Fire Fighters Hold Annual Masque BallPromise "Best Dance Yet" at New Years Eve Celebration.

Cries of "Fireman, save my child" will be supplanted by strains of "hotter than hot" music when the Wayne volunteer fire department presents its annual New Years Eve masquerade ball at the new Coryell garage next Thursday evening.

"It's the last and most important event of 1931," according to John Bingold, chairman of ticket sales. "It's going to be the hottest of all the hot dances ever staged by the firemen and if the Colonial pavilion hadn't already burned down, this New Years Eve dance would undoubtedly have forced the management to insulate the place with asbestos lining," he says.

The flame-fighters have promised toe-tickling music that will appeal to the most fastidious dance customer, and assure a good time for everybody.

The dance, as usual, is to be a masquerade affair, and Fire Chief Martin L. Ringer says that no one will be admitted to the floor without full costume. Prizes will be awarded to the man and woman having the best and most original disguises.

Youthful Singers Give Program Tuesday Night

Two hundred and sixty-five school children took part in an old-fashioned Christmas program at the college auditorium Tuesday night, with group singing of old Christmas carols the outstanding feature of the entertainment.

Students of the training school and Wayne county rural schools participated in the event, which was staged under the supervision of Miss Maybeth Bowman.

A cantata, written by Richard Kountz, opened with a procession of 27 children in costume and consisted of six scenes, with the theme song taken from the "Nativity" of the fifteenth century.

Wayne Man's Sister Passes Away Sunday

Mrs. W. M. Wheeler, sister of E. W. Huse of Wayne, passed away Sunday evening at her home in Los Angeles, Calif., Sunday evening after several weeks' illness.

When Mrs. Wheeler lapsed into unconsciousness on Nov. 24, and failed to show signs of life, she was pronounced dead, but she later revived and had been in a serious condition since that time.

Mrs. Wheeler had spent much of her life in Nebraska, having lived in Ponca, Fairfield, Wakefield and Lincoln. She had made her home in Los Angeles since 1924.

The Ray Larson family spent Sunday in Sioux City with Mr. Larson's brother, Paul Larson.

HICKMAN HOOPSTERS WIN FROM HASTINGSWildcat Basketeers Take Long End of 37-32 Score.

Hickman's Five Basketeers warmed to their work Saturday night and turned in a crowd-satisfying performance when they outplayed the Hastings college basketball quint to win by a score of 37 to 32. The lethargy which had characterized the locals' work in the two previous games was gone and spectators were given an opportunity to see a typical hard-fighting Hickman team.

Perhaps the whole secret of the Wildcat victory was that the Wayne hoopsters were finding the basket, a thing that they had been unable to do consistently in the Morningside and Midland games.

Andrews led in the revival of basket-making ability, with fourteen points to his credit. Paul and Grubb looked good for Wayne on the defense.

Eyre led the Hastings attack, with eight points chalked up in his column.

Rites for G. J. Hardy Held Sunday Afternoon

Funeral services for G. J. Hardy, 54, who died Friday at the home of Mrs. Harry Barnett, his sister, were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30, with Rev. William E. Braisted of the First Baptist church in charge. Interment was in the Wayne cemetery.

Mr. Hardy was born on October 3, 1877, at Hillsdale, Iowa. He came with his parents to make his home at Wayne when he was a boy, living here for about eight years. At the age of 33, he went west and had made his home in Oregon and California until about two years ago.

Besides Mrs. Barnett, he is survived by two other sisters, Mrs. Edna Cross of Anthon, Iowa, and Mrs. M. E. Benson of Middlebranch; three brothers, Theodore Hardy of Wilder, Idaho, Commodore Hardy of North Battleford, Canada, and Oma Hardy of Berino, New Mexico; his wife, of Glendale, Calif.; a son, Lyle, and a daughter, Mrs. Goldje Roth, also of Glendale, Calif. One child preceded him in death.

The dance, as usual, is to be a masquerade affair, and Fire Chief Martin L. Ringer says that no one will be admitted to the floor without full costume. Prizes will be awarded to the man and woman having the best and most original disguises.

Wayne Woman Dies Wednesday Morning

Mrs. S. W. Dayton, who came to Wayne with her husband in 1931, passed away at her home here shortly before two o'clock Wednesday morning. She had been in poor health for some time.

