Foodstuffs and Clothing to Be Admission Price at Matinee Tuesday

Tuesday, Dec. 22, is the date of the special charity matinee at the Crystal theatre. The shows, one starting at two o'clock and a second at four o'clock, are being staged by E. E. Gailey, in co-operation with the local American Legion post.

The price of admission to the shows will be foodstuffs and clothing instead of money. A ticket will be given with each can or jar of food, consisting of peas, corn, beans, tomatoes or home-canned fruit, vegetables or preserves. Caps, coats, trousers, or clothing of any kind will also be exchanged for tickets.

The idea is to raise a quantity of foods and clothing for the people in the northern Nebraska drouth and grasshopper area. An eight-reel feature picture, "Sunny Skies," and a two reel comedy will be shown. "Sunny Skies," previewed by Mr. Gailey, is said to be filled with youth, pep, music and laughter.

Wayne people are urged to ransack their garrets and cellars for contributions. Wayne's part in the Legion relief campaign has not been up to the standard of that of other communities and the show is being offered as a stimulus.

District Court Is Held in Wayne This Week

District court convened in Wayne Monday of this week and adjourned late Wednesday afternoon.

In the case of Dr. G. E. Peters of Randolph vs. Mike Finn of Wayne, the jury disagreed after being out about nine hours. The case involved a dispute over a $17.50 charge on a doctor bill.

The case of A. M. Haskell vs. Lloyd R. Ruback was continued because of the plaintiff's inability to appear in court.

The case of Blanche Trumbauer, administratrix, vs. the Rapid Transit Line, et al., was continued because of one of the defendants' inability to appear because of sickness in his family.

In the case of Dr. Arthur M. Sonneland vs. Robert Fenske, et al. the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Grand Island Architect Pays Visit to College

Arthur D. Baker of Grand Island, architect for the new J. M. Pile dormitory at Wayne State Teachers' college, Wednesday paid his first visit to Wayne since the start of dormitory building operations and expressed himself as being well pleased at the progress shown.

The first floor of concrete will be ready to pour by the end of this week, and the contractor hopes to have the building completed by May if weather conditions remain favorable.

Natural Gas Company Holds Safety Meeting

First of a series of safety meetings for the Wayne district, sponsored by the Northern Natural Gas company, was held Wednesday night in the office of the People's Gas company following a dinner at the Stratton hotel. Towns represented were Wakefield, Emerson, Bancroft and Wayne.

J. W. Kelso, safety director of the gas system, explained the immediate need for safety organization and stressed the importance of co-operation on the part of all employees. He said the causes of accidents are thoughtlessness, carelessness and disregard for ordinary caution.

J. R. Reynolds, district superintendent, supplemented Mr. Kelso's remarks with illustrations from personal experience. Mr. Reynolds is to be the district chairman of the safety committee in the Wayne district.

Firemen Promise "Red Hot" Dance

"There'll be a hot time in the old town" on the night of Thursday, Dec. 31, if Wayne firemen produce a party which lives up to their advance expressions. Members of the local volunteer fire department point to their past annual masquerade balls as proof of the hilarity which will be in evidence at their 1932 New Years Eve dance.

Committees are busily engaged in making all the arrangements necessary for a successful party. John Bingold, in charge of ticket sales, reports a highly satisfactory advance sale.

The dance will be held this year at the new Coryell garage. Prizes will be offered for the best man's costume and the best woman's costume, and no dancers will be admitted to the floor unless in full costume. A Sioux City costumer will be at the Boyd hotel on Thursday, Dec. 31, and local masqueraders may rent satisfactory disguises at that time.

WAYNE HOOPSTERS LOSE TO MIDLAND

Fremont Team Gets Long End of 26 to 13 Score.

Wayne State Teachers' college wildcat basketball team wasn't quite wild enough for the fast Midland college quintette Tuesday night, and the Fremont invaders went home with the long end of a 26 to 13 score. The Midland team went out in front right at the outset, and Wayne never held a point advantage over them at any time.

The local hoopsters, when they round into form, should present an entirely different type of game from that which they exhibited Tuesday night. A hard basketball schedule starting soon after the completion of a heavy football season has given Coach Ray Hickman plenty of problems.

When Carlton, diminutive Midland guard, walked out onto the floor Tuesday night, most of the spectators thought that a junior high school player had gotten into the game by mistake. After the game had been in progress for several minutes, those same spectators wondered if he was one man or twins. Seldom have local basketball fans been given the pleasure of seeing stellar play equal to his. If he maintains his early-season form he should easily receive all-state honors.

Davis, Midland center, was the other outstanding point of Midland's team, although the quintette as a whole had no weak spots.

Grubb turned in the best performance for the locals.

Fred Dale had a difficult job officiating, with the game characterized by rough playing and the customary early-season over-abundance of fouls.

The Wildcats will endeavor to do away with their losing streak when they meet the Hastings college team Saturday night at eight o'clock at the college gymnasium. Coach Hickman is experimenting with new scoring combinations and hopes to have a considerably stronger quintette for the Saturday game.

District Court Judge Sets Bond for Forney

Bond for Claude Forney was fixed at $1,500 yesterday afternoon by District Judge Charles H. Stewart following the grant of a writ of error by the Supreme court.

Forney was convicted at the November session of district court here on four counts of selling and removing mortgaged property. His attorneys immediately applied to the supreme court for a writ of error.

DEBATERS BREAK EVEN

Wayne high school's debaters broke even with Creighton Prep and Omaha Central high schools in a triangular debate at Omaha Friday. The local teams are coached by W. A. Behl of the high school faculty.

Wayne Plans Attractive Program for Saturday

Plans for "Christmas in Other Lands," a pageant parade to be staged Saturday in Wayne by local organizations, are going rapidly ahead, with a meeting of those in charge held last night at the court house bringing out descriptions of numerous attractive floats that are being prepared.

Dr. William Hawkins, head of the committee in charge, said this morning that the parade would take place at 2:30 o'clock sharp. Henry Ley and Prof. K. N. Parke are the other members of the committee.

The purpose of the pageant is to present Christmas customs and traditions of other countries and various parts of this country. Wayne State Teachers' college will have a float, it was decided early this week, and the P. E. O. society and the Altrusa club have also signified their intentions of taking part in the affair. Another recent entry is the University Women's club. It is expected that there will be about 14 or 15 floats in all.

The local Boy and Girl Scouts will march in a body, and the Wayne Municipal band will lead the procession. The band will give a concert from 1:30 until 2 o'clock.

What many local people believe promises to be one of the prettiest parts of the entire pre-Christmas program is the singing of Christmas carols by the school children of the county. Students at various city and rural schools are learning the songs this week. Saturday they will gather in Wayne, where the enormous chorus will sing under the direction of Prof. Howard Hanscom. This part of the program will be held from 2 to 2:30.

A feature of Saturday's festivities which promises to meet with the approval of everyone is the serving of free coffee and doughnuts at the city hall by the Wayne Women's club. The women are making plans to feed a record-breaking number of guests.

Saturday should be a gala day in Wayne. In addition to the free lunch, the pageant parade and the band concert, Santa Claus will be at his Toy House at the intersection of Third and Main streets all afternoon, with a gift for every good little boy and girl who comes to visit him. "The thrill that comes once in a lifetime is the description that one particularly precocious youth gives to shaking hands with the venerable Saint Nick.

As a special inducement to people of the Wayne trade territory to do their Christmas buying here, a number of Wayne business men are giving free gasoline coupons with every fifty-cent purchase. These coupons may be redeemed at local gasoline stations.

Hotel Fraud Charge Carries Heavy Fine

Landy Russell, temporary resident of Wayne, was found guilty in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court on Saturday, Dec. 12, of obtaining food, lodging and other accommodations from the Boyd hotel to the value of $24.51, with the intent of defrauding Tom Culligan, proprietor. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $4.50 and was committed to the county jail upon non-payment of the fine. He is to receive one cooked meal a day and as much bread and water as he can consume during his stay at the local bastille.

Complaint was filed by Mr. Culligan. Russel pleaded not guilty to the charge, but Mr. Culligan was sworn in as a witness and upon hearing of the evidence Judge Cherry found the transient laborer guilty as charged.

