in the City of Wayne, in Wayne County, Nebraska, sell at public auction for cash to the highest bidder, the following described real estate, to wit: the middle fifty feet of Lot eighteen (18), Taylor & Wachob's Addition to Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska. Said property will be sold subject to all encumbrances of record.

Dated September 8th, 1931.

HE FORGOT TO ORDER COAL!

It may be warm today—and the picture above may be amusing. But winter isn't so far away. If you fail to provide for winter now, a month or two from now you may be enacting the scene above. Store up on coal today. Prices are lower than in ten years. You can't use your empty coal bin for anything else—So why not put it to use and save money? Phone 60 for an estimate on the amount of coal your bin accommodates and advice on the best kind of coal for your particular needs. Prices will go up when cold weather comes—so now is the time to do your buying!

SOCIETY and Club

This twangy feeling in the air, making it seem more "fallish" all the time. And do you know, folks, it's powerfully hard to stay in and write. You see, right now I could delve into a lengthy (or perhaps not so lengthy) narration on Gandhi, the eighteenth amendment, or Eugene hats—but tsh, tsh, I'm not going to bore you today. Just forget about this little paragraph and glance over the calendar for the coming week:

- Oct. 9 The Grace Lutheran Aid meeting at Mrs. J. E. Brittain's.
- Oct. 9 Rebeccas meet for a business meeting.
- Oct. 9 Woman's club meeting with Mrs. C. Shukthels.
- Oct. 9 Band benefit dance.
- Oct. 12 Eastern Star meeting and party at Gymnasium.
- Oct. 12 Minerva club with C. C. Corbit and Mrs. J. S. Horney as hostess.
- Oct. 12 Alpha club at the home of Mrs. Goldsmith in Westpoint.
- Oct. 13 Child's Conservation League guest day at the home of Mrs. Addison.
- Oct. 13 P. N. G. club, meeting day with Mrs. Harry McMillan.
- Oct. 14 La Porte club, installation of officers at home of Mrs. Carl Sundell.

Minerva Club.
Mrs. S. A. Lutgen was hostess to members of the Minerva club at a one o'clock luncheon, Monday. "Nebraska's Contribution to the Nation" was the subject of the lesson, and was read by Mrs. Lutgen. In her talk she mentioned that practically every line of public affairs in the United States is headed or represented by a Nebraskan. After a review of the leading Nebraska writers, and their works, Mrs. Lutgen closed her part of the program by reading the words of six different Nebraska songs that are backed by civic organizations. Albert Carlson played the piano accompaniment to the songs. The next part of the program was headed by Mrs. Lew Owen, who gave Nebraska's contributions from an economic standpoint, mentioning its many natural resources, agricultural advantages, foodstuff supplies, and high rating school system. The roll call of the meeting was answered by each member with a reason for liking Nebraska and boosting the state. Mrs. Lutgen served refreshments at the close of the afternoon. The next meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 12, with Mrs. C. C. Corbit and Mrs. J. S. Horney, as hostesses.

Miscellaneous Shower.
Ida Hinrichs was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower Saturday evening at the William Kugler home. The hostesses for the affair included Rose Kuegler, Mrs. William Kuegler and Mrs. Art Chichester. Thirty guests were present and bridge was played throughout the evening. High score prize was won by Miss Florence Johnson, of Newman Grove, and second prize was won by Miss Vera Sylvanus. The house was beautifully decorated with fall flowers. Miss Hinrichs will become the bride of W. P. Canning in the near future.

Out of town guests were: Miss Florence Johnson and Miss Theodora Nelson of Newman Grove; Mrs. Alfred Nelson, Mrs. R. A. Dawson and the Misses Lillian Bollinger, Renne Holm, Zetta Lockman, Helen Pospisil, Louise Ekert, and Pinc Anderson, all of Randolph; Mike McCoy of Hartington, Mrs. Wayne Jewel, of Concord and Mrs. A. R. Larson of Lodgepole.