Services will be held Thursday afternoon, Dec. 24, from the home at 3:30 o'clock, with Rev. W. C. Heidenreich in charge. Burial will take place Saturday at Harlan, Iowa, Mrs. Dayton's home prior to her residence in Wayne.

Tabitha Ramsey was born to William and Tabitha Ramsey on Jan. 4, 1849, near Cadiz, Ohio. When she was a child, the family moved to Princeton, Ill., where she spent her early girlhood. She was united in marriage to Shafer Wheeler Dayton on New Years Eve, 1866. The couple moved to Harlan, Iowa, in 1881. Later they moved to Lincoln, Neb., and then to Panama, Iowa. In 1913, they moved to Wayne, where she had lived since.

Her husband and three sons, Verlor L., Otis Irwin and Earl, preceded her in death some years ago. One daughter, Mabel A. Dayton, of Wayne, has lived with her and cared for her for many years. She is also survived by a grandson, Lawrence S., of Norfolk.

In her early girlhood, Mrs. Dayton was baptized and united with the Baptist church in Heaton Point, Ill., and the Baptist faith was hers to the end.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT PRESENTED SUNDAYMethodist Church Is Filled to Capacity by Holiday Audience.

A crowd that overtaxed the capacity of the Methodist church was present Sunday night to witness a pageant, "Lighting the Christmas Tree," which had been written and directed by Mrs. S. A. Lutgen and which was enacted by members of the Methodist Sunday school.

The pageant was centered around the idea of the Christmas spirit being dejected because of the selfishness of the world. The theme was symbolized by a dark Christmas tree. As the various Christmas fairies, Love, Helpfulness, Joy, Service, Giving, etc., presented their gifts, the tree brightened until at the end of the pageant it was ablaze with light.

Special lighting and scenic effects added much to the beauty of the presentation. The church was decorated in green and silver, with many Christmas symbols placed at intervals.

One of the outstanding numbers on the program was a musical reading, "I Love My Old Doll Best," by Josephine Ley.

Church Official Speaks at Baptist Gathering

Several hundred members and friends of the First Baptist church of Wayne gathered Thursday evening, Dec. 17, for observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the local church's organization.

Rev. H. Q. Morton, D. D., secretary of the Nebraska Baptist state convention, was principal speaker of the evening.

A fellowship supper preceded the program.

KNUDSON-JOHNSON

Miss Anna Marie Knudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Knudson of Wayne, and Perry F. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Johnson of Wakefield, will be united in marriage Christmas morning at St. Paul's Lutheran church. Rev. W. C. Heidenreich will read the marriage lines, with the ceremony taking place at 10 a. m. The young couple will be attended by Miss Ethel Johnson and Kenneth Packer. A wedding dinner for 40 will be served at the Knudson home. The young couple will be at home on a farm east of Wakefield.

The Ray Larson family spent Sunday in Sioux City with Mr. Larson's brother, Paul Larson.

Benefit Show is Drought Relief Aid

Real Christmas spirit was shown by Wayne movie fans and by E. E. Galley, theatre manager, Tuesday when over two truck-loads of canned goods and clothing were donated to the drought relief cause by local people who attended a benefit matinee, "Sunny Skies," at the Crystal theatre.

Two matinees, one at two o'clock and another at four o'clock, were staged by Mr. Galley, in co-operation with the local American Legion. Mr. Galley and Legion officers expressed themselves as being extremely proud that all donated material was in strictly first-class condition. In addition to 550 packages donated by those who saw the show, $35 in cash was turned in to the relief fund. The committee feels that good roads would have resulted in even heavier donations.

Christmas in Other Lands Is PotrayedLocal Organizations Give Attractive Program Saturday.

Wayne organizations showed their ability to prepare attractive Christmas floats on short notice when they presented a pageant parade, "Christmas in Other Lands," in the downtown district Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The parade, headed by the Wayne municipal band and local Boy Scouts in uniform, drew the plaudits of a crowd estimated at 3,500.

"The Spirit of Christmas" was the subject of a float entered by the Business and Professional Women's club, while the local American Legion and Auxiliary presented "The American Christmas."