Baptist Anniversary Program This Evening

The First Baptist church of Wayne will observe the fiftieth anniversary of its organization in a simple but interesting service tonight. The local church was organized on Dec. 17, 1881.

A fellowship supper will be held at 6:30 p. m., and a public program, to which all members and friends of the church are invited, will be held at eight o'clock.

Rev. H. Q. Morton, D. D. secretary of the Nebraska Baptist state convention, will deliver the principal address.

High School Hoopsters Face Heavy Schedule

Wayne high school's basketball team will open its schedule on Tuesday, Jan. 5, when the prep hoopsters meet the Bloomfield high school quintette at Bloomfield. Coach Ray K. Holder has about 30 men out for basketball and is putting them through hard drills preparatory to what he hopes will be a successful campaign.

Other games scheduled for the high school team are:

- Jan. 8—Hartington, here.
- Jan. 15—Oakland, here.
- Jan. 22—Pierce, here.
- Jan. 27—Hartington, here.
- Jan. 29—Wakefield, here.
- Feb. 5—Randolph, here.
- Feb. 12—Pierce, here.
- Feb. 17—Bloomfield, here.
- Feb. 19—South Sioux City, there.
- Feb. 26—Randolph, here.

Firemen Prepare Ice Skating Rink

Wayne youngsters owe a vote of thanks to the Wayne fire department for the ice skating rink which the firemen have prepared a block south of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

The fire fighters started flooding the rink Saturday night, and by Tuesday morning crowds of ice-skaters were visiting the place, although the rink was not yet in good shape. The firemen plan to add more water to the pond on the first really cold night.

"Sideboards" for the skating place were installed by the firemen a year ago, so their work in preparing a place for kids to enjoy winter sports was lightened this year.

Martin L. Ringer, fire chief, said yesterday afternoon that the fire department planned to install a giant flood light above the rink today or tomorrow.

RANDALL ACCEPTS NORFOLK POSITION

Manager of Local Phone Company for 10 Years to Leave Soon.

O. L. Randall, local manager of the Northwestern Bell telephone company's offices for 10 years, goes to the local commercial office of the Bell company at Norfolk in a change that was announced yesterday by the telephone firm. The manager of the Norfolk office will come to Wayne. The change will probably take place about Jan. 10, according to Mr. Randall.

Mr. Randall, in his 10 years as manager of the Wayne telephone offices, has built up a wide circle of friends and has been held in high esteem by everyone in the community. He has taken an active interest in civic affairs and has, with his wife and family, been prominent in the social life of Wayne.

Mr. Randall tendered his resignation as city treasurer to the city council last night, and it is expected that it will be acted upon at the next council meeting.

MEN HOLD SURPRISE PARTY FOR CHARLIE

Annual Birthday Affair Is Held at Martin Home Tuesday Night.

Is Charlie Martin 73 years old or 83 years old? That is the question which caused much discussion at a surprise party on Charlie at his home on the corner of Sixth and Logan streets Tuesday night. Charlie insisted that 73 is the correct tally and E. E. "Bunt" Fleetwood maintained that they celebrated Charlie's eighty-second birthday last year.

Nine or ten Wayne business men went to Charlie's place Tuesday night with all the ingredients for an oyster stew. Charlie was not at home and Martin Ringer got the party into the house by means of a skeleton key. Chef O. B. Haas started preparing the oyster feast and several of the other men went down town to find Charlie. When he arrived home he was completely bewildered to find the men in his house. "I thought I fixed it up burglar-proof" was his comment.

Charlie beat every one of his guests at a game of checkers, although Dr. R. W. Casper had difficulty in maneuvering the checkers around in such a way as to get beaten, and a grand time was had by all. The surprise party is an annual affair.

Red Cross Roll Call Report Shows $361.90

Results of the Red Cross membership roll call held in Wayne county from Nov. 11 to Nov. 25 have been compiled by Roll Call Chairman H. R. Best and show a total of $361.90 collected. Of this amount $92.00 was collected from rural communities; $42 from Carroll; $16 from Winside, and $211 from Wayne.

Wayne Bank Takes Entire Paving Issue

City Will Save Money on Re-Funding of Bonds by State National.

At a meeting of the Wayne city council Wednesday afternoon, the entire paving issue of $195,000 paying bonds of the City of Wayne was sold to the State National bank.

By taking advantage of the call features of these six percent paving bonds, the city will save the taxpayers one percent or $1,950 in interest each year. The due date on these bonds is Jan. 2, 1942, and should they run this long at the present rate of interest, it would cost the city an aggregate amount of $19,500 more than under the new arrangement.

If interest is figured on the interest saved, the entire reduction will reach the neighborhood of $30,000.

The bonds were originally issued during the period of high interest rates directly after the war, and at that time the rate of six percent was considered favorable. Interest rates have been gradually reduced since 1922.

The city council is now taking advantage of its first call date and through the State National bank is effecting this appreciable saving to the people of Wayne.

The issue of $195,000 is the balance of $214,691.43 original bonds which were floated on Jan. 2, 1922. The difference of $19,691.43 has been paid on the principal from a sinking fund after interest payments had been made.

Under the new arrangement, a number of bonds will fall due each year after 1934 and will be paid by sinking funds made up from tax levies. At the maturity of the old bonds in 1942, the new financing will have reduced the principal from $195,000 to $133,000, a total of $62,000, and will have the entire debt retired in 1952.

Wayne Band Scores Hit in Radio Program

Wayne's municipal band, under the direction of Prof. F. C. Reed, gave a program over radio station WJAG at Norfolk Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Wayne Kiwanis club octette sang several numbers, Miss Phyllis Kilborn sang a solo, and the Misses Clara and Bernice Tedkes played several piano duets.

Professor Reed was the recipient of many congratulatory telegrams, and radio station attaches said that the Wayne band's program was evidently much more appreciated by radio listeners than the average broadcast.

The band has been asked to broadcast from the Norfolk station again at a later date.

DEPRESSION CURE

Christmas today looks as if it would assume a greater importance than ever. A famous banker and economist has stated that Christmas, itself, is a great remedy for the world's depression.

"This season millions of people are buying each other gifts — gifts that range through every luxury and necessity. Because of this extended buying, millions of men will have to be employed and millions of dollars will be spent in paying their salaries. That is just what the world needs today — an impetus begun by the consumer who makes purchases. If we had a few more Christmas days each year we wouldn't have to worry much about depressions."

Let's look into this business: If you buy a table, that means a woodchopper must chop down the tree from which it is made; several men in a sawmill must plane it down to the correct size; innumerable wagon and truck drivers must cart it from one place to another; railroads or boats must carry it from the mill to the factory; in the factory, several men, including designers, carpenters, mechanics and painters, must work over the rough wood; then wholesale salesmen must sell it to the retail store owners; retail salesmen must sell it to you.

Every article you buy gives work — to some a little, to others a lot — so that with each Christmas gift purchase you are helping to cut down unemployment and consequently are aiding in freeing this country from the ills of depression. By your purchase, these woodchoppers, salesmen, truck drivers and painters are equipped with money with which they can buy what they need. It is a never ending chain that must start working again if prosperity is to be once again regained.

Bear that in mind when you do your Christmas shopping. Christmas is the one time of the year when everyone wants to be generous.

DROUTH RELIEF

Wayne's answer to the call for aid to the drouth-stricken northern Nebraska territory has been disappointing. Winslow, a much smaller town, has collected a good deal more provisions for the unfortunate drouth sufferers than has Wayne.

Surely, this is due to the lack of charitable impulses on the part of local folks. The way in which Wayne people rallied to the call for aid to Arkansas' drouth territory last year is ample proof of their kindly inclinations.

It must be that the seriousness of the situation has not impressed itself thoroughly upon the minds of our local people. Here is a circumstance that calls for immediate action. People in our own state of Nebraska are without sufficient clothing. They are short of food, and do not have enough fuel. They need help NOW, and not next summer. Talk won't do any good, and good intentions won't help the Nebraska drouth sufferers a bit.

You will have a chance next Tuesday to give to this most worthy cause and get as much or more than you give. A free moving picture show will be held at two o'clock in the afternoon and a second show at four. The price of admission to the show will be some old clothes, some food, coal, shoes — anything that would help Nebraska's unfortunate.