Theater Party.
Mrs. Fred Blair entertained friends of Mirabel at a theater party Friday night. After the show, the guests were taken to the drug store for refreshments and then went to the Blair home, where they spent the rest of the evening dancing. Guests were: Misses Charlene Brown, Jean Wright, Gwendolyn Mulvey, Elaine Yokum, Kathryn Craven, Bernlee Splittgerber, Helen Jones, Peggy Morris, Mary Alice Strahan and Messrs. Joe Ellis, Dean Wimegar, Verne Waller, Melvin Brown, Elmer Kilborn, Kenneth Dowling, Donald Walmsberg, Bill Kingston, Laurance Hogan, Bill Studkey, Earnest Splittgerber, and Orville Damma.

Coterie Club.
Members of the Coterie club were entertained Monday morning at a nine o'clock breakfast at the home of Mrs. William Mellor. The tables were prettily decorated with tiny cutglass baskets of pink cosmos, and other garden flowers were placed about the house. Mrs. Carol Orr and Mrs. A. R. Davis, who assisted Mrs. Mellor, also helped in giving out the programs for the coming year. Bridge was played after breakfast and high score prize was won by Mrs. John Ahern, with Mrs. W. C. Shultheis winning low prize. The next meeting of the club will be Monday, at the home of Mrs. John Ahern, and a book review will be given by the hostess.

Altusa Club.
Mrs. R. C. Hallbeck entertained members of the Altusa club at an afternoon of bridge, Monday. The programs were given out containing the meeting place of the coming year and the hostesses. Mrs. Hallbeck served a two course luncheon. Assisting her were Mrs. B. F. Strahan, Mrs. Charles Helkes, and Mrs. Martin Ringer. Prizes were given at each table, and they were won by Mrs. May Young, Mrs. W. C. Corryell and Mrs. Andy Thompson.

P. E. O. Club.
A covered dish luncheon was the manner in which the P. E. O. club opened their new year. It was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Jones, with the other members of the program committee assisting. These were Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh and Mrs. John Cunningham. Cut flowers were used for decorations. The luncheon was followed by a business meeting. The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 19, at the home of Mrs. Carry Welsh.

Fall Frolic
Members of the student body at the Wayne State Teachers' college enjoyed a fall frolic at the gymnasium Saturday night. Ida Holmes, and the Misses Fred Fanske, Mary Hoop, Judith, etc., Laura Louise Holmes and Mr. Faye Evans and Edmond Towne were on the entertainment committee, and music was provided by Neal Freyberg and his Ambassadors, a nine piece orchestra from South Dakota.

Bridge Luncheon
Mrs. L. W. Jamieson entertained at a one o'clock bridge luncheon Friday. Assistant hostess was Miss Lisle Clayton. The home was seasonably decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, the predominating colors of which were brown and yellow. Yellow tapers were placed on each table as a centerpiece before the two course luncheon was served. High score prize was awarded Mrs. Fred Dale and low score to Mrs. James E. Brittain.

Salem Lutheran Aid.
The Salem Lutheran Aid met at the home of Mrs. Henry Frevert, Tuesday afternoon. After the business meeting a social hour was spent. Guests of the aid were: Mrs. Henry Barkman, Sr., and Miss Erne Barleman, Mrs. Fred Frevert, Mrs. Harvey Larsen, Mrs. Ernest Frevert and Miss Minnie Frevert. The aid will not meet again until December 1 at the home of Mrs. Carl Frevert.

Fortnightly Club.
The Fortnightly club met for an afternoon of bridge at the home of Edith Wightman, Monday. A two course luncheon was served, and the house was decorated with autumn garden flowers. Mrs. John Bressler Jr., won high prize at bridge and Mrs. Hobert Auker won low. Those assisting Miss Wightman were Mrs. Ralph Beckenhauer, Mrs. H. R. Best, and Mrs. Dorothy Nyberg.