The D. A. R. float carried out a colonial theme, with the women in costumes of early Colonial days.

"Christmas in Italy" was depicted by the Cameo club, and the Swedish Christmas by the University Women's club. Altrusa club members presented "Christmas in Ireland," with a group of children in Irish costumes. "Christmas in the Southland" was portrayed by the Minerva club, with a southern cabin and Negro singers. Girl Scouts in uniform rode on another float.

"Ye Olde English Yule Log" was presented as the feature of Christmas in England, by the Coterie club. An Alaskan float, with an Eskimo igloo, was an additional feature.

The Wayne band, under the direction of Prof. F. C. Reed, played a concert from 1:30 to 2 o'clock, and a group of about 400 school children, under the direction of Prof. Howard Hanscom, sang Christmas carols from 2 p. m. until 2:30.

Those who like their doughnuts and coffee had plenty of opportunity to satisfy their appetites, with those two typically American delicacies being served free at the City Hall by the Wayne Woman's club. Mrs. C. Schulthess had charge of dispensing them.

Baptist Sunday School Gives Yule Pageant

Sunday night at the Baptist church, a pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang," was presented by the Senior Sunday School under the direction of Miss Florence Drake. The story concerned the legend of the Christmas chimes which rang only when the very greatest gift was presented to the Christ Child. After the Crown Prince's gift had failed to bring a response, the people despaired of the morn, but a small boy's sacrifice of his last coin set the bells to ringing. The pageant was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Chichester will have Christmas dinner at the Wm. Kugler home.

Damage Suits Are Filed in District CourtTwo Plaintiffs Seek Total of $50,000 as Result of Accidents.

Two damage cases, totaling $50,000, have been filed in district court this last week by Alice Elgert, administratrix of the estate of Erich Elgert, deceased, and Edna Hansen Davis, Hendrickson and Davis represent both plaintiffs.

Mrs. Elgert is asking damages from the Blakeman Transfer and Storage company. She alleges that the defendant was driving on highway No. 20, immediately west of Waterbury, in a westerly direction from Sioux City, Iowa, to Norfolk, and that Erich Elgert, deceased, was proceeding east from Wakefield to his home at Waterbury, when the defendant's truck deliberately and negligently collided with the car driven by Elgert in such a way as to completely demolish the automobile and kill Mr. Elgert. The accident is said to have taken place on Aug. 24, 1931.

The plaintiff charges negligence on the part of the defendant in that, among other counts, the defendant was operating a truck line contrary to the laws of Nebraska, was driving a truck of greater width and size than is permissible under Nebraska law, was driving on the wrong side of the highway, failed to turn to the right side when meeting other vehicles, and approached a narrow bridge at a greater speed than the law provides.

Mrs. Elgert asks $40,000 and costs.

Edna Hansen is seeking $10,000 and costs from the Rapid Transit Line. Joe Frederick and Edward Granquist. She charges that on Jan. 11, 1931, she engaged transportation over the Rapid Transit bus line from Sioux City, Iowa, to Allen, and that at a point on Highway No. 20 immediately east of Allen, the defendant, Rapid Transit Line, negligently operated the bus and Edward Granquist negligently operated his truck, so as to cause the bus and truck to collide, causing the window panes on the bus to become broken.

She charges that pieces of glass scattered in all directions and struck her in the legs, limbs, arms, shoulders, neck, face, forehead, cheeks, and particularly her right knee, and cut and tore her dress and garments, causing her great pain and injury. She charges that her right knee has become permanently injured, is out of line and causes great pain and suffering when she attempts to move it.

became known as the "Yule Log."

3. Pious Saint Nicholas, the youngest bishop in the history of the church, assumed a legendary role as patron saint of all Holland schoolboys. Our Dutch ancestors brought with them to New Amsterdam the customs of their homeland; forlorn and lonely English colonists eagerly borrowed the legend and festivity surrounding the kindly St. Nick. The Dutch words, "San Nicholas," became "Santy" or "Santa Claus" when said by little English children.

4. Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donder, Blixen.

5. Charles Dickens was the author of this delightful story.

6. People often associate the Pilgrims with being the first to celebrate Christmas in America. This is a mistake, for the settlers of New Amsterdam, the Dutch, were the first.