By all means, you'll want to attend the show, and you'll want to make your contribution as fine a one as possible.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF POLICY

Thomas W. Lamont's recent condemnation of the Republican tariff provided an attack upon international bankers generally by a correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune in which the writer says: "They (the international bankers) might be more worthily engaged in converting foreign nations to raising their standard of living to ours and thereby do away with the need for a tariff."

Apropos of this, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch comments upon and defines "our standard of living" as follows:

"The tariff is needed to maintain our standard of living.

"Our rich natural resources have nothing to do with it. Our excellent skilled labor supply has nothing to do with it. Our expert factory management has nothing to do with it. Our scientific management has nothing to do with it. Our domestic mass consumption market, the largest and richest free trade market in the world, has nothing to do with it.

"The tariff is needed to maintain our standard of living.

"We have a tariff of 42 cents a bushel on wheat, but our farmers have sold their wheat within recent months for as little as 25 cents. Agricultural incomes have dropped to next to nothing. Mortgages have been foreclosed. Farms have been lost. Hundreds of thousands of farmers have been forced to move to town.

"The tariff is needed to maintain our standard of living.

"We have a high tariff on textiles, but wages in textile production hit the toboggan long before the market crashed. We have a high tariff on steel. The steel industry has recently cut its wages 10 percent. Automobiles are protected. The index of factory employment in Detroit stood at 119 in 1929. In 1930 we passed the Hawley-Smoot bill. Today the index of factory employment in Detroit registers 51.

"The tariff is needed to maintain our standard of living.

Millions of our people are today dependent upon charity for a living. Other millions are working part time at reduced wages. More than 7,000,000 can find no work to do.

Is this the standard of living the tariff is needed to maintain?"

GETTING TOGETHER

Speaking Friday before the national association of life insurance presidents, Senator Capper of Kansas took advanced ground when he pleaded for co-operative effort between the manufacturing industry of the east and the farming industry of the west, at the same time that congress shall lay all political considerations in solving the urgent problems confronting the country. The east has at times displayed what has seemed to be almost complete indifference to western interests, and the west has retaliated by incubating a hatred of more or less virulence against the east and all its work. The east has been willing that agriculture should have whatever tariffs it wanted, but it was not concerned whether these worked for its advantage at all times.

If the depression has accomplished nothing more worth while than to compel each section to look with a kinder consideration on the interests of the other and to join in solving problems vital to both, it will have been worth part of its cost, generally speaking. Mr. Capper finds a growing spirit of co-operative effort, and evidences of this are shown in the acts and statements of leaders in both sections.

The country generally should, if it does not, applaud another statement by the Kansas senator in the course of this speech. He said: "As much as anything else we need a moratorium on partisan politics. No business, and no country, can get anywhere if half of those engaged in it are trying to prevent the other half from getting anything done. We should bury party animosities at times like these and let the public good come first." Many people not interested in politics or political advancement have been preaching this doctrine for a long time. It is a distinct gain when a senator and a partisan starts preaching it.

Surplus government and surplus legislation, with their attendant and resulting costs, was another subject touched on by the senator. It is quite true these are one of the causes of heavy taxation, and also of too much public control. We might as well start reforming these at the bottom. — Lincoln Star-Journal.

STORY WITH A MORAL

I know that a lot of you listen to Seth Parker's Sunday night radio when those good neighbors of Joseph, Maine, gather 'round and indulge in an evening of real brotherly and brotherly love. Seth Parker's homely philosophy strikes a responsive chord with us and we're doubly impressed last Sunday evening when he told of the deacons of a church who were supposed to go to the minister's house to pray for the

Nebraska's Youngest County Clerk

When Miss Bertha Berres, Wayne county clerk, went to Omaha last week to attend the annual state convention of county officials, she received considerable publicity as Nebraska's youngest county clerk. The Omaha Bee-News last Thursday published the above picture of Miss Berres. The Bee-News photographer snapped her while she was inspecting a road grader—and even so commonplace an article as a road grader doesn't keep the picture from being attractive.

poor. All of the deacons but one put in their appearances and the prayers were offered to alleviate the hardships and sufferings of the unfortunates. After praying for 15 or 20 minutes there was a knock at the door and the deacon, who had not put in his appearance earlier had not over a barrel of flour, a barrel of apples and numerous other things that would be mighty welcome to a poor family. This deacon also sent along the word that he prayed with his hands and not with his mouth and that the unprovided for would be greatly benefited if the other deacons would follow suit. And as a practical example Seth then made a plea that it is pretty difficult to have a Merry Christmas on an empty stomach. Through the simplicity of Seth Parker's little "sermonettes" are some beautiful and practical thoughts and all are easily applicable to our own modes of living. — Tekamah Herald.

DISAPPOINTING

Of course Benjamin Harrison, national representative of the hunger marchers on Washington, who's our praises of "so let Russia, the country which has done away with employment," wouldn't think of trying to transport himself and his demonstrators to Russia, to H. e. Maybe that would be too long a march.

Probably he is a little afraid that the marchers might not be well fed in Russia, as they are in the United States. Although he says "communists are the only ones to rule this country," it is significant that the men who have willingly arranged to feed and shelter the agitators are not communists.

Anyway, the marching unemployed are disappointing. They're riding in automobiles. And they can't be very hungry as they go along. Someone or other in the cities on the way is feeding them. Leaving them alone so long as they do no violence is the best way to cure them of their "Red" ideas. — Madison Star-Mail.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

The Christmas pageant to be held here Saturday is wholly in keeping with the Christmas spirit and promises to be a better show than the one held last year. Local organizations have entered into the spirit of the thing and have promised to present floats so attractive that the parade should be worth coming miles to see.

Wayne Gets Taste of

Bernard Shaw Satire

"So I didn't upset the apple cart after all," said the king. And the audience that had been somewhat doubtful as to what "The Apple Cart" had to do with the play relaxed and sat back to enjoy the rest of the play that was given at Wayne State Teachers' college Tuesday night.

"The Apple Cart" by Bernard Shaw is one of the author's latest and most discussed works. Being a satire of the English government that takes place "sometime in the future," the three acts are spiced with English wit. However, the wit proved rather silly and feeble when reference was made to the American as "simply a wop, posing as a Pilgrim father," and our chief industry as "chocolate creams."

Boyd Irwin, playing the part of king, was most consistent throughout the entire three acts and gave a fine characterization of a modern king. He was supported by an able cast of twelve, each taking his part adequately.

Vail Speaks at District

Meeting of Optometrists

Dr. W. E. Vail of Wayne was the principal speaker at a meeting of the northern district of the Nebraska State association of Optometrists which was held in Norfolk Sunday afternoon.

Optometrists from other towns in the district who attended the meeting spoke highly of Dr. Vail's address and said that it contained technical information of considerable value.

SCOTT SHOTS

by

"SCOTTY"

The king's horses and the king's men don't have a thing on some of Wayne's flipper flappers when it comes to marching down the street and back again. Particularly on Saturday night, wotta parade!

"I'll Be Glad When You're Dead, You Rascal You" is the title of a popular song that will appeal to bitter enemies.

I wonder what that simply grand newspaper woman, Marie, thought about the manner in which a certain Nebraska weekly covered a certain district court trial. The case was somewhat stonchey, and the paper in question devoted about seven columns of space to it. Marie never used that kind of business-getting methods.

You'll probably guess who I'm talking about. There's been considerable scandal connected with his name. The local gossip crew has "they say'd" him on the spot, and yet not a single, solitary person has been able to give me any specific instance of any act on the part of this Wayne man that would be worthy of such malicious small talk. "Where there's so much smoke, there must be some fire," one of my operatives says, but then—a man is innocent until he is proven guilty.

Crumbs of love make a poor substitute for a wedding cake.

Canadian dollar bills are making the rounds in Wayne. They're worth considerably less than an American dollar, but the person who turned a load of them loose here managed to get 95 cents out of his entire supply. If anyone offers you one, just say "No Thank You," because you'd be losing money to take it for full one-dollar value.

He was a hard-boiled, grizzled old duffer who looked as if he could tangle with a rattlesnake, and send the serpent to the hospital. He sauntered up to the counter of a Wayne store, glared fiercely at the clerk and said: "I wanta buy an electric train and a doll that says mama." Then, as if in self-defense, "I want 'em for the kids."