Royal Neighbors.
Members of the Royal Neighbors met at the Oddfellow's hall Tuesday evening and initiated three candidates: Mrs. Viola Jacobson, Mrs. Effie Hansen and Miss Opa Brown. Those serving on the committee were Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Lottie Panabaker, Mrs. Effie Lund, Mrs. Dorothy Bornost, Mrs. Anna Kay and Mrs. Anna Nelson.

Birthday Party
Thirty friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Berres, Sunday evening in honor of Mr. Berres sixty-seventh birthday. Cards and games were the diversion of the evening, and a lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Berg and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Utecht were the out of town guests.

Acme Club.
The Acme club entertained at a one o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. V. A. Senter, Monday. All members were present and after the luncheon a review of the program was given. Serving on the committee with Mrs. Senter, were Mrs. J. T. Bressler and Mrs. Albert Jacobs.

Young People's Bible Class.
The Young People's Bible class met Friday at the E. B. Young home and studied the second chapter of the book of Leviticus. Mrs. L. W. Kratavil was the teacher for the evening. Miss Laura Thompson of Omaha, a former member of the club, was a guest.

Birthday Party.
Mrs. Frank Morgan entertained at six o'clock dinner, Tuesday, in honor of her son, Jack's fifteenth birthday. Nine of Jack's friends were present, and a big birthday cake decorated the center of the table. After dinner the boys spent the evening playing games.

Music Recital.
Mrs. Grace Dickson Keyser will present twelve students of the junior division in a recital Saturday evening, Oct. 10, at 7:30 p. m. The recital is to be held in Mrs. Keyser's resident studio and anybody who may be interested is invited to attend.

Welcome to Pastor.
As a welcome to the new minister, Rev. H. C. Capsey, and his family, the members of the Methodist church will have a fellowship dinner at the church parlors after the services, Sunday. The dinner will be in the form of a covered dish luncheon.

Entertain at Dinner.
Dr. and Mrs. Ingham entertained at dinner Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blair and family and Mr. and Mrs. John Forbes, who have been visiting here from California.

Light Brigade.
Members of the Light Brigade met at the English Lutheran church Friday night. The regular business meeting was held.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere gratitude and thanks for the kindness shown to us during the recent loss of our dear father and husband. We especially wish to thank the choir and those who sent flowers.
Mrs. Elizabeth Bastian and family.

start of the fourth quarter to give the Wildcats a 10-yard gain. King brought the ball from one end of the field to the other at the end of the third quarter, as prescribed by the rules, but put it down 10 yards closer to the goal line than it was supposed to be. Wayne made one play, good for a seven-yard gain, before King's obvious error was called to his attention by a somewhat disgruntled Midland coach. King then called the ball back 17 yards to where it should have been in the first place and started the quarter all over again.

This somewhat irritated the Wildcats, who had made their seven yard gain fairly and squarely from the point at which the ball had been placed by the head official.

Fortunately, the Wildcats were out ahead, and nobody cared much about Mr. King's lapse from accuracy. The rule book had nothing to say about the play, since the rule book completely overlooks the now evident fact that officials sometimes make mistakes. Had the play been good for a touchdown, Mr. King would have found himself in what is referred to by sports enthusiasts as a tough spot.

It is understood that Mr. King plans to take the matter up with the state legislature to make his ruling on the play legal, at least in Wayne county.

Score by quarters:
Wayne 7 0 0 13
Midland 0 0 0 0

Touchdowns: Copeland, 2, Andrews, 1. Point after touchdown; Manser, 2. Officials: Referee—King, Norfolk; Umpire—Sist, Midland; Head linesman—Glur, York.

Savidge Company Back into Winter Quarters

The Walter Savidge amusement company pulled into winter quarters at Wayne Sunday, with owner-manager Walter Savidge well satisfied over the business done by his company during the last tour. He said that the profit shown by his organization during its second trip out through its Nebraska and South Dakota territory was good enough to offset the heavy loss shown by the company during the month of June.