7. The gift-giving custom was nurtured in Germany. Here it became the custom to make periodic exchange of gifts among friends, relatives and acquaintances.

8. The official Santa Claus of the United States is the Postmaster General, Washington, D. C.

9. Mistletoe is a small parasitic growth which appears on certain types of trees. In ancient times it was thought to have great magical properties and it was always in evidence during the holiday season.

10. Long ago the ancient Teutons celebrated the holiday season by decking a fir tree with various kinds of ornaments and fruits. From this custom has come our present use of the fir tree as a "Christmas tree."

11. The names of the Three Wise Men were Gaspar, Melchior and Balthazar.

12. The Star of Bethlehem guided the Three Wise Men on their search for the birthplace of the Christ child.

13. Kris Kringle is the German name given Santa Claus.

14. Christmas is not recognized as falling on the 25th of December everywhere. Several races, such as the Armenians, celebrate January 6 instead.

15. Christmas is not recognized as a national holiday by the Federal government. It is a holiday legally observed throughout the United States, but only by the legislation of each individual state.

Christmas Greetings

Christmas greetings, at best, (and the best is none too good) are trite. Everything that can be said in the way of "Merry Christmas" has already been said, countless times.

Christmas greetings! It's an old, old story, but one that mellows with the years. This is the season of the year that cements the bond between friends and brings forgotten comrades back to mind. Somehow, we don't seem to have any enemies during the Christmas season. We hope that the feeling, for today at least, is mutual.

Maybe worldly success has not been as marked for you this past year as you would like. But we hope that you can look back on a year of mental and spiritual progress, a year of warmth of feeling, a year of happiness. Old 1931 has had its trials, but it has had its good points. Life, even when it's hard, is good—and the calm seas wouldn't be half so enjoyable if there weren't some rough sailing. The little boy who said, "I hit my head with the hammer 'cause it feels so good when I stop" was uttering a truth that can't be refuted.

We hope that you are looking forward to 1932 with real hope and lots of optimism. We're starting in on a clean slate before long, and it's strictly up to us what kind of marks we make on it. That the coming year shall be one of real joy to you and yours is our sincerest wish.

We want to thank you for the way you have treated The Democrat and its employees during the past year. We have much to be grateful for, and feel that old 1931 has treated us well indeed. You've made us feel that you are our friends. Maybe we've made a few enemies—it would be a funny newspaper that wouldn't incur some wrath during a year—but we hope that they'll forgive us for doing what we thought was right.

This past year may have been unsatisfactory for many, but for The Democrat it has been a great and glorious 52 weeks. You readers have shown that a newspaper, by looking out for the best interests of Wayne, by supporting home industry, by being the voice of its readers rather than a self-centered publication, by reasoning that the good of the community means the eventual betterment of the paper, can gain the increased patronage of those it serves.

During a year when most newspapers have had to face discouraging losses in advertising lineage, The Democrat has carried more advertising than ever before—and we have shown that advertising increase without carrying ads from Norfolk, Sioux City or surrounding towns. Advertisers, during the past year, have become more and more firmly convinced that the Wayne territory is reading The Democrat—and they have shown their confidence in our newspaper in a substantial way. We have not tried to run any local businessman's place for him—but we have asked for and have received the loyal co-operation of Wayne advertisers. We thank them for the trust they have placed in us.

To our subscribers, too, we are particularly grateful. Word of mouth advertising is responsible for much of The Democrat's splendid gain in circulation during the year. Our subscribers have told others of The Democrat's policies, of this paper's method of handling news, of the many improvements in our paper, with a result that a surprisingly large number of new subscribers have been added to our family of readers. That these new subscribers really want The Democrat and read it thoroughly after they get it is certain; they have subscribed because they want the paper and not because they have been harangued or bullied into taking it.

The Democrat takes a pardonable pride in some of its achievements during 1931:

Early in the year, this paper instituted a campaign to send a carload of live poultry to the drought sufferers in Arkansas. The campaign was county-wide, and was, we believe, the most successful campaign ever put on in Wayne county. That prominent men and women of the county entered into the relief drive so wholeheartedly was undoubtedly responsible for its success.

That our people co-operated with us so splendidly is a source of real gratification.