A telegram sent to the aunt who always sends me a wild-red pansy necktie for Christmas:

ALL'S FORGIVEN STOP IN MY PRESENT FINANCIAL STATUS WILL WEAR ANY KIND OF CRAVAT INCLUDING PINK WITH PURPLE VIOLET MOTIF STOP

This Christmas as last, dirty Yuletide greeting cards are floating around. How they get thru the mails or why are two mysteries for you to solve.

You would have had to snicker right out loud at the timid little man who said to a clerk in Abersn's, "I'd like to look at your step-ins." He blushed furiously, and to make matters worse added, "I mean I'd like to look at your stock of 'em. Gotta get 'em for a Christmas present."

"What size?" the clerk asked him. "Huh?" he looked startled. "Do they come in sizes? I suppose they do. Well, she's a kind of big woman."

"Ba-a-w-w-w! I want that little red automobile." The kid was yowling at the top of his lung-power and his face was a mess of tears. A tired mother was trying to get him away from the scene of the alluring fourteen-dollar trinket, but with little success.

"If you don't come along and quit crying, Santa Claus won't bring you anything for Christmas," she warned.

"Downanything for Christmas," the youth shrieked. "I want that little red automobile. Baw-w-w!" She finally grabbed the kid by the right arm and yanked him, shrieking, up the street.

Two women passing by saw the yanking episode. "See that awful mother abusing that poor little boy," one of them exclaimed. Abuse? It is to titter.

"Once upon a time," confided one of Wayne's doourest old codgers, "when the real Santa Claus failed to show up, I was called upon to play the part. They had a suit rigged up for me that had cotton batting all over it—supposed to look like white fur. That was before the time of electric Christmas tree lights, and candles were always strung all over the tree.

"I was doing right gallant at the part, saying 'And now here's a present for dear little Johnnie. I hope Johnnie has been a good little boy and hasn't done anything naughty this year.' Just sweet as sugar, that was me. All of a sudden, in some way, that dad-blamed cotton bating caught on fire from those blank-blank candles. If you've ever seen cotton batting burn, you'll know that I was on fire.

"I forgot all about the sweet little children and started trying to put that fire out. Naturally, I cussed a little bit, and the Sunday school teacher in charge of the kids was shocked. 'Think of the children' she protested.

"To h— with the children," I told her. 'I'm on fire.'

"It's too bad that those kids got disillusioned. They think that Santa Claus is a hard-boiled, cussing, rip-snorting old fiend. And those little youngsters learned a lot of new words."

I liked this little paragraph in the Bloomfield Monitor: "The best day is today. Tomorrow may never come. While you are reading this a hundred persons and more have passed out of this world. Tomorrow will never come, for them. Do your Christmas shopping now."

Dear Santa—

The nicest present I can think of is an attachment for the radio which will eliminate all advertising announcements. If you have one, please put it in my Christmas stocking.

Bill Beckenhauer says his dog is a Congressman—it's always investigating something and never doing anything about it.

And now comes the time for our weekly session with Fred Howard, who runs that verreh fine colyum, "A Broader View" in the Clay County Sun:

Good towns have been known to become positive flops when a few hustlers withdraw from leadership rather than to be made the constant target for community abuse.

Speaking of the woman in business, Miss Lohelia, the cutest of the south-side cuties, says: "I think it would be a criminal waste of material to transfer a $50 a week office girl to a home job which she could hire done for two bucks a day." Not having a ready retort, I let my sweet young aide get away with her seeming truth. My tardy wit suggests that she is much like our beloved Platte river—broad but not deep.

Some time back I was ridiculed for the "absurd" suggestion that some bright farmer might do well by purchasing a number of brightly lithographed cartons in which to sell wheat by the pound rather than in the usual manner. A Madison county man is using the idea slightly modified and selling his crop for $3.75 per bushel. A similar idea applied to seed wheat or other grains would insure an advance in price far more than the cost of the package. Of course, to make the proposition successful and a repeater, the contents of the package would have to be superior to the ordinary run of seed.

They Hunted Wolves From an Airplane

Something new in the way of hunting was related to Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Hess last Sunday when their nephew, Robert Benson, of Norfolk, showed pictures of the ten mountain wolves he and his uncle had killed from an airplane on a recent trip through Colorado. Mr. Benson told of how in one village, Manassa, the entire populace turned out to greet them and to view an airplane for the first time in their lives. This was the first time a plane had ever landed in that territory.

CHRISTMAS COMES BUT ONCE A YEAR

"Now enter Christmas like a man Armed with spit and dripping pan Attended with pastry and plum pie"

Pudding, plum porridge and fermity With beef, pork, mutton of each sort More than my pen can report."

From Poor Robin's Almanack, Christmas, 1701.

MANY days before the morning when Christmas bells sound over snow covered housetops, when chill gray dawn making its leisurely way over a wintry world looks curiously in through half-drawn blinds upon Christmas trees a'dance with lights and groups of little pajama-clad figures huddled over heaps of bright toys—many days before this eventful morning, Christmas, a jovial spirit, has entered the market-places of the world.

Holly-hung windows display Christmas turkeys, chicken and goose and an occasional sucking pig with an apple in its mouth. Others are given over to piles of nuts and eggs and raisins, to interesting-looking cans marked "Plum Pudding," "Fig Pudding," "Fruit Cake," and "Mince-meat," and to goodly collections of canned Christmas jellies and jams. Grocers and butchers and bakers become people of great importance dispensing holiday provisions and advice with a sort of Dickens-like enthusiasm.

One of the many beautiful things about Christmas is that it keeps alive the warmth of family affection—that is one of the oldest interpretations of the rule-log—and its feasting and special foods have had an important place in tradition. Many of the old Christmas dishes—such as "fermity" mentioned in the little verse above—are now obsolete, but the spirit of Christmas should enter not only into the great feast of the day, but, as in old times into the Christmas Eve collation, the Christmas breakfast and certainly the little informal final meal of those who dine at midday on Christmas.

Flushed and excited though they are with gift-wrapping and gift-delivering, with tree-trimming and the other delightful tasks of Christmas Eve, the family may be enticed to a half-hour of nerve-racking quiet by the following Christmas Eve menu—and, if a guest or two happens in, it will be just so many the more to enjoy this little foretaste of holiday cheer. The menu is equally suitable for Christmas-supper.

Mistletoe Canapés: Free one can sardines from skin and bones, mash, add creamed butter enough to make a paste, season highly with lemon juice and cayenne pepper. Sauté or toast lightly diamond-shaped slices of bread. Spread with sardine mixture. Peel off thin skin from green peppers which have been previously par-boiled in water with a pinch of soda. Cut in shape of mistletoe leaves and arrange bunch in center of each canapé. Use tiny pickled pearl onions for berries.

Christmas Sweet Potatoes: Wash one large sweet potato for each person to be served, cut hole through center lengthwise with apple corer. Open a can of Vienna sausage and place one sausage in each sweet potato; bake until tender.

Apples Stuffed with Pineapple: Take six large baking apples, core and peel half way down. Stick two cloves in each. Take one eight-ounce can Hawaiian pineapple tidbits, fill cavities in apples with pineapple and sprinkle six tablespoons sugar over top. Mix one-third cup water with pineapple syrup and pour around the apples. Bake as usual, 400°, until tender, basting frequently with the syrup. Serves six.

Snappy Winter Cocktails: Shake together two nine-ounce cans tomato juice, two teaspoons lemon juice, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon tobacco sauce, one-eighth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and let stand in refrigerator over night. Serves six.

Cranberry Corn Muffins: Beat together one egg, two tablespoons sugar, one cup sour milk. Sift one cup flour, one cup cornmeal, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt and add to above. Stir in three tablespoons melted butter and one-half cup canned cranberry sauce, using the thick part rather than juice. Bake in buttered muffin tins at 400°, for twenty or twenty-five minutes. Recipe makes eight large or twelve small muffins.