Mr. Savidge had taken his company off the road at the end of June, after a month of poor business. He reorganized later in the summer and went back out again to play a series of fair and festival dates previously contracted for.

Conn and Ahern Go to Lincoln for Conference

Dr. U. S. Conn, president of Wayne State Teachers' college, and J. J. Ahern were in Lincoln Monday for a conference with the state board of educational lands and buildings relative to the new $150,000 dormitory at the college.

The state board will meet at Wayne on Monday, Nov. 9, to receive bids on work and material for the dormitory. It will be the first time the state board has met in Wayne for several years.

Announcement!

Having secured the assistance of Mr. Arlen Fitch of Lincoln, and Mr. Dallas Gifford, well know about Wayne, you are assured of efficient and courteous service and no long waits. We cater to everybody and solicit your patronage.

made the unit of welfare work, with each county taking care of its own needy. The commissioners may create a county welfare board of five members, two of whom shall be women, this board to serve without compensation. They may appoint a county social worker, whose qualifications and duties are specified in the law. Another provision of the law as pointed out by Mrs. McDuffee is that in counties having a population of less than 15,000, two or more county boards may join together in employing a social worker, each county bearing its proportionate share of expense.

A round-table discussion followed Mrs. McDuffee's address, and several cases were cited in Nebraska and other states where the trained social worker had practically saved the county more than her salary.

A committee of three, representing the three counties of the inter-county federation, was named to confer with their respective county boards on the matter. The committee consists of Mrs. Dean Mohr of Coleridge, Cedar County; Mrs. E. W. Huse of Wayne, and Mrs. F. O. Lundberg of Wausa, Knox county.

Mrs. Marie Wilcox of Randolph was chosen delegate to the state convention which meets at Fremont, Oct. 20-22. Mrs. E. W. Huse of Wayne was chosen as alternate.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Dean Mohr of Coleridge; Vice-president, Mrs. F. A. Sandberg of Laurel; Secretary, Miss Fanny DeBow of Coleridge, and treasurer, Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis of Wayne. The tri-county convention will meet next year at Coleridge, where it was organized ten years ago with Mrs. C. D. Young as President.

HODGES-MACK

Eunice Bonnie Hodges of Caldwell, Kas., was united in marriage to Milo B. Mack of Norfolk on Friday, Oct. 2, at the Methodist manse in Wayne. Rev. H. C. Capsey of the Methodist church performed the ceremony.

"FAG" THEFT CASE TO BE HELD TODAY

Harold Hayes Is Charged with Stealing from Railroad Car.

Trial of Harold "Bozo" Hayes, charged with the theft of 15 cartons of cigarets from a railroad car, is scheduled for today. Hayes is held in the county jail pending the arrival of railroad detectives, who will aid in prosecution of the case.

Hayes, a Wayne trucker, is said to have confessed to the theft yesterday to Sheriff A. W. Stephens, admitting that the cigarets were taken from the railroad siding.

Hayes was taken into custody by Chief of Police Wm. Stewart. He tried to sell some of the stolen goods to a Wayne confectioner, who became suspicious and reported the matter to the police head. Stewart went to work on the case immediately and had Hayes put into the county jail on an open charge. Fifteen cartons of cigarets were taken as evidence.

Chief of Police Stewart also picked up another man, who was held yesterday in the city jail on the same charge. This man, however, was not implicated by Hayes in his confession.

Wayne High Gridsters Lose to South Sioux

Wayne high school's football team was ridden over rough-shod last Friday afternoon at South Sioux City by the South Sioux high school grid aggregation, with the final gun showing a tally of 40 to 0 against the local team.

The Wayne eleven found themselves outweighed and outplayed by a heavy, experienced squad that is said to be the best team South Sioux City high school has turned out in years.

Coach Ray Holder is trying to get his inexperienced squad into shape for the next game, which will be played here tomorrow night, at the college field.