The Democrat, during the year, took the newspaper initiative to secure a local Chamber of Commerce. Here was a cause that did not meet with universal acclaim. It was hampered from some sources—but we have reason to believe that after the holidays such an organization will be formed.

In connection with Wayne's Gold in Jubilee last summer, The Democrat published a History of Wayne County, written by James E. Brittain. The book has been a valuable addition to the all too meagre records of our pioneer life.

Late in the summer, The Democrat added the most expensive single newspaper feature ever purchased by any Wayne county paper—a four-page four-color comic section. This feature has been costly, but it has been responsible for a considerable gain in circulation and consequent increased benefit to advertisers.

During the year, The Democrat saw its human-interest column, "Scott Shots," imitated by weekly papers that had made fun of it at its inception.

This paper, during 1931, abstained from acceptance of Norfolk, Sioux City, Winslow, Carroll and Concord advertising. We felt that acceptance of such copy might possibly act to the disadvantage of local advertisers and would be encroaching on the field of other publications.

Throughout the year The Democrat gave its loyal support to every cause that might act for the community advancement. This paper always gave freely of its news space to the high school, college, churches, organizations and trade projects.

Only last month, with the support of 30 business men who have Wayne's best interests at heart, The Democrat instituted a series of community improvement ads, to run for a year, which should do much to encourage the community spirit.

Yes, we feel that The Democrat, with your help, has gone far ahead in 1931. We are confident that, with that same splendid assistance from you, our readers and advertisers, it is going to go much farther during 1932.

We are trying to publish a friendly newspaper. Our most ardent wish is that you will continue to be numbered among our friends. We know that, as you prosper, so will our paper—and we hope that 1932 is going to be a better year for you than any past year in your life.

When your heart is full, it's hard to express yourself. We want you to know that we feel proud of your friendship and grateful for your support.

Merry Christmas!

10 a.m. Church Sunday school.
Subject, "The Outreach of Christianity" for the higher grades and departments.

11 a.m. Morning worship. Special music, with New Year's message by the pastor: "A Look Backward and Around." This will surely be helpful. Think of it. Come and hear this vital, practical message for 1932.

7:30 p.m. Evening worship. The usual informal group singing everybody enjoys. The pastor's subject will be a companion message with the morning one (but each complete in itself). Subject, "A Look Forward." What can we see?

Thanks: To all who shared in directing or taking parts in the splendid pageant of last Sunday night, the pastor wants, again, to express sincerest thanks. It was a fine rendering, and the house full surely enjoyed it all.

And again thanks. This pastor sincerely wants to thank his church for every measure of loyalty and love; the friends of Wayne and elsewhere for helpful fellowship through another year. This means a great deal to a Lone Sky Pilot who wants to make life worthwhile.

And the heartiest he knows how: "A Happy New Year to All," from the Pastor of the First Baptist church.

"Ring out the old,
Ring in the new;
Ring out the false,

Methodist Episcopal Church

The special Christmas services of last Sunday were enjoyed by large congregations. In the morning Mrs. Bressler played "The March of the Magi" and "Hull-Injah Chorus" from the Messiah on the Estey organ and two numbers were furnished by the choir. In the evening the church school presented the pageant, "Lighting the Christmas Trees," written and directed by Mrs. Grace Lutgen.

Miss Beryl McClure will be here from Streator, Ill., to spend the holidays with her parents. Mrs. Rice of New York City, sister of H. W. McClure, will be a guest in the McClure home.

ing room was filled and a great number were unable to get into the church. We are sorry that we were unable to accommodate those who were turned away and that they were not able to share the beauty of the service with us. The orchestra played for 30 minutes before the service and some numbers in the program.

Next Sunday morning the sermon topic will be "Things That Remain," a thought appropriate to the closing of a year. In the evening the pastor will give an address based on Henry Van Dyke's Christmas story of "The Other Wise Man." You will find the services every Sunday well worth while. You need the church and the church needs you. Come. The program and party for the Sunday school is held Thursday afternoon this week, the various departments arranging their programs and meeting together.

Our thanks are expressed to all who helped make the Christmas services and programs a success. To Mrs. Lutgen for her splendid work in directing the pageant, all who took part in it, and the committees who handled the varied details of preparation and decoration.