I AM STILL RICH

By Roy L. Smith

We have passed through a panic, suffered from a crash on the stock market, and I am still rich. It may be true that I have much less to live on than I had a year ago but it is certainly true that I have just as much as over to live for. The real values of life are unshaken and solid. The market tumbled but nothing else did. Prices went down but not one acre lost its fertility and all the electrons, protons and other waves went on working in their accustomed ways.

When the depression came I was compelled to take an invoice and soon discovered that I was still rich. All my capacity for the enjoyment of life was still intact. My $200,000 eyes are just as good as they ever were. Twenty-five thousand dollar scenes and views are added to my collection almost every week. A $100,000 sense of hearing is still unimpaired and by it I become an heir to a world of beauty and inspiration. Then there's my $1,000,000 stomach and half-million dollar appetite. No man can be rich who is compelled to take orders from his stomach. The depression has not lowered one bit the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same old cordial way, and our sons hold us in high respect.

No nation becomes great by becoming rich. Neither does a man find enduring satisfaction in life by owning something, — only by becoming something.

This depression has cost us some of the things we created but it has robbed us of none of our power to create. It is a challenge, not a catastrophe. A generation which has climbed above the clouds and lived in the stratosphere, that has conquered the air and sent giant planes circling the globe, which has plunged into deeps and disported on the ocean's floor is now faced with the challenge to rise above its dependence on mere things and seek an emancipation of the spirit of man.

Th last six months have been for many men a thrilling spiritual adventure through which they have discovered their real wealth. Bereft of civildens and profits they are discovering the sustaining powers of a strong religious faith, the abiding values of courage, heroism, honor, charity and trustworthiness. — The Rotarian.

ly and the successful man is planning a long way ahead.

"The cow needs a dry period of from four to eight weeks if she is to do her best through the next lactation. A two-month dry period may well add from 20 to 30 per cent to the next year's production. During the dry period the cow should be well fed so that she is in good flesh when she freshens. Feed from 5 to 10 pounds of grain a day if the cow is thin.

"Many farmers have had under trouble with fresh cows when well fed. This sometimes has made them think it is dangerous to feed dry cows well. It is true that the good dairy cow must be carefully handled and fed.

"The dry cow can be well fed on a grain ration, if it is reduced the last week before freshening. Silage should be fed sparingly, too, or taken away altogether. A good ration just before freshening is the usual hay and a pound each of ground oats and of bran daily. It would be improved if a half pound of linseed meal were added. Feed this ration right up to calving.

"After calving, feed four or five pounds of a mash of oats and bran, made with hot water and cooled. Give only warm water for several days. Protect the cow from cold drafts. Remember that a heavy feed of silage, corn or barley or a big drink of cold water may cause a hard udder in a few hours."

New Chemical Weed Destroyer Discovered

A new chemical for the killing of weeds which seems to have considerable advantages over sodium chlorate, has been found by the Minnesota agricultural experiment station at St. Paul. Sodium chlorate has been used largely for the last few years.

The principal objections to sodium chlorate were that it was too costly for use on large areas and that it made the soil unproductive for crops for many months after application. Furthermore, it presented a dangerous fire risk.

The outcome has been the discovery of ammonium thiocyanate, a waste product of coke manufacture. Ammonium thiocyanate quickly kills every kind of weed common in Minnesota, according to tests made at that state's university farm, on plots seeded with seed screenings from a large commercial plant. The use of the chemical in moderate applications leaves no poison in the soil after about two weeks, and the chemical is not inflammable, involving no fire risk. Furthermore, the chemical has a value as a fertilizer, on setting, in part, the cost of its use. A few weeks after its application, it is decomposed by bacteria in the soil, its poisonous effects are destroyed, and sulfur and ammonium are left as fertilizers.

The chemical may be applied either as a wet spray or sprinkled on as a dry salt. From two to five pounds per square rod is usually enough. The chemical, however, is not as yet readily available in technical grade and it involves a new technic of application.

Is Time to Prepare Cows for Calving

"This is the time of year when the good dairyman is welcoming a lot of new arrivals to the herd," according to H. R. Searls of the University of Minnesota farm at St. Paul. "These little, big eyed, wobbly legged youngsters are the future money makers. What they do depends on their inherited ability. The quality of the herd sire last year will determine the status of the herd three to five years from now. Is it any wonder that the dairy enterprise is a long time, permanent part of the farm business? Changes come slow-

MILTON speaks in one of his poems about "A feast of nectar'd sweets." If he had had before him a gay bowl piled high with fruit-flavored Christmas candies, he could not have described them better. It is the fruit that gives them the delicious nectar-like taste—and it makes them healthful too; easy to digest so that the very young and the very old can have a goodly share, as they should at Christmas time. The recipes given below will tell you how to make candies of this kind, and this is what to do with them.

Candies a Gay Note

You probably have some metal molds, the kind you use for puddings and jellies and ices. They come in all sorts of fanciful forms, stars, flowers, fish and animals. Line them with red paper, all them with the candies, and set them on mantelpieces and fireside tables and in the guest rooms. They give a charming Christmas note to the house. A large mold filled with the candies, encircled by a holly wreath and flanked by red candles in silver candlesticks can be used as a centerpiece for an informal Christmas supper.

Another nice thing to do with home-made Christmas candies is to make gifts of them. You can put them in amusing little bags such as the French use for bonbons. Ordinary shelf paper with a lace edge makes very pretty bags. The all-white variety is especially effective with the lace edge at the top of the bag, which should be tied four-sack fashion with broad ribbon. Bright, dark blue ribbon is pretty for this purpose and blue stars in several sizes may be pasted onto the bag in a haphazard manner, or silver ribbon and silver stars may be used.

Gift Candles

Candy bags for children should be very gay. Pictures cut from nursery books may be applied as decoration, and bright lines or waves of color may be painted with water colors along the top edge inside and out.

Italian hand-blocked papers make beautiful candy sacks, and these may be tied with broad colored linen tape in imitation of the linen ribbon which is used so much in Italy. Finish the top edge of the bag with a line or a little decorative motif in gold paint.

The fancy wrapping papers which the shops bring out at Christmas are perfect for bonbon bags—nothing could be nicer. Scraps of old chintz or brocades or of silver or gold cloth can be made into more durable bags which may later be used for sewing accessories or buttons. Don't forget to wrap your candies for the fabric bags in glazed paper.

And Now—The Recipes!

Pineapple Creams: Boil together two cups sugar, two-thirds cup milk and one-fourth cup butter to soft ball stage, 258°. Add one teaspoon lemon juice, and color pale green. Cool, and beat very stiff. Add one-half cup crushed Hawaiian pineapple, four tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries, four tablespoons chopped mint cherries—all well drained. Drop by small spoonfuls on a greased sheet.

Apricot Fudge: Melt two squares chocolate carefully, without burning. Add two cups sugar, and mix well. Then add two-thirds cup condensed milk, one-half cup water and four tablespoons white corn syrup; let cook, without stirring, to 234°. Let two tablespoons butter melt over top without stirring, cool to 120°, add two-thirds cup chopped dried apricots, and beat until creamy. Pour into buttered pan.

Fruit Cubes

Strawberry Jelly Cubes: Press contents eight-ounce can of strawberries through sieve, making a puree. Add half cup pectin syrup, half cup sugar, half cup corn syrup, half tablespoon lemon juice, boil to 222°. Pour into greased pan so that mixture is about half inch thick. Let stand over night in cool place. Cut into cubes; roll in powdered sugar.

Grapefruit Panoche: Cook eight-ounce can grapefruit and three tablespoons sugar to thick jam, or 222°. Mix three cups brown sugar, two-thirds cup condensed milk, two-thirds cup water, three tablespoons white corn syrup, and one tablespoon butter to 230°. Add jam, and continue boiling to 234°. Report Shows Farm Outlook Is Brighter

More than 70 percent of Nebraska's corn crop was husked by Nov. 20 and the winter wheat crop is entering the winter with a condition of 82 percent normal, according to the mid-month report of the State and Federal division of Agricultural Statistics. Several important farm commodities show rises in prices.

Corn husking is farther advanced than at this time last year, with about 78 percent cribbed in the eastern sections. About 22 percent of the corn is of poor quality. Average price paid for corn husking this year is three cents per bushel as compared to six cents in 1930 and nearly eight cents two years ago.

The average price paid by farmers for feeding cattle is $5.15 per cwt., with the price a month ago at $5.05. Fat cattle prices show some increase over a month ago, being $7.67 at the present time as compared to $7.43 last month. Farmers are now paying $4.56 for feeder sheep.

The supply of hogs in the state is the same as a year ago. Eastern sections have larger numbers than at this time last year. The panhandle district shows about the same number as last year, while all other sections show smaller numbers than at this time a year ago.

Farm prices show considerable improvement in most commodities. Grain crops in particular show a rather marked improvement during the past 30 days. Prices received now and a month ago are as follows: Corn, 39 and 31 cents, showing an increase of eight cents per bushel; wheat, 44 and 33 cents, showing an increase of 11 cents per bushel; oats, 24 and 21 cents, showing an increase of three cents per bushel; alfalfa, $7.65 and $7.73; corn fed cattle, $7.67 and $7.43 cwt., showing slight increase; hogs, $3.96 and $4.39, showing a decrease; eggs, 22 and 17 cents per dozen, showing an increase of five cents per dozen.

Market Co-Ops Have Proved Farm Value

In every important agricultural country in the world co-operative marketing is a strong factor in the distribution of the most important farm products. This fact was used by Gordon B. Nance, extension marketing specialist of the Missouri College of Agriculture, recently to refute the now obsolete statement that "farmers won't stick together." Farmers are sticking together, said Mr. Nance, and through their co-operative organizations they are rendering worldwide service to the agricultural industry and to all consumers of farm products.

Marketing is not hopelessly complicated. It consists of several rather definite services, such as assembling the product at the shipping point, separating it into grades, placing it in containers, financing and storing it from the time of production to time of consumption, transporting it to the consuming centers, and selling it to the consumer. Any improvement that is made in marketing must be made in the better performance of one or more of these services, and if any co-operative association is to succeed it will do so because it has performed one or more of these marketing services better than other existing agencies perform them.

A government hospital is to be erected at Winnebago soon.

Teletypewriter Service Is Available to Public

A new communication service has been made available by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company. This new service consists in the establishment and operation of central switching exchanges or teletypewriters—machines that teletype electrically over wires to a distant teletypewriter. A subscriber to the service can obtain connection with the teletypewriter of any other subscriber within the same city or in a distant city, remitting immediate transmission of letters, typewritten statements or other information.

The method used for interconnection of instruments is the same in effect as that now employed in the telephone system. At the beginning of 1931 the Bell System was furnishing 10,500 teletypewriter machines utilizing 48 percent of its private line wire mileage in their service.

"All right dear, well expect you home soon"

With telephones throughout the house, calls can be made and received conveniently at the moment the need arises.

WHEN you had your telephone put in, perhaps you did it because you knew it would drive away loneliness or be handy for shopping.

You didn't suspect that you would be placed on a committee with a score of people to talk to every week, that a time would come when you must summon a doctor in a hurry, or that your sister would move a hundred miles away and you would want to talk to her frequently.

The value of telephone service cannot be measured by the few cents a day paid for a telephone, which enables you to reach everyone else in town who has a telephone, or by the low cost for talking with persons out of town. (Only 35 cents for three minutes—between 4:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.—over a distance of 40 airline miles when you will talk with anyone available at the telephone called—less for the shorter distances and less per mile as the distance increases).

CHRISTMAS COMES BUT ONCE A YEAR

"Now enter Christmas like a man Armed with spit and dripping pan Attended with pastry and plum pie Puttling, plum porridge and fermity With beef, pork, mutton of each sort More than my pen can report."

From Poor Robin's Almanack, Christmas, 1701.

MANY days before the morning when Christmas bells sound over snow covered housetops, when chill gray dawn makes its leisurely way over a wintry world looks curiously in through half-drawn blinds upon Christmas trees a-dance with lights and groups of little pajama-clad figures huddled over heaps of bright toys—many days before this eventful morning, Christmas, a jovial spirit, has entered the market-places of the world.

Holly-hung windows display Christmas turkeys, chicken and goose and an occasional suckling pig with an apple in its mouth. Others are given over to piles of nuts and figs and raisins, to interesting looking cans marked "Plum Pudding," "Fig Pudding," "Fruit Cake," and "Mince-meat," and to goodly collections of canned Christmas jellies and jams. Grocers and butchers and bakers become people of great importance dispensing holiday provisions and advice with a sort of Dickens-like enthusiasm.

One of the many beautiful things about Christmas is that it keeps alive the warmth of family affection—that is one of the oldest interpretations of the yule-log—and its feasting and special foods have had an important place in tradition. Many of the old Christmas dishes—such as "fermity" mentioned in the little verse above—are now obsolete, but the spirit of Christmas should enter not only into the great feast of the day, but, as in old times into the Christmas Eve collation, the Christmas breakfast and certainly the little informal final meal of those who dine at midday on Christmas.

Flushed and excited though they are with gift-wrapping and gift-delivering, with tree-trimming and the other delightful tasks of Christmas Eve, the family may be enticed to a half-hour of nerve-resting quiet by the following Christmas Eve menu—and, if a guest or two happens in, it will be just so many the more to enjoy this little foretaste of holiday cheer. The menu is equally suitable for Christmas supper.

Mistletoe Canapés: Free one can sardines from skin and bones, mash, add creamed butter enough to make a paste, season highly with lemon juice and cayenne pepper. Sauté or toast lightly diamond-shaped slices of bread. Spread with sardine mixture. Peel off thin skin from green peppers which have been previously parboiled in water with a pinch of soda. Cut in shape of mistletoe leaves and arrange bunch in center of each canapé. Use tiny pickled pearl onions for berries.

Christmas Sweet Potatoes: Wash one large sweet potato for each person to be served, cut hole through center lengthwise with apple corer. Open a can of Vienna sausage and place one sausage in each sweet potato;—bake until tender.

Apples Stuffed with Pineapple: Take six large baking apples, core and peel half way down. Stick two cloves in each. Take one eight-ounce can Hawaiian pineapple tidbits, fill cavities in apples with pineapple and sprinkle six tablespoons sugar over top. Mix one-third cup water with pineapple syrup and pour around the apples. Bake as usual, 400°, until tender, basting frequently with the syrup. Serves six.

Snappy Winter Cocktails: Shake together two nine-ounce cans tomato juice, two teaspoons lemon juice, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-eighth teaspoon Tabasco sauce, one-eighth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and let stand in refrigerator over night. Serves six.

Cranberry Corn Muffins: Beat together one egg, two tablespoons sugar, one cup sour milk. Sift one cup flour, one cup cornmeal, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt and add to above. Stir in three tablespoons melted butter and one-half cup canned cranberry sauce, using the thick part rather than juice. Bake in buttered muffin tins at 400°, for twenty or twenty-five minutes. Recipe makes eight large or twelve small muffins.

I AM STILL RICH

By Roy L. Smith

We have passed through a panic, suffered from a crash on the stock market, and I am still rich.

It may be true that I have much less to live on than I had a year ago but it is certainly true that I have just as much as ever to live for. The real values of life are unshaken and solid. The market failed but nothing else did. Prices went down but not one acre lost its fertility and all the electrons, protons and ether waves went on working in their accustomed ways.

When the depression came I was compelled to take an invoice and soon discovered that I was still rich. All my capacity for the enjoyment of life was still intact. My $200,000 eyes are just as good as they ever were. Twenty-five thousand dollar scenes and views are added to my collection almost every week. A $100,000 sense of hearing is still unimpaired and by it I become an heir to a world of beauty and inspiration. Then there's my $1,000,000 stomach and half-million dollar appetite. No man can be rich who is compelled to take orders from his stomach. The depression has not lowered one bit the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same old cordial way, and our sons hold us in high respect.

No nation becomes great by becoming rich. Neither does a man find enduring satisfaction in life by owning something—only by becoming something.

This depression has cost us some of the things we created but it has robbed us of none of our power to create. It is a challenge, not a catastrophe. A generation which has climbed above the clouds and lived in the stratosphere, that has conquered the air and sent giant planes circling the globe, which has plunged into deeps and disported on the ocean's floor is now faced with the challenge to rise above its dependence on mere things and seek an emancipation of the spirit of man.

The last six months have been for many men a thrilling spiritual adventure through which they have discovered their real wealth. Berett of dividends and profits they are discovering the sustaining powers of a strong religious faith, the abiding values of courage, heroism, honor, charity and trustworthiness.—The Rotarian.

Is Time to Prepare Cows for Calving

"This is the time of year when the good dairyman is welcoming a lot of new arrivals to the herd," according to H. R. Searls of the University of Minnesota farm at St. Paul. "These little, big eyed, wobbly legged youngsters are the future money makers. What they do depends on their inherited ability. The quality of the herd sire last year will determine the status of the herd three to five years from now. Is it any wonder that the dairy enterprise is a long time, permanent part of the farm business? Changes come slowly and the successful man is planning a long way ahead.

"The cow needs a dry period of from four to eight weeks if she is to do her best through the next lactation. A two-month dry period may well add from 20 to 30 per cent to the next year's production. During the dry period the cow should be well fed so that she is in good flesh when she freshens. Feed from 5 to 10 pounds of grain a day if the cow is thin.

"Many farmers have had udder trouble with fresh cows when well fed. This sometimes has made them think it is dangerous to feed dry cows well. It is true that the good dairy cow must be carefully handled and fed.

"The dry cow can be well fed on a grain ration, if it is reduced the last week before freshening. Silage should be fed sparingly, too, or taken away altogether. A good ration just before freshening is the usual hay and a pound each of ground oats and of bran daily. It would be improved if a half pound of linseed meal were added. Feed this ration right up to calving.

"After calving, feed four or five pounds of a mash of oats and bran, made with hot water and cooled. Give only warm water for several days. Protect the cow from cold drafts. Remember that a heavy feed of silage, corn or barley or a big drink of cold water may cause a hard udder in a few hours."

New Chemical Weed Destroyer Discovered

A new chemical for the killing of weeds which seems to have considerable advantages over sodium chlorate, has been found by the Minnesota agricultural experiment station at St. Paul. Sodium chlorate has been used largely for the last few years.

The principal objections to sodium chlorate were that it was too costly for use on large areas and that it made the soil unproductive for crops for many months after application. Furthermore, it presented a dangerous fire risk.

The outcome has been the discovery of ammonium thiocyanate, a waste product of coke manufacture. Ammonium thiocyanate quickly kills every kind of weed common in Minnesota, according to tests made at that state's university farm, on plots seeded with seed screenings from a large commercial plant. The use of the chemical in moderate applications leaves no poison in the soil after about two weeks, and the chemical is not inflammable, involving no fire risk. Furthermore, the chemical has a value as a fertilizer, settling, in part, the cost of its use. A few weeks after its application, it is decomposed by bacteria in the soil, its poisonous effects are destroyed, and sulfur and ammonium are left as fertilizers.

The chemical may be applied either as a wet spray or sprinkled on as a dry salt. From two to five pounds per square rod is usually enough. The chemical, however, is not as yet readily available in technical grade and it involves a new technic of application.

C A N D Y

MILTON speaks in one of his poems about "A feast of nectar'd sweets." If he had had before him a gay bowl piled high with fruit-flavored Christmas candies, he could not have described them better. It is the fruit that gives them the delicious nectar-like taste and it makes them healthful too; easy to digest so that the very young and the very old can have a goodly share, as they should at Christmas time. The recipes given below will tell you how to make candies of this kind, and this is what to do with them.

Candies a Gay Note

You probably have some metal molds, the kind you use for puddings and jellies and ices. They come in all sorts of fanciful forms, stars, flowers, fish and animals. Line them with red paper, fill them with the candies and set them on mantelpieces and fireside tables and in the guest rooms. They give a charming Christmas note to the house. A large mold filled with the candies, encircled by a holly wreath and flanked by red candles in silver candlesticks can be used as a centerpiece for an informal Christmas supper.

Another nice thing to do with home-made Christmas candies is to make gifts of them. You can put them in amusing little bags such as the French use for bonbons. Ordinary shelf paper with a lace edge makes very pretty bags. The all-white variety is especially effective with the lace edge at the top of the bag, which should be tied four-neck fashion with broad ribbon. Bright, dark blue ribbon is pretty for this purpose and blue stars in several sizes may be pasted onto the bag in a haphazard manner, or silver ribbon and silver stars may be used.

Gift Candles

Candy bags for children should be very gay. Pictures cut from nursery books may be applied as decoration, and bright lines or waves of color may be painted with water colors along the top edge inside and out.

Italian hand-blocked papers make beautiful candy sacks, and these may be tied with broad colored linen tape in imitation of the linen ribbon which is used so much in Italy. Finish the top edge of the bag with a line or a little decorative motif in gold paint.

The fancy wrapping papers which the shops bring out at Christmas are perfect for bonbon bags—nothing could be nicer. Scraps of old chintz or brocades or of fivar or gold cloth can be made into more durable bags which may later be used for sewing accessories or buttons. Don't forget to wrap your candies for the fabric bags in glazed paper.

And Now—The Recipes!

Teletypewriter Service Is Available to Public

A new communication service has been made available by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company. This new service consists in the establishment and operation of central switching exchanges or teletypewriters—machines that teletype electrically over wires to a distant teletypewriter. A subscriber to the service can obtain connection with the teletypewriter of any other subscriber within the same city or in a distant city, remitting immediate transmission of letters, typewritten statements or other information.

The method used for interconnection of instruments is the same in effect as that now employed in the telephone system. At the beginning of 1931 the Bell System was furnishing 10,500 teletypewriter machines utilizing 48 percent of its private line wire mileage in their service.

Plumbing and Heating

With telephones throughout the house, calls can be made and received conveniently at the moment the need arises.

WHEN you had your telephone put in, perhaps you did it because you knew it would drive away loneliness or be handy for shopping.

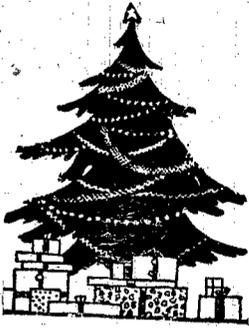

You didn't suspect that you would be placed on a committee with a score of people to talk to every week, that a time would come when you must summon a doctor in a hurry, or that your sister would move a hundred miles away and you would want to talk to her frequently.

The value of telephone service cannot be measured by the few cents a day paid for a telephone, which enables you to reach everyone else in town who has a telephone, or by the low cost for talking with persons out of town (only 35 cents for three minutes—between 4:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.—over a distance of 40 airline miles when you will talk with anyone available at the telephone called—less for the shorter distances and less per mile as the distance increases).

Subject, "Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" Golden text: Psalms 102.

The public is cordially invited. "Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Dec. 20.

The Golden Text is: "Of old Thou has laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the work of Thy hands." (Psalms 102:25.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God saw everything that He had made, and behold it was very good." (Genesis 1:31.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Material evolution implies that the great First Cause must become material, and afterwards must either return to Mind or go down into dust and nothingness. . . . The true theory of the universe, including man, is not in material history, but in spiritual development. Inspired thought relinquishes a material, sensual and mortal theory of the universe, and adopts the spiritual and immortal." (page 547.)

CLUB ACTIVITIES

At all the social gatherings this past week, Christmas motifs in decorations have been most evident. There is only one thing that puzzles just a little and that is, as yet there had been no mention of mistletoe. But maybe that is not for publication! Does it seem possible that there are only seven more days until Christmas? Perhaps that is why we haven't a very full calendar for next week. Most of the clubs have a recess until January 4. However, there really won't be any need for club activities next week with so many family reunions and festivities. One most usually prefers home to any other place at Christmas time anyway.

Today:
Mrs. A. J. Johnson and Mrs. R. L. Schroeder entertain at a card party.

Country club members have a Christmas party at the Stratton hotel.

Members of the J. A. O. Kensington entertain their children at a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Dean Hanson.

Friday:
W. C. T. U. meets at the home of Mrs. Edw. Seymour with Mrs. P. A. Davies as assistant hostess. Young People's Bible class at the home of Mrs. E. B. Young. Christmas dancing party at Wayne State Teachers' college.

Monday:
Lightbearers meet at the Fred Blair home at 2:30 p. m. Members of the Mochajava club have Christmas party. Altman club meets at the home of Mrs. Earl Merchant with Mrs. Eric Thompson and Mrs. Carlos Martin as assistant hostesses.

Tuesday:
Child Conservation League Christmas party at home of Mrs. Frank Koefl.

Wayne Woman's Club.

The Wayne Woman's Club had a Christmas program at the home of Mrs. P. A. Davies Friday. Christmas carols were sung and a trio, composed of Mrs. A. R. Davis, Mrs. W. C. Hunter and Mrs. T. T. Jones, gave a beautiful rendition of that old Christmas story, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear." Mrs. J. O. W. Lewis read a paper which she had prepared on the subject, "Where there is no Vision, the People Perish." It was voted that this paper be placed in the Reciprocity Bureau of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs. A letter from the newly elected president of the State Federation, Mrs. W. W. Whitfield, of Lincoln, in which she outlined her policy for the coming biennium, was read. Also a letter of thanks from the Nebraska Children's Home Society of Omaha for the twenty-two dozen cookies sent for a Thanksgiving treat for the children. The club voted to give $10 to help feed the hungry. Mrs. Davies was assisted in serving by Mrs. W. B. Vall, Mrs. Wm. Gildersleeve and

Mrs. Mae Young. The Woman's club will serve coffee and doughnuts at the Christmas celebration Saturday. Mrs. C. Snuthels is chairman of the committee.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Jack Denbeck entertained 30 young people Friday night at a card and dancing party in honor of her daughter Joyce's sixteenth birthday. Christmas decorations were used and Yuletide colors were also carried out in the favors. Peggy Morris and Kenneth Dowling won prizes in dancing. Mrs. Denbeck, assisted by Mrs. Albert Jones, served a two-course luncheon. Guests at the party included Opal Brown, June Gayle Jones, Leona Amos, Bernice Splittgerber, Mary Ellis Strahan, Peggy Morris, Catherine Craven, Elaine Vocum, Letha Penhollow, Inez Perry, Carlotta Halbeck, Mavis Weber, Rachel Hansen, Arnold Trotwell, Arnold Porter, Lloyd Erleben, Kenneth Dowling, Bob Ross, Bob Cunningham, Arvid Davis, Marion Jones, Bob Wilson, Haford Fisher, Melvin Brown, Ernest Splittgerber, "Pinky" Wamberg and Vernon Hanson.

Lesion Auxiliary.

At the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. W. H. Phillips Tuesday night, detailed plans were made for aiding the needy at Christmas time. A committee, headed by Mrs. Harry McMillan assisted by Mrs. James Pile and Mrs. Wilbur Hall, will oversee the filling and distribution of baskets of food. Auxiliary members are urged to give all they can in the way of food and have it at the home of Mrs. Pile by Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. A. Jacobson reported that the Wayne laundry will wash and dye any old clothes free if they are to be given to charity. Plans were also made for the district meeting of the Legion and Auxiliary meeting to be held in West Point Jan. 7. At the close of the evening the guests enjoyed the exchanging of gifts and a luncheon served by Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. C. S. Ash, Mrs. Antone Lerner, Mrs. Haymer Wilson and Mrs. W. H. Phillips.

Monday Club.

All members of the Monday club were present at the covered dish luncheon given at the home of Mrs. G. J. Hess Monday afternoon. Mrs. Daniel Cover of Gary, Ind., was a guest. Three tables of bridge were in play after the luncheon, with Mrs. H. H. Hahn receiving high score. The home was beautifully decorated in Christmas colors and symbols. After the afternoon of bridge the guests exchanged gifts. The next meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. R. L. Larson Jan. 4 at which time Mrs. G. J. Hess will give a review of Morrell Hall at Lincoln.

Alpha Club.

Members of the Alpha club met at the home of Mrs. Claude Wright Monday. A most interesting and educational discussion of the successful women in Washington was enjoyed. The club is to send a Christmas gift to the Nebraska Children's home in Omaha and it was also decided to give gifts to the needy instead of the usual exchange of gifts between the members of the club. The members voted to present to the Wayne public library one year's subscription to the magazine, "The World Tomorrow." The next meeting will be held on Jan. 11.

P. E. O. Party.

Ladies of the P. E. O. entertained members of the B. I. L. at a seven o'clock dinner at the Hotel Stratton Wednesday evening. Serving on the committee for arrangements were Mrs. W. W. Jones, Mrs. Don Cunningham and Mrs. C. H. Fisher. O. R. Bowen acted as toastmaster for a program given by the B. I. L. which included a talk by H. R. Best on the "Meaning of P. E. O.," followed by Rev. P. A. Davies who gave "The Meaning of B. I. L." "P. E. O.'s of Today" were discussed by Don Cunningham and "P. E. O.'s of 1869" were the subject of U. S. Conn's talk at the banquet. Prof. Louis Gregory played a group of violin selections accompanied by Prof. A. G. Carlson. Table decorations were attractive with small Christmas trees and crimson tapers.

D. A. R.

Mrs. J. Q. Owen, assisted by Mrs. Homer Scace and Mrs. H. W. Theobald, entertained members of the D. A. R. Saturday afternoon. Mrs. A. C. Goltz of Laurel was elected a new member. The film censorship report and a message from the president general were given by Mrs. Theobald. Mrs. E. E. Fleetwood gave an interesting paper on the social life of George Washington. Nineteen members and two guests, Mrs. A. L. Nuerberger and Mrs. J. H. Montgomery of Wakefield, were present.

U. D. Club.

Mrs. Woodward Jones and Mrs. John Hufford entertained members of the U. D. club at a one o'clock luncheon at the former's home Monday. Table decorations were carried out in the Christmas colors of green and red; with a miniature Christmas tree as a centerpiece. The afternoon was spent tying two comforters for needy families in Wayne. The club will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. A. T. Claycomb January 4.

Goldenrod Girl Scouts.

Members of the Goldenrod troop of the Girl Scouts were entertained at a covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. L. W. Vath Wednesday evening. Twenty girls, including Miss Mae Gillis and Miss Lula Avery, sponsors, were present. Christmas colors and decorations predominated as the table appointments. After the luncheon the girls did hand work for their bazaar that they held Saturday.

Pleasant Valley Club.

Members of the Pleasant Valley club were entertained at a one o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Hietes Wednesday. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Otto Fleer and Mrs. Mae Young. Mrs. William Malmberg led the lesson and gave a paper on "Why Children Behave As They Do." The club voted to give $5 to the Nebraska Children's Home. Mrs. Dick Auker and Mrs. Ira Swartz were guests of the club.

The Young People's Bible class met Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Young, to begin the study of First Thesalonians. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Orr were host and hostess at a birthday dinner party Sunday, honoring the latter's father, E. Kostomlatsky, of Sioux City. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. E. Kostomlatsky, M. S. Kostomlatsky and W. M. Orr. Table appointments were in harmony with the holiday season.

AT STATE MEETING

H. R. Best, superintendent of Wayne public schools, attended a State Teachers' association meeting at Lincoln Friday as delegate from this district. The meeting consisted largely of reports of the various state committees.

Mr. Best served on the amendment committee. R. R. McGee of Columbus was elected to the presidency of the association.

Cattle Feeding Declines as Sheep Feeding Rises

Nebraska has about 80 percent as many cattle on feed as a year ago, according to estimates of the state and federal division of agricultural statistics. Shipments of feeder cattle into the Corn Belt are about the same as last year.

It appears that Nebraska will feed considerably less cattle than last season, with total shipments of cattle to Nebraska feeder stations from July to October inclusive showing a drop of 16.4 percent and shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into Nebraska from the markets showing a drop of 29 percent.

Nebraska had 10 to 15 percent more sheep on feed Dec. 1 than last season. Developments indicated a considerable increase in number of lambs on feed. Preference for lambs this year is said to be due to the fact that Nebraska's grain and forage supplies are much smaller this year than last, and are more ample for taking on sheep than cattle. The big increase is in Eastern Nebraska.

WHAT? NO LICENSE?

If you're worried about where you're going to get the money to pay for your 1932 license plates, you can rest easy for a while. County Treasurer J. J. Steele has received no information as to when the plates will be sent out. He has received numerous inquiries recently from car owners, but can only answer, "I don't know a thing about the license plates or when we will get them."
